

Former Judge Held On Chillingworth Murder Charge

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI) — A former judge with a mysterious past walked into a carefully laid police trap Thursday night and was charged with murder in the disappearance five years ago of a prominent Florida judge and his wife.

Former West Palm Beach City Judge Joseph A. Peel Jr., 36, was arrested 10 minutes after he checked into the Patton Hotel here after a flight from Charlotte, N. C.

Florida officers revealed several hours later that murder warrants had been sworn out Oct. 31 charging Peel and long-time criminal Floyd A. Holzapel, 36, with the June 15, 1953, murder of Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth of West Palm Beach. Holzapel has been in jail at West Palm Beach since early last month awaiting trial on another murder charge.

Peel and his partner in a bankrupt construction company, James Donald Miles, 31, had been free under $25,000 bond on charges of conspiring to murder Holzapel. But State Attorney Phil O'Connell of West Palm Beach said Miles turned state's evidence and helped lay the trap for Peel.

Miles checked in at the hotel Wednesday. When Peel arrived Thursday night he was given a room on the same floor. Officers warned him in the hotel corridor and said he "had an expression of complete surprise when arrested."

Director Don McLeod of the Florida Sheriff's Bureau and Palm Beach County Sheriff John F. Kirk aided in the arrest and planned to return Peel to Florida to face trial. Peel said he would not fight extradition.

Peel, who served two terms as city judge in West Palm Beach, had resigned after Judge Chillingworth reprimanded him for unethical conduct. Peel and Holzapel were accused in 1958 of conspiring to kill a lawyer to collect his insurance, but the case collapsed a year later on a technicality.

The Chillingworth disappearance has been the most baffling case in the annals of Florida crime.

Do You Want To Win? Is Query Campaign Office Hears Most

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The presidential campaign has reached the "do you want to win?" stage at the Republican National Committee.

Low Guylay, GOP publicity director, told me about this phenomenon when I stopped by his office this week in the course of the farewell tour I have been making of the national campaign headquarters here.

People all over the country call the committee, get Guylay on the phone and ask "Do you want to win this election?"

Guylay, who has devoted about 18 hours a day for the last 100 days to just such an effort, invariably answers in the affirmative, although he knows what is coming.

Junior High FFA To Enter Contest

The Junior High FFA livestock judging team, composed of four local boys, will enter competition in the South Sumter County Live Stock Show Saturday against 40 other teams of FFA and 4-H in Central Florida.

Allen Sheets, Doyle Carlton, Kenneth Tyre and Gilbert Freeman will attend the show from Seminole County in Webster City.

The competition will include judging three classes each of cattle and pigs.

Don Farrrens, advisor of the Future Farmer group at the Sanford Junior High, will attend with the boys. The club will spend the day in Webster.

His presence in the French capital would turn the annual NATO conference into a full dress Western summit.

Revenge-Crazed Robber Sought

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — An escaped bank robber described by the FBI as a "revenge-crazed, violent-tempered and jail-hardened criminal" is believed operating in the Gulf Coast area with a companion, the FBI revealed.

FBI special agent Richard G. Heff said Robert William Schulz Jr., 36 and Lloyd George Deppa have been seen in Bonifay, Fla.

Schultz was added to the FBI list of 10 most wanted fugitives Oct. 12, shortly after he escaped from the federal correctional institution at Sandstone, Minn. Deppa allegedly aided Schultz in the escape.

Joint Effort On Drainage Is Encouraging

Seminole and Orange Counties have agreed on procedures for two important projects which will help drain excess waters through the Wekiva and Howell Branch.

They adopted a joint resolution asking assistance of the Civil Defense authorities in funding the projects, total cost of which is about $380,000. This is one of the first major instances of joint action by the counties which has reached the completion stage in solving the drainage problems of both. It emphasizes the fact that the problems can be solved, but that all our counties must benefit and patchwork attempts in many separate areas affected by lack of drainage will not solve anything. We look forward to the day when the five Central Florida counties get a complete system of water control, but in the meantime, this example of cooperation is noteworthy.

Be Glad It's Not 1940 Or '48 In Political Row

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
WASHINGTON, D. C.—On a slow train through Illinois awhile back, your correspondent encountered a perceptive small city editor who asked him and said: "You're having a tough time making up your mind to come out for Nixon, aren't you? Want to know why?"

"Yes, why?"
"Well, it's because deep down in your innards you believe that Jack Kennedy would make the better President—isn't that the trouble?"
No—-not exactly, but it raises a good point. Would John Kennedy make a better President than whom? No better, I think, than Richard Nixon, though he might. But the country plainly needs a Republican victory. At home and abroad, on Capitol Hill and in the Executive Departments, it is far better for the nation and the free world if we have a government which will not go whole hog on spending and will not toss inconvenient islands and populations to the Communist wolves. But Kennedy a better President than some of this predecessor? Yes—-quite likely. The perils of 1960, while disturbing, need not become so full of calamity as were some other presidential elections. It will be said that we lived through Mr. Truman's upset victory in 1948—but at what a cost! It's hard to recall when a major nation had a worse government than that which the Fair Deal gave us in 1948-53. We suffered a loss of more than 30,000 lives in Korea, where we settled nothing at all. We cringed from vulgarities and scandals around the White House. We finished Mr. Truman's term with a sinking economy in the land and unresolved problems almost everywhere in the world.

It is the sentimental habit of applaud Mr. Truman as a fading public figure—but not many Americans would want to live through such an Administration again. Mr. Roosevelt's tricky and arrogant flaunting in 1940 of the "gentleman's agreement" against third terms is now shrugged off as a small matter. But was it? Shortly after FDR carried 46 states in 1936, one of my journalistic heroes, H. L. Mencken, told me, "That man will never be an ex-President!"
Well, FDR never was. He won a third and fourth term. He had such control of the majority party machinery, such authority from the Supreme Court, such a spell over Congress, such foreign entanglements for global power that it's conceivable he might have sidled as the Caesar did, from emergence-into-empire.
It is questionable if the country has ever recovered from the disaster of the 1940 election. From it flowed our atomic inheritance and our agricultural glut, the incredibly gerrymandered zone of East and West Berlin, the loss of bulwarks in Europe and Asia against the Communist hordes, the false friendship with Russia and the Red elements of China, and finally the Atlas role which finds us shouldered with a world of woes.

WASHINGTON

by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON—This would be a pre-election poll to end all pre-election polls. Sammy, my squirrel friend, would conduct it at my behest.

I've called together his old cronies, those creatures that do little but hang around back of the Capitol building over the nuts.

It was a soggy, foggy afternoon, and only a week to go before the two Presidential candidates would be fed to the voters.

No we held council under the dripping Kentucky coffee tree—a compromise setting for squirrels from both North and South.

There were 93 of them, the pick of Washington's silent, seeing-all pundits. This was the cream of Harry Truman's crop of squirrel brains. What they didn't know about politics you could put in a walnut shell. A large contingent came from as far as the White House lawn.

Sammy addressed them. "You have been summoned here," he said, "to resolve a crisis. The Presidential election has become so unpredictable that it has demoralized the human pollsters. So it is now up to us to carry on."

The responding chatter echoed all the way down to the Mall. Sammy went on. "We have one prima advantage over the humans. We can approach this problem without fear of blighty."

But he forewarned them: "However, we cannot condone a conflict of interest. If any of you have relatives who invested against the future, and then went bankrupt on borrowed money, you must disqualify yourself, for we want every member here to show he's cleaner than a hound's tooth."

Sammy had 93 acorns piled against a nearby magnolia tree. "This balloting is a serious matter," he said. "It is up to us to name the next President of the United States. Otherwise, the country may have to revert to the old method of letting the voters decide on November 8."

He explained: "At the signal, pick up an acorn and carry it over to this human's bushel. If you prefer, Kennedy, mark the shell with your teeth. If you're for Nixon, leave the shell unmarked."

He added: "If there are any squirrel brains here who can't make up their minds, just leave the acorns where they are. In three minutes, the bushel was filled. Results: Undecided, none. For Nixon, 39. For Kennedy, 54.

"This is it!" I yelled. "The decision the whole world is waiting for!" But Sammy called out: "Hold it! I've just learned the bushel has been stuffed."

The votes of the White House gang, he said, were illegal. It was a conspiracy against the Republicans.

Sammy explained: The White House squirrels, still pined over Ike's shipping out three of their number for scratching up his patting green, stuffed the ballot against Ike's shirt-tail buddy, Richard Nixon.

NOT A STRONG ENOUGH THRUST

CROSSROADS OF THE WORLD By William Drury

By WILLIAM DRURY
Once upon a time, there was a beautiful actress called Paulette Goddard who could not appear in a movie without getting into a bubble bath. In every film, she would wallow in her bath and raise her fans to admire while she lathered it with soap.

F. Goddard must have been the cleanest actress in Hollywood. Her career was ended by the simple piece of bathroom equipment known as the shower.

Just as talkies killed silent films, the wide-scale adoption of the shower spelled the end of the bathtub as part of the American Way of Life. When the bathtub went out, Miss Goddard went out, too. Without a bubble bath to climb into, she lost a very valuable gimmick and became just another fine actress.

And fine actresses are a dime a dozen. Few Americans use bathtubs today the way they were meant to be used. The tub has become merely a receptacle to catch the spray from the shower.

A shower, to me, is a thing to use to rinse off the suds after soaking the torso in a tub. First a warm bath, then a cold shower. In my life, the shower will never completely replace the tub.

You cannot ring like Bing Crosby in a shower. It is a well-known fact that every man sounds exactly like Bing Crosby in a bathtub. If you scrooch down low so that your mouth is just above water level, your voice becomes deep and warm. And neighbors pause in their quarrelling to admire its rich brown timbre as it penetrates their walls.

"When the b-b-blue of the night meets the g-g-gold of the day . . ."
Just try singing that through the hiss and splash of a shower. You will sound like Tweety Pie, the canary who witters baby talk in the movie cartoons.

I half-suspect that even Bing Crosby sounds like Bing Crosby only when he sings in the bathtub. I mean, I bet that when they want him to croon for a movie, they make him strip and climb into a tub while they record the song. And then dub it into the film later.
If that isn't true, how come the Old Greener sounds exactly like me when I sing in the bath? The heck with showers. "With the b-b-blue of her eyes . . ."

No applause, please. Just throw money.

Pesky Sharks Hold Forth At Miami

MIAMI (UPI)—A pesky school of sharks continued to laze in the warm waters off Crandon Park's beaches today, defying efforts to drive them away or catch them.

Swimming was prohibited for the seventh straight day. Fish experts from Miami's Seagrass Park tried to tempt the sharks with baited hooks but had no luck. The sharks seemed to prefer their diet of mullet.

Pastor Asks Church Ouster Of Truman

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. Ramsey Pollard, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, proposed that formed President Truman be kicked out of the church for using profane language. Truman indicated he wasn't a bit worried about any such action.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

CASE G-416: Larry B., aged 28, was a life insurance salesman. "Dr. Crane," he told my "Sales Psychology" class at Northwestern University, "I lost a $10,000 policy last night. "I thought I had the case sewed up, and would have wagered it was in the bag. "But as I was coming down the home stretch toward the dotted line stage, my prospect asked a question about comparative premium rates. "He was sitting in his living room with his wife. I quickly gave him the right answer, but he failed to sign when I brought out my pen. "What do you suppose went wrong, Dr. Crane?" "Objections" from a prospect are really the golden opportunity of a salesman if he will just realize his good luck. For they give him a chance to "Pause & Praise." This reaction, however, is not a natural or in-born tendency. On the contrary, when a good salesman meets a standard objection from the prospect, he usually has the answers already neatly memorized and can mow down the prospect with ease. In fact, the usual salesman does this very thing, just as Larry mentioned in his own example.

Mr. Bilopp

Adverse criticism is a person's unfavorable opinion of what another person has done. It lets the person who has done it know how far short it falls of perfection. Then the person whose work has been criticized adversely will tear it up and do it all over again or else take measures to improve it. When work has undergone continuous adverse criticism and been done over many times it will gradually approach or arrive at perfection. Then it will win favorable criticism on all sides and will be known as a masterpiece, and the person who has done it will win a reputation as an authority and enjoy the privilege of making adverse criticism of other persons' work.

That, however, is assuming the adverse criticism is accepted in the spirit of helpfulness in which it is given. But the person whose work is criticized may not take it that way. That person may instead call attention to the time and labor put into the work with the hope that it would win approval. Now it will have to be done all over again with no guarantee that it will not again be adversely criticized. The person may charge that his or her work is always receiving adverse criticism while the work of other persons which is no better wins praise. This will raise a suspicion of favoritism. What is more the person adversely criticized will mope and brood and ask what use there is trying to do anything so long as it is sure to receive adverse criticism. The person will liberate, near-to-try-to-do anything again. Then a great effort will have to be made to explain that nothing personal was intended in the adverse criticism. By that time the person adversely criticized will be emotionally upset and made miserable. That is why many people find it better to avoid adverse criticism and when asked what they think invariably reply "It's swell."

CHRISTOPHER BILOPP
For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence.

Often his objections are to show his wife he is no rubber stamp, so the momentary praise satisfies him more than the actual sales arguments. See tomorrow's follow-up.

WHO WILL BE LEFT IN TOWN TOMORROW? Everyone seems to be heading toward Jacksonville and the Georgia-Florida game. Many couples are sharing cars north and L. T. Sheppard, down at the Atlantic Coastline railroad station, tells me that around 200 Sanfordites will be taking the train to Jacksonville. And from past accounts of the train parties, they sound as much fun as any football game!

But back to the Mebanes and Philips. Saturday, while Elizabeth and Frank renewed acquaintances, visited with the "best man" of their wedding and enjoyed dinner at the Beta frat house.

the Philips were squired about the campus by their son and had dinner at his fraternity house.

GAMMA LAMBDA members of Beta Sigma Phi met yesterday at the home of Pat (Mrs. Tom) Largent for a meeting and then gathered again at the Capri for lunch and to view the Thursday parade of fashions from Yowell's department store—two new models added to the list of "regulars" were Ann Reyn and Margaret Echeberger.

JEAN AND JOE BAKER and Charlotte and Pete Knowles represented Sanford this week at the Municipal League Conference in West Palm Beach. While the men attended the things that men attend during conventions, the women flitted about having a gay time. One tour took them to the Flagler Museum which Jean described as "beautiful and worth seeing"—and they especially enjoyed a luncheon at the Palm Beach Towers hotel. Monday evening they all attended a banquet and heard an enlightening talk by Dr. Joachim Kuettner who is in charge of the project, "Mercury", at the Red Stone Arsenal in Alabama.

BLANCHIE KUHN recently won a trip to Nassau by submitting the best slogan in a radio contest and since it is a "trip for two" she is sharing her good luck with a friend, Georgia Frazier. The two women will leave Thursday from Miami on the S. S. Florida for the three day trip.

Build A Smart Duplex For Pay - As - You - Go Living

INGREDIENTS

You will see that this 1592 square foot duplex contains the necessary ingredients for a comfortable, relaxed life. Enjoyment of light and air are made possible by front and back porches, corner windows, sloping ceilings, and skydomes. Efficient work space is augmented by a useful utility room next to the carport.

The front porches (separated by a masonry wall) serve as foyers as well as screening the eight-foot-wide sliding doors of the living rooms. At the front of the living room the ceiling (which follows the line of the gently sloping shed roof) is 9 1/2 feet high, increasing the feeling of space. Light and air are supplied to the dining and kitchen areas by two sets of skydomes (see picture). Visual separation between the dining room and the kitchen is provided by a lunch counter, or, if preferred, a decorative storage-wall room-divider.

APPLIANCES

Each "cooking center" is a nine-foot-long stainless steel factory-made unit containing all the fixtures and appliances needed for modern cooking, including sink, range, refrigerator, cabinets and counter. The kitchen has a floor to the private 8 1/2 feet by 12 1/2 feet screened porch which can be used for dining and family activities. Through it there is access to the garden, the carport and the 5 1/2 feet by 9 1/2 feet utility room containing laundry appliances and storage space.

The bedrooms have corner windows to catch the breezes and are sound-proof by closets - eight feet of closets in the front bedroom and five feet in the rear one (all with bi-fold doors for greater accessibility).

TUB POSITION

The bathroom has the tub away from the window (with shower head above), a wall-hung toilet, and a wash-basin set in a vanity. There is a linen closet (L) in the hall.

Construction of home No. 1592-46 is as follows:

The four-inch-thick and reinforced floor slab is poured over solidly compacted fill and vapor membrane.

All exterior walls are of eight-inch-thick concrete blocks with furring strips (or insulation boards) with plaster on the inside and stucco on the outside. All interior partitions are of regular wood frame and plastered on both sides. The ceilings, also plastered, follow the lines of the roof and heavy insulation is called for between the rafters.

PLANS AVAILABLE

Plans for home No. 1592-46 are available from Jan Reiner, Box 96, New Port Richey, Florida. Each set of plans consisting of 1/2-inch-scale floor plans, four exterior elevations, kitchen and bathroom interiors, and structural and framing details; basic specifications (exceeding FHA) are written on the plans. Florida Home magazine by Jan Reiner is available at local newsstands or by mailing 50 cents to the above address.

Sanford, Lyman Travel Tonight

Seminole County's two football teams play away from home tonight, with Sanford traveling to Wildwood and Lyman going to St. Cloud.

The Seminoles will be trying for an upset against Wildwood, holder of a 7-0 season record and rated the No. 1 team in Central Florida high school football.

Coach Jim Proctor's Lyman Greyhounds take a four won, two lost, one tied mark to St. Cloud. A scoreless tie with Hastings and two defeats by one point make up the Lyman loss column.

Sanford had a preview of the Wildwood game against Leesburg last week, and wound up in a nothing-nothing tie. Wildwood beat Leesburg in an earlier game, dishing out their only loss of the year.

The Seminole defensive unit will go without junior quarterback John Boniface, who is having to rest a shoulder separation and may be out for the rest of the season.

Coach Jim Pigott said the injury was sustained in Wednesday's workout and, while it is not considered severe, he decided that Boniface would sit out at least the Wildwood contest. The rest of the squad is in good shape.

Game time is 8 p. m. and Pigott said this morning "the boys are ready and this ought to be a good one."

Hamey Says Yanks Need To Bolster

Farm System To Keep Winning

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roy Hamey, finally promoted to the job he has sought for 26 years, feels that continued Yankee domination of baseball will depend on a strong farm system.

For Hamey, named to succeed George Weiss as the New York general manager Thursday, there can be no excuse for failure. Weiss, his predecessor and longtime tutor, brought 16 pennants to New York in the 13 years he directed its operating. Anything short of this outstanding success on Hamey's part will come as a blow to Yankee "tradition."

Capri Wins Four In Hi-Nooner Play

The Hi-Nooners were chipping wood Wednesday at Jet Lanes, with Betty Whitmore of the Capri bowling her best game and series of the season; Marty Kinnard posting a 189 scratch; Shirley Conkey making the 4-9 split; and Mary Elmore rolling well to give the team a 1172 scratch series and six four points from Monroe Harbor.

CPO Wives' Dottie Palmer played "9 pins" when she rolled a game with nine pins on the first ball for nine frames. Adeline Karns and Gerry White of CPO Wives both got turkeys in their highest games yet and helped the team take three points from the Big Dip team whose scoring was led by Marge Kipp.

Iowa, Minnesota Put Unbeaten Records On Line

United Press International

The first Saturday of November begins the mad dash for conference titles and lucrative bowl bids — and that's the situation Saturday when even the top-billed clash between Iowa and Minnesota can't monopolize the national college football picture.

The first-ranked Hawkeyes and the No. 2 Gophers have much at stake as they put their unbeaten records on the line, but it's a make-or-break weekend for about a dozen more teams. Among the most important games are Navy-Duke; Missouri-Colorado; Washington-Southern California; Tennessee-Southern; Rice - Arkansas; and Utah State-Wyoming.

Iowa is a slight 1 1/2 point choice to whip Minnesota for the sixth consecutive year and take a strong hold on the national championship and the Big Ten title and further its prospects for a shot at the Rose Bowl.

With Orange Bowl scouts on hand for the Navy-Duke contest, the third-ranked Middies attempt to slow down the Blue Devils, front-runners of the Atlantic Coast Conference. Navy, given a scare by Notre Dame last week, carries a 7-0 record against Duke (1-1), which is a one point underdog.

California, which will be out to win for the injured Mike McKeever. Washington and the Trojans are 2-0 in conference action.

Tennessee, challenging Mississippi for the Southeast Conference lead, is a strong choice to run up another victory. The eighth-ranked Volunteers, who haven't lost but were tied once this year, meet Georgia Tech (5-2).

The Rice Owls rated No. 10, may have to scramble to hold on to the Southwest Conference lead against a tough Arkansas squad. Rice is a 2 1/2 point favorite to whip the Razorbacks.

In a battle for the Skyline Conference title, Utah State and Wyoming, proponents of the two extremes of football, meet head-on. The Aggies, leading the country in offense, and the Cowboys, tops in defense, carry 3-0 conference records into the game. Utah State also is among the unbeaten and untied teams.

Yale tries to keep its unblemished skin alive in an Ivy League contest against Penn, and the Orangemen of Syracuse, their

Miami Favorite To Defeat FSU

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami's favored Hurricanes clash with light but scrappy Florida State University tonight in another of the state's football "grudge" matches.

The Seminoles are expected to take to the air on the passing of sophomore quarterbacks Eddie Feely and Ed Trancygier in an effort to beat the more inconspicuous Hurricanes, who are 14-point favorites for the game at the Orange Bowl. Kickoff time is 8:15 p.m. Scattered showers are forecast.

Miami and Florida State have met seven times previously since 1951 and Miami has triumphed in every game except the 1958 contest. The Hurricanes won a 7-0 squeaker last year.

Collins In Strong Stand Against Fish, Game Amendment

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins today came out strongly against a proposed constitutional amendment to give the legislature control over funds of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Collins said he intends to vote against this change, amendment No. 3 on the election ballot next Tuesday, and hopes the people of Florida will join him in voting it down.

He said it would "provide for an unsound weakening of executive authority and an invitation for legislative pressures in the game program."

Collins said he intends to vote for the other five amendments on the ballot, including those to permit the legislature to add another judge for district appellate courts and to guarantee distribution of race track funds equally among the 67 counties, regardless of population.

Collins said one more judge is badly needed in each of the district appellate courts in Central and South Florida. The North Florida court can get along with a present three judges for the time being, he said.

He said race track money distribution has been a source of "political agitation" for years and he'd like to see it put to rest.

The amendment was adapted as a companion bill to a reapportionment measure which went on the ballot a year ago and was rejected by the voters.

Opponents of increasing the legislative representation of the big counties consistently argue that giving the large counties more senators and representatives might lead to taking away the race track revenue from the small counties.

Tying it down in the Constitution will end this kind of "propaganda," the governor said.

The other amendments which the governor will support would permit servicemen reaching the age of 21 while out of the state or county to register to vote by mail, and would permit civil jury trials in Volusia and Brevard counties to be held at locations other than the county seat.

HAPPINESS THROUGH HEALTH (BY DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Chiropractic Restores Glandular Balance:

Your glands are mighty important to the proper functioning of all your bodily organs. Injection of hormones into the patient doesn't make the patient's own glands

'Mixed Up'

Even the squirrels can get mixed up.

The out-of-season baby squirrel was found in Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fryer's S. Sanford Ave., back yard after some trees had been removed.

The squirrel, judged to be about three weeks old, was the only one found and the nest was not located. Squirrels normally have young only in the spring.

LeRoy Taylor, who found the squirrel, feeds the small animal on bread and milk.

Election Eve Polls Indicate Kennedy As Winner

Largest County Ballot In History Is Forecast

2 City Posts In Separate Contests

The largest turnout in Seminole County's voting history is expected at the polls Tuesday to consider the longest ballot in many years.

The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Out of the 17,000 registered, more than 13,000 are expected to flock to the polls and cast their votes.

Supervisor of Registration Camilla Bruce said that this should break all records here, with 13,000 registered Democrats, 3,000 registered Republicans and 1,000 independents.

Voting should be easier this election with the addition of 14 new machines in the county.

Anyone needing transportation to the polls can contact the Sheriff's office or the Jaycees at the Junior Chamber of Commerce Information booth.

9 States Listed As Undecided

By United Press International

Sen. John F. Kennedy led the presidential polls on election eve but the experts agreed today that the race was so close the actual balloting could go either way.

A total of 269 electoral votes is needed for election and a compilation of the election outlooks published by Time magazine, Newsweek, U. S. News & World Report and statewide polls in many states gave Kennedy 21 states with 268 votes, one shy of the magic number.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was credited with 20 states with 113 electoral votes.

Nine states with 126 votes were undecided in the consensus. They were California, Hawaii, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, North Carolina, Tennessee and Washington.

Two nationwide surveys have been made in addition to these polls. George Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion reported voters leaning toward Kennedy by a slight margin. The Elmo Roper poll rated the presidential race undecided in its latest tabulations Oct. 25. Roper's final polls is to be announced tonight.

Roper's figures on Oct. 25 gave Nixon 46 percent, Kennedy 41.3 percent and 9.3 percent undecided. Roper said the undecided percentage was twice as high as it had ever been at that stage of a presidential campaign.

Kennedy's hopes to gather New York State's 43 electoral votes were given a boost today by the New York Daily News which gave him 54.8 percent to Nixon's 45.2 percent statewide. Kennedy led 65.3 percent to 33.3 percent in New York City. Nixon held the edge in the suburbs and upstate New York.

The Chicago Sun-Times reported today final returns from its straw poll indicated Kennedy would win Illinois by a small margin. The Sun-Times poll gave Kennedy 51.83 percent to Nixon's 48.17. Kennedy won the Chicago straw vote by a heavy margin.

The Dallas Times-Herald took a poll in "20 carefully selected areas of Dallas County" showing that 53.5 percent of those polled were for Kennedy, 42 percent were for Nixon, 20.4 were undecided and the rest did not plan to vote.

The Times-Herald compared these results with those of a similar poll six weeks earlier and that the undecided column had dropped sharply.

A statewide poll conducted by several Louisiana newspapers resulted in a straw vote majority for Kennedy of 60.3 percent to 39.7 percent for Nixon. A list of uncommitted electors received 27 percent.

A California poll, conducted by Marvin D. Field Research Co. of San Francisco, published in 38 California newspapers on Oct. 31, reported 48 percent for Kennedy, 45 percent for Nixon and 7 percent undecided.

GOP Telethon Cost $500,000, Demos Charge

By United Press International

John F. Kennedy's news secretary said today the four-hour election eve telethon of Vice President Richard M. Nixon was costing the Republicans more than $500,000 and demanded to know where the money was coming from.

"This is the most lavish spending on a day before election in the history of this country," Pierre Salinger told newsmen.

Salinger made the statement as Kennedy left Providence, R. I., during a final campaign swing around the candidate's native New England.

"We would like Mr. Nixon to state the origins of his funds and what commitments he had to make to get them," Salinger said.

He said the cost estimate included the four-hour telethon scheduled today from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. plus three-hour segments in "prime time."

Kennedy spoke to an unofficially estimated crowd of 10,000 to 15,000 in 38-degree weather in front of City Hall in Providence. He made a biting attack on Nixon's announced plan to send American leaders to Iron Curtain countries.

Race For Florida Vote Looks Close

Kennedy and Nixon appear in a neck and neck race for Florida's 10 electoral votes.

Pre-election forecasts gave Nixon a slight edge. But the race was rated so close that both camps claimed victory and a last minute upsurge could send it either way.

The presidential race, sparked by TV debates that brought it into every home and personal visits by the candidates that made Florida a battleground, has stirred so much interest that a record turnout of 1.2 million to 1.5 million voters is predicted.

Contests for governor, four cabinet offices, five congressional seats, a state utilities commission post and 20 House and Senate seats also are on the ballot.

None of these has come close to the presidential race in voter appeal, although marked by the most intensive campaigning at the state level in modern history.

Regardless of the outcome, 1960 is likely to go down in the records as the year Florida won full status as a "two party" state.

Students Learn Election Routine

Tuesday will be the election day for most, but for the Sanford Grammar school, today was.

Campaigning at the school for Richard Nixon and John Kennedy has been going on at the school during last week and the election was held today.

"The reason for holding the election one day in advance," he said, "was to encourage parents to vote."

The program involved each child registering and then going into a secret booth to mark a written ballot.

The entire election procedure was explained to the classes by their teachers.
