FIFTEEN THOUSAND MINERS ON STRIKE IN GERMANY AS OCCUPATION PROTEST

THEY HAVE SERVED NOTICE WILL NOT WORK UNTIL ALL FRENCH LEAVE HAVE DIFFICULTY

In Operating Loading Apparatus at Mines and No Headway Being Made by French

(By The Associated Press) GELSENKIRCHEN, March 29.—Fifteen thousand miners are on strike in the Gelsenkirchen district at all mines occupied by troops, according to estimates made in German quarters. The men quit work as a protest against occupation. They have served notice they will not return to work until the last soldier leaves. From Rheinbadeh comes a reported that the sirens blew so long in protest against the occupation that the Belgians threatened to shoot unless the noise was stopped. The Germans assert semi-officially that the occupying forces have difficulty in operating the loading apparatus at the mines and so far have succeeded in loading only three or four small trains daily. Before the occupation it is asserted a train load of reparation fuel rolled out every ten minutes.

Prussian Vineyards Seized by French

Thousands of Acres Owned by Government Along Moselle Taken Over

(By The Associated Press) DUESSELDORF, March 29.—The French authorities today began taking over the Prussian state owned vineyards along the Moselle river, according to the Deutsche Rheinische Volks Zeitung. The paper says the seizure includes vineyards, buildings, wine cellars and bottled wines. "There are thousands of acres of vineyards owned by the government along the Moselle river where it runs into the Rhine. The town of Mettmann, near Elberfeld, was surrounded yesterday by French troops and tanks. The French demanded that the Mettmann officials give the names of the Germans responsible for the shooting and wounding of a French major in the foot Saturday. Traffic to Mettmann has been entirely cut off. The interurban street cars running between Dusseldorf and Elberfeld are stopped at the outskirts of Mettmann and passengers are obliged to walk across the town. The Herald for first class job work.

APPEAL FOR CLEMENCY FOR CATHOLIC PRELATES AND PRIESTS SENTENCED

To Be Executed in Russia Made By Several Countries and America

(By The Associated Press) MOSCOW, March 29.—An appeal for clemency of Catholic prelates and priests sentenced last Monday will be considered at the first meeting of the central executive committee either tomorrow or next week, the government's amnesty department committee has announced. Meanwhile a temporary stay of execution for the condemned priests is applicable and they will remain in prison.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 29.—The state department has taken steps, it was officially announced late last night, to convey to the soviet government, through the American ambassador at Berlin, the "earnest hope" that the lives of Archbishop Zepflak and Monsignor Butchkevitch of the Catholic church under sentence to be executed in Moscow may be spared. Decision to take action in regard to the executions planned by the soviet authorities was announced in the following statement: "With reference to the report of the death sentence passed on Archbishop Zepflak and other Roman Catholic ec-

ATTEMPTED TO INFLUENCE MEMBERS JURY

IN TRIAL OF TWENTY MEMBERS NATIONAL CONFIDENCE RING.

(By The Associated Press) DENVER, March 29.—The entire jury which yesterday convicted 20 alleged members of the National Confidence Ring after ten weeks' trial was today summoned to appear before the county grand jury in connection, it was thought, with alleged attempts to influence the jurors during the trial. Subpoenas were served on bureau trial jurors immediately after they returned the verdict and had been dismissed last night. The twenty men were found guilty after the jurors had taken 150 ballots and held a record-breaking session of four nights and five days in the jury room. The verdict was calmly received. Wives of three, however, burst into hysterical weeping.

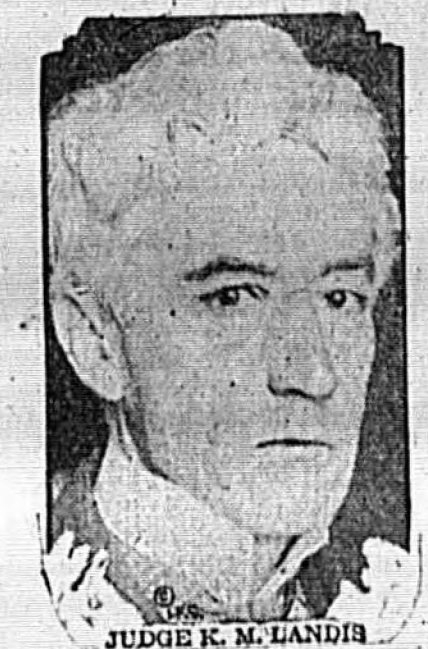

Foster on Trial For Syndicalism Takes the Stand

Has Been Member of Various Organizations Connected with I. W. W.

(By The Associated Press) ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 29.—William Z. Foster, charged with criminal syndicalism, took the stand today in his own defense to describe his work as secretary and treasurer of the Trade Union Educational League. Foster testified that he had been a member of the I. W. W., Seaman's Union, Carman's Union and other organizations. He quit the I. W. W., he declared, "because I no longer agreed with its policies and program." He denied being a member of any political party at present and denied he was a member of the Communist party last August or ever a member of the workers party. Foster said the only relations of his between the Communist party of America and his Trade Union Educational League was confined to endorsement by Communists of the League.

YOU'LL HAVE TO SHOOT PEOPLE TO KEEP THEM OUT OF FLORIDA—LANDIS

JUDGE K. M. LANDIS

"There's only one way to stop a tremendous development in Florida," said Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, Wednesday morning at the Mason Hotel. "How is that?" asked the reporter. "Stretch a line of militiamen across the northern border of the state with orders to shoot everybody who comes in," was the reply.

"Why," continued the supreme arbiter of baseball. "You Florida people cannot realize what you have here because many of you have never seen the North. You don't know how utterly desirable your state is. Florida is going ahead by gigantic strides. I don't see any other possibility. My short stay here has been utterly delightful."—Jacksonville Journal.

YOUNG DAUGHERTY THREATENED WITH BLACKMAILING SCHEME IN CONNECTION WITH ACTRESS

Gives Name of Alleged Blackmailer to District Attorney and Vanishes

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 29.—The limelight of public interest, which was shifted from character to character in the Dorothy Keenan murder case, last night was focused on the identity of the man who Major Draper M. Daugherty, son of the United States attorney general, yesterday said had threatened to blackmail him because of his acquaintance with the model unless he got him a job with the department of justice. Daugherty, appearing voluntarily before Assistant District Attorney Pecora, discussed at length with him his acquaintance with the slain girl and then, avoiding the reporter, vanished after giving the prosecutor the name of the alleged blackmailer. This name Pecora kept to himself. The only hint that he would give the newspaper men was that the man in question already had been questioned by the police in connection with another matter.

Reporters encountered the same difficulty in interviewing Daugherty as they did with the mysterious "M"—shall—the girl's elderly adviser. Later revealed as J. K. Mitchell, Philadelphia capitalist and club man—was the center figure in the drama. Daugherty, who was accompanied by a friend whose name was not revealed, was closeted with Mr. Pecora about 45 minutes. At the end of the conference, Mr. Pecora said that he had confirmed reports of his casual acquaintance with Miss Keenan, and the attempt made by telephone to blackmail him. The blackmail angle was what particularly interested the prosecutor for it is his theory that the girl was slain by blackmailers who failed to make her cooperate in a plot to "shake down" Mitchell.

After his visitors had departed, Mr. Pecora made the following comment: "The information given me by Mr. Daugherty does not tend to shed any light on the solution of the murder mystery but it is of interest to me as an index of the character of the person who made the blackmail threat. I think Mr. Daugherty spoke to me frankly, and I regard him as trustworthy, as I have regarded Mr. Mitchell."

Mr. Pecora said Daugherty would be on call as a witness, whenever he was wanted, and indicated that he might himself interview the man named by the major. He did not state, however, when or where such an interview would take place or whether he expected to receive another visit from Mr. Mitchell's father-in-law, E. T. Stotesbury of J. P. Morgan and Co. Daugherty, he said, told him he was not acquainted with Mitchell, John H. Jackson, a New York attorney, who posed as his secretary, or Alber E. Guimares, a close friend of Miss Keenan. In sketching his acquaintance with the model, Daugherty told the prosecutor he had first met her during the world's series of 1921. Their acquaintance, he said, was purely social. He added that he had called at her apartment with friends, but never saw her alone, although once he gave her a check when she said she was pressed for funds. The last time he saw her, he said, was in a restaurant last December. He was with a party of friends, and waved his hand to her at another table. Daugherty maintains he never had written her any letters, and that he was not intimidated by the blackmail threat. He added that he expected knowledge of his acquaintance with the model would be made public.

Last Prayers Are Said Over Divine Sarah Bernhardt

(By The Associated Press) PARIS, March 29.—The body of Sarah Bernhardt last night rested in the famous rosewood casket lined with white satin which was made at her order 30 years ago, and in which she was frequently photographed while on her foreign tours. Abbe Doull, in care of the church of St. Francois, where the funeral services will be held today, said the last prayers over the great artist yesterday. Then she was tenderly lifted from her bed and placed in the coffin, which was taken to the ground floor of the home where a room has been transformed into a chapel. Bernhardt is still clad in her white satin dress. Over her face and hair a fine lace veil has been drawn. On her breast is pinned the Cross of the Legion of Honor and around her neck is a ribbon holding the gold locket containing the picture and lock of hair of her son, Maurice, which she always wore. The casket was closed, except for the upper part, which was left open so that the face could be seen thru the veil. The prayers over the interrupted passage of mourners was resumed. The Paris city authorities had hoped to hold the services in some great church such as La Madeleine but Bernhardt's wish was that it be as simple as possible, and her preference was for the relatively small church which she attended while in Paris. There were no orations at the funeral, in compliance with her wish, but her desire for "many flowers" is certain to be gratified by the public. Some people impress you as being very important, and some seem never to acquire the knack of being insulting.

Associated Press Correspondent Tells of Herrin Riots

Was Prevented from Giving Wounded Man Water, By Defendants

(By The Associated Press) MORION, Ill., March 29.—At the opening of the morning session, the state called Donald Ewig, a Chicago newspaper man back to the stand for redirect examination. The witness testified yesterday that he came from Chicago to Marion on the day of the riots as a Stagg correspondent of the Associated Press, and took an automobile to Herrin, and saw six victims of the outbreak lying in the road outside the city. Ewig said he was prevented from giving one of the wounded man a drink, by Bert Grace, one of the six defendants, and then went to Herrin where he telephoned the story to the St. Louis office of the Associated Press. On cross examination the witness identified certain parts of his account of the tragedy.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS OPEN BETWEEN ALLIES AND TURKS RESUMED AT LAUSANNE

HARDING WOULD AVOID FUTURES IN PRESIDENCY

DAUGHERTY STATEMENT ADVISING RENOMINATION FELT TO BE OUT OF PLACE

(By The Associated Press) ST. AUGUSTINE, March 29.—The political atmosphere which has so lightly surrounded President Harding and the administration officials composing his vacation party yesterday seemed to gather a little closer. "One of the contributing factors to this concentration was the development that the President, after turning over in his mind the statement recently made in Miami by Attorney General Daugherty, his pre-convention manager in 1920, and since then his chief political adviser, had come to the conclusion that it might have been better had the statement been withheld at least for the present. In his statement Mr. Daugherty, while emphasizing that it was too long until the 1924 campaign to begin to talk of politics, predicted that Mr. Harding would be a candidate for re-nomination. The other factor was the arrival here of Mr. Daugherty. Until yesterday the president and his principal adviser in matters of politics, had not met since the latter had issued his statement. Mr. Daugherty came to St. Augustine in accordance with previously announced plans, and is en route back to Washington after a visit to Florida to recuperate from his recent illness. The President and Mr. Daugherty were together only a few minutes yesterday, Mr. Harding stopping at the attorney general's suite on his way to luncheon. The president, in his study of the situation, is understood by some of those close to him, to have simply in his mind the two remaining years of his administration, and to feel that a proper solution of the problems they will present should be the subject of more thought than what is to happen to him personally in 1924. The chief executive, it was learned, is highly appreciative of the motives that actuated Mr. Daugherty in making his statement and has the greatest confidence in the attorney general's judgment. He, however, as his feelings have been interpreted by some of his friends, wants to avoid everything that would tinge his actions during the coming months with politics. Mr. Daugherty has made it plain since giving out his statement that it was not inspired by the president and has been most anxious to relieve the executive of any embarrassment that might have been occasioned. Several of the Republican leaders who are now in Florida have acclaimed the Daugherty statement, one of them, former Representative Campbell, of Kansas, declaring that the attorney general only openly expressed the thought deep in the minds of party leaders everywhere in saying that the Republican party could not do aught save renominate Mr. Harding if he would consent to make the race.

Judge Landis Calls Convict Lease System Disgrace to Florida

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, March 29.—In a speech before the Jacksonville Kiwanis club yesterday, Kennesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball pleaded for abolition of the convict lease system in Florida. The former jurist said that it was abhorrent to him that a man deprived of his liberty should be hired out by governments for exploitation purposes. He urged all Kiwanians, as well as members of all civic bodies and other organizations in the state, to go to Tallahassee during the coming session of the legislature and "wipe this infamy from the fair name of Florida." George Ade, humorist, who was also a guest at the luncheon, said Florida had the most wonderful climate in the world. "I have been in California, the West Indies, Egypt, and in fact, everywhere else, but you have something here that cannot be duplicated anywhere on earth. Your climate is something which you business men should get out and sell."

Platform Manager Redpath Chautauqua Arrives in Sanford

Mr. Wm. S. "Bill" Wright, boyhood friend of Ring W. Lardner, noted writer, and one of the most capable of Redpath's corps of platform managers, will arrive in this city on Friday to have charge of the Redpath Chautauqua, located on the city lots west of the court house. Mr. Wright has been associated with the Redpath Lyceum and Chautauqua bureau for the past eleven years and this is his tenth trip to the south. He was first post commander of the LaRue Messenger Post, Number 26, Niles, Michigan and is much interested in ex-service men. Mr. Wright recommends the coming program as the best ever given here by either the Redpath or any other organization in the way of a week's entertainment with music, plays and lectures.

D. A. R. PICNIC

The Sallie Harrison Chapter of the D. A. R. celebrated Florida day by giving a picnic inviting the ladies of the DeLand, New Smyrna and Orlando chapters to join them. Through the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pace we were able to hold it near the site of old Fort Mellon. The ladies of Orlando thirteen years ago began celebrating the day but four years ago the DeLand chapter began these annual picnics inviting sister chapters to join them at DeLeon Springs. Last year the New Smyrna chapter invited us to spend the day amid their historic surroundings, so this seems to have become an annual meeting and it is hoped that the D. A. R. may be able to mark the many historic spots by appropriate memorials in the near future. On the banks of Lake Monroe under the moss draped oaks and old Felmettos a more beautiful spot could not be found for the gathering. After a beautiful lunch we enjoyed a talk from Mrs. J. N. Whitner, who told us of the growth of the country from the time of the old Spanish grants, thru the British occupancy until our part of the state was known as Mosquito county, later Orange and now Seminole county. Fort Mellon became the base of supplies for all this country and garrisoned a good many troops. At one time 400 Indians attacked it undaunted until a government boat in Lake Monroe opened fire upon them. Superior numbers, for there were 1,500 U.S. soldiers stationed here at the time, were no cause for dismay, but the firing of the guns from the lake caused them to flee on account of their superstitious. The Mellonville avenue road was constructed by the U. S. government to transport the troops from Ft. Mellon to the continuous chain of forts as far south as Tampa and Fort Myers and at one time 8,000 troops were stationed here. Few Floridians are living today to aid us in establishing the local histories and the old land marks. The D. A. R. has been doing this throughout the country, and it is well to remember our own state is rich in unrecorded histories and we hope many places will have suitable markers in the near future. At one time the store of Boyle & Brantley, at Mellonville, furnished all the supplies for the country south to Tampa and the people who lived way below there, even the Seminole Indians made this their trading post.

We had with us the state historian, Mrs. Kindred, of DeLand, and she spoke of the great effort which had been made to save Fort Marion at St. Augustine and which resulted in a special act of congress so we are sure of its being cared for in the future. Other important historical places are now before the government to protect them and be assured of future care and preservation. It was suggested that a roll call should be taken to ascertain how many states were represented by the chapters. Forty-two ladies answering, it was found they claimed seventeen states as their birthplaces. Florida and New York each had six daughters and Massachusetts was third with four. The ladies from Orlando invited all to meet with them next year for Florida Day at Fort Gatlin.

This ended a most perfect day made possible by the wonderful location and amid the historic surroundings.

Miss Jacobus, of Rollins College, will give several esthetic dances at the Easter Dance at the Parish House next Monday night. 312-31c

Executive Committees and Officers Elected for Seminole Chap. A. R. C.

Also Extend Vote of Thanks to S. M. Lloyd for Good Work

At a recent meeting of the Seminole Chapter of the American Red Cross the following executive committee was elected:

Mrs. Endeavour Marlett, chairman; H. C. DuBoise, vice-chairman; W. M. Haynes, treasurer; Miss Virginia Smith, Home Service Secretary; E. M. Galloway, Mrs. Fred T. Williams, and Miss Allie Trafford.

Below is a copy of the letter sent by the chapter to Mr. Lloyd in acknowledgment of his untiring efforts during the last roll call.

VIRGINIA SMITH,
Secretary,
March 26th, 1923.

Mr. S. M. Lloyd,
Sanford, Florida.

Dear Sir: I was requested to convey to you an expression of thanks and appreciation from the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross for the efficient and pains-taking service which you render them as County Chairman for the last roll call.

They are cognizant of the fact that this service cost you valuable time and much thought but you may rest assured of the most hearty thanks of all the membership of this great organization.

Yours very cordially,
H. C. DuBOISE,
Vice-Chairman.

TO THE FATHERS AND MOTHERS OF SANFORD

You are all eager, I know to give your children every educational advantage possible. Some of them may not be able to go to college, but right here in Sanford they are going to have ten (10) opportunities of broadening and deepening their education and of developing their taste for the right kind of entertainment. This will be at the low price of 17 1/2 cents per entertainment or less.

This is the CHAUTAUQUA which will be held at Sanford beginning March 31st and lasting five days. All students under 12 years may buy a season ticket for $1.50 and those over a special student ticket for $1.75. This last is a reduction allowed usually to college towns.

Do you think you can allow your child to miss such an opportunity? These tickets are on sale by the Boy Scouts, at the Grammar and High Schools. The Special Student Tickets ($1.75) are on sale only at the High School, but may be had on application by any student over 12 years. Special arrangements will be made with school work so that the pupils may be able to attend every entertainment.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT A TICKET FOR YOUR CHILD?

Expensive Hat Found in Effects Murdered Actress

NEW YORK, March 26.—An expensive dress hat listed among the articles stolen from the apartment of Dorothy Keenan, the slain model was found today at the home of Mrs. Anna Keenan, the girl's mother. Detectives who discovered the garments during an interview with Mrs. Keenan said she explained that she gathered together some of her daughter's effects when she went to the apartment after the girl had been slain and had neglected to inform the police.

The Churches North and South May Unite Now

Committee on Unification Has Decided on General Conference

(City The Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, March 28.—The subcommittee on unification of Methodist Episcopal churches and Methodist Episcopal Church South, meeting here, has decided on the formation of a general conference to handle all major matters of both churches under the proposed coalition. Under the plan however, each branch would have its own jurisdictional conference to administer lesser matters of church government.

FRENCH SIMPLICITY ABLY INTERPRETED

Designed from the standpoint of simplicity, this frock receives its distinction through a pronounced beauty of line. It is fashioned of dark blue Poirer twill, slashed at the center-front and trimmed with buttons and plaid taffeta. If preferred, the fronts may be underlaced and rolled back to form revers. Medium size requires 3 yards 54-inch material, with 3/4 yard for trimming.

KIWANIANS CARRIED TO LUNCHEON IN REAL STYLE—ED. LANE PULLS OFF UNIQUE ADVERTISING STUNT

Elephant "Gip" Used as Motive Power—Attracted Much Attention

Ed. Lane, Petite Frank Miller, Dr. Caswell, with his shining dome; President Sharon, looking like a million dollars; Rev. Brownlee and H. A. Neel, to add respectability to the bunch, with our venerable friend, T. L. Dumas, loaded themselves on "Gip" one of the elephants belonging to the Johnny J. Jones' Exposition Shows, and, with Eddie West, as chaperone, paraded the streets, had their pictures "took" by Photographer Owen, and arrived at the Valdez in plenty of time to eat the good things set before them.

Eddie (Blinky) West and Gip are pretty good friends, having trooped together for the past 18 years. In fact, Gip saved Blinky's life during the big "Dreamland" fire at Coney Island about 12 years ago, by awakening him and carrying him to safety.

The meeting was called to order by the president and Rev. Brownlee invoked the Divine blessing on the deliberations of the club. Beau Baumel, who has just recovered from his effects of his trip to Tampa, where he took the Shrine degree, led the singing and Dr. McCaswell tickled the ivories. The songs went with a rush and were hugely enjoyed until Fred Ball came in late and inflicted "Liza Jane" on the gang.

Kiwanian Nevins, of Orlando, was a guest at the meeting and told of the many big things being accomplished by the livest bunch of men in "The City Beautiful."

It was decided to defray the expenses of two delegates to the International meeting in Atlanta the latter part of next month, and Ed. Lane and Rev. Brownlee were elected delegates, with A. P. Connelly and Dr. Marshall as alternates.

Among other business transacted it was decided to take a page ad in "Salmagundi," the annual published by the pupils of the Sanford High School.

A. P. Connelly spoke at some length on the work being done by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, asking the united support of the club in aiding in every way the membership drive of the chamber. This is a hobby with A. P. and he put up an eloquent plea and was just getting into his stride when Dumas (as usual) butted in with a little warm air in boosting the speaker for delegate.

Jan. D. Jenkins had all the plans and specifications and blue prints to illustrate and back up his talk on "Taxation," and it made such a hit with the members that it was decided to have a newspaper cut made of the chart and publish the same in The Daily Herald. His talk follows:

"Tax is from the Latin word 'taxare' meaning TO TOUCH, or TO TOUCH SHARPLY. Most of us who have just paid our city, state and county taxes will readily agree with Mr. Webster's definition.

"The term 'taxation' covers every conceivable exaction which it is possible for a government to make, whether under the name of a tax, or whether under such names as rates, assessments, duties, imposts, excise, licenses, fees, tolls, etc. It is a compulsory contribution from private income or wealth to meet the general expenses of the government.

"The ever broadening functions of the state and the nation has had the effect of making taxation an increasingly important element in economic life. In general, the higher the social and economic development of a nation, the heavier is the burden of taxation upon its citizens.

"Principles of Taxation: Writers on finance are accustomed to lay down certain general principles to which practical systems should conform; taxes should be capable of yielding a sufficient revenue for the needs of the government, they should be economical, they should not impair their source through discouraging industry, and should be collected in such a way as to cause the tax payer the least inconvenience, they should be certain so that each man might know what he might be expected to pay and make provision accordingly. Most important of all, they should be equitably distributed.

"Direct and Indirect Taxes: The distinction cannot be sharply drawn, but in general, direct taxes are those levied upon persons or property of those upon whom they are expected to rest, while indirect taxes are levied upon commodities or industrial processes with the expectation of their further diffusion. Examples of the former are the poll tax, the general property tax and the income tax; examples of indirect taxes are customs duties and excise taxes. The practical advantage of indirect taxation lies in its ease of collection and that it that some one was swiping the silverware and some of the missing articles were found on two of the new members, "Buick" Moore and Fred Ball. It was decided that as they were new members and not as expert as Dumas and Forest Lake, that they be let off with a light sentence. They will put their noses together and whistle, "Home Sweet Home" at the next meeting.

Secretary Lloyd has a new membership chart and one can see at a glance the attendance for the entire year. Sherman is giving the club the best of service and has demonstrated that he is the right man for this very important position.

Okeechobee Will Be City of 50,000 Within Next Five Years

(By The Associated Press)
OKEECHOBEE, March 28.—W. J. Conners, of Buffalo and Palm Beach, Tom Bryan, George Butler and other prominent men were in Okeechobee yesterday conferring with the county commissioners relative to completing the west end of our state highway in time to connect up with the Conners round the lake and on to Miami toll road, which Mr. Conners assured us will be completed by December 1 next.

The support and cooperation of the commissioners and citizens was assured.

Work is already under way on the Conners toll road.
Mr. Conners states that he will make a city of 50,000 of Okeechobee within the next five years. He says that he will at once build a home here, bring in a sawmill and commence to build both houses and business blocks. He is all enthusiasm, and so are the citizens of Okeechobee.

Six Airplanes Left Havana Today For Washington

(By The Associated Press)
HAVANA, March 29.—Six United States army airplanes on the test flight from Texas to Porto Rico and return to Washington left here at 9:15 o'clock this morning for Miami. They expected to make the trip to Washington in easy daily hops, probably arriving there the first of next week.

Man blindfolded will drive from Jacksonville to St. Augustine. We have seen several blindfolded driving on the Sanford-Orlando road.

Scrap useless vessels seems to be the cry of the shipping interests. It may be all right from their standpoint. Sometimes the scraps are mighty good picking.

Another steamer is now on the sands where the Lempe was hung up last summer. That Nassau far near Jacksonville seems as dangerous as the Nassau bar in the Bahamas.

An eight page daily Herald seems inevitable and it speaks well for Sanford that it is able to support such a paper and it also speaks a little for the men who are making the Herald what it is—one of the real country dailies in the south.

George Jay Gould, multi-millionaire is very ill at his villa in France and already the heirs are fussing over the division of the estate. This money question is all wrong. No man with money should ever leave it. He ought to spend it all before he dies and then there would be no fussing over it after he was gone.

Sarah Bernhardt died in poverty, with a fortune in flowers heaped around her doors, with the greatest men and women on earth anxiously telegraphing and writing for news of her. She died with the knowledge that none can fill her place. Sarah Bernhardt, who began with nothing, dies with nothing, except a reputation known to the whole world. And that's the only thing worth while, when death comes.—Arthur Treban.

Orlando has decided to have the Sub-Tropical fair for three more years which is good news to all friends of the best fair in Florida. And speaking about fairs reminds us that Seminole county should have a fair next year by all means. There is nothing quite as good as the county fair to give the county the right kind of advertising, to get the people together once each year and to bring out the many good points in stock raising and farming.

Dispatches say that many foreigners are leaving Germany now that the French occupation takes more money and rents and hotel expenses and cafe fares have taken the biggest flight toward that bourne already reached by the United States. Germany offered a safe haven for the man who had money and wanted to save it but after the French came in all this has been changed. It will stop many of the American tourists from going abroad this summer.

We want to see the work on the boat basin and the municipal pier started, the work of paving the new streets has already been started. Our hand money is tied up in these projects and we want action on that money without any more waiting or side-stopping. All of these improvements should be started now and finished before the visitors start down here for the winter of 1923. The war department has granted the right to proceed on the boat basin and the pier and this work should be started at once with nothing in the world to delay it after it is started.

SHOWS SIGNS OF PROSPERITY

The recent announcement of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway that they would spend $26,000,000 for improvements means much more than the mere announcement that such a sum will be spent. It means not only that many of the sites for shops and yards such as Sanford will be benefited in many ways from these improvements but it means that the country is prospering and that the railroads looking ahead see a wonderful development and they are getting ready for it. Such a sum while it will be distributed over many miles of railroad lines will mean much to the various communities that are touched by this great system and we can look forward to bigger and better shops here and terminals and side tracks and all kinds of badly needed improvements. The route to Florida will be double tracked and there will be extensive improvements made between Florida and the north to take care of passenger travel and the shipments of fruits and vegetables.

We are glad to note this announcement on the part of the Atlantic Coast Line. It means much to this country and in passing it might be well to Sanford section than from any other part of the south. This city is growing and the railroad needs these improvements to keep up with the business and to give the growers and shippers the service that their business deserves.

And now that this service is in sight it would be well for the public and the railroads to get together on many questions in the future and work for the interests of each other for the public and the carriers have much in common.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

That a resident of Florida, Hon. Charles D. Haines, of Altamonte Springs, is being seriously considered for the vice-presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket, is announced by the Sanford Herald, which says that during the past few months Mr. Haines at his home and discussed with him the subject of his suggested candidacy.

The Herald declares that Mr. Haines is being groomed for nomination on the ticket with Henry Ford as the presidential nominee. He has refused so far, to be considered as a candidate under any circumstances. Some of his closest friends, according to the Herald, have been sent to him to prevail upon him to accept.

Mr. Haines has had a remarkable career in politics. He was elected to Congress before reaching his thirtieth year. He was a railroad president before he was twenty-one. After his service in congress he preferred to devote his time to private interests. He has built and operated large manufacturing enterprises. He has performed valuable service for the country, in important movements and during the recent war was president of the American Patriots.

This remarkable man is living up only at Altamonte Springs and would be a striking contrast to his ability and popularity if he should be induced to come out of his retirement and become the nominee of a great party for Vice-President of the United States.—Tampa Tribune.

RAILROAD BUILDING

Twenty-six million dollars will be spent by the Atlantic Coast Line in an improvement and equipment program to be finished by November 1, and next winter's tourists will be riding into Florida over a double track road between Richmond, Va., and this city, according to announcement from the local offices Tuesday. The announcement states that the gigantic undertaking was necessitated by the increased business induced, by the growth of the territory the road is serving.

The principal items involved in the expenditure are:

Ninety-five locomotives.

One hundred and one steel passenger coaches.

Five thousand, three hundred and thirty-one freight cars.

Thirty thousand tons of 100-pound rail.

Double-tracking, including automatic signals and interlocking plants.

New shops and shop equipment.

Grade reductions.

Additional yards, yard tracks and passing tracks.

Station facilities.

Conditions which warranted the improvements have been enumerated as follows:

A fifteen-million box citrus fruit crop this year.

Seven hundred per cent gain in the strawberry crop.

Doubled acreage in tomatoes with competing states out of market because of frosts.

Development of spring cucumber crops to beat other vegetable-producing states to market.

Installation of dehydrating and canning plants so that large per cent of crops formerly thrown away is sent out in cans.

Greatest naval stores producing state in the country.

Constant growth of Jacksonville as distributing center for Southeast for concerns taking advantage of rail and water rate.

Increase in shipments to and from Cuban and South American ports.

Increase in output of rock phosphate deposits, which constitute three-fourths of the total American production, and in Fuller's Earth, in which Florida virtually supplies the country.

Top prices in lumber, which has caused a spurt in the lumber camps.

Twenty-five per cent increase in the number of tourists visiting Florida during the season just closing.

The announcement by the Atlantic Coast Line follows almost on the heels of the request by officials of the Southern Railway who went before the Interstate Commerce Commission and asked for authority to assume liability for $67,500,000 in five per cent equipment trust certificates. The money is to be used, the request stated, in the purchase of 62 locomotives, 2,370 box cars, 200 stock cars and three-hundred cars. All of this equipment will be used in carrying away products of the South and most of it will find its way into Florida. Jacksonville is the center.

THE GOVERNORSHIP

The law for governor has not yet excited any special interest, but when the legislature adjourns, the people will have some issues to discuss and all wish to know how gubernatorial candidates stand thereon.

Unmistakably all the candidates for Governor are for an increase in the strength of the state.

At first it seemed that South Florida could win the governorship at Charles Parkhill had early evidenced amazing strength in various parts of Florida. When Mayor Martin got busy, too, showed a strong following, and probably the greatest surprise was the strength developed by Frank E. Jennings.

New from many counties say that Jennings will carry them. He has made a partial preliminary campaign and has found conditions most favorable. However, it is too early in the contest to determine which of the candidates will be accepted as leaders. Mayor Parkhill has made but little effort so far. He is one of Florida's ablest Democrats, and in spite of the fact that Martin and Jennings both reside in Jacksonville, Parkhill has hundreds of strong supporters in this city.

Congressman Frank Clark's position is puzzling. He announced his candidacy and stopped right there. It must be admitted that when Frank Clark gets busy he has few equals as a campaigner, and he will prove a decided factor.

Clark does not have to depend on his eloquence altogether, as he is now well fixed financially to make an active campaign. He can talk to the people through all the newspapers and his will reach all whom he fails to see personally.

His inactivity thus far has caused some to doubt whether he will continue in the race, but his friends say he is only waiting for the proper time to make, as they claim, the hottest race in the history of the state.

Taking everything into consideration, if the primary was within the next month Parkhill would be the nominee for governor, because Florida punish the man who buys liquor because he knows it is made in violation of law, and sold in violation of law. The good, law-abiding citizen, does not purchase liquor made since the prohibition law went into effect.

4. Repeal several foolish laws, and give the people some sensible ones relating to transfer of property, and the question of taxes. We are paying too many men large salaries for a small amount of work. The matter of taxes does not embarrass me much, but it is a serious burden to my friends.

5. Make teaching the Bible, as literature, a part of the course of study in our public schools. Both believers and unbelievers recognize the Bible as the basis of our moral standards, and as fundamental in the realm of law. It is the most widely read book in the world. More copies of the Bible are published each year than of any other book. They why not teach its fundamental truths to the young?

Any kind of an organization, secular or religious, which would object to the teachings of the Bible to the young, should surrender its charter and go out of business.

In these days of lawlessness, crime, immorality, shady business, political selfishness and corruption, the world needs some wholesome truths taught the young that society may be saved from collapse.

6. I am in favor of a state police system, directly under the control of the governor, or of his cabinet. It is no use denying the fact that these are officers of the law in some counties who are managed by the lawless element. They do not enforce the law as many of them promised. Local affiliations and local interests make it hard for them to fearlessly and impartially do their sworn duty. In these cases the state should be able to send a man into a community who would enforce the law. If we had such an organization in this state, there would be less liquor sold in the state than there is. Bootleggers cannot do business to any appreciable extent without the consent of the officers of the law. Where there are influential local politicians who favor liquor drinking and use their influence to keep up the business, it is hard for sheriffs to boldly arrest these criminals.

Give us a State Police by all means. W. J. CARENTER

SOME THINGS THE LEGISLATURE SHOULD DO

1. Give the boys a real bonus. The government has "bonused" about everything else. I am in favor of the men who fought, who endured the unspeakable hardships of the war and who received the shock of it which has made such a change in their lives.

For the most part those who oppose a cash bonus are the men who made "sends" of money out of the earnings of our soldiers. Mr. Mellon and his wealthy friends, do not want to pay a penny out of their millions, but were perfectly willing for the millions of America's sons to die, suffer or be crippled! Unless I misread the signs the men who went to the war will not forget the man who plays politics about this matter.

2. Deprive any man, woman or child from driving an auto for one year, at least, who are found driving while under the influence of liquor. Better still, do not allow them ever to drive another machine. These fellows who tank up on booze do so deliberately knowing the danger to themselves and especially to the public. The whipping post is a fine place to take the men caught driving an auto while drunk.

3. Pass a law making the man who buys booze, or drinks it to excess, as guilty as the man who makes it, have as much respect for the make of moonshine as for the man who will

Expertness and Energy Directed to Selling

The unusual success which has crowned the efforts of the American Fruit Growers Inc. in handling sales for growers is due to the ability to apply the energies of this vast organization directly to the problems of selling.

Experienced representatives cover more than 160 markets. Directing them are the foremost perishable experts aided by the widest and most complete market information.

The distinctive "Blue Goose" and "A. F. G." trademarks appearing in conjunction with local brands on each individual fruit of quality connect directly with national consumer advertising.

A business institution, directed and manned by business men, the American Fruit Growers Inc. is able to accomplish the results it does very economically. That makes possible a definite charge per box for selling which is quite low in proportion to the service rendered.

REDS TAKE LAST GAME, WALLOP SENATORS, 4-2

MORAN'S OUTFIT LEFT AFTER GAME FOR SLOW TRIP NORTH

The Cincinnati Reds closed a successful training season at Orlando yesterday by winning a nice game over the Senators, 4 to 2.

There were many Sanford fans present at this game and were given a real treat in the exhibition, and as "Beautiful" Lee, remarked after the fray, "these Reds look good to me."

The Reds broke camp last night and will move slowly north, playing exhibition games en their way to Cincinnati. Their first stop will be at Mobile where they will play an exhibition series, stopping in other cities enroute, until they reach Cincinnati, where they open the season.

The box score for yesterday's game was as follows:

Beautiful pictorial backgrounds have long been recognized by motion picture producers as valuable assets to their offerings, and in "Heroes and Husbands" Katherine MacDonald's latest production for First National releases, there are a number of extraordinarily attractive and beautiful settings, especially the interiors of a rich New York publisher's Long Island home, reflecting the intimate interior decorations, and some revelations in landscape gardening.

"Heroes and Husbands" will be the feature at the Princess today.

FOR THE MOVIE FAN

K. MacDonald

A real treat tonight—Katherine MacDonald in "Heroes and Husbands."

It's a case of heart-stealing pitted against heart-dealing, with a glittering society background.

It tells when husbands are heroes and when husbands are just husbands. And it might tell when husbands are not husbands.

"True Blue" is the name of the fine comedy that follows "Heroes and Husbands."

B. F. Whitner is extended a cordial invitation by the management, to bring his family and be guests of the house tonight at "Heroes and Husbands."

Friday and Saturday will bring the Sanford people another real treat in another Peter B. Kyne story. Every one that has read any of Kyne's works are always glad of the opportunity of seeing his books played in the movies.

"The Pride of Palomare" is one of Mr. Kyne's best stories and the fine cast that puts it on the screen for you, assures you of an excellent program for Friday and Saturday, and to make it even better there are other novelties in connection with this fine picture.

EXTENSIVE PROBE INTO NEW IMPORT DUTIES ON SUGAR

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Outstanding developments here yesterday in the sugar situation were the announcement by the tariff commission that in compliance with instructions from President Harding its inquiry into the effect of the new import duties on prices would be far more reaching than was originally intended and the prediction of Secretary Hoover that present prices would result in decreased consumption and increased production.

When the tariff commission met it had before it the president's telegram sent Tuesday night from St. Augustine, Fla., directing that it establish whether the new tariff was keeping the retail price of sugar at high levels. The commission which already had initiated an investigation at the request of Cuban producers, to determine whether a reduction in the duty was advisable under the flexible provisions of the tariff law, decided at once to increase the scope of its inquiry.

Members of the commission predicted it probably would be six months before a comprehensive study of production costs in Cuba, Porto Rico and Hawaii, as well as the United States, and of local stocks and world supply on various dates could be completed and recommendation submitted to the president, who has authority to alter the tariff rates.

Mr. Hoover's prediction was made in a letter to Representative Dallinger, Republican, Massachusetts, who had asked for information concerning the present situation.

Greek Governor Thanks America For Aid Given To Isle of Chios By The American Red Cross

Among the first callers on Colonel William N. Haskell, American Red Cross Commissioner to Greece, when Colonel Haskell took up his duties in Athens, was His Excellency, Miltos Petechakis, former Governor of the Island of Chios and now Governor of Epirus.

Reports from the American personnel on the ground are unanimous on two points. Firstly, it is agreed that the emergency situation will have been met fully by the time the next harvest comes in, which for Greece means early summer. Secondly, there is a strong conviction, as evidenced by recommendations to Judge Payne, that the permanent problem is one of adjustment of the nation's resources, rather than

"EVERYTHING NEW THAT'S GOOD"

EVEN ELEPHANTS STAGE STRIKE IN JOHNNY J. JONES' EXPOSITION

Chief Elephant Trainer, Capt. Jas. J. Dooley, of Johnny J. Jones' Exposition, looking at his pets yesterday, decided after a practical glance over the pachyderm guests of Sanford, that the toenails were too long. Looks like it's high time we did a little man-icuring around here," he muttered musingly, whereupon he called his assistant, Eddie West, to him and began preparations to reduce the cuticle growths of "Gyp," "Alice" and "Baby Sue" to the proper dimensions. The manure equipment which they bro't forth and laid on the gravel on one of the walks of the Joy Plaza, where the trained animal stadium is located, did not resemble the tools which are to be seen on the small table in front of the Marcelled operator in high class barber shops. There were no delicate scissors, orange sticks or rose water bowls. Instead, instruments consisting of a couple of common building bricks, a wood file, a cake of yellow soap, something that looked like gas-oline and a pot of linsed oil. The elephants, who up to this time had been engaged in swinging their trunks to and fro, took a look at the preparations and then watched Captain Dooley as he approached. It was plain that the pachyderms were not enthusiastic about the toilet arrangements. "Come on Gyp, get along Alice, mile up Sue." Thereupon the elephants declared war. They lifted their trunks and omitted a noise that sounded like the blast of a toy trumpet. Berausation in vain. Even prods with the good failed to affect them. "So you won't move, eh?" asked Mr. Dooley. The trio indicated that they would not. "You've made up your minds?" The trio evidently had. "And nothing will induce you to give in to the man-icuring?" The three beasts indicated that the Andes mountains would get up and walk before they would. "Very well, we'll see about that," said Dooley. "Better see about that tomorrow captain, maybe they won't be so obstinate," suggested the assistant, but Dooley had a different opinion. He stepped into his living tent and in a few minutes reappeared in his hand. It was covered up, but the min-ute the elephants caught sight of what he carried they didn't wait to sign any armistice. They romped out onto the lawn and there they laid down on their sides and made signs that of all pleasures, their favorite out-door sport was that of being man-icured.

"Yes sir," explained Dooley, "they let us file their toenails, massage and gasoline their feet without even so much as a flap of the ear. When they saw what I went after it just busted that mutiny open wider than a kite." "What was that you went after?" Captain Dooley was asked. He just smiled but did not reply. "Ed. R. Salter, the Jones' Publicity man, tipped off the secret. Two mice in a cage."

SUDDEN DISAPPEARANCE OF WELL KNOWN EDITOR CAUSES CONSTERNATION AMONG HIS FRIENDS

A few evenings ago certain parties representing The Herald of this City, were invited to enjoy the hospitality of our genial neighbor on the north—"Bob" Holly, editor-in-chief, etc., of the Sanford Herald. The party consisting of six, had just finished a delightful (and very much appreciated) repast at one of Sanford's many food emporiums and were en route to the office when "Bob" suggested a short cut toward the objective thru an alley. He was leading the way past some lumber, piled there to be used in the erection of one of the several new business structures going up in Sanford, when he darted forward in the semi-darkness and disappeared from sight entirely. There was no place for him to have darted into and hidden, therefore it was assumed he had tripped over some of the lumber and fallen. A search was hurriedly made but no Bob was on the ground at the point where he had disappeared. The mystery thickened (as they say in the sub-titles in the "movies.") Where was our host? Had he been swallowed up by the earth? The last inter-rogatory seemed to hit the answer on the head better than any. In feeling around close to the ground one of the members of the party felt his hand come in contact with a hat. There was a head under the hat! The head moved slightly! A muffled cry came from it, seemed, the depths of the earth! It was a call for help, seemingly in the voice of our host! Reaching down below the hat the shoulders of a man could be felt. They were grasped by many willing hands. The body was moved upward. It was that of "Bob." He was dragged forth somewhat the worse for wear and with plenty of the sides of the hole and some of the water at the bottom still clinging to him. When Bob caught his breath he explained that he had rushed forward to get the red lantern standing in the center of the alley to warn the group following him not to ap-preach farther without due care and caution (good old Bob, always looking out for the welfare of others) when he felt himself swallowed up, as it mental equilibrium he found himself in a hole barely large enough to accommodate his body from port to star-board but plenty deep to take care of his body from keel to mast-top. After getting some of the terra-firma and aqua pura from his clothing Bob was not much the worse for wear. Suffice it to say he has abandoned the "short cut," after dark, at least.—Winter Park Herald.

WEEKLY WEATHER

For Week Ending March 27, 1923

The last days of the previous week were featured by unusually low tem- peratures over the western division and most of the northern division to the north and west of the Suwannee river. On Tuesday morning of the 20th temperatures of 26 to 28 degrees were recorded at a number of stations. Comparatively cold weather prevailed, also in the Atlantic Coast section of the northern division; other than some slight damage to Irish potato plants and other tender truck no damage of moment occurred east of the Suwannee river. To the west, however, much more corn, cotton, melons and truck were either badly damaged or killed especially in ex- posed places. Peaches, also, suffered to a considerable extent. The Satura- ma orange trees appear to have es- caped any serious damage, even in the extreme western division. The cold weather did not reach the central di- vision to any extent. The soil is in good condition in the western division, and farm work was resumed energet- ically subsequent to the cold weather. Corn, cotton, melons and truck were replanted without delay. Crops made fair progress in the peninsula, altho the germination of recently planted corn, cotton, cane and other crops has been delayed to some extent; early corn, melons and cotton made good progress; the stands are mostly good. Oats are maturing rapidly in the central division, but the crop is badly spotted—mostly poor, although a few reports indicate fair to good condi- tion. The planting of tobacco plants continued and the setting of tobacco plants in the Everglades district made good progress; altho these lands hitherto were too wet, moderate rain would be beneficial in uplands. Citrus bloom is abundant in the south and central divisions, but irrigation is supplementing the insuf- ficient rainfall. Shipments of celery and other truck continue from penin- sula counties.

Berlin to Yield By Last of May, Poincare's Hope

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, March 23.—Premier Poincare appearing before the finance committee of the chamber of deputies to give an account of the situation in the Ruhr said that he had great hope that Germany would yield "by the end of May."

The premier had with him figures giving the amount of coal and coke shipped from the occupied district but demanded from the deputies a formal engagement not to divulge such figures as he would announce. The socialist deputy Berthom whom Poincare recently termed "an abominable scoundrel" during a heated debate in the chamber refused to pledge himself to secrecy so the premier withheld the figures. An official account of the premier's appearance before the finance committee says Mr. Poincare did not conceal that to date the economic results from the viewpoint of realization of guarantees had been of slight im- portance; only prolonged and stable occupation would permit owing to the ill-will of the German government, realization of the program for the operation of the occupied districts so as to regulate the problem of repara- tion. M. Poincare, according to this ac- count said the great German manu- facturers who were the soul of Ger- man resistance, had tried on several occasions to open direct conversa- tions with the French government, but the latter would only listen to of- ficial propositions with the German government itself. He added that the French and Belgian governments fully agreed upon returning guaran- tees until their credit was fully paid and that evacuation would be pro- portional to payment. The abandon- ment of Essen, for example, could be considered only when the entire set- tlement of reparations had been ef- fected. The premier indicated that the rail- roads in French hands constituted the best of guarantees. He could not re- ply to a question as to whether the expenses of the Ruhr occupation would be included in the cost of the armies of occupation as negotiations were proceeding with regard to that between the Allies.

New Steamship Launched for M. & M. at Jax April 10

Jimmy Ward, the genial traveling passenger agent for the Merchants & Miners' steamship company was in the city today calling on his many friends. He spilled the information that the fine new ship of the M. & M. would be launched at Jacksonville on April 10th and he gave the Herald a special invitation to attend the launching. We may not attend the launching but we do intend to make the trip to Balti- more some time in the future and see how the new ship rides. The Times Union recently had the following story about the Alleghany: "The palatial coastwise liner Alleghany, recently completed for the Merchants and Miners Transportation company for service between Jackso- ville and Baltimore, comes out of the Maryland port April 6, on her maiden voyage. The new ship is scheduled to arrive here April 10 and will sail on the re- turn trip the following day. The Alleghany is a sister ship of the Berk- shire, launched last week, and now being rushed to completion with all possible speed. The Berkshire will also be placed on the run to Jackso- ville.

"These new ships, the last word in marine construction, will form a valuable addition to the Merchants and Miners fleet. Both are passenger and freight craft.

"Local officials of the Merchants and Miners line are making elaborate preparations to welcome the Alleghany on her arrival here."

Ed. Salter to Challenge Pres. Harding to Game of Golf Sanford Links

Eddie Salter, the publicity man of the Johnny Jones Exposition shows now taking a vacation in Sanford while they are awaiting the other parts of the show to join them on their way north, is anxious to play a game of golf with the president. In a conversation with the "millionaire press agent" this morning we elicited the information that in his opinion President Harding was greatly over- rated as a golf player and Eddie also stated that he could easily put it all over the president on the Sanford links. Eddie has never played a game of golf but he has worn a cane for many years which makes him eligi- ble to golf records, as it were. And then Eddie wears a checked suit and he always tells the truth, all of which would admit him to the inner circle of golf players and if it came right down to a question of which was the worst golf player in the United States he could easily win from the presi- dent. Like all lines of business Eddie would rather be president than press agent and President Harding would rather be press agent than president, and some time we will endeavor to switch jobs for Eddie and the presi- dent just for one day, and we really believe the change would do the country good. And any way, Eddie has a right to think he can outguess the president in a game of golf. So many of us have the same opinion about playing golf and playing president.

LENIN'S CONDITION CAUSING ANXIETY

LONDON, March 29.—The condi- tion of Lenin, the Russian premier, is again causing anxiety, says a Riga dispatch to the Times. It is reported that he lay for nearly a week motion- less, during which time his tempera- ture and pulse were almost normal. But on Monday a change for the worse occurred; his temperature rose and his pulse became accelerated and his breathing difficult.

HONORING MRS. RYAN

Charming in every detail was the bridge luncheon at which Mrs. Forest MacAllister entertained on Wednesday complimenting Mrs. Chas. Ryan who leaves Saturday for her home in Ft. Pierce. The color scheme of purple and green, in the dining room, was carried out most effectively in the center piece of violets and pansies while cunning little Easter nut cups with individual bouquets of violets marked the places.

At this perfectly appointed dining table, covers were laid for eight and a most delectable four-course luncheon served.

In the living room where the card tables were placed were crystal baskets of nasturtiums and other spring flowers. After several absorbing games of bridge the high score prize, a box of hand-made handkerchiefs, was awarded to Mrs. R. E. Tolar, while the guest was presented with a beautiful framed motto as a memento of this delightful occasion. The guests included the honoree, Mrs. Ryan; Mrs. Peary Jernigan, Mrs. R. E. Tolar, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. Kenneth Murrel, Mrs. John Meisch and Mrs. Theodore Langley.

Coast Line Ordered To Discontinue Use of Re-Survey Table

TALLAHASSEE, March 29.—The Atlantic Coast Line railway has been peremptorily ordered by the Florida Railroad commission to discontinue the use of its revised table of distances which went into effect December 1, 1922, and to figure mileage in this state on the basis of distances applying before that time, it was announced at the commission's office yesterday.

The order issued by the commission which followed an exhaustive investigation called upon the carrier to revert to the old scale until it could justify the increased table.

The commissioner's order was aimed at distance table number 1, I. C. C.—B 2141 based upon what the carrier claimed was a resurvey of distances. It increased the distance between Jacksonville and Orlando, for example, four miles; Jacksonville and Sanford three miles, Jacksonville and Tampa four miles, and Jacksonville and Plant city approximately four miles. In some instances it means a rate increase as high as 12 cents a ton on rock material it was pointed out.

The revised distances had been the subject of mounting complaints on the part of Florida shippers since a short time after it became effective. The commission conducted a lengthy investigation into the increased distance table. The carrier was ordered to return to the distances insofar as this state was concerned, contained in distance table No. 1, I. C. C.—A 3156.

Four Killed in a Moonshiner Raid; Stills Are Found

(By The Associated Press)
HARTMAN, N. Y., March 29.—Three men and one woman were killed in a battle between members of a federal posse and alleged moonshiners near Asher, Leslie county, Ky., early yesterday.

The dead are: Ike Strong, Mrs. Della Strong, his wife, George Strong and Kelly Walker, the latter being a member of the posse. The raiding squad had a warrant for Ike Strong, who was charged with illicit distilling of whiskey, and who, with his brother, George Strong, were considered desperate men. The Strong house was surrounded by the posse and Walker went forward to demand a surrender of the men.

George Strong is said to have fired upon Walker, shooting him through the breast and head, death resulting instantly. The posse then opened a general fire on the house, and after two and one-half minutes there was no return fire and investigation showed its inmates killed or dying, George Strong surviving an hour.

The posse found a still a few paces back of the house and two larger ones about 200 yards distant heavily laden with brass and carbon breastworks.

DISTINCTLY SMART AND PRACTICAL

Interpreting the Paris suggestion that dresses be smart and practical at the same time, the first model elects to be developed in dark blue wool crepe. The front of the semi-fitted bodice is plaited at the underarm seams and the short sleeves are bound with gray silk braid to correspond in color with the satin crepe collar. The three-piece circular skirt is made longer at the sides to give the smart inverted effect. Medium size requires 3 yards 36-inch material.

Heavy linen, wool Jersey or wool crepe could be employed in developing the second dress, which is effectively trimmed with braid in self-color. It is a slip-on model and can be made in less than three hours, from the time of cutting. There are plait at the sides to increase the fullness of the skirt. Medium size requires 3 yards 36-inch material with 2 1/2 yards of braid.

Second Model: Dress No. 1415. Sizes, 14 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Fire Destroys Summer Resort in Massachusetts

(By The Associated Press)
HULL, Mass., March 29.—Fire which laid waste much of Nantasket Bay last night was brought under control at 1:15 a. m. today. Paragon Park, the amusement center, was almost entirely overrun by the flames and about 75 houses and cottages were destroyed. All the hotels and the new town hall were saved. The loss there was estimated at about $750,000.

The home of John Hurley, one of the show places of Nantasket, was among the buildings destroyed. The loss there was estimated at $100,000.

Fires were started by sparks in North Cohasset, a mile down the peninsula. The fire departments of nearby towns were here, and those of Boston, Brockton and other cities were on the way. No loss of life had been reported at midnight, but the danger from fallen wires was said by firemen to be great. Many of the homes destroyed were unoccupied at this season.

Two companies of the 13th infantry, regular army, were sent from Ft. Revere to guard property of persons forced to flee their homes. Two soldiers in the rear of the marching column were struck by a automobile, one being seriously injured.
