Lake Mary High Reports Anti-Drug Program Success

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary High School reported to the Seminole County School Board that the first year of its "Say No" to drugs program was an "excellent beginning and a tremendous learning experience."

The program, in which students sign contracts promising not to use drugs or alcohol, is going to be continued next year.

It began after concern expressed by the Local School Advisory Committee over "horror stories" they had heard about the affects of crack cocaine and other mood altering drugs. With the help of the school's students, teachers and administrators the LSAC developed the "Lake Mary High School Say No to Drugs" program.

The pilot program was approved by the board for two years.

The program received national media attention when it was announced students wishing to participate in extracurricular activities would have to sign one of the anti-drug contracts as prerequisite. Later that requirement was dropped.

Of the 2,310 students enrolled at LMHS last year, 900 were involved in the program, said LMHS Athletic Director Bob Wagner. "Of those 900 students approximately 72 percent signed contracts," he said. Others were covered by the stipulations of the program because they participated in extracurricular activities, even if they did not sign contracts.

The national media attention given to the issue of contract signing last year may have had a detrimental affect on participation in the program, said LMHS Assistant Principal Bill Moore. He said the publicity caused some students to refuse to participate in the program because they felt forced into it.

Moore, who made a presentation of the program to the school board Wednesday, said there might be less pressure on students to participate in the coming year because publicity is beginning to taper off.

Getting parents of students using chemical substances to admit there was a problem was another difficulty, he said.

Often times, Moore explained, one parent would want to seek help for a student with a drug or alcohol problem, while the other parent would say there was no problem. Seminole County Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes said he realized how difficult it could be to work with parents in those situations.

School board member Ann Nelawender told Moore she thought the program had done alot of good.

"In my opinion you're to be commended for the work you've done," she said.

LMHS Principal Don Reynolds said he was very pleased with the "Say No" program's first year.

"We helped out alot of kids with the it, and that's what we're here for," he said.

Post Office Initiates 'Carrier Alert'

Sanford mail carriers are first in Seminole County to join in the Carrier Alert program, in which they will check up on senior citizens and the handicapped who register for the service.

Under the program, explained Sanford Postmaster Fred Rader, mail carriers will check to see if mail has been picked up by those 60 years of age and older or handicapped persons registered for the service. When the mail has not been picked up for two or three days the letter carrier will notify the Human Services Council and someone will check on the addressee.

Rader said the post office where he formerly worked in Arkansas offered the service and in at least one

Those participating will be given a sticker that will alert the carrier to monitor the mail. If the mail is not picked up by the resident and orders have not been given to forward or hold the mail, the letter carrier will alert the council.

If the Human Services Council can't reach the resident by phone they will call alternate numbers of friends or relatives to find out if the person is away and neglected to notify the post office. If necessary they will send someone to the home to check on the welfare of the elderly or handicapped person. If necessary the police will be called.

Rader said he does not advocate the carrier entering the residence unless he can actually see there is an emergency.

Those wanting to sign up for the Carrier Alert Program can contact the carrier, the post office, Postmaster Rader, or the Information & Referral Service of Human Services Council in Orlando at 629-1289.

According to William W. Kuehn, Seminole Outreach Specialist for the tri-county Human Services Council, the council hopes to involve other post offices in Seminole in the voluntary program, which has operated in Orange and Osceola counties for the past three years.

Supporting organizations for the program are the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council Area Agency on Aging, the United Way, National Association of Letter Carriers, National Rural Letter Carriers' Association, the Federation of Senior Citizens Clubs of Seminole County and the U.S. Postal Service.

Expressway May Change PUD Plans

By Ted Carter
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Expressway Authority's route selection last week came as a pleasant surprise to a development company that plans to build 1,484-dwelling units just outside Sanford's southwest boundary.

Developers of the General Sanford Estates Planned Unit Development are slated to go before the county commission Tuesday night for final approval of rezonings and a comprehensive plan amendment needed before the project can go forward. Although those plans, as well as the scope of the massive development, may have to be altered because of the selected route, the development company could have fared much worse, according to Chase Lasbury, a managing general partner of the PUD project.

Under the favored Route 53, the PUD would have lost about 37 buildable acres. The selected Route 68 takes no more than 20 buildable acres, said Lasbury. "This comes in on the east side and hugs our wetlands area. So we're pleased with the selection."

Route 53, he added, "would have cut our project dramatically."

County Planning Director Tony VanDerWorp said Friday "we don't know yet" what the expressway authority plans mean for the PUD project. He said the project is being re-evaluated, a process that could lead to a reworking of the site on which the development company, Belair Groves Ltd., plans to build 1,484 homes, a 200,000-square-foot shopping center and a 80,000-square-foot office complex.

Lasbury said plans are to go ahead with requests for the rezoning and plan amendments scheduled for public hearing and final county commission consideration Tuesday night.

A reworking of the site could involve putting the residential units on the west side of the property and the commercial center and office complex on the east, according to Gerald Brinton, expressway authority director. This arrangement, said Brinton, would have the expressway dividing the residential and commercial areas.

The commission has already given preliminary approval of the rezoning needed for the PUD proposed for the southwest quadrant of County Road 48A and Airport Boulevard. Some of the property is located on the south by Old Lake Mary Road.

Portions of the property are zoned under an agriculture classification. Other parts of it are zoned single-family residential. The site also includes 110 acres of wetlands, of which the developer proposes encroaching on 10.7 acres.

The comprehensive plan amendment is needed because the county's current plan designates the property for low-density residential and preservation use. County staff has not objected to the plan amendments. Staff said the development is consistent with the plan's intent of encouraging low and medium density development within the area.

Developers plan to build the PUD in two phases starting this year and ending in 1992.

The surge in school enrollment the development is expected to generate has caused concern among Seminole County school district officials. The PUD likely will create the need for a new elementary school, according to Benny A. Arnold, assistant superintendent of facilities and planning. Arnold has suggested building a new elementary school on the PUD site.

10 Candidates Seek 3 Lake Mary Commission Seats

Ten candidates met the Friday noon filing deadline for qualifying as candidates for the three Lake Mary City Commission seats up for election Sept. 1.

Incumbent Charlie Webster will face Randall Morris and Ray Fox in the race for commission seat one.

Suspended Commissioner Arthur

"Buzz" Petsos, who is still awaiting trial on charges of burglary and petty theft, will be opposed in seeking re-election to seat three by George Duryea, David Cruise and Penny Gunn. Gunn is a member of the city's planning and zoning board.

The race for seat five be between will be between Richard Joslin, Thomas K.

Mahoney and Linda H. Beckham. Incumbent Ken King has decided not to seek re-election.

Last year, Commissioners John Percy and Paul Tremel were elected without opposition to seats two and four respectively.

More Than 800 Dead In Heat Wave

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — The government today extended a national state of emergency called to cope with a blistering heat wave that has killed some 750 people, officials said.

Government spokesman Sotiris Kostopoulos said the death toll reached 750 during the weekend with temperatures in the greater Athens region staying stubbornly above 115 degrees. The number of deaths was expected to rise today, officials said.

The entire Mediterranean region was affected by the heat, and reports from Italy said the high temperatures there claimed at least 75 lives. Beaches were permitted to stay open 24 hours.

In Greece, authorities ordered hospitals around the country to stay open 24 hours a day to cope with the high number of victims — especially among the old, the overweight and the sick.

Driver Swerved To Avoid Car In Wrong Lane

Casselberry Man Killed In Road Accident

A Casselberry man was killed when the Jeep he was passenger in reportedly swerved to avoid an oncoming vehicle and slammed into a ditch in Fern Park.

Dead is Fred J. McLaughlin, 39, of 528-C Georgetown Drive. Driver of the jeep, John C. Watson, 29, of 125 Georgetown Drive, received minor injuries, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

Watson was driving the jeep southbound on Fern Park Boulevard near Fernwood Boulevard around 2:46 a.m.

Saturday when he swerved to the left to avoid hitting an approaching vehicle on the wrong side of the road. Watson's Jeep then left the roadway and slammed into a ditch, an FHP report said.

There is no description of the other vehicle involved.

McLaughlin's death is under investigation by the FHP. He was not wearing a seatbelt at the time of the accident nor was he ejected from the Jeep.

It was not known by early Monday whether alcohol was involved in the accident.

Weinberger Supports Shultz Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The political disaster that befell President Reagan as a result of his dealings with Iran was foreseen by those in the administration who recognized the danger of involvement with a "fanatical, virtually insane country," says Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

Interviewed Sunday on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley," Weinberger supported testimony by Secretary of State George Shultz and indicated he will back up Shultz's version of events when he appears this week before the House and Senate committees investigating the Iran-Contra scandal.

First, however, the panels will begin hearing Tuesday from Attorney General Edwin Meese, who opened up the scandal Nov. 25 by revealing the diversion of money to Nicaraguan Contra rebels from secret U.S. arms sales to Iran.

Shultz, in two days of public testimony last week, gave details of his and Weinberger's vehement opposition to the dealings with Iran, which attempted to buy freedom for American hostages even as the United States was condemning Iran for terrorism and was publicly opposing such arms sales by other nations.

The secretary of state and the Pentagon chief both have been attacked by conservatives for removing themselves from the policy when they could not persuade Reagan to abandon it — and both men are fighting back.

"I think that those arguments were presented as vigorously or vociferously, as has been said, and I think they were fully understood and I think it was, simply, a different policy was adopted," Weinberger said Sunday.

Asked if he should have been more insistent and perhaps even have resigned in protest, Weinberger replied, "Resigning may make the resigner feel a little more comfortable and morally superior, but it doesn't accomplish anything and it removes any possibility of continuing to present those arguments in a way that will eventually prevail."

Weinberger said at least he and Shultz, who offered a similar argument as to why he did not resign over the policy, foresaw the political disaster that eventually resulted from the Iran initiative.

Yankees Spoil Dotson

United Press International The Chicago White Sox showcased Richard Dotson for the New York Yankees Sunday...

Dotson, in whom the Yankees have expressed interest for the pennant drive, pitched 7 1/3 perfect innings before New York tagged him for five runs to post a 5-2 victory over the White Sox...

Yankees principal owner George Steinbrenner flew out of Chicago after witnessing his club's three losses in the series. Before he left, however, he expressed his displeasure over the club's recent performance...

Dotson's price increased while he was shutting down New York through the first seven innings, but it may have dipped in the eighth when the Yankees collected three straight hits off him.

After Dave Winfield struck out leading off the eighth — the 22nd straight batter Dotson retired — Mike Paglarulo lined a 2-1 pitch over second baseman Fred Manrique to break up the perfect-game bid...

Mark Salas struck out before Dan Pasqua, pinch hitting for second baseman Juan Bonilla, hit a 2-1 pitch into the upper deck in right field for his ninth homer of the season.

"I figured he would throw me a changeup and I was ready, but I did not feel any extra pressure on me," said Pasqua.

Clark (Will) Steals Show For San Fran

United Press International At least for a day, the San Francisco Giants appeared to have the right Clark on their side.

The Cardinals' Jack Clark, who leads the National League with 29 homers and 91 RBI, surrendered batting accolades Sunday to another Clark, the Giants' Will.

The San Francisco first baseman slugged game-winning home runs in both ends of a double-header to lead the Giants to a four-game series sweep of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Will Clark blasted a three-run shot in the 10th inning of the first game to lift the Giants to a 6-3 victory. In the nightcap, his fifth-inning homer put San Francisco ahead to stay in a 5-2 triumph.

In the opener, Bob Brenly singled with one out in the 10th off losing pitcher Todd Worrell. 4-5. Davis walked and Will Clark followed with a home run.

"I hit the first pitch, a fast ball," Will Clark said. "I faced Worrell four or five times before and everytime he started me with a fast ball."

Scott Garretts, 9-6, threw 2 1-3 innings of hitless relief to record his second victory in two days.

Mike LaCoss, 8-6, earned the triumph in the second game by holding the Cardinals to one earned run in six innings. Craig Lefferts pitched three hitless innings for his fourth save.

St. Louis starter Greg Mathews, 7-7, who had pitched into the seventh inning in each of his last 10 starts, gave up four runs in 4 2-3 innings and took the loss.

How's That? Run It By Me One More Time

DEAR ABBY: Having just read your column about how some people murder the English language, here are some examples taken from actual letters received by the local welfare department in applications for support:

- "I am forwarding my marriage certificate and six children. I had seven, but one died which was baptized on a half sheet of paper."
- "Mrs. Jones has not had any clothes for a year and a half and has been visited regularly by the clergy."
- "I am glad to report that my husband who is missing, is dead."
- "I am very annoyed to find that you brand my son illiterate (sic). This is a dirty lie, as I was married a week before he was born."
- "Please find out for certain if my husband is dead? The man I am living with can't eat or do anything until he knows."
- "I am forwarding my marriage certificate and three children, one of which is a mistake as you can see."
- "My husband got his project cut off two weeks ago, and I haven't had any relief since."
- "Unless I get my husband's money pretty soon, I will be forced to live an immortal life."
- "You have changed my little boy to a girl, will this make a difference?"
- "I have no children as yet as my husband is a truck driver and works day and night."
- "I want money quick as I can get it. I have been in bed with the doctor for two weeks, and he doesn't do me any good."

Dear Abby

LILLIAN ARMET (AGE 80), FAR ROCKAWAY, N.Y.

DEAR LILLIAN: Thanks for a delightful day-brightener.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a letter from a man for a change: I never know what to do when my wife and I are in a restaurant and a lady comes to our table.

I stand up, then she says, "Please sit down." Abby, I'm not about to sit down while a lady is standing by our table talking with my wife.

If I say, "I'll get you a chair," she says, "No, thanks. I'm only going to stay a minute," then she keeps talking and talking. Meanwhile, I'm standing there while my dinner gets cold. What's correct here?

GARDEN GROVE, CALIF.

DEAR GARDEN: Offer the lady a chair. If she refuses, remain standing. Once you sit down, you'll never get rid of her.

DEAR ABBY: My friend's daughter was married last week in a beautiful wedding in a synagogue. I was greatly surprised — yes, shocked — to see the bride's great-aunt walking down the aisle as the matron of honor! The fact that the bride's mother is very fond of her elderly aunt is totally irrelevant in my opinion.

I think the bridal party should consist of young adults, full of life, not someone like this little old 75-year-old lady. She looked so out of place. I just couldn't believe my eyes! What could that bride have been thinking when she had so many young friends and relatives to choose from? I hope this is not a new trend.

What is your opinion?
NEW YORK POST READER

DEAR READER: If you expected support for your opinion, you rattled the wrong cage. Weddings are celebrations of love, and when it comes to love, age is irrelevant. I think choosing a 75-year-old matron of honor is truly wonderful.

DEAR READERS: One of the great journalists of our time, George Seides, age 96, who interviewed, argued and broke bread with Isaroda Duncan, Albert Einstein, Freud, Trotsky, Lenin, Mussolini, Col. McCormick, Eleanor Roosevelt, Errol Flynn, Hemingway and hundreds of other notables, has written a fascinating book titled "Witness to a Century" (Ballantine). It's the perfect gift for a friend whose intelligence you respect. Treat that friend to this delicious literary smorgasbord, and buy one for yourself so you two can discuss it. But don't lend your copy to anyone. You'll never get it back.

'Ultimate' Workout May Be The Last One

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Some of my friends have begun an exercise program that includes running in place in a sauna. They claim it is the ultimate aerobic workout. This practice seems rather alarming to me. Could you comment?

DEAR READER — People dream up the darndest ways to take up free time. I always thought that saunas were for relaxation after a workout. Many saunas get very hot, and I'd worry that your friends might be overdoing it in the heat, become too dehydrated and suffer cardiovascular collapse. This is called heatstroke among athletes and it can be a serious condition, leading to heart irregularity or standstill.

Jogging in a sauna may be the "ultimate aerobic workout," but I would advise your friends to knock it off, exercise in a temperate environment and then wind down in the sauna.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is clenching your teeth a sign of trouble?

DEAR READER — Sometimes, teeth clenching is a sign of tension. We all experience tension, but if we take out stress on our teeth, especially at night when sleeping, bite problems and headaches can result. Teeth clenching may be the earliest manifestation of stress that should be addressed directly, not ignored.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sister has lost the sight in one eye because of something called toxoplasma gondii. It's a parasite from cats. She's taken all these drugs, but her sight has not returned. I never did like cats, but I didn't realize they were dangerous to humans.

DEAR READER — Toxoplasmosis is a common infection that is often carried by cats. The cats contain the parasite and pass the cysts in their stools. These cysts can be directly spread to humans by contact. Once in the body, the cysts hatch and the larvae migrate to the lymph glands and brain. Vision can be affected.

The disease is particularly serious in pregnant women because the parasite can be carried through the placenta and into the fetus, causing severe tissue damage.

Treatment with sulfa drugs usually clears up the infection, but some damage — in the eyes, for example — may be permanent.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
West's bizarre jump to three hearts traded on favorable vulnerability. West hoped that if the bid was doubled, he would not be set more than three tricks, and he assumed the opponents had a vulnerable game. They did have a game, but West could have gone down five or six tricks if North had heart length to go with his points. Fortunately East had a good fit with West and had the values to sacrifice even at the five-level, but along the way he made a key bid.

the lead of the jack of clubs, with East playing A-K and continuing with a third club, placed declarer in the position of having to play as though he were looking through the backs of the cards. He wasn't up to it. Had he trumped with the jack of spades, then played the trump ace and followed up by finessing against West's guarded 10, he would have succeeded. Instead, he correctly ruffed with the jack, but then played a trump to dummy's king, assuring West of a trick with the spade 10.

What is worth noting is that without East's strategic four-club bid, the opening lead would surely have been the king of hearts. Declarer would have won the ace, drawn trumps and then discarded two of dummy's clubs on the diamond winners to make 12 tricks.
