

DEMAND MADE UPON JAPS BY SOVIET RUSSIA

Moscow Wants Explan- ation As To What Purpose Army Wishes To Use Railroad

MOSCOW, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—The Soviet government, it was learned today, made a formal demand Wednesday on Koki Hirota, Japanese ambassador, for an explanation of the proposal of the Japanese command in Manchuria to use the Chinese Eastern Railway, partly Russian owned, for troop transportation, charging "in reality that the troops are expected to be sent to the Soviet border."

The explanation was made by L. M. Karakhan, Soviet acting minister for foreign affairs. It was revealed today following publication in Moscow newspapers of reports from a correspondent of the Tass Russian news agency at Peking that a White Russian force is being recruited in Northern Manchuria under Japanese auspices to invade Vladivostok and the Russian province of Primor.

The dispatch from Peking was dated two days before Karakhan's request. Karakhan's conversation with the Japanese ambassador was verbal and not in writing, the explanation has been made public.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—Several thousand Soviet Russian soldiers are moving down toward the Manchurian frontier, presumably because of Moscow's apprehension over Japanese troop movements in northeastern Manchuria, the Tass (Japanese) news agency reported from Mukden today.

Manchurian Japanese troops, headed by Gen. Hiro Tani, and armed with Chinese rifles in the vicinity of Langkang, was held up. Difficulties developed in getting permission to transport troops over the Chinese Eastern railway, which is jointly owned by Russia and China.

Officials of the railway said they were unable to furnish trains requested by the Japanese because they had not received instructions to do so from Moscow. Japanese authorities declared the railway officials were attempting to prevent any Japanese advance in the direction of Vladivostok, although several Japanese had announced his only purpose was to disperse Chinese rebels against the new Manchurian government who have seized considerable territory in the vicinity of Harbin.

Highly-armed Japanese and 200 Korean refugees from disorders in the Russian great arrived at Harbin with losses that their losses had been lost.

British Free Trade Swan Song Is Sung By Commons Vote

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—The swan song of British free trade was sung in the House of Commons last night as it passed, by a vote of 441 to 22, the bill imposing a 10 percent duty on all imports in Great Britain with certain notable exceptions.

Prime Minister, Lloyd George, and Sir Stafford Cripps, one of the labor party's leaders, were final after speeches against the tariff before the bill was given third and final reading.

With royal assent, the measure becomes effective as of next Tuesday.

Cries of "Resign! Resign!" were shouted at Prime Minister, 45 minutes before the "guillotine" hour when the bill had to be out of the way. The cry was arranged by the opposition.

He declared it had been the history of nations that once a country adopted tariff it had to "swear blood" to it.

He declared the passing of the bill would place the position of the British Empire as a free trade nation.

When the government majority of 419 was in the House of Commons, the bill was passed.

U.S. Infantry, 'Veterans' Of Battle Of Shanghai, Are Glad Of Chance To Rest

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—Three hundred dead-tired members of the 31st U. S. Infantry, who have been dodging machine gun bullets and occasional shrapnel shells for the last 15 days in positions along the International Settlement boundary, came out of the line yesterday and launched a major bathing and shaving operation.

The boys will be allowed a few days rest before taking up their "squad right" routine. They came from the most dangerous position in the Settlement line, and their eyes were bloodshot and swollen from lack of sleep.

Units of the Scottish Argyll and Sutherland "Ladies from Hell," bareheaded and killed, took their places. The position has been a hot one because the Chinese fascists the Americans from Chapei and

From these front row seats the 31st had an excellent opportunity to watch the heavy shelling that has been going on during the last few weeks. Their sector frequently was peppered by machine gun bullets and numerous shells from Chinese batteries west of Chapei ripped overhead toward the Japanese strongholds in Hongkew Park.

When the 31st came up from Manila it was accustomed to tropical weather and some units were not fully equipped with winter uniforms. Many of the boys got their heavy undergar and olive-drab overcoats while they were in the lines.

They had plenty of work to do (Continued on Page Seven)

DRY CONVENTION IS SCENE OF TILT AMONG ORATORS

ISays Temperates Are Not Satisfied With Present Conditions

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—Claims that "temperates" people are not satisfied with the status of affairs, and that President Hoover never has stated definitely that he favors retention of the Eighteenth Amendment were hurled into the Anti-Saloon League convention here yesterday by M. H. McCormick, retired business man of Coshocton, Ohio.

The charges brought about a "down, down, down" from the audience as McCormick quoted officials of the Anti-Saloon League as answering the question whether they would not prohibit candidates to take a definite stand on prohibition.

McCormick, a winter resident here, arose as J. N. Wilkinson, of Toronto, Ont., retired minister of Canada and the United States, was cheered for a statement President Hoover would be re-elected, because he is a prohibitionist. Others defended the President as strongly favorable to the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Any political party that refuses to commit itself and its nominees openly by statement and by platform in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment and prohibition," McCormick declared.

Governor Murray Injured In Motor Crash In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma and three other persons in an automobile in which he was on route from Fort Wayne to Indianapolis, were bruised and shaken up early last night as the car left the road near Alexandria, Ind.

The accident delayed the governor's arrival to address a political meeting here until 9 P. M. and kept a crowd of approximately 7,000 waiting.

In the automobile with Murray were Jack Edwards, mayor of Marion, Ind.; Edward Semans, Oklahoma City, manager of Murray's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, and the driver, Ray Collins, assistant chief of police at Marion.

The car was an armored police machine belonging to the city of Marion. In it the Oklahoma governor had been driven from Marion by Gary, Ind., for an address Wednesday night; and to Fort Wayne where he spoke yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred two miles north of Alexandria when the Murray party attempted to pass another automobile, and faced a truck approaching without lights. Collins pulled the machine out of the truck's path, struck the rear of the car as he was attempting to pass, swerved into a ditch and out of it, finally stopping the car against a fence. The bullet-proof equipment on the automobile was slightly damaged, but the occupants escaped serious injury.

ARMS PARLEY ATTAINS SOME DEFINITE RULE

Gauge For Measuring Armaments In Com- ing Negotiations Is Unanimously O.K.'d

GENEVA, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—The world disarmament conference unanimously selected a ruler yesterday to measure armaments in its future negotiations, and turned down a Russian plan for general and total disarmament.

The ruler is the draft convention of the preliminary disarmament commission, but the inch, caliber, ton and horsepower marks carved in it in 1930 by the pre-conference negotiators are rather vague and dim.

The resolution to make the draft convention a basis of discussion was adopted on the motion of Sir John Simon, the British delegate after Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian, had made a long but futile plea for his total armament scrapping plan.

The day was not without a strategic victory for Andre Tardieu, the new French premier, who gained approval of his proposal to appoint a special political commission to deal with security and armaments of the League of Nations.

Some observers held that the French international police force idea gained a dominant position in future deliberations through the appointment of the commission.

There was a show of fight when Tardieu first broached his suggestion. He coupled with it a project to set up three commissions on effectives, material, and expenditures, to take the place of the League secretariat's plan to organize the conference into commissions on land, naval, aerial, and expenditures questions.

The American, British and German delegations objected. The matter was compromised and Tardieu got his post-federal commission, but the other delegates won out on organizing the various commissions as proposed by the secretariat.

The political commission will deal with all political questions before the conference but will return them to the general commission for final ratification. Ambassador Gibson, the American delegate, gave his approval when Tardieu made it clear that all states participating in the conference would also take part in the political commission.

Since Tardieu had no objection to the draft convention and also won his security point, critics appeared to agree that when he boarded a train for Paris last night for a brief stay, he carried in his satchel a couple of documents that represented victory.

The Soviet total disarmament project went to defeat almost unanimously, only Turkey joining the authors in supporting it, a fate which Litvinoff expected.

Beautification Meet Will Be Staged Here

Word was received here today that the eighteenth semi-annual beautification conference, under the auspices of the beautification committee of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, will be held here on Saturday, Apr. 30.

The selection of the date and place of meeting was made following a careful consideration of a number of other committees requesting this important state-wide conference, according to J. R. Arnold, Groveland, chairman of the committee. It is understood that extensive preparations are already under way here for the entertainment of this conference.

Small Blaze Causes Little Crate Damage

Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, last night caused a slight damage to a warehouse full of crates and crates material owned by the Wilson Crates Co., and stored in the F. L. Woodruff warehouse at Fourth Street and Elm Avenue.

Members of the Sanford Fire Department went to the scene of the blaze, which caused damages amounting to about $50 to the crates, but only a small amount to the building.

"Tables Turned"

A Little Chat With The Secretary Of The Seminole County Chamber Of Commerce

We have been talking for weeks about keeping home dollars at home. Sanford and Seminole County folks have been spending lots of their own money in neighboring and other cities and now the tables have been turned. The Morris Plan Bank, a nationally organized financial institution which specializes in small loans to salaried people and others who can furnish satisfactory references, to secure money needed to take care of their obligations, has opened a branch in Sanford.

The best thing about this new loan facility in Sanford and Seminole County is the fact that there is none of our money invested in it. No stock has been offered for sale. It is not a stock promotion project in any way, but operating with money secured elsewhere, this company will make loans to local people.

The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is glad to have had the opportunity of paving the way for the coming of this new community enterprise, and is much encouraged that it has come in without local financing.

Sanford now has the strongest banking situation possible in a community of this size in Florida with a strong local bank with state ramifications and a satisfactory loan service available to the small borrower. There is no need for any individual or firm to leave Sanford for their banking facilities. It will help to keep Seminole County dollars in Seminole County by handling banking facilities with local groups.

BOYLE RECEIVES FELICITATIONS ON HIS APPOINTMENT

Civic, Business, Legal Figures Extend Him Congratulations

Since late yesterday afternoon when he was appointed state attorney by Governor Doyle E. C. C. Boyle, Lloyd P. Boyle has been besieged by a host of friends who have called to congratulate him.

Prominent civic, business and legal figures of Volusia, Brevard, and Orange counties have telegraphed their felicitations and wishes of success.

In a statement this morning, Mr. Boyle said, "This appointment came to me as a more or less surprise, as I did not know that my name was being considered until late Wednesday afternoon. I will endeavor to fulfill the important office of state attorney and perform the various duties connected with it to the best of my ability, with the earnest hope and desire that my occupancy of the office will be a credit to the administration and the Bar of the 23rd Judicial Circuit."

The new prosecutor is a native of Chicago, where he was born Dec. 29, 1898. He was graduated from the Oak Park, Ill., high school, and attended the University of Chicago until he enlisted as a volunteer in the First Illinois Field Artillery, a unit which later became a part of (Continued on Page Eight)

Ban Off On Shipping Celery Of "10" Sizes

Believing that the celery marketing situation will now warrant the shipping of good grade celery, size tens, the committee of farmers and shippers which has been meeting weekly to discuss this shipping problem, last night voted to approve the shipping of celery of this type.

Growers are asked to abide by this decision during the coming week, according to Henry Schumacher, Jr., member of the committee who stated that obviously the shipping of poor grades of celery will be harmful.

The group will meet next Friday night at 8:00 o'clock at the office of the Standard Growers Exchange, to discuss plans for the following week.

Garner Raps Hoover In Press Interview

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—Speaker Garner said today that President Hoover had let "the greatest bank the country or world has ever known." The Texas Democrat, who is being pressed to become an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, made the remark at a conference with newsmen. He had been asked to comment on the speech of Secretary Hoover's leadership and the Democrats "just a little today."

Jap Naval Aviators Launch Big Attack On Chinese Planes

PLANS FOR ROAD WORK REVEALED IN NOTIFICATION

Letter To McRory In- dicates Steps That Have To Be Taken

Official confirmation of action taken by the State Road Department at Lakeland last week, where that board included in its final budget for 1932 funds to provide for the construction of the Lakeland road, was received in a letter received by Representative George W. McRory this morning.

The letter is from George B. Holt, Jacksonville member of the Board of Public Works, and while the Department has approved the project, it is a part of the program of federal aid work, and all plans and details must be approved by the United States Government authorities.

In his letter, Mr. Holt states: "In view of your continued active interest in the improvement of State Road No. 1 in your county, I am sure you will be interested in knowing that the State Road Department, in its meeting held in Lakeland on the 15th inst., agreed to keep in the budget that project for the construction of Road No. 3 in a new location from the St. Johns River crossing to the city of Sanford. The estimated cost of that improvement is $160,246.36."

"You will be further interested in knowing that the Department unanimously adopted a resolution which I presented, providing that bids be received and contract be let for that work at the April meeting of the Department, provided plans and specifications can be made available in time for that date. Otherwise the contract will be let at the earliest possible date determined by the availability of plans."

"You understand that the project in question is a part of the program of federal aid work. All plans and details must be approved by the United States Government authorities, and the reservation as to the date of letting is on that account."

"After making allowances for the burden of maintenance of some 6,000 miles of roads which must be kept up by the Department this year, it appears that there will be available for new construction work in the 11 northern counties of the state, less than 2,000,000 of state funds. Some 24,000,000 of work upon the first and second preferential system of roads yet remains to be done in that district. The portion of total available funds, which will be expended in Seminole County is large, and I am frank in saying to you that your persistent presentation of the merits of this particular project was largely responsible for the affirmative action of the Board."

Stetson Professor Is Church Speaker

Dean L. H. Tribble, Deland, of the Stetson Law School, was the principal speaker before members of the Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church, meeting in quarterly session at the church at 8:00 o'clock last night.

Forty-five men were present to hear Dean Tribble deliver a brief address on "The Christian Layman as a Law Maker," and to enjoy a program of business and social activities which were concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Chas. T. Henderson, president of the Brotherhood, presided over the meeting, which was opened by the Rev. W. P. Brooks, Jr. led in the devotional. Mr. Henderson made a short talk on "Stewardship."

During the business session, the members discussed plans of lending assistance to the pastor, the church, and the Sunday School, while Herman E. Morris had charge of the social hour.

Airdromes Battered With Heavy Bombs; Chinese Are Rush- ing More Soldiers

SHANGHAI, Saturday, (A.P.)—In a slashing counter-attack just after midnight the Chinese army drove the enemy out of the Miao-changchen sector and held on against desultory machine gun fire. "We can't claim any great gain," said General Tsai Tingkai, in a communique, "but we succeeded in restoring the Japs from the sector during a counter-attack. The outcome of Friday's fighting was more than gratifying."

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26. — (A.P.)—Japanese naval aviators, equipped with heavy bombs, began a sweeping campaign today to destroy all Chinese aviation fields over a wide district around Shanghai, while upon the short sector northwest of Kiangwan the Japanese delivered another attack upon the Chinese without gaining much ground.

A Japanese naval spokesman said the Japanese fliers bombed the Chinese airdrome at Hangchow, destroying a number of Chinese planes and continued their raids bombing three additional fields. Later in the day upwards of a dozen Chinese planes were destroyed by bombs before they had a chance to leave the ground and three were shot out of the air by machine guns.

The Japanese lost one plane which was forced down in Hangchow Bay where it sank, but the pilot was picked up by a Japanese destroyer.

The chief attack was on the Kiangwan front, officials at Japanese headquarters said, which asked permission to wreak revenge on the Chinese for killing their captain in yesterday's battle. They went over the top in a fierce assault led by the second lieutenant and gained some ground from the surprised Chinese.

Indications were today that the Chinese are rushing more troops into the Kiangwan district before Japanese reinforcements arrive. The Japanese announced tonight that if they couldn't bomb the Chinese out of Kiangwan, they would starve them out.

Chinese resistance was an stubborn that no man appeared to be the only weapon which could succeed against them. A spokesman said the Japanese losses in the last 24 hours were 120 killed and wounded.

Artillery punished first one side, Artillery punished first one side, then the other as intense battle went on today in the Kiangwan sector and around Chapei between the Chinese army and the fighters of Japan.

Steadied by their success in recovering from a rout and gaining back by desperate fighting much of the ground that had been lost when the Japanese smashed the line north of Kiangwan, the Chinese turned a vicious artillery bombardment on the Japanese strongholds in Hongkew park.

Japanese guns answered shell for shell. At dawn they were doing most of the firing, for Chinese ammunition was running low and gunners had orders to use it sparingly.

The two armies battled for hours without advantage to either side. Machine guns kept up an unbroken hubbub.

Each side said its fire was inflicting heavy casualties upon the enemy, while it was suffering slightly. The Japanese said they had suffered less than 100 casualties, but "inflicted thousands upon the Chinese." The Chinese said their losses were negligible and the Japanese were "trying to hide their casualties," estimated by the Chinese at 700 dead and wounded.

A reliable count of the casualties was lacking but it seemed today under the apparently overwhelming hail of shells and bullets that both were suffering sharply.

The Japanese managed to cling to most of their gains of yesterday, excepting Miao-changchen. (Continued on Page Six)

WINNING ORATION OF FORREST MAY BE MADE PUBLIC

High School Student Took Honors In De-Land In Competition

(Ed. Note.—The following is the oration which Forrest May, senior at Sanford High School made and delivered at the District Oratorical Contest at DeLand Saturday afternoon, and on which he was first place. Young May will go to Chicago on May 15 to appear in the state finals, and will compete for honors offered by the General Education Division of the University of Florida.)

"Today we are celebrating the Bicentennial Birthday of George Washington—that immortal first American. It is in consideration of this celebration, ladies and gentlemen, that I have chosen for my oration a subject that is old and familiar to you all—George Washington and the Constitution. I said: old and familiar to you all, I mean by that that you are all familiar with the story of George Washington and his contribution to our Federal Constitution. It follows then, that I probably shall not reveal any new historical element with which you are not already acquainted. But this I believe is not my duty. I believe that if I can impress upon you that feeling of respect and honor which is owed that first great American, then what I say here shall have proven itself of some worth.

"To understand clearly Washington's contribution to our Federal Constitution it is best that we go back to the period of history immediately preceding its framing and adoption of our Constitution. Before the Constitution of the United States of America became supreme and basic law of this government our nation consisted of separate states, each of which was supreme in itself and only bound together by unenforceable understanding.

"There was, therefore, much confusion and injustice. To sum up briefly, it was then that the able minds of our country gathered at the Constitutional Convention and adopted the original Constitution. George Washington was chosen our first president. Of course Washington had been a member of the Constitutional Convention and there through his leadership abilities he had contributed much to the success of the Constitution. But Washington's greatest contribution comes in acting as our first president when the government under that Constitution was to receive the supreme test—would it fail, or would it be successful?

"Many problems confronted Washington when he went into office. The government had to be reorganized; the spirit of the states and their respective rights had to be coped with; the deplorable state of finance confronted him, and many other problems of a serious nature. It should be remembered that when Washington took the oath of office he had with him the unanimous confidence of every American citizen. Consequently, it was left entirely up to Washington whether our government was to be a democracy or whether it was to be a monarchy. Placed in this position Washington proved himself a genius. In dealing with the confronting problems he called into counsel the men upon whose ideas he could rely, he welcomed those whose opinions differed from his own. His Attorney General, Edmund Randolph, for example, so first that he refused to sign it, but later in the ratification contest he was a lively supporter of it. In all their discussions Washington and Randolph remained warm friends and without doubt both profited and the Constitution was greatly strengthened.

"It was the genius of Washington in calling in and reconciling the conflicting opinions of his associates that made possible the adoption of an efficient governmental organization. It was the genius of Washington in doing this that our government was a democracy and not a monarchy.

"Fellow citizens, I have spoken briefly, in trying to speak briefly, and to the point I have said very little of George Washington and the Constitution. I am thinking of George Washington and his association with the Federal Constitution why this man, coming along with you all through the Bicentennial Celebration and throughout the remainder of your lives, should be remembered and honored. One hundred and forty-three years have passed since Washington took the oath of office to uphold the Federal Constitution, one hundred and forty-three years of the Constitution in America in the history of the world. It is the honor of this nation that we should remember and honor George Washington.

Japanese Take Issue With U. S. Over Navy Pact

ator Johnson of California, ranking Republican on the foreign relations committee, endorsed the secretary's statement and said "the implication that we are free now to pursue our own course is fully justified and I trust will become a reality."

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said "that the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations within the territory of China running through the open door policy and the nine-power treaty has been violated or disregarded, does not justify abandonment of the principle or the substitution of new treaty arrangements giving any measure of advantage or benefit by reason of violation or disregard."

Stimson's reference to naval treaties drew immediate attention in view of the arms reduction conference now on in Geneva and efforts in Congress to build the navy up to maximum treaty limits. The Senate Naval Committee yesterday approved a measure to bring this about.

Stimson pointed out that the Washington conference of 1922 which signed the nine-power treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China was in fact an arms reduction conference and that the United States agreed to give up some of its battleships and abandon fortifications at Guam and in the Philippines because it believed the international understanding reached about China would lessen danger of conflict in the Far East.

The secretary of state went on to say the United States stands firmly by the John Hay open door policy first promulgated in 1899 and by the nine-power treaty adopted at Washington in 1922, when Charles Evans Hughes was secretary of state, which put the open door policy into more definite form.

He asserted that if the nine-power pact and the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, both of which were signed by Japan, had been strictly adhered to, they would have prevented the present disturbances in China.

The contention of the Japanese that China is so disorganized it cannot be regarded as having a government and is unable to execute treaty obligations was denied. Stimson said China was in an unsettled condition when the nine-power treaty was signed and the signatories entered into the agreement in a spirit of helpfulness to establish a self-governing republic without foreign interference.

Stimson's letter quoted this statement of Baron Shidehara, who represented Japan at the Washington conference: "No one denies to China her sacred right to govern herself. No one stands in the way of China to work out her own great national destiny."

Senator Reed, high-ranking Republican from Pennsylvania, said he regarded the Stimson statement as an act of note-writing to China and Japan by the United States government.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, seemed pleased with the letter and declared the paragraph relating to the interdependence of all the agreements reached at the Washington conference was "eminently sound."

Representative Fish, Republican, New York, warned the House yesterday that economic boycott against Japan would be the "first step toward war." He criticized the attitude of the administration toward the Sino-Japanese difficulties and said:

"If the United States had not sent a note to Japan every time a little town in Manchuria was seized we could now use our good inter-lunar peace."

"The reiterated inter-relationship of the 1922 treaty in particularly gratifying," Senator Johnson said. "The United States then yielded not only its naval superiority, but its sovereign right to fortify our own possessions and this was done upon the emphasized faith of Japan—none of them too highly commendable. His generosity has been praised, and his statesmanship has been praised. In truth, Washington was not a brilliant general; nor was he a brilliant statesman. But his gentlemanly, moderate, and soundness of character have never been surpassed by mortal man."

"For myself, when I think of him, my mind speaks to him in these words:

"Thy life was gentle, and the times that brought thee were well; and thy end was gentle, and the times that brought thee were well."

Frank Evans Is Visitor After 3-Year Absence

In a few years, probably impelled by leaders of this movement, the least business conditions are strengthened.

Mr. Evans, who said he has been so busy during the past three years in placing his own business upon a sound basis that he has had but little time to devote to studying general business conditions throughout the country, appeared interested over conditions in Florida. His comment was that "things seem to be very busy in Florida, and Sanford's streets are alive with cars and people, one of the busiest scenes we have seen since we left Boston."

Whitney Claims Short Selling Is Justifiable

pared statement, and then submitting to extensive examination.

In addition to repeated assertions that "the market could not have been maintained if short selling had been forbidden," Whitney contended the prohibition of this practice today still would prove "disastrous." Questions brought out that Whitney believes:

"The new Exchange ruling (requiring the written consent of customers before stocks may be loaned to short sellers), will not affect materially the availability of stocks for loaning.

"Short selling has not been a cause of declining prices nor a major cause of the depression. There is no organized bear raiding. It is not permitted."

Representative Lattin read the statement made by President Hoover last week saying there had been negotiations with Stock Exchange officials relative to limiting short selling. Whitney was asked whether the president requested the rule adopted by the Exchange.

"I do not feel that I can say anything about any conversation with the president without his permission," he replied, and was directed by the committee to see that permission.

"It was not taken in any way to correct existing evils," he replied to another question on the new ruling. "We did it because of increased volume of complaints. It makes perfectly clear to customers what their rights are."

Whitney said "it is an outstanding achievement that our market has stayed open and maintained the liquidity of securities."

"We have avoided the fearful consequences which would have necessarily resulted," he said, "if securities had become unobtainable."

"If that had occurred, the consequences to this country would have been truly disastrous. Enormous amounts of credit were based upon the value of securities. If this huge total of loans had become frozen and, because of the absence of a security market, could not have been redeemed, our entire banking system would undoubtedly have been shut down, not only affected."

Whitney testified the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had been well received, but did not bring about any enduring change in price levels because its immediate effect on business was "problematic," he said.

"It was not until the recent announcement of the plan for increasing the use of Federal reserve credit that the market responded and the price level showed a marked advance."

GELATIN IS VALUABLE PROTEIN

By Dr. R. E. LEE

Some persons regard gelatin as merely a decorative dessert and "carrier" for salad ingredients, with little food value of its own. In reality it is a source of the most important body building and repair foods.

Gelatin belongs to that great family of protein-rich foods whose other prominent members are milk, eggs, cheese, meat and fish. It contains the food elements which build and repair the tissues of the body and promote its growth. Not only is it one of the easiest of all foods to digest, but it is an important factor in aiding the digestion of other foods. For that reason gelatin is often added, unflavored, to milk in infant feeding, and is used in the manufacture of invalids.

Recent scientific laboratory tests show that gelatin contains a large amount of a substance often lacking in many foods so that gelatin supplements these and makes a more perfect food for keeping muscles and bones in constant repair, and is invaluable as an aid to the proper growth of strong healthy girls and boys.

There is no doubt but that gelatin deserves a prominent place in the daily menu of children, invalids, and adults, especially nowadays, when it may be purchased in the convenient quick-setting prepared form, each package containing pure high grade gelatin, pure vegetable coloring, pure cane sugar, and delicate fruit-flavored crystals. In gelatin, healthful dietetic qualities and decided food value combine to delight the eye and palate as well.

ATLANTA, Feb. 24.—(A.P.)—Several suggested that Murkin might be named in the new Georgia primary but the rules committee ruled against it.

Mrs. Babbitt's Home Is Scene Of Party

Complimenting the members of the "23" Club and a number of other guests, Mrs. Pearl S. Babbitt entertained with a bridge party given last night at her home on South Sanford Avenue. Vases and bowls of snap dragons, asters and roses in pastel shades were arranged about the rooms where the guests were entertained. The tables bore silhouetted designs.

After several progressions of bridge, scores were added and prizes awarded. High score prize for the club members, a home-made cake, went to Mrs. G. O. Danner, while low score prize for the club members, a compact, was presented to Mrs. J. E. Courter. Mrs. M. Moses had high score among the other guests and was given bath powder, while Mrs. Sadye Baunel, who had low score, was the recipient of a home-made cake.

Late in the evening a sweet course and coffee were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Courter. Those present were: Mrs. Jennie Butler, Mr. H. K. Kent, Mrs. B. C. Moore, Mrs. E. C. Harper, Mrs. J. M. Stinebaugh, Mrs. G. O. Danner, Mrs. J. E. Courter, Mrs. Sadye Baunel, Mrs. M. Moses, Mrs. G. E. McKay, Mrs. E. J. Routh, Mrs. M. B. Smith, Mrs. T. C. Piffard, Mrs. Merman E. Morris, and Miss Laura Chittenden.

Mrs. Griffin Hostess At Party Wednesday

Developing a color scheme of red and white were the quantities of red radishes roses and baby's breath arranged about the living rooms of the home of Mrs. J. T. Griffin, Loch Arbor, when Mrs. Griffin entertained a large number of guests with a bridge party Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. H. T. Glass who celebrated her birthday anniversary at that time.

High score prizes for the ladies went to Mrs. G. O. Danner and Miss Nellie Hicks, while H. T. Glass was presented with high score prize for the men. Late in the evening a salad course was served by the hostess. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. John Sparkman, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Danner, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Glass, Mr. and Mrs. R. "The Silent Witness" At Milane Saturday

The next time you see, in a newspaper or elsewhere, a group of prisoners marching stolidly through the grim, bleak corridors of a penitentiary, it might be well to pause and reflect that probably many in that group are utterly and completely innocent of the crimes for which they have been convicted.

Statistics, while still too incomplete to chart actual percentages, have been gathered that go far to prove that, perhaps, more than half of all criminal convictions in this country are based, in some degree or other, on evidence of a circumstantial nature.

A recent survey, covering several years, and undertaken privately by one of the most famous and authoritative penalists in the country, tends to show that a deplorably large percentage of such convictions are miscarriages of justice.

A good illustration of the manner in which the blind goddess can be fooled is said to be presented in a graphic manner in "The Silent Witness," the new Fox picture, dealing with such a case, opening at the Milane Theater Saturday.

In this instance, the supposed murderer, though really innocent, actually believes that he committed the crime. Yet when his father, who had not the slightest connection with the murder, insists on standing trial for it, the jury comes within a hair's breadth of convicting the father for a crime that the son only thinks he committed!

CHINESE RAISING FUND IN GOTHAM TO AID FIGHTERS

Airplanes and Pilots Will Be Provided As Part Of Program

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—New York's Chinese raising funds for Shanghai relief yesterday brought out the ancient dragon of the Hip Sing, hired an American band, and paraded through the streets in and around Chinatown and collected a shoofly of nickels, dimes and dollars.

A boy in a padded suit of black satin beat on a green drum. Two men in green and yellow silk marched behind and clashed cymbals. A dozen more followed with tridents, old swords and queer-shaped knives. Then came a guard escorting a big American flag with the honor banners commonly displayed only for the dragon.

Behind them marched a group of Chinese Boy Scouts who carried flags of Old China. Then came more with the flags of the first and second Republics. The Hip Sing sponsored the procession and when they came to On Leong territory, the On Leongs threw money down from their windows. Then they came down and joined in the march.

There were fantastic costumes, flags of red and purple and yellow silk. In the midst of all this marched the school children with American flags, members of the Chinese Young Women's Christian Association, members of the Parent-Teachers Association, of the Chamber of Commerce, of the Red Cross. There were Chinese nurses in uniforms, students from Columbia, followers of Confucius and Christians. They sang old Chinese songs and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

Possibly 10,000 persons gathered in Chinatown. Almost everybody pitched something when the little Chinese girls went by with the sheet. The Italians, who live between Chinatown and City Hall, gave generously. Some of the policemen on duty gave as much as a dollar.

Chinese girls and women went among the sidewalk crowds and shook cups. They gave every person who gave them a coin a small pink paper rosette.

The dragon of the Hip Sing is only brought into the streets on occasions of great sadness or of joy. He has three eyes, a multi-colored head, ears trimmed with white fur and an alarming grin. His body is of rainbow-striped brocade silk and there is a fantastic tail. Two Chinese boys march at the head and tail. Before the dragon go a man in red, who harangues the animal, and a man in blue, who dances here and there.

The Chinese carried placards, some in Chinese, many in English. Some read "We must help the suffering" and "We must save China." These were carried by members of the Chinese Opera Company and by the women of the Ladies' Division of the Chinese patriotic Association.

As the war department pressed the foreign office official who commented on the Stimson letter said that the naval agreement actually was completed at the Washington conference before the powers began a real consideration of the Chinese problem. Japan, the spokesman declared, had agreed to the naval terms and had left many problems of the utmost importance to her for settlement in the later stages of the conference.

The spokesman said the Tokyo government had accepted a 60 per cent bathing ratio early in the conference, thereby leaving the Japanese delegation open to a charge of having laid down all trump cards early in the game. Had Japan wished to bargain with naval terms against matters embodied in the nine-power treaty, he added, she certainly would have delayed agreement indefinitely.

The foreign office spokesman recalled that in 1927 American and British warships bombarded Nanking despite the Nine-Power pact. The Chinese Nationalist troops were causing disturbances in Nanking at the time. Japan is doing essentially the same thing at Shanghai, the spokesman added, the only difference being the scale of the operations.

STIMSON CALLED IGNORANT AFTER NOTE TO BORAH

High Jap Official Says U.S. Concessions Not Protected In Treaty

TOKYO, Feb. 24.—(A.P.)—Secretary of State Stimson displayed "ignorance of the history of the Washington conference" in his open letter Wednesday to Senator Borah, in which he asserted that the whole fabric of international understanding in the Far East was threatened by the Sino-Japanese hostilities, a high foreign official declared yesterday.

After reading press dispatches quoting portions of the secretary's letter, this official questioned the validity of Colonel Stimson's assumption that American concessions in the Washington treaty were predicated on guarantees embodied in the Nine-Power pact.

Japanese military authorities worked yesterday at top speed—and under the protection of censorship—to carry out the cabinet decision to double the army forces at Shanghai. There was supreme confidence that the army would be sufficiently strong to strike a decisive blow before the Chinese were able to reinforce their line.

Meanwhile residents of Tokyo had some direct contact with warlike preparations. Troop trains passed close to the city and there were other military movements which gave the public a chance to put on demonstrations for the departing soldiers.

Gen. Yoshinori Shirakawa, who has been mentioned as probable high commander at Shanghai, was granted an audience by Emperor Hirohito. It was announced afterward he had been named to "a certain important military post."

The foreign office official who commented on the Stimson letter said that the naval agreement actually was completed at the Washington conference before the powers began a real consideration of the Chinese problem. Japan, the spokesman declared, had agreed to the naval terms and had left many problems of the utmost importance to her for settlement in the later stages of the conference.

The spokesman said the Tokyo government had accepted a 60 per cent bathing ratio early in the conference, thereby leaving the Japanese delegation open to a charge of having laid down all trump cards early in the game. DRY SPEAKER

Dr. Ira Landrith, chairman of the national Temperance Council, who, with Dr. Oliver W. Stewart, vice-chairman of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, will speak at the Sanford City Hall next Tuesday night. Dr. Stewart will be heard at the afternoon meeting. The local W. C. T. U. chapter is sponsoring their appearance here.

Ahead with its troop movements in Shanghai, it was apparent the great majority of Japanese officials and laymen alike were convinced the only solution to the grave situation there was the vigorous use of irresistible force as quickly as possible.

Military authorities admitted they had been mistaken in their estimates of the armed strength required to destroy the Chinese Nineteenth Route army, and asserted that those errors soon would be corrected.

CHULIQUOTA

Mrs. H. E. WAGNER

The P. T. A. held its regular monthly meeting in the school house Monday evening, Feb. 13. The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. L. Dana, after which the "meeting was turned over to the program chairman. As the Association has been using "The Children's Charter" as its program topic for the year, the 13, 14, and 15 articles were impressively enacted in pantomime by the children of the intermediate rooms. The poem "Hiawatha" was recited by the children of the second grade. Washington's birthday was honored by a reading on George Washington, by Virginia Brown, and a poem "Patriotism," recited by four girls. Songs sang during the evening were "America the Beautiful," and "My Tribute." It being the February Day program a history of the Christmas P. T. A. since its founding in 1905 was read by the historian, Mrs. William Jacobs. A candle lighting program was then given by four members of the Association after which a huge birthday cake was sold. A neat sum was realized for the birthday gift to the state. Punch was served throughout the social hour by the hospitality committee.

Miss Claire Harrison, of Geneva, accompanied Mrs. M. E. Dooley to the P. T. A. meeting Monday evening.

The Boy Scouts held their meeting Monday evening in the old postoffice building.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jacobs were among the old settlers of this section attending the fair in Orlando on opening day.

There was no school Monday on account of the teachers' meeting which was held at Lyman School.

CAPITALISM NOT COMMUNISM SEEN AS COMING ORDER

Professor Completes Critical Study Of Russian Situation

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Capitalism, with certain refinements in operation not generally accepted in these days, and not Communism, is to be the ruling economic order in the years to come. That is the opinion of Dr. A. Bruce Anthony, professor of economics at the University of Southern California, who has recently completed a critical study of the Russian economic situation.

The social order developed by Communism is not established upon sound economics, Dr. Anthony believes, and he estimates that its objective aims are either unattainable or undesirable, and that even if a uniform society can be formed in Russia, which he gravely doubts, it would not be beneficial to human progress.

"If Communism could make good each and every one of its own particular techniques of reforming the world, it would still fail to be worth the social cost involved," he stated. "Sociologically speaking, the game would not be worth the candle."

"Individual initiative would be smothered and the impulse for progress impeded. The world depends for advancement primarily upon the development of individual leaders in all fields of human endeavor. In this, freedom of thought and choice is essential, and the system which we may call Leninism, or Communism, does not guarantee it. I doubt very much whether the sacrifice of these qualities for the arbitrary standards of living set up as necessary would be worth while."

"As a critique for guaranteeing a critical searching analysis of

DO YOU KNOW?

That one of the prettiest of Indian legends concerns this rock which stands beside the shore of Stanley Park, Vancouver, British Columbia? It is known as Siwash Rock and at high tide is surrounded by water. The legend has to do with a young brave who eloped with the daughter of the chief of a rival tribe. The girl's father and his warriors gave chase and were about to catch the lovers when the girl called on Manitou to save them. As they stood in the canoe clasped in each other's arms, Manitou transformed them into this rock. Siwash Rock was a favorite spot with Pauline Johnson the great Indian poetess of Canada and after her death her ashes were strewn on the water beside it in accordance with her request.

modern capitalism, the plan is admirable; but as a real constructive substitute for the capitalistic principle of production, it is destined to prove a failure."

The reform which Professor Anthony expects will take place in the world's capitalistic structure

STATE HOLDS BIG LEAD IN CANNING OF CITRUS FRUIT

Grapefruit Pack Was Reported At Over Four Million In '29

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 26.—Out of a total of 1,174,823 cases of canned grapefruit packed in the calendar year, 1929, representing the combined production of the industry in Florida, California, Texas and South Carolina, the sunshine state produced 1,150,587 cases, Texas 12,497 and the balance of 2739 cases originated in either California or South Carolina.

Such a summary is the result of a compilation made by the Florida district office here of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, from statistical data prepared and issued by the Census Bureau in the 1929 Census of Manufactures.

The value of the 1929 grapefruit pack for the country as a whole amounted to $4,139,893 of which the Florida pack alone accounted for $4,084,092. Florida also can claim supremacy in the canned grapefruit juice field as it was the only state reporting in the last census for this item in the canning industry. The canned grapefruit juice pack for 1929 totalled 115,708 cases valued at $490,490.

The rapid strides made in the canning and preserving industry of Florida during the 10-year period beginning in 1919 are evident from the data compiled by the local office. They indicate that in development, the canning of grapefruit products has been of greatest importance.

For the comparative years, 1919 and 1929, Florida establishments engaged in canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables, pickles, jellies, preserves and sauces numbered 18 in the former year and had jumped to 46 in 1929. During the latter year, citrus canning establishments predominated.

Average wage earners per year increased from 160 to 1735; wages in the industry increased from $65,728 to $962,865. In 1929 there were 90 salaried officials and employees with a payroll of approximately $33,238 and in 1929, there were 127 drawing $240,334.

For these same years, the value of products rose from $658,718 to $6,116,660, the value of canned grapefruit alone for this latter year representing $4,630,988 of the total. Cost of materials, supplies, containers for products, fuel and power used in the industry amounted to $432,205 in 1919 and $3,277,398 in 1929.

Costs of fruits and vegetables, and sugar consumed in the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables, pickles, jellies, preserves, and sauces in Florida during 1929 amounted to $1,498,978, or $1,194,015 for fruits and vegetables and $300,963 for sugar.

Aside from the canning of fruits and vegetables, Florida in 1919 produced 4078 standard cases of oysters valued at $19,466 and 50,845 standard cases of shrimp with a valuation of $318,941. Preserves of all kinds, packed during the same year, were valued at $391,079. A value of $447,324 was placed on 242,513 cases of tomatoes.

Also represented in Florida's canning and preserving industries are pickles, ketchup, prepared mustard and mayonnaise and other salad dressings, but because of the fact that the census reports include Florida production of them with other groups of states, production statistics or valuation for Florida cannot be identified.

For the nation as a whole in 1919, there were 4280 canning and preserving plants engaged in the production of fruits and vegetables, pickles, jellies, preserves and sauces and in 1929 there were 3345 establishments. In 1919 there were 14,179 salaried officials and employees with an annual payroll amounting to $24,708,464. In 1929 the number of such officials and employees decreased in salaries paid, the latter figure being $24,940,683. Wage earners increased from 80,923 to 119,475 and wages paid from $66,444,923 to $68,777,648. In 1919 the value of products increased from $628,270,925 to $631,190,554.

BUSINESS SLUMP OF MIDDLE-WEST SUDDENLY LIFTS

Thawing Of Money, Reduction In Wages, Described As Aids

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Several important factors contributed to the sudden emergency of the Middle West from its long period of anxiety and inactivity. The climate came in the latter part of the week with an agreement by the building trades unions to accept a 20 per cent reduction in the wage scale. This closely followed an agreement by the rail unions to accept a reduction in wages that will add millions to the working capital of the carriers. The government plan to make money easier and thaw out millions in frozen assets is having a most exhilarating effect.

As a result of all these forward movements, the stock and bond markets lived up to a remarkable rate, and many thousands of dollars came out of hiding. Scores of new automobiles of the costlier variety are appearing on the streets, causing a revival in the motor industry. County merchants are building up their stocks, and farmers are preparing for spring work on an increased scale, which is being felt in factories producing tractors and other farm supplies.

Taken altogether, business and industry are displaying more activity than for more than 18 months. Numerous factories are taking on additional men, preference being given to those laid off during the worst of the slump.

In Chicago one discordant note is struck by the labor unions that have a firm grip on public school, city and county work. The leaders of the school unions flatly refuse to enter any rehabilitation plan that will reduce their high wages, and the school board is in a sorry state. Banks will not advance them any more money until the budget is reduced to a point where income will approach outgo. After he is survived by his widow, Winona Howard Wright, of Sanford, and two nieces, Mrs. Florence Hawes Williams, wife of Al Williams, noted United States Navy aviator, and Mrs. Elvie Hawes Brooks.

or all other employees in the county and school departments had agreed to work six days for five days' pay, the unions upset the proposition by a vehement refusal to agree to the plan.

Reports from the steel industry suggest better placement of tonnage later by railroads, particularly in the way of track accessories and rail. Several leading systems have placed good tonnage.

The breaking of the price deadlock between the packers and canners last week was followed by a good volume of business. Prices were 1/2 to 1 cent lower than the nominal quotations hitherto existing, and after the first rush of business canners sought additional concessions of 1/2 cent on most grades. Actual sales last week were slow as a result.

Cold weather brought fair consumption of domestic coal and a small increase from manufacturers. Lumber mills report increased shipments, while retail distribution of lumber and building materials is about normal for the season.

Money rates are quoted by Chicago banks as follows: Customers' commercial loans, 4 1/2 to 5 per cent; collateral loans, 4 1/2 to 6 per cent; brokers' loans, 4 1/2 per cent, and commercial paper, 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent.

South Carolina Is Winner In Fight On Tax Upon Gasoline

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(A.P.)—South Carolina scored a victory in the Supreme Court yesterday when the court indicated its intention to sustain a valid tax imposed on gasoline sold in that state.

The Eastern Airport transportation, Inc., carrying passengers and mail from Newark, N. J., to Miami, and making four stops in South Carolina challenged the tax, asserting it was a burden on interstate commerce. Explaining that it was compelled to purchase gasoline in South Carolina, it protested against being required to pay in addition to the price of gasoline a six-cent tax.

Justice McReynolds asked counsel for the airplane company whether under his contention it would not mean that automobiles would evade the tax at the time they purchased gasoline in South Carolina by stating that they wanted to use it in a journey outside the state.

When asked if the company intended to sue the state of South Carolina for an amount by con-

WOMEN, ACTIVE IN EXPLORATION, HAVE OWN MEET

Interesting Accounts Are Related At Din- ner Held In Gotham

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Women whose interests have taken them to remote places of the earth, in the air and deep below the surface of the ocean gathered at the American Museum of Natural History recently to exchange experiences and give evidence of the part they are taking in exploration and in archaeological and research work.

The occasion was the annual dinner of the Society of Women Geographers. Seated on both sides of a long narrow table in the Hall of Birds were women whose names are widely known for pioneer work in remote parts of the world and for the additions they have made to general knowledge on various subjects. A requirement for active membership in the society is that the applicant must have done distinctive work which has increased existing knowledge. Associate members are widely traveled women who are interested in furthering all forms of geographical exploration. Women from 33 countries are included in its membership.

Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, first woman to cross the Atlantic by air, sat in the center of the table just across from the chairman, Mrs. Grace E. Barstow Murphy, vice-president of the New York section of the society. Mrs. Elizabeth Dickey, who has made five expeditions to South America and extended trips up the Amazon and the Orinoco Rivers, and Miss Gloria Hollister, technical associate of Dr. William Beebe on the Bermuda oceanographic expedition, were there.

Mrs. Blair Niles, who has traveled extensively in South and Central America and in Asia, as has Mrs. Della Akley in Africa; Dr. Millicent Todd Bingham, a student of the geography of Peru and France, who was a delegate to the International Congress of Geographers in Paris last summer; Miss Lucille Douglas, an authority on Angkor, who was also a delegate to the meeting in Paris; and Mrs. Annie S. Peck, mountain climber, were among the members of the organization who attended the dinner. Mrs. Peck climbed Mt. Huascarán in Peru and reached the highest point in America attained by any American. She named "Cumbre Ana Peck" in her honor.

Mrs. Putnam, Miss Hollister and Mrs. Dickey made brief speeches, describing their experiences. Miss Earhart said she was very shy about talking as an explorer, "because when you fly you just go here and there; you don't really go on expeditions." There are about 40 men in aviation to every woman, she said, and women pilots find it very difficult to get the preliminary experience necessary to qualify for transport work. She declared it was time for women to get an air expedition together and see what they could do.

Miss Hollister said that no woman geographer should lack the experience of a trip under the ocean in a diving helmet. She holds the diving record for women, 410 feet below the surface of the sea, which she made when she descended into the ocean off Bermuda in the Bathysphere.

Mrs. Dickey said she had been "commuting" between North and South America for the past six years.

REACTIONS VARY AS TO BRITAIN'S TARIFF POLICIES

Democrats And Repub- licans Take Oppo- site Sides On Issue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Democratic and Republican senators reacted to the proposed new British tariff bill in strictly opposite party doctrines. To the Democrats the new 10 per cent barrier was just one more evidence of retaliation against the excessively high rates of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act.

Members of the Republican Party, however, saw in the British action the highest possible compliment to their party's statesmanship. Briefly, they termed it "imitation," and pointed out that after more than 90 years of free trade Great Britain has at last been forced to return to the protectionist fold.

Far from admitting it was retaliation, Republicans insisted it was either for revenue or for protection. Even Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican National committee, broke his recent silence on political matters to declare that since it is a flat 10 per cent rate it is "unscientific" and cannot therefore be considered retaliatory.

The frank admission of Mr. Neville Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the exchequer, that one of the purposes of the new tariff is to provide means for bargaining with other high tariff countries, appeared to escape the notice of the Senate leaders, who declined to comment on this phase of the matter.

It was pointed out in informed circles, however, that if England uses the new rates as a point of departure for general attacks on the high rates of other nations, using the bargaining method, it may spell the doom of "most favored nation" trade treaties.

The tariff expert of the Democrats, Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee, summed up his party's general attitude most concisely with the simple statement that "it is about the forty-sixth retaliatory measure since the tariff policy was sponsored in 1921."

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, another leading Democrat, also considered it just another retaliatory measure which "will considerably affect our surplus products."

On the Republican side Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, co-author of the Smoot-Hawley bill, asserted the United States has no right to complain of any British tariff action "nor any other legislation it sees fit to enact. We passed our tariff bill to protect our industries," he added, "and every other country has the same privilege."

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican leader in the Senate, "it justifies the American protective tariff system throughout. It shows that England has been floundering in the bog for 150 years, while we have been steadily going to the heights."

Officials of the Department of Commerce explain that their only question is whether the 10 per cent will replace the abnormal importation and duties of 50 per cent recently applied to some items. Some 25 per cent of manufactured goods imported into England already are dutiable.

The United States exported to Great Britain during 1931 a total of $155,560,611. If the final tabulation of products corresponds to that of the previous year, approximately 50 per cent of the total would be raw materials and similar items. Manufacturers exported usually total about half of American shipments to Great Britain.

President Advises Against Curtailing Funds For Schools

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—(A.P.)—Pausing in his drive for untrammelled federal spending, President Hoover declared unequivocally yesterday that sustained financial support of the public schools had the first call upon the national resources.

The President took his stand in a letter to Dr. Milton Chase Potter of Milwaukee, new president of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association. Even as he wrote, delegates to the convention just closing here published a similar resolution.

The school superintendents headed their annual declaration of principles with a request that educators everywhere join with officials "to the end that during this period of economic distress, ways may be found to effect economies in government administration which will not cripple the education of the children."

After congratulating the delegates upon the results of their conference here, the President in his letter to Dr. Potter took an even stronger position.

"We cannot afford to lose any ground in education," he said. "That is neither economy nor good government."

Senator Fess of Ohio voiced concern to the educators over "what is likely to be the effect upon the work of the teacher and upon the pupils of the schools of the modern economic breakdown." Outlining the legislative reconstruction program now partially enacted, he warned, "it must not be expected to be too speedy." Eight invitations for next year's meeting of the educators were received. They were from San Francisco, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Minneapolis, Chicago, Cleveland, Houston and Philadelphia. The executive committee will choose, probably during the first week of April.

Vegetable Outlook For 1932 Season; Demands Careful Thought

The commercial shipping vegetable outlook for 1932 season, according to E. E. Surry, representative of the United States Marketing Bureau, following the tendency of the 1931 season, is generally favorable. The low general level of prices, unusually low for some crops, and the fact that the 1931 season was a record one for many crops, are factors which will tend to keep prices low. The outlook for the 1932 season is generally favorable, but it is necessary to exercise careful thought in the production and marketing of the crops.

Upsala and Grapeville Mrs. LURELL BALLINGER

Edgar Skjold and wife and sister, Marie, of Dayton, called to see his uncle, H. G. Lundquist, who has just returned from a motor trip to Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. Nels Swanson and Mrs. Norman Swanson spent the afternoon with Mrs. Augustus Swanson.

Arthur Campbell was out by his old home place last week. The family is well and living in St. Augustine near her folks after two years in Miami.

Norman Swanson and wife spent an evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lundquist. They spent the week-end in a motor trip to Tampa.

Friends are glad to see Mrs. Paul Thorndorn out again after a month's illness.

Little Tim Stevens is ill. Mrs. Fred Dyson and Mrs. Jennings have both been on the sick list the past week.

Mrs. Gould, of Butler, New Jersey, spent the day, Tuesday, at the home of her old friends, Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. Harry Starnes.

After the Chinese counter attack, the Japanese succeeded in seizing the Chinese first line in the north-west of the village. Their air attack, made while their artillery was pounding the Chinese second line and while 40 Japanese planes were dropping 250-pound bombs on support units, swept well to the west and passed the village of Minochungchen.

At this juncture of the battle the small Chinese garrison at Kiangwan was in imminent danger of falling. Communication to the rear was almost severed and the Japanese artillery and airplane activity was so great that it seemed impossible to move up supports.

The salient in the otherwise straight Shanghai-Woosung line, already two miles deep when the action started, bulged an additional 600 yards to the west when the Japanese assault reached its high point.

The Japanese announced that they had completely broken down the Chinese primary defenses and that the Chinese troops were in a disorderly and panicky retreat.

Secure in their belief of victory, they pushed forward their artillery to new positions, thereby putting the guns within easier range of the Chinese supports.

But as they prepared to make another assault, which they believed would weaken the Chinese rear and make it impossible for the Kiangwan garrison to hold out any longer, the Chinese swarmed out of their trenches for a surprise counter-attack.

Apparently reinforcements, somehow or other had been brought up despite every effort by the Japanese artillery and airplanes to drop a curtain of explosives sufficiently destructive to prevent any troop movement.

It was reported that these reinforcements were fresh men of the 88th division of Chiang Kai-shek, whose national guard units are looked upon as the best troops in China.

The counter-attack swept over shell torn ground and at many places along the front the Chinese reached the trenches from which they had been driven only a few hours earlier.

All night long and early this morning a strong wind brought down to Shanghai from the Kiangwan front the sound of machine gun and rifle fire.

Despite the fact that they had lost most of the ground taken in their original assault, the Japanese described the Kiangwan action as a "substantial victory."

A Japanese communiqué said the Thursday casualties totaled 80 killed and wounded and that the Chinese losses were from 300 to 400. The Japanese took 15 prisoners.

Before dawn this morning this correspondent saw several additional companies of Japanese moving up to the Kiangwan front. Practically all of the artillery and tanks which had been concentrated at the Kiangwan racecourse started for positions to the north.

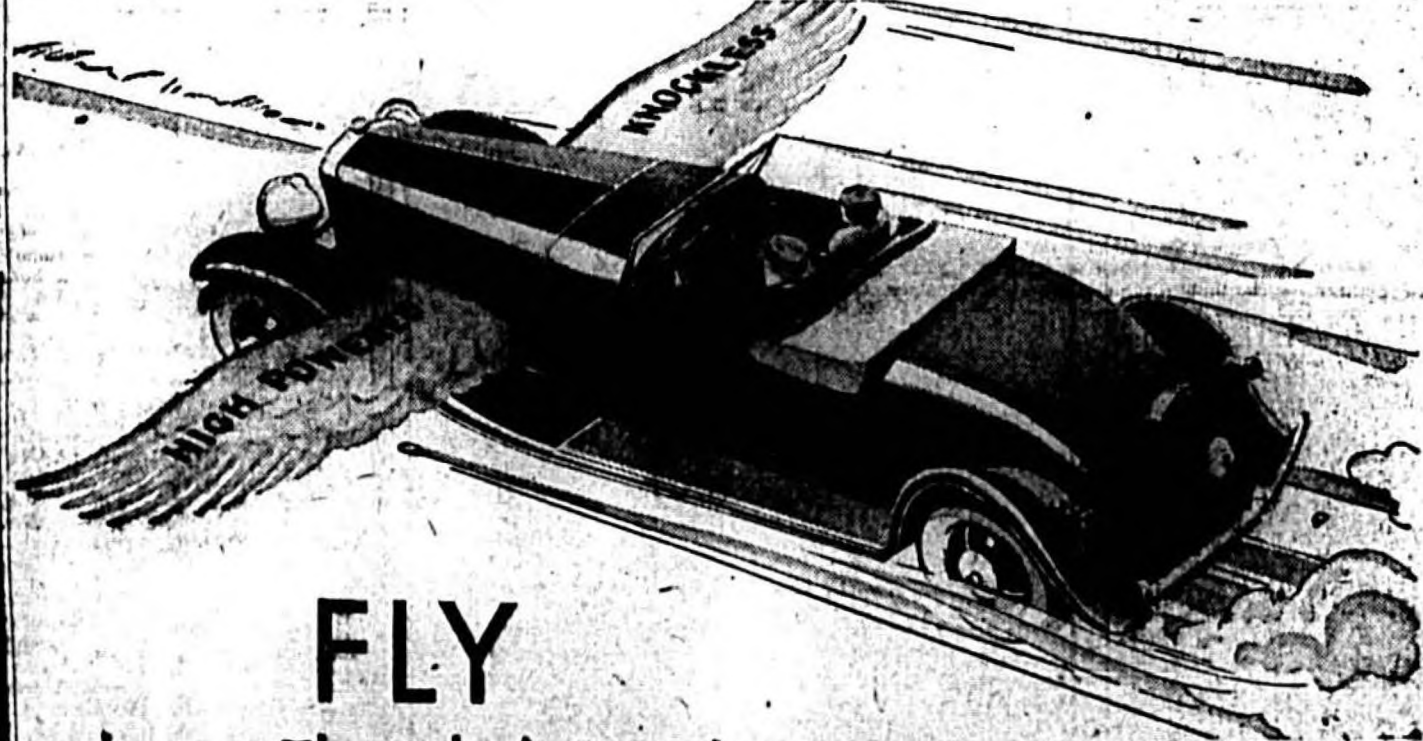

At the height of Thursday's action a Japanese transport arrived at a wharf within the International Settlement. The ship was loaded with ammunition which was quickly taken off and put into trucks that rumbled off in the direction of Kiangwan.

Reports circulated that two or three Japanese army divisions would arrive today or tomorrow and that the high command planned to open the biggest drive yet early next week.

Tokyo dispatches telling that the emperor had granted an audience to Gen. Yoshinori Shirokawa were taken to mean that he would supersede Gen. Kaseki Ueda in command of the army here.

MASSACRE SEEN IMMINENT OVER MINERS' ACTION

New York Writers See More Trouble Arising Over Kentucky

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Predictions of a "massacre" of miners in Bell county, Ky., and threats of physical damage suits against members of a mob that kidnapped them at Pineville, in that state, were voiced recently by two of the leading committees of writers to run into difficulties in the Kentucky coal fields.

The pair was Edmund Wilson, novelist and critic, and Malcolm Cowley, an associate editor of "The New Republic." They and to others of a delegation of writers who had gone to distribute food to needy miners in Pineville were forcibly escorted over the Kentucky line recently, they charge, and two of their number, Walter Frank, novelist, and Alan Taub, New York lawyer, were badly beaten. In addition, two more of the delegation, Harold Hickerson, playwright, and Miss Joris Parks, relief worker, are still in Pineville, charged with criminal syndicalism.

While Mr. Wilson and Mr. Cowley were telling horrifying stories of conditions in Kentucky, the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, under whose auspices they made the trip, announced that they would "take part in a picketing of the Morgan, Marion and Rockefeller mines."

According to Maxine Wilson and Cowley, Mr. Frank, who has also returned to New York, probably has a fractured skull and is in such a serious condition that they cannot see him, while Mr. Taub's nose was "probably" broken by the mob. They declared Taub, a lawyer for the International Labor Defense, had "attained" Bell county officials by quoting sections of the Kentucky State Constitution, supposedly framed by Thomas Jefferson, about the right of the people to "alter, reform or abolish their government," as well as their right of free assembly.

They predicted bloodshed when miners held a funeral, presided over by Harry Shaw, night-school teacher, for the miners' bodies, which they said were "shot" in the coal mines.

Wilson and Cowley said they were planning to go to Pineville and distribute food. Wilson's body from Pineville to Pineville and the bodies of the other two were taken to the hospital in New York.
