EDUCATION

heard considerable talk about the first article, both favorable and otherwise. And I've heard of at least one young man, who had dropped out of high school, that has decided to return. We rejoice greatly and feel well repaid for the labor in getting together the facts.

1. The Debt We Owe Our Teachers.
If it is true that the cash value of an education is worth one thousand dollars per annum, and a total of fifty thousand in forty years, whilst an uneducated man cannot earn more than eighteen thousand dollars in forty years, therefore we should feel indebted to our teachers and the state for the gain of twenty-two thousand dollars for each graduate.

2. What Must We Do About It?
Let us as parents and guardians acknowledge our great debt to these faithful officers of the state; and show them our gratitude by sending our children every day of every term, and see that we require our sons, daughters and wards to get their lessons and bring us creditable monthly reports or require them to give a good reason for their failures. If we all will do this our schools will be worth much to our children. I know by experience that I parents and guardians neglect to examine into these monthly reports, they will prove absolutely worthless, and both teachers and pupils suffer from this neglect.

3. To Superintendent and Teachers.
Now, if it is true that the cash value of an education, that may be acquired in 2200 days in both grammar and high schools, is worth twenty-two thousand dollars, and one day in school is worth more than these are not fancy figures but solid facts collected from U. S. Census of Education and Sage's Foundation of Education. I believe if you will look at your labors from this point of view you will not only be encouraged yourselves but you will see to it that each pupil under charge shall do his whole duty towards the state and his parents.

4. To Pupils of All the Schools:
Make this resolve and stand by it: "I must have an education." Let neither pleasure nor profit keep you out of school. Be zealous in all your school duties. I heard of a young girl, and she lives in Sanford and is in the grammar school, who had a chance last summer to go to New York, Niagara Falls and other noted places, but who said, "No, I don't want to miss the time from school." That was fine, was it not? But that is the spirit that should, yea, and must animate every one who has resolved, "I must have an education."
R. B. S.,
Sanford, Fla.

Boats would agree to patronize the boats at least twelve months. A paper to this effect was circulated and every man who was asked signed it. J. T. McLain went before the railroad officials at St. Augustine and presented the matter. The officials asked for time, so a few days were granted them. At this writing their answer has not been received. While Geneva is a small place there are about 70,000 boxes of fruit shipped from here each season, besides other things; accordingly a great amount of guano comes in. The advance in freight rates is the last straw with our citizens, who can avail themselves of the good water route at their command. The citizens are impatiently awaiting the railroad's decision.

THE COUNTRY EDITOR

BY RUBE ALLYN

There is perhaps in no country a type of journalist that duplicates the American country editor. In no country on earth is there such a big percentage of newspaper readers as there is on the American continent.

Theodore Roosevelt was quick to appreciate this when he sued a minor Michigan editor for libel who had accused him of the liquor habit.

No town assumes to be a town without its local editor, and the advancement of the community depends to a considerable extent on the medium he develops for the discussion of affairs relating to the welfare of his town.

The ideal country editor must therefore know and understand the lives and motives of every type of person in his community.

The public service corporations, such as telephone companies, railroads, electric light and power companies, all need his influence when it comes to a discussion of their duty to the public.

Usually a talented writer of experience, he is a man of wide acquaintance and is not afraid to get into the personal business, and the habit of being useful once formed, he accepts it all as part of the day's work uncomplainingly.

He is offered all the unsalaried positions in town, he makes a fairly good living of his own, and he is not afraid to get into the personal business, and the habit of being useful once formed, he accepts it all as part of the day's work uncomplainingly.

Occasionally, however, he rises in his might and demands payment for his services in proportion to their value.

When he succeeds in getting his money back into his business and his newspaper soon becomes the joy and pride of the whole countryside.

Money spent with the country editor is money spent wisely, for the welfare of the community, and the business interests in it, and business men who are fortunate enough to have a country editor of ability and do not contribute liberally to his upkeep by purchasing his goods are not wise to their own welfare nor do they possess the kind of ambition that builds and elevates.

High society has its crude personalities, if a story in one of the magazines is true. FLORIDA'S GROWING DAYS IN EACH YEAR
Northern Half 290 to 330 Days
Southern Half 340 to 365 Days
UNEQUALED IN ANY OTHER STATE IN THE UNION

COME TO SANFORD
With a cold winter, high price of coal and provisions facing the people of the northern states it is high time they were looking towards Florida as a place for spending a comfortable winter far from winter's icy blasts...

Here at the head of deep water navigation on the picturesque and historic St. Johns river, with the best of railroad facilities, with miles of brick paved streets, with thousands of farms where sub-irrigation and drainage have made the country the greatest in the world for growing winter vegetables...

HOW THE WAR STARTED
Everybody has been explain'g how the war in Europe started, but thus far the most lucid description of the causes remote and direct, has been furnished by the Glen Elder Sentinel, a paper out in Mitchell county, Kansas...

So Germany starts for France and slips up, incidentally landing with both feet in the middle of Belgium. 'Get off me stummick,' wails Belgium, 'or I'll bite your leg off,' says he. 'Ouch be patient, Belg,' says Wilhelm. 'Beg pardon; I'll get off when I have you,' says he. 'Excuse me or I'll soak you,' says he. 'Now watch me paste Gaston one,' 'No fair,' says France. 'I wasn't looking, anyway,' says he. 'Take that,' says he, slipping Wilhelm a hot one. 'I hate a fight,' says England, 'but I can bust the jaw of any guy that slaps the jaw of my dear friend Gaston, whom I don't like at all,' he says, 'but will defend till death,' he says. 'You don't hate it worse than me,' says Japan, standing back for an opening. 'Anyhow, you started it,' says Wilhelm to Nicholas. 'You started it yourself,' yells everybody to everybody else, sticking out their tongues. Then they all clinch, and the little fellows dance around watching for a chance to get in a punch and run.

ALPHABETICAL
Over at Bob Holly's balliwick there is a pastor preaching upon the 'Sins of Sanford.' I presume that the fad will spread and the next thing will be heard the 'Omissions of Orlando' to be followed by the 'Torments of Tampa,' the 'Pyrrhonism of Palatka,' the 'Jezebels of Jacksonville,' the 'Motives of Miami' and the 'Zenlots of Zolfo.' All mighty interesting, too, Palm Beach Post.

Since the British have placed the ban on all official news and made the censorship so strict that only the smallest bit can filter through, The Herald has ceased the daily wire bulletins. All we could get was the self same story that there was nothing doing and neither side had made any advances. There is no need for any newspaper to pay telegraph tolls on a guessing contest between a bunch of British and German sap headed censors and all the news that is coming from the front or the rear today is colored to suit the tastes of the army censor who sends it. 'Until something really happens over there we will cut out the bulletins. If the Germans can choke the British lion with a piece of Limburger cheese or the British can kill the Kaiser' with a can of embalmed beef, the Russian bear can squeeze the Austrian calf or the French can stop Germany from making a Welsh rabbit out of the Belgians or any other news can be obtained from the seat of war The Herald will again endeavor to keep up with the filtered and diluted European war bureau.

The Plant City Courier has gone and had a birthday and we didn't even know it. And it is some aged, being just thirty years old although the present editor, Wayne Thomas is not quite that old. At least his wife says so. It is safe to assert that the Courier in all its thirty years was never quite such a fine paper, as it has become under the careful supervision of Wayne Thomas. He goes straight to the point upon all subjects and at present is waging a relentless fight upon the saloons of Plant City, a fight which he will win in the end. We congratulate the Courier upon passing the thirtieth mile stone and sincerely hope that Bro. Thomas may flourish for the next thirty years in the good work that he has started.

Wonder what is the matter with Bob Holly, the genial editor of The Sanford Herald? In his paper caption he has a line reading: 'In Sanford—Life is Worth Living.' Right over on the next page in the issue of the 13th is this statement: 'Verily, Sanford needs a few first class funerals.' Further comment is unnecessary.—Gainesville Sun.

Rube Allyn's Sarasota Sun comes now in a small capsule all rolled up tightly and from the looks of it must be rolled by steam and wrapped by electricity. The best goods always come in small packages and Rube's Sun is no exception to the rule.

Patriotize Home Industries
There is one thing in which Florida is somewhat backward. That is the exploiting of her own manufactured goods. Statistics tell us there are over 5,000 manufacturing enterprises in the state and we have no doubt but that their products are as good as those of other makers in the same lines, and just as reasonable or cheaper. We read of a cannery being started at some point in the state and suppose there are others in actual operation, but the shelves of our stores are filled with can goods, the contents of which are often grown here at home, bearing the name of some city far to lines partake of the same characteristics. The people living in Florida, and especially those who are recent arrivals are full of booming energy and it would not take much to build up a sentiment for 'Made in Florida' goods which would overwhelm the makers with orders. Two things are essential to put a line in this enviable condition—quality and publicity. We take it for granted that our manufacturers are producing products of quality.

We are sending out of the state for the purchase of necessities, large sums of money which we all want to see remain in circulation within our own boundaries, and if our manufacturers will get into the lime light where we can see them, and tell us what they have to offer we will make them hustla to supply us.

To do this systematically they must advertise, and Florida has publicity agents who are cracker-jacks in putting things right before the people. If you are putting up a first class can of tomatoes let this agency place that fact effectively before the citizens of the state and they will gladly demand the home product of their merchants, as against the Indiana or Maryland packs, in such numbers that the producers will have to work overtime to meet the orders. The same thing is true with other lines.

A few days ago a shoe agent was exhibiting his samples in a store in this town. A northern man who had elected to spend the balance of his life in Fellsmere, but who has not yet acquired the right to vote, picked up a shoe on which was stamped the legend, 'Made in Atlanta, Ga. The man asked the salesman, 'Is this line all made there?' and on being informed that all his goods were made by this particular factory, turned away with the remark, 'That is the stuff; southern goods for southern people.' This is a good illustration of the spirit underlying all our live citizens, and it is up to our Florida manufacturers to show their lines through a system of efficient publicity, to secure enthusiastic support and increased orders. Fellsmere Tribune.

Florida Tomatoes Best

The Times-Union of recent date says: "That Florida canners can claim the same trade quality with those of Maryland and other states is the opinion of J. D. Rooney, secretary of the Marion county board of trade. Cited as his authority is Secretary Wiley of the Western Association of Truck Growers. Being an official of the American Cannery Association, Secretary Wiley some months ago made a trip to Ocala. At that time he compared tomatoes grown and canned in this state with those from Maryland. He is reputed to have stated that the Florida product was superior to that of Maryland. Just at present the plan of getting the Florida wholesaler and brokers to push the sale of the canneries' products is the general problem. It is believed to be a fact that nearly all of the canned tomatoes and other vegetables used in Florida are brought in from other states. Several members present here at the recent organization meeting of the Florida vegetable marketing bureau, said that the over ripe product of Florida's vegetable farms should be directed to the canning plants. Owing to the fact that Florida tomatoes compare well with those of other states, it is believed this should encourage such industry together with the establishment of canning plants. It is the belief of Mr. Rooney that a canning community in many sections of the state will soon be a reality.—Ocala Banner.

Sanford Herald says every farmer in Bradford county will have pork for sale this winter on account of such an increase in the hog supply. These farmers will hardly "get on the pig" as long as they have a pork

WOMAN'S CLUB

Social Department. The Social Department of the Woman's Club began its season under the most favorable auspices Tuesday afternoon at the home of the chairman, Mrs. A. W. Fitts, Jr., with an attendance of seventy. The chairman was well pleased with the enthusiastic interest that prevailed and believes the outlook is most encouraging for a successful season. Four tables of bridge were played. Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin making top score and winning a cut glass nappy.

Literature Department. A very delightful meeting of the Literature Department was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Wight Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance, the chairman, Mrs. Mar-

Business of importance was disposed of, after which Miss Alice Tetherly gave a particularly fine paper on the "Literary Landmarks of New England." There was, all through the lines of her paper, a charming personal note of experiences that created a delightful impression. "Vacation Echoes" was a pleasing part of the program that was much enjoyed, the members present telling of their vacation experiences in a way that was amusing and delightful.

That the outlook for the club year promises a season of activity and co-operative effort that will arouse enthusiasm and an individual interest that will insure excellent results, is the opinion of the officers and members of the club.

The new club quarters will be ready for occupancy next week to the delight of the members. The social department will open the rooms with a dinner on Tuesday evening.

Missionary Sunday

Last Sunday morning (11th) at the Sanford Methodist Sunday school was the regular missionary each monthly second Sunday. The previous Sunday the superintendent requested that we try and complete our own voluntary missionary offering for this year, being for the special support of a native foreign worker. The whole school took the request to heart, the proposition appealing especially to the younger boys and girls, resulting in this regular monthly second Sunday offering of $25. We had a total of 180 present also we had a very interesting short program as we do each second Sunday of the month (see program). The committee for Farnsworth and Miss Lucia Chappell.

Missionary program. Reading: A Little Heart Hook by Mrs. B. B. Marshall. Reading: Young Japan by Miss Kathleen Steinmeyer. An Exercise, "A Bag of Wishes," Seven Girls.

The foundation of this Sunday school's success is due to the spiritual and moral instruction which is conducted by the church being in large measure the work of a native foreign worker. The whole school took the request to heart, the proposition appealing especially to the younger boys and girls, resulting in this regular monthly second Sunday offering of $25. We had a total of 180 present also we had a very interesting short program as we do each second Sunday of the month (see program). The committee for Farnsworth and Miss Lucia Chappell.

Lauradean Libbey's Talks on Heart Topics

TOO YOUNG FOR WISDOM.

To idolize our very dreams, Women were given us for this, And every power in nature seems To teach us how to love and kiss.

Was there ever a mother who did not believe her daughter the embodiment of good judgment?

She will tell her friends with pride: "My girl is only sixteen, but she knows more than many a girl of twenty, or over. She can be depended upon to take care of herself." If the daughter is obliged to seek an occupation early the mother seldom looks beyond the fact that the girl is well known.

The girl is thrown in with an entirely new set of companions of both sexes, but the parent thinks her child will make friends with the best of them, and lets it go at that.

While there are some maidens of sixteen demure and thoughtful, there's more truth than poetry in the old saying, "You can't put an old head on young shoulders."

It takes either years which bring their fullness of knowledge or passing through tribulations to unfold wisdom in the mind. A girl's surroundings, and companions have everything to do with choosing the path into which she will walk.

It is not always the merry, rollicking companions of either sex that lure a girl from the straight and narrow way. It is usually the wolf in sheep's clothing which entices the lamb. Through her business she is brought in contact with married as well as single men. She does not know how much to believe and how much to reject of what they tell her. She feels sorry for the man who confides to her the secret of his sighs, that he is wedded to a woman who is old enough to be his mother and discovered their unsuitability each for the other when it was too late; that they had lived apart for years, although bound by chains which would not break.

His doleful tales work upon her sympathies. She is too young for wisdom to understand that he is feeding her on a tissue of falsehoods, hoping to gain her attention and sympathy. An older girl, who had heard of just such men, would turn a deaf ear to his plaint.

With the girl too young for wisdom, if her pity is aroused, she is unsuspecting, and her tender heart, which has been too easily moved, may cause her to err in her judgment. Such a man may vary his story to that of having an invalid wife; that he has no companionship and is lonely. Unless a girl is unusually unsuspecting she realizes that by this talk he is trying to befoul her, that no sympathy should be extended to the man who is seemingly aggravated because his heart mate has been stricken with illness. A mother should be the confidant of a young daughter, and should inform herself as to a girl's associates and companions. She should be able to ward off evil influences. She might alter what would otherwise end in the tragedy of a young life.

ONE FAITHFUL HEART TO PRAISE HIM.

Oh happy love where love like this is found! O heartfelt rapture, bliss beyond compare! If Heaven a draft of heavenly pleasure spare, 'Tis when a youthful loving, modest pair In other's arms breathe out the tender tale. Beneath the milkwhite thorn that scents the evening gale.

When success crowns a man's life there are plenty to sing his praises. It's the man who is down and out who knows the worth of the world's homage. If he has been fortunate to gain the love of one honest heart, he is rich amid all of his poverty. He may strive only to meet with failures, which may bow him to earth, but if there is one faithful heart to praise him, whose faith in him never falters, there will be one bright rift showing through his clouded sky. One word of sympathy in the hour he needs it most can make this dull, cold world a paradise on earth for him. It will give him courage to try once more for that dear woman's sake.

It is those who have one loved one to whom they are precious who faint and fall by the wayside. Nobody knows, nobody cares, is the sob on their despairing lips. If there was but one faithful heart to cheer him on his struggles, might not be in vain. What matters it to him though men and women turn a cold shoulder to him if there's one faithful heart that beats all for him?

It is the want of just one faithful one which causes men to drift into the swirling tide of misfortunes and make no effort to stem the tide which sweeps on to destruction. It may be mother love, which shines across the beaten path when hope is the darkest with him. Or, perhaps, it is a wife who has linked her fate with his for better or for worse, uttering no moan though fate has been unkind to them. There is a time in every man's life when success seems to elude him. At such a time, the love of one faithful heart can steady him until the crisis has passed and he has turned defeat into victory.

When success attends him, let no man forget the faithful heart that has stood by him in his troubles. If he shows coldness, a change toward her, when his sky has cleared, then he deserves that the wheel of fate shall revolve again, and he will know what it is to battle without the one faithful heart to upraise him. The love of a sweetheart who is faithful and true in adversity is a blessing direct from heaven. As a wife, her love will prove a crowning blessing, a link to bind him steadfast to courage.

No matter how humble the heart may be that truly loves him, he should prize that more than the world's gold, which may turn to dross at a time he least expects. Let each cherish one faithful heart that will praise him.

TRICE'S TRUMPETER

(Articles Published under this heading furnished by M. P. A. Bureau, Jacksonville)

Has the world slipped a cog, lost a joint of its backbone, added its brain or what? Since the creation of the world there never was such a crop of millenium architects roaming over the face of the earth, and likewise heaven was never so shocked by such a reign of rapine and murder. Unleashed are the dogs of war in almost every country except our own and heathen China, and so common has become the carnage of the nations that we scarcely stop to read the details of a conflict when the killed is less than five or ten thousand. It is too insignificant.

We have not voted in the melee, but is it from a sense of virtue or expediency? Whatever the object it has merit, and if Wilson remains at the helm we will likely escape the horrors of war, even though Wilson is a Local Option man.

Speaking of a surfeit of crime, we do not have to look to Europe to be horrified. Only a short time ago I read of a child killed by its own mother. I believe it was in dry Suwannee. Then we were shocked by an unmentionable crime in dry Leon, for which two prominent sober citizens are now in jail. Dry Jefferson quickly came across with a double killing over a pig worth perhaps one dollar. Calhoun by the edict of the self-righteous suspended the law for a day and became dry nolens volens, and is now crying that drunken men obstruct dress and egress to church doors. Dry Holmes, according to the despatches, has revived the "Ku-Klux-Klan." But Virginia has voted out everything but hard cider, and the millenium builders are correspondingly happy.

Virginia! For years revelling in the glory of being the "brightest star in the southern constellation"—the home of Patrick Henry—the Confederate capitol whose hills have been bathed and whose streams have been dyed crimson with the blood of the defenders of liberty. Who ever thought she would haul down the banners of her defenders and voluntarily place her neck in a yoke as working mate with West Virginia? And to think that the inspiration should have come from Maine.

It is not so bad in Virginia as it could be elsewhere, after all. She has her apples, Apple Jack and hard cider, so it is possible she will not be so pestered with blind tigers as other dry communities are. (Advt.)

Christian Endeavor Notes
Greetings have recently been sent to the great conventions in New Jersey and New York, and the annual anniversary celebration of Maryland Endavorers. From Mr. Nuesle, the long time introduction superintendent in New Jersey came this message, "Greetings from the annual 28th state convention in Jersey City. Although the sun is hidden behind the clouds outside we are having the light of another shining in our midst making everything bright." In the three conventions almost here in Florida we are apt to have much sunshine, but we need that other kind of warmth and comfort just like New Jersey comrades do.

A nice program is made for Tavares where Central district convenes Oct. 16-18th, with theme, "Service." The week after comes the time for Southwestern workers in St. Petersburg; and yet one week later, the trio of conventions closes in Sanford. One especially nice feature here is that the convention sermon Sunday morning in the Congregational church is to be preached by the Presbyterian pastor, Rev. E. D. Brownlee. This is getting down to the heart of real Christian living.

Our workers are paying up, and Treasurer Cavanagh rejoices. Late contributions to Endeavor causes have been headquarters pledges. St. Cloud Presbyterians, five dollars from Pomona Congregationalists, and a welcome ten from Presbyterian young folks. First Presbyterian Society, Tampa, gave toward the Secretary's last year's salary, and the Juniors of Magdalene reminded us that this United Brethren society and their older relations in the Young People's Society, same church never fail, year after year. "The Christian Endeavor World" put a nice mention in the paper about our sending the fund fifty dollars the week Dr. Clark had a birthday.

In Jacksonville and Daytona conventions, and rallies of middle Florida and in Tampa, during Dec. 6-10th, our workers from most sections can get to hear Karl Lehmann. His topics for addresses look tempting, and he also lends conferences on Endeavor work in both conventions. It is hoped the Tampa City Union will be organized when he comes if not before, and for south-central district, such splendid possibilities must be realized in some forward steps that will be of lasting benefit.

Several friends noticed the mimeograph letter pleas for the introduction of the department and have sent names and addresses of members leaving for the winter or longer. This is a splendid division of our work and would be of mutual service if more would remember about it.

Remember Christian Citizenship Day, Oct. 18th, 1914, and we will joyfully use the ballot. GRACE A. TOWNSEND

Party Gown for the Young Girl

ORGANDIE, mull, batiste, cotton volles, silk muslins, challi or any other of the semi-transparent materials, are suited to the design for a party gown such as that shown in the illustration. Those fabrics that have a plain surface—that is, without printed or woven-in figures—admit the use of scattered sprays of hand embroidered flowers and are the more elegant by the introduction of these most desirable of all decorations. Fine organdie and batiste and cotton volles, of the best quality, are lasting enough to merit the work which hand embroidery involves.

These plain fabrics may be embellished with set-in medallions and scrolls of fine lace insertion in place of hand embroidery. These same decorations are used on the thin figured materials which may be preferred to the plain fabric. They look equally well on either.

The frock shown here is made of fine white muslin with a plain underskirt and a tunic which is made of the material laid in fine side plaits. The bottom of the underskirt is finished in shallow scallops and there a few sprays of daisies and lilies-of-the-valley are scattered on its surface. These sprays do not appear on the tunic. Its only decoration is a narrow insertion of French val lace at the top of the hem.

The easy-fitting blouse has set-in sleeves, V-shaped neck and surplice fastening at the front. Insertion like that on the tunic is set in at each side, forming a panel down the front and back of the blouse. In these panels, and in the side pieces, sprays of embroidery like those on the skirt appear. The arm's-eye is large and the sleeves straight. The sleeves are finished with a hem having the insertion at its top and decorated with embroidered sprays. They are cut long enough to allow a little draping at the elbow where the material is caught up in two folds. The bodice is finished with a turnover collar having a narrow hem and insertion.

This little frock is worn over a petticoat having a border of figured satin ribbon about the bottom. There is a crushed girdle of the same ribbon. Each wearer selects the manner of fastening the girdle which suits her best. A small flat bow at the back is to be recommended for youthful wearers.

MONTICELLO MAY BE A HOME FOR PRESIDENTS.

Story of Historic Estate Offered to the Government For $500,000.

Announcement by Representative Jefferson M. Levy of New York of his willingness to sell to the government as a national shrine Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, renews interest in the historic property near Charlottesville, Albemarle county, Va. Mr. Levy's price is $500,000.

Mrs. Martin W. Littleton of New York began her celebrated campaign to have the government take over the estate about three years ago. Mr. Levy had objected to selling the place. Now that he has consented to giving it up he does so with the express stipulation that the property when acquired by the federal government be made the Virginia home of the presidents for their occasional occupancy.

Admiral Uthah P. Levy, U. S. N., willed Monticello to the people of the United States, but his will was contested by heirs, and the courts upheld them. Jefferson M. Levy, his nephew, soon afterward purchased the shares of the other heirs and became sole owner.

The estate includes 218 acres of land assessed at a little more than $20,000. The buildings were assessed at $120,000. Representative Levy is said to have spent $1,000,000 on the property. The house is but a single story structure, with a white dome above it built upon an attic octagon. Two spacious porches with white Doric columns face east and west and mark the main entrances. The house contains much of the original furniture, and most of that which could not be recovered has been reproduced.

The University of Virginia is intimately linked in association with Monticello. It was from the porch and windows of this mansion that Jefferson in his old age, with the aid of a telescope, watched the erection of the university buildings.

Four short miles from the spot where he afterward founded the university, Jefferson commenced the building of his home in 1764 and called the place Monticello. Heavily in debt on leaving the presidency, he sold off portions of the estate and finally gave up his library. Two weeks after his death his daughter, Mrs. Randolph, was forced to sell it. It was finally disposed of to James M. Barclay, the heirs of the estate obtaining only $7,000. Ten years later Uthah Levy bought it from Barclay for $2,700.

ELECTRIC OVEN STOPS POISON

Breaker Who Drank Bichloride of Mercury is Saved by New Method.

A new method for the treatment of bichloride of mercury poisoning has come to light in the recovery of David R. Beach, a New York broker. The latest method consists in causing a perspiration by applying to the body the heat of an electric oven at a temperature of about 300 degrees.

Mr. Beach drank a glass of water to which, unknown to him, there had been dissolved twenty-two grains of bichloride of mercury. As he was drinking the last of the water he noticed the metallic taste and immediately made inquiry. Dr. Paul Pilcher of Brooklyn applied a stomach pump. This, however, was ineffective, as were repeated doses of milk and the whites of eggs. Then the electric furnace was tried. After three weeks' treatment Mr. Beach is attending to business as usual, the only change being that he is still restricted in diet.

GERMANY SHY ON GLASS EYES

England May Have to Import Them Via America.

German made glass eyes may soon have to be imported by England via America, as the supply on hand is already exhausted, and the suspension of commerce as well as patriotic reasons makes it impossible to get them direct from Germany.

IN DISASTER AT SEA

TRAVELER TELLS OF ACTIONS OF FELLOW PASSENGERS.

Little Excitement, Although All Knew the Ship Was Injured, and Later Deep Thankfulness for Preservation From Death.

I have often wondered how people would act, how I myself would feel, in the event of a disaster at sea. I had the opportunity of finding out the other night, when in the darkest hour just before dawn, in a dense fog, the ship on which I had sailed from Southampton, the New York, was rammed by the Pretoria, 400 miles from New York.

I was awakened by the stopping of our engines and the violent churning of the screw as the ship backed water. Then, out of the impenetrable darkness was heard the hoarse shriek of another foghorn than our own, which, at intervals of a minute, had been following for hours. I knew that another vessel was approaching, and every minute drawing nearer.

Then came a shock, sharp though not very violent, and I knew we had been struck. Sailors and stewards rushed past to take up their stations at the boats, and two or three minutes later the huge bulk of the Pretoria, towering above our craft, glided by so near that I could touch her with my hand, while she tore away part of our bulwarks in passing.

Then the passengers began to pour up from the cabins in scanty attire, many with life preservers buckled on. There were no hysterics, and surprisingly little evident excitement, but all quietly awaited the end which we thought was near, until in a few minutes the officers reported that the hole in our side was above the water line. It was big enough, however, to admit two or three trolley cars abreast, and a huge anchor of the Pretoria, weighing five tons, was found imbedded in our bow, while the iron plates of our ship were twisted up like shavings.

For nearly twenty-four hours more the fog continued with brief intermissions, and this evidently got on the nerves of the passengers even more than the shock of the first moment of the collision. Some tried to throw off their nervousness by singing rag-time tunes, others by playing cards, and not a few, I am glad to say, by looking to a higher power, and remembering that the father in heaven ruled the waves.

It was a time when many hearts were tender, and any appeal to their gratitude and reverence went home. Sunday morning, the next day after the accident, just before reaching port, I asked permission of the purser to hold a thanksgiving service, which was readily granted. I never knew an audience to be more responsive. There were few dry eyes in the crowded main room as we voiced our gratitude in song and prayer and brief words of thanksgiving. Tears streamed down the faces of many strong men, and the impressive service will never be forgotten by any who attended.—Christian Herald.

New Theory About Gravity.

In an extreme and interesting paper on gravity Professor McLaren considers the universe as possessing four dimensions, and also retains the notion of time. The universe so considered is regarded as changeless, but not timeless, and differs in this respect from Minkowski's four dimensional universe.

Professor McLaren considers that throughout the universe there is but one ultimate substance. This substance has however two forms, "matter" and "ether," which are exclusive one of the other.

Matter is a region where the fluid grows or decays. This theory strongly resembles that proposed long ago by Bernard Riemann.

Professor McLaren pleads for an unprejudiced examination of these views, revolutionary as they are, in view of the widespread feeling that there is something amiss with the classical mechanical theories of matter.

Religious Motive.

"A missionary's first duty is to learn to 'think black,'" said Bishop Maphalt Lucecock in a missionary Sunday address in Helena. "Until he learns to think black—learns to think, that is, as his dusky converts do—he will accomplish little, for he won't understand his flock."

"He won't understand, for example, a man like Ali. Ali, a fat, lazy, rascal, was converted from the Mohammedan faith to Christianity. A Mohammedan, you know, can drink no alcoholic beverages."

"Well, Mr. Goodes, Ali's missionary, came on the new convert one evening in the market place, drunk."

"Why, Ali! he said, reproachfully. 'Why, Ali, what religion have you just professed?'"

"Same religion as massa's. All answered. 'Plenty rum drink.'"

Scores Modern Mothers.

Dr. Gilbert Fitzpatrick of Chicago, president of the Obstetrical Society of the American Institute of Homeopathy, said recently at a convention that the modern mother is a poor mother and the direct cause of the high rate of mortality. These women, he said, are defectives and muscular degenerates. They are poor mothers, weaklings, mentally, morally, physically, and even socially, when the country's welfare and race betterment are hanging in the balance.

A Statement from Dr. Armstrong in Regard to His Riverview Property at Jacksonville

To my many friends and buyers of Riverview property, I wish to make a statement, giving a few facts in regard to this rapidly developing suburb of Jacksonville.

I have had the question put to me several times recently, why I do not advertise Riverview now as I formerly did. Here is my answer:

Riverview has been so well advertised, and the sales of this property have been so enormous, the developments so great, that there is a steady demand for the property without saying a word through the press.

Riverview Today Looks Like a Young City in Its Self

The great million and a half city docks are being built out our way. The Carpenter-O'Brien great two and one-half million dollar mills are out beyond us, and the hundreds of thousands of dollars now being spent in Riverview, and around us, is creating a demand for this property that puts us in a position where we do not need to spend another dollar in advertising through the press.

Special Reserved

Dr. Armstrong has withdrawn from the market two hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of his choicest lots and will hold them while the present great developments are going on in this section, and will replace them on the market when the prices will range one thousand dollars for inside lots and three to four thousand dollars for his riverfront lots.

Riverview is making one of the finest investments to the large or small investor in the entire state of Florida. A place where a man or woman may spend five or ten dollars a month for a few years and realize thousands of dollars profit.

Over Three Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth of This Property Already Sold

Scores of fine homes have been built, beautiful streets and avenues all laid off, fourteen miles of streets opened up and set out in shade trees, beautiful parks and drive ways laid off, and a state of progress shown on every side.

Dr. Armstrong, the owner, and his family are now taking a cruise in Southern waters and may be seen in person during the week of 19th to 24th of October, here in Sanford.

Wisdom of the Bee.
"Our plan is very different," said the bee. "We work in the summer to lay up a store of food against the season when we forego we shall want it; but those who do nothing but drink and dance and sing in the summer must expect to starve in the winter."—Old Fable.

SEMINOLE SCHOOLS ARE IN THE BEST OF CONDITION

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT SHOWS GOOD ATTENDANCE AND RESOURCES

The schools of Sanford and of Seminole county are at once the joy and pride of every man, woman and child residing in the county and though Seminole county is the baby county of the state the schools are among the best in the south.

Good school facilities are the lodestone that attract the majority of the home seekers in new territories and the schools of Seminole have attained a reputation second to none.

During the past year Seminole county maintained ten white schools with an enrollment of 1023, and an average attendance of 830; and eight negro schools with an enrollment of 725 and an average attendance of 526.

Abolishing County Treasurers

Another amendment submitted by the last legislature for the adoption by the people is one looking toward the cutting down expense and the lessening of the burdens on the taxpayers.

The county treasurership has always been an anomaly. There was never any real reason why any person should draw a very substantial stipend for work that could as well be done by some other county official or by some other institution, without cost.

The county treasurer receives money from the collector and pays it out on the orders of the county commissioners. He is paid for the work by a certain percentage on the amount handled.

Any bank in the community would take upon itself the same labor, and instead of reimbursing the county for the work performed would be glad to pay the county interest on the balances carried in the treasury.

An amendment upon which the people will vote at the election next month, proposes the abolishment of the office of county treasurer, with all its attendant cumbersome and cost to the taxpayer.

THE WAR SITUATION IN EUROPE STILL REMAINS UNCHANGED

IT IS REPORTED THAT THE ALLIES HAVE SUCCEEDED IN RETAKING CITY OF OSTEND

A struggle for the possession of the strip of French sea coast nearest to the shores of England was the most interesting phase of the war situation today.

British naval forces are reported to have joined in the movement with the allies, who are making a determined stand on the Belgian frontier against the westward drive of the German right wing.

The exact battle line is not known. This afternoon's official French statement says that the German artillery has attacked without success "the front from Nieuport to Vladislo, to the east of Dixmude."

Paris states that the allies are moving on Lille, which was occupied by the Germans on October 13.

An earlier dispatch from London, stating that the Germans were bombarding Lille, may have reference to events prior to October 13, and have been delayed in transmission from France to London.

There is nothing from Berlin to reveal the position of the Germans that are contending for the coast line. There is no doubt, however, that they are bound for Dunkirk and Calais and are prepared to meet a strong resistance.

Rains that caused much suffering to the troops in France earlier in the campaign are falling again on the battlefields so continuously that great hardships result.

Germans and Austrians have completed bad weather in Russian Poland. They claim, however, to be making progress along the Vistula. Petrograd asserts that the invasion has been definitely checked.

Nothing is definitely known of the fate of Papanicolaou in Galicia. Best information is that it is still holding out against the Russians. Vienna reports that the siege of the city has been broken.

An Italian destroyer was captured by a British cruiser in the Adriatic today.

Japan lost the cruiser Takachiho, which struck a mine while patrolling off Tsingtau. Two hundred and seventy-one officers and men perished.

Additional Canadian troops were landed at Avonmouth, England, today.

The Turkish government has refused the British demand that the German crews be discharged from the cruisers Goeben and Breslau which Turkey bought from Germany.

How Prohibition Works in Kansas

At the meeting of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society last Friday night the subject of temperance and prohibition was discussed, and among the interesting facts and figures which were produced was a startling paper from the Attorney General of Kansas on how prohibition had worked in his state.

- 1. More than half the county jails in Kansas are empty.
2. Sixty-five out of 105 counties in the state have no convicts in the state penal institutions.
3. Many counties have had no criminal jury trial in ten years.
4. Eighty seven counties have no insane.
5. Fifty-four counties have no feeble minded.
6. Ninety-six counties have no inebriates.
7. Twenty-nine counties have not a single inmate on their poor farms.
8. Kansas is the second richest state in the Union, her per capita wealth is $1700.
9. They have the lowest death rate in the world—7 1/2 per thousand.
10. Less than 10 of the 786 newspapers of the state will accept whisky advertisements.

A GET TOGETHER GROWERS MEETING SATURDAY, NOV. 7

GOVERNOR TRAMMELL DESIGNATES FARMERS' AND GROWERS' DAY

Tallahassee, Fla., Oct. 20. Gov. Park Trammell today issued the following address to the people of Florida:

To The People of Florida—The rather wide spread disturbance in commercial and financial conditions which have been experienced since the outbreak of the great European war have furnished the most forcible lesson taught to the present generation that agriculture is in fact the foundation stone of our National greatness and prosperity.

It is proper and needful, therefore, that all citizens imbued with public spirit and with regard for the future advancement of our state and our country, as well as for the material interest of the particular section in which they live, should be zealous and untiring in the promotion of all movements well designed to benefit our varied agricultural, horticultural and trucking industries.

Over six weeks ago when the effects of the European war first began to be felt in the scarcity of many ordinary commodities and in the rapidly advancing prices of many articles of food, I issued an address to the farmers of Florida and to all citizens of the state who own or control lands, urging that they make arrangements for the planting and cultivation of extensive crops as circumstances would permit.

Very soon thereafter, I again addressed the people of Florida, urging that they make arrangements for the planting and cultivation of cotton, paying therefor not less than ten cents per pound.

It has been very gratifying to note that considerable interest has been manifested throughout the state in the diversification of crops, and that the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement has hearty support in many sections of the country.

As indicative of the benefits to be derived through cooperation, I desire to call the attention of the public to the fact that, within the past week an organization was formed at a meeting in Jacksonville held by a number of citizens from different parts of the state, known as the Florida Twenty Thousand Bale Club, its purpose being to assist needy cotton growers in selling their cotton at a fair price.

interested in all other agricultural, horticultural and trucking activities should get together in their respective localities at an early date to discuss present and future conditions, and to form voluntary organizations to push forward all worthy and helpful movements, which offer beneficial results with respect to the planting, cultivation and marketing of all the numerous crops which combine to make Florida a rich and fertile agricultural wealth.

That I might suggest a common date for the holding of meetings in each county of the state by all persons interested directly or indirectly in farming, fruit growing or trucking, and I therefore designate Saturday, November 7, 1914, as Farmers' and Growers' Day throughout the state of Florida; and I respectfully and urgently request that in each county, or where it is deemed advisable, in each locality the farmers and citizens generally gather at convenient places and give careful thought and discussion to ways and means of protecting and advancing their interests, and of arousing and stimulating interest in all measures affecting the prosperity of their respective localities as well as to all matters affecting the general welfare of the state.

An earlier date is not suggested for the reason that it is considered advisable, and it is now recommended, that prior to the 7th of November the people in their respective localities hold preliminary meetings at such time as may suit their convenience for the purpose of discussing plans and measures to be submitted for more general consideration at the larger gatherings contemplated to be held Nov. 7th.

Florida is today one of the most prosperous states of the Union and enjoys a high rank in the matter of per capita wealth. Her prosperity and high standing can be even more advanced, however, by proper cooperation and organization in the interest of her farmers and growers who contribute so greatly to the state's development.

Very soon thereafter, I again addressed the people of Florida, urging that they make arrangements for the planting and cultivation of cotton, paying therefor not less than ten cents per pound.

PAY YOUR AUTOMOBILE TAX

TAX COLLECTOR REPORTS FAILURE OF MANY TO PAY WHEN DUE

SEMINOLE COUNTY LEADS IN THE CATTLE INDUSTRY

STOCKMEN REALIZE OVER TWELVE HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR A CAR LOAD

The Jacksonville Metropolis is running a head entitled "Plant More Hens," which is good enough in its way but does not cover the field. We would supplement that by adding, "Plant more cattle, sheep, hogs and goats," for in this our future prosperity will expand greatly and redound to our credit.

Cattle raising in the past has been confined somewhat to the Kissimmee prairies and only in the past year have our people woken up to the possibilities of raising cattle in this part of the state upon a large scale.

Seminole county can beat that and two of our cattlemen have probably reached the high water mark this week in the shipment of a car load of cattle to a Jacksonville firm. The cattle brought $35.63 a head, the car bringing over $1200.

Verily, plant hens, plant cattle, plant hogs, plant sheep. Many twenty years ago a young German, who had mastered a valuable process for the manufacture of certain chemicals, came to this country to be nearer his chief markets.
