FRENCH PLANES SENT TO CHECK RIFFS' ATTACK

Heavy reinforcements sent to northern front as fighting increases in force. French alarmed over situation. Moroccan chieftain is making plans to concentrate attack.

MOROCCOAN Tetua Spanish Morocco, May 11.—Attacks of Rifian forces in French Morocco are reported in force and numerous French airplanes have been brought up to check the movement. All French groups operating on the northern front have also been reinforced.

PARIS, May 11.—Opinions expressed unofficially in war office circles is that Marshal Lyautey, governor general of French Morocco, will need 100,000 men to support the rebellious move of Abd-el-Krim and complete the pacification of Morocco. It may require a campaign of several months to defeat the tribesmen.

Ten days have elapsed since Abd-el-Krim as head of the tribesmen, invaded French territory in Morocco, and joining from the reinforcements which have been placed in the zone of action daily from France and Algeria the effectiveness of Marshal Lyautey now must be close to 70,000 men.

During these 10 days the French have been unable to expel the Rifians from French territory and some of the French posts still are besieged. It is expected another 10 days will pass before the French counter offensive develops. Military circles have aver that the officers leading the tribesmen in the field are maneuvering like veterans and that they evidently acquired their experience on the European battlefields in the World War.

General Niessel, inspector general of aeronautics, arrived in Rabat today and immediately went to the conference with Marshal Lyautey. Dispatches from Rabat say that reinforcements are arriving normally. A pitched battle along a 60-mile front will take place as soon as the French feel they have sufficiently strong reserves to continue the action and the tribesmen are driven into the mountains to the north.

A regiment of Senegalese and two batteries of 75's left Toulon today. A transport also sailed from Cherbourg and another from Marseilles. The ministry of war is investigating reports that ships flying the French flag were engaged in transporting arms and ammunition to Abd-el-Krim as late as April 15, when the general public already was aware through newspaper reports that the tribesmen contemplated attacking the French.

RABAT, French Morocco, May 11.—The official communication issued Sunday by French headquarters concerning the situation arising from the attacks of the tribesmen against the French forces says: "The situation is unchanged along the northern front where General Combaud is proceeding with the concentration of the reinforcements which are reaching him. Colonel Freydenberg's troops have succeeded in re-provisioning the posts at Ammeudouna and Astar. "In the sector in which Col. Gambini is in charge, our troops continue to patrol the regions of Rafaa, and Moulalali. Troops of all arms arriving from France and Algeria, are being grouped on various parts of the front."

Solon Aims Blow At Old Maids, Bachelors

TALLAHASSEE, May 11.—Old maids and bachelors will crowd the new famous "Tupper" from the limelight in the House of Representatives in the Florida legislature this week. Representative Garrett of Okaloosa county is to introduce a measure which would require a tax of $5.00 annually on single persons in the state designated as "old maids" reaching the age of 25 and all single men who have reached the 30 mark.

TWO NATIONS TO DISCUSS BORDER PLANS ON MAY 15

American officials leave for conference to be held in El Paso; Assistants Treasury Chief Heads Delegation. WASHINGTON, May 11.—An American delegation, headed by Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury, left Sunday for El Paso, Texas, where they will meet representatives of the Mexican government May 15 in a conference on border questions. It is the hope of the administration here that treaties can be marked out for the cooperative handling of smuggling and other border problems.

The American delegation included representatives of four government departments: H. S. Creighton, in charge of customs at San Francisco, and Col. L. G. Nutt, chief of the narcotic section, for the treasury; William R. Vallance, assistant solicitor, for the state department; A. W. Henderson, special assistant to the attorney general, and H. R. Gamble, assistant United States attorney at El Paso, for the department of justice and Assistant Secretary Henning for the department of labor.

Since the negotiation of border treaties with Canada, a year ago, government agencies here concerned with law enforcement on the borders have been working to establish a similar arrangement with Mexico. Mr. Andrews is optimistic as to the outlook, believing that the Mexican authorities are anxious to join hands with the United States in view of the fact that law enforcement will be made easier for each government satisfactory treaties are agreed upon.

The smuggling problem on the Mexican border has had to do chiefly with narcotics, with the smuggling of aliens a close second. Liquor running has been increasing lately and Mr. Andrews will discuss co-operation among the various government agencies having to do with law enforcement there to cut down this traffic.

He said today he would press for understanding with Mexico looking to joint action by the two governments in suppressing all kinds of smuggling operations; exchange of information between the two nations with regard to international conspiracies and extradition of persons violating the narcotic laws of either government. Questions of traffic in gold, arms and ammunition also will be taken up, but officials here were unwilling to discuss these features.

"DEFENSE DAY" MAY BE MADE ANNUAL EVENT

General Staff Program Has Been Completed And Now Awaits Coolidge Approval; Details Are Being Worked Out. Maneuvers Planned For Armistice Day. Day Is Designed As Time To Take Stock Of U.S. Defense; Special Committee Named. WASHINGTON, May 11.—General staff plans for making Defense day a regular annual event to be held each year coincident with Armistice day exercises, Nov. 11, have been completed and await only White House approval to be put in motion. The project is expected to be presented to the president soon for final action, with urgent recommendations of the reserve officers' associations that it be approved.

Pending such approval, details of the staff plan are not available. It was formulated, however, after a careful study of reports from all corps area commanders and from National Guard and reserve officers all over the country, and is believed to follow closely the recommendations of the association of reserve officers.

During the recent tour of active duty in Washington, attached to the general staff, of a group of reserve officers drawn from all nine corps areas, a committee was named to look into the defense question and report both to the war department and the association. The committee report, which urged selection of armistice day as the proper occasion for the proposed annual "muster" for the purpose of "taking periodic stock of our national defense," was unanimously approved by the full group and also by the association, which has caused it to be widely debated among its officer members.

The special committee was headed by Col. Harry C. Jones, of Baltimore, commanding officer of the 319th infantry, organized reserve. The first test last year was on Nov. 12, commemorating the battle of St. Mihiel by direction of General Pershing. It was first suggested to conduct it the following day as a tribute to General Pershing on his sixtieth birthday, when his active army service came to an end, but he preferred that the anniversary of the first American major offensive preparation of the World War be observed instead. Commenting on the desirability of shifting the date this year and hereafter to Armistice Day, Nov. 11, the reserve officer committee said: "Armistice Day provides the ideal time. It is sufficiently historical and is a legal holiday in the United States. It comes at a time of the year when climatic conditions are favorable, when schools units can be assembled with the least objection, and near the end of the training period for reserves, National Guard, R. O. T. C., and C. M. R. C. units.

"The reserve officers committee outlined certain points for central action at Washington on which the centralized acts of defense day by army contingents, whether regular, National Guard, or reserve, should be based. These are: "The president's early and vigorous announcement of defense day. "A definite and positive attitude on the part of the war department regarding details. "Proper publicity on the part of the war department. "Systematic appointment of state and local chairman and committees by the governors of states."

City Manager W. B. Williams, in accordance with the instructions of the City Commission at its meeting two weeks ago, began advertising for bids for doing 325,000 yards of bulkhead work which will extend 4,605 feet from the present end of the east side bulkhead to Mayfair subdivision. City Engineer Williams and City Engineer Fred T. The city is announced has already started the work of installing water and gas mains and sewerage on the First Street extension, which will be completed before the bulkheading is started. These extensions will take care of the new Hotel Forrest Lake, which is rapidly being completed under the direction of Howard Hulick.

PLANS TO SELL U.S. FLEET SENT TO PRESIDENT

Program Provides For Operation of Vessels by American Concerns; Would Reduce Number on U. S. Board. Continuation Fleet Corporation Sought. Plans Recommend Coastwise Laws Include Philippines; Other Changes Planned. NEW YORK, May 11.—Recommendations to make possible the sale of the government owned fleet and its successful operation by American companies laid before President Coolidge by the American Steamship Owners Association of the Pacific and the Pacific American Steamship Company, were made public Sunday and they urge the creation of two special agencies to determine the extent of service to be carried on and the amount of direct national aid through pay and other compensation. Included in these organizations are almost all the owners of ocean-going tonnage under the American flag.

The program favors also reduction of the shipping board from seven members to three, and continuation in some form of the fleet corporation, under the control of the secretary of commerce of a secretary of marine, to supervise operation of the essential steamship services pending liquidation. The government is asked to relinquish to privately-owned American ships the privilege of government supplies and troops in time of peace and to convey all government officials and employees and all government cargoes in such vessels.

The secretary of commerce, the postmaster general, the secretary of the navy, the director of the budget, and one or two other American citizens experienced in shipping would constitute one of the agencies recommended. To the second of these agencies, the chairman of the shipping board would be added. Determine Extent of Services. These groups would determine the extent of the services to be carried on by passenger and by cargo ships, essential to national defense and promotion of foreign trade, and also the amount of direct national aid necessary to maintain the mail, passenger and cargo services of the merchant marine in overseas trade.

With the sale of the fleet to government ships to private owners would be assured, the associations contend, for which the government has no present nor prospective use but which could be sold to American citizens.

Valdez Hotel Bought By Group of Orlando Capitalists Saturday

Sale Price Announced At About $250,000; W. D. Rogers Heads Group of Purchasers. Big Improvements Are Being Planned. Twelve-Acre Tract Is Sold to New Yorker Saturday for $25,000. Sale of the Valdez Hotel by the Valdez Hotel Corporation to a group of Orlando capitalists headed by W. D. Rogers was announced today by H. S. Long, through whose firm, the Sanford Realty Company, the deal was negotiated. The purchase price was not given out but it is understood to be between $225,000 and $250,000. The negotiations were formally consummated Saturday.

The new owners of one of Sanford's leading hotels, contemplate extensive improvements to be made on the hostelry before the opening of next winter season, it is announced by Mr. Long, who stated that among the group of investors are several experienced hotel men, who plan to make it one of the finest commercial hotels in the state. The renovation work is expected to be started within a short time.

Construction started in 1917. Construction of the Valdez Hotel was started in 1917 when a group of nine business men associated themselves in the organization of the Valdez Hotel Corporation and by was erected. The group of nine raised funds with which the hotelmen, nearly all of whom still retained an interest in the hotel when it was purchased Saturday, were: L. A. Brunley, Joe Cameron, John Meisch, Mayor Forrest Lake, H. R. Stevens, H. C. DuBose, Frank L. Miller, W. C. Hill and L. P. McCuller. Of this group Mr. Brunley, Mr. Cameron, Mr. Meisch were said to be the largest stockholders.

The hotel is situated on a site facing 150 feet on Commercial Street and 104 feet on Park Avenue. All of the space on Commercial Street is a 12-acre tract, it being left to take care of an addition that might be made to the hotel's business increased. The building is a four-story structure and contains in addition to a large lobby, dining room, grill, several rest rooms and private parlors, 60 bedrooms. Purchasers Have Faith In City. The nature of the transaction whereby the hotel changes hands is said to be in a sale of the entire stock of the Valdez Hotel Corporation, which will give the Orlando interest in the hotel and the building and the site. The negotiations for the stock were said to have been in progress for the past several weeks.

Mr. Rogers, who is a large property owner of Orlando, has long had confidence in the future of Sanford, according to Mr. Long, and has other interests here, which he has owned for several years. His decision along with that of his associates to purchase the Valdez Hotel, is evidence of his continued faith in Sanford and the future of the city. Further investments in Sanford real estate by the group are contemplated.

Twelve-Acre Tract Sold. Another transaction consummated in the past few days by Mr. Long is the sale of a 12-acre tract lying along Lake Monroe and situated about a half-mile east of the business section, by R. W. Perry, an official of S. W. Strauss Inc., one of the largest bond firms in the country. The property was sold by George W. Knight, and Frank MacNeill for a consideration of approximately $25,000. Mr. Perry plans to develop the tract as soon as the bulkhead work in that part of the city is completed, it is declared. Mr. Perry already owns property here which he purchased during the past few months through Mr. Long.

The rainbow coloring for shoes is not to be confined to the ball room, but is designed for street wear, and especially for afternoon teas and other social events before nightfall sets in. The rainbow coloring is brought about by the use of a highly glossed surface on patent leather, a kind of imitation of a beetle's wings. The surface is iridescent and filled with touches of the greens, blues and suggestions of pink.

SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ARE URGED TO ATTEND MEETING MONDAY

Mr. Walker, it is learned, has called the meeting primarily for the appointment of committees for the different phases of work which must be done. These committees, he said, will have power to act so that it may be possible to eliminate further mass meetings of the

Fisherman's Window At Ball Hardware Co. Attracting Attention

In the Spring time the fishermen's fancy turns to thought of blue lakes, shady streams and cool camping places, and he naturally is attracted by every picture or written word which enhances the enjoyment of these facets—hence the attraction for Sanford's many Ince Waltons to the show window of the Ball Hardware Company on First Street, which presents a picture dear to the heart of every man who ever cast a fly, turned a reel or cooked his own fish in a camp of his own making.

The window, which has attracted so much attention shows a miniature lagoon with ducks swimming about the stream shaded by waving reeds and grasses. From this "fishing spot" a road leads through a regular maze of fishing tackle, flies and bait to a perfect camp house with thatched roof with cooking pots and pans hanging about, and on one side of the door is the old time drinking gourd.

The lagoon, the winding road and the camp house—all form a picture attractive to everyone, but doubly so to the man or boy who loves to fish and hunt.

SHE LAID HER GLORY AT HIS FEET

Twas Mary sat at Jesus' feet, And others too may sit there still; To nerve Him most is most blest indeed, But first we need to know His will. Yes, she who sat at Jesus' feet, Had learned full many a lesson there. She deemed it privilege most sweet, To wipe them with her glorious hair. No perfume, how'er costly, was To precious for her Saviour's feet; To use her glory for her Lord, Was service to His heart most sweet. Had she been of her glory shorn, What blessed service had she lost. Could she to gratify herself, Grieve Him at such a signal cost. Were Jesus in our midst today, Would you regret you'd lost the power? To lay your glory at His feet, Ah! that indeed were one sad hour. Then keep your glory for His feet, Ye who are tempted with a whim. Which, were you honest with yourself, You'd know you did not learn of Him. —H. McD., in Our Hope.

Sure, with Tampa only a little over an hour's drive and Jacksonville but five and a half hours distant, the largest city in Florida is bound to be our suburb, no matter how the controversy between them results. —Dade City Banner.

A reader of this paper complains of our spelling of the word kidnapped and kidnapping, declaring that the correct forms are kidnaped and kidnaping. Mr. Webster, of Webster Dictionary fame, has a slightly different opinion, however, making kidnaper and kidnapper correct, though kidnaped and kidnaping are preferred.

Hotels Successful In Florida

E. D. Miller, treasurer of the Bowman Hotel Company, a concern which operates a chain of hotels in Florida as well as in New York, Cleveland, Detroit and other large cities, has stated some interesting facts concerning the tourist trade in this state and the business outlook for next year. Mr. Miller, on the eve of his departure for Europe, declared that the earnings of their Florida hotels increased during the past season seventy-five per cent over the previous season. "Our earnings for the Florida season just closed," said Mr. Miller, "were more than seventy-five per cent ahead of last year. This percentage of increase was also true of our Havana business. I think we can say that percentage of increase is applicable to all Florida hotels for the season just closed."

"We are planning no new development in our chain of eleven hotels other than the Coral Gables which we will have ready at Miami for next season, at a cost of about $12,000,000."

"The hotel business is the best barometer of business conditions throughout the country I know of; all our hotels are crowded and we constantly have to turn people away. This leads me to believe that business throughout the country is good and booming, and there is no occasion for worry. The outlook with us is very favorable, and our earnings point to a greater than thirty per cent increase for 1925 over 1924."

Any seventy-five per cent increase in business is an excellent indication of prosperity, but in the hotel business, especially in Florida, where such importance is attached to the tourist trade, it is double indicative of good times. The information which Mr. Miller gives out is particularly interesting to Sanford just at this time when the Forrest Lake Hotel is under construction. There may be some who surmise on its possible success or failure. If its business starts at near nothing, then increases and continues to increase seventy-five per cent, as other Florida hotels do, there can be little doubt as to its success.

And that is what can be expected of the Forrest Lake Hotel or any other modern tourist hotel that is constructed in Sanford.

The Beautiful Side

Learn to love everything that is beautiful and you will make your life beautiful. Many people think only of leading a useful life; but those who lead a beautiful as well as a useful life find more pleasure and happiness themselves and afford more to all about them.

If you are ever seeking the beautiful side of life you will find it, while if you are always expecting and looking for ugly things, you will rarely escape them. When you think about your friends and when you talk about them, form the habit of shutting your eyes and ignoring their faults and shortcomings and dwell more on their noble qualities and virtues. You will soon find that this method pays larger dividends than you expected. If you form the habit of always contemplating the beautiful, and positively refuse to have anything to do with ugly things, you will find that your life influenced by beautiful things will soon become beautiful itself.

The fountain-head and source of all that is beautiful is in beautiful thoughts. A great artist or musician with ugly thoughts could not produce anything beautiful. For as a man thinks, so he speaks, and so he acts, and so he lives. A person with a calm serene mind is never quick tempered, nor does a person who thinks beautiful things ever made use of vile, ugly language.

Only people with weak minds are unable to close their senses to and refuse entrance to all things that are ugly. Why contemnancy anything that is ugly? If it is fast, forget it! If it is Present think of something pleasant and try to crowd it out of your mind; if it is Futur don't contemplate it—everything we dread does not always come true, the Future is an uncertainty.

Some people find beauty everywhere in nature; others find it nowhere. The ocean, the sunset, a storm are beautiful to some people, and to these people are brought joy and happiness. The faculty to appreciate things that are beautiful is a wonderful gift. People, who cannot appreciate, are missing more than half their lives.

Beauty and ugliness surround every man. It is up to him which he chooses and which he ignores.

BERLIN'S REACTION

PROVIDENCE NEWS

It can hardly be doubted that Ambassador Houghton spoke the mind of the average American, the other day in London, when he said that genuine peace must be restored in Europe if American aid in the reconstruction of that devastated continent is to be continued. But it may very well be doubted whether Mr. Houghton spoke the American mind in the sense in which Berlin has interpreted his warning. According to its interpretation, Mr. Houghton was doing something very much like reading the riot act to France. No such thought surely is in the American mind, especially after that act of German defiance which was perpetrated last Sunday week when Hindenburg was elected president of the republic.

There was a time, during the days of M. Poincare's premiership in France, when the American people feared genuinely that France was falling into a militaristic attitude which would call for the complete crushing of Germany. But the French people, when given an opportunity, turned M. Poincare out of power and elected a Chamber of Deputies which brought to the premiership the pacific M. Herriot. The latter's regime was marked by France's acceptance of the Geneva protocol calling for the compulsory arbitration of international disputes. France has a right to say that, in her own acceptance of this protocol, even though it be unacceptable to Britain and this country, she made a sweeping gesture for peace. Naturally Mr. Houghton's speech has been taken in London also as guiding at France. The prevalent opinion in Britain is that France is holding up the Europe of peace on the continent of Europe by making impossible demands for the guarantee of her security. Probably that opinion is held quite honestly by some of the British people, but in evaluating its honesty we should never forget that the traditional policy of Great Britain is to see that no continental power should dominate Europe. For her own safety Britain would prefer to see Germany grow strong, not merely because this would benefit trade, but because it would help to offset the present French supremacy on the continent.

It is certainly just as well that Europe should realize the necessity for putting her own house in order, and it is well for Americans to realize the undesirability of making large loans to Europe until it is put in order. But it is a great pity, indeed, that the American ambassador to the Court of St. James's should have so phrased his first public speech, on taking office, as to give encouragement to the organs of German nationalism and militarism. If Mr. Houghton did not see what the inevitable result of his speech must be, even though he did not specifically mention France, he is poor ambassadorial timber.

Mr. Campbell, who was a lawyer, fell somewhat irritated on receiving his office at 8:30 in the morning to find the fire in the grate unkindled and the floor unswept and the place generally in a state of disorder. It was nearly nine o'clock before he, his black office valet, appeared.

"Good Lord, Ike," said Mr. Campbell petulantly. "What's detained you?"

We're Meek, Says Inge. Is Ford a Trust? Atr Prospector. A Big Needle's Eye. By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

DEAN INGE tells what he thinks of America after three weeks study. He is amazed at our meekness, submitting to anything that bears the stamp of official authority. Long before the Dean, Lord Northcliffe remarked, "The Americans are a very docile people."

THIS IS the happiest of countries, according to the Dean, and it is in no danger of revolution. He is right. A people that owns fifteen or twenty millions of automobiles is not driving in revolution's direction.

THE STATE of Mississippi sues the Henry Ford Company, Ford dealers and banks, declaring the Ford enterprise a trust, accusing it of price fixing, etc.

What would happen to the officials bringing the suit, if Henry Ford should say, "All right, gentlemen, I am sorry to hurt your feelings. I shall not sell any more cars in Mississippi."

THAT SUIT against Ford will be applauded by "big business" that ordinarily would call an anti-trust suit as shameful as trying to hit an old lady in the eye.

But a suit against Ford is different. Big business doesn't like him. He actually finances himself and doesn't give any desert group of financiers a chance to reorganize him or name his board of directors.

A PARTY of prospectors looking for gold soon to leave for Vancouver, on a trip to the northern part of British Columbia, will not jog slowly along on donkeys. They are going by airplane.

Flying low the experienced prospectors will spy out the land, descending at favorable spots. That's progress. Flying machines above the earth and submarines crawling along the bottom of the ocean will find many mines and oil wells.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., who distributes millions freely has been elected a trustee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, although not an Episcopalian.

Occasionally you find a needle with an eye through which a rich man can pass quite easily. Mr. Rockefeller moves that men of all denominations be eligible as trustees. He thinks that would stimulate raising funds.

The motion should be changed to read, "Any man worthy fifty millions and up shall be eligible."

AT A convention of women in Washington, members of the National Association of Colored Women, complain of race discrimination. They found themselves seated apart from white women at a concert, and 200 negro singers on the programme refused to appear.

RACE DISCRIMINATION, unfortunately is as old as the difference in races. And it shows itself even within the race. Certain classes of Chinese look down on other classes. Southern white aristocrats used to look down upon New England outcast vendors, and probably continue to do so.

In the days of Spinoza, Portuguese and Spanish Jews would not associate with German Jews. This writer has heard German Jews speak disparagingly of Russian, Polish and Rumanian Jews.

At one church for Negroes in Washington some of the very black members protested because they had to take seats in the rear, a way from the light, mulattoes sitting in front.

Prejudice is a part of human ignorance. BEGINNING TODAY street car lines of New York will permit women to smoke on open cars with seats reserved for smokers.

There is nothing surprising about that. A public opinion that allows women in private life and 90 per cent on the stage will not be excited about women so smoking on street cars.

YOU ARE told the new rule means equality, and perhaps it does. But there are two kinds of equality—one raises you up to a higher level as when slaves were set free or women permitted to vote. The other drags you down making you the equal of something below you.

That's the sort of equality women achieve when they are allowed to smoke in public. They might also be allowed to chew tobacco. Perhaps that will be the next step.

MOHAMMED and Allah had their chance to rule the world, but Charles the Hammer, son of Pepin, fighting Frenchman of the seventh century, took it away from them. It won't come back. Frenchmen of today fight as well as the Hammer did. And they have brains enough to do their fighting from the air, safe for them, hard on the human rabbits below them.

ABOLISHING EVOLUTION

MIAMI HERALD

The state legislature is to have for consideration a bill, introduced by Representative McLaren of Suwanee and Phillips of Levy, prohibiting the teaching of evolution in any tax supported school. The legislature has before it sufficient constructive legislation to occupy all its time without becoming involved in the bitter controversy which the proposed measure will bring. A number of bills have been presented which have wasted some time, but which have been simply silly. The anti-evolution bill will not only waste time, but if it is enacted, will place on the statute books a law positively vicious. The legislature should let it alone.

The proposed bill, if enacted into law, will be detrimental to education, will bring to Florida the contempt of other states, will erect a barrier in the pathway of progress. It can have no desirable effect.

As a matter of fact such a law will be a practical dead-letter. The governor of Tennessee in approving a similar measure in that state frankly admitted that it could not and would not be enforced. He declared, however, that it was desirable as a protest against a theory which in his opinion was destructive of religious ideals and of morality. He did not suggest what excuse there is for ethics of a bill foredoomed to failure.

The most violent opposition of religion is likely to have an ethical standard higher than is indicated in the attitude of such an anti-evolutionist as the governor of Tennessee. The same ethics motivate those who would adopt a bill which in the very nature of the case must be ineffective.

If it is assumed that a law can be enforced in the universities and the high schools, forbidding the teaching of evolution that law will still be a dead-letter so far as any practical effect is concerned. It will not touch the elementary schools, where the sciences are not taught. It will touch the high schools to only a limited extent. It will destroy the universities. But the law cannot be enforced.

For all scientific study is based on the hypothesis of evolution, not Darwinism. The ignorance or the viciousness of those who oppose evolution is indicated by the constant confusion of the two terms. Darwinism is simply one theory of evolution. Evolution is the principle that underlies practically all science, and if it could be successfully prohibited all the courses in science would be eliminated from the universities.

Even if the teaching of evolution is prevented in the schools that fact will not prevent it from being taught in other ways. Let not the anti-evolutionists deceive themselves. Such a law as they propose will lead to a wider study of evolution than has ever before taken place, and whose wider study is made the theory will be more generally understood and accepted. The alert young people in the high school will not calmly submit to being blindfolded. They will study evolution. If they do not study it under the leadership of those who are sympathetic to religion, they will study it from the standpoint of bald materialism. They will develop a contempt for the church, if the church is responsible for the passage of the law.

In an indirect way the adoption of the proposed bill will be of material assistance to those who are seeking to establish the truth of evolution. Most of the present opposition is from those who know nothing of it, who have been led by a few loud-spoken persons to believe that it is directly opposed to all religion, and who sincerely fear it on that account when they come to know the truth they will repudiate their would-be leaders, but in the meantime the state will have done a thing morally bad, because it will have adopted a law knowing it to be unenforceable.

The theory of evolution is not opposed to religion, and it need not be opposed on that ground. Almost all the leading scientists are devout men of religion. They are not atheists. They do not teach evolution as an atheistic doctrine. They interpret it in terms of materialism. There are a few who are materialists, but they are not greatly influential if the church brings about a prohibition of the teaching of evolution. The most detrimental thing that the church can do to the cause of religion will be to undertake to stop legitimate investigation of scientific theories.

The proposed bill is an insult to the fine group of men and women who are the educational leaders of the state, and to the tiny body of young people who see the students in the schools. It says by implication that these teachers cannot be entrusted with the task of guiding the minds and souls of the coming people, unless they are controlled by the regulations of the legislature, and that these young people cannot be entrusted to explore the universe in search of truth and must confine themselves to such investigations as the legislature may permit.

These teachers have been provided safe educational leadership in the past. There is no reason to assume that a crisis has arisen which makes it impossible for them to do so in the future.

Club Department Will Celebrate Anniversary Of Wednesday Club

The Wednesday club was organized May 13, 1894 and the Charter members who are in the city and others who were members later will be the guests of the club. A fine program has been arranged and it will be interesting to note that some of the members are now members of the Literature Department. A small admission will be asked and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

The following delightfully unusual invitation has been issued: Just thirty years ago
In the fair month of May
The infant Wednesday Club
First saw the light of day.

Forerunner of the rest,
A sturdy pioneer,
It gladly gave its best
Throughout each passing year.

Merged in the larger whole,
One sister among four,
It works with heart and soul
As it has worked before.

On this Thirteenth of May—
Be sure to mark the date—
We urge you each to come
And help us celebrate.

And since on a birthday
Presents give no offense,
Drop in the birthday box
Your gift of thirty cents.

TAMPA SMOKERS DEFEAT SANFORD BY SCORE 13 TO 0

Peterson's Night Pitching Responsible for 4th Straight Loss by Carter's Celery-Feds Who Still Are Fighting Jinx

TAMPA, May 11.—The Tampa Smokers won their fourth straight game Saturday afternoon when they smothered the Sanford Celery-Feds under a 13 to 0 score.

Peterson, on the mound for Tampa, was inflexible throughout and Sanford managed to get only two men past second and only four past first. Pete made ten Sanford batters whiff the air and none of the eight hits recorded against him went for extra bases. Most of them were infield rollers.

Alverson took the mound for Sanford and lasted the first four innings when he gave way to Walsh after giving up eight hits and having seven runs scored on him. Walsh fared little better, giving up seven hits and six runs.

The only threat that Sanford made was in the eighth when they filled the bases and failed to score. Walzak, Thompson and Abell singled in succession but Carter fouled Walzak at the plate. Stanzak fouled out to Weik who made a sensational catch off the fence and Frisbie swung at three.

Tampa failed to score in one inning only, the seventh. Every man on the Smoker team hit safely at least once with Estrada leading with three singles. Lee hit safely in his sixteenth game when he doubled in the fifth. Peterson got a freak triple in the eighth when he sent a high fly into short right. Dean, Thompson and Curley all went after it and let it drop between them. The ball rolled into right field and the three players stood looking at each other until the runner had reached third. It should hardly have gone for a single. Four sacrifice flies helped Tampa in the scoring.

LEAGUE LEADERS SHUT OUT 4 TO 0 BY LAKELANDERS

'Bugs' Ery Proved Too Puzzling For Saints Who Were Able to Get Only Two Hits In Saturday's Fast Game

ST. PETERSBURG, May 11.—"Bugs" Ery shut out the league leading Saints here Saturday afternoon, Lakeland winning 4 to 0. The Blockmen were set down with two hits, both doubles not a man reaching third base. Ery likewise led the batting attack of the Highlanders with a single, a triple and a sacrifice in three trips to the plate.

Brower, on the mound for St. Petersburg allowed only seven safeties but two triples and a home run spelled defeat. The lone error made by Allen was responsible for one run. Ery did not issue a base on balls and did not strike out a man. Only 29 men faced him in the nine innings. Brower hit a double with two out in the third but was retired when Allen popped out. Allen came up in the ninth with two gone and slid one over the first base bag for another two base clout but Shannon fled out to Surface.

Eighteen batters flied out in the game, nine of them in succession in the last out of the third, the fourth and fifth and the first two outs of the sixth.

Welch was hit by Brower in the second inning and stole second. McQue hit a home run to deep center-field scoring Welch ahead of him. The next Lakeland tally came in the fifth when Ery tripped to left center and Allen let Buckley's grounder go through his legs. Many remarkable fielding plays by both clubs speeded up the game. Brown grabbed Dumas' fly in one hand after a long chase in the first play of the game. In the third inning, with a man on second, Welch misjudged Allen's long fly but recovered to make a successful catch his bare right over his shoulder. Buckley and Dumas made many sparkling plays in the infield which robbed the Saints of what might have been hits.

Washington Makes Seven Tallies In Sixth, But White Sox Even Up In Seventh and Eighth Frames Sunday

CHICAGO, May 11.—Johnny Mostil's home run, drive into the left field bleachers with a runner on base broke up a twelve inning game yesterday and gave Chicago a ten to eight victory over Washington. Local High School Baseball Team Is Beaten By Orlando

Sanford High School was defeated in its last game of the season here Saturday afternoon with Orlando high scoring when Elletts let them down with only three hits.

Wodruff, pitching for the locals was not in his usual form and was pounded heavily, the visitors including in their hits a number of two baggers. The local nine however, made a number of pretty field plays, which gave the crowd many thrills.

Schirard, left field for the Celery-feds was the star of the locals when he made a sensational running catch in the first inning:

The City of Coral Gables

With the signing of the Act of Incorporation, Coral Gables becomes a City. The establishment of this new order marks not only a notable milestone in the progress and growth of Coral Gables, but also the culmination of long and carefully worked out plans for the betterment of the suburb.

Coral Gables has been conceived and developed into a city along most exceptional lines. It has been the remarkable achievement of one man. It has been beautified along a unified plan and scheme. And it is only because this has been the case that Coral Gables is today America's most beautiful suburb. That the work will be continued along the same harmonious lines in future—and that here will be found beyond all question or doubt America's finest city—the present incorporation insures.

No city in Florida, perhaps none in the South, very few in this entire country, have made an entry into political life under such unusual auspices as Coral Gables enjoys. It commands now—at its beginning—the things which characterize cities of power and influence. It has its own bank and postoffice, trolley line, business and industrial sections and fine residential districts.

When our great work is completed—when the program of further beautification is assured—then Coral Gables will realize what has been its first and fondest ambition, and become a part of Miami, giving the fullness of its matured beauty and strength to make greater and better the Miami of the future.

Let us take you to Miami and Coral Gables with no cost or obligation to you. Our Deluxe Highway Pullman Coaches leave each week for Coral Gables, making a delightful sight-seeing tour along the Indian River and Biscayne Bay passing through Palm Beach, Ft. Lauderdale and the many points of interest in Miami. Transportation is free. For full particulars and to make reservation call at the local Coral Gables office.
