

PIRATES TRIM CELERY FEDS IN 4 TO 1 CONTEST

LEESBURG, Apr. 24 (Special)—The Leesburg Pirates extended their current winning streak to three contests last night as the locals laced out a 4-to-1 victory over the Seminole Countians behind the four hit hurling of Clarence Amorileo.

George Green, Sanford moundman, was pounded for eleven safeties.

The Pirates tallied two markers in the third and another pair in the seventh for the winning margin. Sanford pushed one across in the top of the seventh.

Dave Bride, Manager, Buddy Lake, Jerry Silverman and Mike Ward were the only Fed members able to hit safely in the contest. Manager Wilbur Good of the Pirates paced the attack on Green with two hits in as many attempts. Doug Johnson blasted three in four appearances.

The Pirates invade the Municipal Park in Sanford tonight for a return engagement with the SANFORD aggregation.

Mack Bemoans Lowly Philadelphia A's

PHILADELPHIA, Apr. 24—Connie Mack is bemoaning the fact that he can't get any help for his lowly Philadelphia Athletics. Says the 84-year-old Phil: "Nobody wants to help us. They get you down by grog, they keep you there."

Mack adds: "Teams don't have ball players they want to trade us. When they do want to get rid of a guy, by heck we don't want him either. I want to give Philadelphia a winning ball club, but it won't be this year. I don't know when we'll get a winner."

Advocates National Information Bureau

LExINGTON, Apr. 24—The President of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, Leslie Combs, II, today advocated the establishment of a national information bureau.

Combs said at Lexington, Ky., that the bureau would have the advantage of cooperation of other agencies such as the Jockey Club, Thoroughbred Racing Association and the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau. He added: "All those engaged in racing would have the protection of having their records clean as well as any penalties against them emphasized."

Nicholson Accepting No Batting Tips

CHICAGO, Apr. 24—Big Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs says he's through accepting advice on how to regain his batting eye.

When Nicholson stopped hitting two years ago, he received more tips than a neophyte better at a race track. Nicholson listened to all advice, but still didn't start hitting. This year, Bill decided that he would close his ears to all batting tips. He now is accepting advice from only one person, his roommate, Stan Hack.

Incidentally, Nicholson doesn't have such a robust batting average this season. But he has been driving across runs for the Cubs.

SPORTS LAUGH

In these days of high-pressure athletics, you hear many stories about iron-hearted college coaches and their strong-armed training methods. Naturally, most of them are stretched to be humorous.

One of the best coaching stories concerns a well known southern college football mentor. According to the yarn, his team was taking quite a beating in a certain game. On one play, a star lineman was buried under a pile-up and apparently hurt pretty badly.

"Players and a trainer worked over the injured player for a few minutes but to no avail. Finally the coach ran on the field to take a look himself.

An attending doctor told the coach, "Better carry that boy off the field."

The coach exploded, "What do you mean, carry him off. I'm short of substitutes now."

The doctor persisted, declaring "But the boy is badly hurt. He can't walk. He can't even breathe."

The coach shouted back, "You're the doctor. Make him breathe."

U.O.F. TRACKMAN WILL ENTERTAIN AUBURN APRIL 26

GAINESVILLE, Apr. 24—The University of Florida Gator cindermen, recent winners over Georgia and Mississippi State, will entertain their Fourth-Southeastern Conference rival of the season here Saturday when they meet a strong track aggregation from Auburn.

Coach Percy Beard's Gators, who have lost only to Georgia Tech this season, face another strong team and their last Conference rival of the season in Coach Wilbur Hutzel's Tigers Saturday afternoon.

The Gators have an open date scheduled during the State High School Track meet here, May 3, and will entertain Miami cindermen here May 10.

Auburn's appearance on Graham Field Saturday will mark the second visit of the Tigers this season, for they were strong contenders in the Florida Relays here several weeks ago.

Tiger Captain Fred Carley established a new Relays mark in the mile team race.

With Auburn depending mainly on Carley, Carl Christian, Dexter Fearing, Dick Flourney, Jack DeMedici, and Bill Payne for points Saturday Florida will have Bill (Tiger) Adams, St. Petersburg, in the sprints; Bob Ennis, Tampa, in the hurdles; and Tom Bevis, Gainesville, for the mile.

Other Gator strong men will be George Hillis, Jacksonville, shot put; Henry Gardner, Tampa, high jump; Gordon Atkinson, Jacksonville, javelin; Jim Wilcox, Tampa, broad jump; and Gene Williams, St. Petersburg, in the pole vault.

In the quarter mile event the Gators will have Tom Watkins, Jacksonville, and Jack Haskett, St. Petersburg; Jack Willis, Punta Gorda, will run with Bevis in the mile scamp; and Charles Earnest, Miami, and C. H. McKinnon, St. Augustine, will wear Gator colors in the half mile run.

At the pole vault, Williams vaulting mate will be Billy Reynolds, St. Petersburg, and Sam Commandar, Sebechopy, will aid Gardner and Wilcox in the high and broad jumps.

Jim Griffin, Tampa, will be in the two mile and running the high hurdles for Florida will be Charles (Chuck) Hunsinger, Harrisburg, Ill.

The meet is scheduled for 2:00 o'clock on Graham Field.

Whitlow Wyatt To Return To Diamond

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Apr. 23—The veteran baseball pitcher Whitlow Wyatt, who retired two years ago after 15 years in the Majors, plans to return to the diamond. He's returning strictly as an amateur.

Wyatt has been signed as manager of the Kings Bakers team of the Tennessee-Georgia Amateur League. He now operates a filling station in Chattanooga.

SCORES ACE

LONDON, Apr. 23—Britain's grand old man of golf, James Braid, today celebrated his 15th hole-in-one. Now 77 years old, Braid is a five-time winner of the British Open. His latest ace was scored on the 165-yard tenth hole at the Walton Heath Course, where he has been professional for 43 years.

COMMENTS from the SIDELINES

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.

Umpire Troubles

Nelson-Hardin, Sports Editor of the Palatka Daily News, seems to be rather critical of the umpire situation in the Florida State League.

Nelson has this to say in a recent column concerning the arbiters: "We attended the meeting in Orlando and listened to Bill Summers, American League umpire who conducted the school for the Florida State League, tell us that the umpiring in the league this year would be way above that of last season and we came away feeling that we could watch and score a ball game without wanting to hop on an arbiter for bad decisions, but that is not the case."

"Maybe the boys in blue need to get into shape the same as the players do and they'll get better as the season rolls along—we certainly hope so, because the umpiring last night was as bad, if not worse, than last season."

"The decisions on the bases were way off, not that we are trying to alibi the loss to Sanford, but every time the locals had a chance to score the decision was against them. Two close plays at first base were at least ties, and the runner should get the benefit of ties; and another play when a Sanford player was caught off second on a throw by Toncoff, and the ball was there waiting for him to slide into it, he was called safe."

"Maybe things will get better as the season grows older."

WILLIAMS EYES FENCE

NEW YORK, Apr. 24—Ted Williams insists that he's going to hit to left field this season in order to beat the unorthodox defensive alignments which opposing teams are using against him.

The other hand Williams admits that he's having a tough time keeping his eyes off those short right field fences. He referred specifically to Yankee Stadium, where the Red Sox are now playing, and where the fence along the right field foul line is only 296 feet from home plate.

Nation Prepares To Pay Tribute To Babe Ruth On Sunday

NEW YORK, Apr. 24—Minor league baseball, from Abilene, Texas, to Zapleville, will join the Majors Sunday in paying tribute to the suit of swat, the one and only Babe Ruth.

Minor League commissioner George Trautman says that each of the 62 minor circuits will have programs honoring the Babe. Many Minor League parks will re-broadcast the pre-game ceremonies from Yankee Stadium in New York, where the Babe will be in attendance.

As an example of what the minors are doing on Babe Ruth Day, Trautman said that both the American Association and Pacific Coast Leagues will distribute pictures of Ruth with his playing record on the reverse side. At least ten percent of the gate receipts of an exhibition game at Bluefield, will be forwarded to Ruth to be turned over to whatever charity he designates.

Feller Lauds New Heating Jacket For One Hit Contest

CLEVELAND, Apr. 24—Bobby Feller says his new electric heating jacket had much to do with the one-hit game he hurled against the St. Louis Browns.

"As for the 10 strikeouts he registered, Feller said: "I didn't realize I had fanned that many. I wasn't aiming for strikeouts, but it's still a good way to get batters out."

Feller's one-hitter was described by Dizzy Dean as the finest game he ever had seen pitched by a right-hander. Whereupon someone asked Dean how Rapid Robert would compare with old Diz in his prime. Replied Dean: "Favorable. Mighty favorable."

Bing Takes Leave Of Pirate Combine

DETROIT, Apr. 24—Bing Crosby has taken leave of the Pittsburgh Pirates, after seeing the rejuvenated Pittsburgh club through the early stages of the National League pennant race.

Interviewed in Detroit, Bing commented: "Well, I left them in first place. From now on, they're on their own."

Crosby put his okay on the purchase of Big Hank Greenberg. Said Bing: "Hank is a great team player. We'll have our money back in another month."

TO CHANGE SCHOOLS

BOSTON, Apr. 24—The star quarterback of last year's freshman football team at Boston College Don Paniera, is believed en route to the Pacific Coast to enroll at the University of San Francisco. The player's mother, Mrs. James Paniera of Westley, R. I., says Don plans to change schools. The new coach at San Francisco is Ed McLeavey, who was an assistant to Frank Leahy at Boston College a few years back.

We Are Willing To Settle The Telephone Strike RIGHT NOW

Since the big disagreement with the union is over wages, we have offered to submit the fairness of our wages to an impartial group of citizens in the South and abide by their decision.

Such a board of arbitration would decide, among other things, the extent to which recent wage settlements in other industries have a bearing, if any, on telephone wages in the communities served by Southern Bell. Some of these industries have stated that it will not be necessary for them to increase prices, but since the Telephone Company is a regulated public utility, telephone users must pay in rates for service what the company has to pay out in wages.

We think our offer to arbitrate is the best way to stop the strike and the fairest to employees and telephone customers alike.

But the union has refused this offer.

Why?

Apparently, the reason is that the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers, a southern union composed of southern men and women, cannot move without the approval of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, with which it is affiliated. And it looks as if the National Federation of Telephone Workers wants nation wide power for itself over an essential industry through nation wide bargaining.

The Southern Federation is the union, with which our contracts have been signed. They have made a long list of demands upon the company, but certain of these demands, they tell us, cannot be decided through negotiations between themselves and us alone. They must be settled on a National basis.

In effect, therefore, the Southern Federation is being operated by "remote control"—by persons remote from southern interests, southern responsibilities and southern conditions.

The company believes that settling southern wage matters in the South by southern people—on the basis of conditions prevailing in the South—is the fair way to handle the wage question.

If the union would agree, the strike could be ended immediately—employees could get back to work—and the public could get normal service.

All this could be done if the Southern Federation of Telephone Workers would sit down with us, engage in free and unrestrained negotiations—and act for themselves.

LATE TIN KING HAD FORTUNE OF $300,000,000

BUENOS AIRES, April 24 — Simon I. Patino, eighty-seven, the Bolivian tin king, who was one of the world's wealthiest men, died Sunday at his suite in the Hotel Plaza here after a heart attack.

Cans Helped Build Fortune
Simon I. Patino grew a little richer every time a housewife opened a tin can. Though his name was not familiar to the public, he had a fortune estimated at between $300,000,000 and $500,000,000, and he controlled the output of at least one-fifth of the world's tin, an indispensable metal in modern life.

The tin king's power and fortune came to him comparatively late in life. At the age of thirty-five he was hauling firewood in the Bolivian Andes for a living. Ten years later he was earning $35 a month as a clerk in a general store at Pruro, Bolivia. One day the store owner came a Portuguese tin prospector asking for $85 worth of dynamite and grub on credit. When the store owner's son refused the grubstake, Mr. Patino guaranteed the loan in exchange for a deed to the tin claim.

According to the generally accepted story, Mr. Patino was discharged by the store owner for having given the grubstake. The prospector failed to find his tin, but assured Mr. Patino that it was there for anyone with the patience and funds to dig it out. Mr. Patino borrowed enough money to keep himself and his wife alive for a year and went prospecting himself. He found the vein, which he called the Negra mine, and staked out adjacent claims. By 1908, Mr. Patino, the humble Spanish-Indian wood carter, was rich. Once he started to sign a deed selling his claim to American interests for what was to him a fabulous sum, but his wife tore the contract up.

Fought Over Claims

He did not, however, keep his new wealth without a fight. A Frenchman with an old title to the Negra mine turned up. There was fighting, and men were killed. When the Frenchman's claim entered the courts the title record disappeared mysteriously from a train and was never found. In the end Mr. Patino's ownership was confirmed at law.

In 1911 he went to Europe for the first time. He took along his own chefs, a herd of his own cattle to be slaughtered for his meat, his own wine and his own chili peppers.

He began to buy more tin mines in Bolivia until he controlled two-thirds of the country's production. He built railways to carry his ore. When World War I was fought the price of his tin soared. He organized his Bolivian mines into a corporation in 1924, Patino Mine and Enterprises, Consolidated, bought major interests in British and Dutch tin corporations in Malaya and the East Indies and acquired a smelter at Bootle, Eng-

WHITNEY SHOW WILL BE TRIBUTE TO BLAKELOCK

By Gaston Coblenz
A great American landscapist, whose canvases sold for $20,000 in New York in 1916 while he was in an insane asylum and his family starved, in the Catskills, will be commemorated in an exhibit opening tomorrow at the Whitney Museum of American Art, 10 West Eight Street.

Forty-four of Ralph Albert Blakelock's paintings will be shown on the 100th anniversary of the year of his birth in New York, coinciding with the centenary of City College, where he was a student until he left without being graduated in 1866.

Blakelock's life is an object lesson that "we ought to recognize our artists before they go insane," Lloyd Goodrich, associate curator of the museum, said yesterday. "It's one of the worst artist stories ever."

Sales Start Too Late

Blakelock was driven to insanity by his inability to support his wife and nine children in Brooklyn by means of his art. In the 1880's he was selling his painting for as little as $17.50 apiece. Critics ignored or condemned him.

In 1899, a month after the birth of his youngest child, he was sent to an insane asylum. Almost as soon as he was confined, his work began to sell. In 1900 a critic wrote that "few Americans deserve a higher niche in the temple of fame."

For seventeen years following this praise, Blakelock occupied a niche in the Middleton State Hospital for the Insane at Middletown, N. Y. Mrs. Blakelock and her younger children lived in a bare one-room farmhouse in a ravine near Catskill.

In 1916, a Blakelock Fund was started in New York with an exhibition of his paintings at the Rinehart gallery. The artist was allowed a one-day visit to the city. He was accompanied here by a reporter of the New York Tribune. The paper announced his arrival with a two-column headline on April 12, 1916. He was described as a "child amidst the sights of the city," his eyes "shining with eagerness."

Thought He Was Wealthy

The artist's principal delusion when insane was that he was immensely wealthy. He once rewarded a friend for a small favor by sending him a check for $9,000,000.

Mr. Goodrich, displayed in his office a small leather folder containing three pieces of shut-cloth which Blakelock fashioned to the size and shape of currency bills. He gave them to William I. Cressmer, a Chicago collector, in 1916.

"Take this back to Chicago," the artist told Mr. Cressmer. "Don't spend it, but live off the interest." The "bills," preserved in their original condition, are landscapes painted to resemble currency. One of them is marked "$1,000,000." The paintings in this week's exhibition, which will continue till May 29, have been lent by twenty-eight museums and private collectors throughout the country.

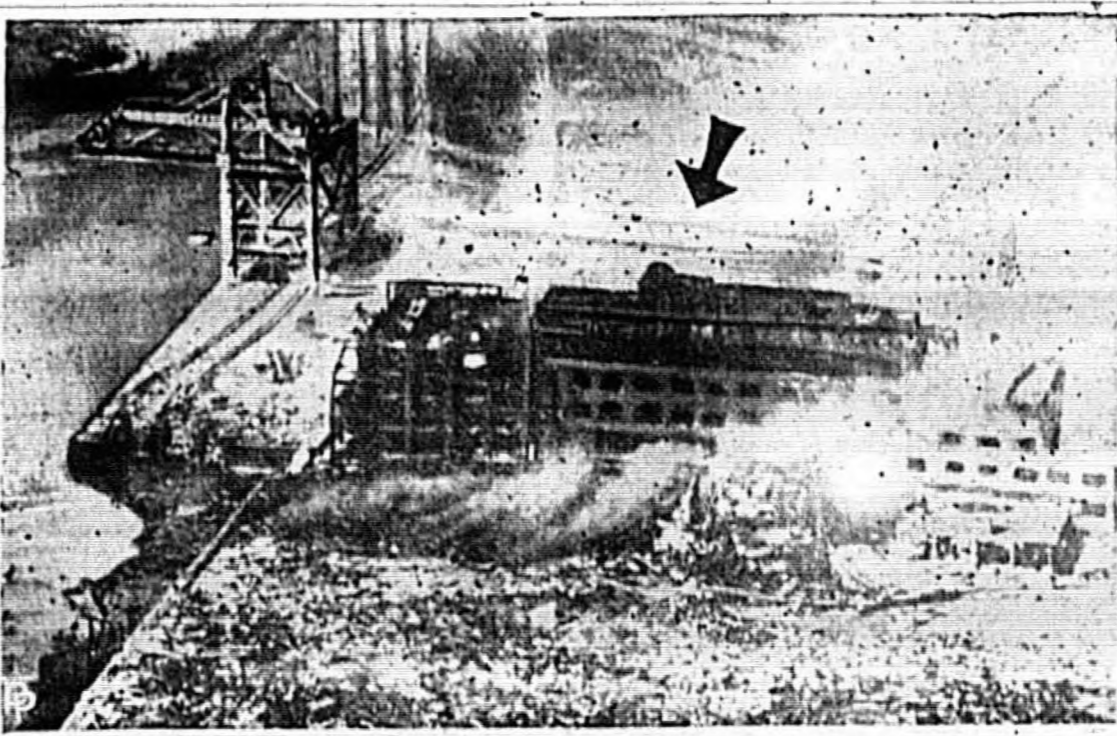

Work Often Forged

With Albert Pinkham Ryder, Blakelock is frequently considered the leading representative in his generation of the romantic tradition in American painting. Shortly after he was sent to the hospital, forgery of his work began. No other American painter, the museum states, has been so extensively faked. Blakelock's art depicts twilight or nocturnal world, with little attempt at realistic accuracy.

Cora Rebecca Bailey, of Brooklyn, now ninety-one, co-operated with the museum in preparing the exhibition. She lives near Catskill, according to Mr. Goodrich, who said that five children also survive, none of whom lives in New York.

The depression of the 1930's failed to make more than a dent in his tin empire. To weather the slump he organized a world committee to stabilize tin prices and adjust production to world demand.

Cattle Roaming On Florida Highways Cause 31 Deaths

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 24 (Special)—Thirty-one visitors and residents met their death in a collision with roaming cattle upon Florida's highways during the 5-year period, 1942-1946, when both travel and speed were great, but restricted owing to potholes and ruts, according to Florida State Chamber of Commerce reports yesterday.

During the same period and from the same cause 264 cows, pigs and chickens were killed, many seriously, the chamber revealed. It was stated by the organization that property damage in excess of $50 was sustained in collisions reported by the State Department of Public Safety during that period.

Four hundred eighteen accidents came about as a result of direct collision with highway-roaming animals, and 208 took place in spite of efforts of motorists to avoid such collisions, it was stated.

In this latter category fatalities and injuries were greatest. The State Chamber pointed out that in other words, it was possible for those motorists who tried to avoid collisions than to those who had no notice of impending trouble. Thirty-two of the 31 killed were motorists.

This portrayal is taken from the official records of the state of Florida," according to the State Chamber, "and is released, frankly, with the hope that the lightness of the condition will be brought home to those having the responsibility and the authority to put a legal end to future tragedies of this kind."

The State Chamber of Commerce is obligated to comment upon those factors which make Florida a better Florida. Its obligation is to call attention to those factors which make Florida a better Florida. It is not permitted expression at the polls, will get an end to this frightful highway slaughter."

Meeting Endorses Financial Aspects Of Education Plan

TAMPA, Apr. 24—(FNS)—Steering clear of the legislative duel between Governor Caldwell and the State Senate, the Florida Education Association at the closing of its annual convention last week adopted a resolution endorsing the financial aspects of the Citizens Committee on Education as the minimum necessary to provide a satisfactory program for all counties.

The resolution stated that any decrease in the citizens program would jeopardize the functioning of essential school activities and adversely affect teachers' salaries.

The association heard, without acting on, a message from Governor Caldwell proposing to restore the $3,200,000 cut he made in the citizens "minimum" program.

In response to telegrams from both House and Senate groups urging it to insist on a separate bill for school finances apart from educational reorganization plans, the FEA said in effect that it wanted the minimum program of the Citizens Committee passed and a check this was done in one bill of more than 1,000 pages.

In other resolutions, the FEA called for a continued program to establish a $2,400 minimum salary for all teachers; asked the State Education Department to prepare plans for teacher recruitment plan; asked congress to pass the emergency appropriation for school lunch aid; urged expanded adult education recommended to Congress; that teachers' retirement payments up to $1,400 be exempted from Federal income tax.

We love 'em in December as we do in May

REMEMBER the day you first romped away in that Buick of yours? How those eight Fireball cylinders fairly floated you over the hills—how those road-steady two tons of lively car answered sweetly every light touch of your hand on the wheel—how you glided along with four-square Buick oil springing smoothing every wrinkle in the road?

That's what your Buick was built to do. Years and years of that kind of driving are in it—especially when it gets the interested, informed car care this fine an automobile should have.

That doesn't mean just periodic lubrication, a body wash, battery check or bolt-tighten. It means thorough attention by competent Buick men—attention that keeps a Buick always a Buick.

Buicks are our babies. Even the smallest details are handled the way they should be for a Buick. We have Buick tools that do jobs better and sparker. We have men who know Buicks best. We have Buick-engineered parts that are precisely right for your car.

Put that all together and it's Buick car care.

Pretty clear, isn't it, that here is where your Buick will receive the best attention? After all, we love 'em heart and soul.

"TOP" SECRET

One of the things that play a part in Fireball snap is Buick's water-thin steel cylinder gasket. Just 15 thousandths of an inch thick, it's a "must" for the high compression this powerful straight-eight is designed for. Other kinds that are thicker cut down the compression and the car's liveliness.

In carbon and valve jobs, or any other where this gasket must be replaced, only this Buick gasket will assure the fit Buick engineers intended. No wise Buick owner would have any other in his engine.

Just another example of how you get more for your money—in major adjustments, tune-ups, lubrication or anything your car needs—when you make sure it gets Buick car care.

Fund Aids Young Artists In Debuts

By JACK O'BRIAN NEW YORK—For a good many decades young folks of concert caliber, whose lack of platform experience has forced them to remain amateurs, have been forced to pay for their own concert debut in such hallowed waiting premises as Carnegie Hall and Town Hall. The attendant "grunt," or cost, has been large; in some cases prohibitive.

The result has been a glut of youngsters growing into balding bachelors and frustrated old maids whose abilities are recognized by themselves and their friends. But without the wherewithal to knock back at opportunity, their fancy performing had to remain in the parlor, back room and bath.

These operatic shower-room baritones, classic fiddlers, road-company Rubenstein and hall-the-way Heifetzes now have a chance to be presented to the major music critics in Manhattan. Young fellow named Sherman Pitluck dreamed it up, to the great gratitude of several artists who already have gone their way a few rungs up the ladder of celebrity, without the basic necessity of ponying up from $1,000 to $2,000 for the privilege.

Three years ago Sherman dreamed up the idea of arranging for the same program with artists of reputable musical stature, thereby assuring a financially successful debut, even though in most cases the youngsters received little or no remuneration. But since what the tyros want most is a chance to be heard by New York's first string music critics, this was all to the musical mustard with the kids. At this point it has proved workable and has started several lads and lassies along the road to renown.

The Gulet String Quartet, for instance, received its first attention with the help of young Mr. P., and the result was a series of tours on the secondary circuits, and the group later was signed by RCA Victor for a series of recordings.

Ethel Kramer, a violinist, is in her first full season of bookings throughout this country, and a junket abroad is in the works. "The debut performers are not music pupils," Sherman points out. "They are finished artists, starting out on their careers. Some have appeared in minor parts in operettas or other musical productions, but have not had their opportunity on the Big Time. Appearing on the program with a celebrated artist gives the young musician confidence and a standard of performance at which to aim, and augments his chances for a successful debut."

Pitluck says the established concert stars seldom balk at supplying the helping hand for the beginning of young careers. Sherman's idea has been turned into a prosperous business. Debut and Encore Concerts, Inc., now in its third-annual season in Town Hall.

"I feel that I am in charge of the first couple of rungs on the success ladder," Sherman says. "The upper reaches call for individual attention, and that leaves it up to the young artists themselves."

126 Florida Airports Owned By Taxpayers

MIAMI, Apr. 24, (FNS)—Florida taxpayers have $220,700,000 investment in 126 publicly owned airports in the state it was revealed this week by a state survey.

William C. Lazarus, state aviation supervisor who made the survey, said growth of airports in Florida during the past five years had exceeded that of any other state. He added that Florida's airport landing facilities "are seven years ahead of their times."

The state official reported that maintenance in 1947 for the federal state-owned airports would amount to $753,361. He did not list maintenance costs for the 130 private owned and military airports throughout the state.

"The runways, taxiways and parking aprons in the airports in this state contain enough pavement," said Lazarus, "to pave a highway from Miami to St. Petersburg, which is a distance of 4,340 miles."

Approval Of Tax Cut Urged By Executive

CIO Representative Attacks Measure As Not Relieving Those In Need

WASHINGTON, Apr. 25—The National Association of Manufacturers and the CIO expressed widely different opinions of the $4,000,000,000 income tax cut bill today. Speaking for the NAM was Harry Humphreys, Jr., a United States Rubber Company executive who asked for prompt passage of the bill and said that it would release what he called "productive energies."

Stanley Rutenberg, representing the CIO, attacked the measure which would provide cuts ranging from 20 to 30 percent in the low brackets and 10 1/2 percent at the very top. Rutenberg said that the bill would give the greatest tax relief to those who least need it, and it would grant tax relief "to the greedy and not to the needy."

Both men made their remarks in prepared testimony before the Senate Finance Committee which is ending its first week of hearings on the bill.

Meanwhile the Senate resumed work on its bill to curb labor unions and Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota predicted that more restrictions will be written into it. But Senator George Aiken of Vermont said that will assure a presidential veto.

Also the House Banking Committee submitted for House action a bill to continue national rent controls at least until Dec. 31. The committee reversed itself and killed a provision for a 10 percent increase in rents.

The Sanford Lions Club today endorsed a Financial Responsibility bill passed at Tallahassee by the House and pending action in the Senate, which would require every motorist in Florida to be able to respond to damages in involved in an accident.

This approval of the bill followed the reading of a letter by King Lion Witte from the Florida Safety Council urging such legislation and stating the State Chamber of Commerce had endorsed it. It was stated in the letter that more than 30 states had already adopted such ordinances and that it is not a compulsory insurance bill.

Quite a lively discussion followed the reading of the notice. King Lion Witte pointed out that if the bill should be made law that it was probable that a motorist who is involved in an accident, and is financially unable to pay claims resulting from damage or injury, would lose his or her driver's license.

King Lion Witte gave a report on actions taken at the recent meeting in Mt. Dora. Managers of Junior League teams were urged to present a game and to keep close track of equipment after games. Harry Rolson showed a sample of the new lettered jerseys to be ordered for the players of the boys teams.

Tall Twister Dick Elsberry was fined 10 cents for not wearing his Tall Twister badge.

The deceased was born June 10, 1877 in Leno, E. C. and is survived by five daughters, two sons, 23 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Responding to President's Plea

APPROVING LOOKS are cast by townfolk of Newburyport, Mass., as John Swanson, a local hardware merchant places signs on his store's window announcing a lowering in prices. Stores throughout the city, which has a population of 15,000, cut their prices 10% in response to the President's plea to lower costs. Many businesses reported marked increase in sales after adopting the plan. (International Newsphoto)

Ex-Convict Gets $10,000 From State For Undeserved Sentence

CANON CITY, Colorado, Apr. 25—Loren Hamby was given $10,000 by the State of Colorado today for six years spent unjustly in the penitentiary.

Hamby won't get a dime of it personally, he plans to turn over the entire amount to his mother who considered no sacrifice too great to clear her son of a murder charge.

The story began when George Carnes was killed at his Waldenburg, Colo., filling station June 22, 1917 and Hamby was charged with the slaying.

But Hamby claimed he was listening to the broadcast of the Louis-Braddock heavyweight fight at the time of the holdup murder. The jury failed to believe him and he started a life sentence at the Colorado Penitentiary in Canon City on Oct. 23rd, 1919.

Hamby's family then began a fight to clear their son of the charge. First they sold a cotton plantation in Texas. The family home in Colorado was mortgaged.

Immediate action has been promised by the State Road Department in cleaning out ditches along Geneva Avenue, according to a letter received by the Drainage Committee of the Seminole County Farm Bureau from State Representative M. B. Smith.

The letter read: "The State Road Department today advised me that this is a matter of importance and that they will give their immediate attention."

The County has already taken action to clean ditches along Richmond Avenue, but the flooding of farms in this section was largely due to the bad condition of the ditches along Geneva, from Beck Hammock east, according to the Drainage Committee of the Farm Bureau. Lee Butler is committee chairman.

Farmers are urged to report any serious drainage problems to chairman Butler. The County, he said, has promised quick action on any county ditches, and it is believed that the state will give similar relief where they are responsible.

"Our drainage committee has done a fine job," said President M. I. Cullum. "In getting the Smith Canal cleaned last Fall, Farmers on the West side were saved untold losses this spring, as rainfall has been more than double normal."

Battered American Tug Reaches Port

FALMOUTH, England, Apr. 25—The battered American ocean-tug "Farallon" reached port today after fighting a burlesque sea battle with a bitter denunciation of the former prime minister's attack on the labor party.

Churchill, Attlee declared, has directed "a torrent of abuse" against the Labor government without offering "a single word" in support of the trade unionists at St. Andrews. Attlee replied sharply to Churchill's comment of last week that the government is "living upon the American dime."

Senate Okays Salaries Of County Body

Bill Introduced Confirming Ordinances In Sanford Closing Streets, Alleys

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 25—The Florida Senate today passed the bill pertaining to the salaries of the Seminole County Commissioners. This measure has already been approved by the House.

Representatives Brailey Odham and M. B. Smith introduced a bill in the House confining all Sanford ordinances pertaining to closing streets and alleys.

The Florida House of Representatives lent to the Senate a constitutional amendment to raise the pay of the lawmakers from $6 to $10 a day.

In addition, the amendment would provide $250 per day for subsistence and four round trips home at 1/2 the cost per mile.

The vote was 74 to 5 on the move to raise legislative pay.
