Teacher Leaders Warn Of Mass Resignations

MIAMI (AP)—The leaders of more than 50,000 Florida teachers warn many teachers will say, "Here's my resignation, goodbye," in a few weeks unless the Legislature comes into special session and raises $300 million in new taxes.

The leaders—Dexter Hagman and Arthur Hays of the Florida Education Association — predict public pressure could force a special session and might even convince Gov. Claude Kirk to surrender on his pledge of no new taxes.

Hays, head of the FEA Classroom Teachers Department, said the $300 million would come from an increase in sales tax and a revision of the tax structure.

In a two-hour interview with a panel of editors at the Miami Herald published in today's editions, Hays said the money would reduce the size of classes, restore vetoed kindergarten and textbook programs and supply funds for higher teacher pay.

Hagman, president of the FEA said teachers also want a state law requiring school boards to negotiate with teacher organizations. Hagman said the plan "goes further" than the functions of a labor union.

Hagman said teachers want a hand in making decisions on "what takes place in education." He said the public choice could be exercised by sending their children to parochial school if they didn't agree with the program of the public school teachers.

(H. Phillip Constans, executive secretary of the FEA, has threatened mass statewide resignations by FEA members if demands for a special legislative session are not met. Gov. Kirk said he would not call a special session for 15 months.)

Hagman refused to tell the Herald editors how many resignations have been collected by the association and Hays said, in answer to a question, that it was a matter of policy not to give out the figures.

Hays said the FEA expected to receive $1 million in annual $20 dues from its more than 50,000 members to help finance any mass program.

Broward Opens, FEA Says 'No'

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP)—Broward County's 90,000 pupils returned to classrooms today in 102 public schools after teachers and the school board reached agreement on salaries under pressure of a circuit court ultimatum.

Dr. Myron Ashmore, school superintendent, said only 64 of the county's 3,700 teachers failed to show for a "head count" Wednesday night and apparently "the word didn't get to them."

Most teachers were reported pleased with the settlement of $5,600 starting pay. The teachers had asked for $5,650 and the school board had offered $5,500.

When settlement was reached, Dr. Ashmore told principals to report immediately to their schools and conduct a teacher head count so it could be determined if any substitute teachers would be needed.

The calendar will be revised to make up the seven school days missed when teachers turned in resignations Sept. 5, Ashmore said, and schools will operate the full 180 days as required by law.

A school board spokesman said the resignations submitted by about 2,800 of the county's teachers would be burned.

W. Samuel Tucker Jr., school board chairman, said money for the pay raises would come from a 4 per cent emergency millage previously earmarked for construction. Use of the money is subject to approval by the county board of review but Tucker said he was confident the board would agree.

Ashmore reported the agreement included provisions for establishment of a professional communications committee to discuss problems facing teachers and the administration.

It will include five teaching members of the Broward Classroom Teachers Association, two representatives of the Broward Administrators and Supervisors Association, two members of the school board, and Ashmore.

The coordinating committees will meet monthly and special sessions may be called by a committee majority.

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Florida Education Association today rejected a Republican leader's proposal for solving the educational crisis and proposed an alternate plan which bypasses GOP Gov. Claude Kirk.

"I hadn't envisioned the governor participating in this action," said FEA Executive Secretary Phil Constans as he explained the alternate proposal at a news conference.

"I think the teachers have tried long enough to reason with the governor and failed often enough," he said. "We want to get this resolved in spite of the governor."

Constans proposed that the Legislature take immediate step to call itself into "an education and finance session the first part of October, 1967."

In the meantime, he suggested that the legislative officers appoint a bi-partisan committee to meet with teacher representatives and work out all matters "relevant to the present crisis and seek to arrive at agreement which can be presented to the special session of the Legislature."

Constans said he was hopeful that Republican legislators are as interested as anyone else in finding a solution to the present impasse.

"I'm more hopeful now than I was," Constans said. "The fact that Senator Slade proposed any kind of a way out indicates" that Republican lawmakers are interested in a solution.

Sen. Tom Slade of Jacksonville, assistant Republican leader of the Senate, proposed Wednesday that the FEA submit its requests to the Legislature with the taxes necessary to finance them.

Under the Slade plan, the FEA's sanctions against Florida schools would be lifted when the supplementing legislation passed the Legislature and the program would be submitted to the voters for approval in November.

Constans said he felt Slade was sincere but his proposal "had some flaws in it . . ."

However, he said the plan could serve as a vehicle for discussions.

Chattanooga Retains Its 'Choo Choo'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Chattanooga still holds its famous civil war "choo choo" after winning two skirmishes with the state of Georgia.

"But it's only the first round," said Mayor John Adams of Kennesaw, Ga., which celebrated a railroad fair today without the top-billed attraction—the civil war locomotive, "General."

The engine, star of the Great Locomotive Chase of 1862, was seized by Chattanooga raiders Tuesday in a replay of a Civil War hijacking. And the Chattanoogans continued to win in court Wednesday.

Chancellor Ray Brock ruled that Chattanooga had made a strong enough case to allow his original injunction and attachment of the General to stand.

The Chattanooga boarding party of mayor, city commission and pistol-packing police, waving Brock's order, stopped the General just as the Louisville & Nashville Railroad was about to send it to Kennesaw for permanent enshrinement.

Chattanooga charged in court Wednesday that the engine had been promised to the city as a permanent memorial.

Yankee raiders stole the General in Kennesaw, then Big Shanty, in 1862, but ran out of steam and luck just south of here and were hanged.

Marine Pilot Dies In Crash

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — The commanding officer of a Marine attack squadron in Beaufort, S. C., was killed Wednesday when his military jet crashed in conditions described as "practically zero."

The pilot was identified as Lt. Col. Chester E. Tucker, 41, a native of Oblong, Ill., who lived at Laureal Bay, S. C., near the base where he commanded Attack Squadron 331.

Tucker was en route from Beaufort to Sanford Naval Air Station when the plane crashed 10 miles southwest of Daytona Beach.

The plane burned on impact but the pilot's body was found about 100 yards from the wreckage. He apparently had attempted to parachute to safety but left the aircraft too late.

Insurance Industry Boosts President's Slum Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1-billion slum investment promise by the life insurance industry has boosted President Johnson's battered rent supplement program.

Life insurance leaders announced at the White House Wednesday they will make $1 billion of their $16 billion in annual investment money available for use in the city slums.

And Gilbert W. Fitzhugh, board chairman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said "the rent supplement program is probably the area into which we will move most rapidly."

Immediately, the move will provide the rent supplements program with private long-term mortgage money which has been lacking. This will counter critics of the rent supplements program who have argued supplements were not feasible because private firms wouldn't invest in the buildings.

The move also could give rent supplements a lift in Congress, where the program is fighting for its life. A House-passed bill would kill it by denying expansion funds. The Senate Appropriations Committee gave new hope to supporters of the program by voting it the full $40 million the administration asked.

Rent supplements are the difference between a determined reasonable rental and the 25 per cent of their income which qualifying families pay.

Wednesday's announcement also gave the President his second announced new thrust into the low-income housing field in as many days. Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, said Tuesday it would be possible to double last fiscal year's output of public housing units to about 70,000 this year.

And less than a month ago Weaver announced a new plan to bring private enterprise into construction and management to speed production of low-income public housing.

In addition to providing mortgage money for the rent supplement program, the life insurance companies will make such money available for residents of blighted areas to buy or improve their homes.

Fitzhugh, chairman of the Urban Problems Committee of the American Life Convention and Life Insurance Association of America, also indicated the industry will finance some commercial developments in the slums.

Money for these purposes now is extremely scarce—and what is available draws burdensome interest rates, federal housing officials said in a series of interviews, explaining that private lenders consider blighted areas bad risks.

White Youths Pelt Negroes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Gangs of white youths pelted Negro motorists and police cars with rocks, bottles and bricks Wednesday night in a fourth straight night of violence on the virtually all- white South Side.

The crowds had gathered for a second successive night in anticipation of an open housing march by Negroes who stopped short of the South Side neighborhood.

Police finally broke up the crowds of white youths with repeated barrages of tear gas and smoke bombs and with the intimidating blasts of riot guns and shotguns, but not before several police cars and vans were showered with flying debris. Three persons were injured. At least 20 were arrested.

The violence came despite a decision by the Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest, and the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to steer clear of the South Side— where their open housing march was met with bottles and bricks Monday night.

Negro Leader In Jail Again

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown was behind the bars of Richmond's city jail today, while his lawyers challenged the legality of his speedy transfer here Wednesday from Alexandria.

The denim-clad leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee was brought here by state troopers after a hearing in Alexandria Corporation Court on a motion to delay his extradition to Maryland.

Jude Franklin P. Backus denied a motion for bail, and ordered Brown confined to the Alexandria jail.

Power Co. To Return Million To Patrons

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida Power Corp. has until Sept. 27 to file a plan to return $1.2 million to its customers, Public Service Commissioner Ed Mason announced Wednesday.

Mason said the money is from savings from the 1964 federal income tax. Florida Power was ordered by the commission to give consumers a lower bill one month to account for the prorated savings.

"This is another action resulting from our continued surveillance," he told members of the Tampa Downtown Optimist Club. "The commission has been and is engaged in a detailed study of the effect of such tax reductions will have on the earnings of public utilities in Florida."

Florida Power which operates in central and northwest sections of the state, was instructed by the commission to reduce its rates by $726,000 in March. The commission also told the company to pass on its 1965 federal tax savings of $2,418,000 to electricity users.

The savings result from a slice in the federal tax bite from 52 per cent to 50 per cent in 1964 and another two per cent cut in 1965.

Miniskirts Used In Lottery Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Can a miniskirted miss help maximize the sale of New York State lottery tickets?

Apparently a private publicity company thinks they can because the firm has hired a number of pretty girls for the purpose.

The campaign is to get under way at City Hall Thursday with a mayoral proclamation declaring the day Official Lottery Day.

Then the girls will hop into the city extolling the benefits of the lottery.

Revenues from the lottery have not come up to expectations. The money is used to aid education.

U. S. Bombers Strike Hidden Red Missile Sites

SAIGON (AP) — High-altitude B52 bombers struck inside North Vietnam today at hidden sites where the Communists were preparing to put up missile stations in an effort to halt the damaging blows from the Stratofortresses along the demilitarized zone.

The B52 raid three miles inside North Vietnamese territory was one of three heavy strikes during which the big bombers unloaded some 450,000 pounds of bombs from the demilitarized zone north.

The heavy pressure in South Vietnam's northern provinces was reflected in last week's casualty figures announced today by the U.S. Command. The number of American and Communist combat dead were the highest in two months, and at least two-thirds of the Americans were around the coastal town of Tam Ky and 100 miles to the north on the fringes of the DMZ.

The U.S. Command said 243 Americans were killed last week, 1,490 were wounded and seven were missing. South Vietnamese forces reported 2250 killed, while Communist dead totaled 2,103 killed.

Since the South Vietnamese presidential election Sept. 3 brought an end to a two-month lull in ground fighting, the Communists have repeatedly committed big units to battle in the north and hurled continual mortar and artillery barrages at the Marines holding the line south of the DMZ. The sandbagged, underground fortress at Con Thien has been a repeated target.

Today's B52 raids smothered the jungle routes leading down to Con Thien and blasted suspected artillery gun posts as well as the area north of the zone where preparations were spotted to install the big SAM missiles which can reach an altitude of 70,000 feet.

Earlier this year the Communists succeeded in bringing down the big missiles, forcing the Air Force to pull back its high-altitude bombers to targets below the zone.

The Air Force is determined that won't happen again, and is making heavy raids on all suspected missile activity in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The fighting in the north was mainly a series of smaller skirmishes, but in the southern Mekong delta American infantrymen, artillery and air power killed 60 guerrillas in a running fight through muddy rice paddies.

Although the weather over North Vietnam was spotty, American pilots managed an almost average number of 137 missions Wednesday. Some were night radar strikes and others sudden raids through chance openings in the clouds.

There was no report of any lost planes, but returning pilots reported meeting swarms of SAM missiles and flights of swept-wing MIG17s in the Hanoi-Haiphong area. The MIGs skirted the bombing formations in efforts to draw them from targets but stayed far enough away to avoid aerial combat.

Air Force planes raked the northwest rail line between Hanoi and Red China, and Marine pilots made a radar night strike at the Dong Bi power station 10 miles above the port of Haiphong.

Navy planes concentrated on supply lines from the Hanoi area south to the demilitarized zone, reporting damage or destruction to, 18 bridges and bridge approaches frequently choked with traffic crossing rivers and canals. Although there were no raids in the immediate Hanoi-Haiphong area, U.S. planes hit SAM sites about 25 miles from the capital.

The Navy reported that a destroyer was hit twice in its forward superstructure by Communist artillery while bombarding a coastal defense site near Dong Hoi. The ship reported no casualties. Its name was not revealed.

The South Vietnamese government reported 634 civilians were killed or wounded and 403 were kidnaped by terrorists last week, the highest such totals since government officials began compiling terrorist casualties on a nationwide basis last October.

The Communists kept up their pressure on the northern provinces by opening up on a Marine patrol with heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire today near coastal Tam Ky, 135 miles south of the DMZ.

The Leatherknecks said they killed 15 Viet Cong and 10 Americans were wounded in the fight in which the two sides came within grenade distance. The patrol pulled out under cover of a U.S. artillery barrage.

At the opposite end of the country, about 40 miles south of Saigon, troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division ran into several small guerrilla units Wednesday. American losses were seven killed and 21 wounded.

In South Vietnamese politics six defeated presidential candidates announced the formation of a "militant democratic opposition front" to oppose the new government of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President-elect Nguyen Cao Ky. They said it also represents 25 of the 42 defeated Senate tickets, but representatives of only three tickets were present at a news conference held by the front.

Exciting Game On Tap

Greyhounds Out For Revenge

By WALTER BISTLINE
Sports Staff

The Lyman Greyhounds, dubbed as conference crown contenders, meet their first test tomorrow night when they host the Wildwood 'Wildcats' at Lyman Field.

Coach Richard Copeland has been stressing defense this week and in general tapering-off for the game. The OBC battle will give the Greyhounds an opportunity to avenge last year's 12-7 loss to the Wildcats.

Experience is the key factor in Lyman's hopes, with 10 lettermen in the starting lineup. Probably the biggest difficulty will be lack of depth. Except for the substitution of John Stafford for Dan Peterson and Mark Dowell for Rick Browne the offensive and defensive squads are the same. The offensive line averages 188 pounds per man, the defensive line being slightly lighter at 184 pounds per man.

Po.	Player	No.	Wt.
E	Bruce Stuart	82	175
E	Mike Rickett	88	180
T	Phil King	73	225
T	Randy Rigsby	70	190
G	Dan Peterson	66	175
G	Dave Fulsang	62	160
C	Bob Olson	55	195
QB	Jim Lucas	10	150
HB	Mike Hargis	12	170
HB	Tom Pinnock	20	165
FB	Rick Browne	44	180

Big Jack Nicklaus Sits It Out

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The touring golf pros challenged Whitemarsh Country Club's par 72 course today in the first round of the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

DON JANUARY

Don January, the defending champion, and virtually all of the prominent members of the tour were on hand to try for the $21,000 first prize. The 72-hole tournament runs through Sunday.

Conspicuous by his absence was Jack Nicklaus, who chose to sit this one out for some time with his family. He won $50,000 with last week's win in the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio.

Gay Brewer, the Masters champion, who was second to Nicklaus at Akron, and Roberto De Vicenzo, the British Open titlist, who was third, joined in the shoot-for-dough antic at Whitemarsh.

Then there were Gary Player, the South African wonder; Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols, Gardner Dickinson, Dan Sikes, Gene Littler, Bruce Crampton, etc.

Mexico TV

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Dallas at Cleveland National Football League game Sunday will be televised live by the Mexican TV Network. Telesistema Mexicana announced it is the first of 22 NFL games to be telecast in Mexico, in addition to the Super Bowl game Jan. 14.

Race Delay

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)— Picketing grooms and exercise boys delayed the start of Bay Meadow's 83-day racing meeting for 1½ hours Wednesday, demanding union recognition from horse owners.

'Fireman' Chance Saves Twins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fit Dean Chance with a fireman's hat and Joe Adcock with something a bit more restraining.

Chance strode out of the Minnesota bullpen for only the second time this season Wednesday night and saved Minnesota's 3-2 victory over Washington and the Twins' share of the American League lead. Boston, tied for first place with Minnesota, defeated Kansas City 4-2 in an afternoon game.

Adcock's Indians, meanwhile, struggled through 17 scoreless innings, nine of them without a hit against Chicago's Gary Peters and finally lost to the White Sox 1-0 on Rocky Colavito's run-scoring single.

Third-place Detroit remained one game off the pace as Mickey Lolich pitched a five-hitter and Al Kaline and Dick Tracewski rapped home runs in a 6-1 victory over Baltimore.

In the only other American League game played Wednesday, New York dropped California 6-4.

In the National League, New York edged Atlanta 2-1, Pittsburgh pounded Cincinnati 11-3, Philadelphia shut out St. Louis 3-0 and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 6-3.

Jim Kaat was cruising along on a six-hit shutout going into the ninth against Washington and the Twins' 3-0 lead built mostly on Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer, looked substantial enough.

But Frank Howard and Paul Casanova opened with singles and Fred Valentine drove a double off the right field wall. Tony Oliva, attempting to catch Valentine's drove, crashed into the wall and suffered a three-stitch cut in his left eyelid and superficial knee bruises.

Manager Cal Ermer, who had considered removing Kaat before Valentine's hit, waited no longer. "As soon as I saw the ball head for the fence in right," Ermer said, 'I knew I'd made a bad move," Now, he made a good one, calling for Chance.

The ace right-hander gave up a sacrifice fly to rookie Frank Coggins and then struck out Mike Epstein and Cap Peterson, leaving the tying run stranded.

Peters pitched 11 innings of the strangest one-hit ball you're ever likely to see. The White Sox' ace left-hander permitted only a second inning triple by Joe Azcue but walked 10 batters and was in constant trouble.

Sonny Siebert, meanwhile, matched Peters, allowing three hits in the first four innings and no more until the 11th. But the Indians stranded 11 base runners.

The White Sox finally won it in the 17th when Ken Boyer singled with one out and pinch runner Charlie Bradford raced to second on a passed ball. After Tom McCraw was purposely walked, Colavito singled Bradford home.

Lolich, who lost 10 in a row over one stretch, won his sixth straight for the Tigers after spending most of Wednesday in bed, nursing a cold.

Kaline had three hits and scored three runs. His 24th homer in the third inning followed utility man Tracewski's first of the season.

Tracewski's homer was only the fourth of his major league career and it came against Baltimore's Pete Richert. The two are old friends and Tracewski served as best man at Richert's wedding. "My first two times up in the American League," Tracewski recalled, "he struck me out."

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs—two of them with a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning as the Red Sox trimmed the Athletics. He singled home Boston's first run in the fourth. Both times, he delivered after Kansas City had purposely walked Ken Harrelson.

So with 15 games remaining for all four contenders, Boston and Minnesota remain tied for the lead, Detroit is one game behind and Chicago three off the pace.

Rookie Jerry Kenney smashed a two-run inside-the-park homer and then drew one of three walks that helped build a four-run sixth inning and a Yankee victory over California. Two of the sixth-inning runs were forced home by bases loaded walks.

Home Accidents Kill More Than Diseases

A program on "Home Accidents and Hazards," presented by Mrs. Alice Clements, highlighted first meeting of the year for members of the Lake Mary Extension Homemakers Club held Tuesday in the Lake Mary Fire Hall.

Mrs. Clements stated that "home accidents kill more people than many common diseases combined" and gave a printed questionnaire test entitled "Safety — Do You Know What to Do?" Members passed the test with good results.

It was reported the Lake Mary club has been assigned the country of India in international affairs. Plans were made to start working on projects for the Seminole Fair and for a drvie for new members to be conducted during the month of October. All women of the community are urged to attend the Oct. 10 meeting.

Members brought items made for the Extension Homemakers Bazaar to be held in Sanford Plaza, Nov. 4. A workshop will be held at 10 a.m. next Thursday at the fire hall for this purpose.

Lake Mary club women have been invited to meet with the Longwood Homemakers, Oct. 5, to hear Judge Vernon Mize speak on jury duties. All attending may meet at the fire hall at 10 a.m. and should bring a covered dish and their own table service for the luncheon.

After adjournment of the meeting by the president, Mrs. Pat Berry, luncheon was served.

Those present were Thelma Chartowich, Helen Powell, Thelma Sikes, Libby Smathers, Mildred Sandusky, Kay Sassman, Violet Beckhorn and Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Clements. Guests were Mary Jo Floyd and Mildred Donaldson.

Eleven Tables Play Bridge

DeBary Duplicate Bridge Club played 11 tables at this week's Tuesday afternoon games. Miss Ethel Johnson was director.

Winners were, NS, first, Mrs. Edwin Wachter and Mrs. Norman Meyer; second, Dr. Leonard Munson and Norman Meyer; third and fourth, a tie, Mrs. Frank Austin and Mrs. Gloria Accardi with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mortimer.

EW, first, Alexander Menezer and Charles Daglia; second, Mrs. Mildred Dostert and Mrs. E. M. Hinkle; third, Mrs. A. J. Facchin and Mrs. Kay Herre; fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matheson.

Post 183 Meet

Old Glory American Legion Post 183 and Auxiliary Unit of Altamonte Springs will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Post Home on Prairie Lake in Fern Park. All members are urged to be present.

ARCHITECT'S plans for impressive new music educational building at Forest Lake Academy, Seventh-Day Adventist school located in Forest City, (shown in artist's conception) are examined on the building site by Elder Lester Stannard, principal, and Dave Groves, building contractor. The new facility will contain practice rooms, library, classroom, recording studio, instrumental repair and storage rooms, teaching studios, lobby, office and readers' office. There also will be a chapel with seating capacity for 600 persons. (Herald Photos)

Two Boy Scouts To Make Eagle

By JANE CASSELBERRY

The Eagle Scout Award will be conferred upon two Boy Scouts of Troop 341 of Casselberry, Monday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m., at the Casselberry Community Methodist Church. They are 17-year-old Huram Cox and 16-year-old Edward Cundiff Jr.

Huram, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Cox of 507 Elm Drive, Casselberry, is in the 10th grade at Lyman High School. He has been a Boy Scout for four-and-a-half years.

Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cundiff Sr., who live at 226 pine Avenue, Longwood, and is in the 11th grade at Lyman. He has been in scouting for five years.

War Justified, Missionary Says

Four years of on-the-spot living in Vietnam has convinced Rev. Walter A. Routh Jr., native Sanfordite and Baptist missionary, that progress has been made, that the cost of the war is justified by the basic high ideals which brought about the American presence in that strife-torned land, and that his work as a Christian missionary in a non-Christian land is ready to bear fruit.

All this and more was covered in the address the missionary gave at the weekly meeting of the Sanford Kiwanis Club in the Civic Center yesterday. In introducing him, J. M. Stinecipher recalled the Routh record in Sanford as a formidable guard on the football team and a leader in non-athletic high school activities.

The Rouths—Mrs. Routh is also a Baptist missionary, arrived in Vietnam in 1963—have lived in secured areas but with the Vietnamese and not in American bases. As one result the speaker was able to watch the changes in that area with almost Vietnamese eyes. He has learned the language and even serves as interpreter for Americans needing that help.

Areas in which "I know progress has been made are" military, education, the economy and medical. He illustrated the change in military effectiveness with the fact that a few years ago they were not able to travel more than 12 kilometers from Saigon because of Viet Cong attack—now they can take Route 1—a main highway—and travel 220 miles.

The educational progress can be measured by the increase in schools. American money and American supplies used by Vietnamese have built the new facilities. He also pointed out that the American concept of education for all is gradually superceding the French concept of education only for the brighter youngsters.

His illustration on the economy was personal. When arriving in Vietnam, his salary was more than sufficient to live in a comfortable style. Then came the American build-up and within 30 months the prices had gone up 300 per cent. But in the past year it has stabilized to some degree.

But his warmest praise was for the medical achievements both by the armed forces and by private institutions and individuals. Hospitals have been built and medical services improved not to the standard of America but at least the traditional feeling of Vietnamese that hospitals were only to die in has been changed.

Go See For Yourself

Most Seminole County schools will be getting their Parent-Teacher associations cranked up next week.

If you never have, and you're eligible, try one on for size.

All you need to join are (a) a child in school, anywhere from the first grade through the 12th, and (b) enough interest in knowing what goes on in the place where your boy or girl spends a goodly portion of the daylight hours.

Maybe you don't care. Many parents don't. Some don't even care where the youngsters go or what they do after school is out for the day.

Most PTA or PTO meetings come only once a month. Seldom do they last more than an hour or so. The long ones are the meetings you might want to be sure of attending, because extended sessions mean there is something to be settled.

You can't let them know what you think if you are slouched down home in front of the boob tube.

We have an idea a good bit of the present misunderstanding between the teachers and the public might have been averted if more moms and dads had taken the trouble to keep up with the schools as they went along.

Generally speaking, psychologists tell us our biggest fears are of things we don't know about. It's the unknown that scares us.

With no facts at hand, our first reaction is self-preservation — to fight.

James Marlow

Analysis Of The News

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sticklish elements in the Democratic party opposed to the Vietnam war are divided and uncertain about how to give political expression to their view.

This is of course not the sole motivation. It embraces admirers of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as a man and those attracted by what he has said about domestic matters.

But without the antiwar feeling the draft Kennedy movement would have wrecked long ago on the rock of Kennedy's repeated assertions that he supports President Johnson for re-election.

As it is, Citizens for Kennedy, with headquarters in New York, claims some 60 chapters scattered across the country. Dr. Martin Shepard, the New York co-chairman, says it is continuing to grow.

Opposition to the war also has fueled the organization of the National Conference for New Politics which convenes Friday in Chicago. It embraces antiwar and civil rights groups. There is talk this gathering may lead to the fielding of a national ticket of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., for president, and Dr. Benjamin Spock for vice president. Both are strongly critical of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

However, Spock, a pediatrician nationally known for his writings on baby care, deprecated the likelihood of a national ticket in a letter to a Washington acquaintance.

"If it should decide on a national ticket, which I think not very likely, it would probably be a standby ticket, pending the selections of the Republican and Democratic nominees," he wrote.

"If either old party chose a half-peaceful candidate, I would think any New Politics national ticket would certainly be withdrawn."

Spock's letter was to Joseph L. Rauh, a Washington lawyer who is seeking to unite "peace Democrats" behind a movement for a peace plank in the 1968 Democratic platform.

Rauh's plan contemplates an effort from the grass roots level to elect peace delegates to the convention. Selection of delegates will begin early next year.

In late July, he sent a 15-page memorandum outlining his ideas to some 350 Democrats. This argued that a third party (New Politics) or "dump Johnson" (draft Kennedy) effort were the weakest political moves the peace movement could make.

On the other hand, he contended, an effort on behalf of a peace plank would be a strong move. He suggested that if best-en in the platform committee, a minority report could be brought in and debated in the convention with the full exposure of the television networks.

A built-in factor of strength for Rauh's plan is that most of the Senate and House doves presumably will be delegates to the convention. They are men of influence in their state parties. It is unlikely, for instance, that Arkansas Democrats would refuse to make Sen. J. W. Fulbright a delegate if he wants to be one.

Rauh said in an interview he has received expressions of support from four state Democratic chairmen, but only Robert L. Coate of northern California was willing to be quoted by name.

Rauh said he received requests for his memo and expressions of support from about 50 others who are active in the party. Many came by telephone rather than letter, he said, and added: "I think I have detected a real fear to be quoted in opposition to the war."

Posters

This was the solution for Mrs. John Diggs and Mrs. John Dixon, whose silk screened posters had to be distributed statewide in time for advertising the New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair in Albuquerque.

"They just had to dry somehow," explained Mrs. Dixon.

Honeymooners

Political Notebook

CHICAGO (NEA) — Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen may personally anoint his junior colleague, Sen. Charles Percy, as presidential favorite son for 1968.

Such status, thus strongly blessed, would be a big boost to his prospects as a full-back candidate for the Republican moderates should Michigan's Gov. George Romney fail in the primaries. This is especially so since Percy increasingly disinclined to mix in those primaries himself.

Some Illinois Republicans argue that if Percy is ultimately to be designated their favorite son, a blessing from Dirksen is the only good way. They feel this would quiet the freshly stirring animosities between Percy and Dirksen forces.

Party urgings upon Dirksen to sprinkle the anointing oil are now being made. A certain urgency has crept into the matter since the recent flurry over the favorite son issue which Percy forces, incidentally, blame in part on Illinois supporters of Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Three weeks ago, Percy and Dirksen met privately for their first important discussion of 1968 matters. Dirksen told Percy he does not want the favorite son designation himself, even though he may have a tough opponent (for instance, State Treasurer Adlai Stevenson III) in his 1969 re-election bid. Dirksen wants the delegation chairmanship and a place on the platform committee for the GOP convention at Miami Beach next August.

In their unheralded talk, he did not give Percy any sign he might endorse him as favorite son, but neither did he interpose objection. Percy aides are encouraged to believe that, one way or another, he will be designated.

If it is to happen, the 58-member Illinois delegation will do it in their key meeting soon after they are elected in the state primary next June. There is no disposition on Percy's part to press his case upon the delegates by getting into a possibly competitive situation through entry into the purely advisory Illinois presidential primary. A Dirksen endorsement clearly would be the best pressure.

Party professionals in Illinois are well aware that, as a man who might emerge in a fall-back situation, Percy would be handicapped if he did not have strong backing from his own state. Not universally approved by Republicans in his home base, a fact understood by his people, he needs the unifying move Dirksen can make.

It is plain that Percy himself wants favorite son status partly as a means of keeping him in the presidential ball park in case other moderates fail.

One Percy man thinks that the first moderate alternative to a beaten Romney would not be Percy, as many party leaders imagine but, instead, New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. The latter is seen as a man with some vocal backing from other moderate governors and with immense name value which by then might be sharply reflected in opinion polls. By this judgment, Percy would be third choice.

The junior senator several times commended Rockefeller, but thereafter was told by party leaders to ease off to avoid alienating party conservatives who dislike the New York governor intensely.

Percy wants to exert leadership and has said he would make a personal choice for 1968 GOP nominee before the convention, but it is evident he could not take a unified delegation to Rockefeller's banner.

Though some county leaders want the 1968 delegation to hang loose, a favorite son Percy would find it easier to throw in with Richard Nixon or possibly Romney, both of whom he is prepared to back if either gains a commanding position.

They are apparently going to have full chance from Percy. It now seems unlikely he will let his name stay in the all-candidate primaries in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon should authorities there decree him "a national candidate."

To get out, he would have to certify in writing that he is not. Unlike Reagan, he sees nothing illogical in a potential favorite son making that disclaimer.

Beyond doubt, Percy is concerned over some moderates' complaints that any move by him into the primaries would divide their vote and advantage the candidacies of Nixon or Reagan. It seems further evident that Percy forces fear primary tests, since most polls suggest he is little known in the country at large.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Alan's behavior is actually an insult to his lovely deceased wife! For when marriage has been ideally happy and one party therein passes away, it is a real tribute to his or her memory for the surviving mate to anticipate a second marriage. God said that it is not proper for man to live alone, so see how the SMF is fulfilling God's plan.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

"Dr. Crane," he mourned, "my wife and I were in a severe auto accident last winter.

"Our car skidded on the ice and we crashed into a tree.

"Both of us were taken to a hospital. But she didn't recover consciousness.

"I got well, but have no more wish to live, since I was so completely devoted to my wife.

"Since then, I have dragged along from day to day, shunning social invitations from friends and relatives.

"And I can't even work up enough resolution to attend church, though we were both active therein.

"So should I just check out? What's the use of living?"

TOMBSTONE SHADOWS

Alan is frustrating God's plans for him by thus trying to be merely a shadow of his wife's tombstone!

Life down here on this earth is supposed to be an educational process.

And we are all forgiven for taking a few days out of our normal classroom routine to grieve.

But our departed loved ones have simply, "graduated", into that exciting new classroom up ahead, which we call "Heaven."

And they would not wish us to shrivel up in dlauss or to shun constructive social events and church attendance.

If a high school student misses one problem in geometry, that doesn't excuse him for quitting the course and flunking all his other subjects, does it?

So I definitely urged Alan to get back into social action and to pick a definite goal in life.

Indeed, I quoted for him the excellent advice of Horace Mann, who really was the Father of our Public Schools. He said:

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity!"

Moreover, I urged Alan to register with our Scientific Marriage Foundation, which is the interfaith eleemosynary organization dedicated to helping introduce congenial folks with a view to possible happy marriage.

Some 3,000 topnotch rabbis, priest and ministers serve as the volunteer Field Counsellors and personally interview each Applicant.

By dint of urging, coaxing and even some high-pressure arguments, I got Alan off his present, "dead center," state.

He then enrolled with the Scientific Marriage Foundation.

Within a month he had been introduced to a lovely widow, aged 35, who belonged to the same church denomination and had the same background and ideals.

In three more months they were married.

Now they have two youngsters and are ideally happy.

God's universe stresses efficiency, and it is definitely not efficient to waste away or die on the vine, uselessly.

So grit your teeth and force yourselves to keep on the right course of action. Soon habit will make it pleasant.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Norman Rockwell, the folksy artist whose conception of the four freedoms inspired Americans in World War II, is painting his talented brush toward things more controversial.

"Things have changed, and so have I," says the lanky patriarch remembered by most for his more than 300 Saturday Evening Post covers.

After 47 years of recording the foibles of the American public with painstaking accuracy and gentle humor, Rockwell has switched to more topical themes.

"The kind of thing I did for years is through," the 73-year-old artist said softly as he folded his Twiggy frame into an antique chair.

Rockwell is feverishly behind schedule, has committed his talents for months ahead and is generally happy about the whole thing.

The shock of hair is silver, but his cavernous eyes are alive with enthusiasm.

"The public doesn't want my type of gentle humor anymore and the magazines don't want it; they're now full of articles on race problems, drug addiction, sex in the suburbs, mass murders and the like. I still get letters from people every day who say, 'Why don't you do those sweet old pictures like you used to do,' but that's just from older people, like myself," he chuckled.

"To be honest, I was getting fed up with the cute situations," he explained. "Since the Post I've been getting some very exciting things to do." Among them he mentioned covers and special inside illustrations for Look and McCall's, such as six tomatoes and the Peace Corps, even a tongue-in-cheek pictorial comment on women's hair styles and current hair styles.

His remains as American as red, white and blue, as traditional as Old World courtesy and as aware as New World current events.

Recently Rockwell was in the Soviet Union for two weeks on a painting assignment of Russian schools. "The topic was more or less that in school, children were being taught to revere—I could almost say worship—Lenin." The execution of the painting was one of the most difficult of his career, he said. The illustration will appear on a double page spread in an October issue of Look's look into the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

In his studio, a huge, elongated canvas sat on the easel waiting to be finished. It shows a portion of today's Main Street in quaint, picturesque Stockbridge, Mass., where the artist lives, and will be featured in a three-page foldout section in McCall's Christmas issue.

For the most part, Rockwell retains a photographically realistic style despite detractors who have snuffed that he is old-fashioned.

"Paintings are never any good when they're easy. The ones I have trouble with always come out best," he said. He feels his most significant or "most recurring work" is the four freedoms series created in 1943 during World War II.

Rockwell emphasizes the need for regular work hours. He naps after lunch, ceases work after dinner and tries to get at least eight hours of sleep.

Since he has made more than enough money, he says his compulsion to work is just "bad habit." Though he is selective with art job offers, he adds, "I have a lot more orders than I can do. I take on too many things—one job is only for some little drawings. I don't know why the hell I do it."

As if answering his own thoughts, he concluded, "Art is my life. I've never done anything else."

I would like to thank you for your editorial "Over The Top" on Sept. 5 in regard to our United Fund drive this year.

It is through the support of the newspapers and other communication media that the public is made aware of their obligations to the community. The goal which we have set this year of $50,000 is not insurmountable and if, as was pointed out in your editorial, we all work together as a combined group throughout the county, I say, "Why don't you do those sweet old pictures like you used to do,' but that's just from older people, like myself," he chuckled.

Fired Aide Reinstated

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — John T. Bevis, fired from his Florida Development Commission job for refusing to write a speech for Gov. Claude Kirk, has been given his job back by the Merit System Council.

The former advertising salesman for the Tallahassee Democrat hired State Sen. Mallory Horne, D-Tallahassee, as his attorney and appealed the May 9 firing by an appointee of Kirk, who questioned Development Commission Director John Smolko at the Aug. 11 hearing, said the commission plans to appeal the new ruling to the state cabinet.

Horne brought out during the hearing that Bevis, a $400-a month information specialist II, was fired by commission personnel director Sam Brewer on May 9.

It was the day Bevis, who specialized in writing about auto racing, refused to write a Kirk speech planned for delivery to the American Legion convention in Miami Beach.

The Development Commission, said Horne, recently hired Saffire Public Relations Inc. of New York at $90,000 a year to do this," said Horne.

Development Commission officials contend that Saffire was hired to promote the state, not Gov. Kirk, however.

Bridal Shower Honors Cheryl Jones

Miss Susan Stein and Miss Elizabeth Kellett were co-hostesses at the Stein home, 2415 Elm Ave., for a recent lingerie shower honoring bride-elect, Miss Cheryl Jones.

The hostesses presented Miss Jones with a corsage made of miniature lingerie items and blue ribbon and a long-stemmed white carnation, tipped in blue. They also gave her a hostess gift, a white leather suitcase. It was placed on the gift table with a tag reading "For Cheryl's Trousseau." Gifts were placed in and around the suitcase.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a white nylon net cloth over white with blue satin binding. A large crystal brandy snifter in the center of the table held an arrangement of blue and white roses. This was flanked by two blue candles in silver holders.

Individual squares of cake, decorated with blue roses, nuts, mints and punch were served.

Guests included Mrs. Robert M. Jones, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Alice Willink, mother of the groom, and Mmes. A. D. Abrams, Fred C. Wight, Fred Stein and Gordon T. Kellett.

Also the Misses Joyce Jones, Vicki McArdle, Sara Wight, Marcia Lippincott, Peggy Bowers, Linda Webb, Adrienne Epstein, Susan McCaskill, Claudia Bomgardner, Liz Jailett, Patsy Foy, Sue Jailett, Janice Foy, Janice Grant, Pam Merriweather, Sanford, and Miss Connie Norris, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Janice Carter Bride Of Mr. Hall

By MARYANN MILES

Miss Janice Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brokaw, of Altamonte Springs, and Wesley Martin Hall, son of Mrs. Marjorie Hall, were united in Holy Matrimony Sept. 3, 1967, at 7 p.m. at Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church, Forest City.

Pastor James Hamrick officiated at the candlelight ceremony before an altar accented with palms, baskets of mums and carnations and two 14-branched candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather and mother, chose a formal gown of silk bouquet taffeta with a lace bodice and Sabrina neckline, enhanced with pearls and brilliants. The intermission skirt was lace-edged in front and highlighted by a detachable lace and taffeta Empress train, caught with two tiny bows at the shoulder. Her elbow length veil of illusion was held with a cluster of stephanotis and tyion petals and she carried a nosegay of white mums, accented with ligustrum leaves.

Mrs. Jean Bell served as matron of honor. Attendants were Karen Schwennekar, Sharlene Brokaw, Nancy Shipley, Sandy Smith and Reba Hall.

MR. AND MRS. WESLEY MARTIN HALL

Mrs. Harold Roll, organist, presented a prelude of music which included "Slumber Song," "Cello as the Night," "Halsworthy Church Bells," "Aria," "Because," "Sapphire Ode" and "Adagio." For the bridal march she played "Festal March in C" and "Cortege Nuptial."

Mrs. Robert Metcalfe sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and as the couple knelt in prayer, Robert Metcalfe sang the "Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Brokaw chose for her daughter's wedding a green lace over satin street length dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

PLANS PRETTY PLANES

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — When Mrs. Jean Wickstead tackles interior decorating problems, it's not a house she is concerned with but rather an airplane.

As an industrial designer for Atlantic Aviation, she not only has to consider good taste, comfort and lasting qualities of fabric, but also the Federal Aviation Administration's strict regulations concerning fireproofing.

"Everybody wants blue on the outside and brown for the inside right now," Mrs. Wickstead reports. "The reason seems to be that the blue is the color of the sky and the brown is a board room color." The planes are designed mostly for business men.

BIGGER BOTTLES

NEW YORK (AP) — The American housewife is becoming partial to larger glass bottles and jars, according to a recent report from the Glass Containers Manufacturers Institute.

Quart milk bottles used to be standard; today, two-quart and gallon bottles are featured in supermarkets. Glass containers for applesauce, salad dressing and peanut butter are also getting larger.

The reasons are both economic and sociological. Larger families make it economical to buy household products in bigger containers. And large bottles mean fewer trips to the supermarket.

Miss Elaine Jacobs, D.H. Seaman Exchange Vows

MRS. DELBERT HAVILAND SEAMAN

Elaine Alyson Jacobs became the bride of Delbert Haviland Seaman on Sept. 2. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. James A. Budd in Sardis Methodist Church, one of the oldest chapels in Atlanta, Ga.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Buron Jacobs of Atlanta, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Haviland Seaman of Winter Park.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bell shaped gown of peau de soie appliqued with pearls of re-embroidered Alencon lace embellished with seed pearls and brilliants with a Cathedral train. Long sleeves ended in points of Alencon lace over the hands and her illusion veil was trimmed with matching lace.

Something old was added by the great, great grandmother of the bridegroom, the late Mary Brown of Glens Falls, N. Y. It was a handkerchief made by her for the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Rose Jennet Howe, when she became the bride of the late Dr. Francis P. Lucas in 1905, in Glens Falls, N. Y. It was later carried by the bridegroom's mother at her wedding.

Mrs. James B. Porter of Atlanta served as matron of honor, and Rosemarie Seaman, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of yellow chiffon over crepe and carried old-fashioned bouquets of yellow roses and yellow shasta daisies.

F. Clyde Seaman of Middletown, N. J., served as his brother's best man and Keith Jacobs, brother of the bride, ushered.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the Cherokee Town and Country Club in Atlanta. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. James Armstrong, aunt of the bride, Mrs. John Witherspoon and Miss Hermice Reid, all of Atlanta. Mrs. Rick Plaz of Atlanta kept the bride's book.

Born in Atlanta, the bride was graduated from Dykes High School there. She is presently attending Florida State University where she is a Spanish major and a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Seaman was born in Glens Falls, N. Y., but has lived in Florida since 1934. He attended schools there and was graduated from Winter Park High School. He is a junior at Florida State University where he is majoring in International Affairs and is a brother in Sigma Nu fraternity. He is coach of the Sanford Swim Association, Sanford.

Following a honeymoon trip to Nassau, Mr. and Mrs. Seaman will return to Tallahassee, where they will be at home at 336-1 Pennell Circle, after Sept. 15.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

There is a bulletin out at the Agriculture Center that is very, very good. It is entitled "Food for the Young Couple" and is Bulletin No. 65. It was written for the newly married set. It contains wonderful information for those just starting out together. It is centered around Helen and John Young, who are very budget-wise and plan carefully for the future ahead and how she plans meals ahead, using convenience foods during the mealtimes. It tells how the Youngs cut food costs and show the food plan and also menus for the week. There are also other ideas in the bulletin. This bulletin is free for just going and getting it or you may even call the center at 322-7128 and ask for the bulletin to be sent to you.

There also is another bulletin that all homemakers might like who purchase frozen foods for their freezers. It is called "Home Care of Purchased Frozen Foods" and is No. 69. It was prepared by the Human Nutrition Research Division, Agricultural Research Service. The contents are on storage temperature, storage time, buying frozen foods, judging quality, managing freezer storage, defrosting the freezer, care of food in emergencies and refreezing. It is yours for the asking also.

There are just hundreds of bulletins out there on just about everything that a homemaker needs and all you have to do is visit the Agricultural Center and pick out what you want or call the office and it will be sent at once to you. Pay them a call. They will be looking for you.

Keep your sewing machine in tip-top shape . . . A stitch in time won't save nine if the sewing machine breaks thread in each stitch. To prevent YOU from bursting at the seams, keep the machine in top condition. Breaking threads may mean that you are using a different size thread in the bobbin than on the spool or the needle is blunt. If thread persists in breaking, adjust the top tension and as a last resort adjust the bobbin tension. Check threading of machine to see if it's correct, then check top tension. Keep machine clean and free of lint. Lint packed around the bobbin can lead to frustration. Clean lint out with a small nylon brush or a pin. Use tweezers to remove extra pieces of thread.

A good CUE for clean curtains — Washing in a deep sink or bathtub filled with soap or detergent suds is often the most efficient way to launder dripdry curtains or draperies. But it is sometimes difficult to rinse thoroughly without wringing or creasing the fabric. One homemaker solved the problem by taking her clean-but-still sudsy curtains directly from the tub to an outdoor clothesline without rinsing or wringing them. She stretched the curtains lengthwise across the line, pinned them securely and then used the forceful spray of the garden hose to give them a thorough rinsing. The suds rolled off and the force of the water . . . combined with the breeze left the curtains wrinkle-free and ready to hang without ironing.

VIRGINIA COOPER'S

MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

CREOLE GUMBO

1 lb. brisket, diced
1 bay leaf
2 sprigs parsley, chopped
⅓ cup cooking fat
⅓ onion, chopped
½ lb. ham, diced
2 cups canned tomatoes
6 cups boiling water
2 tbsps. flour
salt and pepper
1 green pepper, chopped

Brown ham and brisket in cooking fat. Remove meat. Brown onion and okra in hot fat. Add flour slowly. Stir until blended. Add meat and remaining ingredients stirring constantly. Season to taste. Cover, simmer slowly until meat is tender. Serve hot with steamed rice. Serves 12.

CREAMED LAMB

1¾ cups diced cooked lamb
2 cups milk, scalded
4 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
4 tbsps. butter
¾ cup grated cheese

Combine butter, flour, salt and milk. Cook over hot water until thick and smooth. Add cheese and lamb. Mix thoroughly. Heat, serve on crisp toast. Serves 6.

BREAD PUDDING

2 cup bread cubes
2 tbsps. melted butter
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. cinnamon
2 cups milk, scalded

CARDINAL SALAD

1 pkg. sweetened lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
⅔ cup beet juice
2 tbsps. vinegar
½ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. horseradish
¾ cup diced celery
2 cup cooked diced beets
2 tsps. grated onion
mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add beet juice, vinegar, salt and onion and horseradish. Chill until partially set. Fold in celery and beets. Pour into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce leaves. Serve with mayonnaise. Serves 6.

ASPARAGUS CROQUETTES

(By Mrs. Daniel Butler)

1½ cups canned asparagus
2 tsp. salt
4 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. water
½ cup cracker crumbs
1 cup milk, scalded
2 tbsps. butter
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 egg, slightly beaten

Combine milk, flour, butter and salt. Cook over hot water until thick and smooth. Add asparagus and chopped eggs. Mix quickly and lightly. Chill thoroughly. Form into balls or rolls. Roll lightly in cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat until browned. Drain on crumpled absorbent paper. Serves 6.

ORANGE GUMDROP COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
2 cups quick cooking oatmeal
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup chopped orange slices (gumdrops)

Cream shortening and sugars together. Add eggs, one at a time, blending well. Add vanilla. Add sifted dry ingredients. Mix remaining ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 325 degrees for 16-12 minutes. Let cool slightly before removing from cookie sheet. Makes 6-8 dozen small cookies.

We The Women:

By Muriel Lawrence

(Excerpted from, "Reason and Emotion," second edition, 1962. Reprinted by permission of Faber & Faber Ltd. add Bonds & Noble Inc).

It is a failure in chastity to express a feeling to someone that you do not feel; to express love for a person, for instance, when you do not feel it. It is equally unchaste to conceal your feelings from someone to whom it makes a real difference.

Yet we constantly inculcate emotional insincerity as a duty and praise people for concealing their real feelings or for claiming feelings that they do not possess. We pretend to like the things that we're told we ought to like; we pretend we feel sympathy for a person in distress when we do not feel it and positively encourage this as a social virtue. In reality, emotional sincerity is far more important than sincerity of the mind because it lies nearer to the heart of life. It is vicious to pretend about our feelings. It is something of which we ought to be ashamed.

One other point we must notice. If we keep repeating a story that is not true, we come to believe in its truth ourselves. Now this holds good with even greater force in the emotional life. If we habitually cheat others about our feelings, we soon become unable to know what we really feel. If we act as though we love a person when we do not we will come to believe that we do love him.

I have heard Christian moralists say that the way to learn to love people whom you dislike is to behave to them as if you loved them. This, I am certain, is completely and dangerously false. Emotional pretense leads to emotional insensibility. If you systematically express to anyone, in word or action, a love which you do not feel, you will undoubtedly come to believe that you love him.

But you will hate him without knowing it.

To tamper with the sincerity of your emotional life is to destroy your inner integrity, to become unreal for yourself and others, to lose the capacity for knowing what you feel.

Our civilization, for all its scientific capacity, has remained emotionally vulgar, primitive, uncharte in the extreme. Until we insist upon emotional sincerity, this state of affairs will necessarily go on. And our sexy morality, in particular, will remain barbarous, unreal, a vulgarity and a scandal.

Highlights

THURS., SEPT. 14, 1967

7:30-9 p.m. CBS. Cimarron Strip (Color) Marshal Jim Crown traps bandit leader Starr by deliberately allowing his henchmen to escape and trailing him back to the head man. Judd Starr (Daren McGaven plans on marrying Rosann Todd (Barbara Luna), a Cherokee Indian girl, so he can use tribal headquarters as a base for his illegal operations. Marshal Crown, as always, can be counted on to outsmart the villain.

7:30-8 p.m. ABC. Batman. "Enter Batgirl, Exit Penguin." (Color) This season's premiere of the show sees commissioner Gordon's daughter, Barbara (Yvonne Craig), beginning work as a librarian in the Gotham City Public Library. The Penguin (Burgess Meredith) is around and up to no good. But the Batgirl shows her true metal. Holy metamorphosis, she's a cutie, all right, with a red wig, metallic purple stretch suit and a gold-lined cape! She's a three star Batgirl astride her batgirlcycle. A smashing addition to the Batman.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Ironside. "Message from Beyond." (Color) (Premiere) Raymond Burr rides again, this time as Robert T. Ironside, a wheelchair-bound detective who carries as a civilian consultant to the San Francisco police department. Ironside is a far cry from Perry Mason, all right. He is sarcastic, tough-talking and caustic. It's a tight, well-played series, with some good characterizations by Don Mitchell as Mark Sanger, Ironside's tough, wise cracking Negro assistant, and Barbara Anderson as policewoman Eve Whitfield. Don Galloway as detective Sergeant Ed Brown takes himself a bit seriously. Tonight's episode is a fast, suspenseful tale about a racetrack robbery and frustrating chase after the money and the thief. Some excellent incidents including a hair-raising automobile chase and an effectively done used-car auction. James Gregory, Madlyn Rhue and Gene Evans guest star. Looks like a sure winner.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A kid named Allen came over to see me because my parents think I'm too young to date. I'm 14, but am very mature for my age. Well, when my father met Allen he told me he didn't want to see him around again unless he had a shave and a haircut. It so happens that Allen plays with a band and he HAS to wear his hair like that. But I told him what my father said anyway, and about that time the band broke up, so Allen got his hair cut.

Now, my father says he doesn't like Allen because he never stands up when an older person comes into the room, and he doesn't look clean, and he dresses like a freak, and blah, blah, blah, etc. My father is just looking for things to pick at because he doesn't like him.

How can I get my father to realize that the way a guy looks is none of HIS business. Allen is a good kid and I like him. Please help me.

LIKES ALLEN

DEAR LIKES: The way a "guy" looks may be none of your father's business, but the kind of fellows who call on his 14-year-old daughter is probably the most important business a father has.

A person's appearance is a fairly reliable index to his attitudes, habits, morals and character. Trust your father's judgment in these matters. You won't regret it.

DEAR ABBY: "NERVOUS AND AFRAID'S" letter brought back memories of those terrible days when I, too, was nervous and afraid. Nervous about every new situation, and afraid to face people. I had doubts about my sanity, but wouldn't admit that I needed psychiatric help because I thought I might bring "shame" on my family. Finally I had to be committed to a psychiatric hospital.

It was only for a short time, but during my stay there every shameful act, every reason for guilt feelings that haunted me was brought out into the open, and I was cleansed and reborn again. This I did with the help of a psychiatrist. Later I received help from my clergyman (a rabbi) and a social worker.

Let no one try to tell one who suffers from deep depressions that "it is all in her head." It is very real. There is nothing imaginary about a mental illness. Denying it only prolongs the agony and delays the cure which comes from psychiatric treatment. So tell "NERVOUS AND AFRAID" that she must get help. She owes it to herself, her husband, and her children. Sincerely,

"BEEN THERE"

DEAR ABBY: If I had read that letter signed "NERVOUS AND AFRAID" four years ago, I might be well today. I was exactly like the person who wrote that letter. I was so afraid to face people I couldn't even go into a store! I felt so alone.

I wouldn't admit to myself that I was having a nervous breakdown because I was afraid I would be "sent away." It's nothing like that. I am seeing a psychiatrist and am living at home with my family. My doctor said if I had come to him earlier it wouldn't take so long to cure me.

Too bad I didn't have the luck to see a letter like that four years ago, Abby. Just knowing there was one more person in the world with a problem like mine would have helped a lot.

FULL OF HOPE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NEW MOTHER": I could write a book on advice to the new mother, but if you want happy, well-adjusted, secure children, never say:

(1) "If you do that once more I'm going to punish you."

(2) "Why can't you be good—like your sister?"

(3) "When daddy comes home you're going to get a licking!"

(4) "If someone calls, say I'm not home."

(5) "Go away and don't bother me. I'm busy now."

Jacoby On Bridge — Jacoby and Son

West's two-spade call was one of those weak two bids which have come into almost universal use in expert circles. East's two no-trump response was also standard. This response has nothing at all to do with a desire to play no-trump but is a forcing bid designed to elicit further information from partner.

If South had passed, West would have rebid to three spades to show a very good weak two bid. These bids show 6 to 12 high card points and West had 10 and a very good suit. He made the same bid over South's three club call.

The rest of the bidding was normal enough. East's jump to six spades was based on the thought that his partner would hold only one heart and would also hold the queen of diamonds and North's final seven club bid was made because he thought that West would make his contract.

It was a good save. East and West made one club, two diamonds and a heart and collected a 700-point penalty, but the slam was there for them.

South told West, "I bid hearts to ask for a lead and a heart lead would have given you the spade slam."

West replied, "So would any other lead. Suppose North opens a diamond. I would win in dummy and draw trumps with two leads. Then I would lead my singleton heart. If North rose with his king, I would lead dummy's queen of hearts through South's ace of hearts through South's ace for a ruffing finesse and eventually ruff my three clubs and discard my one losing diamond on the heart honor. If North ducked, my jack of hearts would force South's ace. I would ruff dummy's two little hearts later on. North's king would fall and I would still get rid of my losing diamond."

"Right," said South. "It seems that we did our best after all."

Polly's Pointers — By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY— My husband used the posthole digger to make holes in the ground for our vegetable plants. The job was done so much faster and he was not nearly so tired as when he did this with a spade. I am going to use it to make holes for my flower transplanting.—MRS. R.B.

DEAR POLLY— When I buy sheets and pillowcases I always buy an extra set of pillowcases for each pair of sheets. In the middle of the week, between sheet changes, I change the pillowcases and enjoy the luxury of fresh ones. This is less expensive than a complete change twice a week and gives almost the same fresh feeling.—BETTY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY— Help! How can I get the toes of my canvas shoes to last as long as the rest of the shoe? The toes always wear out first. Please do not tell me to keep my toenails clipped as I do that and it does not help. Any other advice would be greatly appreciated.—DENISE

DEAR POLLY—When I make stuffed animals for children, I add an amusing touch by putting a narrow, self-winding tape measure inside the head. I let the end of the tape come out of the mouth, like a tongue. I paint this end with bright red fingernail polish. The small fry really enjoy pulling out the tongue and letting it pop back in.—DOT.

DEAR POLLY— I am surprised that the woman with two little girls who have combed the hair out of their dolls' heads does not know that doll wigs can be bought at many stores. They are easy to put on and really stay.—RHONDA.

Beauty after Forty — by Edyth Thornton McLeod

HAIR RIBBON AT 50?

"Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod: Please tell me, am I, at 50, too old to wear a black ribbon bow in my hair in the evening at home, going to movies, etc.?—H. T.

No, certainly not. It's a most attractive idea, and much seen at the theater in New York is three tink black velvet bows worn along the side of a French roll. Often contour bangs are part of the hair arrangement.

• • •

Yes, they do, although I personally don't like the idea. A small contour cap or a small sheer dinner hat gives a woman much poise and makes her a truly well-groomed woman.

• • •

"I have a dress in dark tones of amethyst, black and a lighter amethyst tone. The print is covered with sheer black nylon. What color should I wear in a hat, jewelry and other accessories? This outfit is actually a dress and a fairly long jacket and very expensive. My hair is gray, eyes brown."—Reader.

You should have a string of jet and amethyst beads combined. I would suggest a small sheer black hat, black sandals, black cocktail bag and long black gloves. Choose amethyst stone earrings. The black adds elegance to the costume. And don't forget amethyst-toned lipstick. Just for fashion.

"My skin is very fair and this is becoming to my style. I wonder about face powder. Could I use white? I like the fairest look possible." —Mrs. D.

White face powder went out of fashion long ago. It would make you look older than you are and no woman wants that. For a delicate look, try lilac powder; apply lightly. This is lovely at night. You'll find it at counters where theatrical makeup is sold. Ask for lilac No. 14. You should use a skin-toned makeup foundation for a more perfect finish.

"My neck is aging fast, looks awful, lines so deep. Does one use makeup on the neck? I've never done so."—Elsie.

Well, Elsie, get busy and use a home treatment for conditioning your neck. Apply cosmetic oil, use my How To Youthify Your Neck instructions. To obtain a copy, send me a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin. Follow faithfully and your neck will improve. And yes, make up is definitely used on the neck. Blend carefully and make sure it matches the skin tone.

Teethy Tuneups

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Townspeople passing a dental office were surprised to see a sign advertising "car tuneups." During a severe windstorm the sign had blown off a nearby service station, coming to rest in front of the dentist's office.

Horoscope Forecast

Friday, September 15, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning is good for getting in touch with whoever is able to give you the push in the right direction; later you find much confusion at least and possibly intentional deception by yourself of others enters the picture, unless you are very careful of yourself and watchful of others. Keep poised.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) During A.M. you find a new system that is very worthwhile, but be careful later someone does not cause you to sever relations with a good friend. Avoid the social in P.M. Go after personal aims yourself.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An associate is very cooperative during A.M., but take care you safeguard your reputation later in the day. You feel you should get recognition from the public. Be patient and it will come through later on.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be alert to whatever is happening around you during morning, but avoid a new contact later who can spell trouble for you. Studying into all kinds of data is fine However, do not commit yourself to anything yet.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There are some strong influences that could lead you into wrong channels, so be on your guard. Conservative attitude is best. Don't touch on any topics with mate that could lead to something pretty explosive.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use tact in discussing important matters with associates and don't be so suspicious of their motives, either. If you have been having trouble with friends, be kindly. Don't start any arguments.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) All that work ahead of you can be best handled by going at it efficiently and not worrying about the gripes of co-workers. Then buy new accessories for your wardrobe. See that it is really up-to-date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A little frivolity is good for you today since it can relieve pent-up emotions, tensions. Make your friends happy. Try not to argue with anyone you like very much or something adverse could occur. Be kind, courteous.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid arguing with kin over some idea you have in mind and for which you want backing. Cooperation. They just don't "dig" it. Be calm and poised, though. Allow them to sleep over it and then all is fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Important you drive with utmost care and go over any reports, bills, etc., for any possible errors. An associate is very disturbed. Try to be of real assistance instead of criticizing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Concentrating upon whatever is of practical nature is wise now and be sure you rid yourself of the obsolete. Seek advice from seasoned persons in business. Show you appreciate their good judgment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Being at your charming best can gain you the prestige in social affairs that you have long coveted. Endeavor to give your appearance those last-minute touches that spell good grooming. Be at your best.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into matters of confidence in A.M. and then impress others that you are a particularly good worker. One you know needs financial backing and you should be eager to give it. Show that you are a good and intelligent person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she will be one of those persons who can make big headway in life because there is a special sensitivity to the desires of others to put their talents to work, and the ability to tell them what to do. Teach to be objective, though, and keep from getting hurt feelings. The fine director, teacher, etc., are here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

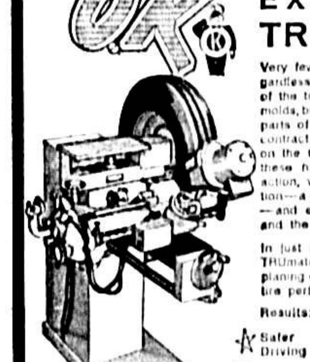
TIRE TRUING
O.K. EXCLUSIVE TRU-MATIC


Very few tires are really round, regardless of the brand, grade, or price of the tire. They are made in round molds, but during the cooling process parts of the tire expand and others contract, causing high and low spots on the tire. At today's high speeds, these high spots create a bounce action, which, in turn, causes vibration— a dangerous driving condition — and extra wear on both the tire and the car.
In just minutes the exclusive O. K. TRUmatic corrects this condition by planing off the high spots, making the tire perfectly rounded to the wheel.
Results: Safer Driving, Smoother Ride, Longer Wear.

Crumbling At The Top

The public has been assuming for months now the "crisis in education" in Florida existed at the lowest level only —the classroom teachers.

Other than predictable complaints from the only elected school official at the state level, Supt. Floyd Christian, the upper echelon has been quiet as the cracks in the base widened.

Quietly and without any blast at any individual, we have seen first the resignation of University of President J. Wayne Reitz. He blamed "presidential fatigue." But he was not too fatigued to accept an immediate appointment to a job with the Federal government.

Then quickly, came resignations from University system Chancellor Robert L. Dennard and the director of junior college development in Florida, Dr. James L. Wattenbarger.

All three men emphasized particularly in their public statements that "politics has nothing to do with it."

Vice Chancellor Dennard hadn't been on the job long enough to get his chair warm, yet he is leaving for a "better opportunity in private business." Since he is just in his 40s, he obviously considers the opportunity in professional education in Florida to be slim.

Dr. Culpepper is 20 years older. At 60 he implies he wouldn't be around long enough anyway to see necessary changes made. So he's getting out to give somebody else a whack at the job.

Wattenbarger is leaving his exposed position on the firing line for the relative tranquility and no politics of the Institute of Higher Learning at the University of Florida.

Leading industrial officials and nationwide publications of considerable stature have joined the voices of those who declare the education crisis casts a pall over the immediate development of the Sunshine State.

In the case of Dr. Reitz, his troubles with Tallahassee began when Haydon Burns was Governor and the new administration has done little to ease his presidential fatigue.

The Tampa Tribune refers to the "three in a row" resignations as "cracks in the facade" of Kirk's pledge to make Florida first in education.

However they are described, the situation is further proof of a need for remedial action now while the long range answer is being studied.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Howard's case reveals the husband's outlook toward his wife when he feels inferior! It is a tragic evidence of the need for more "communication" between the sexes. Most of our domestic tragedies arise just because men don't understand women and vice versa! That's why this column was launched—to aid in the meeting of minds between the two sexes!

"Dr. Crane," his attractive wife began, "Howard has been afflicted with Parkinson's disease for the last four years.

"His shaking hands and uncertain walking finally made it necessary for him to be hospitalized.

"But he seemed nervous and unduly tense.

"Finally, I coaxed him to tell me what disturbed him so much. And he insisted that I get a divorce.

"I refused and told him I loved him and would not seek the breakup of our marriage.

"But Howard persisted.

"And he finally got our two grown daughters to agree with him that I should obtain a divorce and even think about another marriage.

"So I finally decided to humor him and get a divorce.

"Since then, Howard has been relaxed and happy.

"His whole mental outlook seems greatly improved.

"Of course, I still go to the hospital to visit him three days per week.

"But I suppose I should ultimately think about another marriage, shouldn't I?

"What would make Howard so insistent that I get a divorce from him?"

Most of you regular readers of this psychology column will be able to diagnose Howard.

But Howard didn't want to have his wife merely obligated to him because of their marriage vows, plus her maternal instinct.

And he held the somewhat gallant, though misguided, masculine idea that he should free his wife so she could obtain erotic satisfaction elsewhere.

Remember, as soon as a man feels that he is below par in the erotic realm, then he suddenly begins to magnify the imagined hunger of his wife for erotic gains!

Underscore that previous sentence, for it explains all sorts of weird male behavior, ranging from excessive jealousy, coupled with the hiring of detectives to trail the wife, to drunkenness and even suicide.

The normal wife and mother who has passed the age of 40, will be quite content to remain maternal!

Especially if her husband simply pays her a verbal compliment every day: smiles at her guadly on her arrival, and remembers special events, like birthdays and anniversaries, with merely an appropriate greeting card.

But most men don't believe that truism, so they work themselves into all sorts of neurotic tensions.

For now he believes her visits actually indicate real love for him instead of duty and coerced devotion!

Tests Run On Carpet Backs

The Rubber Manufacturers Assn., Tufted Textile Manufacturers Assn. and American Carpet Institute are working to establish specifications for foam on broadloom carpeting.

In the meantime, the Goodyear Chemical Division says, there are four steps you can take to determine the quality of latex foam backing on a rug or carpet you're thinking of buying.

1. Look at it. Backing should be at least three sixteenths of an inch thick. A fourth of an inch is better. And the tiny foam cells should be fairly uniform in size.

2. Feel it. Good foam backing will keep the carpet fairly rigid. It won't hang limp.

3. Bend it. Good foam backing won't crack.

4. Rub it. If an excessive amount of filler material has been added to cut costs, the foam will rub off like an eraser.

Approximately 16 per cent of quality broadloom carpeting has latex foam backing. The same walking comfort, noise reduction and temperature control can be obtained with a separate rubber pad under the carpet.

'Bare' Window Dressing OK

NEW YORK (AP)—It's legal to have scantily clad go-go dancers performing in your window, a judge ruled Tuesday.

But, said Criminal Court Judge James J. Comsford, they've got to be something more than window dressing.

The ones at the Fun City Discotheque, he said, were only incidentally on view to Broadway passersby—their main job was entertaining the customers inside.

He then acquitted the dancers and the discotheque's managers of violating a city ordinance prohibiting store window entertainment.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Republican Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois faces more tantalizing decisions than any professed noncandidate for president should have to confront. His only comfort is that he can put them off for several months.

He has to decide whether to try to be Illinois' favorite son, knowing that if he is not he will be somewhat weakened as a 1968 GOP presidential prospect.

He may have to decide, near the end of February, whether to allow his name to go into the all-candidate Wisconsin primary (and probably similar tests in Nebraska and Oregon), knowing that if he does some moderates will accuse him of a "wrecking operation" against Michigan's Gov. George Romney, moderate.

The senator's aides indicate that Percy does not intend to resolve his dilemma over the primaries until he must—which means when the Wisconsin filing deadline approaches at February's end.

The passage of time may or may not ease this problem. Since the New Hampshire primary, involving Romney, Richard Nixon and possibly Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts, comes two weeks after the Wisconsin deadline, the senator will have to leap one way or the other without knowing how Romney has done in a real voting test.

If Percy acts on the basis of pregame polls in New Hampshire, he might regret it. Some polls in the 1964 primaries were far off the mark.

The senator's puzzlement over the favorite son issue can hardly be less acute. Published reports notwithstanding, he is a long way from settling that matter. He has not even discussed it with the key man, Sen. Everett Dirksen, his senior colleague.

Right now, Illinois Republican professionals think Dirksen himself both needs and deserves favorite son status as a major boost to his 1968 reelection bid.

They expect Dirksen will have stiffest Democratic opposition of his senatorial career. State Treasurer Adali Stevenson III is typical of the name-value candidates the Democrats are considering.

The professionals argue further that Dirksen's move to support Percy for the Senate in 1966, though brought about by heavy party pressure, should be reciprocated by Percy next year through his support for Dirksen as favorite son.

Talk of Percy for this role is stirring some party hostility. If this talk persists, one Illinois professional believes it could widen what he terms the largely "sleeping" animosity between Percy and Dirksen forces in the state.

Though these professionals are today firmly against the move, they recognize the predicament for Percy on the national scene.

It would be extremely awkward, they say, for the senator to be "getting the call" as a strong presidential prospect elsewhere in the country while not hearing it loud and clear from his own state.

The easy out Illinois Republicans dream of a turn in the Democratic party which would cast up a weak opponent for Dirksen and permit him to defer to Percy as favorite son. No one, however, really thinks this is very likely.

Meantime, Percy keeps to his pace as the "available man," pressing and publicizing his legislative causes, making speeches here and there, letting party leaders in many places see him close up.

Most national party leaders think this is the wise course for him. But it cannot distract him indefinitely from the crucial choices that lie ahead.

Hal Boyle Says:

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer
(Hal Boyle is on vacation.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Clymbur has a pair of shoes that are four-feet long.

Clymbur calls them "skeeters". He invented them.

They're on exhibit here this week at the third annual International Inventors and New Products Exposition. The show has drawn some 1,200 inventors from 23 countries with 18,000 products, inventions, ideas and applications, ranging from digestible safety pins made of vegetable base that dissolve if swallowed to instant splints for unexpected bone breakings.

Roger Shashoua, 27-year-old president of Patent Exhibits, Inc., of New York and originator of the exposition, estimated that 95 per cent of those participating in the show were inventors who never had invented anything before in their lives.

"They're plumbers, mailmen, carpenters, almost anything," Shashoua says. "who get an idea they think will improve things. They develop it and then they bring it here in hope of finding a manufacturer."

How many do connect?

"At last year's show, manufacturers paid out about $8.5 million to buy various inventions and ideas," he says. "This year we're expecting the figure to hit $20 million."

Clymbur, a Santa Monica, Calif., waiter who uses his free time to invent, says he spent four years developing his water shoes. But the idea had been with him since boyhood.

Clymbur, who hopes to interest a manufacturer in his invention, says the water shoes are made of a buoyant material with louvers mounted beneath the surface to give traction "so you can slide along."

Not too far from Clymbur, Robert L. Thomas of East Point, Ga., is exhibiting a "personal subtrac" — a device that permits a person to smoke with out having to look around for an ashtray.

The device basically is a long tube into which a cigarette is inserted after being lit. As the cigarette is consumed its ashes fall into the tube. When the smoker is done, a slide at the top of the tube is closed and the cigarette puts itself out.

The closed tube can be put into the pocket and carried about with its load of ashes until it is convenient to empty it.

A machine that will punch out three dozen cookies or dough nuts, shaped and ready for the oven, is exhibited by Charles Downing of Janesville, Wis.

"The average small baker does his shaping by hand," says Downing, a former baker. "This machine will put him in competition with the large bakeries" which use machinery.

Downing, whose "automatic baker's machine" measures four feet by four feet, says, "all a baker has to do is push this button, feed in his dough and out it comes ready for baking."

LBJ State Park Gets Federal $$

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The controversial Lyndon B. Johnson State Park has been allotted $160,000 in federal funds for landscaping, layout and development.

This matching grant was disclosed by Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Reps. J. J. Pickle and O. C. Fisher, all Texas Democrats.

The money comes from the land and water conservation fund, which draws revenue mainly from admission charges to such federal recreation areas as national parks and forests.

The 200-acre park now contains limited portable picnic tables and large wire enclosures in which buffalo, deer and longhorn cattle graze over several acres.

State funds never have been earmarked for the park, but the state auditor reported in May that Texas Parks and Wildlife Department records showed $144,445 had been spent to buy 239.4 acres. The money was raised privately, and donors' names have not been made public.

Seven Cs Make Good Marriage

HONOLULU (AP) — Dr. Alfred Auerback, associate clinical professor of psychiatry at the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco, says "the marital ship sails best upon seven C's."

According to him, the requisites are communication, concern, cooperation, commitment, courtship, challenge and compliance.

"I might also add cash and children," Dr. Auerback said while addressing a Honolulu audience.

Some 50 million bad checks are written each year.

In five minutes, fire destroys the contents of steel files—even in, "fireproof," buildings. And insurance money can't replace their burned records.

Because of the current, widespread interest in the cost of records lost (estimated to be triple the property loss), The Shaw-Walker Company has published a folder titled, "Only the Victims Know," . . . It pictures and describes fire's aftermath — and how to avoid being one of the losers.

If you have any current records in steel files or desk drawers, this revealing folder is, "must," reading. It's free for the asking.

State Ag Steps Up War On Caribbean Fruit Fly

Yardner's Corner

By CECIL A. TUCKER II

There is scarcely a garden that cannot benefit from the use of a few bulbs. They may be used to add color to the shrub bery border or may be grown by themselves in beds to produce a mass of beauty or to provide cut flowers.

Before getting into the discussion of the use of bulbs in the landscape plan, let us learn a little more about bulbs, what they are, what we can expect of them and how to cultivate them.

Dr. Harold H. Hume, who is an authority on the subject, defines a bulb as a special plant part usually developed under ground consisting of a short stem, roots, thickened leaf base and one or more buds. This part of the plant stores food and in most instances serves to carry the plant over periods unfavorable to active growth. True bulbs are coated with tight overlapping thickened leaf bases, (onion, amaryllis), or with loose scale-like leaf bases, (true lilies).

In every day usage, however, the word bulb commonly includes other plant parts that are not true bulbs but serve the same purpose. In garden work they are usually handled in much the same way. Examples are:

Corms — Gladiolus, watsonia, montbretia, crocus.

Tubers — Caladium, calla.

Rhizomes — Iris, ginger.

These plants are tender, herbaceous perennials. They grow and bloom in a season, die and rest for a period and repeat the growth process. They are usually damaged by cold, (exceptions crinums and some day lilies).

The Farm Front

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Commissioner Conner returned in late August from 30 days of "people to people" meetings with the agricultural leaders, private farmers, growers and ranchers in Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Hong Kong and Japan. The following article is the first of a series of Conner's weekly columns, which will be devoted to his observations, during the 1967 Florida Agricultural Goodwill Tour.)

By DOYLE CONNER

TALLAHASSEE — (Special to The Sanford Herald)—Australian agriculture rapidly is dispelling the impression that the land "down under" is a vast, unproductive wasteland of picturesque Koala bears and bounding kangaroos.

With the invention of refrigerated shipping in the last nineteenth century, Australia began its emergence into what she is today: a "sleeping giant" of agriculture in the Pacific.

Of the several countries I visited as host to the 1967 Florida Agriculture Goodwill Tour, Australia impressed me the most as being the country with the greatest potential for becoming a giant in world agriculture.

A truly vast continent, with a surface area of just under three million square miles and with a climate ranging from hot tropical in the north to cool temperate in the south, Australia is engaged in a wide variety of farming and stock-raising activities.

So diversified has her agriculture become and so strongly has her government emphasized production for export markets, that Australia had the agricultural "muscle" to supply Japan with $588.4 million in goods during 1966-67.

Japan has become Australia's biggest customer, supplanting Great Britain, while Australia has recorded spectacular leaps in trade with nations all around the Pacific and Indian Oceans.

Japan presently buys an estimated 20 per cent of all U.S. agricultural exports.

With mainland China, the export figures leaped from $106.5 million to $131.5 million during 1966, mainly due sales of wheat.

During the same year, sales to India increased by $30.5 million, Republic of Korea, $4.8 million, Pakistan, $46 million, Singapore, $22.8 million and Thailand, $8.3 million.

These gains in her export markets are spectacular, when you consider that the pastoral and agricultural history of Australia is relatively short, when compared to that of the United States.

This new-found agricultural muscle is easily recognizable, as you travel through the rural centers of Australia.

From the lush farming and cattle grazing region known as the "Riverina," in the southeast, across the arid, but beautiful Blue Mountains Region, to Griffith, New South Wales, the signs of agricultural progress lie bare to the naked eye.

Many cattle ranches encompass as much as 500,000 or more acres, and have herd capacities of between 40,000-80,000 head.

Cattle are bred in the so-called Channel Country in the higher rainfall areas west of the main highlands in Queensland. Periodically, floods inundate millions of acres of land, producing a great bulk of nutritious grasses and herbage which provide good grazing for quite long periods after the floods.

GAINESVILLE — (Sp) — Florida Agricultural Experiment Station has stepped up its war on the Caribbean fruit fly with plans to send one of its scientists to Puerto Rico in search of a "biological control" that keeps the fruit fly from becoming a major threat. The Division of Plant Industry of the State Department of Agriculture is helping to plan and finance this study.

Dr. D. O. Wolfenbarger, an entomologist at the Sub-Tropical Experiment Station, Homestead, will defer most of his present work and will go to the Caribbean where the fruit fly survives but is kept in check by some type of natural control.

Hopefully, this biological control will be found by Wolfenbarger and brought to Florida to be used in an eradication or control program.

It was Dr. J. R. Beckenbach, station director's decision to send the scientist to Puerto Rico in order to strengthen the Station's program against the menacing pest. Also, it's felt that a biological control may have the best chance of succeeding at this time, although outright eradication is preferable if it can be achieved.

The Caribfly has been reported in 23 south Florida counties. It has traveled as far north as Volusia County in just over two years. The fly probably slipped by Federal Inspectors at the Miami International Airport in the early spring of 1965 or before.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has the primary responsibility for keeping all foreign pests like the Caribbean fruit fly out of the country. This is an almost impossible job. Other insects that have entered this country and caused extensive damage are the boll weevil, Mediterranean fruit fly and, more recently, the Imported fire ant.

After the fly had been found in Miami America in 1965, state and federal officials met to map out an offensive against the infestation.

Test plots were set up by the Experiment Station and Division of Plant Industry to test the effect of different dosages of a malathion bait spray, and a seemingly complete kill of flies was effected on some plots. This was not a complete proof that eradication was possible, since flies could move back in from the margins of sprayed areas, and within four or five days they began to reappear.

"It was our belief at the time a malathion bait in an aerial spray would effectively eradicate the flies," Dr. Beckenbach said, "but an earlier uproar from the people caused by these types of sprayings against the Mediterranean fruit fly also was stalled because federal experts had predicted the insect would not survive the winter months. This fly was in Florida before, and eradicated itself. However, while USDA officials still don't see the insect as a major threat to the state's commercial farming, reports continue to come in from south Florida on heavy losses taken by tropical fruit growers.

Soupy Business

MEPPIN, Ill. (AP) — Turtle soup has been the financial mainstay of the St. Joseph Catholic Church for almost 50 years. Its annual turtle soup festival has earned the church as much as $12,500 in a single day.

Each year the Altar Society women and church trustees steam 60-gallon iron kettles loaded with snapping turtle meat, home-grown vegetables and spices. The recipe is a closely-guarded secret, handed down from generation to generation of parishioners.

Food is more abundant in America than it ever has been, in any land. Consumers have the widest choice of higher quality foods. Farmers accomplished this by boosting output faster than population grew. To hard work, they have joined modern science and bigger investments in productivity.

Food is one of the best bargains you'll ever get. According to Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations economists, only 17.5 cents of each dollar is spent for food, compared to 25.7 cents in 1947.

You can measure the quality and abundance farmers provide by the amounts you can enjoy of favorite foods. Sharpest increases have been made in output of foods consumers prefer — beef and poultry. The average American is eating record amounts of meat and poultry.

What does the farmer get out of each dollar you spend for food? Economists say it's about 42 cents. His share 20 years ago was 46 cents. The other 58c of your food dollar is spent in processing and marketing, including convenience — built-in maid service — rather than for the actual food itself.

With our population growing at a fast pace, food experts with the U.S. Department of Agriculture have estimated the quantities of basic food commodities needed by 1980. If our population reaches 235 million as predicted and if our diets change at the same rate, as in recent years, the experts report that by 1980 farmers and ranchers must produce — compared with 1966 —

7 billion pounds more red meat; 19 billion pounds more milk; 14 million tons more fruits and vegetables; 6 billion more eggs.

To produce needed additional quantities of these and other foods, another 75 million acres of cropland would be required if yields in 1980 were the same as in 1966.

However, rising productivity and efficiency on farms and ranches may make it possible to feed 235 million people in 1980 from about the same total acreage used now. Today's farmers increasingly are applying the soil and water conservation measures needed to protect land for maximum productive use in 1980 — and far beyond that date.

Food spoilage is wasteful and can cause illness. To help keep your family healthy and happy, carefully select food and keep it below 40 degrees Farenheit if fresh and below zero if frozen.

Federal meat and poultry inspectors with USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service inspect all meat and poultry that is shipped inter-state to insure that it is wholesome and truthfully labeled. Look for the USDA inspection mark when you buy.

After these products leave the plant it's up to the homemaker to see that the food she serves her family remains free from spoilage. So select fresh meat, poultry and processed foods like sausage or luncheon meat from clean refrigerated cases. Reject products when the package, plastic wrap or vacuum is broken or punctured.

When you get food home, if you are suspicious about it for any reason, return it promptly to the store where purchased. Most stores will replace such items.

Football Tonight

The football fever hits its highest pitch tonight as local high school football elevens take to the field with hopes and visions for untarnished seasons, individual gains and glory . . . and lots of butterflies due to the opening-night jitters.

There are two contests slated for home inaugurals with the Seminoles hosting the tough Terriers from Titusville at Sanford's Municipal Stadium and the Greyhounds from Lyman High School playing host to the Wildwood Wildcats at Lyman Field.

Both of these contests get underway at 8 p.m.

The two other county high school grid teams, Oviedo and Crooms, are either on the road or don't start their action until tomorrow.

Seminole High School

Boosters To Man The Stands Tonight

Tonight is the night for the first Seminole High Football game. One of the tough problems is manning the concession stand. The Seminole High Booster Club does this job well and these parents have volunteered to man the stands.

For the Titusville game, Mrs. Fred Ganas, Mrs. Tom Mero, Mrs. J. H. Lee, Mrs. David Tenny, Mrs. O. E. Bertrang, Mrs. Robert Shedden, Mrs. Edna Murray, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Whitmire, A. T. Gonzales and Mr. and Mrs. George Daniels.

In charge of Booster Club ticket sales are, Mrs. Ed Schweickert, Mrs. Larry Pirtle, Mrs. Valdo Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. David Bach and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Gatchel. More help is needed.

If you are willing to work during the games please contact Mrs. Paul Polgar, Mrs. Gorden Meyer or Mrs. John Morgan.

Sports In Brief

Top Favorite

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Karl Mildenberger has the style and speed and is a 4-1 favorite to defeat the hard-punching Oscar Bonavena in their 15-round world heavyweight title elimination fight Saturday night.

The fight is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m., and will be televised live in America on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Surprise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The class of the grass course performers, Handsome Boy, a leading candidate for surprise of the year honors, and the best of older fillies and mares will be in action Saturday in the top thoroughbred races.

The grass course specialists, nine from the United States and one from France, raced in the 1 5-16mile, $100,000 United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City with first place worth $60,000.

Banned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club has indirectly banned the controversial turbine car in next year's Indianapolis 500-mile race, but the car's owner and builder says it will be entered anyway.

Anthony Granatelli told the Los Angeles Times: "I have no intention of running any other car. I will be there with the same car . . . the same engine and the same chassis."

First Move

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Owner Charles O. Finley of the A's made his first official move toward requesting permission to move the club by notifying the city manager Thursday that he doesn't intend to exercise his option to renew the lease on Municipal Stadium.

Trade Randle

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Split end Sonny Randle, veteran of eight years with the NFL St. Louis Cardinals, was traded Thursday by the Cardinals to the San Francisco 49ers for a high draft choice.

'Panthers' Travel To Ocala

By BOB THOMAS
Sports Staff

The Crooms High Panthers appear to be ready for their opening encounter with the Howard High Wild Bulls in Ocala tomorrow night. This team has somewhat of a hex over Coach Willie Holt's charges because in 18 outings, Crooms has salvaged only one victory.

Coach Holt had this to say about the series with the Bulls. "Winning the first game has been a problem for us in my eight years at Crooms. I feel that two factors which caused that Howard has been meeting us as its second opponent while it was our first. As you know, you learn a lot from one game experience. Secondly, conditioning has been a problem. In the past years, most of our players did not report to practice the first two weeks because they were away working. These two factors no longer exist. Our boys were present the first two weeks, and they are in excellent condition. Howard's first game is our first game, so all we can do is hope for the best."

The injury of halfback L. C. Redding dealt a blow to the Panthers running attack. Redding, who hails from Jamestown, has been very impressive in drills.

As far as the type of game the Panthers will play, Holt had this to say: "We will run and pass from the I formation and the Pro-Set. We would like to put the ball in the air for 60 per cent of our plays and run the other 40 per cent. In Ron Merthie, we have a quarterback who can throw. Ends, Emory Blake and Clyde Stevens; Flankerback George Gordon are top receivers."

Crooms has a roster of forty-one boys. "We are going to do our best to play as many of them as we can without weakening our effort. Emory Blake, Eugene Alexander, Robert Ely, guards; Tackle Lonnie Jenkins and George Gordon will play defensively and offensively. These boys are lettermen and have displayed the type of leadership we like to see. They know their job, and are in condition to do it. Other lettermen we are depending on are: Halfbacks Ralph Tillman and Ernest Berry; Ends, Cliff Prendis, and Clyde Stevens; Fullback Art Barkley.

Lawrence Livingston, who tips the scale at 225, is an offensive tackle and defensive guard. First year linemen are: Louis Montgomery, tackle; David Henderson, 210 pound tackle; Amos Garrett, (overstreet, guards; George Bradley, tackle; ends Hank Howard and Arnie Cotton.

"We could not list all our boys, but we are sure before the season is over, some of those names not listed will have developed the skills and fundamentals well enough to see some action," concluded Holt.

Both Jayvees Collect Wins

The running of Jerome Miller, Clarence Cain, and Danny Melvin outgunned Lakeview's Russ Churunch as Lyman's Junior Varsity won its season opener 20-15.

Miller averaged over seven yards per carry as he ran 135 yard rushing, gathering in a touchdown and three first downs. Cain, operating from the other halfback slot carried the ball 76 yds. on only ten carries, tallying five first downs and a touchdown. He also teamed with quarterback Melvin for a 72 yard scoring play. Melvin's passing was a vital part of the "Hounds" victory as he totaled 108 yards on five completions.

Midway through the second quarter, Cain's 28 yard scramble pulled the "Hounds" out of trouble for a while but the Lakeview offensive gained momentum and scored on Churunch's plunge from the three. Lyman moved to the Lakeview 16 but time ran out and the half ended in Lakeview favor 15-6.

The second half was an entirely different game. The "Hounds" defense dug in and held the "Devils" time and again. Forcing a punt, Lyman took over on their own 21 yard line and went all the way on Miller's 79 yard sweep. Melvin flipped a pass to Danny Dean Noland for the P.A.T.

GOLF PROFESSIONAL
MAYFAIR COUNTRY CLUB
SANFORD, FLA.

We have come a long way since the days of the hickory shafts and knee-knickers. Yet 1968 brings a new look in golf. First there was hickory shafts in golf clubs. Then came the age for steel. Now is the age for aluminum shafts for golf clubs.

How have these small changes affected the game? You had to be a magician to play close to par with hickory shafted clubs and you couldn't make any mistakes in your swing. In the hickory shafted clubs there was little flex in the shaft, thus the club head traveled at a slow speed. With the introduction of the steel shafted clubs, the flex was there and the players were able to hit the golf ball longer.

Now comes the word of aluminum. Three golf club companies will be introducing aluminum shafted clubs this year. What difference will it make in your game? First, total club weight has been decreased so that the golfer generates more club-head speed for the same swing power. This guarantees greater distance.

Second, the club head weight has been increased so there is more mass weight on impact. This also guarantees greater distance. If you are looking for ten more yards off the tee, aluminum could be your answer.

From the knee-knickers age we have come to the permanent press age in golf slacks. No more dull colors. Now it is yellow and all the light colors. When we think of golf shoes it is not leather any more. It is water-repellent, scuff-resistant, light-weight and breathable Corfam. Besides golf shoes made of Corfam, look for golf bags this year. Leather is slowly being forgotten.

Golfers are now being introduced to the age of the solid golf ball. Thus the weekend golfer has found a golf ball he can't cut with one bad shot. Golfers young and old, this could be your best year in golf.

MAYFAIR COUNTRY CLUB . . . Jerry Jernigan with a net score of 68 won first place in the National Grand-Dad Day Golf Tournament. Looking at some of the other scores, W. W. Tyre finished with a net score of 70, Berl Henson with 71, Jim Creamer finished with 73 and Bud Richards finished with a net score of 74. Wilk Bowman fired the lowest gross score for the day with a 77. Sunday, September 24, will find the members of the Men's Golf Association playing in a two Man Best Ball Tournament. You may make up your own teams and starting times. In this tournament, the players will play from full handicap. Find yourself a good partner and join the tournament fun here at Mayfair Country Club.

★ ★ ★ ★

ROLLING HILLS COUNTRY CLUB . . . A strong field of 57 players entered the Blind Bogey Tournament last Saturday. A Blind Bogey Tournament is scored by net scores pulled from a hat. With a net score of 77 and matching the first number pulled from the hat was four lucky players, Lou Munger, Tom Smith, Knox Bottinghaus and Jim Bailey. Bo Quick, George Cardascia, Earl Shannon, Ed Bonanno, Apalo Kobylak and Dick Smith matched the second number with scores of 74. Louis Frey with a net score of 67, finished one shot in front of Dave McDuffey to win the Grand Dads Tournament. Twenty-three Grand Dads entered this once a year tournament.

FAIRWAY FEATS . . . Bob Carlson scored an eagle three on the 480 yard, par five 12 hole here at Mayfair Country Club. Bob, put together two great wood shots to reach this green in two, then rolled in a 15 foot putt for his eagle three. Howard McNulty holed out a wedge shot for a eagle two on par 4 the third hole, 350 yards here at Mayfair Country Club.

TIL NEXT WEEK . . . You think you have golf problems? A golfer at the Borders Club, in northern England, recently walked into the bar and told fellow members that one of his golf balls had been eaten by a cow. This golfer was a fairly sober individual, but his friends wondered if he hadn't been nipping something besides chip shots during his round.

In a few weeks, nobody doubted his word. By then all 26 cows in a field adjacent to the nine-hole course had found golf balls to be a delightful substitute for hay. Since the first swallow, some 150 balls a week were being lapped from the fairways by this herd.

Feeding time signal became a thump of a ball hitting the fairway. By the time the golfers swing into sight, the ball was digested.

What would you do if your golf ball was eaten by a cow after you hit the drive of your life? Would you be penalized? The club's answer may not be entirely satisfactory in the fiscal sense, but it makes for one of the nicest-sounding rules in the game of wit. "If a player's golf ball is consumed by a cow during the course of play, the player is allowed to drop another ball adjacent to the spot, without penalty."

Apparently, he has no beef coming.

Florida State and Tennessee kick off the 1967 football season for Dixie teams this weekend while their Southeastern rivals continue to tune up for openers next Saturday.

The Seminoles, whose hopes ride on the passing of quarterback Gary Pajcic and the catching of flanker Ron Sellers, play Houston in the Astrodome Friday night.

Tennessee, directed by quarterback Dewey Warren, battles UCLA Saturday night in Los Angeles, with the Vols' defense hoping to stop Bruin quarterback Gary Beban.

Warren and the rest of the Vols were sent on their way Thursday by hundreds of Tennessee fans, and Coach Doug Dickey said "our spirit is high."

Southern Mississippi also gets its 1967 bid under way this weekend, playing at The Citadel Saturday night.

NEW YORK (AP)—It's time to start the weekly pro football guessing game with the National Football League opening its regular season Sunday and the AFL already into its third week.

All games are played Sunday afternoon this week.

NFL

Baltimore 31, Atlanta 14 — Colts coming up to opener smartly with impressive exhibition win over Dallas. John Unitas on the beam.

Pittsburgh 13, Chicago 7—A real tough one. Steelers on rebuilding program. Bears have come back from disaster at Kansas City and are always dangerous with Gale Sawyers in the line-up.

Dallas 28, Cleveland 21—An upset. Cowboys have been slow to jell this year. Browns floundered through five games but really bombed Vikings last week.

New York 17, St. Louis 14 — Another upset. Giants have chance to whip Cards without Charley Johnson.

Sox - Still A Chance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago White Sox, whose ability to win with a minimum of runs is beginning to reach ridiculous proportions, have picked up a new and unexpected roster.

For the second time in as many days, the White Sox, in fourth place in the tight American League pennant scramble, went into extra innings in a scoreless tie with Cleveland Thursday, and for the second time, they came out winners. The score was 4-0.

Today, the Sox open a three-game series with Minnesota, tied with Boston for the league lead, and the heavy-hitting Twins aren't likely to give Chi cago all those extra innings to get some runs.

Somebody who hopes the Sox score early and often is Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, who are in third place, a game behind Boston and Minnesota.

"This is the first time all year I'll be rooting for Stanky," said Kaline of Chicago Manager Eddie Stanky. The Tigers have no more games left with the Twins and must depend on the other clubs to help out by beating the front runners.

Devlin Did It Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bruce Devlin said he has to do it again to believe it.

The 29 year-old Australian shot a seven under par 33-30—63 Thursday to take a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Devlin, who spreads 158 pounds sparingly on a 6-foot-1 frame, fired nine birdies in his best round in more than a year.

"I've been playing so bad I couldn't even beat my grandmother," said the blond Aussie after posting a two stroke edge over Lou Graham and Bill Collins in the 72-hole test for the $22,000 first prize money.

Devlin toyed with the 6,708 yard, par-72 Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course.

Dropping his hands slightly on the putter in an effort to overcome his "terrible shanks," he rolled in several long putts including a 35 footer on the 18th green.

"Let's wait and see if I can do it again before we get excited," said the cautious Devlin.

Graham, a 6-footer from Nashville, Tenn., carded five birdies and completed the rest in regulation for a 31-33—67.

Parents Do Care

Moms And Dads Saluted

By KAY BARTHOLOMEW

"Attention all swimmers!"

The measured tones of Willard Anderson, the chief referee came over the loudspeaker and the excited chatter before night swimming finals died to a low murmur.

"Swimmers look around you," the voice quietly commanded. "Notice the number of parents who are serving as officials at this meet—judging, timing, acting as stroke and turn inspectors. Look into the stands. See the hundreds of parents who have given up their weekend to bring you here—to give you their support."

"Parents do care!"

Anderson, the congenial "fixture" at most Central Florida swimming meets went on to say he brought the subject up because he had seen a TV program where teenagers blamed their problems on parents. The youngsters had said, "Parents don't care."

The swimmers were listening for there was respectful attention now. And parents were wryly smiling for they couldn't help but reflect upon a summer made up of weekends starting at dawn; driving pell mell to meets with a car load of "kids"; sunburns, chills from sudden showers, making dozens of sandwiches, loading and unloading chairs, umbrellas, etc.; hard work at meet time, disappointments, but pride and joy as well above all else.

For they were there, at that particular moment, because their swimmer was good enough to be in the top six of an event or several events. Their thoughts were once again focused on the referee as he concluded, "Look round you carefully. I say this is being proud."

TOP BOOSTER, Paul Polgar, and his wife, Ruth, have given freely of their time and talent as president and treasurer of the Sanford Swim Association whose team brought home a record breaking number of trophies this summer. Polgar is the new president of the Booster Club at Seminole High this fall and the untold hours spent and being spent by this couple is further proof that "Parents do Care."

Mildred Babcock Currently Staging One-Man Show

Mrs. Mildred Babcock, well-known local artist, is having a one-man show in the lobby of the Florida State Bank, during this month.

The bank invites one local artist of the Sanford Seminole Art Association to show their work on the west wall of the lobby each month.

Mrs. Babcock's paintings show still life, scenes and a clown. The pictures are so beautifully done it would be well worth anyone's time to pay a visit to the bank to view them.

Mrs. Babcock taught art in local schools for many years and since her retirement she is teaching art classes for adults at the Cultural Art Center.

Art Demonstration Begins New Season For Association

The first meeting of the new season of the Sanford Seminole Art Association was held Sunday afternoon at the Cultural Art Center.

Mrs. Rosamond Chapman, president, welcomed the members and all visitors.

Joe Mathieux, vice president of the local group, introduced Reginald B. Strange of Indian Lake Estates, who gave a delightful and instructive demonstration in a marmescape.

Refreshments were served after the demonstration by Mrs. Helen DeWit, hospitality chairman, assisted by Mrs. Georgia Ball, Mrs. June Albers, Mrs. Mildred Babcock and Mrs. Betty Offineer.

Osteen Personals

Mr and Mrs. L. V. Burdette have sold their home on Lake Ashby and plan to move to the Ozarks. They left Osteen Wednesday and will visit her sister in Eastlake, Ohio, and other relatives before buying a home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Schilke, 100 W. Coleman Cir., Sanford, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Kristie Lee, to Vance E. Brumbaugh II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance E. Brumbaugh, 216 Citrus Dr., Sanford.

Born in Alexandria, Va., the bride-elect was graduated from Seminole High School in 1965. She is presently attending Seminole Junior College, where she was secretary of Tri-Sis (girl's service organization). She plans to attend the University of Pennsylvania after graduating from SJC.

Mr. Brumbaugh was born in Sharon, Pa., and is a 1963 graduate of Seminole High School. He served a tour of duty with the U. S. Army in Germany until 1966. He is presently attending Seminole Junior College where he is charter president of Circle K Club and has served as vice president of Student Government. He plans to enter Pennsylvania College of Optometry next fall.

A May, 1968, wedding is planned at First Presbyterian Church of Sanford.

Pilot Club To Celebrate Founders Day Next Month

The Pilot Club of Sanford met in the Caucus Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Sept. 12. Miss Virginia Smith, president presided at the meeting.

An invitation from the Pilot Club of Orlando was read inviting the local club to meet with them during the month of October. Pilot's Founders month. It was voted to meet Oct. 30, at the House of Beef. The local club will not hold its regular dinner meeting during October. Mrs. Marie Newton, International Pilot President-elect, will be the speaker at the Orlando dinner meeting.

Members of the club were advised of the District 4 workshop to be held at the Riviera Hotel in Daytona Beach on Sept. 23. All members were asked to try to make arrangements to attend the workshop if possible.

Reports were given by committee chairmen. Mrs. Rosamond Chapman, finance chairman, urged all members to start advertising the hat sale to be held on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 21 and 22. She stated through cooperation of the Dependable Sunday School Class, the sale will be held in McKinley Hall, First Methodist Church. Cards were distributed to each member to mail to friends.

Mrs. Sue Stevenson, club advisor to the Anchor Club of Seminole High School, reported on the recent dance of the Anchor Club.

RVAH-7 Officers Wives Begin Season With Coffee

Mrs. Charles Smith, wife of the commanding officer, opened the business meeting by welcoming the following new members: Clare Daum, Nancy Bright, Dotty Kelt, Carole Renner, Marilyn Marechal, Melinda Sieder and Velma Gronnin.

It was announced that squadron charms are available in either gold or silver.

Charlotte Pearson, vice-president of Driftwood Garden Circle, invited all wives to a meeting, Sept. 28, at 9:30 a.m. A local florist will present ideas for the forthcoming holidays. For further information, call 322-2430.

Bridge players who are interested in squadron bridge, which will be held Sept. 21, should contact chairman, Carol Charles.

Hostesses for the October meeting will be Peggy Harrop and Cody Helms.

The W.J. Lawtons Honored On Their 65th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawton, life-long residents of Oviedo, were honored by their children at a dinner at the Imperial House in Winter Park on the occasion of their 65th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Lawton and the former Lillian Lee were married on Sept. 10, 1902, at the home of her parents on Lake Charm in a double wedding ceremony with her sister, the former Annie Lee, and the late W. P. Carter.

Enjoying the anniversary dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lawton were their children, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Loney of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. John K Lawton of Plant City, and W. J. Lawton Jr. and Miss Kathryn Lawton of Oviedo.

Also their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Laney of Jacksonville, and Mrs. Lawton's sister, Mrs. W. P. Carter, of Oviedo.

LADIES IN WAITING

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — Ranging in age from 18 to 60, the 95 members of the Waiting Wives Club of Ft. Riley-Junction City have one thing in common —their husbands are serving in Vietnam and Korea.

The three goals of the club are fellowship, recreation and assistance. The club fills a void created by the departure of the husband and father.

COOKING WITH BRAILLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Like many other women, Mrs. Michael O'Brien, a Brooklyn grandmother, happily spends many Sundays cooking a roast beef dinner with all the fixins' for her family. But there is one difference—Mrs. O'Brien is blind.

Home economists at the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association have helped train Mrs. O'Brien and thousands of other blind people to cook on a specially adapted gas range. Actually the alterations are minor. Instead of dials, braille-like raised dots assist the blind cook with proper oven dial settings and temperatures.

Garden Circles

PALM CIRCLE

Members of Palm Circle spent a most profitable afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wade Garner on Sept. 7. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Blanton Owen, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Garner. Mrs. Owen is resting at the beach after a cold and rainy vacation spent in Alaska and the experience of having left Fairbanks just fifteen minutes before the flood broke.

The program for the day was presented by Mrs. Carol Johnson who is horticulture chairman for the Sanford Garden Club as well as for Palm Circle. Her plan for the year is to help all members to learn the names and nature of the plants they grow. Her talk was about ferns of which there are a surprising number of varieties. Specimens provided by Mrs. Garner from her garden were identified and discussed.

Mrs. George Rounds, ways and means chairman, displayed samples of articles which the members can make for the bazzar. It was also decided that Palm Circle will conduct a thrift shop for two days early this fall.

While enjoying dainty refreshments served by the hostess those present exchanged stories about their summer activities and asked advice from the speaker about their plant problems.

Next meeting will be Oct. 12, in DeBary, with Mrs. Diaz and Mrs. Bishoff again hostesses for their annual luncheon. The meeting will convene for business at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Diaz.

JACARANDA CIRCLE

Jacaranda Circle of Sanford Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Anderson Jr., 107 Shannon Drive for their annual Fried Chicken supper. Mrs. H. E. McSwain assisted Mrs. Anderson in preparing the chicken, biscuits, tea and coffee for the group.

Circle chairman, Mrs. Stanley Poloski asked Mrs. L. B. Steele to give the invocation. Following the supper, Mrs. Poloski welcomed the club members, presented a new member, Mrs. Dawn Kibby, to the group and outlined their duties to each standing committee chairman.

Reports were given from each Civic Improvement chairman. Mrs. Ben Wade, reported that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Appleby had been selected as the "Garden of the Month," for August and the business award went to the Gramkow Funeral Home.

Horticulture Chairman, Mrs. Irving Pryor, said the aim this year is, "To learn and identify plants." Ferns were studied in September with live specimens displayed. Mrs. Pryor had several specimens with her.

Junior Gardening Chairman, Mrs. Aleen Gaines, and the garden club general chairman, Mrs. George Beckhorn, told of the proposed plans for the Junior gardeners. At their first meeting, Sept. 22, the Jacarandas will furnish refreshments.

A letter of resignation was read from Mrs. Boyd Gaines, which was accepted with regrets.

Those having birthdays and receiving presents and individual cakes were, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Steele, Mrs. Hulda Kibbee, Mrs. A. C. McReynolds and Mrs. J. R. Wells.

Well wishes and a song sung by the group was extended to Mrs. W. B. Brinson, who is leaving on Thursday for a European and South American Tour.

The meeting was closed with Mrs. McReynolds reading the Club Collect, a prayer of St. Francis of Assisi.

Entertainment for Everyone in the Sanford Area

Henley To Speak At PTA Meeting

Principal Carlton Henley will conduct a question and answer period on Lyman High School at the first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, prior to room visitation.

Parents are asked to bring a copy of their child's schedule as they will go through a condensed version of the student school day, with periods to be six minutes long.

The teachers will be in their rooms to explain what is expected of the student and give a brief resume of the course.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the meeting.

Dad Refuses To Okay Son

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — John J. Hubbard, 32, is running for the Dearborn City Council. But his dad, Mayor Orville Hubbard, won't endorse him.

Hubbard, mayor for 26 years, said he won't endorse his son, "because you don't usually run members of your family for office."

The primary election today will cut the field of 14. Seven will be elected in the November general election.

Moose Dance Set Saturday

Sanford Lodge 1861, Loyal Order of Moose, has announced a dance for Saturday night with music by "The Conway Trio," which is reported by Entertainment Chairman Henry Kline to be an "excellent combo."

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and a door prize will be awarded during the evening.

Governor John Rumbley urges all members of the lodge co-workers of the local Women of the Moose chapter, and their invited guests, to attend for "an evening of fun and entertainment."

Highlights

FRI., SEPT. 15, 1967

7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. Off To See The Wizard. "Clarence the Crosseyed Lion." (1965) (Color) (Part II) This is the conclusion of the movie, starring Marshall Thompson, Betsy Drake, Richard Haydn and Cheryl Miller, from which Marshall's TV series, "Daktari," derived. It's a delightful funny film, and a fine opening entry on what promises to be an outstanding children's series.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Star Trek. "Amok Time." (Color) (Season premiere) A wow of an opening episode, particularly for fans of Mr. Spock's. The imperturbable first mate finds to his horror that he has fallen a victim of Pon Farr, the Vulcan mating urge, and if he doesn't go home and marry the girl he left behind he will literally die. Arlene Martel plays T'pring, his fiancee, and guest Celia Lovsky appears as T-pau. Imaginative and well played.

9:30-10 p.m. NBC. Accidental Family. "Everywhere a Chick Chick." (Color) (Premiere) A new comedy series starring Jerry Van Dyke and Lois Nettleton, created by Sheldon Leonard, executive producer of "I Spy." Van Dyke plays Jerry Webster, a widowed night club comic with an eight-year-old son (Teddy Quinn).

Following a complicated legal snarl, Jerry gets custody of the boy provided he is not brought up in the sinful purlieus of Las Vegas, which happens to be where Jerry is appearing. Jerry has a farm 300-miles away, and he valiantly agrees to keep the boy at the farm and do the round-trip every day, a tough enough situation without having it complicated by Sue Kramer (co-star Lois Nettleton), an attractive divorcee who lives on the farm with her eight-year-old daughter and the hired man Ben (Ben Blue). The first episode is mostly expository, but the series is more than just another "Bachelor Father"-type show. Cute and well played with more emphasis on grown-ups than kids, for once.

9-11 p.m. CBS. The CBS Friday Night Movies. "The Great Escape" (Part II) (Color) The conclusion of this excellent World War II thriller, based on a real incident. Steve McQueen, James Garner, Richard Attenborough, James Donald, Charles Bronson, Donald Pleasence, James Coburn and David McCallum are included in a superb cast. It is a tense drama taking place in an Nazi POW camp, where the allied prisoners are planning a massive escape by means of an underground tunnel. Suspenseful and well worth seeing.

10-11 p.m. NBC. Special. "Summer '67: What We Learned." (Color) A clear, cold look at this summer's rioting in the Negro ghettos, with film shot in Newark and Detroit, and in Watts two years ago. Daniel (Pat) Moynihan, director of the Harvard-Mit Joint Center for Urban Studies and author of the controversial "Moynihan report" on the breakdown of Negro family life, served as consultant and appears on the program. Frank McGee, Walter Sheridan and Bill Matney are reporters.

10-11 p.m. ABC. Judd for the Defense. "The Deep End." (Color) This series may be treading on thin ice. Not only is its hero based on a legal figure very much in the headlines, but it seems its episodes are roughly drawn from real incidents recently in the news. Tonight Judd goes for a vacation on the boat of a friend, Ralph Fanning (guest star Leslie Nielsen), only to discover that the boat recently sank and four people were lost. Ralph is being held by the police as a murder suspect, and the only witness is a deeply disturbed 10-year-old, the daughter of two of the victims. Beverly Garland is excellent as Dorothy Shaw, Fanning's lady friend, and Stephen Young is introduced as the co-star, Judd's assistant Ben Caldwell.

TV Time Previews

Top View

By CLARKE WILLIAMSON

Are viewers "set on fire" by TV specials? The answer is no. When TV programs delight viewers, we receive avalanches of votes and letters. In contrast, the following summer specials produced only a dribble (CBS's highly touted "Warren Report" lost to ABC's "Nurses"):

The Warren Report, CBS, 60.7%, good.

Hit the Surf, ABC, 59.5%, above average.

Today, in our nationwide newspaper TV survey, we vote on NBC's "sneak previews." These may or may not later be developed into full-fledged programs, depending on viewers' reactions. Therefore, be sure to register your opinions in today's box for those you saw.

READERS SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: My husband worked for Paramount studios and I for MGM for years. We wonder if all script writers, directors, producers and especially sponsors, are LSD users? Or psychos? Really, they insult viewers. Maybe I'm old-hat, but give me a Gable, a Cooper, etc.!—Anne L. Ayers, Memphis, Tenn.

Dear TV: I'm one who used to pride myself on not watching TV. But now I evaluate my reactions more honestly: 1. TV and movies are better than ever! 2. Although TV needs improvement, it is marvelous company; informative, funny, entertaining. And what other company can one shut up so effectively when it becomes a bore?—Greta Eveline Fynsk, Wilmington, Del.

Dear TV: I have thoroughly enjoyed daytime "Let's Make a Deal." The night-time version was even better. I hope NBC will place it in their fall lineup if a new show flops.—Brian Ware, Orlando, Fla.

Dear TV: My children are in bed by 8 p.m., but shows children like are slotted 7:30 to 8:30. More children's programs should be scheduled earlier. — C. C., Northboro, Mass.

'Divorce American Style'

"Divorce American Style," starring Debbie Reynolds and Dick Van Dyke, is the main attraction at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre starting Sunday. Co-featured is "The Viscount," with Edmond O'Brien.

Double feature starting next Thursday will be "The Big Mouth," with Jerry Lewis, and "Hatari," starring John Wayne.

Debbie Reynolds has built a phenomenal screen career playing what amounts to "the girl next door." Now, with Dick Van Dyke in "Divorce American Style," she is the woman next door—the one whose marriage is in trouble.

Happily, "Divorce American Style" is a contemporary, "intelligent comedy," says Miss Reynolds, "about people and the ridiculous straits they get themselves in." She is pleased with her role, with the film, and with the future they suggest: an opportunity for more adult roles than she has ever had before.

In the new comedy, Miss Reynolds plays a suburbanite who has been wed some 17 years, she is the mother of two young children and she is about to be divorced from screen husband Dick Van Dyke. Jason Robards, Jean Simmons and Van Johnson also star in the topical comedy.

The pert Miss Reynolds was pleased as punch with her change of acting pace, in a role which also gives her a chance to perform a pretty wild dance on a nightclub stage when she is mesmerized by hypnotist Pat Collins.

"Actually what pleased me most was when producer Norman Lear talked to me about doing the picture," Debbie says. "He wanted me to be a grown-up, mature lady, rather than the perennial teenager. That alone was worth the price of admission to me."

SJC Young Republicans Set Car Rally

Originating at 12:30 p.m. at the college, the rally will proceed to New Smyrna Beach according to provided directions.

Route was has been planned by George, (One Way), Holleman and John, (Dip Stick), Winterton. Both are responsible for the route which was termed highly successful in last year's rally.

Trophy will be given for first place winner and valuable prizes are offered to second and last place finishers.

Price is set per car and two riders with additional fee for extra riders. Food to be served at the end of the rally will be free.

'Different'

VIENNA (AP) — A patch of spilled cocoa brought two motorists to a hospital here, when a car drove through the substance and then slid into an oncoming car on the other side of the road.

Autumn Coming..Get Ready To Enjoy It

WITH DORIS WILLIAMS AND JAN McCLUNG

Gourmets, epicures, connaisseurs and bon vivants will find culinary classics from far and near at PHELPS RESTAURANT, where every day is a red letter day.

Foreign food fare listed on the menu utterly fascinates all critics who find it difficult to make a decision from the tempting specialties offered.

This weekend master chef M. PHELPS will prepare his famed savory roast leg of pork and also Rock Cornish hens stuffed with a divine mushroom filling. Delish!

Diners from all directions continue to retreat to TROPHY LOUNGE for luncheon, dinner and late, late snacks for the night owls.

The refined surroundings reflect the ultimate in atmosphere to please the most sophisticated with an air of friendliness always dominant.

For those who have not been introduced to the buffet luncheon, you owe it to yourselves to make a beeline there. A cold salad bar and a steam table featuring piping hot entrees and vegetables await you daily, where you can eat all your heart desires for a low, low price. Check this one out today.

Lavish yourself in luxurious surroundings at the VILLA NOVA for exceptional entertainment and elegant foods, either at luncheon or dinner.

The ROSS RAPHAEL Combo stages a premiere nightly in the Don Quixote Room for your continuous entertainment and dancing pleasure while you sip your favorite beverages.

Let the Villa Nova handle that special party on your itinerary whether a small intimate affair or the most elaborate of ceremonials. They have the facilities, services and atmosphere to fit your every need.

Remember the good ole days when mama and grandma set a table graced with good garden fresh vegetables and pastries that melted in your mouth.

Well, those days are not "gone with the wind." At PINE CREST INN, you'll be introduced to the same succulent fresh vegetables and desserts made with the freshest of eggs, cream and pure butter. So stop feeling sorry for yourself and stop at PineCrest Inn today.

Remember Friday night is fish night and Tuesday night is set aside for fried chicken fanciers all you can eat, at moderate prices on both nights.

House at Pine Crest Inn are 5 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Sundays.

Hospitality, quality cuisine and exceptional entertainment have been the hallmark of LAKE MONROE INN for the past 34 years. Today, the renowned old Inn attracts a host of repeat patrons to revel in the realm of interest which the popular spot reflects.

Whatever your choice in the very best of foods, you'll find it all here, whether you desire the low calorie luncheon or the most elaborate of full-course dinners.

JOY HART at the organ continues to attract patrons who are lured by top-notch entertainment. Now LOUISE has purchased a set of drums and a bass fiddle to add to the musical menagerie.

To all swingers you don't have to drive for miles and miles to find a relaxing and entertainment spot. Right here in Sanford THE FOUNTAIN has just exactly what you're looking for.

The plush interior reflects an air of elegance, quality drinks are budget priced and this weekend you'll swing and sway to the music of "The Nashville Kings," who appear Friday and Saturday nights, from 8 til midnight.

Remember there's plenty of parking in the rear and packaged good buyers will find a complete line of their favorite brands lining the well filled shelves.

The great outdoors comes in to complete focus these days in the newly enclosed air conditioned former patio at A&W ROOT BEER DRIVE-IN. Dine in cool, cool comfort on the inside or have one of the courteous and efficient waitresses serve you in your auto.

NORMA AND EDDIE EDWARDS also invite boaters, surfers, etc., to take advantage of the parking facilities in the rear, designed for them, and "come as-you-are."

Whatver your mood demands in the food line, even the most finnicky will be attracted by the many features on the tempting menu. To complement your food choice, quench your thirst with a mug of the most sparkling and refreshing root beer you ever downed.

Yes, we know Sunday diners miss the wholesome atmosphere and exceptional Sunday dinners at REMLEY'S FAMILY RESTAURANT.

Stop weeping and let DAVE AND ALLENE REMLEY have a day of rest so that they may continue to serve you the same quality foods at down to earth prices during the rest of the week.

ALADDIN had nothing on DAVE, who produces unbelievable magic from the grill with his preparation of out of this world chops and tender steaks. Just think, all this marvelous food is so inexpensive that you can't even afford to eat at home!

It's FREDDIE'S for the merrymakers who desire a classic "uptown" atmosphere sparked with the gaiety of very New York supper clubs.

Dine festively on heavy Western beef, charcoaled to perfection, or make your selection from any of the appetizing entrees on the exciting menu.

Host and hostess, FRAN AND STEVE LARSSON, invite all nightclubbers to explore the facilities at Freddie's, Central Florida's oldest and finest Steak House.

"Come dine with us", say all who are affiliated with TRADE WINDS CAFETERIA.

Here you may expect top quality foods from the vast array attractively displayed on a long counter, and you'll be amazed at the budget price for all the good foods.

Let Trade Winds cater your special party for any size group yes including hundreds. They will bring everything, including paper plates and plastic ware to the site of your choice. Contact manager, Richard Sprayberry, for all information.

Beginning at 11 a.m., when the lounge opens, activity continues on into the wee smalls.

A delightful luncheon is served at noon, which includes German, Italian and American cuisine. At a very moderate price, you have a choice from three entrees served with two vegetables, salad, bread, tea or coffee.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, THE BLUE ANGELS, a three piece band, gives out with heavenly music for your dining and dancing pleasure.

Don't se how anybody can resist stopping at the imposing and attractive dining spot TONY'S PIZZA, when heading south. Once you've been initiated to the piquant foods served there, you'll automatically return for an encore.

In addition to the authentic Italian pizza and spaghetti, Tony's other taste sensations will surely tempt you in all directions.

For the busy housewife, the take out service is the last word and your family will feel they have been pampered to the nth degree. Also those dinner guests will feel regal when you surprise them with an array of tempting tantalizing fare from Tony's.

Call ahead and your order will be awaiting you piping hot.

WHOOPEE! CAROL is back in town and is appearing nightly at the MAR-LOU LOUNGE AND RESTAURANT, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

For those who have a yen for something new, something completely different and something super sensational, this entertainment is designed especially for you. We can promise that Carol and her crew will go, go, go, so don't miss such a call.

For barbecue fanciers who will settle for nothing less than the very finest of old-fashioned barbecue, you're in luck. HICKORY HOUSE BAR-B-QUE is completely for the ...

Here you'll savor out of this world flavor in the golden hunks of tender, juicy beef, ham, pork and ribs.

Dine in the quaint dining room there or order by the pound of the delicious barbecue to serve your family or those most fastidious guests.

For that special party, have the Hickory House barbecue your turkey and you'll be the talk of the town.

TABLE HOPPING

Postman 'Gets The Message'

York was startled but after some thought, phoned police.

Officers arrived just as the bandit was attempting to back a car from a nearby garage with Mrs. Spencer as a hostage. Police said the man had menaced a group in the shop more than 30 minutes before getting suspicious after the postman's call.

Waymond G. Small, 29, Cincinnati, was arrested on charges of robbery, kidnaping, drawing a deadly weapon and violation of a firearms act.

Boy's Fuzzy Lip Wins Over All

Murphy, 16, won a temporary court order restraining Franklin High School in the Detroit suburb of Livonia from suspending him because his 2 year old mustache scrapes against a new school grooming code.

Wayne County Circuit Judge James Montante issued the order and set a hearing for Sept. 22. "Good, clean-looking students" is what Livonia School Supt. Benton Yates said he wants. He said mustaches and such "detract from favorable learning conditions" and are a "flaunting of authority."

Murphy said, "I'd feel funny without it."

Henley To Speak At PTA Meeting

Principal Carlton Henley will conduct a question and answer period on Lyman High School at the first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, prior to room visitation.

Parents are asked to bring a copy of their child's schedule as they will go through a condensed version of the student school day, with periods to be six minutes long.

The teachers will be in their rooms to explain what is expected of the student and give a brief resume of the course.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the meeting.

Dad Refuses To Okay Son

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — John J. Hubbard, 32, is running for the Dearborn City Council. But his dad, Mayor Orville Hubbard, won't endorse him.

Hubbard, mayor for 26 years, said he won't endorse his son, "because you don't usually run members of your family for office."

The primary election today will cut the field of 14. Seven will be elected in the November general election.

Moose Dance Set Saturday

Sanford Lodge 1851, Loyal Order of Moose, has announced a dance for Saturday night with music by "The Conway Trio," which is reported by Entertainment Chairman Henry Kime to be an "excellent combo."

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and a door prize will be awarded during the evening.

Governor John Rambley urges all members of the lodge, co-workers of the local Women of the Moose chapter and their invited guests, to attend for "an evening of fun and entertainment."

Highlights

TV Time Previews

FRI., SEPT. 15, 1967

7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. Off To See The Wizard. "Clarence the Crosseyed Lion." (1965) (Color) (Part II) This is the conclusion of the movie, starring Marshall Thompson, Betsy Drake, Richard Haydn and Cheryl Miller, from which Marshall's TV series, "Daktari," derived. It's a delightful funny film, and a fine opening entry on what promises to be an outstanding children's series.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Star Trek. "Amok Time." (Color) (Season premiere) A wow of an opening episode, particularly for fans of Mr. Spock's. The imperturable first mate finds to his horror that he has fallen a victim of Pon Farr, the Vulcan mating urge, and if he doesn't go home and marry the girl he left behind he will literally die. Arlene Martel plays T'pring, his fiancee, and guest Celia Lovsky appears as T-pau. Imaginative and well played.

9:30-10 p.m. NBC. Accidental Family. "Everywhere a Chick Chick." (Color) (Premiere) A new comedy series starring Jerry Van Dyke and Lou Nettleton, created by Sheldon Leonard, executive producer of "I Spy." Van Dyke plays Jerry Webster, a widowed night club comic with an eight year old son (Teddy Quinn).

Following a complicated legal snarl, Jerry gets custody of the boy provided he is not brought up in the sinful purlieus of Las Vegas,' which happens to be where Jerry is appearing. Jerry has a farm 300-miles away, and he valiantly agrees to keep the boy at the farm and do the round-trip every day, a tough enough situation without having it complicated by Sue Kramer (co-star Lois Nettleton), an attractive divorcee who lives on the farm with her eight-year-old daughter and the hired man Ben (Ben Blue). The first episode is mostly expository, but the series is more than just another "Bachelor Father" type show. Cute and well played with more emphasis on grownups than kids for once.

9-11 p.m. CBS. The CBS Friday Night Movies. "The Great Escape" (Part II) (Color) The conclusion of this excellent World War II thriller, based on a real incident. Steve McQueen, James Garner, Richard Attenborough, James Donald, Charles Bronson, Donald Pleasance, James Coburn and David McCallum are included in a superb cast. It is a tense drama taking place in an Nazi POW camp, where the allied prisoners are planning a massive escape by means of an underground tunnel. Suspenseful and well worth seeing.

10-11 p.m. NBC. Special. "Summer '67: What We Learned." (Color) A clear, cold look at this summer's rioting in the Negro ghettos, with film shot in Newark and Detroit, and in Watts two years ago. Daniel (Pat) Moynihan, director of the Harvard-Mit Joint Center for Urban Studies and author of the controversial "Moynihan report" on the breakdown of Negro family life, served as consultant and appears on the program. Frank McGee, Walter Sheridan and Bill Matney are reporters.

10-11 p.m. ABC. Judd for the Defense. "The Deep End." (Color) This series may be treading on thin ice. Not only is its hero based on a legal figure very much in the headlines, but it seems its episodes are roughly drawn from real incidents recently in the news. Tonight Judd goes for a vacation on the boat of a friend, Ralph Fanning (guest star Leslie Nielsen), only to discover that the boat recently sank and four people were lost. Ralph is being held by the police as a murder suspect, and the only witness is a deeply disturbed 10-year-old, the daughter of two of the victims. Beverly Garland is excellent as Dorothy Shaw, Fanning's lady friend, and Stephen Young is introduced as the co-star, Judd's assistant Ben Caldwell.

TOP VIEW

By CLARKE WILLIAMSON

Are viewers "set on fire" by TV specials? The answer is no. When TV programs delight viewers, we receive avalanches of votes and letters. In contrast, the following summer specials produced only a dribble (CBS's highly touted "Warren Report" lost to ABC's "Nurses"!).

The Warren Report, CBS, 60.7%, good.

Hit the Surf, ABC, 59.5%, above average.

Today, in our nationwide newspaper TV survey, we vote on NBC's "sneak previews." These may or may not later be developed into full-fledged programs, depending on viewer reactions. Therefore, be sure to register your opinions in today's box for those you saw.

READERS SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: My husband worked for Paramount studios and I for MGM for years. We wonder if all script writers, directors, producers and especially, sponsors, are LSD users? Or psychos? Really, they insult viewers. Maybe I'm old-hat, but give me a Gable, a Cooper, etc.!—Anne L. Ayers, Memphis, Tenn.

Dear TV: I'm one who used to pride myself on not watching TV. But now I evaluate my reactions more honestly: 1. TV and movies are better than ever! 2. Although TV needs improvement, it is marvelous company; informative, funny, entertaining. And what other company can one shut up so effectively when it becomes a bore?—Greta Eveline Fynsk, Wilmington, Del.

Dear TV: I have thoroughly enjoyed daytime "Let's Make a Deal." The night-time version was even better. I hope NBC will place it in their fall lineup if a new show flops.—Brian Ware, Orlando, Fla.

Dear TV: My children are in bed by 8 p.m., but shows children like are slotted 7:30 to 8:30. More children's programs should be scheduled earlier. — C. C., Northboro, Mass.

AT EASE — Hollywood starlet Celeste Yarnall relaxes in London's Regent Park during stopover enroute to Spain where she'll star in film, "The Two Faces of Eve."

'Divorce American Style'

"Divorce American Style," starring Debbie Reynolds and Dick Van Dyke, is the main attraction at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre starting Sunday. Co-featured is "The Viscount," with Edmond O'Brien.

Double feature starting next Thursday will be "The Big Mouth," with Jerry Lewis, and "Hatari," starring John Wayne.

Debbie Reynolds has built a phenomenal screen career playing what amounts to "the girl next door." Now, with Dick Van Dyke in "Divorce American Style," she is the woman next door—the one whose marriage is in trouble.

Happily, "Divorce American Style" is a contemporary, "intelligent comedy," says Miss Reynolds, "about people and the ridiculous straits they get themselves in." She is pleased with her role, with the film, and with the future they suggest: an opportunity for more adult roles than she has ever had before.

In the new comedy, Miss Reynolds plays a suburbanite who has been wed some 17 years. She is the mother of two young children and she is about to be divorced from screen husband Dick Van Dyke. Jason Robards, Jean Simmons and Van Johnson also star in the topical comedy.

The pert Miss Reynolds was pleased as punch with her change of acting pace, in a role which also gives her a chance to perform a pretty wild dance on a nightclub stage when she is mesmerized by hypotist Pat Collins.

"Actually what pleased me most was when producer Norman Lear talked to me about doing the picture," Debbie says. "He wanted me to be a grown-up, mature lady, rather than the perennial teenager. That alone was worth the price of admission to me."

SJC Young Republicans Set Car Rally

Originating at 12:30 p.m. at the college, the rally will proceed to New Smyrna Beach according to provided directions.

Route was has been planned by George, (One Way), Holleman and John, (Dip Stick), Winterton. Both are responsible for the route which was termed highly successful in last year's rally.

Trophy will be given for first place winner and valuable prizes are offered to second and last place finishers.

Price is set per car and two riders with additional fee for extra riders. Food to be served at the end of the rally will be free.

'Different'

VIENNA (AP) — A patch of spilled cocoa brought two motorists to a hospital here when a car drove through the substance and then slid into an oncoming car on the other side of the road.

Remember the good ole days when mama and grandma set a table graced with good garden fresh vegetables and pastries that melted in your mouth.

Well, those days are not "gone with the wind." At PINE CREST INN, you'll be introduced to the same succulent fresh vegetables and desserts made with the freshest of eggs, cream and pure butter. So stop feeling sorry for yourself and stop at PineCrest Inn today.

Remember Friday night is fish night and Tuesday night is set aside for fried chicken fanciers, all you can eat at moderate prices on both nights.

Hours at Pine Crest Inn are 5 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily and 5 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Sundays.

Hospitality, quality cuisine and exceptional entertainment have been the hallmark of LAKE MONROE INN for the past 34 years. Today, the renowned old inn attracts a host of repeat patrons to revel in the realm of interest which the popular spot reflects.

Whatever your choice in the very best of foods, you'll find it all here, whether you desire the low calorie luncheon or the most elaborate of full course dinners.

JOY HART at the organ continues to attract patrons who are lured by top-notch entertainment. Now LOUISE has purchased a set of drums and a bass fiddle to add to the musical menagerie.

To all swingers you don't have to drive for miles and miles to find a relaxing and entertainment spot. Right here in Sanford THE FOUNTAIN has just exactly what you're looking for.

The plush interior reflects an air of elegance, quality drinks are budget priced and this week end you'll swing and sway to the music of "The Nashville Kings," who appear Friday and Saturday nights, from 8 til midnight.

Remember there's plenty of parking in the rear and packaged good buyers will find a complete line of their favorite brands lining the well filled shelves.

The great outdoors comes into complete focus these days in the newly enclosed air conditioned former patio at A&W ROOT BEER DRIVE-IN. Dine in cool, cool comfort on the inside or have one of the courteous and efficient waitresses serve you in your auto.

NORMA AND EDDIE EDWARDS also invite boaters, surfers, etc., to take advantage of the parking facilities in the rear, designed for them, and "come as you are."

Whatver your mood demands in the food line, even the most finnicky will be attracted by the many features on the tempting menu. To complement your food choice, quench your thirst with a mug of the most sparkling and refreshing root beer you ever downed.

Yes, we know Sunday diners miss the wholesome atmosphere and exceptional Sunday dinners at REMLEY'S FAMILY RESTAURANT.

Stop weeping and let DAVE AND ALLENE REMLEY have a day of rest so that they may continue to serve you the same quality foods at down to earth prices during the rest of the week.

ALADDIN had nothing on DAVE, who produces unbelievable magic from the grill with his preparation of out of this world chops and tender steaks. Just think, all this marvelous food is so inexpensive that you can't even afford to eat at home!

It's FREDDIE'S for the merrymakers who desire a classic "uptown" atmosphere sparked with the gaiety of very New York supper clubs.

Dine festively on heavy Western beef, charcoaled to perfection, or make your selection from any of the appetizing entrees on the exciting menu.

Host and hostess, FRAN AND STEVE LARSSON, invite all nightclubbers to explore the facilities at Freddie's, Central Florida's oldest and finest Steak House.

"Come dine with us", say all who are affiliated with TRADE WINDS CAFETERIA.

Here you may expect top quality foods from the vast array attractively displayed on a long counter, and you'll be amazed at the budget price for all the good foods.

Let Trade Winds cater your special party for any size group, yes including hundreds. They will bring everything, including paper plates and plastic ware to the site of your choice.

Beginning at 11 a. m., when the lounge opens, activity continues on into the wee smalls.

A delightful luncheon is served at noon, which includes German, Italian and American cuisine. At a very moderate price, you have a choice from three entrees served with two vegetables, salad, bread, tea or coffee.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, THE BLUE ANGELS, a three-piece band, gives out with heavenly music for your dining and dancing pleasure.

Don't se how anybody can resist stopping at the imposing and attractive dining spot, TONY'S PIZZA, when heading south. Once you've been initiated to the piquant foods served there, you'll automatically return for an encore.

In addition to the authentic Italian pizza and spaghetti, Tony's other taste sensations will surely tempt you in all directions.

For the busy housewife, the take out service is the last word and your family will feel they have been pampered to the nth degree. Also those dinner guests will feel regal when you surprise them with an array of tempting tantalizing fare from Tony's.

Call ahead and your order will be awaiting you piping hot.

WHOOPEE! CAROL is back in town and is appearing nightly at the MAR-LOU LOUNGE AND RESTAURANT, from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m.

For those who have a yen for something new, something completely different and something super sensational, this entertainment is designed especially for you. We can promise that Carol and her crew will go, go, go, so don't miss curtain call.

For barbecue fanciers who will settle for nothing less than the very finest of old fashioned pit barbecue, you're in luck. HICKORY HOUSE BAR-B-CUE completely fills the bill.

Here you'll savor out of this world flavor in the golden hunks of tender, juicy beef, ham, pork and ribs.

Dine in the quaint dining room there or order several pounds of the delicious barbecue to serve your family or those most fastidious guests.

For that special party, have the Hickory House barbecue your turkey and you'll be the talk of the town.

TABLE HOPPING

Boy's Fuzzy Lip Wins Over All

Murphy, 16, won a temporary court order restraining Franklin High School in the Detroit suburb of Livonia from suspending him because his 2-year old mustache scrapes against a new school grooming code.

Wayne County Circuit Judge James Montante issued the order and set a hearing for Sept. 22.

"Good, clean-looking students" is what Livonia School Supt. Benton Yates said he wants. He said mustaches and such "detract from favorable learning conditions" and are a "flaunting of authority."

Murphy said, "I'd feel funny without it."

Postman 'Gets The Message'

York was startled but after some thought, phoned police.

Officers arrived just as the bandit was attempting to back a car from a nearby garage with Mrs. Spencer as a hostage. Police said the man had menaced a group in the shop more than 20 minutes before getting suspicious after the postman's call.

Waymond G. Small, 29, Cincinnati, was arrested on charges of robbery, kidnaping, drawing a deadly weapon and violation of a firearms act.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and my wife is 45. We have five wonderful children, are quite well-to-do, and live in a lovely large home. Last summer we met a handsome lieutenant in church and invited him for dinner. Being a lonely bachelor, he soon became a regular dinner guest. Then weekends. Three months ago he left the navy and decided to locate in Norfolk permanently, so we invited him to live with us until he became established. Well, you know the rest. By the time I caught on, things had gone too far.

In order to save our marriage, I sought counsel from our pastor and tried to reason with my wife, who insisted all along that the lieutenant was only a "friend" whom she loved "like a son." (He is 29!) Meanwhile he had ingratiated himself with our children, buying them gifts, etc. (He has money.)

Finally, we had a showdown, and I threw the lieutenant out of our home. Now my wife will have nothing whatsoever to do with me. She has turned "his" room into a "shrine." She sleeps on his bed and has pictures of him all over. She writes to him daily. (He left town.) I think they are planning something.

Abby, I still love my wife. I have stayed away from lawyers because I don't want a divorce, but no man should be expected to put up with this.

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: I suggest you see a lawyer, and tell him you don't want a divorce. In the meantime take your cues from your lawyer and play a waiting game.

Your wife may regain her senses. And the lieutenant may regain his, too. I'd bet against his taking on a 45-year-old mother of five permanently.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received an "invitation" to a surprise party, honoring another couple on their 25th wedding anniversary. It was to be held at a supper club, and on the bottom was written, "If you care to join us at your own expense, please call —— (phone number) RSVP."

The phone number happened to be the daughter of the "honored couple." She's no kid. She's a married woman. I have never heard of an invitation to a party at "one's own expense."

On MY 25th wedding anniversary, I had an open house, and I invited guests at MY expense.

Would you call this "join us at your own expense" type invitation proper? Or am I an old fuddy duddy?

AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: When one is "invited" to a "party" at his own expense, he is not a guest, he's a donor.

DEAR ABBY: My problem will probably sound like it's from a six-year-old, but I am a married woman with two children. I have a terrible fear of dentists. I keep making appointments and canceling them at the last minute because of this awful fear.

I begged my dentist to put me to sleep for any dental work he has to do, but he says he can't put me to sleep just to fill a few cavities.

He gave me four needles once, and I still feel the pain. Every time he comes near me with that drill I freeze up.

I have nice teeth, but I know I won't have them long if I don't get over this fear. Do you have any ideas?

PETRIFIED

DEAR PETRIFIED: Your dentist obviously is not trained in therapeutic hypnotism or he surely would have suggested it for you. Ask him to refer you to a dentist who is. I'm sure your dentist won't mind losing a patient who has consistently canceled out at the last minute.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Jacoby On Bridge Jacoby and Son

Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto are among the best pairs in the world. They are also one of the least scientific in that they try to bid as simply and as often as possible. They also are a "lucky" pair in that they seem to make their contracts whenever possible.

Eric's jump to four spades is typical of their style. A scientist would probably bid three of some other suit and hope that his partner would be able to go to game with this extra encouragement.

Eric won the club lead in his own hand and played his ace of trumps hopefully. Singleton kings are possible. The king did not appear and Eric led a club to dummy's king, ruffed a club and threw East in with a trump. He would have preferred to have thrown West in but East held that king.

East led the three of diamonds, and Eric made the "lucky" play of the jack. This forced the ace. Later all Eric had to do was to lead a heart from dummy and find East with the ace.

This was luck all right, but it also was very correct play. East had shown up with the king-jack of spades, and jack of clubs. If he held both aces he would have opened the bidding. Then it wouldn't have done Eric any real good to make the winning diamond play if East held that ace. He just had to play East for the ace of hearts and West for the ace of diamonds if he was going to make his contract.

Besides being correct, Eric did have one bit of real luck. The diamond lead forced him to make the right guess. A heart lead would have given him a chance to go wrong in that suit.

We The Women: By Betty Canary

Once upon a time there was a woman who was also a wife and mother. She was a thoroughly modern mother who had read every baby book and child article she could lay hands upon. In fact, she figured out once that by properly stacking all these books and magazines, she had ingeniously managed to build a cage for herself measuring approximately 8' x 8' x 8'. This was roomy, of course, but still a cage.

One thing all the authors stressed was that she should listen to her children, and being conscientious, this was what she did.

Oh, there were moments when she wondered why she listened all the time because she had an idea that a lot of the time these kids were really not saying things worth listening to, but when such dark thoughts crept forward, she relentlessly pushed them back.

Another thing this thoroughly modern mother always did was explain, explain, explain. No matter how busy she was or how engrossed in something important to herself, she would drop anything the moment a little child popped into the room and asked a question.

Then one day, which had not seemed unusual at all and had in fact begun like most other days, the mother, who recently thought of herself as The Listening Post and The Big Explainer, kicked the daylights out of one of the bars on her cage.

What happened was that she was out in the kitchen stirring up gelatin. She had tried to talk on the telephone and write a letter and read a book that day, but of course she couldn't do any of these things because the children, who were having a rather slow day themselves, kept interrupting her. Therefore, she had retreated to the kitchen, knowing from experience that if she were cooking or scrubing floors the little ones would not disturb her. At such times they were content to play with friends or find solace in their numerous and expensive toys.

Anyway, she was stirring up dessert when several children trooped into the house and once more assaulted her with inane questions. "Why can't we get a station wagon like the Waynes?" "Why am I taller than Susan when she's a year older than me?" asked the little girl from across the street. "Why can't we have chocolate pie for dessert?" "Why don't you take us to get an ice cream?" whined another. "Why do I have to wear bangs?" "Why can't I have a motor scooter?" asked an ordinary sensible 11-year-old.

Suddenly the mother turned on them: "No more questions!"

"Why not?" the children gasped.

Beauty after Forty by Edyth Thornton McLeod

SO FAT SHE VEXES HUBBY

"Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod: I have such a problem. I'm very much overweight. I simply cannot seem to go on a diet. This summer my husband made a trip to Europe to see his family. He would not allow me to accompany him and he wouldn't even take along a picture of me to show them. I was slender when I married at 30. What should I do? I visited my doctor and he said that I overeat and I eat all those things which make me fat. I'm so miserable."—Emmy.

There's no reason I can think of why you should go on being fat, and with a husband who is obviously ashamed of your appearance, you must reduce! While your husband was abroad you should have started on a reducing program. It's the most important thing that you can do now. Your health, your appearance, and even your marital status is influenced detrimentally just because you insist on eating fattening foods. My diet, FIGURE CONTROL, is a simple one, consisting merely of foods that are easy to prepare and good to eat. Send for the diet and stop talking about reducing. Just "get with it." To obtain FIGURE CONTROL, send me a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin. But be sure to follow the diet. Your husband and you, will be pleased with the results.

* * *

"I'm the grandmother of a small boy whose mother deserted him and my son. My son, the boy's father, died in the Vietnam War. I have no legal papers on the boy, whom I love very much. Must I legally adopt him? He's 10 and I'm 70."—G. M.

It would seem to me that you should consult a lawyer or ask the Legal Aid Society in your city for an accurate answer. Since you've raised the boy, I personally don't see any problem, but it would be good protection for the boy and yourself if you got a legal opinion. When this is achieved, you can also make a will in his favor. This matter needs a lawyer's attention immediately. Don't wait; attend to it now.

WMU Adopts Needy Family

The Woman's Missionary Union of Forest City Baptist Church has adopted a local needy family with five children as its current welfare project.

A WMU meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Monday and Mrs. Theus Norman, president, has requested all members bring baby's or children's clothing, for boy or girl. Bedding also is needed, she reports.

A number of the members, under direction of Mrs. Walter Hoberg, mission chairman, are preparing for the book study on "Africa — Arrows to Atom," which will be presented Nov. 9.

Lecture Series Scheduled For Forest Lake

By MARYANN MILES

Elder Leslie Mansell of Forest Lake Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Forest City will begin a series of six lectures on the word "lightbearer" at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Time for the Children's Bible Hour has been changed from 5 p.m. to 4 p.m. In charge are Pastor Steve Hall, assisted by Danny Bentzinger, senior student, and Eugene Baldwin, member of the church.

A new meeting time of 7 p.m. has been announced for the Wednesday Bible Study. Elder Mansell will continue the discussions on the Book of Revelations.

Reorganizational meeting of the Junior Pathfinders, to be led by Pastor Hall, has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Altamonte Chapel To Hear Area Leader

By MARYANN MILES

Minister of Christian Education for United Church of Christ, Rev. T. Albert Lawrence of Avon Park, will be guest speaker Sunday at Altamonte Community Chapel, United Church of Christ, for both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services.

His subject will be "Men in the Middle."

A social hour will be held between the two services. Church School will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. Nursery is available at all services.

The Youth Seminar, for students 12 years old and older who desire church membership, will be resumed by Rev. Wayne Smith at 7 p.m. today.

Other youth groups of the church will begin regular meetings in October.

Luncheon Fetes Committee

By MRS. RITCHIE HARRIS

Mrs. Carmen Wiggins, chairman of the program committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Barnett Memorial Methodist Church, Enterprise, entertained members of her committee at her Lemon Bluff home at a recent luncheon.

Those attending were Mrs. Tymie Oviatt, Mrs. Mickey Nutt, Mrs. Peg Richards, Mrs. Clara Lee, Mrs. Bertha Lou Hardin, Mrs. Lois Avery and Mrs. Florence Denslow.

Nativity Guild

Regular meeting of the Nativity Parish Women's Guild will be held at 8:30 p. m., Monday, at the Parish Hall. Mrs. J.P. Coyle of Jacksonville will be guest speaker. All women of the Parish are invited to attend.

Horoscope Forecast

Saturday, September 16, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can gain only ill will from others if you take any contentious stand now, so it is urged that you do act as a peacemaker or at least run at the first sign of any pent-up feelings on the part of another that seem about to be released as well as keep your own emotions scrupulously under control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Criticizing others, especially about their business or home life, could lose you their friendship. Be objective about whatever may sudenly come up today. Don't get emotionally upset

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Trusting one who could give you right advice about things you know little or nothing about is wise. Stop interpolating so much. Although you are restless, see that you gain self-control early.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Paying bills and collecting monies on time will stamp you as someone of character and a very businesslike person. Do not be demanding with closest tie. He, or she, can be very irate about something.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Others are in a rather strange mood today, so do nothing that will further annoy them. Find a better course for handling all of your affairs. Make this according to whatever will make you feel better.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of ordering others about, get the information you need from one you are most fond. Then you can organize all of your affairs so that you have greater rhythm, efficiency in them. Be smart.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Carry through with promises made to reasonable persons, but show tact where others are concerned. Don't get upset with a partner who is acting rather foolishly. Be patient and point out errors gently.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct. 22) You have many tasks that have been piling up on you and this is a fine day to dive right into them. Don't let boredom get the best of you. Some friend could be argumentative because of some tension. Ignore it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Pay no attention to strange-acting mate if you are to attend some fine social affair later on in the day and enjoy yourselves. Don't get into anything that is terribly expensive, though. Stay within your budget.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Avoid discussing subjects at home that could result in serious severance of connections, ties, for a long time to come. Be harmonious, although the tension may be great. Show that you are a most intelligent person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to take particular care in motion, business, etc., or you could be very unhappy for a long time to come. An associate may try to argue through boredom. Give him something to do and all is fine

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be careful you do not spend too much and unwisely or you ruin your fine budget. Economy measures are best so that you have more security in the days ahead. Let entertainment be wholesome, inexpensive.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to get ahead in some new endeavor, but you first need to acquire new information. Do so. Be very understanding and cheerful with one who is having rough sleding. Show that you are a true friend.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, can be a most charming and delightful person if trained in the necessary niceties of life early, but if left to do as he, or she, pretty pleases, wrong channels might be chosen and life becomes unhappy. Teach early to think before speaking. The mind here is brilliant, though, and college brings success.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel" What you do with your life is largely up to YOU!

Sunday, September 17, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day for Sunday pursuits and to get yourself organized for the coming weeks by ridding yourself and your surroundings of whatever has become obsolete or unusable and for quietly renewing your mind in the finest consciousness to which you can aspire. Excellent for spiritual, artistic or cultural interests.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Refrain from going off on some tangent and do your utmost to assist those who are in trouble, worried. Be with your closest tie in P.M. Show that you are very devoted and really great happiness ensues.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be with good friends socially but don't feel that you have to spend a great deal of money on them. You are able now to ingeniously figure out how to gain some particular wish that you have. Do so. Follow your intuition.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show courtesy to everyone for best results today, especially persons in public authority. Be sure to do something about making your credit more at it should be. Then you find that all of your affairs are improved.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) This day of leisure will afford you an opportunity to garner the information that you need and has been unavailable before this. Be wise and get in touch with new friends. They pave the way for you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take time to tap your subconscious today and find the answers to certain problems that have been troubling you. Be more affectionate with loved one if you want true devotion in return. Be generous, also.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find out what associates expect of you in the days ahead and you really cement fine ties. Be out with congenials socially and relieve tensions that have been building up within you. Have a cheery attitude.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time to make your home more comfortable and aesthetically beautiful. Then do something thoughtful for your buddies. Evening is the best time for enjoying yourself at whatever suits you most.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Avoid those drips who want to hang on to you like barnacles and be with interesting, fascinating persons you like. The one you love wants to be sure you are truly devoted. Be highly romantic in P.M.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look about you and see if furniture needs changing around, other improvements need to be made in your home. Then sit down and plan how to become more affluent in the days ahead. Study your paper well for opportunities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Getting together with kin, neighbors, friends can start you on a new course of action that is mutually beneficial. Be sure you take time to handle correspondence wisely. Be brief, but kindly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Thinking over how to increase income is good, since you have a great deal of initiative. Think of some important and successful person you know in business. Then contact him for right advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal day to make those social calls that will further ingratiate you into the good graces of those you like. First be sure you get your appearance ideal. Then saunter off in a happy frame of mind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will early in life, need to have a proven way of life to go by and cling to that will lead him, or her, up the ladder of success gradually and surely. Slant the education along humanitarian lines, since the heart is a tender one here and the need for such is great throughout the world. College is a must in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Monday, September 18, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a real chance now to tune in on whatever is best for you and this applies to both business and romantic interests plus an ability to gain through matters that have to do with cultural activities in the community in which you live, so be open-minded to what your prophetic insight tells you about any of these.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Follow that intuitive hunch you have that will assist you in improving the whole earnest endeavor of your life. This is also true in your romantic life. Be truly sincere with loved one; do not merely act a part.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Good day to contact close allies and show them where you feel they can be of the greatest assistance in your scheme of things. Accept a very worthwhile social invitation extended to you. Be smart, look smart.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You know what is expected from you by higher-ups, so don't wait to be told again but go ahead and execute your duties quickly and well. Partners can then give you a boost in the right direction. Be happy in P.M.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Others have data you need but will not relinquish it unless you show how much you will appreciate it. Contact that one of different background to yours and you get fine benefits. Show courtesy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keeping promises you have made to others scrupulously will gain you their cooperation and support in the future as well. Mate can be very understanding at this time. Go to him, or her, with your problems.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) By having long talks with others who are important in your life, you come to a real meeting of minds, gain stature. Then out to some place where you can have a wonderful time socially. Be charming.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It is important that both your home and place of business are in clean and perfect order. Find some better system of operating. Doing more than your share of work can increase the harmony around you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day to plan social events of note, doing something really spectacular. You have some very fine talent that can be expressed now to your benefit. Get busy with it and really grow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A little time away from business to attend to family matters is wise since you increase harmony in that important sphere of your living. Then delve right into that vital project that brings big benefits. Keep busy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make those contacts that can bring you more income and happiness in the days ahead. Put in an excellent day's work. Then plan the evening with those you like the most for a delightful hour or two of fun.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure you get bills out so that you can collect checks very soon and put your affairs in better order. You have more than common sense right now. Use it to your fullest advantage. Be happier.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mr. 20) Planning for the future more intelligently is what you should do today, so get busy contacting the right people. Show ingenuity where social matters are concerned also. Cultivate new and fine acquaintances.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those persons who will comprehend the desires of others and will quickly give them assistance in their aims, so be sure to slant the education along lines of humanitarianism, since great success can come because of this wonderful quality in this nature. Revived Waterway To Boom Economy

By STAFFORD DERBY

Public opinion in this city is becoming more and more aware that nature has underscored the St. Johns River and Lake Monroe as the unique factors which are pointing to waterborne commerce and pleasure boating to be the stars in the drama of Sanford's growth, starting now.

In a series of talks and interviews with leading Sanfordites this Herald reporter found the above statement to be accurate. Two basic recent developments are the catalysts which are producing this result. One is the motel-marina—nearing completion on the lakefront. The other is the Port of Sanford's creation with the preliminary steps now taken.

But the factor which many feel will put the "icing on the cake" is the steady move towards the construction of the St. Johns-Indian River canal. For this will be the final link in a waterway which will result in booming barge traffic for industry in Central Florida and the white-wake of pleasure boats seeking new routes from Jacksonville to the Indian River.

In an interview with John Krider, chairman of the St. Johns River-Indian River Canal District, these salient points were made:

The canal will provide barge transportation for 120 commodities. Presently the commercial barges are hauling chemicals and oil with a dead-end at Sanford. Without an outlet to the east, the barges must return empty to their point of origin. But the canal will change all this. The new alignment is straight east from Lake Monroe to the north terminous of the Indian River.

Engineers are now in the final design of locks, bridges, etc. This will enable the district to firm up the cost and update the feasibility study, providing a complete package for the financing plan.

In the meantime the district will complete acquisition of the right-of-way, 80 per cent of which is already under agreement for deed. Officials anticipate the project's completion during the early 1970s, Krider pointed out.

But the event which produced such general appreciation of the role of the waterways was the Labor Day regatta. At that time more than 200 boats were on the lake. Visitors were able to see the unequaled boat storage, docking and service facilities which Monroe Harbor, Inc. will provide after formal opening on Oct. 1.

And a crowd reliably estimated at 15,00 thronged the marina and saw the delightful Holiday Inn — overlooking the lake — speeding towards an opening day of Oct. 1. This is the kind of evidence that even the most cursory examination cannot ignore. And the marina with its boating and housing facilities is but a token of things to come.

Thus the promise of a revived waterway economy is being given a high rating as the city of Sanford moves ahead on land and new construction, new planning and new energy.

CONSTITUTION WEEK, marking 180th anniversary of adoption of the Constitution of the United States, has been proclaimed for Sept. 17-23 by Sanford Mayor Joe Baker. Looking over proclamation with him are Mrs. W. D. Leahy, regent of Sallie Harrison Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, (left) and Mrs. A. W. Lee, vice regent.

GUEST SPEAKERS at Bear Lake Community Club's opening meeting of season, shown with President Dr. Harold Miller (left), were James Birkenmeyer (center) and Peter Bukur. Birkenmeyer spoke on current conditions in the schools while Bukur explained sanctions and why they have been imposed by Florida Education Association. (Herald Photo)

FIRST TWO College of Regents from Sanford Chapter 1404, Women of the Moose, are Mrs. Eloise Small (left) and Mrs. Edna Meshotto. The degree, which takes several years to attain, was conferred at the House of God in Mooseheart, Ill., the lodge-supported "child city." A third member of the local chapter, Mrs. Lenore Price, will be qualified next June to receive the degree.

Moose Chapter Sets Election For Chaplain

Nominating committee of Sanford Chapter 1404, Women of the Moose, has recommended two co-workers for the office of Chaplain.

Named in report presented at Monday night's chapter meeting and program were Mrs. Gracie Allen and Mrs. Lucy Hodges. Balloting for the office will take place at the Sept. 25 business meeting. All co-wokers are urged to be present.

The publicity committee, headed by Mrs. Doris Smith, was in charge of the program for Monday night's meeting. A jewelry party was conducted with funds derived to be used for furnishing the new Health Center at Moosehaven in Orange Park, the lodge-supported "retirement city," and for other projects sponsored by the committee.

PTL To Meet

The Parent-Teacher League of St. Luke's Christian Day School, Slavia, will have its first meeting of the current school year at 7 p.m., Monday, at the school. There will be a covered dish dinner. All parents of children attending the school are urged to be present.

Texas' Eyes' Beulah

AMERICAN flag is presented by Commander Frank Luecker for Campbell-Lossing Post of the American Legion to Principal Freeman Baggett for Southside School. (Herald Photo)

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A raging surf kept the lower Texas coast alert today to the menace of Hurricane Beulah, a killer storm gaining fresh fury as it bolted through the warm Gulf of Mexico.

It was still too far at sea, however, for any certain estimate of where Beulah might strike land again after a weekend swipe at Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and the resort island of Cozumel.

Early today the Weather Bureau placed the center of the hurricane, packing winds up to 100 miles per hour, about 450 miles southeast of Brownsville, at the southernmost tip of Texas.

"Beulah is expected to increase yet more in intensity during the next 12 to 24 hours," the National Hurricane Center in New Orleans said. "The conditions appear favorable for Beulah to become a severe hurricane within 24 hours."

With its forward speed expected to remain about 12 M.P.H. or possibly slow a bit, Beulah seemed unlikely to reach land again before midmorning Tuesday.

Last week Beulah claimed 18 lives in the eastern Caribbean.

Broken communications made it difficult to assess the destruction wrought as Beulah smashed at the Yucatan Peninsula and Cozumel. Peak winds dwindled from 125 to 75 m.p.h. while the storm was boiling across this land mass.

The Weather Bureau said reports indicated Beulah would turn gradually to a more northwesterly course later today or tonight.

While Beulah remained a menace, Doris tamed down from a hurricane to a tropical storm and moved away from the east coast after a glancing blow at Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina.

Doris blamed for two deaths, headed southeast in the Atlantic after pounding seaside communities extensively and was expected to regain force over water.

Triple-Murder Suspect Hearing Slated Today

MIAMI (AP)—A 21-year-old Auburn University dropout described as "an intelligent, good-looking, clean-cut young man," faced a preliminary hearing today on charges that he killed three young girls in Alabama early this month.

Edward Albert Selbold, arrested Saturday in Miami by the FBI, was held in lieu of $250,000 bond and was kept in solitary confinement over the weekend "to insure his own safety and that of others."

Selbold was hired only last Friday by Maury Glaubman to care for his invalid son, Mike, 24, who was injured in a traffic accident nine years ago and needs constant care.

"This guy was great with Mike," Glaubman said. "He was an intelligent, good-looking, clean-cut young man. Mike liked him and he liked Mike. A more normal situation one could not imagine."

Glaubman, a retired producer of educational films and short subjects, had placed a notice on a coin laundry bulletin board and Selbold answered it. Glaubman met Selbold, who gave the name of "Kenny Strauble," liked the young man and hired him.

Selbold, who dropped out of Auburn University as a mathematics major after an unsuccessful summer quarter, is charged with killing two sisters of his former sweetheart and a friend of one of the sisters.

A single shotgun blast killed Mary Lynn Sinclair, 9, and her friend, Mary Durant, 8. Selbold also is accused of killing to death Sarah Elizabeth Sinclair, 18, and wounding her mother, Mrs. Juanita Sinclair, with a shotgun, at Auburn, Ala., on Sept. 6.

A psychiatrist twice examined Selbold earlier this summer but said he found no evidence that the former student was homicidal or suicidal after his parents said he had talked of "killing the Sinclair children."

Selbold's mother and father told the Miami Herald by telephone from Slidell, La., that their son had on several occasions said he was going to kill the entire Sinclair family and quoted him as saying "I'm going to start with the littlest one and kill them all."

The FBI said Selbold's arrest came after an alert citizen recognized his picture in the press and passed along a tip.

Educators To 'Hit' Kirk

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Education forces are expected to hit Gov. Claude Kirk with tapes of his own words and pinpoint what they call erroneous conclusions on the part of the governor in a televised reply Tuesday to his recent message on education.

State School Supt. Floyd Christian said he will use a tape recording of Kirk telling Floridians "not to worry about the money for education."

The taped quote from the Governor is: "Money alone won't do it, but we must have money and make no mistake about it. I'll get the money—because that's been my habit."

The remarks came in a Kirk speech last spring to the Governor's conference on education held in Orlando.

The superintendent is also expected to criticize conclusions Kirk drew from the results of tests given to the state's high school seniors.

Kirk said in his recent message on education that the low percentage of 12th grade students passing the test was a main reason for ordering a study of public schools. He said the low ratio reflected poor education in Florida schools.

Christian has pointed out it is impossible for a high percentage to pass the exam. He said it is graded competitively so that the lower three-fifth of the students automatically fail.

In his Sept. 5 statement on Christian said the Governor misunderstands the exam. He said it is used to control the number of students enrolling in state colleges.

The superintendent will share half of the reply air time with Dr. Phil Constans, executive secretary of the Florida Education Association.

Constans will be presented in a 15-minute film shot in the same classroom used by the Governor for his statement.

The film will open with Constans walking into the room and replacing Kirk's "Prespective for Tomorrow" with "Perspective for Today—because tomorrow will be too late."

Fourteen television channels and five radio stations agreed to carry the educators' replay either live at 7 p. m. or on a delayed broadcast later in the evening.

Industrial Aims Outlined To Rotary

is the very few craftsmen who are available.

Rathel pointed out that the top level of employment—the highly educated and highly skilled—and the lowest level—the physical labor group—are usually in good supply. But the middle group, the craftsmen, who stand back of every top level advance, are lacking. To supply these skills would be a great step ahead, said he.

In the group listening to Rathel were bankers, lawyers, merchants, public utility executives, manufacturers and educators. And it was to these that appeal was made for continued co-operation.

The speaker's responsibility is to attract industry to the Sanford area and his basic theme was industrial development. With the closing of the Navy's air base on July 1, 1968 the matter of industrial development has become a hot issue in this city. The creation of the industrial commission by the city commissioners was largely spurred by this vacating of the base by the Navy.

Thus the Rotarians listened intently. For this was a public appearance by Rathel, who took advantage of the occasion to do some explaining and, at the same time, to point out that the issue of industrial development was not only on the shoulders of the industrial commission but on the shoulders of the business community.

Lost Teenagers Found In Park

BREWTON, Ala. (AP)—Three Pensacola (Fla.) teenagers are safe today after spending more than six hours lost in a heavily wooded area near the Black Water Creek State Park.

Authorities found the youths Sunday night after one of the youngster's mothers reported their absence. They had wandered away from an outing at the park, about 10 miles north of Brewton near the Florida-Alabama border.

The youths were identified as Gary Fivenshi, 15, and sisters, Debbie Bell, 15, and Belinda Bell, 13.

AREA DEATHS

Gail Hoffman Elected Student Prexy At SJC

By TOMMY ALEXANDER

The vice president position went to John Stuart, 19, also a sophomore at the college. Stuart was graduated from Lyman High School in 1966 and was a football letterman.

Tom Kearney, 18, a sophomore from Winter Park was elected treasurer. Tom was graduated from Winter Park High School. It will be Tom's duty to keep track of over $16,000.

These candidates ran on the same platform of "Leadership Through Responsibility and Experience."

The office of secretary will be appointed by the association.

Twelve representatives also were elected to speak the views of the students at the SGA meetings.

Border Bridge Knocked Out

The pilots said their bombs knocked out the center span of the That Khe highway bridge seven miles from China and 92 miles north-northeast of Hanoi.

The closest previous raid to China's border was 10 miles away Aug. 15.

Navy pilots flew follow-up missions against three targets inside the Haiphong, apparently trying to cut rail and road arteries carrying supplies out of the North Vietnamese port city to Communist troops fighting in South Vietnam.

Skyhawk jets unloaded 500-, 1,000- and 2,000-pound bombs on a railroad and highway bridge just one mile west of the city's center. They also hit a rail yard 1.7 miles from the center and a warehouse complex 1.2 miles from its center. Those targets were hit for the first time a week ago.

Clearing weather over the North enabled Air Force Navy and Marine pilots to fly 109 missions, most directed against targets in the heavily defended area around Hanoi and Haiphong.

One plane was reported lost.

The strikes emphasized the air war policy of keeping maximum pressure on Hanoi during the remaining three or four weeks of favorable weather before the monsoon.

In and slightly north of the demilitarized zone that separates the two Vietnams, high-altitude B52 bombers unloaded more than 450,000 pounds of bombs in three sweeps over suspected Red infiltration sites.

In the heaviest ground action in the South, 2,000 American infantrymen were airlifted by helicopter into the heart of a Viet Cong stronghold 30 miles north of Saigon in the Ho Bo Woods. Guerrillas greeted the massive hunt-and-kill operation with sharp fire at two chopper landing zones.

Military spokesmen said an Air Force RF4C Phantom reconnaissance jet with down to Communist ground fire. The two crewmen were reported missing.

North Vietnam claimed four U.S. warplanes were shot down, including three near Haiphong.

U.S. headquarters made no mention of these but has a policy of withholding the announcement of plane losses during rescue attempts.

North Vietnamese MIG interceptors shot down an unarmed and unescorted Air Force RF101 Voodoo flying a reconnaissance mission Saturday and the pilot was reported missing.

LBJ 'Scuttled' Peace Talks Opportunities

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article appeared in today's Miami News and was written by Editor William C. Baggs in connection with allegations by Harry S. Ashmore that President Johnson scuttled a promising chance for peace talks on the war in Vietnam. Baggs and Ashmore visited Hanoi last winter and talked personally with Ho Chi Minh.)

By WILLIAM C. BAGGS

MIAMI (AP) — The reader is probably confused, if not bewildered, by the allegation that President Johnson shot down a prospect to end the war in Vietnam.

What happened is simply this:

In January, Harry Ashmore and I traveled to Hanoi. We made the journey with the permission of the Department of State. Our purpose was to invite North Vietnam and other countries of Asia to a convocation to examine the requirements for peace and coexistence.

In Hanoi we were invited to a conversation with Ho Chi Minh, president of North Vietnam. And the plain fact is that Ho was conciliatory, as Ashmore has written, and that he said that talks to end the war could begin once the bombing of his country had stopped. Ashmore and I took notes of the conversation.

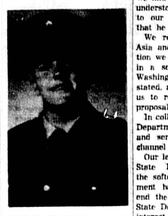
The notes were carefully made and then the accuracy of them was checked by all parties involved in the conversation. The Department of State had asked us to inform it of what we had learned on the trip. He understood that we would report to our government everything that he said.

We returned from Southeast Asia and gave all the information we had to our government in a series of conferences in Washington. As Ashmore has stated, a decision was made for us to respond to the informal proposal of Ho Chi Minh.

In collaboration with the State Department we drafted a letter and sent it to Ho through a channel he had arranged.

Our letter, co-authored by the State Department, expressed the softest position our government had taken on terms to end the war. Through us, the State Department suggested an interest to stop the bombing, and to initiate private talks if all parties could manage "some reciprocal restraint" indicating that neither side intended to take advantage of the occasion to improve its military position. The letter, which was mailed to Ho, was written early in February. About the same time, unknown to us, the President was drafting a letter to Ho Chi Minh. His letter was much tougher.

The President's letter became public information and the New York Times commented that its language was "designed to convey a hardening of the U. S. position."



DAVID M. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hall, 2705 Sanford Avenue, was graduated from basic training school Thursday at Fort Gordon, Ga., and commenced training as a missile technician this morning at Fort Sill, Okla. Pfc. Hall graduated Seminole High School before enlisting in the Army.

aid today that he had resigned for "money and personal reasons. I was not exactly asked for my resignation," Triplett said. "I just can't live on the salary."

Survey by The Herald reveals, however, that Triplett's salary is the highest paid in the municipalities of the county, save Sanford.

Triplett's salary is $6,000 annually. Police budget request reported by the mayor at the regular September meeting was for $51,000 and in the police budget request. Triplett did not request an increase in salary.

Council Vice Chairman Charles Woodruff remarked when asked what the city plans to do without a police department. "The Council has not been polled as yet. We probably will discuss it at our work session tonight."

Councilman Dr. Eugene Ellis informed, "Council has not met. I have heard nothing of the charges made against either the Chief of Police or the patrolmen. There would seem to be some substance to the charges though or all the men wouldn't have resigned."

Councilman Donald Willson also denied knowledge of the content of the charges, but noted he "will insist" on being told the complete story at tonight's meeting.

Radio operators and one relief man were not affected in the resignation request and will apparently remain on duty.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. Some people tell me I must sign up for medicare at least 3 months before I reach age 65. I have also heard 3 months before age 65 is when I should apply. Which is correct?

A. Three months before age 65 is correct. Be sure to sign up before the month you are age 65, especially if you want your Supplementary Medical Insurance to be effective with the month you reach age 65.

Q. I have done lots of work but my work was not covered by social security. I am now age 68. Can I go back and pay in social security in order to get the required quarters of coverage to draw monthly social security benefits?

A. No. You cannot just "pay in" and get social security quarters of coverage. You earn social security quarters of coverage two ways. First, you get quarters of coverage if you work as an employee on work covered by social security. In this case, your employer reports your social security for you. Second, you get quarters of coverage for self-employment if you have a net profit of $400 or more in the year ($600 gross or $400 net if farmer). In this case, you report your own social security at the time you file your regular income tax return.

Solons Face 'Education' In Special Meet

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Legislature is scheduled to convene again Nov. 6 to take final action on constitutional revision but education is expected to command the most attention.

House Speaker Ralph Turlington (D-Gainesville) says it is inevitable that additional school aid will be brought up and most leaders feel the Legislature will pass something. One proposal high on the list is an additional one cent sales tax.

The school drama directed by the Florida Education Associa tion will be nearing a climax. Phil Constans, executive secretary of the FEA, has referred to mid-November as the target date for mass resignations on a statewide basis.

FEA sources have confirmed that the call for resignations will be held up to give legislators a chance to act.

"But if expected school aid does not become law, we'll definitely be out (of school) right after the session," Constans said.

This would put the responsibility of the school crisis squarely up to Gov. Claude Kirk again.

"Florida has been hurt very badly by the crisis — people, teachers, students, business, industry . . ." Turlington said.

Turlington has talked to many Republican legislators and appears confident that school problems may win over additional GOP support. And he is attempting to effect an attitude of compromise.

However, Republican Senate and House minority leaders reaffirmed their opposition to new state school aid as recently as last week.

"Nothing has occurred which would change my mind," said House Leader Donald Reed (R-Boca Raton) during the recent teacher dispute in Broward County.

"I'm still convinced that voters do not want new taxes," said GOP Senate Leader C. W. Young, of Pinellas Park.

Sen. Tom Slade (R-Jacksonville) admitted there was a "crisis" in public education

Educational Tightrope

Educational turmoil throughout the state of Florida has been and is particularly "hard" on the school principals of the state.

Take a moment to look at the plight of most of the principals.

The majority of them have been teachers and, in many cases, they have been among the leaders in their teacher organization — the Florida Education Association.

They have come up through the ranks, so to speak, and there is no doubt but that many of their feelings must go back to their teaching days.

But, now as principals they are direct representatives of the individual school boards and they are charged with the responsibility of keeping their schools operating, keeping a full staff of teachers and making every attempt to maintain order, when conditions around them become chaotic.

A principal is not only a friend to his teachers, but must also be a boss.

He must carry out the regulations of his bosses — the school superintendent and the school board — and he must operate the school in the prescribed manner.

Yet, he is probably a member of the FEA, having come up through the ranks, and has some sympathy for the problems of organization. He is proud of his teaching background and wants to remain an FEA member, yet he cannot go along with resignations, strikes or the like, because, as a principal, he is now a part of "management."

It is a tightrope these principals are walking in these days of educational turmoill and the public should make every effort to try to understand the position in which the majority of them now find themselves.

Worry Clinic

Elsbeth offers a clever idea used by the Kindhearted Canadian women of her city. But dozens of similar good deeds should be outlined and assigned to all Sunday School youth. For in the middle teens, we are at the peak of our desire to do noble acts and help our fellowmen. But heed John Galsworthy's warning!

CASE D-555: My sister Elsbeth lives in Vancouver, Canada.

"The Canadian Golf Women's Auxiliary," she said, "has set aside a fund for a very unique project.

"But it is intensely practical. And very comforting, too!

"For this fund pays the costs of cutting the toenails of those elderly people in Nursing Homes or marooned as lonely folks in their own dwellings.

Yes, and many churches could enlist dozens of enthusiastic "home missionaries" for similar worthy causes.

For example, not only do our Senior Citizens need their toenails pruned regularly, but most of them appreciate help with the fingernails of their unused hand.

My mother, now in her 90th year, always depends on me to trim the fingernails on her right hand!

And the same is true of hospitalized patients, especially the chronic invalids and veterans who are lifelong hospital cases.

We often grow very zealous in trying to help the starving kiddies of India, Africa and South America.

Yet we meanwhile may ignore the soul hungers of our own relatives and nieghbors right here at home!

Young people, however, are eager for definite ideas by which help their fellowmen right in their own area.

So you Sunday School teachers should make out a check list for them to follow.

On this list include such items as the following:

(1) Escorting elderly folks to church, as by your automobile.

(2) Delivering the surplus flowers from weddings and funerals to shut-ins.

(3) Sending the hometown newspaper or church bulletins to those in hospitals (and Military Service, too).

(4) Giving flowers to kiddies in the tenement areas.

(5) Inviting newcomers in your area to your church the very first Sunday they have moved into the neighborhood!

(6) Taking some home-cooked delicacy to lonely folks.

(7) Mailing birthday or anniversary and get-well cards to those who are not likely to be remembered.

(8) Calling on hospitalized and Nursing Home folks at least once per month.

(9) Offering to baby-sit occasionally for the clergyman's wife!

(10) Taking pictures of shut-ins and then sending them prints thereof.

These are but 10 of a longer list which Sunday School classes should evolve and use for weekly ratings of their members!

So send for my "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20¢. It also outlines the "Golden Pen" project.

N. Y. Police 'Moonlight'

NEW YORK (AP) — Pall bearing, golf-promoting and modeling are some of the jobs New York's policemen have come up with since a recent department order allowed patrol men to moonlight.

The department announced Monday that 979 of the city's 28,000 police have requested permission to hold part-time jobs off duty hours.

'Nyet,' Russians Tell TV Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Former Peyton Place television star Susan Oliver says she planned for two years to fly her light plane from New York to Moscow—but now the Russians say "nyet."

Miss Oliver, who played Ann Howard in the television serial, had obtained oral permission from the Soviet government, friends said.

The reason for the reversal was not given.

There are several hundred kinds of bats in the world. They are most common in warm climates and grow largest there.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American spirit is being corrupted in the name of preserving it.

It is easy to talk of corruption in its normal definition, and there is ample evidence of its headlong growth in this country.

The more pervading erosion, which in a critical sense underscores the other, eats away steadily at this nation's bulwark ing ideas of freedom and democracy.

Earlier this year great alarm was voiced in some quarters when conservative elements drew close to forcing a U. S. constitutional convention which, it was felt, might somehow recast basic American freedoms in more constructed form.

Whatever else may be said about this undertaking, it at least follows formal procedure set forth in the Constitution.

Astonishingly, other elements in U. S. society are meantime engaged in trying arbitrarily, without the thinnest pretense of legality, to redefine democracy and freedom in the most drastic fashion.

The new left, some parts of the intellectual and academic communities which stand aside from it, and some parts of the radical right seek to alter or negate the Constitution by various devices of direct action not contemplated by that document.

In effect, they would have the Constitution read that, if and when the results reached in this country by the agreed legislative or executive government processes do not please any group (however small and limited it may be), it may try to overturn the verdict by some tactic of force — assault upon public officials, disruption of government activities, calculated interference with established procedure.

The revolutionary character of this tactic is not denied but is, instead, stoutly affirmed by its advocates. They build comfort from false parallels with colonial Americans who revolted nearly 200 years ago.

But there is no way to have a government and yet revolt against it. What the revolutionaries of 1967 urge has nothing to do with democracy, representative government or freedom as established here.

Their tactic would give to any limited group, of the right, the left or whatever, the absolute veto that goes with violent disruption. As a doctrine, it provides license for the militant few to set aside any decision taken by a representative government or its elected executives.

No phrases like "participatory democracy" or "creative disorder" can cloak the anarchic and thoroughly undemocratic nature of this approach to political life. These are fancy words glorifying instability and impermanence in a nation and a world that must constantly adjust to change without allowing themselves to be engulfed by it. They speak for the mercurial, for the shifting sand, at a time when hundreds of millions of people search for the rock and the anchor to tie to.

Raising legitimate cry against the too-bigness of everything in today's America, these revolu turned back to them at the more intimate local level. But their prescription for this would so fragment power as to destroy its meaning for society.

They seek a life of license, not liberty. They want to be left altogether alone — free of real authority, uncurbed by law and, indeed, by any sort of code or standard in any field of life.

But they would not be free. For the chaos they would thus contrive is itself a "system," though different from the one they hate.

Hal Boyle Says:

By GEORGE MOSES
(Hal Boyle is on vacation.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—It was several weeks ago that my wife first noticed some insulation sifting out of the basement wall. It dusted her washing machine like an occasional snow flurry, only it was brown.

A member of that frustrated legion whose do-it-yourself talents are limited to replacing light bulbs, I looked hard at the insulation gap. It was oozing from a hole where a vent—heating, I think, and the foundation didn't quite come together.

It looked to me like a grave structural flaw, and I said as much.

Lucile said that was silly, especially with the dentist being as patient as he was about that old balance on the bridge job.

The insulation continued to sift ominously onto the washing machine. I decided to devote part of a recent weekend to demonstrating the job was beyond me.

I began pulling at the bulging material and it came away readily. I shoved my hand deeper into the hole and felt something move. I also felt a searing sting on two fingers and jerked my hand back.

With it came 20 sleepy bumblebees, getting their first look at the outside world, and a handful of little white eggs. These fell into the box I had placed on the washing machine.

Other bees, seemingly less sleepy, began flying out of the hole.

I grabbed a rag and stuffed it into the hole. My wife ran for outdoors with the box of bees and near-bees.

Then we began killing basement bees with flyswatters. Except for the two that had stung me, they were as sleepy as they were huge, and we got them all.

The rag in the hole seemed a frail defense against those still poised in their nest of insulation.

I took a can of insect spray. With Lucile ready to bat cleanup with a swatter, I jerked out the rag and let fly with the spray.

It was a close thing. Bees kept advancing over the bodies of their fallen comrades. I kept spraying and my wife kept swatting.

The bee charge slowed to a trickle, then stopped. I gave the hole a final burst, jammed the rag back into it, and gently keeled over.

If time had permitted reading instructions on the insect bomb, I would have read, "Do not inhale fumes. Do not use in a confined area."

I had inhaled, in a confined area, about half the contents of the can.

The pharmacist said rest and fresh air were the best antidotes for that sort of thing, and they were.

LETTERS

To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

To the many reasons for a dirth of business in downtown Sanford shall we add another? I call it the Dr. Pepper Game. Instead of 10-2-4 it 9-11-1 and 3. By this I mean the two hour parking law. Yes, I just got a ticket and paid it.

There are many business men in downtown offices who must watch the clock. At a certain time they excuse themselves from customers or clients and move their cars one or two spaces. Now, that is the point. THERE ARE PLENTY OF SPACES!

This office has lost customers and the city potential residents because of unsuspected and unintentional violations of parking regulations. Despite the fact that in one instance we paid the fine these "fine" people left. They just couldn't understand why, in a city that is supposed to be hurting, visitors couldn't be accorded consideration and courtesy. In like manner I don't see why the downtown business man can't either.

May I offer a suggestion. I expect to get a ticket a month. Thus, in a year, I'll pay $24.00 in fines. Let me save the cost of envelopes, time, recording etc. and add $1.00 more. I'll pay $25.00 a year in advance, for a parking space against the wall of Carroll's furniture store or anywhere else in the lot at First and Park. You don't have to reserve it or put my name on it. Just give me a bumper sticker that means I can park IN THAT LOT ONLY for more than two hours. No where else, just that lot and if I can't find a place (ha, ha) then I must abide by the law. Don't you think it's worth trying? Others could buy the same privileges elsewhere.

This doesn't help our potential settlers but maybe just a little tact and reading the license plate would help.

Thanks, I feel a lot better and I'll finish this up just as soon as I move my car.

Editor, Herald:

We are truly grateful! The Central Florida Regatta has been described as successful by your newspaper and others and we owe thanks to so many people for helping us with this project.

Please accept our gratitude for all the work, effort and interest you and your staff, especially Mr. Larry Vershel, Mr. Bill Vincent and Mrs. Judy Wells have shown in the CENTRAL FLORIDA REGATTA. We believe the Marina, the City of Sanford, each of us, and certainly the charities that will benefit by the funds raised, have gained immensely as a result of Labor Day 1967.

From all of us — "thank you so very much."

GI-Students Eligible For Benefits

Florida veterans who have been accepted for college this fall should apply to the Veterans Service office at Room 105, Courthouse, to make arrangements for benefits available to them under the GI Bill.

Mrs. Marie Hunt, assistant service officer pointed out that veterans with more than 180 days continuous military service, with any part of that time after Jan. 31, 1955, are eligible for monthly allowances of $130 or more.

Application forms should be obtained from and returned to the Veterans Service office along with a copy of the veteran's separation document, DD Form 214.

The VA office will then issue the qualified veteran a certificate of eligibility which he should submit to the school when he enrolls.

"While the VA has to wait until the college involved certifies that the veteran has enrolled before it can start sending VA allowance checks," Mrs. Hunt said, "the VA has simplified the form the college must use, and students should receive checks shortly after the end of each month.

"HOWEVER," Mrs. Hunt said, "it would be wise for students to be prepared to pay their own expenses for a short period of time to be sure they are not caught short of funds before legal requirements are met and VA can start the flow of checks. Once allowance checks start, they may be expected to continue without interruption for the enrollment period certified by the school.

"But a different procedure applies to a course which does not lead to a standard college course. The VA will make payments each month as soon as possible after the school and the student notify the VA that the applicant has been attending classes."

Under the new Viet-Nam GI bill rates, effective Oct. 1, full-time veteran students are entitled to the following increased monthly payments: $130 without dependents; $155 with one dependent; $175 with two dependents and an extra $10 for each dependent in excess of two. Part-time students receive proportionately smaller amounts.

The amended Viet-Nam GI bill authorizes full benefit payments "to educationally disadvantaged veterans" so they can compete high school or take certain required refresher courses without losing any VA eligibility for post-high school training.

Mrs. Hunt said that veterans applying for allowances for dependents should furnish the VA a certified copy of their marriage license and birth certificates of dependent children.

She urged veterans to contact the VA office if they need additional information about the education program. The phone number for the Veterans Service Office is 322-0780; the mailing address is Court House, Rm. 105, Sanford, Fla. 32771.

Greyhounds 'Growl'

Three Pronged Attack Produces Thriller

By WALTER BISTLINE
Sports Staff

A three-pronged attack, consisting of Tom Pinnock's running, Jim Lucas' passing, and Bruce Stuart's kicking, boosted Lyman to a 40-37 victory over the Wildwood "Wildcats" Friday night.

Lyman drew first blood early in the game with Pinnock scoring from the three yard line. Wildwood quickly evened things up as Watkins uncorked a 69 yard scoring run. The Greyhounds stalled out on the next series of downs and three plays later Watkins rambled 83 yards for another "Cats" tally putting Wildwood out in front.

Wildwood had two more tallies in the first quarter, Williams connected with Harrison for scoring strikes of 68 yards and 50 yards to give the "Cats" an 11 point lead going into the second quarter.

Lyman's big push came late in the second quarter as Lucas connected on a 19 yard TD to Hargis. The "Greyhounds" then recovered a fumble on the "Wildcats" 10 yard line and Lucas scored on a two yard plunge.

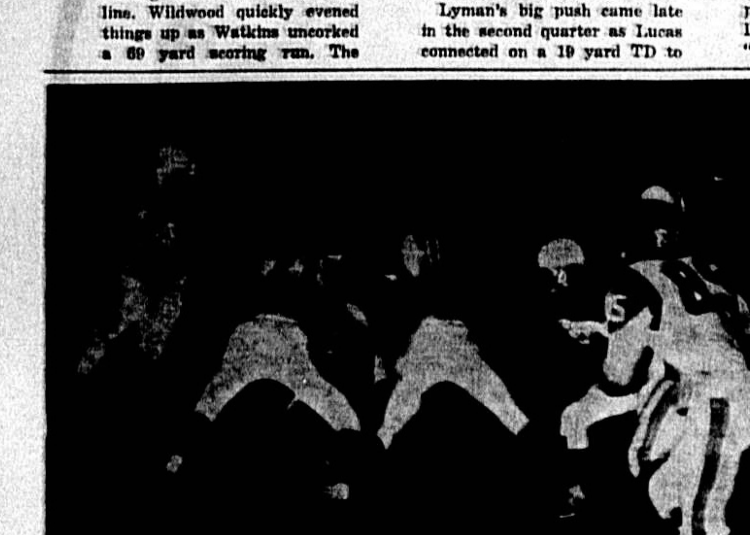
The "Wildcats" struck back, as Donnie Jones sped 40 yards for the tally and the "Cats" led at the half, 30-27.

In the third period the "Greyhounds" drew blood as they hit paydirt on a 28 yard pass from Lucas to Hargis, put Lyman ahead, 33-30. Then the "Wildcats" put on a drive and Watkins recovered a fumble in the end zone for another "Wildcat" tally.

The "Greyhounds" moved steadily down field from that point on. The final score came on a 12 yard pass to Hargis and Bruce Stuart booted the final point of the game with four minutes left.

Wildwoods last effort died when Lucas intercepted his second pass of the game and then the "Hounds" ran the clock out.

"GREYHOUND" EXPRESS Tom Pinnock, Lyman Halfback goes for yardage against Wildwood as the "Hounds" marched to victory Friday evening.



"LIONS DEFENSE braces against Chiefland Fullback Willie Gibbons as he scores six points on three yard carry.

Lions' Harper Rambles

By LARRY NEELEY
Sports Staff

The Oviedo "Lions" opened their 1967 football season Friday night with Chiefland battling the Indians to a 6-6 tie in a thrilling see-saw battle.

Both Oviedo and Chiefland were scoreless in the first quarter with each team registering only a single first down. The only scoring threat came when Oviedo's running back Randy Janson sped back 40 yards to the Chiefland 19 but the Indian defense pushed the Lions back and they failed to score.

Oviedo's score came midway in the second quarter when Simon Harper returned an Indian punt 52 yards to hit paydirt for the Lions. A bad snap foiled the PAT. Janson raced another 20 yards in the final play of the half but both teams left the field with Oviedo in the lead 6-0.

Late in the third quarter the Indians penetrated deep into the "Lion's" territory on an extended series of short gains and a total of 35 free yards with this coming after penalties against Oviedo. As the third quarter ended, Chiefland had the ball on the Oviedo seven yard stripe. The Indian's running back opened the fourth quarter with three attempts to score, trying to get past the hard hitting "Lions" defense. Gibbons barely made it across the goal line on his third attempt. The extra point try failed and the game was deadlocked 6-6.

A forty-two yard punt by Simon Harper put Chiefland deep in their own territory with only two minutes left in the ball game. Indian signal caller Dennis Tribble was unable to move the ball and was thrown for a short loss on a fake punt play. The "Lions" took over with 42 seconds left in the contest but managed only to get to the Chiefland 18 when the game ended.

Chiefland's super star Willie Gibbons rambled for 61 yards to pace both teams in rushing. Gibbons was hard hit by the Lion defense all through the night and picked-up all his yardage on short and only single substancial run.

Joe Patton paced the rushing of the Oviedo offense gaining 35 yards from the fullback slot followed closely behind by Simon Harper with 38 and Janson picking up an additional 18 yards.

Peewee's Battle On Gridiron

Wildcats 36—Bulldogs 0

The Wildcats displayed a fine passing attack as they bombed the Bulldogs in the opening game of league play. Willie Wall threw 3 touchdown passes. The first one was a 35 yarder to Brent Raborn. The second one was a 23 yard pass to Dennis Epps. Wall's third touchdown pass was a 12 yard throw to George Pivec. The Wildcat ground attack was led by Preston Richarde as he scored 2 touchdowns on runs of 4 yards and 1 yard. The Wildcat defense was led by Frank Sloan as he intercepted a Bulldogs pass and returned it 35 yards for the final Wildcat touchdown. The Bulldogs were lead by Charlie Taylor and Billy Mitchell on the offense, but they could not push anything across the tough Wildcat goal line.

Jayhawks 12—Packers 6

The Packers scored in the opening minutes of play as David Bach passed 4 yards to Teddy Miller. The Jayhawks came right back with a 53 yard run by Ken Griffith to tie the score. From that point on until the final 2 minutes of play it was a defensive battle all up and down the field. The Jayhawks defense was led by Walt Morgan, Joe Parker and Bart Peterson. For the Packers the defensive leaders were John Zeuli, Marty Foster and Harold Davidson. In the final minutes the Jayhawks put together the winning march with James Steffens leading the way with some fine passing. Walt Morgan scored the winning touchdown as he carried the ball over from 5 yards out.

Schedule for Sept. 23, 1967
9:30 Wildcats vs Jayhawks
10:30 Packers vs Bulldogs

Titusville 'Terriers' ? ?

They Oughta Call 'Em Tornadoes!

"We will not meet a team as balanced or with that great a speed again this season." With those words, Head Coach Ralph Stumpf summed-up Friday night's game in which the "Terriers" from Titusville rolled over Sanford 34-13.

"Titusville played just like a college team," he added. "They were big and tough and should be one of the finer teams in the area this season," Stumpf surmised.

"We have to work on being a unit, not just individual play. There are gaps to be filled in the defensive line, but I feel Friday night we will see a totally different team," he concluded.

A near capacity crowd of 5,500 people was on hand Friday night as the Titusville "Terriers" slashed the Seminole High "Seminoles" 34-13.

The "Terriers" brought one of the most balanced attacks ever witnessed in Municipal Stadium to play on the errors of the Sanford squad.

Ronnie Huggins, the Titusville quarterback, proved his ability to pass and run as he tossed nine bombs for a total of 252 yards. "Huggins is what every coach dreams of having for a signal caller," stated "Terrier" mentor, Jack O'Brien.

The powerful Titusville eleven scored the most points which have been registered against the "Seminoles" since 1956.

After the Sanford squad forced a Titusville fumble they were stalled on the next series of plays and punted.

Titusville drew first blood as they marched to paydirt from their own 35-yard stripe in seven plays. The initial score came as Huggins flipped a 10-yard pass to Wayne Drummond as he stepped across the goal line. The PAT was blocked.

The "Seminoles" started to move into Titusville territory, but were halted when Bob Lundquist, the Sanford quarterback, fumbled and the alert "Terrier" defense recovered. Again Huggins put his rugged offense in gear as the team moved in three short plays highlighted by the beautiful running of Frank Hardy to paydirt. The TD occurred when Huggins flipped a 24-yard pass to Phil Edwards who skipped across the goal stripe. The PAT was good and the "Terriers" moved to a 13-0 advantage with 1:29 left in the first period.

Skip Senkarik got the Seminoles moving from their own 33 by handing off to Mett Morgan who moved the ball 16 yards on a series of running plays. The drive was climaxed when Senkarik flipped a pass to Bill Bracken which went for 48 yards and a T.D. PAT failed.

With 7:05 left in the fourth quarter the "Seminoles" finally came to life when Greg Petcher recovered a Titusville fumble on the "Terrier" seven-yard stripe. Lundquist scored on a three-yard keeper play. Fred Weber kicked the PAT.

SEEMS LIKE THERE . . . was always a 'Terrier' in the way on Friday night. Bobby Lundquist (10) of Sanford found this out as he was tackled shortly after this picture was taken by (82) Chip Everhart.

Crooms Panthers Beaten By Ocala

By BOB THOMAS
Sports Staff

Howard High's Wild Bulls of Ocala retained their hex over Crooms High Saturday night, defeating the Panthers by a score of 18-0.

Crooms failed to make a first down following the opening kick-off. A poor kick gave Ocala good field position, on the Bull's first play from scrimmage, Mitchell Morand threw a 33 yard scoring pass to Preston Bussey. Vern Williams' try for point after was wide.

Following the kick-off, Ron Merthie hit Emory Blake with a 12 yard pass for a first down. However, the Panthers drive was stalled as George Gordon fumbled on the next play. Howard took over on Crooms' 45 yard stripe. Quarterback Mitchell Morand combined with Horace Hargrove with a 30 yard pass. Moments later, Ken Harrington circled his right end, and scored on a 15 yard center.

Late in the third period, Johnny Hunt of the Bulls' vaunted defense, pounced on a fumble by Ernie Berry. Three plays later, Preston Bussey went 21 yards to close out the scoring.

The boys from Pantherland played a fine defensive game. However, they made a few mistakes.

Regino Alexander led the Panther defense as he made several fine defensive plays. Other fine individual performances were by: Emory Blake, Ralph Tillmas, David Henderson, Clyde Stevens, and Bernie Mitchell. George Gordon took a touchdown from Ocala when he knocked the ball from an intended Bulls receiver.

Success Story

WASHINGTON, Mo. (AP) — For Ray Degreeff of Washington, the 1967 baseball season was long and confusing, but successful.

DeGreeff, athletic director at St. Francis Borgia High School, managed or coached five different teams between March and August.

Golf Includes Poker Hand At Mayfair C.C.

The Wednesday golf activities for ladies of Mayfair Country Club saw three teams tied for first place in the Two Ball, Best Ball, one-half handicap event. Vivian Pierce-Jane McKibbin, Jo McDaniel-Suzy Dickey, and Cathy Tathum-Suzy Dickey all tied at 34.

The Best Poker Hand was the feature of the Thursday Twilight Golf League. Tricia Stenstrom, Ada O'Nell, Verne Smith, Dot Powell, and Ellen Betts all tied with five fours on their score cards, good not only for poker, but golf as well.

The Mystery Tournament was won by Ann Marsh and Dot Bateman, with Myrtle Adams, Blanche Nicely, Suzy Dickey and Frances Phillips placing. The Tee to Gree, Tournament was captured by Ellen Betts, with Verne Smith, Dot Powell, Zoie Cooke and Vivian Pierce placing.

All women of Mayfair are asked to sign up for the Shotgun Tournament. It will be the first event of S.W.G.A. for the 1967-68 year, and the gun goes off at 9 a. m. on Wednesday, September 27, with luncheon and the business meeting immediately following golf.

Mike Blatt's picture on the front cover of the 1967 Florida State Football Handbook was not an idle choice. Coach Bill Peterson calls this hard-nosed Seminole the best linebacker in the South and the 205-pound senior will be out to prove it's not a weak threat.

They're Bunched-Up Again

Senators Dump Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Hank Allen cracked a three - run homer and Frank Bertaina shut out Detroit on seven hits as the Washington Senators toppled the American League leading Tigers 5-0 Sunday.

Bertaina was often in trouble but threw strikeout pitches to escape from the deepest jams in running his record to 6-5.

Chicago Blanks Twins

CHICAGO (AP)—Southpaw Gary Peters, backed by the slugging of Ken Berry, hurled the surging Chicago White Sox within one-half game of the American League Sunday with a 44-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Peters limited the Twins to four hits as he posted his 16th victory against nine losses and led the White Sox back into second place in the four-cornered pennant chase.

The White Sox, who have reeled off five-straight victories, including a three-game sweep of Minnesota, are one-half game in front of the Twins and the Boston Red Sox, who were beaten by Baltimore 5-2. First place Detroit, meanwhile, was upended by Washington 5-0.

Cardinals Clinch Tie For Pennant

CINCINNATI (AP) — St. Louis' rampaging Cardinals clinched a tie for the National League pennant Sunday when they defeated the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and second place San Francisco lost to Pittsburgh 5-4.

Julian Javier drove in a pair of fourth inning runs with a single as the Cards cut the magic number for wrapping up the pennant to one. They led the league by 12½ games with 13 left to play.

The runaway league leaders came from behind with a three-run burst in the fourth for their third straight victory over the Reds.

But Bob Tolan doubled off Jim Maloney to open the Cards' fourth and Roger Maris walked. Mike Shannon doubled one run home and Javier then stroked a two-run single to left.

New Secretary

Archer, who retired April 1 from the National AAU as secretary, was appointed at the annual state convention being held here. He succeeds Amos Smith of Clearwater.

New officers elected were Nathan Mallison of Jacksonville; Robert Mills, Orlando and Charles Wood, Fort Myers vice presidents; Ward Stanton St. Petersburg, secretary and treasurer.

Tennessee Beaten By UCLA 20-16

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA and Gary Beban had just enough to hold off Tennessee as expected—while Southern Methodist and Jerry Levias turned in a thrilling, last-gasp upset of Texas A&M as the highlights of the first big weekend of the college season.

Beban's 27-yard roll out for a touchdown in the last quarter brought the Bruins, ranked No. in The Associated Press preseason poll, a 20-16 comeback victory over Tennessee, No. 9, in a late Saturday night game on the West Coast.

Southern California, ranked seventh, opened with a 49-0 rout of Washington State Friday night. The rest of the nationally ranked teams, including Notre Dame, Alabama and Michigan State, Nos. 1-2-3, wait until next Saturday to get under way.

A national television audience saw the Aggies come flashing back from a 13-10 deficit and take a 17-13 lead an a pass from Edd Hargett to Bob Long with only 43 seconds left in the game.

Undaunted, the tiny Perez started SMU back, whipping the Mustangs over a 58-yard march as the clock ticked away, then finding the elusive Levias with the winning toss with only four seconds remaining.

In some of the other major games, Duke whipped Wake Forest 31-13 and North Carolina State took North Carolina 13-7 in a doubleheader at Raleigh, N. C., California beat Oregon 21-13, Nebraska held off Washington 17-7, and Oregon struggled to a 13-7 decision over Stanford.

The top game, however, was the Tennessee-UCLA clash. And it went just according to the script—Beban and Dewey Warren of Tennessee locking in a duel of outstanding quarterbacks and UCLA having the best of the rest.

Beban scored both Bruin touchdowns, the first on a five-yard run, and the winner on spectacular roll out with four minutes left. Gregg Jones of UCLA rushed for 135 yards in 16 carries and was named the game's outstanding player.

Jim Donnan hit Barry Martell with a 55-yard touchdown pass for the winning margin in North Carolina State's victory over arch rival North Carolina, while Duke ground out a solid decision over Wake Forest on the running and passing of Al Woodall.

Interceptions by Bobby Smith and Irby Augustine were the key plays in California's victory over Oregon. The Dukes had a 13-7 lead before Smith set up a touchdown with his interception and Augustine clinched it with his theft, returning it 14 yards for a touchdown.

Sports In Brief

Champ's Desire

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Don January won the 1967 PGA championship, but he wishes it had been the US Open or the Masters.

"Every player has his heart set on winning one of the Big Four events," says January, a Texan. "I'm tickled to be PGA champion, but I always have had a secret desire to win the Open or the Masters."

Stars Return

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Three recent visitors to the United States Naval Academy were Lts. (jg) Roger Staubach, Pat Donnelly and Ed (Skip) Orr, three-fourths of Navy's 1964 Sugar Bowl backfield.

Staubach was getting ready to report to the Pensacola, Fla. Naval Air Station. Donnelly plans graduate studies at MIT and Orr is stationed at the Patuxent, Md. Naval Air Station.

Son Watcher

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Lt. Joe Tranchini, who played for Navy teams from 1957-59, will get a chance to see the Midshipman who may break his football records this season.

Tranchini is currently assigned to the U.S. Naval Academy's science department. Likely record breaker is quarterback John Cartwright.

Touchy Fellow

"You can pick it up," the pro told the 25-handicap golfer who was on the green in seven strokes. "We have a couple of guys who will get par for the team."

Petty Collects Again

It was Petty's eighth victory in a row and 73rd career win. The $1,500 first place money boosted his earnings this year to $117,000.

Petty, suffering from a virus, led the race from the 80th lap. He had trailed by a mile early in the race when he had to stop to have mud cleaned from the windshield of the his 1967 Plymouth.

Finishing second was Dick Hutcherson in a Ford. Third was Buddy Baker in a Dodge and fourth was James Hylton in a 1965 Dodge.

Fifth was G. C. Spencer in a 1966 Plymouth. Rounding out the top 10 were Elmo Langley, Bobby Allison, Bob Cooper, John Sears and Clyde Lynn.

Two drivers, Jack Hardin and Paul Dean, demolished their cars in separate wrecks. Both escaped serious injury.

VETERANS like Johnny Unitas, Baltimore Colts quarterback, can make opening games disastrous for opponents. ". . . the danger of opening games," said Fran Tarkenton, "is that they can ruin your season."

Johnny Does It Again!

Unitas Sets Record In 38-31 Win

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Johnny Unitas broke his own club record, passing 401 yards, to lead the Baltimore Colts to a 38-31 victory over the Atlanta Falcons Sunday before 56,715 fans.

Unitas completed 23 of 32 passes for the 401 yards, breaking his club record of 397 yards against Cleveland Nov. 1, 1959.

The Colts piled up a 31-7 in the first half but scored only once on a 10-yard off-tackle run by Tom Matte in the second half as the Falcons stormed back with 24 points.

Unitas set up two touchdowns in the second quarter with short passing. From the Volts' 244 Unitas passed to Jimmy Orr at the 42. After a three-yard gain on a run, Unitas tossed a 55-yard bomb to Orr. He also set up a three-yard TD plunge by Tony Lorick with passes to John Mackey.

With seven minutes left in the half, Orr suffered a shoulder dislocation and was taken to Union Memorial Hospital for examination. It is not known how long he will be out.

Miami Wins, Griese Strikes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bob Griese, thrust by misfortune into the number one quarterback spot on the Miami Dolphins, led them to a 35-21 victory over the Denver Broncos in their American Football League opener Sunday.

Griese, a poised and fearless youngster, moved into command just four minutes after the action started when John Stofa went down under a vicious blitz by the Broncos, his ankle broken and his knee sprained.

Denver intercepted a Griese pass and recovered a Griese fumble to score twice as they fought the Dophins to a 21-21 deadlock in the fourth period.

But the Purdue rookie showed a great passing arm as he hit Joe Auer with a 68-yard bomb and Sam Price with a 27-yard scoring pass. And when it was over, Miami had racked up a total offense yardage of 446, beating its old mark of 417.

Once cut by Miami, Stofa was brought back and given his chance when injuries sidelined the entire quarterback contingent last season.

Stofa was to undergo an operation Monday and will be out at least two months.

The loss was Denver's second in three league games.

Archer Falters

Dan Sikes Takes Crown

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dan Sikes, the golfing attorney from Jacksonville, charged from behind to pick up five strokes on George Archer on the front nine Sunday and then went on to win the $110,000 Philadelphia Classic by two strokes with a 72-hole total of 276.

BILLY CASPER

Sikes was four strokes behind Archer, the third round leader, when he started the round but fired a two-under-par 34 on the front nine while Archer blew to a 39.

That gave Archer a one-stroke lead and both golfers parred the first four holes on the back nine. But the match was decided for all practical purposes on the 14th hole when Sikes chipped in from 25 feet away for a birdie while Archer had a bogey.

Sikes went on to finish with a four-under-par 68 for his 276 while Archer wound up at 278 by shooting a 72 on the par-72, 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course. The victory was worth $22,000 to Sikes, boosting him over the $110,000 mark in official earning this year.

Billy Casper, playing with Sikes, made a brief run at him on the back nine but finished with a two-under-par 70 to tie Mason Rudolph and Bob Charles at 280.

Sikes' second birdie on the back nine was on the par-5 17th when his 60-foot birdie putt for an eagle stopped inches away and left him with a birdie tap-in.

It was Sikes' second victory on the professional golf tour this year with the first one coming in his home town of Jacksonville.

Hi Nooners Have Balmer Motors Leading

Balmer Motors has gone through two weeks of competition in the Wednesday afternoon women's Hi Nooners's Bowling League at Jet Lanes with only one loss charged to its record.

Leading the pack with a 7 and 1 log, the foursome of Betty Waltman, Bonnie Werley, Lillian Balmer and Mary Pyle is closely pursued by Ranch Hou of Sanford, 6 and 2.

There's a three-way tie for third place among Gehr Realty of Lake Mary, Women of the Moose No. 2 and another one of the many Lake Mary sponsors in this league, Lake Mary Amoco with records of 5 and 3.

In the action this past Wednesday, Libbie Whitehead of the Stenstrom Realty team, bowled a 192, 193-537 series in helping her team to an even split with Gehr Realty.

Shoemaker Construction took all four from the number one team, Women of the Moose as Marge Petersen bowled a 186-501. Lenore Price's 176 and Doris Gandy's 172 were high in a losing cause.

Sis's Snack Bar, another Lake Mary sponsor, had its member Agnes Butcher topple a 195, but it wasn't enough as they dropped all four points to Ranch House, Sanford. Judy Bennett rolled a 178 for the winners.

Gates IGA Food Mart and the Lake Mary Amoco were charitable to one another without either team producing an unusually high game for the afternoon.

America's Cup Races Delayed

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — Heavy fog Sunday forced postponement of the fourth America's Cup yacht race until Monday.

U. S. cup defender Intrepid, which leads the best-of-seven series 3-0, and challenger Dame Pattie of Australia both had left their docks and headed for the site of the races on Rhode Island Sound, along with a fleet of about 200 spectator boats.

Fog made its appearance in Newport during the night, but forecasts were that it would clear in time to permit the race. However, the yachts and the spectators hardly had reached the sound when the fog began to roll in again heavier than before and forced the postponement.

The first three races were held last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Friday was a day off and winds associated with Hurricane Doria forced a postponement on Saturday.

Oddly, at the time fog closed in on the boats, the sun was shining brightly in the town of Newport just a few miles away.

Panthers Strong

Orlando has shown early strength in the Continental League after four weeks of play, but surprising Wheeling ran its record to 3-1 with a 28-21 defeat of Akron Sunday night.

Orlando's Panthers drubbed Montreal 45-14 Saturday night for their fourth win in as many starts.

The Florida entry cashed in on the golden arm of quarterback Don Jonas who threw five scoring aerials and added three more points with a 40-yard field goal.

Wheeling's ironmen lost everywhere except in the scoring column. The ironmen didn't prove exactly that while allowing Akron 406 total yards, but managed to convert two blocked kicks into scores.

Pro Football Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's Gale Sayers carried the ball from scrimmage seven times, but he didn't carry it very far in experiencing the worst day of his pro career.

Bart Starr lost the ball on interceptions four times in the first half—he threw just three inteceptions all of last season—but then found the target and helped save the Green Bay Packers from a stunning loss.

Unitas completed 23 of 32 passes for a club record 401 yards and Bobby Boyd won the game ball by intercepting two passes, one for a touchdown, as Baltimore held off Atlanta 38-31; Sayers gained just two yards as Chicago was trounced 41-13 by Pittsburgh, and Starr set up a touchdown and field goal with passes as the defending champion salvaged a 17-17 tie with Detroit.

In other NFL action, Los Angeles got past New Orleans 27-13, Philadelphia topped Washington 35-24, San Francisco outlasted Minnesota 27-21, Dallas beat Cleveland 21-14 and the New York Giants upset St. Louis 37-20.

Houston stopped Buffalo 20-3, Oakland trounced Boston 35-7 and Miami drubbed Denver 35-21 in the American Football League.

Unitas, who completed 11 of 15 passes for 255 yards in the first half, combined with Tom Mattee on an 88-yard TD pass play on the first play from scrimmage and also hit Jimmy Orr on a 55-yard scoring strike as the Colts built up a 31-7 lead at intermission.

Matt Snell has gained 1,003 yards on passes and 2,355 yards on rushes during his three seasons with the New York Jets.

Selective Service News

Q— I am an alien doctor 32 years of age, who has been in this country for 3 years. My Selective Service classification was recently changed from V-A to I-A. Why was that action taken?

A— You were originally placed in Class V-A under the law then in effect because you were over 26 years of age when you registered with Selective Service and because your liability had not been extended to age 35 by virtue of a previous deferment. The recently enacted Military Selective Service Act of 1967 provides that any person who is in a medical, dental or allied specialist category, as in your case, shall be liable for registration, training and service until age 35. In view of this you were reclassified because you were no longer eligible for Class V-A.

* * *

Q— What is the length of active service of a registrant who volunteers for induction?

A— The same as for the nonvolunteer inductee which is twenty-four consecutive months unless sooner released, transferred or discharged.

* * *

Q— I recently moved from Illinois to San Francisco. How do I go about changing my local board to one in the vicinity of my current residence?

A— The local board having jurisdiction over your place of residence at the time you registered will always be your local board of jurisdiction. You may, however, request transfer for physical examination or for induction by contacting the local board near your present address.

Layer Speaks

Current teacher "crisis" was explained by William Layer, Seminole County Teachers Association president, at initial meeting of the school year of West Side-Grammar School PTO.

Principal Frances Walton introduced faculty members. After room visitation and a business session, members heard sixth grade students of Mrs. Mary Nichols present a patriotic musical program.

Litterbugs are not a modern phenomenon. Archeologists report that when an ancient ship took shelter in a bay the crew strewed the sea floor with pottery sherds, broken weapons and tools.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

what to call their in-laws except, "my in-laws."

Would it kill a girl to call the mother and father of her husband "Mom and Pop" like her husband does?

I don't go around looking for things to get mad at, but it just burns me up to be called "the in-laws."

JUST AN IN-LAW

DEAR [illegible]: Many brides are unable to call their in-laws "Mom and Pop" without feeling some disloyalty to their own Moms and Pops. But there is always "Mother Mary" or "Mother Jones." Don't smolder in silence. Ask your son's wife to call you anything except an "in-law."

DEAR ABBY: Surely you, of all people, who have never condoned cheating in any form, have not joined the [illegible]

so he walked home. Your reply indicated that you completely overlooked the fact that a very important principle was involved. That father was clearly helping himself to a service provided by the telephone company without paying for it. This is stealing as surely as if he had walked into their offices and robbed their safe.

Abby, my children read you faithfully, so please put a follow-up in your column to assure your readers that you do not approve of this sort of chiseling.

I do not own any stock in AT&T but I wish I did.

ARCADIA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you and the hundreds of other sharp-eyed readers who called to my attention something I blushingly admit I overlooked.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HOPEFUL PARENTS: If the two young people do not have sufficient maturity to handle the responsibilities of married life, don't expect marriage to help them mature.

"Confidential" Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I hope some reader can tell me how to remove glue [illegible] glass [illegible] only made it worse. — MARY

DEAR POLLY — The plastic caps on the bottom of the legs to my kitchen chairs were making scratch marks on the linoleum. I solved this by crocheting small caps out of wool in a color that corresponds with the floor and furniture. — ROSE

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. [illegible] J. could wrap a strip of masking tape around her hand, sticky side out, and pat it over the velvet on the sofa and any lint or fuzz will stick to it. She may have to use several strips before finishing the chore, but the tape is inexpensive. — JO

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell the lady who has trouble with lint clinging to a velvet sofa that in our decorating shop we use a commercial-sized lint remover roller that is similar to the smaller size used for clothing. The problem of feathers poking through the cover can only be solved by having new down-proof cases made for the cushions. — CATHERINE work of a scarf which elicited the admiration of her friends. She called it "Fern" because of the kind of leaf pattern. She took it to the most important stores in New York. "Here," she says, "I needed promotion to buy fabrics and set up the place for 'Doro Designs.' After seeing the charming ways to wear 'Fern' and other separate scarves, I decided to... a career woman could go to Europe with two dresses, a coat and Doro scarves and get different looks as well as set and accessorize every day of her visit."

Doro loves antiques and runs the antique shop. She has two magnificent Regency chests. "I found them by accident," she says. "I bought one, got home and then called the shop and said, send both."

Besides the array of magnificently colored scarves there are Doro designed capes, designed and colorful raiments. At the party, Doro wore an ostrich plume coat in champagne mounted on softest chiffon, and just short enough to be stunning.

This is an example of what women are doing. A creative career is possible and ideas can come for a whole new career.

Horoscope Forecast

Tuesday, September 19, 1967

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early day finds you able to quickly place a new arrangement in effect with much vitality but as the day wears on, it becomes heavier and heavier and one's spirits are all too apt to sag, so be sure that you do make a special point to carry through with essential duties and then get plenty of rest.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Getting obligations out of the way early is wise so that you can later get out to pleasant recreation with persons you like. Get more rest than you usually do. You need to build up your energy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Show ingenuity in ridding yourself of certain anxieties that have been bothering you greatly, and then try to help others as well. Don't be forceful with anyone. Experts are not ready yet to give you advice you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Concentrate upon how to get a good pal to go along with your ideas early in A.M. Carry through well and avoid social matters later. You may not be certain of certain matters yet [illegible]

Highlights

8-9 p.m. (NBC) The Man From U.N.C.L.E. "The [illegible] Affair" (Color). The title role is played by guest star Christopher Jones, as Greg Martin, a bright young man who has been raised from birth to be the perfect Thrush killer. Dr. Claus Stoller (Paul Lukas), his mentor, sends him on his first trial assignment: to destroy the entire town of Antinos in Greece. The action jumps from Mexico to Austria to Greece, as the men from U.N.C.L.E. are joined in their chase by a pretty young tourist Christina Hobson (guest star Lynn Loring), who thinks Greg is quite a dish. Well played all around.

TV Time Previews

10-11 p.m. (CBS) The Carol Burnett Show (Color). More Sid Caesar, when he joins Liza Minelli as guest star on this zany show. He does a fine take-off of Leonard Nimoy as Star Trek's Dr. Spock, with Carol playing a robot, and also appears with her in a spoof of the Ziegfeld Follies. Liza offers several songs, but the show tends to drag when Carol trots out her sketch as Carol Bradford, the guardians of a teenage sister (series regular Vicki Lawrence).

10-11 p.m. (NBC) I Spy "The Beautiful Children" (Color). Scott and Kelly take off for the hills of Greece in tonight's episode, when they are sent to escort to safety a Greek patriot Andreas (Paris Alexander), whose identity is about to be uncovered. Andreas has been helping young Greeks to escape through the Iron Curtain, but when our boys, with the help of Zarkas and Charambolis (Harold J. Stone and Eduardo Cianelli), try to get Andreas out, he refuses to leave. A pleasure to see old pros Stone and Cianelli working together.

Brazil Signs Tax Treaty

CHICAGO (AP) — Brazil has become the first South American nation to sign a tax treaty with the United States.

The Brazil-U.S. treaty brings to 2? the number of bilateral tax agreements, Commerce Clearing House said.

The treaties protect taxpayers with international interests from double taxation in foreign countries. Such treaties have existed since 1932 when France and the U.S. exchanged ratification.

The principles involved hinge on the source of income, the taxpayer's nationality and his residence. The two nations agree that only one of them will serve as the taxing base.

"Candid Chatter"

By DORIS WILLIAMS

CHRIS HARWARD, formerly of Sanford and a 1967 magna cum laude graduate of Brigham Young University, has returned to Austria for the second time.

The attractive coed, daughter of Mrs. Bernadean Moldenhauer, of Idaho, and the late Cdr. P. S. Harward, U.S.N., who was killed near Lake Mary in a test flight crash, attended Sanford Junior High School and Seminole High School during the time the family lived in Sanford, from 1957 to 1961.

Two years ago she went to Salzburg with the BYU Residence Program for a semester of study. She has returned to Austria for the LDS Church.

Miss Harward attended BYU for four years on scholarship and during the past spring semester, she taught two education classes as an undergraduate assistant.

Of a class of 2,462, she was one of 31 to be graduated magna cum laude and one of nine to be graduated with highest honors from the honors program.

She was noted for outstanding scholarship, meritorious performance in teaching by the College of Education and was one of two student speakers at the College's convocation exercises.

To all ears: RETIRED OFFICERS' WIVES, MRS. W. I. (FLO) BRISTOL invites you to participate in activities within the Central Florida group.

Flo is Sanford publicity chairman and is anxious to know how many of you are residing in the area. Call her for info regarding the club.

To DR. TROY OVERSTREET—My feelings are shattered; my tail feathers ruffled and my ego completely pulverized that I was not invited to the pompous ceremonial when your two prize BULLS arrived via air-conditioned van no less, last week from Texas.

At long last, your priceless young heifers have some play boys to keep them company and won't have to roam lest greener pastures.

Our Herald bosses, MR. AND MRS. WALTER A. GIELOW, have returned from a much needed beach retreat where they luxuriated in doing exactly NOTHING.

Employees were greeting unusually long faces about Thursday but when Mrs. G. appeared on the scene that afternoon and started on Friday's payroll all faces lighted up like new moons.

ABBY AND BLANTON OWEN have returned from a trip to Alaska where they spent two weeks exploring the vast cold country. Their plans were to remain for at least two more weeks, but due to hazardous flood conditions, they "got outta there fast" just 15 minutes before flood waters reached their hotel site.

Abbo says that the Eskimos, penguins and gold miners can have that neck of the woods — in fact, she doesn't care who claims the great state—just as long as it isn't willed to her.

South Seminole Jaycettes recently walked off with third place honors in a club women's contest sponsored by another newspaper for outstanding achievements among Central Florida's club women.

A bird friend of L. V.'s famous intellectual sparrow, confided that near chaos developed when some 40 club women were posed on a still escalator for pictures. It seems the escalator slipped and fashionably attired clubbers were piled in a heap at the foot of the escalator.

TO ALL NAVY WIVES — HELP! It is very difficult for me to decipher your handwritten notes, particularly names. PLEASE, PLEASE print all names so that I can be accurate. NOBODY, but nobody likes their name misspelled.

Speaking of the Navy, Lt. Cdr. HENRY LAWSON and LT. RUSS GERMAIN FRIDAY were honored recently at a farewell party at Mayfair Country Club by officers of RVAH-6.

CO CDR CHARLES SMITH bid farewell to the officers, who have served long tours with the squadron.

Lt. Cdr. Lawson is retiring after 26 years searvice and his wife, GLORIA, and two children will make their home in Jacksonville.

Lt. Germain has since been transferred to RVAH-6.

SHEILA ROBERTS reports a most constructive and interesting all-day confab last week of the board of directors for Florida State Association of Parliamentarians at the Cherry Plaza in Orlando.

Two other Seminole Countians attending the afternoon lectures were MRS. RALPH AUSTIN SMITH and MRS. JANE ADRIATICO.

NORMA HUNTER was hostess to the monthly meeting for RVAH-6 Officers Wives. Welcomed aboard were MARCIA FOY, PAT TURLEY, JANE McFADDEN and guest, MARY HANNEGAN.

PATSY AND JOHN WURTZ were recent hosts at their Jefferson Avenue home to a dinner party honoring MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND LOCKE of South Plainfield, N. J., who were visiting with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Waters, Sr.

Other dinner guests were MR. AND MRS. W. L. LOCKE and MR. and MRS. D. C. GRIFFIN.

Pats stated she has entertained more during the past few months than ever before in her life and love every minute of it.

TO JUSTINE LEE — The Cookbook from you, WSCS and Wesleyan Service Guild of First

CHRIS HARWARD

Methodist Church is a delight. Your "Burnt Offerings" are fascinating and how you have plenty of copies on hand for anxious homemakers who have examined the book.

TO LUCILLE APPLEBY — Your magnificent roses brought loads of cheer to one miserable daughter while she was confined to Florida Sanitarium for oral surgery.

TO MAMMAS with their grades through Junior High School — An organizational meeting for junior gardeners will take place Friday, Sept. 22, at 3 p.m. (or shortly after school) at the Garden Center in Sanford Estates.

All interested young people are invited to attend. The group is designed to direct busy minds and hands towards creativity.

The uniforms consist of Navy skirts, a Navy blazer, a rocky Navy hat piped in gold, and white blouses bearing a gold name-plate pin and gold emblems on the sleeves.

Memo To MR. V. FROM PERSNICKETY PEN-PAL — An inmate, patient, resident or what have you was sitting on the edge of the bed at the "funny farm" when a truck stopped and asked directions, which the patient obligingly gave.

MISS JEAN ELIZABETH ANN MASTERS

Masters-Gregory

Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Masters of Osteen announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jean Elizabeth Ann, to Gary W. Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt W. Gregory of Tignal, Ga.

The bride-elect was graduated from Seminole High School, Sanford in 1964, attended Tift College and was graduated from Jones College, Jacksonville. She was President of Alpha Iota Sorority and Dorm Counselor and received a citizenship award upon graduation. She is now employed by the State of Georgia in the Educational Television System in Atlanta.

STREET FOILS CUPID

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — City officials have received an unusual kind of a complaint about the conditions of the streets in one part of St. Joseph. A woman wrote that the city streets were "hampering her romance. She said her own street is in such poor condition that her boy friend has refused to drive his new car to her home.

Fashion Show Highlights Women's Club Confab

The September meeting of All Souls Catholic Women's Club was a combined "Your Hat Dinner and a "Crazy Dress Fashion Show." Serving on the committee for the social event were Evelyn Serrano and Sue Cevenini.

The [illegible] were overlaid with polka-dot net and centered with vases each containing a single rose. Members and their husbands enjoyed the dinner served smorgasbord style.

Highlight of the evening was the fashion show. Keeping things rolling with the snappy patter was commentator Rita Bone. With no idea what would emerge from the models would be wearing, Rita, always the pro, delighted the audience with her quick wit and ad libbing.

After pretending at sewing, Rita thought the show would be a flop. Then she discovered the commentator removed a jewel-Kelly green fanlike formal coat and displayed a four-sack dress with 100 pockets in large letters. Since Rita weighs more than that it fit her like a glove.

Juniper were Jan and Faye Sisler and Dick Evans. Winners were Margie Callegari, the craziest dress, made of palm fronds, monkeys and bananas. Mildred Derrenbecker, prettiest dress, a Spanish senorita red ensemble complete with black lace mantilla and castanets and Evelyn D. Mattio, the most original outfit, a clothespin bag dress with clothespins and line.

Other honorable mentions [illegible]

If your family's favorites are different pies, you can make two pies in one. Do this by rolling out two pie crusts. Line the pie tin with one crust, add prepared fruit only on one side, fold crust back over and crimp. Do the same with the other crust, using another kind of fruit filling.

We The Women:

By Betty Canary

Isn't it amazing the way people will search you out in order to spread the word? Most of us have at least one friend who wastes no time in letting us in on a good thing.

Now just this afternoon I was sitting and minding my own business. I wasn't doing anything important, understand, but I wasn't bothering anybody. What I was doing was trying to learn how to say "Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year" in Dutch and Hungarian. "Prettige Kerstdagen en een gelukkig Nieuwjaar!" I was reciting. "Kellemes karacsonyt es boldog unevet!"

The phone ran and my Aunt Velma said, "Have I got wonderful news for you!"

"You know how to pronounce 'karacsonyt'!" I said.

"I knew it! You have a cigarette cough! Well, I have just read where a gentleman in Beaver Falls, Pa., has invented an artificial cigarette. The thing tastes like vegetable soup and you get all the manipulatory goodies one gets holding a regular cigarette, but none of the baddies from smoking it!"

Well, I don't want to smoke this thing but I wouldn't mind getting in on the ad writing campaign. However, I really doubt anybody can sell people on the idea that chicken noodle tasters would rather light than switch and I don't know how convincing a man would be suggesting we all come out to Minestrone country. Of course I did not say this to Aunt Velma because she doesn't kid around when she is helping me.

The other day she helped me by pushing our brand-new grill out to the alley after reading that barbecued meats might be injurious to our health.

I still haven't had the heart to tell her that we still eat eggs for breakfast after she spent all that time describing in detail about cholestrol, and it is difficult hiding the butter and cream when she visits, but we try.

I did put my foot down when she wanted us to give up eating salt and we still do this right out in the open. Also, I still peel potatoes and I cook vegetables

RVAH-7 Officers Wives Meet For Monthly Coffee

The hostesses served an assortment of miniature donuts, rolls, coffee rings, pastries, coffee and punch during the business meeting which was conducted by Beta Ryan, wife of the squadron commanding officer.

Dot Hamrick reminded all wives of the NOWC Masquerade Ball, Sept. 29, at Orlando Air Force Base Officers Club and showed cookbooks which are now available.

Delsea Hassell, who will soon be leaving for Washington, D.C. with her husband and son, was presented with a silver dish as a farewell memento.

Wives Host Film Showing At SNAS

RVAH-8 Enlisted Wives and the C.P.O. Wives were hostesses, Sept. 7, to over a hundred guests aboard Sanford Naval Air Station.

Lcdr. T. E. White of RVAH-8, who helped arrange the program, welcomed the guests and introduced Lt. Steve McBride, P.I.O. Officer from Albany, Ga. who presented slides of the Naval Air Station there and conducted a question and answer discussion.

Cdr. Robert Lovelace and Cdr. L. J. Perkins, both of Attack Wing 1, assisted Lt. McBride in presenting pertinent information on Albany.

Refreshments of coffee, iced tea and an assortment of pastries were served by the hostesses.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER CLIFTON BROWN

Miss Bergeron Bride Of W. C. Brown

Miss Sheila Irene Bergeron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurier A. Bergeron Sr., of Sanford, and Walter Clifton Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Brown, also of this city, were united in Holy Matrimony, Sept. 1, 1967, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. B. H. Griffin was the officiating clergyman at the candlelight and double ring ceremony before the altar accented with two standard baskets of carnations, glads and pom poms.

Mrs. Linda House attended her sister as matron of honor, attired in a sleeveless gown of lilac silk brocade, fashioned along the Empire silhouette.

Following a wedding trip to the Florida East Coast, the newlyweds are residing at 112 Country Club Rd., Sanford.

Attending the wedding were the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Louise Chevoinard, the bridegroom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Carrie Brown, both of Sanford, and the bridegroom's maternal grandmother from Canton, Miss.

Other out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Delton Parker of Orlando and Rev. and Mrs. Gail Smith and sons, Robin and David, of Titusville.

Garden Circles

HIBISCUS CIRCLE

Hibiscus Circle of Sanford Garden Club held its first meeting of the fall season at the Garden Center, Sept. 8, with a covered dish luncheon. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. R. L. Dann, Mrs. J. P. Thurmond and Mrs. John E. Fox.

The buffet table held an arrangement of fruit in a white compote, carrying out the design on the napkins. Small tables held center arrangements of feather fern and gloriosa.

Mrs. Gordon Brisson, president, conducted the business session which followed the luncheon. Her first item of business was the presentation to the circle of a beautiful walnut gavel inscribed "to the Hibiscus Circle from Jessie Brisson," for which the circle was surprised and delighted. She gave the report of the board meeting and made announcements.

Reservations were taken for the district workshop to be held in Winter Park at Headquarters, Sept. 26.

An offering was taken to purchase a plant for the Garden for the Blind at Headquarters in Winter Park, as a memorial to Mrs. Roberta Gatchel who had catered so faithfully for the Garden Club so many years.

This project in District Seven will be under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Fahey of the Sanford Club.

Mrs. Donald King, chairman of the November bazaar told of the plans for the bazaar.

Mrs. David Fauver and Mrs. F. D. Grosser turned into the building fund the circle money made during the summer at various white elephant sales and coffees held.

Twenty members enjoyed this delightful meeting.

CAMELLIA CIRCLE

The meeting was conducted by circle president, Mrs. Tom McDonald. Reports were given by all the new committee chairmen.

A newsletter was read from the District VII director Mrs. F. L. Deadruff, III. Camellia Circle is very proud of the new district director as she is one of their members.

Each member of the circle contributed to the fund for the preservation of Corkscrew Swamp Sanctuary in Collier County. This area contains the country's largest remaining stand of virgin bald cypress. Some of the trees in the area are over 700 years old.

At the conclusion of the business session, the program was given by Mrs. C. C. Brusstle and Mrs. J. Harold Chapman. Mrs. Brusstle spoke to the group on the different methods of propagation. Tips on growing Adiantum were given by Mrs. Chapman.

Those enjoying the meeting and delightful luncheon were Mrs. Flamm, Mrs. Woodall, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. Brusstle, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Karl Lee, Mrs. P. J. Philips, Mrs. Vernon Hardin, Mrs. Robert F. Graham, Mrs. Louis Temple, Mrs. W. L. Grankow, Jr., and Mrs. Gary Hudgins.

Bear Lake Personals

By MARYANN MILES

Mrs. Vernon L. Gleaves of Glenca Morro Rancho, has returned home from a trip to Chicago and Kentucky Lake.

While in Chicago, she visited her son's family, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. W. Gleaves, and youngsters, Jimmy, Carolyn, Patricia and Billy.

Mrs. Gleaves was also entertained with several parties, which included a dinner party given by Mrs. George Jordan, a luncheon given by Mrs. Gyl Bucher and another dinner party given by Mrs. Roy Lorentz.

Mrs. Gleaves' sister, Mrs. E. J. Jones of Padiicah, Ky., had a week house party at her summer home on Kentucky Lake.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By LARRY VERSHEL

Tax Assessor Max Coberly worked over a year on a reappraisal . . . The city paid him thousands in overtime money . . . He checked some 800 parcels in Sanford (Oh yes, only 20 per cent visually) and what happened last night?

The mayor asked the commission to accept the roll . . . Sonny Raborn made the motion and the mayor was met with a deafening silence when he asked for a second.

* * *

And the mayor asked for a caucus for five minutes and Earl Higginbotham called the revaluation nothing but a "hidden tax" to get $84,000. When the caucus was over the mayor pleaded, begged, implored, appealed, asked, requested, beseeched, petitioned and almost demanded that someone second the motion and Mr. Higginbotham said he would cause "somebody has to stick his neck out" and the tax roll was accepted.

* * *

And the mayor started talking about the drapes at the Civic Center and I got up and left the room . . . Cause I sure didn't want to hear about drapes for a facility that nobody uses — I mean it's bad enough that next month we'll have two locked up swimming pools and a stadium that is used only a few months a year. Right?

* * *

One commissioner wanted to stop fishing along the lakefront from French to Mellonville. "Put up 'no fishin'' signs," he said.

The city manager said, "How will you enforce it?" And we went back to talking about drapes for the Civic Center.

* * *

At about 12:40 this morning after close to five hours of mediation, arbitration, compromise, negotiation, intercession, parley, intervention, interposition and . . . exhaustion

The mayor got his drapes in the budget—

Remember about a month ago this column revealed Supt. of Schools Bill Phillips wanted to hire a public relations secretary? Well, she started work yesterday. We asked the finance director what her salary would be and he said he didn't know.

When the school board holds its millage election in November, they will ask voters to keep it at 6 mills . . . and then next year they start on their bond issue program.

The state has just about agreed to release part of the State Farmers Market property for a Goldsboro Recreation Center . . . Free of charge . . . However, those $2,700 plans drawn up for the facility will be scrapped . . . Too, too expensive.

City Attorney Bill Hutchison filed a motion to quash (or dismiss) that Hickson mandamus action comin' up next week . . . County Commissioner Robert Parker wants to change the name of Little Lake Howell . . . No action . . .

Looking for polling place in County Commissioner John Fitzpatrick's district . . . Upsala Church said "no" . . . Someone suggested John's living room.

City OKs $1 Million Budget

Millage To Stay At 16

The City Commission early this morning added a half of a mill to the general government budget to start the ball rolling for a Goldsboro recreation center and approved a $1,-118,000 budget.

The commission, after meeting for close to five hours, added the half mill but chopped off a half mill from the debt service budget, keeping the tax line the same as last year—16 mills.

Also included in the budget is $12,000 for paving the lot on the lakefront project and sidewalks along the lakefront at a cost of $2,200.

The board also agreed to install new drapes at the Civic Center and cut girls' cultural activities from the recreation department to make up the deficit.

Anticipated revenue of the revised budget is $1,216,000. The budget ordinance is expected to be drawn up at the regular commission meeting Monday night.

Eliminated from the budget are the two city swimming pools, one at Ft. Mellon and one at Goldsboro.

The board cut off $5,000 from the Industrial Board's proposed $20,000 budget although Commissioner Al Wilson, in attempt to cut millage, asked for eliminating the board entirely and letting "the chamber handle industrial prospects."

Voting against the budget was M. L. Raborn, who stressed the city had promised to reduce millage if it raised values.

By keeping the millage at 16, Commissioner Earl Higginbotham and Dr. W. V. Roberts warned "we are facing a rise to three millage hike next year."

"People are demanding services and we are not giving it to them," said Higginbotham.

At the start of the meeting a delegation of Goldsboro residents asked the commission to "recompute that the millage be cut to 15 mills."

He stressed the need for one center for all the youths of Sanford.

Says Reduction Was Promised

City Commissioner M. L. Raborn in a statement to The Herald today chastised the commission for breaking its pledge to the citizens of Sanford.

In a prepared statement, Raborn said:

"In September of last year the Commission agreed to enter into a reappraisal of property and further agreed that any increase in valuations would result in a proportionate roll back of millage.

As have had additional expenditures this year that were not anticipated and, now, not as agreed to the roll back and I feel that we should be overthing so as to reduce the tax and get on that we can keep our pledge.

By reducing items set down properly and monument purchases, not including the items that have been added such as the Industrial Commission, Recreational Center, and commission of the lakefront project, a feel that we can reduce the millage by one mill on general government and a mill on the debt service.

My vote against adopting the proposed budget was due to the fact that we could not be keeping our pledge to reduce millage after the reappraisal."

M. L. RABORN

Hint Legislative Move

Mobile Manor Aid?

Announcing a special session of the Legislature is expected to be called for early November and informing that Senator Kenneth Plante has assured emergency local legislation will be given consideration, Commissioner W. Lawrence Swofford urged the County Commission today to seek legislation to "help the folks in Mobile Manor."

In a wrangle of misunderstanding, among the Board members, Swofford requested that special legislation be sought to permit "compulsory" assessment in special improvement districts where more than 50 per cent of the people have agreed to pay cost of such improvement.

The present law permits the compulsory levy, but does not permit work in a special district to be done on a participation basis with county providing part of the cost of the improvement.

District in question is Mobile Manor where more than half the people have agreed to put up their share of moneys for cost of materials amounting to $28,000 while property owners, not residing in the area, according to Swofford, will not agree to pay their fair share.

Swofford was not able to convince other Board members to his position Commission Chairman John Alexander insisted he would oppose tampering with the special improvement district law currently on the books. Commissioner John Fitzpatrick meanwhile stated, Sanford was not able to convince other Board members to

Auxiliary Policemen Patrolling Casselberry

City of Casselberry is operating with an auxiliary police force today as Mayor Arthur C. Wheatley screens applicants for positions created by five police officers yesterday.

Mayor Wheatley said at noon today he is receiving applications "from all over the state" for the position of police chief, to replace Kenneth Triplett. "We are in no hurry to fill the position," the mayor said.

Meantime, Triplett said he had requested of City Council a hearing to air charges brought by Mayor Wheatley

GARY SWAIM of 147 Country Club Circle has joined the Sanford Police Dept. He formerly was a member of the Casselberry Police Dept. and Sheriff's office.

Monday which "silenced and" the police force.

Triplett said today he had presented evidence at October meeting on last Sunday, effective Sept. 30 but that yesterday Wheatley demanded resignations immediately from him, Lt. Leroy Lee, Sgt. Gary Swaim and Patrolmen Rick Tolley and Robert Corp, or they would face a public hearing on evidence filed by him.

City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh said at noon today that "the Mayor and the City Council are working together to decide what should be done." He stated he had not been directed to take any legal action or conduct an investigation by the city officials.

"The City of Casselberry has complete police protection. Our residents are assured of this protection, wherever and whenever necessary. I am completely overwhelmed with the many offers from our citizens volunteering their services and I am grateful for their confidence in the City of Casselberry and its present officers."

Say 'No' To Palmist

Describing palmistry as "affairs of the circus" and a practice that "would not enhance the image of the county," Commission Chairman John Alexander announced to the Board of County Commissioners this morning he would vote against issuance of a license to practice which had been applied for by Mrs. Catherine Johnson.

The Board on motion by Commissioner W. Lawrence Swofford and second by Commissioner Robert Parker denied approval of the permit.

Carroll Burke, local attorney, appearing on behalf of Mrs. Johnson appealed to the Board, "She has a right to make a living and has met all the legal requirements."

Burke termed a palmist a "poor man's psychiatrist" and insisted to no avail that persons would go to a palmist for advice to help solve their problems when they wouldn't go to a minister or a psychiatrist. "Seminole County is the only county in Central Florida that doesn't have a single licensed palmist," Burke insisted.

No Quorum

Lack of a quorum called for cancellation of the meeting of the Seminole County Board of Adjustment to be held last night and thus delayed action on request of the Town of Altamonte Springs to grant a variance on property southwest of the town to permit construction of sewerage disposal facilities there.

RVAH-5 Group Returns Home

Three Vigilantes of Recon squadron Attack Squadron 5 were scheduled to return to Sanford Naval Air Station this afternoon after a tour of duty aboard the aircraft carrier USS America in the Mediterranean.

Ground crews will return later by bus from Norfolk, Va., where the America is scheduled to dock after her deployment.

Police Probe 2 Breakins

Sanford Police today are investigating two break ins—one at the Church of God at 22nd Street and Holly Avenue and the Seminole Printing Company. Taken from the church was $10 From the printing company, burglars got nine packages of cigarettes. Police Chief Ben Butler reported.

Tax Roll Called 'Unfair' . . . But City Accepts It

CHARLES LOPEZ, Sanford's public works director submitted his resignation today after one year. He gave no reason. His salary was $8,300 annually. Street Supt. Robert Kelly is expected to replace him.

The 1967-68 tax roll was "unfair" but the City Commission by a roll call vote of 4-1 agreed to accept it.

It took the pleading of Mayor Joe Bauer to get the roll accepted after M. L. Raborn bluntly termed the roll "unfair" by comparison with the roll made the motion and Mayor Bauer called for a caucus and, then some 20 minutes later, Earl Higginbotham made the motion to accept the roll as presented although he called the revaluation a "hidden tax" and one way of getting extra $84,000 in revenue.

Baker, in urging the board approve the roll, called the action "ignoring the tax base for Sanford."

Sitting as a board of equalization the commission had heard some 39 complaints and only lowered valuations of four property owners.

Most of the discussion centered around Sanford Plaza, one whose valuations totaled some $782,000 although the purchase price of the property was $1,250,000. The board had asked Tax Assessor Max Coberly to "recompute that figure." Coberly came back last night and said he brought it down to the county figure of $782,000. His figure was $858,-000 because "incomplete construction was figured in" the roll.

One commissioner urged the board to assess on a percentage basis but, according to the mayor, that would mean doing the same thing to all incomplete structures in the city.

The board finally decided to leave the property as Coberly had first estimated it — $782,-000.

Dump Closing Angers Oviedo

Scheduled closing of the Oviedo sanitary landfill on Sept. 30 by the county raised the ire of the Oviedo Town Council meeting in special session last night.

KIRBY BUCKELEW

The County Commission last week scheduled the closing when Road Superintendent J. C. Lavender warned unless immediate action was taken to close the dump state funds for the disposal program might be jeopardized because of the poor condition of the Oviedo landfill.

"With the closing of the dump, there have been no provisions made as to where citizens of the city can dump garbage and trash," Councilman Kirby Buckelew declared. "The county should buy another dump site in the vicinity of Oviedo. We should have been notified of their plans."

Suggestion was made that a proposed site containing 6-7 acres at cost some $1000 be recommended to the County Commission for purchase. The suggested site is east of town.

It was agreed that a special meeting be set up with the Council and district Commissioner Robert Parker and Commissioner Edward Yarborough to discuss the situation.

In other action, the Board: Unanimously adopted a resolution conditionally accepting low bids on the new water system totaling $656,718.11 including Meredith Corporation, $276,-976.11, George H. Stewart, $8,-014 and Cambron Construction Company, $241,720. Acceptance is subject to approval and concurrence of the Department of Housing and Urban Development which has assured a $385,-000 loan for the project as well as a grant of $241,000;

Adopted a resolution warning Southern Bell Company unless service is improved forthwith in the town, complaint will be made to the Public Service Commission.

Took under advisement request of John Evans, vice-chairman of the School Board, that roads cutting through the site on which the new Oviedo High School is to be built, be closed.

Discussed budget for the new fiscal year and allocation in the budget of $2,000 for assistant clerk, allocation of $1,850 for a part time police officer and $300 for additional police protection and $300 for a jailer.

Discussion was also given to appropriate increase in salary for the chief of police to bring his pay in line with that of other chiefs in the area. No decision on amount of raise to be given was made.
