Evansdale Paving Project Run Down In Lake Mary

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A proposal to pave Evansdale Road, discussed by the Lake Mary City Council for the past two years, died Thursday night.

Councilmen voted 3-2 to reject the paving plan.

Councilman Gene McDonald said the project is not in the best interests of the community as a whole, noting it would consume 51 percent "of the bucks budgeted" for public works in the new year and an equitable way to assess nearby property owners for the improvement has not been found. In addition, McDonald said problems with acquiring the right of way for the 1,275-foot stretch of road left condemnation as the only recourse.

"Condemnation is not a good thing for a city the size of Lake Mary," McDonald said. He also noted that the city could become involved in a lawsuit with persons opposing the paving.

Agreeing with McDonald's position were Councilmen Ray Fox and Vic Olvera. Favoring the paving were Councilman Richard Fess and Kenneth King.

Fess insisted the city should pave the road, adding that the council has been "dragging its feet for the past two years."

The council has discussed paving the road numerous times over the past two years. Initially the discussion revolved a portion of Evansdale known as Jackson Street from Country Club Road to Clairmont Avenue.

City Attorney Gary Massey discovered however, that Jackson Street years ago was dedicated to the more than 100 property owners in the Evansdale subdivision. He said releases from all those owners would have to be obtained before the paving could be done, noting that the county has an easement for part of the road. He said it would not be a difficult matter to gain a release from the county, but research would also have to be done before all the private owners on that stretch of road could be identified and contacted.

He said the costs of condemning the roads "wouldn't be worth it."

The council also agreed to return $39,891 on deposit with the city for the past several years for the paving. The money is to be returned to 23 property owners. The money began accumulating on Oct. 18, 1977 as lots were sold on Evansdale Road. The money was to be used to help pay paving costs if a paving project were begun before Oct. 18, 1981.

Some Evansdale Road residents at the meeting complained that the city had left the paving project hanging for too long before rejecting it.

Tom West doubted the city would be sued, saying "You're not absconding with anyone's property. Who is going to sue you for paving a road?"

Laurie McNulty, pointing to the councilmen said, "You are a young council but you're going to grow old fast if the road isn't paved." She said the unimproved road is dangerous.

Architects Chosen For New Health Center

The name, the place and the services the county's new health center will offer are still undecided but Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday night chose Helman, Hurley, Charvat, and Peacock, of Winter Park, to perform the architectural services for the new building.

"We are considering tentative sites right now for the health center," said Russell Miller, member of the selection committee and the county's director of Environmental Health, but the site selection will be decided during later negotiations and the architects will help us determine the site," Russell added.

JoAnn Blackmon, County purchasing director, said the new building is expected to provide better and more efficient services for the people who use the facility, but exactly what services the new center will offer is still under consideration.

Monday the selection committee will get together with the architectural firm to start laying the ground work for the contract, Blackmon said.

John Percy, county director of Public Service and Development, Don Flippen, building official, Dr. Jorge Deju, director of Health and Human Services, and Russell Miller, were members of the selection team that made the final recommendation to the commissioners.

Other firms considered for the contract were Greenleaf-Teleca Inc., of Altamonte Springs — the same firm the county has hired for architectural services for the library renovation project; Walton Association, Orlando, and Rogers, Lovelock and Fritz, Winter Park.

The county is now accepting bids for the "limited" demolition of the Courthouse Annex (Old Jail), located directly behind the courthouse.

"The board gave us direction six weeks ago to start looking for a wrecking firm to demolish the second floor of the Old Jail," said Blackmon.

When the bids are finalized, the wrecking firm that is selected will be knocking out steel bars and removing walls of concrete that still remain as part of the former jail cells.

The county will be renovating the second floor of the building into additional office space, Blackmon said.

"It will be a difficult job for whoever is selected as the wrecking firm," said Blackmon, "because whoever does it will have to work some weekends and some nights to complete the job because there are people working in the building now and the firm will have to work around them," she said.

3 Casselberry Firefighters Say They'll Quit

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Three Casselberry firefighters said Thursday they're "not going to take it anymore," and are planning to resign within the next few weeks.

"The Casselberry city council treats the firefighters as second-class citizens and they can do that to some, but not to me," Firefighter Carey Hobbs said.

Hobbs said he will either take a firefighting position with Orange County or the Orlando Aviation Authority at the Orlando International Airport, if the positions are offered. Hobbs said he has completed all requirements for the positions except the physical agility tests.

Firefighter Dave Hollenbach said he is leaving because of the "overall poor attitude of the council toward firefighters and the frustration of the job."

"Council sees the fire department as a necessary liability," Hollenbach said. "You've got to have a fire department, so they have one but that's as far as it goes."

Hollenbach, who is also a respiratory therapist at Lucerne General Hospital Orlando and a volunteer firefighter for Orange County, said he plans to join the Orange County's Fire Department as a paid member.

"Orange County offers something to work for like self-improvement and advancement," Hollenbach said. "Casselberry is just going to stay a rinky-dink fire department because the council doesn't allow or promote incentive. Fire Chief Gaines came to the department not too long ago and tried to improve it but they've stifled him, too."

Hollenbach said if you don't do your job well in Orange County, "they won't keep you." But, he said, a firefighter could "really be bad in Casselberry and no one cares."

"The taxpayers definitely are not getting the services they are paying for," Hobbs said. "They should have a paramedic program here, but council has in the past and probably will in the future stifle those plans, too."

Hollenbach and Hobbs said the recent cutback of the public safety incentive pay, reducing firefighter income by $300 annually was an additional reason for their plans to resign.

Firefighter Bill Adkins also said he will resign to join Orange County if his physical agility tests scores meet the county's requirements, according to fire personnel. Adkins could not be reached for further comment.

"I wouldn't do anything to hold a man back from improving himself," Fire Chief Kenneth Gaines said.

Gaines said the absence of the three firefighters planning to resign will have an adverse effect on firefighting operations.

"The resignation of the three men will put us down to minimal manning of the two-man per shift operation," Gaines said. "If additional men resign before we can hire replacement personnel, we will have to recruit volunteers or close one of the fire stations."

Gaines said he does not know if other firefighters are contemplating resigning.

Councilman Frank Schutte said he feels the firefighters have been given a "very fair deal and it upsets me that people have no gratitude."

Schutte said the council has in recent years, provided the public safety incentive pay, upgraded firefighter salaries and established new positions for promotional potential.

"I think they're a spoiled lot," Schutte said. "We've probably been guilty of giving them too much over the past few years and it's spoiled them. Some of them seem to be of the opinion they can start right at the top with the highest pay and benefits."

Mayor Owen Sheppard said he feels the talk of resigning from the fire department and of closing a fire station for lack of personnel is "panic talk."

"There's nothing official because they haven't officially resigned," Sheppard said. "Everything we have done has been perfectly above board and we acted in what we consider best for the city. However, it is certainly anyone's prerogative to resign if that's their desire."

Lake Mary OK's Budget; Tax Rate Goes Up 13%

Lake Mary's nearly $800,000 budget for 1981-82 and tax rate of $4.35 per $1,000 assessed valuation, an increase of 50 cents per $1,000, has been adopted.

City council Thursday night unanimously approved the two items. Despite an overflow crowd of citizens at the meeting, none spoke either for or against the budget or the tax increase.

The general operating budget for the new fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 totals $580,000, up from the current year's $496,542 while the water and sewer utility budget totals $211,905, up from the current year's $148,815.

The tax rate of $4.35 per $1,000 assessed valuation, is up 13 percent from the current year's $3.85.

The budget provides a 10 percent across the board pay raise for all city employees.

The council will reconvene at 4 p.m. today to discuss four bids on the city's liability insurance for the new fiscal year and a "Fall Festival" scheduled by NCR Corp. and Stromberg-Carlson for this coming week.

The council opened bids on the insurance from the Bob Karns Agency, Risk Management Association, Burt, Bogart and Brownell and Sentry Insurance during its meeting Thursday night. The city's insurance with the Karns Agency is to expire Thursday. Staff members are to study the bids today and make a recommendation to the council this afternoon.

City Manager Phil Kujba was directed to contact Stromberg-Carlson to get details on the Fall Festival which the industry is sponsoring with NCR next week. Although the city council said several weeks ago it would cooperate in the venture, no further contact was made until a schedule of events was advertised in a flier distributed in the city Thursday.

The flier says the city will be sponsoring an activity in a week-long series of events, but no activity has been planned since city officials were not apprised of the plan, the council said. — DONNA ESTES

He was a member of the Killarney Baptist Church.

Other survivors include his grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Phillips, Maitland; sister, Ellen Frances Thomas, Orange City; stepfather, Clark Thomas, Homestead.

NATION IN BRIEF

Administration Scrambles To Salvage AWACS Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration is negotiating on Capitol Hill in an effort to avert congressional defeat of President Reagan's proposed $8.5 billion arms sale to Saudi Arabia, sources say.

Congressional sources indicated one compromise being discussed involves some form of joint U.S.-Saudi manning of sophisticated Airborne Warning and Control System aircraft — AWACS — the centerpiece of the arms package and the hardware that has stirred the greatest controversy.

Defeat in the House has been considered a foregone conclusion, making the Senate the administration's last hope for salvaging the sale.

The deal is vigorously opposed by Israel as a threat to its national security.

O'Connor Sworn In Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sandra Day O'Connor, the first woman nominated to the Supreme Court, may also be the first of several appointments President Reagan will make to the high court.

More than 300 dignitaries were invited to watch Mrs. O'Connor take her oath of office today from Chief Justice Warren Burger inside the huge, marble-columned courtroom of the nation's highest tribunal.

Mrs. O'Connor, 52, replaces Potter Stewart, 67, who resigned from the bench in July and who planned to attend the swearing-in. She stepped down this week as an Arizona appeals court judge.

WORLD IN BRIEF

The Man Who Shot The Pope Was Part Of A Conspiracy

ROME (UPI) — The judges who sentenced Mehmet Ali Agca to life in prison for shooting Pope John Paul II concluded he was part of a conspiracy but said "a thick curtain of silence" conceals the identity or purpose of the mastermind.

In their 51-page opinion released Thursday, more than two months after the Turkish terrorist was convicted of wounding the pope, the judges said the shooting was not the work of "ideological delirium" but part of a "complex mechanism."

"But with all honesty it is necessary to admit that the evidence does not yet disclose who are the promoters of the conspiracy or determine what objectives were directly linked to the eventual elimination of Karol Wojtyla (the pope)," the opinion said.

Armenian Gunmen Surrender

PARIS (UPI) — Three Armenians surrendered early today and released 60 hostages held under threat of death for 15 hours inside the Turkish consulate in a bloody attempt to force Turkey to fly Armenian prisoners to Paris.

TVA Hit With Stiff Fine

SODDY-DAISY, Tenn. (UPI) — Tennessee Valley Authority officials say they will not contest a $40,000 fine the Nuclear Regulatory Commission levied Thursday for safety violations at the Sequoyah Nuclear Plant's Unit 2, a reactor that hasn't even begun operating.

The fine was assessed because three valves in a crucial water safety system at the reactor were left open Aug. 26 and if they had been needed in an emergency, they would have been virtually useless, NRC officials said.

The fine was the fourth in two years against the federal utility. The last was a $50,000 penalty issued last spring when fire prevention equipment at the Browns Ferry Nuclear Plant was not installed as ordered in the wake of a 1975 fire that crippled the Athens, Ala., facility for a year.

Air Crash Tied To Strike

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — An airport manager says the air controllers' strike was a contributing factor in the collision of a commuter airliner and a private plane on a foggy runway Thursday. Parts of both plane's wings were ripped away but no injuries were reported.

Larry Larkin, manager of Pulliam Field, said the collision between a Sky West Airlines metroliner with 14 passengers aboard and a twin-engine Mitsubishi turboprop might have been prevented if the airfield had a full staff of air traffic controllers.

The airfield's complement of five controllers was cut back from five to three when the air controllers struck in August. On Sept. 3, the tower was closed for 90 days.

Prankster Killer Gets 5

LONGVIEW, Texas (UPI) — A man who shot and killed a prankster for toasting a biscuit at his pickup truck last Halloween has been sentenced to five years in prison.

David Anthony Nelson, 22, of nearby Glimmer, was sentenced Thursday for his conviction in the Oct. 31, 1980, shooting of Kevin Scott Yarbrough.

Testimony showed Yarbrough was among several youths riding around Longview in the back of a pickup, throwing biscuits at passing vehicles as a prank.

Dollar Slips, Gold Up

LONDON (UPI) — The American dollar slipped at the opening of European foreign exchanges today following President Reagan's budget statement. The price of gold moved up as the dollar weakened.

All currencies, including the pound showed plus signs against the U.S. unit.

Gold opened up in Zurich at $452.50 an ounce from Thursday's $448.50 and in London at $452.50 from the overnight $448.00.

Government Warns Union

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Polish government increased pressure on Solidarity today on the eve of the independent labor union's national convention, sending armed troops into the streets and warning that Poland was at a "turning point."

"This is indeed a turning point," Prime Minister Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski said in a nationally televised address to parliament, warning that Poland's fate depended on Solidarity's willingness to renounce any bid for power in the second round of its national congress starting Saturday.

"Ever ready to defend the socialist state, we are awaiting a stance, a reply from Solidarity leaders. We are waiting for them to change this line, which was crowned by the first round of their congress."

Drug Abuse Prevention Seminar Set

A look at preventing drug abuse from the law enforcement, community and church points of view will be presented in a seminar sponsored by the Knights of Columbus at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Among the program speakers will be Tom Holl, drug coordinator for Seminole County Schools; Charles Fritch, executive director of "The Grove" school; officer Glenn Lord of the Sanford Police Department; Rev. Philip C. Waisanen, pastor of the First Assembly of God and president of the Sanford Ministerial Association; and Fr. Marvin Jones, coordinator of community services at Seminole Community College.

Louis Girard, seminar director, stressed the program is non-denominational and added that parents should not feel apprehensive about coming since it does not mean their children have problems — the program will deal with preventing a child from becoming involved with drugs.

A question and answer period will follow.

The seminar is free and open to the public.

Three More Boy Scouts Honored

Members of Cub Scout Pack 540, Casselberry, inadvertently left out of the list of Arrow of Light award recipients in Wednesday's Evening Herald, were Tim Scarborough, John Payne and Robbie Volence. They received their awards at a ceremony Friday night at the Silver Lake Boy Scout camp, Sanford, conducted by Boy Scout Troop 529 of Paola.

Round 2 Of Budget Cuts May Be An Uphill Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan wants an additional $13 billion in 1982 budget cuts and the departments of Energy and Education abolished. But many in Congress, both Republicans and Democrats, predict he is in for a fight.

In a nationally broadcast address Thursday night, Reagan pledged to stand firm in his determination to balance the budget by 1984, and proposed a 12 percent spending cut for most federal programs and a stiffening of tax codes.

Overall, the impact would be $16 billion in savings next year — $13 billion in reductions in proposed spending and $3 billion in additional revenues through increased tax and fee collections.

And for the first time, Reagan recommended cuts in the defense spending increases he earlier proposed — but only about 1 percent of the total budget, amounting to $2 billion in 1982 and $13 billion over the next three years.

At the same time, he backed down from an earlier idea of postponing Social Security benefit increases, but landed hard on other programs in his drive to lead the nation out of its "economic swamp."

"I know we are asking for sacrifices from virtually all of you, but there is no alternative," Reagan told the nation.

The president said harsh measures are needed if the budget is to be balanced by 1984, the target date he has set.

Although Congress gave Reagan the bulk of what he wanted in approving record tax and budget cuts this summer, the sentiment that confronts the president as he moves into this newest assault on spending looms as a more formidable obstacle to his plans.

Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., said, "The president has gone too far in cutting the non-defense portions of the budget... and the American people are going to say 'enough is enough.'"

Said Senate Finance Committee Chairman Bob Dole, R-Kan.: "No one is enthusiastic about facing up to additional budget cuts. We will be very slow to cut further into the nutrition and social program areas."

Dole and assistant Senate Republican leader Ted Stevens of Alaska said Congress probably will cut deeper into defense than the president proposed.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., criticized Reagan's across-the-board approach to cutting domestic programs. "All programs are to be slashed, regardless of their worth, and the social safety net will soon be more holes than net," he said. Reagan said his proposed 12 percent reduction in non-defense budgets would furnish an estimated $8.4 billion in savings.

He made good on a campaign promise by proposing elimination of the Energy and Education departments, both of which were created by President Jimmy Carter.

And in a major concession, Reagan stepped away from his oft-stated target of a $42.5 billion deficit for 1982, raising the figure to $43.1 billion.

Woman Walking Dog Killed; Man Charged With Homicide

A Casselberry woman was killed instantly Thursday evening when she was hit by a car while walking her dog along Laura Street in Casselberry.

Janice E. Cook, 79, 780 Sable Palm Drive, was walking her dog eastbound along Laura Street when she was struck by an eastbound vehicle and killed, according to the Florida Highway Patrol (FHP).

Fred B. Lyons, 23, of 646 Lake Irene Road, Casselberry, was arrested by troopers and charged with vehicular homicide and driving under the influence of alcohol. Lyons was transported to the Seminole County Correctional Facility where he was being held this morning without bond.

FHP said that upon approaching Mrs. Cook, Lyons allegedly ran off the road and hit her when he steered his vehicle back onto the pavement.

Jail officials said Lyons is scheduled to make his first court appearance today at 1:30 p.m.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT CHARGED

The FBI has taken over the investigation of Tuesday's robbery of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Mid-Florida, 3090 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford.

Lynn Andrew Tranchine, 23, was charged Wednesday with bank robbery, a federal offense. Sanford police arrested Tranchine at his home several hours after the 3 p.m. hold-up.

Tranchine allegedly took $10,540 from a teller after instructing her in a note to put the money in a bag.

Tranchine was transferred to FBI custody and remains in the Orange County jail. No bond was set during a hearing before a federal magistrate Wednesday since Tranchine did not have a legal representative. A conflict arose over Tranchine's ability to pay for an attorney rather than have a court-appointed lawyer and a bond amount will be set at a later date, an FBI spokesman said.

A "BRIEF" ENCOUNTER

It was a clean get-away. Toy Lee Freehan reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies someone entered her home Thursday, opened her father's locked bedroom door and stole $2,800 in cash from a dresser.

The intruders also used the opportunity to take a bath, leaving a pair of their undershorts behind.

Freehan, 4601 Gilbert St., rural Sanford, suspected a nephew, who had also been living in the home until June. While the deputy was taking the report from Freehan, the nephew called and admitted taking a bath — but no money.

The house was unattended Thursday from about 7:45 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., Freehan reported. Her father was in the hospital at the time.

The "brief" investigation concluded the perpetrator entered through the front door, possibly using a knife.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Gov. Takes To Airwaves: "No More Refugees ..."

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Taking a page from President Reagan, Gov. Bob Graham went on statewide television Thursday night appealing to Floridians to deluge Washington with mail saying, "We want no more refugees in Florida."

An hour before Reagan himself appeared on national television seeking citizen support for his proposed budget cuts, Graham appeared on a hookup of eight stations in seven Florida cities urging his constituents to communicate their displeasure with Washington's "indifference" to the refugee problem.

He cited in particular increased crime in the Miami area directly attributable to criminals and mental patients among the 200,000 Cubans and Haitians who have arrived in Florida since January 1980.

The governor demanded that no more refugees be admitted to the state unless they are to be reunited with families, that other refugees be settled elsewhere in the country and that the federal government pick up the state's refugee-related costs.

Goldwater On Way Down

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — The Rev. Jerry Falwell, founder of the Moral Majority, scoffed Thursday night that recent criticism of him by Sen. Barry Goldwater is the result of the Arizona Republican's decline as a conservative leader.

Falwell said the problem with Goldwater is that "he's getting older" and "no longer is the leading conservative in the United States."

"When he (Goldwater) says that religion has no part of public policy, he's contradicting statements made by Thomas Jefferson," Falwell added. "He is reacting adversely to someone else taking away where the mantle used to be."

"I think instead of kicking his constituents in the posterior, he should be writing his memoirs," Falwell said.

Bulldozers Cited By OSHA

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Four firms involved in the construction of a five-story Cocoa Beach condominium that collapsed in March killing 11 people, have 15 days in which to contest citations and penalties recommended by the Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

OSHA said Thursday it has issued 17 citations in connection with the state's worst building disaster and recommended a maximum $1,000 penalty on each citation.

OSHA said the "alleged serious violations" involved concrete mixing, reinforcement of concrete floor slabs and columns and a number of hazards connected with shoring the building.

Contest Voting Extended Until Nov. 17

More $ Needed To Fund Holiday Parade

The Sanford Christmas Parade King and Queen Contest has been extended to Nov. 17 to allow the four pairs of candidates more time to secure votes and consequently raise additional funds needed to finance the annual parade.

The candidates have raised a total of $705, but an additional $800 is needed. The deadline for voting was originally set for Oct. 4, with the winning couple to have been crowned that afternoon at the "Sundae in the Park" sponsored by Sanford's Interested Sarahs to Encourage Rejuvenation SISTER, Inc.

The king and queen candidates are still scheduled to meet the public and solicit votes at the event, which will be held from 2-5 p.m. in Centennial Park, Park Avenue and Fourth Street, Sanford.

The Christmas Parade sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, will be held Dec. 12 in downtown Sanford. The winning king and queen will receive $50 each and ride on a special float in the parade.

Crowning of the winners is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Nov. 17, at the chamber building at First Street and Sanford Avenue. The event, which will feature live entertainment and refreshments, is open to the public.

The winners will be selected after voting cans have been collected from around town. Anyone wishing to vote can drop coins into the can bearing the picture of the couple of their choice. A penny counts as one vote.

Couples vying for the royal titles are Dusty Gregory, 15, of Enterprise, and Debora Alderman, 16, of Sanford, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Sanford; Bill Painter, 17, and Dawn Weekley, 16, both of Sanford, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Sanford; Rufus Christian Jr., 17, and Sonia Thomas, 18, both of Sanford, sponsored by the Women's Community Club of Sanford; Jamie Jessup, 18, and Stephanie Beard, both of Sanford, sponsored by the Sanford Optimist Club.

Orlando Calls May One Day Be Toll-Free, But Not Now

Toll-free telephone service between the Lake Mary-Sanford area and metropolitan Orlando is probably in Lake Mary's future, but now is not the time, a Southern Bell Telephone Co. representative told the Lake Mary City Council Thursday night.

Larry Strickler, Southern Bell's manager for the Sanford area, said the percentage of persons in the north Seminole County area making telephone calls to Orlando, is not yet high enough, according to state Public Service Commission (PSC) guidelines.

Strickler said the telephone company's February figures show an average of 5.49 calls per local telephone were made to Orlando monthly and those calls were made by 44 percent of the area's telephone subscribers.

He said the frequency of calls meets the PSC requirement of an average of three calls per telephone monthly. But the number of subscribers making the calls must reach 50 percent, according to PSC guidelines and that has not happened yet.

"Until the second criteria is met, the PSC would refuse the request for the extended service," Strickler said.

Strickler said extending the service, if it were approved by the PSC, is not free.

He said the monthly bills paid by individual subscribers in the Sanford-Lake Mary area would be increased by $4-$5. He said less than five percent of the Sanford-Lake Mary subscribers are making 80 percent of the telephone calls to Orlando. "The bottom line is that Southern Bell is going to get its money anyway," Strickler said, adding that he doesn't personally care whether the service is extended.

Councilman Gene McDonald said that Strickler's report was biased in favor of the company.

Saying he was skeptical of Strickler's figures, City Attorney Gary Massey said he would like to see Southern Bell records of the number of toll calls made between the Sanford-Lake Mary area and Orlando over the past six months. Strickler said he would make the information available.

Altamonte Commission Race

Parker Quits, Colardo Wins

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

John Parker, a candidate for the Altamonte Springs District 3 Commission seat, said today he will officially withdraw from the election this afternoon.

"Yesterday, my wife delivered a letter to City Manager (Jeff) Etchberger stating my intentions to withdraw from the race," Parker said. "However, it won't be an official withdrawal until I sign the letter this afternoon." The deadline for candidate qualifying was 5 p.m. Monday.

Parker, a labor negotiator for the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, was running against homemaker Cheney Colardo for the post currently held by commissioner Dolores Vickers. Upon Parker's official race withdrawal, Mrs. Colardo will win the city commission seat by default.

"I didn't anticipate, when I got into the race, I would have so many added business contracts to negotiate," Parker said. "For the next eight months, at least, there'll be quite a burden on me from my workload and I don't feel it would be fair to the people of the city for me to run and not be able to give the time that is necessary to the position."

In other commission seat races, Dudley Bates also won his District 1 commission seat by default. He ran unopposed for the post currently held by commissioner James Thompson.

However, the mayoral race is gearing up between incumbent Mayor Hugh Harling and Ray Ambrose, a police officer currently on leave of absence, for the $4,800 annual, three-year position.

The election is set for Nov. 3.

The West Owes Poland A Chance

The Polish trade union movement, Solidarity, held its first congress against a backdrop that included massive Soviet military maneuvers along Poland's eastern border and a stream of scathing condemnations from Tass.

If the Poles were intimidated, it wasn't apparent at the Solidarity congress in Gdansk, or on the streets of Warsaw. On the contrary, Solidarity seemed bolder than ever. Its congress approved calls for free parliamentary elections, an end to centralized economic planning and regular access for union leaders to the state-controlled news media.

In Warsaw and other Polish cities open to Western visitors, Poles went about their daily business as though nothing unusual were happening at all.

Thus the question: Do the Poles know something their friends in the West do not? Apparently they do. There may be a bit of bluff in Solidarity leader Lech Walesa's jaunty boast that "tanks couldn't make us work," but it is becoming increasingly clear that Moscow sees an invasion as an absolute last resort to be avoided at almost any cost.

Why? Because any overt attempt to crush a popular movement actively supported by the vast majority of Poles could trigger savage resistance, lingering guerrilla warfare and widespread sabotage for years. And these would be only the military costs — just the beginning.

The economic consequences would be, if anything, still more damaging to the Soviet Union. Poland's foreign debts total a staggering $27 billion. A Soviet invasion would eliminate any chance that the Poles could enact the reforms necessary to revive their nearly prostrate economy. That, in turn, would mean that the Soviets themselves would have to assume the burden of supporting Poland, or watch the Poles starve.

The political consequences of armed intervention would be no less devastating. Whatever shreds of ideological credibility the Soviets retain within their empire and beyond would be lost, perhaps forever. NATO would be solidified anew. And prospects for successful Soviet-American negotiations on arms control would vanish.

Moscow knows all this and, so, would prefer to fight Solidarity with political subversion, duplicity and the rest of the catalogue of black arts at which the Kremlin is so practiced.

But that gives Solidarity, and its sympathizers within the Polish Communist Party and government, a fighting chance to institutionalize at least some of the reforms that have long since surpassed anything ever achieved elsewhere in Eastern Europe.

What the Poles need from their friends in the West is an international version of what Lech Walesa's trade union movement has already provided the Polish people — namely, solidarity.

This means economic assistance, debt rescheduling and new credits made conditional on the acceptance of economic reforms of the kind already advocated by Solidarity.

It means repeated, bold expressions of Western solicitude for the Polish people, for Solidarity, and for the possibility of a Poland that would enjoy substantial internal freedoms even if Warsaw's foreign policy would still be largely dictated by the Kremlin.

With this sort of help, it is just possible to imagine a successful, non-violent revolution within Poland that the Soviets would be compelled by circumstances to accept.

The West owes Poland this chance. The Western democracies tried in vain to preserve Poland's independence in 1939. But six years later, Western diplomats acquiesced in the forcible assimilation of Poland into the Soviet empire. The time has come for the West to repay an old debt to an indomitable people.

Congratulations are in order for Eleanor Anderson, the county's director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). Anderson, who has worked for the county OMB for five years and became OMB director last January, has received career status with the county.

"Finally," jokes Anderson. Even though Anderson has worked for the county for many years, it is still part of county employee policy to place an employee on a probationary status for any new job they take with the county. Anderson has been OMB director for eight months.

"I'm pleased that the county commissioners are pleased with the work that I'm doing. Approving the career status will give me an extra sense of confidence in doing my job," Anderson said.

Along with the career status the county has approved for her, the board has also granted a seven-and-a-half percent merit increase for Anderson. This is the highest merit increase the county gives a county employee and it is based upon performance.

"Eleanor will probably use two-and-a-half percent of the merit increase to buy a stock of aspirin after all we went through to get the county's budget together this year," quipped commissioner Sandra Glenn after the board agreed to the merit increase.

Even though putting the 1981-82 county budget together was "tough," Anderson said it was not one of her biggest challenges while working for OMB. "After a while you just get used to the demands of the job. I don't really think there's anything that I can't accomplish," she said slightly embarrassed by the attention she was receiving.

Anderson started working in Seminole County government in the clerk's office and worked her way into the OMB. She started in the OMB as an analyst.

"I thoroughly enjoy working with the board of county commissioners and all the other departments. I like Seminole County and never want to stop working for county government," Anderson said.

Really High Finance

The timing may be a bit discomfiting, but no one can say it comes as a surprise.

In the midst of its hard-sell campaign to convince the public, particularly that portion of it that hangs out around Wall Street, that its policies will regenerate the economy and stabilize federal finances, the administration has had to ask Congress for an increase in the national debt limit.

Beginning Sept. 30 to more than $1 trillion, a "dreaded financial milestone" in the words of the Wall Street Journal that everyone has seen coming for a long time.

It is a step that this administration, of all recent administrations, would certainly rather not take, but there is no way out. Even if the Reagan budget trims and tax cuts deliver fully as promised, it will be 1984 before federal accounts show a surplus. Meanwhile, fed by continuing deficits and interest accrual, the debt goes on accumulating. The total was $980.5 billion as of Sept. 3 with a legal limit of $965 billion. Scarcely enough room left there to cover the bureaucracy's office supplies and miscellaneous requirements for the rest of the month.

So the Reagan administration has the dubious historical distinction of presiding over the erection of a milestone. You have to go a long way back to find a comparable one — to the Wilson administration and 1917 when, under the pressure of World War I expenditures, the debt first topped $1 billion.

Of course, those were much different dollars, which suggests another way of looking at the debt. Applying a little historical perspective to that trillion-dollar figure, it is somewhat less formidable. In terms of purchasing power now as compared to then, it works out to less than $500 million in 1971 dollars. Or about $300 billion in 1961 dollars. That's discounting for inflation.

Now doesn't that make you feel better?

Are you in gee with the administration's formatting of public policy for the out years? If you understand that you could well be working now, or at least be a good candidate for a job, in Reagan's Washington. The administration is already putting its distinctive stamp on the language as it is sometimes incomprehensibly spoken in the highest official circles.

As researched and defined recently in the Wall Street Journal, "in gee" as used by movers and shakers in today's Washington means they are in agreement. "Out years" means long term and "to format" stands in for to plan or develop. No problem once you have a phrase book, and Berlitz may be out with one shortly.

Actually, the Reagan phrase-makers are only following precedent. Every administration in recent memory has done the same. Reasonably long memories may recall "thrust," which the Kennedy people applied to everything from the subject matter of a cocktail party conversation to the development — pardon, formatting — of nuclear strategy.

The Johnson years bequeathed us, among other things, "nitty-gritty," but the really productive administration linguistically speaking is Nixon's. Remember "tilt," as in policies favoring one side or the other in a foreign spat? Not to mention "inoperative," as in "we made a mistake in what was said earlier but would prefer not to say it now."

Billy's Dealings The End Of Him?

WASHINGTON — A complex federal investigation of two ex-CIA agents who supplied arms to Libya has focused on a famous target: Billy Carter.

As I have noted in the past, there is an obvious need for a special prosecutor to investigate the tangled dealings of the two ex-spies, Frank Terpil and Edwin Wilson. There are several aspects of their connection to the former president's brother that bear looking into. These include:

— Terpil's statements to associates that he was pivotal in behind-the-scenes activity that led Billy to accept a $220,000 "loan" from the Libyans, presumably in return for any influence he might have had on the then-president.

— Similar statements by Wilson, including one discussion of assassinating Billy for renegeing on a deal with the Libyans.

— The indisputable fact that Terpil knew details of Billy's Libyan deals long before they were made public, and even before federal investigators were aware of them.

— The close similarity of an oil-commission deal for Terpil in 1976 to the one offered to Billy Carter in 1979.

ROBERT WALTERS

How To Save Dollars

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If President Reagan is willing to supplant his symbolic gestures toward reducing wasteful military spending with a serious budget-cutting campaign, he'll discover hundreds of opportunities to save money.

Even the Republican chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, Sen. Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, has rejected as inadequate the president's virtually meaningless initial proposal to trim $13 billion from the Defense Department budget during the next three fiscal years.

Reagan's own Office of Management and Budget, the Congressional Budget Office, the General Accounting Office, scores of members of Congress and a host of other authorities can identify for the president areas where countless billions of dollars' worth of additional reductions can be made.

From the airport at Keflavik, Iceland, to the Pentagon's executive dining room, the Defense Department's far-flung operations are replete with examples of ill-conceived, ineffective, overpriced and unjustified programs.

One of this city's most outspoken proponents of a strong military establishment, Benjamin F. Schemmer, editor of the Armed Forces Journal, recounts the sorry story of the Icelandic airport in a recent issue of that magazine.

Shortly after Jimmy Carter was sworn in as president, he rejected a Defense Department request to build, at a cost of $6.5 million, a new civilian air terminal at Keflavik so Icelandic Airlines' passengers would no longer have to use the U.S. Navy's small and somewhat dingy terminal building.

If Iceland wanted a new terminal for its airline, Carter reasoned, that country was certainly free to construct such a facility. If not, what was good enough for the U.S. Navy ought to be good enough for the airline's passengers.

Less than a year later, Defense Secretary Harold Brown renewed the request — but the cost had almost doubled, to $11.5 million. Again, Carter turned down the proposal.

A third request, carrying a price tag of $23 million, also was rejected by the White House. But in the final months of his presidency, Carter succumbed to Pentagon harassment and approved the scheme — at a price of almost $40 million.

The cost of operating the Pentagon's dining room represents a very trivial portion of the Defense Department's budget — but it typifies the military establishment's penchant for extravagant spending.

The average price paid by diners is $2.87 per lunch — but the dining room is so heavily overstaffed and inefficiently operated that each meal must be subsidized with $12.06 in public funds, according to Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis.

In other words, the average lunch costs $14.93 but those who consume the food pay less than 20 percent while the taxpayers pick up the tab for more than 80 percent.

In the fiscal year about to begin, the Defense Department is expected to purchase more than $100 billion worth of goods and services from individuals and companies outside the government under a cumbersome, outdated procurement program that discourages competition and encourages waste.

The department's various components have compiled more than 30,000 pages of procurement regulations that, according to the Congressional Budget Office, "add 20 percent to 100 percent to the cost of goods for little or no gain in effectiveness."

Major weapons systems continue to produce massive cost overruns. The General Accounting Office notes, for example, that the Army's M-1 tank was estimated to cost slightly more than $500,000 in 1972 but now is priced at $2.8 million men and women who retired after serving at least 20 years on active duty will receive about $13 billion worth of pensions this year.

Reagan could perform a major public service by applying to the military budget the same standards of ruthless economizing he displayed when dealing with domestic social programs — but he apparently is unwilling to do so.

Poison Bulletin Issued

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors and paramedics are being alerted to watch out for injuries from hydrofluoric acid — the active agent in brick, stone and aluminum cleaners.

"Such cleaners are used in industry, research and commercial products and have caused health care professionals to begin to recognize its severe deleterious effects," says a Poison Information Bulletin for the medical doctors.

Products used in etching, polishing and frosting of glass also may contain hydrofluoric acid, says the bulletin going out from the National Poison Center Network headed by Dr. Richard W. Moriarty in Pittsburgh.

"Hydrofluoric acid is a particularly hazardous chemical," Dr. Moriarty said.

"It is corrosive. Even in solution it can cause severe burns to the skin. The severity of these burns may not be apparent immediately, and not even for as long as 24 hours.

"Permanent scarring and disability can result."

Before using any powerful cleaning agent that makes elbow grease almost a thing of the past — at home or at work — Moriarty recommends reading the label. There's a good chance it may contain hydrofluoric acid.

"We clean our aluminum siding, bricks, masonry, and air conditioners, pre-soak heavily soiled laundry, remove spots from our own clothing and rust from metals — the easy way," he said.

"While all the convenient self-serving saves money, it could add up to a dangerous situation if the cleaning product we use contains hydrofluoric acid."

Products containing hydrofluoric acid often have listed among ingredients — "HF" or "HF Acid." Here are some precautions from Moriarty, recommended to all who use products containing the acid:

— Be sure to wear rubber gloves.

— Use the product only in a well-ventilated area. "If you suspect even a mild exposure to this chemical, call your Poison Center immediately," Moriarty said. "The staff is knowledgeable about hydrofluoric acid exposures and can give you direction about what to do."

"If hospital treatment is necessary, he can alert the emergency room to your case, no time will be wasted."

Moriarty said that with hydrofluoric acid exposure to the skin, "Initially the patient may notice only a slight tingling or burning sensation with a little redness of the skin."

"It doesn't look or feel like the kind of burn we would expect from an acid."

"If the patient is seen at this stage by a doctor unfamiliar with the problems associated with hydrofluoric acid, it is possible the physician may be unimpressed with the injury."

"Damage, however, has already occurred. The acid attacks cells deep in the skin and bones of the exposed area. Without proper and immediate attention, the problem will become worse and the patient could lose his nails and perhaps the ends of his fingers."

"The same type of damage can occur with any tissue exposed to the acid."

Seminole Seeks To Break Edgewater Hex Tonight; Underdog Greyhounds Go After Ranked Wildcats

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Veteran Edgewater football coach Bob Dolce hasn't ever lost two season-opening football games until this year.

Winter Park's Larry Gergley and his state's second-ranked IA Wildcats have lost just one game in the past two seasons.

Add that first statement to the fact that a Jerry Posey-coached team has yet to beat Edgewater in Posey's career at Seminole — and you have a pretty tough assignment facing the Tribe tonight at 8 in the Tangerine Bowl.

Add the second statement about Winter Park to the theory that the Wildcats have a cat eye out for the number one spot in the rankings — and you have Bill Scott's Greyhounds facing a similar hill to climb tonight at 8 at Showalter Field.

But it is a challenge that each relishes. "We're going to go after them," vowed Scott while setting up the sprinkler system Wednesday night at Lyman. "It's easy to get up for them. They're the best ball club around I've seen since the Merritt Island team with Jimmy Black and Leon Bright."

And if you think this is just another coach's buildup of an opponent, you better think twice. The 'Cats are pretty awesome. Most observers thought they would be hard-pressed to replace savvy Jamie Lugo, an excellent option man at quarterback last year.

Enter Mike Sweeney. A converted defensive back, Sweeney has given the Wildcat offense a different look — airborne.

"I think he's better than Lugo," said Scott. "This kid can really throw. I think he can do more things than Lugo."

The thing he does best is definitely throw. Wide receiver Darryl Smith and tight end Cecil Holt are the prime targets. Holt, an all-around athlete, also doubles as the punter. Dennis Gareau carries the Parkers' running attack. He has rushed for over 100 yards in both wins. Defensive back Eric Ingram is rated as a potential all-state selection.

A man who knows just how tough the 'Cats are is Edgewater's Dolce. The Longwood resident suffered a 30-7 licking to the Wildcats just last week.

While Dolce is thoroughly impressed with Gergley's squad, he is undecided on whether it is better than last year. "In some ways they are and some ways they aren't," Dolce said. "Sweeney is a different kind of quarterback than Lugo. He's a much, much better thrower, but he doesn't run the option."

Well, coach, what does Lyman have to do to beat Winter Park?

"They have to play error-free ball and stand toe-to-toe with them because they will come at you," assessed Dolce.

"They have good backs, but they don't have great speed. Larry (Gergley) will tell you that."

"For Lyman to beat them, they have to stop Sweeney from throwing and be strong up the middle."

The Lyman-Winter Park matchup, however, wasn't taking up much of Dolce's time Thursday. He was worried about Sanford and shaking an 0-2 opening record which was staring him in the face for the first time since taking over the reins for the Eagles.

"This is a very pivotal game for us. We're in a must-win situation," Dolce said. The Eagles dropped a 31-13 decision to Satellite Beach before the Winter Park setback.

Dolce feels his team is finally healthy now with the addition of 6-foot-5, 265-pound Craig Cleveland and senior secondary man Paul Conley. Conley joins senior Jerome Broner who has been Dolce's most consistent performer defensively.

Offensively, the Eagles go with just two seniors. Marcus Slade is back after being sidelined for four weeks with a knee injury. Slade runs a 46 40-yard dash and "should help our running attack."

Dolce goes with two juniors at quarterback. Marvin Zander will start tonight, but he has been splitting time with Rodney Long, who will move to flanker.

Along with Slade at running back, Dolce uses 5-foot-10, 170-pound junior Kenny Jones and senior Leroy Filmore. When asked about his team's strengths, Dolce chuckled and said,

Lyman

"The way we've been playing the past two weeks I don't know if we have any strengths."

One thing he does have is the hex over Posey. The classy Tribe coach has never beaten Dolce. "That's one gratifying thing," Dolce said. "But I'll tell you when they come down here (the Tangerine Bowl), it's always close."

Which was what exactly Posey pointed out earlier in the day. "The games at the T-Bowl have always been the closest for some reason," concurred Posey.

Dolce thinks he knows the reason. "Whoever we play gets pumped up coming in here," Dolce said about the bowl-like atmosphere. "It's a big stadium, there's a lot of people. Everybody gets motivated coming to the Tangerine Bowl."

Posey hopes to see some motivation from his offense which was shut out for eight quarters before punching across nine points during the triple-tiebreaker victory over Lake Howell last week.

The return of fullback Lenny Sutton should help. Sutton, nursing a sore Achilles tendon, watched the win over Howell from the sideline last week. "He was going pretty good yesterday (Wednesday)," Posey said about his power back who rambled for 80 yards against Titusville Astronaut.

Another weapon uncovered last Friday was the toe of Alan Cahill. The senior defensive tackle boomed the game-winning three pointer to drop Howell.

"I think he's good from 40 yards in," said Posey. "Of course we still have to find out whether Cahill can do it consistently under pressure." Posey said he wouldn't hesitate to call Cahill's number on a fourth down and three of four.

The offensive lineup remains pretty much the same with Victor Williams, steady Johnnie Littles, Jeff Lutton and Sutton in the backfield.

Defensively, Larry Eason was Burger King Player of the Week for his super all-around game at defensive end against the Silver Hawks.

Illeana Escapes Cuban Hand To Mold Solid SCC Program

Illeana looked over her shoulder as the bearded man wearing a cap inched closer and closer. Just as Fidel Castro grasped her ankle, she jerked free, leaped upon a horse and escaped from her native Cuba with her life. (The horse swam very well.)

Well, maybe it wasn't that dramatic when this cute four-year-old fled Cuba for Connecticut 21 years ago, but it was probably the best thing that happened to the then Illeana Millares.

The Evening Herald incorrectly reported the SCC-Brevard volleyball game would be played Saturday. It will be tonight. Sorry.

Now a Gallagher — she was married last year — Illeana is putting together what she feels will be the best volleyball team to date during her three years at Seminole Community College.

Gallagher plays a triple role for the Raiders. She coaches volleyball, softball and basketball. The attractive University of Central Florida graduate was a standout volleyball and softball player at Hialeah High School before two more good years at Miami Dade South. She also played both sports at UCF prior to graduating in 1978.

"This year I have the experience and height that we didn't have last year," points out Gallagher. The Raiders were 17-5 a year ago and return five starters. They placed eighth in the state.

Gallagher has built the team with Seminole County players. "There is so much talent around here, you don't need to go anywhere else," she said through her Cuban-Connecticut accent. "Plus, I think it's better to build with local players."

Gallagher has picked two girls each from Seminole, Lake Brantley and Lyman High Schools. She plucked one coach from Oviedo High and Lyman High. Two out-of-county imports come from Edgewater High and St. Cloud High to complete the 10-member team.

One of the Seminoles — sophomore Patty Corso — is a top all-around player for SCC. "Patty is one of our best hitters," stressed Gallagher. "She's a good server and very aggressive around the net."

Another starter comes from Lake Brantley. Sophomore Francis "Frammy" Rhodes is the team's sparkplug. "She's the spirit," said Gallagher about her captain. "Frammy was a little too hyper last year, but she's come a long way and has what it takes to be a leader."

The Lady Raiders tallest player comes from Orange County. Debra Dyer, a 5-foot-11½ basketball standout at Edgewater, is the key blocker for SCC.

"We call her the 'Roof,'" laughed Gallagher. "She's one of the strongest blockers I've seen. Debra's a little lazy sometimes, but we're trying to make her an all-around player."

Seminole's fifth starter hails from Lyman. Sophomore Nan Gallagher is one of the team's quarterbacks and setters. "Last year Nan was lacking the confidence," said the namesake coach. "But this year she has the experience to run the team for me."

The fifth starter is just a rookie. Freshman Sharon Vobornik — who helped Lake Howell to a district championship last year — is serving as a setter.

"Sharon's a little nervous about being a setter, but she'll be all right," assured Gallagher. "She has a lot of talent and is a very smooth player."

"She also has the best serve on the team and with the talent she has I expect here to be twice as skilled next year."

Gallagher's last starter is another freshman — St. Cloud's Kendra King. King came to Raiderland to supplement the softball program, but decided to go out for volleyball too.

"And I'm glad she did," exclaimed Gallagher. "Kendra's very strong on

Knights In Search Of — Quarterback, Touchdown

The University of Central Florida's Fighting Knights football squad left Thursday for Jackson, Miss. In search of its first victory against two losses and in search of its third quarterback in as many games.

With injuries having forced freshman starter Mike Wood and senior returner Bob Burkhardt to the sideline, head coach Don Jonas will turn quarterbacking duties over to Mike McCrary.

McCrary and the Knights will face a tough task in stopping Millsaps in the Saturday clash scheduled for a 2:30 p.m. kickoff at Alumni Field in Jackson.

The Millsaps Majors are currently riding the nation's second longest Division III winning streak (14 games) that includes a 3-0 start this season. The Majors are coming off a 27-0 win over Suwanee and sport a stiff defensive unit.

Millsaps currently sports the nation's second best Division III defense, including a number two ranking against the rush and a number six position in scoring defense.

Those statistics shouldn't make things any easier for UCF. In addition to looking for its first win, the Knights are still looking for their first touchdown of the 1981 season.

The UCF-Millsaps contest will be broadcast over WUCF-FM (88.5) beginning at 2:15 p.m.

The Knights and the Majors have met just once before. Millsaps emerged from last season's initial meeting with a 7-4 decision.

Mincey, Smart Pace Win

Joe Mincey and Brent Smartt each collected two hits and two runs batted in as Florida Baseball School Blue beat Florida Baseball School Red, 6-1 in Zinn Beck League action Thursday night at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Mincey from Lake Brantley and Smartt from Lyman paved the way for pitchers Tom Novak, Jerry Wallens and Buddy Underwood to hold the Red to seven hits. Underwood picked up the victory. Seminole righthander Greg Hill suffered the loss.

Astronaut Dips Silver Hawks; Trinity Prep Hosts Shorecrest

Titusville Astronaut's Donnie Whiting had three touchdown passes as the War Eagles clipped Lake Howell, 21-7, before 100 fans at Drae Field Thursday night at Titusville.

The loss was the third in a row for coach Mike Biocaglia's Hawks, who host Lake Brantley next Friday in a key five star clash. Lake Howell is 6-1 in conference play.

Whiting, a top college prospect, found big tight end Ken Parker for a 25-yard loss in the first quarter. Bruce Waldron added the first of three extra points for the night for a 7-0 lead.

Whiting connected again in the third quarter. This time the rifle-armed senior hit Robert Whitney out of the backfield for an 18-yard TD. An interception by Scott Kurma at the 50-yard line had set up the score. Waldron converted for a 14-0 bulge.

It was the "W" boys again in the fourth period as Whiting located Whitney from six yards out for the touchdown. Waldron booted the PAT and Astronaut's lead grew to 21-0.

The Silver Hawks finally dented the Titusville defense after a fine kickoff return by Billy Mosblech in the fourth period. Quarterback Scott Frick hit Carlos Payas for a seven-yard gain before tailback Scott Grant exploded 43 yards on a pitch from Frick for the Hawks' first TD of the year. Ironically, it was the first touchdown given up by the War Eagles' stingy defense too. Grant was named Burger King Player of the Week for 108 yards rushing last Friday.

SCOTT GRANT ... 43-yard TD gallop

Grant added the point after to draw the Hawks within, 21-7. The Silver Hawks used an onside kick to regain possession. A pass to Nat Edmonds at the goal line went up for grabs, however, and Astronaut sealed off the victory.

"He almost caught it," assistant coach Paul Pope said about Edmonds' effort. "If he would have been a little bit taller he would have got it.

"But they had a real good team. Our defense did a good job. Penalties at bad times really hurt us," concluded Pope. Lake Howell 0 0 0 7 7 Astronaut 7 0 7 7 21

Another team looking for its first win is Coach Ron Vierling's Trinity Prep Saints. The Preppers go after victory number one Saturday at 2 p.m. against St. Petersburg-Shorecrest.

Shorecrest is 0-2 on the season including a one-point loss to Lake Highland. Trinity is 0-1 after being blown away by Frostproof, 53-0, last Friday.

"It will be nice to get back and play regular people again," said Vierling, who is still recovering from the Frostproof onslaught. "They were awesome. Our rookies were discomobulated."

"But we did hold them down the second half (seven points). And they didn't run any second stringers in because they only have so many players."

Vierling's backfield is up in the air for tomorrow's game. Star running back Gerald Sutton is still bothered by an ankle injury and is questionable for Saturday.

Point Spread Establishes Gambling Odds

When I announced that my point spreads were better than Harrah's for 13 of the 14 games played last week, several people wanted to know what I meant.

A point spread in a game, such as football, is the difference in actual or predicted scores between the two teams. Professional gambling establishments publish point spreads as one method of establishing gambling odds.

If they say that Team A will beat Team B by 6 points, then the point spread is 6. If you bet on Team A, you are betting that Team A will win by more than 6 points. If you bet on Team B, you are betting that Team A will win by less than 6 points, or that Team B will win by any score.

When I stated that my point spreads were better than Harrah's, I meant that the difference in my predicted scores were closer to the actual difference than Harrah's.

How do you use these point spreads? Well, suppose you were in a state where it is legal to gamble (such as Harrah's Club in Reno, Nevada) and you wanted to bet on professional football games for the week.

Ask for a betting sheet from any newspaper in the place. It will list all of the professional games scheduled that week, with the winning teams shown on the left, the point spread in the center, and the losing team on the right.

Cliff Nelson Football Pragmaticator

This list is also published in many newspapers across the country. Slyly slip Cliff's Hangers from the Herald out of your pocket and compare Harrah's and Cliff's point spreads. Where Cliff has picked a different team than Harrah to win, promptly circle Cliff's pick.

This is called an upset selection. When Cliff's point spread is greater than Harrah's for the same team to win, choose Cliff's to win. When Cliff's point spread is smaller than Harrah's for the same team, choose that team to lose.

Now had you done that last week and bet, uh, say a dollar on all 14 games, you would have won on 13 games, or $13. You would have lost on 1 game, or $1. Your profit would have been $12, which you could have put in your pocket, and then worried all the way back to Florida as to how you could show it on your income tax return.

Now, before you sneer and ask me how much I won last week if I'm so smart, I will tell you — nothing! I must Blind To Marry Dave... Or Met On Blind Date?

Sam Cook Sports Editor

I was half asleep when I talked to the Lake Brantley football coach's wife. Let's see now, I think her name is Joyce Tullis and her husband's name is Dave.

They'll be married nine years in November. Then she said, "I must have been blind to marry Dave." Or was that, "I met Dave on a blind date."

Now you coaches see how you get misquoted. Yeah, I think it was the second one. She met the former Dunnington football standout on a blind date.

They were both at the University of Florida. "Dave was a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity," remembers Joyce. "I was in the Alpha Chi Omega sorority and someone fixed us up."

Well, Joyce, what happened to Dave's football career after graduating from the 2A powerhouse?

"Oh, he walked on at Florida," informed Mrs. Tullis. "But he walked off a little faster. When you're only 5-foot-7, you have to walk a little faster at Florida."

Well, so much for that marriage. Let me start on the next one. Lyman Coach Bill and Norma Scott met at Memphis State University where Bill was an offensive lineman. The circumstances were somewhat similar to the Tullis' since a friend introduced them and they went to a freshman dance for their first date.

In fact, it was a "May Day" dance. It must have been love at first sight. The Scotts were married later that year and have been for 18 years.

I won't say anything cute here since Burly Bill is a little bigger than me and "Henley High" hasn't thrown too many bouquets my way since my last poetic work of "The Raving."

Onward and upward... Sanford (1-1) at Edgewater (0-2)

This one is interesting. So, you think women know more than men. The ladies took Sanford. The men took Edgewater. Norma Scott feels Edgewater is down after being blown out, 30-7, by Winter Park. Sandra Glenn feels Sanford is up after beating Lake Howell. Joyce Tullis picks the Tribe by an Alan Cahill foot. (3).

The men feel Edgewater is too strong for Sanford and the home-field (Tangerine Bowl) advantage makes the difference.

Lyman (1-1) at Winter Park (2-0)

Scott and Glenn pick the Greyhounds. Glenn feels Lyman plays better away from home. They have to. This is the third straight road game. The men and Tullis are swayed by the Wildcats number two state ranking.

Boone (0-2) at Lake Brantley (1-1)

Complete accord on this one. Brantley hasn't given up a point during the regular eight quarters. Lyman beat Boone, 14-0. "This is a completely objective opinion," laughs Joyce. "I don't know a soul at Lake Brantley. Friday, the joke will be Boone. Shorecrest at Trinity Prep (0-1)

"I picked Trinity Prep because I've heard of them," said Scott about the matchup. That was good enough logic for everyone except sportswriter Billy

Stripp. What are you going to do with these high school geography students? UCF (0-2) at Millsaps (3-0)

Another loss up. Scott likes the local talent. Stripp thinks the Knights will overcome their quarterback woes. The "Saps" have won 14 in a row which was good enough for Cook, DeSantis and Tullis.

Miami (2-0) at Texas (2-0)

The DeSantis Theory here is, "If I Can't Be Right, I'll Be Different." Lonesome Joe goes with the Hurricanes. All the gregarious people pick Texas.

Florida (2-1) at Mississippi State (2-0)

The DeSantis special. Joe feels the ground game and MSU's stingy defense will leave the Gators without a cigar. The rest of us like Charley Pell's boys.

Oklahoma (2-0) at USC (2-0)

Get the coach ready, Mrs. DeSantis, Joe's coming home for some care. Come on, Joe, this is getting old. The cast says Southern Cal. The outcast says Oklahoma. DeSantis feels the number one ranking has been a jinx, thus far. That's true, thus far.

Cardinals (1-2) at Bucs (1-2)

Another toss up. Tullis, Stripp and Glenn love those Bucs. Cook, DeSantis and Scott are Jim Hart fans. St. Louis scored 40 points last week. Have the Bucs scored 40 this year?

Dolphins (3-0) at Colts (1-2)

Stripp has the best line here. "Don Shula's going to teach his son (Dave, Colts wideout) how to win." Everyone seems to agree, except me. I got the "Joe DeSantis Syndrome." Get away from me everybody!

defense. She does a good job of picking up the other team's hitters."

King also possesses a fine floater serve which Gallagher plans to call on in certain situations.

The first Raider off the bench will be Oviedo sophomore Jackie Martel. "She can clean up back there," praised Gallagher. "Jackie's quick and smart and not afraid to go to the floor."

Another valuable addition is Lake Brantley freshman Kim Meyers. Gallagher calls her an all-around player who will come in when "one of the other girls is off."

Another Fighting Seminole — Miami Bonita — serves a reserve role for SCC.

"Miami is inexperienced, but very determined," said Gallagher about her tall freshman. "She will be a very good player for us as the season goes along."

Sophomore Nancy Giszinski is the final addition to this year's squad. Giszinski is a center in basketball for the Raiders. She missed volleyball last year with a knee injury, but has a special spot in Gallagher's plans this year.

"Nancy is our secret weapon," declared Gallagher. "She's left-handed and you don't see too many in volleyball. She should do very well messing up the opposition's blocking," observed the ex-Hialeah grad.

While Gallagher can point to many strengths on the team she does realize the weaknesses. "We really don't know each other as well as we should on the court. I like my girls to think as one person."

"We got in the top ten in the state last year. We'd like to get in the top five this year. I think we can do it," reasoned Gallagher.

And who's to doubt the determination of anyone that's had an ankle in Castro's grasp?

OPTIMISTIC RAM, SEMINOLE

Sanford Optimist Club President Bill Colbert (right) congratulates Lake Mary's Jeff Hopkins (left) for his excellent kicking which lifted Lake Mary past Lake Brantley, 14-13, 10 days ago. Hopkins was selected as the Optimist Player of the Week for the Rams. Seminole's Larry Eason (middle) was the Tribe Player of the Week for the Optimists. The senior defensive end had an excellent all-around game as the Fighting Seminoles tipped Lake Howell, 9-6, in three overtimes.

Laid-Back Leonard Pitches Kansas City Into First Place, 9-2

By United Press International
For a guy who just pitched his team into first place, Dennis Leonard didn't seem too thrilled with the accomplishment. "If we finish in first in the second half," said Leonard after guiding the Kansas City Royals to a 9-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins, "all it means is that we get two games at home (against Oakland). It's kind of funny: the first two teams aren't really fighting it out. It's us against Minnesota and Texas." The Royals lead second-place Oakland by a half-game, Minnesota by 3½ and Texas by five in the AL West with nine days left in the season. Leonard, 31-11, scattered nine hits over eight innings and struck out four. He has now won four of his last five starts. Mariners 2, Rangers 1 At Arlington, Texas, Tom Paciorek singled in Dan Meyer from second base with one out in the 11th to boost Seattle. Meyer singled off starter Doc Medich, 9-6, stole second and scored when Paciorek sent a shot down the left field line. Shane Rawley, who relieved in the seventh, upped his record to 3-6. Dick Drago relieved in the 11th and earned his fifth save. Indians 5, Red Sox 2 At Boston, Mike Hargrove, Toby Harrah and Ron Hassey all collected three hits and knocked in a run to deprive Boston of a share of first place. The loss dropped the Red Sox one game behind the first-place Tigers. The Indians trailed 2-1 entering the seventh when Miguel Dilone drew a walk off Mike Torrez, 6-3, who had not lost since May 2nd. Dilone was sacrificed to second by George Orta and Hargrove, hitting .722 in Fenway Park this year, singled in Dilone to tie the score at 2-2. Harrah chased Torrez with a double to score one run and Hayes tallied when left fielder Jim Rice bobbled the hit. Heliever Dan Spillner hurled the final 3-2-3 innings to up his record to 3-4. Orioles 5, Yankees 1

DENNIS LEONARD ...scatters nine hits

At New York, Jim Palmer pitched a four-hitter and Rich Dauer hit a two-run homer to spark the Orioles. Palmer, 7-8, recording his second straight complete game victory, set down the side in order five times in posting his 24th career triumph. Dauer's fifth homer came off reliever Andy McGaffigan in the fifth and scored Al Bumbry. Ron Guidry, 11-4, who had a personal six-game winning streak snapped, was forced to leave the game after two innings after being struck on the left foot by a hard smash off the bat of Ken Singleton. X-rays revealed a bad bruise. White Sox 4, Angels 1 At Anaheim, Calif., Harold Baines stroked a homer, double and single to drive in two runs and Dennis Lamp pitched a four-hitter to enable Chicago to snap a four-game losing streak.

Slowbrawl To Fastbrawl Smith Battles Fans

By United Press International
First we had Slowbrawl and now it's Fastbrawl. The players and owners went all in for nearly two months and now, in a development that may not be entirely unrelated, the players and the fans are toe-to-toe. Reggie Smith of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Pete Rose of the Philadelphia Phillies became involved with the paying customers Thursday night, becoming the second and third players in two weeks to do so. "It started in the sixth inning when I was stretching in front of the dugout," Smith said after the Dodgers beat the Giants 7-3. "A fan said, 'You stink, you have no class,' so I said, 'What does that make you if you're talking to me?'" "The fan said, 'If I come down there I could get hurt and be out of my $40,000 a year job. But if I hurt you, it will hurt the Dodgers.'" Smith said he noticed the fan beginning to wave a batting helmet and he warned the fan not to throw it. The fan threw the helmet, grazing Smith on the hip. "That's when I went after him," said Smith, who entered the stands and punished the fan before being torn away by teammates. "I think I threw three punches and somebody hit me. I realized I would be ejected if I went in the stands." Smith also became the target of a thrown beer bottle as he left the field, but it missed by a wide margin. Mike Scioscia's three-run homer capped a five-run third that snapped a five-game losing streak for the Dodgers and dropped the Giants 4½ games behind Houston in the West with 10 games to play. Rose was issued a summons for individual peace disturbance following an altercation with two fans during a 14-6 romp in St. Louis that severely damaged the Cards' second-half pennant hopes. A police spokesman said Rose was issued the summons after he allegedly pounded a bat on top of the Phillies' dugout in the top of the ninth inning to frighten the two fans who had been shouting obscenities at him and throwing beer at Philadelphia players.

Expos 7, Pirates 1 At Montreal, Gary Carter drove in three runs and Warren Cromartie stroked four hits, including a home run in the Expos' fifth straight victory. Bill Lee, 4-5, hit a home run, his first of the season and second lifetime. Starter Orel Hershiser, 4-4 and 0-4 lifetime against Montreal, took the loss. Bill Madlock, bidding for his third NL batting crown, went 0-for-3 to fall to .337. Astros 5, Braves 3 At Houston, Art Howe, who leads the team with a .309 average, knocked in two runs to carry the first-place Astros. Bob Knepper, 9-4, needed relief help from Dave Smith, who picked up his eighth save. Larry McWilliams, 1-1, took the loss. Cubs 10, Mets 9 At Chicago, Bobby Bonds' two-out homer in the eighth — the fourth Cup homer of the game — snapped a 9-9 tie. Bonds' sixth homer of the season came off Jesse Orosco, 0-1. Dick Tidrow, 3-4, gained the victory while Rawley Eastwick pitched the ninth for his first save. Ellis Valentine had two homers and a double with five RBI in a losing cause.

Reds' Berenyi Declines Tempting Offer, Dwells On Loss Alone

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bruce Berenyi, Cincinnati's rookie right-hander, heard the phone ring in his hotel room and picked it up. A girl was on the other end, a girl he didn't know. She told him her name and commiserated with him over the tough one-run ball game he had lost to the Mets a couple of hours ago. "It wasn't really your fault," she said. "You pitched a good game." "Thanks," said the Reds' big fastballer, "but we still lost." "I know you don't know me, but I was just wondering if maybe you'd like to go out this evening," the girl went on, explaining she was a baseball fan, that she had been following Berenyi's progress and would like to meet him. As tactfully as he knew how, he declined the tempting invitation. "I'm just not in the mood to go out after pitching a game like that," he said. That was about a month ago and it was the first call the Reds' 27-year-old bachelor had ever gotten from a girl he didn't know since reporting to Cincinnati. Berenyi, who is 8-5, struck out 10 in that game with Montreal in which Andre Dawson's fourth-inning single kept him from a no-hitter last June 7, but the big thing as far as the Reds were concerned was that he gave up only one walk in that game. Only two weeks before that, he walked seven batters in 3-2-3 innings against the Dodgers and had so much trouble finding the plate that he threw 15 consecutive balls in one stretch. "Any time he goes out there," Reds' Manager Johnny McNamara says about Berenyi, who led the American Association in strikeouts the past two years with Indianapolis, "he has a chance to pitch a no-hitter. He's that kind of pitcher. He throws hard and has good movement on all his pitches.

Milton Ritchman UPI Sports Editor

Basically, he's a fastball pitcher, but he also has a good curve and slider along with an occasional change. Berenyi could be the key man for the Reds in the next few years or even in the next week-and-a-half, when they'll be trying to catch the first-place Astros for a playoff berth in the National League West. He is a nephew through marriage of Ned Garver, who once won 20 games for a last-place St. Louis Browns club and also pitched for the Detroit Tigers, but seldom volunteers that information for fear perhaps someone might get the idea he's trying to ride on Garver's coat tails. Although he grew up and went to school in western Ohio, Berenyi was a Mets' fan as a kid. "Because of Tom Seaver," he says. "I thought he was a great pitcher and I liked the way he acted. I was in the Reds' farm system when he was traded to Cincinnati and it made me happy I was in the same organization as him. The first time I ever met him was during spring training in 1980 and he'd say 'hi' to me, but he's not the kind of guy you were just going to go over and start a conversation with. I couldn't bring myself to talk with him." Berenyi talks to Seaver a little more now, or to be more exact, the Reds' three-time Cy Young Award winner talks more to him. "It really gives you a boost the day after you pitch a good game to have a fellow like him come over and pay you a compliment," Berenyi says.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDESOL For Saturday, September 26, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY
September 26, 1981
Something on which you may have given up will fall within your reach in the year following your birthday. Stay atop things when the opportunity presents itself, you'll want to be prepared.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
There could be strings attached to a favor that someone has offered to do for you. Before accepting, make sure you don't mind the price. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Tact and charm are two tools you use very advantageously today, but you could unconsciously abuse the generosity of persons who are drawn to you. Take care.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You show your best side today when you relax and don't try to impress anybody. When you attempt to display your better attributes, you come off all wrong.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't let doubts creep in after you've established plans with others. Continue with the program and let time render the verdict.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Treat everyone you meet today with the same friendship and congeniality you do those to whom you feel close. If you don't, a nice person could be snubbed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You may in all good faith promise to do something for another, only to find out later that it won't be possible. This person will understand. You won't lose face.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Excellent gains can be made by both parties if you and another person can work in unison and mutually aid each other. Neither should feel his share of the job is tougher.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You have everything going for you today, so don't allow that little green imp of jealousy to goof up your good time by being too possessive of one you love.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
You and your mate may not be in complete accord as to what family chores should be done today. If you can't agree, draw lots.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
When bold measures are called for today, have the courage of your convictions. Every body is on your side and will support you all the way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You might have much too difficult of a time today saying "no" to persons who have their hand out. Don't be a Scrooge, but also don't be a pushover.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
A family member will have his or her feelings hurt today if you make plans in which they're excluded. Be considerate of kin as well as of pals.

Spare The Scalpel For Hemorrhoids

DEAR DR. LAMB— I have been having rectal bleeding for about a year. It is not a great deal of blood, but it shows up for a day or two every four to six weeks. The doctor has given me tests in the hospital and all he found were some internal and external hemorrhoids. There is no pain or itching, except a great deal of gas when bleeding occurs. The doctor gave me suppositories and told me to use hot sitz baths. I still have bleeding every month or so, in small amounts. Do you think I should have rectal surgery? I am 65 years old.

can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Surgery is not always necessary or indicated. Some of the internal ones can be treated by injecting a sclerosing agent around the offending veins.

DEAR READER — It is important for anyone who has bleeding to have an examination. Don't just assume that it is hemorrhoids. There are a number of serious medical conditions that can also cause bleeding. I would doubt you have any of those in view of your examination.

And regular bleeding, even of a small amount, can be a cause for iron deficiency that can result in an anemia. So it is wise to keep a check on that.

Your letter makes several important points. First, you have no pain. Internal hemorrhoids are inside the rectum and the pain fibers that cause pain and itching are outside, under the external skin area. The internal type tend to bleed without causing pain. The external type tend to cause pain and itching without bleeding. Of course, if you are really unlucky you can have both.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 16 years old and have always used sanitary napkins when menstruating. I have tried several times to use tampons but can't. I am unable to insert them even half way. The tip is pressing up against something causing pain.

Then you mention gas and that your doctor gave you a suppository. That suggests less than perfect bowel function. Constipation and bowel problems that result in straining make hemorrhoids worse. That includes hard stools — hence the suppositories.

Is it possible I have some kind of growth blocking the opening? Am I just naive about how to use one?

DEAR READER — Go see your doctor. You might indeed have a mechanical obstruction. It will require an examination to know for sure and if you are simply doing something wrong, you will learn how to do it right. There are girls born without a normal opening. Others have a very rigid hymen that can prove difficult. It is rare, but in view of the large number of people who write to me I can expect to hear from some rare cases.

There are several different approaches to treating hemorrhoids discussed in The Health Letter number 13-12, Hemorrhoids: New Treatments for an Old Affliction, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue

And you should consider if you want to use tampons at all or not in view of the problems of toxic shock. If you do use them, be sure and change every day at least once and don't leave one in overnight when you are sleeping.

WIN AT BRIDGE

It didn't quite shut South out and South bid his spade suit. North raised to game and West opened his jack of diamonds.

East looked over dummy and didn't like what he saw. He could count on his king of trumps for one trick, but there was little chance that his king of hearts would be worth anything.

There might be two diamonds tricks. West could have just a four-card diamond suit.

Where was the fourth trick going to come from? Maybe East could get to ruff a club.

East did all this thinking in much less time than it took us to write about it. The he overlooked his partner's jack of diamonds with the queen and led back the seven of clubs.

South knew he was in trouble. He led his queen of spades and rose with dummy's ace in order to get in two rounds of trumps but it did him no good.

East took his king and led back a low diamond to West's 10 spot. Back came a club and another good contract had bitten the dust.

Nitrogen Deficiency Common In Plants

One key to successful landscaping in Florida is making sure your soil has enough nitrogen.

Almost without exception, plant growth can be improved by applying nitrogen to the soil.

But nitrogen deficiency continues to be the most common nutritional problem affecting woody ornamentals in Florida. Nitrogen is probably the most important element affecting the health of your woody ornamentals, and it's needed in greater amounts than any other element, as well.

Nitrogen allows plants to synthesize amino acids, and these amino acids are nitrogen is leached out in the process.

Also, if you plant your ornamentals in a place where vegetables have grown for many years, the soil is probably deficient in nitrogen.

You can suspect nitrogen deficiency if you notice a uniform loss of green color from a plant's leaves. This loss of color may vary from pale yellow-green in the beginning to an ivory color, if the deficient condition persists.

If your plant has a nitrogen deficiency, the leaves will be thinner and smaller than normal and there will be fewer of them.

Nitrogen deficiency affects leaves all over the plant, but yellowing is worse on the fruiting branches of the tree. If the plant is severely affected, the foliage will become quite sparse and a good amount of dead wood will appear on the plant. Nitrogen deficient plants show slow growth, if any, and they are more susceptible to cold injury.

Working some organic matter into the soil will help it hold nitrogen better. I must point out, however, that organic matter alone won't clear up a nitrogen deficiency. You can't add enough organic matter to restore proper plant growth. Working it into the soil simply improves the soil's moisture holding capacity. This cuts down on leaching.

To treat the nitrogen deficiency, you'll have to add a fertilizer to the soil. There are three ways you can add nitrogen. You may choose to add a basic gardening fertilizer, such as an 8-8-8, or you may want a high nitrogen content fertilizer, such as a 16-4-8. Or, you may decide to supply only the nitrogen itself, and use something like ammonium nitrate.

If you choose to add a basic gardening fertilizer, apply it four times a year, at the rate of two to four pounds per hundred square feet. For the high nitrogen fertilizer make your applications, but only use one to two pounds of fertilizer for a hundred square feet. For the single nutrient fertilizer, the amount you use will depend on the percentage of nitrogen in the material.

As an example, a half a pound of ammonium nitrate, that contains 33.5 percent usable nitrogen will supply enough nitrogen for a ten by ten foot area.

One to three weeks after applying the fertilizer, you should expect a noticeable improvement in the green color of the foliage.

Miss Koch, James Jones Repeat Vows

MRS. JAMES WHIGHAM JONES

real estate broker with the Swearingen Co., and the bride is investment analyst for Vantage Income Properties, a real estate development firm.

Penelope Elizabeth Koch and James Whigham Jones were married on Aug. 29, in a double ring ceremony at the Church of The Incarnation, Dallas, Texas. The Rev. Jack Altman was the officiating clergyman.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Robinson Ellsworth Koch, 13720 Sprucewood Drive, Dallas. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Randall Jones, 1919 Sanford Ave., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal silk organza gown, fashioned along the princess silhouette. The reemboledered Alecon lace bodice, embellished with seed pearls, was designed with a Queen Anne neckline and slim tapered sleeves. The controlled skirt, bordered with an insert of wide Alencon lace, cascaded into a graceful chapel length train.

A halo held her tiered fingertip veil of imported illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses interspersed with baby's breath.

Becky Wells of Dallas attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kiley Pryor, Carol Williams, Jill Rothe, Kim Jackson and Cathy Cox, all of Dallas, and Cayce Cumbest, Jackson, Miss. They wore peach colored gowns and each carried a bouquet of peach roses and tiger lilies showered with baby's breath.

Donald R. Jones served his son as best man. Ushers were Ted Walker, Larry Bauman and Jeff Franzen, all of Dallas. Groomsmen were Tom Jones of Dallas and L. D.R. (Randy) Jones Jr., Pensacola, both brothers of the bridegroom; Hunt Campbell, Nashville, Tenn., and Travis Green, New York City; and Rob Koch, brother of the bride, Harry Hawks and Kim Stavinoha, all of Dallas.

A reception at Northwood Country Club followed the ceremony.

Fathers As Well As Moms Deserve Equal Job Rights

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently lost a premature baby boy. He was our first child and the first grandchild on both sides. My husband and I were both very grateful to our family and friends for their support during such a difficult time. However, all the flowers, gifts and condolence letters were addressed to me. My husband hardly left my side during my stay at the hospital. That dear man stood on his feet for 12 hours beside me while I was in labor. When the baby was born we both held him and wept together, knowing he would live only a few hours. It was our loss and we both grieved.

Abby, why do people consider the loss of a child only the mother's loss? It's the father's loss, too. Please remind your readers that men need just as much support as women when their children are ill or dying.

I was given time off from work to recuperate emotionally, but my husband had to go back to work the day after our baby died. Thank you for letting me get this off my chest.

E.W.
DEAR E.W.: Thank you for a valuable addition to this column. You also inadvertently gave a boost to the Equal Rights Amendment, which would make discrimination between the sexes illegal under our Constitution. In other words, if a job provided time off to recuperate emotionally after the death of a child, fathers as well as mothers would receive it.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this in hopes that some of the older generation moms will read it and be more understanding of young mothers who work.

I have a beautiful 3-month-old baby. She is my second child. I plan to go back to work next month. I've always worked part time to help support our family. My working outside the home is not a matter of luxury, it's a necessity. You would think people would realize how expensive it is to raise a family today, but I guess they don't.

Abby, I am sick of hearing older moms, including my own, say, "How can you leave that beautiful baby all day?" Now I just reply, "This beautiful baby likes to eat!" Sign me.

I'D RATHER BE HOME
DEAR RATHER: That's food for thought. Well said.

DEAR ABBY: My mother and my best friend are having a disagreement. My friend says that a girl can't get pregnant the first time she has sex. My mother says that is a lot of hogwash. Who is right?

I'm sure many girls are wondering the same thing. Sign me.

HAS NO IDEA
DEAR HAS: Your mother is right!

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive bachelor who would really like to get married, but it seems the only women I find appealing are married! Being a romantic, I get involved with them anyway, which leaves me very little time to court single women, should I happen to meet one I like.

I can't figure out why married women hold such a fascination for me. They were all single before they were married, and many of them were available, but I had no interest in them. Why, oh why, Fair Oracle?

LIKES 'EM MARRIED
DEAR LIKES: Elementary. You really don't want to get married, because you aren't prepared to make a commitment. The married ones are "safe" — and so are you. Grow up!

Do you have questions about sex, love, drugs and the pain of growing up? Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teen-Ager Ought to Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (35 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 12000 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Constitution Week Observed By Daughters

In celebrating National Constitution Week, Mrs. T. Burch Cornelius introduced the speaker, Commander Guy Strickland and his wife.

Strickland spoke on "The Reflections of the American Constitution" and the proposed amendments to the Constitution, stating that the only Amendment to the Constitution ever repealed was the Prohibition Amendment.

Mrs. Wm. S. Brumley Sr., Regent, presided. Prior to the regular meeting, a Memorial Service was held for member Mrs. Fred J. Harris.

Twenty-one members and guests were served refreshments by the hostess.

Canoeing Is A State Of Mind

By DIANE M. JEFFERSON
Herald Feature Writer

As you dip your paddle into the Wekiwa River a wading bird is startled and springs into the air with a screech. His cry echoes down a watery corridor shaded by a canopy of ancient trees. After he is gone you are alone on the river again, the only sound the water dripping off your paddle as you lift it to begin another stroke.

It is not hard to imagine a Timucuan Indian stalking a deer as a light breeze stirs the foliage.

You are in another existence, where bills and appointments and the modern world cannot intrude, for a little while.

You are hitching a ride on the back of a spring-fed river in a canoe.

From deep within limestone caverns Wekiwa Springs bubbles up to form the main source of the Wekiwa River, which combines with Rock Spring Run to flow 15 miles to the St. John's River in northwest Seminole County.

Raccoons, otters, and an occasional sleepy alligator can be glimpsed as the canoe glides by wet muck forests into open expanses of water dotted with the purple blossoms of water hyacinths.

Perhaps this is why people come to Wekiwa Springs State Park and wait for half an hour by the canoe concession, scanning the river to see if a canoe is coming in so they can rent it.

Canoeing is a state of mind.

"I go canoeing just to get away, and to exercise," said Tom Leitzke of Sanford. He said he drives his family from Sanford to the Wekiwa River twice a month.

"If you run, you exercise from the waist down. Canoeing gives you the chance to develop your upper body," he said.

His wife added canoeing is something the entire family can share.

The canoe concession is open only during weekends at Wekiwa Springs State Park located west of Interstate 4 on State Road 434. A driver's license and a refundable deposit of $10.00 will secure a canoe for you, complete with paddles and life jackets or buoyant seat cushions. The minimum rental is two hours, at $2.00 per hour. A canoe can be rented for the entire day for $10.00.

King's Landing off Rock Springs Run and Katie's Landing off State Road 46 also rent canoes. Both places also offer canoe owners the opportunity to launch their own canoe into the river from a sandy stretch by the river's bank.

Even though the first day of fall has passed and short cold fronts are beginning to cross Central Florida, William Benson, Wekiwa Springs park ranger captain, said people rent canoes all through the fall until the park closes at the onset of winter.

"You have to remember the temperature of the water is about 72 degrees year round," he explained. "That's relatively cold in the summer, when the weather is hitting the upper 90's here, but it's warm when the air temperature drops to the 60's."

Benson said he does not know how many people have been visiting the canoe concession in the park. It is privately run, so the state maintains no figures.

However, attendance at the park is expected to peak at an all time high. Last year 200,000 persons visited the park. Benson said from attendance figures for the year so far, this year will easily surpass the 200,000 mark.

There's nothing better than a relaxing day of canoeing down Wekiwa River in northwest Seminole County. Tom Leitzke, 102 W.

Greentree, and his daughter, paddle down the river twice a month with other members of their family.

Canoeing lends itself to peacefulness — be it floating down the river or docking the craft on the shores.

...Canoeing Florida's Waters

There are more canoes on the river now, claim people who said they have been paddling down the Wekiva for years.

Benson offered the following tips for anyone wanting to glide down the waters of the Wekiva for the first time:

—Be sure to carry a life jacket or buoyant seat cushion for every person aboard the canoe. If you rent a canoe from a state park, a cushion or jacket will be provided for you.

—Don't stand up in the canoe, for any reason. The canoe can tip over very easily if suddenly unbalanced.

—Keep a look-out for other canoes.

—Do not bring alcoholic beverages inside a state park.

—Any boat motor touching the water is prohibited on state park waterways. An airboat motor, which is suspended above the waterline, is permitted.

If you follow the rules of common sense, there is no reason why you cannot embark on your first canoe trip downriver, seeing scenery that has changed very little since the Timucuan Indians fished the Wekiva's banks long ago.

Charlie Brown Gets A Little Happiness

Everyone has felt like a nothing at sometime or another — and that's what makes Charlie Brown so universal.

The most famous character in Charles M. Schultz's syndicated cartoon, "Peanuts," may have felt "like a nothing" more times than most people, but until now he has had pretty good reason.

As manager of the Peanuts' baseball team, he takes the brunt of its monumental losses. As kicker in the school football game, he usually falls on his face in front of crowds. It took him years of sweaty-palmed moments to get up courage enough even to say hello to a little red-headed classmate. His very own dog, Snoopy, upstages him on a semi-regular basis. And his "shrink," the self-proclaimed psychiatrist Lucy Van Pelt, charges him plenty to call him "failure face" and "wishy washy." With a record like that, it is no wonder that Charlie spins with joy when he actually wins a school spelling bee in

CHARLES SCHULTZ

"A Boy Named Charlie Brown," an animated motion picture to be rebroadcast as a special Wednesday on CBS.

Finally, he has a moment when he is not afflicted with what he describes as "deep-down, black, bottom-of-the-world, what's-the-use loneliness," a dreaded malady that has been known to him him while he is eating a peanut butter sandwich alone in the school playground or when his mailbox is empty on Valentine's Day.

According to Charlie's creator, Schultz, the vulnerable little half pint with the oversized heart is his own worst enemy.

"I think," says Schultz, "that Charlie Brown is supposed to represent that strange quality which unfortunately most of us have — a desire to be liked by everyone.

"If he could only settle back and realize that this is never going to happen, that everyone can't like him at all times, perhaps his life would be easier."

Of course, in addition to his struggles, Charlie has a great many things to smile about and, according to Schultz, "he smiles all the time" — when he's not frowning.

Many things make the small cartoon character happy, ranging from "two kinds of ice cream," "five different crayons" and "finding his skate key" to "being away every now and then" and, best of all, "coming home again."

Now, in "A Boy Named Charlie Brown," happiness is a warm feeling you get when you win a spelling bee.

THE DREAM
My dream was sad
As people cry.
The dream was soft
As a quiet night.
It touched me softly
As a kitten's fur.
It was not rough
Like a kitten's first tooth.
It said, "Be calm"
Like nightfall,
Like being on a cloud
In the summertime.
But when it was over
It just turned into a
Big spot of paint.

The moon is big
As an elephant
The moon glows
As his father moon
That glowed until he died.

In the dark
Just like my father did before
He died."

DREAMING
You're in a chair at

Carradine Plays Second Fiddle

David Carradine is used to playing title roles since his first television series, "Shane." His success as the star of "Kung Fu" made him something of a cult figure and he also played title roles in the mini-series "Mr. Horn," the special "Gauguin the Savage" and in the feature film "The Long Riders."

Carradine plays a supporting role in "High Noon, Part II — The Return of Will Kane," to be rebroadcast Tuesday on CBS. Lee Majors stars in the film.

It didn't bother him to play a supporting character.

"It's a little like playing right field," he said. "Now and then they hit one to me and I try to catch it."

'Town Like Alice' Expected To Be Blockbuster

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's not enough that the United States has surrendered space to the Russians and industry to the Japanese — now comes the Public Broadcasting System with a very serious competitor in the business of making quality television mini-series.

PBS unveiled the Australian production "A Town Like Alice" last week and left the disquieting thought that if this keeps up, all that may be left to American ingenuity is the hot dog concession at Coney Island.

Australian producer Henry Crawford was modest about it.

He warned reporters at an "Alice" press conference that the mini-series was the top of the heap, and that any wide infusion of his nation's film fare soon may result in "your getting all the stuff we'd just as soon you didn't see."

And he added, "but then we've been getting all that from you for years."

"A Town Like Alice" makes its American debut on PBS with the first of six powerful parts Oct. 4 at 9 p.m., EDT.

Crawford and Co. treated television reporters to a tantalizing condensation of the film, and if the whole is any true sum of the parts, ABC, CBS and NBC should be sick.

"A Town Like Alice" might have registered Nielsen ratings in the range of "Roots" and "Shogun," but the Big 3 can't afford to mess with the Nielsens. "Alice," after all, is foreign produced.

So are Toyota and Datsun.

The sweeping drama stars Helen Morse and Bryan Brown, who recently made his own American debut in the Aussie feature film masterpiece "Breaker Morant."

He is no less powerful as Joe Harman, an Australian soldier captured by the Japanese in World War II and crucified against a barn door for stealing the Japanese prison camp commandant's personal chickens to feed starving captive British women and children.

Miss Morse is a new Ingrid Bergman. Brown is a young Michael Caine. The film — at least as seen in miniature — is exquisite.

Dr. Bill Cosby Earned His Title

By DICK KLEINER

DEAR DICK: After watching both the "Picture Pages" segment of "Captain Kangaroo" and "Fal Albert and the Cosby Kids," we saw the name Dr. William H. Cosby, psychological consultant, appear in the credits. Is that the one and only Bill Cosby? WILLIAM MICHAEL AND MARY ALICE KELLY, Winona Lake, Ind.

The same Bill, the comedian, was awarded his doctorate in education in 1976 from the University of Massachusetts, so he is William H. Cosby, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., and can use the title "Dr." before his name whenever he desires.

Ask Dick Kleiner

By DICK KLEINER

DEAR DICK: Would you kindly find out the approximate number of songs written (but not published) by Steve Allen? MRS. BEN L. BOYNTON, Panama City Beach, Fla.

Steve tells me that he is a compulsive song writer and often averages eight to 10 a week. So his grand total, as of now, is somewhere around 4,000, he says. Hum a few bars of number 2,366, Steve.

DEAR DICK: A Chinese dinner rides on this bet. What is James Arness' real name? Is Peter Graves his blood brother? Which one changed his name? NOREEN BRYCE, Reese, Mich.

Have the moo goo gal pan, it's delicious. Actually, if you want to get technical about, both Jim and Peter (who are brothers) changed their name, although Jim just changed the spelling. The family name was Arness and Jim dropped the U.

DEAR DICK: While watching an episode of "Hill Street Blues," my friend said that actor Michael Warren is bald. Is that true? SYDNEY H., Tucson, Ariz.

No. Warren still has his hair.

DEAR DICK: I am confused about the show Danny Thomas does, "I'm a Big Girl Now." I saw an article in which it said the woman's name was Judy. But then I read somewhere her name is Diana. Which is it, Judy or Diana? K.L. CALLAHAN, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Her name is Diana Canova, and she plays a character named Diana, too. The confusion is that she is the daughter of the famous old-time movie comedian, Judy Canova.

A few weeks ago, someone asked me if there was a "Grease II" movie coming. At that time there wasn't, but now Paramount has announced plans to make one. And incidentally, 'tis the season for sequels — besides "Grease II," future film sequels will include "Star Trek II," "Airplane II," "Superman III," "Jaws III" and even "Psycho II."

Stuffed Dog Tale Shown

"The Big Stuffed Dog," Charles M. Schulz's story of a 5-foot-tall stuffed Snoopy dog and the people's lives it touches, will be the second NBC Project Peacock presentation for the fall season Tuesday. The show, which launched the Project Peacock series last season, stars Noah Berry, Mildred Dunnock, Robert Ginty, Gordon Jump, Denise Nicholas and Abe Vigoda, with Rossie Harris as Petey and Sydney Penny as Lily.

In the story, young Petey Pearson looks forward to visiting his grandfather who lives on a farm. But Petey is very attached to his 5-foot-tall Snoopy dog and insists on taking it along. Problems arise at the airport and Petey sends the dog to the baggage section of the plane. It doesn't reach its intended destination, however — there are many adventures in store for the Snoopy dog.

Johnny Carson surrounds himself with newspapers that carry the date of his first "Tonight" show broadcast on The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson 19th Anniversary," to air Sunday on NBC.

'All The King's Men' Adaptation

Willie Stark Comes To PBS

Robert Penn Warren's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel, "All the King's Men," is the basis for Carlisle Floyd's new musical drama, "Willie Stark," which airs on "Great Performances" Monday, on PBS. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

Theatrical producer and director Harold Prince, whose most recent Broadway works are "Evita" and "Sweeney Todd," staged this production for the Houston Grand Opera in association with the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

features Jan Curtis, Alan Kays and Julia Conwell. Narration of the two-and-one-half-hour telecast is provided by veteran newscaster Lowell Thomas, who died earlier this month.

"Willie Stark" is the story of a small-time politician who rises from a humble background to become governor of the state in the deep South. He is the grassroots champion of the working class, but behind his "country boy" image, Willie Stark is also a shrewd politician, willing to stretch the law whenever he feels contracted by its boundaries.

As the telecast begins, Gov. Willie Stark is resorting to any means necessary — including blackmail — to avoid impeachment. He finally triumphs but in his path to victory he has ruined many lives: His longtime trusted adviser, Saddle Burke, is tossed aside without a moment's regret and his energetic, idealistic aide, Jack Burden, sees Stark literally bring about Burden's father's suicide. Then the young Burden learns that Willie Stark has robbed him of his fiancée, too.

At the end of the program, Willie exuberantly leaves the statehouse where he has been cleared of any charges of wrongdoing — and he does not notice Jack Burden. Burden fires fatal shots into "the heart of the people," Willie Stark.

"Willie Stark" is produced for "Great Performances" by Sidney Palmer and Peter Weinberg. John DeMain conducts the Houston Grand Opera Orchestra; Brian Large directs the telecast. Jac Venza is executive producer of "Great Performances."
