LATE WIRES

(By The Associated Press) MANY NOMINATIONS. WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—More than 2,000 nominations including that of Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota to be ambassador to Great Britain were sent to the senate by President Coolidge.

SURE OF CALIFORNIA WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Coolidge not only has definitely entered the race for the Republican presidential nomination next year, but some of his friends are preparing to put his name on primary ballot in California, home state of Senator Hiram Johnson, William H. Crocker, Republican National committeeman from California who called on the president Monday, said he wished his chances of heaven as good as chances of President Coolidge to carry California against Johnson.

WOULD CENSOR MOVIES BRADENTOWN, Dec. 10.—Strict censorship over motion pictures was advocated in report of Temperance and social service presented to Florida Methodist conference Monday. Governor Hardee was commended for his favorable attitude toward prohibition.

AMUSEMENTS

"SOME WILD OATS" OPENS AT MILANE THEATRE MONDAY The motion picture "Some Wild Oats" now being shown at the Milane Theatre, is unusual from the regular run of pictures. It hesitates at nothing; it is to the point.

One doesn't have to work their imagination while watching a screening of "Some Wild Oats" to get the full meaning of the picture's various scenes. Likewise, after seeing it, it would be a very dull mind that didn't comprehend that the wages of sin are indeed death, or worse, suffering.

The picture is being shown for separate audiences of men and women. In one respect, it speaks more plainly than the other pictures on this subject, shown during the war.

It recounts the experience of one young country man who enlisted for naval service, who was determined to have his fling before binding himself for a term of years in his country's needs.

He sought aid from a friend who had traversed the glittering path and met misfortune on the way. When efforts on the part of the friend failed to dissuade the country boy from his purpose, when even a recounting of the friend's bitter experience failed to turn him, the friend determined he should be saved. His method for doing this is told on one side of the screen story.

The story of the man who had none to warn him is told in a series of unusual pictures. A story of long years spent in a fight for rehabilitation of a young girl's life brought to the verge of ruin. It is a story to make even the most casual thinker pause, this screen drama of the social evil and its far reaching effects on society.

BUDGET PROVIDES

An additional $1,600,000 for prohibition enforcement is asked of Congress, President Coolidge stating that a considerably enlarged field force should be provided. He added that he would present to Congress soon a supplement estimate of $20,000,000 mainly for additional vessels for the Coast Guard because of the need for a material increase in the personnel and equipment of that service "for the purpose of combating more thoroughly rum-running and unlawful importations." If this appropriation is granted the President said he would ask for an additional $6,000,000 later for a similar purpose.

The total appropriation proposed for prohibition and narcotic enforcement is $10,511,324 as against $8,821,602 for the present year.

The largest single item in the $228,000,000 of expenditures by the Treasury Department is $11,530,000 for the refunding of taxes erroneously collected. The cost of tax collection is estimated at $35,576,000 while the cost of collecting customs revenues is placed at $12,821,845. Operations of the Coast Guard will account for another $10,000,000.

For good roads an expenditure of $90,000,000 is proposed, an increase of $5,000,000 over the outlay estimated for this year. This accounts for more than two-thirds of the $144,000,000 estimate for the Department of Agriculture.

A reduction of more than $22,000,000 in the estimated deficit of $24,679,673 in postal revenues is forecast for next year. Postal service expenditures payable from postal revenues are calculated at $11,210,000 as compared with $568,630,000 this year.

Benefit of Christmas Fund ST. AUGUSTINE, Dec. 8. THAT DOLLAR

One time I had a dollar bill,
 And it was worth a dollar;
 It bought a shirt, two pair of socks,

 A pair of socks is a dollar now,

Florida should be proud of her football team. Three of its members, Robinson, Goldstein and Newton, gained places on the All-Southern.

In discussing his possible presidential candidacy, Henry Ford remarked recently, "Wouldn't it be funny if I ran?" Yes it would be funny if any Ford ran.

Lloyd George recently delivered sixty speeches totaling one hundred and eighty thousand words, in three weeks. Wonder what President Coolidge thinks of a man like that.

Captain Hubbard of the Harvard football team has organized a Blue Shirt Club for the purpose of cutting down laundry bills. What's the matter with a Blue Shirt Club for Sanford?

We have Sunkist Oranges, lemons and other California products, and if Hiram Johnson has his way we will have a Sunkist President. And he will see that the Sunkist State stays Sunkist undiluted by foreign osculation. —Produce Bulletin.

The excavation in this State a few days ago of the bones of a mammoth supposed to have been thirty feet long, and supposed to have trod these shores 50,000 years ago, is proof that there have always been big things in Florida—just as there are today. —St. Petersburg Times.

The Homestead Leader says: "The Sanford Herald, seven column daily that has a metropolitan air that does credit to the staff behind it and the town it boasts, still keeps in the front rank of Florida newspapers. Three Miami men are now piloting its evidently prosperous course through the sea of journalism. They are Reese Combs, R. L. Dean, and R. H. Berg. Mr. Combs and Mr. Berg were formerly connected with the Miami Daily Metropolis and Mr. Dean shows marks of the journalistic talent that made his father a power in the newspaper field of this state. The Leader joins the rest of the state press in wishing the new owners of the Herald continued success."

President Coolidge has spoken. After months of silence the Chief Executive personally delivered a message to the new congress which has been hailed both with delight and censure. At any rate he has committed himself, made certain recommendations, and intends to do his best to see that they are carried out. It is evident that the Republican majority is not too anxious to go very far with legislation, even if it were possible, divided as it is, until after the presidential election.

The Asheville Citizen declares that the Old Guard has little cause for comfort at this season and that it is furnishing the Democratic party with plenty of good campaign material. The Citizen says:

The crusading insurgents of the Republican Party surrendered with little in the way of concessions to glorify their revolt and with uncertain prospects of doing anything more than giving the Old Guard worlds of trouble in carrying out the majority program. The Progressives, in the first place, have no definite policy worthy of the name and, if they had one, they cannot write it into laws without the aid of Democratic votes which will not be forthcoming, for the Democracy has no desire to shoulder responsibility for whatever this Congress does or leaves undone.

But will the majority of the Republican organization be greatly distressed if the wicked Progressives prevent their revising taxes and performing all the other useful labors to which the President properly urges them? The Old Guard secretly rejoices over an excuse to tell the country that all that is needed for prosperity and wise administration of public affairs is a further strengthening of the party machine in the 1924 election, with consequent rebuke of the rebels in the Republican army. Even were the party united, the Republicans are not anxious to go very far in any kind of legislation until after the presidential election.

The eyes of the nation are on Washington. Will Congress do anything? If it does not the people are going to want to know some better reason for neglect of duty than that party insurgency stood in the way. The Old Guard will have explanations to be sure, explanations that may turn the tables at the coming election.

Carrying Out the Peoples Mandate

The action of the City Commission at its meeting Monday afternoon indicates that no time is going to be lost in carrying out the wishes of the people.

The election date has been set for January 11 at which time the voters will be called upon to express themselves on the issue of $845,000 in bonds for acquiring water, electric light and gas plants. This amount has been apportioned as follows: Water works system $375,000; electric light plant $310,000 and gas plant $160,000.

Consulting Engineer Craig made it plain at the mass meeting that while the acquiring of a first class water system was paramount from the standpoint of safety, that the electric light plant was the one item in the three from which the city could expect a real revenue.

In other words, the city must build a water works system in order to get pure water for drinking purposes and for fire protection. This is absolutely necessary. From the standpoint of making money, the electric light plant must be built or purchased. From the standpoint of lower rates and better service, the gas plant should be acquired.

The people have already indicated their wishes. There is little doubt but what their sentiment will be registered in no uncertain terms at the forthcoming election and that the vote will be so overwhelming that the bonds, when sold, will bring a big premium.

Sanford is marching to a greater prosperity.

AS OUT OF THE heart are the issues of individual life, so out of the home is an instrument of good or ill, mightier than the school or the press of the pulpit.—Parke Godwin.

THE CROWNING fortune of a man is to be born to some pursuit which finds him employment and happiness, whether it be to make baskets or broadswords, or canals or statues, or songs.—Emerson.

Society's Debt to the Radical
 Asheville Citizen

So far as possible, lay aside personalities and consider, in the person of Robert M. La Follette, what the embattled and never compromising radical idea contributes to the working out of the problems of free government in this country.

As President of the United States, Senator LaFollette would be a political calamity. He is limited to the point of fanaticism in his vision of the eternal struggle between the groups which Woodrow Wilson recently called "the haves and the have-nots." In war time it was hard to determine whether LaFollette was a patriot or a rebel; but he is the militant apostle of the individual against vested interests and the conservatives who declare the old order is good and can be changed only at the extreme peril of the experimenters and everybody else.

If LaFollette has his way in the Sixty-Eighth Congress he will sack railroad transportation progress ten years and thereby slow down the wheels of forward movement in a thousand related enterprises. And yet, the principle of which he is the unprepossessing exemplar is that which ever works in the body politic to save the man from being enslaved by overwhelming devotion to material possessions, by ease and luxury which, unchecked, are in danger of accepting the doctrine that the individual is insignificant and his rights secondary to the rights of property.

Paying Accounts Before Christmas
 Polk County Record

Not that we are hinting, for hinting is bad taste, but we do suggest for the benefit of the business houses of the city that it would be conferring a large favor if those carrying accounts would see that they were settled before starting their Christmas buying.

The various stores, of course, carry an extra heavy stock at this season of the year and they must not only pay interest on money to finance it but in case collections are not complete on past accounts they have difficulty in making their financial arrangements.

There are many in all cities whose trade is valuable to the merchant and whose credit is unquestionable, but these customers take an unfair advantage of this by allowing their bills to run month after month simply because they do not bother to pay up. In this way the poor man who hasn't the credit standing to run bills over thirty days is often the better and more desired customer than the rich one.

President Coolidge's message is very much the message we would have expected the late President Harding to write if he had lived. President Coolidge advocates the World Court and recommends to the favorable consideration of the Senate the World Court of the League of Nations.

He repudiates the League of Nations and says that "the United States sees no reason to limit its own freedom and independence of action by joining it."

It seems obvious, however, that the United States would limit its freedom and independence of action by joining the League of Nations' World Court, where the most objectionable provisions of the League of Nations compact are operative in the most offensive form.

The President approves the tariff law and advocates a merchant marine, but looks forward to turning the government-owned ships over to private hands.

He approves the budget system for the conduct of government, approves Secretary Mellon's plans of tax reduction, advocates a proper improvement of our prison system, favors federal encouragement of education and a separate Department of Education and a place in the Cabinet for a Secretary of Education.

He favors railroad consolidations and coal mine consolidations, and hopes that these consolidations will relieve the difficulties of the present unsatisfactory situation in each case, although he does not make it entirely clear how a more complete private monopoly of the essentials of fuel and transportation is going to benefit the public.

The President, while opposed to public ownership of shipping, apparently is not opposed to all public ownership, and states that the established policy of "reclamation development" by the government should not be abandoned for any private control.

The President urges organization among the farmers to overcome their marketing difficulties, but does not offer much encouragement of government assistance. He seems to think that "God helps those who help themselves," and that consequently there is no occasion for the government to interfere.

The President opposes the soldiers' bonus. The message on the whole is extremely conservative, although it has a few semi-progressive recommendations.

It might be said that the Republican elephant stands pat with three feet and timidly tests the tingers of the Progressive bridge with the fourth foot.

The best things about the President's message are his support of Secretary Mellon's tax program, his educational recommendations, his advocacy of a limitation of child labor and a minimum wage law for women.

The worst things are his advocacy of our joining the League of Nations' World Court and his opposition to the soldiers' bonus.

As both of these declarations were unnecessary we must give the President credit for courage if not for a very accurate understanding of popular sentiment.

The three things that the people of the United States are most determined upon are: First, to keep free entirely from any further European complications; Second, to reward adequately the heroic men who brought us safely out of our last European entanglement; Third, to reduce as promptly as possible the burden of taxation which our recent adventure in European conflicts created.

If the President had said that he endorsed Secretary Mellon's plan of tax reduction and would not sign any soldiers' bonus bill that was not accompanied by some provision as the sales tax to supply the fund to pay the oldiers' bonus he would have adopted a much more popular policy.

And if he had allowed the World Court of the League of Nations to expire along with the discredited League of Nations and waited for an opportunity to establish genuine arbitration tribunal he would have been in a much stronger and sounder position.

President Coolidge's message, on the whole, will probably please the Republican Party more than it will please the public.

It may nominate him, but something more than this will be required to elect him.

The Peoples Forum

THANKS THE HERALD Editor, Sanford Herald: As President of the Florida Engineering Society, I take great pleasure in informing you that it is the sense of members of the profession that you be thanked for your very appropriate editorial of November 27, 1923, entitled "Don't Discourt Floridians." We believe you should be congratulated upon the stand taken and it is certain that you are well informed and have the right idea.

The technical engineers of Florida are doing all in their power toward the upbuilding of Florida and we are in a position more than any other set of men to know the necessity of conserving our resources, both men and material, and having public works done by men who understand local conditions and who are willing to work for reasonable compensation and who do not come into the state merely for big fees to be taken elsewhere. Of course, the Florida engineers expect compensation for their services as any other professional or business man, but we assure you that we are men of high standard who are looking for the best interests of Florida and as such we thank you again for this editorial, which is bound to do much good in Florida.

Very respectfully,
 W. W. Fineren.
 Jacksonville, Fla.

Pests

Until recently one could get a Government bulletin on the eradication of all pests except crooked stock salesmen. Now, even this deficiency has been filled. ### THE PATHS

Some time when you pass through the valley,
Where the two roads meet and part.

You may follow one path to the hill top,
And one down the deep vale's heart.

And ever the sheen and the shadow
Go playing at hide and seek;
A moment of warm, calm courage,
A moment of faltering weak.

And down to the heart of the valley
Or up to the crown of the hill,
Forever the sheen and the shadow
Go stealthily following still.

Whether you climb with the one path,
Or down by the other walk,
The sheen will cling at your shoulder,
The shade at your heel will stalk.

And he who would go in safety,
Must walk with a purpose true,
Nor care what the sheen shall promise
Nor fear what the shade shall do.

Some time when you pass through the valley,
Where the two paths wait for you,
Be sure that your joy will meet you,
Be sure that your cross will too.

ESPIRITU SANTO SPRINGS and its developments

Does not the above illustration picture an imposing group of structures?

Does it not bring to your mind many delightful Spanish associations?

Does it not strike you as just the sort of development which should be built over and around the mineral springs named "Espiritu Santo" by De Soto in 1539?

These springs, discovered on the day of the Feast of the Holy Spirit in the 16th Century, were known for their curative properties by Spanish explorers, the inhabitants of Florida, and the West Indies even before their discovery by Hernando de Soto.

They have a record of unfailing cures to both Indians and Whites ever since that time.

Romantic people often claim that one of them is the original Fountain of Youth spoken of by Ponce de Leon.

Do you not know that a spot so rich in historical associations and background, a place developed as partly shown in the above picture; a spring having the power to aid in the cure of many common human ailments and a location overlooking beautiful Old Tampa Bay will attract thousands of the nation's wealthiest people, each of whom will bring many dollars which will flow into the treasury of the corporation engaged in the development of these marvelous springs?

Whether or not the romantic legends passed down are true, Espiritu Santo Springs will henceforth be known not only as a Fountain of Youth and Health, but as a Fountain of Wealth.

Espiritu Santo Springs Incorporated, is a company organized to develop these marvelous health giving springs and it has already begun the construction of the pavilion which is the building at the right in the group pictured above.

This corporation is financing its operations partly through the sale of stock units. These units give each purchaser a share in the SIX POWERFUL PROFIT PRODUCERS combined by the developers, making an investment in Espiritu Santo Springs incorporated, more attractive than any other now offered in the State of Florida.

A BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED 8-PAGE SECTION of the Evening Independent which gives important historical facts about early explorers of the West Coast, battles between the whites and Indians, and other interesting subjects will be mailed you upon request.

GATOR PLAYERS HAVE FINE RECORDS

Accounts to Murphree, Pomeroy, Smith and Cornwall are Given— All Have Shown Up Well

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 11.—John A. Murphree's football record from 1920 to 1923 has been filled with success and the climax has not yet been reached. Playing in every game but one this season, his field generalship has shown itself prominently in the success of the University of Florida's "Fighting Gators." He thrilled the thousands of spectators who witnessed the games in Tampa, Lakeland, Deland, Gainesville, and West Point. It is not often that a 155-pounder advances so high.

Hadwork, however, is not his only strong point. He is an accurate passer (as well as a tar bucket on receiving) and a steady consistent kicker, ranking on Florida's squad second only to the famous Newton. Little, but heavy for his size, Murphree has fought and smiled his way through to prominence.

Murphree first entered the football field in his senior year at Gainesville high school. He made a regular berth then. Last year was his first year on college football and he broke in as a dependable substitute. This year he might well be considered a dependable regular.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. Dec. 11. Stuart Pomeroy, a former Duval high star and now a fleet-footed halfback on the University of Florida's team of "Fighting Gators" is one of the reasons for the strong offensive ability of the Florida team. Stuart plays right half, weighs 153 pounds, and is short, stocky and fast. When he takes the ball the fans are confident of seeing some fast, breath-taking sidestepping, exciting runs made.

Pomeroy graduated from Duval in 1919, leaving him a good scholastic athletic record. However, there as here he was but known for his ability on the gridiron and his cinder track.

He is of the type of runner that is never stopped until his feet are cut from under him and there are a couple of men setting on his back, as he has an uncanny ability of stop, turn, wriggle loose and sidestep when seemingly it is not possible to do so. This is fourth and last year on the "Gator eleven."

GAINESVILLE, Fla. Dec. 11. Sam C. Cornwall, member of the University of Florida varsity squad this year, started his football career with Hillsborough High school some years ago; moving to Jacksonville, he finished his high school playing with Duval High, being captain of that team in 1919.

All through his football career Sam has held down the pivot position and this probably is the cause of his great proficiency in that place at the present time. He is 21 years old, weighs 175 pounds and is 5 feet 10 inches tall.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 11.—Sam C. Cornwall, member of the University of Florida varsity this year started his football career with Hillsborough High School some years ago, moving from Tampa to Jacksonville, he finished his High School playing with Duval High, being captain of that team in 1919.

GETTING TO BE A ZOO

The White House recently was increased by one white collie dog, Monkoosh, named after the famous Wisconsin city apparently, has come to the kennel in the capital.

center that his aggregation won the southern championship. It is the opinion of many football critics that Cornwall is a coming All-Southern center and when it is considered that he has two more years in which to further develop his skill along this line. Those who have watched him in action predict recognition of his ability for the mythical eleven of the South before his term in school is completed.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. Dec. 8. Horace C. ("Horse") Smith, a member of this year's Florida varsity squad is another one of Duval's contributions to the "Fighting Gators."

"Horse" played four years with Duval High School, devoting his first two years to right guard and then was shifted to tackle for the other two. He was a member of the famous Duval team that had the distinction of winning the championship of the United States. Smith is 29 years old, weighs 140 pounds and is six feet one inch tall. He was also a member of the famous Florida "rat" team of last year being elected captain and successfully carried the team through the season of the undefeated champions of the Southern freshmen teams. During his "rat" year Smith played tackle, but this season he started at end and after Norton was hurt was shifted to guard where he played a wonderful game. He bids fair to develop during the two years he has with Florida into one of the "Gators" most consistent players.

STATE NEWS

Miami May Get Game
MIAMI, Dec. 8.—J. H. Kendrick of National University, Havana stopped over here Sunday on his return trip to Cuba from Rollins College where he went in connection with a game between the football squads of the two institutions. He had with him a contract for the Christmas Day game scheduled for Havana this year, and said negotiations were under way for a second clash between the teams to be played in Miami, January 1. Rollins defeated the Cuban eleven 86 to 0 last year, but Coach Kendrick expressed belief that his charge would atone for that loss this year.

Nearly Three Million
ORLANDO, Dec. 8.—Building permits issued here during the eleven months of 1923 ending with November totaled $2,924,094, only $78,374 less than for the entire year of 1922. Permits taken out in November reached $276,530. April, with $692,625, was the biggest month of the eleven. If December's permits reach the figures shown for last December when the aggregate was $524,154 the total for 1923 will go beyond three and a half million dollars.

Raymond Colado Of Tampa Elected To Lead Rollins Team

Special to The Herald, Dec. 11. Raymond Colado of Tampa, was elected captain to lead the 1924 football team of Rollins College at a meeting of the Tars held Monday at noon. Colado is a diminutive quarterback of the Tars and weighs only 130 pounds. He is 18 years of age and a member of the sophomore class, he has played in every Rollins game of the last two years and starred particularly in the contest with Florida and Stetson. Preparing for college at the High School in Tampa, he was a member of the Hillsboro football squad.

Dartmouth Drops Columbia
HANOVER, N. H. Dec. 11.—Dartmouth will sever football relations with Columbia, according to the schedule just announced for the 1924 season. The Columbia game, usually played at the end of the season, was dropped because Dartmouth officials felt that with many of their big games coming in October, they must and their season earlier to prevent the team from going stale at the end of a long, hard season. Yale and McGill universities are added to the 1924 slate, and Columbia, Boston U., Maine and Colby dropped. The schedule follows: September 27, Norwich; October 1, Norwich; October 11, Vermont; October 18, Yale in New Haven; October 25, Harvard in Cambridge; November 8, open; November 15, Cornell in New York.

VANDY CAPTAIN NAMED
NASHVILLE, Dec. 11.—Tuck Kelly of Whitesville, Ky., All-Southern guard of the 1922 and 1923 teams, was elected captain of the Vanderbilt football team at the annual Commemorative banquet here. At the banquet 14 letters for football were awarded, and Champ Pickens, Alabama jeweler and sportsman, personally awarded the Pickens trophy to Coach Dan McJuglin, symbolical of the South's best football as viewed by a majority vote cast by sports writers.

Relieved Boy's Cough.

For coughs, colds and hoarseness there is no better remedy on the market today than FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. It has stood the test of time, serving three generations. FLORIDA HONORS ALLSTAR PLAYERS

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 11.—Gainesville and the University of Florida's colorful student body of 1300 paid tribute and congratulated Captain Withrop Robinson, R. D. Newton and E. M. Goldstein, the 'Gators' outstanding pigskin triumvirate that was selected on the mythical All-Southern eleven for 1923 by a composite vote of thirty-two of Dixie's sports critics.

It is the first time that writers have ever placed a Florida grid warrior on the mythical, mystical and honored eleven. It marks the most spectacular feature of many constellations associated with the 1923 campaign of the fighting Gators from the University of Florida. It is one of the big steps of the season taken upward by Florida in the sport kingdom, and comes as a most fitting and enjoyable climax for the battles of the Orange and Blue.

Critics did not stop with one Florida selection this fall—they named three, and honorably mentioned four others. And in their selections the wisecracks can rest assured they made no mistake—Newton, Robinson and Goldstein is a trio of players that would bolster and inspire any of Dixie's ploughing machines.

Few of the thousands of fans who daily scan the sport pages throughout the South are really acquainted with the facts that surround the 1923 Florida grid eleven. There is more than a wee bit of romance hidden behind the squad that spread destruction and fear over two months of football campaigning just a short time ago.

Without hesitancy it is stated that Florida was represented on the grid battlefields this year by as clean an upright and noble bunch of men as ever played football for exercise and the love of the game. Florida never hopes to see another squad of men the equal of those who so gloriously defended the triumphant Orange and Blue this past season.

Robinson Great Leader
Another thing—the University of Florida was piloted in 1923 by a wonderful man—an ideal type of inspirational captain. His absence in future years will be felt. He was the first Gator chieftain to ever receive such an honor as has been bestowed upon him in the selection of All-Southern. Florida's gridmen were coached by an able and conscientious tutor, Coach James A. Van Fleet has proven himself a wonderful asset to Florida—building men for the after game of life in his work on Fleming Field this fall in developing a conference title contender.

His assistants, Tom Sebring, Everett Yon, and G. F. Webber, have won the admiration and respect of all who saw them. Captain Yon will be back with Major Van Fleet next fall. That is sure and it is hoped that Sebring can adjust plans to permit his returning and that Webber can see fit to again lend his services.

Florida in point of average age of team members is the youngest eleven that roamed the battlefields of Dixie in 1923. Just think of the Gator varsity averaging twenty years and a few months. Is not that a remarkable feature to be considered? How many college varsity teams today can show that record alone? And the great steam-roller that threatened the S. I. C. trophy just a few weeks ago was truly a representative Florida team. But three men on a squad of thirty were from an outside state. One of these, Captain Robinson, a Mobile boy, will not be back.

REGULAR meals served at The Phoenix, single meals, by the day or week. Try them. Advertisement. Miami—Building permits issued in 20 cities in State during first nine months of 1923 totaled $31,827,833 as compared with $30,780,542 for entire year of 1922.

MY LIFE WITH MAGGIE BY JIGGS

CHAPTER TWO
When Maggie and Me Were Young
If Maggie ever gets eyes on this book, I might as well get ready for me own wake. For this chapter will be about the courtin' of her and the marryin' of her—and I must begin with the truthful statement that I first saw Maggie Murphy dealin' dishes off the arm in O'Mulligan's place of business.

Stamin' dishes of corned beef and cabbage they was. I can smell 'em yet in the night-time, and the fragrance of it wakes me up mornin' and groanin' for hunger. Not all the hummin' birds wings at Delmonico's can make me forget it!

I was a young buck then—fresh-landed from Ireland and lookin' for gold dollars to grow on every lamp post in New York City. Dinty Moore was with me, God Bless Him! And though we found not a gold dollar at all we found many a good fight—and jobs as hod carriers.

Bricks Made Me Rich
That was me beginnin' with the bricks that one day was to make me rich. But the bricks must wait for the next chapter. I must tell here how Maggie stepped into me heart with a dish of corned beef and cabbage in one hand and a rollin' pin in the other.

"Dinty," I said, as we walked into O'Mulligan's the first night, "tis a glorious smell the place has."
"It has indeed," said Dinty Moore, "and 'tis a glorious young lady I see in the middle of it."
She was all that, was Maggie—then. She gave us extra helpin's, and it was not long before we was walkin' out on Saturday nights when there was no pinochle game at Dinty's or a fight to be had.

"Tis a fine girl—Maggie," said Dinty one evenin'. They say she makes the corned beef and cabbage herself, and will marry a man in the old country when he comes over."

"Does she indeed?" I said to Dinty. "Then she'll marry no man in the old country at all."
I Spoke too Soon

But I spoke too soon. For Maggie and me quarreled, and for two long weeks I did not see her. A miserable two weeks it was too, what with the loneliness on Saturday nights and no corned beef and cabbage at all. At the end of it I went to her—suddenlike, while I was walkin' in the park—and we married the Tuesday after in the spring of the year.

"Did you miss me, Maggie?" I asked her after the ceremony.

"I did, Jiggs," she said, "There was none at O'Mulligan's who ate like you did. And did you miss me?"

"I did, Maggie. I was walkin' in the park, and there was a fragrance in the air that made my heart ache."
"It was the violets," said Maggie, softly. "They made you think of me."
"No, Maggie, I told her, "It was corned beef and cabbage from a restaurant I was passin'. I just couldn't stay away, darlin'."

It was then Maggie used our wedding presents for the first time and I had me first lesson in dodgin'.

Americans May Live Long By Adjusting of Diets, It Is Stated

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Americans, as a whole, can live longer if they will lower their blood pressure, which can be accomplished by a better adjusted diet with less animal food. That is the conclusion of an original international survey of blood pressure experience, presented at yesterday afternoon's session of the Seventeenth Annual Convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. The survey, which was submitted by Chief Actuary Arthur Hunter of the New York Life Insurance Company, covers life insurance blood pressure records in many widely separated countries. From these statistics, affecting representative groups in China, Japan, Australia, Argentina, Canada and the United States, Mr. Hunter believes that blood pressure is not affected by race but that it is principally affected by kind and quantity of food, thereby to some extent putting it within the control of the individual with blood pressure above normal to prolong his life irrespective of the residence.

CLOGGED THROATS

When your wind is shut off and breathing difficult you try to raise the mucus by suddenly contracting the lungs and forcing air through the throat. This is hard on your lungs and your throat and dilates the blood vessels. Clogged throats are easily and quickly opened, mucus raised and the throat is soothed and healed by Leonard's Cough Syrup (Crescoted). It prevents straining, hacking and has a valuable antiseptic action. Best remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, grippe, croup, and whooping cough. Safe, sure and pleasant. At your druggist.

DRESSMAKING

Pugilism was first brought into prominence by James Figg in London in 1719, and was particularly popular between 1731-1750, when Jack Broughton flourished. To this noted boxer we are indebted for the invention of the boxing gloves, or muffer as it was then called, as well as for the first code of rules, from which those at present in use have been developed.

"SOME WILD OATS" HERE TODAY LAST TIMES

Mr. Miller, manager of the Mil-lane Theatre, where this remarkable motion picture is now showing stated,
"I regard the unprecedented success of 'Some Wild Oats' as being due largely to the fact that the public is eager for education; and to the additional fact that the film is being shown here without sensational accompaniment. While the picture combines entertainment with its educational features, it never gets gruesome and it never gets frivolous. It goes about its business of exposing the social evil, in a plain, matter-of-fact way, and calls a "spade a spade."
In fact it speaks to its audiences such as a family physician would speak to his private patients in the seclusion of his sanatorium. But it does more than that. It exposes the social evil and drives home the lessons of sex hygiene by means of a story that combines love and pathos, humor and comedy, sensation and thrills, in a picture that is so absorbing that it makes you forget that you are being taught, and, for whole minutes at a time, makes you give yourself entirely over to the delights of the entertainment. Then at the proper moment the lesson, without offense or jar to your moral sense, is driven home. The picture is one that every mother should take her daughter to see; it is one that every father and son should witness together."

Men and women will not be admitted together at any time as the subject is a delicate one and the scenes leave nothing to one's imagination.
This will be the only showing of the picture in this city.
