City expands recreation

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Expansion of Sanford's City Recreation program is underway.

The City's Parks and Recreation Department has already started using the gym area at the Salvation Army facility in Sanford, 700 W. 24th Street, for after-school programs.

"Our program expansion is now underway, even though we haven't received the signed official approval yet," Parks and Recreation Director Mike Kirby said Thursday.

"We have been relatively certain that there wouldn't be any problem."

Sanford Salvation Army Capt. Gary Bergen said he has now been notified by the Southeast Corporate Headquarters in Atlanta that the agreement has been approved and signed. "The only difficulty for the past several months has been funneling information between Sanford, Tampa and Atlanta, before everyone finally knew exactly what the proposal was about."

Capt. Bergen said he expected to get the signed document in the mail within a few more days.

Kirby, meanwhile, has already started the after-school volleyball leagues. "While we have most of our plans set for summer activities," Kirby said, "we can really get rolling once we receive the official approval."

The City Recreation will continue after-school programs at the Salvation Army facility until the end of the present school term, then begin a full series of summertime activities during the non-school months.

As part of the agreement, the City had agreed to re-stripe the gymnasium floor at the facility. "We have that planned for next year," Kirby said. The striping will be for both volleyball and basketball.

An additional part of the agreement calls for the City to pay the Salvation Army to help in the costs of the building. The City has agreed to pay 25 percent of the janitorial services, and 50

"We also hope to have an eye specialist out to screen for any eye problems," said Caselman.

Caselman said that the doctors will not be doing in-depth examinations, but will be checking to see if there are any problems for which the youngster should be taken to a doctor.

Mrs. Polk backs sheriff opponent

She says husband regretted favoring Eslinger over Morse

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The widow of the late Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, and their two children, have endorsed sheriff's candidate Harvey Morse, saying Polk said he made a "mistake" in recommending CCH chief Don Eslinger to succeed him.

"I know you will make a fine sheriff, as John often said, one that the people can be proud of," wrote Dottie Polk in a letter to Morse dated March 9. "It is my hope that all of John's many loyal supporters will join with me and our family in endorsing you to become sheriff."

Dottie Polk could not be reached for comment. Her two children, Cheryl and John, both said on Thursday that she did not wish to make a public statement about the endorsement.

"We are making this endorsement because of his integrity and his professionalism far outweighs that of anyone else in the county," said "John Jr.," as he is known.

Morse said he was extremely pleased with the endorsement.

"It's a great letter," Morse said. "I had no idea it was coming before John Jr. delivered it this week."

Eslinger, who is in Quantico, Va. in an FBI training academy, did not return phone requests for an interview.

John Jr. said the Polk family was courted by other sheriff's candidates but not Morse. John Jr. said he SANFORD — Veteran Sanford policeman Charles Fagan is expected to join the already-crowded field of sheriff's candidates early next week.

Fagan, 55, said he expects to file his campaign finance documents with the county elections office early next week to begin his Democratic bid for sheriff, which pays $82,703 annually.

Fagan declined to discuss his reasons for seeking the office Thursday, saying he preferred to wait until officially beginning his campaign.

"I spoke with several people to make sure this was what I wanted to do," said Fagan.

Fagan has served the Sanford police department for 28 years following a 5½-year stint as deputy with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department. He began his city police career as a road officer before working his way up through the ranks as detective, detective sergeant and detective captain. He also represented the city on the federal drug enforcement team for 6½ years.

Mother goes on trial in abuse death

MIAMI — The mother of 3-year-old "Baby Lollipop," whose battered corpse was found more than a year ago, neglected and repeatedly abused the child before killing him with a baseball bat, prosecutors said.

Ana Cardona, a cocaine-addicted mother of at least four children, went on trial Thursday on murder and aggravated child abuse charges in the death of Lazaro Figueroa.

In opening arguments, the defense agreed that Cardona might be negligent, but blamed the abuse on her former lover, a former auto-parts clerk who will avoid a possible death sentence in exchange for her testimony.

"Who is responsible for this evil? Well, in this case, evil has a name. Olivia Gonzalez-Mendoza, the lover and live-in roommate of the defendant for 18 months," said defense attorney Ron Gainer.

Dean Witter's grandson indicted

WEST PALM BEACH — The grandson of investment giant Dean Witter knew the risks were high when he allegedly engaged in a complex money-laundering scheme along with five others, court documents say.

David Witter, a Palm Beach Gardens investment broker, at one point told undercover agents posing as drug dealers that he "couldn't be near the cash" because of his family name and the importance of protecting his businesses.

His attorney, Richard Lubin, has said his client may be the victim of entrapment in the federal sting operation known as Operation Pinstripe.

Witter and four others charged in the alleged scheme were scheduled for arraignment today, while a fifth co-defendant made his initial court appearance Thursday.

Impeachment resolution filed

TALLAHASSEE — A Republican lawmaker filed a resolution Thursday seeking impeachment of Florida's banking regulator, claiming Comptroller Gerald Lewis accepted campaign cash to overlook deep problems at failing institutions.

Rep. Jeff Huenink, R-Clearwater, said his resolution detailed a "pay to play" pattern in which Lewis took political contributions from bankers and then neglected to act properly despite evidence of mismanagement at collapsing institutions.

"If a man's house burns down, he had an accident. When the second house burns, he is unlucky," Huenink said. "By the time his fifth or sixth house catches fire, a clear pattern has emerged."

Teen charged

FORT MYERS — A 15-year-old has been charged with taking part in the abduction last month of three teen-agers, two of whom were murdered.

Ashley Usher of Lehigh Acres was charged Wednesday with three counts of kidnapping in the Feb. 9 abductions of Nathan Goldsberry, 13, Irish Mullins, 15, and Chris Stricklin, 14, all of Lehigh Acres.

Robert Kay, 24, is jailed without bond on charges he shot Goldsberry and Mullins to death. Stricklin also was shot, but he survived.

Redistricting plan back to House

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida House today must pick up the pieces of a legislative redistricting plan fractured by the state Senate.

"Why don't we send it back to the House and let them clean it up themselves?" said Sen. Jeanne Malchon, D-St. Petersburg, after a House-Senate deal on new maps collapsed Thursday night.

Senators voted 25-15 for a Senate map but defeated another that had been crafted as a compromise for the House on a 21-19 vote. After attaching a House map opposed by Democratic leaders, the overall joint resolution (HJR 2491) passed 29-11.

Negotiations also dragged along on how to draw 23 new U.S. House of Representatives seats. Florida's delegation is getting four new seats because of population growth.

Rep. Bolley Johnson, chairman of the House Rules and Calendar Committee, said the chances of both plans passing in time for today's scheduled adjournment appeared slim.

Why don't we send it back to the House and let them clean it up themselves?

-Sen. Jeanne Malchon, D-St. Petersburg

"I think we'll have the votes to pass a plan," said Johnson, D-Milton. "To beat the clock is another matter."

The Legislature intends to return for a special session March 23 to deal with redistricting and other unfinished business.

The game plan Thursday was for the Senate to send both proposals to the House, where Democratic leaders said they'd be approved. But the Senate failed to approve the House compromise map, sending instead a Republican version the lower chamber's leaders do not support.

The compromise state House redistricting map carves out 13 black seats and nine for Hispanics, which represents two more Latin districts in Dade County than a previous plan.

Senators, however, rejected the House map on a 21-19 vote because Sens. Winston "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville, and Patsy Kurth, D-Malabar, objected to the configuration in Brvard County.

"It just didn't make any sense," Gardner said.

Efforts to patch up the deal floundered partly because Sen. Quillian Yancey, D-Lakeland, went to dinner after misunderstanding when the Senate would return. He made it back an hour and a half late.

left to the House was the task of attaching the compromise map and its minority districts to the legislative resolution.

The compromise Senate plan that did manage to pass has three black districts — up from two in an earlier version — and three Hispanic. One of those districts would force incumbent Sen. Eleanor Weinstein, D-Palm Beach, into a black area against Rep. Bill Clark of Lauderdale Lakes, who wants to run for the Senate.

Miracle explained?

High winds may have parted Red Sea for Moses

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — While the biblical account of Moses' parting of the Red Sea is often deemed a miracle, two researchers have decided that high winds could have caused the phenomenon.

After crossing through the parted waters, the Bible says, the Israelites wandered through the desert for 40 years before reaching Mount Sinai, where God gave Moses the Ten Commandments. The study released Thursday said weather conditions in that part of the world could have been responsible.

The study was authored Doron Nof, a professor of oceanography at Florida State, and Nathan Paldor, an associate professor of atmospheric sciences at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and a visiting scholar at the University of Rhode Island.

"We're not making a judgment on whether this event took place," said Nof, whose finding is to be published in this month's issue of the Bulletin of the American Meteorological Society. "We're just saying that the winds in that area could produce such an event."

"Believers can find the presence and existence of God in the creation of the wind, just as they find it in the establishment of a miracle," said Nof.

"This area is unique geographically because it is very long and extremely shallow," Nof said. "Because of that, the wind can lift a lot of water. It's like blowing across the top of a cup of coffee. The coffee flows from one end of the cup to the other."

The researchers calculated that a 40 mph wind blowing for 10 to 12 hours could push the gulf water a mile from the original shoreline and cause a sea level drop of about 10 feet. They said such a drop at the shallow north end of the gulf could allow crossing on foot.

The study's calculations also can explain the biblical account of the sea swallowing up the Egyptian soldiers in pursuit.

"When the wind relaxes, obviously this water is going to splash back," Nof said. "Our calculations estimate it would splash back at about 12 feet per second. You could not escape that. The entire area would be reflooded in a matter of minutes."

Many scholars believe this site, near the town of Suez and north of the Red Sea proper, was where the Israelites escaped from Egypt into Canaan.

Scientists wonder if lumbering manatees hear boats approach

Associated Press

TAMPA — It is widely believed that manatees are hit by boats because they're slow and stupid. Some scientists are speculating, however, that the lumbering sea cows simply can't hear oncoming boats.

If a two-year study at Lowry Park Zoo proves the theory, it could lead to a technological solution to such collisions — the manatee's leading cause of human-related death.

"We have manatees with 12 or 13 hits," Ed Gerstein, director of marine mammal research at Florida Atlantic University, said. "After they've been hit one, two or three times, why don't they learn to evade boats?"

Gerstein said prevailing dogma that manatees are slow and dim-witted is just not true.

Tests have clocked some manatees exploding through the water at 22 feet per second, and they are considered nearly as trainable as dolphins.

"There has to be something else going on," Gerstein said, adding that might be an inability to hear.

To find out, Gerstein and Geoffrey Patton, senior biologist at Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, devised a two-phase study on a pair of manatees that have weathered numerous boat collisions.

The first phase involves a series of hearing experiments, and if they indicate boat noise is outside manatee hearing range, the scientists will move to phase two: development of an acoustic warning device for boats that manatees can hear.

The hearing tests are similar to human hearing tests, but manatees can't just raise a flipper when they hear a tone. Instead, they must be trained to push a pair of paddles. If the manatee hears a tone, he presses one paddle; if not, he presses the other.

Once the manatees make the paddle connection, the scientists test their range of hearing by playing tones of varying frequencies and volumes through an underwater speaker.

"We get the basic science first, then we can get creative once we have the facts," Patton said. "We have a chance to find technological solutions to the problem."

Solutions could include modifications to boat motors so they would emit sounds at frequencies in manatee range.

Man in fatal crash leaves hospital

By NICK PFEIFAU

LAKE MARY — The driver of a car involved in a fatal accident Wednesday afternoon was treated and released from the hospital Thursday afternoon.

Ivan Forry, 60, 605 Timberlake Dr., Lake Mary, was taken to HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford for treatment of injuries sustained in the accident in which his wife, and passenger, Myrtle Forry, 61, was killed. Lake Mary Police Capt. Sam Belfiore reported she died en route to the hospital.

Belfiore said Forry's late model Cadillac, eastbound on Lake Mary Boulevard, struck the rear of a pickup truck driven by Gregory William Lee of Daytona Beach. Belfiore indicated Forry was experiencing medical difficulty. Both vehicles were traveling about 40 mph.

Belfiore said that in the report filed by investigating Officer Romanowski, "there was an indication that the driver of the car may have had a blackout or medical difficulty, and may not have been in control of the vehicle."

The collision caused the truck to move into the westbound lane, and eventually head into a grassy ditch. Lee was reportedly uninjured.

The Forry's car accelerated and continued briefly down the road. Belfiore said, "The vehicle left the road and drove through an area of bushes and shrubs until striking an oak tree."

No charges have been filed pending the outcome of the Lake Mary Police Department investigation.

Kids win $2,000 from TV

By NICK PFEIFAU

LAKE MARY — Megan and Jaime Brodie, ages 6 and 9, watched a considerable amount of TV in late February. As a result, they and their school became richer.

The two girls, daughters of James and Shari Brodie, 118 W. Alma Avenue, Lake Mary, spent many afternoons in February, watching a school contest on Channel 18. The girls were seeking clues presented each day, and writing them on cue sheet forms supplied by schools throughout the Central Florida area.

The forms had to be submitted by Feb. 28, to coincide with a School-Aid telethon presented by the station that weekend.

The Brodie girls did not obtain enough clues to win the $10,000 grand prize, but managed to win $2,000. The station required the prizes to be split evenly between the children and schools.

As a result, Jaime and Megan have $1,000, and the other $1,000 went to the Lake Mary Elementary School, to be used to purchase school supplies.

The girls' mother said, "We certainly didn't have to ask where the girls were or what they were doing for several weeks between 4 and 7 p.m."

She added, "Megan actually won the prize, even though she can't write yet. Jaime did the paperwork."

The Brodie bunch proudly display a citation from Channel 18 naming Megan and Jaime as winners in a school contest. Dad, Jim, and mom, Shari, stand behind Megan, 6, and Jaime, 9.

Shifting policy

Is the United States selling some of its most sensitive advanced technology, with both commercial and military uses, to nations that sponsor international terrorism?

Not to worry, says the Commerce Department.

Several months ago, however, the agency quietly changed a long-standing U.S. policy of denying export licenses to Syria and Iran for sophisticated dual-use technologies.

The previous policy was based on the presumption that neither of these countries could be trusted to keep American technology with military applications out of the wrong hands. But in an effort to foster better relations with these regimes, the Commerce Department now will grant them export licenses on a case-by-case basis.

Commerce officials insist the new policy prevents Syria and Iran from receiving export licenses for military purposes. But what about dual-use technology such as computer-controlled machine tools that can produce precision steel for military applications? Or sophisticated navigational gear that also can be used in missile guidance systems? How is the U.S. government going to ensure these items are used strictly for commercial purposes?

To help allay concerns about these and other questions, the Commerce Department says it will monitor carefully every transaction and enforce a variety of licensing controls. But the department's track record in this regard is not reassuring.

For example, a similar relaxation of export controls during the 1980s resulted in the licensing of $1.5 billion worth of American high technology for Iraq. Although this material was ostensibly destined for commercial purposes, U.N. inspectors discovered that much of it was used in Saddam Hussein's efforts to develop chemical and nuclear weapons.

It also is worth remembering that in 1990 Iraqi operatives tried to persuade a San Marcos, Calif., firm, CSI Technologies, to sell them electronic devices that cannot be exported without a U.S. government license. CSI officials notified the U.S. Customs Service, which foiled the transfer. The items could have been used as triggering devices for nuclear warheads. In this instance, the government's licensing controls worked as they should because the American manufacturer alerted U.S. authorities.

The record of recent years shows that the Commerce Department has not been especially vigilant about dual-use technology sales to Iran and Syria.

According to a recent study by the Wisconsin Project on Nuclear Arms Control, the department authorized more than $300 million worth of high-tech transfers, even though Americans have been the targets of terrorist acts supported by Syria and Iran. In fact, these countries have been involved in such activities as the bombing of the Marine barracks in Beirut, hostage-taking in Lebanon, airliner hijackings and attacks on embassies.

The transactions with Iran included $600,000 worth of navigational radar and communications equipment that could assist in missile targeting, and $270,000 worth of electronic measuring gear that could be used to develop microwave circuits for missile guidance radars. More than 75 percent of the 372 approved sales to Iran were for computers that U.S. law has designated as having a potential use in weapon development.

For Syria, the Commerce Department approved 91 sales of computers that are subject to national security controls. Six of these sales were destined for the Syrian Atomic Energy Commission, despite U.S. policy not to aid the nuclear energy programs of nations that support terrorism.

Congress is considering legislation that would strengthen export controls for nations such as Iran and Syria. The measure essentially would restore the presumption that these countries would use dual-application American technology for military purposes. The measure has merit.

CHUCK STONE

Schools or parents educate kids?

Like Mark Twain's weather, everybody talks about public-school students' poor performances, but nobody does anything about them. In fact, those who try tend to get caught in a buzz-saw power struggle between the tradition-rooted education establishment, self-serving union leaders and turf-protecting politicians.

Meanwhile, the students are getting shafted. In rampantly inferior school districts in places like Chicago, Washington, D.C., and Chelsea, Mass., low-income students are failing and dropping out at frightening rates.

If President Bush, Secretary of Education Lamar Alexander and Congressional Democrats were really serious about improving education, they would mandate a cutoff of federal funds for school systems like those until they demonstrate quantifiable progress in academic achievement.

In the meantime, city councils and state legislatures should pass legislation placing school systems in receivership when they prove unable to get their pedagogical act together.

It's a matter of record that the vast majority of public schools do a fine job of teaching and enhancing cognitive development. Who do you think are filling up our colleges, universities and graduate schools — and entering the work force every year?

The problem is reclaiming the 30 to 40 percent of low-income students who not only drop out of school, but drop out of society.

Hoping to staunch this hemorrhaging of the educational body, Bush and Alexander came up with a "break the mold" plan that would allocate federal funds to innovative schools. But resistant Congressional Democrats contend the Republican proposal will politicize school systems. A plague on both their houses.

A more critical question must be asked: Whose mold?

Is it the mold of those extraordinarily successful children of Indochinese refugees, who have been here for only a few years and are setting academic records all over America?

Is it the mold of school children in California's

The problem is reclaiming low-income students who drop out.

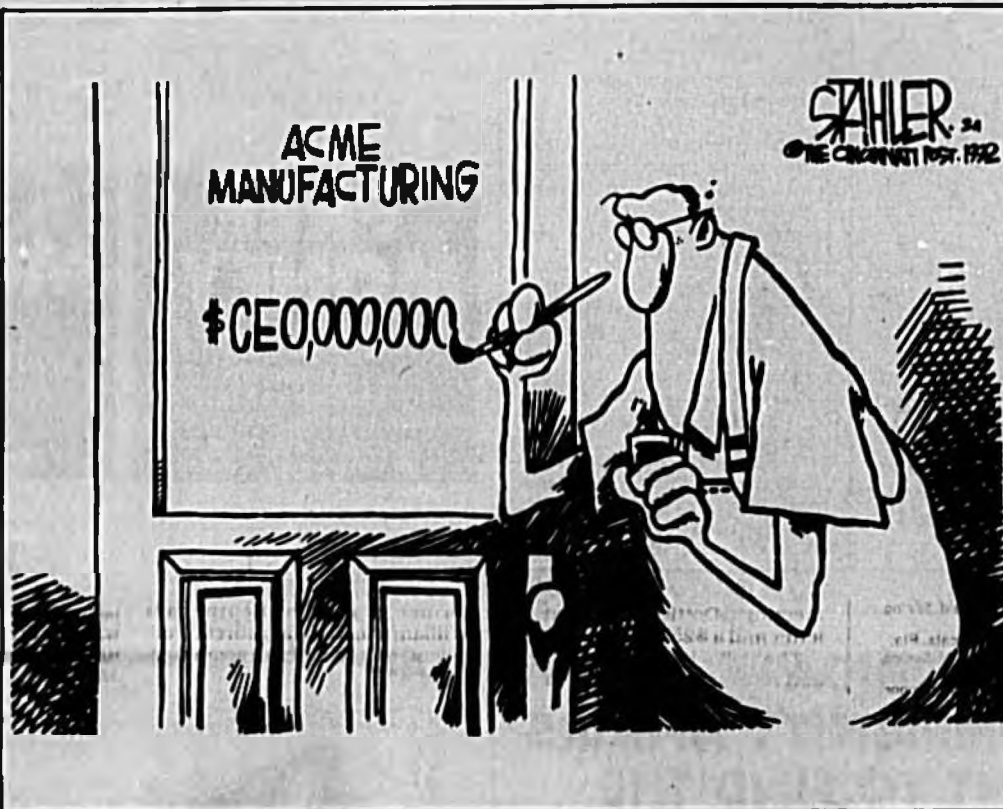

Palos Verdes Estates, an upper-income community where 95 percent of high-school graduates go on to college?

Or is it the mold of the 60 percent Mexican American lower-middle-income community of Dinuba, Calif. (only 200 miles from Palos Verdes), where fewer than 20 percent of high-school graduates go on to college?

Why the vast differences in academic achievement? As a recent study by three University of Michigan professors documented, Indochinese children have achieved extraordinary success in the public schools, many of which are located in low-income areas. In the Michigan study's random sample of 538 Indochinese children, almost half earned A's in math, and less than 4 percent had averages below a C.

The researchers found close correlations between academic success and five variables, the most significant of which were intense parental supervision and longer homework time (three hours a day on for Indochinese students vs. one-and-a-half hours for other students).

In Palos Verdes Estates, wealthy parents annually raise over $500,000 for their public-school system. In Dinuba, on the other hand, an all-Anglo power structure has systematically excluded Mexican-American families.

JOSEPH SPEAR

Welcome to the Fourth Estate

If there's a heaven up there, as we've been told, there's got to be a little neighborhood set aside for journalists. My guess is it's on an alley off the street reserved for the Salvation Army, Mother Teresa and animal rescue leagues.

I hear you chortling. You're thinking Spear has finally stripped his gears. You're thinking: He writes about wacky schemes like flat taxes and publicly owned baseball teams and you go along with it. But now he's equating the press with the Lord's saintly servants and that's too much.

Hear me out before you toss me out. For the past two decades, to my personal knowledge, the journalism profession has welcomed to its ranks the wayward, the disgraced and the down-and-out. We have opened our doors to phonies and frauds and given them inside work. And now we have been asked to shelter a former commie kingpin and a bullyboy with the personality of a pet rock.

Yes, I refer to Mikhail Gorbachev and John Sununu. They are the latest in a parade of erstwhile reprobates who are trying to rehabilitate themselves as journalists.

Gorbachev I can live with. He has signed on as a columnist with the Italian daily La Stampa, and the New York Times Syndicate is distributing it in the United States. His first effort addressed the question, "Is Communism dead, or does it live on, or can it be reborn?" and surely everybody will agree the world needs to address these things. Besides, the idea of Gorbachev having to answer to an editor is sweet indeed. Now the former Grand Editor in the Kremlin, ex-boss of all Soviet media, will see what oppressed columnists regularly endure.

Sununu, self-proclaimed pitbull of the White House during the first three years of George Bush's tenure, seems to hate almost everything and that goes double for the media. "You're a liar!" he reportedly screamed at a Washington Post correspondent in the White House Rose Garden last November. "Your stories are all lies! Everything you write is a lie!"

Now John-boy (Art Buchwald says it's OK to call Sununu John-boy now that we are accomplices) has been named to replace Patrick Buchanan as the troglodyte on CNN's "Crossfire" program. Recently, a journalist attempted in a spirit of fellowship to mend fences with John-boy. Said the journalist: "Welcome to our trade!" Responded John-boy: "I feel almy already."

Funny he should use that figure of speech, because I felt the same thing when I heard that Sununu was now a ... it's very difficult to get this out ... a journalist. I actually felt corpuses of acum coalesce out of the air and attach themselves to my skin and I was obsessed with the need for a shower.

Do you see the pattern? We took in Pat Buchanan after he spent six years bashing the press for the likes of Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. Then he reverted to his anti-press missile mode for Ronald Reagan, after which we took him in again. Now he's trying to corner the bigot vote in the presidential campaign (he does have a habit of seeking jobs for which he isn't qualified, doesn't he?) and, gullible fools that we are, we'll probably give him back his laptop when he's finished.

The list of scoundrels cum scribes seems endless. John McLaughlin, the former priest/White House aide who pronounced Richard Nixon free of any "amoral or immoral" taint, went on to host a journalistic gong show. Oliver North, the martinet who tried to run the country from the White House basement, is now writing a column. Ed Meese, discredited as Ronald Reagan's attorney general, also tried a column (now blessedly defunct).

There's more: Jimmy Carter's former flack Jody Powell, and Reagan-era officials Jeane Kirkpatrick, Caspar Weinberger, Linda Chavez, Richard Perle and Kenneth Adelman. And on and on.

Journalism took them all in — comforted, sheltered, nurtured them. If that's not God's work, I don't know what is.

Hear me out before you toss me out.

Maine's Andrews speaks his mind

WASHINGTON — When members of Congress swap stories about how tough it is to please the folks back home, nobody can top the dicey constituency of Rep. Tom Andrews, D-Maine. Living within Andrews' district are Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell and President George Bush, when he is honest enough to admit that a hotel suite in Texas is not his real home.

Andrews is a straight shooter who hasn't looked back since the day in 1990 when Mitchell counseled him in the back seat of the senator's car, "Don't be afraid to disagree with me publicly. Base your opinions on what you believe, not on what I believe. Stick to your guns."

The gun reference may have been a poor choice of words. When the Brady Bill to impose a waiting period on handgun purchases came to the House last May, Mitchell opposed it and Andrews backed it. That didn't play well in Maine, the home of the largest per capita membership in the National Rifle Association.

Andrews, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, also took an unpopular stand on the Persian Gulf War, voting against it. And then he refused to sign a letter written by Mitchell to protest the closure of Maine's Loring Air Force Base, the source of nearly 5,000 jobs for the state.

"My friends were saying, 'What are you doing?' They said it would be easier to just go along and condemn the closure of the base. But we've got to make changes in how we spend money," Andrews says. "We can't let pork barrel politics drive the defense budget."

Now there's a novel idea. But like many of Andrews' ideas, it ruffles his fellow members of Congress and goes against the grain of his constituency back home.

Mitchell told us that he advised Andrews to stick to his principles, "even if that meant disagreeing with others, including me. ... No one expects elected officials, even those of the same party, to agree on every issue."

If there is a price to be paid for taking a stand, Andrews doesn't seem to mind. Politicians who have won battles with cancer tend to speak their minds and pay the price at the polls. Voters respect Paul Tsongas' candor when he tells them to stop looking for Santa Claus. They realize that a call for sacrifice from a man in remission for lymphatic cancer is not just lip service. But whether or not they will elect a president who won't play Santa Claus remains to be seen.

Andrews, who lost a leg to cancer at the age of 22, has never been at a loss for conviction either. Each day he rushes to the House floor with a cane in his hand and passion in his voice.

He offered no apologies last month when he endorsed the un-candidate Mario Cuomo for president instead of any of the five major candidates from his party. Andrews told our associate Ed Henry, "I looked at each one of them and asked, is this person the strongest in the field? Who could be the strongest messenger? Who could generate passion and activism? The answer to those questions was Cuomo." Throwing up his arms, Andrews adds, "You call 'em the way you see 'em."

Republican insiders are calling for his head. They see a freshman congressman in a seat that the GOP wants badly doing things that are decidedly liberal and making himself vulnerable in the process. The Republican Congressional Campaign Committee has identified Andrews as an easy mark this election. His likely opponent is Linda Bean, the granddaughter of L.L. Bean, founder of the sporting goods store that is a Maine staple.

The gun reference may have been a poor choice of words.

Candidate seeks school boss job

By VICKI DeBORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Dr. John Bush, who ran an unsuccessful campaign for a position on the school board in November 1990 is one of 131 applicants who has thrown his resume onto the pile for consideration as superintendent of schools in Seminole County. Bush is the registrar at the University of Central Florida.

Bush, who ran against Sandy Robinson for the District 1 seat, received about 18 percent of the vote district wide. Wayne Blanton, executive director of the Florida School Boards Association, is serving as a consultant to the Seminole County board in the matter of selecting a new superintendent. All of the applications are processed by him before being forwarded to the district.

According to a representative in Blanton's Tallahassee office, a few more applications may be received, but the application deadline has passed.

"The brochure said that applicants must have their information postmarked by March 10," she said. "There may still be one or two that come through with that postmark that will qualify."

Once all the applications are received, the local committee of citizens, district employees and business leaders will meet in order to narrow the field of candidates to 15 that the board will then narrow to five. The board will receive the top 15 candidates' names at their regularly scheduled meeting on Tuesday, March 24.

The top five candidates will be visited at their home districts by Blanton and a school board member. They will also be invited to this school district to meet with department heads, the board and members of the community.

The final decision will be made by May 5. The school board hopes to have the new superintendent in place by June 15.

only one we've pulled off in a year's time," the show's co-director along with Miriam Doktor, Valerie Weld, said.

The show, which Weld likens more to a Broadway production than to a traditional ballet, opens with Lilly's funeral. The adult Lilly, played by veteran dancer and actress Linda Zern, narrates her life story, featuring six "Lillies" at various ages.

"You can always spot Lilly on stage. She's the beautiful red-head with the chintilly lace lucky scarf," Weld said.

Weld said the guild is excited to offer quality productions to area residents.

"You don't have to get on the Interstate and travel to Orlando. You don't have to buy a $45 ticket, (tickets for "Lilly" are $7, adults, $5 children.) We want people to say, 'Hey, I saw this great little show in Sanford (area) and feel good about the experience,'" Weld said.

The first ballet in the trilogy, "Doo Wah Diddy," took one and one-half years to write, choreograph and rehearse before its debut. "Who Shot Diddy" was two years in the making, with production interrupted by the guild's participation in the original ballet "Circle of Light" for the St. Lucia Festival.

"We promised the public we would have this one ready in a year, and we gritted our teeth and did it," Weld explained.

Featuring 60 dancers, "Including 16 guys," Weld said, "we also have a crew of 15 backstage doing props and 18 dressers who help the dancers with their costume changes."

Ordinarily, Weld said, a production of this magnitude, with this much energy invested, would tour as a unit for several months. But that's not the guild's concept. Weld said the guild is dedicated to quality productions staged locally for a limited time for local residents to enjoy. And hopefully for people passing through to stumble upon and enjoy.

"It's interesting to me that a year went into this. After two performances, it's over," Weld said.

Looking toward next year, Weld said plans are in the works for a 25th anniversary extravaganza, featuring vignettes from popular ballets spanning a quarter of a century.

"Lilly," Weld hopes, will be stepping high in that one, too.

Because annual performances by the Ballet Guild of Sanford/Seminole are always a near sellout, Weld requests that anyone interested in attending either Saturday or Sunday please call the school at 323-1988 the afternoon or Saturday morning to reserve seating.

went to speak with Morse about his position and recommended his mother go meet with Morse. Following the meeting, Dottie Polk wrote a letter and a $25 check to the Polks. The Polks have also pledged to actively assist Morse in his campaign, said John Jr.

In Dottie Polk's letter, she states Polk came to regret nominating Ealinger to succeed him. In December 1990, Gov. Bob Martinez appointed City-County Investigative Bureau chief Ealinger to complete Polk's term through 1992. Polk subsequently died in June 1991 following a long decline in health due to heart problems and medical complications.

"He also told our family and several close friends prior to his death, that a mistake had been made regarding the appointment process and then he became very upset about the way the appointee treated loyal, dedicated, and hard working employees," Dottie Polk wrote.

People close to the replacement process said Polk originally recommended only Morse to succeed him in early November 1990. But John Jr. said after Ealinger assumed office Jan. 1, 1991 and several long-time

Polk-favored employees left, including jail administrator Duane Rutledge who resigned, Rutledge's second-in-command Bob Fischer who was fired, and former warrants lieutenant William Fagan who retired, Polk began to regret his recommendation.

"He confided in me that he had made a mistake in placing (Ealinger) in office due to the way he was treating people and letting them go," John Jr. said. Rutledge said Polk recommended Morse to Martinez's chief counsel Pete Dunbar from his hospital room one day in November 1990.

"I was in the room with John Polk when he called Pete Dunbar to ask if he retired early, would the governor appoint Harvey Morse to the sheriff," said Rutledge. "Pete agreed and said there would probably be no problem."

Polk's personal physician, Dr. Benjamin Newman said he recalled the conversation, but declined to comment, citing doctor-patient confidentiality. Dunbar said Polk originally did submit only Morse's name, but later submitted Ealinger's name in writing as well.

"I remember he (Morse) was the one name he (Polk) recommended, but we did background checks on two guys," said Dunbar. "We knew the facts, the issues and the party and there was no error made. There were no mistakes made. Mr. Ealinger was the better of two choices."

Rutledge said Ealinger's name was put forward after Polk was warned there may be problems with Morse's background. Dunbar said he did not recall anything in Morse's background check done by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement that disqualified him.

Morse said the only negative aspects of the FDLE report was accusations submitted by a dia-grunted former employee, including the allegation he stopped Morse from stealing a license plate from a repossessed auto. Morse said the plate belonged to him.

John Jr. said his father was encouraged by a number of people to promote Ealinger. Rutledge made a similar comment, but both declined to state who had spoken with Polk about Ealinger. Dunbar said there was a great deal of local support for Ealinger.

Morse said he visited Polk daily during his hospital stays. But said he did not do so to encourage Polk's support, but because their friendship had lasted for 20 years or more.

Endeavour makes first trip to cape launch pad

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA's new space shuttle Endeavour began its first trip to the launch pad today in preparation of a satellite rescue mission in May. The shuttle, propped upright on a huge transporter, emerged from the Vehicle Assembly Building about an hour after sunrise. The four-mile journey to the launch pad was expected to take six hours.

Endeavour is scheduled to blast off in early May. A testing of the three main engines is planned for early April.

The $2 billion spaceship arrived at Kennedy Space Center last May, joining NASA's three other shuttles. It replaces Challenger, which exploded shortly after liftoff in 1986, killing all seven astronauts aboard. During Endeavour's weeklong flight, spacewalking astronauts will attach a motor to a communications satellite that has been stranded in a useless low orbit for two years. Two other spacewalks are planned to test techniques for building the planned space station.

Endeavour's arrival at Launch Pad 39-B will mark the first time in a year that shuttles have occupied both pads at Kennedy. Atlantis is at Pad 39-A, awaiting a March 23 send-off on an atmospheric research mission. Pad 39-B was left vacant for nine months so workers could make an estimated $3.5 million in modifications.

Endeavour, expected to be NASA's last shuttle, is outfitted with an extra on-board fuel tanks allowing for longer flights.

In 1985, Fagan was promoted to his current position as administrative captain in charge of all sworn officers. In that role, Fagan serves as acting chief during the times Chief Steven Harriett is away on vacation or work-related trips.

Fagan is married to his wife of 29 years, Ethel Fagan. The couple has one son, Charles Fagan Jr., a Winter Springs police sergeant. Fagan's brother, William, recently retired from the sheriff's office after serving as lieutenant in charge of the warrant division.

Fagan said his sheriff's campaign will be his second bid for elected office. In 1983, he ran for county constable, a position — in retrospect — he's glad he lost.

"They did away with the constable position the following year," Fagan said.

Fagan will face former Orange County state attorney's investigator David Locker in the Democratic primary Sept. 1.

On the Republican side, Sheriff Don Ealinger will face Orlando private investigator executive Harvey Morse, Lake County sheriff's sergeant Larry Conill, former Seminole County sheriff's captain Harold "Beau" Taylor and Orange County corrections officer Steven Durkovic.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Compound stops skin cancer in lab mice

WASHINGTON — Laboratory studies in mice show that a compound from soil bacteria blocks the growth of Kaposi's sarcoma, a cancer common among male AIDS patients that often causes red and purple skin lesions.

Researchers at the National Cancer Institute report today in the journal Science that a bacterial extract called sulfated polysaccharide peptidoglycan, or SP-PG, is more effective in laboratory studies against Kaposi's than the drugs now commonly used against the cancer.

Shuji Nakamura, a University of Southern California scientist formerly with NCI and first author of the study, said SP-PG was tested both against laboratory cultures of Kaposi's sarcoma, known as KS, and against lesions of the cancer that had been grown in laboratory mice that lack an immune system.

In both cases, said Nakamura, KS was stopped in its tracks.

Clinton makes unity pitch

WARREN, Mich. — The man whose message was carefully crafted with Macomb County and its Reagan Democrats in mind methodically ticked off his proposals for economic growth, job training, college access and welfare reform.

Then Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton dropped his voice a notch and said he had one final topic to discuss: race relations.

With but three blacks among the approximately 150 people in the community college auditorium, it appeared the wrong message for the audience, given past studies showing many of these so-called Reagan Democrats abandoned the party because they believed its social policies too heavily favored minorities.

Bush gives auto industry a break

WASHINGTON — President Bush is offering a primary-season break for Michigan's hard-pressed auto industry as he travels to the industrial Midwest where the recession has turned voters against him.

"It's a tough state," said Bush campaign strategist Mary Matalin. "It's got high unemployment. It's got a large labor base which is in a grumpy mood."

Bush is expected to win the Michigan Republican primary, but the widespread economic discontent could slap him with a protest vote larger than he found in his sweep of Southern primaries last week.

House check-kitters to be named

By STEVEN KOMAROW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Embarrassed House members are rushing to give constituents an accounting of their check-kiting habits before the release of an official offenders list.

The House early today voted 426-0 to make public the names of 355 current and former members who took advantage of free overdrafts at the House bank. It singled out 24 as the worst abusers, and left it to the public to label the rest.

The chamber began its debate by accepting the resignation of the overseer of the now-defunct bank, Sergeant at Arms Jack Russ. But for the most part, lawmakers worried aloud about their own jobs.

"As of today," ethics committee member Fred Grandy, R-Iowa, told his colleagues, "your talk-show hosts have a topic. Your opponent has an issue. And your constituents have a reason to support term limitations."

Before Thursday, only about five dozen lawmakers had confessed to writing checks beyond their balances, mostly small-change stuff. But when it became clear that the House was going to vote to disclose all the names, that figure began to soar.

Among those who came forward were: Rep. Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., who said he overdrew his account as many as 780 times over the 39 months.

Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., who disclosed he wrote an estimated 160 bad checks in the past three years.

Rep. Gerry Sikorski, D-Minn., 671 checks. "We should have known better," he said. It was not immediately clear

Sen. Jay Rockefeller (D., W. Va.)	$220 million
Rep. Amory Houghton (R., N.Y.)	$150 million
Sen. Frank Lautenberg (D., N.J.)	$50 million
Sen. Edward Kennedy (D., Mass.)	$45 million
Rep. Norm Sisisky (D., Va.)	$30 million
Sen. John Danforth (R., Mo.)	$30 million
Sen. Howard Metzenbaum (D., Ohio)	$15 million
Sen. Charles Robb (D., Va.)	$13 million

The late Sen. John Heinz of Pennsylvania would have appeared at the top of the list of wealthiest Congress members: His personal wealth, based mainly on his holdings in the Heinz food empire, came to about a half-billion dollars.

whether any of those three, or any of the others who went public, were on the worst offenders' list. Account data, published by the Washington Times on Thursday, showed there were many other contestants for that honor.

The list included no names. But it showed, for example, that one House bank user was more than $92,000 overdrawn at one point. The list was confirmed by The Associated Press.

"This is a sad and embarrassing chapter in this institution's history. We cannot deny it," said Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla.

The disclosure resolution passed easily only after Democratic leaders abandoned their efforts to halt the revelations with the release of the names of the 24 worst offenders. As recommended by the ethics committee, the others would have been free to obtain and release their records—or not.

But Republicans insisted on exposing all the offenders and feeding on public discontent with congressional perks, charged there was a coverup underway.

Under the resolution, the list of 24 labeled "abusers" — 19 current House members and five former members — will be officially released within 10 days. The rest of the list will be released 10 days later.

After the disclosure resolution was passed, Rep. Mickey Edwards, R-Okla., pushed to extend the ethics committee's inquiry so a more thorough accounting of the less egregious offenders would be provided the public. However, the Edwards resolution was put aside after ethics committee members argued it would be time-consuming and costly.

In addition to calling for release of the names, the House approved a report which sharply criticized the way the bank was run.

The ethics committee report said Sergeant at Arms Russ misused his office by cashing his own bad checks at the bank and failing to carry out reforms designed to end the abuses.

Some members were threatening a House debate and vote on whether to fire Russ, but he quit first. Russ did so in writing. He is recovering from a gunshot wound to the face that he says was inflicted by robbers near the Capitol earlier this month.

While the House was wrestling with the check-kiting resolution, the Senate interrupted its debate on taxes to pass 95-2 a resolution making clear that it had no institution like the House bank — nor would it in the future.

Several senators complained that constituents were accusing them of writing bad checks.

Cocaine mom jailed again

SANFORD — Jennifer Johnson, the first woman in the nation arrested for delivering cocaine to a minor in utero, was arrested again yesterday.

Johnson, 26, was taken into custody in Orange County yesterday afternoon on a Seminole County warrant and transferred to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in Sanford.

She was charged with violating the terms of her probation by failing to show up for her scheduled meeting with her probation officer and failing to submit to a drug test.

She was being held without bond.

Candidate asks for signatures

Seminole County Clerk of Courts candidate Mona McGregor is asking supporters to sign a petition to enable her to qualify for office.

McGregor, a Republican, will need 1,898 signatures by July to qualify for the office of court clerk, now held by Maryanne Morse. Candidates in Florida are given two methods to qualify for office, either pay the fee based on the position's annual salary, $5,794 for clerk, or obtain signatures from 3 percent of the registered voters in the county.

McGregor said her campaign is progressing successfully and she raised more than $5,000 at a recent fundraiser. Anyone who would like to order the petition cards can call McGregor at 349-5070.

Teen transfers from Lyman after beating

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER PARK — Tom Bolling, 16, of Altamonte Springs, has been transferred from Lyman High School for the remainder of this school year.

His father Joerg Jaeger said he has a problem with the Lyman administration which began on Dec. 6 when his son was severely beaten by a group of boys at the school, he said. Twelve stitches were required to patch the wounds he received.

Principal Carlton Henley admits there was a fight involving Bolling and another boy on that date, but vehemently denies that there was any gang involvement. Also, Jaeger said, the school did nothing to discipline the offenders.

"It was one-on-one," Henley said. "The other boy was suspended for starting the fight and that was the last we heard about it until the beginning of this month when Mr. Jaeger came in and asked for a transfer."

Jaeger, an attorney, said Judy Thorne, the school resource officer, advised his son that he should "think twice" about pressing charges because the students would be likely to retaliate. His son declined to press charges against the boys.

"That is totally, totally, totally untrue," Thorne said. "If you do not prosecute, the situation will only get worse."

She added that she can recall no situation when there has been retaliation for prosecution in a case like this.

Jaeger said that his son's house keys were stolen from his physical education locker at school last month and that several days later, 17 antique pistols were taken from the house. Thorne said, and Henley confirmed, that no report was made about the keys being stolen until after the robbery occurred.

A report filed on Feb. 16 with the Seminole County Sheriff's Office confirms that a burglary occurred at Jaeger's home and that 17 guns were taken. According to the report "no forced entry into the home was noted."

Javier Morales, 17, and Jesse Burd, 17, are being tried as adults in connection with the case, according to assistant state attorney Ralph Erickson. Thorne confirmed that Morales was the boy with whom Bolling had fought.

Deputies told him, he said, that the boy was involved with selling guns to drug dealers in Miami.

"When I told Henley my problem he told me the school did not have a problem with gangs. He said there had been no trouble with violence at the school," Jaeger asked that his son be transferred to another school.

The request, however, was denied. The reason given by Dr. Hortense Evans who heads the review committee was that Henley had told them no such violence had taken place at the school.

Evans said the committee was convinced to alter its decision after Jaeger presented them with evidence, including hospital records, police records and statements by members of the school staff who recalled the incident.

Vehicle check continues

SANFORD — Florida highway patrol troopers will continue their driver's license and vehicle equipment checks through March and April.

Troopers will select locations throughout Seminole County to pull traffic to the side of the road to verify the validity of licenses and to assure vehicle safety equipment is working properly. Any law violations discovered, such as drunken driving, could lead to arrest.

The checkpoints may be established at the following locations during the next five weeks:

● March 13 to 19 — Airport Boulevard, County Road 15, Markham Road, Orange Boulevard, Osceola Road, Upsala Road and Persimmon Avenue.

● March 20 to 26 — Celery Avenue, J.C. Hutchinson Parkway, Marquette Road, Orange Boulevard, State Road 426, Upsala Road and Persimmon Avenue.

● March 27 to April 2 — Airport Boulevard, Celery Avenue, CR 15, Orange Boulevard, Old Lake Mary Road, SR 426 and Persimmon Avenue.

● April 3 to 9 — CR 15, J.C. Hutchinson Parkway, Marquette Road, Orange Boulevard, Osceola Road, Upsala Road and Persimmon Avenue.

● April 10 to 16 — Airport Boulevard, CR 15, Markham Road, Orange Boulevard, Osceola Road, Upsala Road and Persimmon Avenue.

Museum design plans accepted

By NICK PFEIFAUER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Projected designs for the Henry Shelton Sanford Museum and Library were accepted last night. The Museum Design Review Committee approved both the exterior design and floor plans.

The plans will next go to the Sanford City Commission for further acceptance.

The Committee met with architect Jerry Mills yesterday afternoon. Committee member Sara Chase Byers said, "I feel as though we have finally wrapped this up. We found the improvements suggested to Mr. Mills by the Committee were all included in an excellent manner."

"The entire design project was an excellent example of community cooperation," Byers said. "Not only Committee members but many people from clubs, as well as private individuals all had some input, and I believe the finished product will be accepted by everyone."

One example of cooperation she observed regarded the kitchen. "The first plans we saw only called for an eight foot wide kitchen area in the floor plans. Now it's been expanded so it will serve a much more useful purpose," she added. "And of course, it was all input from the women who know about those things."

According to Museum Curator Alicia Clarke, "The Design Review Committee could have taken two directions last night. They could have made some further recommendations to Mr. Mills and ask that he meet with them again, or they could accept the exterior design he has come up with, and submit it to the City Commission for their approval."

Although the floor plan was expected to be brought up at a later meeting, Mills presented his latest configuration, which Byers reported was "highly accepted by the Committee."

The only item left to be decided at this stage of plan approval by the Committee, is the exterior finishes and color. Mills presented samples to show the Committee members, but no decision was required at the present time.

Members of the Design Review Committee include Kevin Stubbs, who represents the Sanford Historic Trust; Jack Pantellas of the Sanford Historic Society; Myra Bales, Chairman of the Museum Advisory Board; and Alicia Clarke, liaison for the City Staff. Other members Byers, and Sue Olinger who chaired the meeting, Sanford City Commissioner Bob Thomas, who represents the commission on the Committee, was unable to attend due to a previous commitment.

This past Tuesday night, the Museum Advisory Board held its quarterly meeting. The Board members had their first opportunity to review the plans. "They appeared to be very pleased with the designs," Clarke commented, "and had no additional suggestions for changes."

Clarke said, "The Advisory Board also decided to hold meetings monthly rather than quarterly until this project is finalized." The next meeting has been set for the April 14.

Surveyed executives see signs of recovery

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Many American business executives say they're starting to see signs of a turnaround in the nation's sluggish economy, according to a new survey.

The New York Times-CBS News Poll, published today in The New York Times, showed that nearly half of 490 business executives surveyed saw some hint of improvement.

Forty-seven percent of the executives said they were convinced the economy was getting better, 44 percent said it was staying the same and only 9 percent said it was getting worse.

The polled executives represented a cross section of the business community, ranging from giant corporations to small family firms.

The hints of optimism come amid recent figures pointing to a revival in key economic sectors. On Thursday, the Commerce Department reported that retail sales advanced strongly February.

the second month in a row. The 1.3 percent gain last month followed a 2.1 percent increase in January.

The Times said the polled business executives are more optimistic than most consumers. In a New York Times-CBS Poll of the public last month, only 13 percent of people questioned said the economy was getting better.

The new poll was based on interviews conducted from Feb. 18 to March 6 with business executives at companies throughout the United States. The sample was randomly selected and provided by Dun & Bradstreet Information Services.

It included interviews with 274 executives in companies with $5 million to $99 million in annual revenue, 121 in companies with $100 million to $449 million and 95 in companies with $500 million or more.

The margin of error varied from plus or minus 6 percentage points to plus or minus 10 percentage points depending on the subgroup.

Education plan charts knowledge

By AARON WATSON
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG, Penn. — Pennsylvania public high school students could become the first in the nation to be measured by what they know, not by how much time they spend in the classroom.

Board of Education members say a new plan they approved Thursday would not necessarily make students smarter, but could make them better thinkers.

Some parents oppose it, saying it imposes moral values they don't automatically condone. Others say a test that is part of the program asks intrusive questions, including about how much TV the students watch and how much their parents help with homework.

The plan would eliminate the graduation requirement of completing a prescribed number of courses in a certain amount of time. Instead, students would have to master a set of learning goals, called outcomes.

Along with requirements in such courses as math, science and English, there are sections on "wellness and fitness," "personal, family and community living" and "citizenship." One of the roughly 60 outcomes requires students to understand and appreciate others.

The system also includes new standardized tests, an increase in vocational training and a greater emphasis on foreign language.

It would allow students to learn at different speeds and let districts eliminate standard grading systems. That means more students could graduate earlier, while others might have to stay longer.

School districts would be able to design their own curricula and would be responsible for assessing student progress.

The plan must be reviewed by the House and Senate education committees.

"Pennsylvania has become the No. 1 state of what is a national movement to reorient the emphasis in instruction from time to what students know," state Education Secretary Donald Carroll said.

Joseph Bard, the board's commissioner for elementary and secondary education, said every other state is considering similar approaches but has not yet acted on them.

The public has contributed to hundreds of changes in the plan as it has evolved over the past two years. But some parents complain that they didn't get enough say.

"We are tired of our kids being used as educational guinea pigs," Cathy Little, of Newville, told the board before it approved the plan.

"Those are values they're trying to introduce," said Lorae Spuhler of Lewisberry, York County. "Since they took God out of the school, I don't know what the moral base is anymore."

Bard disagreed.

"It's maybe time to say that schools do get involved with values and children," he said. "But are we trying to take the responsibility from parents of how (children) should think? Absolutely not."

OCS Rams still undefeated

MOUNT DORA — Orangewood Christian went out to a 5-1 lead, then had to hang on to defeat Mount Dora Bible Academy 5-4 in a IA-District 8 softball game Thursday afternoon.

The victory extends Orangewood Christian's season-opening winning streak to 5-0.

Eighth grader Allison Hirsch paced the OCS Rams' five-hit attack with a double, single and three RBI. Liz Hodges singled and scored two runs while Liz Hufford and Jennifer Dickinson each hit a single and scored a run.

Orangewood Christian plays again this afternoon at Altamonte Spring's Westmonte Park against Trinity Prep, which is also undefeated.

Rain interrupts UCF Classic

ORLANDO — For the second time this week, the University of Central Florida Classic baseball tournament was halted by rain Thursday night at the UCF Baseball Complex.

The host UCF Knights were leading Illinois-Chicago 9-6 when play was suspended in the bottom of the sixth inning with the Knights at bat. Leftfielder Brett Barker and third baseman Ty Lynch had each hit home runs for UCF.

In the earlier game, Evansville (Ind.) defeated Oregon State 5-1.

Today's action picked up at 11 a.m. with the resumption of the UCF-Illinois-Chicago contest. At 1 p.m., Evansville plays Illinois-Chicago at 1 p.m. UCF and Oregon State play at 7 p.m.

Trio shares SAC lead

Deeb, Rams blank Patriots

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — For 55 minutes Thursday afternoon, Lake Mary High School softball coach Jeannie Fischer waited for an explosion that never came.

Instead, pitcher Tiffany Deeb tossed a five-hit shutout as the Rams blanked the normally explosive Lake Brantley Patriots 4-0 in a game between two of the four teams tied for first in the Seminole Athletic Conference standings.

Lake Mary, now 8-2 overall, is tied with Lake Howell and Lyman at 3-1 in the SAC. Lake Brantley, 9-4 and 2-2 in the conference, is in fourth ahead of Oviedo (1-3) and Seminole (0-4).

"Lake Brantley's the type of team that may go a few innings without scoring runs but is always a threat to have a big inning," said Fischer. "They're capable of breaking loose at any point."

Greyhounds roll by Lions

From Staff Reports

OVIDO — Lyman protected its share of the lead in the Seminole Athletic Conference softball standings with a 3-1 victory over Oviedo Thursday afternoon at Red Bug Lake Park.

The victory improves the Greyhounds to 5-3 overall, 3-1 in the SAC. Currently, Lyman is tied with Lake Mary and Lake Howell for first place in the SAC. Oviedo is now 1-3 in the conference while Seminole is 0-4.

While her team kept pace with the other league leaders, Coach Christy Tibbitts wasn't overjoyed with the Greyhounds' performance.

"The girls came back down a notch from when they played (and beat) Lake Brantley on Tuesday," said Tibbitts. "They played well enough to win today but not any better than."

Silver Hawks overtake Tribe

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — Who needs a big first inning? It took four innings but once the Lake Howell High School varsity softball team got rolling they couldn't be stopped and Seminole was the victim as the Silver Hawks dropped the Tribe 12-4 in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at the Ft. Mellon Softball Field Thursday afternoon.

"We've been trying to convince the girls that they can win games without having a big first inning," said Lake Howell head coach Jo Luciano. "If we don't score in the first inning, we'll do it in the second inning, if not then in the third, whenever."

This time it took until the fourth inning. Trailing 2-1, Joy Joseph started an eight run

Raiders fall in 10th

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Brian Bridges hit two home runs, including the game winner with two out in the 10th inning, as Florida Community College at Jacksonville downed Seminole Community College 5-2 in a Mid-Florida Conference baseball game at Raider Field Thursday afternoon.

The game winning blast came on a 2-2 pitch after Rodney Tisdale had been hit by a pitch and Raimond McWhite had singled.

The win improved the Stars' record to 18-10 overall and 4-5 in the MFC, while SCC fell to 9-11-1 overall.

The Raiders will play home games again today and Saturday. They will host Dundalk Community College from Maryland at 2 p.m. today before hosting Santa Fe Community College from Gainesville in an MFC contest also starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Bridges' heroics offset another strong pitching performance by the Raiders' Greg Beck. The sophomore right-hander allowed only eight hits and struck out eight in 9 2/3 innings. And while he was brilliant most of the time, he had trouble getting the final out at crucial times.

FCC-J took a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Adam Burton walked with two outs, went to second on a passed ball and scored on a double by Tisdale.

The visitor's increased the lead to Seminole Community College pitcher Greg Beck (No. 23, throwing ball) was able to keep Carlos Armas (sliding) and the rest Florida Community College-Jacksonville Stars off the basepaths for much Thursday's game. But Beck was hurt by a pair of two-out home runs by Brian Bridges as FCC-J outlasted SCC 5-2 in 10 innings.

2-0 in the top of the fourth inning when Bridges launched his first home run, also with two out.

SCC tied the game with a pair of runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. Stanley Evans led off with a walk and Chad Epperson followed with a double. Evans and pinch-runner Chris Huffine then scored on a single by Joey Golinski.

The Raiders' never really threatened again. They did get four runners into scoring position, including two runners as far as third base, later in the game but each time it was with two outs.

Leading the FCC-J offense were Bridges (2-for-4, two home runs, two runs scored, two RBI), Tisdale (1-for-4, double, one run scored, one RBI), Carlos Armas (1-for-4, double), Hurton (1-for-3, one run scored), McWhite (1-for-4, one run scored) and Brian McLaub and Gene Manning (both 1-for-5). Providing the offense for the SCC were Epperson (2-for-5, double), Jack Niles (1-for-3), Golinski (1-for-4, two RBI), Evans (1-for-4, one run scored) and Huffine (one run scored).

Lions hope to do what no county team has done

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Oviedo High School will attempt to do this weekend what no Seminole County school has ever done... win a state championship in basketball.

The Lions will be looking to win their fifth tournament title of the year when they open play in the Class 4A State Tournament today at 3:30 p.m. against Section II champion Lakeland-Lake Gibson High School at the Tallahassee-Leon County Civic Center.

In the other Class 4A semifinal, the state's No. 1-ranked team, the Senators of Jacksonville Beach-Fletcher High School, squares off against the No. 2-ranked team, the Stingerees of Miami Senior High School. Miami Senior is the three-time defending state champion in Class 4A.

The winners of today's games will meet for the state championship at 8:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Oviedo, ranked No. 4 in the state, is 32-2 on the season and undefeated (31-0) against Florida teams. The Lions are also undefeated in 1992, their only losses coming in the Kingdom USA Tournament in Ocala at Christmas to nationally-ranked Christ the King of New York and the top team in Kentucky, Pleasure Ridge Park.

Since the Kingdom tournament, Oviedo has won 19 games in a row, including five straight in the postseason. It will be looking to add the state title to the championships it won in the Central Florida Classic, the 4A-District 9 tournament, the Region 5 title game and the Section III title game.

Lake Gibson, 23-7, advanced to the state tournament with a 78-65 victory over St. Petersburg-Dixie Hollins in the Section II title game.

Oviedo head coach Ed Bolton said Lake Gibson is a lot like the Lions.

"We had someone scout their sectional game and they appear to be a lot like us," said Bolton. "They have six or seven good athletes between 6 feet and 6 feet, 4 inches and have one kid about 6 feet, 7 inches tall."

"They shot the ball well against Dixie Hollins' man-to-man defense and they played all man-to-man defense."

Oviedo's 32 wins is the most ever in a season for a Seminole County boys team, and the Lions are the first local team to go to state since Seminole High lost in the semifinals to Tampa-Jefferson in 1980.

Oviedo is led by the Green brothers, senior point guard Bernard and junior forward Devon. But the Lions are far from a two-man team. Six different players have led in either scoring or rebounding in games this year.

Also starting for Oviedo have been senior center Simon Harper Jr., junior guard Leon Lowman and junior forward Randy Wright.

Contributing off the bench have been seniors Kenny Kroog, Ian Forrest, Travis Kallenbach and juniors Chris Braxton, Brad Lukens, Donta Jenerette and Bryan Repple.

Simon Harper Jr. (above) and Bernard Green are the only two seniors in the starting lineup for the Oviedo Lions, who play Lakeland-Lake Gibson in the Class 4A state basketball tournament semifinals today at 3:30 p.m.

Girl Scout volunteers ask parents of girl members, local businesses, corporations and other friends of Girl Scouting to financially support Citrus Council of Girl Scouts during the campaign.

Donations to Citrus Council of Girl Scouts benefit individual girls, adult volunteers and Central Florida communities. Contributions provide economically disadvantaged girls with financial assistance to register in Girl

Scouting and to attend training, various program activities and summer camps. Adult volunteers receive quality training, resource material and administrative support. Central Florida communities benefit from Girl Scouting through the various local service projects Girl Scouts provide and from young adults who are community service-minded.

Citrus Council of Girl Scouts serves over 20,000 girls each year in Brevard, Flagler, Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Volusia counties. In 1992, Central Florida Girl Scouts are participating in the national service project "Girl Scouts Care for the Earth," to celebrate Girl Scoutings' 80th anniversary in the United States. Girls will initiate environmental service projects in their communities. Citrus Council Girl Scouts are also taking part in "Girl Scouts Helping Children: Baby Basics," collecting thousands of items for needy or homeless babies and donating them to organizations who are in need of the items.

Right, above, Lou and Rosalie Brading, Longwood, study hard. Bottom, a group of seniors bone up on the laws of the road. Completion of the course entitles seniors to a discount rate on automobile insurance.

Coed's mother wants answers about school's policy on rape

DEAR ABBY: Please help. I don't know how to handle this situation. My daughter is a freshman at a Midwestern coed college. She was assigned to a coed floor in a dormitory with 11 girls and 64 boys.

The first week of school, a girl she knows who lives across campus was raped in her dorm room. Campus police were notified, the boy admitted the rape. His "punishment": He was moved out of the victim's dorm, across campus, and onto my daughter's coed floor!

I am outraged! I definitely want to do something, but my daughter and her roommate are upset because they feel my involvement would label them, and the boy's friends would harass them. The roommate won't tell her parents because she is afraid her parents will make her move back home.

These girls are young and naive, but I have to respect her wishes. Since I am new to the state, I have no contacts or support.

I know that local police should have been involved and the victim should have pressed charges, but neither was done. I am deeply concerned for my daughter's safety: the rapist should have at least been moved to an all-male floor! Please tell me what to do.

CONCERNED MOTHER
DEAR CONCERNED: It is unfortunate that the local police were not notified immediately.

If the young man admitted to the rape, he should have been expelled. And, if your daughter is afraid to speak up because of possible harassment, you should contact the president of the university and request a copy of the school's policies about rape. Also, ask for the university's explanation for its action in this case. Finally, inquire about the school's programs for educating students about their vulnerability to this crime. If there are no programs, something should be started.

ADVICE

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a bridal shower. Many attended, since the bride-to-be is a well-known, well-liked local woman.

After opening all the gifts, the bride stood up and thanked everyone for coming and bringing such lovely gifts. Then one of her aunts, who was one of the hostesses, stood up and said, "Because of the price of postage these days, the verbal 'thank-you' you just heard from the bride will be the only one you will get. She will send written thank-you notes only to those who were unable to attend the shower."

Abby, I think this was very tacky. What gift isn't worth a 29-cent postage stamp to acknowledge? What do you think?

PUT-OFF QUEST

DEAR QUEST: If the aunt made that announcement without the consent of the bride, she had a lot of nerve. And if she had the consent of the bride, shame on both of them. Every shower gift calls for a written thank-you.

DEAR ABBY: I sure enjoyed those letters from people who told about receiving gifts that had telltale signs of having been used. My cousin received a cookie jar as a wedding shower gift. When she got it home, she noticed some cookie crumbs at the bottom.

A friend of mine told me she received a steam iron for a wedding present. It was in a regular carton, taped shut, like brand-new items come in, but when she took it out of the carton to use, it had water in it! I'm sure others have had similar experiences. Have you, Abby?

ME IN LANSING, MICH.

DEAR ME: Only once. I bought a brand-new purse, and when I got it home I found a quarter in the coin purse!

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the nursing home administrator about families who ignore their mothers, fathers and grandparents who reside in nursing homes hit a sore spot I've had for years.

I have cared for seniors, too, and some family members who "visit" do not stay for even 10 minutes. They come in saying, "I can only stay a few minutes — I'm on my way to my bridge club (or some other event) but I wanted to see you."

Abby, there is never an offer to take the person for a ride, or out to eat, or for an ice cream cone.

Some of these seniors had entertained their kinsfolk in their homes for years, but of course that is all forgotten.

Parents care for their children for years, but these ungrateful children would not even consider taking their aging parents for a weekend.

Herbal remedy can relieve ear disorder

DEAR DR. GOTTE: I have often heard about the wonders of the Ginkgo Biloba tree for various ear problems and dizziness, also known as Meniere's disease. Since I suffer from this malady, I purchased the product from a health-food store and tried it. It really works! I've been told from others it clears buzzing in the ears and loss of hearing. Maybe you could help your readers by telling them of this marvelous remedy.

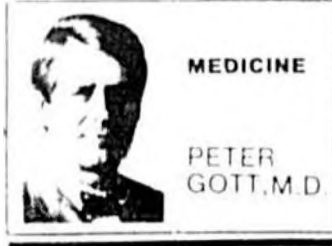

DEAR READER: Although I am not familiar with any medicinal effects of the Ginkgo tree, I have great respect for Asian herbal remedies, and I try to keep an open mind about alternative health cures. For example, many herbal remedies have been found to contain effective drugs that M.D.s use in purified form—for example, the aspirin in willow bark. If the Ginkgo product you purchased helped you, I'm not about to argue with success.

Nonetheless, you and other readers should bear in mind that herbal remedies may not be the best treatment for certain serious conditions, such as heart disease and diabetes. In fact, for most medical conditions, standard Western drugs are far superior. When a patient chooses herbal treatment, she may be depriving herself of more effective therapy.

Meniere's disease, an inner ear disorder marked by vertigo, deafness and vertigo, is medically difficult to treat; there is no consistent cure. Therefore, under the circumstances, your choice of Ginkgo seems reasonable to me.

To provide additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Laid It Out: Herbs and Other Supplements," other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91468, Cleveland, OH 44101-3468. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Yesterday we looked at a hand in which a defender had a chance to make a play that would mislead declarer about the distribution of a suit. Sometimes it is vital to play a particular card.

In the diagram, cover the West and South cards. Against three to trump, your partner leads the spade jack, which is allowed to hold. Declarer wins the second round of spades with his king, plays a diamond to the dummy, and leads a club to his hand and West's king. Do you see why the spotlight will be shining on you in a moment?

Your partner continues the spade attack to the ace, queen and diamond eight. Now comes the club six from dummy. What do you play?

When it is put like that, everyone will place the 10 on the table — and why?

If your partner is going to win a second club trick, the contract must fail. The only danger is that partner started with the K-Q doubleton. Look at the full diagram. If you don't play the club 10, declarer will know that West began with either the singleton king or K-Q doubleton. In the former case, South cannot make his contract. So he will go up with the ace, claiming 11 tricks when your partner's queen does drop.

How, then, do you play the club 10? Trick six, declarer will play the ace of clubs. He will then lead the club queen and finish three hearts. There is only a two-trick difference based on the play of one card.

The basic principle is: Play the card you are known to hold. Here, that card is the club 10 from the first round of the suit.

HOROSCOPE

YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 14, 1992

Shifts in conditions could benefit you in the year ahead in very unique ways. You'll know how to successfully respond to what is initiated by your astrofactors.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20): You might need some help today regarding something you want to accomplish in the business realm. Your best results could come from soliciting assistance from individuals you know socially. Know when to ask for romance, and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker, your Matchmaker, says this new age per P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-0428.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Perform your best in all your involvements today, but don't do yourself and not for an audience. If you accomplish something significant, it will be duly noted by others.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Your hopes and expectations are soaring a little high at this time. Here is justification for your optimism: You are now in a cycle where remarkable results are possible.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You might be luckier than usual today when your career and your money are concerned. Take positive steps to do things that could produce positive results.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): You might face a challenging day, that is, unless you have handled successfully in the past. Repeat your procedures, and you could reap the outcome.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): You should avoid backstabbing and cut-throat at this time. Such behavior, as well as your base motives, could encourage others to suspect some cases.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Don't get too close today to any partners for success today than what you're doing. However, in your dreams, you'll be better off than in the marketplace.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23):

You're in a very favorable trend where your material interests are concerned. If you dedicate your efforts to generating income, success is likely.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): In situations where there is a need to assert authority, do so without hesitation. You'll instinctively know how to conduct yourself so that others will not take offense.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): You'll have a special knack today for managing matters for others that they are unable to deal with effectively. This gift might be utilized in two ways.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A critical decision might be required of you today that will affect others, as well as yourself. Fortunately, your judgment is excellent and all involved should benefit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Both buying and selling could prove to be profitable endeavors for you today. This is because you'll be just as far as you will be able to go.

Kids, critters and the world around them

Area youngsters learned about gators, frogs and horses at two separate functions this week. Left: The Flying Unicorn Ranch, Sanford, hosted 140 kids treating them to a hayride, petting zoo and a picnic. Left top: Ashton Grieco, Altamonte Springs, admires the horses. Bottom: Adam Hoffman, 5, Orlando, climbs a haystack with his buddies. Children ages 3 through 5 learned about animals at the Central Florida Zoological Park's weekly Storytime at the Zoo. This week's theme was "Fond of a Pond." In addition to stories, children sing songs about animals and are introduced to a live animal. Below: Sandi Tilwick, Education Department coordinator for the zoo, introduces the children to an alligator. Top right: Denise Owens, 3, Orange City, touches the reptile. Bottom right: Kids sing "Six Little Ducks" with Tilwick and zoo docent Bonnie Osborne. The zoo's next program is "Backyard Safari" to be held March 18 at 10 a.m.

Dream Castles

Deep inside each person, where no one can see, stands a dream castle. The nature of it varies according to one's character and personality. An artist may dream of creating a masterpiece-not yet painted-which will inspire many people. Another person may see a vision of how he or she can make life happier for others.

Everyone must believe in his or her dream in order to go forward with patience.

Jesus hoped that the world would hear His message through the uneducated fishermen He chose as His close companions. He did not give up His dream that the disciples would carry on His work...even when Peter denied any connection with Him.

His dream came true. Showing courage and faith, this small group of twelve grew through centuries into today's worldwide congregation of millions.

You will find inspiration and help for your dreams of spiritual accomplishment when you attend the church or synagogue of your choice.

Commission adopts resolution for jail chaplain appreciation week

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald Religion Editor

SANFORD — During the regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, members of the commission adopted a resolution proclaiming March 15-21 as "John E. Polk Correctional Facility Jail Chaplain Appreciation Week."

There is always a need for availability of a religious program in the John E. Polk Correctional Facility, according to the Commission. Such a program contributes greatly both to the tranquility of jail inmates and perhaps to their lives.

The resolution states that the Good News Jail and Prison Ministries and the churches of Seminole County have made possible the continued presence of a jail chaplaincy and its continuous commitment to assistance of jail inmates needing help.

The Good News Ministry, a national organization based in Washington, D.C., is comprised locally of two chaplains, Charles B. Pitroff and James F. Brown, and the Seminole County Presidents Council.

Members of the council include: James Westmoreland, chairman; Terri Gunter, vice chairman, and Jane Casselberry, secretary.

Also, Leonard Casselberry, Judge Joseph S. Davis, Jr., Sheriff Don Eslinger, Robert

In an annual report, for 1991, the ministry reported a total of 208 Sunday Worship Services with 6,929 total inmates in attendance. The organization also taught 898 Bible classes, serving 22,820 inmates, and graded 18,814 Bible lessons. During these services provided, 547 inmates made a first time decision for Christ and 317 recommitted their lives to Christ.

On March 21, at 6:45 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center, the Good News Jail and Prison Ministries will present its 9th Annual Banquet.

The dinner and fellowship will include special music by Glory Bound, acknowledgements, award presentations and video and special testimonies by inmates and chaplains. The commission urges the citizens of Seminole County who desire to do so, wherever possible, to participate in the support of this jail chaplaincy.

For more information or reservations, call chaplains Pitroff or Brown at 324-5221.

GARAGE SALE GUIDELINES

- 1. Advertise what people want! Children's clothing, dishes, collectibles, tools, books and antiques are the most popular items. 2. Make it convenient to shop at your garage sale by having a sign with adequate parking space. Post signs with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors. 3. Make it easy to pay! Have plenty of change and a system for handling. Make sure one person is on duty at all times at a centralized location, preferably with a calculator or adding machine. 4. Provide prices. Do not make every person ask. How much is that? Prices make for quick, effective sales or a good place for customers to start bargaining. 5. Get an early start. Set up displays the evening before, if possible. 6. Departmentalize. Separate the responsive items from the non-responsive ones. Group furniture, clothing, toys, lawn equipment and other items with similar merchandise. 7. Specialize. Establish one area for "Under $5", another for "Under $1". Consider having a batch of items that are "FREE with purchase of $3". Remember, the youngsters, too. Encourage this with small, low priced items that are appropriate for this purpose. 8. Time your sale carefully! Have it at a time when most people are at home and unconcerned with special events. 9. Combine your efforts! Incorporate your sale with a neighbor for more variety and greater impact. 10. Be specific! When advertising your sale in the newspaper, list and price items. Don't simply say, "several things available." Each time your list an item, you are broadening the list of potential customers. 11. Be generous! If you have items left over, give them to a charitable organization. If you see that some items are not moving well during the sale, mark them down during the last hours. Remember, the prime reason for holding the sale is to rid you of unwanted items into cash!
