Stock Prices Advance After Violent Break In Forenoon Session

Mid-day Sales Reach Amazing, Record-Breaking Total Of 8,378,000 Shares

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The lowest level of prices in the sensational smash of stock values on the New York Stock Exchange were reached at the close today, after the market had broken all previous records for volume of sales and breadth of fluctuations in the lead speculative shares. The first 10,000,000 shares in speculative history was recorded for the big board today and the average of 20 stocks in International News Service's compilation dropped 22 points.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(INS)—Stock prices, after breaking violently during the forenoon on the New York Stock Exchange, showed distinct signs of rallying at 1:30 this afternoon when heavy buying began to counteract tremendous waves of selling. United States Steel, a pivotal issue, which had dropped 16 points to 170, rebounded to 180.

Other market leaders moved back up in sympathy. American Can, which had declined 26 points to 100, was bid at 119 and General Electric which had slumped 88 points to 212, recovered to 241.

At this juncture the board of governors issued a statement in which they asserted there was no intention of closing the stock exchange. This was a denial of numerous rumors that had swept the financial district.

Trading had been at a record-breaking pace all day, sales up to noon reaching the amazing total of 8,378,000 shares.

The board of governors announced, however, that they will hold a meeting tonight for the purpose of ironing out difficulties brought about by the enormous trading which has taxed the physical facilities of the exchange.

Only one firm was reported in difficulties, despite the sensational conditions attending the market. The New York Curb Exchange made public the suspension of John J. Hill and company for failure to meet obligations.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 29.—(INS)—The tenth annual convention of the motion picture theater owners of America opened here today. Approximately 300 theater owners attended the opening session of the meeting. Problems of the exhibitor as a result of the advent of sound in pictures, is expected to furnish a great part of discussion during the convention.

TAGS TO BE SOLD FOR BENEFIT OF CHILDREN'S HOME

Mrs. J. C. Benson Heads Local Committee To Conduct Campaign
For the purpose of raising funds for the Children's Home Society, in Jacksonville, 25 Sanford women will carry on an extensive tag selling event in this city Saturday, lasting from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock in the evening. It was announced today by Mrs. J. C. Benson, a member of the local committee working on the project.

The tags, of a bright red color, will be sold for any amount the buyer wishes to pay, according to Mrs. Benson. For years the Home Society has been donating funds from different people in Sanford and other parts of the state, but due to financial conditions existing in the state, Marcus Furg, superintendent of the home, stated in a letter to the local committee that it would be a better plan to sell tags for any amount than to sell from house to house, collecting funds, as has previously been the custom.

The Children's Home Society is a state wide institution, and non-sectarian. For this reason Mr. Furg has talked with the people of the entire state to cooperate in selling the tags in the time of distress. At present the institution is badly in need of funds. Mr. Furg stated that during the past year, many children, needing attention, had to be turned away because of the lack of accommodation in the home.

This being the first time such a plan has been stated in Sanford for this purpose, the committee, consisting of Mrs. D. L. Throckmorton, Mrs. S. T. Puleston, Mrs. R. A. Newman and Mrs. J. C. Benson, is helping in any way they can to make the people of this city realize it is in any way they can to remedy the need of one of Florida's most important institutions.

Police Seek To Cope With Strike Unrest

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29.—(INS)—Police were attempting to keep on top of the strike situation again today, to avert the possibility of a street car and bus strike.

Nine Lost As Ship Sinks

Sixty-four Are Saved In Thrilling Rescue When Lake Steamer Founders In Storm

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(INS)—Nine known dead. Sixty-four saved in thrilling rescue. One missing.

That was the toll exacted by a terrific storm on Lake Michigan today which sent the steamer Wisconsin to the bottom, four miles off Kenosha, Wis. The scene was only a few miles from where the car ferry Milwaukee, loaded with a school party, was overturned, a week ago, with a loss of 52 lives.

The last of the survivors, 50 men, were taken from a life raft by coast guards and rushed to hospital.

Among the identified dead were Julius Hirschman, Manitowish, Wis., chief engineer; Victor Ester, C. Knebel, names unknown; James Dolerty; Tony Madon.

Among the rescued were Sanders Grant 24, of New York; John Crane of Pittsburgh and C. H. Sjostrom, 25, of Buffalo.

The rescue of the last survivor and the finding of the dead with faint traces of the history of the lake, a drama which started early today when the steamer Wisconsin, bound for St. O'S, of the steamer's wireless, reporting every vessel found.

Can't guard crews immediately responded but the wind, howling at 70 miles an hour and gale force waves made conditions impossible for immediate rescue. Gladly the vessel hovered as crews and passengers took to the boats. Only Captain Daniel Morrison and his first mate, Edward H. Brown, were on the bridge when the vessel plunged to the bottom. Both were rescued, swimming in the water until pulled aboard a life boat.

508 calls were sent out at 1:30 A. M. when water leaked into the boiler room, and in 15 minutes the engine and boiler room had the engine and boiler room flooded. The water, hitting the engine, caused the boiler room to overflow and the boiler room to overflow.

Differing from the tragedy of the car ferry Milwaukee which sank last Tuesday night in a lake with 52 men aboard, the Wisconsin was able to pour forth graphic tale of the horror and the vessel. The occupants of their fate and awaited the help when the ship would founder.

The Radio Corporation of America's operator here was in contact with Capt. Morrison until the ship foundered and the lifeboats were lowered.

Pleading hopefully for assistance, Capt. Morrison explained the wireless key and most of the lifeboats had been lowered. The radio operator here could be reaching more from the ill-fated vessel.

Jury Is Out 24 Hours Before Reporting To Court That It Was In Hopeless Deadlock

New Trial Date Is Set For February

Ex-governor Reveals Signs Of Nervousness For 1st Time

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 29.—(INS)—A mistrial was declared today in the trial of Sidney J. Catts, Florida's war-time Governor, for the alleged financing of a gigantic Florida counterfeit ring.

The mistrial came after the jury in the case, which had been deliberating the fate of the former chief executive for 24 hours, reported to the court that it was hopelessly deadlocked.

A new trial date was set for the February term of federal court here.

Catts was put in the hands of the jury at 11:05 A. M. yesterday. He was held in the county jail for further instructions.

The government contended that Catts had received $50,000 from the counterfeit ring.

Catts denied the accusations against him.

The mistrial was a great disappointment to Catts and his counsel, who had expected a verdict by the jury.

Football Capital Of U. S. Is Still Uncertainty But Field Is Narrowing Down

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The football capital of America might be found today among the stateliest just outside South Bend. It might be the tiny hamlet they call Hanover, N. Y., resting in a setting that is almost primitive. It might be beautiful Los Angeles; sombre, half-tamed Pittsburgh; historic Knoxville; quaint, old New Orleans; the eastern outpost on the edge of the desert, Salt Lake City; or that sprightly charmer of the Northwest, Minneapolis.

It might be any of these and it might be none. For while Notre Dame, Dartmouth, Southern California, Pittsburgh, Tennessee, Tulane, Utah and Minnesota remained undefeated in week-end games that were all-consequential, so did Purdue, Texas, California and DePaul, while Cornell drew a blank all together and a, preserved its record intact.

At we have to go on today, in that Dar month, having ruined Harvard, must be conceded to be one of two leading teams in the East and that the other is Pittsburgh; that Southern California's 7 to 0 victory over Stanford gives it most of the authority on the coast; that Texas looks the part as the best team in the Southwest;

Notre Dame's first victory in three years over Tech was made possible by Karch's weak punt in the third period; yet Tech probably will concede today that the better team was Notre Dame. Stanford in the case of Southern California, since the Trojans held the Warner outfit for down inside the 5-yard line in the first period and thereafter dominated the game. California, winner over the Olympic Club by 21-19, is the only coast team between U. S. C. and the title now.

BLEE VERSE FOR TODAY

OUR GOD—Ye my flock, the flock of my pasture, are men, and I am your God, faith the Lord God.
 —Ezekiel 34:31

First Cold
 (From Contemporary Verse)
 Tonight, perhaps, or the night after,
 Cold will creep on the darkened floor
 Beneath the eaves, cold will crawl
 Through crack and crevice in the wall,
 Tomorrow or the next tomorrow,
 We will wake to find the sorrow
 Of autumn pressed by the frost:
 Yellow grass and curved leaf
 To fragile white and pined in Sharp-edged glitter icy-thin.

Learn To Relax

Statistics show that the number of nervous wrecks per one hundred thousand of population is far greater today than it was fifty years ago. They show a higher percentage among men than animals, among white people than among blacks, among business men than among laborers, among big business men, bankers, brokers, and realtors than among clerks, stenographers, and agents. They reveal to an inquiring person the startling fact that, if the present tendency continues, before many more years have passed all the financial and intellectual giants of the country will be nervous wrecks.

Practically all the phases of modern life prove a strain upon the nerves. The speed along with which the average Twentieth Century citizen dashes through life is enough to wreck him. Trains, automobiles, airplanes, are all nerve racking. So are the radio, jazz bands, and night clubs. So are the street cars, the elevated, the subways of our big cities. So are the noises, the hurry, the scuffle and bustle of our crowds. So are the thrills and excitement of our circuses, our carnivals, our baseball and football games.

The way to overcome nervousness, or to prevent it in the first place, is to avoid tension, to cultivate relaxation. If you cannot relax in your business office, if the wall of your children prevents relaxation at home, go to the woods, to the fields and streams, where there is nothing in modern life to annoy you. Take an old bamboo pole with you, and sit on the bank of some sparkling stream, far from the hubbub of the city, and wait for the trout to bite. What does it matter if the trout do not bite? You have gained your relaxation.

"Nervousness," said Dr. H. Samuel Fritsch of Jacksonville recently, "is produced by nerve tension. Nerve tension proceeds from physical strain, mental fatigue, and spiritual stress. Consequently the relaxation which relieves nerve tension must be physical, mental, and spiritual." The fine art of relaxation is the secret of the cure of all forms of nervousness. Get into the habit of physical relaxation and you will soon become surprised at how much easier your day's work will become.

We have no doubt there are a number of people right here in Sanford who are suffering from mental fatigue. They spend the whole day working on their financial problems, or listening to the troubles of others, and when they go home at night, they are more tired than if they had chopped wood all day long, and infinitely worse off. For when the muscles are tired, a good night's rest will relieve them. But when the nerves are overworked, it is usually impossible to get a good night's rest.

A Suggestion

The financial difficulties into which a number of Florida cities and business enterprises found themselves after the collapse of the boom are gradually being solved. Slowly but surely the water is being squeezed out and the state is finding itself on a solid rock foundation. Another year and the only reminders of 1925-'26 will be a few landmarks at the entrances of deserted country subdivisions.

It appears that Barron G. Collier, of New York and Florida," says the DeLand News, "will be able to acquire a chain of Florida hotels through a refinancing plan which contemplates the retirement of existing bonds, at eighty-five cents on the dollar, with a new bond issue.

"If holders of hotel bonds see an advantage of trading a dormant investment for one which gives promise of a return it is reasonable to suppose that holders of city and county bonds issued by cities and counties which are defaulting interest and are in no position to retire their bonds as they come due, will be equally willing to accept a refinancing plan based on the capacity of the debtor to pay.

"A good many cities find themselves in the unfortunate position of being unable to collect sufficient taxes to meet current expenses and interest, to say nothing of retiring bonds. A good many citizens in these unfortunate cities are letting their property be sold for taxes rather than submit to a confiscatory tax rate. Refinancing and compromise offer the only solution for both bond holders and taxpayers.

"What Barron Collier can do can be done by city commissions made up out of capable business men."

TELLING THE WORLD

J. Herman Seiditz, super-bobbyist, today exposes the methods of training the Hawley-Smoor Tariff Bill. Mr. Seiditz needs no introduction to the public as a Washington protectionist and expert. For years he has been a member of the lobby in the New Willard Hotel, dividing his time between standing up against the right counter and sitting in a big leather chair. When the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Bill was framed, Mr. Seiditz was lobbying for the poor working girl. Both the House and Senate committees suffered at his claims and protested that heaven would protect the working girl.

LOBBYING IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. For years J. have been a paid agent of various manufacturers' associations. Last summer I got a telegram from Senator Stinson. He asked, "Would you like to have your share of Senate office with me as a tariff expert? Can you do it?" I would back. "Sure if you'd get two beds." The next morning I arrived in Washington.

Senator Stinson said he wanted me to attend the secret sessions of the Senate Tariff Committee, but did not know how to get me in. I said I could get a grandstand seat from a speculator, but the Senator said the seats were not reserved.

"Very well," I said. "I know what to do. This is the committee meeting. I will take my seat by the committee room door. I can find an odd dog and coffee and get my picture in all the papers. When they open the doors, I will be the first one in."

Senator Stinson did not think this was a good idea as the committee meeting might be postponed on account of rain. Finally he hit upon it. "Herman," he said. "I know how I can get you in. Go to the front row of the Senate Tariff Committee. When we have our session tomorrow morning, show up here dressed in women's clothes."

So the next morning I appeared in an organdie dress a turban hat and a vanity case. The Senator told me just what to do. When

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

By Robert Barry

We will not have the real news in the House of Representatives until the House of Representatives is organized. The House of Representatives is organized by the House of Representatives. The House of Representatives is organized by the House of Representatives.

The "Ladies of the Senate" is a something club meeting periodically. It is composed of the wives of Senators and Mrs. Dolly Gann.

Prevalence in the Senate cloakrooms among Senators who were passed over by President Hoover, is held to be as a mere whisper to the bows among the senatorial wives. They are not pacified so easily as the husbands, they expect to be out in front in the political show.

There were numerous reasons for Mr. Hoover's choice of Senator Reed but the best one probably is Senator Reed.

The declaration by Senator William F. Borah, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, was forecast by those who know Borah. He is not likely to let himself fall into a situation where he would be committed to ratification of a new naval treaty. He will keep free and thus be in a position to attack the proposed new agreement should it fall short of his expectations.

Borah has his own ideas about freedom of the seas and abolition of submarines, neither of which is likely to be approved at London.

The passing over of Senator "Jim" Watson of Indiana is on the ground that he could not be spared from his post as Republican leader in the Senate. That is reasonable until attention is given to the fact that the same White House explanation points with pride to the choice of Senator Robinson who is the Democratic floor leader.

Perhaps the Democrats do not need a leader or one Mr. Robinson's eminence or that the White House figured Jonett Shouse and "Charley" Nicholson were doing a pretty fair job of leading from Democratic National committee headquarters.

Pass over that little inconsistency and acknowledge that the Robinson choice was a smart one. In respect of what Senator Claude Swanson of Virginia may think about it, or Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Swanson ranks Robinson on both the Foreign Relations and Naval Affairs Committees.

The nub of the Senate post is found in the Republican cloakroom seating of the majority membership of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

After Borah comes Hiram W. Johnson of California. A great deal need not be said about "Hi" being given the go-by, the high hat or the old-fashioned snub. A Hoover appointment of Johnson would have been the equivalent of Woodrow Wilson picking Henry Cabot Lodge to go to Paris in 1918.

George H. Moses of New Hampshire is next on the list. If the Vice President or the Republican floor leader could not be spared the President pro tempore might be Senator Moses. More over, he was a Hoover campaign manager.

You may make your own guess. Mine is the President regards Moses as the "Jimmy" Walker of the Senate and one who cracks by the responsible Moses might miss the whole of London, to say nothing of Washington, Paris, Tokio and Rome.

Walter E. Edge of New Jersey. He is going to Paris as the Ambassador of the United States to France just as soon as his resignation will not preclude a special Senatorial election in New Jersey this year. Edge has the money for that job. With Henry L. Stinson in the State Department the advertising agency multimillionaire who can't make a Senate speech without a fellow pencil in his hand to drive home a selling argument is likely to get along fairly well in Paris.

It is impossible Hoover would have rewarded Edge's violation of the confidential agreement among the Republican leaders in Jersey early in 1928 through a precipitate leap for the pre-convention band wagon had not the Paris place been open some months back.

Arthur Capper of Kansas. Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts.

Senator Gillett is a staunch advocate of peace. He is especially eager for a little of it among Bay State Republicans. His renunciation is threatened by factional strife and Boston Transcript editorials which seem to him to be downright Bolshevism. The former Speaker of the House will be too busy expounding

"parties" with former Gov. Fuller to be over in London talking such things with the British Admiralty, while biting his nails and squinting about his being submarine without trace on the old home grounds.

Senator Reed is next on the list. "Newspapermen" in Washington do not like the Senator from Pennsylvania. I do. I have from the day of our first meeting seen after he came to Washington seven years ago. His unfortunate intemperance in a fight over Senate rules has not altered my estimate of him as being one of the few worthwhile intellects in the Senate.

If Senator Reed used the unhappy phrase, "the so-called ethics of journalism," he knows by now it could not be quite so contemptuous as my opinion of the lack of ethics among so-called Senators, among whom he must and does bite his lip frequently and agree with me as we get along.

The trouble at bottom of the stewing in the Republican cloakroom of the Senate and the mewling among the downers—Mr. Wells put it—of the ladies of the Senate "dirt-bling" circle is that Pennsylvania's only accredited Senator stands head and shoulders over the Republican membership of the Senate. President Hoover has recognized a fact and acted accordingly.

It is not easy to make light of the heartaches of older Republicans in the Senate when they are passed over by the White House for honors of the sort. The Senate is more like a club. For purposes of comparison, its members are like hostesses at a night club, each eager to be more popular than the other, all smothering at one another to conceal intense jealousies of the heart and not a few hatreds.

To really appreciate the slight to which some of the older members react, you should try to know how a man like Phipps of Colorado, the Senate's chief lobbyist, feels in not being chosen by the President. Phipps cuts a small figure in Senate affairs. He thinks he is pretty good. It is difficult for him to explain at home why he was not chosen. It is doubtful in the extreme that Mr. Hoover ever considered Phipps.

Senator Fess of Ohio is another to feel hurt. He is junior to Reed on the Foreign Relations Committee, but he holds himself superior in intellect. To have the White House ignore the opportunity to avail itself of his great talents is a right stunning blow to Senator Fess.

Reed Smoot of Utah is likely to feel his protest to the President about Reed trying to snatch leader hip in tariff matters, undoubtedly impresses the "sanity Senator" as showing how indifferent Mr. Hoover was to the Smoot sagacity and suggestion.

But why extend the list? The President has made his choice. It is up to Senator Reed now to look before he turns a corner on the Senate wing of the Capitol.

Turning The Corner

BRADENTON HERALD

Summary of the status of the fruit fly eradication campaign made public by Dr. Wilmon Newell who as plant commissioner for the State is in active charge of the work is heartening. It shows a splendid progress made in this work which considered in connection with the prices that citrus is bringing on northern markets points toward the clearest skies the State has known since the shadow of the fly was first silhouetted on the commonwealth's economic horizon.

"The work of eradication had progressed most satisfactorily," says the commissioner's statement. "Progress is shown by the fact that the number of infestations located scaled steadily downward after May," he continued, "Florida's citrus crop is being shipped; and all of it will go to market if the fly does not manifest itself in the shipping area," is another heartening statement from Dr. Newell.

"The shipping privileges now open to Florida's fruits and vegetables are due to the eradication work done to date," Dr. Newell advises. In considering this it is well to remember the mingled opinion that was expressed here and elsewhere in the State when the order to clean up came. Mandate county responded to the request. It is well to remember this for very probably this response and the very splendid work done by the county authorities and the local clean-up committees, city and county, is responsible for the fact that the county is still free of the fly with her fruit bringing fancy prices in the Nation's markets.

The newest summary released by the plant commissioner is more optimistic than any that have preceded it. Also it is pleasing to note that the opposition to Florida citrus that was so pronounced in many sections of the country a few weeks ago is heard no more. This means that we have turned the corner in our fight against the fly. But it doesn't mean that the battle has been won. It is still important that we remember and obey instructions of the Plant Board. If we do this the future has little to offer of an alarming nature.

Barrymore Directed Film Will Be Seen At Milane For Two Days

Two hundred pounds of cobwebs were used to properly decorate a replica of an old cellar in a London room, in Lionel Barrymore's all-time production of Ben Hur, "The Unholy Night," which comes Wednesday and Thursday, to the Milane Theatre.

The "spider webs" came in barrels, in the form of a rubber solution, which, sprayed through electrical machinery, became gossamer strands, such as "candy floss" is made. Two hundred pounds of the solution were used in the work.

The new picture is a grim mystery of London, in which a group of British officers are pursued by a mysterious enemy in an uncanny revenge plot. It is Barrymore's first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production since his sensational success with "Madame X."

The cast includes Roland Young (famous stage actor), Dorothy Sebastian, Ernest Torrence, Natalie Moorhead, Claude Fleming, Clarence Gelbert, John, Lionel Belmore, Polly Moran, George Cooper, John Miljan, Richard Tucker, John Lodge, Richard Travis, Sydney Jarvis, John Roche, Philip Strange, Gerald Barry, Boris Karloff and others of note. This story was adapted from the novel "The Blooded Regiment" with dialogue by Edwin Lewis Mayer. A vivid "masterpiece" of ghosts in an uncanny way, grim chases through the streets of a London fog, eerie scenes in the darkness, and other bits and shivers abound in the production.

Miss Legge Hostess To Smart Set Club

Miss Marian Legge entertained the members of the Smart Set Club with bridge and luncheon last Friday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Edelson on Laurel Avenue. The guests arrived in the morning and bridge games were enjoyed until early in the afternoon when scores were added and prizes awarded. High score prize, a bridge set, went to Miss Betty Hintershuter, while low score prize, checker board, was presented to Miss Ella Spencer.

Luncheon was served in the dining room, presided over by Miss Legge. Each refreshment table was decorated with paper and white and black and gold motifs in individual pot caps were placed on the tables. The Halloween motif was further emphasized by the black and gold color scheme used to decorate the party room. Vases and bowls of yellow daisies and other fall flowers were used in the various places about the dining tables.

Those present were: Misses Lucille Bole, Sarah Maxwell, Helga Douglas, Thelma Heterick, Dorothea Lawson, Jane Laffey, Mary Maxwell, Ella Spencer, Frances Reitz, Carrie White and Henriette Hershey.

Hallowe'en Party Is Given Fidelis Class

A Hallowe'en party was given Monday evening at 8 P. M. for the members of the Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church by Mrs. R. R. Pippin at her home on West First Street. The guests arrived in costume and were ushered into the living room and dining room which were decorated for the occasion with vases and bowls of golden red and yellow daisies. Lights shined with paper pumpkins, witches and other Hallowe'en novelties cast a glow over the rooms. The receiving line consisted of several ladies dressed in ghoulish witches and ghosts.

During the evening ghost stories were told and contests participated in, after which Gladys Lee and Elizabeth Pippin dressed alike in Hallowe'en costumes, entertained with a song and dance. At the refreshment hour, Miss Lucille Bole, president of the class, Miss Ann Lowery Jones, first vice president, and Mrs. Pippin, the class teacher, served a course supper.

Those present were: Misses Elma Lee, Josephine Bess, Ethel, Louie Franklin, Marguerite Franklin, Edna White, Mary Appleby, Evelyn Walker, Jeanette Laing, Martha Lee, Mildred Bridges, Annie Bell Dixon, Norma Moore, Lucille Eboja and Anna Laurie Jones.

LIFE FOR A SONG

NEW YORK—Seated on a curb at 2 o'clock in the morning, Gus Dreyfus raised his voice in plaintive wailing, accompanied by plaintive drumming on a banjo. "An' I ask you kinda confidentially, mind also sweetly?" A policeman, lured by the nocturnal wailing, stepped down, arrested Gus. The wailing brought out that the banjo had been stolen, that Gus had been convicted seven times before, that now, under the Baumes law, he faced a life sentence for his song.

RANDALL ELECTRIC Co.

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it" —

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.
