Herriot Is Enthusiastically Acclaimed And Boomed In Session Chamber Deputies

Communists and Deputies Extreme Right Assail Premier When Appears Before Body To Tell 'About Parley'

Chamber May Start Debate On Friday... French Cabinet Holds Meeting to Hear Declaration Results French at Conference

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Premier Herriot was enthusiastically acclaimed by supporters and booed by Communists and deputies of the extreme right for five minutes when he faced the chamber shortly after 6 o'clock this afternoon and began reading results of a London conference.

The chamber of deputies is expected to begin its debate at once. The cabinet met this morning to hear the declaration results.

This evacuation will not begin until after the London agreements have been signed which ceremony has been set for August 30.

As there are many thousands of French and Belgian railroad men and large economic staffs who are comfortably settled in Germany there will be quite a task to unscramble all of the affairs in which the civilian forces of occupation have taken part during the last year and a half.

Reports that the economic evacuation had begun, which were circulated early today, were denied by the foreign office and the ministry of public works.

Moral Gains Greatest... The visible results of the London conference, although interesting and vital, are less than the moral results obtained.

Without invoking the spirit which now exists, how could we ever have gotten over such difficult questions as the transfers under the experts' plan? We now are entering on a new way.

AERO ENGINEER LOSES LIFE ON FIRST FLIGHT

Steven Bromley, Jr., of National Advisory Committee Killed While on Flight at Langley Field near Capital

American Ace In World War Injured... Two Men Fall Distance About One Thousand Feet—Bromley's Neck Broken in Crash

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 21.—Steven Bromley, Jr., aeronautical engineer with the national advisory committee, was instantly killed and Smith J. DeFrance, American ace, major in the reserve service in general aeronautical engineering with the advisory committee received injuries which are expected to result in his death, Wednesday afternoon at Langley field when their JN-6 training airplane dropped to the waters of Back river from an altitude of a little more than 1,000 feet.

Mr. Bromley, who was making his first flight, has his neck broken and Mr. DeFrance is injured about head and body.

As soon as the plane landed in the water, which is about three feet deep near the incinerator plant, several of the men on the Langley flying field and on the reservation hurried to the assistance of the two men.

Nurse Driven In Mud... The rescue men found that the plane had driven her nose into the water and mud and that DeFrance and Bromley were pinned in their seats.

Mr. Bromley's neck had been broken by a rod catching him under the chin and that he was otherwise bruised and wounded. He was dead, it is thought, when taken from the plane.

Major DeFrance is said to have shown marvelous nerve and presence of mind under the trying ordeal. He was found holding Mr. Bromley's head above the water so that the man might not drown if he possessed life when the workers came to their assistance.

Murderers Of Franks Boy Are Described By Savage As "Fiends And Cowards"

Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb Show No Signs of Emotion as Prosecution Arraigns Them For Crime

State Counsel Is Dramatic In Pleas... Darrow and Crowe Will Close Plea in What Are Expected To Be Eloquent Addresses

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Failure to hide sufficiently the body of Roberts Franks was the breaking point in the plot of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, according to state's analysis of crime given today before Judge Caverly by Joseph Savage, assistant state's attorney.

He described in impassioned denunciations the history of the crime. He was still in the midst of the description when court recessed for lunch.

Jacob Franks, father of the kidnaped and slain Robert Franks, today asked for mercy for eleven and nineteen year old brothers, Earl and Fielding Smith, who were arrested last night after sending him two extortion letters in which they demanded $8,000 or threatening death to Mr. Franks' daughter and wife.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Nathan L. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, Wednesday without a perceptible quiver, heard themselves denounced as "fiends and dastardly cowards" by assistant state's attorney Judge John R. Caverly in the law and circumstances of their kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks.

They were outwardly unmoved, even when the prosecutors urged hanging as the only fit punishment for them. And once after Joseph Savage, who devoted himself to the face in the case, pointed directly at Loeb and called him "this fiend," the younger of the youthful defendants turned to Leopold and arched his eyebrows quizzically.

Another time when Thomas Marshall was describing the youths' discussion as to which kind and grade of acid would best destroy the features of their victim, Loeb looked around and asked Leopold: "Which was wrong?"

The words were as plainly visible as though uttered by a moving picture actor.

Concrete Work Of Waterworks Reservoir Begun... Three Crews Are Now Working on Laying of Mains—Water System to be One of Best in the Entire State

Actual construction on the concrete work of the new waterworks reservoir has begun and the Gillespie Construction Company will start the pouring work in two or three days, stated City Manager W. B. Williams to a representative of The Herald Wednesday.

Mr. Williams declared that for the past few months, until recently it has been too wet to finish the excavation work and for that reason no concrete could be poured. Clear weather during the past few days has permitted the completion of the excavation work, however, and molds are being placed in readiness for pouring the concrete.

Under fair conditions it will probably take about 90 days to complete the reservoir and have it ready for use, said the city manager. It will perhaps be the last part of the new plant to be finished.

There are now three crews laying mains. Mr. Williams declared. It will take about 60 days to lay the remainder of the new mains, it was learned.

The order for the wood stove gravity pipe will probably be placed by the City Commission at its meeting next Monday, Mr. Williams said. This pipe will be laid by the main crews as soon as they have finished laying and connecting all of the new mains of the water system.

The waterworks power house has been completed and the foundations for the two double unit, crude oil burning, combustion engines and pumps are nearly ready for the installation of the machinery which is already on city property at Thirteenth Street and French Avenue.

Taking into consideration all of the units of the new system, Mr. Williams stated, it is probable that it will be completed and put into service about Jan. 1.

Summing up, the city manager stated that in every way Sanford will have one of the best water systems in the entire state. The supply of water will be more than ample for the needs of this city, it will be entirely soft and will be of a better quality than that supplied by any water system in Florida except that of the Orange City waterworks which at present is conceded to be the best.

City Planning Body Adopts Resolution On Opening Street

By R. W. Pearman, Jr. The semi-monthly meeting of the City Planning Commission was held Tuesday evening and several matters of importance were disposed of.

In discussion of additional streets to be paved, it was decided to recommend to the City Commissioners that Martin Street be paved to conform to the plans as now laid out on Sanford, Palmelle and Magnolia Avenues.

Cypress Avenue was also included in the recommendations, the commission believing that it should be paved from Ninth to Tenth Street. Eighth and Tenth Streets were recommended to be paved from Sanford Avenue to Cypress Avenue, Fifth and Sixth Streets from Magnolia Avenue to Cypress Avenue, and Third and Fourth Streets from Sanford Avenue to Cypress Avenue.

The commission also recommended that the Sanford Boy Scout troops be given a 99 year lease to that property described as being bounded on the south by Water Street, east by Pump Branch, on the north by Lake Monroe, and on the west by the east line of Pine Avenue.

Columbia Pauses For Aged Negro Preacher

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 21.—Columbia will pause for 30 minutes this afternoon to honor the memory of "Uncle Jaggars," 93 year old negro missionary of his race.

Mr. Marshall challenged Mr. Darrow and his assistants to reveal to the court any crime in the great witness as this and in his history of Illinois of "such a depravation declared it the most dastardly to be found in the law books.

Both Mr. Marshall and Mr. Savage dwelt upon the care with which the crime was planned, the former using it as a basis for argument on the effect on premeditation and the latter as a circumstance which showed "cruelty and viciousness."

Junior Chamber Commerce Heartily Endorses Proposed City Bond Issue

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at its weekly meeting today at the Montezuma Hotel enthusiastically went on record endorsing the proposed municipal bond issue of $325,000 for the extension of the city's sewerage system and for other municipal improvements.

Secretary Behout, who has been officially designated as the county enumerator by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, announced that at the next meeting he will have a working plan to lay before the body for compiling the required statistical data. He stated that he will endeavor to arrange a program of work which may include something for every member to do.

Again Delayed In Is Completed And Leaving Reykjavik Arguments Started

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 20.—American world fliers had made all preparations to start this morning on their trip to Frederiksdaal, East Greenland, but unfavorable weather conditions forced abandonment of their plans. A gale delayed the arrival of the Richmond bringing spare parts to repair machines.

The cruiser Richmond arrived at 9:04 o'clock this morning and spare parts in the damaged planes were immediately brought ashore. The fliers will not leave today because of a strong gale. It is uncertain when the Richmond will depart.

It is expected that repairs to the two planes which were damaged in an attempted start for Frederiksdaal Monday, will require only about two hours when the cruiser Richmond arrives with the spare parts.

If there is any further delay owing to the weather and if ice conditions become better at Angmagalik, the fliers may decide to make for that landing point in Greenland, as originally intended, instead of attempting the longer jump to Frederiksdaal.

ON BOARD U. S. S. RALEIGH, Aug. 20.—The Raleigh Tuesday took up the position which the flagship Richmond was holding when she rushed off toward Reykjavik, Iceland, with a spare propeller and a spare bar for the planes of Lieut. H. Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson, which were damaged Monday when they tried to get away from Greenland.

Immediately after the next leg of the round the world flight is completed the destroyer Barry, one of the patrol fleet, will go to Picou Bay, N. S., while the Raleigh probably will proceed to Boston. Although today a long swell was rolling, the barometer stood high and there was promise of continued fair weather for at least a few days.

Annual Conference Of Colored Bodies Is In Session Here

The Sunday school, Allen Colored Epworth League and the Woman's Mile Missionary Societies convention of the Palatka district met in its annual session of the South Florida Annual Conference this morning at 10 o'clock in St. James (colored) A. M. E. Church of this city.

The conference will last five days, beginning today and continuing through Sunday. A program has been arranged covering the entire period with various business and devotional services for morning, afternoon and night of each day.

On Friday night the greatest event of the convention will take place declared Rev. E. J. Jackson, presiding elder of the district. A choir contest of four great choirs, he said, will be held. Sanford, Iceland, Daytona and Palatka will be the contestants for the prize which is offered.

Arrangements are being made for the white people to attend this stellar event, the presiding elder declared, and it is hoped that a number will come out to hear the singing.

FORMER FIGHTER INDICTED UPON 3 CHARGES BY JURY

(Continued from Page 1) the dead woman and until her recent divorce, her partner in the antique business was Mrs. Iva Martin, occupant of the apartment below that in which the shooting occurred, who insists she saw Mors leaving the building immediately after the fatal shot was fired; several detectives who insist she must be mistaken; William G. Ross, who was wounded in an attempt to escape from the Mors' antique shop after Ed McCoy entered it Wednesday morning and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schapp, the other two victims of the shooting affray, who saw McCoy sought them out and shot them because they encouraged a reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. Mors.

McCoy's sister, Mrs. Jennie Thomas, told the grand jury of an alleged confession made by her brother while the body of Mrs. Mors was yet warm.

McCoy says that Mrs. Mors killed herself in his presence in the apartment which he had been occupying with Mr. and Mrs. H. Shields, for about a month, but the version on which the district attorney rests his case is that the former lodger of the prize ring killed the wealthy divorcée in a drunken rage when she told him she would not marry him.

The testimony of Mrs. Martin is expected to prove important despite the fact that police disagree with her identification of Mors as the man she saw leaving the apartment. Detectives point out that her story of a woman screaming from the death room about midnight, closely followed by a pistol shot and the noise of one or two men leaving the place, helps to fix the time of the shooting and to establish it as a case of homicide, not suicide.

Follow the Law
The assistant state's attorney told Judge Caverly that the court was bound to follow the law and consider only his three principal subjects in fixing punishment for "an atrocious murder."

"The lesser punishment of four years in the penitentiary, or imprisonment for life are for lesser crimes," he argued.

"But in this case the defendant is in an untenable position. They ask you to consider a degree of responsibility as mitigation of punishment, but the law recognizes no such degree of mentality and says that if a man can distinguish between right and wrong he is sane. Furthermore insanity can be offered only as a defense, and not in mitigation of degrees of guilt."

"When there is no responsibility, when the defendant can not distinguish between right and wrong, there can be no punishment."

"But in this case the defendants have admitted their responsibility by their pleas of guilty."

Mr. Marshall said that, since responsibility had been thus admitted by the defense all testimony as to childish phantasies and delusions offered by the defense should be disregarded.

"Bear this in mind," he admonished the court, "that a helpless little boy lured into an automobile by these men and done to death with a chisel, purchased and prepared for that purpose. And for what? Their own demand was for $10,000, an old bill, to be thrown from a train at a designated place. There is no mitigation offered for these facts."

Mr. Marshall reinforced his point with frequent citations from decisions by the supreme courts of Illinois, Oregon, Texas, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Mr. Marshall stood directly in front of the judge while making his plea. He referred to a bulky brief case, crammed with typed excerpts from decisions.

A Sioux City man lost his fight to divorce and $80,000 alimony from his wife, who may have to work for a living.

Welcomed at Luncheon
Members of the Orlando Realty Board welcomed commercial secretaries from South Florida yesterday at their regular weekly luncheon at the San Juan hotel.

S. Kendrick Guernsey, secretary of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting and introduced each of the visitors and members of the board by having them give their names, their places of residence, and the reasons for living where they did.

About 50 attended the meeting, each of them connected in some way with the development of Florida.

President W. C. Lawson of the Orlando Realty Board welcomed visitors to Orlando, stating that the board was glad to have the secretaries attend its luncheon.

Franklin I. Wood, of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly regarding his reasons for coming to Florida. He was introduced by Clarence Williams of the Putis chamber.

"Florida offers more today to a red-blooded, live American than any other state in the union, in its human companionship," he said.

New secretaries who were introduced were Allison T. French, of Kissimmee; Ted Jacobs, Haines City; Mrs. Kennedy, Winter Park; E. V. Parrish, Daytona.

Walter W. Rose, president of the Florida Realtors' Association, spoke on the proposed law making state license laws stronger, and urged the cooperation of the secretaries. The transactions of the Realtors were open to the public, he said, in order that justice might be done to everyone.

C. C. Carr, of St. Petersburg, spoke on the necessity of following up the inquiries which were brought to the secretaries as the result of advertising.

A. A. Coult, secretary of the Florida Development Board, made a short talk, in which he stated that the board had voted almost unanimously in favor of the restricted license plan mentioned by Mr. Rose.

L. P. Dickey, of the Tampa Board of Trade, was the last speaker, and told of the development of his organization.

Many of the leading figures of the Republican party were present at the ceremonies and participated in the old time parade and rally which preceded the exercises. William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, presided; Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, close personal friend of President Coolidge, and Edward T. Clark, the president's personal secretary, were present, as representatives of the executive; and Governor Hyde of Missouri, half a hundred members of the house, a dozen senators, and many national committee men and committeemen were in the gathering.

Besides those grouped in and about the Dawes home, thousands heard the addresses by radio, sixteen of the larger stations of the country having been connected to broadcast the proceedings.

Ceremonies Brief
The ceremonies, in themselves, were comparatively brief. The Rev. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Chicago, one of Mr. Dawes' neighbors, offered an invocation; Chairman Butler introduced Mr. Jeffers, who in a short address, formally apprised Mr. Dawes of his nomination, and then the nomination made his response. The ceremonies then closed with a benediction by the Rev. Hugh Patrick Smyth, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, of Evanston.

The nominee will plunge immediately into his campaign, leaving tomorrow for Maine where he will deliver an address at Augusta Saturday.

Scene of Ceremonies
What had been a very wet day ended in an almost ideal evening. The sun late in the afternoon dried the grounds about the Dawes home and the wind drove the storm clouds out over the lake, leaving a bright blue foreground for the scene of the ceremonies.

Long before the grounds were opened friends and neighbors of the candidate began to arrive and they soon were followed by the first of the delegations. Members of the Evanston American Legion post came in military formation to honor the man who was chief purchasing agent for the American expeditionary forces.

One enthusiastic admirer arrived by boat on which he had loaded a circus calliope to supplement the musical efforts of the chorus of the Hamilton club, of Chicago.

Members of the official notification committee of the national committee of congress and other Republican leaders, were the guests of General and Mrs. Dawes at dinner. Among these were: "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, former White House physician and Mrs. Sawyer. "Uncle Joe" received a royal welcome from the candidate and expressed his pleasure at being at one of the party's notification ceremonies.

Seated just back of the speaker stand were General Dawes' three brothers, Rufus C. who was chief of staff of the experts for the American section of the reputation commission's expert committee; Henry M. of Columbus, Ohio; and Henry M. of Chicago.

W. W. Mills, president of Marietta college, and uncle of the candidate also was among the guests. Harold Marsh Sewall of Bath, was present to represent Maine and will accompany the nominee on his trip to Augusta and be his host there during the two days Mr. Dawes plans to spend in that city.

Pire Work Display
With the arrival of dusk, vari-colored lights were turned on and fireworks were set off along the lake front. Many of the former service men's organizations brought their colors with them. Among these were the seven coast engineers, the regiment in which Mr. Dawes went to France as lieutenant colonel. Several of the delegations brought bands to enliven the proceedings and to aid the tooting calliope.

The cotton market would begin trading about October 1, or a little later, it was stated. The market will have full approval of the government and will operate under governmental supervision.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT:—Love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law.—Galatians 5: 22, 23.

NOT SO MUCH

It is not so much in strength, Biceps girth and forearm's length; Time and time again I've known Skill o'er strength to hold its own.

It is not so much to dare, For what follows must compare; Time and time again I've found That a hound may chase a hound.

It is not so much the wall That is scaled—but not to fall; Time and time again I've learned Even safety must be earned.

It is not so much the lie— But the truth that cannot die; What so much as truth has stirred When around the world it's heard?

Now is the time to buy your next summer's straw hat.

You've had a successful fishing trip if you succeed in giving an alibi which everyone believes.

Our office boy says it is a pertinent fact that we all come home "broke" from vacations.

We still contend that the safety pin is the greatest invention in the world to date.

The Third Party ought to adopt as its slogan, "when in doubt vote for LaFollette and Wheeler."

Things to worry about: His majesty, the Prince of Wales, has discarded suspenders and now uses belts exclusively.

The biggest bore in the world is the fellow who throws a heavy line of "bull" and expects you to believe every word of it.

Sanford is surely becoming a metropolitan city judging from the number of automobile accidents which occur here.

Pat Harrison's popularity in Mississippi is only exceeded by his ability to hand "knockout" blows to the Republican party.

If a man writes a book nowadays, the world will make a beaten path to his door—if he advertises.

Some people contribute so little to the community in which they live that they ought to jump in the lake and apologize to the lake for receiving nothing.

Our office boy says if George Washington never told a lie he evidently never slipped off and went swimming in the old sink hole.

The man who goes after business generally gets it. The fellow who spends his time talking about how bad conditions are does not deserve prosperity.

The little girl down the street wants to know whether married women will be allowed to mobilize with rolling pins on National Defense Day?

Political parties other than the Republican and Democratic are leaving off the most enjoyable part of the campaign by not staging big justification ceremonies.

A few dollars expended by property owners in beautifying their front yards with trees and shrubs would add greatly to the general appearance of the city.

The Times-Union says that after a moving picture actress has been married four times, she is entitled to be called a star. What would you call Kid McCoy—the whole show?

The bootlegger, as well as the man who drinks the stuff is equally guilty when an intoxicated person has a serious automobile accident. Both should be prosecuted to the limit.

There is nothing extraordinary about the Connecticut banker embezzling a large sum of money but where the unusual part comes in is that he didn't succeed in killing himself. As a rule one who steals a large sum of money almost invariably succeeds in thwarting justice.

It was Prohibition America and Finland which won the chief prizes in the Olympic contests in Paris. The figures of national standings have been given as follows: America, 356; Finland, 188; Great Britain 83 1/2 and France 20 1/2. Some people may regard it as a coincidence but the fact that athletes from prohibition countries carried off the highest honors is a mighty strong argument in favor of prohibition.

"Good Times" And Dollars A'Coming

"Prepare for good times with business booming, work plenty, wages high." This being a Brisbane warning, possibly a few of The Herald's contemporaries in Florida will object to its being published with approval here. But, really, that sort of a prediction coming from a man who has an uncanny faculty of forecasting events with accuracy sounds right well in the ears of the average man.

Brisbane declares that orders will come so thick and fast for American-made goods, and American-grown crops for Europe, given means through the Dawes plan of getting on its feet again, this country will have an era of unprecedented prosperity. Wages, he says, will be high, on account of the exclusion of foreign labor; and dollars will be circulating in greater numbers than even in the war-time period. And this prosperity will not be resulting from the turning loose of destructive forces in the world. It will not represent the suffering and misery of peoples involved in murderous warfare. It will be prosperity coming from the creation of comforts and luxuries and much-needed necessities for the rebuilding and the betterment of the countries across the sea.

The United States, already the richest and most prosperous nation in the world, is to again derive the dollar benefits. It's a great prospect. If Brisbane had felt inclined to moralize a little, he might have appropriately asked what this new prosperity is to do for the nation's life. Will it encourage the building of new homes by the people? Will it encourage the establishment of more schools, and provide for better-paid teachers? Will it put the Bible back into the family life, and bring about higher spiritual living, and loftier ideals?

The Herald realizes that it may be accused of attempting irony in a series of questions like those, and it is willing to leave it at that. One fact is established. Nations that become dollar mad are nations well set on the road to disintegration. If along with this coming prosperity could come sane living, broad generosity, intelligent looking ahead to the lean years to come, then the "good times" might be welcomed with greater confidence that they are good times.

The "good times" orgy produced by the World War in this country did not improve the national life. Perhaps it would be wise to make ready for the prosperous era with sober remembrance of the wasted "easy money" of the last big fling at "good times" this country took.

But let it come. "Business booming, work plenty, wages high" sounds good to us.

Quick, Get The Waste-Basket

Time was not so very long ago when the arrival of the mail was a very important event in the life of the business man. It used to be that upon the arrival of the mail man at the office everything was set aside while some important officer of the business would tear open the envelopes and thoroughly read all the letters which came. In those days nearly every letter brought its message of business and meant money to the recipient.

But, alas, what a change has been wrought in the past few years.

Today the business man goes to his postoffice box, looks in and sees what appears to be a pile of letters. Upon opening the box out comes an armful of mail and with a great feeling of anticipation he hurries back to his office to devote some time to interestingly going over his letters.

He settles himself comfortably at his desk, grabs his letter opener and with a feeling of contentment begins slitting the envelopes. First out drops a check and his hopes begin rising to heights unknown before. Then comes a letter announcing the opening of some new business concern. Perhaps the third is a souvenir postal card from some vacationist who writes that he wishes this particular man was enjoying the cool weather, too. A rather bulky letter is next in line, but caused great disappointment when it was found to contain samples of various colored shirts and a letter asking an order and telling of the great saving to be made by buying them by the dozen. The next letter is an invitation from some enterprising business house to open a charge account. Then comes a poorly written letter from an ambitious person who wishes a job as bookkeeper or stenographer. In rapid succession follow letters from politicians, solicitations for donations, circulars, price-lists for stuff not wanted, and everything imaginable from business houses in far off cities who are trying to secure new business.

Perhaps out of the stack of mail this man manages to find a half dozen really important letters, but not until he has almost lost his temper in wading through a pile of letters good only for deposit in the waste-basket and for the blotters they contain. Even some of the blotters are no good.

In all probability there is no business concern which receives a larger number of circulars than the newspaper. Letter after letter containing free advertising matter is to be found in every mail. Regardless of how many times a day the postoffice is visited it is seldom that a batch of useless matter is not found occupying valuable space in the postoffice box. In one mail alone The Herald counted twenty letters good only for the waste-basket.

Torrey Ford in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post told of his experience along this line and said something ought to be done about it. But we suppose we can expect to continue fooling away our time handling worthless circulars. Get the waste-basket. Here comes the mail.

ORGANIZED EFFORT NECESSARY

LAKELAND STAR TELEGRAM

There is apparently a great deal of sentiment in favor of following the lines of least resistance on the liquor question and not taking any steps toward cooperating with the law enforcement wing of the government or state. That sort of an attitude is wrong. It encourages wrong doing and lack of respect for law, giving the generations now growing a poor example of what their elders approve or at least passively consider. Such a state of affairs today causes public sentiment to travel in the wrong direction. When parents close their eyes to law violations; when children see their elders constantly making light of a certain condition, more specifically with reference to the liquor question, they too, are bound to follow that same example and then when the crisis arrives when the parent or the older person sees their child or some other person's child slipping, there is no one who can rightfully tell that child that it is wrong to break the liquor laws of our land. This applies to any other law, and example being one of the strongest methods of teaching children what else can you expect of parents who break the laws.

As long as we have the liquor laws on our books, it is the duty of every true blue American citizen to do all he can to help enforce that law. Every person who does not co-operate with the government, and with the state to the limit of his capabilities in helping to see that the laws are enforced, is himself a law violator and men and women who don't see the situation in this respect will some day regret that they are helping the law breaker instead of helping humanity. Then in that case the men who are carrying liquor across this state in high powered cars, or any other way, who defy the law and run hundreds of lives with the nefarious traffic, should be brought to justice and hunted by every person who claims to be a law-abiding citizen that the citizenship would do their duty. It is evident that the laws we have are not going to be a cure for the liquor traffic in the near future and unless sentiment changes within the law making bodies of our state as well as within the personnel that makes up our citizenship; unless that sentiment becomes so crystallized that it will be a mighty force in working together to drive back that mighty wall of defiant law breaker, then we are going to continue to have lawlessness and liquor running everywhere. There is a way to stop it and public sentiment is the only method these days and communities that will get busy and make a fight, organizing vigilance committees and proving to the violators of the law that they mean business, will soon see a reversal of conditions.

As Brisbane Sees It

Everybody Happy. End of War? No, Alas! Good News for Mexico! Painless Reducing. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

STEEL COMMON above 110, corn worth more than $1 a bushel on the farm, twenty cents more than that in Chicago; wheat for delivery next May selling at $1.40, stocks crawling up so that brokers, afraid to buy, rub their eyes saying to themselves, "It can't be real." SOMEBODY thinks there is a boom coming.

The Democrats, if it interests you, feel much more cheerful in New York State than they did. Men really in the inside tell you "something has been ironed out." By this they mean that irritation caused by religious dissension in the Democratic Convention is disappearing, and the irritated ones will be found as usual in the Democratic column on Election Day.

IF GOVERNOR Al Smith, of New York, decides to take a re-nomination, it will mean that he thinks New York will go Democratic, and in that case you may rely upon it, that the "ironing out" has been successfully accomplished. Al Smith would know.

THE LEADING optimist is Calvin Coolidge. "The end of the war at last," the President exclaims when told about the Reparations agreement.

How often has that happy cry "The end of the war" been heard? And how often has war again broken out, almost before the cry died out? How many wars are loked up in those little nations so blithely and foolishly created off hand when the last big war ended, or PAUSED?

YOU WILL NOTICE in cable dispatches from Europe today that the Prime Minister of Bulgaria is goading the peasants to rebellion, that they may be persuaded to fight before they are ready, and destroyed.

BERLIN REPORTS great activity in the Red army of Russia, which will be at the "peak" of its power in the Spring. Then an attack on Roumania is expected. It is childish optimism to hope that the new Russian rulers will refrain from using the power they have seized, or fail to make some arrangement with the army that they have built up.

When you have a nice machine you like to see it run.

HERE IS GOOD "prospective" news for our neighbor, Mexico.

Ten thousand few at European ports, shut out of the United States by immigration laws, are invited to Mexico by President Calles and will accept the invitation.

The arrival of those ten thousand will mean a large increase in the will to the development of Mexican industry, trade and resources.

CALLER A THINKING man knows what happened to Spain and Portugal when they drove out the Jews, and how Holland and England prospered when they welcomed the Jews. He renders a great service to Mexico in bringing these 10,000 promoters of business, industry and prosperity.

JOHN W. DAVIS, giving reasons why farmers should vote for him, says he will "readjust freight rates." To help farmers freight rates must go lower. You say "That must terrify the great industrial powers, from J. P. Morgan to Kuhn, Loeb, and from Kuhn, Loeb to the Rockefellers, that it will be the shadow, haunting most of them."

BUT WAIT, Mr. Davis is going to "readjust freight rates" and do it without hurting the rest of us.

This doesn't mean that he will chloroform the roads while the rats are reduced. They would feel the pain coming out of the chloroform. He has some other plan and the farmers eagerly want to know what it is.

Will he, perhaps, say to the railroads, "You must cut charges for hauling grain and livestock, but you may increase rates for hauling the two-legged livestock that votes?"

A FRENCH DOCTOR and his wife are arrested for pretending to adopt babies then "selling" them to American women that pass off the babies as their own to please rich husbands.

That sounds like a French fairy story, but if there is anything in it the Cruelty to Children Society should take it up. A little French boy, brought up, spending the money of a gullible American father, going through youth with a bottle of American bootleg whiskey "on the hip," developing later into a worthless money spender would be most cruelly treated.

TOURIST CAMPS ALONG THE WAY

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

In whatever direction one travels in the United States, either singly by automobile, or some more hurriedly by train, there are discovered in or near the borders of nearly every city, visited or passed, places set apart for the comfort and convenience of camping tourists. Not infrequently those responsible for the maintenance of these camping sites will offer the gratuitous observation that in providing and caring for these places the cities and towns have made a virtue of necessity, and added, "The effort of many otherwise sterile, the utmost camping tourists are segregated because, as a measure of public safety or convenience, the problem of their care and entertainment is best solved in this manner. One is convinced that, were the involuntary hosts to place a motto above the entrance gate to the camp grounds, it might be inscribed to read: "Welcome the coming, spend the passing guest," but with some emphasis on the final phrase.

In such sections of the United States as the South, where the tourists are referred to as "tourists," serious objection has not been made to the alleged practice, tendencies which those who remain for protracted periods, apparently without visible means of subsistence, occasionally are met by the local police. But, generally speaking, the camping tourist is looked upon as a middle-class individual who adds nothing to the wealth

IS IT WASTED EFFORT?

DEARBORN INDEPENDENT

"Through the sudden clearing of the most atmospheric which left the whole race of the world peak of Everest unpeaked, there were seen two tiny, black spots, silhouetted on the snow, steadily climbing upward toward the crest. Then the whole fascinating vision vanished, once more enveloped in cloud."

This was the last that was seen of A. C. Payne and G. L. Mallory, two members of the Mount Everest Expedition, which has once more been abandoned.

Whether the lives are a debatable point. All such enterprises must be judged by the benefit they are calculated to confer on the human race, and it is hard to see what good could come of reaching the summit of the highest mountain in the world, except to deter others from attempting a similar feat.

The spirit which impels men to make such efforts recalls Longfellow's lines on the ambitious youth who perished amid Alpine snows and awakes one to the futility of wasted forces. Those who died may be called "martyrs to science"

Even the northern papers are spreading the word that Florida will probably vote in November to exempt incomes and inheritances from all taxation. The Detroit Times says: "Have you an income? Florida offers you attractions over and above the fine climate. Florida intends to put into her constitution a provision that will exempt incomes and inheritances from all taxation."

This is intended as "a courtesy to prosperous people from the north." They will appreciate it. No death tax on inheritance, no state tax on income. Oh, joy! Oh, rapture. Florida says, "Come to Florida. Here your income is all yours to spend. We chop off nothing and

AMERICAN POLO TEAM IS PICKED TO DEFEND CUP

United States Polo Association Makes Selection Team and Subs to Defend Title

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Selection of the American polo team which will defend the international challenge cup against Great Britain in a series of matches starting September 6, at the Meadow Brook club, Westbury, N. Y., was announced Wednesday by the United States Polo Association.

The team, a new "big four," which will seek to carry on where its famous predecessors left off, is composed of J. Watson Webb, number one; Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., number two; Malcolm Stevenson, number three and Devereaux Milburn, back.

The substitutes also were named. They are Eric Pedley, sensational star who helped the Midwick club of Los Angeles, win the national junior championship recently; Earl W. Hopping, who has been playing in England until lately; and Robert E. Strawbridge, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The "big four" whose selection was decided upon after its fine showing in a final test match yesterday, has in Webb, Hitchcock and Milburn three veterans of the combination which brought the international cup back from England three years ago.

This trio all are members of the Meadowbrook club. Stevenson, who belongs to the Rockaway Hunting club, has never played on an international cup team but he is a seasoned player and veteran of many national tournaments. Milburn, who has played on the five cup teams, starting in 1909, and Hitchcock, a sensation in the 1921 series, form the backbone of the quartet. Both are ten goal. Webb, a left-hander, played number three on the last international team but has been moved up to number one to replace Louis E. Stoddard, who has been withdrawn from international competition. Webb is rated at nine goals, as is Stevenson, so that the American team has a combined rating of thirty eight goals, two less than the maximum allowance.

These handicaps, however, will not figure in the cup competition which is played on the "flat." Hopping and Strawbridge both are rated at eight goals while Pedley unofficially has about the same rating, although the last officials list handicaps him at six.

The cup team will have its first official practice match next tomorrow when it lines up against a picked four composed of Strawbridge, Pedley, Harry East and F. H. Prime, Jr., at Westbury.

The British team, which has indulged in only light practice, since its arrival, several days ago, plans its first public practice match Friday when it will oppose an American team composed of Elmer Boeske, Jr., Morgan and Raymond Belmont and J. C. Codwin.

The Britishers expect to take the field with Major Kirkwood at number one; Major Phillip Hornsby, number two; Major Hurdall, number three; and Luis Lacey, back.

A Coming Star of the Net

A baby airplane, now the "pet" of the air service, weighing only 400 pounds and consuming one gallon of gasoline for 20 miles, has arrived at McCook Field, Dayton, after a 1300-mile journey from Kelly Field, Texas. The plane, with a wing spread of but 18 feet, piloted by Lieut. Donald B. Phillips, proudly nosed into the field and took its place alongside its big brothers. It is called the "Alouette" and can make 105 miles per hour.
