...his soldiers from outposts in the western sections of the city. In answer to a Japanese disclosure that Chinese machine gun units near the British outpost along the Shanghai-Hangchow railway would be subjected to intense bombardment, Telfer-Smollett ordered British Union Jacks flown over all British dugouts and sandbag barriers.

Other war developments during the past 24 hours, included:

1. Lieut.-Gen. Iwane Matsu, supreme Japanese commander in Shanghai, redoubled his land, sea and air offensive against an estimated 250,000 Chinese soldiers still holding areas west, south and northeast of the International Settlement and the French concession. His men fought their way across Boochow Creek and began bridging the stream to get at the entrenched Chinese.

2. In Nanking a Chinese government spokesman denied reports in London that Japan has communicated to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, supreme Chinese war dictator, six conditions upon which Tokyo is willing to end the war. "There can be no thought of peace while Japanese invaders remain upon our soil," the spokesman said.

3. In Tokyo a report was circulated that Gen. Han Fu-Chu, governor of Shantung, one of the provinces of China which Japanese want to control, had been deposed by agents of the Central Chinese government because of his wavering attitude. Nanking long has feared that General Han, who has a personal army of 180,000 men, might declare his friendly neutrality and open Shantung to the Japanese.

4. In North China, Japan finished the task of launching her pro-Japanese Mongol republic, headed by Prince Teh, thus forming a wedge between Soviet-Russian territories and China proper. The Japanese said big battles were continuing in Shansi province, to the southwest of Peiping, but that it was only a matter of time until this entire province would be conquered.

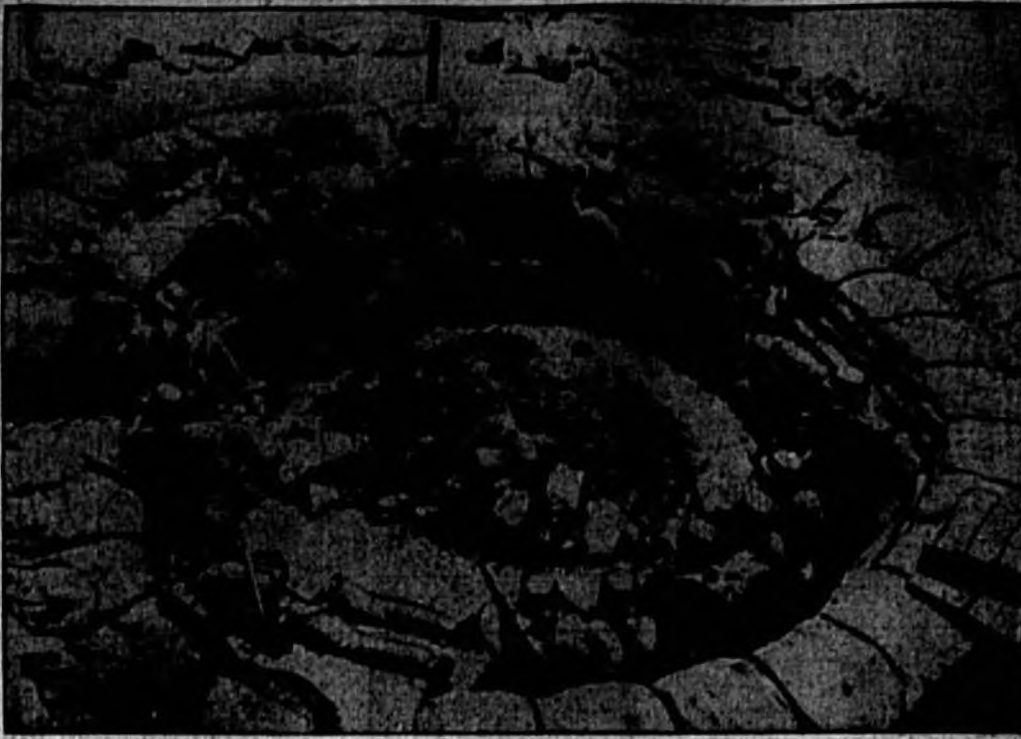

Japanese reinforcements from the north were reported to have reached Shanghai during the week-end and the great battle here increased in intensity.

Duress of stray shells fell in the Anglo-America area of the International Settlement and the French concession.

The British-owned Cathay and Palace hotels, the North China Daily News, and other buildings were hit, as were the big buildings of the American-controlled Young Men's Christian Association and the Chinese-owned China United Apartments, across Bubbling Well Road from the public recreation ground.

Oliver Goldsmith was locked in by his landlady when Dr. Johnson called on him, asked him if he didn't have a manuscript he could sell for him, and was handed "The Year of Wakafield," one of the most delightful books ever published.

CIRCULAR BARRICADE STEMS JAPANESE FORCES

This circular barricade, deep in Chapel, shows how the Chinese battled to keep the invading Japanese out of the native quarter of Shanghai. It was very near this scene that desperate Chinese troops of the "Lost Battalion" barricaded themselves in a warehouse, defying the armed might of Japan in the face of their comrades' retirement to new defense lines. The picture was taken with a telescopic lens from a high building, for no civilian could approach the area, under heavy fire for weeks.

...iciency with which the Florida gangster is said to work.

Some time after midnight Saturday the U. S. Post Office at Maitland was entered by removing a wood panel from the partition. The combination was knocked from the safe and the cash contents, estimated by Postmaster E. T. Owens, to be $175, were removed. Postage stamps and blank money orders also in the safe were unharmed.

A short time after this was reported to the Orange County Sheriff C. M. Hand was advised that a burglar had entered the Atlantic Coast Line depot in Longwood through removal of a screen and had knocked the combination from the safe but had not entered it.

Sheriff Hand reported that apparently the thief had been frightened and left the scene before he could open the safe. A close investigation revealed that only a suitcase which had been checked there was missing from the establishment.

Sometime last night a burglar, believed by officials to be the perpetrator of the other two robberies, entered the Post Office in Enterprise, knocked the combination from the safe but apparently left after rifling the contents and finding that there was no cash in the vault. The post master had previously removed the cash but there were stamps and blank money orders in the safe which were unharmed.

In all three instances gloved hands were used by the robber in smashing the combinations from the safes and apparently special precautions were made not to leave any other tell-tale evidence. The smashing of the combinations on the safes, in itself, points to the fact that the job is probably the work of a professional, law-enforcing officers pointed out, since it requires a thorough

It does not seem to have regarded Britain's action as a direct challenge to the "pacification" of Ethiopia. The flight of the Grand Mufti to Syria is regarded by Italian leaders as "a flight from the persecutions of British imperialism" and they expect to strengthen Mussolini's position in winning the confidence of the Moslem world—started when he made a tour of Libya last March.

Moslem leaders remaining in the Holy Land believed the Grand Mufti, who will be sent into exile like many of his subordinates if he falls into British hands, would prefer Libya to French-governed Lebanon where there is scant sympathy for Pan-Islamic movements.

He is said to be virtually incommunicado in Syria, unable to indulge in anti-British propaganda.

Rebel Warships Unite Off Spain For Big Blockade

Government Concentrates Troops To Break Madrid Siege

HENDAYE, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Spanish insurgent warships were reported gathering today for what was believed to be a mammoth blockade of the eastern Spanish coast from Almeria to the French frontier.

Three war vessels—believed to be the cruisers, Canarias, Baleares, and Velasco—were sighted last night about 18 miles off the Valencia coast of the Spanish Republic.

Insurgent military dispatches from Salamanca said the government was concentrating troops and equipment in the Madrid sector for a general offensive to break the year-old siege of the capital.

The dispatches said government troops had already started attacking insurgent advance posts and government soldiers who passed into the insurgent lines told of intensive preparations for the drive.

Tanks were said to have aided the respiratory government assaults on insurgent positions in the western University City suburb, the Casca de la Reina, some 20 miles to the south, and Aranjuez to the southeast.

Border reports said most sections of the Aragon front were quiet. It is in that region Generalissimo Francisco Franco hopes to end the civil war by driving a wedge into the government's eastern territory.

State Market Managers Hold Meeting Here

Plans Are Made For Inspection, Grading And Labeling Of Produce At Markets

A proposal to inspect, grade, and label all produce sold at the Florida State Markets was tentatively approved at a meeting of market managers and representatives here yesterday.

J. G. Michael, manager of the State Farmers Wholesale Market, was host to nearly two score visitors from over the entire State.

William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets, was chairman of the meeting and indicated that its chief purpose was to assure closer co-ordination in the operation of the State Market System during the coming year.

Mr. Wilson said he hopes to attain co-operation in the markets of the State's system rather than competition which would prove hazardous to their efficient operation.

After the meeting, Mr. Wilson stated that he believed it had been extremely successful in making the representatives of the various markets realize that the successful operation of any market was dependent upon the successful and efficient operation of the entire market system.

In discussing inspection, grading and labeling, Mr. Wilson asserted that he would put forth every effort to launch the program as an experiment during the coming year.

He was in Leesburg addressing a meeting of Kiwanians, Lions and Rotarians. During his talk he declared "I have received certain information from certain sources that convinces me the Cross State Canal Bill has a very favorable chance of passing at the next Congress."

Japs Renew Bombardment Of Industrial Footing Across River From Shanghai

Tension Grows Over Slayings

Japanese Expected To Reinforce Soldiers In Shanghai Drive

SHANGHAI, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Huge projectiles from Japanese warships in the Whangpoo River burst along Shanghai's waterfront tonight menacingly close to the United States cruiser Augusta. The Augusta was lying close to the cruiser Izumo as the Japanese flagship cleared her docks and battered portholes as a precaution for the safety of her crew. The bombardment was aimed at Chinese batteries in the industrial footing across the Whangpoo River from the International Settlement. It was in answer to Chinese artillery shelling of Japanese forces in the Yangtsepo and Hongkang sectors of the Shanghai front.

Tension between the Japanese and British army units continued, the result of the killing of five British soldiers and wounding of five more during the last 10 days. But British officers expressed relief repeated protests to the Japanese were being heeded since the Japanese seemed to be taking care to avoid hitting British lines adjacent to the new western battlefield.

However, the funeral Monday of four British officers was marked by the absence of Japanese officials.

OUR REPROACH

We heedless slaughter little lambs at play, And do not hear the dumb creation groan; We trample flowers on our head-long way, And do not hear the sad earth's undertone.

We make all nature serve us, and we cage Wild frightened things, and bend them to our will; We do not vote for freedom for these slaves Because we love the Circus, and the thrill.

Of watching animals, condemned for life To pace their narrow cages to and fro; No crime have these committed, why do we Get pleasure from such tragedy and woe?

For we demand full freedom for ourselves; We revel in green woods, the sun, the stars, How is it we do nothing to set free These wistful prisoners behind their bars?

Among those who are being mentioned as a possible successor to Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940 is Albin Barkley, senator from Kentucky, and majority leader in the Senate. Senator Pepper says that he expects Senator Barkley will receive the White House blessing in 1940.

Business is apparently picking up in some parts of the state. The Umatilla Tribune, which has been printed in Mount Dora, is now installing its own plant where it expects to do a lively job business as well as print its own paper. Congratulations to Sam Popcorn, its enterprising editor and manager.

Another reason for the current slump in business is explained by the United States News as the tremendous increase in Federal taxation during the past year. This increased taxation has particularly brought an end to the "pump priming" policy of the government. Although it is spending as much money as at any time in recent years, the difference between income and outlay, which runs from $2,000,000,000 in 1935 to $4,000,000,000 in 1937, has dropped to $1,000,000,000 this year.

Trade At Home

There is an old saying that the other cow's grass looks the greenest, and no doubt that explains why so many people go to other towns to do their shopping or buy through mail order catalogs. There is something about a picture of the cheapest sort of thing in a mail order catalog which makes it look most attractive. But who wants to be a cow?

For the most part Sanford merchants are progressive and keep on their shelves a wide assortment of modern and up-to-date merchandise. Prices are generally in line with those of other cities, and the quality is usually as good or better for the price. There is no reason for Sanford people to shop out of town and there are plenty of reasons why they should shop at home.

When a person trades at home, he is not merely helping to enrich the merchant at whose store he trades. He is helping to give some clerk a job, helping to reduce unemployment, helping to lower the requirements for charity and relief. He is helping the merchant pay his taxes and the City to maintain adequate police and fire protection and to contribute to the support of athletic fields, parks, and playgrounds.

When a person trades at home, he is helping a business which in turn may help his own business. No matter what line of business or professional activity a person may be engaged in, he is bound to benefit, if not directly, at least indirectly, from the prosperity of any one business in the community. Every business helps every other business and the prosperity of the community moves backward or forward exactly like the prosperity of individuals.

Even the farmers benefit from trade at home policies. Some of them may think that because they usually sell their produce in northern markets and derive their income from out-of-town sources they are equally justified in spending their money out of town. Of course they have the right if they want to, but they are not helping their town when they do it. And they enjoy as much as anyone the facilities of the bank, the power company, the telephone company, the theater, and other local institutions which depend upon the prosperity of the community for their existence.

During the Fall months and the coming Christmas holiday season, there will be considerable buying on the part of Sanford residents. Throw away the mail order catalog. Trade at home. Boost your city.

Variety In Florida

Some interesting sidelines on Florida's varied industrial, agricultural, and social activities are revealed in a recent dispatch from the State Chamber of Commerce which says that the old saying "Variety is the spice of life" is the final answer to the question why so many people prefer to live in the Sunshine State.

For instance, it was said: Coala has, of all things expected to be found in Florida, a ski manufacturer!

An Irish potatoe canning plant, one of two in the United States, is located at Palmtka.

A man in Euflis has an eight-pound black bass that takes breakfast from his hand every morning at 9 o'clock. A sister and brother in Jacksonville, after exhaustive tests over a period of a year, have discovered a man's whiskers grow almost twice as fast in a Florida summer as in the winter.

A resident of Lakeland has been wearing pajamas each summer for the past five years. He has pockets installed in them; outside of that, they are regular "p. j.'s."

A gentleman in New Smyrna has one of the only two known gold one-cent pieces issued during the War between the States by the Confederate government.

Near Starke are found wild gooseberries that never ripen.

Key West has a Royal Palm that branches out into two trunks.

A fish market in Cocoa has a regular winter visitor in Joe, the Pelican. He flies to the market, lands on the door step and walks in to collect fish heads that are saved for him.

RADIO HAS FAULTS

In the hectic on-and-off days of the Florida canal, when Ocaldas were daily expecting to hear favorable news out of Washington about another allocation or, possibly, passage of a canal bill by congress, listeners in on the radio frequently thought they had heard something that they hadn't.

Frequently, in the not too distant past, Star reporters have answered the telephone to hear something like this: "Is it true that President Roosevelt has just made another allocation for the canal? I heard it over the radio."

The answer was always, "No, you didn't hear that over the radio; the figures you heard mentioned were those used in an Associated Press dispatch giving the amount of money that has already been expended on the canal."

We are again reminded that radio is not a perfect communication agency for the dissemination of news by something that has just occurred in St. Petersburg says the Times of that city. "It is true England has declared war on Japan." "What did England declare war on Japan?" "There was a hundred other questions last Times telephone operators busy Monday afternoon. The

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE MARKET?

By CLAUDE A. JACGER

AP Financial Editor NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(AP)—When as much as $15,000,000,000 is cut from the total quoted value of stocks and bonds traded in Wall Street, there must be a plain reason for it—at least that seems simple common sense to the layman.

But the typical Wall Street expert, when the question of "why?" is blurted out to him, is likely to stammer, guff, then launch into a long-winded dissertation on economic, international affairs, taxes and government regulation.

Those who have the remotest answers are inclined to lay it all, or most of it, on the doorstep of Washington, which to some Wall Streeters seems fit enough, inasmuch as Washington, for the most part, laid the 1929-32 slump at Wall Street's door.

The favorite theme in Wall Street has been that regulations of the SEC, restricting the trading activities of the ordinary professional market operators, as well as putting strings on executives of corporations, has made the market "thin," meaning that the volume of steady day-to-day trading has been curtailed; so that a selling order, which in the old days might have depressed a stock maybe a point, would depress it three or four points.

As against this, defenders of the SEC point out that the market had quite a slump in 1929, without any SEC, and go on to say that regardless of "thin" markets, once stocks are cheap enough to attract wealthy investors as bargains, investors no doubt will hurry to buy them.

Business analysts say that the slump in the market can scarcely be said to have come out of a clear sky. Production in several lines such as steel, textiles, shoes, and activity in building, had been slipping, and finally went below where it was a year previously. This, they say, at least could be interpreted as showing a pause in the recovery trend.

But why such an abrupt and drastic slump, in the space of a couple of months? The talk of a pause in business seemed because men and manufacturers hurry to lay in inventories of goods and materials when prices are rising, and stand back and wait for prices to hit bottom once they start to decline. So buyers held off during the summer.

The steel mills began to finish up a big accumulation of orders as summer drew to a close, and their production schedules slackened slightly. Cotton mills had similar experience as the price of the raw staple fell from around 15 cents a pound early in the year to close to 8 cents this fall.

Business began to hesitate at a time when the war situation emanated from the Mediterranean and the Far East and caused a good deal of uneasiness. Observers also point out a new season of Congress loomed, involving the possibility of wage and hour legislation and new taxes, injecting new problems for business.

Talk by the President and others of balancing the budget—something conservative Wall Street has been insisting on for a long time—did not inspire confidence. Many could only see a higher rate in expenditures or higher taxes, or both, tending to reduce purchasing power.

Conservative Wall Street still wants the budget balanced, saying it is essential to sound national economy, but there is some worry as to how it will be done. Out of it all, Wall Street developed a bad case of nerves. How long it will take business to resume its recovery, whether the market decline has been excessive, and whether sinister influences have been at work, all are questions to be answered in the future.

Strong dreams of hope are seen in the fact that the bumper crops and active business over most of the year have brought estimates of the highest general public purchasing power in years, which may provide a good springboard for the next recovery move.

Boom prices began to slip here and there. As summer rime around bumper crops were indicated, selling prices of many farm staples lower, and before long the commodity price trend was sharply downward. Now it is well known that

Hollywood Talks

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2.—Ben Blue is winner of a $10,000 gamble—and that's why he's in pictures today.

After a score of years on the stage, wistful-eyed Ben came to Hollywood. He found a studio more interested in one of his dance routines than him. His asking price for the routine was $10,000. He could have had it, too—not then but later when the picture people decided the price wasn't too steep after all. But Ben had thought it over, too.

"Tell you what," he said. "I'll give you the dance—if you'll give me a part in your picture." The dance—the minstrel Ben Blue did with Gracie Allen and George Burns in "College Holiday"—wowed the previewers, and Ben became famous in Hollywood. Blue started in show business as a straight dancer. He came to be a comic by accident. Eighteen years ago he was doing a difficult Russian dance at a Los Angeles theater, and at the end of his fourth performance in one day he was exhausted. He staggered off stage, the audience howled.

"Maybe I'm funny he thought. The next day he began burlesque his Russian dance. But being funny in pictures—that's something else, says Ben. "How can a thing be funny when it's done so many times to make one scene? If you think it fun to take the same fall 18 or 20 times for as many rehearsals and takes, try it some time!"

In "Thrill of a Lifetime," on location at Malibu Lake, Blue was playing the skipper of a pleasure boat, and in one scene he put in a bit of impromptu business. He pushed the boat away from the pier, using a long pole and leaning against it from the boat so that he was stuck in mid-air over the water.

"Always good for a laugh, that one," says Ben. "But George Archainbaud, the director, suggested it would be even funnier if I sort of fell into the water." Blue asked how deep the water was. They said 18 feet. Ben said he knew his clothes would shrink, said his make-up would be ruined, pleaded mad as a bull—and after 20 minutes had talked the director out of that one.

"Then someone kicked the pole, I fell in and was almost drowned," he relates. "I hated to admit it, but I can't swim a stroke. Now on the stage—"

Mr. Ishiyama will give the inside history of the lives of the oriental rug weaver and explain the weave, design and pattern."
All club members are urged to attend and the public is cordially invited. There will be no admission.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2.—If Charlie Chaplin should omit his baggy trousers from his future film plans—there's been some talk but nothing definite he'll have precedent in personally changing.

But not much, and in a practical sense he'd be doing something never done before. No one so far advanced in a career, with a screen character so well established as Chaplin's wistful vagabond has ever deliberately checked that character overboard.
Years ago, Harold Lloyd made such a change. He didn't always wear those spectacles, but the Lloyd character was still in his formative stages when Harold said goodbye to his own Lake, forswore that gentleman's Chaplinesque accoutrements, including mustache, and launched his beautiful, naive, but wholesome, spectacled youth.

You might count Mary Pickford's shooting of her role as a break from character. It was eight years ago that Mary suddenly "grew up" in films. After specializing in little girl roles—the same that Shirley Temple's doing now—well into her thirties, Douglas Fairbanks gave up swashbuckling for a modern film of two talking—but never as successfully. This may have been due to the "optical" wanting of a top "grow" more than to the public's refusal to accept the change.

Adolphe Menjou has stepped out of the niche of masculine character performance, including comedy.
William Powell did a startling change of character, too, but the change accompanied his rise to stardom. Once he played villainous rascals in silent films. Then he switched to had men with golden hearts, paving the way for his accession to a "born" throne.
Myrna Loy is a striking example of character change. She was the siren type, remember, the oriental beauty who lurked in the shadows always ready to snare the hero. She changed to American beauties, then was discovered in a smart comedy in which she reached stardom.

Taking stage stars and re-vamping them for movie purposes is common. Look at comedienne Gladys George, who now swims in cabaret tears. Look at dramatic Stella Adler, engaged in screen slapstick. And dramatic Mary Boland, who is a movie comic.

But when Chaplin loses those baggy pants and big shoes, I'll look for Garbo to start throwing pies and I don't expect either catastrophe to occur.

State Market Managers Hold Meeting Here

Continued From Page One... Strict inspection and grading with a state label to insure the quality of the product will help establish and maintain a higher and more stabilized price for farm products and assure the producer the greatest possible net returns, the Market Director asserted.

A more complete utilization of the facilities of the markets for the producers of various commodities over the state was urged. It was pointed out that many farm industries operated in a haphazard manner over the state, could be systematized through co-operation with the State Market system.

Mr. Wilson stated that the State Market system is in its infancy and that through the co-operation of the farmers with the market system great progress could be assured during the next few years.

Charles Korley, agriculture counsel for the Florida State Chain Store Association, stated that Florida raised 16 percent of the entire amount of produce marketed in the United States, and pointed out that a systematic marketing system is essential for the efficient marketing of this enormous amount of produce.

Julia Mae Sampley, assistant to Mr. Wilson, pointed out the value of marketing surplus made from Florida's natural products. She displayed many articles made of shells, pine straw, palmetto, coconuts, and numerous other things found in Florida. She believes that there will be a ready market for these products for those who can make them.

Thousands of Chinese students lined the cemetery walls during the burial service and later paraded Shinghai streets with banners, "Long live our British friends!"

The Japanese command's heavy expenditure of men to force the passage of Soochow creek was believed by military men to support reports that reinforcements are being rushed from Japan to the Shanghai battle area.

An American observer behind the Chinese lines reported several American and British homes had been hit in the heavy Japanese bombardments of the Hungjiao area. These homes were evacuated last week.

In north China the Japanese reported minor gains in the drive on Taiyuanfu, capital of Shensi, and renewed activity in north Honan province, where a Chinese assault was thrown back and 400 Chinese killed. The Japanese said they were ready to take Changchun, north Honan city, at any time.

At the edge of the new Chinese-Japanese battlefield west of the settlement big Union Jacks fluttered above a line of British outposts. When Japanese commanders warned that they must bombard Chinese positions close to the British lines and urged the British to withdraw, the British commander, Maj.-Gen. A. P. D. Telfer-Smollett, declined and ordered the flags raised.

Maryland stopped Florida's powerful drive in the fourth quarter to win 13 to 7.

State Road Department To Be Asked To Begin Repairs

WPA projects will be submitted in the near future for the improvement of four roads in Seminole County, it was decided at the meeting of the Seminole County Commissioners in the Court House yesterday.

Many requests for road improvements are said to have been made to the Commissioners who plan to include reconstruction of several in a Farm-to-Market road improvement project. The project to be submitted for the approval of Washington WPA officials will probably include the widening and improving of the Paola, Dodd, Tusawilla and Sanlando roads.

E. F. Housholder, county attorney, was also instructed to go to Tallahassee to contact officials of the State Road Department in an effort to get the Department to make repairs to Celery Avenue, a part of the State Highway system. In a three to two vote the Commissioners approved a resolution recommending W. S. Earle as director of WPA projects in Seminole County. Mr. Earle served in this capacity for some time for the State Road Department.

Duke And Duchess Michael Reports Plan 37-Day Tour By 1-Night Stands

Bedaux Confers With State Department On Details Of Trip

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Plans for a 37-day tour of the United States by the Duke and Duchess of Windsor took form today when Charles E. Bedaux, the wealthy emissary of Edward, conferred with State Department officials.

Although there was no official comment on the arrangements, it was reported authoritatively that England's abdicated king and his American bride would make their coast-to-coast tour in a series of "one-night stands." Preliminary plans, it was revealed, now call for a stay of only 37 days which would take the Windsors out of this country, possibly to a Caribbean port for the Christmas holidays.

They will arrive in New York on Nov. 11. These plans are subject to revision, however, as the Duke and Duchess may overrule them. The royal couple probably will travel by a special train. It was indicated a part of the tour would be in the "deep South."

Old Tammany Is Routed In New York Vote

LaGuardia Is Elected By Half A Million Votes; CIO Leads In Detroit's Poll

By The Associated Press
Mouthing returns emphatically today the defeat absorbed by Tammany Hall and Committee for Industrial Organization in two of yesterday's principal elections.

Old Tammany took its second successive beating when New York voters re-elected Mayor Fiorello La Guardia by a record-breaking total and selected the racket-smashing Thomas E. Dewey for district attorney of New York county.

The CIO in its first major bid for direct political power lost the Detroit mayoralty to Richard W. Reading, an unaffiliated candidate with American Federation of Labor support.

Because of the dominance of local issues party leaders fought few clues to national political trends in the scattered off-year elections.

Late returns showed today that Senator A. Harry Moore of New Jersey had won back for the Democrats the governor's seat of which he had held twice, leaving the Republicans with only six governors out of 48.

Bruce Barton, advertising executive and author was elected to the House from New York's "silk stocking" district, replacing a Democrat and increasing the Republican strength in that branch of Congress by one.

Former Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts lost his political comeback race for Mayor of Boston to Maurice J. Tobin, 44, in a non-partisan five-year city packing-house on the market grounds.

H. E. Toole, Jr., manager of the packing house, opened for the season yesterday when he received several hundred boxes of fruit. The packing-house is equipped with the latest model facilities which assure efficient operation of the establishment and Manager Michael believes that the packing-house will increase its production.

Kiwanians Hear Hudson Tell Of China-Japan War

Expert Says China Hopes For United States To End War

Stating that China is basing its hopes for ending the conflict with Japan in the Far East on the United States and the prospects of a boycott against Japan in order to prevent imports and force the Japanese to end the struggle, Dr. W. H. Hudson, a Presbyterian Missionary in China for 44 years, addressed the Kiwanis Club at its regular weekly luncheon today in the Valdez Hotel.

Dr. Hudson began his address by telling of his own experiences in the Far East. He said that during most of his service in China, he lived 60 miles west of Shanghai. Declaring that the reason for the invasion of China was the fact that Japan is a small country having a population of 70,000,000 people which is growing at the rate of a million each year, he said that Japan at the present time does not have the productive power in either agriculture or manufacture, to supply the great demand for essential commodities. In all its attempts to get a stronghold in Asia, he said that has been the main reason for doing so.

Japan has sent men to the United States to study manufacturing methods, he said, and today Japan buys American cotton, takes it to Japan and makes into cloth and brings it back to the U. S., to sell it cheaper here than can American manufacturers.

Dr. Hudson went on to say that the main purpose of Japan today is to get a strong foothold in China before foreign powers can decide upon any definite action. He said that China does not want to fight any other country and will not attempt to attack Japan by air and bomb its cities for the Chinese want foreign powers to defend their own country and that is all.

General Chiang Kai Shek, who induced all provisional armies to unite to defend China, is basing his hopes for victory on the fact that China is fighting in the conflict with a superiority of man power as there are 10,000,000 men.

Chicago Man Runs Amuck, Kills Two

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A twenty-four-year-old man told the police today he shot and killed two members of his family and critically wounded a third because, "I figured if I killed somebody else I'd have guts enough to kill myself." The victims of the six bullets from Samuel Economic's mail order pistol were a brother and two sisters, Alexander, 14, and Nancy, 17, who were killed and Mary, 17, who was wounded.

Policeman Walter Tracy said Economic, a son of a confectioner, told him he intended to kill the other two brothers, James, 18, and George, 25, to make "the biggest funeral ever held here." He said he drank about 15 ounces of gin before shooting the first victim.

Wilcox Condemns Federal Bill On Wages And Hours

Placing Workers Under Bureau Called Blow To Democracy

ORLANDO, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Asserting that the proposed Federal wages and hours bill is a "most serious threat to representative government" and would eventually place all the nation's workers under control of a five-man board, Congressman J. Mark Wilcox of the Fourth Florida District yesterday denounced the bill in an address before the Orlander Chamber of Commerce.

The Representative, who formerly represented this city before creation of the fifth district, spoke to a sympathetic audience which applauded when he concluded. Once during the speech he was interrupted by applause as he declared such legislation "just won't work in the South."

"If this bill is such a good piece of legislation as its proponent claims, it should be passed," he said.

Agriculture Group Predicts Higher Farm Costs Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Labor, equipment and supplies will cost the farmer slightly more next year, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted last night.

These anticipated increases are coupled, to the farmer's disadvantage, with the Bureau's prediction yesterday that cash farm income will probably be slightly less in 1938 than this year because of general business recession. The Bureau expects higher prices generally for manufactured and processed products despite the slump.

The Bureau saw, however, in its annual report on the outlook for farm labor, equipment and fertilizer, an advantage for the farmer in expected lower feed and seed prices next Spring because of the good 1937 growing season.

"Along with higher wage rates," the Department of Agriculture's economics branch said, "farmers apparently will have to pay somewhat higher prices for farm machinery, automobiles, building materials, equipment and supplies. Fertilizer prices also will be a little higher, but advances x x x are not expected to be as large as for other groups."

The expected increase in farm wages will continue the trend which lifted the average farm hand's monthly wage of $14.77 a month, plus board, in January, 1933 to $25.51 last month. In pre-depression years, monthly pay for farm laborers ran about $35.

9-Power Meet Urges End To Sino-Jap Row

Mussolini's Delegate Says Meeting Must Not Mention Sanctions Or Quarantine

Norman H. Davis Sounds Keynote

Proposal Is Made For Direct Negotiations Between China, Japs

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A concerted appeal for direct negotiations between China and Japan to end their sanguinary conflict marked the opening session of the Brussels conference today with Italy asserting there can be no question of sanctions.

Delegates from United States, Great Britain, and France joined in an appeal for the Chinese and Japanese to settle their undecided war "by peaceful processes."

Count Luigi Aldrovandi-Marescotti, Premier Mussolini's representative, went further. He said the conference could not speak of a "quarantine" of one or the other of the fighting nations. This as seen as a reference to President Roosevelt's Chicago speech.

"It is clear," said Aldrovandi Marescotti, "that there can be no question of direct or indirect coercive measures along the lines of those which have been demanded by certain irresponsible elements or even speaking of a quarantine, more or less moral, toward the Japanese sign of the parties in this conflict."

Norman H. Davis, the United States delegate sounded the keynote of the conference in proposing direct negotiations between Japan and China.

A new obstacle to settlement of the Far Eastern situation arose when China declared she would consider no peace terms which did not provide for Japanese evacuation of Chinese territory.

There was serious doubt among the delegates that Japan could be induced to give up her position in North China and Inner Mongolia.

Truck Drivers Are Warned In Parking On First Street

Drivers of trucks over 15 feet in length who park on First Street will not receive friendly treatment from the members of the Sanford police force, in the future, Chief of Police Roy G. Williams advised a Herald reporter this morning.

Chief Williams pointed out that the long trucks and even semi-trailers which have been being parked on Sanford's busiest thoroughfare were one of the City's greatest traffic hazards, especially during the winter season when traffic is increased.

At the present time there are a number of signs placed at regular intervals along the street and those who disregard these signs will be treated on no easy terms, Chief Williams said, adding that there was ample alley space for the trucks while loading or unloading and that if street parking space was desired drivers must utilize parking space in side streets where parallel parking is permitted.

So that newcomers to Sanford will be sure to know of this regulation, Chief Williams indicated that many new signs will be erected soon, at conspicuous places.
