Area FHP Trooper Slain In Miami

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Many in Seminole County's law enforcement community are mourning the death of Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Bradly Steven Glascock, killed early today when he stopped a traffic violator at a 10-cent toll booth on Miami's East-West Expressway. Within hours of the trooper's death, police had found the car and followed a trail of blood at least three blocks to a Miami complex where an unidentified man was taken into custody. Police said the person in custody was a witness, not the gunman wanted in the slaying.

"He was a good officer and a good friend, a really nice guy," said Oviedo Police Chief Kenneth Triplett, on whose department Glascock had served as a reserve officer. Glascock had volun-tered his time at no pay for two-to-three years prior to joining the highway patrol.

He worked in security at Walt Disney World, but gave many hours as a reserve officer for the Oviedo department on weekends and at "any other time he could get off from his regular job," Triplett said.

Glascock, 25, visited with the department about six months ago, Triplett remembered, and "first one and then the other of the men received letters from him all the time."

Triplett said the officer lived for a time on Little Lake George, off Dean Road.

Trooper Glascock's uncle, former Casselberry Council Chairman Charles Glascock, said that his nephew was born and grew up in Orlando and graduated from Winter Park High School with the class of 1971.

The officer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Glascock; brother, Britt; and sister, Robin, aunts, uncles and cousins all live in the area. The body will be brought back to Central Florida for funeral ceremonies and burial, his uncle said.

"And we (the Oviedo police department and other law enforcement friends) will be there," Triplett said. He had many friends in the sheriff's department, the chief said.

A highway patrol trooper picked up the trooper's father and transported him to Miami this morning. His mother, brother and sister were in Atlanta on vacation.

"Brad was also a volunteer fireman for the Goldenrod Volunteer Fire Department," his uncle said, adding that after graduation from the police academy he was transferred to the

Judge: Stiff Fines Reducing Cases

Seminole County Judge Alan Dickey was to confer with Orange County Judges Michael F. Cymannick and R. James Stroker today on their challenge Wednesday of the constitutionality of the state's new mandatory increases in traffic fines.

The two Orange County judges ordered that additional penalties — $20 for moving violations and $200 for drunken driving — mandated by law passed in the last session of the Legislature be kept separate and either returned to those who paid the fines or forwarded to the state's Good Driver's Incentive Fund depending upon a Florida Supreme Court ruling expected early in September. The controversy surrounding the new state law on mandated fees took Dickey by invitation to the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County meeting Wednesday night, where Dickey told officials of the local cities:

— Dockets in county courts sessions held in Oviedo, Altamonte Springs and Sanford are noticeably higher because either police officers are "becoming more lenient" or drivers are more careful since the mandatory fines went into effect.

A moving violation now of going through a stop sign or running a red light requires a minimum mandatory fee of $57.75.

— No accused violator or attorney in Seminole County has challenged the constitutionality of the new law in the county court here.

— A little known feature of the mandatory fines law requires the levy of a $10 fine on those convicted of a felony. "If a person is found guilty of murder and sentenced to the electric chair, the judge must also levy a $10 assessment for the crimes compensation fund, unless he finds that a real hardship exists.

— Many of those making mandatory appearances in the county court when charged with driving while under the influence or for exceeding the speed limit by more than 25 miles cannot afford an attorney and ask for the services of the public defender.

— With the increased fines, many offenders with families cannot pay their fines and ask to be allowed to pay on an installment plan.

Judge Dickey said that "most of the people who appear in his courtroom on traffic offenses are representative of a man with two or three children and a wife, bringing home $80 to $100 weekly.

Dickey said none of the county judges here take revenue considerations into sentencing and "none of us is conscious of giving lesser fines." He said, however, since the new law went into effect he carefully explains to offenders that additional sums will be added to the fine he has levied, in compliance with the new law. "Most of us are tough on flagrant speed cases. We don't consciously cut fines, since the new law went into effect, but we may have."

He said he thinks it is probably true that police officers have become more lenient since the new law passed. "My feeling also is that accidents are down."

Dickey said that oral arguments on the constitutionality of the law before the Florida Supreme Court are scheduled for Sept. 8. "I presume the court will expedite the hearing," he said.—DONNA ESTES

Accreditation Sparks Dispute At School Board Meeting

By MARYLYN SHEDDAN
Herald Writer

Efforts toward accreditation of Seminole County high schools must go forward, Davis Sims, chairman of the Seminole County School Board said Wednesday night.

Sims called attention to public statements recently made by Supt. William F. (Bud) Lyster, when Lyster indicated he felt application to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) for accreditation was, at best, unnecessary.

"When this board has voted to do something, it should be done," said Sims, "and it doesn't do any good to keep bringing it up."

"There are many projects which have passed this board that we have not been in favor of," he said, "but we don't keep bringing them up."

"When our children are already doing so well (third place) in the assessment of school children statewide," retorted Lyster, "I don't see any reason we should slow down and join the crowd."

School board member Robert G. Feather, who originally voted in favor of the application to SACS for accreditation of the high schools, explained why he has changed his mind:

"The reason I continue to bring up the question of accreditation," he said, "is because I don't see any benefits from it."

"When we first began looking at this," said Feather, "we were talking about $100,000. Now we are talking about more than $600,000 just to get started."

"You can make arguments for both sides," responded Sims. "You could say that it takes this much money to meet the accreditation standards, then something must be really wrong."

"It isn't our standards that are wrong," said Lyster. "It's theirs."

After Lyster explained that, despite his reservations about the need for accreditation, his office was proceeding as directed by the board and that accreditation teams would be visiting area high schools during October, Sims dropped the matter and called for the next item on the agenda.

In other action, a proposed reorganization of the county-wide advisory committee was considered by the board which invited the League of Women Voters and the County Council of PTAs to study the suggested changes and report on them.

The proposed reorganization would provide for 13 members at a time on the board, each from a different school, with the board membership changing each year to 13 more members from 13 different schools. In this manner all 39 schools would participate once every three years.

Other alternatives under consideration include keeping the board at 13 members with rotation of three or four members each year; or making the committee up of one member of the local advisory committee from each of the 39 schools in the county system.

On another matter, after much debate on the details of possible insurance coverage by four different firms, the board voted to withhold any action until its meeting of Aug. 10.

Bids for the insurance had previously been accepted, with only Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida, of the several companies responding, meeting the requirements. See SCH001, Page 2-A

But Proposal Is Not Dead

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners Wednesday night deadlocked over whether to spend $77,500 in the fiscal year beginning in October to provide bus service in the Sanford area.

The commissioners, who are making their first round of cuts in the $31 million budget proposed by County Administrator Roger Neiswender, cut $33,437 from Neiswender's recommendations in the six-hour meeting.

The proposed budget would necessitate a countywide property tax increase of $2.60 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation to support a general fund of $14 million, a recommended increase of 22 per cent over the currently budgeted $11.5 million. The increase would bring the countywide property tax to $8 per $1,000 of assessed valuation and would be the first countywide increase in three years.

County budget chief Pat

Glisson promised commissioners a running total of the cuts the commissioners have made so far by this afternoon. It is estimated that commissioners have cut less than $100,000 from Neiswender's recommendations since they began their review of the budget on July 18.

BILL KIRCHHOFF ... TA delegate

Commissioners Dick Williams and Harry Kwiatkowski voted against the county's contributing the $77,500 for the bus service proposed by the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority (known as "the TA").

Commissioner Bill Kirchoff, the county commissioner's representative on the TA board of directors, voted in favor of spending the money "if the Florida Department of Transportation would be willing to put in $19,500 (half the estimated operating deficit) and if the Sanford City Commission will agree to put some money into this." Kirchoff represents the Sanford area.

The 2-1 negative vote does not kill the proposal, however, because a majority vote of the five commissioners is required to pass the proposal.

The budget sessions have been plagued by absences by the county commissioners, with Kwiatkowski attending few budget sessions and Commissioner John Kimbrough being out of town since early last week due to an undisclosed family emergency.

The situation has resulted in a number of inconclusive votes. With three of the five commissioners present at most budget sessions, a unanimous vote of those present is required to express the will of the Board of County Commissioners as a whole.

Commissioners have concentrated their attention on proposed "program changes" or "policy areas" which would require more money than the "base budget" (the amount necessary to continue current services at current levels) figures developed by Neiswender and Glisson's Office of Management, Analysis and Evaluation.

Senior citizens there were encouraged to attend and participate in the Golden Age Olympics this November in sunny Florida.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Vance Looking For Syrian

Approval Of Peace Planning

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, continuing his Middle East mission, meets today with President Hafez Assad to seek Syrian approval of a new plan for preliminary peace talks. There was no immediate indication whether Assad would join Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in supporting the proposal. It calls for Middle Eastern foreign ministers to gather in the United States to prepare for a resumption of the Geneva peace conference.

Cyprus' Future Is Discussed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The heads of the four major Greek Cypriot political parties met today with acting president Spiros Kyprianou to discuss the future of this divided island in the aftermath of President Archbishop Makarios' death. An Iranian newspaper, meanwhile, published what it described as Makarios' last interview, given here last Saturday. In it the archbishop was quoted as saying Kyprianou, a moderate and president of the all-Greek National Assembly, was "the only man who can lead Cyprus" after his death.

The Real Native Americans

BERLIN (AP) — Fred Metasch and his fellow Radebel Indians have pitched wigwams near Dresden, East Germany, for their annual festival of war dances, knife throwing and "solidarity" with the real native Americans. The 30 amateur Indians from the Dresden suburb of Radebel are only a handful of the hundreds of East and West Germans who belong to Wild West clubs of both the cowboy and Indian variety.

Israeli Troops, Arabs Clash

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli troops clashed with five Arab guerrillas near an Israeli farming settlement today, killing two and seriously wounding another, an army spokesman said. Israeli radio said the guerrillas had crossed into Israel from Jordan, apparently planning a terrorist attack to coincide with the Middle East peace mission of Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

Being A Winemaker

What More Can Man Ask?

Dr. (AP) — Everybody should have an alternative road, Pat McCoy said, sipping contentedly, almost smugly. Everybody should have a turnoff route in case life's superhighway develops a rut.

Pat McCoy, a 40-year-old winemaker with a lily pad and the proper grin to match, discovered his alternative road while reading a book on his favorite subject. Its title: "Cheeses and Wines of France and England with Notes on Irish Whiskey."

Johnson Memo: No Knowledge

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson denied any knowledge of allegations that a stuffed ballot box in south Texas gave him the victory in a 1948 Senate primary race, according to private papers released by the LBJ Library.

Salas, in an interview with The Associated Press, said he certified 200 fraudulent ballots in the Aug. 28, 1948, primary that Johnson won by 27 votes. Johnson won the Senate seat in the November general election. Salas said that the deal for the 200 extra votes was made at a late night meeting in San Diego, Tex., attended by Johnson, south Texas political boss George Parr, Salas and other Jim Wells County Democratic officials.

Efforts by former Gov. Coke Stevenson, Johnson's opponent, to stop Johnson's certification were blocked by an order from U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black.

Singer Elvis Presley Named In Lawsuit

TAMPA (AP) — Singer Elvis Presley, the City of Tampa and one of its police captains have been named in a lawsuit by a woman who claims she was assaulted by the officer at a Presley concert in 1976.

Orchid Ward, of Tampa, claims she was grabbed around the neck and thrown into another person by Capt. H. B. Maxey as she approached the stage of Curtis Hixon Hall to catch scarves thrown by Presley. The suit, filed Tuesday in Hillsborough Circuit Court, says Presley was at fault when he invited fans to approach the stage.

The suit says Mrs. Ward suffered a physical handicap as a result, but did not describe any specific injury.

The Biomedical Science Reach: Even Brain Transplants Possible

CLEVELAND (AP) — Neurosurgeon Robert J. White is at home on the frontiers of science. In experiments with animals, he's isolated brain cells, kept them alive, transplanted them. He performed early research on cooling the brain to slow metabolic rates and give surgeons more time to operate on that most delicate and mysterious of organs.

Big Win For Beth

BY JEAN PATTESON
Ourselves Editor

Beth Statts doesn't agree with the feminists who argue that beauty pageants are demeaning, superficial and sexist.

Recently returned from the Stars of Tomorrow state pageant in which she was placed third and fourth in two competitions, Beth commented, "They judge you on your personality—what you are outside and inside—the total you."

The total Ms. Statts is a vivacious, five-foot-three blonde with farrah-blue eyes. Her smile and friendly personality put her in the running for the Miss Congeniality award wherever she goes.

In the Stars of Tomorrow pageant, however, it was her modeling skills (sports-wear and evening gown) which won her the fourth runner-up trophy in her age division, and her dazzling Daytona International Speedway outfit which earned the third runner-up position in the costume contest.

The Daytona costume was chosen because Beth is a Volusia County lass, who lives in Deltona. The daughter of Mrs. Edna Statts, she is a junior at Deland High School.

The Stars of Tomorrow pageant was only the second such contest Beth had ever entered.

In the fall, she plans to enter the Miss Hemisphere and Miss Princess pageants — for the fun and meeting the people, for the chance at winning a college scholarship, professional modeling.

Beth has a job as a teenage model at Montgomery Ward, Altamonte Springs, and hopes — if she can grow a few more inches — to become a model after she graduates.

The money she earns at her job, along with the sponsorship of Ward and Deltona reality business Mark Vi, cover the expense of entering pageants.

'Save Jokes And Laughter For Weddings, Not Funerals'

DEAR ABBY: My best friend's mother died recently, and I attended her wake. There were many people there. Most of them were telling jokes, drinking and laughing as if they were at a wedding or some kind of celebration.

I thought it was disgusting, and it made me both angry and sad. When I asked my mother why people behaved that way at a wake instead of being solemn and serious out of respect for the dead, she said, "That's just the way it is. The only time some people see each other is at weddings or funerals."

I'm only 14, but I think people should save the jokes and laughter for weddings, not funerals.

What do you think, Abby? If you print this letter, maybe people would change the same way they act at wakes.

JOHN
DEAR JOHN: It's more than mere coincidence that the two words most frequently interchanged by accident (?) are "wedding" and "funeral."

It's not the lack of respect for the deceased, it's the human tendency to make the most of the opportunity to catch up on old friendships and family ties that accounts for the partylike atmosphere at most wakes.

Add to that the fact that alcohol tends to break down inhibitions.

Don't be angry or sad, John. Were the deceased able to express his opinion of the apparent merry-making at his own wake, I'd wager he'd be all for it. (I would.)

DEAR ABBY: I would like to voice a complaint against teenagers in general: A teenager had a transistor radio on a public bus yesterday, and he just about blasted the whole bus with rock and roll music. Why don't those teenagers show a little respect for the rights of others?

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Why condemn ALL teenagers? Only one was guilty. The bus driver (an adult) was responsible for the comfort of his passengers. Didn't HE shriek HIS out?

DEAR ABBY: I am so mad, I have to unload on someone, so
