Cambodian Minister Resigns

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prime Minister Long Boret submitted his resignation to President Lon Nol Thursday, a source close to the president reported. The premier has been under fire from members of his cabinet for his handling of the education minister and his deputy were killed. Six ministers tendered their resignations, and refused Lon Nol's request that they remain in office until September.

Peron Reorganizing

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Juan D. Peron began reorganizing his cabinet today in an attempt to reinstate wage and price guidelines. All the cabinet members submitted their resignations Wednesday to give their 78-year-old leader a free hand after he himself threatened to resign unless the public rallied behind his economic policies. The Peronist-controlled General Labor Confederation and General Economic Confederation organized a march by 10,000 workers to the presidential palace, and Peron in a balcony speech said they had given him the support he asked for. Argentina is beset by a 12 per cent rate of inflation.

Parks Reservations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reserving a campsite at 21 different national parks will soon be as easy as reaching for your telephone. A National Park Service spokesman said Wednesday that last year's successful experiment with campsite reservations is being expanded to cover some 9,500 campsites. Beginning Saturday, the reservations will be accepted both by telephone and mail through a computerized system managed by Park Reservation Service Inc., a new corporation awarded a five-year contract. These reservations will be effective at the parks starting July 1. Campers must pay a $2 fee to reserve a campsite and also must pay the standard National Parks campsite rental, ranging from $1 to $4 a night. Unreserved campsites will still be assigned at the parks on a first-come-first-served basis, the spokesman said. Reservations can be made by telephoning the toll-free number 800-553-8428 or the toll-charged number 313-365-4348. By writing to Park Reservation System, P.O. Box 1976, Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52406 or to any of 21 parks in the reservation system. The applicant should not send payment with this request; he will be asked to pay when the reservation is assigned, by return mail.

Magruder On Transcripts

NEW YORK (AP) — Imprisoned Jeb Stuart Magruder says the Watergate transcripts indicate to him that President Nixon and his top aides were ill-informed or "were trying to put something on the tape for their own uses." Magruder made the statement in an interview with the NBC "Today" show's Barbara Walters, taped before he entered the Allentown, Pa., federal prison. The interview will be aired Friday morning. Magruder said he had been "quite depressed and disappointed" at remarks made about him in the transcripts by the President, including a description of Magruder as a "facile liar."

A Promise Well Kept

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The granddaughter of an illiterate slave will keep a promise to her grandmother years ago when she graduates Friday from Fresno City College at 72. "It's always been my dream," said Cora Lee Johnson. "I always wanted to go to school because my grandmother, she was a slave and didn't get to go." So Mrs. Johnson says she promised her grandmother that she would get as much education as she possibly could. But the dream and the promise had to wait while the native of Hattiesburg, Miss., raised nine children, five of whom earned college degrees.

39 Senators Praise Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-nine senators are co-sponsoring a Senate resolution praising Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as a patriotic American "whose integrity and veracity are above reproach." The bipartisan group includes four members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which Kissinger has asked to determine whether he lied last September about his role in national security wiretapping. Kissinger said this week that he will resign if attacks on his integrity are not cleared up. "I certainly hope he doesn't resign," Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said today. Sparkman, a senior member of the committee, was one of the initial co-signers of a handwritten resolution of confidence in Kissinger presented to the Senate Wednesday by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala.

Jubilant Nixon, Sadat Hailed By Egyptians

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Thousands of Egyptian workers, peasants and schoolchildren cheered President Nixon today as he and President Anwar Sadat traveled to Alexandria by train.

Nixon and Sadat sat on the open end of a century-old coal train as they traveled along the Suez Canal. An American helicopter circled over the train, and some 10,000 Egyptian troops were deployed along the route, primarily to keep the surging throngs off the tracks.

Egyptian security agents predicted as many as 10 million persons would turn out to see the flag-decked, 13-car train as it moved through the fertile Nile delta to the ancient port of Alexandria.

Nixon and Sadat were relaxed and obviously enjoying the clear weather, enthusiastic crowds and happy children running alongside the train. He told the 600 guests the cease-fires arranged with Arab help between the Arabs and the Israelis are precious and important, but they are not enough.

He warned that if there are no future misunderstandings, it must be realized that a just peace in the Middle East depends almost entirely on a settlement of the Palestinian question.

After their mid-afternoon arrival, Nixon and Sadat were to talk at the Ras el Tin Palace. After an early-evening reception President and Mrs. Nixon were giving a state dinner, reciprocating for the banquet the Sadats gave for them Wednesday night in Cairo.

3 Arabs Die After Killing 3 Israelis

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Security forces killed three Arab guerrillas today who had murdered three women hostages taken in an attack on a Golan Heights, the Israeli state radio reported.

The terrorists apparently slipped across the Lebanese border to attack Shamir. The raid obviously was intended to cast a cloud over President Nixon's tour of the Middle East, which the Palestine guerrillas oppose. The President, now in Egypt, is due in Israel on Sunday after visits to Saudi Arabia and Syria. Terrorists now have killed 49 persons in Israel, including 31 children, in the past two months. The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command announced in Beirut that the Shamir raiders were its men. It demanded the release of 100 Palestinians from Israeli prisons within six hours, but shortly after the demand was delivered to newsmen the guerrilla squad was reported wiped out. Three guerrillas from the same terrorist organization killed the Israeli town of Qiryat Shmonah, several miles west of Shamir, on April 11 and killed 18 Israelis and themselves when the government refused their demand for the release of Palestinian prisoners. Armed residents of Shamir were spotted near a swimming pool, the Israeli military command said, but the nationality was not immediately learned. It said the other two were Israeli living in the kibbutz. Security forces searched the foothills and the nearby Hula Valley after the three gunmen were killed, checking to see if more terrorists were in the area.

leaves for Saudi Arabia Friday afternoon. For Nixon's arrival from Austria Wednesday, the Egyptian government turned out huge crowds to cheer the two presidents as they took the seven-mile drive from Cairo's international airport to the Kubba Palace. Official estimates of the welcoming crowd ranged from hundreds of thousands to 2 million.

They screamed, they chanted and they waved signs reading "God Bless Nixon." A few tried unsuccessfully to break through the police lines to touch the visiting President. Sadat tempered the enthusiasm a bit with his toast at

U.S. Economy Should Soon Recover

By DONALD C. BAUDER, The Herald Staff Writer

For the first quarter of this year, real (after inflationary) growth in the economy dropped more sharply than at any time since the deep recession of 1980, but nearly all the drop-off was energy crisis-related, and the economy can register slight real growth in the second quarter, economists say.

Since economists define a recession as two back-to-back declines in real growth, we would thus avert a recession. Both Raymond Jallow, senior vice president and chief economist, United California Bank, Los Angeles, and R. Gene Conaster, vice president and director of economic research, Bank of America, San Francisco, think a recession can be avoided, but neither is doing handstands about the prospects.

"During the three months when the prime lending rate went from 8 3/4 to 11 3/4, the auto lending rates only went up about half a point," he said.

Services were also flat in the first quarter (after inflation showing a modest decline) but he said, "That was almost entirely due to the energy shortage. We see signs now that people are driving cars more and traveling to resort areas. People will return to their usual habits."

"Sometime in July, the economists will refigure the first quarter, and I think they will adjust inventories upward and decide it wasn't as bad as we thought it was," he said.

"The big problem is still inflation. The economy is in pretty good shape," he said. He said that businesses still seem undeterred in their capital spending spree, which is going at a rate of almost 20 per cent above last year. "Every month the backlog of capital equipment has increased dramatically. Business investment is as high as deliveries," he said.

'National Rip-Off Takes Place Under Our Nose'

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI
Assoc. Editor

Ed. Note — As a result of a letter written by Raymond E. Turner, president and owner of Seminole Dental Laboratory of Casselberry, to Mrs. Virginia Kaner, Director of the Office of Consumer Affairs, Washington, D.C., The Herald is presenting the second of a three part series investigating charges of unethical practices in the dental profession.

"There's a nationwide 'rip-off' taking place right under our very nose...in the mouth, as a matter fact. And it runs into the millions of dollars, too."

Raymond E. Turner disagrees with the practices of a few local dentists who feel extractions made from the mouths of their patients belong to the dentist and not the patient. Turner feels that the patient originally paid for the gold or silver fillings and as such the precious metals are rightfully the property of the patients.

Dentists who have been sending old extractions containing gold inlays, and requesting that Turner recast them to fit the mouth of a new patient take the position it doesn't amount to very much money anyhow.

On Thursday, May 2, 1974 Turner appeared before the Orange County Dental Association in Winter Park. This organization represents not unethical, illegal nor immoral," said Lilly.

OLD GOLD-FILLED EXTRACTATIONS Examined by Raymond Turner, technician

Nationwide
Turner charges it is a nationwide practice by the dentist, according to his poll of other dental laboratories. Further, it amounts to well over $10 million annually for the dental profession.

According to Turner, who has had over 16 years experience in the dental laboratory business, a pennyweight measure is usually sufficient to make a gold filling. At today's price of gold a pennyweight measure of new gold would cost dental labs $9.20.

Assuming that the 118,000 dentists in this country, were to average less than one gold-filled extraction per month for a national average of 100,000 extractions, this would amount to $10,800,000 annually. Based on the work of dentists for whom Turner does work, this estimate of one extraction per month is an ultra-conservative figure.

Turner denies charges he is rocking the professional boat because he is unable to sell dentists new gold. "I'm concerned that user number two isn't getting what he or she things they're buying. There's no one to look after the consumer and that's my beef," said Turner.

230 dentists throughout the Central Florida area. Dr. Howard Lilly, Lake Brantley Drive, Orlando is president of the OCDA. "The charges which Mr. Turner makes regarding recasting the crown and bridge gold work is although it was not to be considered a formal hearing according to Lilly, he was joined by two other doctors who preferred to remain anonymous.

When asked why he (Turner) had not filed charges against a specific dentist in order that he be present to hear the charges directly, Turner inquired if that meant the individual could have the American Heritage Building in Jacksonville.) "Lilly, while conducting the meeting, indicated that this meeting was to "iron-out" whatever differences Turner might have with members of the association.

Turner attended the meeting with the fear there would be disciplinary actions taken against him (Turner) by the board as a result of his letter-writing campaign.

When asked specifically if this were true, Lilly denied any substance to Turner's fears of the possibility of losing his state license.

The two other doctors in attendance recommended if Turner found the actions of a particular dentist to be contrary to his own personal dictates and conscience relating to good business practices, he should "not do business with that man anymore."

Changes
"Well then why ask me to make charges against him if all you're going to do is tell me not to service him anymore?" asked Turner.

He received no direct response.

However, Dr. George E. Myers, chairman, Council on Dental Materials and Devices, presenting the views of the American Dental Association, in a prepared speech recently said — "As part of the health profession, the American Dental Association has the prime responsibility to protect and improve the health of our people and to insure that products used by the dentist are both safe and effective in the interest of the ultimate consumer in dentistry — the patient..."

The meeting between Turner and members of the Orange County Dental Association began at 6:40 p.m. and concluded approximately three hours later on an inconclusive note although Dr. Lilly did agree that Turner had made some "valid points." However, he added, if Turner was not satisfied with the results of the meeting, he could appeal to the state's Dental Examiner.

Part 3 of this dentist-technician problem in Seminole County will appear in tomorrow's Herald and the examples of some dentists charging $125 for a set of dentures while others start quoting prices from $300 to $900 — usually for the same quality dentures.

Banks, Securities Brokers Compete

NEW YORK (AP)—Trouble is something you seldom get just a little of. When it arrives in your life you may expect more to follow until troubles are holding a convention in your life. Ask a stock broker.

The comptroller of the currency, James E. Smith, has just ruled that banks can continue to offer securities to their customers, in direct competition with brokers, who already feel they are at the bottom of a heap.

It would take too long to list these difficulties, but they include a loss of customer confidence and business, high interest rates that draw money from the market, and a general inability to remain consistently profitable.

The latest action, therefore, seems like just another problem piled upon the others, but it may be far more than that. It pits two entire industries against each other, and there is no question which is stronger. Banks is.

Banks have the assets, the flexibility, the marketing power, the personnel, the accounting techniques, the outlets. Far more important, they already have the customers. Almost everyone uses a bank.

How simple it is therefore, for a bank that already provides a dozen customer services to simply offer another one, as some already have. How simple to transfer $50 from the checking account to the stock account.

The brokers, on the other hand, don't have nearly the marketplace of products or the financial power of the banks, although this perhaps is not a critical criterion. Banks are restricted geographically, brokers are not.

Nevertheless, a comparison of Merrill Lynch, the biggest broker, with Bank of America, the biggest bank, is revealing.

Small Audience Still Receives Best Host Can Deliver

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — "Sometimes you get the feeling we're all by ourselves," said Tom Snyder of his "Tomorrow" show, aired at 1 to 2 a.m.

"Our available audience is only 10 per cent of any other network show because of the time period."

But this doesn't deter Snyder, known for his brash questioning of guests, raucous wit and opinionated rejoinders.

"People ask me if it bothers me that 'Tomorrow' has a small audience," he explained. "I say even if you work for a 250-watt station you owe the audience the best you can give them."

"That's why it's so disappointing when a show turns into a turkey. You know it's a five minutes."

Few of his guests have been failures, but then there was the man who was a champion eater.

"We were on the air before we realized you can't talk and eat at the same time," he sighed.

NBC estimates that between four and five million television viewers watch the one-hour "Tomorrow" show Monday through Thursday. "The Mid-Night Special," which really cleared the way for late-night television, runs Fridays.

"Tomorrow" premiered Oct. 15 after NBC executives decided there was an audience of insomniacs, young people and shift workers they could tap.

"Tomorrow" isn't straight entertainment like "Tonight." It is somewhere in between, with nationally known newsmakers and Snyder's light-hearted approach.

"There's no script or format," Snyder says. "All I have are a few pages of notes. I feel the key to a show like this is listening to people and hopefully they'll listen to you."

"It's conversation, not a question and answer show," Snyder, 33, who is also an anchor of KNBC-TV's "Six O'Clock News" in Los Angeles, said he doesn't like to go into the shows with prepared lists of questions.

"When Martha Mitchell was our guest we had quite a few clippings," he said. "You can figure out what to ask. All the notes went out the window."

"She has such a scatter-gun mind. Not scatter-brained. I mean she goes from one subject into the next with such facility."

"But I go in with something in mind. With most guests you have a pretty good idea of what they want to talk about. But they don't always do that."

Other guests recently have included the Rev. John McLaughlin, Jesuit priest on President Nixon's staff; Studs Terkel, author of the best-selling "Working;" Clifford Irving, author of the fake Howard Hughes autobiography, and a mother and daughter who talked about their liberal sexual attitudes.

What does he look for in a guest? "First of all, in people whose mouths work," he said.

"People who can say something without a long preamble and long-winded rhetoric that doesn't say anything."

The show is taped at 9:30 p.m. at NBC's Burbank studios, although sometimes Snyder takes the show on the road.

save your child's life!
By DAVID HENDIN
The Herald Services

Health and safety officials say there are more than two million serious burns and injuries in Canada and the United States every year. Many of these occur among children. In 1970 alone, more than 1,500 children were killed by fires and burns.

Never underestimate the severity of a burn. They are usually larger and more severe than you think.

In the case of burns from fire, here is what to do:

1. Get the child out of the burning area. If clothes are on fire don't let the child run. This will fan and encourage the flames. Put the fire out by wrapping the child in a blanket, rug or other heavy material at hand.
2. If the burn is minor, immerse it in clean ice water, or apply ice packs to the area. Keep it cold for 10 or 15 minutes. Cover the burn with a clean gauze or cloth dressing, or a thin, no-stick plastic covering (clean plastic kitchen wrap works well). Consult a physician.
3. Keep the child lying down. Try to keep the head and chest slightly lower than the rest of the body. Keep the child warm.
4. If the child is conscious and can swallow give him nonalcoholic liquids to drink.
5. Watch for shock and treat if necessary.
6. Take the child to a doctor or hospital immediately.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Do not use butter, grease, ointments or powders on burns. These increase the danger of infection and make later treatment more difficult.

Patricia Boles Feted At Pre-Nuptial Party

Miss Patricia Boles, bride-elect of Walter Jerome Sanders, was guest of honor at a recent bridal shower at the First Baptist Church of Longwood. Hostesses were Mrs. Jossie Gray and Miss Mindy Kutter. The Social Hall of the church was decorated in a blue, green and pink color theme. The refreshment table, overlaid with a green cloth, was centered with an arrangement of daisies and fern, flanked by two tall blue tapers in gold colored holders. Mixed fruit punch was served from a white punch bowl along with heart-shaped finger sandwiches, nuts, mints and a chocolate and white cake, decorated with flowers in the chosen colors. A doll cake iced in the three colors, stood on one end of the table. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The hostesses presented Miss Boles with a white, blue-tipped carnation corsage to complement her long multicolor floral print gown with matching jacket and seated her in a green chair beside the gift table, adorned with a blue and green umbrella, to open her beautiful and useful gifts. Guests included Mrs. Jean Boles, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Paula Fowler, mother of the future bridegroom and Misses Libby Rowland, Ellen Dudley, Sandy Thompson, Ruth Rickett, Hazel Tripp and the Misses Ann Smith, Kathy Riggs, Rachel Henderson, Debbie Phelps and Charlotte Tripp.

Housewife Is Now In Building OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — If there are any last-minute changes Mary Sue Mitchell wants in her new home under construction in a suburban area, she's right on hand to see that they're done. She's working as a carpenter's helper on the job, at $2 an hour. And her boss, Harold Wright, says he'd hire her for his next job, too. Mary Sue and her husband Jim, an appraiser for a logistics contractor, hired Wright last October to build the house. It wasn't long before Mary Sue asked Wright for a job. Wright had watched Mary Sue search for, and then dig the dirt out of, an old well that had been filled in years ago. He was impressed with her determination and stamina as she shoveled dirt for three days, so he hired her. Mrs. Mitchell, an attractive 35-year-old housewife, hadn't worked since she quit a clerical job in 1960. But Wright expected her to keep up with carpenter Bud Robinson. She worked beside Robinson as they raised the walls, installed the vacuum system and laid bricks. Then they started her shingling the roof. It was her aptitude for shingling that finally won Mary Sue the accolade as "one of the boys," she believes. Her size — slightly over five feet tall and 100 pounds — proved a problem at first, in carrying the heavy bundles of wooden shingles up to the roof. But then she devised a slide for them. Wright said she is a good shingler, faster than most men because her perception of what size cedar shingle which would fit a particular spot turned out to be almost perfect.

There's Fascinating Story Behind The Equity Swindle

By DONALD C. BAUDER
The Herald Staff
A few years ago, Ray Dirks was getting quite a reputation as a crackerjack security analyst specializing in insurance stocks for Wall Street's DeLafield, Childs.

Soon, the insurance commissions of two states, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the New York Stock Exchange and the Wall Street Journal knew of the story.

Dirks argues that the NYSE episode made Ray Dirks, security analyst, into Ray Dirks, investigative reporter, and his first book is just out—“The Great Wall Street Scandal.” McGraw-Hill, $8.95. It is superbly written and because it tells a gripping story expertly—and it deftly probes the audacity and hypocrisy of a bunch of crooks.

There is something that happens to people who become famous discovering cracks in the wall. Pretty soon, they declare that the whole wall is a fraud. It happened to Ralph Nader.

Long-Handled Brush Best For Acid Wash

By GENE GARY
The Herald Staff

Q. Will you please explain how to apply muriatic acid to clean exterior brick, which I have been told is the best method. Can it be sprayed on or brushed, what type brush should be used? What proportion of acid to water and how long should it be left on? I understand it should be washed off with a hose—John R.L., Columbus, O.

handled fiber brush. If cleaning a brick wall, look out below. Keep all brickwork below the area being cleaned soaked with water and flushed free of acid and dissolved mortar. This acid, if permitted to dry, may be impossible to remove when the area is cleaned. Scrub the brick, not the mortar joints. Wooden paddles can be used when possible, or stiff fiber brushes. Clean only a small area at a time, preferably not more than 10 to 20 square feet. This is a precaution against brick drying and cracking the dissolved mortar, dirt and acid into the pores of the brick.

used on wood shingle roofs; also a mixture of graphite and linseed oil. Be sure all loose or lapsed shingles are replaced. Consult your building supply dealer or large paint stores for these products. If the shingles are badly cracked and deteriorated, the only satisfactory corrective job will be water and new roofing.

A. Painting would provide you with a uniform color, but I presume you wish to save the beauty of the exposed natural grain in the knotty pine. This problem can be solved by washing the walls with warm water and a scouring powder which contains bleach. There is enough bleach in these commercial household cleansers to restore uniform color.

Longwood Debt Nears $250,000

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD—City coffers by the Sept. 30 fiscal year end will be red tagged with a $250,000 debt, financial advisor Logan Brown told city councilmen Thursday night.

The general fund problems are caused by overestimated revenues in the budget. He noted that the city budgeted 100 per cent of anticipated property tax when 75 per cent budgeting is the accepted method.

He said in the meantime the city has been spending money just as though revenues were coming in as anticipated.
