

ATHENS EXCITED OVER FORMER PREMIER VENIZELOS' DECISION TO RETURN TO HIS NATIVE COUNTRY

HIS DIPLOMATIC ABILITY NEEDED MUCH POPULAR IN GREECE

Newspapers Hint That He May Want To Serve Country As Ruler

(By The Associated Press) ATHENS, Dec. 27.—Athens is talking of little else than the decision of Eleutherios Constantine Venizelos, Greece's war time premier, to return to his home land and give the country the benefit of his genius as a statesman and conciliator in an attempt to readjust the problems which have arisen from Greece's bitter political strife.

Greek meets Greek with the salutations, "He's coming," which is reminiscent of two years ago when King Constantine was recalled from exile in Switzerland, and already sworn political enemies had been shaking hands.

Fear He May Want King. The Athens newspapers Wednesday gave much space to portraits of Venizelos and particulars of the successful movement to have him return to Greece. The republican papers, while not desiring to minimize the importance of the event, take care to point out that the former premier's sojourn here will be temporary and proceed to reveal their fears that Venizelos may insist on the return of the king in order to gain the support of the royalists to his program.

The Demokritia, mouthpiece of the republicans, declares that Venizelos will be made to realize that all efforts toward a restoration of the monarchy and the prevention of constitutional changes will be futile. Rebels Want Him Premier. The liberals naturally hail the return of Venizelos while the revolutionary government's organ, Eleftheros Logos, expresses the hope that Venizelos eventually will be persuaded to become the next premier. He declares he cannot regulate the situation unless he personally directs the government.

Col. Plastiras, head of the revolutionary committee, received the information of the decision of Venizelos to return Christmas day. Military Bonitas Dismissed. LONDON, Dec. 27.—The military organizations in Greece which agitated for the departure of King George, says an Agency dispatch from Athens, have been dissolved voluntarily in view of former Premier Venizelos' decision to return to Greece. The organizations having informed Venizelos that they would leave the future confidentially in his hands.

The services organized by Col. Plastiras as leader of the military revolution will also be dispersed in January 1, the dispatch adds. The newly elected national assembly will be opened the following day with a speech by Col. Plastiras and then adjourned until the third week in January after the Greek fetes thus giving M. Venizelos time to consider the situation.

Prize Winning Plan Is Presented To Edw. Bok

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The prize winning plan in Edward W. Bok's $100,000 American peace award contest was presented to Mr. Bok Thursday by Eli Root, chairman of the jury of award. Mr. Bok came here from Philadelphia to read the plan and transmit it to the policy committee of the contest.

The author of the plan will receive $50,000 at once, but his name will not be disclosed until his peace proposal can be submitted to a referendum of the American people, which will be undertaken through the press, churches, clubs and postoffices of the nation beginning January 7—the date the terms of the winning plan will be made public.

KIWANIANS ENJOY INTERESTING MEET AT VALDEZ HOTEL

Sanford Kiwanians held a most enjoyable and enthusiastic luncheon Wednesday at the Valdez Hotel. Judge J. C. Sharon presiding for the last time during his term of office as president, had charge of the gavel. At the meeting next week the new officers for the year 1924 will take over their new duties. T. L. Dumas will serve as president for next year.

Visitors at the meeting were: Prof. A. L. Hatch of Johnston, Pa. formerly of Ovidio, A. T. Rossier of Sanford, John L. Cook, Allison Palmer of Orlando and P. S. Snow of Jacksonville.

The club enjoyed an interesting talk by Prof. Hatch. Other short talks were enjoyed following the introduction of the visitors.

San Baume kept things lively and humming with singing during the meeting.

The members enjoyed a lot of fun at the expense of their fellow Kiwanian, Dr. E. D. Browlee, who was awarded the attendance prize. The prize which was donated by Kent Rossier proved to be a large dressed chicken.

Nearly 100 per cent of the membership was present which as it was pointed out, is indicative of the interest that Sanford Kiwanians take in the club.

Officers of Squadron That Was Wrecked Are Reduced In Their Rank

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Capt. Edward H. Watson, commander of the destroyer squadron, wrecked on the California coast, near Point Honda, last September, will lose 150 numbers and Lieut. Commander Donald T. Tunner, commander of the destroyer Delphi, one of the squadron, will lose 100 numbers, as a result of naval court martial sentences approved Wednesday by Secretary Denby.

In approving the findings in the case of Captain Watson, Secretary Denby said that officer would "be placed at the foot of the Captains' list of the present date and there remain until he shall have lost 150 numbers in his grade."

Captain Watson is now number 60 in the list of captains and has but six years to serve before he will retire on account of age. Commander Hunter, who was in charge of the flagship of the destroyer squadron, now occupies number 149 on the list of Lieutenant Commanders.

"The proceedings are approved," Secretary Denby said, "subject to the remarks of the judge advocate general and the chief of the Bureau of Navigation."

The cases of the two officers were the only ones to come before the department out of the 11 officers who went on trial, eight being acquitted and the conviction of another being set aside subsequently at San Diego.

ORLANDO MAN IS VISITOR. Prof. Sexton Johnson, supervising principal of the Orlando schools, was in Sanford Thursday. With Superintendent T. W. Lawton he inspected the new South Side Primary School getting ideas for construction of new buildings to be erected in Orlando.

1924 LICENSE TAGS MUST BE PROCURED SOON SAYS SHERIFF

Must Be Secured By January 15, Says Hand—Violators of Law To Be Fined

Sheriff C. M. Hand announced Thursday that he wished to call attention to motorists that it is time now to secure the 1924 automobile licenses. Every car owner is expected to have his license by January 15, and if not secured by then persons will be liable to arrest.

The sheriff stated that he had received communications from Comptroller Ernest Amos in which the latter stressed the importance of enforcement of the law. In compliance with this request the sheriff said that he is going to enforce the law.

A statement given out by Comptroller Amos in which he calls attention to some changes in the law for 1924, has been made public. In part the statement is as follows:

"Changes in the motor vehicle law by the legislature from time to time have made it necessary to make changes in application blanks to meet the necessary legal requirements. Each year we have gotten out a number of blanks in excess of the public's requirements, and, as a result, people are now in many instances applying on these old blanks, which do not give the information necessary to meet the changes in the law, and while we accept these applications, it makes it necessary for us to return the application for additional information. If the public bear this in mind and only use the latest application blanks in applying for registration, it would save them much annoyance and at the same time prevent considerable confusion and unnecessary work here in the office."

Different Kinds of Tags. "During the present year, I am sorry to say, many sorts of paper tags have been resorted to in some sections of the state by the dealers and motor clubs, which is unfair to those persons who comply with the law and also deprives the state of considerable revenue. The last session of the legislature provided for tags for dealers to be used for demonstration purposes, and for some time it has been the law for dealers to deliver temporary tags with each new car sold, which enables the purchaser to operate the machine until he secures regular number plate. In other instances, for machines already in use, the owners are supposed to apply the first of the year and secure regular number plates which will meet every condition. Only a few days are required to make deliveries, in the ordinary course of business, to any part of the state, where proper information is furnished with the application and party has also complied with or makes application simultaneously for the title certificate required by law to be had for each machine in use in the state, tourists excepted.

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Only two of the 17 patients who lost their lives in the fire that destroyed a frame building of the Chicago insane hospital Wednesday night have been identified Thursday. The others were burned beyond recognition. A dozen supposedly dangerous patients were still at large Thursday.

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Fifteen patients of the Chicago state hospital for the insane at Dunning are known to have been burned to death or suffocated in a fire which destroyed a frame structure used as a dormitory for tubercular patients Wednesday night.

At least three others are believed to have perished. One of the bodies removed from the ruins of the building was that of a woman. It was first thought all of the patients were in the building when the fire started.

GEORGIA MAN BUYS DRUG STORE HERE

The Dean Pharmacy on First Street has been sold, it was announced Thursday.

D. C. Landers of Cartersville, Ga., has purchased the store from J. C. Dean and will operate it in the future. Mr. Landers came to Sanford several weeks ago with a view to possibly locating in this city, and since that time has been making arrangements for the purchase of this store. The price paid for the store was not given out.

Mr. Landers is a druggist of 12 years' experience and before coming to Sanford was the manager of a large drug store in Cartersville. He announced Thursday that the store will carry a complete line of drugs and sundries and that in a short time will add to the stock that he has at present.

Consolidation Argument Will Begin January 7

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Time for argument before the interstate commerce commission on the subject of railroad consolidation was assigned Wednesday to cover six days beginning January 7. Counsel for railroads and interests concerned in the tentative plan for general consolidation of the railroads of the United States into 18 or 19 great systems will be given opportunity at that time to discuss the evidence and showing which have been elicited by two full years of hearings before the commission and its examiners.

The first day's session, on Monday, January 7, will be given to consideration of issues between the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads over the disposition to be made of the Philadelphia and Reading system. The commission will hear on Tuesday from Pennsylvania state interests and take up the New England situation, concluding discussion of that territory Wednesday when Boston city representatives will appear.

Senator Park Trammell Makes Short Visit Here

United States Senator Park Trammell accompanied by his private secretary, Robert Tomlin of Plant City, were visitors in Sanford for a short time Thursday. They were en route to Cocoa where they will spend a few days at Senator Trammell's grove near that place.

Former Klan Official Is Desirous Cleaning Out Undesirable Element

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—E. Y. Clarke, formerly high in the ranks of the Ku Klux Klan, wrote President Coolidge Thursday offering to cooperate with the executive in ending activities of "an element" which is converting the Klan into an organization vastly different from that planned by its founders.

He also announced his intention of issuing a proclamation to Klansmen "calling the better element" either to take hold and "remedy the existing evils" or to disband the organization.

MAY BUILD MEMORIAL BUILDING TO FOUNDER OF GEORGIA SCHOOL

(By The Associated Press) ATLANTA, Dec. 27.—Colonel Thomas B. Felder, well known Georgian, now one of the leading lawyers of New York, has left Atlanta after conferring here with the trustees of the Georgia School of Technology relative to the proposed memorial building on the Tech campus to former Governor Nat E. Harris, founder of the school and now chairman of its board of trustees. The executive committee of the trustees enthusiastically endorsed the proposed memorial and at the regular annual meeting of the trustees in January it is expected that the full board will take favorable action.

The proposed memorial is to take the form of a handsome home to be known as the Nat E. Harris Memorial Home, which former Governor Harris will occupy during his lifetime and upon his death becomes the permanent residence of presidents of the school during their term of office.

Bootleggers Declared To Be Responsible For Night Raid On Church

(By The Associated Press) HANCOCK, Md., Dec. 27.—Bootleggers and moonshiners Thursday were declared by the authorities to have composed a band of 10 men that stormed the Methodist Church at Black Road about six miles from here Christmas night damaging the edifice and beating up four members of the congregation, including two women.

The invaders entered by the windows on one side and began to break up the church fixtures.

Thrasher, is in the Fernald-Laughton Hospital suffering from painful but not serious injuries which he received in an accident that occurred Thursday afternoon about 1 o'clock on Oak Avenue near Fifth street.

MORE PEACE PLANS ARE OFFERED FOR MEXICO SITUATION

Latest Move Is Made By General Flores: A Presidential Candidate From Sinaloa

(By The Associated Press) MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27.—Upon the eve of federal offensives against rebellious forces commanded by General Enrique Estrada and Manuel Diguera in the state of Jalisco and General Fortunato Maycotte and Castro in the state of Oaxaca, reports are in circulation of a peace offer, according to these reports, is General Angel Flores, governor of Sinaloa, a presidential candidate.

ONGALES, Ariz., Dec. 27.—Two thousand federal soldiers under Gen. Laszaro Carenas, marching from the interior of Mexico to the rebel stronghold at Guadalajara, capital of Jalisco, made their first contact with the rebel army Wednesday at Tamaulaca, capturing the town after repelling the enemy with severe losses, according to official government advices received here tonight.

The defeated rebel troops were part of the army under the command of Gen. Enrique Estrada.

The victorious government forces captured 200 prisoners and are pursuing the rebels toward Guadalajara, according to the advices, which were received from President Obregon, who is commanding the Jalisco offensive. There were many casualties, the advices added.

While the Obregon army marches on Guadalajara from the southeast, federal troops at the Tepic, Nayarit are entrenched at the Jalisco-Nayarit frontier, in half moon form. By this means, the government hopes to halt a retreat of the coast if the Obregon ward the west coast if the Obregon army succeeds in driving them from Guadalajara.

President Obregon is making headquarters at Irapuato, in Guanajuato during the campaign, it was stated in the advices.

County Court Convened In Sanford January 1

Seminole County Court will convene January 1, it was announced Thursday. The court will open with one of the heaviest dockets that it has had for some time, it is said.

There are 17 criminal cases and about 12 civil cases awaiting disposition, it is said. Judge E. F. Householder will preside over the court and Schelle Malnes will be the prosecuting attorney.

The first day of the court will be taken up with qualifying the jury, receiving pleas and setting cases. It was further announced. After these preliminaries, court will adjourn to meet January 2 when the session will begin in earnest.

FLIGHT TO POLE RECOMMENDED BY THE NAVAL BOARD

Exploration Will Be Attempted In Summer in The Blimp
Shenandoah

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Recommendations that the navy's polar exploration flight be attempted during the coming summer with the dirigible Shenandoah and using Nome, Alaska, as the main operating base are contained in the report of the special board of naval officers headed by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of naval aviation. The report was made public today by Secretary Denby who has approved its subject to possible later modifications.

Emphasized Mission.
In its study the board emphasized that the mission of the expedition would be "exploration of the north polar regions" rather than a dash for the pole. The detailed plan of operation worked out therefor contemplates numerous flights by the Shenandoah on mapping and charting cruises to "establish the practicability of a trans-polar air route" from western Europe to Japan "over the top of the world."

Recommendation was made that two vessels, preferably tankers equipped with mooring masts, six planes equipped for landing on ice or water, a permanent mooring mast at Nome and mooring facilities at certain other northern points be employed.

To Search Unknown Area.
"The ships with three planes each will go to Nome and to Spitzbergen, where preliminary flights for aerological observations will be made," the report said. "When all is ready, the Shenandoah will fly to Nome via mooring masts at Fort Worth, San Diego, Puget Sound and Nome base; thence northward for the accomplishment of this mission. The exploration of the north polar region shall include a systematic search of the unknown area north of Alaska."

"The board considers that with all the ships, the Shenandoah and the planes equipped as recommended and provided in ample time, the Arctic exploration is feasible and practicable during the summer of 1924 without undue risk to personnel or material."

Selection of the Nome base was made because ice conditions make it available to shipping as a rule during the first week in June. The distance to the pole from Nome via Cape Prince of Wales is 1,560 nautical miles. At a speed of 35 knots, the Shenandoah will have a safe cruising of 4,250 nautical miles with a 15 per cent margin of extra radius.

Plans for using the Shenandoah call for helium gas inflation removal of one motor to provide living space for the crew, use of "water recovery" to compensate loss of weight through consumption of fuel and reduction of ballast by 3,300 pounds.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE MILANE.

Twelve of Hollywood's fairest screen players have been given grounds for accounting themselves "worth their weight in gold."

For, clad only in gold leaf and an ointment that removed the poisonous properties of the precious metal, they were turned into shimmering Venuses for Gaanier's production of "Mothers-in-Law," now showing at the Milane Theatre.

The girls were selected by the director because of their approach to the standard of perfection of figure usually attributed to Venus.

Through the application of a formula hitherto unused for the purpose, it was possible to entirely cover the bodies of the players with an especially prepared gold leaf, permitting them to adopt the role of living statues in a unique cabaret scene in which one phase of the story occurs.

The cast for the new production, which was filmed at the Schulberg Studios, includes Gaston Glass, Ruth Clifford, Viola Vale, Craufurd Kent, Josef Swickard and Edith Yorke.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY: PLATFORM FOR LABOR AND CAPITAL: All things whatsoever ye would that men do unto you, do ye even so to them; for this is the law and the prophets. Matthew 7:12.

WHEN I HAVE TIME. When I have time, so many things I'll do. To make life happier and more fair. For these whose lives are crowded now with care; I'll help to lift them from their low despair, When I have time.

When I have time, the friend I love so well. Shall know no more these weary toiling days; I'll lead his feet in pleasant paths always, And cheer his heart with words of sweetest praise, When I have time.

Now is the time! Speed, friend; no longer wait, To scatter loving smiles and words of cheer. To those around whose lives are now so drear, They may not need you in the far-off year; Now is the time! —Selected.

An important election is coming. New Year resolutions should be made before January 1.

When a stranger visits Sanford what do you point out as points of interest? 1924 promises to be a big year for Sanford. Get ready to start the first day of January with a rush.

Tell the world about Sanford. Make it a point to send your copy of The Herald to some friend who might be interested.

Now that the Christmas rush is over, we ought to begin getting our letters on time again.

Madison County has begun work on building new roads covering more than 100 miles. The improvements will cost more than $300,000.

Business men don't go broke through the proper use of newspaper advertising. It is always true that the most successful institutions are those who are consistent advertisers.

Sanford's golf course would be well filled every day if winter visitors knew this city had such a fine course. This is an attraction that should be well advertised.

Only a few days to pay your poll tax and qualify to participate in the election to decide whether Sanford shall bond to take over the public utilities. If you have not paid your tax, don't delay.

Sanford has some very attractive lawns. Money spent to improve the surroundings of a home is money well expended. Some Sanford residents are taking great pride in making their yards pretty.

Only a few days remain in which Sanford citizens can qualify for the bond election of January 1. Good citizens are seeing to it that their poll taxes are paid.

Many people are remarking over the beautiful poinsettia which are to be seen all over Sanford. Too many bushes of this kind cannot be planted. They add greatly to Sanford's beauty.

Sanford needs more houses. Every day The Herald hears of people who want to come to Sanford but do not do so on account of the inability to secure furnished houses. Some shrewd business men ought to build several small bungalows. He would not only make money but would help the city grow.

A visitor used to seeing attractive school grounds remarked the other day that he thought Sanford should do something towards beautifying the surroundings at the different schools. He suggested that some trees, shrubbery and new lawns be planted. Money used in this manner would be money well spent. Sanford should beautify the school grounds.

I held a hammer in his hand—and knocked and knocked to beat the band. His knocking never took an end—he even knocked his closest friend. He kept on knocking every soul until his hand lost its control, and then the strangest thing took place—his hammer slammed him in the face. That knock was certainly no fun. It was a hard and solid one. He may recover—no one cares. His suffering alone he bears. So if you have a hammer now, get rid of it at once somehow, and boost—that isn't hard to do. All those you boost will soon boost you.—Kalamazoo Cemerence.

"No More Bottles At The Wheel"

"No more bottles at the wheel," this is what the judge of the municipal court in Cincinnati has ruled. He sent a man to jail the other day for six months to give him sufficient time to think over the suffering he might have caused, had the automobiles he struck in his mad driving been occupied.

The drunken driver, it seems, struck five cars that were parked at the roadside before the police got hold of him and took him before Judge Yeatman who accompanied the six-months jail-sentence with this emphatic statement:

"The day of a liquor bottle driving an auto is past in Cincinnati if I have my way. And that is what it is, when a drunken driver attempts to operate a machine. If I permitted you to go, it would be a warning to other drivers that I have no regard for the lives of Cincinnati men, women and children. I would even be placing the lives of my own wife and daughter in danger by failing to do my duty."

"No more bottles at the wheel" is a succinct way of putting it. The drunken automobile driver, or the moderately liquor-befuddled driver of an automobile, is a potential murderer. He is on the highway to maim and to kill, and only by the mercy of Providence does he fail to carry out his intentions.

And we use the word "intentions" advisedly. The man who voluntarily surrenders his brains and his nerves to his liquor bottle, knowing that he will let that liquor bottle drive his car for him along the public roads, is a voluntary criminal. He should be handled as a criminal. Six months in jail for a menace like that is a trivial sentence after all. Florida courts should be required to impose long terms on the chain gangs for all automobile drivers who attempt to "mix whiskey with their gasoline."

Some Busy Days Ahead

As the year 1923 closes and 1924 looms ahead, Sanford people are looking forward to days of great activity. Many big improvements are to be started and completed in the new year. Sanford will make its biggest growth during the next twelve months.

Sanford citizens are working together solidly. There is a fine spirit of cooperation among the people of this prosperous section. Nothing is being done in a half hearted manner. Sanford builds substantially and in a manner that convinces the stranger of the attractive future of this city.

Outsiders are beginning to see in Sanford the making of a big city and are beginning to make investments and assist in the development here.

During 1924 Sanford will without doubt acquire the public utilities. A big new 200 room hotel will be constructed on the lake front. There will be new municipal buildings put up. More streets will be paved. A large real estate development will be made by a northern development company. The new yacht basin and municipal pier will be completed. The lake will be bulkheaded and a new boulevard constructed. More apartment houses and homes will be erected.

Sanford people are going to accomplish big things in the coming year. There are some busy days ahead.

Another Important Step For Sanford

Of interest to every citizen of Sanford was the announcement in Monday's Herald telling about the new 200 room hotel that is to be constructed on the shores of Lake Monroe during the coming summer months.

Sanford is getting ready to take care of tourists. Some day this city will be known as a great tourist resort as well as the country's greatest vegetable section.

The next few months will see great changes in Sanford. By the time next winter rolls around the big new hotel will be completed, some new apartment houses will be erected and many new homes constructed. Tourists will then be able to secure desirable living accommodations and will spend the winter months in The City Substantial.

Credit should be given J. D. Hood, President of the Lake Front Improvement Company for interesting outside capital in Sanford and for securing the new hotel. Mr. Hood has spent considerable time on this proposition and his dream of seeing a big tourist hotel on the lake front is about to be realized.

SOME NEWSPAPERS are mighty mean. The Toronto Globe makes up a tale like this: A crowd had gradually collected outside the single telephone booth, and waited with varying degrees of patience while the man using the phone held the receiver to his ear for half an hour. He made no attempt to talk, and his expression was practically blank. Finally one, bolder than the others, opened the glass door and inquired: "Are you speaking to anyone?" "Yes," the silent telephoner replied, "I'm speaking to my wife."

A COMMUNITY which is remiss in the valuation of the teacher's work is like a father who is content to let charitable organizations relieve his family from the consequences of his penury or shiftlessness. The opinion of the angels in heaven must have of that father is not a bit more exalted than that which thoughtful people will hold of the community which allows the charity of its teachers to carry the burden of the schools.—Teachers Magazine.

THE FIRST CONDITION of goodness is something to love; the second is something to reverence.—George Eliot.

ANGER WHEN IT IS long in coming, is the stronger when it comes, and the longer kept.—Quarles.

LIVE VIRTUOUSLY, my lord, and you can not die too soon, nor live too long.—Lady Russell.

FORTIFY YOURSELF with moderation; for this is an impregnable fortress.—Epictetus.

YEARS DO NOT make sages; they only make old men.—Madame Swetchine.

My Favorite Stories

By Irvin S. Cobb

I think of a story which I am sure must have had a background of pure romance. The scene is supposed to be a remote district in the Ozark mountain country where everybody, barring accident, is presumed to live to great age. An aged but well-served couple are returning from the burying ground. They have suffered the first bereavement in their illustrious family circle. Their son, Eli, the youngest child of 13, has passed away at the age of 60.

"Well, cheer up, Martha," says the father, comfortingly. "I always did have a kind of a feelin' that we never would raise that boy anyhow."

Another story which makes a fitting companion piece to the foregoing is this one: A traveler passing through Northern Arkansas sees a gray-haired, long-bearded man sitting on a stile sobbing as though his heart will break. Filled with sudden sympathy, the stranger checks up.

"Pap weep so bitterly?" "Pap whipped me—that's why," answers the sorrowing one as he wrings the tears out of his whiskers.

"You say your Pap whipped you? Do you mean you own father?" "Yep—because I throwed rocks at Grandpap."

But I can supply one which is the recital of a thing which actually happened. A Jewish merchant in New York invited a friend of his to accompany him on a birthday visit to the former's father, who on the day was celebrating his advent into his 91st year. The new arrival offered his congratulations. "You must be very happy, sir," he went on, "to be so hale and hearty at your age and able to continue to enjoy the good things of life."

The House by the Side of the Road

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn in the peace of their self-content; There are souls like stars, that shine apart in a fellowless firmament. There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths Where the highways never ran, But let me live by the side of the road, And be a friend to man!

Let me live in a house by the side of the road Where the race of men go by, The men that are good, and the men that are bad—As good and as bad as I. Why should I sit in a scorner's seat, Or hur a cynic's ban? Let me live in a house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man!

I see from my house by the side of the road, By the side of the highway of life, The men that press on with the ardor of hope And the men that are faint with strife, But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears—Both parts of an infinite plan. Let me live in a house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man!

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead, And mountains of wearisome height, And the road passes on through the long afternoon, And stretches away to the night; But still I rejoice when the travellers rejoice, And weep with the strangers that moan, Nor live in my house by the side of the road, Like a man that dwells alone.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road, Where the race of men go by; They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong, Wise, foolish, and so am I. Then why should I sit in a scorner's seat, Or hur a cynic's ban? Let me live in a house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man! —Sam Walter Foss.

Future Traffic Jams

The Pensacola Journal

Automobiles, like the poor, we have with us always. It is a problem for wise and far-seeing minds to work out. Used cars, highways, engineering improvement—all these, grave problems in themselves—are merely subsidiary to the greatest of all—traffic.

This is the conclusion of Edward S. Jordan, automobile manufacturer and member of the highways committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. He bases it on a study of motoring conditions today, of the promise automotive manufacturers and drivers have for the future and of prospects of further automotive popularity in 1924.

The rapid advancement of the industry today, he believes, will cause a serious traffic jam, especially in the business sections of the larger American cities, within the next five years. To be prepared for this, we should face immediately, and try to cope with certain conditions and tendencies pointing to this difficulty. These conditions Jordan enumerates under 10 headings:

"1. The 14,000,000 automobiles in use today will be augmented by 4,000,000 more in 1924. "2. Retail merchants will soon find that while their front doors are barricaded by six or eight automobiles that property of six or eight owners, 60 or 70 customers are roaming around looking for a place to park their cars. "3. Every roomy and bulky car that is driven by father will be augmented by at least two for mother and the children.

"4. No policeman will be able to handle the traffic that is coming. Only millions of feet of new floor space for the parking of cars will be able to handle the traffic.

"5. Workhouse and penitentiary sentences won't solve the problem. More floor space and higher speed for automobiles are essential.

"6. The growth of population and business will be in direct ratio to the amount of space provided for transportation.

"7. The question of the saturation point is answered in three words—They won't walk.

"8. No motor cars will be parked at the curb. Most streets will be one way thoroughfares.

"9. Tax payers will awaken to the fact that the cost of parking space, outside of the congested area and wider streets, will double, then triple, then quadruple as the real estate owners discover the necessity for providing more space. Millions can be saved by any city that takes the first step.

"10. Street cars and crowded streets will be almost obsolete, except as incubators for automobile prospects."

The Sea's Neglected Call

The United States has only infrequently recognized its potentialities as a sea power. We have an enormous coast line and important overseas possessions. But the conquest of the continent absorbed our energies for more than a century, and the pioneer is still much more of a national figure than the seaman is.

Undoubtedly our sense of the sea will deepen in the course of the present century. We shall become more and more a trading nation, with a commensurate carrying fleet. Destiny will take care of that. But at present we lack the seaman's impulse and imagination.

In order to stimulate our thought of the sea and to recall the activities and sacrifices of our seafaring people—and the merchant marine as well as in the navy and its auxiliaries—a unique monument is being planned, to be erected in Washington. It will be a navy and marine memorial, a tribute to American service on the sea. Its uniqueness will consist in the absence of any human figure, of any type of ship or of any sea implement. It will visualize the breaking wave, the hovering seagulls and the blue immensity. That is all.

The conception is held. But the memorial project is already well under way and has many prominent backers both in the navy and in the merchant marine. There is a possibility that the memorial may be unveiled on Navy Day next year. Secretary Denby has cordially endorsed the project.

The sea beats on all our shores and we do not listen sufficiently to its voice. Anything which recalls us to our neglected economic and national opportunity is in line of genuine public service.—New York Tribune.

TOO MANY COOKS—? NO, SIREE!

"Tis said that too many cooks spoil the broth, but if that's the case, how do you account for the fact that Little Joan Don Eon, who recently finished her first year as "practice baby" in the domestic economy department of Cornell University, looks so happy and fat? Every co-ed in class took her turn at "mothering" Joan during school hours.

MR. AND MRS. N. O. GARNER ENTERTAIN.

One of the most enjoyable holiday affairs was the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan O. Garner on Tuesday. Everything showed that Christmas with its jollity was here. A Christmas tree twinkling with colored candles and all the goodies that the season provided filled the center of the room. After the guests had assembled the gifts were distributed and then the door leading to the dining room was thrown open. A miniature Christmas tree occupied the center of the table surrounded by the lovely scarlet poinsettia.

A six course dinner was served, covers being laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill and Charles Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baumer and Harry, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Garner and daughter, Miss Margarite Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pierson announce the birth of a daughter. The young lady has been named Dorothy Mildred.

Mr. Julius Moskovita of Jacksonville, manager of the Florida Salvage Company, spent the day in Sanford Wednesday on business.

MR. AND MRS. J. S. STRUMON ENTERTAIN.

One of the loveliest of the holiday family parties was the one given by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Strumon Christmas day.

The living room and dining room was a mass of Christmas green. Over in one corner of the living room was an immense Christmas tree braved with Christmas ornaments and the Christmas bells strung all over it, strings of popcorn, silver tinsel and gifts from good old Santa Claus for the family and grand-children.

After the gifts were given a delicious six-course dinner was served. The center of the table was garnished with fruits and flowers emblematic of the Christmas season.

Covers were laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herndon, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne Fox and Master Robert Herndon, and Master Walter, Earle and Gwynne Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Owen of Sanford were the dinner guests of Mrs. Lucy Lawrence in Orlando Tuesday.

Mrs. A. R. Key and Miss Adelaide and Mrs. Lottie Twitchell returned to Daytona Beach Thursday to stay until after the New Year.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA PERSONALS.

It is always a pleasure to know something of the part our Sanford boys are taking in the life of the University.

Among Sanford's boys attending Florida is Otis Cobb. Mr. Cobb is a senior in the College of Law this year. His scholastic record has been of the best. Dean Pasco says that he is one of the best. Mr. Cobb it will be remembered took the D. A. R. medal for excellence in American history the year he graduated.

Mr. Clarence Mahoney is also going to Florida and taking the law course. He is prominent in affairs of the Catholic Club and is gaining prominence for his musical ability.

Mr. Jim Sharon is also one of the law students. This year he is a Junior. He is a member of the Pi Theta Pi fraternity.

Fay Loosing is taking the A. B. course and as this is one of the stiffest courses given at Florida has well earned the name of being one of Sanford's best students.

Victor McLaughlin is taking the course in pharmacology and was one of the Baby Gators. His playing on the football team was good and if Dick continues he will wear the varsity letter.

Mr. Robert Thrasher is making a splendid record this year and he is one of the pledges of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Mr. William Moye, better known as Bill made the Baby Gator team and is quite the football hero. He is very popular with the men on the campus and is now a pledge of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Mr. George Rice returned Thursday to Tangerine to visit relatives and friends until after New Year's.

Mrs. Eugene Koumillat spent the Christmas holidays as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Crabtree in Tampa.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Maxey and son of Frost Proof spent the holidays with the latter's sister, Mrs. J. D. Dossey.

Mr. W. P. Haugbrook of Philadelphia is spending the Christmas vacation as the guest of his sister, Madame Harriet.

Mr. John K. Meetinger returned to Jacksonville Wednesday after spending the holidays with his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Morgan.

Miss Olive Lezette was an attractive visitor spending the week-end in Oviedo as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Lezette.

Miss Carolina Back of New York City is visiting her sister, Miss Eva Back and her brothers, Messrs. Phillip and Walter Back.

Mr. M. D. Barber and Mr. Curtis Barber after spending the holidays very pleasantly in Sanford returned Thursday to Cedar Keys.

Prof. A. L. Hatch is visiting his many friends in Sanford and Oviedo. Prof. Hatch was for three years primary teacher in Sanford and Oviedo, and is now head of the modern language department in the Johnston Senior High School of Johnston, Pa. He hopes next year to return and make Florida his permanent home.

MRS. FAY ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. Joe Fay Tuesday night gave one of the most charming of family Christmas parties. This was also in the nature of a celebration of Mrs. Fay's return from the hospital. A Christmas tree was decorated with silver tinsel and many colored crystal balls and lighted with hundreds of tiny tiny vari-colored lights. This occupied one corner of the large living room which was decorated with Christmas wreaths, green and the lovely poinsettia.

When the guests arrived Santa Claus put in his appearance also and gave the presents. Refreshments of fruit cake, fruits, candies and hot chocolate were served.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Fay were, Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell Bailes, Mr. and Mrs. William Balk, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Moffitt, and Miss Evelyn Moffitt. Mrs. Bailes, mother of Mr. Joe Bailes, Miss Yellon of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. William Vernon, Edwin Hamill, Mrs. E. A. Weeks, Miss Annie Weeks, Messrs. Harry and Okie Weeks, and Miss Susie Fay and Dr. and Mrs. Fay.

Mrs. Bailes and Miss Yellon of Los Angeles, California, are the guests for the winter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fay at their home on Cameron Avenue.

The many friends of Miss Mary Elizabeth Neely will be glad to learn that she was the winner of the Packard Motor Car given away by the Milane Theater.

Mrs. W. D. Holden and Mr. William Holden were the guests of their cousin, Mrs. Lucy Lawrence of Orlando during the holidays.

Mr. F. Hy. Palmer spent Christmas with his family in Winter Park. Misses Martha and Mary Boyd of Charlotte, N. C., are the attractive guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd.

Mrs. C. E. Henry entertained at dinner Christmas the following: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walms, Mr. Grant Wilson of Georgia, Mr. Fritz of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. O'Berry announce the birth of a daughter, Eva Ruth. This little lassie arrived a week before Christmas and is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mero have as their guest, their daughter, Miss Mayme Mero of Washington, D. C. Miss Mero has been visiting in Sanford before and is being very cordially welcomed.

Miss Flora Zelmanovits is the attractive guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Baunel. Mr. and Mrs. Baunel have also for their guests during the holidays Messrs. Julian and Morris Zelmanovits.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McAllister announce the birth of a son on Saturday, December 22, at the Fernald-Laughton hospital. This young man has been named James William, and weighed 10 pounds.

Miss Jessie S. Roberts of Wilmington, N. C., is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. D. Roberts. Miss Roberts for many years made her home in Sanford and is receiving a warm welcome from her many friends.

MISS ETHEL HENRY HONORED.

Miss Ethel Henry left Wednesday night for Indianapolis to attend the Students' Volunteer Convention. This convention is made up of students from all the leading colleges of the United States and the chief speakers will be representatives from all over the world. This is an unusual honor for it is conferred by a vote of the student body of the college from which the representative goes. Miss Henry is the representative from the State College for Women at Tallahassee. Her unusual capability is well known to her many Sanford friends but it is a pleasure to know that among all the lovely young women in the State College that she has won such an unusual honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Campbell and Mr. Haven of Laughman spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dossey.

Mr. W. T. Langley, Sr., and Mrs. Wm. Conine and children leave Thursday for a visit of several days in Lakeland as the guests of Mr. F. P. Langley.

The many friends of Ralph Vincent will be sorry to hear that he is ill in the Fernald-Laughton hospital. He was operated on Saturday by Dr. Langley for appendicitis and is doing nicely.

Among the holiday visitors leaving Thursday are Messrs. A. Kanner and T. Kanner. Mr. A. Kanner is a prominent lawyer of Jacksonville, Florida, and Mr. T. Kanner is a graduate of Georgia Tech and is making good as a civil engineer.

Vernon Westfall was operated on Saturday for appendicitis at the Fernald-Laughton hospital by Dr. Langley. His many friends will be glad to hear that he is getting along fine and is now able to see callers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thrasher of Celery Avenue had as their guests at dinner Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Daiger, Sr., Mr. Fred Daiger, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Garner and Robert Thrasher.

Mr. Albert Dorner of Celery Avenue has as her guests during the holidays, Mr. Billie Stockoff and Miss Minnie Stockoff of North Arlington, New Jersey. The trip was made very pleasantly from North Arlington to Sanford in four days.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. Jessie Neeley and son, Jessie, wish to thank their friends and neighbors each and every person who made possible for Mary Elizabeth to win the toy Packard automobile given by the Milane Theater. Mary Elizabeth was the proud and happy little girl in Sanford who had her home in the Packard Christmas Eve night.

ANNUAL BALL.

The annual ball of the Social Department given Thursday night by the Social Department of the Woman's Club promises to be one of the most brilliant events of the holiday season. Mrs. W. T. Langley will be the hostess for the department. Mr. A. W. Pitts is chairman of the department.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bassford and son Ralph of Valdosta, Ga., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lezette at Oviedo until the New Year. Mr. Bassford will be pleasantly remembered in Sanford as Miss Gladys Lezette.

Miss Geraldine Murrell is spending the holidays very pleasantly in Jacksonville as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Murrell. Miss Murrell was joined in Jacksonville by her sister, Miss Sarah Murrell, who will be pleasantly remembered as the teacher of English in the Sanford High School last year.

The Pavilion at Espiritu Santo Springs

Probably you have heard of the famous curative waters which flow from Espiritu Springs at Safety Harbor.

Throughout Florida we have a host of friends who have purchased this water and been greatly benefited by its use. We have hundreds of letters from grateful people who have written us of their appreciation for the aid this water has been to them.

Ask your friends about Espiritu water. You will almost certainly find someone who can tell you of a marvelous cure.

The pavilion, illustrated above, is now being built at Safety Harbor, over the famous springs which were discovered in 1539 by Hernando de Soto and named "Espiritu Santo" by the Spanish explorer.

In the basement of this pavilion there will be a modern sanitary bottling works where water will be packed for shipment for all parts of Florida and the United States.

On the main floor of the pavilion will be lounging rooms, sun parlors and every convenience for those who desire to visit the historic springs.

Espiritu Santo Springs pavilion will serve two purposes and have two sources of income.

Espiritu Santo Springs Incorporated has four sources of income besides the pavilion.

Write us for details of the SIX POWERFUL PROFIT PRODUCERS, owned by this corporation and for beautifully illustrated literature giving the history of Safety Harbor and the absorbing story of Espiritu Santo Springs.

SPALLA HAS LARGE APPETITE LIKE THE GREAT LUIS FIRPO

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Now that it seems certain that Ermino Spalla, the Italian heavyweight, is going to return to this country with the backing of a stentorian ballyhoo, a word or two concerning this alleged champion of Europe will be in order.

Spalla, then, is a fine-looking Italian who came to this country two or three years ago and hung around Newark, working out in gymnasia and occasionally fighting. He was very quick to pick up things and such boxers as Charley Weibert and Young Bob Fitzsimmons were willing to show him tricks of the trade.

The consequence was that he developed more than a fair knowledge of boxing, and in the gym he looked to be as clever as any of them. In fact, as a gymnasium battler he came to be quite impressive. It was when he went into the ring against third-raters that he did not appear too good.

Appetite Too Great.

As for Spalla, he showed signs of being able to develop into a good hitter, and if he had been in this country in the past 15 months instead of Europe, he might have sized up by now as a good second-rater. That is, he would have had he controlled his rapacity whenever he saw a sign of food.

Like Firpo, Spalla is an artist with the knife and fork—that is to say, he is an artist so far as making these implements move rapidly is concerned. These foreigners don't seem to realize that in this climate one cannot eat and drink as one does in other climates.

Nick Kline, who probably will manage Spalla, may be able to make him cut down on his fish and soup and spaghetti stuff, and if so, he may be carried along until he gets into the ring against some real performer. He is a likeable young man and always willing to take advice, so perhaps his manager will not have the tough sailing that Sik's manager, for instance, is having.

MAY STAGE BOUT.

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 27.—Promoters for the 154th Infantry, F. N. G., are making efforts to bring Micky Walker, welterweight champion of the world, to Jacksonville for a bout sometime in January. The guardsmen have received favorable replies from Walker and his manager, it is stated, and if present negotiations go through Walker will be matched against a strong opponent, probably young Stirling, who has been, "Stribling, has indicated that he would not be averse to bringing the school boy here for a bout.

With a top of the usual size and number of burners, a new gas range when idle can be turned back against a wall, extending but a few inches.

MY LIFE WITH MAGGIE

By Jiggs

CHAPTER XIV.
ME AND MAGGIE GO TO EUROPE
"Jiggs, darlin'!" said Maggie to me.
"If it's money you want, I have none," said I to Maggie.
"But it wasn't money—she wanted to go to Europe."
"Fine!" said I, "we will look up all our friends in the old country."
"We will not!" said Maggie. "The main reason I want to go is to dodge your roughneck friends."
"For all of that, I managed to get Dinty Moore to go with me. He said when we did without Maggie knowin' anything about it, and for the rest of the voyage he had his work cut out for him, lodging her."
"There was two days, however, when Dinty didn't have to hide, when we could sit in the saloon, playin' two-handed pinochle; when we could walk on the deck wherever we wished; when there was no fear at all that Maggie would come sneakin' up on us around a corner."
"Them was the two days after we first got to sea."
"Can I bring you anything, Maggie darlin'?" I asked her, where she laid in her chair, lookin' the color of grass.
"Yes," said Maggie, "bring me an island!"
"I was sorry for her, and I thought to myself, 'Jiggs, you should cheer her up. She is sick, lad, and you should take her mind off her troubles.'"

So I sat down by the side of her, and I began to talk to her as nice and gentle as I could.
"Maggie darlin'," said I, "do you remember the days when we was courtin' together—how we'd go walkin' in the park together, and how green the grass was and how blue the sky and all?"
"I remember!" groaned Maggie. "If I could just stand on grass again, I'd never leave it!"
"You must not think of your trouble, Maggie darlin'," said I to her. "Do you remember the little house we had, Maggie, and your rockin' chair on the front porch?"
"I would give a million dollars to be in it now!" said Maggie. "Isn't there any way they could stop the boat, Jiggs?"
"Don't think about the boat, Maggie," said I. "Think about our little house, think about the times you used to work so happy there, the times you used to cook in the little kitchen, Maggie, darlin', wouldn't you just love some corned beef and cabbage now?"
"You brute!" said Maggie, and staggered to the rail.
"Dinty," said I that night to Dinty Moore, "she doesn't appreciate me. It was cheerin' her up I was tryin' to all the time, Dinty, and she calls me a brute for no reason at all, at all!"

OLD INCIDENTS HAVE BEEN SOURCE OF NICKNAMES FOR N. L. BALL TEAMS

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—There are few baseball fans in the country who cannot tell offhand the nicknames of the various clubs in the two major leagues. However, there are probably fewer who can tell the origin of those nicknames.

The New York club of the National League has always been called the Giants. The name was applied back in the eighties, when none but large men were considered for the team. It has stuck, notwithstanding that Manager McGraw in recent years has had some comparatively small men on his team.

Cincinnati clings to the Reds, an abbreviated form of Red Stockings, which originated from the red stockings worn by the famous old Cincinnati team of the late sixties, one of the first professional baseball organizations. Some sporting writers shortened the name to Red Legs and later to Reds.

The Pittsburgh club got the name Pirates from Louisville with the transfer of the latter's players to Pittsburgh when the National League reduced from 12 to eight clubs. The name is said to have been first applied to Louisville because of that club's successful scramble for players at the close of the Brotherhood war of 1891.

During the leadership of the late Capt. Adrin C. Anson, the Chicago Nationals were known as Anson's Colts because the players, young and fast, often were referred to as being "frisky as colts." When Anson left the team other names were suggested but none proved popular until a Chicago sporting editor hit upon Cubs as conveying the same idea as Colts, and besides being convenient for head-writhing purposes.

The St. Louis Nationals always have been known as the Cardinals from that color of their jerseys. Some writers shorten the name to Cards. The Philadelphia club has been known popularly as Phillies, a contraction of the city's name, for 40 years. Sometimes the name Quakers is applied, Philadelphia being known as the Quaker City.

Brooklyn has had several nicknames. One of the first was the Superbas, derived from Hanlon's Superbas, a vaudeville act which was a hit throughout the country about the time Ned Hanlon became manager of the club. After his departure Brooklyn became one of the first big trolley car centers in the country and the name Trolley Dodgers, later shortened to Dodgers, was adopted and still sticks to the club. In late years the club has been called Robins in honor of the present manager, Wilbur Robinson.

The Boston club for many years was known as the Beaneaters because of the city's famous dish, Boston baked beans. Then the club was called the Doves in honor of George S. Dovey, a former owner, and since the ownership of James E. Gaffney has been nicknamed the Braves. This is said to have come from the owner's close affiliation with Tammany Hall and the Tammany Braves. Another version of the origin of the name is that it came from Tecumseh, a Shawnee Indian chief. The players familiarly called Manager Stallings chief and linked that with his middle initial "T" as for Tecumseh, although his name is George Tweedy Stallings.

HORSESHOE SEASON.
MIAMI, Dec. 27.—The Miami Horseshoe Club's season is under full swing on its courts in Royal Palm Park, where the 252 members are participating in the contests. Every minute of playing time is taken up on the courts which are crowded at all hours of the day. John H. Snyder has been elected president this season, succeeding Charles Thompson, who held the place for several years. Miami will send a strong delegation to the national tournament to be held at Lake Worth, February 14-16.

Three Californians Among Nine Backfield Stars Of Navy Team

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 27.—Of the nine backs whom the Naval Academy football team will take to Pasadena for the game against Washington on New Year's Day, three are from California.

The trio are Alan Shapley, of Valjeon Herbert H. Balingier, of San Pedro, and Albert Handley, of Los Angeles. The other backs are McKee, Barchet, Devens, Cullen, Flippin and Harvey.

Shapley is considered the Navy's strongest backfield man, and has been groomed to play any position behind the line. In the games of the last half of Navy schedule, particularly against the Army, he carried the ball and gained a greater total of yards than any other back.

Balingier is a very accurate drop-kicker for moderate distance, and scored by this method against Penn State and Princeton. He will be called upon if a chance turns up to score by this method. Handley punts well and is a good running back.

The last practice of the season in Annapolis will take place tomorrow afternoon. The squad leaves for California on Christmas morning.

Tramp Athlete Thing Of Past Says "Bo"

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 27.—"Bo" McMillin, former Centre College star and now football coach at Centenary College in Shreveport, La., was the honor guest at the annual football banquet of Lombard College here, given by Mrs. J. M. Tilden, wife of the president of the college, in honor of Coach Paul Schisler and the team.

McMillin urged all the athletes to complete their four-year college courses at the school, declaring that the day of the "tramp" athlete is over. The future of college athletics depends largely on the men on college tennis today, he said.

PADDOCK WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO COMPETE IN GAMES

A. A. U. Declares Brilliant Track Star Ineligible For 1924 Olympic Contests.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Charles Paddock, America's crack sprinter, will not be allowed to compete for a position on the 1924 American Olympic team until he has cleared himself of charges with the Amateur Athletic Union, it was announced late today by the American Olympic committee.

It was decided to leave Paddock's case entirely with the A. A. U., which has appointed a special committee to consider it.

The issues involved in the controversy that has raged about Paddock for several months include charges he is alleged to have made against the A. A. U. and athletes of that organization, in regard to their amateur standing; allegations that Paddock himself had sacrificed his amateur standing in going on a lecture tour; charges that he failed to reimburse the Olympic committee for funds loaned to him in 1920, and his alleged failure to comply with a request that he account for expenses furnished him in coming to New York from Los Angeles for an athletic meet. It was charged, in this connection, that Paddock had received full expense money from two different organizations.

Must Explain Action.
Paddock's case was the chief subject of debate at the Olympic committee this afternoon. The decision means that Paddock also must explain to the A. A. U. committee his participation without A. A. U. sanction in the University of Paris Club meet and in exhibitions in Czechoslovakia.

The Olympic committee's ruling brings to a head a series of wordy skirmishes among Paddock, officials of the A. A. U. and officials of the National Collegiate A. A., which have been going on since the latter body sanctioned Paddock's Paris trip in violation of the request of the American Olympic committee and without the approval of the A. A. U., which is America's representative in the International Federation.

William C. Prout, of Boston, president of the A. A. U., and General Palmer E. Pierce, president of the N. C. A. A., were the rival floor leaders in the discussion, and the executive committee's endorsement of the A. A. U.'s stand is expected to settle, for the time, the controversy as to authority which has been waging between the two organizations.

An international exhibition of dairy products and equipment will be held in April at Milan under the auspices of the Italian government.

TWO GOLF TOURNEYS.
MIAMI, Dec. 27.—Two golf tournaments with aggregate prizes of $10,000 are being planned for the winter season here, according to Ray McCarthy, sports director of the city. Both probably will be held next March. Efforts will be made to bring such players as Bobby Jones, Max Marsden, Francis Ouimet, and the most prominent among the professionals to participate.
