Pilot Project Of Local Firm, College

Schools Offer Summer Computer Program

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

A pilot program in computers will be offered to Seminole County students this summer through two-week camps at nine county schools.

The program, sponsored by CACI, Inc., an Altamonte Springs research firm, and Rollins College, will use Seminole County teachers to teach the classes.

Doug Cameron, a senior associate with CACI, told school board members Wednesday night that the program will be offered at Seminole, Lake Mary, Lake Brantley, Lake Howell, Lyman and Oviedo high schools and at Lake Orienta, Forest City and Sterling Park elementary schools.

School board members voted unanimously to support the program which is designed to expose students and teachers to computer assisted education programs and will serve as a research project for Rollins and CACI, Cameron said.

"We hope to get children more exposed to computers," he said.

"This will give them hands-on training and show them what computers can do for them," Cameron explained.

CACI officials will select teachers for the program from a list who expressed interest. Those teachers will attend a 30-hour training program over four weekends prior to the camps.

The training will cost teachers $200 to $250 but will give them either three hours of graduate credit or 30 hours of continuing education credit.

The first camp will run from July 5 through July 14. The second camp will run from July 16 to July 28.

The camps will run for four days each week with students attending either morning sessions from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. or afternoon sessions from 1 to 4 p.m. The camps will cost $130 per student.

Teachers will be responsible for 16 students in each section and will be paid $750 for each camp.

The training is based on curriculum designed by Villanova University and is designed to be self-directed. Each student will be able to follow a curriculum based upon their own individual computer literacy level.

Exactly what will be taught during the computer classes is being developed now.

Timex Computer Corp. will provide Timex 1000 computers with extended memory for the training and funded development of the workbooks which will be used at the camps.

Schools hosting the camps will receive $1,000 from CACI for the use of their facilities and CACI will assume all insurance liability, Cameron said.

The nine Seminole County schools are among 40 chosen to participate in the pilot program.

Rollins College officials will study the camps and the progress of students to evaluate the curriculum provided by Villanova, Cameron said.

Depending on the success of the pilot project, one result of it could be additional computer classes in the regular curriculum.

Builders Urge Expansion Of Sewage Plants

A multi-faceted plan to meet Seminole County's sewage needs through the year 2000 has been presented by a group which studied the problem for the past six months.

A report issued by the group this week said Seminole County officials should push for expansion of existing regional sewage treatment plants and encourage the use of septic tanks where possible to stretch sewage treatment capacity in order to meet anticipated area growth.

The committee, which was directed by Howard Lefkowitz, a representative of the Mid-Florida Homebuilders Association, also urged the county to drop its current flat $1,400 connection fee for sewage service and replace it with a $4 per gallon connection fee based upon expected sewage use. That change would be tied to a county effort to lower the state's capacity requirement from its current 350 gallons per home to 250 gallons.

County officials use $4 per gallon capacity as a benchmark for construction costs of new sewage plants. Connection fees are levied by the county to finance expansion projects.

The panel's report urged the county to work for the expansion of the controversial Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant from its current 24 million gallon per day treatment capacity to 40 million gallons.

That expansion would create an additional 3.6 million gallons of capacity for Seminole County and would meet the growth needs of the Tusawilla, Lake Howell and Econlockhatchee development areas.

The report also urged the county to participate in expansion of Altamonte Springs' regional sewage plant. That facility has been approved for a 2.5 million gallon increase and the city has asked the county to participate in the expansion program.

The group also proposed the expansion of Sanlando Utilities. That firm provides sewage service in the Longwood and Altamonte Springs areas. That expansion, along with expansion of the Altamonte plant, would provide sufficient capacity for growth in Forest City and Wekiva, the report said.

Construction of a 2.5-million-gallon facility near the Heathrow planned unit development outside Lake Mary is also proposed. That facility, the report said, would be sufficient for growth in the Paola, Lake Monroe, Big Tree and Heathrow areas.

But the homebuilders group feels the $4 per gallon connection fee will provide the biggest impetus for innovative development of sewage conservation systems.

Under that proposal, if a developer can show that houses or apartments will use less than the 350 gallons the state Department of Environmental Regulation uses as a guideline, the developer would have to pay less for a connection fee.

The homebuilders had complained about the $1,400 connection fee when it was established last fall.

Civil Service Board, City Battle Issue

Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Sanford and the Sanford Civil Service Commission are locked in a struggle that exceeds the problem of one employee whose firing by city supervisors has been overturned twice by the board.

"The issue is no longer a single city employee," City Manager Pete Knowles said. "The issue is the board's lack of following a standard procedure and their own rules and regulations."

In fact, according to Knowles, the employee who was the subject of the controversy, has another job.

City Attorney Bill Colbert agrees with Knowles.

"That the board could come to a decision against the city which ignored the evidence before them is amazing," Colbert said.

"There was no evidence for anyone but the city. The burden of proof shifted. There was no evidence to support the other side, yet the board ruled for the other side," he said.

Noting that a change in only one vote is needed to reverse the board's decision, Dr. John Darby, chairman, said, "It's a legal question. An attorney (Gordon Frederick) on the board gave the opinion that the hearing could only involve the one charge — insubordination and disgraceful conduct," Darby said.

As to whether the board could make the employee's past record cumulative with his latest conduct, Frederick indictated it could not, Darby said, noting one board member is seeking additional legal counsel.

"The majority of the board felt that his entire work record should not be included. The minority felt that it should. It's just that simple. The whole thing hinges on the work record. The city presented both, his insubordination and disgraceful conduct, plus entire work record," Dr. Darby said.

Civil service rules provide for disciplinary action based on an entire work record.

Darby, chairman of the Civil Service Board for the past 15 years, said during his years of service on the board he has never known of it to be divided on an issue as it is on this one.

There have been only eight appeals to the board over the past 25 years, including the two over Bernard Mitchell.

Frederick would not comment about the disagreement with the city. He pleaded ignorance of the cause of the disagreement with the city.

Darby and member Bill McQuatters voted to uphold the city's firing of the employee, while Frederick, a former state legislator, Dr. Luis Perez and Donald Jones voted to restore the employee to his job.

While Darby notes that a change in only one vote is necessary to reverse the Civil Service Board decision, the board

SCC Netters Near U.S. Title

The boys' tennis team of Seminole Community College edged closer to its second straight National Junior College Championship Thursday by advancing all of its singles and doubles teams into the final round at Ocala.

The Raiders, who took their third straight state championship a month ago, lead the field with 30 points. Tyler (Texas) Junior College is next with 28 while Central Florida is third with 26. No other team is in contention.

"They're very close to clinching it," said John O'Neill, Ocala Star Banner sports writer. "Tyler has lost two singles players while Central Florida has lost two singles players and a doubles team. SCC hasn't lost a thing."

The Raiders of coach Larry Castle will discontinue the program after this season. They won their first national championship last year. Singles finals will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday while the doubles follow at 11 a.m.

School Jobs

Board OKs Administrative Changes

Seminole County School Board members have tentatively approved an administrative reorganization.

Board members approved 15 job descriptions which will be affected by the reorganization. But Nancy Warren Wednesday night expressed concern that the qualifications for some posts were inconsistent.

Mrs. Warren has complained in the past that some positions, particularly computer services employees, receive higher salaries with one or two years of higher education than many teachers with bachelor's and master's degrees.

Mrs. Warren said qualifications for all director and supervisor's jobs should be equivalent to other jobs in the same classification. The proposed job descriptions included varying years of experience required for jobs at the same level of responsibility.

At Mrs. Warren's suggestion, the board Wednesday night agreed after lengthy discussion that directors must have a minimum of three years of experience.

The board also voted to split the duties of the administrative assistant to the superintendent into two jobs.

A new position — public information officer — will be created at an annual salary of $24,789 to $32,227.

The public information officer will be responsible for handling community relations and responding to inquiries about the school district.

The administrative assistant's post pays from $36,011 to $44,794.

Ralph Ray, who has announced plans to retire in January, now holds both jobs.

The director of federal programs position will be phased out and will be replaced by a new position, director of transportation. The position will report to the assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation. The new job will have the same pay scale as the old one, $36,011 to $44,794.

Another new position, director of facilities planning and construction, will be phased in, replacing the current director of auxiliary services. The auxiliary services post has been vacant since the retirement of Mel Tennant several months ago. The job has a salary of $36,011 to $44,794.

The remainder of the job descriptions are primarily changes in job responsibilities or assignments to new supervisors.

Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Benny Arnold will now also supervise the transportation department. Program Director of Special Projects Sammy Tomlin will report to Assistant Superintendent for Instruction Dan Dagg rather than Assistant Superintendent for Business and Finance Roger Harris. Program Director of Staff Development and Evaluation John Swiggerty will report to Assistant Superintendent for Administrative Services Owen McCarron rather than Dagg.

The reorganization follows directives from the state following a study of the district's administrative structure. The reorganization is intended to create more efficient management of the district.

Pat Telson and Bill Kroll criticized Personnel Director Ann Neiswender and her assistant, John Reichert, for the lengthy debate. Kroll said items which take more than an hour to discuss should be brought up at a special one-item meeting. — Michael Beha

New Warehouse

The municipal warehouse under construction at the Sanford Public Works complex off Fulton Street is slated to be completed by June 10, replacing the old city warehouse on West Sixth Street. And it's not costing the city any money. In an arrangement worked out by A.B. Tommy Peterson Jr. with a client, Dale Gustafson, the city property was traded in exchange for the new steel building built to city specifications. City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles says the new facility will meet the city's needs much better than did the old one and in addition by its location adjacent to other city service buildings it will be much more convenient. While the old Sixth Street warehouse was broken into frequently, the new building will be more secure, he says.

NATION IN BRIEF

Indictment Spurs Probe In Hospital Infant Deaths

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — A murder indictment of a nurse suspected in a baby's fatal overdose of a muscle relaxant could boost a related investigation into other baby deaths at a hospital where the suspect worked, officials say.

Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap said Thursday the indictment in Kerr County of Genene Jones, 32, a licensed vocational nurse, could encourage witnesses to come forth for his investigation of similar deaths at San Antonio's Medical Center Hospital.

A Kerr County grand jury Wednesday charged Ms. Jones with fatally injecting Chelsea Ann McClellan with succinylcholine, a muscle relaxer. Kerrville is about 60 miles northwest of San Antonio.

The Kerr County indictments allege Ms. Jones injected the McClellan girl and seven other children with the muscle relaxer or other drugs. The other young victims suffered seizures but survived.

Ms. Jones also was employed at MCH's pediatric care unit. The mysterious deaths of infants and children there occurred between 1978 and 1982.

Tylenol Suspect Convicted

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — James W. Lewis could receive up to 30 years in prison for his mail fraud convictions and still faces two more trials, including one in Chicago for trying to extort $1 million from the maker of Tylenol.

It took the seven-man, five-woman federal jury only about an hour Thursday to decide Lewis, 36, was guilty on six counts of mail fraud in a 1981 credit card scheme in Kansas City.

The former Kansas City tax consultant was accused of using the name and background of his former tax client John E. Ryan to obtain 13 credit cards.

Lewis also faces a July 25 trial in Chicago on a charge of attempted extortion undertaken last fall after seven people died from taking Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules laced with cyanide. He is accused of sending a letter to the makers of Tylenol demanding $1 million "to stop the killing."

WEATHER

NATIONAL WEATHER: Thunderstorms stretched from western New England to the Carolinas today while frost and freeze warnings covered parts of New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The flooding Mississippi rose toward a crest at Vicksburg, Miss. Thunderstorms bringing large hail and high winds were widely scattered over the Great Plains and upper Mississippi Valley. At Jackson, Miss., the flooding Pearl River began to fall from its crest of 39.5 feet. Forecasters said it would fall to 38 feet by Saturday and then drop even faster, letting some of the 6,000 Jackson residents forced to evacuate to return home next week. The Mississippi River was expected to crest near 49.3 feet today at Vicksburg, about 6 feet above flood stage, causing more flooding in an area where 300 families already have been forced to flee. Thunderstorms from the Great Plains to the Atlantic Thursday dumped hail, shot lightning and spun off tornadoes, injuring at least four people. A cold front chilled the East and Midwest. Tornadoes struck North Carolina, Alabama and New Mexico. A tornado in North Carolina demolished a gas station in Alamance County. One person was injured slightly by flying debris. Violent thunderstorms pounded the South Carolina coast, damaging houses and injuring at least three people. One man was injured when high winds toppled a tree onto his truck. Two workmen at a Charleston construction site were hospitalized for minor burns when they were hit by lightning. In the Plains, a tornado touched down at Texico, New Mexico Thursday night. Severe thunderstorms dropped large hail at Lewisville and Atlanta, Ark. and golf ball-sized hail at Antlers, Okla. and Fairfield and Newcastle, Neb. Grand Island, Neb. was buffeted by 65 mph winds. Four inches of rain fell in three hours in Latimer County, Okla. and 2 inches in an hour at Clark County, Ark. A cold front that chilled the Midwest and East Thursday caused frost and freeze warnings today over western New York, western Pennsylvania and the northern mountains of West Virginia.

AREA FORECAST: Mostly sunny and quite warm today with high upper 80s to low 90s. Wind variable 5 to 10 mph. Tonight mostly fair with lows in the mid 60s. Variable light wind. Saturday partly cloudy with highs in the mid 80s to near 90. Forecast for remainder of Memorial Day weekend: partly cloudy with little temperature change.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — Variable winds 5 to 10 knots today becoming northeast to east around 10 knots tonight and easterly Saturday. Seas 1 to 3 feet. Mostly fair.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 78; overnight low: 63; Thursday high: 90; barometric pressure: 29.93; relative humidity: 64 percent; winds north at 5 mph; rain: none; sunrise 6:29 a.m., sunset 8:16 p.m.

4 Jailed In Altamonte Springs Cocaine Deal

About $20,000 worth of cocaine was seized by Altamonte Springs undercover agents Thursday as they arrested four persons attempting to make a drug deal at the Interstate Mall off State Road 436.

Police were tipped by an informant that a man known as "Pichie" from the Miami area was in Altamonte Springs to sell cocaine. Surveillance of a rendezvous with a prospective purchaser revealed the suspects' car contained approximately eight ounces of cocaine and several concealed handguns.

Stopped by uniformed police officers, the four occupants of the vehicle were detained while a search warrant was obtained from Seminole County Court Judge Wallace Hall.

A subsequent search of the vehicle turned up about 3½ pounds of cocaine and two handguns.

Arrested at 1:25 p.m. were Leandro Hernandez, 28, also known as Pichie, and his wife, Raquel Hernandez, 22, both of Miami Springs; Ivonne Del Carmen Alonso, 18, of Hialeah; and Manuel Gonzalez, 24, of Miami. They were being held at the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $10,000 bond each charged with trafficking in cocaine, possession of a controlled substance. Except for Gonzalez, they were also charged with carrying a concealed firearm.

Police said a .357-magnum handgun was discovered in the purse belonging to Raquel Hernandez which was on the front seat of the car in easy reach of her or her husband, police said.

The other handgun, a .32-caliber weapon, was found in a purse belonging to Ivonne Alonso. She was seated in the right rear seat of the vehicle with her purse on the will be given that opportunity Tuesday night.

A hearing has been scheduled by the board for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at city hall to consider the city's request for a rehearing on the issue.

On Colbert's advice the commission has unanimously authorized the attorney to appeal to the courts if the board refuses to reverse its decision.

In recommending the action, Colbert assured he wasn't "sabre-rattling," but may be under a deadline to file court action within 30 days of the May 12 hearing and thus would be out of time if he waited for the authorization until the commission's next meeting June 13.

According to city records, Bernard Mitchell, the man whose case brought the current problem to the forefront, often had problems with city supervisors over a two-year period. The record says he was transferred three times.

While working in the water department, he apparently gave additional time on his own to some water customers who were delinquent paying water bills and in some cases accepted payment from customers.

There is no suggestion that any of the money went astray, but the city has a policy forbidding such actions.

On March 1, Mitchell was dismissed for insubordination. Three days later, he appealed the dismissal to the five-member appointed Civil Service Board which overturned the firing and, instead, gave him a 30-day suspension without pay.

Mitchell returned to work April 1 and was fired five days later for the same reason, after a new occurrence, and because of his overall work record.

Knowles said the man refused to obey an order from his supervisor and called the supervisor a "village idiot" in front of other employees.

The city accepted the first board action. But after the second hearing, Knowles sent the board a memo citing what he believed were errors by the board in making the second decision. "I was trying to be sure they understood the problem," Knowles said.

"Testimony is to be taken from both sides and the board is to follow the facts as presented in sworn testimony," Knowles said. The board is supposed to give an answer to all the charges and it didn't. The board should abide by its own rules and state law and it didn't. There has to be a confidence that the board is fair and open. The board is supposed to represent the public. It is not a labor board."

Colbert said he is "amazed" by the board. "They didn't rule on the whole charge. They violated their own rules and state law about public meetings by going into executive session," he said.

The legislation which created the Civil Service Board was sought by the city 34 years ago. The idea at the time was to give city employees some security.

Knowles said when he first came to Sanford 30 years ago, there was a poor relationship between the Civil Service Board and the city and that he worked with the board to get a better understanding.

At the hearing Colbert represented the city and called five witnesses, including Knowles, Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett, and three supervisors under whom Mitchell had worked over the two-year period. All testified under oath, Colbert said, adding that there was no testimony from Mitchell or anyone else on his behalf.

The board then went into executive session behind closed doors, Colbert said, and within an hour announced its decision overturning the firing.

Meanwhile, Mitchell got a job elsewhere.

"When I appear next week (at the hearing), I'll ask them to reconsider and I hope they do. This may be partially a misunderstanding. I hope we can resolve this," Colbert said.

Darby, board chairman for the past 15 years, said, "The Civil Service Board is supposed to be an independent body and to the best of its ability render a fair decision both to the employee and the employer. The board voted to put this man back to work. The vote was 3 to 2. It's no secret that Bill McQuatters and I voted the other way."

Darby, who heads the University of Florida Agriculture Research and Education Center off Celery Avenue in Sanford, added, "Two of us thought the city had ample evidence to discharge and three thought the city didn't have sufficient evidence. It all boiled down to one fact and that was whether the man was insubordinate, guilty of disgraceful conduct plus his entire work record."

Explaining the testimony before the board, Darby said apparently Mitchell did not use profanity, but talked loudly to his supervisors in a belligerent and argumentative fashion. Darby said Mitchell had a history of this type conduct. The minority thought it warranted dismissal, he said.

The term "disgraceful conduct" comes from rule 6 of the Civil Service Board. Dr. Darby said, adding if the employee were to be found guilty he would be subject to dismissal.

Darby said since the board is not a court, the members didn't feel they were doing anything wrong by going into executive session.

The cocaine, with an estimated bulk value of $20,000, more if sold in smaller increments, police said, was found under an armrest between the rear seats of Leandro Hernandez's 1977 Cadillac. The armrest was between Ms. Alonso and Gonzalez.

A box of .357-magnum ammunition was found in Mrs. Hernandez's purse, police said.

CARS BURGLARIZED

Three cars parked behind 306 Elm Avenue, Sanford, were burglarized between 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8:25 a.m. Wednesday, police report. Two stereos and two speakers belonging to Patricia Zaccour were taken.

GRILL GONE

A gas grill valued at $180 is missing from the front porch at 800 Rosalia Drive, Sanford. The grill, property of Herbert D. Patton, was apparently stolen between 4:45 and 5:05 p.m. Wednesday, police said.

RING STOLEN

A friendship ring described as a thin band with an encircling heart design, and an AM-FM cassette player and dual speakers were taken from the car of Glenn Eric Aldinger of League Circle, Casselberry. The theft occurred between 9 p.m. Monday and 3 p.m. Tuesday, police said.

MISCHIEF ON BOARD

Vandals who broke into the Sanford Boat Works on Celery Avenue between May 14 and noon on Tuesday had a field day inside Richard M. Powell's 28-foot Bayliner boat.

Powell, of Orlando, reported an oil plug was taken out of the starboard side engine causing oil to leak into the bilge. They also turned on the freshwater pump and for their trouble left with two radios — a 99 channel VHF and a 40-channel CB.

Space Shuttle Challenger Preparing For Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The space shuttle Challenger was in place today on its launch pad where it will blast into orbit June 18 with three satellites and the nation's first female astronaut.

The Challenger inched its way to the pad from the 52-story Vehicle Assembly Building Thursday. The painstaking 3 1/4-mile journey for the white stub-winged orbiter began shortly after noon and ended about seven hours later.

Technicians and engineers immediately began making the mechanical and electrical hookups. When that chore is completed, workers will begin preparing the Challenger for the commercial cargo it will carry into space.

Key objectives of the six-day mission are to launch two communications satellites — one for Canada and one for Indonesia. In addition, Ms. Ride and fellow mission specialist John Fabian will use a 50-foot mechanical arm to launch an experimental German-built satellite and then retrieve it several hours later, another first in America's space program.

Graham's Power Curbed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has reluctantly accepted a bill pushed through the Legislature's appropriations chairmen to reduce his ability to change the state budget between sessions.

Graham and legislative leaders have feuded over the budget the last few years and wound up in court several times. Morgan and Johnston have been angry with some of the decisions Graham has made to modify the budget after it was enacted into law and Graham has been upset with some of the proviso language legislators have been putting into the spending plan.

The governor has had some fairly broad authority to make changes in the budget after it has become law. Some actions have required the concurrence of the Cabinet. Others have not.

The new law requires Cabinet concurrence on a two-thirds vote for some of Graham's budget changing decisions to take effect.

Sentencing Rules Passed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Both the Senate and House have passed by wide margins legislation that would drastically change the way judges sentence convicted criminals.

Under bills approved in both chambers Thursday, judges would have a narrower range of sentences they could impose for specific crimes and would have to make greater use of enhanced probationary programs for non-violent criminals.

Sen. Don Childers, D-West Palm Beach, labeled the Senate's bill a form of "prison relief" that would result in felons going to prison less often and for less time.

Proponents countered that the guidelines were the only alternative to a costly and unworkable program of prison construction. The state is under a federal court order to bring its prison population under control.

Drugs, Guns, Porno Used To Purchase Stolen Food Stamps

MIAMI (UPI) — Federal agents have accused 29 retailers of buying stolen food stamps with cocaine, machine guns and porno movies.

Twenty-three of the 29 people charged have been arrested, and authorities are looking for the others.

During the one-year investigation dubbed "Operation Miami," Secret Service agents offered stacks of food stamps to merchants and other willing dealers.

In 90 separate transactions, the agents said they loaded $160,000 worth of stolen stamps for cash at half face value, or used them to buy drugs, weapons, electronic equipment and sexual paraphernalia and pirated movies.

Secret Service agents said the investigation did not involve "needy individuals."

"Certainly these are not the people that need to buy food with food stamps," said Secret Service agent Donald Szego.

Twelve of the arrested were arraigned before a federal magistrate early Wednesday on charges of illegal trafficking in food stamps, which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Others were additionally charged with conspiracy.

Investigators said most of the men worked by themselves rather than through an organized network.

Senate, House At Odds Over Spending Plan

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — House and Senate negotiators may get together today and begin to try meshing a budget that raises the corporate profits tax to pay for school improvements with a no-new-taxes spending plan.

The Senate formally rejected the House's corporate tax increase Thursday, but House members were undeterred. They went ahead and passed an $11.5 billion spending plan that depends on the tax hike for part of its funding.

Senators formally rejected the education improvement package and $180 million business income tax increase passed by the House Wednesday. They stood firm for their "RAISE" bill which doesn't require tax increases this year, although it could down the road.

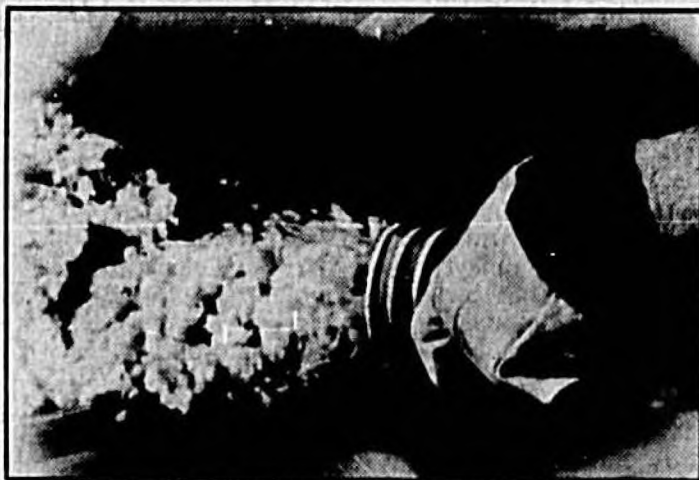

The House refused to back down a short time later, the procedural step necessary for a conference committee to begin work on a compromise school enhancement program.

And a short time later, they voted 93-25 for a proposed budget that provides about $300 million more for education than the no-new-taxes budget approved by the Senate a week ago, with most of the money generated by the higher corporate profits tax.

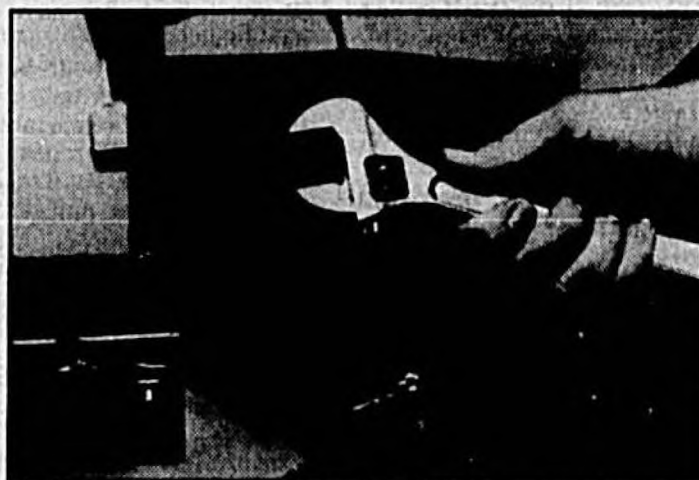

A conference committee on education likely will begin work today, with conferees on the budget gearing up over the weekend.

The conferees will work frantically trying to reach agreement in time for adjournment the end of next week as scheduled, but it is doubtful the Legislature will go home on time.

FPL will actually pay you to conserve electricity four ways:

Our Cooling & Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an older, inefficient air conditioning system or heat pump replaced with a qualifying high efficiency system.

Our Ceiling Insulation Incentive. FPL will pay up to $300 towards the cost of having ceiling insulation installed.

Our Water Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an inefficient water heater modified or replaced with a solar water heater, water heating heat pump or heat recovery system.

Our Solar Film Incentive. FPL will pay up to $150 towards the cost of having solar-reflective film installed.

To qualify for the last three incentives, work must first be recommended by an FPL Home Energy Audit.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise™ incentives? Yes.

This program benefits you and all our customers. Because it costs less than the oil necessary to generate the extra electricity used by inefficient homes.

Sex And The Insurance Actuary

Efforts to require insurance companies to disregard sex in setting insurance rates are going forward on two fronts. The Supreme Court of the United States has been asked to declare that sexual discrimination in setting such rates is a violation of the civil rights of women.

Meanwhile, Congress is debating a bill which would require insurance companies to set all rates on a unisex basis.

This is the age of the emancipation of women. The drive for equal rights makes any reform attractive if it seems to confer benefits on women.

It has taken great pressure by women's groups to make employers and insurance companies recognize that the health costs of women should be fully covered by disability and medical plans, including the costs associated with childbirth.

The campaign to equalize insurance premiums paid by men and women has gained support because it is seen as another part of this great crusade for women's rights.

As insurance companies have been forbidden to practice racial discrimination in fixing premiums, it seems to many that they should be forbidden also to practice discrimination on the basis of sex.

But there is a difference. Race is hard to define. It is inherently repugnant in our culture to inquire of a person as to his or her race. There are many persons of mixed or uncertain races. Some people may elect to change their racial identity. If there is any such thing.

Transsexuals aside, we can hardly say the same for sexual identity. In almost all cases, it is determined at birth and remains unchanged throughout life. It is a biological fact that human beings are created either male or female.

When insurance companies categorize human beings according to sex, they are not conferring rights upon either sex. If it is an actuarial fact that women have a higher life expectancy than men, why should that fact not be taken into consideration in setting premium rates and pension payments, even though it may result in higher rates or lower monthly payments?

It would make as much sense to require insurance companies to refrain from practicing age discrimination in insurance rates.

But would we require a 20-year-old to pay as high a rate for life insurance as an 80-year-old, despite the difference in their life expectancies?

Car insurance costs young males more than young females, because the males have a higher accident rate.

Should the rates be reduced for the men and raised for the women, regardless of the loss statistics? We don't believe so.

Some who have striven mightily for equality for women do not believe that the courts or Congress should forbid insurance companies or annuity salesmen or pension planners from taking into account the sex of individual insureds, annuitants and pensioners.

There is nothing inherently unfair or improper in grouping people according to sex for statistical purposes. And determining insurance rates is more a matter of statistics than of social policy.

If the Supreme Court does not require the insurance industry to set all rates on a unisex basis, neither should Congress.

BERRY'S WORLD

"For heaven's sake! DON'T HONK YOUR HORN AT ANYBODY. He might pull a gun and shoot you."

By Diane Petryk

Karen Coleman has come a long way in her 14 years with the Seminole County school system, but she still clearly recalls her first day as a teacher in 1969.

As she stood before a new group of 5th graders at Sanford Grammar School, in the days before air conditioned classrooms, the blades of an electric fan grabbed the corner of her new $40 dress and gradually ate most of it — to the astonishment of all the children.

"One little girl's eyes opened so wide," she said. "I'll never forget it."

Eventually, she extricated the dress, but from that day onward could never remove wide-eyed children from her heart.

After teaching 12 years in grades from 5th to 8th, Mrs. Coleman still has a yearning to help direct young inquiring minds. But she also had a need to change experiences and take on a new set of challenges.

So although there are no children with wide-eyed looks at the district office, as an administrative trainee Mrs. Coleman said she has learned that education is truly a team effort.

"It's a partnership we all share — administrators and teachers," she said.

And she added, her new job is actually "a dream position" because it's multidimensional.

She explained. Traditionally, administrators rose from the ranks, usually after working their entire career in just one school under one administrator.

Seminole County's administrative trainee program, however, gives a broader view, allowing the trainee to work under many different administrators, each with their own style.

Last year Mrs. Coleman, 37, worked in school level administration at several centers including Lake Mary High, Crooms High, and Lakeview and Jackson Heights middle schools. After discussion with Superintendent Bob Hughes, it was decided she should spend a second year as administrative trainee — this time at the district office.

Hughes assigned her to be the district staff's liaison with news media, representative to the community and designee to parent groups such as the Seminole County Councils of PTAs and Seminole County Schools Advisory Councils.

All this has kept Mrs. Coleman extremely busy. She estimates it involves at least three evening meetings a week, following a usually brisk daytime schedule talking to the press, organizing meetings, giving speeches and promoting Seminole County Schools. The latter a personal commitment to a system she holds close to her heart.

"I believe in Seminole County Schools," she said. "I'm a product of the Seminole County School system. My husband and I have our two most precious possessions, our children, in the Seminole County School system. I believe in the quality of education here."

It must be that belief that drives dynamo Karen.

The superintendent says: "Karen Coleman is an extremely positive and energetic person. She's well organized, competent, efficient. She can accomplish many tasks in a short time and has devoted hours and hours spreading the word about Seminole County schools."

WASHINGTON WORLD

Fitting Locale For Summit

By Helen Thomas

UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Colonial Williamsburg may be a fit setting for a gathering of world leaders trying to solve some of the key global economic and political problems of the '80s.

It epitomizes the early revolutionary history of the United States and its great leaders of that era, including George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry. They had courage, daring and boldness to face their present and future.

In that 18th century atmosphere the heads of seven governments will sit down to swap views on the problems that loom large today.

The contrasts between then and now are sharp. Perhaps one of the biggest changes in the world since America's beginnings and today is the need for global cooperation for mutual security, isolation and "no entangling alliances" preached by the nation's first president are a thing of the past.

In today's world there appears to be a consensus that no nation can go it alone. No nation is self-sufficient, and no nation can live without collective security or powerful friends and allies.

While the thrust of the Williamsburg summit will be on economic recovery, hovering in the background are the world's political problems and East-West tensions that have increased the dangers.

Such subjects will be discussed at meal times, according to aides, rather than at the conference table.

Undoubtedly European leaders have many questions for Reagan about U.S. intentions in the nuclear arms negotiations.

Among them there is still some grumbling that he is not showing enough flexibility at the bargaining table with the Soviets in Geneva. In recent days, Reagan's defenders have had to stress his dedication to arms control. Even former West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt has challenged Reagan's nuclear control stance.

Reagan has said that at the summit the leaders will reaffirm their position that the United States should go ahead with the deployment of Pershing-2 and cruise missiles in Europe.

But there is no question that the leaders are hoping there will be some breakthrough in the intermediate range missile negotiations that would make deployment unnecessary.

Reagan is shrugging off threats of retaliation from the Soviets if the missiles are deployed in Europe to offset Russia's SS-20 missiles.

In a recent interview with United Press International, he said he "can't believe" that the Soviets mean to retaliate. And he emphasizes that the missiles are being deployed "at the request of our allies."

"All of our allies are in agreement on going forward with the deployment," he said.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Deprogram The Liberals

NEW YORK (NEA) — Personally, I've always agreed with Barry Farber's contention that we ought to keep a few liberals around "just for breeding purposes," but the current ridiculous oversupply of this pesky species is a serious problem. They are so numerous that they often manage to elect politicians beholden to them to high public office and, of course, their near-total dominance of the media is common knowledge. What rabbits are to Australia, liberals are to America.

But now comes word of a new, promising solution to this long-standing problem. As so often, it simply involves applying to this new area a technology perfected and long used successfully in another field.

In two words: deprogram them.

Take Dr. Susan Wirth, a professor of English in her mid-30s (with a Ph.D. in Spanish) who was walking one day in 1980 to a class she taught at Alameda Community College Center in downtown San Francisco. Back in Pennsylvania, where she came from, she had helped organize anti-nuclear groups. In San Francisco, she went steadily downhill, joining a thing called the African People's Solidarity Committee and actually becoming chairwoman of the Coalition to Fight the Death Penalty.

But her plucky mother knew just what to do. As Dr. Wirth walked along that San Francisco street, a rented van (later traced to her mother) drove up beside her and two men shoved her inside. More than a month later, in a telephone interview with a reporter, Dr. Wirth stated that there were three more rescuers (she called them "thugs") inside the van. She declared she had been handcuffed to a bed for almost two weeks, gagged and deprived of "food, drink and sleep on occasion," and warned that she would be thrown into a mental institution if she didn't cooperate.

Dr. Wirth identified the noted religious deprogrammer, Ted Patrick, as the leader of this attempt to moderate her political views, adding that his accomplices told her he was charging $27,000 for his services. Sadly, in this case, the cure didn't "take": Dr. Wirth is still a liberal and describes her mother as remorseful. But just imagine the political consequences if only half of such deprogrammings worked!

Nor is politics the only new area in which deprogramming is being tried. There was Stephanie Riethmiller, 20, an Ohio woman whose parents suspected she was having a lesbian affair with the girl with whom she was living. In this case, deprogrammer Patrick was actually indicted along with two other people for kidnapping Miss Riethmiller in front of her home and taking her to Alabama and holding her there for six days, during which one of his co-defendants allegedly made sexual advances to her and raped her — apparently in an attempt to change her mind about homosexuality. The jury, however, acquitted Patrick on all charges, and the other defendants on all but the abduction charges (as to which they couldn't agree), prompting the judge to remark that the verdict "showed a jury will permit their moral evaluations to enter into their legal conclusions."

In other recent cases, deprogrammers have tried, for husky fees, to un-kink the minds of young adults seized with such mental aberrations as affiliation with the (evangelical) Assembly of God Church and the Roman Catholic Church. In one instance, they kidnapped a married couple and successfully deprogrammed the wife but failed with the husband. The marriage was destroyed of course, but that's life.

And now, if I may abandon the ironical mode, let me invite you to share my outrage at this sort of thing. It all began — remember? — a few years back with the efforts of certain foolish parents to deprogram their adult children, whom they believed had been "brainwashed" by the Moonies and other new religions that it pleased the parents to call "cults." Now we are apparently all fair game for any money-grubbing busybody who disapproves of our religious or political or even sexual attitudes. Law-enforcement authorities have been slow to prosecute such cases, because juries are often reluctant to convict. But the episodes discussed above, and others like them, are a disgrace to a free society, and we had better develop a firm resistance to all manifestations of this kind of thing before it becomes a major blot on the American record.

Sporadic Blindness A Mystery

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doctors are at a loss to explain a disorder that plunges some victims into sporadic blindness.

It is called benign essential blepharospasm. Victims wink, blink or squint a lot at first and then find eyelids clamping shut. Spasms around the eyes affect muscles that control lids. The spells of blindness are of unpredictable duration.

"It is much more common than we thought," said Dr. Roswell Eldridge, a neurogeneticist at the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke.

Eldridge credits the recently established Benign Essential Blepharospasm Research Foundation with helping to locate victims across the country.

Eldridge, who attended the first annual conference sponsored by the foundation, said its efforts at bringing patients together gives the scientific community a chance to look at greater numbers of victims of the disorder once thought rare.

Doctors on the foundation's medical advisory board say blepharospasm is often misdiagnosed. This is because of the relative lack of awareness.

As a result, the disease sometimes mistakenly is diagnosed as a psychiatric problem. But it actually crosses other specialties: neurology, ophthalmology and neuro-ophthalmology.

Drug therapy with diazepam, levodopa and methylodopa has led to occasional success but only rarely, foundation medical advisers say. A surgical approach involves cutting of areas of the small facial nerve branches of the orbicularis muscle. It brings short duration improvement in some patients.

Dr. Joseph Jankovic, head of the movement disorder clinic of medicine in Houston says blepharospasm is often a misunderstood condition.

"It may be present alone, but it may also be part of a more general neurological syndrome," he says. "Therefore, I believe that blepharospasm should be evaluated by a neurologist to exclude the other diagnoses."

Some related conditions associated with blepharospasm include Parkinson's disease and tardive dyskinesia — involuntary movements of the face.

Dr. Robert B. Wilkins, director of ophthalmic plastic and reconstructive surgery at the University of Texas Medical School in Houston says patients with essential blepharospasm who come to his office "have usually been from doctor to doctor, seeing psychiatrists, neurosurgeons and so forth."

"These people are desperate because they are essentially blind and have difficulty carrying out their daily routine. Women have trouble with housework and both men and women have difficulty or find it impossible to drive their cars."

JACK ANDERSON

Soviet Savvy Blew Pipeline Sanctions

WASHINGTON — When President Reagan meets allied leaders this weekend in Williamsburg, Va., he may discover in a very personal way that he was snookered into dropping the Soviet pipeline sanctions — by a combination of friends and enemies. Some of the culprits will be sitting right in the conference room with him.

As I reported last November — when Reagan announced the end of the sanctions he had imposed in January 1982 — the Soviet leadership had outguessed the White House at every step of the game. Probably with the aid of the KGB's intelligence network, the Kremlin leaders anticipated Reagan's moves and checkmated him with the skill of chess masters.

The CIA played into the Kremlin's hands by producing two shoddy intelligence estimates on likely effects of the sanctions. Then the agency compounded its errors of judgment by following the recommendations of an American company that stood to gain millions if the sanctions were lifted.

Finally, the State Department was evidently persuaded by our European allies that if the sanctions were lifted they would join the United States in a broad agreement on trade with the Soviet bloc. Secretary of State George Shultz convinced Reagan this was the case. The president will find out this weekend just how empty the allied leaders' assurances were.

My associate Dale Van Atta has pieced together a story of guile, greed and incompetence from secret documents and interviews over the past six months. Here are the details:

As I reported in November, the Kremlin figured — correctly — that Reagan would impose sanctions on pipeline technology if the Russians cracked down on the rebellious Poles. Knowing their own timetable for the crackdown, the Soviets rushed to nail down contracts for pipeline equipment with Western suppliers. The final contract was signed in Moscow on Dec. 14, 1981 — the day after martial law had been declared in Poland, and two weeks before Reagan announced the sanctions.

The one U.S. company whose products were considered by the Soviets to be vital to their pipeline was General Electric. And GE obviously stood to make a bundle if the sanctions were lifted. Knowing this, the CIA relied heavily on GE for information on how the sanctions were working — or not working.

A GE representative, in fact, coordinated and controlled a two-hour CIA briefing for White House and State Department officials in early 1982. His presentation naturally favored dropping the sanctions, and it went substantially unchallenged by the CIA.

In August 1982, the CIA produced an intelligence estimate that dumped all over the sanctions. Upset by the report, National Security Adviser William Clark wrote CIA Director William Casey in September and asked him to reconsider.

Examination of the CIA's August estimate shows it was a poor effort. It shows complete ignorance of the terms of the contracts the Soviets were then rushing to completion.

The CIA also drastically underestimated the value to the Soviets of their gas pipeline to Western Europe — obviously a vital consideration in assessing the degree of punishment inflicted by the sanctions. The CIA figured the Russians stood to make about $5 billion a year after completion of the first pipeline segment. But other intelligence estimates put the figure at $8 billion-$10 billion a year.

Even worse, the CIA didn't even address the question of Soviet gas sales when two more strands of the pipeline are in place — estimated by others at $30 billion-$40 billion a year in badly needed hard currency.

Clark got the second estimate he asked for. It was essentially a justification of the first one. With the CIA firmly against the sanctions, Shultz was able to persuade Reagan they should be lifted. As a face-saving gesture, it was announced that the European allies would join in a tough general agreement on trade with the Soviets. The president will try to hold the allies to their promise this weekend.

Lyman Outruns Seminole

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

APOPKA — At times Thursday night, Seminole High looked like contenders. The Tribe flashed signs of a productive offense while a few bone-crunching tackles had the defense as fired up as possible.

Unfortunately, sandwiched between the outstanding plays was the same kind of inconsistency that plagued coach Jerry Posey's team during an 0-10 1982 campaign.

On the other hand, Lyman's Greyhounds unveiled a potent running game in the early going and a defense which held back a last-second Seminole scoring drive as the 'Hounds claimed a 14-6 victory in the first half of 1983 spring football jamboree at Apopka High School. Osceola Kissimmee surprised Apopka, 6-0, in the second half.

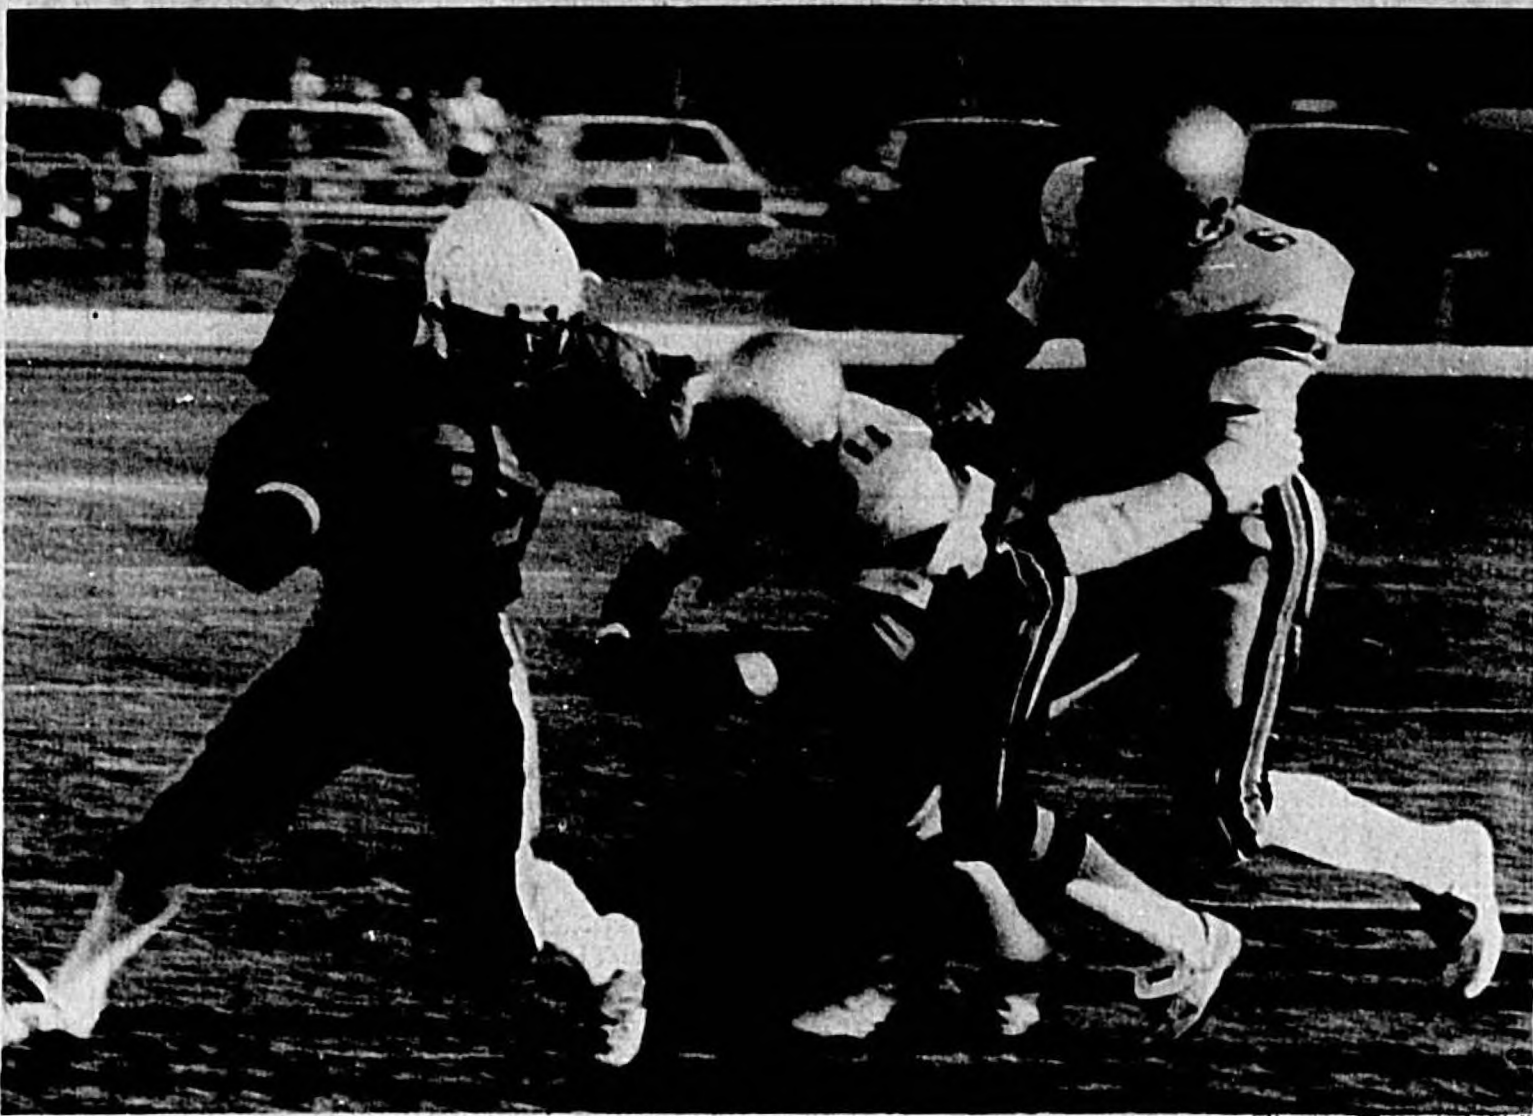

"We felt coming in that it was very important for us to win this game," Posey said. "When you finish last in your league, you have to jump on every chance you get."

Lyman received the opening kickoff and gained 35 yards on its first four plays from scrimmage to move the ball into Seminole territory. The Tribe's defense then rose to the occasion as Fred Brinson tackled Lyman's Avery Merweather for an eight-yard loss and, on the next play, Tim Lawrence sacked quarterback Tony Johnson for a four-yard loss. After an incomplete pass, the Greyhounds were forced to punt as the Tribe's defense withstood its first test of the evening.

Flashbacks of the past season came back on Seminole's first play from scrimmage as Lawrence took the hand-off, broke into the Lyman secondary, and, while carrying the football like a hot loaf of bread, was stripped of the ball and Lyman's Ron Beasley recovered at the Seminole 32-yard line.

A gain of 11 yards by Karl Simmons and one of 16 yards by Phil Germano gave Lyman a first and goal on the Tribe's five. Two plays later, Tyler Hughes busted in from one yard out as Lyman cashed in on Seminole's miscue with 6:18 remaining in the first of two quarters. Steve Abernethy added the extra point for a 7-0 Lyman lead.

A penalty on the ensuing kickoff nullified a fine return by Dexter Jones and the offense failed to make a first down on its second possession of the night. Rob Cohen then shanked his first punt attempt and gave the Greyhounds good field position.

Key plays in Lyman's second scoring drive included a 12-yard pass completion from Greg Pilot to Mike Battle and a 12-yard run by Mike Henley. Henley's run gave the 'Hounds a first and goal at the eight and, on third down, Beasley took it over from the one for Lyman's second TD. Abernethy added the point after as the Greyhounds took a 14-0 lead with 10:46 remaining in the second quarter.

A loss of 13 yards on Seminole's first play after the kickoff, put the Tribe in a hole it couldn't get out of. Cohen's second punt of the night went off the side of his foot and traveled about 15 yards before going out of bounds.

The defense then created the first break of the night for The Tribe as Johnson was jolted by a group of Seminoles, fumbled, and Tracy Holloman smothered the loose ball for the Tribe in Lyman territory.

Lawrence then broke loose for runs of 23 and 10 yards to give Seminole a first and goal at the Lyman nine. On the next play, Clifton Campbell scampered in for the score with 4:25 left to play. Cohen's extra point attempt was wide left as Lyman held on to a 14-6 lead.

For the second straight possession, Seminole's defense hung tough as the Tribe gave up just three yards on three plays. With 2:40 left in the game, Seminole still had a chance to tie the game. Lyman's Jody Foster made it a little harder for Seminole as he boomed a 55-yard punt and gave Seminole a first down at the 20 with 80 yards to go in just 2:35.

On second down, Mike Futrell tossed a short pass to William Wynn who made a spectacular open-field run, gaining 45 yards to the Lyman 35. A screen pass from Futrell to Lawrence was good for nine yards and another pass from Futrell to Wynn went for 12 more yards as Seminole got down to the Lyman 19 with 36 seconds left to play. Lawrence gained three yards on first down, but Futrell's next two pass attempts were incomplete to force Seminole into a fourth down with less than 20 seconds left in the game. Futrell then tossed a screen to Jones who gained only five yards, two yards short of the first down, and Lyman ran out the clock to ice the victory.

"Both teams moved the ball pretty well," Posey said. "But, the score should only have been 7-6. We gave them one touchdown. On defense, we tried to make too many arm tackles."

Lyman gained a total of 84 yards rushing in the two quarters with Mike Crespo's 24 yards leading the way. Henley added 23 yards on three carries followed by Germano with 19 yards and Merweather with 15 yards. Germano, who runs the 40 in 4.7, had a sparkling 25-yard TD run called back by a penalty. The Greyhounds only attempted two passes and completed one for 12 yards for a total of 96 yards of offense.

Seminole compiled 53 yards rushing with Lawrence's 53 yards on seven carries leading the way. Futrell completed five of 10 passes for 78 yards. Wynn, who was out all last season with an injury, hauled in three passes for 64 yards. Seminole rolled up 143 yards of total offense.

Quarter one: Lake Mary vs. DeLand
Quarter two: Oviedo vs. DeLand
Quarter three: Lake Brantley vs. Oviedo
Quarter four: Lake Howell vs. Lake Mary
Quarter five: Lake Howell vs. Lake Brantley

All eyes will be on the quarterbacks more than usual tonight when four county teams conclude their spring practice with the Lake Brantley Spring Jamboree at Altamonte Springs. First kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

The quarterbacks will draw the attention because two of them — Lake Howell's Troy Quackenbush and Darin Slack — are battling for the no. 1 job while three others are untested commodities.

Convey Joins Cheeseman, Jaeger In 'Golden Mile'

Billy Convey joins the fun Saturday night when Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman and Winter Park's Brian Jaeger renew their rivalry in the mile run at the prestigious Golden South Classic Saturday at Winter Park's Showalter Field. The mile should begin between 7:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Convey, a senior from Ransom Everglades, has a 4:11.0 mile to his credit which is three to four seconds slower than Cheeseman and Jaeger. Convey, however, runs against 2A competition primarily and will get a much-needed push Saturday night against junior Cheeseman and senior Jaeger.

Prep Track

Other county participants include state champion high jumper Lori Carroll and state champion hurdler Schowonda Williams. Both are juniors and coach Larry Baker said he felt they peaked perfectly for the state meet where Lyman finished second. Williams will have an adjustment Saturday whereas the hurdles will be 440 yards as opposed to the 330 she is used to.

"Steady Eddie" Charles came through in the clutch in a big way Thursday in leading Adcock Roofing to a 8-5 victory over Flagship Bank in Sanford Little American action at Bay Avenue Field. After being tagged for five runs in the first inning, Charles regained his composure and shutout Flagship Bank the rest of the way.

Charles helped his own cause at the plate as he went 3 for 3 including a RBI-double in the fifth inning that put the finishing touches on Flagship Bank. Charles' hitting and pitching heroics vaulted Adcock Roofing into sole possession of first place as the Little American League season comes down to the wire.

After Adcock took a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning, Flagship Bank responded by rallying for five runs on five hits in the bottom of the first inning. James Jackson led off with a single and Tye Koke followed with a single to put runners on first and third with no outs. One out later, Ronald Cox and W.L. Gracey rapped run-scoring singles and Travla Pickens walked to load the bases. Robert Jackson then walked to force in one run and two more scored on Rubin Blake's single.

Adcock Roofing tied the game at 5-5 in the top of the second inning as Erakine Howard and Von Eric Small slugged consecutive singles and Charles and Patrick Daughtery followed with RBI singles.

Then, the pitchers took over. Flagship's Cox shut out Adcock Roofing in the third and fourth innings while Charles was breezing through the Flagship batting order.

The score remained at 5-5 until the top of the fifth inning. With one out, David Ruesher singled and Marvis Howard followed with a triple that turned out to be the game-winning RBI. Erakine Howard then drilled a triple for a 7-5 Adcock lead and Charles stroked a two-out double that made the score 8-5.

Flagship Bank couldn't sustain any rally after the first inning. In the last two innings, the fifth and sixth, Charles retired the side in order. Charles finished with eight strikeouts and three walks, all three walks were in the first inning.

Behind Charles' three hits, Small, Howard and Tony Chavers had two hits each for Adcock Roofing. Koke had three hits for Flagship Bank while James Jackson and Blake had a pair of hits each.

At Fort Mellon Park Thursday, Seminole Ford scored 19 runs in the third inning en route to a 30-1 rout of Atlantic Bank.

Seminole Ford had nine hits on the day, and cashed in on 24 walks issued by Atlantic Bank pitching. Jonny Williams triple and homered to lead Seminole Ford at the plate while both Doug Spain and Kyle Faulkner ripped a pair of doubles.

Spain also picked up the pitching victory as he hurled a one-hitter, struck out four and walked a meager two. Joe Moore's single in the third inning was the only hit off of Spain.

Lattimore Leads Shell Win

In Pee Wee League action at Chase Park, Tony Lattimore cracked three hits and picked up the pitching victory as Clem Leonard Shell outslugged Butch's Chevron, 14-13. Clem Leonard Shell scored five runs in the top of the third inning and took a 14-6 lead into the bottom of the inning when Butch's Chevron rallied for seven runs, but fell short of tying the game by one run.

Jimmy Carraway had the hot bat for Butch's Chevron as he clouted a pair of homers while Bill Farrance and Lonnie Jones added one homer apiece. Tony Taylor added a triple for Clem Leonard Shell.

Kokomo Tools erupted for eight runs in the second inning and held on for a 13-7 victory over McRoberts Tire.

Ronnie McNeil slugged a triple and a double for Kokomo Tools while Lawrence McIntyre added a pair of doubles. Michael Dillon rapped a home run and Correy Bennett added at triple. Bennett also picked up the pitching victory as he struck out six and walked seven. Bennett only gave up one hit, that being a two-run homer by Demetris Miller in the first inning.

The Dangers Of Excess Magnesium

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I recall that you had a column once about how magnesium could be harmful. I have been taking an antacid that contains magnesium and wonder if it is safe for me.

As I recall, you mentioned that magnesium could cause symptoms of old age. What are these symptoms? I am 67 and feel just fine. How can I tell if I am getting too much magnesium and what can I do about it?

DEAR READER — This is a neglected topic, but an important one. The original work was reported by doctors from the University of Connecticut Health Center.

For young healthy people the magnesium in antacids is not likely to be harmful. The small portion that is absorbed is eliminated through the filtering action of the kidneys.

But as people get older the kidneys lose the ability to filter out magnesium as efficiently as before. If older people use a lot of medicines containing magnesium, there may be a slow build up of magnesium in the body.

This can cause drowsiness, poor coordination, weakness, a feeling of warmth, unsteadiness and other symptoms. The poor coordination and unsteadiness may lead to falling and injuries from the fall.

The worst culprits in causing chronic magnesium toxicity are probably laxatives containing magnesium. Two tablespoons, or 30 milliliters, of milk of magnesia contains 1,000 milligrams of magnesium — three or four times the normal daily dietary intake. Unfortunately, antacids and laxatives containing magnesium are commonly used in copious amounts by older people and are provided in nursing homes. No doubt many cases of magnesium toxicity are overlooked.

To make the diagnosis a blood sample must be taken as soon as the symptoms appear. A few days after the magnesium is stopped, the kidneys catch up and so the cause of the patient's symptoms cannot be identified. Happily most early cases can be cured by omitting magnesium containing medicines. Other antacids can be used if needed. And taking laxatives is a questionable habit at best.

Magnesium is discussed in The Health Letter 17-6, Nutritional Aspects of Minerals, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me. In care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was 12 years old I had a testicle lowered. I am now 59 and it is giving me some trouble. It feels like it does after an examination by a doctor. It is a nuisance type thing but I wonder if I should see a doctor. Also, what could this progress to? I've heard it could be cancerous.

DEAR READER — It is frequently said that an undescended testicle can become cancerous, but the risk is quite small, unless it is associated with other abnormalities that you do not have.

The sensation you have may be from a hernia in the canal that the testicle descends through. And the testicle probably pushes up into the canal under the skin but not back into the abdominal cavity.

See a doctor and find out why it is bothering you.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MAY 28, 1983

Several important friendships will be developed this coming year with persons you already know casually. These relationships will prove advantageous.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your mate may be a bit more capable in handling your joint interests than you will be today. Don't take over at the last minute and gum things up. Order now: The NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Gemini Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're a good worker today, but only up to a point. When you begin to tire or lose interest, you'd be wise to put your tools away until tomorrow.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be warmly received at any social gathering today, but it's also important to know when to leave. Don't wear out your welcome.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Family members and relatives will be eager to help you today, provided you don't make unreasonable demands. Keep your request in bounds.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are likely to grasp the essence of ideas more quickly than those with whom you pal around today. Just because you're brighter, don't lord it over them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Continue to be prudent and conservative in your financial affairs. Ignore extravagant urges which may direct you to do otherwise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Others will be quick to notice today if you are a trifle cool to those who can't do anything for you, while being warm and attentive to those who can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your instincts will be on target today, yet you may not use them to your maximum benefit. Don't make decisions against your better judgment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you attempt to mingle with a new crowd today, you could experience some uneasy moments. Stick with familiar faces and places.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Overcome tendencies today to switch courses just when your goals are within reach. Near misses will be of no value.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are capable of doing what you set your mind to today, but there's a chance that, after you achieve your goal, you may not derive full benefits.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Owing to the efforts of others, things will be made easier for you today. However, you, in turn, must also share and do what you can for them.

The late Bill Huske, who was editor of The Bridge World magazine in its earliest days, invented today's hand. In other words, he made it up to show the ultimate in trump coups.

A trump coup becomes a grand coup when you ruff a winner in order to shorten your trump holding. A double grand-coup is the ruffing of two winners.

Here is Huske's quadruple grand-coup with four winners being ruffed. East's double tells South that he almost surely holds all four missing trumps. South sees some very slight chance that he can handle that bad break.

At trick two he ruffs a heart. The next six tricks are diamond to dummy, heart ruff, until all four hearts have been ruffed while East has had to follow suit.

Now comes a club to dummy. Again East has to follow suit. Now it is a four-card ending. A club is led and East must ruff. South overruffs, leads a trump to dummy's ace and plays a club or diamond.

It makes no difference what East plays. South makes the last two tricks with the king-jack of trumps.

Delay To Water Causes Permanent Lawn Damage

Don't let our unpredictable Florida weather confuse you when it comes to maintaining lawns and dooryard plants, particularly in regard to soil moisture.

Late winter and early spring rains provided more than adequate soil moisture. No supplemental water was required, and lawns were generally in excellent condition. The rains abruptly stopped in late April with no significant rain for over a month.

In addition, the humidity has been low and temperatures quite warm which results in severe moisture stress if watering is neglected. This is the main reason for so many brown lawns at this time of the year when they should be reaching their peak.

If this year is typical, we should start receiving summer type thundershowers along with higher humidity. These showers can be erratic so lawns will still need periodic irrigation, but how can you tell when a lawn needs water?

The most efficient way to water a lawn is to apply water when it begins to show signs of stress from lack of water. The following signs are indications of water needs: spots in the lawn that have turned a bluish gray color; footprints that remain in the grass long after being made; many leaf blades folded in half; and soil sample from the rootzone feels dry.

Prolonged dry periods of high temperatures, strong winds and low relative humidity cause these symptoms. Also, lawns with poor root systems resulting from nematode or fungus damage, can show moisture stress much sooner than those with good root systems.

Watering immediately when the lawn first shows signs of stress is the most economical way to water. Since delay can cause permanent damage, if the turf is allowed to turn brown, it will take a long time to recover.

The amount of water to apply at any one time varies with the amount of water already present in the soil, the water holding capacity of the soil, and drainage characteristics. An efficient watering wets only the turfgrass rootzone, does not saturate the soil, and does not run off. A simple watering schedule would be to apply ¾ inch of water two or three times per week during the summer. If rainfall occurs, irrigation should be suspended according to the rainfall amount.

Water should not be applied at a rate faster than it can be absorbed by the soil. If the sprinkler applies too much water it runs off and watered is wasted. Avoid extremes in watering frequency and amount. Light frequent waterings are inefficient and encourage shallow root systems. Excessive irrigation which keeps the root system saturated with water is harmful to the lawn and encourages certain weeds such as water sedge and dollar weed.

The time of watering is important. Watering during the middle of the day can waste water by excessive evaporation and during very hot periods can "scald" the lawn. Watering in late afternoon or late morning may be detrimental if it extends the time the lawn is naturally wet from dew. The best time for lawn irrigation is in the early morning hours or at night. Lawn irrigation should be scheduled to avoid peak residential water demand if using municipal water.

More detailed information on lawn irrigation can be found in publications available from the Cooperative Extension Service office.

All Seminole County Agricultural Extension services programs are open to all regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Miss Waddell Marries In Sarasota

Gayle Marie Waddell and James Stephen Prendergast were married May 21, at 3:30 p.m., at the Sara Bay Baptist Church in Sarasota. The bride's uncle, the Rev. L. Trevette Weeks of Orlando, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter (Harriett) Waddell, 8502 Pennsylvania Ave., Sarasota, and formerly of Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Prendergast, 724 Magellan Drive, Sarasota.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an original formal silk organza over taffeta gown fashioned along the empire silhouette. Venice lace encrusted with seed pearls lavishly embellished the round neckline. Reembroidered lace appliques enhanced the full sheer sleeves and fitted bodice. The full skirt gracefully cascaded into a flowing chapel train accented with Venice lace medallions and bordered with wide lace-trimmed ruffles. A forward lace headpiece held her tiered veil of imported illusion.

Dawn Best of Baton Rouge, La., attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a rose-colored gown, empire styled, with Venice lace accenting the neckline. A ribbon belt accented the floor-length accented pleated skirt.

Tammy Hamelin of Sanford, and Sally Virick of Sarasota, were the bridesmaids. Their pastel blue gowns were identical to the honor attendant's.

Michael D. Cipriani of Cortez, served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Ronald Leffler and Tom Morehouse of Bradenton.

The reception was held at Ramada Inn, Sarasota. The newlyweds are making their home at 3512

Mrs. James Stephen Prendergast

45th Ave., Bradenton. The bride will enter Manatee College in the fall.

School Dance Depicts Rooftop Of The World

Decorations for "Rooftop of the World," Jackson Heights' eighth grade dance, were "out of this world."

The gymnasium was truly transformed with a life-sized statue of liberty, a make-believe but recognizable Eiffel tower and many other extraordinary decorations including a disco box complete with a flashing strobe light.

As approximately 200 students streamed into the building, they quickly noticed the refreshment table that held a 4-foot long cake decorated by lunchroom attendant, Alberta Norton.

Mrs. Norton's masterpiece was decorated in the school colors, blue and white with flowers adorning the top of the "dancing floor" created for the other cake decorations — a 4-inch plastic disco couple and a 45 record.

Underneath the fancy icing was cake to please everyone — three flavors — chocolate, cherry and vanilla.

Rick Wilshaw, the disc jockey from DAKIS in Altamonte Springs, was busy taking and playing requests all evening as the eighth graders danced blisters on their "twinkle-toes."

This year's three hour-long dance will bring fond memories for years to come. Probably one student will remember the night a little more vividly than his classmates. Robert Boston won the fantastic door prize of a large AM-FM portable stereo radio.

The regular monthly meeting of the Geneva Citizens Association will be held Monday, June 6 at 8 p.m., in the community hall.

According to Mr. Arnold

Lou Childers

Gottlieb, president of the organization, Mrs. Bernice Duncan, director of Community Services, will be the special speaker for the June meeting.

Her topic will be "Communicable Diseases" and she will also discuss the services available through the Seminole County Health Department.

The last week of school will be a busy one at Geneva Elementary. Tuesday, June 7, at 6 p.m. The fifth grade will have the annual dinner celebration as the students prepare to make the transition from elementary to middle school. Following the dinner there will be a program in the auditorium.

The month of May became so overcrowded with events that the annual "May Day Play Day," a tradition at the school for years, was postponed to June 8.

The gamulet of sack races, relay races, balloon bursts, ball tosses, etc., will kick off at 9 a.m. sharp and run until school dismisses at the early hour of 11:30 a.m.

Then on Thursday, June 9, at 9 a.m., kindergarten through second grade will receive their awards, and on Friday, June 10, at 9 a.m., grades 3 to 5 will be honored. Parents are invited both days.

Mrs. Jo Ann Wilson, teacher at Geneva Elementary School, and her husband were involved in an accident last week that totaled the truck they were getting ready to trade. The Wilsons were not hospitalized, but both are "bruised and sore" according to a source at the school. Mrs. Wilson has been resting at home since the accident. She is expected to return to work this week.

Americans George Harbo and Frank Samuelson in 1896 became the only two men in history to row across the Atlantic.

Uncle Sam Wants You Or Your Dog

DEAR READERS: Just when I think I've heard everything, I get a letter from the Department of Defense Dog Center at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, asking me to help recruit dogs for a rewarding career in the military!

Dogs are needed to be trained for guard duty, narcotic detection and explosive detection work.

Some facts: The dog must be between the ages of 1-4, weight a minimum of 50 pounds and can be either male or female. German shepherds and Rottweilers breeds are desired. The dog does not have to be purebred or registered, but it must have the predominant features of the breed it represents.

The Defense Department will pay $250 per dog. If you have a dog that you think qualifies, write to: D.O.D. Dog Center, Detachment 37, Lackland Air Force Base, Texas 78236.

You will receive a form to fill out. If your dog qualifies, take it to a local military veterinarian to be evaluated and examined. The examination is free. If you use a private veterinarian, you must pay the charges.

If your dog passes his physical, a large metal crate will be provided for shipping purposes. All you have to do is take the dog to the airport and put it in the crate. It is then flown to Texas at government expense.

So if you want to do something patriotic for your country, send your dog.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am the wife of a clergyman (please don't say which denomination or what town).

My husband visits members of his congregation for a variety of reasons. It's part of his job. He is a very busy man who is well-respected in the community. As a matter of policy he never telephones in advance to make an appointment for his visits. He doesn't want anyone to fuss or go to any special trouble for him, so he just drops in unexpectedly.

A few women have told me that while they appreciate my husband's visit, they would prefer that he call in advance to let them know he is coming.

What is your thinking on this, Abby?

MINISTER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I think everyone has the right to know when a visitor is coming regardless of who the visitor is.

A visitor is always more welcome when the host or hostess has had an opportunity to prepare. I could be wrong. And if I am, I'm sure to hear from those who take an opposing view.

DEAR ABBY: It's my turn to air my gripe. I am a single young woman who is a secretary. Where I work, whenever someone leaves the company, we give that person a little going-away party. This involves punch, a cake, gift, etc. Anyway, it's up to the secretaries to see that the work gets done. This includes collecting money for the cake, gift, etc.

There are 64 people in this office, and about one-third of the people here do not donate a dime, but they are the ones who take the biggest piece of the cake and have the largest signature on the card!

Today I tried to collect from the penny-pinchers (after the party was enjoyed by all) and got a lot of sour looks and excuses.

Any suggestions?

MONEY COLLECTOR

DEAR COLLECTOR: Perhaps this is one custom whose time has come — and gone. Instead of the entire office enjoying a "going-away" party for which a third do not contribute, perhaps just the close friends of the honored one could organize a no-host private luncheon. Suggest it.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing.

Dan Rather Testifies In '60 Minutes' Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Newsmen Dan Rather, target of a $30 million slander suit filed by a doctor linked to insurance fraud in a "60 Minutes" segment, testified he was certain the physician's clinic "was phony from one end to the other."

Rather, who took the witness stand Thursday, CBS "60 Minutes" producer Don Hewitt and the segment's producer, Stephen Glauber, are defendants in the suit filed by Dr. Carl Galloway, who claims he was defamed in the disputed 1979 segment, "It's No Accident."

During the "60 Minutes" report, which was shown to the Superior Court jury earlier in the trial, Rather held up a phony treatment report obtained by a CBS undercover operative and said it was signed by Galloway, who once worked at the clinic under investigation.

"From the time we went there to the time we left there was no doubt that this was Dr. Galloway's office and his medical clinic and that it was phony from one end to the other," Rather testified.

"There was no doubt in my mind that this clinic was a phony specializing in turning out phony medical reports, and that we had one signed by the doctor," Rather said.

Galloway testified earlier his signature was forged. Rather said he also felt certain the story was accurate because another CBS operative had gone to an attorney involved in the scam and was given a card with the attorney's name on one side and Galloway's on the other.

"I had taken it that the card served as a signal to the lawyer from the doctor that this woman (the CBS operative) can become one of our, quote, victims," he said.

On his way to lunch, Rather refused for the second consecutive day to answer reporters' questions, saying, "My court testimony will speak for me. I hope you'll understand."

LEGAL AD
THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
COUNTY OF SEMINOLE
Separate sealed bids for the Limited Commission of the Seminole County Service Building (Old Seminole Memorial Hospital), FC-45, will be received in the office of Purchasing, 2nd Floor, Room 111, Building, 100 E. First Street, Sanford, 32711 until 2:00 P.M., local time, Wednesday, June 22, 1983, at which time and date bids will be publicly opened and read aloud. Late bids will be returned unopened to sender.

A bid bond in an amount of not less than five percent (5%) of the total bid amount shall accompany each bidder's proposal. Bid security may be in the form of cashier's check made payable to the Board of County Commissioners, Seminole County; or a bid bond as are duly satisfactory to the County. A combination of any of the former is not acceptable. Bid guaranty shall be in a single, acceptable instrument. The County will accept only such surety company or companies as are authorized to write bonds of such character and amount under the laws of the State of Florida, and as are acceptable to the County.

NOTE: Bids must also include evidence of payment and performance bonding capability from an acceptable surety and certificates of insurance equal to or exceeding amount called for under the specifications. Upon award, the successful bidder will be required to execute payment and performance bonds, each in the amount of 100 percent of the total bid amount. Bond forms will be furnished by the County and only those forms will be used.

As time is of the essence, it is expected that award (if awarded) will be made on Tuesday, June 28, 1983 at the regular Board of County Commission meeting.
Specifications will be available as of June 1, 1983, at the Office of the Architect, Helman, Hurley Charval Peacock/Architects, Suite 101, 1155 Louisiana Avenue, Winter Park, FL 32789 (205-444-2634) under deposit of $100.00 per set, with partial refund of $40.00 per set complete set returned unmarked (non-refundable). Specifications are available for review only in the Office of Purchasing.

The County reserves the right to reject any or all bids with or without cause, to waive technicalities, or to accept the bid which in its judgment best serves the interests of the County. Cost of submission of this bid is considered an operational cost of the bidder and shall not be passed on to or borne by the County.
Persons are advised that, if they desire to appeal any decision made at this meeting/hearing, they will need a record of the proceedings, and, for such purpose, they may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, which record includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be based.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Relics Collector Admits He Forged Hitler Diaries

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — Konrad Kujau, a Nazi relics dealer, has confessed that he forged the Hitler diaries that cost Stern magazine nearly $4 million, a Justice Department spokesman said today.

Spokesman Peter Beck gave no details of the confession, but the Bild newspaper said the 44-year-old Kujau, in a wry touch that demonstrated his ability at forging, signed the confession "Adolf Hitler."

Beck also announced the arrest of Gerd Heidemann, the Stern reporter who claimed he tracked down the diaries in a three-year hunt in West and East Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Spain and Latin America.

Heidemann, 51, called a "bloodhound of a reporter" by Stern before he was fired, was arrested Thursday on suspicion of fraud, Beck said.

Beck said Heidemann was arrested because Kujau's confession indicated the reporter knew the diaries were forged and the story he told about getting the bogus Nazi leader's diaries from East Germany was not true.

Heidemann has said he paid Kujau $3.79 million of Stern's money for the diaries, but Kujau has said he received only $1.02 million.

Quake Deaths Mount

TOKYO (UPI) — Rescue workers searched Japan's northern coast today for survivors of the nation's worst earthquake in 35 years, a powerful jolt that triggered tidal waves and killed at least 43 people. Police said 59 others were missing, 77 others were reported injured.

The tidal wave — or tsunami — reached the eastern coast of South Korea, where it killed three more people, officials said.

The quake, measuring 7.8 on the Richter scale, caused an estimated $1.2 billion in damage stretching 500 miles from Hokkaido in the north to the district of Ishikawa in central Honshu, Japan's main island.

Slaying Could Spark Pressure For U.S. To Leave El Salvador

By Michael W. Dudge

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — The first slaying of a U.S. officer in El Salvador could have been carried out to heighten Americans' fears of another Vietnam and pressure a pullout of all U.S. advisers, observers said.

Navy Lt. Commander Albert Schaufelberger, 33, of San Diego, Calif., was shot and killed in a university parking lot Wednesday while waiting for his Salvadoran girlfriend.

U.S. Ambassador Deane R. Hinton, citing similar murders of two policemen last week and the reported slayings this week of 13 captured soldiers, said leftists were most likely behind the "terrorist act."

The motive for killing an American adviser, one political observer said, might have been to increase American fears of a "new Vietnam" and spark a debate that could lead to a U.S. pullout from El Salvador.

The strategy would be to take advantage of the "Vietnam syndrome" among those Americans who opposed that war and now believe that no U.S. soldier should be asked to risk his life without congressional approval.

"The American public, and the Congress, are not enthusiastic about Reagan administration policy now and having an adviser killed would probably augment that sentiment," said the observer, who requested anonymity.

Either the left-wing or right-wing might have killed Schaufelberger in order to provoke a U.S. pullout, another Western observer said.

The observer said rightists, concerned that a moderate government willing to negotiate with the rebels could win December elections, could have staged the assassination to spark a U.S. pullout, hoping to bolster their hard-line position and abolish American-backed land reforms.

The radical Popular Liberation Forces rebel group, in a communiqué delivered to a local radio station Thursday, allegedly claimed responsibility for killing Schaufelberger.

But the guerrillas, on their own radio stations, failed to take responsibility for the slaying.

In Washington, President Reagan vowed the murder would not diminish his commitment "to continue both economic and the military aid which we're giving."

An embassy spokesman said Schaufelberger was deputy commander of a six-man military group that coordinates U.S. military aid to El Salvador and that is not involved in training carried out by the other 47 American advisers.

His death was the first killing of an American soldier in El Salvador since U.S. military advisers were sent in early in 1981 after a major guerrilla offensive killed 1,000 people.

U.S. Knew Of Bizarre Japanese Experiments On POWs

TOKYO (UPI) — The United States knew of Japanese experiments on World War II prisoners of war — including live dissections and freezing alive — but kept silent, a judge who presided at the Tokyo war crimes trial said.

Professor Bert Roling, who represented the Netherlands at the trial of Japanese soldiers and politicians, said he only learned of the atrocities five years after they occurred.

Initially skeptical, Roling now thinks reports of experiments conducted in Manchuria under Lt. Gen. Shiro Ishii are true and were ordered by top Japanese officials.

"The court was never informed," Roling told a news conference. "The United States knew about these things (but) ... it was kept secret from (the judges) because they wanted to have all the results of these experiments," he said.

Author Seizichi Morimura documented activities at the now infamous 731 camp in his 1982 book, "The Devil's Gluttony."

Prisoners, mostly Chinese, Korean and Russian but including other Europeans and Americans, were killed by gas and poisons; injected with typhus, cholera, plague and other germs; dissected alive and frozen to death, Morimura said.

The testing was mostly bacteriological and biological in nature, but some prisoners were burned to death with flamethrowers or ripped apart by grenades, Morimura said.

The experiments, believed to have killed 2,000 to 3,000 prisoners, were "ordered from the highest level (of

Middle East Bracing For Biological War

LONDON (UPI) — The Middle East, one of the most volatile regions in the world, is one of the first Third World areas bracing for biological war, said an authoritative military survey.

New acquisitions by countries such as Iraq and Libya have followed a pattern adopted after Soviet forces reportedly started using "yellow rain" and other chemical weapons in Afghanistan, said Christopher F. Foss, editor of Jane's Military Vehicles and Ground Support Equipment 1983.

"Libya in particular worries me," Foss said. "During the last year the number of reports of deliberate employment of yellow rain and other such agents by the Soviet forces in Afghanistan and elsewhere has continued to grow." His 843-page volume said.

Confirmation of the Soviet action "is almost impossible to come by" although it "seems certain," Jane's said.

"Yellow rain" is an anti-personnel chemical weapon. Mujahideen rebels and diplomats in India and Pakistan have said Soviet forces use the biological warfare weapon against rebels fighting the Soviet-backed Afghan regime.

In response to the reported Soviet action, Jane's said "Already many nations in the Middle East and elsewhere are acquiring NBC (nuclear, biological and chemical) defense equipment." Jane's did not name the countries involved.

Jane's said the developing countries were able to get certain items, which NATO nations have been shedding in favor of more advanced equipment.

Crew Of Ill-Fated Nile River Steamer Detained

ABU SIMBEL, Egypt (UPI) — Egyptian officials detained crew members of a Nile River steamer for questioning on charges of negligence that led to the deaths of at least 187 people, including 60 Sudanese coeds, a newspaper report said today.

Another 130 passengers were missing and presumed dead, officials said Thursday, raising fears the death toll would mount to more than 300.

The officials said 325 people were rescued — many after swimming ashore — after the aging steamer Tenth of Ramadan and two barges it was towing were reduced to hulks of twisted metal in a gas explosion on Wednesday.

The vessels were heading toward Sudan when the accident occurred on Lake Nasser, Africa's largest man-made lake located behind the Aswan Dam.

The newspaper Al Akhbar said Attorney General Ataf Zaki ordered the vessels' 42 Egyptian crewmen arrested for questioning.

Some survivors charged that crew members had been drinking and had brought gasoline on board illegally to sell on the black market in Sudan.

Because of the 104-degree heat, the dead — many of them charred beyond recognition — were quickly buried in two mass graves, one for men and one for women, near the twin temples of Abu Simbel.

Acting Up Is For Young, Not-So-Young

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

In elementary schools all over the county school age youngsters have been donning greasepaint and costumes to present theatrical productions for the benefit of proud parents, teachers and schoolmates. But while the kids are taking their bows to the roar of applause and the snapping of cameras, not many realize the many hours of effort that go into these shows.

In addition to the hours the children put in learning their songs, dances and lines, and the time given by the school teachers and staff toward polishing the production, there are many behind-the-scene volunteers who help make it possible.

Parents and volunteers from the Seminole County School Dividends work side by side making costumes, sets, props and applying make-up for the shows.

One of these dedicated Dividends is Sgt. Richard Odell of Lake Monroe, a Seminole County sheriff's deputy for the past 10 years. When Wilson Elementary School fourth graders recently presented "Melvin, the Magnificent," a play about a circus, Odell used his skills as an amateur makeup artist to change the boys and girls into clowns, a lion, a panther, a chimpanzee and a baboon, as well as the ringmaster and performers.

He had some experience doing Halloween makeup for friends and was recruited to help at Wilson by a friend, Debbie Muse, a fourth grade teacher's aide. "Because of the makeup they could really get into the play and could really be proud of their performance," he said. "We worked on the show for three or four weeks getting costumes, props, sets and makeup ready and on the last week we worked to 11:30 or 12 every night. We started at 9 a.m. on the day of the play and finished the first makeup at 11:45 a.m. For the PTA show at night it took from 6:30 p.m. to put on the makeup. We spent six hours that day on just makeup alone. It's something you can't hurry with all the different layers of makeup."

On the day he was interviewed Odell was getting ready to take his makeup to the Gingerbread House nursery where they were observing circus month to give the children each a clown face.

Cindy Muse of Sanford worked as a Dividend in kindergarten and second grade at Wilson last year and earlier this year until her schedule at Seminole Community College interfered. With a day off from SCC, she could be found back at Wilson. "I love the kids out here," she said. "I went to school here and guess I'll never leave. I used to ride the school bus and get off here to help Debbie and then I got into the Dividend program through Seminole High and was able to get school credit."

have an unusual leisure activity for a hobby. They enjoy acting up, and helping youngsters to act up. Actually, they volunteer to help youngsters to produce plays at area schools.

The play was presented Tuesday.

Mrs. Dalby said, "My little girl Angela is only in kindergarten, but she can read and everything else. It's a very good program."

Susie Bono Calling On Bandit Queen

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Susie Coelho Bono, wife of entertainer Sonny Bono, flew to India last month to win the confidence of an imprisoned woman bandit and gain permission to play her life story on screen.

It was a bold adventure for Susie, whose parents are both Indian-born. A native of England, reared in Boston and Washington, D.C., Susie is a model bent on becoming an actress.

Last February she read a newspaper account of bandit queen Phoolan Devi, 24, who surrendered to police after being involved in an ambush in which 20 men were slaughtered.

For Susie it was the opportunity of a lifetime.

Susie is a slender, stunning looking, dark-skinned young woman in her 20s with flashing black eyes and jet black hair.

Susie would be labeled "ethnic" in casting offices. It would be difficult to cast her as an American girl.

Bo Derek she isn't. But Susie possesses her own exotic beauty and her English is flawless.

She also is bright as new paint, volatile and talented.

The moment she spied an Indian woman as a cause celeb, Susie pounced on the possibilities of building a movie around Phoolan and her adventures.

Susie had never been to India, did not speak the language and, until recently, had been half-ashamed of her heritage. As a youngster she wanted to be the girl-next-door cheerleader type.

It was with trepidation that Susie set out to meet Phoolan, imprisoned at the small town of Gwalior, 400 miles from New Delhi.

En route to India, Susie stopped by Paris to pick up Indian-born French journalist Rakesh Mathur to act as her guide and interpreter.

"We waited in Gwalior six days," Susie recounted. "During that time I did a lot of research on Phoolan."

She was a dacoit, that's an Indian term for bandit gang members involved in long-running feuds.

"I learned Phoolan was married off by her parents to a 40-year-old man when she was only 11. When the marriage ended she was kidnapped by dacoits and raped. She eventually became the mistress of the gang leader.

"When the leader was killed, Phoolan became the bandit queen and swore revenge for her lover's death by wiping out his dacoit killers."

Susie eventually was admitted to the prison and befriended Phoolan, winning her confidence and permission to write Phoolan's story and star in a film version.

"We became good friends. In fact, by the time I'd finished interviewing, I felt as if we were sisters. I even smuggled a camera into the prison and took some wonderful pictures."

Beatles' Inside Story In 'The Love You Make'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Did you know John Lennon and Yoko Ono were heroin addicts?

Were you aware that Ringo Starr's drumming was dubbed by Paul McCartney?

Do you care that more than one illegitimate child was fathered by the Beatles?

Did you know Ringo was the only Beatle not involved in drug busts?

The inside story of the celebrated singing group is told in a new book, "The Love You Make," by Peter Brown, who was with the Beatles from the beginning.

Brown was an executive of NEMS (North End Music Store) in charge of looking after the personal and professional needs of the Beatles when they began in Liverpool.

He remained an integral part of the group, a founder and chief executive officer of Apple Corp. (pun intended) until the Beatle breakup.

In addition to Lennon, McCartney, Starr and George Harrison, four other young men comprised the tight inner circle that rode the musical gravy train to the end of the rainbow.

There was Brown, official Beatles' manager Brian Epstein, Neil Aspinall, the official road manager, and Mal Evans, Beatle bodyguard and road manager.

"The eight of us formed a very closed group to protect the Beatles," Brown said. "Epstein wanted it that way and so did the boys."

"None of us spoke for publication about the private lives of the Beatles. It was self-protection against being misquoted. It was an unspoken understanding among the eight of us."

Brown, however, was prevailed upon in 1979 to write what amounts to an official account of the Beatles.

He discussed the project with the Beatles individually — before Lennon's death — and received their blessings. He interviewed all four at length, along with their wives and-or girlfriends.

Brown drew from his appointment calendars over the years, contacting hundreds of people who had come in contact with the Beatles.

"The principal reason I wrote the book and broke the bond of silence," said the erudite Brown, "was to put a stop to the inaccuracies and false accounts that grew up around the Beatles."

"The distortions were plentiful. By 1979 I enjoyed the luxury of a proper perspective of what went on during the Beatles' years as a group.

"I discussed the merits of the book with John, Paul, Ringo and George and they agreed to cooperate. They encouraged their wives, ex-wives, friends and business associates to cooperate. All this was nine years after the breakup.

"The breakup, of course, is one of the most interesting questions surrounding the group. Usually Yoko, John's wife, and Linda Eastman, Paul's wife, are blamed for the final break.

"That is only partly true. John was miserable being a Beatle and wanted out. He and Yoko were badly hooked on heroin. I tell about that in the book.

"There are many interesting revelations, including that on two albums Ringo's drumming was secretly dubbed by Paul after Ringo would leave the studio for the night. The next day he'd hear the drums and say, 'That's not me!'

"Ringo was furious and quit the Beatles. When he returned he discovered Paul had almost covered his drum set with thousands of flowers."

Before embarking on his promotion tour for "The Love You Make," Brown sent copies to Yoko, Paul, Ringo and George. He said he's received a positive response from Yoko but has not heard from the three surviving Beatles.

"John was killed about a year after I started the book," Brown said. "I expect Paul, Ringo and George will react favorably. They're over 40 now and mature enough to handle the truth."

Brown guessed more than 100 books have been written about the Beatles, individually and collectively, all without their cooperation or approval except the Hunter Davies 1967 biography which fell short of their breakup and subsequent misadventures.

Even Brown's book is not legally authorized because the Beatles failed to demand approval of its content before "The Love You Make" was published.

"The book is selling well," said a pleased Brown. "It's amazing how interest in the Beatles keeps surging. Their records still sell in the tens of millions every year."

Woodhouse Teaches Old Dogs New Tricks

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Barbara Woodhouse is the dog lady of TV. She's written a book, "No Bad Dogs," and she has a video cassette called "Quick Dog Training." She says the book is really to show how to teach a bad dog to be good, while the cassette is designed to show how to teach a dog that has never been trained at all.

As anybody who has seen her on TV knows, she has an incredible rapport with dogs. But she says it isn't just dogs, it is the animal kingdom in general. And even the insect kingdom.

Once, in Gambia, in Africa, she came across a praying mantis and, on a dare, taught it to sit up and lift its arms (or whatever those things are) and even to move to a different place so it would be in a better light for pictures. Not long ago, an English newspaper challenged her to train a pig. Within half an hour, she says, that pig could heel, sit, stay and do other rudimentary obedience disciplines.

She's worked with wild horses and all sorts of beasts. She says it all began because of a thoughtless remark her mother made to her nanny when she was a child, growing up near Dublin.

"I overheard my mother saying," she says, "something about 'poor Barbara, why is it she is so unattractive while the other children are so attractive?' It hurt me, of course, and so I withdrew and communicated only with animals. Animals don't care if you're ugly or not."

Barbara Woodhouse

She's had animals of one sort or another all her life. But, at the moment, she is animal-less. She and her husband, a retired physician, used to live on a farm and they had all kinds of animals then.

"When I was sick," she says, "my goats would come upstairs so I could milk them when I couldn't get out of bed. My dogs would help in the garden and turn the lights on and off."

But she travels so much now she can't maintain any animals. It is something of a pity, but it's the price she pays for fame. She believes her ability to get along with animals is a gift, for which she has no explanation. She says that none of her children has the gift, but she thinks perhaps one granddaughter, now 9, may have it. Perhaps, it is a gift that skips a generation.

Even though her favorite dog was Juno, a Great Dane that appeared in many English movies and was famous throughout the British Isles, she says German shepherds are the smartest of the breeds. Terriers of all sorts and Afghans are probably the dumbest.

has been working on costumes and her son Daniel was in the cast in the role of a hen. "He wasn't too thrilled about it at first. When he tried on his tights and leotard, he objected saying, 'They'll think I'm a girl', but he's all right now and memorized his lines," she said.

"Being in the production is a health experience, especially for my son, who was a little bit on the shy side," said Mrs. Antonelli. "It has helped him to come out of himself knowing that there is going to be an audience of people. There is a spirit of cooperation working together with the other children one-on-one."

"They become a little prouder every day as it improves a little each day. They get a good feeling about themselves. They'll feel they've accomplished something," she said.

The productions involve music, drama, dance and art and they are all interrelated.

Wilson, with its 260 students, is fortunate to have a stage in its small auditorium, something the newer schools don't have, according to Emily Wilkerson, curriculum representative-primary and public relations chairman.

She said in order to get the Golden School Award from the school system, Wilson has to have had 520 hours contributed by Dividend volunteers, and they had passed that earlier this year. Two of the school's Dividends have put in more than 200 hours each.

Lunch, Dinner, Entertainment-All Found In One Place...Mr. Cap's

An all-you-can-eat hot luncheon buffet with salad bar for $2.95 is but one reason Sanford residents are discovering the recently remodeled restaurant, Mr. Cap's at the corner of 27th Street and Sanford Avenue.

This attractive bar and restaurant was opened seven months ago under the capable ownership of Nick and Dot Capaccio, who have become Sanford dwellers.

The luncheon buffet is served five days a week from 11:30 until 2. On Saturdays, sandwiches may be ordered for lunch. The restaurant is closed to the public Sundays, but may be reserved in entirety for private parties up to 175. It has been the scene of wedding receptions, birthday parties, retirement, anniversary and bowling banquets, among others.

Dinner is served to the public six nights a week from 5 until 9:30 and features seafood, steaks and Italian dishes with prices beginning at $3.95.

Prime rib is available on Friday and Saturday nights.

Free hors d'oeuvres and reduced drink prices are offered at happy hour from 3 until 7 daily.

For music lovers, Strings and Sticks, featuring Randy Stanley, "the Willie Nelson of Sanford," play Friday and Saturday nights beginning at 8. Wednesday night is jam session night with the action beginning at 8 and drinks remaining at their usual modest prices.

Family dining is a comfort in the interestingly designed dining areas where the Cap's unusual bottle collection provides colorful eye appeal.

Hailing from Westfield, Mass., the Cap's are "happy in Sanford, thank you," and bring to this community a wealth of 31 years restaurant experience.

Their restaurant is best described by Mr. Cap as a "place to come and have a good time."
