Tariff Bill And Prohibition Top Long List Of Legislative Af- fairs To Be Heard

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—Stirred by a verbal war over prohibition enforcement, the Seventy-first Congress convened today after a holiday recess to find the year-old tariff bill topping a heavy legislative program.

Such solid issues as the tariff bill and a new anti-trust law will hold the center of the stage from time to time, but in the interim will be lurking always the specter of the prohibition controversy, and the ghost of party members of the House and members of the Senate.

They must face primaries in the Spring and summer and election in November, and there are many of them who wish heartily that the present prohibition flare-up had never occurred.

The tenth anniversary of the Eighteenth Amendment, on Jan. 16, will see heavy firing begun along the prohibition front. The day, hope by that time to have put through the resolution creating a joint committee of Congress to pass upon new legislation to tighten enforcement.

It is this joint committee, too, that will receive and consider the preliminary report of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, over which there has been considerable discussion with the commission itself.

Although it is a refusal to discuss it, the Capitol is filled with rumors of a vote upon the 11 men and women who were chosen by President Hoover to find a remedy for public lawlessness. There is a split over prohibition, as well as upon the necessity for a preliminary report which is now in Mr. Hoover's hands.

Some members of the commission did not favor making any report at this time. But with Congress clamoring to know what it was doing, what had been accomplished in eight months and had closed doors, a preliminary report was hastily rushed to completion and delivered to the White House.

The dissenters thought of an undigested proceeding, as well as bad policy. They contended that inasmuch as an emergency committee can be organized to please everyone, it might be possible to compromise at this time, to compromise to congressional procedure, would merely add fuel to the flames, and give opportunity for much additional and unwise legislation.

Paroled Convict Says "Firm Celebrity" Is One Who Killed Actor William Taylor

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 6.—(INS)—An unnamed "film celebrity" killed William Desmond Taylor, actor, in a February 1922, according to an alleged new revelation by Otto Hofner, paroled ex-convict, whose story today was offered to the district attorney's office. A revival in investigation of the eight year old film industry mystery was in prospect.

"I do not believe Otto Hofner knows anything about the William Desmond Taylor murder, and I am not interested sufficiently to make any effort to find out who he is."

This was the declaration today of District Attorney Byron Fitts when he read newspaper dispatches from San Francisco that Hofner had revealed the name of the slayer of the motion picture star.

At the time of the Taylor murder, Fitts was one of the city deputies in the office of District Attorney Thomas J. Waddell.

In District Attorney Waddell's office, who was then in charge, was A. J. Kears, who later succeeded Waddell as district attorney for Los Angeles county. Kears, who is now in the Los Angeles county jail, is expected to be paroled in a few days.

When asked the name of the man who killed Taylor, Kears said he did not know. He said he was in the office of the district attorney at the time of the murder, but he did not see the man who killed Taylor.

The Los Angeles county grand jury, while it was in office, did not investigate the murder of Taylor, but it is believed that the grand jury will investigate the murder of Taylor.

TORCH MURDER IS DISCOVERED NEAR CHICAGO

Identity Of Victim In Blazing Automobile Unknown To Police; Thought Bootlegger

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(INS)—With the engine number of a fire-blackened automobile and a set of keys as the only clues, police today were attempting to establish the identity of a torch murder victim whose body was found in the blazing car.

The victim's body had been soaked in alcohol and then ignited. Evidence of a violent struggle was found about the burning wreckage when discovered on a lonely road south of the city yesterday. Behind the automobile was a pool of blood where the victim had fought a death battle with his assailants, police believe.

The man had been shot through the back of the head and then beaten across the face with a heavy weapon.

Presence of eight five-gallon cans of alcohol in the tonneau of the car led authorities to believe that the man was a bootlegger and that the car was a motor car for the killing. As officers approached the blazing car several minutes before the explosion occurred as the car exploded.

The contents of one of the cans apparently had been spilled over the man's body before a match was touched to it. Canvas jumpers similar to an aviator's flying costume clothed the victim's body.

"Dog Torturer" Of Atlanta Is Finally Put Under Arrest

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 6.—(INS)—Said by police to have confessed to the deed, J. H. Williams, 36, a city mill worker, was arrested here today as Atlanta's "dog torturer," who only last week bound the head of a beautiful English bulldog in a gunny sack, tied its front legs together, and left it in a ditch to die of suffocation.

The arrest of Williams ended an extensive search for the alleged "torturer" whose act fanned local flames into indignation and caused a plea to contribute nearly $400 to a reward for the capture and conviction of the person responsible for the crime.

Williams, according to police, denied it was his intention to torture the animal. He said he had tortured the dog with a rock while it was fighting with other canines on his premises.

Believing the animal badly injured, Williams declared he hit it again to kill it. Later he got a friend to dispose of the body. The prisoner, admitted that he had tied the sack over the dog's head and tied its front feet, police said.

Williams was arrested on a warrant charging cruelty to animals.

Hague Reparation Conference Meets Its First Impasse

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(INS)—The reparations conference called at the Hague, Netherlands to settle post-war problems, met with its first impasse today on the question of Austrian reparations.

According to a Central News dispatch from the Hague, Johann Schober, chief of the Austrian delegation, walked out of the conference when his demands that Austria be freed entirely from reparations payments were refused.

It was previously reported that the former allied nations had reached an agreement with Austria, whereby the latter would be freed entirely from reparations payments provided she relinquished all claims for reimbursements for former Austrian territory which was swallowed up into Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia under the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

According to the Central News dispatch, however, the allied nations apparently renewed their demands for reparations payments in cash for Austria, with the result that the negotiations failed utterly.

The Cock Eyed World Has Many Ear Treats
Although the Fox Movietone production, "The Cock Eyed World," is identified as an all-talking production, it is more than that. It shows in excellent, rare musical ear treats. Some of the song numbers include "So to Me," sung by Bobby as a theme song, "Elenia," by beautiful Lily Damita, will surprise even her most ardent admirers, and "So Long," a thrilling song for Marines.

The matter of incidental music heard from the screen, no play yet directed by Raoul Walsh evidenced more mastery of direction than "The Cock Eyed World," a week at the Milane Theatre.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 6. (INS) - Having been granted some sleep, Edward L. Foley, 61, who appeared before customs officials today and explain his conduct yesterday when, staggeringly drunk, and intimidating two people, he menaced a crowd gathered to see the runner Black Duck, three of whose crew was slain last week by coast guards.

Having pushed the muzzles of his 45 and 38 into the stomachs of several of the crowd, Foley, member of the inland revenue service stationed to guard the Black Duck, put in a call to Boston and asked that reinforcements be sent to aid him in protecting the run ship from a gang of "hijackers." He also gave a vivid description of an attack during the night, although he had not been on duty.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 5.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 77:13, "Who is so great as God as our God?"

Among the citations which followed from the Bible: "I have built upon God at any time, the only one gotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Not materially but spiritually we know Him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth, and Love. We shall obey and adore in proportion as we apprehend the divine nature and love Him unconditionally, existing no more over the corporeality, but relying in the influence of our God" (p. 140).

New Beauty

FOR THE NEW FORD

THE NEW FORD COUPE

Flowing grace of line gives style and distinction to new, roomy Ford bodies. Now on display at dealers' showrooms

THE NEW FORD CARS, shown last Tuesday for the first time, have been enthusiastically received throughout the country. Everywhere it is realized that now, more than ever, the new Ford is a "value far above the price."

One of the distinguishing features of the new Ford bodies is the carefully planned harmony of every detail of design. From the new deep radiator to the tip of the curving rear fender there is an unbroken sweep of line—a flowing grace of contour heretofore thought possible only in an expensive automobile.

LOOKING at the new Ford you are impressed instantly by its smart style and compact, substantial sturdiness. For there is about it a certain character or personality which sets it apart and gives it a fresh and lasting beauty. You will take a real pride in this beauty just as you find a real thrill in the alert, capable performance of the car.

All of the new Ford bodies are finished in a variety of colors, with new striping and new streamline moulding. Interiors have more leg room. Closed cars have adjustable front seats. The smaller wheels, with larger tires, bring the car closer to the road, with a consequent gain in riding comfort and safety.

An additional feature of importance is the Rustless Steel used for the radiator shell, head lamps, hub caps, cowl finish strip and tail lamp.

This Rustless Steel will retain its bright, gleaming luster throughout the life of the car. It will not corrode, rust or tarnish in any kind of weather. Its brilliance is permanent. There is no plate to wear off, crack or scale, for it is the same bright metal all the way through.

The use of this Rustless Steel on the new Ford is a reflection of the enduring quality that has been built into every part of the car.

At today's low prices the new Ford is unquestionably an outstanding value. Check it over feature by feature and you will see that it brings you everything you want or need in a modern automobile:—beauty of line and color . . . safety . . . comfort . . . speed . . . power . . . quick acceleration . . . ease of control . . . economy of operation . . . low up-keep cost . . . typical Ford reliability and long life.
