MANY KILLED, SAY REPORTS ON SEA BLAST

Three Vessels Speed Toward Ship Which Suffered Explosion
and Big Casualties

(AP)—Three steamers last night were plowing through the ice floes off the northern Newfoundland coast toward Horse Island where the sealing ship Viking was blown up Sunday with reported heavy losses in killed and injured.

Among the 150 persons aboard were Capt. William Harry Sargent and A. L. Pyron, members of a sealing picture expedition.

Searing Brothers, Ltd., owners of the ill-fated craft, last night received a telegram from their agents at St. John stating that 50 members of the ship's company had landed at Horse Island. Earlier in the day the company had been advised that 200 persons had been killed and many injured.

C. W. Bowring made public the telegram received from the firm's agents at St. John.

"Very difficult to get details about those men. About 80 have landed at Horse Island. Others making fair progress toward the island."

"Later crowds making their way across the ice bringing disabled men with them."

"No word of Priscill, Penrudd and Sargent."

"Their names not mentioned by the men who have landed, either as dead, injured or missing."

"Weather clear, temperatures moderately cold."

"There has been the signature of Capt. St. John office."

"St. John was the promoter of the sealing picture outfit, boat used in filming northern "shots" with sound. Harry Sargent was an explorer, and A. L. Pyron a camera man.

Bowring Brothers had no news of their captain, Abram Keen, but other advises indicated that he had been seriously injured.

Messages from Harbor Grace told of the captain's fate and added that Capt. St. John, steward, navigator and the ship's doctor were missing.

"The three ships trying to reach the scene were the Imogene, of

PICKING JURY IN LINGLE CASE IS TEDIOUS JOB

Widespread Herald-
ing Of Assassination Is Making It
Hard To Get Jurors

(AP)—Widespread heralding of "Lake" Lingle's assassination last June and the host of events piled in its wake proved a barrier to rapid selection of jurors yesterday for the trial of Leo V. Brothers, charged with slaying the Tribune crime reporter.

As the trial started before a closed-packed throng, both defense and prosecution dwelt consistently on the prominence given the slaying in Chicago newspapers.

At the end of the day only 10 veniremen had been questioned, three being tentatively accepted, six excused for causally or peremptory challenges, and one still on the stand as court adjourned.

The three tentatively in the box were Frank J. Ellerman, Horace Jameson and Edward J. Brown. They withheld the leverage of inquiries about their knowledge of the case through newspaper accounts and their ability to maintain an open mind.

The monotonous selection of jurors was delayed until late in the morning so the prosecution could submit the names of additional witnesses.

Most striking of these was Father John Reynolds of Notre Dame university. He was believed to be the "priest" who witnessed the killing and then faded into the background, never coming forward to reveal himself publicly.

The three other names were Clark H. Applegate, Owen Johnson, (Ky.), and New Orleans race horse owner, brought here from New Orleans by the state attorney's office and the special Lingle "board of inquiry."

Three other names were on the list—Patrick Campbell, Daniel Mills and Margie David, all of Chicago. These three were believed to have been passing through the Michigan boulevard subway when a "blonde man" crept up behind the reporter, fired a pistol at his head and vanished.

Brothers was the calmest person in the dingy court room, displaying a quiet interest and frequently making suggestions to his attorneys. He finally surveyed the crowds at the veniremen with his sleepy eyes. Often he glanced at his mother, Mrs. Rose Jensen, his sister, Mrs. Esther Dick, and Betty Cook, "alibi witness," whose testimony is intended to show Brothers was at a South Side hotel when the bullet was shot.

Nearly all of the money to be spent will be obtained through bond issues to be repaid from taxes collected on gasoline and automobiles. The average tax collected in the 11 states on gasoline is about 4.5 cents per gallon.

More than 600 miles of permanent roads will be constructed in 11 southern states during 1931, representing an expenditure of approximately $200,000,000. These states already have 32,000 miles of improved highways.

How to produce more and better citrus fruit at less cost, and the necessity of modern methods of fertilization and grove care will form the leading topics of discussion at a special meeting of growers of fruits and vegetables to be held in the Gasparoff City Hall tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Professor M. F. DeBush, of Gainesville, will be the featured speaker. He has for many years been studying cultivation and growing of fruits in Florida, and has conducted innumerable experiments which he calls upon to back out statements and assertions made during his talks.

Next year's members of the Committee of 200, the state wide citrus organization which has been in existence for several years, will be nominated at this meeting. A special invitation is extended to ladies, and every grower who has interested in producing greater quantities of let fruit as well as less cost should be present.

Huge Defalcations

(AP)—Representative Murray today introduced in the House a measure to repeal Tennessee's famous anti-evolution act which prohibits teaching evolution in schools supported solely or partly by state funds.

LUKE LEA AND SON INDICTED IN ASHEVILLE

Grand Jury Returns
Charge on Grounds
Of Violating Banking
Laws of State

(AP)—Col. Luke Lea, Tennessee publisher, his son, Luke Lea Jr., and E. P. Charles of Nashville and his officers and directors of the closed Asheville Central Bank and Trust Company were indicted by the Buncombe county grand jury yesterday on a charge of violating the state banking laws.

The indictments marked the third time sweeping legal action has been taken as a result of the failure here late last year of banks with deposits of approximately $20,000,000.

Those against whom true bills were returned yesterday, in addition to the three Nashville men were Wallace B. Davis, Russell C. Davis, Dr. J. A. Sinclair, C. N. Brown, Sam A. Hubbard and Clarence Rankin, officers and directors of the Central Bank and Trust Company.

Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles said those indicted would be called to trial at a special term of Superior Court already ordered for April 20.

Colonel Lea's bond was set for $10,000 and that of Luke Lea Jr. and Charles at $5,000 each. Solicitor Nettles said he had been informed arrangements would be made for posting the bonds without delay.

The Leas and Charles, along with Wallace B. Davis, are charged in an indictment containing six counts with conspiracy to defraud the Central Bank and Trust Company, and by means of the alleged conspiracy with defrauded in the infliction of a total of $800,000 by the issue of certificates of deposit on the Asheville bank payable to the Bank of Tennessee without money or its equivalent being deposited, and through wrongful use of cashier's checks.

Six other indictments were returned against Wallace B. Davis, president of the defunct bank. They involved the alleged issuance of two $100,000 certificates of deposit in the Bank of Tennessee at different times without receiving monetary consideration.

Another alleged that he, Brown, Sinclair, Hubbard and Rankin, directors of the bank on Nov. 15, approved a loan of $56,200 to the new Anglo-French Italian naval agreement, will be tried separately.

Neither Burrell nor Burke testified at the hearing. Burrell was in an Orlando hospital. He was quoted as saying he was taken to a hospital while J. W. Burke, the night marshal, was hit but least, as a member of the Senate.

Senators Malone's stay in London may not last longer than 11 hours.

The Senator's program in London is not definitely arranged but he is expected to accompany Ambassador Davies, for such a trip to London to attend the meeting of the five-power naval experts at which the American view of the recent European naval accord will be explained.

After that it is not anticipated that Senator Malone's holiday trip will be longer delayed, and British, French and Italian experts will proceed to London to meet him.

Testimony brought out there had been hard fact since the election last October. E. L. Jones testified Brown told him Sunday he would "find three men here in the next 48 hours."

Jones and J. Brown referred to the present police chief, the night marshal and a councilman.

Persons arriving at the scene of the shooting said Hobbs and Burrell in their automobile, they said Hobbs clutched a .45 calibre revolver, then, while still another lay on the seat beneath the men.

Four Guards Killed
When Ambushed By Large Band Of Men

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Approximately 100 men armed with shotguns and revolvers ambushed six guards of the Phillips Petroleum Company today as they escorted laborers to tanks of the company and wounded four guards in a gun battle.

The attack was attributed to labor troubles as the tanks of the pipeline company were being drilled by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company under the open shop policy.

As the guards, all special deputies, traveling in three cars, entered about 25 automobiles appeared from the side of the road.

Deputy Jack Johnson said when he warned the men not to approach the laborers they opened fire. About 400 shots were fired. Johnson said the assailants drove away and he was unable to say whether any of them were wounded.

Defeated Police Officers Shoot It Out With 2 Successors

WINTER GARDEN, Mar. 17.—(AP)—The former police chief and night marshal of this town, ousted after last October's election, shot it out on the street yesterday with their successors and were killed.

George Brown, former chief, and Terrell H. Hobbs were killed almost instantly. Police Chief G. S. Burrell was slightly wounded and was taken to a hospital, while J. W. Burke, the night marshal, was unharmed.

A coroner's jury, after hearing witnesses who arrived on the scene after the battle, returned a verdict that Brown and Hobbs met death at the hands of unknown persons. There were no eyewitnesses except the surviving officers.

Neither Burrell nor Burke testified at the hearing. Burrell was in an Orlando hospital. He was quoted as saying he was taken to a hospital while Burke was still another lay on the seat beneath the men.

Testimony brought out there had been hard fact since the election last October. E. L. Jones testified Brown told him Sunday he would "find three men here in the next 48 hours."
