

WORLD IN BRIEF

7 Missionaries Slaughtered By Rhodesian Guerrillas

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Black guerrillas attacked a Roman Catholic mission 36 miles from Salisbury Sunday night and murdered seven white missionaries, a church spokesman reported today. The spokesman said the guerrillas rounded up eight white members of the staff of the Msumi mission and shot them. He said three Jesuit priests and four Dominican nuns were killed, and a fourth Jesuit was wounded, but not seriously.

Margaret's Friend Dead

LONDON (AP) — Banker William Wallace, a close friend of Princess Margaret, died Friday of cancer. He was 49.

Gandhi Aides Alarmed

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Disheartened aides of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi debated campaign strategy today after her opponents outdrew her two to one in weekend rallies in New Delhi. Nearly 200,000 persons packed the Delhi fairgrounds Sunday and wildly cheered opposition calls for Mrs. Gandhi's ouster in the parliamentary elections next month and an end to her 19-month state of emergency with its suspension of democratic procedures and rights.

Sakharov Supports Ginzburg

MOSCOW (AP) — Dissident leader Andrei Sakharov is appealing for worldwide support for Alexander Ginzburg, an activist arrested last week by Soviet security police.

Ginzburg, who remained in custody on unspecified charges in a security police (KGB) prison, has been managing a fund established by exiled Noel Prize-winning author Alexander Solzhenitsyn to aid jailed dissidents and their families.

Brazilian Writer Dies

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Candido da Motta Filho, former Brazilian cabinet minister, Supreme Court justice and writer, died of cancer Friday. He was 79.

Silver Jubilee Opens

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II's Silver Jubilee opened Sunday with a family memorial service for her father, press tributes to her 25-year-old reign and a newspaper temper-in-a-teapot over the words of the official Jubilee hymn.

Gas Dealers Face Windfall

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Natural gas distributors may reap up to 100 per cent increase in first-quarter profits because of this winter's bitter cold, say utility officials and investment analysts. But they say a call-to-arms by outraged consumers would be premature because the profit bulge is likely to disappear amid shortages later in the year. "Profits will be astronomical," said a spokesman for the Buffalo, N.Y.-based National Fuel Gas Co., which serves 600,000 customers in Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. "But the main reason for that is because we're selling more of our gas in the first quarter."

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Ballar told the Comstock Club on Sunday that the increase probably would be requested despite the fact that the Postal Service had a $99.8 million operating surplus in the fourth quarter of 1976. It was the second consecutive quarter that the Postal Service had a surplus. Ballar said he did not expect any increase in postal rates during 1977 but said additional income will be needed in 1978. "And since the provisions of the new law passed last year envision a 10 month wait before postage rates could be increased, we may formally apply for an increase within the next few months," he said. Ballar said the purpose of the filing would be "merely to begin the process necessary for getting the authority to raise rates — which would be exercised if and when needed in 1978."

Naval Power Curb Eyed For Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — At President Carter's suggestion, defense officials are preparing possible proposals that could be made to the Russians in an effort to curb the race for naval power. Discussing the naval buildup would be a new avenue for U.S.-Soviet arms control talks. Until now, negotiations have dealt with strategic nuclear weapons, such as long-range missiles and bombers, and with the ground-and-air-power balance in Europe. Pentagon officials also are exploring possible "signals" to the Russians, perhaps including withdrawal of small numbers of U.S. troops from Europe, in an effort to promote a warmer atmosphere for the dedicated talks on mutual reduction of forces in central Europe.

Sources said these ideas emerged from a long White House session a week ago when Carter and his top security and foreign policy advisers discussed issues bearing on the size of the defense budget.

After that meeting, a memorandum was circulated to key defense offices listing a range of subjects for preparation of special papers to be submitted to Carter.

The naval limitation idea, which sources said was raised by Carter, and the proposal for some possible moves to unfreeze the European force reduction impasse were among the most significant of the list.

Later, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance stressed the importance the administration attaches to reduction of conventional forces, an issue often overshadowed by problems of curbing strategic nuclear weapons.

Vance said he expects conventional arms, "where most of the money is spent," to be on the agenda when he flies to Moscow late next month for talks with Kremlin leaders.

The Pentagon memo, following up last Monday's White House session, ordered officials to develop a "concept for naval force limits that might be sought through discussion with the Soviets."

The growth of Soviet naval power has been a matter of concern to Pentagon officials over the past decade.

Adm. James L. Holloway, chief of naval operations, told Congress last week that the Navy still has a "aim margin of superiority over the Soviets" in areas of greatest importance.

But, Holloway warned, "at the current rate of improvement of their naval capability, the balance in maritime superiority will tip in favor of the Soviets within the next five to 10 years" unless the United States steps up modernization of its fleet.

Three Boys Nabbed In Theft Of Coins

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer
Seminole Sheriff's investigators said today that four juveniles boys, including three juveniles boys, have been arrested in connection with a Friday burglary at a Seminole residence and the theft of a $10,000 silver coin collection.

Detective David Duguid said deputies have yet to recover the valuable coins taken from the residence of Ronald Berman at 224 Flame Ave., Altamonte Springs.

Duguid jailed Donald Grady Schuler, 14, of 818 Logan Dr., Longwood, in lieu of $200 bond on a possession of stolen property charge. The juveniles, two age 14 and a 16-year-old boy, were charged with burglary and later released to their parents, Duguid said.

Deputies said it is feared that most of the missing coins have already been put into circulation.

AUTO BURGLAR SUSPECT
Sanford police jailed Randall A. Berlin, 25, an unemployed landscaper from Whitehall, Ohio, on possession of stolen property and trespass charges after investigating weekend reports of an auto burglary at a motel and a suspicious person seen in a vacant house at 601 E. 7th St.

Officers reported they found a brown sleeping bag, believed taken in the auto burglary, inside the vacant house. Patrolman Ray Brown said a tape player, also reported taken in the auto burglary, was recovered when police arrested Berlin as he hitchhiked south on U.S. 17-42. Bond for Berlin was set at $5,500, according to county jail records.

CAR SITE VANDALIZED
Deputies today were investigating weekend vandalism at an estimated $3,500 at the construction site of Bob Dodge, south of Sanford on U.S. 17-42. Deputy Donald McCormick said 400 roof trusses were reported pulled down at the building site.

James Nelson, 394 Magnolia Ave., Altamonte Springs, told deputies that burglars ripped away a wall in his dining room, taking $2,300 cash from his hiding place. Deputy Peggy McLellan reported $300 was also taken from the house.

At Teague Middle School, Sand Lake Road, vandals kicked out a window and destroyed fire extinguishers in five classrooms over the weekend. Deputy R.L. O'Dell reported. School officials estimated damage at $200.

Wilbert W. Vickery, of Orlando, reported his 16-foot boat trailer was stolen from the garage named U.S. 17-42, Lake Monroe. Deputy J.C. Bare said the $600 trailer had been attached to a parked van. Deputies said a Sanford man was treated Sunday at Seminole Memorial Hospital, Sanford, for leg lacerations after an airboat accident.

Ocell Simpson, 28, of 3034 Jefferson Ave., told deputies he was operating his airboat near Muller Lake Park on the St. Johns River in northeast Seminole when the throttle cable broke and the engine "went to full power" slamming the airboat into a barbed wire fence.

Standy reported damage to the golf course was estimated by officials at $1,000.

Deputies today were investigating weekend reports of an auto burglary at a motel and a suspicious person seen in a vacant house at 601 E. 7th St.

Officers reported they found a brown sleeping bag, believed taken in the auto burglary, inside the vacant house. Patrolman Ray Brown said a tape player, also reported taken in the auto burglary, was recovered when police arrested Berlin as he hitchhiked south on U.S. 17-42. Bond for Berlin was set at $5,500, according to county jail records.

Deputies today were investigating weekend vandalism at an estimated $3,500 at the construction site of Bob Dodge, south of Sanford on U.S. 17-42. Deputy Donald McCormick said 400 roof trusses were reported pulled down at the building site.

'Pick A Career'

More than 50 community leaders will share their careers with the ninth grade students Friday to evaluate a week of activities designed to aid students in exploring the world of work.

Mary J. Bateman, county career education director, said teachers will relate the subjects they teach to careers which use the information, giving the students "a realistic reason for learning."

This should also help students select courses at Seminole High School which are more meaningful to them.

Mrs. Bateman indicated that she said student choice forms have indicated major interests in the armed forces, airlines, forestry, law, mechanics, athletics, truck driving, education, arts and crafts, veterinary medicine and social work.

The Career Education staff and Coombs Principal Edward Blackheare's faculty are coordinating the program, assisted by a parent group whose chairman is Mrs. Marvin Dyal.

Mrs. Bateman made suggestions to the faculty for classroom activities which may be used during Career Week to augment the Career Education file in the school's media center.

But neither more government control of business nor the breakup of big corporations will lead automatically to a higher standard of morality in business.

My reason for taking this view is more a matter of practicality than one of economic idealism. After all, there is no higher standard of morality in business.

Here, I would add a personal note. I have never had to make a decision at any level of responsibility in business that involved an unbridgeable conflict between market considerations and what is fair and humane. Indeed, it seems to me the way to achieve this equilibrium of considerations is to do in business what one does in personal pursuits.

First, I think that it should be business executives, not outsiders, who are the most vocal in condemning improper conduct. After all, it is the reputation of business that is at stake in these issues.

Just defining what constitutes a payoff is not as easy as it may appear to be at first glance. In many countries, for legal or cultural reasons, it is essential to engage a national as a local representative or agent. The universal custom is to pay the agent a commission on the basis of the sales that he generates. This raises some complicated questions. What if the agent uses a portion of the fee to bribe someone? Is that being done in your name?

The idea of a code of ethics for professional business executives is not very different in concept from the standards of conduct that are followed by lawyers, doctors, engineers, and other professionals. There are many questions that have arisen as a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce. I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Blumenthal Urges Code How Can We Attain Business Morality?

By W. MICHAEL BLUMENTHAL
Special To The Evening Herald
The rash of disclosures of corporate bribes and other illegal payments here and abroad has provoked a chorus of questions about ethics, morality and the modern corporate executive. In fact, our entire economic system is being scrutinized as never before.

Some people have been quick to conclude that the incidence of corporate misconduct is reason enough for a major overhaul of the system. They argue that the process of distributing goods and services in society, since it inevitably involves society's larger goals, is too important to be entrusted to decision makers in large corporations.

Therefore, the contention is made that big corporations should be fractionated into smaller, more socially manageable pieces. Others would go even further. For them, nothing less than the removal of the profit motive is necessary to minimize the occasion of corporate sin. So we hear renewed calls to put the entire system under direct government control.

But neither more government control of business nor the breakup of big corporations will lead automatically to a higher standard of morality in business.

My reason for taking this view is more a matter of practicality than one of economic idealism. After all, there is no higher standard of morality in business.

Here, I would add a personal note. I have never had to make a decision at any level of responsibility in business that involved an unbridgeable conflict between market considerations and what is fair and humane. Indeed, it seems to me the way to achieve this equilibrium of considerations is to do in business what one does in personal pursuits.

First, I think that it should be business executives, not outsiders, who are the most vocal in condemning improper conduct. After all, it is the reputation of business that is at stake in these issues.

Just defining what constitutes a payoff is not as easy as it may appear to be at first glance. In many countries, for legal or cultural reasons, it is essential to engage a national as a local representative or agent. The universal custom is to pay the agent a commission on the basis of the sales that he generates. This raises some complicated questions. What if the agent uses a portion of the fee to bribe someone? Is that being done in your name?

The idea of a code of ethics for professional business executives is not very different in concept from the standards of conduct that are followed by lawyers, doctors, engineers, and other professionals. There are many questions that have arisen as a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce. I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

Therefore, I think it would be extremely useful to have a panel of my peers who could evaluate some of these issues impartially and objectively and offer guidance to all who are affected by the dynamics and complexity of change in the world of commerce.

Corporate morality is somewhat of a misnomer. Corporations are pieces of paper. What we really are talking about are the people who give life to a corporation — the individual men and women. The collective anonymity of the corporation should be used as a means of allowing individuals to escape their personal responsibilities. I am convinced that corporate executives, who are willing to accept personal responsibility, pursue the goals of the enterprise, and serve the

As a result of the continuing changes that are taking place in the world of commerce, I certainly don't know all the answers.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Classified Satellite Launched At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — The Air Force has launched a military satellite device to counter the threat of Soviet hunter-killer satellites.

Although the Air Force maintained secrecy, thousands of people in the Cape Canaveral area saw the brilliant flame from a Titan IIIC rocket streaking across the sky early Sunday.

The only official statement was, "A classified launch employing a Titan IIIC was launched by an Air Force and industry team from Complex 40 at Cape Canaveral Air Force Station." Neither advance notice nor results of the launch were given.

Sliger Recommended

ORLANDO (AP) — A three-member selection committee today decided to recommend that Florida State University interim president Bernard Sliger be named permanent president.

The selection committee was to make the recommendation to a Board of Regents meeting later in the day at Florida Technological University here.

Board sources said the board's approval was expected.

Train Wreck Explodes Gas

BOYNTON BEACH (AP) — Several small propane gas tanks exploded in flames when eight empty cars of a freight train warehouse and crashed into a gas company warehouse, police say.

No one was injured when the cars in the middle of the Florida East Coast train left the track Sunday, police said. The Tropigas warehouse and nearby buildings were unoccupied, officers said.

Firemen took about an hour to control the blaze.

"There was a cloud of smoke that went about 100 feet in the air," said Joseph Chiesa, who witnessed the accident.

The 30-car freight train was headed from Miami to Jacksonville when the eight cars derailed in the city's downtown area, Det. William Nahrstedt said.

Probe Shocks Lake City

LAKE CITY (AP) — A racketeering probe that has led to the arrest of a judge and several persons has traumatized this North Florida town and its 11,500 residents more than anything since the Civil War.

The town, three miles from the spot where a Yankee army was turned back by Confederate troops in 1864, was forewarned of the scandal last July when James Ward resigned as mayor-police commissioner.

On Nov. 18, the FBI arrested Circuit Judge Samuel S. Smith, one of Lake City's top citizens. He was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to distribute marijuana.

On Dec. 1, a federal grand jury in Jacksonville announced it would investigate allegations of wrongdoing in the Third Judicial Circuit. Two weeks later, the jury charged Lake City businessman Clifford B. Martin of perjury in testimony about an alleged attempt to bribe Smith in 1973.

Committees Get Busy

TALIAHASSEE (AP) — Legislators convened today for a week of interim committee meetings that include a hearing on the squabble over a Senate office building.

The dispute between Sen. Robert Graham, D-Miami, and Senate President Lew Brantley was on Tuesday's agenda in the Rules Committee.

Today's schedule included a House Standards and Conduct Committee hearing on ways to implement Gov. Reubin Askew's financial disclosure amendment to the Florida Constitution.

PUBLIC NOTICE

A meeting will be held Friday, February 11, 1977, 9 o'clock a.m., in Room 202, Seminole County Courthouse to inform interested eligible agencies of the possible availability of federal funds to subsidize employment projects within their agency.

The Seminole County Board of County Commissioners, as prime sponsor for the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA), as amended, is eligible to receive funds under Title VI for the above named purpose.

Eligible agencies are: All organizations within Seminole County, including local education institutions, community action agencies, community based non-profit organizations, state agencies and units of local government; exempt are private businesses organized for profit.

GenTel Hike Bid Could Affect All State Users

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — General Telephone Co.'s $71-million rate hike request went to the Public Service Commission today for a final vote that could affect all telephone users in the state.

While deliberating possible increases for GenTel's 621,000 customers, the PSC is expected to endorse a "measured residence service" plan which would mean reduced monthly bills for those who seldom use the telephone and higher costs for those who use the telephone extensively.

Another practice expected to be aired by the commission that could affect Florida phone users is a directory information assistance charge.

The limited call or "budget telephone" proposal is the first time the PSC has considered allowing such a service for residential phones in Florida.

PSC officials say that if it is approved for GenTel, it probably will be expanded, at least on an experimental basis, to other phone systems in Florida.

The proposal, recommended by the PSC staff, calls for GenTel, the state's second largest phone company, to cut rates by 40 per cent for customers making 30 calls or less a month. Additional calls would cost 10 cents each.

The plan, first proposed by PSC chairman Paula Hawkins, would sharply reduce the expense of a telephone for people on low incomes and others if they make less phone calls each month.

Chances are good the PSC will adopt some type of new service.

Commissioner Bill Bevis says it will open the door for other telephone companies.

"The decision very definitely will have a significant impact on the rest of the state," Bevis said, "because we will be able to use the data obtained in the GenTel case to examine how it would work in other areas of the state."

The PSC staff proposal would not immediately cover all customers in the six west-central counties served by GenTel, but it would order that the service to be made available to all within five years as the equipment becomes available.

The "budget" service would also mean that local calls would be billed on a per-minute basis similar to long distance calls.

However, Bevis said he and the other commissioners do not favor that proposal.

"What we are trying to do is give customers the choice of using the budget service or the regular service," he said. "We are looking for anything we can do to keep the price down for our ratepayers."

Bevis said he is also considering recommending some limited experiment for Southern Bell, the state's largest telephone company. Southern Bell has a $227 million rate hike which must be decided by August.

The proposed 18-cent directory assistance charge for all calls above six a month could also affect the rest of the state.

Bevis, a supporter of the charge, said the directory assistance charge has saved GenTel customers $3.4 million by making heavy users foot the bill.

Williams' Commitment

L.G. Jim Williams told an Ocala rally over the weekend that he has the experience and knowledge to be Florida's governor and that to do less than a "commitment" to something he knows he should do. Several other Democrats also are expected to announce candidacies. Republican Rep. Louis Frey threw his hat into the ring last week.

PLAN TO ATTEND THIS FREE LECTURE

Subject... "THE SEARCH FOR LIFE"
Lecturer... JAMES M. MCGREW C.S.B.
Time... Tuesday, February 8, 1977 at 8:00 p.m.
Sanford Civic Center
Aurum Seminole Blvd.
at Sanford Ave., Sanford
Sponsor... First Church of Christ, Scientist, Sanford
Child Care is Provided
Parking Available

KARNS INSURANCE AGENCY INC.
Where Quality Sells & Service Tells
104 E. Commercial Dial 322-5762

ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY
PLEASE HELP US KEEP OUR HOME! BECOME A MEMBER TODAY!
I Wish To:
 Become a member
 Renew my membership in the Central Florida Zoological Society
Grade or High School Student $3.00
College Student (1 Yr.) 3.00
Family (1 Yr.) 15.00
Active Voting (1 Yr.) 25.00
Executive (5 Yr. Voting) 100.00
Lifetime 500.00
Patron 1,000.00
Benefactor 5,000.00
ALL MEMBERS HAVE UNLIMITED FREE ADMISSION TO THE CENTRAL FLORIDA ZOO AND WILL BE KEPT INFORMED OF THE LATEST PLANS AND ACTIVITIES THROUGH OUR NEWSLETTER SPOTS "N STRIPES."
Name: _____
Address: _____
Phone: _____
My tax deductible contribution is enclosed:
 Check
 Cash

Fraud Charged On Sales Taxes
FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — A group of agents for the Department of Revenue say Florida may be losing $200 million annually in uncollected sales taxes and have asked Reps. Charles Boyd and Harold Dyer to do something about it. "We were angry that all these people are stealing state revenue — sales taxes paid by the customer — and sticking it into their own pockets and getting away with it," said a spokesman for the South Florida Tax Authority. "The rest of us have to make up for the revenue they steal by paying higher taxes ourselves."

CARPETS CLEANED & BEAUTY RESTORED
Living Room $19.95 and Hall
FREE BEDROOM with any of the cleaning specials in this ad.
SPECIAL: SHAMPOOED AND STEAM CLEANED Living Room, Dining Area, Hall $39.95
20% OFF on all Drivng, Tinting & Waxing. We drive carpet

WAYNE D. DOWLE, Publisher
NORMAN H. OSBORN, Editor
JOSEPH D. VAN BRACKLE, Advertising Director

A Special Look At The Olympics

Because Americans are sports conscious, the sweeping changes proposed by the special presidential Olympics Commission promises to engage Americans in a lively dialogue in the months ahead.

The voluminous report addresses what has become a major problem for American youths participating in Olympics games. They are amateurs bound by a strict ethical code, carefully enforced by the U.S. Olympic Committee.

By contrast, many of the other participants, particularly those from Communist countries, are professional athletes. Some are nurtured from early childhood to win gold medals for their countries.

The special presidential commission proposed to equalize matters by amending federal laws to permit American athletes to accept money for endorsement of commercial products and for other noncompetitive activities.

A new central sports organization, founded within the "organizational shell" of the U.S.O.C., would act as arbiter, mediator and final authority over all problems arising from the arrangement.

The presidential committee has come a long way from the philosophy of Baron Pierre de Coubertin, who revived the modern Olympics in 1896. The baron insisted that "the most important thing in the Olympics games is not to win, but to take part."

That's idealistic, but it certainly goes in the right moral direction. Open commercialization of U.S. athletes does not.

For example, wouldn't the athlete who could sell the most cereal, football or apparel ultimately be among the chosen few who get to the Olympics? And is this the basis on which the selection should be made? Or would U.S. glories in the Olympics eventually be narrowed to the most popular sports which would have the most appeal to advertisers?

We believe that American participation in the Olympics should set an example by projecting our ideals. Huckleberry or our amateur athletes can only tarnish our role, not only in the Olympics, but throughout the world, and most particularly in the Third World.

There is a better way. Using the powers that it already has, the USOC already has authorized the establishment of three training centers, including one that will open this spring in Squaw Valley.

Additionally, a job opportunities program has enlisted the support of 50 major U.S. corporations. And the USOC has committed $10 million to a development program for the 1980 Olympics.

All Americans should get wholeheartedly behind these programs to send their amateur athletes to the Olympics honorably and without dispute.

Worth Preserving

For the first time in its 41-year history, no member of the Ford automobile family is connected with the Ford Foundation, the prestigious philanthropic agency.

Henry Ford II resigned as a trustee recently, acknowledging that his interest "has waned considerably." But Ford also had some words of warning for the foundation, which, he said, fails to understand that it "exists and thrives on the fruits of our economic system."

Further, he said, "it is even more difficult to find an understanding of this in many of the institutions, particularly the universities, that are the beneficiaries of the foundation's grant programs."

As one of the capitalist system's "most prominent offspring," he added, the foundation should act to strengthen and improve the system.

As chairman of Ford Motor Co., founded by his grandfather, Ford is well aware of the dividends in living standards the nation receives from competitive enterprise.

His simple statement that the system is "worth preserving" merits the endorsement of every American.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You've been listening to too much mindless chatter on televised sports shows"

Around

The Clock

By DONNA ESTES

ANGLE-WALTERS

Bias Still Flourishes On The Hill

WASHINGTON — Although ethics reform is the height of fashion on Capitol Hill these days, Congress is still resolutely clinging to one of its most shameful practices: widespread discrimination in the treatment of its own employees.

With approximately 17,000 workers and a billion-dollar budget, Congress ranks as a big business indeed. Yet, unlike the rest of the government and all of private industry, it remains exempt from laws prohibiting discrimination in employment. Why? Because that's the way it wrote those laws.

Furthermore, the movers and shakers on Capitol Hill show every intention of fighting growing pressures for change.

Just two weeks ago, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and GOP Leader John J. Rhodes asked the Justice Department to intervene on behalf of former Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., in a sex discrimination case now pending in the federal courts.

A three-judge appellate court in New Orleans last month ruled that notwithstanding Congress' efforts to exempt itself from fair employment laws, Passman was not immune from a discrimination suit filed by a former employee he had fired in July 1974 on grounds he wanted to fill her job with a man.

"Our Constitution," the court said, "protects individual rights, even against the mighty."

A struggling group of reformers within the House reacted with astonishment and rage to the discovery that the leadership straggle was seeking Justice Department help in defending Passman's (and their own) right to discriminate. They plan to notify the court that not all members of Congress share this above-the-law attitude.

The group is the House Fair Employment Practices Committee, an unofficial and completely voluntary organization established last year in the wake of the Elizabeth Ray-Wayne Hays sex scandal which focused so much attention on Capitol Hill employment practices.

So far, the committee has called 90 House members into signing a pledge that they will not discriminate by race, sex, religion, age, national origin, handicap, marital or parental status in hiring, paying and promoting their employees.

But that leaves 340 House members free to exercise their biases, not to mention 100 senators who have shown absolutely no interest in reforming their own discriminatory practices.

"What we have here on Capitol Hill is the last plantation," said Jolleen O'Connor, a top staff aide to Rep. Shirley Chaborn, D-N.Y., who is chairing the fair practices panel.

Not a single member of the House leadership has signed the voluntary non-discrimination pledge. In fact, the leadership are doing their best to ignore the existence of the fair practices committee and to make life difficult for the panel by denying it office space, funding and so forth.

JACK ANDERSON

The Farewell Address Ford Never Made

WASHINGTON — This is the story of an historic speech that was never made — the farewell address to the nation of its 38th president, Gerald Ford.

As he approached the end of his presidency, Ford remembered the eloquence of Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower when the good-bye to their countrymen. Ford felt he, too, had a message to leave.

He wanted to make a lasting impression on the nation, to leave a watchword for the future, like Eisenhower's parting warning about the military-industrial complex.

Ford quietly put his speechwriters to work on a farewell message, and they made an extra effort to catch the mood of the retiring president. The drafts were submitted to Ford's old friend and wordsmith, Robert Hartmann.

At times, Ford thought he would like to deliver his farewell to his beloved House of Representatives, where he served for 24 years. Other times, he favored a more informal fireside chat. In the end, he decided a farewell appearance would be too pretentious. It was characteristic of Jerry Ford that he chose to depart Washington as simply as possible.

The message he wanted to leave was being packed into boxes of confidential papers, which hold the written record of the Ford administration. But we were able to obtain two drafts of the unspoken farewell address. One was written by Patrick Butler, the other by George Denison. Both contain the parting advice that Ford wanted his countrymen to remember.

Another controversy in Casseberry — fluoridation of the city's water supply — is on the front burner again.

Approved by the city council more than a year ago, after the people in a straw ballot opted for having the chemical added to the city water, anti-fluoridation forces are making their voices heard.

Anti-fluoridation proponents are asking for new public hearings on the matter.

The anti-fluoridation forces are claiming everything from a Rockefeller conspiracy to communism to a cancer-link in fighting the issue.

Mayor Gerald Christensen, who insists he hasn't made a judgment in the fluoridation vs. non-fluoridation fight, told the council that an oral surgeon and a bone specialist, both members of his family, are against fluoridation while his personal dentist is for it.

The council voted to delay implementation of fluoridation for 90 days until the issue and the costs can be explored in detail.

The City of Altamonte Springs, meanwhile, which refused to put the question of fluoridation to the people, because it is "the elected officials' responsibility to make the decision," is forging forward with plans to fluoridate its water.

Bids on equipment to permit injection of chemical into the water supply are to be opened in Altamonte on Feb. 15. It is expected to take two to three weeks for an evaluation of the bids before contracts is awarded and for construction to begin around the first of April.

The Longwood Police Department under a new chief, Acting Public Safety Director Greg Manning, held its annual Christmas Party six weeks late, Saturday night at the Sanford Police Benevolent Building on French Avenue, according to Police Sgt. Robert Partain.

Everyone brought a covered dish to the event and other expenses were paid for from the department's benevolent fund, Partain said.

Special guests were Mayor Gerard Connell, Councilman Larry Goldberg and his wife, Ethel, Councilman and Mrs. Steve Barton and Councilwoman June Lormann. All the council was invited.

It should be interesting to watch the fancy footwork in Altamonte Springs in the weeks to come over the issue of whether the large black community around SR 436 and SR 427 is annexed to the city.

Some residents in the area, deannexed by court order more than 25 years ago, are interested in joining the city again to receive necessary services.

Some members of the black community over the years have expressed bitterness at being excluded from Altamonte, insisting the action took place as part of a conspiracy of sorts among elected municipal officials way back then.

In the lawsuit that removed the area from the city's control, it was shown that the city had not provided services to that district.

In gaining federal funding for its water system, service to the black area was included until now 75 per cent of that territory outside the city limits is served. To gain its first federal money for the fledgling sewer system, service was given to all-black Eatonville.

Assuming the city expects to gain more federal funds in the future, how will refusing to annex the black area be explained?

In the past the city has shown that property tax revenues from the area, when the first $5,000 of property evaluation is exempted for homeowners, will be slight in relation to the cost of services to be provided.

NATION IN BRIEF

Chicago Crash Relived; Motorman's View Clear

CHICAGO (AP) — With the mayor aboard, investigators led an elevated train through a simulated replay of a crash that killed 11 persons and found that the motorman had a clear view of a stationary train before he hit it.

National Transportation Safety Board investigators also said a preliminary check of the wreckage showed that the rear train's emergency warning system was working when the accident occurred.

Meanwhile, Mayor Michael Bilandic was to meet with President Carter in Washington today to discuss Chicago's public transportation system, following Friday's fatal rush-hour crash.

Lone Seaman Reaches Goal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tomio Ikegawa, the plucky Japanese seaman who sketched death to make his sailing dream come true, ended his solo voyage across the Pacific by guiding his crippled 26-foot craft through the Golden Gate.

Cash Daughter To Wed

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kathleen Cash, daughter of singer Johnny Cash, plans to marry William B. Brimm of Madison, Tenn., in March.

Brimm, a senior at Middle Tennessee State University, is employed by a clothing store soon to open in Nashville.

Mrs. Cash is the manager of the publishing department at House of Cash, her father's firm in Hendersonville, Tenn.

Her mother is Mrs. Richard L. Distin of Ventura, Calif.

House Panel Sets Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House Ways and Means Committee will hold three days of hearings and then begin making their own proposals for alterations of the Carter administration's $31 billion economic stimulus plan, which includes a proposed rebate of $50 to most Americans. The legislation is expected to be approved in some form, although every component of the proposal has encountered some criticism during hearings already held. One suggested alternative is permanent tax cuts to replace the rebate.

Turner May Get CIA Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is putting an old Navy schoolmate high on his list of possible nominees to head the Central Intelligence Agency. Adm. Stansfield Turner, who attended the Naval Academy with Carter, "is one of the leading candidates" for the post, according to presidential assistant Hamilton Jordan.

Mondale Daughter Hurt

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Eleanor Mondale, 17-year-old daughter of Vice President Walter Mondale, was treated for slight injuries she suffered in an auto accident near here.

She and four others who also suffered minor injuries Sunday when their car ran off the road and hit a tree west of Harrisonburg were treated at Rockingham Memorial Hospital for minor cuts.

Miss Mondale and her companions were returning from a visit with friends on a farm in West Virginia. Their vehicle was pulling a trailer with four trailblikes.

Orange Report Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's monthly crop production report will be issued Wednesday, Feb. 9, and will include new output figures for the Florida orange crop, which was hit by freezing weather last month.

No new figures for 1976 crops such as wheat, corn, soybeans and cotton will be included. And it will be some months before official estimates are ready for 1977 production.

Ford At Yale For First Talk

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Former President Gerald R. Ford is joining the college lecture circuit with a talk at Yale University, where he was the law degree that started him to lead a life in politics.

Ford was scheduled to discuss foreign policy with the students in History 223 today. Reporters were invited.

Also on his agenda were a speech at Yale's new School of Organization and Management and a meeting with Yale's coaches and football players.

Ford was an assistant football coach while he studied law here. He graduated in 1941, and his law career led to his election to Congress in 1948. He was a Michigan representative until he was appointed vice president in 1973.

Don Oakley U.S. Mail System Has Done Well

The weather has replaced everything else as the No. 1 topic of discussion among Americans. But when spring comes, as it will, renewed controversy over the fate of the U.S. Postal Service won't be far behind.

As everyone knows, since passage of the Post Reorganization Act of 1971 (which transformed the system into a part-public, part-private agency), the cost of a first-class stamp has more than doubled — from six to 13 cents. The General Accounting Office (GAO), which continually audits the service, warns that first-class rates will reach 19 cents next year and 34 cents by 1984 unless Congress votes larger subsidies.

It's hard to find anyone who's happy with the Postal Service or optimistic about its future.

A poll conducted by a newspaper in one midwestern city found that more than 70 percent of people asked said they would rather have mail deliveries cut to three times a week than pay more for stamps or subsidies. But most said they didn't like any of the alternatives.

Even more concerned about the prospect of higher postal rates is a business whose livelihood depends upon people keeping those cards and letters coming. The National Association of Greeting Card Publishers calls for a "Postal Bill of Rights" guaranteeing reliable service at reasonable rates. It points out that first-class mail generates about 57 per cent of all Postal Service revenues.

In testimony before the commission on Postal Service a hearing in Cleveland the other day, an executive of one of the association's largest members supported a bill introduced in the U.S. Senate last April that would return first-class rates to 10 cents for individual mail users.

"We feel that Mr. and Mrs. Ma. Public have been hit in the pocketbook far too long and have been charged with additional rates to pay for services given other class mail users," said Richard H. Connor, marketing vice president of American Greetings Corp.

The surprising fact, though, is that the U.S. Postal Service is far more effective than all the complaints and warnings would indicate. The latest report of the GAO found that as of March of last year, the Postal Service — was handling from five to 34 times more mail than any of the 19 major overseas postal systems (Australia, Belgium, Canada, France, Japan, Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom and West Germany); — was covering a larger area and, — was the cheapest of any of these countries except Canada.

More important, the GAO reports that delivery performance has steadily improved. Overnight delivery of first-class mail destined for local areas is consistently achieved at least 95 per cent of the time; two-day delivery within a 60-mile radius is achieved 94 per cent of the time, and three-day mail delivery to all other areas occurs 93 per cent of the time.

Charter, Pennell, Wilco and Husky, all with sales far above the $100 million mark.

Despite Callifano's efforts, the beneficial loophole was finally closed by Congress last year. But Callifano fought to the end to keep it open. He has now obtained some private correspondence, which reveals how vigorously he fought.

Callifano tried to carry the battle to the doorsteps of the Federal Energy Administration. He sought an audience with Deputy Administrator John Hill, who completely ignored Callifano's requests for a meeting.

Red with anger over the rebuff, Callifano wrote Hill a scolding letter. "I have spent five years in government service, and I do not believe I representing them, as shoddy as you have chosen to treat me and the small refiners I represent," complained Callifano.

Hill told us that Callifano wanted special treatment that no lobbyist should receive. The Callifano's clients are $9 to $10 a barrel advantage over other refiners in their areas.

Footnote: In his new role at the Health, Education and Welfare Department, Callifano referred us to a former law partner, who confirmed the details of the refiners case.

The North: Back On Job, In Classes

Hundreds of thousands of laid-off workers and "vacationing" students headed back to jobs and classes today as the natural gas crunch eased a bit in the Northeast.

But icy temperatures persisted, threatening still more energy curbs, and much of the East and Midwest was still digging out from the heavy snows of an oppressive winter.

Sub-zero temperatures were recorded this morning in Minneapolis, Chicago and Cincinnati, and readings were well below freezing in New York, Boston, Washington and Philadelphia.

New York State negotiated a couple of deals to bring natural gas in from Canada and California, then announced that more than 2,000 industries, shut down when supplies were tight, could bring in their 200,000 employees today.

In addition, about half a million New Yorkers are returning to the gas-heated schools that were closed by Gov. Hugh Carey all last week.

But gas-heated businesses in Buffalo and some other hard-hit areas of the state remained closed.

Buffalo's ban on non-essential driving was still in effect, and the streets were still given over mostly to the 500 or so snowplows, snowblowers, bulldozers, dumptrucks and front-end loaders that have been shoveling away at millions of tons of snow.

In New Jersey, natural gas service was resumed today to more than 2,000 industrial customers, and about 100,000 of the 400,000 workers who had been laid off due to gas shortages were expected back at work.

Maryland's largest utility, Baltimore Gas and Electric, plans to resume channeling natural gas to 3,200 commercial customers — but not until Wednesday.

New Jersey Agriculture Secretary Phillip Alampi said the frozen Delaware River may have to be dynamited to remove the threat of huge ice floes racing downriver during a thaw.

Nick Wilson, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service in St. Louis, said the lower Missouri River could experience a thaw this week, and predicted flooding and ice damage to riverfront structures.

A sampling of utility officials and investment analysts, meanwhile, indicated natural gas distributors may reap up to 100 per cent increases in first-quarter profits because of this winter's bitter cold.

But they added that the profit bulge is likely to disappear amid shortages later in the year.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced that he will try to establish a longrange weather forecasting system, based on past records, that could present the odds, for example, on the probability of a hard winter like this year's.

It will be designed primarily to help farmers and the Agriculture Department make crop plans, but Bergland said the forecast also will be valuable for making long-range energy policy and other decisions.

Balloonist Set For Next Leg

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — ed toward Arizona from the Balloonist Karl Thomas planned to resume the next leg of his cross-country journey to Florida this afternoon, depending upon the cooperation of the winds.

Thomas said he planned to leave mid or late afternoon from Hope, Ariz., if winds northeast of here are buffeted by a new weather system headed somewhere north of Tucson.

With the help of friends

It's important for people to know that they are not alone during a time of sorrow. The emotional help that friends and relatives can give during the visitations and the funeral is a great help to the family in adjusting to a loss.

GRAMKOW FUNERAL HOME

130 WEST AIRPORT BOULEVARD SANFORD, FLORIDA TELEPHONE 327-3213 WILLIAM L. GRAMKOW

Caring... When caring counts

BRISSON FUNERAL HOME

905 Laurel Avenue Sanford, Florida 322-2131

You Get It All When You Subscribe TO: THE EVENING HERALD

MONDAY THRU FRIDAY AND SUNDAY COMPLETE NEWS COVERAGE

LOCAL FLORIDA IN BRIEF NATION IN BRIEF WORLD IN BRIEF

WOMEN COVERAGE NEWS OF PEOPLE & OF WOMEN IN PARTICULAR

SPORTS COVERAGE COMPLETE COVERAGE OF LOCAL SPORTS

COVERING WOMEN IN THEIR TRADITIONAL ROLE WITHIN THE FAMILY AND WOMEN IN THEIR CHANGING ROLE AND BROADENING HORIZONS OF TODAY'S WORLD.

GREAT FOOD BARGAINS FROM A VARIETY OF GROCERY ADS VALUABLE COUPONS TO SAVE $$ LOW PRICE SPECIALS ON MEATS, SEAFOODS & DAIRY PRODUCTS • PRODUCE • FROZEN FOODS • STAMPS YOU GET THEM EVERY WEEK!

RECIPES: NEW ONES SHARED EVERY WEEK

- GRAPE BAKED APPLES
BACON & PARSLEY STUFFED POTATOES
HONEY BUNCH PUNCH
PINEAPPLE ORANGE NOG
CRANBERRY CAKE
HAWAIIAN CURRIED CHICKEN
FRENCH CHERRY PIE
SNICKERDOODLE COOKIES
TOMATO SOUP CAKE
CARROT PINEAPPLE CAKE
BOURBON PECAN ROUND CAKE

YOUR FAVORITE COMICS DAILY — AND IN FULL COLOR, TABLOID SIZE ON SUNDAY.

- BLONDIE
DOONESBURY
BEETLE BAILY
TUMBLEWEEDS
FRANK & ERNEST
AND MANY MORE

PLUS MANY OTHER BARGAINS

YES, YOU GET IT ALL WHEN YOU SUBSCRIBE!

Please Enter My Subscription To The Evening Herald

Name:
Address:
City:
Phone:

Enclosed is my check in the amount of $
(Year $28.40 6 Months $14.20 2 Months $4.80)
The Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1457, Sanford, Fla. 32771

TELEPHONE: 305-322-2611 305-831-9993

DELIVERED DAILY TO YOUR HOME

SUNDAY EDITION DELIVERED ON SATURDAY FOR YOUR WEEKEND ENJOYMENT

'Team Snail' Wins 24 Hours On Endurance

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "I may be slow, but I'm ahead of you," said the driver of the team that won the 24-hour endurance race at Daytona Beach.

The motto of the Ecurie Ecartog Porsche applied to everyone at the finish of the 24 Hours of Daytona.

When the checkered flag dropped at 3 p.m. Sunday the Ecurie Ecartog entry was about 10 miles ahead of its nearest challenger, and its members had a good chuckle over their little inside joke.

What is Ecurie Ecartog? Actually, explains Dave Helmeck, one of the three winning co-drivers, it was his idea for a racing club name that he came up with while serving in the military.

"It's French," said the bearded Miami doctor. "Roughly, it's a team."

"Ecartog means snail."

"Team Snail — I may be slow, but I'm ahead of you," said the driver of the team that won the 24-hour endurance race at Daytona Beach.

The "slow" Porsche that Helmeck, three-time winner Hurley Haywood and John Graves drove to victory gave up plenty of horsepower to the speedy Porsche 911 turbo and the Ferrari prototypes — in fact just about everything.

But when it came to endurance, the name of the game really was the supposedly obsolete Porsche Carrera without peer.

The team covered 2,615 miles at an average of nearly 109 miles an hour.

Faster cars led the event until barely three hours remained.

But reliability was not their strong suit.

Leaders for most of the race were Reinhold Joest of Germany and Frenchman Bob Wollek in a Porsche 911. Nagging problems with a left front wheel finally forced them to make a agonizing 17-minute pit stop for repairs, and their lead slipped away for keeps. They finished a distant third behind Italian Martino Finotto and Carlo Facetti in a Porsche 911.

Peter Gregg and his new co-

drove to victory gave up plenty of horsepower to the speedy Porsche 911 turbo and the Ferrari prototypes — in fact just about everything.

But when it came to endurance, the name of the game really was the supposedly obsolete Porsche Carrera without peer.

The team covered 2,615 miles at an average of nearly 109 miles an hour.

Faster cars led the event until barely three hours remained.

But reliability was not their strong suit.

Leaders for most of the race were Reinhold Joest of Germany and Frenchman Bob Wollek in a Porsche 911. Nagging problems with a left front wheel finally forced them to make a agonizing 17-minute pit stop for repairs, and their lead slipped away for keeps. They finished a distant third behind Italian Martino Finotto and Carlo Facetti in a Porsche 911.

Peter Gregg and his new co-

drove to victory gave up plenty of horsepower to the speedy Porsche 911 turbo and the Ferrari prototypes — in fact just about everything.

But when it came to endurance, the name of the game really was the supposedly obsolete Porsche Carrera without peer.

The team covered 2,615 miles at an average of nearly 109 miles an hour.

Faster cars led the event until barely three hours remained.

But reliability was not their strong suit.

Leaders for most of the race were Reinhold Joest of Germany and Frenchman Bob Wollek in a Porsche 911. Nagging problems with a left front wheel finally forced them to make a agonizing 17-minute pit stop for repairs, and their lead slipped away for keeps. They finished a distant third behind Italian Martino Finotto and Carlo Facetti in a Porsche 911.

Peter Gregg and his new co-

drove to victory gave up plenty of horsepower to the speedy Porsche 911 turbo and the Ferrari prototypes — in fact just about everything.

But when it came to endurance, the name of the game really was the supposedly obsolete Porsche Carrera without peer.

The team covered 2,615 miles at an average of nearly 109 miles an hour.

Faster cars led the event until barely three hours remained.

But reliability was not their strong suit.

Leaders for most of the race were Reinhold Joest of Germany and Frenchman Bob Wollek in a Porsche 911. Nagging problems with a left front wheel finally forced them to make a agonizing 17-minute pit stop for repairs, and their lead slipped away for keeps. They finished a distant third behind Italian Martino Finotto and Carlo Facetti in a Porsche 911.

Peter Gregg and his new co-

Lietzke Wins Again, Will Take Time Off

HONOLULU (AP) — Bruce Lietzke, suddenly one of pro golf's brightest young stars, says he needs some time off.

"I need to go home and think about this thing out," the hard-hitting 25-year-old Texan said after scoring his second victory in the young season Sunday in the Hawaii Open.

"I thought I was going to have to rearrange my schedule after winning Tucson (last month, his first pro title), but now I've really got to sit down and figure out where I'm going, what my goals are, what I'm going to do."

Fired, however, he puts the best record of the season on the line this week in the $200,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic and will play the following week in Los Angeles. After that, however, things are in doubt.

"I've never been overseas but I have a few things lined up now. I'm going to play in Japan

Lane Leads, Not Long

Bob Lane's reign as overall Derby in the Sanford Shrubbery was short-lived.

It took one day for Chris Masden of Windermere to assume control Sunday, catching a four-pony, 11-ounce shot.

Lane landed a four-pony, 2-ounce last week and won the second week in an arid condition.

Alan, 19-year-old Donald Cooper of Sanford won the third week in junior division with a 3-pony, 16-ounce catch.

Masden's catch is one the experts are looking at as one with a chance of standing up throughout the remaining four weeks of the tournament, sponsored by the Greater

Lane Leads, Not Long

Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Evening Herald.

Masden caught his 41lb 11oz pony on day of Lemon Hill.

Other nice catches reported in the senior division were by Larry Fink of Casselberry (3-14) and R.L. Dulleger of Sanford (3-10).

Alan, 19-year-old Donald Cooper of Sanford won the third week in junior division with a 3-pony, 16-ounce catch.

Masden's catch is one the experts are looking at as one with a chance of standing up throughout the remaining four weeks of the tournament, sponsored by the Greater

Grimsley's Sports World Instant Pennant Or Else

NEW YORK (AP) — The last of the original Mets, big Ed Kranepool, says the fickle fan will render the final verdict on baseball's 1977 season.

"Teams such as the New York Yankees and California Angels, who put out $4 million and $5 million for new players, will really do the spot," he warns. "They have to win to justify that kind of dough."

"Fans will be expecting an instant pennant. If they don't get it, they will start calling the players greedy and say all the players will be more money without putting out."

"They'll have a right to scream. And no telling what it will do to team morale."

Note can speak more knowledgeably of the vagaries of the baseball public than this strapping native New Yorker who signed his $82,000 bonus baby with the Mets right out of high school in 1962 and has never worn another uniform.

He went through those formative, stumbling formative years when the Mets were baseball's lovable clowns and soared with them to the pinnacle of a World Series championship in 1969 and another National League pennant in 1973.

Now 23 years old, with a new lease on life as a steady-hitting first baseman and pinch-hitter, he is entering his 15th season with the security of a three-year contract at $100,000 a year.

It may sound like pocketchange in the light of the multimillion dollar contracts handed out to the likes of Reggie Jackson, Don Galt, Joe Rudi and Bobby Grich, but Kranepool shrugs it off philosophically.

"They're the super stars," he says. "They are the creatures of an unusual period in baseball history. These few agent salaries are not realistic. In a few years this will all be gone and the game will return to some degree of normalcy."

"Me? I'm just one of the guys. I do my job. I have no complaints about my pay. I want to play maybe four more years and then stay in baseball in some capacity."

Don't get Ed Kranepool wrong. He insists he is not knocking those copious salaries and bonuses. He simply is refusing to get caught up in the dangerous whirlpool of jealousy and discontent that the unbridled free agent sweepstakes threatens to generate.

"Baseball is a business — we all accept that," he said. "It's every man for himself and every club for itself. Every team has to make a judgment. Is a $5 million outlay for a couple of super stars worth the risk? Will it insure a winner?"

"It should improve the team and boost the gate. But not necessarily. There's no guarantee. One pennant won't be enough to pay off a debt like that. Then, there's always the danger of spilling the fan."

"Remember it takes 25 players to win a pennant — one man can't do. Motivation does it. And you're going to find that there will be a lot of teams out there, who didn't pick up any million-dollar superstars who will be pushing hard to knock off the rich clubs. I look for a very interesting year."

Seminole Girls Trip Lake Brantley, 41-37

By SHARON REMPE, Herald Correspondent

DELAND — The elusive honor of being district champion in girls basketball changed hands once more Saturday afternoon when Lake Brantley took Seminole to the state.

The score was 21-20, for Seminole, when play began in the second half. By the end of the period Brantley had reversed the score in their favor, 29-27. Brantley put the score in the 40's with a 41-37 win in less than 50 minutes.

"When we took the lead," records book they'll see (Maurice) Rocket Richard and they'll see Bobby Hall, and they'll wonder who is Anders Hedberg, the native of Sweden who scored Sunday night after scoring his 49th, 50th and 51st goals in Wilmington's 49th game of the season.

Hedberg, a 25-year-old right winger, has played in only 47 games. And Sunday's three goals gave him 11 in the last three games.

"I am relieved because the pressure's off now and I will be much more relaxed in Quebec City (Tuesday night)," Hedberg said.

He cracked a rib last week and missed two games before his scoring spree in the next three games.

Oilers 4, Mariners 2

Butty Patenaude and Rick Morris each had one goal and one assist, helping Edmonton's victory over San Diego. San Diego jumped in from 1-0, but Patenaude and Frank Bester tallied, giving the Oilers a lead they never relinquished.

Noriques 6, Stingers 1

Two goals by Curt Brackley and one by Mike Galt, enroute to Quebec's romp over Cincinnati. The Stingers' lone goal came in the third period by Rick Dudley.

Hazers 5, Whalers 5, OT

Jack Carlson's goal at 17:22 of the third period lifted New England into a tie with Indianapolis. Neither team could score in the extra session.

Transfer Loophole Bill Due

TALLHASSEE (AP) — Sen. Edgar Dunn says he will offer a bill to give Florida athletes a chance to approve or reject stock transfers in their own names.

"If you allow them to come in and be permitted on the basis of the stockholders, all of whom would be the well-to-do," said Dunn, Daytona Beach and chairman of the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee.

"State officials now let them come in and be permitted on the basis of the stockholders, all of whom would be the well-to-do," said Dunn, Daytona Beach and chairman of the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee.

"State officials now let them come in and be permitted on the basis of the stockholders, all of whom would be the well-to-do," said Dunn, Daytona Beach and chairman of the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee.

Stroble Captures Playoff At Deltona

DELTONA (AP) — Bob Stroble of Albany, Ga. has won the Florida PGA's Deltona Open by scoring a par four on the first hole of a playoff with Wally Kuchar of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Stroble shot a five-under-par 67 and Kuchar had a 70 in the final 18 holes of regulation play Sunday. That left them tied with 212 total for 54 holes at 6,700-yard Deltona Country Club.

Kuchar cracked a bogey five on the playoff hole to enable Stroble to claim a first place check of $700. Kuchar earned $700.

Third was Charlie Owens of Winter Haven, Fla., who tied for fourth at 215 with Austin Straub of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and Pat Schaab of McAfee, N.J.

Signups Begin For Softball

The Sanford Recreation Department is in the process of setting up the 1977 youth softball season, starting with an organizational meeting, Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. at the recreation office located in the Youth Wing of the Civic Center.

There are two leagues — one for ages 9-12 (Lassie League) and one for ages 13-18 (Junior League). Girls' registration for the Lassie League must be 3 years of age before August 1 and cannot be 13 or over August 1. Junior League girls must be 13 or over August 1 and cannot be 18 or over before the same date.

Lassie League try-outs will be held March 29 at Fort Mellon softball field at 5 p.m. for all new girls. Girls who played last year will automatically be placed on the team in which they finished in last year's Junior League try-outs will be held March 31 at Fort Mellon softball field at 8 p.m. for all girls who wish to participate this year. Actual league play will begin the week of April 18 with a 12-game schedule.

Registration will start today (Feb. 7) from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Sanford Recreation Office.

Lyman Frosh Wins, 61-35

Lyman High's freshman basketball team won the county tournament in Volusia County Saturday over Lake Howell, giving the Greyhounds a 1-1 record in the county playoffs.

Lake Howell, 61-35, defeated Lyman, 35-61, in the county semifinals Saturday.

Lyman's victory was the first since 1963, when they won the county title.

Lyman's victory was the first since 1963, when they won the county title.

Lanier Gets The Thumb In Basketbrawl Tilt

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Pistons, who've spent most of the season squabbling and scrapping among themselves as the National Basketball Association's answer to baseball's Oakland Athletics, landed a bench-clearing brawl today off by Detroit's usually mild-mannered center, Bob Lanier.

"I got the rebound after a foul by Larry Fink of Casselberry (3-14) and R.L. Dulleger of Sanford (3-10)."

Lanier scored 20 points before he was ejected, with Detroit ahead 18-15 at the time.

Howard Porter, who led the Pistons in scoring, was ejected for fouling Lanier. Porter was ejected for fouling Lanier.

Howard Porter, who led the Pistons in scoring, was ejected for fouling Lanier.

SCOREBOARD

National Basketball Association		Eastern Conference		Western Conference
Philadelphia	119	119	119	119	119
Boston	118	118	118	118	118
NY Knicks	117	117	117	117	117
Buffalo	116	116	116	116	116
NY Nets	115	115	115	115	115
Washington	114	114	114	114	114
Cleveland	113	113	113	113	113
Atlanta	112	112	112	112	112
Chicago	111	111	111	111	111
San Antonio	110	110	110	110	110
Portland	109	109	109	109	109
Phoenix	108	108	108	108	108
San Diego	107	107	107	107	107
Los Angeles	106	106	106	106	106
Golden State	105	105	105	105	105
San Jose	104	104	104	104	104
Seattle	103	103	103	103	103
Portland	102	102	102	102	102
San Francisco	101	101	101	101	101
Phoenix	100	100	100	100	100
San Diego	99	99	99	99	99
Los Angeles	98	98	98	98	98
Golden State	97	97	97	97	97
San Jose	96	96	96	96	96
Seattle	95	95	95	95	95
Portland	94	94	94	94	94
San Francisco	93	93	93	93	93
Phoenix	92	92	92	92	92
San Diego	91	91	91	91	91
Los Angeles	90	90	90	90	90
Golden State	89	89	89	89	89
San Jose	88	88	88	88	88
Seattle	87	87	87	87	87
Portland	86	86	86	86	86
San Francisco	85	85	85	85	85
Phoenix	84	84	84	84	84
San Diego	83	83	83	83	83
Los Angeles	82	82	82	82	82
Golden State	81	81	81	81	81
San Jose	80	80	80	80	80
Seattle	79	79	79	79	79
Portland	78	78	78	78	78
San Francisco	77	77	77	77	77
Phoenix	76	76	76	76	76
San Diego	75	75	75	75	75
Los Angeles	74	74	74	74	74
Golden State	73	73	73	73	73
San Jose	72	72	72	72	72
Seattle	71	71	71	71	71
Portland	70	70	70	70	70
San Francisco	69	69	69	69	69
Phoenix	68	68	68	68	68
San Diego	67	67	67	67	67
Los Angeles	66	66	66	66	66
Golden State	65	65	65	65	65
San Jose	64	64	64	64	64
Seattle	63	63	63	63	63
Portland	62	62	62	62	62
San Francisco	61	61	61	61	61
Phoenix	60	60	60	60	60
San Diego	59	59	59	59	59
Los Angeles	58	58	58	58	58
Golden State	57	57	57	57	57
San Jose	56	56	56	56	56
Seattle	55	55	55	55	55
Portland	54	54	54	54	54
San Francisco	53	53	53	53	53
Phoenix	52	52	52	52	52
San Diego	51	51	51	51	51
Los Angeles	50	50	50	50	50
Golden State	49	49	49	49	49
San Jose	48	48	48	48	48
Seattle	47	47	47	47	47
Portland	46	46	46	46	46
San Francisco	45	45	45	45	45
Phoenix	44	44	44	44	44
San Diego	43	43	43	43	43
Los Angeles	42	42	42	42	42
Golden State	41	41	41	41	41
San Jose	40	40	40	40	40
Seattle	39	39	39	39	39
Portland	38	38	38	38	38
San Francisco	37	37	37	37	37
Phoenix	36	36	36	36	36
San Diego	35	35	35	35	35
Los Angeles	34	34	34	34	34
Golden State	33	33	33	33	33
San Jose	32	32	32	32	32
Seattle	31	31	31	31	31
Portland	30	30	30	30	30
San Francisco	29	29	29	29	29
Phoenix	28	28	28	28	28
San Diego	27	27	27	27	27
Los Angeles	26	26	26	26	26
Golden State	25	25	25	25	25
San Jose	24	24	24	24	24
Seattle	23	23	23	23	23
Portland	22	22	22	22	22
San Francisco	21	21	21	21	21
Phoenix	20	20	20	20	20
San Diego	19	19	19	19	19
Los Angeles	18	18	18	18	18
Golden State	17	17	17	17	17
San Jose	16	16	16	16	16
Seattle	15	15	15	15	15
Portland	14	14	14	14	14
San Francisco	13	13	13	13	13
Phoenix	12	12	12	12	12
San Diego	11	11	11	11	11
Los Angeles	10	10	10	10	10
Golden State	9	9	9	9	9
San Jose	8	8	8	8	8
Seattle	7	7	7	7	7
Portland	6	6	6	6	6
San Francisco	5	5	5	5	5
Phoenix	4	4	4	4	4
San Diego	3	3	3	3	3
Los Angeles	2	2	2	2	2
Golden State	1	1	1	1	1
San Jose	0	0	0	0	0

Olympics On Minds Of Icers

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The nationals are over, the World Championships are on the horizon, but most of the gold medalists have Olympics on the mind.

Yes, the 1980 Olympics remain the major motivation for American amateur figure skaters. And in skating, before the lucrative ice shows, will come the Lake Placid Games.

Tai Bhabhonia, who teamed with Randy Gardner to win the senior pairs title, was asked for a biographical form that he plans for future skating.

"If you allow them to come in and be permitted on the basis of the stockholders, all of whom would be the well-to-do," said Dunn, Daytona Beach and chairman of the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee.

"State officials now let them come in and be permitted on the basis of the stockholders, all of whom would be the well-to-do," said Dunn, Daytona Beach and chairman of the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee.

Smith Blanks Topple Mates As North Stars Topple Chicago

By The Associated Press

The last time the Minnesota North Stars had a game in Chicago, goalie Gary Smith and defenseman Bill White were the stars.

White, who scored the winning goal in the 11th minute, was named the game's MVP.

White, who scored the winning goal in the 11th minute, was named the game's MVP.

Evert Settles No. 1 Question Over Navratilova

SEATTLE (AP) — Chris Evert admitted this was no time to lose.

"I was a question in my mind as to whether this year," the 25-year-old reigning U.S. Open and Wimbledon champion said after her 5-2, 6-4 victory over Martina Navratilova in the final of a $100,000 women's professional indoor tennis tournament here Sunday.

"I've been keyed up this whole week," Miss Evert continued. "We both want to win. I'm very happy. There was a lot of pressure in the match because we wanted to prove we were No. 1."

"I won the big points in the second set and that seemed to make the difference."

Miss Navratilova, the 20-year-old Czechoslovakian, placed second in the final of the $100,000

