Traffic Accidents On Increase

Spurred by a sharp increase in the number and seriousness of traffic accidents in Seminole County since Jan. 1, sentiment is growing to take logical and practical steps to stop this destruction of life and property. Two of these, given top priority by County Prosecutor Kenneth W. McIntosh in a hard-hitting speech to the Sanford Lions at their weekly meeting in the Civic Center yesterday, are examinations to assure proper physical condition in both the autos and the operators and an end to drinking drivers.

Those sobering recommendations were offered against a background of statistics and personal experiences. "Since Jan. 1, 1967," McIntosh announced, "our office has handled 130 accident cases. Most of these are true 'road-hogging' which we describe as failure to yield right-of-way, improper turning, backing, stopping, changing lane and speeding."

The Seminole County attorney recognized the fact that many living here are quite ready to accept traffic accidents as major problems in the great metropolitan areas of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, "but it can't happen here." With a wry smile McIntosh quoted national traffic statistics which shows that Florida rates high in this respect. "For every 100 million miles driven in the state, Florida shows a 5.7 per cent accident rate; in Chicago its is 5 per cent; in New York 4.9 per cent with California in the same class."

"Something must be done" was the theme of his remarks. Among these things he placed an inspection of the autos as "a recent survey showed that of every four cars that pass you on the highway, three have never been inspected." As for driver examinations, McIntosh spoke with great feeling as he told of persons he has seen who suffered from almost total lack of vision and yet felt competent to drive. In a question-and-answer period he spoke of problable legislative action which would take place to assure the physical competence of every driver.

His strongest remarks were made about those who use alcoholic beverages and then drive. In accident causes he placed this near the top. As a prosecuting attorney he told of the difficulty of finding jurors who can free themselves from the natural reaction of "social drinkers" who hear a driver claim that he "had a couple of beers" but was not under the influence so far as operating an auto was concerned. Such jurors place themselves in the accused's shoes and lose the dispassionate, impersonal attitude to evidence which good jury trials demand.

He referred to the experience in Norway where a law requires that an auto driver who is involved in an accident and who has "the smell of liquor on his breath" loses his licenses to drive, resulted in a 68.7 per cent decrease in such offenses.

The office of the county prosecutor is not only experiencing an increase in traffic accident cases but the case load has doubled when the first three months of 1967 are compared with a year ago; in 1967, the office had a total of 3,296 cases; in 1966 the comparative figure was 652.

And, of the cases which were filed in this office in 1966, only 148 of the 3,270 are still open, McIntosh announced. These are in various phases of completion: continuation, judgment and sentence withheld, preliminary hearings underway, pre - sentence investigations not completed and not guilty pleas pending for trial are some of the classifications.

McIntosh asked for an all-out drive to halt the increase in traffic accidents which make front-page news almost every day. All of the law enforcement agencies are mobilized. But all drivers must take their share of responsibility: drive defensively, use seat belts, and avoid drinking before driving.

'Loophole' To Aid Schools?

A "loophole" which may provide additional state moneys for new school construction in Seminole County was being investigated today by Sen. Kenneth Plante (R-Altamonte Springs) at Tallahassee.

Plante informed The Sanford Herald a "sleeper" has been found in an account known as "county school additional capital outlay trust fund," held by the state treasurer.

The law, the senator said, provides the state treasurer shall set aside each year a sum of $13,750,000 to be used to meet "drastic needs in school construction." He added that he has requested the attorney for the Senate to investigate whether any moneys may be made available from this account for Seminole County.

Plante this morning co-signed a measure which would reduce the student load per teacher from 27 to 25, estimated to cost the state, if approved, $59 million.

Meanwhile, it was reported delegations of school parents, especially from South Seminole County, were to attend the School Board session this afternoon in protest to possible double sessions next year.

J. E. Murray, Altamonte School principal, this morning quoted Mrs. William Segrest, president of the Altamonte PTA, as informing a PTA meeting last night that a state feasibility study shows double sessions may be required for the next three to five years in South Seminole County. (Mrs. Segrest was not available for comment today.)

However, Plante said double sessions may not be needed if construction is started on additions to present school facilities. He said this construction, on present school properties, would alleviate the need for new construction on new sites.

Negro Ministers Blast County Mixing

The Seminole County Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, made up of Negro pastors, severely criticized the School Board today urging Negro parents to send their youngsters to Negro schools.

The alliance made the statement after school board members ordered a phase out of seventh and eighth grades recently at Jackson-Heights, Midway and Rosenwald Schools. Some 140 pupils will be transferred in the fall.

At the same time, Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee said the board has acted in good faith in following the guidelines. "We have never denied any request for transfer," Milwee emphasized.

The statement released by the alliance states:

"In the process of desegregation of schools, Negroes have sent their children to the white schools, but no white children have been sent to Negro schools, and no grades have been cut off white schools, but grades have been cut off three Negro schools in this county and possibly a fourth school.

"In other words, Negroes have been giving all and receiving nothing. The whole pattern is the Negro giving and the other group receiving. Negro teachers are good teachers and will be more patient and understanding with your child if for but one reason alone, he is a Negro and understands your problem.

"The Negro Ministerial Alliance is asking that Negro parents send their children to Negro schools until such time desegregation is a two-way street. Parents have until April 30 to change their choice. Please, choose Negro schools for Negro children."

Bill Deadline Set Monday By Lawmakers

TALLAHASSEE (Spl.) — Political subdivisions in Seminole County desiring to have legislation pushed through the current session of the State Legislature must submit their proposals not later than Monday.

This was the warning issued by Rep, E. Pope Bassett (R-Altamonte Springs), secretary of the Seminole-Orange County delegation in the Legislature.

Bassett reiterated the warning issued Wednesday by Sen. Kenneth Plante (R-Altamonte Springs). Both were agreed only one proposal had been received, that of the municipalities wanting a share of the county's race track tax distribution. This bill was thrown out because it was submitted originally after the cut-off date of April 4.

John Ducker (R-Orlando) was named today as minority floor leader of the House of Representatives, while Bassett and Jan Fortune (R-English Estates) were named to the Republican policy committee.

Top priorities on three Seminole County road projects and a new Osteen bridge were approved early this afternoon by the State Road Department in Tallahassee.

A SRD spokesman informed The Sanford Herald by telephone the board met to consider budgetary measures and top priority programs under its new five-year road planning program.

The spokesman said the board approved these projects with No. 1 priorities:

State Road 426, widening and resurfacing, 6.85 miles, from Goldenrod to Oviedo, $350,000, to be completed during the 1967-68 fiscal year.

State Road 436, four-laning, 4.42 miles, from Orange County to Interstate 4, $500,000, in 1970-71.

State Road 415, new bridge over the St. Johns River and two miles of new highway to State Road 46, $1.2 million, in 1970-71.

State Road 46, two laning, 5.1 miles, from Wekiva River to Interstate 4, $600,000, in 1970-71.

These projects will be accomplished with current revenues.

The SRD spokesman said also that top priorities have been given these projects, should funds become available:

State Road 426, widen and repair 7.8 miles from Oviedo to Geneva, $270,000, in 1969-70.

U. S. 17-92, four-laning of 2.88 miles around Lake Monroe from French Avenue to I-4, $335,000, 1971-72.

Oviedo Breathes Easier; Two Missing Girls Found

Oviedo is breathing a little easier today after an all night search for two run-away teenagers proved fruitful with the return of the girls this morning to their parents by Police Chief George Kelsey.

Disappearance of the girls age, 12 and 13 years old from Oviedo Junior-Senior High School Wednesday afternoon and their absence into the night brought fear to the community that the girls had met with "foul play."

When Chief Kelsey found a torn blouse which belonged to one of the teenagers, an immediate search of the surrounding area was organized.

Following an all-night vigil the girls were found at 8 a.m. by Chief Kelsey in the swamp behind the Poli Brothers Construction Company.

Kelsey reports the girls had run away from school "for kicks." Citations have been issued on juvenile court charges of breaking and entering. The girls had broken into a house and stolen food and clothing.

Merchants Hear Downtown Mall Cost Estimates

Plans for revitalizing the downtown Sanford area were presented to the "We Care" Merchants by Architect Eoghan Kelley last night.

The merchants appeared well pleased with the project and set up a committee to research cost estimates. Kelley estimated that parking facilities for the Mall project will cost around $750,000 and another $225,000 for the mall, advertising directory and child care center.

Kelley emphasized that the overall project could be accomplished in phases. Kelley plans to meet again with the City Zoning and Planning Board on April 20 to discuss more details on the project.

In the eligibility and feasibility check list submitted to federal authorities, the city estimated the cost of construction, land acquisition and site improvements at $152,980.

'Action' Maps Out 'Help Yourself' Plan

An extensive program aimed at helping the depressed help themselves was proposed by Robert Petree at the Community Action executive board meeting last night.

Petree, discussing the recent field trip taken by executive board members, spelled out the deplorable conditions in Bookertown and urged a people-to-people campaign to rid the area of trash and a mass clean up drive.

Petree emphasized that the project could steamroll with every depressed area reaping benefits from an all county drive.

He also proposed "Action" seek volunteer help from all service organizations in the county including Jaycees, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs to volunteer some weekend help to the project.

Assistant Executive Director Amos Jones told the board "these people really want to help themselves and this could be the first step."

The board plans another field trip on May 3 and plans to map out their clean up drive in more extensive detail after that.

In other business, the board set May 17 for its next general membership meeting.

Agreed to cooperate with the city on establishing a community youth center in the Goldsboro area.

Korean War

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — About 100 North and South Korean soldiers exchanged fire for two hours before dawn today in the biggest border clash since the 1953 Korean armistice. At least three North Koreans and one South Korean were killed.

Fair For All!

The suggestion has been made that the cities in Seminole County request the County Commission for assistance for city recreational facilities.

Is this a fair approach?

One city says outsiders use the facility and it is an extra burden to municipal taxpayers. Frankly, the Herald feels the public should not expect to use recreational facilities unless they pay through taxes or fees, which is the case with the City of Sanford and many throughout Florida and the nation.

Now what's the county's position? There has been no construction of recreation facilities in the county that could be pointed to as using tax funds collected inside cities to provide for county residents. Last year, however, the county, under John Alexander's dynamic leadership, started a recreational facilities program to be built at some 20 school sites throughout the county and the cities as well. Most schools have no facilities, the children are at school most of the day and adults can use the facilities after school hours.

This seems to make financial sense to avoid duplication of recreational facilities and at the same time does create a countywide system.

The Herald feels it is a big step in the right direction to provide recreational facilities that can be used by both city and county residents and we again congratulate the County Commission.

But if the county should expand that program to assist on city recreation facilities then we can expect a bigger county tax bill on all residents for recreation facilities.

We also support equity — users paying for the services and believe the county program is fair for all.

Creeping Sea Of Waste

Must the affluent society also be the "effluent" society?

A few days after the typical housewife carries in two or three shopping bags full of grocery store items, the typical husband (or is a typical?) carries out those same bags filled with garbage, cartons, bottles and cans.

It averages out, according to one estimate, to about eight pounds of waste a day for each citizen. Multiply this by some 196 million Americans and you have the staggering total of over 780,000 tons of the stuff that must somehow be disposed of every day.

Add to this the fact that the volume of waste is growing more rapidly than the population while the available space for its disposal (whether in the air, the water or the ground) is declining.

"The consequence," noted the official journal of the U. S. Public Health Service some time ago, "is that the garbage can, refuse pile and junk heap have moved out of the individual back yard, garage or attic into the public arena."

Communities may spend as little as $2.50 a ton for refuse and garbage disposal to as much as $18 a ton. Those which are running out of landfill areas are having problems with incinerators as well, both because of the growing use of non-burnable items and growing public awareness of the threat of air pollution.

What is needed is a new concept: Not disposal but salvage, not just use but re-use. Attractive, completely contained reclamation plants can be built with present technology. Some are already in operation in a few cities. Inside them, all kinds of refuse is not only handled economically and inoffensively but processed into marketable forms, such as soil conditioners.

Waste reclamation is a concept and a practice which must eventually be adopted by more and more communities and must eventually embrace the whole spectrum of the affluent society's effluence — from the individual household garbage can on up to the largest industry.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A strange thing happened to two psychiatrists who went with a team to help "unfortunate" children in poverty-stricken areas of Appalachia.

They did find people in need of help. But they found other things.

They said: "We have seen few 'neurotic' problems in mountain schools. Teachers, do not describe and we have not seen the mixture of nihility and nonperformance that characterizes the child with a 'learning block.'"

"We have to comment," they noted in describing the poverty of Appalachia, "on the difference between a (poor mountain) youth who may have 'little' in the economic sense ahead of him, but a firm idea of exactly who he is, where he comes from . . . and what he would like . . . and a (city middle-class) youth who has a 'lot,' (but who is uncertain) . . . about where he will go or what he will do . . ."

The two psychiatrists, Dr. Robert Coles of Harvard and Dr. Joseph Brenner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, found a "greater sense of family, of shared allegiance to parents and grandparents that somehow makes for relatively more co-operative activity, frolic and eventually work than one sees among many other American children."

They found brothers and sisters living and playing together "without evidence of the charged, defiant 'individuality' one finds so often in middle-class city homes"!

They believe "a nation that knows widespread delinquency" and which has "almost made a virtue of youth's rebellion and fast departure from home" will be interested in what makes these Appalachain youth stick to the family and strongly want to return home if they do move away.

The secret, the two men found, was that these young men and women have ties to cousins, to neighbors, to a host of relatives as well as parents. These ties come, said the psychiatrists, because "even before adolescence, mountain children learn that a family is no laughing matter—no temporary arrangement characterized by divorce, constant movement and a strictly limited membership, lucky to include anyone outside a set of parents and . . . a matching set of children. Kin —relatives of one sort or another— have a real and well-known meaning."

"Since families mean a lot, in old age they continue to mean a lot. The elderly are usually spared that final sense of abandonment and uselessness so commonly the fate of the middle-class suburban aged."

In addition, the two medical men said, they found in the mountain children "a developing intimacy with the soil, the land's surface and variations, its changing height, its bodies of water, its ability to produce food or supply ore . . . Children learn to care for animals, to feed them and to clean up after them, to help them in sickness . . . to have them as company, a kind of uncomplicated, nonhuman company."

They told of a white mother who recently left Appalachia for the North.She had said, "You get up here and you can get a job better than back home, but whether it's worth it or not, to tell the truth, I'm not sure. The other day I told my husband that I don't think my children ever see the earth any more.

Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP)— If tomorrow a nuclear war bathed every continent in bombs, the survivors would probably clamor for a one-world government as the best hope of ending war forever.

They wouldn't have dreamed of such a solution, or permitted it, before the bombs made it seem a necessity for survival. Without compulsion mankind isn't likely soon to end the barriers between nations.

Since nationalism is only an extension of tribalism, and man is still primitive, he can't without compulsion stop thinking in tribal terms. The transition from "me first" to "me too" is a long way off.

No wonder then that neither President Johnson nor any of the Latin-American presidents at the summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, is apt to come up with solution for the special interests of them all.

The Latin Americans went into this meeting with feuds disputes over borders, and insistence on trade preferences in the common market the United States wants them to create by the 1980's.

The disputes, differences and antagonisms of the Latin Americans are even more true of the Latin Americans or Africans, since they have been in turmoil since their beginning, and they have been at it longer.

Johnson would like the Latin Americans to agree on a common market to trade with each other for the benefit of them all But each is primarily interested in its own problems and benefits.

This isn't peculiar to the Latin Americans. There has been no bed of roses in Europe's Common Market where that extreme nationalist, French President Charles de Gaulle, kept the British out.

If World War II hadn't almost destroyed them, it's doubtful the West Europeans would have shown for generations as much, although limited, cooperation as they have since the war.

Survival there, of course, was the compelling necessity.

And the United States, despite all its help for them, can hardly claim unselfishness in its solicitude for the people of Latin America.

A peaceful, prosperous Latin America is extremely important to the United States in a couple of vital ways.

First, it's a great benefit to American national security, for if the area is prosperous, a Communist intrusion is less likely; and, second, a prosperous Latin America is a good trade outlet for U. S. products.

Nationalism and self-interest have even made a farce of the brotherhood of communism which for so long tried to belittle both.

Partisan interpretation would explain that the Soviet Union's expansion after the war, when it made satellites out of the East Europeans, was the product of missionary zeal.

But the reality is that Moscow now has a wall of millions of non-Soviets between itself and any new aggression from the West. It got another important benefit from dominating East Europe and trying hokey-pokey in Africa.

LETTERS

To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

There is a very simple way also that your newspaper can save money. You simply get to work an hour earlier and work from 7 a. m. to 12 without coffee-break or rest period. Then, you clear your desk and leave so that someone else can come in and use your desk on a second shift in the afternoon. Think of it! You could put out two newspapers from the same plant with two complete staffs.

Of course there would be no time for thinking, or chatting or reading other material to keep up on things, but aren't they really frills that should be done at home anyway? Forget the inconvenience of sharing typewriters or desk drawers. After all you're saving money.

Honestly, haven't you misrepresented the majority of educator's stands on double sessions? If the children will have the same experience in four hours that they would have had in six and a half, then the six and a half hour program should be re-evaluated.

The latest research indicates that the young child learns much more than has been believed possible given the proper stimulating environment and teaching. You are suggesting that we in South Seminole cheat our children even more by restricting their time in school. Already Florida is lacking a kindergarten program and educators have come out in favor of beginning a child's education with schooling at age 4. Classrooms are horribly overcrowded. We spend less than half in Florida per year per child what some districts in the United States spend. Southern students on the average do less well on national testing programs, and the Florida rate of Military rejects because of insufficient knowledge is high enough to be a disgrace.

Every tax payer may not have a child in school, but the children we are educating now will be the Doctors, Nurses, Scientists, and Technicians of the future. The ones we aren't educating will be on welfare or in jail to be supported the rest of their lives.

As a trained teacher as well as a parent and taxpayer, I strongly feel that the children's attitudes toward school and their basic foundation gained in the first years are important. To skimp because of cheap penny pinching is a false economy and will harm both the child and society later.

Double sessions are a disgrace to our county. I should think they will hurt not only the children but the county image. Certainly they will discourage any professional people and businesses from moving in.

Sincerely
Mrs. R. H. Coulter

Editor, Herald:

To the residents of Longwood, I wish to commend Councilman Eugene Jaques for speaking his mind. I will say for the last six months of my term of office I tried to get a building for the Police Department with no success.

Knowing what was in the budget, I believe approximately $15,000 has been spent by the Council that was not budgeted for the purposes for which the funds were spent. If the council and mayor wish to start cutting expense now, why don't they begin eliminating the salaries of the mayor and council? I believe the legality of these salaries is questionable and I intend to obtain a determination of its legality.

Also of the propriety of council's taking the word of one councilman on the purchase of an item costing over $1,500. Why wasn't this item put out for bids? A tractor was also purchased for $1,500.

Please don't jeopardize our citizens of the protection of an adequate police department for a few dollars.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Amelia's case should be used as a model in high school as well as Sunday School classes. For you can change your face without plastic surgery! You can thus add far more beauty and charm to it, without any more rouge or lipstick. And this transformation can take place in just two weeks! See below!

CASE C-516: Amelia D., aged 28, is an American Airlines stewardess.

She was rejected during her first personal interview, just because she looked scared.

"Why," the Personnel Director explained, "you probably don't realize it, but you look as if you would jump out of the window in fright if anybody said 'Boo.'

"So I'll give you a second chance if you will follow my advice.

"For you can re-train your facial muscles till they will remain in a smile, even when your face is in its natural state of repose.

"Oh, at the outset, you will feel very self-conscious.

"It will seem that you are permanently retaining that forced, artificial smile we all turn on when having our picture taken.

"But eventually you will no longer feel foolish or self-conscious.

"And within a couple of weeks, your smile will then become the natural appearance of your face.

"So smile at yourself in the morning as you brush your teeth.

"And as you walk along the street downtown, look at your reflection in the store windows and keep smiling.

"Then come back in two weeks and I think you will get an O.K. to become one of our airline stewardesses."

Muscle Training

Amelia faithfully followed his prescription.

She admitted that for a few days, she felt very foolish at flashing a smile all the time, even when nobody was looking.

"But, Dr. Crane," she added, "in a couple of days, I no longer was so conscious of the new position of my facial muscles.

"And at the end of 10 days, a little old lady walked up to me on the street and complimented me on my cheery smile.

"Yet I hadn't even realized I had been smiling!

"So that convinced me that the Personnel Director at American Airlines was correct.

"And at the end of those two weeks I returned to his office for my personal interview.

"He gave me an O.K. and praised me for the chance I had made in my face.

"And I have been delighted with my new job."

Sign Language

Readers, when you smile, you indulge in wholesome sign language that buoys up the morale of those around you.

For a smile is a non-verbal compliment.

It tells your companions that you are friendly and delighted at meeting them.

Which obviously inflates their ego and changes their outlook on life.

Everybody is born with this famous motto tattooed on his chest:

"I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT!"

But we get chewed out and reprimanded, scolded and deflated a dozen times for every compliment.

In fact, compliments are so unusual that most people don't know how to receive them, so they just gurgle in blushing confusion.

But compliments spread cheer and happiness, both the smiling or "sign language" compliment, plus the spoken words of praise.

So send for my booklet on "The Compliment Club," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents and start yourself on the road to happiness!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Herald Writer Goes Western

By BETTY CANARY

A few days ago I was just replacing the lid on the electric toaster (to hide the toning before the girls came to lunch) when the phone rang, rattling a family skeleton in the closet.

It was Jack Longan of The Sheridan, Wyoming, Press telling me about his town's last-ditch efforts to raise $135,000 to preserve the historical Sheridan Inn where colorful characters of the Old West like Buffalo Bill and Calamity Jane used to stay and play.

The tie-in was that I've heard since childhood that I'm a distant relative of Calamity Jane. The fund raisers thought I might come out and liven things up a bit.

Calamity was a boisterous belle of the Old West who was born in Missouri and lived a wild life of Indian scouting and carrying the mail over the plains during the frontier days.

I was already packing my saddlebags when he added the clincher: Hollywood's Robert Taylor who vacations in the hills near Sheridan launched a nationwide appeal for Americans to "Send a Buck to Buffalo Bill."

Who was I to ignore Robert Taylor's plea to help preserve Americana? The ironing could just wait in the toaster.

Besides, this was a chance in a lifetime. Who wouldn't love a firsthand peek into the closet where those family skeletons are rattling around? You see, Calamity Jane was the spot where Sheridan was supposedly picked up by her name. She received a cavalry officer when he fell off his horse.

When I was a little girl I got varying reactions when I would ask, "Is my middle name really after Calamity Jane?" That was a relation, you see, where if we had had a picture, it definitely would have been faced against the wall outside.

Aunt Thence would choke a bit and say, "Sweetheart, I wouldn't tell anybody," and Uncle Ira would say, "It sure is! Now there was a woman!"

About then Aunt Effie would start to cry and mother would suggest I go wash my hands — after she gave father what we called "that look."

CALAMITY JANE

Somehow none of them saw her as picturesque. I believe notorious was more what they had in mind.

Well, I did arrive in Sheridan. True, I was not smoking a cigar or driving a team of mules but I did manage a rather modern day Calamity Jane style. I lost my ticket in Denver, my suitcase somewhere after Chicago and two buttons had popped off my coat.

I was going to apologize for flying in instead of coming by horseback or stage, but after that ride I apologized for nothing. However, I hope Ed Sullivan hears about the steward ess on that flight. She would be a knockout on television. The girl must practice serving coffee from a trampoline.

So it really was a Wild West weekend and I felt I had come home.

I danced with Buffalo Bill's grandson and, would you believe, William Henry Harrison, (Yes, Viginia, there really was a Hoosier President Harrison and his grandson is now congressman from Wyoming.)

I visited Buffalo Bill's favorite room in the inn and saw where they say his son-in-law killed himself.

I talked to Miss Kate Arnold who works at the inn and remembers Calamity and I could almost see Teddy Roosevelt bounding down the stairs the way he used to do.

I rode a stagecoach, pretzed a buffalo and got kidnapped by dry gulchers during a train ride on the old CB & Q.

But despite all the rattling of the skeletons' bones and talking to all the old-timers, I couldn't pin down a definite trace of a relationship to that famous character. But then maybe it's best to let myths alone — they are often more interesting than reality.

When the festival was over it was back to reality for me. Bob Haney and the kids had eaten their way through the freezer full of peanut butter sandwiches.

Next time the whole family must go and I hope Americans respond to Robert Taylor's appeal so the old inn is still standing.

The winners of the West real ly slept there and after riding a bouncing Boeing over the Rockies my respect for the old pioneers who did it on broncos goes up a thousandfold.

"There isn't a better intermediate size car sold in the United States than the 1967 Rebel"

says Tom McCahill, automobile expert for Mechanix Illustrated

Tom McCahill evaluates the automobile industry for Mechanix Illustrated. Recently, he took out an SST hardtop equipped with a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8 for an exhaustive series of road tests. How did our Excitement Machine perform?

"In roadability and performance, it would top most of the newer specialty cars. There's absolutely no phone-and little body roll. The whole feel of the car, when going over ruts or across dirt roads, is excellent."

What about comfort?

"It's extremely comfortable and relaxing to drive. In straight-line driving the SST is as comfortable as the Jell-O specials."

How about Rebel's new four-link rear suspension?

"Of all the new sporty-type cars, as they come from the showroom, Rebel has by far the best and safest suspension of the whole kit and caboodle."

And the looks?

"As sharp in appearance as a thousand-dollar bill. And from a cost angle, Rebel's not overpriced."

This is your kind of excitement, created by American Motors. A company that has created an entire line of six-passenger Excitement Machines that give you more excitement for the money.

See your American Motors / Rambler Dealer. He'll convince you the 1967 Rebel is the best intermediate built in the country today. Then do what Tom McCahill did. Take a test-drive.

BRASS MOTORS, 519 E. FIRST STREET

"Frankly, I never thought I'd be making such a statement."

"Come on, John, you can't learn too much just from driving these balls on the range. Let's play a couple of holes."

So, I follow Mayfair Pro Bob Cooke over to the first tee and lo and behold there are two kids just getting ready to tee-off and they've invited to join us ADULTS . . . and maybe learn a pointer or two.

Nothin' bugs me more than having to go around and some kids trying to find their ball in the rough. But, oh well, be tolerant, old man. Remember, the first time you went out and you shot a 126? (Come to think of it, it's not much less than that today.)

First up is S.O.S. and I'm in second heaven cause it's down the middle and out about 200 yards (ah, would you believe 150?) But anyway, for me, it was pretty good and glancing at the kids I see a couple of admiring glances. I'm feeling better already.

Cookie out-drives me and then these two kids tee up.

"Now don't be nervous, I won't write a word about you dubbing a few of 'em", says I. (who shudda never opened his yap).

KAB-BOOOOM!!!!! First one and then the other sails his tee-shot like a frozen rope, a good 225 to 250 yards right down the middle. (At this point I'm on my knees asking that the ground open up and swallow me for a hole in one.)

Then I find out that I've been 'took' and these 14 year olds are Bubba Parks and Billy Kratzert, two sure shots as far as I'm concerned to eventually hit the pro circuit.

This Billy-boy used a wedge for his second shot on the ninth hole and put it right by the pin. And I promised Bubba that I'd never mention his junior league bowling scores (just kidding, cause he was pretty good there, too.), but he surely can get the distance with a soft swing.

Good luck, kids. I hope I never have to shoot against either one of you. Give me someone easy, like Nicklaus or Brewer or . . . . . (yah, better quit, John . . . 'cause you're just askin' for it again.)

BUBBA PARKS BILLY KRATZERT

This column expresses its thanks to John Krider, executive manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, for his sending down for our "Look See", three pictures of Sanford baseball clubs of years gone by.

Krider, as many of you know, served as president of the Florida State League for seven years, succeeding a well known gentleman, A. S. "Syd" Herlong, Jr., now a member of Congress. Krider says he never had any umpire trouble. Some of his "umps" went to triple "A" ball and one, Ken Burkhardt, is sailing 'em in the National League. Another of his umpires is now a member of Florida Legislature — Bill Reedy.

Who of you local fans remember the "Lookouts" of 1937? The name "Lookouts" didn't mean a thing to me until I was told that the 1937 local club was a farm team of the Chattanooga team, an affiliate of the Washington "Senators."

In 1939, the "Lookouts" were Florida State League champions. The team's ace pitcher was Sid Hudson (remember him). He made the big show the very next year with Washington. The team also had a "Dizzy" Dean, but it wasn't the famous radio broadcaster, who once in a while gives out with "Wabash Cannon Ball."

In 1946, Hal Gruber, last heard from in Orlando, was the skipper. Buddy Lake, Sanford's "old pro," headed the pitching staff and a note on the picture tells me he was voted the league's most valuable player that year. I don't know what year it was; maybe one of you fans can set me straight, but Buddy pitched a 19 inning game in DeLand and, in the top of the 19th frame, hit a home run to win his own game.

Krider who was signed out of high school by the "White Sox" and traded to the then Brooklyn "Dodgers," was pitching for Scranton in the New York-Pennsylvania League. He had a no hitter going with two out in the ninth, when Buddy Lake beat out an infield single to spoil it all, and today John and Buddy are the best of friends, believe it or not.

Well, it's been a long, long time since there has been baseball in Sanford. Some of the old timers tell me of the rivalry that existed between Sanford and Orlando, years back. Nearly every game broke up in a free-for-all. Those were the good old days . . . . may they come again!

S.O.S. FLASHES . . . . Congrats to Jimmie Livingston on being elected as 'Prez' of the Florida Women's State Golf Association. Quite an honor for such a "CHARMER" . . . . (O.K. Knock it off poet.) . . . Won't that be some battle when Lyman and Seminole meet in the baseball Sub Group Pairings in Leesburg, April 22? That's assuming that both of these excellent nines get by their opponents: Lyman meets Leesburg and Seminole goes against Lakeview. Sure want to pick a 'winnah' (you know me and my predictions- 1.14) but are they ever balanced this year with tops in hitting and pitching. Gonna be some game, I'll tell you . . . If you see a zig-zagging boat out on Lake Monroe, don't get alarmed it's just the West family from 127 E. Woodlawn Drive in Pinecrest. The still can't get themselves straightened out after winning (Hey, you can't say that, John) that Cobin boat in the Seminole High Boosters promotion. Gee, and they even told me they'd bend the corner of my ticket to make sure I'd be the winner. Gotta check with that West family. Maybe theirs was bent on both corners, huh? Congratulations and have loads of fun this summer and if you take along enough of that cold, wet and delicious stuff and you can't drink it all, remember — put out a call for S.O.S.

If you like to see sky divers in action, there'll be three days of continuous action over at the Kissimmee Airport on April 28, 29, 30. And I'd like to correct that vicious rumor making the rounds that I'll be jumping, too. May be wishful thinking on the part of some . . . . but I lack two important C's — a chute and COURAGE . . . It's a darn shame that those vandals are 'at work' at the Dusty Boots Arena. Litter the place with empty beer cans and kick-in doors, etc. Hope that they hit one of those doors with a horse in it and that it reciprocates the favor.

Casselberry Tops Altamonte In Play

The Casselberry Indians defeated the Altamonte Twins 10-1 last night in the Seminole Little League at Cooper Field at Casselberry. The loss dropped the Twins from the unbeaten ranks and put them in a tie with Casselberry for first place in the league standings.

Larry Brown, who has yet to lose a game, hurled a sparkling two hit shut-out for Casselberry, fanning 10 batters in six innings. Wilder and Mark Thompson combined for a one hitter for the Twins.

Paul McKay scored the only run of the game for Casselberry in the bottom of the fifth inning, when two Altamonte errors allowed him to circle the bases on an infield hunt.

Tom Bacchus had the only hit of the game for the Indians, a single over second base in the second inning. Ricky Nuss rapped a pair of singles for the Twins.

On Tuesday night Ricky Nesmith hurled a one hit shut-out for Lake Mary as the third place Glants defeated the Altamonte Senators 4-0. Nesmith and Bob Bordaux hit home runs for Lake Mary. Bruce Dilworth had the only hit for the Senators, a single off Nesmith.

Forest City whipped Sunland 10-4 on Monday night. James Keane was the winning pitcher for the Pirates. White and Chapman paced the Forest City attack with a pair of singles apiece. Chris Daigle rapped a single and a double for the Yankees.

In Saturday's Major League play, Forest City whipped Longwo.. 9-6 behind the seven-hit pitching of Chapman. Jim Keane belted two singles and a home run for the Pirates, while Carter had two singles and a double. Rankin tagged a double and a home run for Longwood. Doug Sturgill laced a single and a double for the Braves.

Also on Saturday, the Twins the one-hit pitching of Mark whipped Lake Mary 11-0 behind Thompson. Tom Wheaton had the only safety for Lake Mary, a single. Mullins and Ed Nuss rapped a pair of singles apiece for the Twins.

In Minor League action this past week, the Twins and Lake Mary battled to a 13-13 tie on Saturday afternoon. Also on Saturday, Forest City swamped Longwood 14-2. On Monday night, Sunland and Forest City deadlocked 10-10 in a slugfest. The Altamonte Senators whipped Lake Mary 14-4 on Tuesday night. Altamonte's Twins bombed Casselberry 18-2 in last night's action.

Longwood and North Orlando will play at Cooper Field this evening with the Minor League beginning at 6 p.m. and the Major League game at 8.

Joe Pauline Pitches Kiwanis Over C.P.O.

Joe Pauline allowed only two hits in leading the Kiwanis Junior Baseball League team to a 5-1 win over C.P.O. last night, while the loss was charged to Stan Winfree. Ron Nobles led the winners at the plate with three hits.

In other league action, the Civitans were shut-out by the Shrine, 2-0 as Al Crooms stopped the losers on only five hits.

In going the route, Crooms was tough in the clutch, striking out 12 men.

Modern Mobile Homes took over undisputed first place in the Metro Softball League Standings when they drubbed the Pinecrest Rexall team, 14-7. The league leaders were paced with two hits apiece from Art Mackey, Don Harvey, Jim Butler and J. R. Metts as Ron Dudley clipped three hits in a losing cause.

Cobin balanced their wons and losses at one all last night, taking a game from American Oil 6-2.

Harold Helms received credit for the win while LeRoy Estridge was charged with the loss. Don Griffin and George Griffin had three hits each for Cobin.

More Horses Arrive

Downs Set For Opener

Horses continue to fill the empty stalls at Seminole Downs as the opening date of April 21 approaches. Vans are bringing the cannucigers from all parts of the state, representing many of the prominent owners of the Sunshine State.

Four of the more recent arrivals at the Casselberry course are from Miamian Louis Wolfson's Harbour View Farm. Mostly consisting of younger horses the Harbour View clan will be trained by R. L. Cayne and is expected to increase in number as the meeting draws nearer to its opening.

Others joining the influx are Starlite Farm, Ocala Stud, Meadowbrook and many other leading farms of Central Florida. Trainer Harold Hedges will condition the chargers from Starlite Farm and this band includes the four-year-old colt Drillmaster. Drillmaster campaigned in the Miami area during the winter, and will be one of the leading candidates for handicap honors at Seminole. Another fine runner on the grounds has the handle of Runforme. Runforme is owned by E. C. McGinnis and trained by Floridian J. W. McIlvain.

Florida horses and Florida owned horses will have the spot light during the straight meeting. Interest is still running high among the members of thoroughbred racing's family, as summer racing for the state is now on the calendar. The fans of the Sport of Kings will see some of America's greatest names of the turf in the owner column when the horses go to the post.

Activity has reached a fevered pitch at the race track. The morning workouts have filled the track each morning, the thoroughbreds getting "legged up" for the challenge of competition that is before them. Starter Manuel Padilla has schooling from the gate each morning, these sessions primarily for the two-year-olds who will feel the impact of racing for the first time. Their eagerness is shown in their efforts during the morning workouts, and many will know the glory of the winner's circle, while some may never get there.

The countdown has begun, the launching of Florida's new race track is nearing blastoff. Hope you "Join The Win Crowd" at Seminole Downs.

'Tide' Rated Top Choice In SOKC Derby

Don Abernathy's young Shifting Tide is the morning line choice to win tonight's derby consolation at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The powerful pup was knocked out of a berth in the Friday night derby when he was bumped on the turn in one of Monday night's qualifying heats.

Yanks Fumble Away To Nats; Tigers Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Young Joe Coleman, a minor league flop with a major league future, figured Senatorial backing would keep him in Washington this year.

So far, the 20-year-old right hander has received all the support he's needed — from the fumbling New York Yankees.

The Senators poured across nine unearned runs — the last four on Ken McMullen's grand slam homer — in the second inning Wednesday night and whipped New York 10-6 as Coleman breezed to his fourth victory in as many big league appearances.

Rico Petrocelli drove in four runs, leading Boston past the Chicago White Sox 8-4 in their season opener, and Detroit trimmed California 6-3 behind Mickey Lolich's six-hitter in the only other American League games. Cleveland was rained out at Kansas City.

Coleman, whose father Joe, Sr., pitched for the Philadelphia Athletics 20 years ago, was a 19-game loser at York, Pa., in the Eastern League last season. He came to the Senators' training camp this spring with an overall minor league record of 9-26.

But he had buried complete game victories in three late-season starts for Washington over the past two years — a four-hitter, five-hitter and six-hitter.

The 6-foot-3 rookie from Natick, Mass., failed to last Wednesday night, giving way to reliever Dick Lines with two out in the ninth after yielding eight hits.

Coleman can't account for the major league-minor league disparity in his record. But he thinks part of his success in the majors has been due to the Senators' defensive support. "I have more confidence when I pitch with Washington because they have the guys who make the big plays," he said.

The Yankees' failure to make the plays cost them in the big second inning Wednesday night. Washington managed only four hits during the uprising, but three New York errors and four walks kept the rally alive before McMullen capped it with his bases-loaded blast.

Successive errors by shortstop John Kennedy and first baseman Ray Barker opened the gates before three walks, Cap Peterson's two-run double, Phil Valentine's two-run single and another boot by left fielder Tom Tresh drove Yankee starter Fritz Peterson from the mound.

Jim Bouton came out of the bullpen, walked Frank Howard intentionally and struck out the grand slam to McMullen.

Petrocelli staked the Red Sox to an early 4-0 lead by delivering a run-scoring single in the second inning and slashing a three-run homer off Chicago starter John Buzhardt in the third.

The White Sox fell behind 6-3 before knocking out winner Jim Ashburg with a three-run burst in the seventh. Relievers John Wyatt and Don McMahon then slammed the door.

Former third baseman Don Hoak has left the boardcasting booth to coach with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Staub walked with one out in the sixth, moved up on an infield out and scored on Bob Aspromonte's single for the tie-breaking run. Jim Landis' eighth-inning single following a walk and a steal produced the Astros' final run.

Hands' wild pitch with the bases loaded in the 11th allowed the Phillies to snap a tie which had existed from the seventh inning when Rich Allen cracked a two-run homer for Philadelphia.

Cookie Rojas also smashed a two-run shot for the Phillies and Ernie Banks connected for the Cubs. Banks' homer was the 420th of his career.

Bitter Clay Rants On And On

CHICAGO (AP) — Herbert Muhammad, Cassius Clay's Black Muslim adviser, has ruled out any title bout at any location between the heavyweight champion and Floyd Patterson.

Muhammad, in Chicago, lashed out with a torrent of bitter words at the order Wednesday of Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania directing that state's athletic commission to eliminate Pittsburgh as a site for the bout scheduled April 25.

Shafer's order came after a ruling Tuesday by the Nevada State Athletic Commission rejecting a proposal to hold the bout in Las Vegas.

Muhammad charged officials of the two states with religious and racial prejudice and said: "If Mohammad Ali (Clay) was a white Christian champion I don't think the fight would have been stopped."

He said he had told trainers to break up Clay's training camp in Las Vegas, come home and "forget about the whole thing."

Clay promptly boarded a plane and left the state. On his way through the air terminal at Las Vegas he told reporters he would definitely go into the Army April 28 as his draft board has ordered because "it would break my mother's heart if I didn't."

Clay's attorney in Cincinnati took another legal step to stop the Army from drafting Clay.

In a motion filed with the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals the attorney, Hayden Covington, asked for an injunction to halt Clay's scheduled induction in Houston, pending an appeal from a decision by U.S. District Judge James Gordon of Owensboro, Ky.

CASSIUS CLAY

Invitational Popular At Mayfair CC

More than 65 women golfers from Central Florida took part in the Sanford Women's Golf Association Invitational Tournament yesterday at the Mayfair Country Club with Lib Robertson winning the low gross honors for Sanford with an 81.

In addition to the local members, three other area clubs had representation from De-Land, Royal Oaks in Titusville and from New Smyrna Beach.

Prizes were presented to winners from each of the areas with a barbecue following the day's play.

Next Wednesday, the women's association will feature 18 holes of medal play, with two-thirds handicap. Golfers may select their own foursomes and starting times.

Mary Whelchel, publicity chairman for the S.W.G.A. reminds all members of the Annual Husband-Wife, Singles and Doubles Tournament which is scheduled for Sunday, April 23 at the Mayfair. Here too, the members may pair themselves off and pick their own starting times.

Raiders End Season's Play Against Ocala

The curtain closes today on the first season of baseball at Seminole Junior College as the Raiders travel to Ocala for a doubleheader finale with the Central Florida Junior College.

Game times are at 1 and 2 p.m. with the Raiders hopeful of finishing the season in second place within their Region.

Coach Jay Bergman's crew many of the applicants for the squad not having any previous baseball experience.

Righthander Steve Simpkins, who joined the squad three weeks after the season had started, showed his potential by winning his last four starts. Mound ace Tim Pulling has been pitching well, but hasn't been getting the runs behind him.

Another "Raider" who's found the range of late is centerfielder John Perry. In his last three games, Perry has been batting at an incredible .750 pace, having raised his average from a mediocre .175 to near .400.

Bergman stated that next season's schedule will be extended considerably and that a great number of local baseball standouts have shown an interest in playing for the local college.

Ruth Paces Navy League

Ellen Ruth rolled the high series in the Wednesday A.M. Naval Officer's Wives League with a booming 485, including a high single game of 184. Ellen has an average of 118. The high game was rolled by Andree Woods with her first 200 game 201.

The NAS Lightnings topped the 4 Owls for three points and were led by Ellen Ruth 184-166/485 and Suzy Reno's 165.

I'M READY, COACH . . . With a stance like this and a smile so enchanting and a bat bigger than the batter, how could you possibly put this little fellah out? AND BESIDES THAT, HE'S ALREADY ON BASE! Carol Lundbergs' 160 was high for the Fleurs "6" as they scored three wins over the Bowling Bags.

Gladys Edwards spared the 67-10 and Marcia Foy the 4-6-10. Eleanor Clemens and Janet Wolters picked up the 2-7.

The 5-10 fell twice for Marion Hagen and once for Peg Patey. The 3-10 were toppled by Karen Evjen, Carol Lundberg and Bohrer.

Tourney Of Champions

Palmer - - 3 In A Row?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The greens were never greener, thanks to rain the past day or so, and the rough was tough enough as the 13th annual Tournament of Champions, Las Vegas' springtime contribution to golf, got under way today.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion who would like to make it three in a row, two-time winner Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Gay Brewer headed a cast of 26 professionals who qualified for the tournament by having won a PGA-sanctioned event in the past year.

In the first twosome are Palmer and Roberto de Vicenzo, Argentina's veteran star.

Newly crowned Masters champion Brewer, who almost made it but lost to Palmer in a playoff here a year ago, and George Archer are the last pair to tee off.

The setting is the rolling, 6,625-yard, par-36-35-71 Stardust Golf Course, which is a new experience for the visiting professionals. In previous years, the Desert Inn Country Club was the scene.

As usual, the weather may be a factor in the pros' drive for the $20,000 top money, and sin dy weather was forecast for the afternoon.

Last spring, despite winds that blew as much as 55 miles per hour, Palmer fashioned a tremendous 69—three under par for the course—to defeat Brewer and his 73 in the playoffs.

Palmer, Nicklaus, Casper and Brewer were listed equally as 5-1 favorites to win this edition in a community where the no-tives will bet on almost anything.

Julius Boros and Doug Sanders were next in the fancy of the wager minded at 6-1.

Deltona Rips Osteen 12-2

Deltona's "little leaguers" played their second game of the season over the weekend at the DeBary Ball Park, defeating Osteen 12 to 2.

The winning pitcher was Steve Pirlesky, who whiffed 12 of the Osteen batters.

John McLaughlin was the hitting star with two, knocking in three RBIs.

The DeBary Little Leaguers defeated Orange City in the first game of the season, 10 to 9.

This Saturday, the two top teams in the league, Deltona and Osteen will tangle at Osteen at 2 p.m. There is no admission charged at any of these games and the public is invited to come out and "root" for the home team.

Current League Standings:

Osteen	2	1

Increased Support Of Schools Pictured From State Level

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A $67 million "incentive grant program" for state support of schools is scheduled to be outlined to the House Public Education Committee by Speaker Ralph Turlington this week.

The program and a like appropriation is proposed in Gov. Claude Kirk's campaign "white papers."

Turlington's version calls for allocation of state education funds to counties on the basis of what each county is now doing in education, what it is capable of doing, and in relation to school population.

But lack of information on county spending and revenues, he said in an interview, indicates the Legislature should authorize the state cabinet to make fund allocations based on information developed during the 1967-68 school year.

It would give the state virtually blanket power to go into the counties to determine how tax monies are being used. Now the state is limited to making sure county spending is in compliance with state law.

On the basis of new information, he said, the 1969 legislature could devise a formula for equitable distribution of incentive grant moneys.

A key element of the proposed program, said the speaker, is that the new state money would be added to proceeds of the racetrack tax.

The total state allocation would be proportionate to a given county's effort to raise local money and to its school population, said Turlington.

"We should take into account a county's property tax advantage," he added.

Present allocation of school funds is done without regard to the racetrack revenues.

Such a plan could allow the legislature to avoid an urban rural fight over redistribution of the racetrack revenues, which now are divided equally among the 67 counties.

Last year each county received some $262,000 in racetrack funds.

Turlington warned that a rigid redistribution of the funds could damage education in counties which are making an effort to raise finances locally, but are handicapped by weak ad valorem tax bases.

He indicated the some $340 per pupil in racetrack funds received by a very small county such as Lafayette may be hard to justify, but the "medium small" counties could be stepped on.

Gadsden County, for instance, receives about $25 per student under the racetrack tax, not a critical part of its school budget, but has a greater need for state supplementation because of a comparatively narrower tax base, said the speaker.

The Legislature must make room for "adjustment from county to county" and not treat all small counties alike, he said.

"To many counties the racetrack funds are significant portions (of total education spending) and we ought to take into account what the counties are doing for themselves."

He declared the incentive grant program, if enacted, also would stimulate a "managerial attitude" on the part of local school administrators who would be competing for their shares of state aid.

The result, he said, would be increased efficiency in local government.

Meanwhile two Miami senators introduced legislation to take distribution of race track funds away from the counties and put it in general state revenue.

Sens. Robert Haverfield and George Hollahan, both Democrats, said they were introducing the legislation for the Dade county commission.

Another bill in the package would give counties a share of the cigarette tax money collected in nonincorporated areas. The money now goes to general revenue.

"The benefits of the legislation would go to Florida's urban counties—long the bearers of a disproportionate share of the state's tax burden," said Haverfield.

He said the state revenue picture would be unchanged.

"The money that the state would be losing in cigarette tax funds would be offset entirely by the revenue it would begin to receive from pari-mutuel betting," Haverfield said.

However, he said the change would provide more money for

Sales Are Up ★ ★ ★ ★ Automakers Happy

DETROIT (AP) — There is glee among U. S. automakers for the first time in months. In the first 10 days of April dealer sales topped those of the same period a year earlier.

It was the first time this year in which sales surpassed those of the comparable 10 days of 1966—the second-best year in the industry's history.

"This is a firm indication that the spring selling market has opened up," said Thomas A. Coupe, American Motors vice president for sales, who reported an eight per cent gain in the April 1-10 period as compared with the same year-ago span.

This feeling was echoed by others in the industry, which is viewed by many as a bellwether of the nation's economy.

Dealer sales in this month's opening 10 days totaled 207,357 autos, compared with 199,660 in the April 1-10, 1966, period.

January's sales were 17.5 per cent off the same month in 1966, February's down 23.8 per cent and March's 21.5 per cent lower.

Don't Worry About $$ For Education: Kirk

CLEARWATER (AP) — Delegates to the Governor's Conference on Education dialed information Wednesday night and were told by a man in New York City not to worry about financing Florida's public school system.

"The money can fit the need and the need can fit the money," the voice said.

It wasn't an oracle speaking. It was Gov. Claude Kirk address sing his conference from New York via a special telephone hookup.

A group of parents at the meeting had indicated they wanted quality educations for their children even if it meant higher taxes.

This prompted Kirk, who promised no new taxes, to tell the worried parents he would provide the implementation in the "war on ignorance," if the people would supply the leadership.

Kirk didn't spell out in his telephone address how the need and the money will be fitted. He said he will wait until after his April 26 Tallahassee Conference on Education — for teachers — to submit a comprehensive program to the legislature.

But Kirk did say he felt the news media should drum up public support for improved education.

The sentiment for increased taxes if need be came from 100 parents who attended the session.

As one woman put it, "If it can be done without more taxes, glory be! But if it can't we're willing to pay the price."

Kirk participated in most of the meeting for parents before leaving on a flight to New York. His telephone address replaced a scheduled 7 p. m. after dinner speech.

Earlier in the day Kirk told the parents they would make headlines when they came out favoring appointed, instead of elected school superintendents, and nonpartisan, nonsalaried school board members as an effort to eliminate politics from schools.

At the end of the session, the parents indicated they also favored:

—Evaluation of teachers and compensation according to this.

—Federal legislation where it would result inincreased educational opportunities.

—A 4 per cent sales tax, if one per cent were specifically allocated to education.

—Real estate assessments at 100 per cent of valuation.

—A change in homestead exemption "so everybody pays something."

—A severance tax.

—An upgrading of the state required school standards through the minimum foundation programs.

—Abolishing school millage collections.

—A review of certification requirements for teachers and administrators.

—Providing qualified guidance counseling at all levels.

—Establishing citizens committees for education.

—Wider use of educational television.

As a whole, the group voted thumbs down on a suggested state lottery to support education.

The parents were almost evenly divided on whether the State Department of Education should assume a more direct role in local schools. The department function now is mostly consultative.

Communists Wreck Two Supply Bridges

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces below the demilitarized zone wrecked two bridges today that carried heavy supply traffic for U.S. Marines defending South Vietnam's most threatened province.

Ground fighting generally continued at a low pitch, and the U.S. command announced casualty figures for last week reflecting the drop in major action. The report said 177 Americans and 1,478 Communists were killed last week and 1,345 Americans were wounded. All these figures were below the average of recent weeks.

However, Vietnamese army casualties increased by about 40 per cent over the week before to 264 killed and 69 missing. Some of the increase was due to activity in the northern part of South Vietnam, including the Communist attack on the provincial capital of Quang Tri last weekend.

The two bridges that the Communists brought down were on the main highway from the Marine base at Da Nang to Quang Tri.

The biggest was a quarter-mile long railway and highway bridge six miles above Da Nang. Communist swimmers before dawn apparently floated explosives into place against one of the support towers, and the explosion brought down two of the five spans.

Forty-five U.S. Marines were stationed at the bridge, and two sentries were patrolling it at the time but saw nothing. Marine divers found parts of the body of one Vietnamese in the water, apparently a casualty of the explosion, but none of the Marines was injured.

The second bridge was a smaller structure just outside Quang Tri City which was knocked out during a 130-round mortar barrage fired against the city. Eight civilians were reported killed by the barrage.

Pontoon bridges will replace both the wrecked structures by Friday, Marine engineers said, but it may take three months to repair the railroad-highway bridge.

American authorities fear that the Red attacks in the Quang Tri area are aimed at upsetting the already delicate political balance in the province. The province has long been a hotbed of political dissidence.

Circle K Certified By Kiwanis

Certification of a "Circle K" club, highlighted the weekly meeting of the Sanford Kiwanis Club in the Civic Center yesterday. Sixteen charter members, students at Seminole Junior College, received the official recognition from Dr. Neil Powell, Kiwanis lieutenant-governor, with Vance S. Brumbaugh, Circle K president, accepting the certificate.

Circle K is organized in 650 colleges in the United States and Canada and is primarily a campus-located service organization dedicated to the same principles of leadership and service which guide Kiwanis Clubs everywhere.

In making the presentation Dr. Powell listed specific goals for the new club as emphasizing the advantages of the American way of life, encouraging participation and co-operation, promoting aggressive citizenship and selecting some single project to put these into action. Campus clean-up, community projects, help for underprivileged children and providing scholarships were named as worthwhile projects.

Officers of the new Seminole Junior College Circle K Club are: Brumbaugh, president; J. Kirk Richards, of Sanford, vice president; John C. Norden, of Lake Mary, secretary; James Westbrook, of Sanford, treasurer. Other charter members from Sanford are: Steven Huff, Steven Pearce, Bruce Dowlen, Perry Echelberger; from Orlando, Leslie Semmens, Willard Mercer, Michael Reeber, James Buckman, John Polson and Randolph Moist; from Winter Park, John Parish.

The Kiwanis committee which did the work to bring about the formation of the new club are George A. Speer, chairman; Dr. John Darby, Roger Harris, Dr. Earl Weldon, president of Seminole Junior College, Ernest Cowley and Wallace Hall.

Dr. Powell was making his formal visitation as lieutenant-governor and had with him a film showing actions in a successful Kiwanis Club. At this meeting J. E. Estridge was elected vice president of the Sanford Club to fill the vacancy caused when Robert Shedden resigned on account of increasing business activities.

'Urgency Decade' Cited By LBJ To Latin Prexies

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — President Johnson challenged his Latin colleagues at the summit today to make this "a decade of urgency" for the hemisphere.

In his first formal speech at the 9-nation meeting, Johnson, called for 10 years of intensive efforts on a broad front to speed the social and economic development of the Americas.

"I speak to you as a ready partner in that effort," he said.

Actually, Johnson's formal remarks were less attention-getting and significant than those he delivered Wednesday at a private session with his summit colleagues.

His earlier, informal statement had the look of a dramatic bid to still the clamor for more direct aid to Latin - American nations.

In his formal speech, the U.S. chief executive ticked off areas in which he said the United States was ready and eager to help—to support a proposed Latin-American common market, to help build big projects cutting across national boundaries (highways are an example), explore tariff advantages for all developing countries, to help modernize agriculture, and to promote better health and education.

"I pledge to you today," he said, "that I will do all I can, in my time of leadership, to help you meet these challenges."

In his first conference statement at a private meeting Wednesday, Johnson touched on two of the touchiest points at issue — the Latin Americans' desire for preferential treatment for their products in the U.S. market and their desire for relaxation of Washington's requirement that equipment purchased with U.S. loans and grants be bought in the U.S. market.

The President promised his Latin-American colleagues he would try to gain worldwide tariff concession for developing nations and would consider granting them freedom to spend certain kinds of U.S. aid money outside the United States. While Johnson's statement was calculated to put his fellow presidents in a receptive mood he had no firm commitments.

Touching on the question of trade, he promised to explore the possibility of "temporary tariff advantages for all developing countries by all industrialized countries."

On aid, he promised to "try to establish whether we can agree that aid funds for capital projects and related technical assistance can be used in Alliance for Progress countries in ways which will protect the U.S. balance of payments."

This type of trade is believed to amount to no more than $250 million a year.

At the preliminary meeting Wednesday, President Arthur da Costa e Silva of Brazil said Latin America could not delay any longer the achievement of liberty, progress and attainment of human rights. He said Brazil was ready to help "eliminate from our countries conditions which are undeserved and incompatible with the dignity of man."

President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru announced a plan to check the flow of capital escaping by the millions of dollars from Latin America. He said the Latin American presidents plan a hemisphere-wide common stock market to provide an outlet for domestic capital and to attract new capital from industrialized nations.

Shingle-Shaped Model Has Her Hair Trimmed

A PENSIVE MOOD strikes the rage of the European fashion world as Twiggy looks over one of the hundreds of dresses she is modeling while visiting the United States. The shingle-shaped youngster poses for $120 an hour for fashion magazines and ads during her six-week stay.

NEW YORK (AP) — British mod model Twiggy has had her hair trimmed. It turned out to be quite a production.

The haircut was the first for her already short locks since she arrived in the United States March 20. The hairdresser was flown from London for the occasion.

The 17-year-old Twiggy sat patiently Wednesday, smiling and turning at the request of photographers — and occasionally blowing a hair from her eyes.

She was accompanied by her manager, Justin De Villeneuve, 27, whose locks are slightly longer than Twiggy's. He confessed to newsmen he uses the same hairdresser, "but I go after hours."

WHAT'S WRONG WITH CHEESECAKE? — If there's any message here at all, it's just that everybody likes to see a pretty girl occasionally. Candy Gibbons, shown here at Homosassa Springs certainly qualifies. And what's more the message couldn't be delivered by a prettier messenger, could it?

'Snow White' OK For All Says Elrod

TALLAHASSEE (AP) —Orlando area lawmakers predict the Florida Legislature will accept 500 pages of proposed bills involving the $500 million Disney world project.

"I don't see how anybody can be opposed to Snow White. The Seven Dwarfs," commented Sen. Robert Elrod, R-Winder-mere, after lawmakers heard Disney Production Corp. officials explain their requests Wednesday.

The dream - world entertainment complex is planned for a 27,000-acre tract of land in Orange and Osceola counties.

"The size and weight of it scares people," admitted Sen. Bill Gunter, D-Orlando, but he contended "there's nothing here that's not good for all Florida."

While some legislative leaders have indicated they feel the six proposed bills—three general bills and three of a local nature —may be too broad a grant of power to the Disney firm, House speaker Ralph Turlington seemed in accord with the package.

Burglar Jailed For Lollipop

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Arthur Kyker, 31, was sentenced Wednesday in Knox County Criminal Court to six months in jail for stealing one lollipop.

Police said Kyker was caught in a kindergarten Feb. 20 with the loot in his pocket. Kyker pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to commit a felony (burglary).

Defense Opens Speck Fight

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Margaret Lindbergh stepped from the witness stand, raised her fingers to her lips, and threw a kiss to her son, the man on trial for the slaying of eight nurses.

Richard Speck's mother, brother, five sisters and a brother-in-law were called Wednesday to testify as the defense opened its fight to save the life of the 25-year-old drifter.

The prosecution, which has asked the seven men and five women jurors to find Speck guilty of the July 14 killings and set his penalty at death, rested its case Wednesday after eight days of testimony.

Miss Betty Ann Long Complimented At Bridal Shower

MISS ROSEMARY WALTON, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Walton, 112 Crystal View East, Sanford, and a sophomore at Tift College, Forsyth, Ga., was first runner-up in Miss Monroe County (Georgia) 1967 contest with the winner competing for Miss Georgia title. Mary Allmon, center, Chickamauga, Ga., was the winner and Miss Diane Harrison, left, of Forsyth was second runner-up.

The spacious country home of Mrs. J. W. Brown was the setting Saturday night, April 8, for a lovely miscellaneous bridal shower complimenting Miss Betty Ann Long, who will become the bride of Frank Edward Jones, Saturday, April 15 at 7:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church of Sanford.

Assisting Mrs. Brown as co-hostesses were Mrs. David Dreifuerst, sister of the bride-elect, and Mrs. H. E. Long Jr., her sister-in-law.

A bridal motif was carried out in the home decor with beautiful floral arrangements, grown and created by the hostess, used throughout the party rooms.

Guests participated in appropriate bridal games with the opening of the many useful and lovely gifts highlighting the evenings' festivities.

Miss Long chose for the occasion a blue checked frock enhanced with a lace yoke and long lace sleeves.

Centering the beautifully appointed refreshment table, covered in pink and overlaid in white heirloom lace, was a crystal compote arranged with white daisies, pink carnations and baby's breath. Accenting the centerpiece were pink tapers burning in 100-year-old crystal holders.

Sparkling pink punch was poured from a pedestal crystal bowl and also served was a white sheet cake, beautifully embossed with two pink hearts. Crystal and silver appointments held an assortment of toasted nuts and party mints.

The guest list included Mrs. H. E. Long Sr., mother of the bride-elect, and the Mmes. W. M. Musselwhite, C. T. Jardine, W. L. Roche, Ross Long, L. G. Hunter, D. H. Brusnahan, Elizabeth Morris and Charles Hays. Also the Mmes. C. E. Wallace, Fred Wells, Johnny Davis, Doris Williams, Neal Farmer, A. K. Shoemaker Sr., Charles Willis, Walter A. Gielow, Robert Alexander and Harriet Waddell.

Also the Mmes. Norma Platt, Carl Stubbings, Jan McClung, Donna Estes, H. G. Maples, R. E. Mitchell, Debbie Lynskey, Richard Galloway and the Misses Dottie Jardine and Linda Mitchell.

Also Mrs. A. D. Brown and Mrs. Ken Porter, Titusville; Mrs. Sheila Antonio, Winter Park; Miss Sue Evans and Miss Pat Doyle, Orlando, and Miss Sandi Davis, Orange City.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

I have just got to tell you about the most wonderful day I had last Saturday. I was out at the Agricultural Center watching a wonderful group of children who are in 4-H work giving demonstrations on their club projects. Two girls had made reading lamps. One was made from a fired (or spent) huge shotgun shell or whatever it is they call them. She added a shade and had a most excellent lamp. In fact it won first place.

The other girl had made hers from a nice-shaped cypress knee and even made the shade. They are smart girls.

Other girls gave demonstrations on child care, home improvement, home management, clothing and lots of other projects which they learn through being a 4-Her.

In the Foods and Nutrition demonstrations, Violet Beckhorn and I were judges and I so wish that all of you could have watched these girls. It was not easy doing the judging because every girl was just grand.

It's impossible to print the recipes of every one but here are a few of what the girls have made and they graciously gave me their recipes for others to share. They are future homemakers for sure.

First let's use Cindy Boyles' ideas on different kinds of waffle treats. Cindy first made the waffles. Then she made these different treats.

TOPPING FOR WAFFLES

1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 can light tuna flakes
1 can peas and carrots
½ cup milk

Combine in saucepan and heat. Put over hot waffles.

WAFFLE SANDWICH

Put on waffle 1 or 2 slices of tomato, a few pieces of cooked bacon and a piece of cheese. Melt this in the oven until cheese has melted and watch so as not to burn.

WAFFLE APPETITE TREASURES

Cut waffle into different shapes and put spreads on top, like cheese or deviled ham spread and place olives or parsley on top.

Here is a make-your-own-mix that both Fran and Kim Lyons used in making their favorite sweets.

MAKE-YOUR-OWN-MIX

9 cups flour
2 cups shortening
1 tbsp. salt
¾ cup baking powder

Mix and store in refrigerator to use as wished.

FRAN'S NUT BALL COFFEE CAKE

2 cups of above mix
3 tbsps. granulated sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ cup milk
1 egg beaten
2 tbsps. butter
¾ cup brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
¾ cup chopped nuts

Blend mix, granulated sugar, ½ tsp. cinnamon and ½ tsp. nutmeg. Add milk combined with egg. Beat to combine thoroughly. Dip a teaspoon of dough first in melted butter, then in brown sugar and cinnamon mixed together, then in nuts. Place balls closely together in deep 8-inch pie pan. Bake in 375-degree oven 20 minutes. Makes 12 balls.

KIM LYONS' CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

1½ cup above mix (do not pack)
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
½ tsp. vanilla
2 envelopes unsweetened chocolate

Blend mix and sugar. Add eggs, vanilla and chocolate. Mix thoroughly. Pour into an 11 by 7 inch greased pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 22 minutes. Cut into squares before removing from pan.

Kim is 10 years old.

MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

Now blonde Pam Kings Salad — it's a Sour Cream Salad and was really good. We all had a chance to sample every one of the demonstrations.

SOUR CREAM SALAD

1 cup undrained fruit cocktail
1 cup mandarin oranges drained
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
1 cup tiny marshmallows
1 cup coconut
half pint sour cream

Mix all ingredients and let set for at least an hour. Pam says this can be used as a dessert also.

SANDRA KEISERS APPLESAUCE COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
1 teas. soda
¾ teas. salt
1 teas. cinnamon
½ teas. cloves
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup applesauce
1 cup raisins

Mix and sift flour, soda and spices together. Cream shortening and gradually add sugar. Beat in egg, add raisins. Stir in applesauce. Add dry ingredients. Mix well but not more than needed to moisten dry ingredients. Bake on greased cookie sheet for 10 to 15 minutes in 375 degree oven.

This next recipe was demonstrated by Sue Peterson and Beth Duda and will serve 20 to 30 people. So the amounts are for that many servings.

CABBAGE SALAD

Shred together:

2 heads cabbage
1 bunch small carrots
1 bunch green onions
1 cup parsley
1 cup white vinegar
¾ cup salad oil
¾ cup sugar
2 teas. salt
1 teas. pepper

Mix shredded cabbage, carrots, onions and parsley together. Then mix salt, pepper, vinegar sugar and oil together. Pour over cabbage mixture for a delicious salad. Serves 20-30.

PEGGY LUKAS AND LYNDA DUDAS' CARROT CAKE

2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
1 cup cooking oil
3 cups grated carrots
4 eggs
2 teas. soda
1 teas. salt
2 teas. cinnamon

Mix dry ingredients and add oil and eggs one at a time. Add carrots and blend together thoroughly. Place in a greased floured 9 inch pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 35 minutes.

ICING

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup coconut
¼ lb. margarine
4 tbsp. milk

Mix all ingredients and spread over cake. Then place in a pre-heated oven on broil. Let icing melt evenly over cake and watch carefully so it doesn't burn.

Now aren't these nice recipes? Try them real soon. Cindy is from the Longwood Club; Fran and Kim Lyons are from Sunshine Valley Club; Pam King is from the 4-Leaf Clover club; Sandra Keiser, Peggy Lukas, Lynda Duda, Beth Duda and Sue Peterson are from Slavia Liberty Belles. Thank you girls for sharing your recipes with us in the Homemakers Corner.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This problem isn't exactly mine. It's my husband's. He is a doctor. One of his colleagues has taken to playing around quite a lot, and his wife has started to check up on him.

She calls my husband and asks if her husband was "assisting" him—or taking his calls last night. So far my husband has covered for him, but he just isn't used to lying, and so he gets nervous, flustered and upset.

When he's upset, I get upset, so please tell me if I should call up this woman and tell her to quit calling and questioning my husband.

UPSET NOW

DEAR UPSET: Don't call the wife. But tell your husband to advise his philandering colleague to find himself another patsy because he's "covered" for him for the last time.

DEAR ABBY: A widow in our town who is getting on in years is becoming a real problem. She is a gossip and has no real friends.

As soon as she hears that someone is sick—even people she hardly knows — she "calls" on them. She does this in the name of mercy and kindness, but she really visits them because she has nowhere else to go, and she can visit the sick without an invitation.

She never brings a book or a flower, but she eats all the refreshments in sight, and she stays and stays until mealtime hoping to be invited for supper.

We hate to hurt her feelings, because she's probably not all "there," but something must be done about this obnoxious pest. But what?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Someone should tell her that she should not visit without telephoning first. And if she phones she could be told that the patient is not receiving visitors at that time. If she appears at the door without warning, she could be given the same treatment — courteously, of course, but firmly. Only in this manner can she be discouraged.

DEAR ABBY: I do not want to be a meddling mother-in-law, but how can I impress upon my new daughter-in-law that it is important for her to acknowledge her wedding gifts within a reasonable length of time?

Abby, she is a darling girl, and I don't want to hurt her, but I have hinted so many times I hate to mention it again. Many of my friends have asked me if she ever received their gifts. Please tell me how to get her to write her thank-you notes. We are quite well known in this town and it is getting embarrassing.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: You'd be doing your daughter-in-law a kindness to tell her in plain language that people have been asking YOU if she has received their gifts. Tell her if she needs any "help" in writing her thank-you notes, you are available. Short of writing them for her, there is nothing more you can do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STUPID QUESTION:" No, it is not a stupid question. It IS possible for twins (fraternal) to be conceived on two separate occasions. And by two different fathers.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Horoscope Forecast

FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You certainly are apt to get involved in all sorts of unpleasant conditions unless you use the care and caution that is essential when difficult problems do face one—such as this day and evening. By so doing you prevent accidents, arguments or both that could put you way behind the eightball.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Care must be exercised in spending money, in motion and in conversations with others, especially partners, otherwise you could get into trouble. Check over all figures. Some error could be very costly.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Try to apportion your money properly or you can get into all kinds of difficulty. Keep a budget, let it be streamlined. Precision is very important. Improving all other assets requires much care as well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't be forceful with those in social life because you won't get ahead in that fashion, since diplomacy will be far more effective. Discharge your obligations wisely. Then take time for relaxation you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are feeling frustrated, so get busy on small duties that have to be done sometime, and you find you are soon on even keel again. Don't argue with loved one. Await a better day for pointing out what you think is an error.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't endeavor to discuss with good comrades some excellent ideas you have, since they are apt to be very busy. Await a better day. Quietly plan social events for the days ahead. Avoid persons who are not really your type.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some vexatious problem can hurt your reputation, if you permit, so be very careful in dealing with a higher-up. Be sure you look into inventive gadgets that will save you time and energy in your work. Increase efficiency.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You think that if you start new interests rolling you will get rid of your problems quickly. Nothing works that fast, so be sensible. Do something constructive about them first. It does not harm to listen to what a new contact has to say.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you want to criticize one who has hurt your feelings, cool off and await a better time to state your ideas diplomatically. Get busy with obligations at hand. Be sure of what you are doing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Concentrate on how to deal with associates more intelligently and harmoniously and show consideration so that you don't make opponents of them. Don't be forceful. Let situations develop and do something about them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Many tasks are before you and if you plan your work and schedule your time, you find you get all handled well. Don't criticize co-worker because you feel irritated. Be sure to get to bed early tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You want to be extravagant with money at this time, but it is better to think of the future when you may need it. Put some special new skill to work instead. This could be fun as well as profit.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Stop being so difficult at home by losing your temper and keeping others malcontent. Gain their respect instead. Find better ways to increase security and you find all ameliorates for you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be a veritable human dynamo of action and could prove quite a handful for those who have him, or her, in their charge, so give the benefit of sports, chores to perform, etc., early in life. The field of selling is ideal for your progeny, and much money can be made at this, since your progeny has the perseverance and gift of gab necessary as well.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

Any time you give your partner a chance to make a mistake he may make one. It pays to play to such a manner that he won't go wrong.

South won the opening heart lead with his ace, played his ace of diamonds and led a low one to dummy's king. East dropped a club.

South continued by leading dummy's jack of clubs. East played low. If he had covered with the queen, South would have had no further problems.

West won with the ace and cashed his queen of diamonds. East discarded another club. Then West played queen and another heart.

South used lost three tricks and still had potential losers in spades and clubs. He could not make the hand by normal play but he found a way to give East a problem. South led his six of spades. West played the three and dummy's nine was taken by East's queen. East had to lead away from his king of spades or queen of clubs and East went wrong. He led a club. South played the nine and made his contract.

West pointed out that his play of the three of spades showed three cards in the suit and that East should have been smart enough to lead back a spade.

There was merit in West's contention but West could have saved his partner had he led the ten of spades instead of queen -small of hearts. This would have cost a trick if South held king-small in spades but in that case South would have led a spade from dummy instead of the actual club.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY— While arranging a tea table we discovered that a regular white tablecloth was not wide enough to use under our 72-inch-wide white nylon net cloth. A 72-inch white percale sheet was substituted as an impromptu tablecloth. The net was finished around the edges with two rows of silver rickrack and the corners rounded. Then when it came time to sew a net turn. Coffee was accidentally spilled over one free end of the cloth, but to our surprise and relief, the nylon net did not stain. The liquid went right through to the cloth underneath without a trace on the fancy cloth. Removal of the stain from the sheet was simple. I have been told that this refusal to hold stains is true for colors, too, so nylon net is most practical for the tea table. The net cloths are inexpensive, easy to make and, with careful storing between times can be used over and over.—ELSIE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY— Do you or any of the girls know how to remove insignia that look as though they are painted on the front of sweat shirts?—MRS. B.R.G.

DEAR POLLY— I am answering Sandra, when my daughter burned a hole in the front of a sweater with the iron, I made crocheted flowers, sewed one over the hole, then scattered them elsewhere on the sweater so they seemed to be a planned decoration. This gave the sweater a new look. Thanks for all the help and fun you afford my whole family.—GLADYS

DEAR POLLY— Tell Sandra she can continue to wear her sweater with the hole in the elbow if she will sew leather patches over each of the elbows. Felt also works well for such patches.—MRS. C.E.C.

DEAR POLLY— I always put a straight pin through the extension in the back of the folder-type photograph frames. This keeps them from collapsing when on display.—MRS. R. V.

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

Just as a product needs attractive, appealing packaging, so does your personality.

As we grow older we have more need of friends and often, older women . . . or what I designate as "after-40" women . . . tend to be a bit "crotchety" But you can and should never cease to work on improving your personality.

If you never find an interest in other people or what they are doing, you'll never make the grade as a real personality. You must cultivate an interest in people. Make a change in your personal habits. If you side of the street, cross over and walk in the sun. If you always lunch by yourself when you go to work, then join a group. Make yourself interesting and agreeable.

When you visit friends take along a little gift of a flower, a handkerchief, a magazine, a book. Cater to the likes of your friends. Of course you must not "fawn" all over people but try the pleasant experience of putting thier interests ahead of your own, even if only now and then.

Being nice to people pays off in increased popularity, good friendships, a busy and more colorful life. Leave a good impression when you leave a friend or a group. Be definite. Naturally, you must express your own opinions but be sure they are your own.

Cultivate a special interest. Make yourself an informed person on any subject which interests you. Read all you can about it; listen to informed speakers, not just propaganda. After you have gained real knowledge of the subject that interests you, don't "spout" but be ready to discuss it when the opportunity arises.

Choose certain styles and colors; play up to your personality. Feature certain colors in your attire in subtle, attractive ways. Soon you'll be recognized for this or that style and color.

One clever woman I know decided to wear only gray when her hair turned gray. She is so well known for her attractive gray outfits that she receives many gifts to complement the gray. A well-known mature writer wears a small red rose always and she sprays herself with rose perfume. Her friends think of her as "the rose lady." You see she packaged her personality.

A shy friend of 50 gave up her job, took a trip on a freighter around the world. She returned a changed woman. No, she did not find romance but she did acquire a new quality which added so much to her personality.

Think about this and if needed, make some changes!

Military Hikes Citrus Purchase

LAKELAND (AP)—Both the Department of Defense and the Department of Agriculture have been asked to contribute toward consumption of Florida's record citrus crop.

The Florida Citrus Mutual asked Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to approve a second purchase of frozen concentrated orange juice — from eight to 10 million gallons—for the national school lunch program.

And, in Washington, Rep. Charles E. Bennett (D-Fla.), said Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has agreed to increase purchase of citrus concentrate. Bennet said the Pentagon is doubling its purchase of citrus juice this year—to 8.6 million gallons.

The Citrus Mutual appealed to Freeman after the department raised Florida's estimate of orange crop from 142.4 million boxes to 147 million.

Earlier, Freeman had approved 4.3 million gallons for the national school lunch program.

IMPORTING IVORY

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt will import 15 tons of elephant tusks from the Sudan. The ivory will be used for the manufacture of touristic souvenirs which are sold at the medieval Khan Khalil Bazaar.

We The Women:

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our 6-year-old boy attends a private play group after school. Its station wagon collects him and the other children after school and brings them home in time for dinner. Recently, when my mother-in-law was visiting us, she said she didn't think Eddie was getting enough "home life." What bugs me is that she has upset my husband by telling him I send Eddie to the play group to get rid of him. I have a 2-year-old girl and a...

ANSWER: What's so awful about wanting to get rid of the energies belonging to a healthy 6-year-old if you can't accommodate them?

Of course, the name "play group," with its implications of supervised joy and synthetic friendships, horrifies me. But then horrification is almost a chronic state for me in this year of Our Lord 1967. I don't like the name "play group," I don't like highway billboards which require you to admire somebody's motel accommodations instead of trees, I don't like carrots in plastic bags, a television commercial which associate shaving cream with the thump of strip-tease music and I'm anything but rejoiced by this administration's foreign policy.

But there's nothing we can do about these adaptations to a changed world. We're stuck with these manifestations of progress including play groups to which we must send children to avoid being sent crazy by after-school energies we're not equipped to accommodate.

So, for goodness sake, cheer up, you two.

If our grandmothers didn't have to know that they wanted to be rid of their kids' after-school energies, that was only because the kids knew it for them. If they cherished mom's company when they were tired, they sure didn't want to be bothered with it when they weren't. For outside their homes and away from mom was a whole world of safe space to adventure in — haystacks to slide down, hickory nuts to gather, snow-covered hills to coast down that didn't abut on to traffic-clogged highways. So grandma could retain the fond illusion that she stuffed the kids full of "home life." The kids took care of the reality by resorting to home life only when it got too dark or they got too hungry to collect any more hickory nuts. Thus, the play group.

If the play is as unspontaneous as carsets games initiated by a resort hotel's social director, it's still better than adhesion to a television set.

Highlights

TV Time Previews

7:30-8:00 p.m. (ABC) Batman. "Better Luck Next Time," (Color). (Rerun). It's feeding time in the Catwoman's catacombs, and the dear lady (Julie Newmar has just the dish to set before her favorite Bengal tiger: Robin, with salt. One of the better tales in this series.

8-8:30 p.m. (ABC) F Troop. "The Singing Mountie." (Color). (Rerun). No, it's not Nelson Eddy, but you're close. Paul Lynde guest stars as Sergeant Ramsden, the Singing Mountie, who is hot on the trail of the Burglar of Banff. Meanwhile, Corporal Agarn's Canadian cousin, Lucky Pierre (also played by Larry Storch) arrives at the Fort saying that Burglar of Banff has stolen all his minks.

8:30-9 p.m. (CBS) My Three Sons. (Color). Uncle Charley is afraid the Douglas family might have acquired a permanent house guest when Ernie meets a tramp and invites him home. Eddie Foy Jr. guests as the hobo and livens things by singing "He Goes To Church On Sunday," a song his father introduced 60 years ago.

8:30-9:30 p.m. (NBC) Star Trek. "Operation—Annihilate." (Color). Captain Kirk has to make a hard decision when the USS Enterprise is sent to stem an epidemic of insanity that has already destroyed several planet colonies. After landing on the Planet Deneva, Kirk finds his brother dead and his sister-in-law and nephew sick with the disease, and Dr. Spock is also affected. Should he or shouldn't he destroy the colony to save his crew?

9-11 p.m. (CBS) CBS Thursday Night Movie. "About Mrs. Leslie." Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan star in this love story told in flashbacks. Shirley plays a Beverly Hills landlady who thinks back on her meeting with Ryan during World War II and how they had six weeks together before he disappeared. He returns to her every year and stays but six weeks and disappears again. Eventually she discovers his big secret.

10-11 p.m. (NBC) The Dean Martin Show. (Color). Bing Crosby, Polly Bergen, Don Cherry and Rowan and Martin help Dean in his weekly romp tonight. A high point of the show comes in the finale in which golf bugs Crosby, Martin and Cherry get together in a golf clubhouse and on the first tee to sing "Style."

10-11 p.m. (ABC) ABC Stage '67. "The Legend of Marilyn Monroe." (Color). A brilliant moving study of the beautiful, lost, confused movie star, using film footage and still photographs. The made it flawlessly creates a clear picture of the forces that made Marilyn Monroe and the emotional handicaps that crippled her. There are the usual cuts from various of her movies, but the fascinating part of the program is the countless pictures of the child Marilyn, and interviews with such people as her first foster parents; the young man who married her at 16; her agents, her associates, the people who believed they were her friends.

Travelers Clearing House

DEAR STEVIE—What about travel insurance for a trip abroad?—M. D.

Advisable to carry accident insurance, baggage and personal effects loss insurance, and for driving in Europe, a public liability policy to cross borders. Check these out with a travel agent.

DEAR STEVIE—I'd as soon leave my arch supporters behind as my transistor radio when traveling. The sounds of a country as as colorful as the sights, and on a guided tour it's often the only contact with the people. Imagine the thrill of awaking in Hong Kong, switching on your radio and languishing oriental. Wow! — LOUISE.

I'm with you, Louise—I adore languishing in any language. Don't forget to pack extra battery refills.

DEAR STEVIE — I understand it's the custom not to dress formally for dinner the first and last nights aboard ship, the theory being that you're too busy unpacking the first night out and too busy packing the last night. Is this true?—J. N.

True. And you'll understand the custom better when, after nearly missing the ship, falling up the gangplank and kissing the wrong man goodby, you finally make it to that comfortable chair in your cabin.

DEAR READERS—So much is afoot in the travel field with the "traveler" in mind that I'm beginning to suspect somebody cares.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, weary of tales of air passengers being bumped from reserved, confirmed flights due to overbooking by airlines, is considering a ruling to compel the airlines to pay bumped passengers from $50 to $200 to soothe their ruffled feelings. A ruffled feeling worth $200 isn't to be scoffed at these days.

Then there's a daring motel chain in the West that's galloping eastward with its revolutionary old idea of giving weary travelers a decent night's sleep in a double bed, without frills, for $6 per couple. And for $2 extra you can throw in a pair of kids. How's that for an idea that could spread? The key figure to watch for on the roads, folks, is "$6."

And the train people are still in there swinging. . . . Now they're thinking about letting you drive your car aboard a specially designed double-decked train and carting the whole kit and caboddle from Washington to Florida. You will sit in your car and relax with television or music, or stroll about the train's lounge, game room and dining facilities. A play area for children with movies and games is also planned. It's still on the drawing boards but seems likely.

And how about those reduced air fares to Europe?—where 15 people, who won't even have to pretend they like each other (it's all business), can travel together round-trip to Europe for $230. This is a marvelous step in the traveler's direction. Let's hope it lasts until we all get packed!—STEVIE.

The regular Welcome Wagon Club meeting will be held Tuesday, also at the Community Center. In addition to refreshments offered by Kay Richards and her hospitality committee, an interesting program is planned. County Agricultural Agent, Larry Loadholtz will speak on Florida plants and planting, a subject of interest to all new homeowners who want to have as beautiful a yard and garden as the present residents of Deltona so proudly display. Loadholtz will began his lecture at 10:30 a.m. sharp.

State Shuts Down Valdez Cocktail Lounge (See Story Below)

Death Knell For Causeway?

Apparent death knell was sounded for the proposed Lake Monroe causeway when the State Road Department announced Thursday, it will four-lane U. S. Highway 17-92 around Lake Monroe, between French Avenue and Interstate 4, when funds become available.

The SRD for many months has been conducting a feasibility study of the proposed causeway but report on the study has not been received by the County Commission.

In a statement to The Herald today, County Commission Chairman John Alexander expressed his "disappointment" with the road program approved for the next fiscal year by the SRD yesterday.

Alexander stated, "I am disappointed that some of our primary road needs are three or four years away. I know the SRD has limited funds and had to chop and delay many roads, but Florida is moving too slowly on its primary road system. I hope the legislators can somehow find funds to accelerate the program.

"State Road 426 will be built this coming year, but improvements to SR 46, SR 436, Osteen bridge and others are needed sooner than 1970. No plans being included for the university roads hurts, too.

"The SRD should be complimented for starting, for the first time, a five year program that will permit long range planning. It's too soon to know how this will affect the proposed bond issue by the County Commission for primary fights of way cost. The SRD apparently did not have funds to build these roads in Seminole County earlier under any circumstance."

Auto Mishap

Trooper Bud Smith, who said he witnessed the accident, charger Raymond W. Skidmore with failing to yield the right-of-way following a collision between cars driven by Skidmore and Don Beutley at 7:45 a. m. today on Highway 17-92 at the Longwood city limits. Car damage was estimated at $750.

Caribe Ordered Closed

Caribe Lounge in the Valdez Hotel was ordered closed for an indefinite period by the State Beverage Department this morning.

E. B. Ashley, district supervisor of the department, Daytona Beach, said the suspension order was issued because the bar is supported by an insufficient number of rentable rooms in the hotel, failing to meet state requirements, and because of gambling paraphernalia found under the bar.

Ashley said he served notice on Mrs. John Burton, manager of the hotel and mother of the bar owner, John A. Burton IV, directing the lounge be closed until such time as it does meet state requirements.

The agent said he was accompanied by a representative of the State Hotel Commission, city building inspector, Fire Chief George Harriett and a fire lieutenant.

Two Sanford Men Get Stay In Death House

Further legal maneuvers to save the lives of two convicted Sanford rapists awaiting execution in the electric chair were held in abeyance today by Albert N. Fitts, their attorney, following court order issued by U. S. District Judge William A. McRae granting indefinite stay of execution of all prisoners under death sentence in the state.

"Judge McRae's order came as a complete surprise to me," Fitts said. "I had planned to file a writ of habeas corpus to bring the youths before a fed eral court, and I will now wait until determination can be made of Judge McRae's order."

Fitts court appointed attorney, defended Jimmy Lee Drury, right and Israel Gilley, both of Sanford, in their trial in May of 1965 for the rape of a 12-year old Sanford girl. The jury found the youths guilty of the offense and did not recommend mercy.

Sentence of "death by electrocution" was passed by Circuit Judge Tom Waddell on Aug. 23, 1965. Drumright and Gilley have been imprisoned at Raiford since sentencing.

The rape occurred Feb. 8 at 4 p.m. on West Sixth Street at Pecan Avenue. A county-wide search, in which a 75-man posse of the sheriff's department, Navy Shore Patrol and city police departments participated, apprehended the youths on Feb. 10 near a lumber yard on SR 527 near Longwood.

AROUND THE CLOCK

(Youth Government week in Sanford closes today and The Herald, in an effort to stimulate our youth to the woes of the newspaper profession has gagged Larry Vershel and asked Brenda Carter of Seminole High School to fill in for him. Mr. Vershel has graciously consented (?) to see a psychiatrist today.)

By BRENDA CARTER

Concerning the litter problem around Sanford, has anyone recently noticed the number of usable trash cans in the city? Out of five city parks I found only three cans—all at the same park. Need I say more?

* * *

I was always taught "a penny saved is a penny earned!" Bottle breakers in the area seem to be losing more pennies than they save, as well as the motorists which are receiving less mileage from their treads.

* * *

Wonder how many students know that drinking on school grounds is punishable by fine, imprisonment or both? Then again, it doesn't take much effort to bum money for fines from friends, so parents won't know about them.

A woodpecker (who's a friend of the sparrow) told me several nice things. I don't have any medals to give away, but I guess orchids will do.

The DCT employers who make the Diversified Co-operative Training Program at Seminole a help to the community. Special thanks to John Mercer who recently stated at the DCT banquet the feelings of many — that DCT should stand for Diversified Community Training.

Snavely Gets Ag Contract For $91,027

E. E. Snavely, of Altamonte Springs, was apparent low bidder for the contract to construct the new office and laboratory building of the Central Florida Experiment Station, according to the director Dr. John Darby.

When bids were opened and tabulated, Snavely was low with $91,027 out of 11 bidders. Second was Miller and Hall, Cocoa, $91,578, and Rogers Engineering, Orlando, $92,863, was third.

The new structure will be located on the station farm on Celery Avenue, across from Brisson Avenue. The present office property and site on Celery Avenue, adjacent to the Sanford Naval Academy property will be deeded to the City of Sanford in exchange for a $20,000 water line to the farm.

City Allows Sunday Sale Of Alcohol At Holiday Inn

The City Commission, by a 3-2 majority today, voted to allow the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sunday at the Holiday Inn motel by the lakefront.

Voting against the move was Mayor Joe Baker and Al Wilson.

At the same time the board authorized the mayor to execute the lease agreement today with Monroe-Motel to start construction of the $650,000 facility directing four changes in the lease.

The changes involved refinancing provision, subletting, and renewal clause.

The Inn will be allowed to serve alcohol starting at 11 a.m. Sunday. Councilman W. V. Roberts urged the board to take the action. "It's the only way we can develop our resort image."

A present ordinance states the city can allow beverages sold at a hotel or motel of 100 rooms or more on Sunday starting at 2 p.m. However, Attorney Bill Hutchison stressed the motel people cater to the boat traveling public and he felt it would be a good idea.

Under the terms of the lease, the city will get $1 per year for the five years and then $5,000 annually and a percentage of the profits.

Construction of the motel is expected to start next week, according to City Manager W. E. Knowles. The Rogers Construction Firm of Orlando has negotiated for the project.

School Board Backs Trustees On Teachers

The County School Board yesterday approved the reappointment of 652 fulltime instructional personnel and went along with the board of trustees turning 20 down.

Supt. of Personnel Frank Gore said today that although the 20 were not reappointed it doesn't mean they were below standard as teachers. "There were many reasons for the trustee recommendations, Gore said.

Among those not recommended are: Jonda Craft, and Mrs. June Griffith, Bear Lake; George Perides and Mrs. Sue Thomas, Lyman; Mary Allen and Mrs. Celia Corley; Mrs. Betty Chambers and Mrs. Nancy Foy, Monroe-Wilson; Mrs. Carol Harrell, South Seminole Elementary; Odessa Brown, Hopper Elementary; James Arcee and Mrs. L. A. Rahming, Midway; Mrs. Roby Benbow and Eula Harris, Rosenwald; Mary Stackpole, Sanford Junior High and Mrs. Sarah Cohen, Mrs. Mary Grile, Mrs. Marion Weeks and Mrs. Susan Woodrow, South Seminole Junior High.

Bar Probes Circuit Move

Legislation which has been proposed to form a separate judicial circuit to include Orange, Osceola and Seminole Counties is being studied by the Seminole Bar Association, a bar official told The Herald today.

Seminole is presently included in the ninth judicial circuit along with Orange, Osceola, Brevard, Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee and St. Lucie.

Band Barbecue

The Seminole High School Band's Parent Association is sponsoring a barbecue tomorrow from 5 to 7 at the Elks club in Sanford to raise money for the band. William Elmore, bandmaster of the Marching Seminoles, encourages everyone in the area to attend.

Merger Set

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The merger of the Seaboard Air Line and Atlantic Coast Line railroads will take effect July 1.

It's Official! Dynatronics OKs Paulucci Lease

Confirming The Sanford Herald's exclusive report of March 10, lease of the former Texize building on West 20th Street to the Dynatronics division of General Dynamics Corporation, was announced today by Jeno Paulucci, Sanford financier. Paulucci purchased the building last month for $175,000.

The structure houses 58,000 square feet. Dynatronics has an option with Paulucci which, if exercised within one year, would call for an additional 50,000 square foot building.

Dynatronics officials have indicated it will employ from 300 to 400 more engineers, with annual individual salaries up to $25,000, increasing its 1967 payroll of $2.5 million to $3.5 million for the fiscal year 1967-68.

Dynatronics said the expansion is being accomplished to accommodate expanded sales and anticipated transfer of data products capabilities from the parent Electronics division of General Dynamics.

"For myself," Paulucci said, "I was pleased indeed to be able to provide the necessary buildings and also to commit the balance of the acres at the site for additional buildings for further programmed expansion of Dynatronics."

Main plant of Dynatronics is on Highway 17-92, about six miles south of Sanford, and other plants are in Casselberry and Fern Park.

Gordie Trial Opens Monday

One hundred twenty-eight witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify in the $600,000 damage suit brought against the City of Sanford by Mrs. Howard Gordie which will begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday before Circuit Judge Tom Waddell.

The suit filed by Mrs. Gordie charges the city with the "negligent operation of one of its vehicles by Patrolman Thomas A. Deppen which caused the death of Mrs. Gordie's husband, Howard Gordie and her son, Russell Gordie."

HOWARD GORDIE

Mr. Gordie died at the scene of a collision with the police car operated by Patrolman Deppen on March 2, 1966. Russell Gordie died shortly after the accident at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

At the time it was reported, Deppen operating the police cruiser was in "hot pursuit" of a speeding truck, heading south on Sanford Avenue. The Gordie vehicle was heading north on Sanford Avenue when it came to the intersection of 27th Street and collided with the police car.

S. J. Davis Jr. of the firm of Stenstrom, Davis and McIntosh is acting as attorney for Mrs. Gordie while William Hutchison is defending the city.

School Board Rescinds Double Sessions Order

The County School Board, in an attempt to alleviate crowded conditions in seven schools and avert double sessions in the elementary grades, agreed yesterday to advertise for bids for 27 portable classrooms at a cost of $153,400.

The board action recinds a previous motion earlier in the month ordering double sessions at Bear Lake, Altamonte and South Seminole Elementary schools, Lyman and South Seminole Junior High schools and extended days at Oviedo and Sanford Junior High School.

However, the board warned some 100 parents protesting double sessions, that it would be up to administrative personnel to rule on double sessions at South Seminole Junior High and Lyman.

South Seminole Junior High Principal John Angel urged to board not to approve any blanket order rescinding the double session move:

"Our problem is with the basic facility and not added classrooms. We can't put 36 children in a 600 square foot building."

Angel expects some 200 additional pupils at the school in the fall.

The board hopes to advertise for the portable classrooms in June with construction to start in August. Architect John Burton was named to supervise the project. Each classroom would cost $4,200. According to Administrative Assistant Walter Teague, four will be constructed at Altamonte and Bear Lake; five at South Seminole Elementary; one at Sanford Junior High School; six at South Seminole Junior High; five at Lyman and two at Oviedo.

Teague emphasized no raise in millage for the next fiscal year "if the board tightens its belt and rules out any salary increases for instructional personnel."

He also stressed that the portable buildings would be used for many years to come. "I don't see any new elementary school in the south end for at least another two years," he added.

X-Ray Students Here Capture Top Awards

Top honors for the school of radiologic technology of Seminole Memorial Hospital will go this weekend to the three students of that school at the annual convention of the Florida Society of Radiologic Technologists at Miami.

Radiologic technology students of all hospitals in Florida competed for the three awards for scientific papers . . . and all three awards were captured by the only three students at Seminole Hospital, winning over all other papers submitted from throughout the state.

Awards will be presented to Darlene Fedder, first, for her paper on "Intensifying Screens"; to Anna Steinmeyer, second, "Body Habitus and the Radiologic Technologist," and to Bettina Vale, third, "Lumber Spine."

These students are completing their first of a two-year course. They will be joined in July by three more students entering a two-year course.

The two-year training program . . . approved by the American Medical Association . . . is conducted by Dr. John T. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Pamela Cooper, RT, and Chief Technician R. P. Riley, RT.
