HOOVER DUE TO APPEAR AGAIN IN FUND PROBE

Opposition To Cabinet Head To Demand Expansion Of West Virginia Campaigns

Goff Balked At "Stalking Horse"

Solon Asserts He Refused To Deliver Delegates To Hoover

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—Herbert Hoover appeared today to be in for some more uncomfortable heckling on the part of "the allies" who are seeking to prevent his nomination by the Kansas City convention.

Hoover spent an hour on the witness stand before the Senate campaign fund committee yesterday, answering questions regarding his organization, and frequently clashing with its members. Today it is developed that the cabinet candidate is to be summoned again for specific questioning as to the circumstances which prompted his decision to enter the West Virginia primary against Senator Guy D. Goff.

"The allies" believe they have found a way to turn the tables on the leading candidate.

The Hoover managers, they point out, have designated as "stalking horse" all those favorite sons who have arisen to challenge the progress of the Hoover candidacy in their respective states.

Today the charge of "stalking horse" was thrown back at Hoover by Senator Goff, and the Senate committee is so interested in it that it was decided that another examination of Hoover is necessary.

Hoover testified on the stand that "a certain senator" telephoned him that Goff declined to permit the West Virginia delegates to announce second choices in the primary. He declined to give the committee the name of the senator, saying he did not want to involve anyone else in the matter, but the committee is curious and it was planned today to go after all the details.

"A senator did call me and say that Hoover would not enter West Virginia if I would agree to throw the delegation to him," said Goff. "I told him he should tell the secretary that I was not a 'stalking horse' candidate, and that if he wanted to ride a hobby horse he would have to get someone else to be the horse. That's why Hoover entered the West Virginia primary against me—because I wouldn't agree to throw the delegation to him."

"I refused to be a stalking horse for Mr. Hoover. In my opinion such a proposition was an attempted bribe of the West Virginia delegation, and was, in effect, nothing more or less than an attempted moral bribery."

Goff declined to name the senator who approached him, but asserted that "I shall certainly tell if the committee asks me."

Al Smith Supporter Leading In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 10.—(INS)—The victory of Mayor William A. Gunter of Montgomery, Ala., who was elected one of four delegates at large to the Houston convention, is regarded by political leaders here today as a repudiation of Senator Tom Heflin, bitter enemy of Governor Al Smith.

Gunter, a Smith supporter, is more than 3,000 votes ahead of his nearest opponent, with only a few scattered precincts to be heard from. A few months ago Gunter waged a hot wordy war with Heflin and invited the senator to enter the race for delegates-at-large as his opponent.

U. S. Consul Under Fire In China Fight

LONDON, May 10.—(INS)—United States Vice Consul Ernest B. Price and other Americans were under fire at Tsinan during the battle between Japanese and Chinese troops, but all escaped without injury, according to advices received today from Esingto.

In order to reach the railway station to flee the city upon a train provided by the Japanese, the Americans had to pass through a zone over which light artillery shells and machine gun bullets were flying.

Banker Is Kidnapped And Robbed Near Washington; Suspect Nabbed By Police

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—A strange tale of kidnaping was being investigated today following the reported experiences of E. Percival Wilson, 45, secretary of the National Savings and Trust Company, and Leonard H. Kephart, department of agriculture scientist, last night.

Wilson reported to Montgomery County, Md., police about 10:30 last night he had escaped from a holdup man after having been kidnaped at the point of a gun, and when he had been taken more than a mile in an automobile later found to be registered under the name of Kephart, he succeeded in wresting the gun from his assailant. Wilson saw the kidnaper escape and drove the Kephart car until he came across a Maryland motor cycle policeman.

About 3 o'clock this morning Kephart staggered into the soldiers' home hospital and reported he had been held up in the soldiers' home grounds at 8 o'clock last night, robbed of his automobile and money, and lay on the ground for hours unconscious from a blow he received on his head from a man he thought to be about 25 years old.

Soon after Wilson told his tale, the police, checking up on the car fund an exploded cartridge in the tonneau, saw the kidnaper escape and drove the Kephart car until he came across a Maryland motor cycle policeman.

STEWART OUSTER MOVE FORECASTS FIGHT TO FINISH

NEW YORK, May 10.—(INS)—The demand of John D. Rockefeller Jr., that Col. R. W. Stewart resign from his post as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was viewed by financial leaders in Wall Street today as the first move by the Rockefeller family in a campaign to regain the position of leadership in companies formerly dominated by them.

Further doubts were expressed that Rockefeller would be able to oust Stewart, because the latter has a strong following in the street.

In a statement issued here, Rockefeller requested Colonel Stewart's resignation because of his recent testimony before the Senate public lands committee in the Teapot Dome inquiry. The oil magnate declared he "had lost confidence in Colonel Stewart's leadership." The request for the resignation was based on Stewart's admission to the Teapot Dome committee that he had shared in the Continental Trading Company's fund to the extent of $750,000.

An answer by Stewart to Rockefeller's ultimatum was promised today at the office in Chicago. Although the Colonel assured Rockefeller weeks ago that he would resign if the latter should so request, it is believed in Wall Street that Stewart may decide to let the stock holders in the Indiana Company decide the matter. The Rockefeller family control only 25 per cent of the stock of the Indiana Company.

Such a contest would be the first test of strength of the Rockefeller interests since the Standard Oil trust was broken up in 1911. Although the Rockefeller's do not admit to the Rockefeller's do not admit to attempt to dictate to oil companies, they are interested, as evidenced by Stewart's supporters in this instance, probably would incite the Rockefeller's to establish their dominance over the Indiana Company, in view of Wall Street.

U. S. Flier Escapes In Nicaraguan Crash

PUERTO CABENAS, Nicaragua, May 10.—(INS)—While making an aerial survey of the Lalup mine in the Pis Pis district, Captain E. D. Howard, of the American marines, made a forced landing in his plane without injury to himself or a passenger but the plane was demolished.

The stranded aviators were sighted by Major Uley and Lieut. Conway in another plane. Marines in the vicinity were notified and they proceeded to the scene of the accident immediately.

Unknown Argentine Golfer Leading Brilliant Field In English Tourney

SANDWICH, Eng., May 10.—(INS)—Jose Jurado, the unknown of last week, became the man of the hour today when he led a great field, including Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Bill Mehl, home in the second round of the British Open Golf Championship.

Jurado's distinction became official when Sarazen came in late with a 37-39-76 which tied Hagen for second position at 148 strokes; four full strokes beyond this pair, roosted the little brown man from the Argentine, his laurels further augmented by the fact that he had won the qualifying medal on Tuesday, had scored the low round of the entire event, a 69, and had been low for today's second round with a 71.

If there was any further glory demanded on the situation, Jurado got it with his glittering 33 on the last nine holes today.

Sanford Public Utility Man Tells Of Folder Attacking Muscle Shoals Legislation In Power Propaganda Probe

Denies Control Of School Text Books

Discloses He Was Author Of Anti-Boulder Dam Editorial Distributed To Papers

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—The Federal Trade Commission today turned its spotlight on alleged power and trust propaganda activities in the southeastern states of the country.

H. E. Simpson, of Miami, treasurer of the Florida Public Utilities Information Bureau and the southeastern division of the National Electric Light Association, testified the organizations received and spent about $20,000 annually in behalf of utility interests.

Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, pressed Simpson for details of entertainment expenses incurred at the southeastern division convention held in Miami in April. The convention cost $7,000, of which $4,000 came from registration fees of delegates and the rest from ordinary receipts, Simpson said.

There was an item for $1,000 for deep sea fishing party, and another of $800 for orange peels. The organization paid the $50 dues of one of the officers in the Florida Rotary Club.

R. J. Holly, of Sanford, director of the Florida Public Utility Information Bureau, told of distributing material sent out by the National Electric Light Association. A pamphlet attacking Muscle Shoals legislation was sent to all Florida newspapers, he declared.

Willard Cope of Atlanta, executive secretary of the Georgia Information Bureau, also called for today. He declared he would tell the committee his organization had made no effort to influence Georgia schools or textbooks.

Holly revealed he kept in close touch with Florida newspapers and once wrote an anti-boulder dam editorial which was widely printed verbatim. The article said Boulder Dam would irrigate Mexican lands and thus bring Mexican tomatoes into competition with the Florida produce. Twice a year, he stated, he visited Florida newspaper offices to see how his material was being handled.

Florida utilities are not adverse to state regulation, he declared. His committee teaches a course in public speaking to utilities, engineers and local lectures to the University of Florida, Stetson and Southern university at the request of the deans of the engineering schools. The lecturers spoke on the side of the utility problems.

Holly denied the committee sought to control school textbooks. A report reached the commission today that the catechism distributed in Connecticut schools by the power interests had been withdrawn from the bridgeport schools.

Lawton, county superintendent of public instruction, will present the members of the graduating class with their diplomas. John D. Jinks, county tax collector, will make the graduation address. The Lake Mary School will close for the summer May 18.

PEWS AUCTIONED OFF

BOSTON, Mass., May 10.—(INS)—Just like a seat on the stock exchange, the price of a church pew has gone up.

It is on rare occasions that church pews go under the public hammer but in the auction at the Arlington Street Church pew No. 30 sold for $25, because of unpaid assessments. Some time ago pew No. 84 in the same church sold for $15 in the settling up of an old estate.

Hostile Factions In China To Unite Against Japanese

TOKIO, May 10.—(INS)—A concerted movement is on foot in China to unite the hostile factions for war against Japan, the war office was informed today. Following the issuance of a manifesto by Marshal Chang Tso Lin, dictator of the Peking government, announcing cessation of hostilities against the Nationalists, it was learned that Chang is urging the Southern (nationalist) leaders to unite with his northern armistice "to repulse the common foe."

Further fighting as taken place Tsinan (Tsinanfu), capital of Shantung province. Five Japanese were killed and 20 wounded. Chinese casualties were put at 150.

Professional Reformers Are Denounced In Speech By Head Of Trade Body

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—America is cursed with a plague of self-seeking patriots who are completely obsessed with the delusion that the road to the White House runs through a sewer, W. E. Humphreys, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, told the United States Chamber of Commerce today.

Humphreys has been a center of controversy on the commission, his opponents charging he was one of the men used to "pack" the commission.

Digressing from a eulogy of the Trade Commission, Humphreys made a slashing attack upon "professional reformers and patriots" of the kind that are engaged in "this is a day of reckless denunciations, of muck-raking and mud-slinging," Humphreys said.

"A presidential election is approaching. This is the day when the self-anointed, the holier-than-thou, the reformer for pay, the fanatic and the crack-brained, the publicity lover and the professional patriot are crowding for the spotlight."

"If you were to listen to the clamor you might believe that politics is a vast, puritid cesspool, and that the purity of those engaged in it is measured by the scandals that they can hold up to the public gaze."

"In such a state of public hysteria, calm and just judgment is impossible. The innocent are as likely to suffer as the guilty; and the guilty are as likely to go free as the innocent."

Humphreys said that the condition is a temporary epidemic and will largely pass with the election.

FORMER CASHIER FACES SENTENCE HERE TOMORROW

A. R. Key To Stand Penalty On Two Indictments Which He Made Pleas Of Guilty On During Lake's Trials

A. R. Key, former vice-president and cashier of the Seminole County Bank, will be sentenced tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Judge DeWitt T. Gray on the two indictments in connection with the bank failure to which he entered pleas of guilty a month ago.

No hint of the severity of the sentence has been dropped by Judge Gray. Key's friends are inclined to expect a heavy fine and possibly a light sentence in return for the assistance he rendered the state in its efforts to convict Forrest Lake, former president of the bank.

The maximum penalty to which Key is subject is 10 years and $10,000. Each of the two indictments to which he pleads guilty has four counts and each of the counts carry a maximum of five years and $5,000. Of course, nothing even approximating the maximum penalty is expected. He may possibly be sentenced to six months on each of the counts, a total of four years, or his sentence may be even lighter than that and include a fine. There is no minimum penalty.

If Key is sentenced to a term in the state penitentiary he will begin service immediately. He will probably be taken from Sanford either tomorrow night or Saturday morning by Sheriff C. M. Hand or one of his deputies. Any attempt to delay the sentence is not considered likely.

William Hallowes, prominent Jacksonville attorney, will make an appeal for clemency before Key is sentenced. Leniency is not expected to be requested by State's Attorney Millard B. Smith.

Chief Executive Says He Has Authorized No Campaign Fund

NEW YORK, May 10.—(INS)—Contributions to the Governor Smith-for-president campaign totals $103,910 and the biggest individual contributor is William F. Kenny, a Brooklyn contractor, who contributed $70,000 of which $50,000 was a loan. It was testified here today before the Senate committee investigating the campaign expenditures. The testimony was given by George E. Van Name, a public service commissioner who is in charge of Smith's campaign in New York State.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(INS)—Governor Alfred E. Smith, testified before the Senate committee investigating campaign fund expenditures today that he had authorized no one to act as chairman or treasurer of any national campaign fund in his behalf.

He said he understood some of his friends in New York City had started a Smith presidential boom but he personally had done nothing about it.

The governor said that any money spent in his behalf in New York City could be explained by George R. Van Name. Personally, the governor had taken no active interest in the finances of friends who had interested themselves in his behalf. The governor smoked a cigar as he testified.

Senator Steiwer, Republican of Oregon, the chairman of the committee, then questioned the governor. First he read a telegram to the committee from Governor Smith dated May 3 in which Smith said he had national chairman or treasurer of any Smith organization. "I can only say what I said in the telegram," said Smith in his deep voice. "I know of no friends in any state beyond New York; in New York a committee of friends have interested themselves in my behalf. Mr. Van Name can explain what expenditures they have incurred. I personally do not know. Have you done anything about your candidacy in other states?" Steiwer asked.

"I have not done a thing—even in New York City," the governor replied.

Governor Smith told Senator Steiwer he had made no effort toward securing the Democratic presidential nomination and was unaware of organizations in various states in his behalf.

"What have you done about contacting delegates for the Houston convention?" senator Steiwer asked.

"I haven't any plans about the Houston convention," replied the governor. "I don't know even whether I am going to Houston. I don't think so. I said in 1927 that I would not go out of the state but devote myself to the business of the state, and believe me, that business takes all my time."

"Are you contributing any money yourself to your presidential campaign?"

"Nope," answered the governor. "Have you made any promises of patronage in connection with your campaign?"

"Nope."

Governor Smith said in reply to a question as to whether he knew about it himself, although he believed there were contests in West Virginia and in Wisconsin or Minnesota. He was hazy about the contests in other states but admitted. "I asked if there were any petition filed for him in the west coast states, including California, Washington and Oregon, the governor replied that he "did not remember anything about these states."

MILLIONS WASTED IN HUNT FOR OIL, EXPERTS STATE

Production in United States Already Excessive Because Of Competitive War Being Waged By Larger Companies

ATLANTA, Ga., May 10. (INS)—Greed causes millions of dollars worth of waste in the United States each year in connection with the search for black liquid gold—oil experts here say.

Oil causes thousands to lose their life savings each year, it is pointed out, through the sale of stocks, in "wildcat" companies and the promotion of companies in sections where failure to "bring in" a gusher is predestined.

According to one expert here, the search for oil which has occupied the attention of the public in several Southern states during the last few years, has cost thousands of dollars and additional thousands will be sunk by the public.

"There is an enormous over-production in oil in the United States at the present time" it was stated. The United States produced 73 per cent of the total output of the world's oil in 1927, a figure which is out of all proportion without surplus.

Unless some means are taken by the government to conserve our oil our vast underground wealth will soon be exhausted and we will face the same dearth in oil that we do now in timber.

The present system of big companies in grasping land and still more land is blamed for the condition in America by those on the inside. They point out that this has resulted in the United States having only about 10 or 15 per cent of the normal oil surplus now on reserve.

"This practice of each company attempting to strangle the other has resulted in production in America being about five or six times too high," it was pointed out, "and causes consumers to be wasteful because of the abundant supply."

"The policy of big companies at the present time is to get their hands on all the land possible and push production to the very limit to get the best of their competition."

Wooden Hats Make Debut As Part Of Women's Costume

By Alice Langelier International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 10.—(INS)—Wooden hats for women promise to be the most popular ones of the season judging from the great numbers of them appearing at the chic race meeting in Paris.

Made of three-ply wood, they are as light as a feather, and smart as any felt ones and will not develop dents and creases like the latter. They preserve the cloche shape and have brims cut in two fitted with springs hidden beneath the edging so that they are elastic and can be pulled down over the head.

The young French modiste who hit upon this novel hat idea spent a year in search of suitable woods and a skilled cabinet maker who could do the work. For the hats are not carved out of solid blocks, but composed of tiny irregular pieces of the most valuable and varied woods which fit into one another so that shade of each—ebony, cedar, rosewood, walnut and mahogany, blend into definite patterns.

The first one made was of sycamore wood cut in spiral strips which composed the brim and the crown and was tinted a soft grey shade. It is better to use natural woods which need only an occasional light polish to heighten the effects of the delicate colors.

The wooden hats are a bit costly but will last a lifetime—which is their greatest defect—according to the ladies.

Task For Sherlock Holmes

Exchange of a bag containing $8,000 to one having only newspapers inside, is puzzling to the police of Manila, P. I., and officials of the Manila Railroad, on which the robbery was committed. The bag, of yellow coarse pina cloth, was sealed before the station agent at Manila, but that delivered to the consignee, a Chinese merchant at Lucena, was of white cotton cloth with a faked seal. Railway officials believe that the change must have been made on the train, but are unable to get further information.

Bad Coins Bother Officials Bent coins in chocolate slot machines are now added to the government railways in Australia. School children of Northcote recently protested that they were being cheated out of their pennies, which they put in the machines, and for which they received no chocolate. The railway commission investigated and found that bent coins, pieces of tin and bits of cardboard inserted in the machines caused them to stop-up and not deliver the sweets. The commission apologized to the pupils.

SAFETY OF DAMS TO BE PROBED BY U. S. ENGINEERS

Efforts To Discover Causes Of Disasters Will Be Made And St. Francis Dam Tragedy Will Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Stimulated in their investigation of safety reservoir construction by the recent St. Francis Dam tragedy in California, engineers of America, under the leadership of the Engineering Foundation, are with renewed vigor attacking the problem of safety and economy in the construction of arch dams.

The U. S. Government is taking a hand in the research, a series of small model dams being under construction and study at the University of Colorado, through the direction of the Bureau of Reclamation.

"Efforts of these engineers already are yielding valuable knowledge," said a statement by the Engineering Foundation.

"The investigation will be continued with the aim of providing answers to fundamental questions making less remote the probability of disasters such as the breaking of the St. Francis Dam."

Director Alfred D. Flinn of the Engineering Foundation, will issue soon a report covering the progress of operations on the experimental arch dam constructed by the Foundation's arch dam committee, with the cooperation of engineering societies, United States government bureaus, power companies, banks and other organizations.

The Stevenson Creek dam, sixty feet high, and 140 feet long, cost $100,000. Erected for the purpose of being destroyed in the interest of science, it probably will be extended to a height of 100 feet, so that it may undergo tests of greater rigor until it finally bursts. So far the dam has resisted the waters that have been loosed, according to the Engineering Foundation.

"The dam is shaped like a symmetrical, triangular piece of the side of a round can and stand on its point, curved upstream," the preliminary report showed. It is of cement concrete without steel reinforcement, and with thousands of parts of instruments embedded for making tests.

"Thousands of measurements of strain, deflection and temperature have been made up to sixty feet, as well as with no water in the reservoir. Despite the artificial floods sent against it, the dam still stands."

"Engineer and scientists in charge of the experiment declare that the dam should be built higher and tested until it bursts in order that nothing may be left undone in minimizing further human and economic loss through lack of facts upon which more accurate theories and computations may be based."

The tests are being directed by Dr. W. A. Slater, chief of the division of concrete and masonry of the Bureau of Standards.

Famous Film Launches New Idea in Music

GRETA GARBO

Walter Donaldson Introduces American Theme as Music for "Love"

New York City.—There's been a big battle on Broadway between the contenders for American music and those for foreign classics. And the Americans have won with colors flying.

It all started because most motion pictures have been crisscrossed with excerpts from classical and the public wants American jazz. Now, the far sighted producer is throwing his picture in American rhythm.

Walter Donaldson, somewhat de luxe, who has made more money from song writing than any other musician in America, has just written the first motion picture song. He did with "That Melody Of Love" for "Love" featuring John Gilbert and Greta Garbo.

"Here we have the music that all the world wants, yet we in America have been tossing it aside for foreign classics. And we do this just because certain compositions are called 'classic.' In a hundred years from now many of the popular songs of 1928 will be in that category," Donaldson explains.

"Every country on the face of the earth raps our motion pictures and plays our music, yet we have hesitated to combine these two outstanding arts. It makes no difference what the story of the picture or how foreign its flavor, all of these qualities can be preserved and the music still truly American if done in our inimitable rhythm."

"Our popular songs are our pride and joy. If further expansion and if musical productions have been stimulated by 'movies' in many towns, these motion pictures certainly should 'carry on' and bring the expected songs to the small communities."

Knapp, former secretary of state, who has been on trial for the last week on a charge of stealing a $2,875 census check issued to her step daughter, Clara Blanche Knapp, Vermont college instructor, went to the jury at 12:49 this afternoon.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE STRENGTH OF THE UPRIGHT—The way of the Lord is strength to the upright; but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity.—Prov. 10:28.

NOTHING MATTERS NOW I used to be quite funky O'er things brought me to eat I'd make a fuss o'er anything

Oh, nothing matters now; No, nothing matters now; That child's taste I quit with haste

I once was fussy o'er my drinks, O'er beer, champagne and wine; I claimed to be an expert in All drinks which were called fine

Oh, nothing matters now; I get a drink somehow; The vile the taste, I drink in haste, in haste

I saw a little kitty-cat, All spotted black and white, And when I tried to pick it up On me it showed its spite

It doesn't matter now, It doesn't matter now, That potent smell-it smelled like—well!!!

The little girl down the street has taken ways, She has already taken four engagement rings.

Then again if bathing suits are scantier than last summer we won't be able to see 'em at all this year.

Some people are bates while others talk about how much nicer their children are than those of the neighbors.

A man by the name of A. B. See was arrested in New York for writing much notes. A sort of "X. Y. Z." correspondence as it were.

Democratic aspirant for governor in Indiana was arrested for being drunk. A case wherein the band-wagon became the water wagon.

Last week was "Be Kind To Animals Week" but that fact doesn't appear to have prevented the Wall Street bears from eating the dickens.

As yet nobody has come out and flatly said that the president was "all wet" on his flood aid stand.

The Indiana Primary

The results of the political battle in Indiana between Senator James E. Watson and Herbert Hoover have given rise to many conflicting views. The alliance of favorite sons, who are known to be friendly to Lowden or Dawes, is decidedly optimistic over the outcome because it believes Tuesday's primary was the real turning point in the tide against the cabinet member.

On the other hand Hoover's friends point out that the Indiana defeat was only a temporary setback. Not in the least disturbed by the loss of one skirmish, they declare that the secretary's candidacy has gained such momentum that it cannot be halted now.

It appears that while a great deal was made of the Indiana primary as a so-called test of Hoover's strength, the results really prove nothing. It seems certain that against anyone other than Senator Watson, Hoover would have triumphed easily.

With the support he has already received and with other votes that are certain, Hoover will enter the convention with nearly four hundred votes. This figure does not include the New York and Pennsylvania delegations, both of which will in all probability go to the commerce secretary.

What of jazz? That ungenerate founding child of music, kicked around by critics until it grew into a giant on mad rantment, has turned out to be no street waif at all, according to Sigmund Spaeth, widely known critic, writing in a recent issue of the North American Review.

Montverde, Mr. Spaeth declares, was perhaps the first of the jazz composers and cites an example wherein he put "deliberate dissonance into Ariadne's lament to express its tragedy."

Mr. Spaeth, now managing director of community concerts, a foundation which proposes to make the best in music available to all American communities, declares that the current popularity of jazz in its wildest forms is due to the "copy servatives, the intolerant artists, critics, highbrows," self-appointed guardians of pulch taste, who have insisted that music is a matter of rules and formulas.

Should these two daughters of national political figures who in years gone by dominated the thought of two great political parties sit together in the house of representatives it will be at least an unique situation. Whether it comes to pass depends now upon what the Democratic voters of the Florida district will do.

Elinor Glyn Finds Another Good Title For Latest Picture

Elinor Glyn, world's most popular authoress, has discovered still another chronological title to glory. "Mad Hour" Robert Kane's National Feature, which is being shown at the Milane Theatre today.

Miss Glyn did not name the story originally "Mad Hour," but it was adapted from "The Man and the Moment," which occupies sufficient satisfactory space of time.

Elinor Glyn, whose books have inspired the millions, has made the most of the time element in almost all her works, as the titles attest.

"Three Weeks" made her world famous. "Six Days" followed soon after with such titles as "His Hour," "One Glorious Moment," and similar stories of chronological manufacture in sufficient number to make it a recognized custom.

"Mad Hour" was directed by Joseph C. Boyle and features Sally O'Neil, Alice White, Donald Reed, Larry Kent and others.

Plan To Merge Methodist And Presbyterian Church Organizations Suggested

CHICAGO, May 9.—(INS)—The greatest church union in the history of the world, involving a fourth of the people in the United States, will be launched this month, it has been announced here.

The Presbyterian and Methodist Episcopal churches will attempt a merger both of members and of property. The two churches, in all their branches have 10,000,000 active members and 14,000,000 adherents, including Sunday School members.

Property involved in the giant spiritual combine totals nearly a billion dollars, in 35,000 churches throughout the country, as well as schools, hospitals, philanthropic enterprises and other investments.

In the northern branches of the two churches there are 7,000,000 active members and 10,000,000 adherents; in the southern branches 3,000,000 members and 4,000,000 adherents.

Commissions in both churches will be appointed immediately, it was learned, to investigate the problems connected with the proposed union.

During the month the proposal will come before the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Kansas City, and the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Tulsa, Okla.

For the first time in the history of American religious history, according to local officials of both churches, the difficulties attendant to a merger are not looked upon as unsurmountable.

Various attempts at such a union have been made before, but minor disagreements on teaching as well as property involved blocked action.

Property of the Methodist Episcopal church is estimated in value at $550,000,000 in 25,000 churches. The Presbyterian church has 10,000 churches valued at $300,000,000.

These tremendous valuations constitute one of the most complicated problems to be solved, it was understood. In many communities there are churches of the two denominations close together, and the merger might mean elimination of some of these duplications in religious service.

Serious Problem
 Division of the Protestant churches, with resultant weakening of all sects, has been a serious problem in the minds of ecclesiastical leaders.

The recent merger of Canadian churches, including the Congregational church and the two involved in the proposed American merger has been successful, it was pointed out. A similar plan is proposed in this country.

Completion of the unification would be made as quickly as possible, it was understood, after the preliminary differences were ironed out.

Most of these differences, however, do not involve questions of teachings or dogma, but merely adjustments necessary in such a large combination.

Leaders of both churches in Chicago district have expressed approval of tentative plans which are expected to mature into a definite policy this month.

From other leaders in both churches it was learned that other denominations are expected to follow into the merger when it is seen to be successful.

The completed merger, according to those church leaders would include more than half the persons in the United States, as members and adherents.

Sea Discipline Stern
 Stern discipline of the sea was meted to a boson of the Commonwealth Line vessel Morston Bay when it docked at the harbor at Sydney, Australia, recently. At a strike meeting of the Seamen's Union the man was charged with "carrying tales" to the mate with regard to certain happenings in the fore-castle. The boson offered an explanation, but the meeting found him guilty, and ordered that he give 24 hours' notice of his intention to leave the vessel and seek re-employment with the Commonwealth Line for 12 months.

YOUTHFUL PILOTS TO HEAD ARMIES, LEADERS BELIEVE

Lindbergh And Others Back Scheme To Have Promotion In Air Service Separate From Regular Army Charge

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(INS)—Young men will not only fight the next war but will direct it if aviation assumes the military prominence predicted for it by experts.

For Army leaders declare that a man is too old for flying after 15 years, and this would remove most military aviators between the ages of 25 and 39.

Under the new separate promotion list bill before Congress it is proposed to give the Secretary of War the right to order army aviators into retirement after 15 years. The average age of commissioning of flying officers is 24.

Back New Plan
 The nation's leading aviators, including Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Major Herbert A. Dargue, Lieut. Lester J. Maitland and Albert H. Berger, are backing the new plan to divorce army promotion or the air services from the rest of the Army.

All declare that military flying is a "young man's game," and demand that the service not only be composed of young fliers but run by them. A few years ago there was little concern about the future of aviators because fatal crashes ended the careers of most of them. But improvement of airplanes has lifted their changes for a long life.

Major Dargue, who commanded the Army's around-South America flight explained to a congressional committee that before the war there was one aviation casualty for every 100 hours of flying. In the training camps during the war it rose to one casualty for each 1,000 hours of flying and now there is no death for every 3,500 hours in the air.

Too Conservative
 Fliers who have been in the air for 15 years and reach the age of 35 become too conservative to make good military aviators, the Army experts say.

The Army must either keep them in, discharge them without pay or retire them. The present proposal is to permit their being ordered on the retired list with three-eighths pay at a time when officers of other branches are just beginning to assume commands of importance.

This plan is not only proposed for the American Army, but is already in effect in Great Britain, France and Italy where the same determination is shown to keep military aviation predominantly in the hands of young men.
