Cancer claims Billy Carter

PLAINS, Ga. — Billy Carter, the beer-drinking brother of former President Jimmy Carter who died at 51 from cancer of the pancreas, was remembered in his brother's book as "something of a country philosopher ... an entertaining redneck country bumpkin."

Billy Carter died in his sleep at 7 a.m. Sunday at home after asking last week to be released from an Atlanta hospital so he could be with his family. Graveside services were scheduled for 4 p.m. today at Lebanon Cemetery in Plains.

"He was very courageous in his last year of life," Jimmy Carter said Sunday. "He died with his family at his bedside."

Quakes rock Asia, Japan

NEW DELHI, India — Authorities in Moscow and New Delhi reported today a powerful earthquake rocked the Hindu Kush mountains and Soviet south central Asia, and a separate tremor shook Tokyo. There were no immediate reports of casualties from either quake.

A seismological station in the Indian capital of New Delhi said a powerful earthquake rocked the Pakistani-Afghan border in the Hindu Kush mountains at 3 a.m., rattling doors and windows in nearby northern India.

The Seismological Observatory said the quake, whose epicenter was recorded 500 miles northwest of New Delhi, measured 7.0 on the Richter scale but caused no damage or casualties.

Lewis, Kingdom take gold

SEOUL, South Korea — Four years older and still improving, Americans Carl Lewis and Roger Kingdom repeated Olympic gold-medal performances today on another profitable day for the United States in track and field.

Eleven other 1984 track and field gold medalists from Los Angeles had failed in bids to duplicate before first Kingdom and then Lewis completed successful defenses.

Two days following his disappointing 100-meter loss to Ben Johnson, Lewis easily retained the long jump title with a leap of 28 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Countdown begins

Discovery launch to end 32-month NASA hiatus

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — At long last, the shuttle Discovery's countdown to launch began today, setting the stage for blastoff Thursday on the first American manned space flight since Challenger took off on its final voyage 32 months ago this week.

"We're looking forward to doing this job, doing it right and launching on time," said NASA test director Frank Merlino.

Running eight hours behind schedule because of minor problems, Terry Willingham, another test director, issued the traditional "call to stations" at the Kennedy Space Center shortly before the countdown began at 8 a.m., formally kicking off a carefully orchestrated 74-hour procedure timed to end with blastoff at 9:59 a.m. Thursday.

"The launch countdown is now in progress; the launch countdown is now in progress," Willingham told launch crews in the NASA firing room.

Merlino said the next major milestone in the countdown involved loading liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen aboard Discovery Tuesday to power the ship's electricity-producing fuel cells.

Discovery's crew was scheduled to fly to the Florida shuttleport late today to begin final preparations.

But first, shuttle skipper Frederick Hauck, 47, copilot Richard Covey, 42, John "Mike" Lounge, 42, David Hilmer, 38, and George "Pinky" Nelson, 38, planned to get in a final practice session today aboard NASA's shuttle simulator at the Johnson Space Center to review launch procedures.

The astronauts plan to spend four days in orbit to conduct a Astronaut George "Pinky" Nelson, an athletic spacewalker with a Ph.D. in astronomy and two shuttle flights under his belt, views Thursday's launch aboard Discovery as the chance of a lifetime.

"The significance of it, I think, is bearing on the whole crew," he said of his four crew mates. "There's no doubt that the fate of manned space flight in NASA rests on this being a highly successful mission. So that's a big responsibility for us. We've taken it very seriously."

"Certainly we've worked with everyone in the agency and all the contractors and we've been very careful to make sure

Discovery primarily is to conduct a series of experiments mounted in the shuttle's crew cabin.

But if problems crop up during the deployment of the $100 million satellite that represents Discovery's primary payload, Nelson and astronaut John "Mike" Lounge will be ready to carry out a spacewalk if necessary, to fix the trouble.

In any case, Nelson said Discovery's launch "signals that America's back, often back in the manned space business, back ready to challenge the rest of the world for leadership."

"It's a challenge I personally accept and I think the agency does too," he said. "I hope the rest of the nation gives us the support we need to succeed."

Three killed in crash

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

OSTEEN — Three Seminole County residents were killed in a two-car head-on accident Saturday evening.

Two Casselberry residents died at the scene and a Sanford man was dead on arrival at Halifax Hospital in Daytona Beach. No one else was involved in the accident.

The accident occurred shortly after 6 p.m. Saturday as Donald Richard Kline, 49, 1513 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, drove his 1963 automobile south on State Road 415 about a half-mile south of Osteen, a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said.

The spokesman said Kline — for an unknown reason — swerved into the path of a 1981 Ford pickup truck driven by David Care Riemenschussel, 53, 431 Hibiscus St., Casselberry. Sylvia M. Riemenschussel, 48, of the same address was an occupant of the truck, although authorities could not confirm if she was David Riemenschussel's wife.

Riemenschussel, northbound on SR 415, tried to avoid Kline by swerving to the left, but was unable to prevent the head-on collision, the spokesman said.

The Riemenschussels were dead at the scene and Kline was dead on arrival at Halifax Hospital. No charges were filed in the accident.

Debate lively, but no clear winner

UPI Analysis

WASHINGTON — The much-heralded first debate between Michael Dukakis and George Bush perhaps was more lively than expected, but with an absence of big gaffes or knockout blows, its result probably will be to keep the status quo.

In short, the 90 minutes of verbal exchanges Sunday night — some more bitter than anticipated — will not end up deciding the White House election, and the Democratic Massachusetts governor and Republican vice president each managed to score enough points to claim victory.

Dukakis, having blown a large lead in recent weeks and now apparently behind Bush slightly in the polls, needed to take the offensive and did so quickly, jabbing specific points of the Reagan-Bush record and heating up his rhetoric especially toward the end of the debate.

Bush tried to maintain a broader view and saved most of his best shots for his continuing effort to portray Dukakis as a strident liberal out of step with most American voters.

On the plus side for Dukakis, he strung together a series of answers that largely were effective and to the point. At times, though, he appeared harsh in attacking Bush and then ducked through a few vague answers of his own.

Bush, meanwhile, generally held to a strategy of appearing presidential and stable, but he seemed off-guard at times and, while he delivered a few tough lines, was not as specific as Dukakis.

Thus, despite all the expert analyses that flowed immediately afterward, the winner of Sunday's showdown may be decided not by any single remark, question or answer but by intangibles — the mood or feelings left with the voters.

Looking at the candidates behind their lecterns, the most critical question facing voters did not deal with defense or abortion or patriotism. It boiled down to which man Americans can picture standing behind the presidential seal.

Little was probably done to answer that question Sunday night.

Dukakis, by virtue of the fact that he still is less known, likely picked up a few points by explaining himself more fully to the American people.

But even that boost, if it materializes, would not be enough to make a major change in the race. While it may demonstrate he has stopped the tailspin his campaign has endured, it should not be enough to restore his once large lead.

Ironically, of all the points touched upon Sunday night, the most important may be a matter that will not be decided by either nominee's rhetoric: Bush's unexpected selection of Sen. Dan Quayle of Indiana as his running mate.

Dukakis, armed with polling data that shows many Americans are squeamish over the choice of the 41-year-old junior senator, tried to capitalize on that fact by injecting the vice presidential choice into the debate.

'Some girls bowl, I race gators'

LANTANA — Racing baby caimans, a close relative of the alligator, is the latest craze among lounge lizards at a local haunt which features alligator scampi on its menu.

And, contrary to popular opinion, the slow ones don't end up in the stew, says John Loomis, owner of Fish Tales Raw Bar, where barriles go calman racing every Tuesday night.

"It's like my bowling night," says Sandy Bannon of West Palm Beach, a regular racer who rarely wins. "Some girls bowl, I race gators."

On race night, a wooden track with color-coded chutes of orange, white, black and yellow is slapped down on tables in the middle of Fish Tales. Restaurant manager Joe Fumalho then emerges from a back office with a white plastic bucket.

Inside are the racers, a half-dozen year-old South American caimans squirming inside murky green water. None of them are more than 12 inches long.

People prod the gators on the tail with a straw to urge the reptiles down the 20-foot chute. Poking them anywhere else will earn the violator a quick exit from the establishment.

Pick the winning gator for two races and you get a free drink. Pick three straight winners and you get a $25 bar and food tab.

Host guns down party crashers

ST. PETERSBURG — The host of a weekend party was charged with second-degree murder in a shooting incident that left one "party crasher" dead and two others hospitalized.

John Lewallen Corn, 25, was charged with second-degree murder and released on $5,000 bail, the Tampa Tribune reported Sunday. Corn, a real estate agent who lives alone in the large ranch-style home owned by his family, refused comment on the advice of his attorney.

The trouble began about 10 p.m. Friday night, when Corn turned away a group of unwanted people who showed up at a birthday party he was giving.

About 20 to 25 people were at the party, police said. When about 15 crashers returned about an hour later, the guests came out of the house and a large fight erupted in Corn's front yard.

After several people started breaking windows in the home, Corn pulled the gun and began shooting, according to police reports.

Abortion "snitch law" to be challenged

TALLAHASSEE — Critics say they will sue to block a law that would require parental or judicial consent before a teenage girl could get an abortion, and a judicial hang-up has already put the law in legal limbo.

The law, tagged the "Dr. Snitch" bill by opponents, goes into effect Oct. 1. But the Supreme Court has not yet fulfilled a legislative mandate to write rules governing the operation of the law.

Under the law, a pregnant girl under 18 could obtain permission from a judge to have an abortion if she had a legitimate reason not to go to her parents, such as incest or child abuse.

But the Supreme Court has not yet spelled out which judges would make those decisions, or what guidelines the judges should use, the Panama City News-Herald reported Sunday.

Jacksonville lawyer Bill Sheppard is expected to file suit against the law in federal court next week, on behalf of a Jacksonville abortion clinic. Sheppard is expected to challenge both the lack of rules and the constitutionality of requiring parental consent.

Critics charge that if the law does take effect it will cost the state millions and cause misery for untold numbers of young women.

Volunteers clean up beaches

Syringes, Russian bug spray, piles of plastic and an ocean of Styrofoam were among the tons of trash thousands of volunteers removed from Florida beaches in a statewide cleanup Saturday.

Volunteers scoured beaches in 27 counties, from the Panhandle to the Keys, struggling to remove the top layer of trash from the state's 2,300-mile shoreline.

Their efforts were coordinated by the Washington-based Center for Environmental Education, which hoped to learn exactly what kinds of trash are washing ashore on the nation's waterfront.

"We're not just concerned with what it looks like when you go to the beach, we're concerned with the wildlife that gets entangled in the garbage and ingests it," said Edward Profit, director of the center's Naples office.

Saturday's haul also included some exotic trash, including a can of Soviet bug spray and an Italian pasta box found in Brevard County. Those items apparently were discarded by foreign ships out at sea and drifted into Florida.

New weather guidelines for launches

By VINCENT DEL GIUDICE
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA will find it roughly twice as difficult to launch the shuttle Discovery on Thursday under strict meteorological guidelines adopted after the weather-related losses of the Challenger and an unmanned rocket.

"The launch director may hold (the countdown) at any time based on the instability of the weather," an Air Force briefing paper said Sunday.

Record low temperatures on the morning of Jan. 28, 1986, were blamed for the failure of a solid rocket booster O-ring and the subsequent explosion of the Challenger's external fuel tank.

Then, on March 26, 1987, an unmanned Atlas-Centaur rocket launched during a thunderstorm was destroyed by lightning.

In the wake of both space failures, NASA and the Air Force revised the weather rules included in the shuttle "launch commit criteria" to minimize the chances for another weather-related disaster.

In past missions, a shuttle could be launched in temperatures as low as 31 degrees but the limit in the new guidelines is 41 degrees averaged over 24 hours going up to 47 degrees depending on wind conditions. Low temperature affects the ability of sensitive rubber O-ring seals in the 14-story solid-fuel booster rockets to contain internal pressure and prevent a catastrophic "burn through" like the one that destroyed Challenger.

The tough new guidelines, described by NASA as "broadly conservative," also stop the countdown if:
—Rain is anywhere in the shuttle's flight path.
—Surface winds exceed about 28 mph.
—A thunderstorm is within 11.5 miles of the launch pad.

Detailed rules also govern what types of clouds the shuttle can be launched through and place limits on the electrical potential for lightning within 5.75 miles of the pad. At a briefing Sunday, Air Force Maj. Norm Buss, a weather specialist, said NASA can expect the rules to be violated "about 35 to 40 percent of the time," given normal weather conditions in the early autumn along the Florida coast.

And that could result in delays for four out of 10 launches.

The Kennedy Space Center and the adjacent Cape Canaveral Air Force Station have also increased their size of the meteorological staffs and are using new forecasting equipment.

Air Force Col. John Madura, responsible for telling launch director Robert Steck if conditions are "go" or "no-go" for launch, said. "The forecasters we have are very well trained in evaluating that data."

Whether them, the Air Force weather team has 210 years of cumulative experience in weather forecasting, with 38 years of combined experience at Cape Canaveral.

NASA's new weather guidelines are based on the concept of "clear and convincing evidence" that conditions are within the desired limits.

"Clear and convincing means that I have to have the equipment operating in order to be able to clearly convince myself the launch constraints have not been violated," Madura said. "We consider them violated until we have the data available to show us that it's not violated."

Eastern hearings slated for today

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The jobs of 3,555 furloughed Eastern Airlines employees are at stake in a hearing scheduled to begin today before a federal appeals court.

The disputed layoff was the largest in Eastern's history. A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia is scheduled to hear oral arguments in the case at 9:30 a.m. EDT Monday, and is expected to rule by the end of the month.

Union lawyers expect they will get less sympathy from the appeals court than from U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker, the Washington judge who enjoined the layoffs Aug. 30 and issued an opinion critical of Eastern.

The justices reviewing Parker's ruling — federal judges James L. Buckley, Stephen F. Williams and David B. Sentelle — were all appointed by President Reagan. But union leaders say they expect to be treated fairly.

"There are some very conservative judges on the appeals court panel," said Charles Bryan, president of District 100 of the International Association of Machinists, Eastern's largest union. "But we believe conservative judges respect the law and we would hope they will uphold the law."

The law in question is the 1926 Railway Labor Act, which governs labor relations in the airline industry. In issuing a preliminary injunction against Eastern, Parker ruled the unions could likely prove Eastern violated the law.

The appeals court dissolved Parker's injunction and allowed Eastern to go ahead with the layoffs after posting a bond of $4.7 million. That equals one month's salary for the 2,388 union-represented employees who were furloughed.

Lotto jackpot ticket sold in Tampa area

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Somebody is holding a single Florida Lotto ticket worth more than $33 million, lottery officials said Sunday.

Lottery computers showed only one ticket had all six winning numbers for this week's drawing, and it was sold in the Tampa area. The winner had not come forward to claim the prize Sunday, but it appeared the ticket would be worth more than originally estimated.

"While we estimated the jackpot at $33 million, our sales were so high this week we will pay even more than that," said Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul.

"We owe a good deal of this success to the excitement and worldwide publicity surrounding Florida's large Lotto jackpots. All that excitement introduced new players to the game and they are continuing to play."

The last jackpot winner, real estate broker Sheila Ryan of Winter Springs, 63, claimed her $55 million prize Sept. 8. It was the largest lottery jackpot in North America.

Publicity from the drawing helped push this week's ticket sales to 25.1 million, Paul said. She estimated the prize for next week's drawing at $7 million.

This week's winning numbers were 5, 17, 21, 38, 41 and 47. In addition to the grand prize, 432,000 players won smaller amounts. They were:

- 368 matched five of the six to win $4,433.50.
- 21,490 matched four numbers to win $111
- 411,352 matched three numbers to win $5.50.

Hurricane Helene weakens further

United Press International

MIAMI — Hurricane Helene continued to lose strength as it moved north in the open Atlantic with top winds near 105 mph and forecasters said additional weakening probably would occur today.

At 6 a.m. EDT today, Helene's center was located near latitude 23.5 north, longitude 49.5 west, or about 1500 miles southwest of the westernmost Azores. The hurricane was traveling north at 10 mph and was expected to continue that motion away from all land areas for the next day or two.

Sustained winds were estimated to be 105 mph. Helene's top winds dropped from 140 mph to 115 mph Saturday and forecaster Hal Gerrish said further gradual weakening is possible in the next few days.

Tropical-storm-force winds extended 115 miles from the center, but the system was considered a threat only to shipping traffic.

"There was some question as to whether it could turn to the west. Now I think that's quite unlikely," Gerrish said. "It looks like it'll stay over open water, possibly affecting the Azores in time, but it's really too early to tell."

Helene is at least a week away from the sparsely populated Azores, he said.

Helene became a hurricane Wednesday morning, less than a week after Hurricane Gilbert, one of the most severe hurricanes of the century, ripped through the Caribbean islands and Mexico.

Gilbert and Helene both formed near the Cape Verde Islands off the coast of Africa and followed similar paths until Helene veered north Thursday.

Helene is the fourth hurricane of the 1986 Atlantic-Caribbean hurricane season, and was the eighth named tropical storm. A tropical storm has maximum sustained winds of at least 39 mph, and is reclassified as a hurricane when sustained winds reach 74 mph.

POLICE BRIEFS

Motorist cited with drug possession

OVIEDO — Dexter Maurice Jones, 22, 83 Stevens St., Oviedo was arrested for possession of a controlled substance by a Seminole County deputy after he was stopped for speeding and the deputy discovered a matchbox in his sock containing a small white pill.

Jones was charged with possession of a controlled substance and driving with a suspended license and an improper tag. Bond was set at $500.

Two burglary suspects arrested

LONGWOOD — Two Orlando men were arrested Friday for the burglary of a Longwood residence in June.

Samuel Haskell Carney, 19, 6011 S. Wine Garden Road, and Rufus Morse, Jr., 6011 "C" Garden Road, were charged with burglary to a structure and petit theft at the Seminole County Jail, where they were being held on other offenses. Bond was set at $1,500 for the men.

Reports show the home of Emilio Carzola, 1415 Meadowlark St., Longwood, was burglarized on June 23 while the owner was not at home. Morse reportedly told Longwood police Carney acted as look-out while Morse took two bottles of liquor, a bottle of liquor mix and $8 from the home.

Man cited for exposure

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — William Clifton Crosby, 39, 3814 Elder Springs St., Sanford, was arrested by Altamonte Springs police Friday night after they reported seeing him with his sexual organs exposed while driving through the parking lot of Altamonte Mall.

Police reported watching him drive past several females before stopping him at about 9:30 p.m. An officer reported he approached the driver's side of Crosby's truck, and saw Crosby's sexual organs exposed. Crosby denied exposing himself, arrest reports show.

Crosby was charged with exposure of sexual organs and loitering and prowling. Bond was set at $500 at the Seminole County Jail.

Man wakes, battles another

WINTER SPRINGS — A man, awakened by another man while in a truck outside a Winter Springs business at about 8 a.m. Saturday, allegedly fought the man who awakened him.

The victim used a car telephone to call Winter Springs police to the scene of the attack at 175 Lori Ann Lane, Winter Springs.

There police charged Eugene Elmore, 25, of 101 N. Devon St., Winter Springs with aggravated battery and criminal mischief. Bond is $1,000.

Car thief arrested Saturday

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies recovered a car reported stolen in Winter Springs and arrested the accused thief in Sanford at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

Paul Donat, 33, of 97 Hacienda Village, Winter Springs, is charged with grand theft auto in the case. He was arrested at 1222 John Lord St. The 1975 Oldsmobile stolen is valued at $1,500. It was recovered and returned to the owner.

Purse snatchers nabbed outside mall

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Altamonte Springs police reported the arrest of two men allegedly involved in a purse snatching from a woman at the Altamonte Mall, State Road 434.

Police in the mall parking lot reported that at about 4:10 p.m. Saturday, Wanda K. Martin, 43, of Altamonte Springs, ran out of the mall and told them her purse had just been snatched. The robbers were making their getaway in a pickup truck, which police pursued and stopped on Maitland Avenue.

There Corey Rachelash Colston, 18, of 2320 Church St., Sanford, and Karl Anthony Carter, 18, of 263 Buttonwood Ave., Winter Springs, were charged with strong arm robbery in the case. Bond is $2,000 each. Police reported recovering $150 believed taken from the stolen purse under the seat of the suspects' truck.

Arrested for DUI charges

SANFORD — The following persons face a charge of driving under the influence in Seminole County:

—Jack Lawrence Skurvid, 49, address not listed, was arrested at 4:44 p.m. Saturday on State Road 434, Longwood after he was found trying to start his car in a parking lot of a closed business.

—Donny Chris Duffee, 48, of 1353 Charlotte St., Altamonte Springs, at 4:07 a.m. Sunday after his slow moving car ran off County Road 15, Lake Mary.

—James Gilbert Hughes, 30, of 443 Hampton Crest C-12, 205, Heathrow, at 9:47 p.m. Sunday after his car was clocked traveling 67 mph in a 45 mph zone on Lake Mary Boulevard, Lake Mary.

Five arrested in CCIB roundup

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City County Investigative Bureau agents said today they arrested five men late Saturday and early Sunday.

Following a raid by agents at the Disco Food Store, County Road 427, rural Longwood, Ronald Curtis Roux Jr., 18, of 302 Longwood Ave., Altamonte Springs, was arrested and charged Saturday with having less than 20 grams of marijuana. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Agents said they also arrested Troy Rossa Boney, 22, of 129

Salem St., Altamonte Springs, Saturday night after he allegedly sold $20 worth of cocaine to an agent. He is charged with sale and possession of cocaine. Bond was set at $2,000. The arrest was made in rural Altamonte Springs.

Joseph Miller Jr., 26, of P.O. Box 4074, Sanford, was arrested on a charge of sale and possession of cocaine on Midway Avenue, Midway, at 12:26 a.m. Sunday. Agents alleged he sold $20 worth of cocaine to an agent. Bond is $2,000.

At 12:35 a.m. Sunday, Jeff Redden, 22, of 2020 Henry Ave., Sanford, was arrested on Crawford Street at Brisson Avenue, Midway. Agents alleged he tried to sell $20 worth of crack cocaine to one of them. He is charged with attempting to sell cocaine. Bond is $1,000.

Vince Edward Howard, 21, of 2281 Water St., Midway, was arrested on a charge of possession of a firearm. A .38 caliber weapon was found under the seat of his car during a traffic stop on U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, according to deputies. He was also charged with possession of Bolita (illegal gambling) tickets after deputies said tickets and $41 were found together in the locked glovebox of his car. Bond is $1,000. The arrest was made at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Nashville preacher unemotional when given death sentence

United Press International

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Pentecostal minister John David Terry showed no emotion yesterday when a Circuit Court jury sentenced him to death for the murder of his church handyman, James Matheny.

But Terry's attorney's said he doubts the 44-year-old defendant "will ever be executed."

"I normally don't put that much stock in appeals, but I think we've got some genuine legal issues in this case," said attorney Lionel Barrett.

Terry was convicted Thursday of murdering and decapitating Matheny and then setting his church, the Emmanuel Church of Christ Oneness, on fire in an attempt to fake his own death and cover up the murder. The jury's decision Sunday automatically sentences Terry to death.

Assistant District Attorneys

(This was) one of the most premeditated, cold blooded, brutal murders we've had in this county in a long, long time.

—Prosecuting attorneys Eddie Barnard and John Zimmerman

General Eddie Barnard and John Zimmerman called the preacher's murder of Matheny "one of the most premeditated, cold-blooded, brutal murders we've had in this county in a long, long time."

Barnard told the 10-woman, two-man jury in his closing arguments Saturday that it was their "duty" to sentence Terry to die by electrocution.

Barrett said Terry should be given life in prison and pointed to Terry's sometimes-tearful testimony in saying he was a good, but troubled man who was suffering remorse for acts he could not control.

Prosecutors scoffed at that idea. They insisted Terry was just trying to deny responsibility for stealing $30,000 in church funds and then killing Matheny and setting fire to the church, with Matheny's body inside, in a carefully plotted attempt to fake his own death.

When Terry took the witness stand Thursday, he acknowledged he took out an additional $150,000 life insurance policy in April 1987 payable to his wife and children, tried to obtain false identification papers in the name of a boy who drowned in 1951.

Army purges bring stability in Haiti

United Press International

Port-au-Prince, Haiti — The army is stabilizing Haiti through purges of officers linked to the discredited days of dictatorship, and the United States should respond by restoring $70 million in annual aid, Foreign Minister Serge Elie Charles said.

Charles, in an interview Sunday with United Press International, provided the first official comment on U.S.-Haitian relations since Sept. 17, when non-commissioned officers led by Sgt. Joseph Hebreux ousted military president Lt. Gen. Henry Namphy and installed one of his aides, Lt. Gen. Prosper Avril, as head of the government.

Charles called Avril and Hebreux "men of goodwill" and described the purges of military backers of the former Duvalier family dictatorship as "a return to normal life" arising from within the army ranks.

The foreign minister's appeal for U.S. assistance indicated the apparent willingness of Avril's government to improve relations with the United States.

Charles, speaking in the courtyard of Avril's villa in the affluent Port-au-Prince suburb of Pétionville, said Haiti's new military rulers need "moral support" and economic aid from the United States in their effort to reform the army and the government.

"We need understanding and moral support in this difficult time, and we think there is an urgent need for economic assistance," Charles said. "If we don't get it as quickly as possible, the consequences of not getting it will be a lot more difficult for the government."

The United States cut $70 million in annual aid to Haiti after November elections under the Namphy government were halted in a hail of gunfire by members of the Tontons Macoutes, members of the dreaded private army formed under dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier, who was ousted in 1986.

Namphy, in exile in the Dominican Republic, had headed an interim government after the collapse of the Duvalier family dictatorship. After a civilian government was installed last February, Namphy led a coup that overthrew President Leslie Manigat in June.

Avril and Hebreux have retired or dismissed 57 pro-Duvalier army officers and a purge of Duvalier allies has spread to army units and government offices across the country.

Charles said U.S. and Haitian officials have not discussed the status of Col. Jean-Claude Paul, head of the powerful Dessalines Barracks battalion. Paul was indicted in Miami on federal drug trafficking charges in March.

"What I can say is that all they have done is to reiterate the normal points in regards to Haiti — human rights, control of drug trafficking, the will of the government — to improve the economy, and a transition to democracy — all of them conditions for a renewal of aid," Charles said.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, "We are encouraged by the statements they have been making, and we encourage their efforts to make progress on these four points."

Charles, a former ambassador to the United Nations and to Washington under Duvalier, said the new government does not face the threat of a coup led by the Tontons Macoutes.

Two women raped during weekend

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — In unrelated cases, two women reported they were raped in Seminole County during the weekend.

An Eatonville woman told sheriff's deputies that she was raped at about 7:30 a.m. Saturday by two men in a Forest City house.

She said she and a girlfriend had been picked up by one of the men in Eatonville early Saturday. They were taken to the man's Forest City house, where they stayed until about 5:30 a.m. When the men were taking the women back to Eatonville, the victim remembered she had left something at the Forest City house. She and the men returned there without her girlfriend. There at about 7:30 a.m. Saturday, she said, she went to bed and two men sexually assaulted her before returning her to Eatonville.

In the other case, an 18-year-old Sanford woman reported she was raped in Lake Jesup park by a man who picked her up as she was walking from the site of a party on Miller Road, Sanford, at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The woman said she told the man she was angry and had left the party. He wanted to discuss her problem and drove to the park, where the woman said she was raped.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating both incidents.

Pope beatifies California missionary, five others

United Press International

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II beatified six people, including Father Junipero Serra, bringing a step away from sainthood the Spanish-born Franciscan priest who founded missions and baptized thousands of Indians into the Roman Catholic faith in California in the 1700s.

Speaking Sunday to some 40,000 people from the steps of St. Peter's Basilica, John Paul praised the "shining example of Christian virtue and the missionary spirit" demonstrated by Serra, who is often referred to as the "Apostle of California."

Serra "sowed the seeds of Christian faith amid the momentous changes wrought by the arrival of European settlers in the New World," the pontiff said in a sunbathed open-air ceremony. "Relying on the divine power of the message he proclaimed, Father Serra led the native peoples to Christ," he said.

Celebrating the beatification mass with the pope was a score of prelates from around the world, including U.S. Bishop Thaddeus A. Shubsda of Monterey, Calif.

Present at the ceremony was 6-year-old Brendan O'Rourke, the young American AIDS patient John Paul embraced during his U.S. trip in a moving visit to the Mission Dolores, a San Francisco hospice for those with the usually fatal disease.

The boy, who contracted acquired immune deficiency syndrome through a blood transfusion and on whom the effects of the wasting disease were clearly visible Sunday, received Holy Communion from the hand of the Roman Catholic pontiff.

Born Nov. 24, 1713, on the Mediterranean island of Majorca, Serra went to the New World in 1749 and worked in Mexico for 20 years before establishing missions in present-day California beginning in 1769. He died Aug. 26, 1784, at the Mission San Carlos Borromeo, in Carmel, Calif., and was buried there.

In the New World, Serra first worked among the Pame Indians of the mountainous Sierra Gorda, then in 1768 was given charge of 13 established missions in Baja

Eastern employees hope decision will save jobs

United Press International

WASHINGTON — As many as 3,555 furloughed employees of Eastern Airlines awaited the outcome of an appeals court hearing in which they hoped to save their jobs.

The disputed layoff was the largest in Eastern's history. A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia was scheduled to hear oral arguments in the case today and expected to rule on it by the end of the month.

Union lawyers expected to get less sympathy from the appeals court than from U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker, the Washington judge who enjoined the layoffs Aug. 30 and issued an opinion critical of Eastern.

The justices reviewing Parker's ruling — federal judges James Buckley, Stephen Williams and David Sentelle — were all appointed by President Reagan. But union leaders said they expected to be treated fairly.

"There are some very conservative judges on the appeals court panel," said Charles Bryan, president of District 100 of the International Association of Machinists, Eastern's largest union. "But we believe conservative judges respect the law, and we would hope they will uphold the law."

The law in question is the 1926 Railway Labor Act, which governs labor relations in the airline industry. In issuing a preliminary injunction against Eastern, Parker ruled the unions could likely prove Eastern violated the law.

The appeals court dissolved Parker's injunction and allowed Eastern to go ahead with the layoffs after posting a bond of $4.7 million. That equaled one month's salary for the 2,388 union-represented employees who were furloughed.

Those workers and 1,166 non-union and management employees have been idle since Sept. 10, awaiting the outcome of the case.

At issue is whether layoffs are a routine practice at Eastern, or whether, as Parker ruled, the cutback was unique and was aimed at unnerving the unions.

Parker said the cutback amounted to a "wholesale restructuring of the airline workforce."

As such, it changes the prevailing conditions at Eastern, Parker ruled. Companies and unions are barred from making such changes during contract talks, until the bargaining provisions of the Railway Act are exhausted.

Eastern had opened negotiations with its pilots' and groundworkers' unions July 22 when the furloughs were announced.

Listeners were real winners

Vice President George Bush and Gov. Michael Dukakis met in their first televised debate last night and it was more a dual press conference than an oral duel with a clear winner.

Yet both managed significant barbs: Mr. Bush succeeded in revealing the basic liberal philosophy of Gov. Dukakis in areas of expanded government and attendant spending; Gov. Dukakis scored points against Mr. Bush about the Iran scandal and the selection of Sen. Dan Quayle as his vice presidential nominee.

Though each came prepared with humorous retorts, the real comedy developed afterwards with polls and expert-spoutings about who won.

The questions, with few exceptions, appeared to have been anticipated. The direct answers were brief and were followed by well-rehearsed elaboration. The two spoke without notes.

Perhaps the real winners of last night's debate are the estimated 100 million-plus television viewers who received their first opportunity to appraise the two candidates in action together. Both performed well at their respective nominating conventions but the atmosphere in Wake Auditorium at Wake Forest University was different. Though each had his supporters in the audience, the partisans generally were restrained. The moderator and panel of questioners did commendable jobs in focusing attention on the issues.

There is to be one more debate between the presidential candidates, and one pitting the two vice presidential candidates.

Citizens can now start to digest the real substance, however brief, that evolved during the first encounter. Gov. Dukakis is pro-abortion, supports mandatory health insurance, favors unilateral arms cuts and opposes the death penalty. Vice President Bush favors a constitutional amendment banning abortions with exceptions for rape, incest and life of the mother, supports a presidential line-item veto in the federal budget, proposes continuation of defense strengthening, including research on the Strategic Defense Initiative, and cautious further initiatives in U.S.-Russian disarmament talks and treaties.

Reduced to a simplistic labeling, Mr. Bush is conservative and Gov. Dukakis is liberal. Regardless of rhetoric, that seems to be the only firm conclusion that can be drawn given the lack of resolutions upon which most debates are established.

The focus during the next week in Seminole County will be on the runoff campaigns leading to the balloting on Oct. 6. The county and state elections are important and should hold center stage. However, citizens should also reserve reading and listening time for the presidential candidates. The electors will be the true debate judges come election day Nov. 8.

Bush, conservatism and abortion

George Bush has now put a bit of distance between himself and the anti-abortion absolutists, and a good thing it is both for Republicans and conservatives — overlapping but by no means identical categories.

His remarks came in response to a reporter's question about Rep. Lynn Martin of Illinois, a national co-chairwoman of the Bush campaign, who thinks a woman has a right to choose to have an abortion.

Speaking in the representative's district, around Rockford, Ill., Bush spoke sensibly: "Who's going to have a litmus test that everybody has to agree with everybody on every single issue?"

George Bush's own position, he said, is "I am opposed to abortion, and I favor adoption." Meanwhile, the House of Representatives voted, again, to severely restrict federal funding of abortions — a funding Governor Dukakis recently supports.

Clearly there is no political or ethical consensus on the abortion issue.

Bush has signaled that he does not support the John-Brown anti-abortion abolitionists who would ban all abortions via a constitutional amendment, or, as the Republican platform does, put the unborn under the protection of the "equal protection of the laws" clause of the Constitution, which would make the unborn, from the moment of conception, a "citizen."

Without an overwhelming national consensus in favor of such constitutional rulings, which is very unlikely to emerge, this is just not going to happen. Indeed, without such an overwhelming consensus it would be completely unenforceable.

The anti-abortion absolutists believe that abortion is murder, and this is on arguable points. The embryo certainly is human, with a distinctive genetic code of its own, and uninterfered with would become fully human.

However, neither the philosophical nor legal traditions of the West have treated abortion as murder. Aquinas was in serious doubt about when "ensoulment" occurred, i.e., when an embryo became human. And even when abortion was illegal in every state, abortionists were not hanged for murder.

I am sure that abortion is a bad thing, has all sorts of bad consequences, and for any normal woman would only be a last resort. How can you be "for" abortion? You cannot, in the English language, say, "I had a wonderful abortion today."

Many conservatives today, those whom Bush accused of making abortion a "litmus test" of conservative purity, are insufficiently Aristotelian. In his "Ethics," Aristotle, one of the sanest of all philosophers, characteristically addressed a question by citing various opinions, and thus consulting human experience. If the question is "What is Happiness?" he would cite those who say happiness comes from wealth, or peace of mind, or physical well being, or intellectual and aesthetic experience, or power — and he would proceed to refine out the valid core of such opinions on the way to producing his own formulation, which characteristically sought balance, the so-called Aristotelian "golden mean," which was wise and in no way compromising.

Parietals return to campus

BOSTON—To a survivor of the Sixties, the story was familiar: a student rally, a beleaguered dean, a full-throated protest. But the pickets carried a cryptic message: "Say Yes to Guests."

Guests? What had mobilized the students on the sprawling urban campus of Boston University was a new policy banning overnight and late-night visitors to the dorms. Starting next January, no one except a relative of the same sex, or a prospective student, can be in a dorm room after 11 p.m. on a weeknight or 1 a.m. on the weekend.

For the first time in many years an administration at a major university decided to limit dormitory hours. "We are simply saying that we must have an environment in which students have the right to sleep and study," says Dean Ronald L. Carter.

The rights to sleep and study have been sorely battered indeed since student residences were transformed into Liberty Halls. Many dorms today resemble crowded subway trains where the loudest music box dominates the environment. The biorhythms of the entering freshmen undergo a wrenching change to fit in with the sleep cycle of dormitory action. There are more than a few horror stories about a roommate's lover who becomes a permanent lodger.

B.U.'s focus on regulating "guests" has led students to believe that the new rules are less about bedtime than about bed partners. Dean Carter insists these are not anti-sex rules, especially in coed dorms, but rather rules for a livable community.

Even so, the university's decision provokes a new set of questions. Is this university, are many universities, gradually returning to their role as parent? Is it about time? Or is this an inappropriate role for educators who deal in young adults?

At some point during the late Sixties, 18 became the age of total emancipation. Since you could be drafted at 18, the reasoning went, you should be able to vote at 18, drink at 18 and live as an independent adult making your own decisions. Colleges that had been parents since colonial families sent their young trees to school basically stopped overseeing the social and moral lives of students.

Dr. Ernest Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, says that by the early 1980s, "Campuses were dramatically divided. They had rigid academic requirements. But they said nothing about what it meant to be a good citizen on campus. On some campuses there was a low-grade decadence with no guidelines that could be debated intelligently."

When Dr. Boyer asked college presidents about this, they squirmed. They felt they were not in charge of student life, but were held accountable when trouble happened.

Now, public attitudes about young adults have gradually changed and so have collegiate ones. The drinking age was raised in most states and the campuses followed suit. Indeed, it is worth noting that nobody at the B.U. rally protested the new restrictions on alcohol in dorms.

Colleges are pulling back from the sort of freedom that set undergraduates adrift, the freedom that seemed a lot like neglect. But that doesn't mean they should retreat to the old rules of paternalism, regulating student life from the dean's office.

Dr. Boyer repeats the ambiguous words of a student he once interviewed: "We don't want the university involved IN our lives, but we want someone to be concerned ABOUT our lives." That is a subtle distinction that any parent of a college student has to recognize. And so does any administrator.

What B.U. has done under its combative president, John Silber, is to reassert institutional authority. It never engaged students in revising the code for communal living. It just laid down a new law. Guests out by 11. No overnight visitors. B.U. behaved like an authoritarian parent and the students rebelled at being treated like children. It was utterly predictable.

In the passage to full adulthood, college students want guides, not overseers. They need the sense that there are community standards and older adults who uphold them. But they also need to feel like substantial and welcome participants in the community, and not like subjects.

So, at Boston University these days, even those undergraduates who find Liberty Hall a noisy and disruptive place are raising the banner for the dubious right to "say yes to guests."

Pot growers start exports

WASHINGTON — The United States may be in the position, for the first time ever, of exporting drugs. High quality marijuana, much of it grown illegally on public lands such as the national forests, is being shipped out of the country for sale, according to law enforcement sources.

Until now, American-grown marijuana was produced by small operations for domestic use and supplemented by foreign-grown pot. The small growers are being forced out of the business by law enforcement agents. But larger, organized criminal outfits are taking their places and expanding to foreign markets.

Law enforcement sources in the Pacific Northwest tell us that locally grown marijuana is increasingly being sold to Canadian dealers because of its high quality and potency.

Another wrinkle is the marijuana-for-cocaine trade. Some Northwest growers swap marijuana for Colombian cocaine. The Colombian dealers then resell the marijuana at a profit. The standard trade is an ounce of cocaine for a pound of marijuana.

Police intelligence reports on the new marijuana export business pinpoint the source of the crop as southern Oregon and an area of northern California known in police circles as the Emerald Triangle. It comprises California's Humboldt, Mendocino and Trinity counties.

The American marijuana crop is a $10 billion industry, replacing legitimate crops such as wheat and corn as the No. 1 cash crop in some areas. In the Emerald Triangle, the high-quality sensimilla — the female marijuana plant which has no seeds — can bring an average of $3,500 a plant. A typical plot of 100 plants could be worth $350,000.

Increasingly, growers are secretly cultivating their crops on federal land so they can hide their harvest in unpopulated areas and protect their private property from confiscation if they are caught.

One outfit making headway against the growers is a five-person U.S. Forest Service team based in Redding, Calif., led by agent Frank Packwood. Dale Van Atta recently located the Emerald Triangle with Packwood by helicopter and tracked likely growing sites in Oregon.

The emerald-colored plants were once quite easy to spot in the forest foliage by agents flying over in helicopters. But growers are turning to smaller plots and using camouflage techniques such as nets. Some use portable gardens planted in bags and buckets that can be moved or hidden in the tree tops if the growers suspect their area will be searched.

Armed growers and booby traps make the marijuana detail a dangerous duty for Packwood and his team. Packwood and a Bureau of Land Management agent were tramping through the forest once when the BLM agent became tangled in a trip wire rigged to a shotgun. Luckily, the shotgun misfired. A quick search turned up a second trip wire in the area where Packwood was searching.

This summer, Packwood found himself in hand-to-hand combat when he tried to arrest two men for allegedly raising 535 plants in five sites in a national forest. Packwood had to wrestle one suspect, a former high school industrial arts teacher. According to Packwood's account, the man bit Packwood's hand, nearly severing a finger, hit him in the head with a rock and grabbed Packwood's gun before he was subdued.

Market moderate, prices dip

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened slightly lower today in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 7.47 last week, was down 3.02 to 2087.66 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 452-325 among the 1,225 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Early turnover amounted to about 7,042,000 shares.

The stock market broke a string of four weekly advances last week in trading described by analysts as lackluster, nondescript and dull.

It was the first weekly decline since the week ended Aug. 19. Following that pullback, the Dow advanced more than 100 points before this week's slump.

The market staged a modest bounce on Friday but action was not impressive.

"The advance was deceptive in a lot of ways," said Don R. Hays, director of investment strategy at Wheat, First Securities in Richmond, Va.

"The advance-decline (723-685) line tells us that the market was really pretty flat," Hays said. "We had some interests in selected takeover stocks and a few of the blue chips as the end of quarter approaches."

Dollar moves higher gold tumbles again

United Press International

The dollar moved higher today on major foreign currency markets on traders' bullish interpretation of the Group of Seven meeting. The price of gold took another tumble.

Trader said, while the communique issued by the Group of Seven major industrialized nations affirmed exchange rate stability as expected, the market interpreted that bullish for the dollar.

Market watchers noted the latest communique, unlike past G-7 statements, made no statement against volatility nor did it threaten intervention.

In earlier trading in the far East, the dollar closed at 134.73 Japanese yen, up 0.26 from 134.47 yen on Friday.

In Europe, the dollar began the week in Frankfurt at 1.885 West German marks, up from Friday's close of 1.8755.

The dollar began the day in Zurich at 1.5885 Swiss francs, up from 1.5855 and climbed in Brussels to 39.98 Belgian francs, up from 39.825.

In Milan, the dollar began trading at 1.404.75 lire, up from 1.401.30 and in Paris the dollar also advanced, opening the week at 6.4155 French francs, up from 6.39 on Friday.

Retail gasoline prices fall

United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gasoline prices slid nearly a cent over the last two weeks, continuing their drop from summertime levels, an oil industry analyst said Sunday.

The average pump price Sept. 23 was 101.72 cents per gallon, down by 0.82 cents from two weeks ago, said Tribby Lundberg whose Lundberg Survey reviews gasoline prices at 12,000 retail gas stations nationwide.

A drop in demand for gasoline after the busy summer vacation months typically "exerts a downward pull at this time of year" on gasoline prices, Lundberg said. Another important factor, she said, is that "there is much more international competition for sales, so American consumers are reaping the benefits of worldwide competition through imports." She noted, however, upward price trends in spot markets and some wholesale markets during the last two weeks.

Bush campaign heads South

United Press International

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — George Bush's presidential campaign claimed a debating victory and headed through the South today, hoping to rally strong support for the Republican vice president and his running mate, Dan Quayle.

"I think it was a clear win," campaign chairman James Baker said of Bush's showdown Sunday night with his Democratic rival, Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis. "The vice president did an extraordinarily good job in our opinion."

Public opinion is what matters, however, so Bush was bound this morning for Jackson, Tenn., where he and Quayle, the junior senator from Indiana, were expected at a midday rally.

Launching a five-day swing through seven states, Bush also was scheduled to attend a barbecue in Hampton, Ga., and a fund-raiser in Atlanta before going to Cincinnati for the night. During the rest of the week, he plans to campaign in Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Connecticut and New Jersey.

Bush hopes to retain his apparent lead in the White House race at this point before the debate, most polls showed him slightly ahead of Dukakis but with a large pool of undecided voters.

A New York Times-CBS News poll published Sunday found Bush leading 46 percent to 40 percent, yet 37 percent of the 1,195 probable voters surveyed Wednesday through Friday said they might change their minds or had no preference. The poll had an error margin of 3 percentage points.

A daily tracking poll published Sunday by the Cleveland Plain-Dealer showed Bush with a slightly higher lead going into the debate. In a telephone sample for three nights ending Friday, the poll found 48 percent of 1,002 registered voters for Bush and 39 percent for Dukakis. The error margin was 3 points.

To hold onto those numbers, Bush outlined his objectives Sunday night to a noisy rally at a North Carolina fairgrounds exhibition hall following the debate at Wake Forest University.

"Tonight we had a little debate over there and it is my firm belief that we had an opportunity to spell out my dreams and my objectives," he said, "and I am not going to let this man (Dukakis) move to the center and try to get away from his past."

"We had a great opportunity to spell out some of the differences," he said again, "but that was tonight. Starting tomorrow, on to Tennessee, on across the South and up into the Midwest."

According to Baker, "The principal thing that comes out of the debate, that we'll carry forward, is the fact that this really does reinforce our view that our opponent is outside of the mainstream."

Baker said the Bush camp was surprised Dukakis "didn't move to the center more than he did," and the former treasury secretary denied "absolutely" that the Democrat emerged from the debate with an edge over Bush.

Lee Atwater, Bush's campaign manager, said he was surprised "Dukakis didn't fuff his position on the issues more. ... I think it was a great night for the vice president because he reinforced the fact that he, on one issue after another, was on the side of the vast majority of people in this country."

Dismissing Bush's occasional minor gaffes — he stumbled on the name of a missile program, for instance — Baker stressed that the candidate "is not a Harvard professor." Dukakis once taught courses at Harvard.

"What you saw tonight was a debate between an experienced leader, a man with significant federal experience, and a Harvard professor," Baker said.

Quayle, whose qualifications for the vice presidency led to a heated exchange in the debate, watched the event from his suburban Washington, D.C., home and talked to Bush afterwards, said Bush campaign spokeswoman Sheila Tate.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said President Reagan telephoned Bush after the debate to say, "You did a great job. The facts were all there."

Dukakis low-key, aides upbeat after debate

United Press International

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Amid supporters' shouts of victory and advisers' predictions of an instant boost in the polls, Michael Dukakis stayed low-key about his first presidential debate with George Bush.

"We had a good time tonight," the Democratic Massachusetts governor told reporters quietly after the 90 minute televised showdown Sunday. "I enjoyed it. It was a good debate."

Still trailing Bush in most public opinion polls, Dukakis apparently decided it would be wise to wait for broader reaction to his performance. Today he was expected at rallies in Cleveland and in Atlantic City, N.J.

The crowd at a post-debate rally in downtown Winston-Salem certainly offered no independent judgment. More than 2,000 supporters jammed into the city civic center to chant "Duke! Duke! Duke!" as their candidate, flashing a big grin, stood before a giant blue and-white banner declaring: "Michael Dukakis, winner and still champion."

Kitty Dukakis called her husband's performance "wonderful" and campaign chairman Paul Broutas said his friend was "terrific." Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., who helped coach the candidate, asserted that Dukakis "came across as presidential, more in tune with the problems the average American is facing."

New York Gov. Mario Cuomo topped them all. "Tonight a whole new campaign began. Governor Dukakis clearly advanced his campaign dramatically. He appeared knowledgeable, decisive, cool, presidential. He won."

The nominee, however, would not gloat and instead talked about the same issues he had just debated with Bush — jobs, health care, education, etc.

"The message tonight that we were able to convey to good Americans all over this country was that the Democratic Party and the Democratic ticket are prepared to provide leadership on the real challenges that face this country," he said.

Slipping into a standard campaign refrain, he concluded, "This is going to be a tough, competitive final drive."

"Not after tonight!" shouted one young supporter, drawing cheers and laughter from the crowd that hoped the debate would give Dukakis a new wave of support.

Discovery

series of experiments and to launch a $100 million NASA communications satellite identical to the one destroyed in the Jan. 28, 1986, Challenger disaster.

Discovery's countdown originally was scheduled to begin at 12:01 a.m. EDT today but launch director Robert Sieck said Sunday the NASA management team decided to delay the call to stations by eight hours to give engineers more time to finish closing up Discovery's engine compartment.

NASA will make up the lost time by eliminating one of several planned "holds" in the countdown, and Sieck said blastoff on the 26th shuttle flight remained scheduled for 9:59 a.m. Thursday.

"We're still on the timeline for the 29th," Sieck said. "The team, of course, is very upbeat and looking forward to it."

One possible cloud on the horizon is the weather forecast. Air Force weather officers said the outlook for Thursday called for scattered clouds, winds from the southeast at 10 to 15 knots (17.25 mph) and widely scattered showers.

Tough new weather guidelines were established because of the Challenger disaster and the destruction of an Atlas-Centaur rocket launched in a thunderstorm on March 26, 1987. The current "launch commit criteria" would not allow a shuttle launch with rain or lightning in the area.

Launch also would be delayed if surface winds from the south exceeded 20 mph. On launch day, the shuttle stands exposed to such winds, which tend to rock the craft back and forth, putting stress on the solid-fuel boosters.

If bad weather at the Kennedy Space Center or at overseas emergency landing sites forces NASA to pass up a launch attempt on Thursday, Merlino said the schedule would slip 24 hours and another try could be made Friday at 10 a.m. EDT.

But after two delays in a row the launch would have to be postponed 48 hours to give engineers time to inspect Discovery's engines and fuel lines after repeated exposure to supercold rocket fuel.

The pre-countdown work Sunday primarily involved closing up the engine room for flight, an intricate procedure that typically takes longer than expected.

In the past the work was carried into the countdown, but for Discovery's launching NASA wanted to have the decks clear before issuing the call to stations.

The original countdown included about 39 hours of built-in hold time, or time available to handle any problems that might crop up. Standard shuttle countdowns include about 24 hours less hold time, but NASA wanted to give engineers as much extra time as possible for Discovery's launch.

To keep on schedule for a Thursday blastoff, the eight-hour delay in starting the countdown will be made up by eliminating the second of two built-in eight-hour holds.

"Ox" van Hoften then repaired the observatory during a 5-hour spacewalk. The satellite, still in service, was used recently to make important observations of a nearby supernova.

The upcoming flight of Discovery does not compare to Nelson's first space voyage in terms of mission complexity. But, Nelson says, that should not be interpreted as a sign that NASA has grown too conservative in the wake of the Challenger disaster.

"I think the vehicle has to always be coddled," he said. "It's a very complicated machine and hopefully the people who work on it at the Cape will maintain their coddling and keep their loving hands on the hardware. That's true of any flying machine, or any complicated machine."

"As far as what we do with a vehicle, I think we'll be as robust and daring as we ever were, at least I hope so. There's a difference between flying a machine that doesn't have as much care taken of it and doing an ambitious mission with a machine that's been coddled. And I think we'll continue to be scrupulous with the hardware but bold with what we do with it."

Nelson, who said he got his nickname "when I was born," once did research in solar physics at an observatory in Sunspot, N.M.

"I've always been interested in astronomy," he said. "I think astronomy is something that is wired into people. Someone who's going to be interested in astronomy is born interested in astronomy and that's just the way it is."

But Nelson has little time to devote to astronomical pursuits. Ever since he joined the space corps in January 1978, his working hours have been consumed with training and practice.

Debate

Bush tried to be as strong as he could in defending his ticket mate, but he alone cannot answer all the questions that appear to be puzzling voters about Quayle. No, it probably is up to Quayle to settle the controversy — in his own debate Oct. 5 with his Democratic counterpart, Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

WORLD BRIEFS

Polish communists to discuss economy

WARSAW, Poland — The communist leadership decided to begin work on Poland's overriding economic crisis even before a new prime minister is chosen to carry out the party's wishes.

The Central Committee of the Polish Communist Party was to meet today to draw up an outline for dealing with the unresolved problems of soaring inflation, a lack of consumer goods and a massive foreign debt.

Late Sunday, hundreds of pro-Solidarity activists rallied undeterred by police harassment demanding the legalization of the outlawed union. The gathering followed a rare Saturday session of the 16-member Politburo to discuss Messner's successor.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

L.A. gang kills pregnant woman

LOS ANGELES — Weekend gang violence claimed one life and injured two people, including a pregnant woman allegedly shot by a 16-year-old boy as part of a gang initiation, police said.

The pregnant woman, Marleen Garcia, 19, was in serious condition at Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center Sunday following surgery for a gunshot wound to her back, hospital spokeswoman Adelaida De La Cerda said. Her 3 1/2-month-old fetus was not struck by the bullet.

The woman, who is known to hang out with a gang, was shot about 11 p.m. Saturday after becoming involved in an argument with rival gang members outside an apartment complex in Bell, Sgt. Stan Loder said.

A 16-year-old boy allegedly fired at Garcia as she was walking away, apparently to show his resolve to join the rival gang, Loder said.

"I think it was an initiation-type thing to bring him into the gang," Loder said.

Lawmaker lambasts biological research

SAN FRANCISCO — An angry congresswoman has denounced an Army proposal to conduct research into biological warfare at the Presidio of San Francisco and demanded the project be dropped.

Rep. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., said she found out about the proposal last week and fired off angry letters to the Defense Department and urged Assistant Secretary of Defense Robert Barker to scrub the plan.

Chuck Dasey, public affairs officer for the U.S. Army Medical Research and Development Command in Fort Detrick, Md., was due today at the Presidio, the headquarters for the Sixth Army located at the foot of the Golden Gate Bridge, to begin initial preparations for the testing. Dasey has said the tests could begin within a year.

Most nations, including the United States, have signed a treaty prohibiting biological warfare, but argue that they must continue to conduct experiments for defense purposes.

Burmese troops on alert against demonstrations

United Press International

RANGOON, Burma — The Burmese military regime beefed up its forces today in the capital of Rangoon and placed them on special alert in a bid to head off plans by students to defy a ban on public demonstrations, witnesses and opposition sources said.

The accounts came hours after official Radio Rangoon reported that government soldiers had killed 22 more people, including 12 Sunday and 10 last week.

Troops stringing rolls of barbed wire across main streets of the capital, and armored cars and trucks packed with soldiers were on patrol, witnesses said. People entering the city were searched at military checkpoints, they said.

Diplomats said troops killed as many as 1,000 people last week in crushing anti-government demonstrations. Official sources acknowledge that more than 250

"The army is on maximum alert. We are expecting trouble."

—Win Htin, Burmese spokesman

civilians were killed in the most recent outbreak of violence that first erupted six months ago in the Southeast Asia nation of 23.5 million people.

Three influential opposition leaders — Tin Oo, Brig. Gen. Aung Gyi and Aung San Suu Kyi, the daughter of Burma's independence hero Gen. Aung San — announced the formation of the National United Front for Democracy — the first formal organization joining the dozens of anti-government groups that have sprung up in the past three months of protests.

"I think the army is on maximum alert," said Win Htin, a spokesman for Tin Oo, a general and former defense minister. "We are expecting trouble."

Ma Thane Gi, a spokeswoman for Aung San Suu Kyi, said that an undetermined number of additional troops had been brought into Rangoon.

The apparent security reinforcement came after student groups vowed to defy a ban on protests declared by the military government, which seized power Sept. 18.

Win Htin said the new opposition coalition wants to arrange a face-to-face meeting with coup leader and self-proclaimed Prime Minister Gen. Saw Maung.

Troops opened fire on looters Sunday, killing 12 people in separate incidents in Rangoon.

U.S. experts begin search for MIAs

UPI report

BANGKOK, Thailand — U.S. and Vietnamese experts headed to the field today to begin their first ever joint searches for witnesses to the fates of Americans missing during the Vietnam War, a U.S. military spokesman said.

At the same time two senior U.S. military officers flew from Hanoi to the Laotian capital of Vientiane to prepare for searches of U.S. warplane crash sites that were scheduled to begin Tuesday.

The simultaneous efforts in Vietnam and Laos represent the broadest cooperative efforts since the Vietnam War to resolve the fates of about 2,400 Americans listed as missing in action during fighting in Southeast Asia.

"The two three-man investigation teams in Vietnam headed out to the field today," Maj. Thomas Boyd, U.S. spokesman for the operation, said in Bangkok.

Boyd said the investigators, accompanied by Vietnamese experts, were seeking information and evidence on the disappearance of seven of the most "compelling" cases of Americans missing in Vietnam.

The "compelling" cases are those in which the United States has evidence that the men involved survived the crash of their planes to become prisoners.

The American investigators expect unrestricted access to witnesses and the full cooperation of the Vietnamese Office for Seeking Missing Persons, a U.S. spokesman said earlier.

Embassy spokesman Ross Petzing said the search was "the first time ever this kind of joint activity has been undertaken."

Marchers protest economic summit

United Press International

BERLIN — An estimated 50,000 marchers took to the streets of Berlin Sunday to protest a forthcoming international economic summit portrayed as a bid to consolidate policies that oppress the poor.

The left-wing protesters marched two days before the scheduled start of a gathering of International Monetary Fund and World Bank officials.

The rally, organized by 100 leftist groups in West Germany and East Germany, took place 500 yards from the steel-and-glass Congress Center complex, where 15,000 bankers and government officials from 151 countries are to meet Tuesday at the opening of the annual IMF-World Bank summit.

Hundreds of helmeted riot police with clubs and shields, dozens of police vans, two armored personnel carriers and one water cannon separated the protesters from the complex.

Police said the demonstration was largely peaceful, but officials said some stones were thrown and that two photographers were struck in the face by tear gas.

Demonstrators marched through downtown Berlin in the afternoon sunshine, carrying banners with slogans such as "IMF: Berlin Will Be Your Bay of Pigs." Several hundred protesters wore masks and waved black anarchist flags.

Left-wing groups have denounced the summit of the multilateral lending institutions as a meeting called to plunder the Third World and oppress the poor.

The groups have distributed leaflets calling for demonstrations and "unusual measures" to disrupt the gathering, and more protests were scheduled for later this week.

On Sept. 20, two masked assailants shot at a West German Finance Ministry official involved in planning the summit. The extremist Red Army Faction later claimed responsibility for the attack and called the official — who was unhurt — an agent of imperialism standing in the way of the collapse of the ruling financial system.

At a preparatory session for the summit, British Chancellor of the Exchequer Nigel Lawson urged the new U.S. administration taking over next January to slash budget deficits.

The U.S. trade deficit in July, the most recent monthly figure available, was $8.9 billion, and Lawson acknowledged that the fall of the dollar and some reduction of the shortfall has combined to begin to cut one of the world's largest trade imbalances.

West German Finance Minister Gerhard Stoltenberg said either increasing loans or reducing old debts would help alleviate the $1.2 trillion Third World debt burden, a key issue at the annual meeting.

Man shoots officers, steals car

United Press International

NEW YORK — Top police officials waited at a Brooklyn hospital to question a wounded man accused of shooting two officers after a taxi robbery and stealing their squad car, apparently to seek medical help.

"It's up to the doctors when we can question him," police spokesman Officer Hugh Barry said of the group of high-ranking detectives waiting at King's County Hospital to speak with the suspect, Leighton Ricardo Scow, who was under heavy guard.

Scow, 23, of Gardena, Calif., was listed in critical condition Sunday with a bullet wound to the chest and was charged with two counts of attempted murder of a police officer, Police Deputy Commissioner Richard Condon said.

The incident began about 4:30 a.m. Sunday when the driver of a gypsy cab, evidently trying to get attention during a robbery, swerved in front of a patrol car carrying Sgt. Thomas DeWitt, 45, and Officer Charles Guarnieri, 44, Condon said.

"The gypsy cab driver was apparently being robbed at the time and he maneuvered his car across the roadway to get the attention and help of the police officers," the deputy commissioner said. "As the two officers were getting out of their car, the lone passenger in the gypsy cab jumped out of the back seat with a semiautomatic weapon."

Soldiers evict Jewish West Bank settlers

United Press International

JERUSALEM — Soldiers evicted 10 families who defied warnings from Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin and tried to establish a new Israeli settlement in the occupied West Bank on the eve of the Jewish festival of Sukkoth.

Jewish settlers had said they would try to establish new settlements in the Israeli-occupied territories during the weeklong holiday, also known as the Festival of Tabernacles.

Rabin warned the settlers against trying to set up residences several hours before soldiers dispersed the families peacefully, state-run Israel Radio reported.

"If there is such a tendency and attempts are made to do something illegal not in accordance with the government decisions, they will be evacuated," Rabin said in an interview broadcast on the official radio station after the Israeli Cabinet's weekly meeting.

Hours after Rabin's warning, Israeli soldiers dispersed the Jewish families from the plateau of Deir el Kuruntul near Jericho as they tried to establish a settlement, an army spokeswoman said. No trouble was reported.

The 10 families then went to a sukkah — a hut built of branches and leaves where Jews eat their meals and sometimes sleep during the holiday — near Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's house in Jerusalem, the radio station reported. They vowed to remain in the structure until they were given a permission to settle at Deir el Kuruntul.

Jews build sukkahs during the harvest festival as a reminder of the temporary shelters used during their wanderings in the wilderness. Nearly 60,000 Israeli settlers live in the occupied territories.

The United States and other countries have criticized Israel for its practice of establishing settlements in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, saying they are an impediment to peace in the Middle East.

Settlers and right-wing Israelis often state Biblical ties to the land and security needs of Israel as reasons for establishing new communities in the occupied territories.

IN BRIEF

GOLF

Glasson takes B.C. Open

ENDICOTT, NY — Bill Glasson, a last-minute entrant because his wife is expecting their first child imminently, withstood final-round charges by three other players Sunday to win the $500,000 B.C. Open golf tournament by two shots.

The 28-year-old Californian didn't commit to playing the B.C. Open until last weekend's deadline due to the condition of his wife, in San Diego.

"The doctor told us (the baby) definitely wouldn't come until next week so I committed to play," Glasson said Sunday. "But my wife just changed my plane reservations from Monday to today, so I guess I'd better get home."

TENNIS

Volvo: Pernfors upsets Agassi

LOS ANGELES — Mikael Pernfors of Sweden, despite twisting an ankle and taping it between sets, upset top-seeded Andre Agassi 6-2, 7-5 Sunday to win a $415,000 Volvo tournament.

Pernfors, ranked 29th in the world and seeded fourth, received $59,500 for the victory at the Los Angeles Tennis Center at UCLA. Agassi, the top-ranked American player and No. 4 in the world, received $29,750.

Pernfors, 25, who was playing his second tournament since knee surgery in June, twisted an ankle in the fifth game of the first set, when he broke Agassi to lead 3-2. He taped the ankle between sets and it apparently did not bother him.

"I've twisted my ankle quite a bit, so I was able to ignore it," said Pernfors. "In a tournament final, I wasn't going to let something like that get the better of me."

AUTO RACING

Waltrip roars to Goody's title

MARTINSVILLE, Va. — Darrell Waltrip took the lead Sunday on lap 421 and was never really challenged after en route to his second straight victory in the Goody's 500 NASCAR Winston Cup race at Martinsville Speedway.

Waltrip started 20th in the 32-car field but quickly worked his way to the front before a crowd of 35,000. He had his Chevrolet in the top 10 after 50 laps on the half-mile oval and ran in the top five most of the day on the way to his ninth victory at Martinsville.

"I knew when they dropped the green flag it was going to be one of those good days," said Waltrip, who picked up $48,750 for the victory, his second of the season. "When I got into the first corner on the first lap there was a sweet feeling in the steering wheel."

BOXING

'Blood' Green arrested again

NEW YORK — In his second bout with police in four days, heavyweight boxer Mitch "Blood" Green was arrested on charges he beat his girlfriend, officials said Sunday.

Green was charged with third-degree assault for the alleged attack in Harlem Saturday night on a woman identified by police as Gadson Ballaries, 32. Ballaries could not be reached for comment.

It was the second time in four days that police arrested the fighter, who lost a brawl with heavyweight champion Mike Tyson a month ago at an all-night Harlem boutique.

Police took Green into custody near 125th Street and Second Avenue about 11:15 p.m. Saturday after the woman complained she was struck by him in her nearby apartment, said Sgt. Maurice Howard, a police spokesman.

"She alleges that Green struck her and she is complaining of pains in her chest and arm," Howard said.

The woman was treated by an ambulance attendant at the 25th precinct but reportedly had no visible bruises.

Gold to Lewis, Kingdom

United Press International

SEOUL, South Korea — Four years older and still improving, Americans Carl Lewis and Roger Kingdom repeated Olympic gold-medal performances today on another profitable day for the United States in track and field.

Eleven other 1984 track and field gold medalists from Los Angeles had failed in bids to duplicate before first Kingdom and then Lewis completed successful defenses.

Two days following his disappointing 100-meter loss to Ben Johnson, Lewis easily retained the long-jump title with a leap of 28 feet, 7 1/4 inches. That was the second-best Olympic effort in history, following Bob Beamon's world record 29-2 1/4 in 1968, and was more than 7 inches better than the 28-0 3/4 he needed to win at Los Angeles.

Lewis, whose loss to Johnson prevented him from repeating at 100 meters, led the first U.S. sweep of these Games, with Mike Powell taking the silver and Larry Myricks the bronze. He also provided the United States with its fifth track and field gold in four days. Myricks was the last person to defeat Lewis in a long-jump final, Feb. 27, 1981, and Lewis has won 56 competitions since.

Lewis started competing in the long jump barely an hour after finishing his second round of the 200 meters, in which he advanced to Wednesday's semi-finals. He was allowed to jump last for the first three rounds, then was told by an official he would have to go first the rest of the competition.

The 27-year-old Lewis argued with officials for about 10 minutes after learning of the decision, stalling for enough time to rest.

"It was a difficult competition, the wind was continually impeding the jumpers," Lewis said. "There was a tailwind on the board and at the start of the run-up which meant that you kept getting your run-up wrong."

Lady Pats unveil powerhouse

By CHUCK BURGESS
 Herald correspondent

LONGWOOD — "Lake Brantley Tour '88 All the Way To State."

That's what the shirts said on the back of every Lake Brantley Patriot swimmer this past weekend at the Sharidan Aquatic Center. That was the site where the Lady Patriots of Lake Brantley started their tour to state and unveiled their new and improved version of the Fabulous Foursome as Kristen Pauley, Ryan Pauley, Jennifer Moon, and Jodee Lake stroked their way to easily outdistance runner-up Winter Park and the rest of the 22-team contingent in the Bishop Moore Invitational.

Lake and the younger Ryan Pauley shined as the real stars for the Lady Pats as they were the only triple winners of the meet. Lake and Pauley teamed with Don Ohnsman, and Jill Spiller to win the opening event of the meet as they cruised to a 1:54.17 in the 200 medley relay.

"I think this meet was kind of like the competition we'll see in the district meet," Ohnsman said. "This meet really helps our team because we'll be more excited about the rest of the season."

An elated Lake repeated the happiness of the Brantley splashers. "We really didn't expect to beat Winter Park by as much as we did," Lake said. "I think we're doing pretty well for so early in the season."

Lake really got things kicking for the Lady Patriots as she won both the 50 and 100 freestyles against an aggressive Winter Park squad. In the 50, Lake used a great start and put her head down in the finish to outtouch Bolles' Laura Devore with a time of 24.46. After testing for one event, Lake turned right.

Pauley, who qualified for Olympic trials earlier this year, had an excellent meet as she posted two personal best times in her victory swims. The first was in the 200 individual medley where she blasted the competition with a 2:11.47 and the

Knights hold on vs. ETSU

The University of Central Florida nearly saw a 17-point lead evaporate, but the Knights held on to defeat East Tennessee State University, 23-17, Saturday at Johnson City, Tenn.

UCF, ranked second in NCAA Division II, ran its record to 4-0 and returns to action this Saturday night vs. North Alabama at the Florida Citrus Bowl.

UCF took a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. Gil "Ice Breaker" Barnes did what he has been doing all season as he scored the Knights' first TD of the game on a three-yard run. Mark Giacone added a four-yard TD run later in the quarter.

UCF took a 17-0 lead when Travis Allen booted a 30-yard field goal but ETSU got on the board later in the quarter on a 20-yard scoring pass.

ETSU pulled within 17-14 in the third period when Mark Williams hooked up with Rodney Jones on a 76-yard touchdown pass. UCF quarterback Shane Willis then came up with a key play as he connected with Sean Beckton on a 19-yard scoring strike to give the Knights a 23-14 lead going into the fourth period.

ETSU got a field goal late in the fourth quarter to make it 23-17.

Sanford's George Oleksiw holds up the trophy for being a tight winner at the Du Pont World Amateur Handicap Championships at Myrtle Beach, S.C. Oleksiw won the 26.7-36.4 handicap index flight and competed in the winners' playoff. He shot a 98 for a net 67 to win his flight.

Lake Howell takes 2nd at S. River

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Running without one of its top five runners, Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks showed just how strong they can be Saturday by taking second place at the Spanish River Invitational in Boca Raton.

Lake Howell, without freshman Monica Compton who has led the team in every race this season, finished with a team score of 87 compared to 85 for Jupiter.

"We're growing up fast and becoming a contender," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said. "We didn't enjoy losing, but the girls understand the circumstances. Losing close may even help us later on. We learned some things from the meet and lessons are always the best teacher."

Michelle Cook, Jenny Bolt and Sheryl Palumbo packed closely together to put the Lady Hawks in contention on Saturday. Cook finished 12th with a time of 13:06 followed closely by Bolt at 13:06 and Palumbo at 13:11. A second tight pack of Lake Howell runners included Natalie Newberry (22nd at 13:38), Tricia Frost (26th at 13:42) and Jessica Cardarelli (28th at 13:54). Also running for the Lady Hawks was Micki Palumbo (61st at 15:21).

Compton, one of the state's top freshman this season, was out of town on Saturday. She is expected to return to the team Monday.

Winter Park's Lisa Bovis, also a freshman, was the individual champion as she came in at 12:29 followed by Spanish River's Jennifer Atchley at 12:33.

Allamonte Springs' Jody Radkewich, only a seventh grader at Trinity Prep, turned in a fine performance as she finished eighth with a time of 12:57.

Saints bumble past Bucs

United Press International

NEW ORLEANS — After New Orleans defeated Tampa Bay 13-9 Sunday in a lackluster game, Saints' coach Jim Mora didn't even know what the final score was.

"Here's two teams that last year played (to a Saints') 44-34 win and you come back a year later and go, what was it, 16-12?" asked Mora. "I don't know. Oh, it was 13-9."

Bobby Hebert, the NFC's leading passer, fired a first-quarter scoring strike to Lonzell Hill for the only touchdown either team could register in what turned into an exercise in futility.

"We had a hard time really getting any consistency in our offense," complained Mora. "We didn't really establish a running game."

New Orleans gained only 117 yards on the ground and 159 through the air.

Buccaneer coach Ray Perkins blamed his team's loss in part on its youth. Tampa Bay currently is the youngest team in the league, averaging 24.9 years and 2.9 years

Eddie Robinson: Great coach, proud American

By DAVID CORCORAN
Herald correspondent

Editor's note: Saturday night, after the Grambling Tigers' (2-1) 17-16 win over the Bethune-Cookman College Wildcats (1-2) at the Gator Bowl, Herald correspondent David Corcoran had the opportunity to speak to legendary coach Eddie Robinson. These were the highlights.

JACKSONVILLE — During the career of one of the greatest college coaches ever some of the best college teams and players in the country came from the black colleges and universities.

And the one that was always on top of everybody's list was the Grambling State University Tigers.

Men like Doug Williams, Ernie Ladd, Charlie Joiner, Willie Davis and James "Buck" Buchanan were a few of the many outstanding Grambling players.

Over 200 players in the National Football League, Canadian Football League and seven first-round NFL draft choices came out of Grambling. And Davis (Green Bay) and Willie Brown (Oakland Raiders), made it to the NFL Hall of Fame. Williams led the Washington Redskins to the Super Bowl title this past January and was the game's MVP.

And the man who made it all possible was Eddie Robinson.

When you mention the name Eddie Robinson, you can say it in so many different ways.

In 46 years at Grambling, (the most ever at one school), he has a career coaching record of 343-120-15 (the 343 wins the most ever in football history). He had 28 straight winning seasons (last year's 5-6 mark snapped it), 7 national black championships, 15 Southwestern Athletic Conference championships, is past president of the American Coaching Association, a member of the college football hall of fame, and the list goes on and on.

Here are some of Robinson's insights about his career and the college game:

On the 343 career coaching victories: "Eddie Robinson never blocked, tackled, or made the plays. I have been the most fortunate man in the world to have so many fine football players to play for us, to work for us."

On being called a "Living Legend": "I like people to think I'm a good American. I think all the coaches are really trying to do the same thing. I just want to give something back to American society."

Has your coaching philosophy changed in the past 47 years? "It has. I think everything changes. But the law changed. It's because of the kind of persons you're working with. I think the students changed. And the schools changed. The national organizations (NCAA) changed, the put so much emphasis on an athlete, like the Olympics."

On why Grambling plays all over the country (New York, Dallas, etc.): "If we can't get the 50,000 to Grambling, then we go to the 50,000. It's a thrill for a young person to go on his first plane ride to New York City and play in Giants Stadium. That's an American experience."

On Bear Bryant, the man who's record for career victories he broke: "The man was a great influence on all of us. I think that coach Bryant was the first to show us that records were made to be broken."

"The first time I met him, I was in awe of the man. I tell you one thing that he did for me. The year he broke Alonzo Stagg's record (in 1982), I continued to write and talk to him. And when he got the record, I was there to see it, so when my time came I knew what to say, and how to handle the pressure."

Robinson also feels that there will be a black head coach in the NFL in the near future because more blacks are getting into coaching on the college level.

And when will Robinson finally retire? "I would like to coach for 50 years (only Stagg did, and for 57). As long as I am a plus to the university, then I would like to continue."

Eddie Robinson

Offenses shift into high gear

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

Seminole County football enjoyed its highest offensive output of the season Friday night as three teams racked up more than 35 points with two teams coming up with impressive victories.

Lake Mary and Lyman each took impressive wins as the Rams downed cross town and Seminole Athletic Conference rival Seminole, 35-6, and the Greyhounds ripped Edgewater, 46-6.

Lake Brantley piled up 43 points but dropped a 47-43 decision to Boone in a wild game at Braves Stadium in Orlando. In other action it was Oviedo scoring a 10-7 victory over DeLand in overtime.

In Sanford it was Ray Williams leading the Lake Mary Rams over the Seminoles. The Rams' defense also showed vast improvement as it held Seminole to 75 yards total offense and prevented their opponents from putting any type of offensive threat together.

Lake Mary, 1-2, will look to get into the win column in District 5A-4 action this Thursday when it travels to Daytona Beach to take on Spruce Creek. Seminole, 2-1, will look to get back on the winning track when it hosts Dr. Phillips.

At Edgewater it was Lyman's tenacious defense and the Eagles' kindness, gave away eight turnovers, that paved the way for a Greyhound victory. Lyman's offense was led by senior quarterback Steve Jerry and running back Cedric Bouey. Jerry finished with 145 yards of total offense, 87 passing and 58 rushing, and was a terror on defense as he intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble and was in on many tackles.

Bouey racked up over 100 yards rushing for the second consecutive game with 104 and came up with four touchdowns.

At Boone High School it was the Braves coming up with a 20 point fourth quarter surge that upended a tough Lake Brantley team. Brantley, fresh off a big win over Lake Mary, did not play the caliber of defensive football it is capable of and Boone capitalized on the opportunity to end its 22-game losing streak. Brantley's Mike Dantzier turned in a brilliant performance with 179 yards rushing.

Defense carries 'Canes to victory

United Press International

MIAMI — Miami's 23-3 triumph over Wisconsin left the top-ranked Hurricanes enthused about their defense and confused about a suddenly turnover-plagued offense.

The Hurricanes turned the ball over six times during a 23-3 victory Saturday over winless Wisconsin in the Orange Bowl. Add in 10 penalties and a few mental mistakes and overthrown passes, and the result was a day the Hurricane offense would just as soon forget.

Coming on the heels of a four-turnover performance last week at Michigan, the Miami offense finds itself in disarray. The Hurricanes, who turned the ball over just 16 times in 11 games last year, have 11 turnovers after three games in 1980.

Fortunately for Miami, the Hurricane defense played well enough Saturday to cover for the offense's mistakes. The Hurricanes forced five Wisconsin turnovers, scored a touchdown on a 55-yard fumble return by Bernard Clark, and set up 10 other points.

With the defense playing so well and the opponent the lowly Badgers, 0-3, a bad day by the offense could be overcome. The win was the 15th straight for the defending national champions, and the 35th consecutive regular-season victory for the Hurricanes.

Olympics

It was also difficult to get into the event, because the stadium is very large and there were very few people watching at the end.

Kingdom, winner of the 110-meter hurdles at Los Angeles from behind 31-30 victory at Michigan, it may not be so surprising that the Hurricanes — 40-point favorites at kickoff — were a bit flat against Wisconsin. "We came out flat, lackadaisical," said fullback Cleveland Gary. "I never felt they were in the game, but the turnovers were ridiculous. All I can say is 'Thank you defense.'"

Butler's interception of a Bobby McAllister pass intended for Andre Rison came in the fourth quarter and gave the Seminoles a 23-7 lead. "I was supposed to be man to man on the tight end," Butler said, describing the interception. "I think Andre Rison ran a curl behind me. He (McAllister) threw it right to me, really."

Not to be outdone by his teammate Butler, outspoken All-America cornerback Deion Sanders picked off one McAllister pass intended for Rison and returned one punt 43 yards and totaled 32 yards on two other punt returns. He is now averaging 21.5 yards per return.

second occurred in the 100 breaststroke where she finished with a winning time of 1:06.33.

To end the meet, the Lady Patriots did it the only way they knew how — flashy. Using the team of Kristen Pauley, Beth Rosenbluth, Manda Davis, and Jennifer Moon, the Lady Pats came from behind on a strong performance by Moon to out-touch the Lady Wildcats of Winter Park 3:42.79 to 3:42.83.

For other county teams, it wasn't a good showing in the winner's circle, but some fine performances were shown.

Seminole's Cissy Burgess gave the Swimmers their highest place as she won the consolation in the 100 butterfly (1:05.41) for ninth place and added a 10th in the 200 free.

Lake Mary had its ups and downs with people missing races, but still managed to take a fifth place in the 400 freestyle relay and an eighth in the 200 medley relay. The other top 16 finishers for the Lady Rams included Kelly Wise and Stasi Bojanowski.

BOLLES BOYS WIN

Even though the Bolles Bulldogs won the boys title and the overall title, the Lyman High School Greyhounds used strong performances from senior Chuck Reinighaus and junior Dave Bandy to place third.

Reinighaus was the strong 'Hound as he won the 200 individual medley with a time of 1:58.08 and placed second in the 100 freestyle with a 48.45 clocking.

Bandy was another top dog for the 'Hounds as he easily won the 500 freestyle in a time of 4:48.91.

Mayotte vs. Gilbert in semis

SEOUL, South Korea — Tim Mayotte and Brad Gilbert advanced to a semifinal match up with Olympic tennis victories Wednesday, guaranteeing at least a silver medal for one of the two Americans and a certain bronze for the other.

Top-seeded Stefan Edberg of Sweden and Czechoslovakia's Miloslav Mečíř also advanced to the medal round, in which a bronze medal will be awarded to the loser of each match. The winners will play in the final for gold and silver.

U.S. rips Puerto Rico

SEOUL, South Korea — The U.S. baseball team defeated Puerto Rico 7-2 Monday to advance to the Olympic gold medal game against Japan.

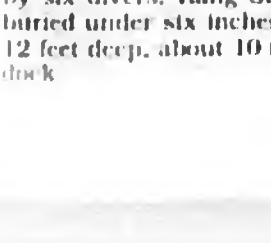

Japan, 4-0, won the gold medal four years ago, and became the home team in Wednesday's finale by virtue of a coin flip.

Right-hander Ben McDonald went the distance for the Americans, scattering nine hits in his second victory of the tournament.

He loaded the bases with one out in the ninth inning, but third baseman Robin Ventura bailed him out by scooping a roller down the line and getting the second out of the inning.

Italians churn to gold medal

SEOUL, South Korea — With the aid of a South Korean scuba diver, Italian rower Davide Tizzano will go home with an Olympic gold medal after all.

Tizzano, 20, a member of the waning quadruple sculls crew, lost his gold medal moments after the victory ceremony on Sunday when he and his three were playing in the water with their coach beside a dock at the Han River Regatta Course.

Monday afternoon, after a 50-minute search by six divers, Kang Su Nam found the medal buried under six inches of mud in water about 12 feet deep, about 10 feet from the edge of the dock.

SEOUL, South Korea — Dutch cyclist Monique Knol used a late sprint Monday to break from a pack and capture the 82 kilometer (50.8-mile) women's road race at the Olympics.

Jutta Niehaus of West Germany edged Laima Zilporite of the Soviet Union for the silver. Forty-five riders were scored with the same time as the winner, 2 hours, 52 seconds.

The flat and wide road course northwest of Seoul in Tongil Ro provided little challenge the riders, who stayed tightly packed throughout.

Bosox top Yankees, close in on AL East crown

The Boston Red Sox are taking all the credit for eliminating the New York Yankees from the American League East race.

"The Yankees are out of the race and we're responsible," Boston first baseman Todd Benzinger said after the Red Sox lowered their magic number to three with a 6-0 victory over the Yankees.

Boston's victory dropped the Yankees to fourth place in the AL East, 5 1/2 games back. Detroit is 4 1/2 behind, with Milwaukee five off the pace.

"We've got seven games left," said New York's Jack Clark. "It doesn't look good, but we've got to play them."

Brewers 4, Athletics 2

At Milwaukee, Teddy Higuera won for the eighth time in nine starts and Robin Yount went 3 for 4 for with a solo home run.

Higuera, 15-9, gave up two runs and five hits over 6 2/3 innings, while Chris Bostic got the last two outs for his fourth save. Storm Davis, 16-6, took the loss.

Twins 6, Angels 2

At Anaheim, Calif., Dan Gladden stole home with two out to break a 2-2 tie in the seventh. With a 1-1 count on Randy Bush, Gladden broke for the plate during the windup of Dan Petry, 3-8, and easily beat the pitch to the plate. Frank Viola, 23-7, yielded nine hits and walked two in seven innings, while Juan Berenguer pitched two innings for his second save.

Indians 4, Blue Jays 3

At Cleveland, Dave Clark lined a two-out single to score Andy Allanson from third base in the ninth inning. Scott Balles, 9-14, pitched two perfect innings for the victory, striking out three. Duane Ward, 9-3, took the loss.

Everett guides unbeaten Rams

United Press International

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Jim Everett threw for 236 yards and a career-high five touchdowns Sunday to lead the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams to a 45-31 triumph over the New York Giants.

Everett completed 14 of 24 passes, including scoring strikes of 2 yards to running back Greg Bell, 5 yards to running back Robert Delpino, a 14-yarder to Pete Holohan, a 41-yarder to Henry Ellard and a 69-yard bomb to Aaron Cox.

Bell, who entered the game leading the NFC with 4 TDs, scored twice and rushed 31 times for 112 yards — his third straight 100-yard effort.

The Rams, 4-0, sacked Phil Simms three times. Los Angeles last week had nine sacks against the LA Raiders.

The Giants, ranked last in the NFC in total defense entering the game, trailed 28-3 in the first half and dropped to 2-2. Simms completed 24 of 49 passes for 309 yards and two touchdowns with one interception.

The Rams capped their scoring with a 41-yard pass from Everett to Ellard with 5:24 left in the game.

Cowboys 26, Falcons 20

At Dallas, Steve Pelluer threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to Ray Alexander with 1:48 left Sunday on a play suggested by backup quarterback Danny White, giving the Cowboys a 26-20 comeback victory over Atlanta before the Cowboys' second-smallest home crowd ever at Texas Stadium.

Dallas broke a two-game losing streak to Atlanta and evened its 1968 record at 2-2 while helping Pelluer atone for fourth-quarter interceptions that cost the Cowboys a chance to win against Pittsburgh in the opener and the New York Giants two weeks ago.

Jets 17, Lions 10

At Pontiac, Mich., The Jets broke a 10-10 tie with 5:21 left in the fourth quarter when quarterback Ken O'Brien, who completed 27-of-38 passes for 253 yards and a pair of touchdowns, found veteran receiver Wesley Walker alone in the end zone for a 26-yard touchdown.

Vikings 23, Eagles 21

At Minneapolis, Tommy Kramer called it a "roller coaster." Keith Millard coined it a "big win." And Jerry Burns termed it "blessed."

However you phrase it, Minnesota's 23-21 come-from-behind win over the Philadelphia Eagles took its toll on the Vikings physically and on the Eagles mentally.

Cardinals 30, Redskins 21

Greg Horne picked up 20 yards on a fourth-down run for a first down setting up the touchdown that put the Cardinals ahead to stay in a 30-21 victory.

Bears 24, Packers 6

At Green Bay, the Chicago Bears parlayed a punting ground game and a strong pass rush Sunday into their seventh straight triumph over their archrivals, the Green Bay Packers, 24-6.

Colts keep Dolphins reeling

United Press International

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indianapolis Colts accomplished two things against the Miami Dolphins they had not done this season — maintain possession of the ball and stop a potentially decisive fourth-quarter drive.

The Colts, who came into the game last in the AFC in total yards and time of possession, held the ball for 33:59 and set up Dean Biasucci for five field goals in a 15-13 victory Sunday over the Dolphins.

When the Dolphins threatened to take the lead early in the fourth quarter but a goal-line stand held Miami at bay. The Colts were ahead 12-7 when the Dolphins drove to the Colt 2-yard line in a third down-and-1 situation. But a pair of Troy Stradford dive plays were plugged, giving the Colts the ball on downs.

The Colts took control from there, driving 91 yards over the next 8:46 to put Biasucci in position for his club-record tying fifth field goal, a 25-yard effort with 1:57 remaining that put Indianapolis ahead 15-7.

"The defense made two tremendous stands," said Colts coach Ron Meyer. "The offense was able to drive the length of the field and put points on the board when we needed it."

In their previous two games, the Colts allowed key fourth-quarter scoring drives that led to defeats.

Indianapolis, the defending

Biasucci — the Pro Bowl kicker last season who has been hampered by a hip injury the past two weeks — hit field goals from 50, 34, 41, 51 and 25 yards.

49ers 38, Seahawks 7

At Seattle, Joe Montana figures all he has to do with Jerry Rice is put the ball within reach and Rice will run under it.

That's what happened twice Sunday as 69 and 60-yard touchdowns catches by Rice led to a 38-7 win by the 49ers over the Seattle Seahawks.

Bengals 24, Browns 17

At Cincinnati, although Boomer Esiason completed only 8 of 23 passes for 183 yards and no touchdowns, a trio of Cincinnati running backs charged for 213 yards to power the undefeated Bengals to a 24-17 victory over the Browns in the "Battle of Ohio."

Chargers 24, Chiefs 23

At Kansas City, Tim Colfield was called for roughing the passer, wiping out an interception and giving San Diego another chance that the Chargers turned into a touchdown with 52 seconds to play Sunday in a 24-23 victory over the Chiefs, 1-3.

Bills 36, Steelers 28

At Cincinnati, coach Chuck Noll saw his club commit five turnovers — three fumbles and two interceptions — in Sunday's 36-28 loss to the Buffalo Bills. The Steelers' butter-on-the-bread performance came a week after they fell victim to six turnovers in a loss to Cincinnati.

Tampa, 1-3, finally got untracked early in the second quarter when Donald Igwebuike hit on the first of his three field goals, a 25-yarder, to narrow the score to 10-3.

On the ensuing kickoff, Atkins fumbled the ball on the hop at the 11 and sprinted 57 yards to the 32. The drive stalled three plays later and Andersen kicked a 11-yard field goal.

Giants 2, Dodgers 0

Dennis Cook fired a two-hitter, outdueling one of the Dodgers' strong-armed youngsters, Tim Lincecum, in a 2-0 Giants' victory.

Reds 2, Braves 1

At Atlanta, Kal Daniels delivered an RBI single with one out in the eighth off Paul Assenmacher, 8-7. Rookie Norm Charlton improved his record to 4-4 and John Franco registered his league-leading 37th save.

Padres 9, Astros 1

At San Diego, Greg Harris, 1-0, scattered four hits and struck out 11 in his first major league start. Mark Parent hit two home runs to give him five this season and four against Houston.

Mets 9, Cardinals 7

At St. Louis, David Concepcion, 19-3, took a two-hitter and a 9-0 lead into the seventh inning, when St. Louis scored six runs, three earned.

Alcoholism affects the entire family

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband is an alcoholic. He's been sick quite a bit recently. His doctor told him he wouldn't do the gall bladder surgery because his liver was in such poor shape. However, my husband keeps on drinking. I know he needs help, but he also needs to want help which, as yet, he doesn't. I have to think of myself and my children now. What can we expect if his liver fails?

DEAR READER: In a few words, you have poignantly expressed the very real concerns of a family enmeshed in the web of alcoholism: the effects of your husband's drinking on you, your children and himself. Indeed, alcoholism is a family disease. To begin with, you are correct that your husband has to want help before he will seek it. Clearly, neither you nor anyone else can "make" him stop drinking. He has yet to reach his own bottom point and then decide that he is sick and tired of being sick and tired. You must — and I mean must — find help for yourself, as the sinner of the two adults in your family. I strongly urge you to become involved in AlAnon, a support group for those individuals whose relatives or loved ones are alcoholic. You are not alone and, as you will discover when you attend meetings, there is much you can do to help yourself and your children.

As to the specific answer to your question, you can expect the worst if your husband's liver fails. The liver is a vital organ; long-term alcohol abuse damages it, causing cirrhosis (scarring) or alcohol hepatitis (inflammation). With either of these diseases, the prognosis is grim. Alcohol has other effects in the body, including mental alterations, pancreatic malfunction, heart disease, and immune-system abnormalities. Your husband is a prime candidate for alcohol-induced health problems, many of which could be fatal. With professional help, you may discover that the time is ripe for an "intervention." This consists of a meeting — often including an alcohol counselor.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

There are many suit combinations which, when played correctly, offer guaranteed extra tricks. Sometimes there will be other considerations, which will persuade you to make the "wrong" play. Declarer was called on today to execute one of these "wrong" plays. North showed good judgment in passing his aceless 13-count. He then raised one no-trump to game. West had poor choice of opening leads. He elected to lead the spade jack on the theory that it's better to lead a major than a minor against an uninformative no-trump sequence. This East-West pair played that the jack denied a higher honor, so South knew East had the king of spades. With this lead, South has eight top tricks and can guarantee a ninth by covering the spade jack with dummy's queen. East will have to cover. South will win and can set up a second spade trick by returning the suit. The danger with this line is that if West wins the spade return he might switch to a club. This could be fatal if East has the ace. To circumvent this, South made the "wrong" play of ducking in dummy and winning the ace. Then at trick two he returned a spade and finessed dummy's nine. When East won the king, South had nine tricks, and more importantly, the clubs were safe from attack. South's play was not entirely guaranteed. If West had led from J-x South would go down, losing four tricks to East's K-10-x-x of spades and another to the ace of clubs. Nonetheless, South's play was odds-on because it would work whenever West's lead was honest. (C) 1988, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

HOROSCOPE

What the day will bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
September 27, 1988
 You may enter into an extremely important alliance in the year ahead. The association might not always be harmonious, yet it will produce mutual benefits.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct 23) There is a possibility that both you and your mate may be walking around with a chip on your shoulders today. Be careful how you broach testy issues.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't play favorites today, because it could create complications if one pal learns you did something for another you refused to do for him or her.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Unless you are collectively elected, do not presume to be the spokesman for your peer group today. Some of your friends may not want you to speak for them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Sift through your objectives and eliminate goals that are not truly meaningful. You may waste time and effort achieving something that won't gratify you.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Even though your intentions will be well-meaning, it's best not to poke your nose into an associate's affairs today. This person would rather do things his or her own way.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be cautious and considerate if constructing an agreement today. If both parties are not in complete accord on all points, the arrangement may not be consummated.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you are negotiating a matter of importance today, don't underestimate the strengths of your adversary. This person may be holding more trump cards than you.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to make play out of work today, but don't play and avoid your work. Responsibilities you neglect could fester and cause complications down the line.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Usually you're not overly possessive of people you love. Today, however, you may step out of character and hold them accountable to you for all of their actions.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Make every effort to avoid confrontations today where you may be overmatched going in. Miscalculations could lead to involvements that do not work to your advantage.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you put unreasonable conditions on things that you do for others today they, in turn, will do the same thing to you at a later date. It will be a "no win" situation.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep in mind the old adage "neither a borrower nor a lender be," because misunderstandings could develop in either instance.

Adopting parents may surpass real thing

DEAR ABBY: I will never forget a letter you had in your column from a young adopted woman who asked you how to go about finding her "real" parents.

I recall reacting very strongly to that letter because I was also adopted—a fact that I have known all my life. I can't remember when I first found out, because Mom and Dad told me as soon as I was able to understand what adoption meant. They told me that I was a very special child—that they had their choice of babies, and I was the one they chose.

When I was a kid, I used to brag about it because I felt so "special." Now I realize that my parents may have gone overboard, but they didn't want me to feel insecure or inferior. Because I've never made a secret of the fact that I was adopted, I've had people ask me if I know who my "real" parents are. I simply reply, "I know who my real parents are. They are the people who fed me, clothed me and taught me right from wrong. They are the ones who sat up with me all night when I was sick, and waited up for me when I stayed out later than I should have. They paid for my education, and convinced me that I could be whatever I wanted to be. I love them more than I can ever repay."

ADVICE

I'm married now and I have children of my own, which makes me appreciate my parents even more, because I know how hard it is to be a patient, understanding parent. So why should I go searching for my "real" parents? I found them the day they found me.

ADOPTED IN ILLINOIS
DEAR ADOPTED: Unfortunately, not all adopted children share your beautiful, generous attitude. Read on.

DEAR ABBY: This is for all adopted (or step) children who insist on using the term "real" mother or father.

I married a divorced woman who had two small daughters by a previous marriage. I adopted these little girls, and gladly, I had never been married, and could not have loved my own flesh and blood more. Their biological father did nothing for them. He ignored his legal obligation to pay child support, and for years, he never sent them a birthday gift or a Christmas card. However, he did come into their lives just a few years ago, full of remorse and begging forgiveness for having been such a lousy father all those years.

Abby, I sent both these girls to college in style. Neither one of them finished, which was a big disappointment to me. The oldest girl ran off with a flake and got married. That marriage lasted a year. She went through a nasty divorce, and I was there to hold her hand and give her moral support through it all.

Well, she is being married again, and this time she is going to have a lovely church wedding. Can you imagine how I felt when this girl informed me that she wanted her "real" father to walk her down the aisle?
