Kennedy Set For Florida Gold Coast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy planned to fly to the Florida Gold Coast today for a short week-end of political chores and personal matters.

Saturday night in Miami Beach he will speak at a $100-a-plate Democratic party fund-raising dinner honoring his old friend, Sen. George A. Smathers, (D-Fla.)

En route to Miami today and coming back to Washington late Sunday, the Chief Executive will stop off in Palm Beach to visit for an hour or two with his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy who still is fighting the effects of a stroke suffered last December.

The President had a crowded morning schedule of callers before departing for Florida in an Air Force jet. One conference was with Fowler Hamilton, head of the Agency for International Development (AID). They were expected to discuss Kennedy's forthcoming special message to Congress on foreign aid.

Leaving the White House by helicopter, the President was scheduled to take off in his jet transport from Andrews Air Force Base at 2 p. m., with his two children, landing at Palm Beach about two hours later. Caroline and John, Jr. were expected to spend the weekend at their grandfather's home.

Kennedy was expected in Miami about 6:30 p. m. He will spend two nights at the Miami Beach home of a friend, not yet identified by the White House. His temporary White House will be on the Biscayne Bay side of Miami Beach.

House Captain Forced To Scuttle His Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House members speculated today on how Speaker John W. McCormack got into the position of a captain forced to scuttle his ship.

On signal from an obviously distressed McCormack, the lawmakers late Thursday pulled the plug on McCormack's plan to enlarge the House by three seats.

Without even the formality of a record vote, they shouted their approval of a motion to kill the bill by sending it back to committee.

Thus died McCormack's hopes, first, to save one of Missouri and Pennsylvania, two House seats to be lost by Massachusetts as a result of population shifts reflected in the 1960 census and, second, to break a state reapportionment deadlock that threatens all Massachusetts House members—himself included—with running for reelection statewide.

After long and arduous preparations which, except for McCormack, never would have been undertaken, the House appeared all set Thursday to pass the bill. It would have saved one seat each for Massachusetts, Missouri and Pennsylvania by enlarging the House membership from the present 435 to 438.

Missouri and Pennsylvania, due to lose one seat and three seats respectively, already have redistricted to cover their losses. Their House delegations had moved emotions about rocking the boat.

Thirteen other states also are to lose House seats as a result of the census, and their lawmakers along with those from states untouched by the census or due to gain seats viewed the bill with restraint. Mostly out of loyalty to McCormack, however, a safe majority of the House was ready to go for the bill he wanted.

ones, on pain of running all their members at large.

Walter said later he did this as part of a "deal" with Republican leader Charles A. Halleck, whose reported interest was in saving one jeopardized Republican seat, that of Pennsylvania's Rep. Ivor D. Fenton.

In the absence of the Walter amendment, Halleck was said to fear that Pennsylvania would not redistrict again, but would leave its extra seat to be filled in an at-large election.

In that event Fenton, whose old district was merged with that of Democratic Rep. George M. Rhodes under the redistricting law, might be left in the cold.

Other Pennsylvania Republicans objected to this, as did many of the state's Democrats. Their seats are safe under the existing redistricting law. They did not want to face either running at large or in more hazardous districts. Rep. John Saylor, (R-Pa.), blocked a final vote on the bill for more than an hour by demanding—as any member may—an "engrossed" or formally printed copy before final action.

During that hour, Walter's "deal" and any others involving the bill fell apart. McCormack reported irked at Walter's maneuver, apparently decided the game was not worth the candle.

IBEW Marks 16th Anniversary

Members of IBEW Local 1401 of the Florida Power Corp. marked their 16th anniversary with a Western ranch steak supper at the MQ Ranch in Osteen Saturday.

A huge wood-oven baked cake, decorated western style with 16 candles to signify the anniversary was cut and served at the conclusion of the steak supper.

During the evening, square dancing was enjoyed and western stories were told by Bob Morris.

Bossman Herman E. Morris and Boss Lady Gladys Morris cooked and served the MQ steak, rosin-bolled potatoes, and other trimmings.

Huge bonfires and burning flambeaus, enhanced the western decorations to add to the atmosphere of the ranch for the evening.

SAVE MONEY ON INCOME TAXES Today and Tomorrow!

April 16th is just around the calendar corner... and the time of frenzied figuring is upon us once again. Here are two suggestions from Reddy calculated to help you save money now and in the future.

1. TAKE ADVANTAGE OF ALL POSSIBLE DEDUCTIONS!

Itemizing all your legitimate deductions will help you save money. Reliable income tax guides are on sale which list all possible deductions... and special tax consultants are available to help with complex returns.

2. KEEP GOVERNMENT OUT OF BUSINESS!

When Government competes with private industry, the cost is borne by the taxpayer. With TVA, for example, Florida's share of the tax burden involved has already amounted to more than $125 million—or about $100 per family of four. Resist governmental competition by supporting free enterprise... and SAVE ON TAXES!

Someone called and suggested that we go through the old files of the Herald and find out about the Fish trust obligation to Seminole Memorial Hospital . . . The Fish Estate (Fish Trust under whose will funds from his estate were to be used to build hospitals in DeLand, New Smyrna and SANFORD is still active . . . The trustees are still bound by its terms . . . They built the hospital at DeLand, and another at New Smyrna. And because AT THAT TIME the income from holdings had not built up to a sufficient amount to build a whole hospital (adequate to meet Sanford's needs) they finally agreed to give the funds for the Fish Wing of Seminole Memorial. We received a host of calls as we wondered ourselves why the local board didn't ask Fish trustees to kick in some more money to keep up with others benefiting from the terms of the will. We figured they would be happy to do so . . . However, A. R. Peterson Sr., chairman of the local hospital board, told us this morning that he was asked the Fish trustees for additional money but they say none is available. Bart also told us that they tried to get some more Hill-Burton funds but that flizzed out also.

Snow In Midwest, Storms In South

By United Press International Fading winter pummeled parts of six Midwest states today with up to nine inches of traffic-clogging snow. Small tornadoes caused property damage in Georgia, Kentucky and Illinois.

Fifty-mile winds whipped up dust storms in parts of Texas and Oklahoma. Heavy rains and thunderstorms lashed many areas south of the snow belt. Atlanta had 1.18 inches of rain and Charleston, S. C., measured 1.33 inches. Rockford, Ill., had 1.32 inches of precipitation and Dubuque, Iowa, 1.13 inches.

A tornado swooped into a rural area 10 miles north of Macon, Ga., Sunday night, destroying a house, two barns and a grove of pecan trees. A twister skirted Sandersville, Ga., cutting off power for the oxygen system at a Sandersville hospital, and then hit Tennesse and Davisboro, Ga., where many trees were uprooted. There were no injuries reported.

A small tornado unroofed a factory at Morganfield, Ky., but no other damage was reported.

Nation-Wide Rail Strike Threatened

CHICAGO (UPI) — H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, announced today his union would take a strike vote against the nation's railroads. Gilbert's union has rejected the report of a presidential commission which called for eventual elimination of 40,000 firemen jobs on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service.

"We intend to produce records to show the sorry performance of profit-minded carriers who fought every safety device and rule sought by the men who face the hazards of the industry," Gilbert said.

"We want the public to know that railroad financiers cannot be trusted to decide arbitrarily what constitutes safe railroading."

The presidential commission, in its Feb. 28 report, called for a major overhaul of the rules covering the working conditions of a total of 210,000 on-trail railroad employees.

Action Delayed On Resolutions

By Ginny Skisalak Action on two resolutions expected to come before the North Orlando Village Council Friday night was delayed since Attorney Ambrose O'Hara, legal counselor for the Village, was unable to attend the special meeting.

Mayor Frank Fasula advised that one resolution concerns a request from Joseph Hagur, owner of the newly completed North Orlando Grocery, for a permit to sell beer and wine on Sundays from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. and on weekdays from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m. and the other concerns sale of Ranch and Ranchette property.

As a special courtesy, Fasula asked opinions on the beer and wine permit of the five candidates running in the March 20 elections when two council members will be elected. All five were in agreement that the permit should be granted.

The mayor also explained that if another special council meeting is called this week it will be for the purpose of voting on the resolutions.

In other business, approval was given for the North Orlando Civic Assn. to stage a Community Easter Egg Hunt on lots adjoining SR 419.

Gretsch Angers Pork Chop Gang

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—A cold reception from the State Senate majority bloc awaits David Gretsch of Tallahassee if the 37-year-old radio newsmen emerges the winner in his race for the Senate this year.

The bloc, known as the "Pork Chop Gang" among those who dislike it, and among some who do, is annoyed at Gretsch's decision to run against incumbent Wilson Carraway.

Carraway is more than an incumbent. He is the president-designate of the 1963 Senate, and among the bloc, running against a president-designate is political bad form to say the very least.

Speculation is rife in Tallahassee over who, if anyone, put Gretsch in the race. Guesses range from the local press corps to congressional candidates, who supposedly want to keep Carraway busy so he won't have time to dabble in their races.

Clarence Clause In School Board Race

CLARENCE CLAUSE

Clarence (Bill) Clause, 29 year old electronics engineer with the Martin Co., today announced his candidacy for the school board race, District Five. Clause has qualified with the County Clerk's office.

A native of Sanford, Clause graduated from Seminole High School in 1951, attended the University of North Carolina, where he graduated with a BS degree in physics, then entered the service where he served as a Naval aviator for four years and was discharged as a lieutenant senior grade in 1959. He then accepted employment at Martin Co.

Clause is married to the former Faye Harvey and they reside at 201 Citrus Drive with daughter Sheila, three. He is a member of the Jaycees, the Seminole County Farm Bureau and the Presbyterian Church.

"The Seminole County school system prepared me well for a higher education and a rewarding career," Clause said. "I hope to now have the opportunity of giving to that system my interest, enthusiasm and insight into the present demands on young people."

Earlier Dan Wright announced his candidacy for this seat, which is being vacated by W. A. Patrick, who has declined to run again.

The officials gave no details of the harassment because of a news blackout ordered on the Soviet tactic, but the Russians were believed to be scheduling flights in the corridors at the times and altitudes Allied planes were scheduled to fly.

The new Communist pressures followed an unprecedented border shooting in which a British airman was shot in the stomach by East German guards who fired on an official British car early Sunday.

Violence Perils Algerian Peace

PARIS (UPI)—Strikes, now violence and snags in the peace talks today threatened to upset the French government's efforts to end the Algerian war.

Strikes were called in France and Algeria to protest continued terrorism which this morning took another four lives.

At Evian, near the Swiss border, French officials and Algerian rebel negotiators were reported to have struck major difficulties in their efforts to reach a cease-fire in the seven-year-old war.

Informed sources said the Evian talks now may last longer than expected.

In Algeria, doctors in Bone called a three-day strike to protest "the incapacity of the public powers to assure protection." The physicians took the action after one of their colleagues was shot by an Arab gunman.

Harassment Of Planes Renewed

BERLIN (UPI)—Western officials today reported new Soviet harassment of Western aircraft in the air lanes over East Germany to West Berlin.

The officials gave no details of the harassment because of a news blackout ordered on the Soviet tactic, but the Russians were believed to be scheduling flights in the corridors at the times and altitudes Allied planes were scheduled to fly.

The new Communist pressures followed an unprecedented border shooting in which a British airman was shot in the stomach by East German guards who fired on an official British car early Sunday.

Cuban Dentist To Be Guest

Dr. Manuel Antonio Zuniga, refugee Cuban dentist, will be guest speaker for today's 7:30 p.m. meeting of the DeBarry Community Methodist Men's Club.

17 Dilapidated Structures Face Ax Or Repairing

The City Commission will take the first step tonight toward razing 17 dilapidated buildings in the W. Ninth St. area with a public hearing scheduled at 8 p.m. to rule on condemnation and to establish a time to repair or remove the structures.

The commission set the hearing on the buildings at its last meeting as the first step in cleaning up the city of condemned buildings. At the present time there are 500 structures on the condemnation list.

In other business scheduled tonight, the board will consider plans and costs for renovation of the old county jail building into a city police station and jail. City Manager W. E. Knowles estimated cost of the renovation at approximately $16,000. However, Mayor J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps said the job could be done for about $12,000.

The city also will consider purchase of 30 new parking meters at a cost of $16.50 each.

Consider a resolution supporting proposed Florida Municipal League legislation; Basic bills call for a three cent cigarette tax increase with funds collected within the city to be returned to the city. This would result in $70,000 to $80,000 increase to the city and help ease the pressure on real estate taxpayers. A secondary bill covers a one cent optional gas tax to be returned to area in which it is collected and must be used for street purposes.

Schedule Of Debt Retirement Asked

City Fiscal Agent Loomis Leedy will ask the City tonight to consider a proposed debt retirement schedule, on Series B bonds to assure complete retirement by 1977, the Herald learned today.

Leedy's plan deals with a planned retirement on the B bonds on a schedule so that they will not need to be refinanced.

Sanford now budgets $8,260 for principal and $10,425 for interest under these bonds for a total of $18,685. The city must be prepared to pay an additional $10,000 per year on principal under the proposed $200,000 issue for a sewage treatment plant.

If the city would agree to budget an additional annual amount of $1,000 in 1963, $2,000 in 1964 up to 1977, the B bonds would be retired without refunding at a high interest rate.

According to Leedy, this plan could be written into a $200,000 bond ordinance simply to get it down as a plan. It would not affect the proposed bond sale and would not affect costs of legal or administrative work.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Florida Democrats, with three exceptions, reflected on their weekend fund-raising dinner today and pronounced it a success.

There was the possibility of more success in the future, too, with the news that the dinner raised $263,000 for the party to use against the Republicans this fall, and in Gov. Farris Bryant's comment that Florida now has an "excellent chance" of landing the 1964 Democratic national convention.

For three disgruntled candidates, however—Jim Fair of Tampa, David Eldredge of Miami, and Roger L. Davis of Fort Lauderdale—the memory of the dinner in the sprawling Fontainebleau Hotel was less than pleasing.

Fair was punched in the face by State Utilities Commissioner Jerry Carter and then thrown out of the banquet hall, and Eldredge and Davis protested President Kennedy's endorsement of their Democratic primary opponents, U. S. Rep. Danie Fessell and Sen. George A. Smathers.

Gov. Bryant called the dinner "tremendously successful . . . a demonstration of party unity."

He said he talked with the President, Democratic National Chairman John Bailey, and party Treasurer Matthew McCloskey about holding the next Democratic convention in Miami Beach and "the reaction is very favorable. I think there is an excellent chance of this."

Boy Arraigned In Slayings

NEWPORT, N. H. (UPI)—A "brilliant" 17-year-old high school student was arraigned today for the slayings of his parents and two younger brothers.

Police said John W. McGrath told them he wiped out his family with a Japanese rifle Saturday night "so they would not have anything to worry about."

Dead were his father, Francis, 40, and his mother, Wilhelmina Alice, 42, and his brothers, Peter, 14, and Charles, 5.

Formula Mixup At NY Hospital

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (UPI)—Physicians worked desperately today to save the lives of ten infants who might have received salt instead of sugar in their formulas at a local hospital. Six other babies died during the weekend.

Authorities at Binghamton General Hospital said four of the infants were in critical condition. A nurse who is believed to have filled a sugar container with salt was suspended and questioned by the district attorney.

The nurse, Mrs. Lily Colvin, was not taken into custody pending the result of autopsy on the six infants, who ranged in age from three days to eight months.

Dr. Carl N. Watline, acting administrator at the hospital, said at a hastily called news conference that a practical nurse discovered salt in the formula room's sugar container Sunday while preparing a cup of coffee.

Mrs. Colvin conceded she refilled the formula room's sugar container last Tuesday.

What Religion Means To Me, Discussed By Sanford Laymen

By Arthur Beckwith
Religion, to be personal and effective, must be a living faith in God and Christ, expressed outwardly as we do unto others and inwardly as we do unto God. All men are children of God, and He is our loving and understanding Father. If each of us in our own way could grasp and understand this relationship, our lives would be dedicated to the lasting and spiritual values of mankind. Our religion would be an alive, working reality twenty-four hours a day and devoted to the building of the Kingdom of God here on earth.

I know that Christianity is practical. It transforms life. It promises faith to overcome fear and strength to replace weakness. It is filled to the overflowing with such phrases as "the abundant life," the "transforming power," and the "inner peace." But I fear that all too many Christians have never found the secret to triumphant living. Therefore, it is clear that something is necessary by which abstract faith may become a vital force in our daily living—and that "something" is a working relationship with Christ.

It is not enough to say that we believe in prayer, in the Bible or in immortality. We must know how to pray, how to read the Bible and how to face death. It is not enough to believe in the right; we must know how to tell that which is right from that which is wrong. It is not enough to believe that Christianity gives release from worry or fear or prejudice; we must be able to put these beliefs into practice and this is what MY religion is helping me to do. I dare say that there is little practical Christ-lanity in the man who lives on better terms with the angels than he does with his family, his fellow workmen and his neighbors.

If individually we are able to maintain the proper relationship with our Father, our daily lives will be so lived as to accomplish the peace of mind for which we all hope. We need to be yes, we must be about our Father's business. If we are too busy for God, we are too busy.

I believe, if each person would accept and practice in all phases of daily life, faith in God as a loving Father, we could systematically eliminate from our lives thoughts and actions which tend to destroy us. Jealousy, hate, envy, fear, vanity, selfishness, self pity, condemnation, pride and the like would all be banished. The bounds of our understanding and the ability we have to adopt God's teachings as they come to us through the Bible determines to a great degree our stature as a child of God.

I have no power to force Christianity on anyone. However, I do have the ability to live my life in such a way as to be a living example of God's goodness and kindness, and through the conduct of my life radiate those qualities of peace and joy, exemplifying a more abundant life. If I am able to do this, I will lift others spiritually and will thereby bring others a more abundant life.

I firmly believe in the words of Jesus, "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven." To me this demonstrates a practical way of life for all. Further, it will bring one's way of life within the realm of the

Seminole FFA Starts Project Improving Grove

The Seminole High School Chapter of the Future Farmers of America are now fertilizing their citrus grove. The grove is approximately three acres and was left in charge of the FFA by the school board in 1960. The 1957 freeze had left the grove in a poor condition and the FFA boys have pruned and hoed, hauled it out, dug out decayed trees and slowly brought it back to production. The December freeze of 1961 cost the chapter over 300 boxes of fruit, as no one could be found to salvage the crop, since citrus men were busy salvaging their own crops. This set the planned program back, but enough fruit was salvaged to pay for one of the two fertilizing periods. The grove is maintained by the FFA financially and physically. All proceeds go to the Vocational Agriculture Department. Trees to be replanted are to be grown in the Seminole High Citrus nursery while propagation measures are taught. Many educational activities are further planned to improve the grove, but the money must first be made to buy fertilizer.

Freedom Bond Drive

United States Savings Bonds have two purposes; one to provide financing for the government, the other to help people save money. The first purpose brought the bond program into being in the first place. But as a practical matter, it is the latter function that sells the bonds.

It becomes an extremely personal thing, when the bond buyer realizes he is putting a solid financial foundation under his home, his family and especially the prospects of his children. That is what Savings Bond buying does for millions.

This leads into something currently important. For two months, next May and June, the impact of Savings Bond buying will be felt in the lives of most of the people. That will be the period of the 1962 Freedom Bond Drive. The 1962 goal will be the sale of $4.75 billion in E and H Savings Bonds.

There will be other objectives. One is to have as many people as possible — actually every American, if that is possible — be Savings Bond buyers during the period. Another is to increase the number of payroll savers; they now number over 8 million. A third is to build up over-the-counter bond sales in banks.

If past experience means anything, the public will respond. There have been no exceptions to this record since the first World War, when all the Liberty Loans and the wind-up Victory Loan were oversubscribed. In the present sequence, there have been three periods, the Defense Bonds of pre-World War II, the War Bonds during the war, and since then the Savings Bonds. All have accomplished the basic purpose, to give the government working capital. But the greater profit has been in the millions of people made conscious for the first time in their lives of the road to personal solvency and security to be found in systematic sav-

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Lorraine is one of about 5 million "only" parents. They valiantly strive to be both mother and daddy to their half-orphaned youngsters. But they should take full advantage of the many "assistant parents" in every community. Scrapbook this case and tomorrow's follow-up, to avoid making psychological cripples of children.

CADE—Lorraine, 32, is a charming mother. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I have two children in Junior High. "And I try my best to be both mother and father to them, since they lost their daddy just a year ago in an auto accident. "But I grow so discouraged

It was a real responsibility to be a good parent, even when my husband was alive to share the load. "Now that I am all alone, it overwhelms me at times. How can I be sure that I am rearing my children most wisely?" It is estimated that over four million mothers are in the same boat with Lorraine, valiantly struggling to rear their children without the aid of the male parent.

Vinson - To - Vinson

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, senior member of the U. S. House of Representatives, has just added another achievement to his long and distinguished record.

The acquire of Milledgeville will henceforth be remembered by me, at least as the man who invented the doll-yourself news conference.

Vinson introduced this remarkable journalistic innovation Tuesday to a platoon of reporters assembled in the House Armed Services Committee's hearing room.

A chairman of the committee, he had summoned us there to release a CIA report on U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers. This was a couple of hours before Powers himself appeared before the Senate Armed Services Committee, so there was a lot of interest in the matter.

We newsmen were loaded with questions to fire at Vinson, only he disarmed us before we even got started. When Frank Kleaser of United Press International attempted to open the interrogation, "Uncle Carl" interrupted.

"Now, wait a minute, Frank," he said. "I've anticipated all of the reasonable questions that might be asked and I've got the answers right here."

"My first question to myself is, how was the U2 brought down? The answer is that the CIA and other experts believe it was damaged by a surface-to-air mis-

Someone else at this point attempted to horn in on the Vinson-to-Vinson conversation, but he was stopped in mid-sentence.

"I have anticipated your next question," Vinson assured us. "Was it flying at 68,000 feet or at a lower level. The answer to that question is that it was damaged at the higher altitude."

Peering rather piously over his spectacles, the chairman continued to quiz himself until he had extracted from himself all the facts that he considered pertinent.

His final question was: "Were there any additional facts as given in the published summary?"

"Yes," he replied, "there were additional facts but they were all consistent with the facts as given in the published summary."

Since Vinson did not try to pin himself down on that point, the news conference ended. The rest of us figured that if he couldn't persuade himself to say more, there was no need in our trying.

I have only one complaint about the way he handled it. He neglected to take any notes on what he said to himself. Otherwise, he could have written our stories for us.

Letters

To The Editor

Dear Editor: Will you please print the attached letter in your paper for me, if it is possible for it to be done.

I will appreciate so very much and will make it up to you at a later date.

Thank you,

Very Truly Yours,
 Brown Yates,
 Rt. 2, Box 558
 Sanford, Florida

Eighty-two years ago, God sent a certain sweet little girl into this world. To many, she was probably just like other little girls, but to us children, she was always so different, so loving, sweet and kind.

As the many years have rolled along, we have not seemed to really realize what a precious jewel she has been to us, until a few days ago when she became ill and has been confined to her bed. Now we really miss the echo of her footsteps and the back of her head as we could have been better children and more appreciative to her in the past.

We miss her in the day, but mostly at night, as that is when she sits most, doing her housework, sweeping the floor, quietly, washing the dishes or rattling and reading a newspaper at some late hour of the night.

I know that death is something we don't like to think about, but surely something we all must face at one time or another, in one way or another, for we see it, or hear of it every day and of many ages.

I have prayed and am praying that God will let us keep her at least a little longer, so that we will have a chance to show more appreciation and kindness to her, in return for the many headaches and heartaches we have given to her through the many years.

I hope I am not asking too much, for God has been so good to let us have her here these many years. I have promised God in my many prayers that I will be a better child to Him and to my Mother the rest of my life.

Brown R. Yates
 March 6th, 1962; P. S. Mother just passed away at 9:17 a.m.

Dear Mr. Editor: Recently, I overparked and found a yellow ticket on my windshield. This ticket stated, "Sorry, you have overparked."

The fine for overtime parking is 25c if paid within 24 hours." I left the ticket on the windshield and returned to work, thinking that, at worst, I could only get another 25c ticket. Unfortunately, I received a $2 ticket. Although on the first 25c envelope, there was nothing, whatsoever, that led to me believe that if I did not immediately take care of it, my fine would be $2.

I have taken care of both tickets, but I feel that in all fairness to residents of Sanford and visitors to our fair city, that the police department be required to notify anyone who overparks that their next envelope will cost them $2.

From the comments that I have heard since my enlightening experience, I know that these 25c tickets have already cost the merchants of Sanford, many, many customers.

Knowing that you are for growth and development in Sanford, I hope you can do something about this unreasonable situation.

Sincerely yours,
 Mrs. Sandra Collins

'Athletic Heart' Top Myth

By Harold Thomas Hyman

I would like once again to draw your attention to that hardy medical myth, "the athletic heart." Like all fairy tales, it continues to be told and retold from generation to generation.

Without seeking any further explanation, the "athletic heart" is blamed for any and every attack that occurs to a participant in a sports contest of any sort. And to any and every attack that occurs to an athlete without regard to what he may have been doing at the time of his difficulty.

What should be, but won't be, the last nail in the coffin of this medical myth has been furnished by Drs. Curran and White of the Massachusetts General Hospital. With the cooperation of Mrs. Clarence DeMar, these famous cardiologists examined the heart of Mr. DeMar, who was popularly known in the world of amateur athletics as "Mr. Marathon."

During the course of his life, DeMar, who had been told in his youth that he had a "weak heart," participated in 1,000 long distance races, including 100 marathons of 25 miles or more.

The first of DeMar's long distance runs of record took place in 1909 when he was 21. In that race, a cross-country event, he finished fourth and was awarded his letter at the University of Vermont where he ran as an undergraduate.

The last of his races was a 15 kilometer "marathon" (about 10 miles) that he ran at the age of 69 at Ithaca, N. Y. And, in the intervening 48 years, he ran 84 marathons and, in seven of them, was winner.

In the last of these marathons, that he ran at the age of 66, he finished 78th in a field of 133 qualified runners.

Nor is that all. In addition to working as farm manager, proofreader and teacher, he ran two evenings a week, took a degree in fine arts at Harvard in 1916 and his master's degree in education at Boston University in 1922.

And, in 1912, he represented us in the Olympic games but failed to finish due, in his opinion, to a vegetarian diet that was inflicted on him by the trainers and officials of the team.

Yet withal, including an operation for an intestinal cancer some two years before his death, his heart and its coronary vessels revealed no changes other than those that might have been found if he'd lived his 69 years commuting between bedroom and dining room. "Athletic heart" indeed!

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the standard tricks of the political trade is for individual congressmen to conduct public opinion polls in their respective districts to prove how right they are.

But when the results of such polls produce results exactly opposite to what the national public opinion surveys show, questions are naturally raised on the accuracy of both.

According to recent Gallup polls, for instance, 63 per cent of the people think the United Nations is doing a good job and 90 per cent believe that the United States should not give up its membership in the world organization.

Over 75 per cent of the people are reported by the national polls as thinking that President Kennedy is doing a good job, over 70 per cent think the Democrats are better able to deal with the issues now before Congress, and so on.

Results are so one-sided as to be monotonous.

When matched against some of the regional, state and local polls, however, results come out in sharp conflict.

The easy explanation for this reversal is that a poll conducted in, say, a congressional district that is rock-ribbed reactionary or a state with a long conservative tradition, the answers are bound to come out anti-Kennedy, anti-Democratic, anti-internationalist and right down the line right-wing.

Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, R-Ind., has just conducted such a poll in his sixth district of ten rich farm counties extending roughly from the western suburbs of Indianapolis, west to the state line and including Terre Haute.

Indiana has a reputation for being an extremely conservative state although it now has one Democratic senator, Vance Hartke, and four Democratic congressmen out of eleven.

The sixth district is historically Republican although it voted Democratic in 1958.

Roudebush, a livestock commission man, recaptured it for the GOP in 1960 and is now serving his first term.

Roudebush asked the newspapers in his district to run his poll. Twenty-seven of them co-operated — eight dailies and 19 weeklies, getting 2,000 replies in a district where 162,000 votes were cast in 1960.

The most revealing result of the Roudebush poll—and others like it conducted by congressmen—is the degree of conservative sentiment. This reveals the strength of the right-wing reaction in many parts of the country.

These are the results, showing from 2-1 to better than 9-1 opposition to key Kennedy programs:

Do you favor the U. S. purchasing $100 million in bonds to help finance the United Nations? No, 84.5 per cent.

Do you favor federal aid to education? No, 85 per cent.

Do you favor a postal rate increase? No, 64 per cent.

Do you favor medical care for the aged through Social Security? No, 83 per cent.

Do you favor the President's request to raise the federal debt limit over $298 billion? No, 84 per cent.

Do you favor the President's free trade and lower tariff proposals? No, 67 per cent.

Do you favor the creation of a Department of Urban Affairs? No, 89 per cent.

Do you favor foreign aid to Communist nations who have declared themselves independent of the U.S.S.R.? No, 91 per cent.

Do you favor trade with Red bloc nations? No, 91 per cent.

Would you grant the President's request for authority and new power to regulate income tax rates and unemployment benefits without Congressional action? No, 95 per cent.

Results of this kind are probably obtainable in many districts of the country, so the Roudebush poll may be considered typical of farm belt and grass roots sentiment.

In spite of the President's personal popularity, his combined Republican-Democratic, conservative opposition is still a factor to be reckoned with on specific issues.

Phil Newsom Says:

Nothing To It

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Take it from me, editors are a sadistic lot. They enjoy dissecting live hyperboles and pulling wings off helpless little metaphors.

But what gives them their greatest pleasure is thinking up horrendous assignments for reporters.

Keeping that in mind, consider next that I get my daily exercise by hoisting cigars to and from my chopes.

And then be advised that the President's Council on Youth Fitness is setting up a pioneer program here with a view toward developing a national physical fitness test.

Lumped together, these three items explain why a raw, windy day this week found me out on an athletic field facing an experimental obstacle course that will be used in the pilot program.

The obstacle course, please understand, was designed for youngsters. Assigning an adult newspaperman to give it a trial run proves nothing. But such are the workings of the editorial brain.

The course, not yet completed, requires the participants to jump hurdles, hand-walk a horizontal ladder, swing on parallel bars, scale a wall and engage in other similar pursuits.

I arrived on the premises in the company of a Recreation Department employe, who had agreed to serve as my instructor. Adroit questioning brought out that he weighed 212 pounds.

We began at the wall. My instructor grabbed the top with his hands and tried to swing his leg over. Then he took off his topcoat and tried it again.

The demonstration ended with him in his shirt-sleeves out still on the astral side of the wall.

"I'm just showing you the technique," he said when his breath returned. "Go ahead and try it."

"I get the idea," I said. "Let's move on to some of these other things."

"Maybe it would be better if you came back some day after the course has been completed," he said, still puffing slightly. "Then you can get a real workout."

I agreed to a postponement, but I wouldn't want you to think that I couldn't have made it if I had tried. In fact, I'm in pretty good condition now that I've changed cigars.

I switched from panettas to coronas, which are bigger and require more muscle to lift.

An ancient Greek, Dada-dalus, invented what my have been world's first robot—a wooden cog that could move its legs.

Records Fall, Threatened At Seminole Meet

KNEE DEEP IN Outdoors

By Jack Trim
The St. Johns River Outboard Marathon Assn. has received word that the American Power Boat Assn. agreed to sanction the race as a special event.

L. M. Howard of Jacksonville, chairman of the race rules committee, advised D. H. MacGillis of Sanford, secretary of the association, to complete the APBA forms to make the sanction official for the May 6 marathon from Sanford to Jacksonville and return.

Plans for the fourth annual run of the event have progressed to the point of mailing entry information to the racing boat drivers all over the country.

Preparations have been made to contact the outstanding drivers now in competition and invite them to enter the marathon. A special banquet and entertainment at the Sanford Shrine Club for all entrants and their pit crews will be added to the race agenda.

Since there have been no serious mishaps connected with the St. Johns marathon since it began in 1958, most of the memories of the event are pleasant, and some amusing.

For instance—the case of one driver who zoomed up toward the turn-around point at Jacksonville, made his turn and focused his attention on switching the fuel flow from one gas tank to another.

While he was engrossed in switching tanks, his boat turned around and when he zoomed again he was zooming the

Mets Back In 1st Win

United Press International
It's official now. Casey Stengel's rag-tag crew has won its first major league exhibition game under the banner of the New York Mets.

Just when the "old man" was beginning to think his patchwork team would never score a run let alone win a game, up bounced the new National League entry Sunday with a late inning rally that produced a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and almost made Stengel believe he was still managing the Yankees.

Ello Chacon, the little infielder who sparked the Cincinnati Reds to their only victory in the 1961 World Series, and Clarence (Choo Choo) Coleman, a reclim from Spokane who was picked 15th in the special draft to stock the Mets and Houston Colt 45's, were the heroes of the first victory for the New Yorkers.

Stengel, his crystal-ball in working order again after the Mets had gone 16 innings without a run carrying over their 8-0 loss to the Cards on Saturday, made the correct pick in the eighth inning when he sent up Coleman to pinch-hit with Chris Cannizaro on base via a walk. Choo Choo made Casey look good by rifling the third pitch served up to him by Johnny Kucka over the right field wall for the first runs ever scored by the Mets.

The shot produced a welcome roar from the crowd of 2,574, which grew even louder when Chacon, Red Kamehl and Gus Bell followed with three straight singles to tie the score at 3-3. Chacon, who "could win the shortstop's job if he hits," according to Stengel, then wrapped it up when with two outs in the ninth he singled through the left side after Richie Ashburn had doubled.

For the record, Bob Botz, who pitched the ninth inning, was the winner for the Mets; Chacon stole the first base, and Chacon, Charlie Neal and Cannizaro collaborated for the team's first doubleplay.

While the fledgling Mets were basking in their victory, a flock of home runs helped produce decisions up and down the grapefruit and cactus leagues.

Homers by newcomers Charlie Smith (Phillis) and Bob Farley (Giants) helped the Chicago White Sox beat the Reds for the second straight time, 10-3; Mark Jones clouted two homers and Len Gabrielson and Henry and Tommy Aaron one each in the Milwaukee Braves' 10-6 win over the Detroit Tigers; Elston Howard's three-run homer in the eighth inning enabled the world champion New York Yankees to nip the Baltimore Orioles, 5-4, before a crowd of 11,148 at Miami, the biggest crowd of the day, and Bob Schmidt's grand-slammer in the fifth inning sparked the Washington Senators to a 7-6 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Cubs hit three of them — by Billy Williams, Lou Brock and George Altman — but a single to center by Don Gillie in the eighth inning produced the winning run in the Boston Red Sox' 6-5 squeaker over Chicago.

SHS Drops Baseball Opener

By Ronnie Broadway
Herald Sports Editor
Coach Jim McCoy's Seminole High baseballers dropped their first baseball action of the season Friday afternoon, as they were defeated by the Edgewater Eagles 6-4.

First inning action was over rapidly with the visiting Eagles going down quickly. Roscoe Bowen led off for the Seminoles with an infield out, followed by strikeouts by Chuck Ogden and Mike Caolo.

The Eagles picked up one in the second as they rapped out base hits to bring the first run of the game.

Sanford retired them with no other runs scored. Steve Barnes led off the Seminole second with a single, the first Seminole hit of the game. Gary Davidson followed with a walk, moving Barnes to second. Butch Riser then walked to the plate and laid down a perfect bunt to load the bases. With nobody out and the bases full, big Jack Caolo lined a booming single to the outfield to score two big runs for Sanford.

Don Harvey followed and struck out, but Jack Caolo stole second in the process. Hurrier Bobby Johnson followed with a walk to load the bases again. Bowen followed with a double to short and was safe on first on an attempted double play. Riser scored on the play and Caolo, playing heads-up ball, hurried across the plate with the fourth run. Johnson was forced at second on the play for the second Seminole out. Ogden struck out to end the big Seminole inning.

The Eagles picked up one in their half of the third and the Seminoles drew a blank for the inning. The Eagles tied it up in the fourth as they scored two. Harvey singled for Sanford and this was the only runner for the Seminoles in the fourth. The Eagles took the lead in the fifth inning, scoring one. The Seminoles went down in order to end the inning. Both teams went down in order in the sixth.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The boy behind me in Freshman English brings a knitting bag to school and knits in class. He appears to be normal in every respect, but how can this be? At first everyone giggled and made remarks, but now nobody pays any attention to it. He is very good-looking, clean-cut and polite, but a little on the effeminate side. I would really like to get to know him better but my dorm sisters tell me there must be something wrong with him. Can a boy be normal and knit in public?

ON THE LEVEL.

DEAR ON: He certainly can. And any male who knits in public is obviously masculine enough to defend himself.

DEAR ABBY: I think I am psychic. My husband is in the Navy and stands guard duty now and then. When he has guard duty, he has to sleep at the barracks. Something told me, the last time he said he had guard duty, that he really didn't and that he went out with another woman instead. I did some checking and found out he got a buddy to take his duty—and he did not sleep at the barracks. When I told him I knew he wasn't at the barracks, he admitted it, but denied there was a woman in the picture. Should I believe him? And how do you account for my knowing as much as I did without being told? PSYCHIC WIFE

DEAR PSYCHIC: Call it a combination of knowing your own husband and a woman's intuition. Believe him this time, but don't give him too much rope or he'll skip again.

DEAR ABBY: Tell UNUSUAL BREED that he is not as "unusual" as he thinks he is. As a young man, some fifty years ago, I determined to stay "pure" for the woman I married. And I have known many other young men along life's way who had the same idea. From a backward look over seventy years, I can attest that it was a good idea. Although death took two wives from me, I have never violated that principle, and I can truthfully say I have—

NO REGRETS

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend's birthday falls four days before mine. If I give him a gift, do you think he will think I am doing it so he will give me one? SHIRLEY

DEAR SHIRLEY: If you think he'll think that's the reason — he probably will, too. (P. S. Is it?)

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

When in a bad contract, don't give up if there is any way to make it. Give the cards a chance and they may produce for you.

It was one of those noisy catch-as-catch-can bridge games. The hour was late and North overlooked the fact that his Blackwood call was likely to lead to a loss if South did not have at least three aces.

When South responded five hearts, North knew he was in trouble but could only pass and hope for the best. East passed also, but only after a long huddle.

A club lead would have cooked South's goose right away, but West opened the four of spades. East won with

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

"Even the shyest clubwoman can overcome her fear of talking in public, by talking at home." So says a woman who has written a book on public speaking.

What the typical woman's club needs isn't fewer shy members who are afraid to speak up, but fewer members who are ready to get on their feet at the drop of any motion, capable of talking on and on and on without saying anything.

Get together a bunch of women in a club and there's a lot more talk than action. Why, a group of women can't even vote to send a two-dollar bunch of flowers to a sick member without a 30-minute discussion.

Highlights TV Time Previews

7-7:30 p. m. ABC. Expedition. "Behind The Walls of Kano." A little lacking in the adventure that is expected from an "adventure" program, but intriguing in its view of a desert walled city that inspired such stories as "Heau Geste." Unlike most ancient areas that are feeling the touch of modernization, Kano has two separate and distinct areas: its airport, hospital and factories; and its ancient buildings and customs that are untouched by progress or by the taint of tourism. Explorer Douglas Betting filmed the program while on an archeological tour for the University College of Ghana, Col. John D. Craig is host.

8-8:30 p. m. CBS. Pete and Gladys. Mystery and mirth are blended in tonight's episode to fill a pleasing, if not pixilated, half hour. When a nervous Uncle Paul (Gale Gordon) arrives carrying an expensive jade Buddha, a gang of art thieves is not far behind. Gladys hopes to foil their plans by hiding the object d'art in a most improbable spot. Cara Williams and Harry Morgan star with guests Frances Rafferty and Berry Kroeger.

8:30-9 p. m. ABC. The Rifleman. "The Tinhorn." A good, absorbing poker game is tonight's feature with one element that one rarely sees in a TV or movie western—financial reality. The telecast opens with Lucas losing not a few hundred or thousand dollars, but a quick fourteen bucks. The stakes go higher as the program reaches a climax, but never leave the realm of reality. A good tight western all the way through.

Festival Set For Daytona

The 1962 Florida Conference Theater Festival, to be held in Daytona Beach May 18 through the 27th, has completed plans that will bring live theater, featuring outstanding plays, from throughout our state.

Mrs. Edwin Gray, of the Daytona Beach Little Theater which is the host group for the Conference Theater Festival, has been assured of the complete cooperation of Volusia County Commissioners, Daytona Beach city officials, the Publicity Department of the Greater Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce and Community Promotions, Inc., a non profit civic organization who assists in bringing outstanding activities to this area. "It really looks like 1962 will be the big year for our conference," said Mrs. Gray. "I have no doubt that each of our presentations will play to a full house. A vigorous campaign through the media of newspaper, television and radio will be made, to let the citizens of our state know of their opportunity to see stage plays that dazzled Broadway." Efforts are being made to get Erskine Caldwell, or another well known author or playwright, to attend one of the many seminars to be held during the festival.

Registration will be at festival headquarters — the Carousel Motel—on May 18th. A reception and get acquainted party heads the list of activities during the festival.

Girl Scouts Attend Camp

A weekend campout beginning on March 2 was made by Girl Scout Troop 497 under the leadership of Mrs. John Hall at Mead Gardens in Winter Park.

After pitching their tent, the girls built a campfire and enjoyed a pig-in-the-blanket supper followed by a program and period of songs and games.

Saturday morning, after breakfast, they conducted a flag ceremony and later learned the art of knot-tying and lashing. For dinner that evening the girls had one-pot individual meals and enjoyed another evening of campfire activity.

After the Sunday morning meal, the troop held a Scouts Own and shortly after lunch broke camp in order to arrive home by 2 p. m.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hall accompanied the girls along with Nancy Fishinger, Winter Park senior scout.

Girls attending from Troop 497 were Vicki Brannon, Leslie Carmichael, Sandra Elliott, Jane Epinger, Cheryl Hall, Candace Herrington, Patti Stevenson and Linda Watt.

Following her talk Mrs. Weber began an oil painting of a hibiscus, the club flower, which she completed as the club conducted its business session when, other than electing officers, the group voted to donate $50 to the Altamonte Library Fund.

To conclude the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess committee which included Mrs. Frank O'Brien, chairman and Mrs. E. R. Gaskill, Mrs. Curtis Jones, Mrs. K. A. Jube, and Mrs. Frank Henderson. Mrs. H.C. Seaman presided at the coffee service.

The dainty party foods, decorated in keeping with a St. Patrick's Day theme, were served from a green net covered buffet table centered with an arrangement using the club flower. Graceful white tapers flanked the arrangement. Cookies were topped with a green shamrock which doubled as a lapel pin.

Spotlight On 'Scouting' At C-TP Meeting

By Jane Casselberry

The spotlight was on "Scouting" at this month's meeting of the South Seminole Elementary School Council of Teachers and Parents held last Tuesday night in the school auditorium.

South Seminole Elementary Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, attending the meeting in uniform, were given standing recognition and girls of Troop 442 formed a color guard and led in the flag salute and singing of "God Bless America."

Guest speakers were Mrs. Frank Russell, neighborhood chairman of the Lyman Girl Scout Neighborhood Assn. and leader of Troops 338 and 339 and Walter Krohne, vice chairman of leadership training for the Central Florida Council of Boy Scouts of America and cubmaster of Pack 340 of Casselberry.

Both emphasized the importance of scouting in instilling the qualities of good citizenship and strengthening character in youth and stressed the need for more men and women to serve as leaders in all phases of the program.

Mrs. Russell, in area scouting for the past eight years, told of rapid growth of the movement in the Lyman Neighborhood during the past two years from seven troops to the present 15.

She pointed out that several more troops will be needed in the Fall and asked that those interested in volunteering to assist contact her.

She also explained why the annual cookie sales are conducted and gave the percentage breakdowns for proceeds which go to funds of the participating troops and to the Citrus Council for maintenance and improvement of Camp Ticochee near Barberville.

During two weeks of the sale this year, girls of the Lyman Neighborhood have sold $2,400 worth of cookies, but that there always is a need for more leaders.

He briefly reported on work of Scout Troops and Cub Packs both in Altamonte Springs and in Casselberry.

2 Seminole Groups To Protest Building Halt

Seminole County builders and mortgage bankers plan to protest a Federal Housing Administration directive ordering a temporary halt to speculative home building under FHA financing.

while another said it "could cause a panic in the area citing large unemployment in construction work." William Wilcox, regional director in Miami for the FHA, emphasized the directive does not affect homes already built or being built under FHA approval, even if the homes are without buyers. Neither will the order affect individuals who pick out a house and want to buy it under the FHA—as long as they can qualify. Wilcox said the ruling is aimed at letting demand for homes "catch up with the present oversupply." The FHA in Washington said the Florida housing market is "temporarily soft." Wilcox predicted the directive would be in effect "only a very short time."

Casselberry Gets Liquor Petition

The issue over Sunday sales of beer, wine and liquor in Casselberry was put before the City Board again Monday night in the form of a petition asking that the town conform with county laws.

Mrs. Mahel Griffin, who sponsored circulation of the petition said to contain enough signatures of the town's registered voters to bring the matter to a referendum, presented it to the board.

She read a report itemizing various personal opinions through direct statement and inference but containing no direct appeal in regards to the petition.

Chairman Paul Bates, visibly upset over the derogatory report and frankly admitting that it "utterly confused" him, called upon the people to weigh the situation before forming an opinion.

The lengthy list of names with its separate listing of residents who live in the area but out of the city limits, was turned over to Mrs. Lillian Beisel, town clerk, for a check against the voter registration books.

An annexation ordinance for an area west of Hwy. 17-92 was approved only after Bates split the tie vote of George Howard and Cliff Overman for and Mrs. Hope Bennett and Robin Lady against.

The area, running up and covering part of SR 427, includes the ACL railroad and depot and Inland Material, Inc. Objections of Mrs. Bennett and Lady were based on the unpaved roads in the area which Lady said could be a "serious detriment posing a huge indebtedness."

He asked every citizen present to drive through the area and make an inspection.

"This council seems bound to put the town in such a condition that property tax is going to become a necessity," he said.

Second reading of the ordinance will be made at the board's next meeting.

In other business the board approved the Fire Dept. budget including funds for its radio system; Approved a plan for the town to work with the county and Seminole Raceway on an estimated quarter million dollar municipal connecting link paving program;

Accepted a plat for development of one block on Kenta Rd. subject to inspection and approval of Town Attorney Kenneth McIntosh;

WORK STARTED THIS morning on renovating the old county jail into a first class city police station. The first step in the $12,000 program is the scraping of old paint on the top floor. The job is expected to be completed in two months. (Herald Photo)

Members of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Dept. are expected to discuss continued coverage outside the Fire District (old Precinct 10) at today's 8 p.m. monthly business meeting at the Fire Hall.

Unofficial recommendations made at a meeting Monday night of the District Commissioners leave the matter to the discretion of the Fire Chief and the volunteers on hand when a call for service out of the district is made.

The volunteers also will hear a report from the commissioner's meeting on insurance rate reductions resulting from recent improvements and closer compliance with

Cubans Register For Rationing

HAVANA (UPI) — Cubans started registering for coupons today in preparation for drastic nationwide rationing of basic foodstuffs and soap ordered by Premier Fidel Castro.

Rationing, which Castro said was forced by the "imperialist U. S. blockade," begins next Monday.

Commodities affected by the new restrictions include such staples of the Cuban diet as rice and beans, as well as meat, milk and cooking fats.

Castro said Cubans can expect the following allotments of food and household necessities:

Lard—One pound per person per month, a ration already in effect.
Rice—Six pounds per person per month.
Beans—1½ pounds per person per month.
Soap—One cake of laundry soap and one cake of bath soap per person per month, plus one medium-sized package of detergent per person or a large package for two persons.

Toothpaste — one medium-sized tube per person per month or one-quarter of a large tube.

The board had haggled back and forth on just how much time to give property owners to fix up the structures and agreed to give owners 90 days to repair or remove the buildings which have been termed health and safety hazards.

An attorney from Tarpon Springs was the only person at the hearing. He said he represented one of the property owners tied up now in litigation over several of the structures. He promised action as soon as the litigation was finished. "It could drag on for years," said Commissioner Earl Higginbotham.

2 Die In Train, Truck Accident

FORT MEADE (UPI) — Two persons were killed shortly before dawn today and two seriously burned in the fiery crash of a freight train and an automobile carrier truck near here.

The Highway Patrol said the driver of the truck and the train's engineer died in the crash. Two others on the train were seriously burned.

The patrol said the accident happened two miles west of Fort Meade, which is 12 miles south of Bartow on U. S. 17. Investigating officers said an Atlantic Coast Line phosphate train was pulling away from a mining area when the collision occurred.

The impact of the crash derailed the locomotive and it fell on top of the truck. Diesel fuel from the locomotive spilled over the area and caught fire.

$4.9 Billion In Aid Requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy asked Congress today for nearly $4.9 billion in foreign aid and said any less might lead to trouble that all the "armies and atoms" of the United States could not put down.

The State Industrial Commission said Monday that non-farm employment hit 1,402,000 in December and 1,392,300 in January. Both totals were higher than any other month before.

On the dark side, Industrial Commission Chairman A. Worley Brown said unemployment rose from 96,200 in December to 115,900 in January.

Imported Citrus Called Threat

WAVERTY (UPI) — If citrus production costs keep rising, foreign fruit will have a price advantage on the U. S. market, it was predicted Monday.

W. C. Pedersen, president of the Waverly Growers Cooperative, said that last week a shipment of Jaffa oranges arrived in New York City from Israel.

Pedersen said duty on foreign fruit is so small that overseas shippers can afford to ship to the U. S. market and compete with domestic fruit prices.

He said unless labor and other costs don't stop rising, U. S. growers will be in for some serious competition in their own country.

Seminole Has 16 Traffic Deaths

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Only Gilchrist and Liberty counties got by 1961 without a single traffic fatality.

The State Highway Patrol said in its yearly report that all other counties had a part in the highway slaughter that left 1,164 traffic dead and 48,054 injured.

The death toll in Seminole County was 16; Volusia, 40, and Orange 31. The death rate amounted to 5.4 per 100 million miles of travel.

Highway deaths so far this year are running ahead of the same period in 1961.

$29,000 Year Voted To Retire 1924 B Bonds

The City Commission Monday night agreed to budget approximately $29,000 per year for the next 16 years to pay off series B bonds and finance a sewage treatment plant by 1977 indicating that the money would come out of the utility budget which would mean an increase of from 85 to 90 cents per customer in the city.

After a lengthy session, the board asked fiscal agent Loomis Leedy to come up with a firm bond schedule on financing the project which, according to City Manager W. E. Knowles, would help improve the city's fiscal standing and would give the city a "planned bonding program for the first time."

Knowles pointed out today that if the program is not put into effect, thousands of dollars of debt would have to be refinanced in 1977 at an interest rate three times "what we are now paying."

The Series B bonds would be retired on a schedule so they will not have to be refinanced.

At the present time, Sanford budgets $8,260 for principal and $10,425 for interest under these bonds for a total of $18,685.

According to Knowles, Sanford must be prepared to pay an additional $10,000 per year on principal under the proposed $300,000 issue for a sewage treatment plant.

The series B bonds were floated in 1924 to purchase the city water system.

Work On Jail Starts

Work on renovating the old county jail into a first class city police station and jail started this morning.

Monday night, the City Commission gave the okay for the renovation with the stipulation that it not exceed $12,000.

The money for the project will come out of surplus funds which City Manager W. E. Knowles explained "are in good shape."

In other business, the commission agreed to purchase 30 automatic parking meters at a cost of $10.50 each;

Gave final approval authorizing the joint use of the county registration rolls;

Tabled action on installing 19 street lights in the area from W. 16th St. to W. 18th St.

Act On Old Buildings

The City Commission decided to condemn 17 dilapidated structures in the W. Ninth St. area but only after City Attorney William Hutchison warned the board to "take action one way or another."

At the public hearing on the structures, Hutchison pointed out: "This is a critical hearing, and first of its kind, and some action must be taken... one way or another."

The board had haggled back and forth on just how much time to give property owners to fix up the structures and agreed to give owners 90 days to repair or remove the buildings which have been termed health and safety hazards.

An attorney from Tarpon Springs was the only person at the hearing. He said he represented one of the property owners tied up now in litigation over several of the structures. He promised action as soon as the litigation was finished. "It could drag on for years," said Commissioner Earl Higginbotham.
