Wm. Kniffin Murder Trial Opens With Interrogation Of Veniremen

By MARION BETHEA

Interrogation of 150 veniremen began this morning in the case of William Kniffin, 18-year-old Sanford youth, charged with first degree murder in the death of his one-year-old stepdaughter, Minnie Lee Bell, last February.

The case is being heard in Courtroom A by Circuit Judge Clarence Johnson Jr. Kniffin is being represented by a specially appointed attorney, Peter deManio. Prosecuting for the state is David Porter. The hall outside the courtroom was "packed" this morning with witnesses and the family of the defendant.

Kniffin and his wife, Kathryn, were indicted by a county grand jury on Feb. 14. The state later dropped charges against Mrs. Kniffin. The little girl was taken to the local hospital by her mother. A physician subsequently called police and arranged for the transfer of the child to Winter Park Memorial Hospital, where a vain attempt was made to save her life by attending surgeons.

An autopsy disclosed the child died as a result of a fractured skull caused by a blow to the head.

Wage-Price Freeze Asked

Nixon Offers 8-Point Economy Plan

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring that "America is at her greatest when she is called on to compete," has imposed a largely voluntary 90-day wage-price freeze and invited world rescheduling of exchange rates — changes that would amount to devaluation of the dollar.

The President's historic announcement that the United States is abandoning its longstanding policy of selling gold to foreign governments at $35 an ounce, and the wage-price control move, were among the measures that took immediate effect.

So too was a "temporary" average surcharge of 10 per cent on many imported products, which should result in corresponding hikes in the amount Americans pay for Volkswagens and Toyotas, and a host of other items. Exempt would be such quota-subject imports as petroleum, coffee, ores, cotton textiles, sugar and fish.

Nixon also proposed new tax breaks for consumers and businessmen, including repeal of the 7-per-cent federal excise that adds an average $300 to the cost of a new car. But Congress must act on these recommendations.

He asked Congress to postpone implementation of his high-priority revenue-sharing and welfare-reform proposals for three months and one year respectively. Congress has shown a reluctance to approve either measure.

On his own, Nixon promised to cut federal employment by 3 per cent, impose a six-month freeze on federal pay hikes scheduled for Jan. 1, and take other steps designed to reduce spending by $4.7 billion.

The sweeping moves, which Nixon claimed were the most comprehensive in four decades in the economic sphere, were viewed as the President's reply to Democratic critics who contend the state of the economy — not Vietnam — will be the major political issue in the 1972 election.

It was noted, too, that Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, who collaborated closely with Nixon in drafting the package, was trotted out to brief newsmen on the development. This could only have the effect of adding to speculation that Texas Democrat Connally may supplant Spiro T. Agnew as the 1972 GOP vice presidential candidate.

Congress was out of town for a month-long recess when the President made his announcement and reaction from lawmakers was also in coming.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee ranks as most influential tax man in Congress, called Nixon's new economic plan excellent and predicted favorable committee action on the President's call for reinstating the investment tax credit to spur business spending.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the only announced Democratic candidate for president, called the new program "economic madness." The President has shown a total lack of confidence in the American economy.

Since Franklin D. Roosevelt, all American presidents, including Nixon, had been firm in avowing that the United States would honor the $35 price Nixon changed the picture without an advance leak on a summer weekend when financial markets here and abroad were closed.

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

There'll be a FULL Florida Senate meeting scheduled for Orange County, August 20-31. Additional committee meetings will be scattered throughout (what's the name of that county again?)

No, there won't be any in Seminole. Why? Cause they have more votes in Orange, that's why... or at least, that's one of the reasons indicated.

I'm not supposed to know this yet, but, "I want to sell you" a hot tip.

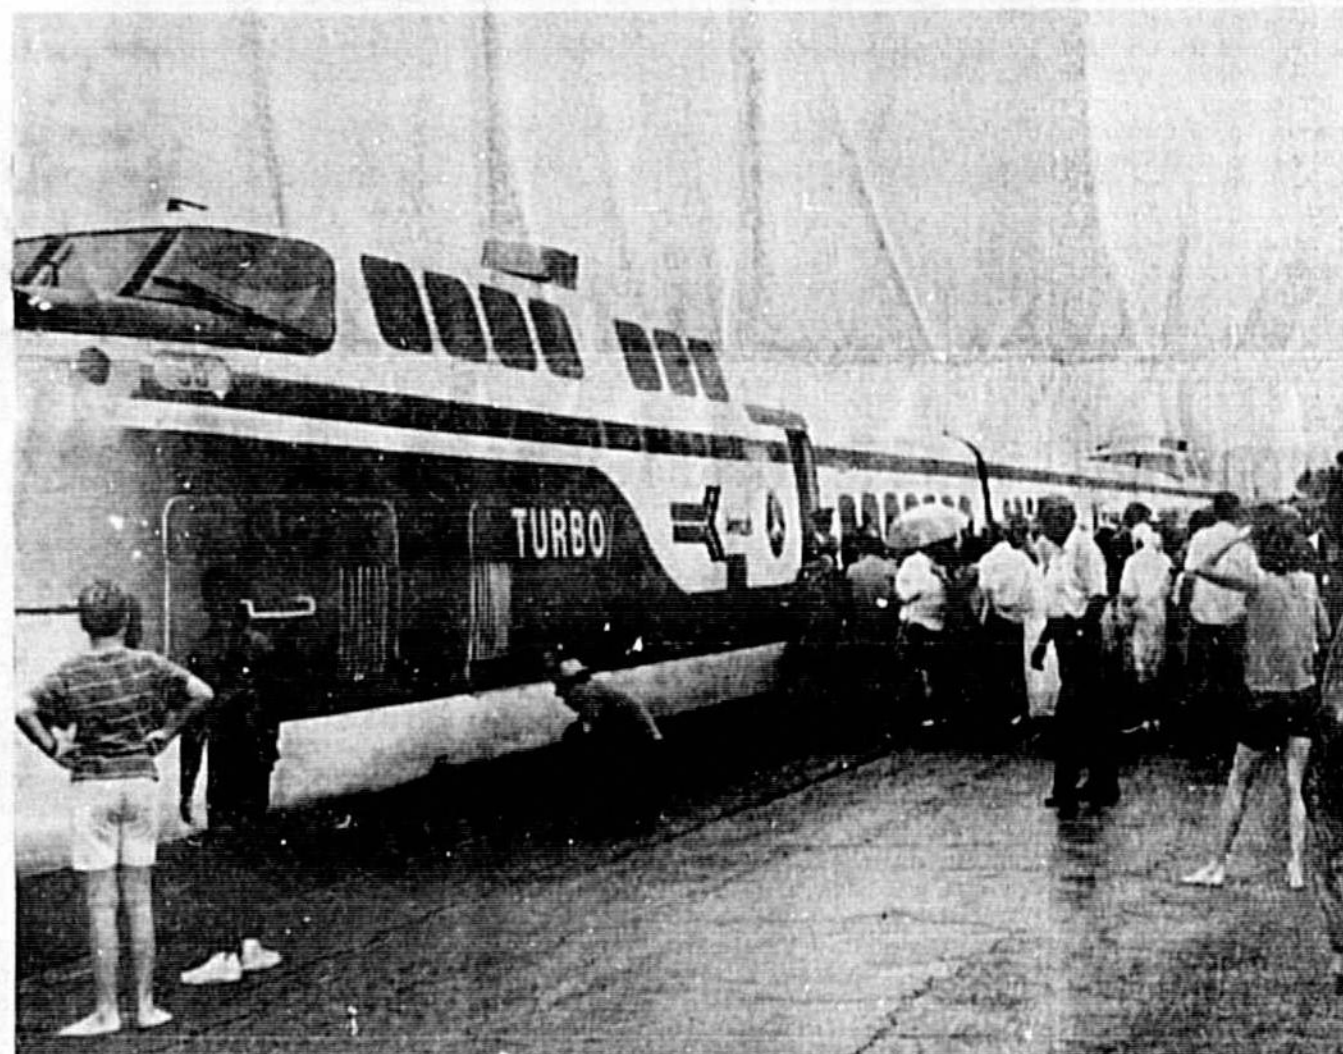

Understand that one of Central Florida's most promotionally-minded auto dealers has just purchased a nice tract of land at Five Points... adding just another example of how important that part of Seminole County is going to be in the next couple of years. All of Seminole is a jewel—and the sooner we can get ALL of our elected leaders to accept this fact, the better off we'll ALL be!

Both Sides Of The Coin... Applause for President Nixon's talk and action of last night on Wage and Price Control. But, please don't try to "convince" me that he has "wound down" the war.

I voted for the man cause he was going to end the war in six months, remember? And this is the same man who ordered an incursion to Cambodia, remember? And we're paying the CIA (although it was denied by the White House any number of times previously) a couple million dollars to help the hidden army in Laos, remember?

If anyone helped bring this terrible tragedy any closer to its culmination, then let's remember the Peaceniks who marched onto Washington; or the Vietnam heroes who tossed their medals onto the lawn of the White House; or the public's indignation which followed the trial of a fellow by the name of Galt, remember? (Galt? Who's He?)

Call it like it is... MIDDLE AGE is the time of life in which you should watch your middle more.

Burglars Open Safe; Youths Held On Dope

Safecrackers using a hammer and punch early today opened a safe at the Ranch House restaurant on U.S. 17-92, south of Sanford, and took a large amount of money, according to Deputy Sheriff William Hogan.

The youths entered the eatery through the roof and drilled into the floor and safe, according to the deputy, some time between 1:30 a.m. and 5:50 a.m. today. The intruders left by way of the rear door and reportedly entered the woods behind the restaurant in making their escape.

Det. Fred Reespress and Charles Werner, county identification man, were on the scene this morning checking for possible fingerprints and clues that might have been left by the burglars.

Seminole drug investigators arrested two 17-year-old youths on possession and sale of marijuana charges during the weekend, according to jail records. Greg Martin Nichols, 17, Longwood, was arrested on a warrant issued by Justice of the

Comments Mixed On Economy Move

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Economists have given mixed reviews to President Nixon's proposals to stimulate the economy, with comments ranging from enthusiastic endorsement to predictions that the program will not work in the long run.

The broad steps outlined by the President Sunday night also drew general—although in some cases highly qualified—approval from a number of leading bankers.

"We're better off this Monday morning than we were Friday night," summed up Nobel Prize winning economist Paul Samuelson. He said he approved all eight points in the President's plan except the cutback of $4.7 billion in federal spending.

"I hope the President's arithmetic is wrong," said Samuelson at his Belmont, Mass., home. "If he cuts expenditures by $4.7 billion to match the tax cuts, that won't create one extra job. It will create negative jobs... That would completely emasculate his whole program."

John Kenneth Galbraith, the Harvard economist who was ambassador to India during the termed the program "one step forward (the wage-price freeze) and two steps backward (the investment tax credit and the international segment)."

Of the wage-price freeze he noted: "The question here is the energy with which efforts will be made to make things permanent. After all, this is only for 90 days."

"On balance, his proposals for expanding jobs will probably lead to a contraction in the number of jobs," said Galbraith in Newline, N.Y.

"Eliminating the automobile excise tax, accelerating the investment credit and advancing the income tax exemptions are very interesting ways of expanding the economy because they put money in the hands of people who don't need it," he said.

Despite Roche's statement, a GM spokesman said he could not comment on whether the company will consider the freeze to extend to price increases already announced for 1972 models.

The hikes at GM—as at Ford and Chrysler Corp.—amounted to 4 to 5 per cent.

Lengthy Docket Slated In Circuit Court 'Dope' Suspects To Be Arraigned

The arraignment docket for tomorrow before Circuit Judge Clarence Johnson Jr. encompasses four pages of names of defendants, most of whom were arrested in a local "dope drag" Aug. 5-9 by sheriff's deputies in a massive crackdown on illegal drug activities in the area.

Zane Clark faces charges in six separate cases. One stems from sale of a narcotic drug on July 20 another charges him with two counts sale of a central nervous stimulant and possession of a narcotic drug on Aug. 3; another with sale of a narcotic drug on July 28; another with assault with intent to commit a felony and another with two counts a sale and possession of a narcotic drug; Clark was arrested following a raid on the Hi-Lo Bar, Fern Park. An automobile chase resulted when he tried to run down two agents as he fled the scene in a stolen car. He was captured when state and federal agents deflated the tires on the car. A .32 caliber pistol was recovered by deputies from the U. S. 17-92 median.

Clark has had a series of escapades of the law in recent months. On Sept. 16, 1970 he was found "not guilty" by a Circuit Court jury of charges of sale of narcotics. The following day he was arrested on a traffic violation and it was reported he had four narcotic pills in his possession. He was found guilty of charges of possession of a barbiturate in a jury trial on Jan. 11 and is on pre-sentence investigation.

Also facing narcotics charges are Lonnie Allen, 18, Altamonte Springs, charged with sale and possession of a hallucinogenic drug; Christopher Robinson, 18, Maitland, charged with sale and possession of a hallucinogenic drug; Scott Siewert, 16, Valley Forge Apartments, charged with sale and possession of cannabis (marijuana); Tom Driscoll, 18, 203 Laurel Drive, charged with sale and possession of cannabis; Jerry Chono, 17, Altamonte Springs, charged in two cases with sale and possession of a narcotic drug and possession of a narcotic drug and sale and possession of cannabis; Jerry Scott, charged with possession or control of a central nervous stimulant; John Monroe, 22-year-old Navy man of Fern Park, charged with sale and possession of a barbiturate; Rick Blundell, 16, Altamonte charged with sale and possession of cannabis; Kirk Riley, 19, Longwood, charged with sale and possession of cannabis; and in a case unrelated to narcotics, James Fulghum Jr. charged with unlawful burning of lands and possession of cannabis; Raymond Bookout, 25, Los Angeles, Calif., is charged with carrying a concealed firearm (by a convicted felon); buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of stolen property and dealing in credit cards of other (possession of stolen credit cards).

Brenda Ruth Williams, 26, Orlando, a bartender at the Hi-Lo Bar, is charged with sale of a narcotic drug. She is charged with being involved in the sale of narcotics to sheriff's undercover agents.

Also charged is Patricia Wilfred, 22, Village Green Apartments, Altamonte Springs, charged with sale of a narcotic drug. She is also charged with selling narcotics to an undercover agent.

Keith Punt, 44, Granada Apartments, Fern Park, is charged with sale of a narcotic drug. He is charged with being the owner of a business establishment where narcotics are being sold. Mike Hamer, 19, 141 Maple Avenue, is charged with sale and possession of a narcotic drug. He is charged with carrying a concealed firearm (by a convicted felon); buying, receiving, or aiding in the concealment of stolen property and dealing in credit cards of other (possession of stolen credit cards).

RAIN-SOAKED roads contributed to dangerous driving conditions within Seminole County, keeping "wrecker crews" busy. In both these separate accident scenes, no personal injury sustained; however, equipment damage was substantial. ## Port Authority Elects Slate Of Officers

By BILL SCOTT

Seminole Port Authority (SCOPE) will elect new officers at tonight's 8 p.m. meeting held at the authority's offices in the Pauline Building.

A nomination committee selected a slate of officers to serve the new year and their recommendations are expected to be brought forward tonight.

Another item to be discussed is the directive by the Seminole Commission, which funds the authority's yearly budget, that SCOPE move its offices to the Port of Sanford, located on the St. Johns River west of Sanford near Interstate 4.

Some SCOPE members have indicated in private talks their preference to remain in the present offices and these views are expected to be aired in detail at tonight's session.

Other agenda items to be presented include: Budget data, the port contractor and the possible inclusion of SCOPE in the proposed new county-wide industrial board.

Edward L. Blackshore, newly appointed SCOPE member, is expected to attend his first meeting, since having been named to the board by Gov. Reubin Askew.

Seminole County's Great Opportunity Is Now!

Mobilization of the strengths existing in Seminole County to take advantage of the opportunities which are on its threshold and which offer unexcelled advantages to every resident is essential right now.

While this is a small county geographically, its growth is quite the opposite and its potential is gigantic.

So also, unhappily, is the diversity of its interests which are changing with such rapidity that what could have been counted on as a sure appraisal a few years ago now is questionable in the extreme.

Quite logically the controlling interests which are obvious in Sanford, the county seat and traditionally the leading municipality, are not the same as those along the southern border.

Between the two lies the Green Belt which is best described as the strip which begins with the Big Tree Park on one end and stops at Lake Jessup on the other.

Effective mobilization calls for an end to the misunderstandings which some have nurtured and some have used for personal, business and political reasons to split Seminole's strength.

The widening and the improvement of State Highways S-436 and S-434 brought with it the development of the southern end. The cities of Casselberry and Altamonte Springs welcomed new home-makers and new businesses.

Thus the contribution which these and the other cities which have mushroomed with population growth needs to be recognized by those in the north end as an asset which should be properly recognized and so treated.

On the other hand it is equally essential that those newcomers be acquainted with the history of the north, the Lake Monroe and St. John's River contribution to the assets of the county.

Sanford's basic strength are in its fully organized municipal government, its industries and in the transportation facilities which include rail, water, air and highway.

Seminole County, for reasons which need not be resurrected here, has been hampered in the development of all areas and the consequent creation of a unified county-wide understanding by the lack of roads.

The only political county-wide organization which has both power and responsibility to weld all sections together is, of course, the Seminole County Commission.

It is a truism that such commissions are inherently damned by some and praised by others. This is the occupational hazard of the politician.

There is now a county commission on which the majority come from districts in the south area. It finds itself at a time of major changes and of major re-alignments. Yet, on balance, the record in the few months it has been operating must be given a plus.

While there will be other spots needing attention as this time of crisis crests, the one which could use some liniment now is that of traffic-highway control.

And that, inevitably, introduces the reason why we believe that only by the unification of interests, the respect of each for all, can the essential mobilization of Seminole County strengths be achieved.

This is the opening of Walt Disney World, a little over a month away, and the impact of this on every section of the county. Appraised only from the point of view of tourism, this is an opportunity which can be properly handled only if this county, where I-4 threads its north-south way, is willing to join hands.

We believe that this can and should be done. What a combination! The north area with its airport, barge port, county seat and the south with its growing population and the new and vigorous expansion!

Fern Park Vols

One of the common hazards which is uncommonly hazardous is that of fire in the home. Nod your heads and agree? Of course! What about the home fire extinguisher? Do you have one?

We hope so. But there is always the need for the professional fire fighter with his trained skills and his professional equipment. In Sanford this is a source of comfort to all who live within the city limits.

But fire hazard is no respecter of boundaries. It is just as sure to hit on unexpected spots. In Seminole County there are many volunteer fire companies. And there will have to be more unless this common hazard is given much more intelligent attention.

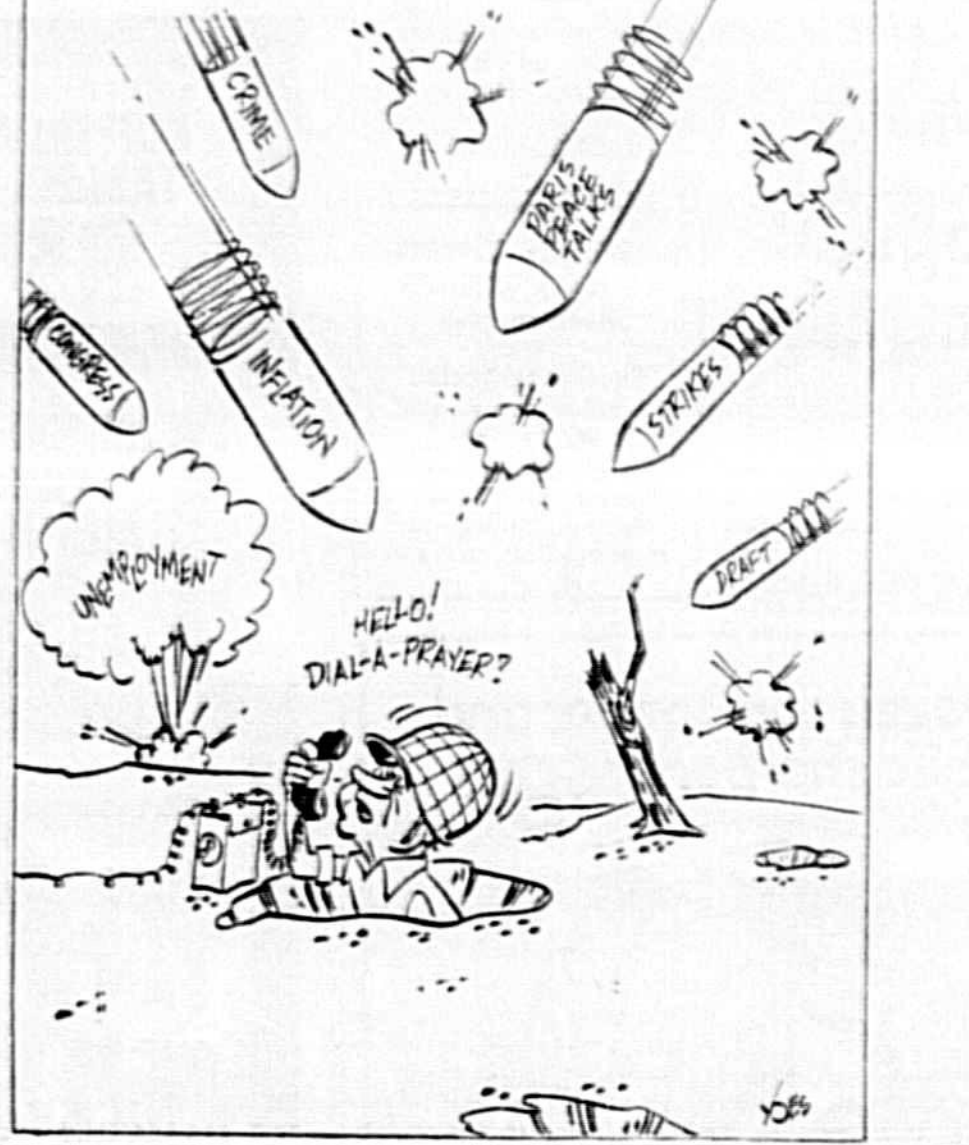

We are impelled to make this comment as we have received from the Fern Park Volunteer Fire Department copy of a recent letter which is asking all residents to get behind the department and cities the progress its members have been making in fire fighting training.

The point of the letter, however, is a request for a $22.50 pledge sent to the company c/o P.O. Box 547, Fern Park. This registers the sender's home as "under the protective cognizance of your fire department."

Fern Park, as Harry Dalton, president, points out is a fast growing community but adds that as of July 21st, date of the letter, less than ten per cent of the residents have registered.

Unless you can guarantee that your home will not be harmed by fire, we believe that the registration fee should be sent and your peace of mind secured.

Nader: Bold Consumer Champ

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We might wish for a less arrogant Ralph Nader than we have, but we can hardly argue that we don't need his dogged consumer advocacy. Yet there is a spin-off from Naderism which doesn't do present American Society any good at all.

You can hardly blame him, since he can't watch everything. Some people think he spreads himself too thin as it is.

The problem is that Naderism in its concentration on the shortcomings of business and government, seems to let the rest of us off the hook. There is no indication Nader intends any such effect. All the same, that is a consequence of his well-publicized hammerings at the organized elements of society.

Anybody who tries to argue that we should not build safe cars had better not stick his head above the trenches. Nevertheless, a couple of pretty obvious things get blotted out in the glare Nader put on car manufacturers' failings.

The makers have specific responsibility for the design of our automobiles, and for the materials used in manufacture.

Even a fairly brief eye check on driving habits, either on city streets or open road, ought to scare anybody who wants to live awhile. Driving behavior is generally very bad.

While there will be other spots needing attention as this time of crisis crests, the one which could use some liniment now is that of traffic-highway control.

And that, inevitably, introduces the reason why we believe that only by the unification of interests, the respect of each for all, can the essential mobilization of Seminole County strengths be achieved.

This is the opening of Walt Disney World, a little over a month away, and the impact of this on every section of the county. Appraised only from the point of view of tourism, this is an opportunity which can be properly handled only if this county, where I-4 threads its north-south way, is willing to join hands.

We believe that this can and should be done. What a combination! The north area with its airport, barge port, county seat and the south with its growing population and the new and vigorous expansion!

Global View:

Cat's-paw Wars Tie Down U. S.

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — No matter how strong the United States in missiles and AEMs, in tanks, artillery and troops, Vietnam has demonstrated one thing.

At little risk to themselves and at relatively small cost, Russia and mainland China can operate through a tiny country to tie down U.S. troops in an endless war which divides us politically and promotes obnoxiousness in our defense by siphoning off funds required to modernize.

That was used successfully by Russia in North Korea's invasion of the south.

More recently, Russia used Pyongyang in capturing the Pacific and in shoving down the U.S. Navy's EC-121.

Here the Russians did take some risks. It isn't generally known, but Moscow interposed elements of its fleet off the North Korean coast to prevent an American military reaction.

In Europe, the Russians have recently urged East Germans to harass "West Berlin" at little risk to themselves.

In Latin America the Soviet Union operates clandestinely through Cuba to provoke revolutions in South and Central America, supplying arms, instructors and funds.

The direct, open Russian relationship with the existing government is usually quite "correct" and friendly.

In the Middle East the evidence is strong that false Soviet reports to Egypt's Nasser helped trigger the Israeli-Russian incident of 1967, aiding Russian interests.

It is clear our national security will erode unless the United States learns to handle these client-nation wars and war threats.

Major victories by Russian-backed states add to Soviet power and to U.S. weakness.

But if we react as in Vietnam, the United States could become bogged in endless wars at intolerable cost.

Unfortunately, some of the major U.S. military officials concerned do not seem to have learned much from the Vietnam experience except extreme caution and a horror of future involvements.

Except where it involves arms, equipment and other hardware, what research has been done on insurgencies has not been well-received by the Pentagon's military decision makers.

Don Oakley Says: Dilemmas Dog The Indian

By DON OAKLEY

NEA Editorial

As part of recent "Super Sesqui" festivities in Cleveland, Ohio, celebrating the 175th anniversary of the city's founding, the 1796 landing of Connecticut surveyor Moses Cleveland on the banks of the Cuyahoga River was commemorated.

To add color and authenticity to the proceedings, a number of local citizens of Indian descent were asked to dress in costume and act as a welcoming committee.

Along with paint and feathers, however, these Indians carried protest signs denouncing all the white man's works from Chief Washon, symbol of the Cleveland Indians, to the massacre at Wounded Knee.

"We might be 175 years too late," shouted Russell Meenan, a leader of the Cleveland American Indian Movement, "but we're imposing an immigration law. Go back."

The Indian is a lot more than 175 years too late. He missed his chance at Plymouth Rock, or even 1492 would not have been too early to impose an immigration law against European invaders.

Since the past cannot be changed, the Indian is increasingly striving to grasp the present in his own hands in order to shape the future.

"The aim of Red, or Indian Power—the right of Indians to be free of colonialist rule and to run their own affairs with security for their lands and rights—is the major theme of contemporary Indian affairs," writes Alvin M. Josephy Jr., an authority on Indian and Western American history.

The statistics that describe the situation among Indians—reservation Indians, that is—fully justify the militancy. For instance, the Indian average life span is only 44

'Flying Penthouse' Plush Airplane Now Houseboat

DANIA, Fla. (AP) — Short of engines, wings and tail, the "Flying Penthouse" is now a houseboat. It sits baking in a grubby lot, the object of double takes and jers as curious passersby sagely predict, "It'll never float."

The Boeing Aircraft Co. built ten 307 Stratocraft in 1938. The prototype crashed. Five were purchased by Transcontinental and Western Air (now TWA). Pan American Airways bought three.

And the tenth went to Hughes, the then young aviation and business genius who later went on to buy bigger things—recently much of the state of Nevada.

Hughes first wanted to run turn his 1,000-odd passenger liner into a global record setter, but World War II erupted. So he sold for luxury instead.

He spent $250,000 to take the comforts of home with him up to 17,000 feet. The four engine plane was outfitted with a full size bar and buffet kitchen, two lavatories, a ladies powder room, paneled ceilings with direct lighting, a speaker system and special air conditioning system.

Hughes sold the "Penthouse" in 1949 to Glen McCarthy, a Texas oil millionaire.

When the plane hit the open market in 1963 it had a total of 30 flying hours—an average of 20 hours of flight a year for 24 years.

Two Florida firms held brief ownership of the 374-mile-per-hour craft before a man identified as Joseph F. MacCauley took possession of it in 1964.

A Chicago bank says it loaned MacCauley $40,000 to purchase and refurbish the plane, which he wanted to turn into a blue blood charter service to the Bahamas.

The charter service never materialized, but a severe storm did the following year and the plane was disabled and abandoned at Fort Lauderdale's Hollywood International Airport.

Four years passed and the "Flying Penthouse" was given another name: Berrle. It was sold at public auction to a man who carved off its wings. The Wright Cyclone engines had long since disappeared.

Some of the recent gawking in the greas bird's revival.

"They were kind of surprised in see the condition it was in," said London.

2 'Glades Apes Are Reported

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A woman says she saw a 3-foot tall "Evangelical" on her patio the other night, followed the next day by a visit from a 2-foot baby ape which clawed her ankle.

Mrs. Robert King said she saw the larger creature on her patio Saturday night at a distance of six or seven feet.

She said she ran back into her trailer and continued watching the animal through a window. The ape was well illuminated by light spilling from the window, she said.

"It was about five feet, grayish and it looked like it had sores on its body and face," she said. She added the animal had extremely long arms and fingers, very large feet, and "teeth like a dog."

Several people have reported sighting ape-like creatures around a trailer park on the edge of the Everglades about 16 miles west of Fort Lauderdale. The reports started earlier this week and followed by several days a report from a Miami man who claims a peculiar creature lives in Big Cypress Swamp 100 miles to the south west.

Mrs. King said her two Sunday morning, and when she looked out the window she saw a small ape on the patio.

"This one looked like the bigger animal, but was about 2 feet tall and reddish brown in color, she said.

She said both animals resembled pictures of an orangutan which she found in her encyclopedia.

Mrs. King said she filled a plate with lettuce, peaches, tomatoes, other vegetables and fruit and offered it to the small ape.

It accepted the food and later allowed her to stroke its arm twice, she said. When she tried to stroke it again, a grunting noise came from some nearby bushes and the little ape claved her ankle and ran into the bushes, Mrs. King said.

Her ankle bore what looked like claw marks, and she said she was given a tetanus shot by her physician.

Broward County rabies control officer Henry King, who had an unsuccessful ape stake out near the trailer park Friday night, went to the King's trailer Sunday and reported finding many sets of large and small foot and knuckle prints.

Lindsay 'Boosts' Wallace

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The chances of Alabama Gov. George Wallace winning a spot on Florida's March 18 presidential primary ballot as a Democrat may have been boosted by New York Mayor John Lindsay's switch to the Democrats, according to some party officials.

"Frankly, if you welcome Lindsay into the state, how can you not do the same for Wallace?" a state Democratic official said after Lindsay made his move from the Republican ranks last week.

Under Florida's new primary law all congressional district delegates are given to the candidate receiving a simple plurality in that district.

Although in Alabama Wallace is nominally a Democrat, many Florida officials have always viewed him as more of a borderline party member.

Last time Wallace appeared on a Florida ballot—during his 1968 presidential bid—he polled 64,077 votes, 28.3 per cent of all the presidential votes cast. At that time he was a third party candidate.

According to Florida's primary law, Secretary of State Richard Stone must put all candidates on the ballot who receive substantial press coverage as presidential hopefuls.

Stone recently said he was checking into Wallace's situation to see if, in fact, he was planning to campaign in Florida as a Democrat.

The primary is designed for the two-party system and it would be difficult for Wallace to get on the ballot as a third party candidate.

In 1968 Wallace carried 42 of Florida's 47 counties, virtually dominating all north and north west counties. Even in Dade Wallace received 13,391 votes to Richard Nixon's 133,223 and

Hospital Scored Law Challenged

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Kenneth Donaldson, free after 13 years in a state mental hospital, has asked a court to require hundreds of patients "just like me who are not dangerous and who should be on the streets."

Donaldson was released from the Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee July 31 after making 19 applications for release in 13 years.

"They've hurt me so much and made me so angry that nothing other than this lawsuit matters right now," said the 61-year-old man.

With the aid of two New York lawyers, Donaldson filed suit against the institution seeking to overturn Florida's commitment statute and win damages for himself and others in similar circumstances.

"There are hundreds of people in Chattahoochee just like me who are not dangerous and who should be on the streets," said Donaldson.

"And they have to live in a state hospital when they could be living in the neighborhood."

This spring I looked with fresh eyes on two Chicago neighborhoods where I used to live. One was a slum of the older type, and the other, a newer one, perhaps 10 years younger. But these differences are not enough to account for the horrible disintegration of the older place, and the attractive stability of the other. There are discernances of interest—and will. These most likely have roots in social problems, such as educational lag. The point is, government money alone won't make the older place livable.

"Quality of life" is the big thing these days. But we're not going to find it just by holding business and government to account. We need the understanding of a higher quality of human behavior—from all of us.

Papers Of State Aide Show Inconsistencies

By RICH OPPER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Official application papers submitted by Florida's new Division of Economic Opportunity director, Carl Phillip Wallace, reflect inconsistencies with the California's actual background.

Wallace was hired by Secretary of Community Affairs Athlete Range in May, after he had spent a controversial two years as executive director of the Long Beach, Calif. Commission on Economic Opportunities and Community Relations.

His tenure in that job was marked by a 1969 dispute over what was established to be his falsification of job application papers there.

Checks by The Associated Press of officials and documents in Florida and California revealed the following:

— Wallace said on a resume attached to his official Florida application form he attended the College of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., as a journalism major. The registrar's office at the institution, now the University of the Pacific, reports no record of Wallace's ever attending.

— Wallace said on the same resume he took a telecommunications graduate course at the University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles. The USC registrar's office reports no record of his attendance.

— A background sheet Wallace filed with his application stated he "got his post-graduate with the now San Diego Chargers, as a defensive halfback. The Chargers' controller said there is no record of Wallace. Asked about the discrepancy, Wallace said he was a member of the USC football team in 1917 but on the issue of his discharge, "I gave him a chance because we felt he deserved it, and he didn't disappoint us," said Long Beach City Manager Jack O'Neal, a commission member. "He was controversial but that was the nature of the program."

Some other commission members called him personable and generous. On one occasion, when he learned a black woman was running a restaurant alone, he gave up days of his spare time to help her wash dishes, wait tables and clean. It was recalled.

Migrant Trek Early, Poses Big Problem

MIAMI (AP) — Farmworkers unable to find jobs in the North have been returning to South Florida in droves in a quest for work and food, but officials warn "the worst is yet to come" for the migrant families.

Because South Florida's fall crops won't come in until late October, the head of Florida's Migrant Labor Division, Jack Arnold, says "until then it's going to be rough."

Normally the migrants do not return to Florida until mid or late September but this year the "trek" began early.

"For the past two and a half months the northern states have told us not to send anybody up," said Arnold. "They go anyway and then they come back. It gets worse every year and this is the worst yet."

Arnold said the farmworkers feel Florida is their home because they spend about eight months a year picking its oranges, cucumbers and so on.

"The lack of jobs this year is caused by mechanization, a wet growing season and the continuing conversion of agricultural areas into white, middle class suburbs, Arnold said.

In Immokalee, south of Lake Okechobee, some migrant families have been evicted from their homes.

Charles Hayes, an official of the Immokalee UMCA chapter estimates 300 jobless migrants have returned to the area.

OMICA (Organized Migrants in Community Action) is a self-help, political action arm of the farmworker movement.

"We have no food and no money to pay the rent. We have no jobs," said Rachel Veve of the United Farm Workers group. "We have the same emergency now that we had last winter. It never stopped."

Migrant leaders hope the government will finance job training programs that will enable the farmworkers to be filtered into the community after the migrant stream grinds to a halt.

Jim Arnold says there is no money and no guidelines on new legislation dealing with the migrants.

"But with the wet weather and automation, I don't know what we can do. Right now, my people are tired of waiting for any work at all, even for $3 or $4 a day."

The same situation exists in Broward and Palm Beach counties.

In Fort Lauderdale a group of jobless migrants have asked Broward County officials for food stamps, clothing and rent control to prevent their eviction from the migrant labor camps at Pompano Beach. A spokesman for the group said the out-of-work field hands would halt construction on an Interstate 95 project in the area if aid was not forthcoming.

"We have no food and no money to pay the rent. We have no jobs," said Rachel Veve of the United Farm Workers group. "We have the same emergency now that we had last winter. It never stopped."

Sparks Patriot Exhibition Win Carl Garrett Overshadows New Stadium, Crowd

By LARRY ELDREDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Even a new stadium, a record crowd of 66,423 and a monumental traffic jam couldn't steal the spotlight from Carl Garrett.

The hard-running New England back exploded for three long broken field punts to lead the way as the Patriots opened their new home with a 26-14 National Football League exhibition victory over the New York Giants Sunday night.

Midway in the first period he returned a kickoff 33 yards, then burst through the line and streaked 44 yards from scrimmage on the next play for his team's first touchdown.

In the third quarter he loosed again, racing 31 yards to help set up a nine-yard run by Jim Nance for what proved to be the decisive score.

"He's beautiful," said Nance of his running mate. "He's there already no doubt about it. He was just great tonight, unreal."

Fran Tarkenton, who came off the bench in the second half and directed a late surge which almost pulled the game out, said it wasn't easy going in that way.

"I'd rather be a starting pitcher than a relief pitcher," Roger Staubach and Norm Head made strong bids for starting quarterback berths in the Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings, respectively, in Saturday night exhibition games.

Staubach, a former Heisman and Maxwell Trophy winner from Navy who is battling to unseat Craig Morton, fired three touchdown passes, including a 69-yard bomb to Bob Hayes and an 81-yarder to Marv Albert to lead Dallas to a 36-21 triumph over the New Orleans Saints.

Snead, meanwhile, completed 19 of 26 aerials for 251 yards. Minnesota romped past San Diego 34-7.

Allison, Petty Still Dueling; Donohue Trans-Am Winner

By BLOY'S BRITT

The latest chapter in the Allison and Petty show was played in Michigan Sunday, but the auto racing weekend also saw Mark Donohue wrap up his second Trans-Am season title and Bobby Unser break into the winner's circle for the first time since June 11, 1970.

Donohue, rather than a starting driver, was a starting pit crew member for the Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings, respectively, in Saturday night exhibition games.

Fence Awaits 'Word' For Sanford Stadium

By BILL SCOTT
Assistant Supt. of Schools

Wallier Fence is awaiting word from the State Education Department relative to the use of capital funds for constructing a fence around the Sanford Municipal Stadium playing field to facilitate crowd control.

The legal problem involves whether the state supported high school can spend money to improve the field, which is owned by the City of Sanford and is used jointly with Sanford Naval Academy, a private school.

The School Board a year ago signed an agreement with the city to lease the stadium for two years and later indicated it would lease the facility for a much longer time.

School Board attorney Douglas Stinson was authorized to work out some arrangement with the academy regarding payments for use of the stadium.

If the legalities can be ironed out, then the School Board has approved the use of capital funds for the fencing after bids have been let.

Sanford high school has scheduled five home football games at the facility this year.

Hirst Wins Feature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HITTING — Paul Schaal, Royals, drove in all Kansas City's runs with a single, triple and three-run homer in a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Speaking of boxing a return to the booth tube of some small nature came about yesterday when the match between the United States and West Germany was aired from Germany.

If boxing is to return on a regular basis to the "tube" perhaps this would be the answer. Televising the top amateur matches featuring the U.S. team would certainly be an attractive package for some network to pursue.

The action in yesterday's match was superb and undoubtedly will move the public to lead the network which produced the show. Perhaps it will move them to the point where they will demand a regular series of matches.

"What better way would there be to help finance the U.S. Olympic team for the future. The funds realized from the TV package would go into a fund solely for use in aiding the Olympic team. Perhaps the same could be afforded those countries whose teams would oppose the U.S. team in the boxing series."

Most boxing fans will attest to the fact that the amateurs give a better show than the professionals the majority of the time. And the Olympic type action is unmatched for excitement.

As I See It!

by Gary Taylor

By the time you read this, I'll be in Atlanta, hopefully watching the Braves win a few games. It sure would be nice to see them charge in to first place while I'm up there. In addition to seeing about 10 Braves games, I've also got a trip to the Valdega 500 planned.

Rocky Jernigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jernigan, was named to the all-star squad at the North Carolina State University summer basketball clinic. Rocky's father is the Sanford Recreation Department Director.

Now I'm supposed to emphasize that it's North Carolina State and not the University of North Carolina. This is the second year that Rocky has attended the camp. Rocky just wait until the baby basketball season opens up. He'll be tearing them up.

But before basketball comes football. There was some talk of a tackle football league in the city this year, rather than flag football, but I don't know how this idea stands due to financial difficulties.

Just what the criteria for selecting all-tournament team personnel was in the recent Women's Memorial Invitational Slow Pitch Softball Tourney in Ocoee is not known but there must be some weird method of deciding what players make the team.

The reason we offer this opinion is that Fritzie Pillow of DeLand Ralph Pillow Motors was the batting average tie of the above mentioned tourney with a lousy .692 average yet failed to be awarded an all-tourney berth.

Playing for a top team does not automatically place one on the all-tourney team. At least this should be the case but we wonder.

Stockton Records One-Stroke Win

By DAVE OHARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

SUTTON, Mass. — (AP) — Dave Stockton, a young golfer, won the 1971 Massachusetts Golf Classic.

"I looked out," Stockton said Sunday after his 18-hole victory over Ray Floyd in a pressurized packed final at Pleasant Valley Country Club. "I got a very good break and it may have been the turning point."

After taking the lead with a 14-foot birdie putt on the 60th hole, Stockton hit a five-iron shot which appeared headed for a hazard off the seventh green.

The ball struck a girl, though, and dropped on the fringe, enabling Stockton to hold his par.

"The girl, about 10 years old, wasn't hurt," he said. "I held out and gave her the ball. She followed me around the rest of the way. I saw her several times after that."

"You know, that's another good thing about playing near the end of the final round. There are always crowds around the green. If you hit the ball low and call 'fore' softly enough, a bad shot will hit somebody and you can stay out of trouble."

Stockton, a former Southern California star who will be 20 in November, was in a joking mood after his first victory since he won the PGA championship one year ago.

However, he had to be all business on the course to avoid off the challenge by Floyd, Rod Pumphrey and Bruce Crampton down the stretch of the 72-hole tournament.

Stockton, playing with Funnell ahead of Floyd, applied the pressure from the outset, sinking a 12-foot birdie putt to start the final round.

A Bay Area Contest? Could Be A's, Giants Series

By PAUL CORCORAN
Copy News Service

A San Francisco Bay World Series between the Giants and the Oakland A's looms as one of the most intriguing possibilities of the second half of the major league baseball season.

As play resumed after the mid-season break for the All-Star game, there were only two reasonably close races in the four American League and National League divisions. And the Giants were involved in one of them, leading the Los Angeles Dodgers by six full games in the American League East.

Baltimore was 1 1/2 games up on Boston, which has been troubled recently by dismension.

Oakland, with speed, power and pitching, seems out of sight for every division rival, including Minnesota.

There has never been a "Bay" series. The last time the Giants won the pennant in 1925, the A's were still languishing in Kansas City.

Candlestick Park is undergoing remodeling, largely because it will be used for pro football, so it may not look glamorous for a World Series.

There are no obstructions so far as play is concerned, and new stands in right field cut down on the notorious Candlestick wind.

Oakland's multipurpose stadium is only five years old and seats nearly 50,000 for baseball.

The biggest problem the field could present is poor drainage, if there were a winter rain. There are many things that can happen between July and October, however, and even if the Giants and A's do win their divisions, they have to overcome the other division champions.

That may be a tough chore. Baltimore, for example, is basically the same team that beat Cincinnati in the 1970 World Series and boasts two unrelated Robinson boys who are certain to be in the Hall of Fame after their playing days are completed. Unfortunately for the opposition, Brooks and Frank still are very active.

In the National East, Pittsburgh has exceptional hitting and pitching. Many Sangallian is an exceptional catcher and helps his pitchers considerably.

There is not much more anyone can say about such Pirates as Roberto Clemente, the last letter hitter in baseball the last two weeks of June and the first week of July, and Willie Stargell, a strong candidate for the NL home-run crown.

Still, if Juan Marchal gets in the groove and Gary Perry snaps out of the early summer doldrums, the giants may have enough pitching to make a San Francisco Bay series a reality.

Stakes May Clear The Air

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The running of the historic Travers Stakes at Saratoga next Saturday may help clear the muddy picture in the 3 year old colts.

Canovero II appeared to be the standout after he won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. But he has been sidelined by a leg infection.

Pass Cavallo, the surprise winner of the Belmont Stakes, and Jim French then moved to the fore. But both finished out of the money in the recent Monmouth Invitational.

The likely favorite for the Travers at 1 1/4 miles is William Levin, greatly improved Bob Heason, who has won his last five starts. Other Travers probable include Eastern Field, Kennedy Road, Good Behavior and Eric Journey.

While the Travers will be run for the 102nd time, the $100,000 Hobson Handicap will have its inaugural running at Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

A third $100,000 race is listed for this weekend, the Benjamin F. Lindheimer at Arlington.

Other Saturday features include the Venter Handicap at Atlantic City, the Cabrillo Handicap at Del Mar, and Princess Doreen Handicap at Hockley and Eddie Hahn Handicap at Delaware Park, which reopens for the second half of its 1971 meeting.

Responds To 'Blue Day' Crowd Vida Blue Displays Bat In 22nd Win

By KEN RAPPAPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was Blue Sunday in New York and just another black day for Jim Perry in Minneapolis. The loss was his 14th, his last victory was June 30, 10 1/2 days ago.

Vida Blue, leading candidate to the Cy Young Award as the American League's best pitcher, responded to a "Blue Day" crowd at Yankee Stadium by leading the Oakland A's to a 6-4 victory over New York.

While Blue continued an amazing success story with his 2nd victory, Detroit stopped Minnesota 7-3 and pummed the Cleveland Indians 4-2.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4; the Cincinnati Reds clouted the Chicago Cubs 3-1; The Houston Astros trimmed the Atlanta Braves 5-1; the San Francisco Giants ripped the New York Mets 6-1; the Montreal Expos beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3; and the San Diego Padres whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 5-1 in the first game of a doubleheader and completed a sweep with a 3-2 victory in the night cap.

A crowd of 45,133 turned up at Yankee Stadium as New York celebrated Oakland's fabulous outpacing with a special day. Thousands wore blue and anyone named Blue was admitted free.

They saw Blue battle the knocked in the first inning with a squeeze bunt single in the second inning, then survived a four-run New York seventh, before being smothered but eventually scoring the winning run in a four-run Oakland eighth.

The victory was not without its effects on the 2-year-old star. "I feel the tension every day," said Blue. "Physically, I'm all right, but I sometimes feel like I'm going to crack up mentally."

Brown, a first lining replacement after a collision in the triple run homer in the sixth.

Detroit outfielder Dick McAuliffe and Mickey Stanley was a pain in the neck for Perry. Pressed into action after center fielder Stanley suffered a slight concussion, Brown chased in a run with a fifth-inning triple and walked a third-run homer in the sixth.

LOOKING FOR A TALLADEGA 500 victory will be Donnie Allison who won the Winston 500 at the Alabama International Speedway last May. On hand when the $120,000 race roars underway will be Herald Sports Editor Gary Taylor who will report the race results and interesting highlights and sidelights of the NASCAR event. (AIMS Photo)

The idea behind the Volkswagen Squareback Sedan.

Twenty-three years ago, we had an idea for a small economy car. And it came out looking like a bug. Two years ago, we had an idea for a giant station wagon. And it came out looking like a box. Then we had an idea for a sedan that combined all the economy of our bug with a lot of the capacity of our box.

So you'd expect it to come out looking half bug, half box. Right? Wrong.

Our Squareback Sedan looks like a small station wagon. But by opening off its back end, adding a trunk in front, our little sedan can give you over twice as much carrying space as the biggest domestic sedan.

Years ago, we learned the important thing isn't how you look on the outside, but how it works on the inside.

And so it's just as true today on a Volkswagen as it was then. You can't judge a Volkswagen by its cover.

Cigarettes Sales Spiral

By MARION BITHEA
Despite the fact that effective July 1, Florida's cigarette tax increased to 37 cents per pack and regardless of warnings of injurious health as well as the absence of commercials on television, the sale of cigarettes has continued to spiral.

According to Winston Wynne, state beverage director, distribution of taxes upon 666,772,187 packs of cigarettes sold in May will be made this month. This amount is some 2.7 million packs of 411 per cent over the previous May. Florida's cigarette tax increased to 37 cents per pack and regardless of warnings of injurious health as well as the absence of commercials on television, the sale of cigarettes has continued to spiral.
