Major Religious Holidays Will Be Celebrated This Week End

By LOUIS GARRETT
United Press Staff Correspondent
Christians and Jews throughout the world will celebrate major religious holidays this week end. The Christian holiday, which falls on Sunday, is called Pentecost or Whitsunday. The Jewish holiday, which begins at sunset Saturday, is called Shavuot.

Although Pentecost has held an honored place on the Christian calendar for several centuries longer than Christmas, and Shavuot was an ancient festival before the first Chanukah, both of the older holidays have fallen into neglect in modern times.

Today there are many Christians who do not know what Pentecost is all about, and many Jews who have only a vague idea of the meaning of Shavuot. Actually, Shavuot has religious significance for Christians as well as Jews. It commemorates the giving of the Ten Commandments.

According to Jewish tradition, Moses received the Ten Commandments on Mount Sinai seven weeks after the children of Israel began their exodus from captivity in Egypt. Hence the date of Shavuot always falls exactly seven weeks after Passover.

In some Jewish temples, Shavuot is now a popular occasion for confirmation services. Boys and girls who have completed their elementary religious education take public vows to uphold the ideals of Judaism, and receive formal blessings from their rabbis.

Pentecost, celebrated seven weeks after Easter, is often referred to as "the birthday of the Christian Church." It commemorates the gift of the Holy Spirit to the first Christian apostles. The new testament records that Jesus promised his disciples, at the end of his post-resurrection appearance to them, that they would receive power from God to carry out their assigned mission of spreading the gospel "unto the uttermost part of the earth."

Hays: Russian Can Worship Freely But Are Restricted

A visit to Moscow convinced Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) that "the Russians have freedom of worship—but they don't have freedom of religion."

Hays is president of the Southern Baptist Convention. He and the Rev. Clarence W. Cranford, president of the American Baptist Convention, flew to Moscow last month for a good will visit with Russian Baptists.

They found, as have other visitors to the Soviet Union, that worship services in Russian churches are heavily attended. At an early Sunday service at Moscow's First Baptist Church, for example, every one of the 1,400 seats was filled long before the opening hymns, and more than 600 worshippers stood throughout the two-hour service.

But as Baptists who attach great importance to evangelism, Hays and Cranford were acutely conscious of the restrictions which the Soviet Communist government has placed on church activities.

"The reason I say that the Russians do not have freedom of religion," Hays explained, "is that they are not free to propagate the faith. The churches cannot operate Sunday schools or conduct any kind of educational programs. They are not permitted to acquire property to open new churches."

Only the government can carry on "educational functions" in Russia. And in state-operated schools, Russian children are taught that religion is an "outworn superstition." They are told that the Soviet government tolerates religious worship because it makes the old folks feel good. But that young people are expected to take a "scientific"—i. e., atheistic—view of the universe.

Doctor Tries Group Psycho-Therapy On Drinkers' Wives

By DELOR SMITH
United Press Service Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—The psychological scientist who stirred a furor by proposing that the wives of some alcoholics have an emotional state in their husbands' drunkenness, confesses that his first efforts to prepare such wives to live with sobered husbands didn't get very far.

Donald E. MacDonald of the North Carolina state hospital at Butner was seeking to help permanently a group of two-fifths drinkers by psychological means. One a week he gathered their wives around him in discussion just what they'd do if the treatment worked.

Technically, this is called "group psycho-therapy," and MacDonald's role was that of "group leader." The group first was disrupted by a wife who through session after session, demanded that the leader "prove that I want my husband to drink." She had heard of MacDonald's theory, "Wife Spikes Tea."

Later her husband caught her spiking his tea with whiskey. She said it was an "accident," but she never mentioned that at the group sessions for wives.

Fire Tragedy Hits Oviedo Family

By Marian Jones
OVIEDO—Tragedy struck in Oviedo again this week—in the form of one of man's greatest enemies—fire.

Shortly after 3 a. m. on Tuesday morning the entire population was awakened by the fire alarm. Arriving right behind the fire truck, we discovered that the home of J. Emmett Priest, located across from the Oviedo Methodist Church, was practically destroyed.

It was with great concern we waited word as to the safety of the family. We were so afraid that it may have been discovered too late.

Emmett and Beatrice Priest, we learned, had left that morning for South Florida. The son, Sonny, about 15, was alone at the time of the disaster.

Reverend George E. Carlton, pastor of the Oviedo Methodist Church, was awakened by Sonny's screams, "Fire, fire, fire." Rev. Carlton told us that it was just a miracle the boy had gotten out.

Making a trip to the scene yesterday, we found the grief stricken mother and father, who had been called back by relatives, there. Beatrice told us how Sonny was awakened by the smoke, discovered he was practically trapped in his room. He smashed through a double paneled glass door to reach safety. Rev. Carlton carried him home with him.

DeBary News

By Mrs. Adam Muller
The DeBary Republican Club met in the Fire House, Wednesday, 10 a. m. Albert D. Williams presiding and leading in the Salute to the flag, and devotion.

Guest speaker was Mrs. J. F. Howden of Winter Park, who was president of the League of Women Voters in her district for two years, and is now on the State Board of the League of Women Voters.

Her interesting and informative talk on the "Revision of the State Constitution," gave many a clearer picture of what went into this detailed revision. A new booklet may be secured by writing to R. A. Gray, Secretary of State, Capitol Hill, Tallahassee, Florida, on the proposed Constitution. Voters can see the pros and cons of the document and be better informed on the subject.

George Perry spoke on the stand the Exec. Board of the Republican Party of Volusia County would take on this issue. Refreshments and social period followed Mrs. Howden's talk.

She told us over and over again how hard they had worked during the winter to save up food, clothing, etc. for the summer months when they might not be working.

They had just bought a new refrigerator and deep freeze, which she had filled. She kept pointing to where some of her cherished possessions had been.

Through all of her shock and grief, she kept uttering, "Why?" We could well understand that feeling. It was only last July 29 when the bottom fell out of our world in a matter of seconds. As most of you know, our boy, Johnny, was seriously injured while at work in Gainesville.

We remember the hours we spent praying, the many hours of anxiety when we too uttered, "Why?"

We are not supposed to question the acts of our Father in heaven, but there are times when it is hard to understand "Why?" As always the good people of this community have come forth to offer what service they can to the grief stricken ones. We will never forget how good they were to us. Beatrice told us of the many who had offered them shelter, etc. We had gone with that intention ourselves. We are so grateful for the good people of this community, the good heartedness, the love and the Christianity.

In July 1944 the R. L. Regsdale home burned to the ground on such a tragedy.

Fire Tragedy Hits Oviedo Family

They were our next door neighbors. We were away from home the night of this happening—against our better judgment. I had a premonition we should not leave home that evening.

What a heartbreaking sight to drive up to. My first thoughts were for my neighbor's safety; I was assured by another neighbor that she and her husband were safe.

Again on November 22, 1936, Thanksgiving Day, another neighbor across the street lost all their worldly goods when their home was gutted by this dreaded enemy. Again I left home when I did not want to. We had taken the neighbors, Mrs. J. N. Thompson and the late Rev. Thompson, to visit their son and daughter-in-law at Vero Beach.

Other neighbors knew I again had this feeling of impending disaster and went against my better judgment.

When we arrived at Vero Beach, Mary Thompson greeted us with the news that the elderly couple's home had been destroyed by fire since we had left home, due to an oil heater being left burning for a roomer. It had exploded.

We truly hope that in addition to trying to curb dreaded diseases in human beings, the control of this deadly weapon—fire—will some day be so great that fewer people will have to suffer from such tragedies.

Dr. Urges Caution When Testing Child's Intellect

By DELOS SMITH United Press Staff Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Discussing the perilous scientific business of testing children for intelligence, a child psychologist has warned all so engaged to show "the utmost caution" in labeling any child mentally defective. Dr. Lucille Hollander Blum estimated that perhaps 15 per cent of the children so labeled, turn out later not to be at all. Indeed, some turn out to have superior intelligence. To protect themselves from overwhelming demands, they put on the mask of stupidity. These children are pitfalls for the psychologist because he has no reliable technical means of unmasking them. They're "pseudo-retarded" rather than actually retarded, but so far this correct diagnosis has been made "only in retrospect."

Parochial Schools Educating 12 Pct. Of U.S. Children

By LOUIS CASSELL United Press Staff Correspondent Roman Catholic parochial schools are now educating about 12 per cent of America's children. If these Catholic schools closed their doors, the already-overcrowded public school system would have to find classrooms and teachers for an additional 4,600,000 students. Do these facts constitute a valid argument for public financial support of church-operated schools? Many Catholics believe they do. Many non-Catholics emphatically disagree. Both sides have been expressing their views with increasing vigor in recent months. Although no immediate showdown is in sight, the controversy is clearly building up a head of steam. Catholics contend that the parochial school system has become an integral part of American education; that it is performing an essential public function by educating millions of children for whom there is no room in the public schools. Save Taxpayers Money They say parochial schools are saving U.S. taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars a year, and that it is only fair that some of this money be returned to the Catholic parents who pay for this auxiliary school system through tuition fees and contributions. Some non-Catholics are sympathetic to this argument. But others agree with the position taken by the National Council of Churches, largest U.S. Protestant organization. The council contends that the full cost of supporting private school systems should be borne "by those who choose to maintain them." Any direct or indirect government support of religious schools, it says, would be as repugnant to the Constitution as a federal subsidy for churches. The Supreme Court has ruled on several occasions that the First Amendment to the Constitution—the "separation of church and state" amendment—prohibits use of tax funds for direct support of church-operated schools. But it has also ruled, in the Everson case of 1947, that the Constitution does not bar a state from providing free school bus transportation for parochial students. The court took the position that this is a service that the government renders, not to the religious school itself, but to the individual children who attend it. A growing number of Catholics believe that this doctrine justifies other forms of government aid to parochial students or their parents.

Test Shows Rabbits Stand Up Well To Nicotine

By DELOS SMITH United Press Staff Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Nicotine users will be delighted to know that rabbits stand up to the stuff extremely well. A rabbit can take six times more of it than a man before he is paralyzed, and more than twice more before he is killed by it. This and other alarming new facts concerning what nicotine does to animals rather than people came from scientists at the University of Georgia. Of animals tested, the monkey, man's so-called cousin, was the most sensitive. That is, it took much less to turn up a monkey's toes. Nones of this is intended as a preachment against smoking, of course. It is only a collection of facts newly emerged from a science vineyard. Anyway it has been well known for generations that nicotine in sufficient dosages acts as a paralyser and in higher dosages as a killer. Smokers escape these unpleasant reactions by a body chemistry mechanism called "tachyphylaxis." You take a tiny, non-lethal amount of a poison like nicotine into a chemical system like a man and it produces a kind of immunity against the poisonous effects of later and larger doses. The facts were by-products of experiments with white-tailed deer. The problem was how to make one stand still long enough to be created and shipped off in areas where there were no deer but deer were wanted. The Georgia scientists—D. Pearl, J. H. Jenkins, F. A. Hayes and H. A. Crookford—developed nicotine-tipped darts. The idea was to bring a deer down, paralyzed, by shooting a dart into him, but it had to be decided how much nicotine would paralyze the deer for a short time without killing him or without doing him any lasting harm. Works Like Charm When this amount was established, the idea worked like a charm and Georgia now has transferred more than 200 deer from areas where there were too many to areas where there were not enough. And the scientists transferred their experiments to other animals. Reporting to the American Association for the advancement of science, they pointed out that nicotine works on the nerve groups of the autonomic nervous system. The more complex this system, the less nicotine it takes to produce paralysis or death. By this scale, the autonomic nervous system of the rabbit is quite simple, and that of the deer, quite complex. No experiments of this sort can be made on people, but they have a nervous system that is easily the most complex of all.

Test Shows Rabbits Stand Up Well To Nicotine

By DELOS SMITH United Press Staff Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Nicotine users will be delighted to know that rabbits stand up to the stuff extremely well. A rabbit can take six times more of it than a man before he is paralyzed, and more than twice more before he is killed by it. This and other alarming new facts concerning what nicotine does to animals rather than people came from scientists at the University of Georgia. Of animals tested, the monkey, man's so-called cousin, was the most sensitive. That is, it took much less to turn up a monkey's toes. Nones of this is intended as a preachment against smoking, of course. It is only a collection of facts newly emerged from a science vineyard. Anyway it has been well known for generations that nicotine in sufficient dosages acts as a paralyser and in higher dosages as a killer. Smokers escape these unpleasant reactions by a body chemistry mechanism called "tachyphylaxis." After a short business session plans were made for the annual picnic at Buris Park, DeLeon Springs, for June 19, meeting in front of Pecks Real Estate office. Examples Of The Real Accident Are All About Us In Tragedy

As amount of safety training and education will eliminate accidents, on the one hand or anywhere else. Mistake seem to be part of the human condition, and doubtless always will be. Whatever gods of misfortune there are deserve this much acknowledgment of their power to cause human tragedy.

That is all they deserve. They emphatically do not deserve the sort of foolhardiness which ignores precautions on the fatal grounds that if accidents are going to happen they'll happen, no matter what. That attitude belongs in the dark ages. There is abundant evidence that foreseeing possible dangers, and acting to forestall them, can be a means to reduce the toll of injury and death.

Pay Raise Should Pay Off Well

The signing of the pay raise bill was celebratory news for most armed forces personnel. Though some men in the ranks were less than joyous about the fact that their bonus percentage increases were vastly greater than their own, jubilation was widespread. Even civilians have reason to be pleased, despite the painful twinges in the taxpaying nerves.

The new law should help considerably to strengthen our armed forces by making service more attractive to good men. The Examples are all about us. Here is one to illustrate the point. A party of three men went fishing. They ventured out onto a very big lake in a very small boat; mistake number one. They went far from shore; mistake number two. On the assumption, mistake number three, that the weather would remain calm. A wind kicked up in a hurry, and the boat sank. No one had thought to wear a life jacket. That was mistake number four, the clincher.

Two of the men drowned. One was saved by the happy chance of grabbing a gasoline can. It was not the two deaths that were accidental, really; they resulted directly from a failure to foresee danger and forestall it. The only accidental thing about this tragedy was that one man survived.

The question whether Premier Pierre Pflimlin's government was to retain power or to be supplanted by an "authoritarian" regime under Gen. Charles de Gaulle remained to be decided.

Pflimlin's chief hope of continuing in office was to regain control of the army in Algeria, which demanded that de Gaulle be made France's leader.

De Gaulle announced at a press conference that he was ready to assume power. But he said he wanted it by legal means and he implied strongly that he had no intention of becoming a dictator.

Assembly Supports Pflimlin

The next move came from the National Assembly, controlling house of parliament. In an unusual display of unity, it gave its backing to Pflimlin by voting 473 to 28 to renew his emergency powers to fight the Algerian rebels.

The attitude of the army in Algeria, under Gen. Raoul Salan, was puzzling.

The generals remained openly defiant of the government. But they had been disappointed by the moderation of de Gaulle's statement and it was reported persistently that Salan was secretly working with Pflimlin.

Pflimlin decided to send Gen. Henri Lorrillot, chief of the general staff, to Algeria to negotiate with Salan.

With Pflimlin's unofficial approval, Antoine Pinay, a Conservative leader, drove to de Gaulle's country estate to ask him to help get the Algerian generals in line.

Dulles Outlines Doctrine

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave a new and broadened interpretation of the "Eisenhower Doctrine" on the Middle East.

Dulles said this doctrine did not, as commonly supposed, limit United States military support to a country which was attacked by a nation "under the control of international Communism."

He thus left open the possibility that this country might, if necessary, help Lebanon against the rebels who are trying to overthrow pro-American President Camille Chamoun.

Despite denials, Lebanon insists the rebellion was fomented by President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The Lebanese government announced it would appeal to the United Nations Security Council against the United Arab Republic's interference in its internal affairs.

Communists Meet

Communist leaders of Soviet Russia and seven other Red-ruled European countries met in Moscow to discuss party, economic, diplomatic and military questions.

President Tito of Yugoslavia, who is under heavy attack by Russia and its satellites for his persistent independence, was not represented.

It was reported that moves against Tito would play a big part in the meeting.

As the meeting opened, it was announced that Tito would not make a long-scheduled visit to Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland. Gomulka, who won at least partial independence as the result of the 1956 Polish revolt, is under severe pressure from Moscow, which fears he might become another Tito.

Sirens, Red Lights Mean Stop!

carry a stern warning—get out of the way.

Ambulances on missions of mercy cannot get their patients to hospitals and medical centers when automobiles refuse to get out of their way. In such times of stress, seconds count, for if the surgeon or physician can get to the patient in time, a life might be saved.

There have been times, here in Seminole County, when motorists firmly stood their ground in the center of the road and refused to pull over and stop when sirens are sounded or flashing red lights bear the warning of danger.

Certainly we do not approve of the pernicious use of the shrieking sound of the ambulance or patrol car siren or the wanton use of the flashing red light—for such use is only a wanton excuse of the autolot to "stay his ground" when they are heard or seen.

But when such instances of an eight-

Flashing red lights and wailing sirens year-old girl the other day being taken to a hospital in a dramatic last-second effort to save her life—then autolots should move off the road and move fast!

Law enforcement officers in a nearby community angrily declared motorists paid little heed to the sirens and warning lights, refusing to get off the road.

The action brought a blistering warning from the law enforcement group. "In a case like this one seconds can mean the difference between life and death," one officer said—yet with a sheriff's patrol car, and a highway patrol car accompanying the ambulance motorists refused to move, get off the highway, or stop.

"If we had time to take down license tag numbers, there would be some people paying stiff fines as a result of this experience," an officer said.

Possibly a solution would be to take an extra patrol car along on such emergency runs in order that one could slow up and get license numbers.

Just suppose the ambulance happened to be carrying a loved one of your own—certainly you would want every respect possible to get that wife, son, daughter, or loved one to the hospital.

Motorists must learn that the sound of siren or flashing red light doesn't mean play—it's life or death, hanging in a balance.

The man whose life is likened to an open book probably has a few pages suspiciously glued together.

Men of affairs are in two classes—those smart enough to manage their own and others foolish enough to mix into other peoples'.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from former servicemen and their families.

Q. I have a service-connected disability. Can I go to my own doctor for treatment and have him bill the Veterans Administration?

A. No. He must obtain VA approval before he may treat your service-connected condition at Government expense.

Q. I'm starting school this fall under the Korean GI Bill. When will I get a training allowance check from the VA?

A. It will take about two months for your first VA check to reach you. But you will receive a VA allowance to cover every month of your GI training.

Q. I understand the new GI loan and still receive my VA allowance?

A. Yes. There is a $310-a-month ceiling. When your combined training allowance and earnings exceed that amount, the VA will reduce your allowance accordingly.

Last week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: The French political drama dominated the world news stage last week.

'Slave Labor Law' Over-Statement

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Back there in the 80th Congress, which Harry Truman called "the worst," there was enacted legislation which leaders of organized labor called a "slave labor law."

That was the Taft-Hartley Act which, in practice, proved to be no slave labor law at all because organized labor has thrived under or despite its terms. Moreover, congressional investigators in recent months have proved that the Taft-Hartley Act was not strong enough to prevent offenses by some labor leaders which made honest men shudder. For example: Dave Beck and others.

On the record, the epithet "slave labor law," was a contrived and indefensible over-statement designed more to defeat the legislation than accurately to describe either its purpose or its likely effect.

Congress now is in the process of correcting some of the conditions disclosed by its labor investigators, limiting its corrective action, however, to a narrow field. An effort to widen and toughen the corrective legislation was liked in the Senate. The labor leaders opposed this effort as hotly as they opposed the Taft-Hartley Act back there in the 80th and, doubtless, rate the toughening amendments as another effort to enslave labor.

Sponsors of the tougher proposals do not so interpret them. Quite the contrary. Sen. Andrew Schoepel (R-Kan.) was challenged by organized labor for his support of more stringent amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act than the Democratic Leadership of the Senate would accept. The senator's telegram in response to that challenge contained some questions which might profitably be directed to any man who, controlling and practically owning a big union, finds himself in the preferred position of a Dave Beck, then, or a Jimmy Hoffa, now.

"Are you opposed," Schoepel inquired of his challenger, "to giving every member of a labor organization the right to vote?"

"Are you opposed to the use of secret ballots properly supervised without fear of reprisal?"

"What is so damaging with legislation which provides that the funds of the local union are to be used exclusively in connection with the affairs of the local union when a trusteeship has been established?"

Here is how Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) describes the toughening amendments which he introduced but which the Senate rejected:

What Senate Best Guarantees election of union officers by secret ballot. Provides for recall of union officials who misuse their positions. Prevents conspiracies between management and union officials against the welfare of union members. Protects union members' welfare and pension programs. Requires that unions legally permitted to represent all employees in an industry or plant shall admit all employees desiring membership. Provides a voice for union members in conditions, terms and duration of strikes. Prevents appointed trustees from exercising arbitrary control. Provides for regulation by union members of the actions of excessive union fees, assessments or arbitrary actions. Those provisions were rejected by the Senate and by the labor leaders. They were put aside with a promise of action later at this session. That promise probably isn't worth a dime because it does not bind the House where no action is remotely likely.

Conning The News

Carole Burns and her aunt Sue Faulkner of Sarasota left last week for a 30 day tour of Europe. (Incidentally, Sue is 1 year older than Carole.) The girls took off by plane from International Airport in Tampa. They will visit Sue's sister in Rome, Mrs. John Browning Jr., and will drive in a new Volkswagen to Switzerland, Brussels, and Paris.

Scott Burns reports that a postcard was received from Carole mailed in Lisbon. Seems their planned flight via New Foundland, Ireland and Paris was re-routed. Carole works in the office at Odham and Tudor, and should have much to tell when she comes back home.

Bridge at the B.O.Q. last week included VAIH-11, hosted by Pat Trout. Winners were Waneta Ramsey for high, and Winnie Morrison, low. Others attending were Bobbie Fernandez, Virginia Deremio, Helen Cobb, Dottie Nelson, Vickie Wilster, LaVerne Hamilton, Kay Downs, Margaret Hendrick, Thelma Frenstess, Sophie Rubel, and Fran Robertson.

Things were gay at the Country Club Saturday night, when the annual S.W.G.A. banquet was held. After the presentation of trophies to winners, the gavel to the new president, Fanchon McRoberts, a gift to the past-president, Celia Higginbotham and a remembrance to Helen Andrew, the company adjourned to the patio for entertainment.

A fashion show was in order as is apropos for women's affairs. The audience gaped, howled and screamed as the chemise and the trapeze paraded before them. Predominating fabric was pure imported burlap, some still bearing the scent of that rare aroma—fertilizer.

Out of this world accessories completed the costumes worn by models, Dainty Darlene Dooley, Cutie Cunning, Irene Ivey, Fabulous Fouk, Flirty Fliton, Madeline Morrison, Maxine McRoberts, Toodles Torbett, and Maureen Mills. The creatures mimed, pranced and generally hammed it up for a spectacular show. Particularly memorable were Flirty Fliton as a bride, with an original design of burlap, cheesecloth and boneduckers; Irene Ivey sporting a pair of high heeled yellow sling pumps—can't go on—they were all so good. Their wives enjoyed it as much as they—yes, they were our own boys, who loved every minute of it. Background talent in this show arranged by Lee Cuning were Betty McCracken, Ken Ivey, Jean Dooley, and Jeanne Fouk. Special commendation for dancing went to Roy and Jo Symes for their spirited and high stepping polka. Sidney Vihlen played (as well as the rest of the band).

Patio parties were enjoyed this weekend by the ever gay seniors at S.H.S. Keen and John Ivey gave a dinner Friday night for Jimmy Corvelli, Dottie and Francis Roumillat and daughter Cynthia honored Bobby Johnson Saturday night. Terrible time for it to rain, but the weather has little respect for the party-goers.

LINDA CANNON, who graduates this week, was honored Saturday morning by Mrs. W. W. Horn. Left to right, Janie Brown, JoAnn Hughey, Mrs. William Cavanaugh, Linda, Mrs. Horn.

Linda Cannon Honored Saturday

Mrs. Wilford Horn entertained Saturday morning with a coko party honoring her niece, Linda Cannon, member of the Seminole High School graduating class.

Games were enjoyed during the morning. The house was beautifully decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. A gift of luggage and other presents were given to the honoree by the hostess.

Mrs. W. B. Wray assisted in serving. Attending were Linda Anderson, Janie Brown, Diana

Sandra Lee Honored By Aunts

A spaghetti supper was given last week honoring Sandra Lee, who will graduate May 28 from Seminole High School. Hostesses were her aunts, Mrs. L. M. Tripp and Mrs. W. M. Tripp. The party was held in the former's home.

Senior class colors of green and white were carried out in bows and table decorations. The supper was served on the breezeway, where informally prevailed. Sandra's mother, Mrs. J. R. Lee, assisted in serving. A gift was given to the honoree by the hostesses.

Attending were Betty Lynn Solvidge, Linda Smith, Linda Anderson, Jean Womack, Carol McNeill, Nancy Richards, June Jennings, Dottie Williams, Dede Sharan, Valerie Kirchhoff, Marcella Loeschell, Nellie Pickens, Ellen Vihlen, Amoret Speir and Elaine Mims.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALBY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Promoters of such competitions as chess, curling and slow digging have accused Frank's Friday of complacency toward these sporting classics but it's time to make a stand when such serious charges are made against the America's Cup.

As a sportsman Old Fearless is considered in a gin rummy class with such masters as Lloyd Man-gram and Craig Wood and; when it comes to galloping dominos, the Indianapolis crowd will testify I am strictly front row. With pardonable pride, it also must be said that here is one of the best fudge hitters on Third Avenue.

It must be admitted, however, that yachting always has left me cold—and slightly seasick.

But there is no personal animosity in this corner toward the America's Cup races to be sailed off Newport in September.

Was Long History

By way of explaining one man's sea-going inouciance it should be admitted that nobody can be blamed for regarding this event as a historical pageant which belongs to the drama department. It is practically an off-shoot of the Boston Tea Party.

In the first place, it gained its greatest fame through the tenacious if unsuccessful exploits of a British sea merchant named Thomas Lipton. Mr. Lipton, whose picture you can see in any grocery store, became perturbed over the fact that Britain hadn't been able to recapture a cup it put up for grabs in 1851—and lost, so far irrevocably, to a band of Yankee sailors.

Britain, ruler of the bounding main since Mr. Francis Drake gave up bowing, had been trying to get back the cup ever since. So in 1890 Sir Thomas took his first crack at the chase. He did it, he took four more swipes at it, the last in 1930. Still no dice.

Last Million

When he gave up the galleon, his five yachts, known as Shamrock I, etc., had cost him $18,000. The cup is worth $200,000. So you can see that there is more here than meets the eye.

The Briton, who made their last bid in 1937, feel they have a fine chance this time around. The rules were amended in 1956 so that the challenger doesn't have to sail here "on her own bottom." Which means that, instead of battling the Atlantic, the yacht will be shipped to the United States. The minimum waterline length also was reduced from 65 to 44 feet, which saves quite a few pounds as well as time.

An event designed to promote international sportsmanship, the America's Cup, alas, hasn't always done so. James Ashbury, British challenger in 1870 and 1871, threatened to bring his lawyer with him. The Earl of Dunraven did just that in 1893 and 1895, trying to prove charges that there was unfair play.

The British press, in applauding the new challenger, blames past reversals on failure to tune their craft "in which Americans night. Third baseman Dale Koch had the fewest strikeouts, fanning only three times in 20 trips. He batted .307.

Slusser, senior slugger from Neocopeh, Pa., was the Seminoles' leading pitcher with an 8-9 record and had the best earned run average, 1.323 for 64 innings. Bristol also led in strikeouts with 60.

Senior righthander Tommy Garcia of Fort Myers won four of five decisions and struck out 45 this season to run his school career record to 161.

The Seminoles set a team record for triples—16—and averaged 7.8 runs a game, more than twice as many as the 3.8 average by their opponents. A running team, Florida State swiped 80 bases to 16 stolen bases by Seminole opponents.

NEW WORLD RECORD—Merrill Elliott, 20, of Australia, hits the tape to set a new world record for the mile. He clocked in at 3:57.4 at the Coliseum, Mexico to Los Angeles, Calif. Derek Ibbotson of England has run the mile in faster time—3:57.3—in London July 19, 1957, but the mark has not been officially accepted.

FSU Has 3 Or 4 All-America Ball Candidates

TALLAHASSEE (Special)—Florida State's final regular-season baseball statistics indicate the Seminoles have three or four All-America candidates this year.

The defending District 3 NCAA champions won 30 of 35 games, including their first 18 in a row for a school winning streak record. Six of their victories last year were two-triumph over Southeastern Conference champion Auburn.

Florida State regulars finished well above the .300 mark as the Seminoles compiled a gaudy .396 team batting average.

Centerfielder Owen McCarron, one of the fastest players in collegiate baseball, led the regulars with a .383 average. The Nutley, N. J., senior also led in total hits (88), triples (4), and set a school record with 16 stolen bases.

All America shortstop Dick Slusser—Florida's 1957 Amateur Athlete of the Year—led in runs (20), walks (21), and led sophomore catcher Bill Westendick (.332) in most doubles (6). The West Palm Beach senior batted .325, leaving his three-year career batting average at a sparkling .373.

Slusser, who hit .422 as a sophomore and .364 last year, was named to the NCAA's first team All-America squad last season. In addition to Slusser, Florida State Coach Danny Lilwhiter regards McCarron and pitchers Frank Slusser and Jack Bristol as "definite All-America quality."

Righthander Mike Copps won the slugging title with 46 total bases. The Jacksonville junior compiled a .337 batting average, hit three home runs, three triples, and five doubles. He also led in runs-batted-in with 28.

Leftfielder Jerry Phillip (.331) also belted three home runs, including two grand slams on consecutive

St. Pete Has 5 Game Lead In FSL

By PETER SCHAL
League Statistician

ORLANDO—Whether Tom Hamilton's St. Petersburg Saints are champions or as of today the Florida State League's leaders by chance will certainly be determined during the week starting today. Boasting a five game lead over second place Daytona and a six-Palaka Redlegs as of midnight Thursday, the Saints face a week game lead over the fast moving in which they must, before next Sunday night, meet Tampa three times, Daytona and Gainesville twice, and Palatka once. That the 1957 defending champion Tampa Tarpons are not the club which rolled over and played dead earlier this season as the Saints swept four straight is a certainty. The return Thursday of Glatz, Cline, and Dunn of the 1957 team, and the arrival of the veteran Howie O'Flynn as a replacement at first for German Plazzer, bodes no special good for either the Saints, or any other club.

So, this coming week is the "make or break" week for a team which has its eyes not only on midnight June 8 but the first half pennant as well. Whoever is leading the league midnight June 8 gets the All-Star game, worth perhaps $500 to $600 in profit, while whoever wins the pennant as of midnight June 19, gets the "odd" game of any play-off, and another chance to profit at the gate.

The Saints won five of nine while Palatka was moving up, winning seven of nine, and Daytona and Tampa won five of eight to offer threats that should not be ignored.

That the last-place Gainesville G-Men are not standing idle is evidenced in the resignation of Buddy Lettridge as manager as of midnight Wednesday and the temporary return of the fiery and highly experienced Red Dulaney at the helm. Red has a potential winner, with plenty of plate power, and mound reinforcements on the way.

Battling leadership still was held by the veteran Art Pennington of St. Pete with a .363, but manager Tom Hamilton was on his tail with a .361. St. Pete's $25,000 bonus beauty, Tom Tresh, was a hot fourth with .330, and was leading in hits with 28 and runs with 44.

Jim Lawrence, Cocoa, was the home run leader with seven although batting only .288 while Bill Martin of Palatka was way out front in stolen bases with 13. The RBI lead was held by St. Pete's George Banks, who had six homers, too, as did Plazzer and Jim Bartunek of Cocoa.

Mound-wise, St. Pete's Jim Horsford had won eight straight, while his teammate, Dick Gray, had five straight, and DeMont Seagrave of St. Pete had four straight, mostly St. Pete's all-time league record in relief roles.

Winning 19 straight games at home was shattered by Tampa Wednesday night.

Southeastern Conference first team. They are catcher Bobby Barns, three time winner of this honor, and sophomore pitcher Ray Oestzinger.

Left fielder Charlie Smith will enter the playoffs with the team's best batting average at .345. A long-ball hitter, Smith has two doubles, three triples and one home run to his credit. Smith is also a football halfback.

For that matter, the Florida traveling squad is expected to include five members of the football team. Besides Fannin and Smith, they are third baseman Mickey Ellenberg, right fielder Don Fleming, the grid co-captain, and first baseman Perry McGriff. Coach Fuller also indicated he will ask star basketball player Joe Hobbs to join the team for the playoffs to aid in pitching. Hobbs was unable to play baseball during the regular season because he was serving out of Iowa as a teaching intern.

SCRANTONIAN MAKES GOOD
SCRANTON, Pa. — Dan Hodge of Wichita, Kan., the 1958 Golden Gloves heavyweight titleholder, will make his professional debut here in an eight-round bout against Don Jackson of Youngstown, Ohio, June 18.

3 NASCAR Champs To Race Friday In Northern 500

TRENTON, N. J. May—Three NASCAR national stock car racing champions will bid for the lion's share of the $26,900 in prize money posted for the first annual Northern 500-mile grand national championship to be raced Friday, May 20 at Trenton's "Miracle Mile" Speedway.

Jim Reed of Penskill, N. Y. five times winner of the NASCAR short track championship, was the last of the national champions to make an official declaration, his entry coming just prior to the deadline to enable him to be eligible for championship points.

The other defending champions are Elsie (Buck) Baker of Charlotte, N. C., two times winner of the grand national title, and Bob Wallborn of Greensboro, N. C., also a two time winner in the convertible championship division.

Wallborn has won more feature late model title races to date than any other driver in the 1958 campaign. He has met with more success on the half-mile dirt tracks than on paved speedways, such as Trenton, but his strong showing in the recent Rebel 500 for convertibles at the Darlington, S. C. Speedway indicates he is ready to get going on asphalt.

Baker and Reed have often proven their ability to win the long races on asphalt—but so have some 20 others of those certain to make the starting field made up of the 40 fastest.

Qualifying trials for these positions opened yesterday at noon with trials also set for today, Tuesday and Wednesday. The holiday classic next Friday will start with an aerial salute to be fired at exactly 11 a. m.

In addition to the $500 top cash award, the first place club will receive an all expense paid trip for two to the 1959 Chicago National Boat Show. Club representatives will be honored guests during the February event, annually the world's largest pleasure boating exposition. Symbolic of its achievement, the top club will also receive the honorary Outboard Boating Club of the Year pennant during the show's opening night ceremonies.

Winner of the 1957 contest was the Outboard Cruising Fleet of Milwaukee, Wis., which was selected for its broad "family fun afloat" program theme and for its progressive activities in all five of the contest categories.

To assist interested club in submitting their entries, OBC has prepared a special contest entry kit. The standardized format is expected to place competition on a more equal basis, with emphasis on accomplishments rather than attractiveness of the presentation itself.

BRAVES SIGN PITCHER
MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee Braves have signed Tony Conner, a 17-year-old pitcher, for their Eau Claire club of the Class C Northern League. Conner hurled two no-hitters, including a perfect game, for his North Carolina high school this spring.

Stetson Has 26 Games On '58-'59 Cage Schedule

Twenty-six games, including two tournaments, are on the Stetson Hatter basketball schedule for 1958-'59. Head Coach Glenn Wilkes said today. It represents the toughest schedule in the history of the University, Wilkes added, and is designed to be the most attractive ever offered DeLand and Central Florida fans from a spectator standpoint.

Such teams as Tulane, University of Toronto, Kentucky Wesleyan, and Mississippi Southern are new opponents to appear in the DeLand National Guard Army in addition to the University's own Hatter Invitational Tournament.

Topping the road games are the University of Dayton, the University of Louisville and the University of Florida. The Dayton Flyers went to the finals in the National Invitational Tournament earlier this year. Louisville has been a national contender for several years and Florida is a power in the Southeastern Conference.

The 26-game schedule opens Dec. 1 with the Citrus Invitational Tournament in Lakeland and the Hatters play five road games before the Hatter Invitational Tournament Dec. 19 and 20 in DeLand.

Seven of the 11 games in January are in DeLand and five of the eight games in February are on the home court, the last contest being Feb. 23.

"I believe we will have an improve team next year," said Coach Wilkes. "I doubt if we will win as many games as we did this year due to this rough schedule."

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have seen Carol Urbildes but also a courteous acknowledgment of the services and kind wishes of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will be so sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memorium" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, glowing recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poetess so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
On the heart
When memory plays an old tune
On the heart"

Most frequently an "In Memorium" is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heartstrings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

Cards of Thanks and In Memorium notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Gas Official, City Turn Down Contracts

In a nearly 60-minute discussion the proposed franchise for the Sanford Gas Company to operate in the City of Sanford both the Board of Sanford City Commissioners and an official of the gas company refused to approve proposed contracts.

The City of Sanford submitted two proposed franchises to the Sanford Gas Company for consideration and were rejected. Last night a proposed franchise submitted by the Sanford Gas Company was turned down by the board of commissioners.

"This proposal is predicated on certain features, is loosely woven and doesn't spell out what the city needs," Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said.

However, A. H. Gaede, head of the local gas company stated "the fundamental purpose of the franchise is to allow the use of streets, road highways and for the city to gain the use of gas."

Commissioner David Gatchel stated "There's no similarity whatsoever in this franchise and the one submitted by the city and it would be a waste of time to re-submit in our duty to the citizens of Sanford."

Gatchel claimed that the city would have no comeback "on what you might do to the streets" as he looks to Gaede. Gatchel added "I don't see that there's a thing in the world to your franchise—it's just so many words."

Gaede claimed that his proposed franchise was "a copy of the Florida Power & Light Company contract."

At that time, members of the commission loudly said "We'll sign a franchise of that kind right now, just change the name from Florida Power & Light Co. to Sanford Gas Company."

Commissioner Higginbotham claimed that "Everything I sign will be spelled out."

But Gaede insisted that "My proposed franchise is simple and to the point."

At that point Commissioner Higginbotham insisted that "We're not going to buy a pig in a poke."

Gaede explained to the Board of Commissioners that "We have been assured of natural gas all the way down to Miami by July 1959."

To shorten the discussion, commissioners brought out that Gaede should list his objections to the franchise proposed by the City of Sanford, in order that a study could be made.

Downtown Parking Debated; Proposed Ordinance Tabled

"Words waxed hot" during a discussion of downtown parking last night when ways and means of curtailing all-day parking in one parking stall were proposed.

The present city ordinance provides for fines of $25 for those who receive more than two tickets for the same offense. The first offense in overtime parking is $25 under the present ordinance; the second offense is $50; and other offenses involved in the same charge can be $25.

At one time during the discussion, it was proposed that the City Attorney draft an ordinance to provide for two-hour parking in the downtown area with offenses after the original ticket at $5.

"We want the people to come down and park—we don't want to drive them off," said Commissioner A. L. Wilson.

The proposed ordinance was tabled.

Sanford Receives Dividend Check From Insurance

The City of Sanford is $250 better off today with the receipt of a dividend check from the Prudential Insurance Company delivered last night to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners by Floyd Palmer, agent.

Palmer, reading a letter from the president of the insurance company, asked to "review the city's contract for life insurance on its employees."

"This is the most unsecured municipality in the State of Florida," Palmer stated as he called on the city to consider doubling its coverage on municipal employees.

The present life insurance coverage in the group policy for city employees is for $1,000 on each person under the contract.

The board of city commissioners agreed to "take the increase into consideration and review it when the budget is discussed."

Commissioners stated that the increase in coverage would affect the budget and only at the beginning of a budget year could the matter be discussed.

At that time, members of the commission loudly said "We'll sign a franchise of that kind right now, just change the name from Florida Power & Light Co. to Sanford Gas Company."

8 Boys, 3 Girls Graduate Friday

Eight boys and three girls will graduate from Oviedo High School Friday night in ceremonies that will include addresses by five members of the class receiving diplomas.

For the first time the addresses will be by Mary Ann Trainor, Andrew Duda Jr., Joe-Len Battle, Roy Welschberger and Donna Urey Jr.

Diplomas will be awarded by W. H. DeShazo, principal of Oviedo High School.

Mrs. T. L. Lingo will play the prelude "Pomp and Circumstance" and the recessional "War March of the Priests."

Others slated to take part in the graduation ceremonies are Mrs. W. H. Martin and Merrill Staley who will sing solo.

Ushers for the ceremony will be Wallace Kelsey and Virginia Rye. Marshalls are Priscilla Tuby, Ann DeShazo, Freddy Alford and Joseph Duda.

Road Board To File Condemnation Suits

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The state Road Board authorized its attorney to file condemnation suits for the immediate acquisition of right-of-way for interstate projects in Dade, Seminole and Volusia counties.

The projects are the east and west approaches to the 26th Street causeway in Dade County and 18 miles of highway west of Sanford, including bridge across Lake Monticello.

The board said it must get the right-of-way as soon as possible because contractors bids will be received on the projects June 26.

The condemnation authority for the Seminole County land is merely insurance against delays because the property owners have not yet been approached and the department hopes to persuade them to sell without litigation.

Property owners in Volusia and Dade County have already refused the price offered by the Road Department, making the condemnation suits necessary.

Land to be condemned in Dade County includes six palatial mansions along Biscayne Bay whose owners turned down the appraised price offered by the Road Department.

Motor Scooter, Street Sweeper Collide; Man Hurt

A Sanford pharmacist was injured yesterday shortly after 5 o'clock when the motor scooter on which he was riding collided with a Sanford street sweeper.

The International sweeper, operated by Joe Koke, 51-year-old City of Sanford employe came east out of West 19th St., made a U-turn to go west.

The Cushman motor scooter, driven by Alfred B. Chiles Jr., a pharmacist for Faust's Drug Store, was traveling south on Park Ave. at the time of the collision.

Chiles, 28, of 110 Pinecrest Drive, received a deep laceration of the left knee and abrasions on the right upper leg.

There was no damage reported to the sweeper. Damage to the scooter was estimated at $50.

Sanford Police Department Sergeant Leo Koch, investigating officer, said charges of "making an improper turn" are being filed against Koke.

440 Use Local Swimming Pool Last Weekend

A new record has been set at the Municipal Swimming Pool, City Manager Warren E. Knowles advised commissioners at last night's session.

There were 382 admissions to the pool the first weekend it was opened, the City Manager reported.

However, the record was broken last Saturday and half-day Sunday when 440 admissions were collected at the local swimming pool.

"The season is starting out wonderfully," the City Manager told commissioners and "we hope to have much larger crowds this year."

Board Opposes Proposed New State Constitution

Without lengthy discussion, the Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night unanimously opposed the adoption of the proposed new state constitution.

Commissioners approved the drafting of a resolution opposing the proposed constitution and the sending of copies to the press and all persons interested including the Seminole County legislative delegation.

The Florida Municipal League urged the opposition on the grounds that the proposed new constitution "does away with the last vestige of home rule"; "provides for surprise legislation"; "allows for state review and equalization of assessments within municipalities"; and provides "for municipalities to perform state functions with the municipalities being given funds to do so."

Another objection raised to the proposed new state constitution was that it would "provide for counties to pass ordinances that would cover the whole county and could conflict with municipal laws."

Demo Leaders To Support Ike's Tax Cut Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Democratic leadership today announced its support for President Eisenhower's stand against tax cuts.

At the same time Republican legislative leaders predicted a "substantial majority" in the House and Senate would go along with the chief executive's plea to hold the line on taxes this year.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) called on Congress to grant the President's plea of Monday for extension of present corporation and excise taxes without tax-cutting amendments.

Rayburn predicted the bill would pass the House without amendments within the next week or two. But he wouldn't predict what would happen in the Senate, where there is strong sentiment for tax-cutting amendments.

Despite the stand taken by the President and Rayburn, Congress appeared to be in a mood to cut some excise taxes.

Rayburn went even further than the administration which had left open the door for a possible tax cut later in the year if the recession gets worse.

But formally and officially the leadership of both parties was behind the President.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said after the weekly legislative conference of GOP leaders with the President that:

"Based on the facts now available, there is not likely to be any tax reduction legislation in this session of Congress."

Knowland said that on the basis of a report from Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson there could be no anti-deflation tax cutting now because of the "widening budget deficit."

Rayburn said at a news conference that he is opposed to any tax cuts for the rest of this session of Congress.

Commission Agrees To Sell City Site

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night agreed to sell another section of city property.

In a lengthy discussion concerning the appraised value and the actual value of the property involved, commissioners agreed to sell a 125-foot frontage on East First St. to Myron A. Beck.

The property involved is already under lease to Radio Station WTRH for 99 years. However, said Beck, "expansion plans require us to own the property on which the station is located."

In another move involving property in the same general area, the board of commissioners approved a public hearing to rezone from R-1 to R-2, Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 28, McElvaine in order to locate professional offices on the site. The public hearing was set for June 23.

Commissioners tabled a move, recommended by the Zoning and Planning Commission to prohibit the new construction of residential structures in an industrial zone.

Proponents of the measure claim that residential structures in an industrial area will eventually turn into slums.

However, commissioners would not agree to the move.

A public hearing has been set for June 23 in a request to vacate an east-west alley and that a north-south alley be decided by property owners. The commission approved.

In another land deal, commissioners were notified that the Atlantic Coast Line will quit-claim to the city of Sanford the Fulton Street right-of-way west of the City Hall.

Commissioners agreed to a removal of the reverted clause from property donated to the Veterans of Foreign Wars with the provision that 75 per cent of all profits from the sale of the property, at any time, will go to the City of Sanford.

New Recreation Director Begins Duties Here Today

Ronald W. Perry officially begins his duties as Recreation Director for the City of Sanford today.

He reported last night to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners before launching the citywide year 'round recreation program for children of all ages.

Perry's work as Recreation Director coincides with a proclamation of "Recreation Month" during the month of June. Governor LeRoy Collins yesterday issued the proclamation for a statewide program calling attention to the "need for planning community, family and individual recreation activities in the traditional American way."

The city's Recreation Director will launch the summer recreation program for school children with the Youth Wing of the Sanford Civic Center going into use for the first time Friday night.

A schedule of activities for children of all ages has not yet been announced for the youth wing of the newly completed center. However a paved skating area has been completed and is ready to be used.

Last month, during a visit to Sanford by the new Recreation Director, Perry emphasized that "I am certainly in favor of a year 'round program that will attract everyone from the youngest child to the adult."

He pointed to the fact that the Youth Wing of the Sanford Civic Center will "lend itself to a well rounded program of diversified recreation for various ages of children."

Perry stated that "it is possible to have several programs going on at the same time to reach several ages of children and none will interfere with the other."

Governor Collins, in his proclamation naming June as "Recreation Month" said "Americans have more leisure time than ever before and it is imperative that we learn to use this expanding time to best advantage so that we can fulfill America's destiny by maintaining healthy bodies, inquiring minds and adventurous spirits through recreation."
