School board says go ahead with Tuskawilla school rezoning

By Vivien Gellis

STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - With kindergarten registration for the 1999/2000 school year starting Monday, Seminole County school board members Tuesday voted 4-1 to approve the final draft of a controversial school attendance rezoning policy for the Winter Springs and Oviedo

Presenting a variety of alternative options to keep students at popular schools like Keeth Elementary, about 100 Tuskawilla-area parents attended the afternoon board meeting, half as many as the almost 200 who attended a public worksession held the evening of March 25.

It was the intense discussion on the plan that helped extend the 3:30 meeting until almost 8 p.m. A subsequent worksession on proposed school zoning restrictions for undeveloped land, due to start at 7 p.m., did not get underway until a short anack machine break for board members. It is specifically the intensity of the current rezoning "discussions" prompted district officials to propose an "undeveloped zoning-notguaranteed type of policy. Prospective homeowners in flourishing subdivisions are being "guaranteed" zoning to premium schools like Lake Brantley High School. The policy will address zoning needs of undeveloped land and seek to zone school attendance at a permitting Homeowners in Tuskawilla Trace and St. Johns Landing were about to benefit from not attending the public meeting. When other parents made suggestions to not exclude those two small subdivisions in with the cell igeneral area) being moved from Keeth to Lawton Elementary, board members would not rezone the atudenta without input from parents.

The imminent kindergarten registration Monday forced the board to approve the plan without the exemption. The lone dissenting vote was cast by Bob Goff.

The input received in March prompted board members to allow an extension of a "grandfather provision" for children in kindergarten through third-grades. whereas the previous clause allowed "grandfathering" of students from third through fifth grades. The clause allows students who start at an existing elementary school, and siblings, to remain there until advancing to middle school, if parents are willing to provide

Henley will share his county agenda

By Russ White Political analyst

SEMINOLE COUNTY - On Friday, Carlton Henley will give his first State of the County address to 450 or more of the most prominent business and civic leaders at a Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce lunch. It begins at 11:30 a.m. at the Altamonte

Hilton.
For the past two years the state of the County Address was given by Randy Morris, the Seminole County Commission Chairman in three of the past four years.

Morris said Wednesday that he was pleased Henley chose to continue the procedure. The lunch gives the chairman and the mayors from each of the cities in the county an opportunity to talk about what is going on and what is going to happen," Morris said.

The seven mayors will participate in a round table session that will be televised and shown at a later date.

Lake Mary may limit water

By Vivian Gallimore

STAFF WRITER

LAKE MARY - Lake Mary city commissioners on Thursday will vote to enact an emergency ordinance limiting water use following a shortage on Monday which forced the city to "interconnect" to potable water from Seminole County.

Emergency Ordinance 925 addresses strict enforcement by both Police Department and Code Enforcement officers for water use violations. Overuse of potable and reclaimed water pumping systems contributes to loss of pressure, interruptions and potential loss of fire protection ability.

To be implemented immediately on passage, the ordi-nance states that water use for gardening is restricted to 8 p.m. to 6 a.m., and strictly prohibited from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Units with evennumbered addresses will be allowed to irrigate on Monday, Wednesday or Friday. Unita with odd-numbered addresses will be allowed to water on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Sunday watering is prohibited.

Water use for the purpose of cleaning home exteriors and surrounding areas and all types of transportation and recreational vehicles is banned under the ordinance. The only exception is exempt for the initial 30 days following passage -- new lawns and landscaping.

Well water irrigation must comply with St. Johns River Water Management District policy of no watering between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Commissioners will also hear public input from voters on a May special referendum on two Charter amendments. The first would extend by a year the terms of office of city leaders and the other would keep citizens from having to vote on bond referendums for water, sewer and stormwater projects which take longer than a year to repay. This is Lake Mary's first special election since the early 1990s. Currently, San-availability of the new elementary school under development.

In other action, the board approved unanimously a temporary Unitary Status Positiori, from April 15, 1999 to June 30, 1999, in order to assure compliance with federal Department of Justice (DOJ) requirements for Discovery in civil case 20-152-ORL-CIV. Once compliance is reached, the district will no longer be required to obtain DOJ approval for land acquisitions, school attendance zones and various other mandated actions. This case was a direct factor in the rezoning plan's format, as the numbers required by DOJ are current. Parents argued unsuccessfully that future numbers will more likely reflect equitable distribution without the rezoning plan, a matter which is out of the board's hands.

Vacuum up dirt, dirt cheap

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

Stick and hand vacs are the lightweights of cleaning machines for the home. They don't have the cleaning power of a full-sized vacuum, nor do they offer the same range of accessories. But they are easy to store and easy to tote when you simply need to vacuum up cracker crumbs or broken glass.

And compared with many full-sized vacs, they can be dirt-cheap. Models we tested range in price from $20 to $95. Full-size units start around $90 and can go above $1,000.

We tested 13 stick vacs and 11 hand vacs. Four of the stick vacs have a removable handle, so they can also be used as a hand vac, and two hand vacs are designed to eliminate most liquid spills. About half the vacs are powered by a rechargeable nickel-cadmium battery pack. The rest have a cord that plugs into a standard outlet.

Generally, we found that stick vacs and hand vacs were good at "busting" the dirt from bare floors, but for most, removing potting soil from carpeting was a challenge. Some models with a revolving brush that can't be turned off ground in the dirt; some took dozens of strokes to pick it up. Of all the models we tested, only two stick vacs — the top-rated Sanyo Transformax SC-15 ($95) and the Hoover Portapower S2561 ($60) — did an excellent carpet-cleaning job. Which type of vacuum is right for which job? You could conceivably use a stick vac as you would a regular vacuum cleaner, to tidy floors and lift surface debris from carpeting. But few stick vacs excelled at all types of cleaning, and even those that could remove potting soil from carpeting were poor at removing ground-in dirt, as in the tests we do for full-sized vacuum cleaners.

Hand vacs are typically less expensive than stick vacs but not practical for cleaning a whole room. They're better suited to spot-cleaning jobs such as picking crumbs off a soia. The hand vacs overall did a better job than the stick vacs of cleaning along wall edges, because they could get closer to the molding and were easier to angle into nooks and crannies.

Cordless vacs should be fine for quick cleanups, but you generally can't dillydally with them. Most peter out in 10 to 20 minutes. A plug-in vac allows you unlimited time to chase after crumbs - or at least until the dirt container is full. (A large dirt capacity, though, can be a curse in disguise: The corded hand vacs with a big, soft-sided dirthag were especially messy to empty.)

If you just want an extra tool for quick cleaning jobs, an inexpensive cordless hand vac may be all you need. Corded hand vacs across the board excelled at picking up simulated pet hair, but they all have a revolving brush that can't be turned off and that tends to grind surface dirt into carpeting. Stick vacs are somewhat more versatile, but it's hard to generalize about their performance. Here are some suggestions:

Corded stick vacs. The Sanyo Transformax and the Hoover Portapower performed excellently on both bare floors and carpeting, but neither is perfect: The Sanyo may blow dust around, and the Hoover could barely handle simulated pet hair (actually, fine rayon threads) in our tests. Eureka's The Boss Lite Cordless 96A ($40) was very easy to use, though it was only fair at edge cleaning.

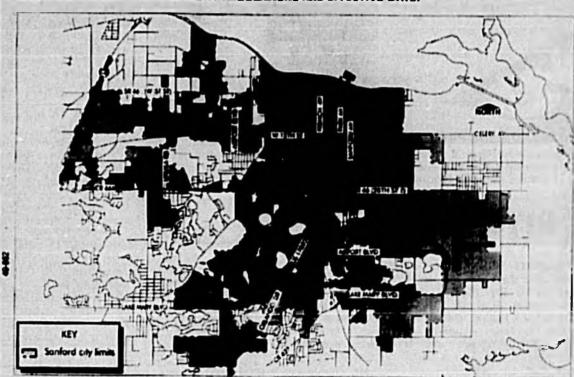

- Cordiess hand vacs. Two Black & Decker models, the Dustbuster Plus DB450 ($40) and the Spillbuster DB425 ($35), were easy to use and performed very well — except with simulated pet hair and on carpeting, where corded models like Eureka's The Boss Brush Up 57A ($30) performed better.

Florida law has placed limi-tations on what a debt collector can do to collect consumer debts in an attempt to balance the creditors' right to collect debts owed them and the debtors' right to privacy and to be free from harassment. Sometimes debt collectors ignore these limitations in their efforts to collect debts, however. In the coming weeks we will discuss the penalties that may be imposed upon debt collectors who engage in prohibited conduct.

Playing hard to get may pay off for women

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to "Wants to Be Loved in Pennsylvania," whose fiance refused to set a date because he said she "loved him too much." There is one strong, practical, inescapable truth. Almost no single man, including her fiance, thinks that marriage is a good idea. He associates it with getting old, becoming settled and being tied down. Almost all finnces need a strong jolt to upset their satisfied complacency and to make them realize how important and necessary their woman is to them.

She should make herself unavailable to him. No ultimatums, no blame-placing, no arguments. Just a clear announcement that he obviously has different future goals than she, and that she is immediately separating toward hers. And stick to it! If it's meant to be, he will quickly realize that she is essential to his happiness, and he'll discover (as have millions of other married men) how happy and fulfilling the dreaded marital life really is.

Take it from this 79-year-old married man who faced and made that fortunate decision as a 40-yearold bachelor. Believe me, almost all men need that strong kick in the pants to awaken them to what life s really all about. She should stop kicking herself and direct it where it will do some good.

JOHN H. STEINEMANN, SAN DIEGO

DEAR JOHN: You may speak for a percentage of men of your generation, but you don't speak for all of them. Many men want to be married - and they want It more than some women do. That's when they write to me. Readers, something tells me this letter will generate some interesting comments from many of you.

DEAR ABBY: You have printed stories in your column about the kindness of strangers. Well, I have a story to tell:

In 1978, my sister and I were traveling together. We visited the London Bridge in Lake Havasu, Ariz. We had some car trouble near Parker, Ariz., and had to be towed to a motel.

After the car was fixed the next day, we toured the Joshua Tree National Monument. At about 2 p.m. we decided we were hungry, so we stopped at a restaurant, only to discover when we entered that they were closed until 4:30 p.m. We asked one of the men sitting at the counter where we could find a restaurant that would be open.

since we were traveling and were very hungry. He jumped up and said. "Come on in!"

Abby, the cook was stretched out on the floor napping, but the man got him up to prepare a meal for us. We had pot roast, creamed potatoes, vegetables, biscuits and honey and fresh coffee. We felt like royalty being served in a "closed" restaurant. It was one of the highlights of our trip. As we were leaving, we took a snapshot of that little restaurant to remind us in years to come how kind they were to total strangers. It was called the Stardust.

RUTH RANSHAW, HARRISBURG, PA.

DEAR RUTH: We are bombarded daily with bad news, so it's refreshing to hear atories about acts of kindness. It reaffirms the basic goodness of peo-

With a customer service policy like the Stardust's, I hope they're still in business and thriving. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I am feeling very guilty about my role in the destruction of a co-worker's life. He was a nice guy, but he also was a work-aholic who didn't fit into the "party" culture of this office.

In the course of his duties, he uncovered a fraudulent activity by the boss. The boss panicked and fired him. A wave of mass hysteria followed, and some of the employees (myself included) made false accusations against this man. Now some of us regret our involvement. We were inflamed by the snow job our boss did on us, as well as the emphasis he placed on his need for our loyalty."

One employee even claimed the co-worker made sexual advances toward her. It is obvious now that she and the boss are "very close," and most of us are sure she was lying. This woman is now obviously after my position, so I will probably be the next to lose my job. The moral: Don't get caught up in the heat of office politics and don't become part of a lynch mob.

I wish I could undo the damage I did to this person's career. Should I contact the man's lawyer, or just keep quiet? SORRY DOWN SOUTH

DEAR SORRY: If you can right the wrong that was done to your co-worker, step forward and set the record straight.

Other Views Paying the high price of justice

By Joseph Perkins

Mayola Williams struck it rich this

No, she didn't make a killing on Wall Street, cashing in on some hot Internet stock. She didn't sign a lucrative contract with, say, the WNBA, to shoot baskets and rebound. She didn't even hit the state lottery.

Williams is $81 million richer not because she invented anything, not because she boasts some exceptional talent, not because she saved and invested wisely, not because she was just plain lucky, but because a Portland, Ore., jury awarded it to her. You see, Williams' husband Jesse, a janitor in the Portland public school system, smoked Mariboro cigarettes for some 40 years. In 1997, he died of lung cancer. And his grieving widow, and her children, promptly filed a $101 million lawsuit against Philip Morris. Mayola Williams says that her dearly departed husband had but one dying wish. "He wanted to make cigarette companies stop lying about the health problems of smokers," she said, adding that "this jury agreed with his

So Jesse Williams was not to be blamed for ignoring the explicit health warnings that have appeared on cigarette labels for the past 35 years or so. The Mariboro Man made him smoke himself to death.

This is what civil "justice" has come to in our litigious society. Lawsuits are predicated on the notion that we live (or ought to live) in a zero-risk society. And that if some harm, some misfortune, some tragedy befalls an individual — like contracting lung cancer the individual bears no responsibility whatsoever for his or her fate.

So if individuals suffer a real injury, or perceive that they have suffered an injury, the first thing they do is rush to the courthouse. And the trial lawyers are only too happy to encourage them, holding out the possibility of instant riches - such as the $81 million that Mayola Williams won this week.

Of course, most liability suits end unsuccessfully (as trial lawyer groups so often point out). Multimillion-dollar jury awards are rare. And even those that are awarded are often overturned on appeal or reduced by a judge (one or the other of which almost certainly will happen in the Portland case). But the trial lawyers don't expect to win every liability case. All they need to do is to win one out of, say, 100 when they are asking juries for sums as large as $101 million.

And while they face the very real

And while they face the very real prospect that a staggering jury award will be overturned, they can hedge their bets by negotiating with a liable company for a discounted settlement — say, offer Philip Morris a $40 million deal to make the Portland case go

A company in Philip Morris' position might very well cut a deal with the devil trial lawyers and settle a case—even for $40 million, even though they have a good chance of prevailing on lion for the company to end a pro-tracted lawsuit, what with the money it has to shell out for its own lawyers, the amount of time company execu-tives have to spend on depositions and court appearances, the adverse impact of legal uncertainty on the company's stock price, and the bad will the company suffers with each news report telling the story of a man who died of lung cancer after smoking one of the company's brands for four decades. Alas, a company can ill afford to settle an individual liability suit. Because if it settles one suit — for $40 million, for $4 million, for $400,000 it will provoke a rash of copycat liti-gation with hundreds of aspiring mil-lionaires claiming personal injuries.

Indeed, Philip Morris itself has more than 500 smoking-related lawsuits pending against it in courts through-out the country (not to mention a $51 million judgment against them that was awarded last month to a California woman who said her lung cancer was caused by 35 years of smoking). And the company has already com-mitted itself to contribute to a $206 bil-lion settlement of tobacco litigation with the attorneys general of 46 states. And President Clinton wants to sic the Justice Department on the tobacco in-dustry, to extract additional billions for the federal government.

This is not justice, civil or otherwise. It is redistribution of wealth under the pretense of justice. And like jackals moving from carcass to carcass, the trial lawyers (and, now, confederate government lawyers) move from com-pany to company, industry to industry. In the 1980s, it was Johns Manville and the asbestos manufacturing in-dustry. In the 1990s, it's Philip Morris and the tobacco industry, Dow Corn-ing and silicone breast implant man-ufacturers, and most recently, the gun

In the 2000s, it could be any number of companies and industries. Chemical manufacturers present a ripe target that can be easily demonized. Pharmaceutical firms could find them-selves in the dock. Alcohol companies — beer, liquor, even winemakers — could prove easy pickings for the trial lawyers.

The American people are not terribly troubled by tobacco liability law-suits or any similar litigation at the moment.

But they will be when they start to find that products they need — like medicine — or want — like silicone breast implants — are either no longer available, because of the threat of lawsuits, or are prohibitively priced, because manufacturers have passed along to consumers the cost of dealong to consumers the cost of defending themselves against lawsuits.

Merchants Of HISTORIC

Listed on the National Register of Historic Places One of the first settlers granted a homestead in Historic Longwood was Edward Henck, from Boston, during the year of 1873. Lakes and mineral springs attracted the first homesteaders, but railroads spurred the town's growth. By 1876 a small community began to develop and Mr. Henck arranged for a post office, serving as Postmaster for this small village he had named Longwood, after a suburb of Boston. With steamboat and rail access, soon there was a steady stream of settlers coming into the area who prospered on lumbering, citrus and winter visitors. Homes and churches began springing up, including Christ Episcopal Church which is the oldest existing in Seminole County. By late 1880 residents numbered over 1,000. When the South Florida Railroad offered regular service from Sanford to Orlando. with a stop in Longwood, Mr. Henck realized travelers needed a place to stay. He hired Josiah Clouser, who came from Pennsylvania, to build the Longwood Hotel. Mr. Clouser constructed a simple pioneer-style, two story board and batten cottage to live in while he worked on the hotel. It was restored in 1990 by his great grandsons, and is now The Apple Basket. Later he completed a large home for his family in 1885 with wood siding and a tin roof which houses the Consignment Collection. The Longwood Hotel, c. 1884, in the center of Longwood's 19-acre historic district, was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1984. The original wooden dual staircases, registration desk and key boxes have survived to the present.

The National Register lists 38 buildings of historic value: including two that were moved from Altamonte Springs in 1973. by the Central Florida Society for Historical Preservation. First, the Bradlee-McIntyre House built in 1885 by Nathaniel Bradlee as a winter cottage adjacent to the Altamonte Hotel. The home was owned by S. Maxwell McIntyre's family until 1946, when it sat abandoned until 1973. This furnished, large Queen Anne style house is a museum open for tours year round. The second home is the Inside-Outside House, built by Sea Captain, W. Pierce. in Boston in 1870. A prefabricated home enabled the Captain to dismantle it, steamship it to Sanford and then transport it by mule cart to reconstruct it in 1873, and it is probably the oldest prefabricated home in the U.S. today.

The Longwood Civic League Woman's Club building, c. 1870, has recently been dedicated for use as a museum of Longwood history. Building in Longwood has continued right up to the present time with most new construction blending in with the old. One of several homes built during the forties is where The Enchanted Cottage is located.

Eras change, so just enjoy the greatness

SANFORD - This weekend, Wayne Gretzky, in all likelihood, is going to play his final He'll deserve the tributes and accolades. He was and still is a great player.

But already, the comparisons between Gretzky and former Pittsburgh Penguins star Mario Lemieux have started over who is the Greatest Player of all Time.

That's a shame. It's natural to try to choose a Greatest Player of all Time in

In basketball, the popular pick would have to be Michael Jordan.

Football? Probably Joe Mon-Baseball? Ask any kid and they'd probably say Mark McGwire. That's the problem with things like that. How do you Judge greatness? You have to put it into perspective. Even though hockey isn't a big deal in Florida, let's talk about Gretzky-Lemieux because it reflects how ridiculous the arguments over who the greatest in any sport is.

Gretzky (assuming he's the Greatest), holds over 100 NHL records. He is the career scoring leader, goals scored and sasists leader and he has four Stanley Cups.

But to talk about greatness. you have to have a reference point.

How is what he did any more than Maurice "Rocket" Richard did in Montreal throughout the 40's and 50's?

Richard scored 50 goals in 50 games in a league that had six teams.

That meant he and the Canadiens played against the same teams 10 times each sea-

It also means he played against the 100 best players in Canada, most of them from moose country, in a league where a player with the moni-ker of The Great One wouldn't last a game with his teeth still In 1968, the NHL expanded to 12 teams and two years later. Phil Esposito broke Richard's record.

Now the NHL has 28 teams in outbacks like San Jose and Nashville.

Take a look at baseball today. Everyone was so excited about McGwire and Sammy Sosa's run at the Maris record. but look who they hit their homers against.

McGwire might as well have faced a little leaguer when he hit his 70th shot. He should be ashamed to take credit for it. He couldn't have gotten a better dish at McDonald's. When Ruth hit his 60, he did it against an eight-team league while most teams carried only eight pitchers. Today, Jamie Moyer and Mike Morgan are major leaguers.

Clearly, the quality is waning. As far as Jordan in basket-ball, it's only been recently that I've conceded him to be better than Magic Johnson.

But what would Oscar Robertson or Jerry West have done in the 90's when every team plays the two-man game? How many could Wilt Chamberlain have scored going up against Danny Schayes, Luc Longley and Will Perdue in-stead of Nate Thurmond, Paul Silas, Bill Bridges, Willis Reed, Bill Russell and Lew Alcindor? The games change and the argument of greatness needs to put that into perspective. Instead of arguing over whether or not Greg Maddux is the greatest pitcher of the 20th century, let's remember that there is no film footage of Cy Young and very little of Walter Johnson and Christy

Mathewson. Please see Jeff, Page 2B

Red Sox chasing division lead Bambino Minors squad improves to 4-5 in Babe Ruth Baseball

SANFORD - The Red Sox broke a 5-5 tie in the third inning and moved to within a game-and-a-half of the Amerigame-and-a-half of the American Division lead in the Bambino Minor League with a 15-5 victory over the New Tribes Mission Indians at Roy Holler Junior Field Wednesday.

The Red Sox (4-5) scored the maximum five runs in three of the four innings in which they batted, but the New Tribes Mission Indians (2-7) did not make it easy.

The Red Sox took a 5-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning on the strength of an RBI double by David French and a tworun home run by Tim Barkley. The New Tribes Mission Indians battled back to tie the game with five runs in the top of the third inning, but the Red Sox regained the lead for good in the bottom of the frame.

The Red Sox then ended the game by acoring five runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. The City of Sanford Recrea-tion and Parks Babe Ruth

Lake Mary's Jill Wolcott taking talents to Brevard

LAKE MARY - Is it any surprise that yet another player on the Lake Mary High School softball team has signed a college scholarship? Well it shouldn't be.

Last year's state champtonship team has some of the greatest talent in the county.

And catcher Jill Wolcott is no exception. She has accepted a scholarship based half on academics and half on athletics to attend Brevard

Community College in Melbourne.

This 5-foot-2 player may be a little short in the height category, but certainly doesn't come up short when it comes to dominating her position. "Jill is without a doubt one of the best." Lake Mary head coach Jeannie Fisher said. Her de-sire, hard work and devotion of time is what makes her such a valuable player on our team. She is definitely a leader on this team, but not through instruction. Her example is one that any player who hopes to become successful wants to follow."

Softball hasn't always been a preoccupation for Wolcott. In fact, she started playing later than most of the girls on her team. She really wanted to play volleyball but had a little trouble consid ering her height.

Softball has been it for Wolcott since she started playing. She's been a four year starter for the Lake Mary team and will most likely begin playing right away for the Titans.

That has only come through hard work and diligent effort.

"Jill has spent a lot of long, hot, summer afternoons practicing either with summer leagues or alone in the back yard," said Rick Wolcott, Jill's father. She has such a positive attitude and a desire to play well. That is what has led to this scholarship the most. Her hard work is paying off."

Wolcott decided on Brevard Community College after much deliberation. They offered her the best scholarship, it was close to home, and their starter program for Wolcott's intended major, elementary education, was very strong.

With one season left and the pressure of a repeat on her. Wolcott has set some hefty goals for

I want to see us get another shot at the championship," she said. "It will take a lot of hard work on all of our parts to accomplish that goal but I think we can do it. No one really realizes the great deal of work and desire that is takes to get to that level but once you get there, all you can think about is going back. That would be a great way to cap off my senior year here."

With most of the players back from last season and Wolcott's strong desire. Lake Mary appears to be in good shape to at least make a run at giving the catcher another championship before she leaves for college:

Daniel Sanford was 3-for-4 with two doubles and three RBI as he helped Lake Mary outscore Lake Howell, 8-5, in eight innings Wednesday night.

Lake Mary, Lake Brantley survive baseball slugfests

CASSELBERRY - It was a heck of a night on the Seminole Athletic Conference baseball diamonds on Wednesday.

Lake Mary gave away an early 5-1 lead to Lake Howell, but still came up with the victory by scoring three runs in the top of the eighth inning to claim the Class 6A-District 3 win, 8-5.

Things were even more bizarre at Lake Brantley were the host Patriots outlasted the Lyman Greyhounds, 12-11.

The Rams (19-6) scored four times in the top of the third inning to break a 1-1 tie, but the Silver Hawks (13-11) answered with two runs in the bottom of the third inning and tied the game with two more runs in the Picase see Prope, Page 2B season Trans America Athletic Conference title and the 1999 Trans America Athletic Conference Tournament Championship and a spot in the NCAA Tournament. She compiled a 50-36 overall record while coaching the Golden Knights, the second most wins compiled by a head coach in UCF history.

ORLANDO - University of Central Florida women's basketball coach Lynn Bria has Bria, 31, spent three seasons as UCFs head coach and led the Golden Knights to a regular coach at Ohio University.

We wish Lynn the very best in her new position at Ohio University," UCF Athletics Director Steve Sloan said. "She made a major contribution to the growth of our women's basketball program at UCF."
Bria, from Charleston, West

Virginia, began her stint at UCF as interim head coach in 1996. She was originally hired as an assistant coach and primary recruiter by Jerry Richardson. who was killed in a car acci-UCF's Bria headed to Ohio dent on August 30, 1996. Bria guided UCF to a 13-15 record that season and was hired as UCF's head coach the following April.

Bria began her career in women's basketball as a player at the University of Charleston (W.Va.) where she earned allconference (West Virginia Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference) and was twice named honorable mention all-conference.

UC went to the NAIA tournament twice while Bria was a member of the team.

Bria began her coaching career as an assistant coach at Marshall University and then moved to Radford University as an assistant.

Her first stint as a head coach came at Texas Woman's University, an NCAA Division II school, in 1993. She quickly revitalized a slumping program, winning 13 games the last season she coached there -- the most since 1989 at TWU.

During the 1998-99 season the Golden Knights posted a 20-10 (11-3 in the TAAC) rec-ord, including a school-first Trans America Athletic Conference regular season title. UCF also won the TAAC Tournament, advancing to the 1999 NCAA Tournament as a 16th seed and losing to topseed, and national runner-up. Louisiana Tech. 90-48. Bria was named the conference's Coach of the Year, also a first in school history, and UCF's overall record was the best since 1984-85, the first season the Golden Knights competed as an NCAA Division I school.

Three seniors have graduated from this year's squad; how-ever, UCF returns four starters and the 1999-2000 recruiting class was ranked in the top 50 nationally by The Women's Basketball Journal.

"She leaves us with a solid team and a good foundation for the future," said Sloan. The assistant coaches also deserve a lot of credit for the progress made in the program."

Assistant coaches L.J. Jordan and Honey Brown will join Bria at Ohio University and inherit a team that finished 4-22 last year, including a 2-14 mark in the Mid-American Conference play. The 1999 winner of the MAC tourney was a sixth seed in the NCAA Tournament.

Unusual air show coming to Florida's Gulf Coast SANFORD - One of the world's greatest air shows hits Florida's Gulf Coast this month, and the Florida' Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC) wants everyone to be aware of this event.

This time of year, at least 141 species of migratory birds fly north through Florida, and the nearby Lake Woodruff Wildlife Refuge and the Merritt Island Wildlife Refuge are great spots to participate in this event.

"Florida's extensive coastline, especially the Gulf Coast, provides an important rest stop for these beautiful birds," said Susan Cerulean, the GFC's coordinator of watchable wildlife. This event helps to remind the public about the importance of healthy coastal habitat for their survival."

About one-fifth of the species in North America move through Florida while flying from Central and South America and the West Indies to North America each year.

Among the species migrating north during the spring are swallow-tailed kites, painted buntings, wood thrushes, assorted warblers, grosbeaks, cuckoos, hummingbirds, and flycatchers.

The annual migration has also caught the attention of Governor Jeb Bush, who has proclaimed April as the fourth annual "Migratory Songbird

The governor noted that more than 3.9 million Floridians take part in bird and wildlife watching, providing people with enjoyment and the state with tremendous economic benefits.

"Welcome Back Songbirds!" is just one aspect of the GFC's efforts involving migratory birds. The agency is also working with volunteers around the state on a migration bird count program to gather infor-mation about how birds move through Florida.

Bass action is still strong in the river. Low water levels are keeping bass in the main river channel, where they are easily located. They also tend to hold up in large numbers around moving water near deep bends, creek mouths and sandbars.

Tiny Rapalas are deadly this time of year when fished with six-pound test on a ultralight spinning outfit. Bream and catfish are also very dependable and will readily hit worms and shrimp or medium-sized baitfish are tops for linesides. Redfish, flounder, and trout are also present in fair numbers.

Snook to 20 pounds are thick at Sebastian Inlet. Large live

Captain Jack at Port Canav-eral reports fair offshore action when seas permit. Dolphin and wahoo are scattered far off-shore, while king mackerel can be found in good numbers on Pelican Flats.

Cobia are roaming off the beaches and on the wrecks. Sheepshead and flounder are biting inside the Port, while trout and redfish are rated as fair on the flats of the Banana and Indian rivers.

Ponce Inlet has plenty of action, with sheepshead, drum, redfish, bluefish, flounder, and jack crevalle. Live or dead shrimp is the top bait. Trout and redfish are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

Remember that when Sammy Baugh and Johnny Unitas were on the field, their playbooks weren't the size of Bill Clinton's little black book.

The games change. Call Gretzky or Lemetux the best player of the 90's, not the greatest of all time.

Richard was great in the 50 s. Gordie Howe owned the 60's. Don't try to tell any hockey purist that Bobby Orr wasn't the greatest of all time for the way he changed the game. Don't call the Bulls of the 90's the best. On an equal court, the Celtics of the 60's might have crushed them in four straight and Bill Russell had a better glare than Michael Jordan.

Just appreciate the greatness and let it go.

Last Second Shot: Anyone with a draft pick in the top two or three who doesn't take Mile Dttka's offer of the entire New Orleans draft for the choice is stupid. Remember Herschel Walker? Dttka can turn the whole team around with that many picks.

Some deals are too taxing

By Phillip Alder

On the day by which we must have mailed our income-tax returns, here is what I hope was intended to be an amusing comment from Dick Spring, a leader of the Irish Labour Party: "We are looking for a wealth tax that will bring in sufficient revenue to justi-fy having a wealth tax."

Well, this deal would tax every player, even a top expert. If you think you are up to the challenge, cover the East and South hands. Against four spades, you cash the two top clubs, dropping declarer's queen-doubleton. What next?

North had a tricky bid on the second round. He wanted to support spades with queen-third, but the main feature of his hand was the diamond suit. South should have passed out three diamonds, but when he finished de-scribing his 5-5, North felt compelled to jump to game.

After taking two club tricks, if West continues with the club jack, declarer ruffs, plays a diamond to the king. ruffs a diamond (establishing the |west suit), and continues with the ace and another spade. He loses three blacksuit tricks.

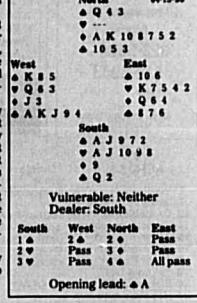

suit tricks.

The only chance is to make dummy ruff a trick. Then, declarer cannot draw trumps ending in the dummy and run the diamonds. So, West must switch to a heart. Yet a low heart isn't good enough. Declarer will win East's king with his ace and take a ruffing finesse against West's queen. To defeat the contract, West must switch to the heart queen. Then, when in with the spade king, he leads a low heart, tapping the dummy.

That would be an Incredibly Resourceful Switch for someone to Spanking remains controversial

DEAR DR. GOTT: Despite your readers' convictions, I doubt that spanking has any positive long-term effects in controlling the behavior of children. Rather than relying on this strategy, frustrated parents should turn to books, cable programs, parenting classes, support groups and indi-vidual counseling. Spanking can easily escalate into child abuse, a very serious problem in this country. I'm a psychologist, and when I have children, I certainly won't spank them.

DEAR READER: I'm always amused by "experts" on child-rearing who have no children of their own. After you have raised a couple of tots and exhausted the resources that you listed, write me back and let me know if you are still as sincerely antagonis-tic to controlled spanking as you are True, spanking can easily become abusive, an unacceptable escalation. But, I'll wager, most parents who spank use this option only as a last resort. Many experienced parents view spanking as simply another method — a graduated disciplinary practice, if you will — to maintain reasonable family structure and rules.

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DR. GOTT

On a personal note, I rarely, if ever, spanked my three sons, but there clearly are times when this alternative approach is both appropriate and justified.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am an overweight 33-year-old female who devel-ops recurring sores under my breasts. What could be causing this?

DEAR READER: From the limited information you supply, I cannot diagnose the cause of your problem. Perhaps a dermatologist could help.

However, there is a well-known skin irritation called intertrigo that often plagues heavy-breasted women, espe-cially those with a tendency to diabetes. Intertrigo is a moist and inflamed area where breast skin; touches abdominal skin. If the moisture is chronic, the skin can be rubbed. raw, providing an excellent medium for yeasts and bacteria to grow.

The problem can be remedied by-The problem can be remedied by using drying agents, such as cornstarch or talc, or by wearing a breast support that elevates the breasts from the abdominal wall. Also, recurring breast sores can be produced by undergarments that irritate the skin. Try to protect your breasts in these ways and see if the soreness disappears. If it remains, see a dermatologist.
