

Challenge Of Sub-Standard Housing Is Met

Sanford's Low Rental Housing Is Result Of Meeting Held Jan. 26 '50

Castle Brewer, Clark And Higgins Projects Solve Acute Housing Shortage

Three low rental housing projects representing a total outlay of more than $2,000,000 designed to house more than 1,000 persons provide the answer by the Sanford Housing Authority to the challenge of sub-standard housing revealed here, especially in Negro sections, by a survey made early in 1950.

These are Castle Brewer Court, comprising 56 modern, attractive concrete block buildings with 125 apartment units and costing more than $1,300,000, a project for Negro tenants due to be completed during October, and two projects just started, William Clark Court, an 85 unit project for Negroes immediately west of Castle Brewer Court, and Edward Higgins Terrace, a 40 unit project for white tenants located at Fern Avenue and West Third Street.

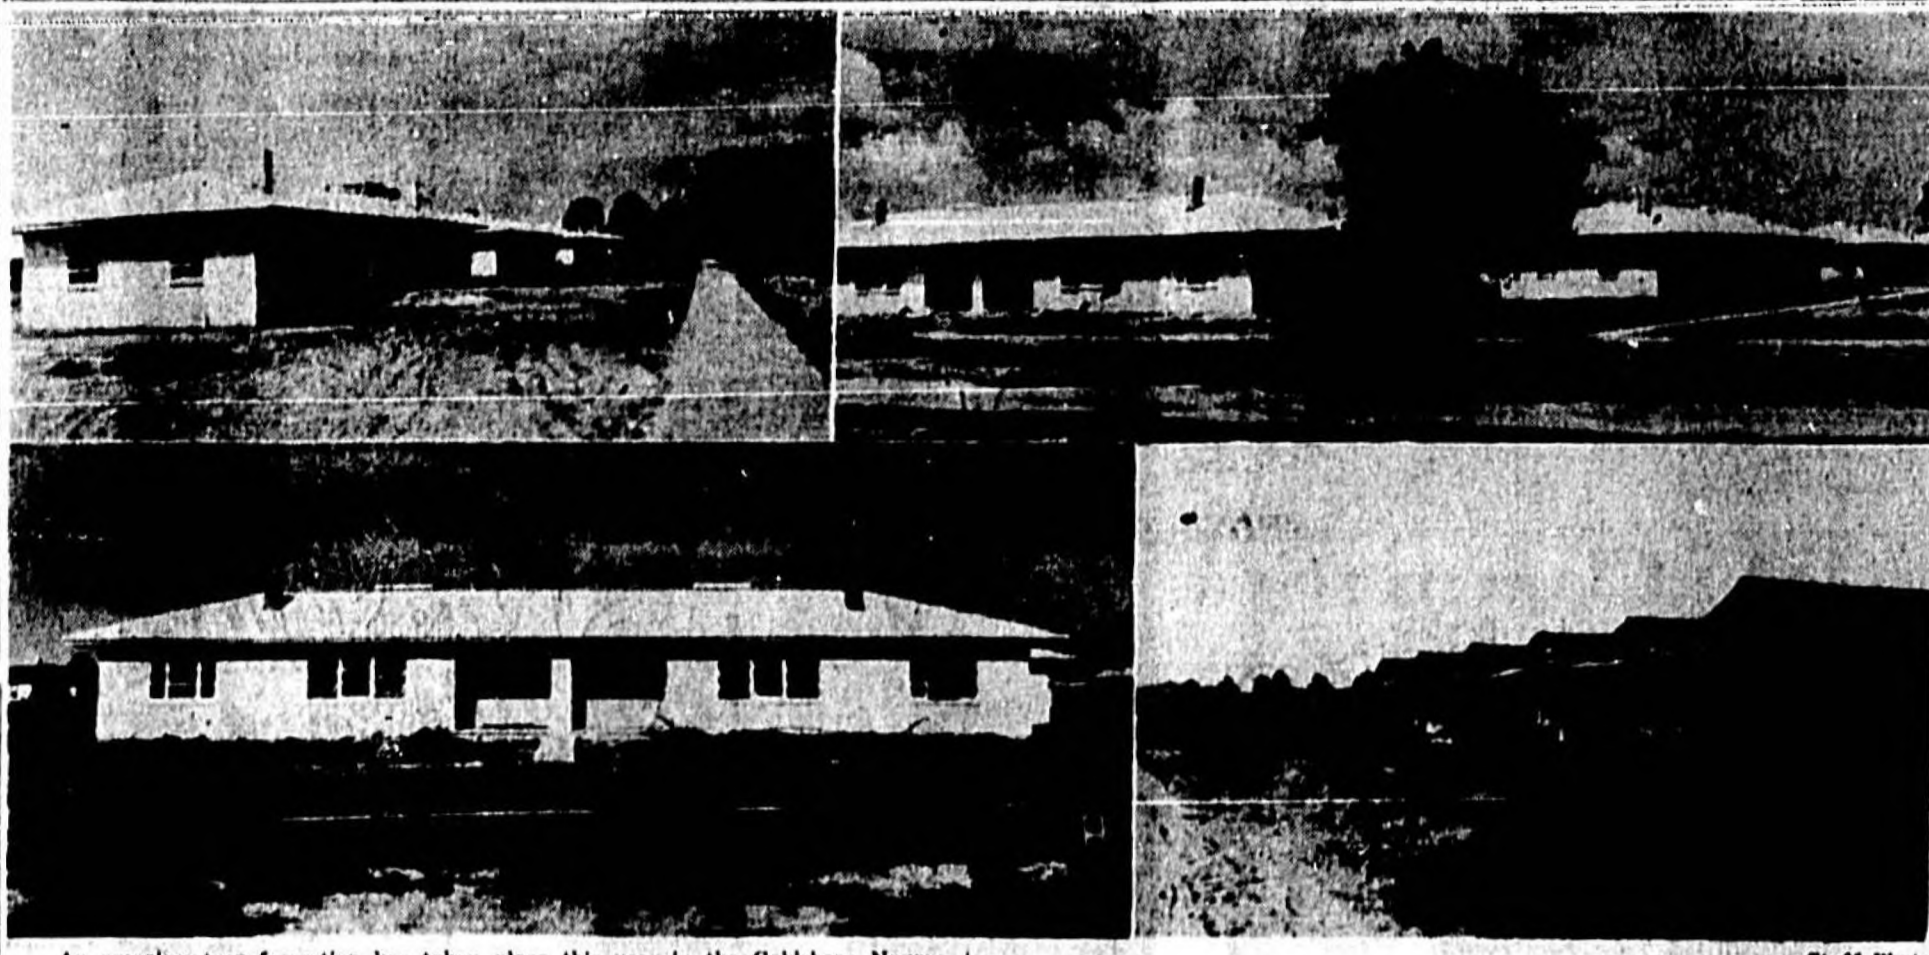

Castle Brewer Court is located in the Goldsboro section, the major portion of it being in eight blocks bounded by Olive and Murray Avenues, Eighth and Tenth Streets. In this area are 50 one-story duplex apartment buildings placed in courts. These include 22 buildings with two bed room units, 8 with three bed rooms per unit and six with four bed room apartments.

In a block immediately west of this and bounded by Jessamine, Cleander, Tenth and Eleventh Streets are four "sextuple" buildings, each containing six apartments of the one bedroom type. Other buildings in the project include a caretaker's building and a maintenance building which will contain a recreation hall. Ample space has been provided in the area for a playground for children, and this will be an attraction of the other two projects as well.

Designed by Elton J. Moughton, Sanford architect, the buildings of concrete block have been made as roomy, attractive and fireproof as possible. All materials have been furnished to strict specifications, including concrete floors, cement tile roofing and stucco exterior surfaces. The buildings, said Mr. Williams, have been designed with the view of minimum cost of upkeep.

An average apartment has a living room about 12 by 16 feet in size, several bed rooms, 11 by 12 feet, a kitchen 11 by 11 feet in size and a 7 by 7 foot storage room

CASTLE BREWER COURT NEARING COMPLETION

An amazing transformation has taken place this year in the Goldsboro Negro section of Sanford where the City's first low rent, public housing project, Castle Brewer Court, is nearing completion. The pictures above and at left show the modern, concrete block, duplex type of buildings which have replaced small shanties such as those at lower right which are across the street from the project. Costing about $1,300,000 and with 56 buildings containing 125 apartment units, the project will take care of about 500 persons now in need of better housing accommodations. The buildings are grouped in court style, and will be surrounded by lawns and landscaping. Playgrounds will be included for the children.

which houses the fuel oil heater. Bath rooms are of ample size including built in tubs and modern fixtures. Bedrooms have plenty of closet space.

Kitchens include modern electrical appliances including refrigerators and ranges. Sink and cabinet fixtures are provided also. Bradford Builders of Miami are contractors for the project. Richard A. Belsham has charge of the mechanical and electrical engineering. Fred H. Williams directed the civil engineering operations. H. Doyler Marx and Associates have charge of the grading and landscaping.

Ralph T. Cowan, chairman of the board of directors of the Sanford Housing Authority, has devoted much time to the planning and building of the project. The authority includes Harry Lee, vice chairman, The Rev. J. F. McKinley, J. R. Hall, George Williams, Jr., and Elton J. Moughton, Vice Williams, Jr. is attorney for the SHA.

Rentals, instead of being set according to the size or type of apartment, will be based instead on the total annual income of the occupying family, said George Williams, executive secretary of the Sanford Housing Authority.

This rent will amount to about 20 percent of the family income, he pointed out. In order to be eligible to rent an apartment, the tenant may not have an income higher than certain maximums, determined according to the size of the family and the number of children.

Although these standards of income have not yet been set, it has been suggested that $2,000.00 will be the top for a family of two; $2,500.00 for families of three, and $2,800.00 for families of five or more.

These figures refer only to admittance. Since incomes may increase during the period of occupancy, another set of maximum income standards will be set. For continued occupancy, this would be about $2,500 a year for two persons.

Rentals may be as low as $18 a month and up to $42, and will include utilities such as electricity, water and fuel oil.

Preference for rentals will be given to veterans, especially disabled veterans, and to people now living in sub-standard quarters or homes.

The history of Sanford's three new low rental housing projects, Castle Brewer Court, William Clark Court, and Edward Higgins Terrace, goes back to Jan. 26, 1950, when officers of the Sanford Housing Authority, headed by the late Edward Higgins, conferred here with Public Housing Administration officials in regard to the need and extent of new low cost housing in Sanford.

They met with George W. Simons, PHA planning consultant from Jacksonville, and a group from Atlanta, Ga., including Walter E. Conklin and Roger Sullivan of the Project Planning Section, Maury R. Moore of the Lands Section.

In addition to Mr. Higgins, who at that time was manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the board of directors of the SHA, local officials of that group present included George H. Williams, executive director; Fred Williams, engineer; Ralph T. Cowan, who is now chairman of the board, and Elton J. Moughton, architect.

The survey was approved, and it was estimated that it would cost about $3,000 and take in about 1,500 to 2,000 homes in order to determine the standard of housing for people in the lower income brackets in Sanford.

On Feb. 2, 1950, the crew picked for the survey met with Mr. Simons, to plan the work in order to prepare a report for the PHA. Fred H. Williams was field supervisor of the crew which included Hugh Duncan, T. V. Crawford, Earl Bourquardes, Charles Hobson, Oswald Roberts, Robert Von Herbulis, Ralph Lassing and Joe Davis.

The survey of the Sanford area was the first to be made in the entire South under the vast low-rent public housing program then getting started under the Federal Housing Act of 1949. Detailed forms were filled out in regard to both dwellings and tenants.

On Apr. 3, the survey disclosed that of the 2,279 dwelling units occupied by Negro families, 2,100 were of sub-standard classification. Of 306 homes of white tenants surveyed, 259 were sub-standard.

Of the dwelling surveyed, the report showed that 1,140 were considered to be in dilapidated condition. More than two-thirds of these homes had inadequate sanitary facilities.

On the day following the report, the City Commission reached an agreement with the SHA providing for City improvements in connection with the proposed housing project in Goldsboro. These included sewer connections and paving, part of the expense of which was to be defrayed by the Housing Authority.

would not assess taxes against the project, but it was provided that in lieu of taxes, 10 per cent of the shelter rentals would be paid to the City and County. Shelter rent does not include amounts set for utilities.

On July 7 it was reported that the Housing Authority had voted to name the 125 unit project in Goldsboro, Castle Brewer Courts, after the Rev. Castle Brewer, who died 18 years prior and who had been pastor of the St. Paul Baptist Church. He officiated in Sanford for many years, and spent a good portion of his time in the advancement of his race.

At the time of the vote, Mr. Moughton was completing plans for the project to submit to the Atlanta field office of the Federal Housing Administration for approval.

On Aug. 10, the Sanford Housing Authority met at the office of George Williams and adopted a development program for Castle Brewer Court, which it was then estimated would cost more than $1,425,000.

Five days later the City Commission granted the Housing Authority an option of 60 days duration on two pieces of property in Goldsboro for the project. On Sept. 25, a temporary loan of $137,000 was made the Public Housing Administration on the project. Up to June 30 of this year PHA loans have totalled $1,119,713, according to George Williams, were sent late in September to the PHA by Mr. Moughton, Bradford Builders, Inc., of Miami, started construction operations about Dec. 10.

Look at the label when you're buying orange marmalade and make sure you get the style you want. It comes with the peel sliced into thin strips, and it also comes "chopped".

Have a damp cloth beside you when you're cutting a cake that has lots of soft frosting on it, then wipe the knife clean before each cut. This way you won't get cake crumbs onto the frosting and will have better looking slices.

Delicious filling for nut bread to accompany a summer salad: grind equal parts of prunes, raisins, and walnuts together and moisten with meringue or creamy salad dressing.

Discussion On Armistice Line Is Deadlocked

Reds Demand Allies Abandon Present Line And Return To 38th Parallel

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 31—(AP)—Armistice negotiators argued stubbornly for an hour and 34 minutes today on where to draw the cease-fire line in Korea without getting any closer together.

It was the fifth successive day United Nations and Communist delegations devoted to the buffer zone issue. The announced result of each session was the same: No progress.

"The area of disagreement has neither broadened or narrowed," an official U. N. spokesman said. "The Reds want U. N. forces to abandon their present battle line and pull back to the 38th Parallel.

Delegates meet again at 11 A. M. Wednesday in their 16th session at Kaesong for another try to break the deadlock.

There was no indication of a compromise to me today," commented the briefing officer, Brig. General William P. Nickols.

"On the other hand, as you know, a position can be adjusted very quickly. That is neither optimistic nor pessimistic."

The official U. N. communiqué said:

"There was no perceptible change in the expressed viewpoints of the two delegations" in Tuesday's sessions.

Vice Admiral C. Tuzart Joy amplified the Allied position, the announcement said, trying to show "the mutual benefit to be derived from acceptance of this view."

North Korean Lt. General Nam Il replied by repeating "his previously stated stance."

The U. N. wanted the demilitarized zone established along present battle lines, cutting across North Korea for more than 80 miles. The Reds want a buffer zone centered on the 38th Parallel, pre-war political and military line of North and South Korea.

Abadan Refinery Is Shut Down As Tanks Are Filled

Dewey Urges Asia To Be Tolerant Of Incidents In U. S.

By ROBERT B. HEWETT
ABADAN, Iran, July 31—(AP)—A red-haired Scotman pushed a button today and halted the last gasoline producing machine of the world's largest refinery—closed in the bitter oil row between Britain and Iran.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's giant plant at Abadan Island has been slowing down production for the past month. Today it ceased altogether because no room remained in the acres of storage tanks to put any more gasoline, kerosene and other products.

More than a month ago the traffic of oil tankers was halted by the nationalization dispute which centered over Iranian ownership of the AIOC's vast holdings. Both the Iranian government and AIOC demanded payment for all shipments and as a result, the company pulled out its tankers.

There was little sign over the closing of the refinery's last operating unit.

Red-haired David Blair Watt, AIOC distillation units superintendent, pushed the electric switch button and the roar of gas flames heating the pipes died away. At the same time the flow of oil into the big pipeline from Aga Jari 150 miles away was choked.

Live steam shot through the pipes and in a half hour the process was completed.

The shut-down climaxes the months-long dispute over ownership of the billion dollar AIOC which has choked off a major source of oil supply for the British Navy and Western Europe.

Meanwhile U. S. trouble shooter W. Averell Harriman returned to Tehran from London today smiling and confident that "no further difficulties" stand in the way of new British-Iranian oil talks.

President Truman's special envoy said he had only a few minor points to clear up with the Iranian delegation before a British delegation headed by Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, would come here from London.

Harriman said he was more hopeful now than at any time in the past.

Harrison Arrests Two Negroes With Bootleg Whiskey

Two Negroes, heading south from Sanford with their automobile loaded with bootleg liquor, were arrested last night by E. D. Harrison, state highway patrolman, who shortly after 11:00 o'clock was driving toward his home on the Orlando highway, a mile south of Sanford, when he saw the Negroes. More than 40 gallons of shine liquor were seized.

The Negro driving the car, Burton Alexander, was given a drunkmeter test and registered a .250 for transporting untaxed whiskey. Lucious Alexander, who was riding with him, was also arrested as an accessory in transporting the shine liquor and bond of $500 for transporting untaxed whiskey.

Alexander was charged with drunken driving and his bond was set at $150 on this charge, and $500 for transporting untaxed whiskey. The arrest point indicating drunkenness, said Mr. Harrison.

Charles Pace Is Elected To Head Sportsmen's Group

The members of the 5th District Sportsmen Association met in Ocala at the Court House last night for election of officers as follows: Charles W. Pace, treasurer of the Florida Wildlife Federation, Daytona Beach, president; John Clardy, past commissioner of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, Ocala, vice president; and Lincoln L. Jacobs, recording secretary of the Florida Wildlife Federation, DeLand, secretary-treasurer.

The sportsmen present went on record as unanimously requesting the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission to stop all sealing and use of nets in the fresh waters of the state of Florida. It was also unanimously demanded that if action is not taken within 90 days to stop all sealing and use of nets, the newly elected Secretary Lincoln L. Jacobs be empowered to start injunction proceedings in Volusia county.

Also the association went on record as requesting that John DeQuine, biologist of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and all his fisheries biologists be removed from the payroll of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission and all monies set aside in the budget for his department be used for more wildlife officers and law enforcement.

Mayo Suggests State Should Not Own Cars

TALLAHASSEE, July 31—(AP)—Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo suggested today it might be cheaper for the State if it didn't own any automobiles.

He said if State employees drove their personal cars on official business, and were reimbursed on a mileage basis it would cost less than the present system under which the State owns scores of motor vehicles.

Mayo said state workers take far better care of their own cars than of automobiles owned by the government—and there would be an end to pleasure trips in publicly owned cars.

His suggestion came in casual conversation at the cabinet meeting and wasn't in the form of a motion. Governor Warren started the discussion by inquiring if it might be cheaper for the State to rent cars than to buy them.

Terry Lee, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, said there probably are instances where it might be less expensive where an employee is on the road constantly and can't be expected to take care of a state-owned car.

Youngmark posted bond, left police headquarters indignantly and returned the $20 to its owner, habited the grove in front of the station.

AEC To Hold More Frequent Atomic Tests

Most Powerful Weapons Are Tested In Remote Pacific Proving Grounds

By FRANK E. CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter
WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) is planning "much more frequent tests" of its weapons in the future.

This was announced yesterday at a news conference in connection with AEC's tenth semi-annual report to Congress. The report was made public today.

"One of the considerations it was also disclosed that the United States has developed some weapons that have a bigger 'bang'—that is, greater 'energy release'—than others. The commission said that was one of the reasons why some weapons have been tested in remote Eniwetok while others with lesser 'bang' have been tested in Nevada.

"One of the considerations (in choosing testing grounds) is hurting somebody," AEC chairman Gordon Dean told reporters. "When they get very large (in energy release) capacity, we take them away from people."

The commission did not make it clear whether the weapons differed in actual physical size. AEC has previously disclosed that it is working on the development of atomic warheads for guided missiles and artillery shells as well as on bombs.

The commission reported:

"Continued progress so far in 1951 in military and peacetime applications of the atom including advances towards developing atomic-powered submarines and aircraft."

2. Increased acquisition of uranium ores and stepped-up production of fissionable materials from them.

3. Achievement by the United States of the No. 3 spot among the free nations in the production of uranium—second only to the Belgian Congo. (Eunmer AEC, a Commission member, said some time ago that the U. S. had surpassed Canada to take over second place.)

Asked at the news conference how the United States compares with Russia in uranium production, Dean answered:

"You're in the field of intelligence there and almost anything I say gets into trouble."

The commission announced at the news conference completion of an experimental device with which it hopes to determine whether it will be actually possible to "store" or create new atomic fuel at a rate faster than operating fuel is consumed. First operation of the "breeder" is scheduled to take place in about two or three weeks.

There was no mention in the report to Congress of how things are going on the projected hydrogen bomb. There has been speculation that some primitive form of the H-bomb may have been tested during recent explosions of A-bombs at Eniwetok Proving Grounds, but the Commission has never gone beyond its statement that those tests included experiments "contributing to thermo nuclear weapon research," which means research on hydrogen bombs.

Asked at the news conference if he could say "what progress is being made to determine the (Continued on Page 5)

Body Of Sgt. Wiley Brooks Is Returned To Sanford From Korea

Frick Admits Not Having Control Of Giants' Durocher Season On Baseball

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Ford Frick, president of the National League, told Congress today he does not object to a question "I would personally have no objection whatsoever" in choosing a commissioner, none whatsoever.

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Baseball's stormy Leo Durocher and the bean ball today displaced prominently in discussion before a House Judiciary committee's hearing on organized baseball.

Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the investigating group and Brooklyn Dodger fan, injected the New York Giants' manager's name into the testimony.

He asked Ford Frick, National League President, about reports that Durocher had been guilty of telling his pitchers to use the bean ball against opponents.

The bean ball is pitched around the batter's head in a design to make the batter apprehensive and keep him from getting set to make his best swing at a later pitch.

"Have you ever found Durocher in that line?" asked the chairman.

"Yes, sir," replied Frick.

But when Frick asked to know when Frick took off the offense he would file charges of "conduct detrimental to baseball" against him.

"No, I wouldn't say that. If the statement is as stated in your testimony, I shouldn't have to answer that."

Committee members joined spectators in laughter.

"He's improved since he left the Dodgers, hasn't he?" asked Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.).

Former Russian General Says Lattimore And Barnes Were Russian Intelligence Agents

City Commission To Invite VA To Come To Sanford

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—A former Russian general testified today that in the early 1930s, the head of secret intelligence referred to Owen Lattimore and Joseph Barnes as "our men."

Alexander Barmin, now head of the Russian unit of the State Department's Voice of America, gave the testimony in the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Barmin said he was applying arms to a western China province in 1933 while serving as a Russian intelligence officer.

He testified that he was in the intelligence work for the Soviet government.

Barmin was identified in the committee report as a former foreign correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune who from 1931 to 1934 was the secretary of the American Council of the United States, Pacific Relations (ACU-PR). Barnes is no longer with the Herald Tribune.

Lattimore, now a Johns Hopkins University professor, spending in Far Eastern affairs, was then editor of the Institute's magazine "Pacific Affairs."

The Senate subcommittee is reporting that it has three former Russian intelligence officers in the U. S. for Eastern policy.

The inquiry is continuing now on the UPR, a private organization founded in 1931, which was the first of a series of prominent anti-Communist groups in the Pacific area.

When Barmin was called before the committee, he said he had been in the Far East for more than 10 years and had been in the Far East for more than 10 years and had been in the Far East for more than 10 years.

City Commission To Invite VA To Come To Sanford

The City Commission last night authorized Mayor Fred Dixon to offer the Veterans Administration a site here for its regional office, now located at Pass-A-Gulch.

John Kader, president of the Jaycees, appeared before the Commission to make the request for this action, pointing out that the city has considerable property that might be available for the purpose.

Mr. Kader told the Commission that the Jaycees have private commitments of property to assist in building a swimming pool and a tennis court for the city to be leased by the V. A. to use the site as a recreation center. The Jaycees also have a building for housing the V. A. Veterans Administration personnel.

National Veterans Administration officials are expected to visit the city on August 1 to discuss the possibility of submitting applications for locating the office.

This morning Mr. Kader telegraphed Mr. Dixon giving more detailed information on the offer.

No definite site has been offered by the city as yet for the regional office, said H. N. (Continued on Page 5)

State Department Career Man To Be Questioned Today

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Oliver Edmund Clubb, director of the State Department's Office of Foreign Assets Control, is to be questioned today by a Senate subcommittee on charges against him.

Clubb's appearance before the subcommittee follows in the wake of the resignation of John Paton Davies, Jr., another career diplomat. State Department Press Officer Michael McDermott said Davies had been heard and charged on both locally and security operations.

Both men were suspended from duty on June 27 pending hearings, but the State Department did not disclose the development until July 12. It did then, it said, because the news began to leak out.

Under the bureau's regulations the specific accusations against the men were not made public until they had been cleared in a hearing and their names were mentioned during the recent Senate investigation of the MacArthur firing.

Davies' hearing began last Monday and ended yesterday. The State Department announced the board had returned him to active duty on the policy planning staff, but following full clearance.

This is a highly "sensitive" division in the Department which makes long-range foreign policy plans and studies. The term sensitive is used to describe information where valuable, secret information is available.

Davies' suspension was lifted and he was put back to work "without prejudice and with the full confidence of the Department."

The Department said he will be sent shortly to Frankfurt to work in the office of high commissioner for Germany. It said he had been given his assignment last spring because his U. S. tour of duty is due to expire next month. Under the law career diplomats can serve only three consecutive years in the U. S. between foreign assignments.

The board's action is subject to review by the Loyalty Review Board of the Civil Service Commission. McDermott, however, told newsmen the Department had no fear in restoring Davies to duty because the evidence is "overwhelmingly in his favor."

More Than 62,000 Students Flunked Deferment Exams

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—About 62,700 college students flunked the first draft deferment exam, given May 29 to 165,000 men. Selective Service said today.

The agency announced the outcome of the first test only. A total of 338,056 students took the test May 29, June 4, June 10 or July 12, but results from the latter tests have not been tabulated.

Selective Service said that 53 per cent of the 42,500 freshmen tested May 29 earned scores of 70 or better as did 64 per cent of the 53,000 sophomores, 72 per cent of the 44,000 juniors, and 77 per cent of the 18,500 seniors.

The test also was given to 7,000 graduate students.

Selective Service said these samples indicate that about 10 per cent of the students in the lower portion of their classes and 7 per cent of the upper part scored 70 or better.

Henry Chauncey, president of the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J., which administered the test and compiled the results, said earlier this week that the examination was "pitched almost ideally as to level of difficulty."

Chauncey said studies of the relationship between test scores and college grades at 23 institutions showed that results are "quite satisfactory in all instances, regardless of the field of study."

Draft boards have been asked to use the test scores and scholastic records in determining whether to defer individual college students.

Johnny English Has Eighth Birthday

Johnny English, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. English, celebrated his eighth birthday Monday at his home on Country Club Road. The young guests gathered early in the evening where games and television were enjoyed. The honoree opened his many lovely gifts after which refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served. Favors of tiny party baskets filled with candy were presented to the guests.

Hints to Housewives

Creating tasty meals over the unregulated heat of outdoor campcooks, says Mrs. Margaret Kinnant, first frustrates many a talented in charge of women's activities for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service. To befriend the family chef on woodland outings, Mrs. Kinnant collected helps from experienced Forest Rangers on how to build an open fire and what to expect from it in cooking.

To begin with, a campfire should be small. A large fire has necessary a certain sign of the tenderfoot, for the hot coals do the cooking, not the high flames. First task is to scrape away litter from a circle of about 10 feet. In the middle, dig a hole a few inches deep and a foot or so wide for the fire. See which way the wind is blowing, and shovel earth away from the side exposed to the wind. This feeds the fire with a draft, which helps keep the fire burning.

Kindling, of course, must be dry wood. Use small branches about the size of a lead pencil, or pieces cut from the center of small, dead standing trees. Mrs. Kinnant says that most grates are ten high over campfires, over hot coals, she suggests placing the grate only about six inches from the fire. When the fire is roaring, the grate can be about a foot above.

Experienced fire builders, however, do not use the fire in the roaring stage except for boiling or heating water. It takes about half an hour after a fire is touched off to get cooking heat. When there is a glowing bed of coals the fire is ready, and you can count on another half hour of steady, dependable heat.

Even so, a campfire will not keep the same degree of heat under a cooking pan for very long at a time. Adding fuel changes the heat output, and cooking time varies with wind strength and type of firewood.

Final rule of all campfire builders: attend even for the shortest time: never leave a campfire unattended.

Ronnie Blanc Shuts Out Sanford As Packers Continue Climb To Top

SANFORD, July 31.—(AP)—Ronnie Blanc lured a tight seventh shutout over the Sanford Giants here last night as the Leesburg Packers continued their climb back to the top with a 4 to 0 win.

Joe Parisse continued his rejuvenated hitting with a double and single to lead the ineffective Giant attack. Blanc was tough as nails in the clutch as the Giants left 11 men stranded on the base paths.

Jackson lf	3	1	0	0
Walley c	4	1	0	0
Totals	32	7	24	5

Blanc pitched a perfect game, allowing no hits, no runs, no errors, and striking out seven batters. He pitched for five innings, with the game lasting seven and a half hours.

The Packers' offense was led by Joe Parisse, who had a double and a single. The rest of the team was mostly ineffective.

The game was a defensive masterpiece by Blanc, who has been one of the best pitchers in the league. He has a record of 12 wins and 4 losses, with a 1.50 ERA.

The Packers are now in first place in the league, with a record of 18 wins and 10 losses. They have a 10-game lead over the second-place team.

In future seasons baseball aficionados will inevitably recall Joe Parisse's memorable throw from deep right field beyond the foul line to cut down Dick Stomax at second base when they are reminiscing over the great defensive brought off in the old stadium.

The throw, which traveled roughly 300 feet and cut the bag on one bounce, followed a bullet-like trajectory hardly higher than a man's head. The ball dropped perfectly into Stomax's glove just as Stomax was flying spikes headed for the bag in a cloud of red dust.

In a sense Parisse's throw was the climax to an extraordinary defensive exhibition on the part of the Giants. Everybody played well and the league-leading team gave everyone the opportunity by collecting 11 hits off the usually niggardly Swider.

Although admitted all season to brilliant strokes of defensive play punctuated by woe-filled lapses, the Giants Saturday night showed signs of having momentarily developed an integrated plan of attack which distinguishes a team from a group of nine individuals.

This writer, admittedly not steeped in the lore of the game but still a student of it in a minor way, has attempted an opinion that the primary reason for the club's trouble, it obviously isn't native ability for individually there is hardly a weak man on the team, is the spread of the foul line, both in the field and on the base paths. This is certainly superior to that of any other team.

After four months of close observation it is my considered opinion that the primary reason for the club's trouble is a defensive attitude and spurious cynicism often affected by suburbanites when confronted with a competitive situation with which they are not sure they can cope.

The team wins. It's the umpires or the field or the batters. The spread of the foul line, both in the field and on the base paths, is certainly superior to that of any other team.

As a matter of fact the umpires may not be much good but they are probably honest—and each team has the same ones so in the long haul the mistakes that hurt will be balanced by the ones that help. Unless the umpires are probably are unimpaired in baseball.

On Saturday night the Sanford club shook off this attitude—probably because they were willing to accept the small psychological responsibility for being in first place club. As a result they played with relaxed abandon rather than whining nervousness.

The task of waiting a group of high strung players into a game-winning effort is always difficult. With the clean of temperament apparent on the local club it may well be impossible.

This may be an unlikely explanation of the Giants' difficulties but there seems to be no other way for reconciling the wealth of good player material with seventh place spot in the standings.

Wall Street Watches Baseball As Sensitive Indicator Of Spending

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—The business world considers baseball attendance a sensitive indicator of the public's urge to spend money on amusements.

So says the conservative Wall Street Journal in a front page survey of "baseball business." The financial daily finds the "money shortage" is only one of the reasons for the turnstile slump. Television and bad spring weather were others.

James Tomney, St. Louis Cardinals public man, is quoted as saying "as the dollar's value drops people would rather eat a meat plate than a home plate."

There is a slump. No question about that. As yet it's not alarming—about nine percent below last year, in the American and National leagues.

For 654 home dates a total of 10,239,531 fans saw big league games through Sunday. A year ago the total for 638 home dates was 11,020,523. On a per-game average this comes down to 15,662 in 1934—17,247 in 1935.

Detroit is one of the low spots with the Detroit Tigers practically out of the pennant race. Last year they led the parade at this time, averaging 26,779 every time they opened the gates. Now they do 17,892.

It's just the opposite in Chicago where fans are excited about the White Sox. Attendance is up 65 per cent. Last year's daily turnout of 17,000 has ballooned to 28,000 in the National League.

Only the New York Yankees are over the million mark. Last year the Yankees, Tigers and Cleveland Indians all were in the million-plus department at this stage.

How does all this concern the business world? Let the Wall Street Journal tell you:

"The number of baseball fans turning out for games is of importance to other business men because the handful of baseball club owners. This time of year attendance at the nation's ball parks is a sensitive indicator of the public's willingness to spend money on amusements."

But how can you explain Boston's The Red Sox with $100,000 hitting homers at a near-record pace and the club leading the league by nine games, is running behind.

George Brantman, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, says "The 18 per cent slump in attendance is probably the only reason to quit since the season is in the latter stages."

The 32-year-old coach said the baseball scandals that have touched City College of New York, Long Island, New York University, Toledo, Manhattan and Bradley "may be a blessing in disguise. They may awaken an accurate assessment of the sports structure."

Anderson said he had not analyzed the situation to the extent of determining where he himself had fallen but he was sure that he had. But, he added, he was not concerned with what already had happened as what would be done to rectify it.

BRADLEY FIX
PHOENIA, Ill., July 31.—(AP)—Four Bradley basketball players involved in the fix scandal are under a suspension from the school's basketball team.

The suspension is for a year. The school's basketball team is now in the middle of a season.

Georgia Peach Ty Cobb Awe House Committee Investigating Baseball

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Supreme Court justice, labor leaders, chieftains, J. P. Morgan and at least one President— fellow names of Abraham Lincoln—have appeared to testify before Congress.

But few have had a more attentive audience than that waiting yesterday for a somewhat fligid, pudgy gentleman of 64.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb was on the stand.

He had come to talk to a House Judiciary Subcommittee which is studying whether baseball violates anti-monopoly laws. He didn't go into baseball law, but indicated that on the whole it didn't seem too bad to him.

It was fairly obvious from the start that the congressmen were first of all fans and secondarily lawmakers, at least with Ty Cobb before them.

They seemed a little awed by the great man. Every question was respectfully phrased. The old hands, an instrument usually kept handy for investigations like this was never once brought out.

It was Mr. Cobb this and Mr. Cobb that. And why not? Why kid had dreamed of being a great baseball player, and—

"Were you elected to baseball's Hall of Fame?" asked Chairman Celler (D-N.Y.).

"Well, yes," said Cobb, shyly. "I just happen to have been the first one named."

(The inscription on Cobb's tablet Cooperstown, N. Y., tells why: "Led American League in batting 12 times and created or equalled more major league records than any other player.")

Carefully floating the committee went over Cobb's great career.

"He got more hits, stole more bases and hit higher .367 for 24 years than any other player, bar none."

Nobody suggested why that record was made. Nobody hinted as to how he did it. He was a terrific will-to-win as ever that in this matter once he fired up any athlete.

(The old timers could remember, though. Just the other day Home Run Baker, the old star of the Philadelphia A's, got to talking about old times.)

(A reporter dropped by Trappe, Md., where Home Run lives now and raised a sweet corn. Home run said: "Cobb played hard, but he didn't play dirty on purpose.")

Home Run rolled up his sleeve. There were a half-dozen scars, 15-quot reminders that Cobb was a player who kept his spikes needle sharp.

And so the nice man answered questions nicely, and a fine time was had by all.

(Too bad no one asked Cobb about the argument Cobb is reported to have had once with his roommate, Nap Rucker. It was on whether Cobb should get to the bathtub first.)

(Cobb explained on that occasion, in eight words, one reason why he wrote one of the greatest sports stories of all time: "I got to be first," Cobb said, "all the time.")

Nation And Florida Need Volunteers For Civil Defense

TALLAHASSEE, July 31—(AP)—The nation needs about 20 times and Florida three times as many civilian defense workers as they have to prepare properly to stand up under atomic attack, educators conferring here on the problem were told today.

Millard Caldwell, federal Civil Defense Administrator and former governor of Florida, said "we need one-twentieth as many trained civil defense volunteers" in the nation as Russia has, "yet we need at least as many."

He set the goal at 20,000,000.

Col. R. G. Howie, State director of civil defense, said "It is anticipated that approximately 110,000 will be needed in the entire state of Florida."

The larger communities at least have made considerable progress in this regard and to date approximately 34,000 have been enrolled.

They were speakers at the conference on citizenship education and civil defense at Florida University and Florida A. & M. College for Negroes here.

Both Howie and D. Mack Easton, a member of Caldwell's staff, said public apathy and indifference were the major obstacles to preparing an adequate civil defense system. Both warned that Americans should not be misled by talk of peace in Korea.

Civil defense will be with us from now on, whether we like it or not," Col. said.

"Cessation of hostilities in Asia means only that, with world conditions as they are, we cannot hope for lasting and genuine peace in the world until many other problems are resolved.

"To repeat the wrecking of our national security as we did in 1945 would, in my opinion, ring down the curtain on the free countries of the world. Until that peace is guaranteed, and until we are genuinely justified in disbanding our armed forces, we cannot afford to relax our civil defense effort."

All speakers at the conference stressed the part that must be played by the schools in training children and adults to cope with atomic attack, provide disaster services, detect and help counteract germ and chemical warfare and meet other emergencies.

Apartment Owners To Get Reduction In Insurance Rate

TALLAHASSEE, July 31—(AP)—Owners of Florida apartments and dwellings for two or more families are going to get fire insurance rate reductions ranging from 13 to 48 percent.

J. Edwin Larson, state treasurer and insurance commissioner, gave his approval to the new rate schedules proposed by the Florida Inspection and Rating Bureau.

They will not become effective, though, until rate manuals furnished to agents can be revised—perhaps in about a month.

The reductions apply to all apartments containing five or more units, all classes of dwellings designed for occupancy by two or more families and on all tenant-occupied, one-family dwellings.

There is no reduction for tenant-occupied single-family brick or brick veneer houses, owner-occupied single family dwellings of any type, nor farm or country property.

The premium reduction for tenant-occupied single-family frame dwellings came through elimination of an extra charge that has been made heretofore for tenant occupancy.

Premiums of many rooming and boarding houses, fraternity and sorority houses also will be reduced by elimination of extra charges which have been made for certain types of exposure to fire.

feasibility of the H-bomb," Dean replied only: "Not today."

Today's report said that "early construction work is underway" at AEC's Savannah River Plant in South Carolina. In that plant, the commission has said previously, materials for either H-bombs, A-bombs or for potential industrial power uses could be made.

New advance towards developing atomic energy machines designed to power submarines and aircraft were listed among the progress items in the military field but there was no specific amplification of this.

In various other fields of atomic endeavor, AEC reported:

- Laboratory experiments have given hope of eventually finding a treatment for saving people exposed to heavy doses of radiation during atomic bombings or production.
- Production and distribution of American-made radioactive isotopes—the atomic program's first step toward peaceful application of the atom's power—have been increased.
- New applications for the materials in industrial, agricultural and medical fields were found.
- These included studies designed to determine exactly how a cow produces milk; a new remote-control technique for measuring the water content of snowfall on mountain slopes; and a new of rust-preventives.
- In outlining the results of treating certain diseases with radioactive materials during the ten year period, 1940-1950, AEC said that in more than 1,000 cases of leukemia, in which red blood cells are over-produced, "life may not have been prolonged but the comfort of many patients was greatly improved."

Callie observed, "the Dodgers had improved since he left."

Frick, in a serious vein, told the committee:

"I don't believe any manager in baseball has a deliberate policy of throwing bean balls as part of his strategy."

He added that the practice of pitchers "throwing tight to a batter" or "dusting them off" in an effort to throw batters off balance is different from throwing bean balls.

The discussion got into this track as Frick talked about baseball's powers to discipline players and clubs under the reserve clause.

He said throwing a ball game, betting on a game or physical attack on a player being ruled ineligible, "life may not have been prolonged but the comfort of many patients was greatly improved."

Stepping from his luxury-squipped U. S. Air Force Constellation, at Tehran airport, Harriman told reporters his talks with the British government "were useful and satisfactory."

THE state of Maine embraces almost as much territory as the other five New England states combined (33,215 miles, to be exact, against 33,303), and its citizens like to stay put. Gallivanting, they figure, is for the tourists who swarm into the state every summer.

There was one farmer, for instance, who had only been to Bangor four times in his life, although his property was less than fifty miles from the city limits.

On his last visit, he suggested a painful experience. A fire steered his horse and wagon over to the curbstone. When the engine had clanged by, he proceeded on his way, only to be smacked squarely in the rear by the hook-and-ladder truck.

When the doctor restored the farmer to consciousness, they asked, "Why didn't you get out of the way? You must have heard the siren." "I heard it all right," said the farmer grimly, "and it wasn't the engine that hit me at all. It was that truckload of drunkard painters careening along behind it."

having "the courage to come forward and tell the truth." The senator said Harriman was "rendering a great patriotic service to the country of his adoption."

Speaking with a heavy Russian accent, Harriman recounted his personal career as a Russian military intelligence officer while also serving as a civilian diplomat in Iran, Turkey, France, Italy, Belgium and other nations.

He said he broke with the Communists in 1937, while stationed in Greece, and fled for his life because some of his former army friends had been "purged."

Leading up to the naming of Lattimore and Barnes, Harriman was asked if he knew anything about the Institute of Pacific Relations.

By way of what he termed "background," Harriman related that in 1933 the Soviets secretly sent Communist troops and arms into China.

He said there usually was "a secret part" to numerous Soviet trade agreements and these called for delivery of artillery, mountain palace where he is the guest of the Shah. He said he did not know when he would confer with Iranian officials.

Harriman said that the names of the two Americans were mentioned. Later, Harriman said, it was decided that Lattimore and Barnes would not be assigned to his operation because they were to have "more important" things to do in connection with the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Rural Common Sense

By Spuds Johnson

Farmers and other persons in Florida interested in agriculture and farm life will have an opportunity this summer to express their views about programs and policies which affect the family farm.

W. B. Anderson, chairman of the Florida Agricultural Mobilization Committee, is spearheading a drive to obtain ideas and suggestions about how services to family farms can be improved.

The United States Department of Agriculture thinks the family farm is so vital to the economy, prosperity, and military defense of the Nation that it is reviewing current farm programs and activities to make sure that they are serving the family farm well—and to find out how they can serve it better in the future.

The family farm is defined as a farm (or ranch) which provides the main source of income for the farm family living on or near the farm operator (owner or tenant) or members of his family making most of the managerial decisions, taking part regularly in farm work, and normally supplying a large part of the labor needed to run the farm.

Many family farms are too small, too poorly equipped or too lacking in essential resources to supply an adequate income to the farm families which occupy them. There is a need to provide these farm families with better opportunities to improve their livelihood and to make a greater contribution to the national agricultural output. Other family farms which are already producing more effectively could become even more productive and more satisfying to the families who farm them if proper guidance or aid were available.

The Department of Agriculture, sincerely desiring to adapt future policies to the needs and recommendations of family farmers, is interested in obtaining recommendations for changes or improvements in present agricultural programs and in receiving suggestions concerning new programs which would benefit farm families in Florida.

A summary of recommendations from farmers and organizations will be drawn up in the fall for transmittal to the Florida Agricultural Mobilization Committee to be incorporated in a formal report to Washington. Mr. Anderson urges all farmers and their families to take part in the Family Farm Policy Review discussions which will continue through the summer or to send their suggestions to their county Agricultural Mobilization Committees before the end of August.

Cease-Fire

"I oppose any cease-fire at the dammed Parallels," thousands paraded through the busy streets of the southern port city Tuesday shouting "On To The Yalu!" They carried banners announcing "We oppose to the death any cease-fire without unification."

There was a similar demonstration in Seoul Saturday backing the South Korean government's demand to unite all Korea from Pusan to its northern tip to the Yalu River at its northern border with Manchuria.

Tuesday's paraders—including long haired patriots, their gray haired wives, and small grand children—wound past the U. S. Information Building and the Second Logistical Command Headquarters.

From Tokyo came reports that General Matthew Parrillo, U. N. commander, may be planning to issue a statement on the thorny issue of where to establish a buffer zone that has disheartened efforts to end the hooting war.

There was no hint when such a statement might be made. It could contain the first public announcement of what Admiral Joy, as the chief Allied negotiator, has been telling the Communists at Kaesung.

Joy stuck to his guns Tuesday as delegates met in the gloomy Kaesung conference room with a light rain pattering on the tile roof overhead. He used the first half of the session elaborating on and arguing for the U. N. position.

Then he listened to General Nam when the North Koreans had finished. Joy suggested an adjournment until Wednesday—unless Nam had something more to say.

Nam II replied he "certainly did have something more to say," General Nichols reported. And he said it.

Nichols did not disclose the Red General's remarks, but his listeners concluded that Nam asked the Allied delegation to reconsider the Red proposal overnight.

"I make no predictions," Nichols commented at the point. "Both sides fully understand the views of each other, although they do not appreciate and certainly do not agree with each other."

The briefing officer said he did not intend to give the impression the talks had reached a stalemate over the issue—the second point on the five point program. Asked for his personal impression, Nichols said: "I would say that an area of disagreement continued to exist."

Limitation Sought On Using American Troops In Europe

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Rep. Coudert (R-NY) claimed strong Republican backing today for a new drive to limit the foreign use of United States troops.

Coudert told newsmen he expects "full support of the Republican policy committee" for an amendment to the 1952 military appropriation bill to require congressional approval before troops can be sent abroad.

The military budget bill is set for House consideration next week.

Coudert said the amendment is necessary because of announced plans to station 400,000 American troops in Western Europe by the end of this year. This, he said, is double the number that Congress was told in February would be sent to Europe as part of General Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact forces.

The House has had no opportunity to vote on troop limitation proposals, although the Senate debated the proposition fully early this year in its "great debate."

Asserting that the Senate indirectly approved the use of six divisions of 200,000 troops earlier this year, Coudert said:

"Six divisions can mean 200,000 troops in February but 400,000 troops in July, then they can mean any number at any time the military may choose. Marshall-size divisions are evidently the condition, to be made small when courtship, public approval of commitments, but to be expanded to any desired size when the troop ships begin to move."

Florida farm families are urged to adopt and follow safe practices.

Plan Is Suggested To Borrow Money To Develop Parks

TALLAHASSEE, July 31—(AP)—A proposal to borrow up to $900,000 a little at a time over a period of years from the State Internal Improvement Fund for development of State Parks was made here today.

J. Kenneth Hallinger, associate director of the State Board of Parks and Historic Memorials, broached the subject to the fund trustees and asked for a subcommittee to study the plan.

Governor Warren appointed Attorney General Richard Ervin, Comptroller C. M. Gay and Board Secretary Fred C. Elliot to go into the matter.

The park board proposed a series of loans for as much as $900,000 to be paid back on an annual basis at interest of no more than three percent out of earnings of the park facilities.

Ballinger said present revenues of the parks are sufficient to support such a series of loans a few at a time. He predicted on creating additional earning facilities.

The Park Service has no appropriation for construction at any of the parks and seldom has had such to be paid back in the past. Nearly all the park developments have come through gifts, federal aid and self-sustaining projects.

The Internal Improvement Fund, from which the loans will be made, was established nearly 100 years ago to receive money from sale and lease of state lands and other natural resources and use it for a board system of public improvements. In recent years, nearly all the money has been turned into the general revenue fund for overall operations of the state.

NATO Forces May Increase To 7 Million

Number Is Deduced From Remark By Senator Lodge On U. S. Contribution

By HOWLAND EVANS, JR., WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) dropped a hint today that General Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact Army may number 7,000,000 men within a few years.

He told a reporter a 350,000-man force this country should have in Western Europe during the next year "should be no more than five percent" of the total force to be built up there "in the next few years."

If the U. S. contribution does turn out to be about one-twentieth of the total anti-Communist army, then the total force would equal about 7,000,000.

Lodge was discussing the $8,500,000,000 foreign aid measure on which the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees are now holding hearings.

Almost 75 percent of the money is earmarked for military aid—weapons and supplies—and the balance for economic assistance.

The two committees called for testimony today from Eisenhower's top deputy in Europe, General Alfred M. Gruenther.

Meanwhile, a suggestion by two senators investigating possible subversive influences in U. S. Far East policy-making might become the springboard for a bitter fight between Congress and the President.

Senators McCarran (D-Nev.) and Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today they think that confidential FBI reports should be made available to Congress so the legislative branch could help guard against possible government infiltration by subversives.

McCarran said that, if necessary, a law should be passed to force the executive branch to turn over the files Congress might want to see.

But President Truman, who has often been presumed to let Congressional committees have a look at FBI files, has fought all moves.

Grady Norton, chief of the Miami Weather Bureau, will tell members of the Rotary Club Monday noon at the Episcopal Church House of his experiences in forecasting hurricanes.

Mr. Norton, who is senior member and chief arbitrator of the Joint Hurricanes Warning Center, set up in 1949, will be introduced by E. M. Houghton, local weather man, who has charge of the program.

Dr. R. W. Ruprecht, secretary of the Rotary Club, today requested that members make reservations with him by Friday for guests at the meeting.

The hurricane warning system which Mr. Norton heads, is credited with saving many lives. In September, 1928, before this was put into effect, 1,833 people were killed in a Florida hurricane. In contrast, only two persons were killed in the August, 1949 storm which closely followed the path of the 1928 hurricane.

As supervising forecaster of the U. S. Weather Bureau's Hurricane Warning Service for the southeast, Mr. Norton, from his watchtower at Miami, will predict the course of storms this fall. Regarded as the nation's ace authority on big blows, he has in the last 15 years, tracked down and sent out alerts on 150 hurricanes, and thus far has never been wrong.

Whereas the former warning time was only four hours in advance of a hurricane, Mr. Norton gives 24 hours with an additional alert period. He is considered one of the world's top-flight meteorologists in the world.

OLD CAT
LONG BEACH, CALIF., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Fatima, a Persian cat, died at the good old age of 21 yesterday.

The cat could be compared to a human being 167 years old, Mrs. Williams said.

Indian-Pakistan War Looms Over Kashmir Region

Both Countries Mass Troops As Eastern Situation Worsens

By HELM HARRISON, DACCA, East Pakistan, Aug. 1.—(AP)—There is a small but distinct chance of open hostilities between India and Pakistan if United Nations mediator Frank Graham makes no progress toward settlement of the Kashmir dispute, according to a consensus here.

"There will be no cease-fire lines if this war comes," said Asis Ahmad, chief secretary of East Pakistan. He was referring to the 10,000,000 Hindu minority in East Pakistan and the 8,000,000 Moslem minority in the adjacent Indian state of West Bengal.

"This will be a war the like of which has not been seen and will not be confined to battlefields. Imagine 400,000,000 people at each other's throats."

Both nations are massing troops along the border of East Pakistan as well as on West Pakistan.

Mrs. Emma Abrams Services Held Today

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Brison Funeral Home for Mrs. Emma Abrams, 84, who died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Crenshaw, 1133 East Seventh Street, after a lingering illness.

The Rev. J. M. McKinley officiated at the service and the remains were sent to Alexander City, Ala. for burial.

Mrs. Abrams had lived here for the past nine years. She was born Sept. 19, 1866 in Hackensville, Ala. and was a lifelong member of the Baptist Church there.

She is survived, in addition to Mrs. Crenshaw, by two other daughters, Mrs. J. W. Williams of Alexander City and Mrs. T. C. Jenkins of Lexington Park, Md.; four sons, W. E. Abrams, Dadeville, Ala.; V. B. Abrams, Perry, Ga.; J. B. Abrams, Camp Hill, Ala.; and A. D. Abrams, Sanford, 15 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

General MacArthur May Speak For Senators Who Supported His Views

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur may have a kind word to say during the 1952 campaign about some of the Republican senators who supported his views on Korea.

Senator Cain (R-Wash.), who Arthur's congressional supporters, told a reporter he has heard indirectly the five-star General may visit Washington state next year while Cain is running for re-election.

He would not be surprised, Cain said, if the disposed Pacific commander finds time to praise Cain's record and his views, particularly on Far Eastern questions.

Cain said he saw the General recently but did not discuss politics in any way. He said he received what he regards as cheering news of the General's intentions from another source.

MacArthur said recently he intended to make an "as long as I can" tour of the West and then go to the States. He specifically mentioned California and said he would like to see the General's intentions from another source.

New High Pressure Pump Is Installed At Water Works

City workmen today completed installation of one of the new Fairbanks Morse high pressure pumps which carries water to the City mains. City Manager Clifford McKibbin, Jr., announced this morning.

The installation, he stated, was begun on Sunday night when the water demand by the customers was lowest and piping from the reservoir to the pump safely cut into.

At the same time that the pump was being installed, an alternate pipe line from the reservoir to the pumping station was completed and connected to the pipe furnishing water to the pressure pump.

"On first operation of the new pump we obtained a flow of 2,100 gallons per minute against maximum main pressure," said Mr. McKibbin.

The efficiency of the pump was such, he pointed out, that while pumping the great amount of water, the Diesel engine which drives the pump, had also developed, with its generator, enough power to operate all well pumps and booster pumps in the well fields south of Sanford.

Odham Is Undecided On Governor's Race

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Former Rep. J. Brantley Odham of Sanford was in town today talking with friends about running for governor.

Odham, former president of the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce, said he would make his decision after visiting other sections of the State "but if I run I'll tell the people I can't be bought, bossed or bluffed."

BRASSIERE BRIGADE
TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The State Supreme Court yesterday refused to set aside the one year prison sentences imposed on the three Miami "Brassiere Brigade" members who stole $12,000 from the telephone company.

The court wrote no opinion in affirming the grand larceny convictions of Marie Orr, Betty Corrigan and Billie McNaught. They stole the money from the Southern Bell Telephone Company by secreting rolls of quarters in their brassieres.

BRINK'S ALARM

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—An automatic burglar alarm buzzed today and police, grabbing two guns, yelled—"Brink's!"

Beat patrolmen ran, cruisers roared out and special service squads raced across town from headquarters.

No robbers this time. Just the wiring gone wrong.

Police breathed easier on the way back from the scene of the alarm—the Prince and Commercial Street garage of Brink's Inc., where a gang which has never been caught escaped with $1,700,000 in cash and checks on Jan. 17, 1950.

RIVIERA BONDS
TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Florida Supreme Court has ordered $995,000 worth of Riviera Beach revenue bonds validated.

Warren Accuses Newspapermen Of "Flagrant Lying"

Governor Hits "Draft Dodging" Editors Of 2 Unnamed Papers

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Governor Warren says a couple of "draft dodger" Florida newspaper editors have been publishing "flagrant falsehoods" to deceive the people about the state's gambling situation.

He didn't name them or their papers in his 11-station radio speech.

He repeated his long-standing claim that his administration has suppressed gambling in Florida, and added that "it was not an easy task."

He said "law enforcement in Florida was never better."

He promised "a little later on" to make a speaking tour in every county and tell the people of Florida face-to-face what this administration has done to make Florida a happier, heartier and more wholesome place in which to live, work and play.

He said many of Florida's biggest gambling operations started before he became Governor, during World War II when "I was in a Navy uniform doing what I could to help win the war."

"Incidentally, some of the character assassins who have tried to mislead and deceive the people of Florida about the gambling situation in this state are in this room today."

Sgt. Wiley Brooks Services Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held at the Brison Funeral Home at 3:00 P. M. tomorrow for Sgt. Wiley Brooks who was killed in the Korean campaign, Sept. 15, 1950 with Chaplain Charles E. Thompson at the Orlando Air Base.

Burial with full military honors will be made in Evergreen Cemetery. Members of the American Legion will serve as pallbearers.

Surviving Sgt. Brooks are two sisters, Mrs. E. C. Kennedy and Mrs. Vera Brown; two daughters, Nadine and Kathleen, all of Sanford; three brothers, William E. Brooks; Badger H. and Cecil Brooks of Sanford.

Acheson Rejects Communist Proposal For Buffer Zone; Cease-Fire Talks Stymied

United Nations And Communist Chiefs Deadlocked Over Cease-Fire Line

U. N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 1.—(AP)—United Nations and Communist truce teams again today refused to budge from their opposing stands on where to establish a buffer zone across Korea.

Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. delegate, talked for an hour and 13 minutes telling the Reds what was wrong with their demand. It was the longest speech that has been made in the 16 Korean cease-fire talks.

The Communists want a buffer zone back along the 38th parallel, the old political boundary line between North and South Korea. That is inferior terrain for military defenses.

"Since this is a military armistice," Joy told the five Red generals, "we are interested only in military realities."

The U. N. insists that the cease-fire line be established along the 38th parallel, where both armies would be in good defensive positions.

Gen. William P. Hays, deputy U. N. Public Information Officer, told a news conference.

"Lieut. General Nam Il, chief Red delegate, seemed to understand the United Nations position but wouldn't appreciate the logic that we want a line at that position."

Lions Give Witte Award For Perfect 5-Year Attendance

Henry Witte, Jr., was honored last night at the Lion Club's 10th Anniversary Dinner at the Light Grill, for his perfect record of attendance during a period of more than five years at club meetings, and was presented a five-year pin King Lion Club.

Mr. Witte is a past president of the club, a past district deputy of Zone 35-0 and is now serving as a district chairman.

The group enjoyed motion pictures in color made by Clarence Welsh during his fishing trip several months ago with a Sanford group of men to Dry Tortugas in historic Fort Jefferson, south of Key West.

Tall Twister Jack Stenner had a busy evening finishing Lions on various charges, and himself drew a pin for jumping into membership during his travels about the table collecting fines. Proceeds of fines are used to pay the expenses of delegates to conventions.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John V. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. John Lambeth, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stenner, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vanden, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Witte, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Vanden were guests, Otho Lions present were King Lion Carlton, E. N. McCall, Clyde Ramsey and J. N. Robinson, Jr.

District 6, B. P. W. To Meet In Orlando

A meeting of District Six, Business and Professional Women's Club will be held Sunday at Kola Plaza, 481 East Central Avenue, Orlando, it was announced this morning by Miss Elsie Farley who urged those from the local club who could attend, to contact her before noon Friday.

Miss Southwick, state third vice president, will be guest speaker and a work shop program will be carried out. The executive board will meet at 10:30 A. M. and registration will begin at 11:00 A. M.

Luncheon will be served at 1:30 P. M. following the sessions. Miss Helen Bennett, district president, will preside at the meeting.

MINT WITHOUT MONEY
BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Things are really getting tough when even a mint finds trouble making money.

Henry Sporsberg, chairman of the Birmingham mint, told a shareholders meeting yesterday that shortages of copper, zinc and lead have cut down production and customers are being rationed.

Scribes Excused As Mero Incident Excites Kiwanis

Connelly and Clay Walk Out When Club Slaps Ban On Talk

Kiwanians today took action on the issue discussed at the last meeting of whether or not Sheriff P. A. Mero should be invited to explain in the club his position in regard to the new tavern licensing laws, which he recommended to the County Commission.

Reporters were told at the meeting that if they felt obligated to their employers to use information in regard to the discussion led by Mero, they would excuse themselves from the meeting.

Walter L. Hays, president of the American Fire and Casualty Co., Orlando.

He was introduced by John Williams who pointed out that Mr. Hays is one of Florida's outstanding citizens, and a former president of the Florida Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hays declared that during convalescence in a hospital following the illness, he had worked out his principals for the success desired by 98 percent of the people.

He listed as the first element of success the ability to get along with people. This ability, he pointed out, includes enthusiasm, declaring, "an enthusiastic person never wants for friends."

Another factor in getting along with people, he said, is a genuine smile, and cited Andrew Carnegie as stating that Charles Schwab, head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, had a million-dollar smile. Other factors in winning friendship, he said, was to show appreciation to people for their friendship, letting others talk, and not trying to win all the arguments.

Miss Eunice Walker Dies Unexpectedly

Miss Eunice Walker died unexpectedly at 2:00 P. M. yesterday at her home in Orlin Heights, born in Greenville, S. C.

Miss Walker has lived in Sanford for the past nine years after spending the greater part of her life in West Palm Beach.

Miss Walker was a retired registered nurse, a veteran of World War I and a member of the local chapter of the American Legion, a member of the West Palm Beach Baptist Church, and attended the Episcopal Methodist Church while living here.

She is survived by four sisters, Mrs. H. A. Bismeyer of Sanford, Mrs. Floyd Ginter of Bristol, Florida; Mrs. B. E. Sloan of Greenville, S. C.; and Mrs. R. F. Marchbanks of Greenville, S. C.; one brother, John W. Walker of Abbeville, S. C. and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements are in the care of Brison Funeral Home and will be announced later.

July Estimate Of Terminal Profit Set At $13,800

McKibbin Says $6500 Estimate Based On Last Year's Figures

The annual net profit on the Sanford River Port Terminal as estimated by F. C. Hillyer, manager of the Jacksonville Traffic Bureau, on last July 23, is $13,800, and not $6,500, as reported in Monday's Sanford Herald, City Manager Clifford McKibbin pointed out in a letter to the Herald today.

The figure of $6,500 applied to the net profit as estimated on Nov. 10, 1950 by Mr. Hillyer. This figure has never been received, Mr. McKibbin pointed out, because of present higher rates for handling cargoes and lower annual principle and interest charges.

Mr. McKibbin's letter in full is as follows: "Mr. Roland Dean, Sanford Herald, Jacksonville, Florida."

"I notice from the news story contained in the Monday, July 23 issue of the Sanford Herald that it was understood that the profit from the Sanford River Port Terminal would be a net of $6,500 according to a letter from Mr. F. C. Hillyer."

"I am taking this opportunity in the interests of advising your readers the correct amount of the estimated net income as determined by Mr. Hillyer. There has been some discussion in the past as to the economic feasibility of the Terminal and Mr. Hillyer's informative letter is of interest in this connection."

"The letter referred to was sent to E. H. Glendon, whose investment firm has agreed to purchase these bonds and he sent the copy on our information. The figure of $2,000 represents not only bond interest charges but the annual amount necessary to buy back bonds to the end that in 30 years the debt will be completely retired. This leaves an estimated net income, after all operation and debt service charges, of $13,800 which according to the bond resolution can be used for such other municipal purposes as the City Commission may determine."

"The figure of $6,500 was the net income determined in November, 1950, by Mr. Hillyer and his associates. The most recent figure of $13,800 differs from the earlier figure of $6,500 in that interest and principal charges on the bond issue were not completely worked out at that time, and a debt service charge of $13,800 was included in the November study to conservatively take care of bond amortization. In addition to this difference slightly higher rates have been used in the current study in effect in Jacksonville and other terminals for the handling of cargoes, however, these increased handling charges will not affect the overall net of commodity transportation to such a manner as to make water transportation to Sanford any less attractive to shippers."

Sincerely,
"CLIFFORD MCKIBBIN, JR.,
"City Manager."

Eisenhower Supporters Begin Drive For GOP Presidential Nomination

(BIRMINGHAM NOTE: There has been recurring speculation in recent days concerning General Eisenhower's status as a potential candidate for the presidency in 1952. In the following article, AP special correspondent Helman Morin sums up the latest developments.)

By HELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—There was a sudden burst of smoke, and possibly some fire, on the national political horizon today, and most of it was blowing in the direction of General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The presidential conventions are still nearly 12 months away. But politicians and non-politicians suddenly began coming and going, rumormongering from coast to coast, the smoke-filled hotel rooms were getting smokier and the pace of activity was picking up by the minute.

Whether this was merely another form of warm weather diversion, like channel swimming, or a portent of some concrete developments, was difficult to gauge.

In any case, it was pivoting mainly around Eisenhower. The question of his availability as a presidential candidate, and his chances of winning a nomination, were absorbing people of all ranks in most of the 48 states.

Two weeks ago, Herbert Brownell, Jr., campaign manager in 1948 for Governor Thomas E. Dewey—left New York, by automobile, on a long trip. He was headed for New Mexico, via the Carolinas and some other southern states.

Brownell's office declined to answer any questions about the trip. The New York State Republican (Continued on Page Two)

Secretary Of State Calls Red Plan For Line At 38th Parallel Unacceptable

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson rejected today the Communist proposal that a buffer zone be set up in Korea along the 38th Parallel.

Acheson told a news conference the Red wish to go back to a line over which they launched an unprovoked attack to start the Korean war, and he said that is not acceptable.

He added that Secretary of Defense Marshall has made it entirely clear that any demarcation line must be a defensible line.

Events have shown, Acheson said, that this is not true of the 38th Parallel.

He declared that the talks now being held at Kaesong are essentially military talks, but that the Communists have been trying to use them for a political purpose.

By this he apparently meant that instead of being willing to stop the fighting where the armistice lines are and where both sides would have strong defense positions, the Reds have tried to get all of South Korea again as a Communist control while leaving the South to the Allied forces. This would be a return to the situation which existed before the Communist assault last summer.

At the moment, Acheson said, some talks seem to be stalled. The negotiators have had several fruitless meetings.

Acheson also said that General Matthew B. Ridgway and his delegation to the Kaesong meetings have handled their share of the negotiations forcefully and soundly.

Acheson did not express either optimism or pessimism as to the progress of the talks, but neither would he say that they were deadlocked.

He declined to state precisely what the Communist negotiators were seeking in the way of a buffer zone.

21 Girls Leave For Morris' M. Q. Ranch On 4-Weeks Vacation

Twenty-one girls left today for the Morris' M. Q. Ranch operated by Helman M. Morris near Orlin, where more than 70 boys have enjoyed a four weeks program. The camp for girls will continue for the next two weeks.

Serving as counselors are Miss June McGill and Miss Doris Partin, both students of Florida State University and Peggy Wild on a recent graduate of Seminole High School. Mrs. Morris will assist in the program.

The girls who left today to be at the ranch as "counselors" are: Laura Ann Anderson, Elizabeth Dewarff, Faye Garner, Callie Engstrom, Rose Mary Garner, Gladys Hasty, Maggie Jane Lawson, Sandra Lee, Lydia Echols, Mary Tamer, Kay Lee, Joyce Mims, Marie, Berdine, Nancy Reddick, Ann Marie, Rosemary, Grace Marie Stinescoper, Bonnie Stewart, Jean Southwell, Jeanette Pearson, Dottie Williams, and Marjorie Strenge.

The M. Q. Ranch offers many forms of recreation including Clear Lake where the camp is located and where swimming activities will take place. The lake has a white sandy beach and six rowboats are available for use.

Like the boys who have just completed four weeks of fun-packed activity, the girls will enjoy hikes over the many trails of the 7,200 acre ranch. Other recreations will include horseback riding, archery and handcraft. Comprising seven buildings, including a large mess hall and kitchen, a trailing post and five comfortable bunkhouses, the camp will provide comfortable facilities for the girls.
