CELERY IS GOING OUT IN BIG SHIPMENTS THIS WEEK

Many Growers Cutting Prices Good

HAVING BIG WEEK

BUT PEAK OF THE SHIPMENT HAS NOT BEEN REACHED AS YET.

The celery movement will probably reach the high point next week and it is almost certain to bring a good price right on through the season. If the cars are available there will be nearly two hundred cars of celery shipped this week as the movement is growing day by day and yesterday reached the fifty car movement.

The effects of the cold snap are not apparent now on the tops of the celery and the stuff is looking very good and running well to the acre and is said to be bringing better than $3 per crate today.

Those who thought the slump would come at the peak of the movement will be agreeably disappointed this season unless something unforeseen happens like the dearth of cars, or exceptionally hot weather and so far the season looks almost as good as last season which was said to be the best in the history of the celery game.

In fact everything looks like money to Sanford growers this season as the pepper crop is coming on fine and promises to bring the growers good money. Beets are being shipped in large quantities now, and cabbage and there will be sweet corn and many other vegetables that Florida can raise that will bring good returns and many of the crops north of us were knocked out and will have a late replanting.

In fact Sanford has at this time and has always had the world beat when it comes to all round every year making good on vegetables. We have the location, the market and all the facilities for growing and shipping.

M. H. Reed made St. Cloud a visit Monday looking after his property there.

Mrs. Jones and little daughter of Boston, Mass., are visiting here for a few days.

Goodheart and Floyd Sjoblom accompanied by Mrs. Tuxworth went to Auburndale Sunday night to accompany the remains of their brother home.

Frank Evans has returned to his home in Boston, Mass., after spending a month here with home folks and visiting other parts of the state.

There were several came up from Auburndale Monday to attend the funeral here.

Frankie Evans of Rollins College spent the week end here with the Evans family.

Once again our little village has been visited by the death angel and one from our midst is gone. Fred Sjoblom answers the call from beyond the skies and we offer our sympathy to the heart broken family where a vacancy is left that no one can fill. Great sadness and sorrow over the entire community was caused by the news of the death of this young man Sunday evening, he being born and reared here and was about 28 years old. He left her only a few weeks ago to engage in gathering fruit at Auburndale and it is supposed that he did not know this other boy was under the influence of liquor when he came along with the Ford car and ask him to go for a ride, for it is well known that Fred did not drink. His remains were laid to rest here Monday evening at 5 o'clock, the funeral services were conducted by Rev. George Hyman of Sanford. Fred was a good peaceable boy and was a member of the Presbyterian church and had also belonged to the Modern Woodman for a number of years. May God bless his loved ones and comfort them till they meet again where parting will be no more.

"Live Sparks" Romance of Texas Oil Fields

"Live Sparks" is the newest treat in store for the countless thousands who delight in viewing the inimitable J. Warren Kerrigan disport on the screen. The star's new Robert Brunton picture, which comes to the Princess theatre to-morrow bids fair to equal in popularity any of Mr. Kerrigan's previous W. W. Hodgkinson releases.

"Live Sparks" a romance of the Texas oil fields by Carolina Sayre not only provides Mr. Kerrigan with a role to his liking but such prominent players as Fritz Brunette, Joseph J. Dowling and Arthur Mittle score individual triumphs by reason of the splendid parts assigned them.

Neil Sparks owns an oil field adjoining property controlled by Abbott and Craig, two unscrupulous oil promoters. Those men lay a pipeline from Neil's richest well to a fake well on their property. They send word to Neil that his land is played their plan being to buy up his property for a song, sell the fake well to some eastern investor, and then restore the oil to its original source. Under an assumed name Neil visits the fields and buys up the fake land himself. He falls in love with Myrtle Pratt, a stenographer, but is withheld from telling her so because he is practically engaged to Bess Kinloch, a mercenary girl whom he dislikes.

Abbott and Craig discover Neil's identity and attempt to remove the pipeline. Neil subverts this plan and forces the promoters to buy back their fake land at nearly triple the price he paid for it. With the help of a girl whom he contrives a break with his designing fiancée and is accepted by Myrtle.

The Pensacola shipbuilding plant was being operated at full blast despite the order of a strike of all trades affiliated with the metal trades council unless the employees' demands were complied with. According to Assistant Superintendent Crenshaw, at the shipyard, only thirty-five less than the number at work in the morning checked in for the afternoon. It was stated that 2,372 employees were at work. Is it understood the demand for the reinstatement of a foreman recently discharged was the cause of the breach between the employees and the company. The yard now has four uncompleted steel ships on the ways, one of which was to be launched Saturday.

Criminals Are Made, Not Born

Illinois Expert Declares Ninety Per Cent Could Be Kept in Right Path if Reached Early

Criminals are made, not born, according to a prominent Illinois jurist who has studied the juvenile question from the bench for nine years and who ought to know. This is what he says:

"Criminals are made and not born," he says. "Ninety per cent of those made could be kept in the right paths if reached early enough."

"Lack of parental control or home conditions which cause the boy to seek amusement or companionship elsewhere, almost invariably end in trouble for the boy. He gets in bad company and the next thing he is in court charged with petty thievery or destruction of property, the usual juvenile misdemeanors."

"Certain kinds of moving pictures, too, have a bad effect. The glamor of lawlessness and crime should never be seen by the growing boy, as they tend to influence a desire for imitation."

"Keep your boy away from the 'gang spirit.' That is where most of the trouble comes in. There are organized groups of boys who go around together and get into trouble. These groups or gangs have some meeting place in a shack or barn somewhere. This is due to the neglect of the parents, who should have the boys home where they can be properly supervised. It is up to the parents to break up these gangs. They can do it easier than any one else."

"Few cases come into court where the boy is of good family, a regular attendant at school and living in good surroundings. When this happens the boy is generally a mental deficient in some manner or another."

Explaining the purpose of the juvenile court, the jurist said: "The primary object is the welfare of the child. We try to impress that upon the parents and to secure their co-operation. Boys are paroled when it is their first offense. If brought in a second time and they show no signs of doing better we take them from their parents and put them where someone will see that they have proper supervision and care. We try to keep them out of institutions as long as possible. When they are paroled we try to go further through visiting their homes and advising their parents and seeking to change the conditions which caused the trouble. We do not want to take the children from their parents, but instead try to keep the home intact. When it comes to a point where the parents won't co-operate with us and there is apparently no hope of reforming the boy in his home, we take him away. There is nothing left then, but that, for the boy's own good."

AND WILL NOT BE ANY FACTOR IF EBBERT CROWD CAN GET TOGETHER.

Berlin is still under bayonet rule but Ebbert troops patrol the streets Revolutionary forces departed but left chaos as the rear guard turned against the jeering crowds on Unter den Linden killing many citizens and wounding scores. There was more bloodshed near the Parliament buildings while in Charlottenburg and other suburban clashes resulted in the loss of life. Reports from the outside of Berlin are of such character that a clear view is unobtainable. While soviet are said to have been formed in a number of industrial districts it does not appear that the movement is gaining momentum. Forty to fifty thousand soldiers are said to have been involved in the revolution and the leaders have been arrested and amnesty has been granted to others.

School Boy Troubles

Half of the High School boys were in city court this morning over a case of disturbing the peace in which some other boys were the complainants and a negro man and woman were the defendants. The High School boys were in the habit of going across Sanford avenue to buy peanuts and in crossing the woman's property aroused her ire on several occasions and the last time by breaking down a bench in front of her house which brought on more talk and according to the boys throw a stick at one of them. They had her arrested and the trial occurred this morning and after hearing the evidence Judge Herring fined the negroes $15 and costs and also lectured the boys about leaving the school grounds and going around negro houses where they would be liable to get into trouble. It seemed as the Judge said to be a bit of blame on both sides.

MORE OR LESS A MYSTERY

Few Seem to Know the Real Facts Concerning the So-Called Monkey of Mons.

Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?

An army officer brought home from Belgium a reptile—a tiny silver figure with one clawish hand posed reflectively against its chin and with a look of inspection in its deepest eyes. In showing it to a friend he mentioned that, like a number of officers who had been to Mons, he carried the thing as a mascot. The friend told a woman about it, and she, being unacquainted with the monkey of Mons, asked a soldier who had been there.

"Never heard of it, but you can't judge by me, as I was only in Mons a couple of days—got great coal mines there, though."

Another soldier who had been to Mons long enough to go sightseeing was impressed mainly by the cathedral of St. Waldrup—"built in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries; Gothic architecture, and—the monkey must have been there, of course, but—"

Then the woman extended her inquiry to a private who had hobbled around Mons for two hours while waiting to get away.

"Sure I saw it! Bronze statue in a street—or maybe it was one of those gargoyle things on the church wall, but, anyhow, I saw it—at least it looked like a monkey, though I wouldn't be willing to swear to it."

Which is the why of this cry: "Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?"—Washington Star

Contrast in Aborigines

The aboriginal inhabitants of New Zealand at the time of their discovery by Captain Cook were the most advanced of all the south Pacific races while the aborigines of Australia are the lowest in intelligence of all human beings. Australia is in no sense inferior to New Zealand in geographical interest, but lofty peaks, profound canyons and native volcanoes are lacking. Its rivers are unimpressive and its permanent lakes small and few in number. It is a continent composed of plains interrupted by ridges and mountain knobs.—National Geographic Society Bulletin

Urges Simplification of Present Rules

BIG LOSS IN TAX

ON ACCOUNT OF SUPREME COURT DECISION CAN BE MADE UP NEXT YEAR.

Washington, March 19.—Income and excess profits taxes cannot be reduced until after 1922, Secretary Houston today wrote the house ways and means committee, urging an immediate simplification of these taxes and substitution of a flat tax on excess profits instead of the graduated rates of 20 and 40 per cent.

"Only very moderate reductions" may be made in the calendar year of 1922, collected in 1923, the secretary wrote. Under the plan of a flat tax, the letter said, "it would be impossible to adopt a declining rate say of 25 per cent for the first year in which the change is in operation 20 per cent for the second year and 15 per cent thereafter."

Unless action is taken at the present session of congress, Mr. Houston said, existing taxes "must continue to be collected on the basis of the present law until the close of the calendar year 1922." Such a condition he wrote "is contemplated with the gravest apprehension."

Immediate losses to the government under the supreme-court's decision that stock dividends are not taxable will approximate $105,000,000 the letter stated. Secretary Houston added, however, that the ultimate loss would be only $25,000,000, as much of the original loss would be regained through the sale of stocks and subsequent taxes on them. The secretary estimated that $36,000,000 collected in 1918 would have to be refunded and $70,000,000 would be lost in 1919 taxes.

Aggregate losses for 1918 and 1919 under exemption to personal service corporations will approximate $12,000,000, involving 2,450 corporations the secretary wrote, adding that the need for immediate legislation to meet this situation arose "not so much from the possible loss of revenue as from the obvious undersirability of permitting 2,500 corporations and their stockholders to escape the taxes upon the corporations and those imposed upon individuals."

Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee, commenting on Secretary Houston's suggestion for a flat tax to supplant the present graduated system, said the repeal of the $2,000 exemption granted under present income laws and the creation of a flat tax on all profits and incomes would result in lowering the average tax from 22 per cent to approximately 17 per cent.

"Present taxes are based on the disposition of profits," he said, "while under the proposed flat tax there would be a straight assessment regardless of the disposition of taxable amounts."

THE MASQUERADER

Coming To Phillips Theatre Orlando Monday March 22nd

Everyone who sees "The Masquerader" has an explanation of the tricks by which Guy Bates Post, who plays the dual role of John Chilcote, and John Loder, appears to be in two places at the same time. Of course, the difficulties in playing the double part are great, just from one standpoint of the sudden shifts in characterization, makeup and costume. But, in addition, the playwright has put the star in a tight box on two special occasions in the play and it takes the audience several moments each time to recover from the shock of seeing him in the place where it does not seem normally possible for him to be.

The first of these occasions is during the scene in Lady Anstrup's garden. That suspicious hostess has discovered the scar on the hand of the man who is supposed to be Chilcote, but who is in reality Loder. Spy talk is in the air in the air and suspicion is at once aroused. Loder steps back into an alcove of the garden and by accident escapes at the same time that Chilcote, impersonated a double of himself, re-embles, appears. The man goes into the alcove and drags Loder through a gateway, only to discover that they are face to face with Post and not the substitute.

Another startling change occurs in the last act when Post as Loder, leaves his rooms with the substitute as Chilcote lying asleep on the couch. A few moments later, when Chilcote awakens, it is Post who is there to speak the lines. Seats sale opens today at Estes Pharmacy, Orlando, Fla.

BINDER TWINE NEEDS

Uncertainty of Supply Causes Anxiety in Washington.

Diligent Efforts Being Made to Find New Sources for the Material.

Washington.—The United States has long depended for much of its supply of binder twine on henequen from Yucatan. The uncertainty of the supply during the past several years has caused serious anxiety lest there should not be enough binder twine to harvest the increasing crops of grain in this country, and the United States department of agriculture has been making diligent efforts to find new sources of supply or new regions where binder twine fibers may be produced. The chief of the bureau of plant industry reports encouraging results. The conditions in limited areas, extreme southern Florida and on the larger keys, are regarded as suitable for the production of sisal and henequen fibers, provided the cost of land and labor is not too high to permit successful competition. Henequen has been cultivated successfully for several years in Cuba and the plantations are being increased, but thus far they produce scarcely enough fiber to supply the cordage mills on the island. Conditions are regarded as favorable for the production of binder twine fibers in limited areas in Haiti and over a much larger area in southern Santo Domingo. Experimental plantings in Porto Rico have resulted in the establishment of a commercial plantation near Yauco and trial plantings near Quebradillas and on Mona Island have given promise of growth. In the Virgin Islands excellent conditions for the cultivation of sisal have been found on St. Croix. In the Philippines the introduction of modern fiber-cleaning machines has resulted in increased plantings of sisal and private capital has bought and installed machines to develop the industry on a larger scale.

SWISS SMUGGLE, GET RICH

One Family Is Asked by the Austrian Government to Explain Affluence.

Berne.—Smuggling across the frontier between Switzerland and Vorarlberg has been a highly remunerative vocation recently and many persons are alleged to have amassed considerable fortunes in contraband trade.

One family engaged in working a small farm near Lustenau, Vorarlberg, has been asked by the Austrian government to explain its present apparent affluent circumstances. One son is living at Bregenz and reputed to be worth 170,000 crowns, another recently lost 125,000 crowns at roulette in Vienna, while another lost still more heavily at Monte Carlo.

A fourth is said to be living at an expensive hotel in Berlin. It is charged the whole family was engaged in smuggling operations.

IRON OUTPUT DROPS IN 1919

Total Production of 60,466,000 Tons Is a Decrease of 13 Per Cent From 1918.

Washington.—Iron ore production was reduced by the shutting down of blast furnaces last year during the steel and coal strikes and the total output was only 60,466,000 gross tons, a decrease of 13 per cent compared with 1918, according to preliminary estimates announced by the geological survey.

Shipments were valued at $203,274,000, the average selling price at the mines being $3.60 a ton, compared with $3.39 in 1918.

Stocks of ore at mines at the beginning of 1920, mainly in Michigan and Minnesota, were 12,089,000, an apparent increase of about 53 per cent.

The Lake Superior district mines shipped about 80 per cent of the country's total.

Company Takes Back Man Who Stole $235,000

In addition, the Federal Lead company, for the embezzlement of about $235,000 of whose funds he went to prison, has agreed to put him on its pay roll again and give him a fresh start in South America as its agent.

Family Imprisoned in Chasm.

City of Mexico.—Unique in the annals of the earthquake is the experience of the family of Prof. Francisco Riveros of Barranca Nueva, Mex. The quake opened a great chasm in the earth in which their home was engulfed. For more than a week members of the family have been living in the bottom of this abyss at least 140 feet below the surface of the earth.

Surviving neighbors have been lowering them food and water at the imminent risk of dislodging rocks, which might fall and crush those beneath. Rain or new shocks may mean the death of those imprisoned in the abyss.

SWAT THE FEMALE MOSQUITO

In the Case of Those Insects, Kipling Was Undoubtedly Right in His Assertion.

Contrary to popular belief, the mosquito lays only 50 or 100 eggs at a time; we naturally would suppose it laid about 1,000,000. The larval stage lasts seven to fourteen days. If you have a barrelful of mosquitoes under your nose, though, have a look at them. It is easier to spot the unlarval kind than others. The harmless wrigglers hang with their heads down, but the unlarval mosquito lies with its body parallel to the surface of the water. If a fullgrown mosquito bites you, look at its back, preferably with a microscope. If it has the figure of a tyrant on its back it is bad medicine. If it is all one color it won't hurt you.

Only the female mosquito will bite, according to a writer in the Saturday Evening Post. The males die in the fall, the females hibernating and then living one or two months. The male lives but a few days. No doubt you believe that mosquitoes live on blood alone, though you may have wondered how they get along in the remote wilderness where there seems to be no animal life, as, for instance, in the subarctic and arctic country. The truth is that the mosquito also lives on the juice of plants. They will bite almost any sort of animal, but bite reptiles and even caterpillars. Some mosquitoes can bite through a leather moccasin. Any of them can bite through a human hide.

SOFT WOOD MADE BEAUTIFUL

Proper Application of Finishing Methods Gives All the Effects of More Costly Material.

Beautiful wood floors, approximating in effect and finish the oak and maple floors found in the best type of homes, can be developed, with the aid of proper finishing methods and materials, in such woods as pine, fir, and cypress, says a bulletin of a large American company. These so-called "soft" woods are very durable and possess not a little natural beauty of grain.

Hardwood effects are secured on soft woods by staining with an oil wood stain, consisting of a permanent color pigment in an oil vehicle. These stains are particularly adapted to use on the soft woods. The effect is completed by applying a thin coat of shellac and finishing with two coats of prepared wax or floor varnish.

The first step toward obtaining the desired finish is to sandpaper the wood smoothly. The stain should then be applied freely with a brush, and, after being allowed to stand for about five or ten minutes, buffed off with a cloth. When the stain has dried for 24 hours the shellac and wax or varnish may be applied as described.

A deeper effect than that procured by the method outlined may be obtained by the use of a varnish stain over the oil wood stain. Both should, of course, correspond in color. Often it is difficult to determine upon the best finish for a floor—the absence of expert advice.

Aviators' Dangers.

Air service doctors have discovered that airmen who have been experts will, on occasion and for a period, make all manner of mistakes in landing.

With a smooth lawn below them they will do a "poached egg" and crash the machine on its tail or will take the ground horns—they mean for—

These accidents are attributed to a particular sort of weariness of eye muscles as well as eye nerves. The eye fails to convey to the brain a proper eye picture of the ground or other object.

The eye fails very much as the muscles of an untrained athlete fail. Many exercises for the eye have been designed which will remedy this defect.

Character of Future Naval Attack.

Rear Admiral W. F. Fullam summarizes the method of naval attack of the future as: Plunging fire from long-range guns; attack by bombing from aircraft; attack by submarine mines; attack by torpedoes fired either from submarines or destroyers or by torpedo planes. He believes that aircraft will become increasingly a determining factor in ranging and he believes that sea power or fighting power will be largely dependent upon control of the air and that the fleet which secures this control must win, other things being approximately equal.—Scientific American.

Germany's Air-Post Plans.

Negotiations are being carried on between German and foreign firms with the object of securing Germany's participation in an international air-post service. Regular air-mails are expected to begin shortly, and arrangements are being made with the other Scandinavian countries. An important part of the service will be the conveyance of "airgrams" to relieve the telegraphic service. The shortage of gasoline in Germany at present is restricting the use of aircraft for mail purposes.—Scientific American.

NOT AS "EASY" AS FORMERLY

The Durand Express publishes this week a very timely editorial to the large amount of publicity being sent out by candidates for office, and suggests that newspapers consign all such to the waste basket. This is now generally being done and papers are not as easy as formerly, though there are enough exceptions to encourage campaign managers to continue their practice of supplying the press with "news." The Express says:

Brother newspaper editor, let's start a chain query in the following: Why should a newspaper carry free campaign matter for political office seekers? What's your answer? Will you pass the query on?

Here's a few facts for consideration: Hundreds of "headquarters" have been opened, hundreds of suites of rooms have been rented, hundreds of press agents have been engaged and are being paid salaries thousands upon thousands of dollars, and one of the main objects is to make prey of the newspaper editor, flooding him with literature, plate matter and everything conceivable calculated to get free publicity. This is verily the open season for newspaper publishers. Are you willing to be bagged?

Why not consign the whole caboodle to the waste paper basket? Let's look at it from this standpoint, too: Not one newspaper out of a hundred will take publicity matter from a local office aspirant in primary elections unless the same is paid for. Fact, isn't it? Why, then, fall victims to the wily snafus of governor, president, senator, or other high office aspirants?

This is the day for organization and it would seem the newspaper publisher could at least rally in a united effort to cut out the free stuff.—Owasso, Mich. Press.

the sanity and purity of country life—but they can not.

And there you have the situation in a few words. The young man in the country store, or the bank, or the blacksmith shop, or on the farm, reads of the high wages that are being paid in the cities. They seem fabulous compared with his more modest earnings in the country.

He becomes fired with a desire to coin money, breaks his home ties, and joins the millions of toilers in the maelstrom of marts of commerce.

But once there he is soon disillusioned. He finds that his wages are perhaps double or treble what they were in the home town or on the farm. He also finds that his expenses are not only doubled or tripled, but are four or five times as heavy.

If his room is sanitary, though modest, he will pay from $4 to $6 a week for it. His meals, if he is a light eater, will cost him from $10 to $18 per week. If the Lord has blessed him with a healthy appetite, only the Lord knows what they will cost him—they vary from $1 to $3 in any respectable restaurant per meal—or $3 to $9 per day—or $21 to $36 per week, all according to what he eats.

For a shave each day he will pay 25c or 35c, and a hair cut will relieve him of 50 to 75 cents.

His laundry bill comes high, his clothing is frightfully expensive, and he can pay $15 or $25 for a pair of shoes. And he must dress up to his part or get left in the shuffle.

Then a show will touch him up to the extent of $2 to $5, and he pays car fare about every time he turns around.

If he gets married his troubles begin in real earnest. The furniture for his little four room flat will cost him from $500 to $1,000, and then to $1,000, and the flat himself will squeeze him of $60 to $75 a month. Then the grocer and the butcher and the baker will cheerfully rob him of his last cent and take the shirt from his back.

There is only one way in which he can beat the profiteers and other sharks in the great cities—the country will bury him free of charge if he dies a pauper.

It is this class of men in the cities who would give an arm to get back to the country again. But they have families, their money goes as fast as it comes, and they seldom get enough ahead for a decent vacation to say nothing of the expense of moving and establishing themselves in business in the God-given freedom of the country.

They are anchored to a life of toil and drudgery, with no hope for the future, and must remain anchored until death severs the chains.

Fortunes are made in the large cities. It is true, but they are made by men who have money with which to make more money.

There are a few notable exceptions to this rule, but this is the story of ninety-nine out of every hundred who chase the rainbow of city life.

At home the young man has individuality, and is a free agent. He is of some consequence in his own community. In the city he is but a little cog in a great wheel that grinds out greater wealth for some captain of industry. He is a nobody, is unknown, and no one cares whether he goes up or down.

Does the prospect appeal to you young man?

Unless you are endowed with an extraordinary amount of brains and business acumen, your best opportunity is right here in this community, where everyone knows you, and where they respect you for what you are.

CALF IS 21 INCHES HIGH

Dwarf Hereford Attracts Attention in Colorado.

J. L. McNutt, rancher, living near Hugo, Colo., has visions of a young fortune to be made from a freak calf that is drawing scores of visitors from eastern Colorado to his farm.

The calf of purebred breeding, is ten months old and weighs 250 pounds, but stands only 21 inches high. It has a normal head and perfect markings, but stopped growing when it was seven months old. Its legs are 7 inches in length.

Already McNutt has had several lucrative offers to exhibit the calf in circus sideshows.

Shoe Dealers Fined for Profiteering. Three Boston men, officers of the F. G. Collins Shoe company of Providence, R. I., were each fined $1,000 on charges of profiteering. It was alleged that they instructed the salesmen in their store to obtain as much more than the actual sale prices on shoes as they possibly could get.

Austrians Perish in Siberia. Nearly 375,000 of the 500,000 Austro-Hungarian prisoners of war taken by Russia have perished in Siberia from smallpox and typhus fever, according to information obtained by the Red Cross.

Soothing Cigar Has Been Overtaken and Passed by Popular Little Cigarette

Cigar types of tobacco are produced in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, the Miami valley in Ohio, Wisconsin, Georgia and Florida. Of the entire tobacco crop of 1,380,000,000 pounds in 1919, the cigar types constituted about one-sixth, and the chewing, snuff and export types most of the remainder, according to the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. The cigar types are heavy producers per acre, the average for 1919 being 1,265 pounds, while the other types had an average of 679 pounds.

Before 1918, the average farm price of the cigar types of tobacco was always above that of the other types, as a whole, but in that year the extraordinary demand for tobacco other than the cigar classes and the immensely increased use of tobacco for cigarettes raised the average farm price of the composite chewing, smoking, snuff and export types to 41.3 cents on December 1, or greatly above the price of 21.9 cents for cigar tobacco. Indeed, the latter class of tobacco had a lower price than in either 1918 or 1917, not because of increase of production, but because of weaker demand. The cigar has been overtaken and passed by the cigarette.

BACK-YARD PULLETS MAKE GOOD RECORD

Chickens which lay so prolifically that they pay in a short time for their original cost and their feed are the kind of which all suburbanites dream. S. B. Horton of Washington, D. C., has them in his back yard.

On May 1, 1919, Mr. Horton bought 15 two-day-old White Leghorn chicks. The baby chicks were brooded with jars filled with hot water until they were old enough to be put in an outside coop. Later a six by eight-foot house was built for them, with an outside yard only four feet square.

Seven of these were pullets which began laying on October 22, when they were less than six months old. Their laying record for November was 115 eggs, and for December 137 eggs, a total of 252 eggs for the two months, or an average of 36 eggs a pullet for the two-month period. In all probability they would have made a record of 150 eggs in December but for the cold wave during the latter part of the month.

Crediting the birds with eggs at the market price of 90 cents a dozen (they were $1 part of the time) for the period, they had paid for their original cost and all feed by December 15. In figuring the total cost of the project, the cost of the seven other chicks raised, which were cockerels, was figured, and allowance made for their market value when slaughtered. From now on the upkeep of this flock will be small compared with the revenue.

The pullets were fed scratch feed morning and night, with a dry mash made of equal parts of middlings, bran, cornmeal, and meat scrap, before them all the time. This ration is one used and advocated by the United States department of agriculture. Nearly every day they were given a little green stuff, such as cabbage or sprouted oats, as well as table scraps and grit and oyster shell.

Death Rate for 1918 Was Highest in History of the Country, Statistics Show

The death rate of 18 for each 1,000 of population in the death registration area of 30 states and 27 cities, with a total estimated population of 81,908,104 for 1918 was the highest on record, according to the census bureau's annual mortality statistics, which show 1,471,377 deaths for the year.

Of the total deaths, 477,467, or more than 32 per cent, were due to influenza and pneumonia, 390,000 having occurred in the last four months of the year when an epidemic of these diseases prevailed. The rate for influenza and pneumonia was 583.2 for each 100,000. Influenza caused 244,681 deaths and pneumonia 232,780, showing rates of 289.9 and 284.3 for each 100,000, respectively, the highest rates which ever have appeared for these causes. The rate in 1917 for influenza was 17.2 and for pneumonia 149.8.

The other principal causes of deaths were organic diseases of the heart, tuberculosis, acute nephritis, Bright's disease and cancer, which together were responsible for 391,351 deaths, or nearly 27 per cent of the total during the year.

Natives Employ Curious Methods to Heal Wounds

Inhabitants of the little mountain country of Montenegro employ curious methods of medical treatment, according to American physicians who did relief work there. The first thought of the natives in healing wounds is to apply chewing tobacco, horsehair or fresh rabbit skin to a sore, with the hair facing inside. Common ink is considered to be a sovereign remedy for burns. Cobwebs are used in Montenegro to stop bleeding sores or wounds. When a person is bitten by a dog, the favorite remedy is to pull off the animal's ear and rub the wound with it. Since the arrival of American physicians, however, the natives are making numerous visits to Red Cross clinics and dispensaries as a means of curing their ills.

To The Voters and Citizens Of Seminole County

I take this method of again calling your attention to my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Seminole County and herein mention a few facts for your consideration.

I have resided in Orange and Seminole County the most of my life, during this time, I have been reasonably successful in my undertakings. Whether it be employment, business or in an office capacity, in railroad service, as Deputy Sheriff, as City Marshal as Mayor of this City, as Sheriff of Seminole County and in business, have governed my self by the same rule, that of making my promises good by doing that which I promised, and conducting business on business principles thereby upholding its dignity, to this and honest dealing I attribute success.

In my official capacity there has never been to my knowing a complaint filed with higher officials calling for their investigation as to any neglect or conduct unbecoming an office belonging to the people and I have held the office of Deputy Sheriff under four different Sheriffs, been City Marshal, Mayor of the City of Sanford and Sheriff of Seminole County and if chosen by the vote of the people of Seminole County to fill the important office of Sheriff, I will endeavor to conduct and uphold the dignity thereof along the same lines that I have heretofore done in all my undertakings.

With the experience I have had in both business and official capacity I feel fully competent to act as the peoples servant, and if elected, I am sure it will be my pleasure to keep Seminole County in the front ranks with other counties of the state of Florida as far as the Sheriff's office is concerned.

Always using my best efforts toward the elevation of the morals, enforcing the laws and discouraging violations. Your support is earnestly solicited and will be appreciated.
Respectfully submitted
(adv) C. M. HAND.
