Legal Notice

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE NINTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT, IN AND FOR ORANGE COUNTY, FLORIDA.

AT LAW NO. 4882

J. J. WILSON and ROY A. LINQUIST, Plaintiffs, vs.

WILLIE MARTIN, et al., Defendants.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE: Notice is hereby given that I, J. L. HOBBY, Sheriff of Seminole County, Florida, under and by virtue of a judgment and writ of execution issued thereon out of the above entitled court, in the above styled cause, said writ being dated the 14th day of February, 1965, have levied upon the following described personal property located in Seminole County, Florida, to-wit:

1. 25 shares of corporate capital stock in Shaco, Inc., a Florida corporation, as the property of the above named Defendant, Willie Martin (the amount paid into the corporation for said shares is $150.00, and the amount unpaid for the issuance of said shares is none).

2. 25 shares of corporate capital stock in Shaco, Inc., a Florida corporation, as the property of the above named Defendant, Willie Martin (the amount paid into the corporation for said shares is $150.00, and the amount unpaid for the issuance of said shares is none).

On the 14th day of June, 1965, between the legal hours of sale, namely 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon and 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon, on said day, at the Court House of the County of Seminole, Florida, I will offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash, in hand, the above described property, as the property of the said Defendant, Willie Martin, to satisfy said judgment and writ of execution pursuant to Section 85.20 and 85.21 of the 1965 Florida Statutes.

J. L. HOBBY, Sheriff of Seminole County, Florida.

Moscow Attacks President For Peace Overtures

All Clock Watchers are invited to attend the Seminole High School Band's final concert of the year tonight at the Civic Center at 8:15 p.m. It's free and you can see for yourselves how much progress these young musicians have made during the past year.

Seniors with diapers on! The Oviedian, yearbook of Oviedo High School, shows all in its 1965 edition. Under its "senior activities" section, pictures of graduates as babies are shown.

Residents of the Upsala Road section complain their neighborhood is fast becoming the dumping ground for all stray dogs and cats in the area.

One frank "senior citizen" has set us straight. Recently he spoke of many of the "seniors" considering themselves members of the "Pepsi generation." Our candid "senior citizen" admits to being in a generation, all right, only it's the "Geritol generation."

If you see Eugene Langer, Ray Daniels or Joel Field whizzing around town in new sports cars, wave to them. They won't have the privilege of driving them for one week via a Kiwanis educational quiz program Wednesday, sponsored by Bill Morrison of Strickland-Morrison. Gene and Joel will get to drive Ford LTD's and Ray Daniels gets a Mustang.

Let's all light a candle for Sonny Raaborn — our acting, acting mayor — take care of yourself, Sonny — we're running out of commissioners.

Seminole Naval Academy midshipmen got a real bang out of a musical quiz program presented at the school Wednesday by those two veteran showmen, Charlie Morrison and Harry K. D. 11. Proves this talented duo are of the Pepsi generation.

First graders at Pinecrest School all turned into jolly little animals Thursday as they presented a circus program including monkeys, elephants and everything. Two shows were given. One of our Cluck Winders recalls playing the part of a carrot in a first grade play once upon a time.

Tom Cook, the dog catcher, had better choose earlier hours to go out searching for dogs. Wednesday night he was tooling around in his truck in the Mayfair section looking for a child-biting dog. It was late at night, and his flashlight beam, poking around on the lawn, disturbed one citizen. This citizen reported to the police that a suspicious truck was cruising around in the area, and asked the police to check it out. But it was just Tom, doing his duty.

The Sanford Herald is well known in top Navy circles, it was learned through the grapevine today. The Herald's Bill Vincent Jr. was on hand to shoot the arrival of the Navy's second in command, Adm. Horacio Rivero, at SNAS. Seems the Admiral was voicing some objection to "all this picture taking and publicity" until he was assured by Adm. Robert Goldthwaite, commander of Fleet Air Jacksonville, that "it's alright . . . Sanford is the best Navy-publicity town in the United States." How about that?

Fleet Reserve will hold a "bond night" Friday evening at their headquarters on the lakefront. First bonds sold in the $100,000 drive for a new home will be distributed.

Senate OKs Area College

Experiment Station Also Receives Nod

TALLAHASSEE (Sp.) — The State Senate today placed its full stamp of approval on the proposed Seminole Junior College and on the expansion of the Central Florida Experiment Station on Celery Avenue at Sanford.

Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr., of Seminole County, explained the several approving procedures in this manner: The Senate appropriations committee, in session Thursday evening, following testimony by Cleveland, approved in the general appropriations bill $30,000 for planning the Seminole Junior College and $219,664 for its operation during the second year of this biennium.

The full Senate this morning approved the $75 million bond issue implementing bill, which includes $765,885 for capital outlay for the Seminole college.

(Supt. R. T. Milwee previously had stated that, if funds become available, the junior college could start operations in September in available space in present county school buildings. The college would thus get underway this year pending actual construction of its facilities with funds from the capital outlay appropriation.

(However, there have been reports the present facilities of the Sanford Naval Academy on Mellonville Avenue will be available for the Junior College when the Academy takes over Mayfair Inn prior to the start of the 1966-67 school year. The Academy officials are reported planning to confine all activities at the East First Street facility pending addition of more classes in the next couple of years, when junior grades would operate at the Mellonville Avenue plant.)

Cleveland also reported the full Senate this morning approved appropriations for the Central Florida Experiment Station in the amount of $117,000 for an office and laboratory building, $40,000 for land acquisition and $31,000 for a "head house" (furnace building). The bill approved by the full Senate this morning also includes $7.6 million in first priority construction and $3.5 million for second priority for the new state university to be located on SR 520 in Orange County three miles south of Oviedo at the Seminole County line.

New Federal School Aid Studied

Sanford Firm Low Bidder On Longwood Car

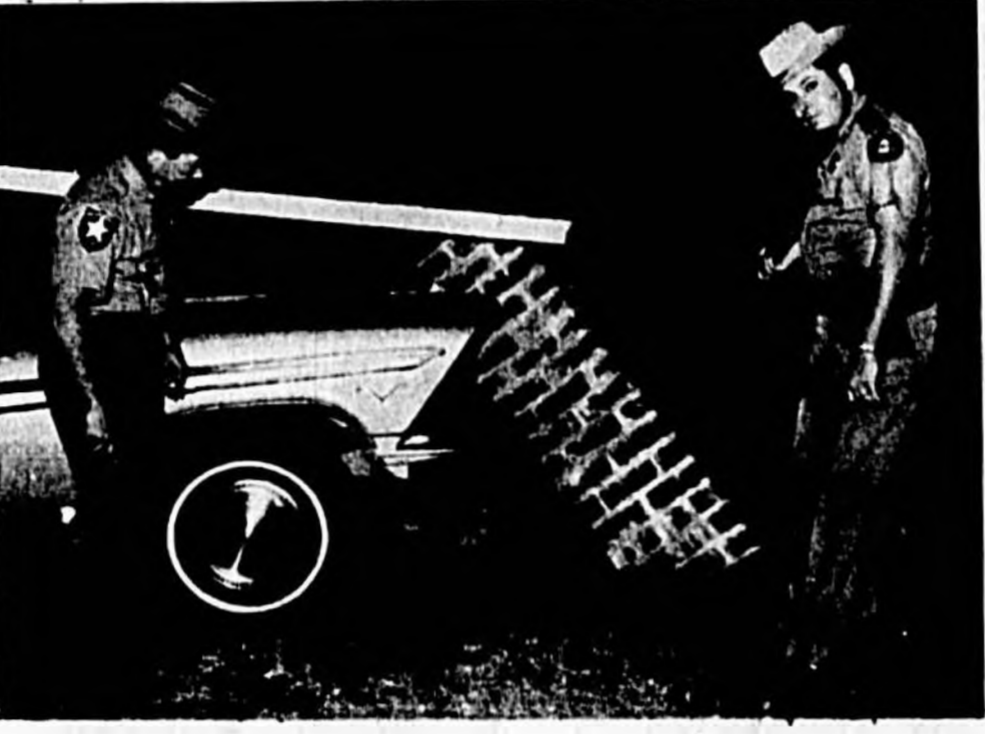

By Donna Estes
Bids on an additional car for the police department were opened at meeting of the Longwood City Council Thursday evening. Submitting bids were Seminole County Motors (apparent low bidder); Holter's of Sanford and Heintzelman Ford of Orlando.

After private discussion among the councilmen and consultation with Police Chief Claude Lajo, it was voted to turn bids over to the police department for further study and to Councilmen Percy White and Carl Lommel, giving them power to act.

A letter was read from City Engineer A. E. O'Neill which stated that after revision of specifications for the aerator and chlorination equipment to be added to the water system, plans now call for placing the aerator above the present water tank. Estimated costs of all improvements total $16,000. Councilman Burbon Ferrell was authorized to obtain further details on the matter.

In other action, council decided to donate $500 to the fire department, at recommendation of Mayor David H. Wentworth, to be used toward purchase of another emergency vehicle with remainder of money needed to be raised by the fire department; instructed City Manager John Farina to draw up specifications for a new tractor and accessories, and Appointed Councilmen White and B. L. Helms to study and make recommendations on possible appointments to the zoning board.

Acting Council Chairman Lommel urged citizens in the community to attend and offer assistance for the benefit dinner being sponsored by the committee which has been formed to raise funds to assist Mrs. Sue Brabazon with payment of medical expenses. The dinner is scheduled for Saturday at the City Park beginning at 4 p.m.

Aid Is On The Way 'Helping Hand' Underway

By Jane Casselberry
A concerted effort to aid residents of Casselberry, whose homes fell victim last weekend to the devastating sinkhole, was launched Thursday night at the Casselberry Woman's Club by representatives of 13 Seminole County organizations and many interested individuals.

The fund raising project has been dubbed "Helping Hand." The victims were forced to evacuate four attractive homes on Northmoor Road which were damaged by the unexpected phenomenon and in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rozolsky completely demolished.

Alderman Edward Lunn was elected chairman of the committee and Robert Miller, president of the South Seminole Jaycees, was named vice chairman.

A finance committee to receive and disburse funds raised was set up consisting of the heads of participating groups. Anyone wishing to contribute may send donations to "Helping Hand," Casselberry, or leave them with the town clerk, Mrs. Mary Hawthorne, in the municipal annex.

Jays for receiving contributions will be placed in area businesses by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10050 and Lions Club. A donation box also will be located in the vicinity of the disaster scene.

Ralph Park, owner of Land O' Lakes Country Club, offered use of club facilities for a golf tournament, swimming and a barbecue on Sunday, June 6. The Men's Golf Association will supervise the event.

Mrs. Don Mount, of the Young Woman's Club of South Seminole, was appointed chairman of a sub-committee to formulate plans for a benefit ball.

Also being considered to wind-up the drive on July 6 is an all-day event at Little League Ball Park. C. L. Cooper, of Seminole Little League, offered the assistance of the organization in putting on the affair.

Mrs. Edward Pender, president of the Woman's Club of Casselberry, stated the club was foregoing the usual rental of the building for the use of the committee for meetings.

Other organizations offering their cooperation were American Legion Memorial Post 256 and Auxiliary, Casselberry Community Methodist Church, Ascension Lutheran Church, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and VFW Auxiliary 10050.

Each organization is asked to have a representative to plan the events at a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Woman's Club on Overbrook Drive.

Milwee said he expects that a meeting will be called "soon" in Tallahassee with the directors of instruction of the counties to plan and work on guidelines to be followed in preparing projects under the provisions of the act.

On May 27 Milwee and W. W. Wharton, director of guidance and testing, will go to Tallahassee to meet with representatives of the U. S. Office of Education in a workshop session designed to assist county schools in drawing up new desegregation plans that will meet the guidelines of the Civil Rights Act.

The new plan for desegregation of county schools must be submitted through the state office to the national office by June 15, Milwee said.

HOUSE APPROVES TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill authorizing Seminole County to sell surplus property to volunteer fire departments.

The report, produced by a team of experts ordered to the scene by the Governor, said the collapse resulted from the surface soil caving into a subterranean limestone cavern.

Russ Claim Aggression

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union, in its strongest attack on President Johnson to date, turned down his recent offer to improve relations between Washington and Moscow.

An official statement issued by the Tass news agency declared no agreement with the Soviet Union is possible while the United States pursues policies of "aggression and intervention in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic."

Countdown

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The countdown got underway today for a third attempt to send a 200-pound project fire spacecraft on a 500-mile hop into space to measure the re-entry heat moonships will face.

Guests Routed
DETROIT (UPI) — A five-alarm fire at the 920-room Statler Hilton Hotel in downtown Detroit early today routed nearly 1,000 guests and felled eight firemen from smoke inhalation and exhaustion.

Detrimental
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The State Development Commission says passage of federal legislation permitting union shops in states with right-to-work laws would be detrimental to its efforts in attracting new industry to Florida.

Human Error?
CAIRO (UPI)—Human error or faulty landing flaps probably caused the crash of a Pakistani jetliner in desert wasteland near the Cairo Airport, preliminary investigations indicated today. Four Americans were among the 119 persons killed in the disaster.

Commies Force State Of Siege In Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—The government of President Guillermo Leon Valencia today declared a state of siege in Colombia.

The decree prohibited public manifestations and ordered drastic measures to "reestablish public and social order." The decision was announced at 4 a. m. after a cabinet meeting that started Thursday afternoon to discuss recent clashes between police and students in Bogota and Medellin.

A curfew was imposed and local officials were granted authority to keep the peace. They also were empowered to halt or limit the sale of alcohol.

Censorship was imposed on both radios and newspapers forbidding them to distribute news "tending to create alarm, alter public order or impede the full establishment of order."

Reds Ambush Marine Convoy

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Communist Viet Cong guerrillas ambushed a U. S. Marine convoy a few miles from this air base today, and kept the Leathernecks pinned down for an hour by small arms fire.

The only American casualty was the lieutenant in charge of the convoy, who was hit in the chest.

Fear Destroyed

Perhaps we all would agree that there is more fear in our lives than is healthy. The thing that we do agree on is how to get rid of it. If we have too much acid, cholesterol, nicotine, or alcohol in our system we can at least find formulas that will work in eradicating it if we put them into effect, but this is not true with the fear that besets us.

It is very easy for some people to say that we should cast fear aside and be concerned with other things, but for one whose work causes him to see the fear-filled eyes so often and the mental, spiritual, moral and physical paralysis that follows, he knows that it is not so simple as turning his head.

I have tried to make a list of the things that people fear and find that it is so long that this column could not accommodate it but there are a few basic fears which continue to plague us time and time again that I will mention. One of them that seems to be so dominant concerns physical health. People are afraid of cancer, heart disease, and a multitude of other things that afflict the body. Many people are afraid concerning their material possessions which can be very real when we know the extent we depend on a complex and complicated economic machine for even our daily living. We fear what we do not understand and how few of us begin to understand economics today. There is fear that we may become mentally sick and this is not groundless because we know that more and more hospital beds are being filled with people who are mentally ill.

Are our fears really caused by the complexity of our modern world or are they caused by the lack of having the armor to take care of threats that have been with us always even if in different forms? As we read history we find that there was always much to fear. Americans remember the pioneers who pushed westward with their families and possessions knowing that others had experienced hardships and even death which might be their lot also, but we do not read of the fears that could have been theirs. When future readers compare the pages of history of our day and that of earlier days will they find recorded a difference in attitude as related to fear?

We need to realize again that we are not able to face life courageously in any century or under any circumstances without the recognition of God in our lives and in the life of our world.

Our world was facing a dark time indeed in 1939. Many of us can remember the sombre headlines as Hitler marched across much of the free world of that day. We did not know what to expect from day to day and for those who lived in lands across the sea there was a threat past comprehension for us who lived protected by the thousands of miles of water. King George VI gave one of his most memorable addresses in his Christmas broadcast in that year. Part of it was a quotation from Louise Laskyns which said, "I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year: 'Give me a light, that I may tread safely into the unknown!' And he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than a known way.'"

If we are to answer the question as to why we are so afraid we will have to be done with lesser answers and arrive at the basic one. The real answer is that we have withdrawn our hand from the hand of God who alone can bring light to darkened hearts as well as a dark world.

Nearly two thousand years ago God came in Christ to dispel ignorance, cruelty, gloom, and fear by revealing Himself to us. Why have we turned away? Why have our ears been deaf and our eyes blind? Let us not waste time trying to answer this question, but stop and look into His wonderful face. When we do this fears that beset us will strangely dim and life will take on the glow of courage, joy, and usefulness.

First Presbyterian Women Feted On 53rd Anniversary

Women of the Church of First Presbyterian Church Sanford, were honored on the occasion of their 53rd anniversary when Men of the Church hosted a family night supper.

Fellowship Hall was gaily decorated with balloons and crepe paper streamers and a large birthday cake surrounded by flags of other nations provided focal point of interest.

Floyd Hunt, chairman of the Session's Christian action committee, served as master of ceremonies. Past presidents of the women's organization introduced included Mrs. C. C. Howard, Mrs. J. N. Gilson, Mrs. Roy Mann, Mrs. W. S. Brumley, Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith, Mrs. K. W. Fite, Mrs. P. T. Plety, Mrs. L. G. Hunter, Mrs. C. L. Redding and Mrs. W. R. Anderson.

Three To Get Scout Awards At Grace Church

Three members of Boy Scout Troop 507, Grace Methodist Church, will receive "God and Country" badges during services at the church Sunday.

Rev. John H. Hires Jr. will present the awards to Lamar Williams Jr., Karl Roseman and Tommy Hite.

Troop 507 recently won four awards at the St. Johns District scout meeting held at Camp Howard.

Members of the patrol were Lane Ely, Bill Kennedy, Lamar Williams and Alan Daniels.

Blair Kitzer Jr. won the Tomahawk Award for trail development.

Rev. Grover C. Sewell Jr., minister, expressed appreciation to the women for their dedication to Christ and to the work of the church.

Mrs. John Wilson, historian, reported on the 1965 Birthday Objectives which are the Chonju Medical Center and Taejon College, both in Korea.

Mrs. Carl R. Schilke, current president, spoke on the country and the objectives, stating that the 1965 Offering would be used for college scholarships and expansion and improvements at the hospital. A recording was played in which the college choir sang and a doctor from the hospital told of needs there.

Dedication prayer for the offering was given by Assistant Pastor Edgar Smith after which members gathered in the church sanctuary to hear a program on history of the church.

Mrs. Keith Bauder told of the past history, beginning with the Silver Lake Church at Fort Reed which was established in 1870. Jacke Greene spoke on present status of the church and George Touhy concluded the program by opening the doorway to future of the church.

Rev. Edwards To Be Guest In Forest City

Guest minister at Forest City Baptist Church this Sunday will be Rev. Arthur Edwards who presently is attending Stetson University and recently served for three and one-half years as pastor for the Ocala Baptist Church.

Following the morning worship service members will have a covered dish dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Whilden on Montgomery Road in Forest City.

DAY CIRCLE of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Bear Lake, elected new officers at the May meeting. School Dropouts Topic Of Talk

By Maryann Miles

Joseph Foy, head of the Florida State Employment Bureau in Sanford and guest speaker at the May meeting of the Bear Lake Methodist Men's Club, spoke on the problem of high school dropouts and what is being done to provide these young people with vocational training.

Foy pointed out the fact that additional provisions are needed in the way of training classes, advising that at the present time Lyman High School is conducting two courses and that one is being taught in Sanford. He said that many more such courses are needed in the area if the dropouts are to reach adulthood equipped to accept responsibilities as citizens in modern day life.

Walter Gielow, editor-publisher of The Sanford Herald, also was special guest for this meeting which was held at the church following a barbecue chicken dinner prepared under direction of Harold Irwin, member of the club.

Guests were introduced by Johnny Morgan, program chairman.

Casselberry Methodist WSCS Has Candlelight Ceremony

By Jane Casselberry

Officers of the Casselberry Methodist Church Women's Society of Christian Service were installed Tuesday afternoon in a candlelighting service by Rev. Delmas Copeland, minister.

They are Mrs. Phillip Caselberry, president; Mrs. Donald MacLeod, vice president; Mrs. Harold Kryder, secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Franckenberg, treasurer.

Secretaries of works installed were Mrs. Marvin McClain, promotion; Mrs. M. C. Duggins, Christian Social relations; Mrs. G. F. Messick, spiritual life; Mrs. Arthur Putnam, missionary education; Mrs. Delmas Copeland, missionary personnel; Mrs. Thomas Gullicks on, local church activities; Mrs. Edward Johnson, literature and publications; Mrs. Edgar Lyons and Mrs. Mary Mobley, student work; Mrs. Robert Deppen, supply; Mrs. Alton Boone, chairman, nominating committee; and Mrs. C. K. Flaher, publicist.

Mrs. Duggins, long time member and past president of the local WSCS, was honored with the presentation of a Special Membership Pin and the donation of $25 to missions in her name. Mrs. Putnam, secretary of missions, and Mrs. Franckenberg participated in the presentation.

Mrs. William Shook and Mrs. Deppen presented a worship program on "Mothers."

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Tilford, vice president.

Mrs. MacLeod announced that a week day kindergarten will be held at the church starting in September and that registrations are now being accepted. Some of the items needed for the kindergarten are swing sets, cassettes, book shelves, and a rug.

The next meeting of the WSCS will be a covered dish dinner at 6:30 p.m., June 22, to be held jointly with the church Men's Club. Members of the older youth group will be special guests.

Refreshments were served following the meeting in Weaver Hall, by hostesses, Mrs. Darius Pringle, Mrs. Oden Brown, Mrs. Donald MacLeod, and Mrs. George Fitch.

Lake Mary Girls Observe 'Focus Week'

By Frances Wester

Attention of First Baptist Church of Lake Mary was upon the Girls' Auxiliaries during their Focus Week, May 9-16, with the theme, "Go and Tell."

Special events of the week began on Sunday morning, May 9, with the goal of 100 per cent members present at Sunday School with a 100 per cent grade. Each girl invited her parents to be present at the worship services where seats were reserved for the GA girls.

The pastor, Rev. V. C. Ladd, recognized the girls and presented each one with a small picture of Salmon's Head of Christ. During the week the GA Star Ideals were carried out in the girls' lives, and they were encouraged to attend the mid-week prayer service on Wednesday night.

The Carolyn Smith Circle of the WMS, which fosters the GA's, entertained at a Mother and Daughter Tea on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Harley Wilhelm, WMS president, pinned a yellow rose corsage on each mother upon her arrival at the church.

The GA's under the direction of the director, Mrs. V. C. Ladd, and the counselors, Mrs. W. G. Brown and Mrs. Charles McKeel, presented the following program:

Welcome to Mothers, sung by the GA's; Scripture, Matthew 5: 1-12, quoted by Sandra Payne; Explanation of the Prayer Calendar given by Johnette Howell; Prayer, Mrs. W. G. Brown; GA Watchword, repeated by all; Explanation of the GA emblems, Debbie Goble; Poem, "A Love Cake for Mother," Diane Chester; and Poem, "Mirror, Mirror on the Wall," Katherine Maggard.

Glenda Brown was crowned "Miss Junior GA Faithful by Mrs. W. G. Brown for being the most faithful steward in Junior GA's. Mrs. V. C. Ladd crowned Sandra Payne "Miss Intermediate GA Faithful" awarded for having earned 540 points in her work.

Mrs. Charles McKeel led the girls in singing "Praise God for Our Mothers," and the girls then escorted their mothers to the Westmoreland Wings for the tea.

The GA colors of green and gold were carried out in the decorations of the rooms. The tea table was laid with a lace cloth over green, centered with an arrangement of shaded yellow and green glads, flanked by green candles in clear glass holders.

A clear glass punch bowl was at one end of the table where gold punch was served. A ring of ice with green ivy floated in the bowl. At the other end of the table was a green and gold iced cake, trimmed with the GA emblem. All of the table service used was clear glass. Mints also were served.

Mrs. Harley Wilhelm and Mrs. Lamar Stokes were hostesses to the 24 mothers and daughters that attended.

DEDICATION of the building site for the new Deltona Community Methodist Church was held last weekend. Looking over plans and model of Fellowship Hall, first unit to be built, are (left to right) James E. Vensell, vice president of Deltona Corporation; Rev. H. Wight Kirtley, pastor of the new church; Elliott Muckle of Muckle Brothers Corporation; Dr. Joe Tolle, superintendent of the Deland Methodist District, and Harold Ware, Nelson Bacon and Richard Varnell, officers of the church.

Pastor Speaks On Teenagers For Catholic Women's Group

By Donna Estes

Rev. Terrell Solana, pastor and spiritual moderator, was guest speaker at the final meeting of the season of the Nativity Parish Women's Guild held Monday evening at the church social hall. Subject of his talk was teenagers.

Fr. Solana, who has been a teacher in Catholic high schools for the past five years, stated that teenagers most appreciate their parents and teachers being entirely honest with them.

He pointed out that although adolescents rebel against authority, they both admire and have an inner need of it. Much of their rebellion is only on the surface, he said, and growth demands nurture and care.

In his experience, he advised, he has found that the number one characteristic of teenagers is their desire to appear less good than they really are because goodness brings with it added obligations and responsibility.

He stated that for the most part, parents fall into two classes, the good and the unprepared, but that it was humanly impossible to be prepared for all situations.

He concluded his talk by saying that the less attention a person pays to the happiness of others, the less happy he will be himself.

A question and answer period followed.

During the business meeting which preceded the program, the constitution of the organization was amended to change its name from "Church of Nativity Catholic Women's Club" to "Nativity Parish Women's Guild."

In other business a rummage sale was planned for June 4-5 in Sanford and a dinner dance for June 10 at the Capri Restaurant.

Next meeting of the Guild will be held in September.

Lyman In Need Of Teachers, Principal Says

By Jane Casselberry
Officers of Lyman High School Parent-Teacher Association for the coming year were elected and installed at the final meeting of the school year.

Only a handful of parents and faculty members were on hand due to lack of advance notice.

Officers installed by James Birkenmeyer, of the county school board, included Mrs. James Fagan, president; Mrs. Thomas Brockenbrough, vice president; Mrs. J. R. Legg, secretary, and Edward Lunn, treasurer.

Changes were voted in the constitution and by-laws of the organization. The only regular meetings to be scheduled for the 1965-66 school year will be on the third Tuesdays of September and May, with called meetings to be held at the discretion of the executive board.

Members of the nominating committee will no longer be elected partly by the membership, but all five members will be named by the board.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Fagan. A gift was presented to the retiring president, A. Lormann, in behalf of the executive board by Mrs. G. Rutenkroger.

It was announced that the PTA again this year will sponsor scholarships to the top senior boy and girl of the Lyman graduating class. Principal Carlton Henley reviewed some of the year's accomplishments and said that 12 additional teachers will be needed for next year's broadened curriculum. He anticipates an increase in enrollment.

Realtor Week Opens Here

Official opening of 1953 Realtor Week this Sunday will trigger hundreds of celebrations in communities across the nation as thousands of realtors join with state and civic officials in the annual tribute to their profession, said Maurice G. Read, Berkeley, Calif., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

A realtor is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of a local real estate board and of the national association, NAREB, comprised of 80,000 realtors, is the sponsor of Realtor Week, which is designed to call public attention to the ethical and professional qualifications of realtors and the services they render.

Proclaimed officially by scores of state governors and mayors, Realtor Week will last from Sunday to Saturday, May 29. Special activities for the week have been planned by about 700 real estate boards, with emphasis on the theme, "Pick the right home—through a realtor."

Although Realtor Week particularly honors the members of the profession, it also pays homage to the basic American right to own property. Land and the buildings thereon constitute two-thirds of the tangible wealth in the United States, an asset so vast that its value is in incalculable billions of dollars.

About 66 per cent of American families own their own homes, and such distribution of wealth is unparalleled anywhere else in the world.

ACTING MAYOR M. L. Raborn Jr. (left) has proclaimed May 23-29 as "Realtor Week" in Sanford. Herbert Stenstrom is president of the Seminole County Board of Realtors. (Herald Photo)

Now is an excellent time to buy a home because of the abundant supply of mortgage funds, available at long terms of repayment and low interest rates, realtors have pointed out.

Typical of the activities planned by local real estate boards are:

Essay contests, poster competitions, and scholarship awards to high school students. Forums composed of housing and planning experts to predict metropolitan development and provide advice to the public on home buying.

Distinguished service awards to outstanding members of communities.

A salute to senior citizens and demonstrations of improved housing facilities for them. Banquets and luncheons with civic leaders as the speakers.

CO Pays Tribute To Navy EM

By Dottie Austin
 Capt. Richard E. Fowler Jr., commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One paid tribute to the enlisted men of the Navy in a talk before members of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees Thursday.

"We have the most advanced and best equipment in the world for our RA5C Vigilante training program at Sanford Naval Air Station but, in the final analysis, the success of the entire operation depends on the men who keep the planes flying and the equipment operating. We are proud that we have one of the highest re-enlistment rates in the Navy despite the tremendous pressure and grueling schedule under which we operate," Captain Fowler said.

He noted that it is the job of the Wing to provide trained and ready squadrons and crews for the four major fleets around the world.

"The strength of our Navy projects our power throughout the world. Others listen when we speak for it is evident that we can apply this strength when it is needed any where in the world," he said.

"The mobility of our aircraft carriers makes them floating all-weather jet airports and our Vigilantes combine all forms and techniques of aerial intelligence and striking power in one aircraft.

"Basing all these aircraft at the Sanford Naval Air Station gives us centralization of control, support and training equipment and facilities to provide the crews ready to go anywhere in the world," Captain Fowler declared.

He pointed out that the carriers and their supporting supply ships never actually need to enter any port, and could operate at sea indefinitely.

"But it is good for our image ashore and it is good for the men to see the world, so we put into port. It does every one good," he concluded.

Captain Fowler accompanied his talk with color slides depicting the work of the Wing training program and its application in fleet operation.

Allred, Kelley Capture Top Honors In Dusty Boots Event

By Margaret Cosby
Miss Valerie Allred and her horse Arabella, of Orlando, came through in the Junior Division of last Sunday's Dusty Boots Horse Show, winning 18 points, and riding off with the Saunders Farm Store Junior High Point Trophy for the day.

This gave Valerie a total of 113 points for the six months series, to win the Mitchell Trailer Six Months-High Point Trophy. Winner of the Junior reserve ribbon, although she only rode in three shows, was Miss Christine Copelen, also of Orlando, with 78 points.

Jack Kelley and Don Knight of Cocoa, swept the Six Month Series in the Senior Division, with Jack totaling 111 points to win the Mitchell Trailer Six Months-High Point Trophy. The reserve ribbon in the six months series went to Knight, who accumulated 81 points. Kelley chalked up 20 points in Sunday's events, losing out Norma Baldwin of New Smyrna Beach by a single point to win the Kellett Liggett-Bessell Senior High-Point Trophy for the show.

Miss Wendy Benson, Orlando, a Junior division rider, earned more points in a single show than anyone else in the entire series. Out of possible, 50, Wendy scored 31 points. Unfortunately she was a late entry in the series and wound up in fourth position after Evert Shoemaker of Cocoa.

Winners of first place trophies and ribbons were:
Jr. Keyhole: Valerie Allred, Pat Oxendine, Nancy Schwelker, Cindy Paulucci.
Sr. Keyhole: Norma Baldwin, Don Knight, Barbary Harvey.

Jr. Cloverleaf: Robbie Knowles, Wendy Benson, Valerie Allred, Shirley Durfee, Kathy Oxendine, and Gary Bradford.
Sr. Cloverleaf: Jack Kelley, Linda Ball, Norman Baldwin.

DON KNIGHT AND JACK KELLEY

David Pell, G. L. Bradford and Roy Black.
Jr. Polebending: Wendy Benson, Mike Kelley, Kathy Bradford, Diane Pell, Pat Oxendine, and Gary Bradford.

Sr. Polebending: Joyce Kelley, Norma Baldwin, Burma Knowles, Don Knight, David Pell and G. L. Bradford.
Pick-up Race (Open): Jack Kelley and Don Knight, Robbie Knowles and Kelley, Joyce and Jack Kelley, Wendy Benson and Kelley, and Norma Baldwin and Roy Black.

Western Pleasure (Open): Linda Ball, Edith Whiting, II, E. Lee Jr., Norma Baldwin, Margaret Stroy and Patricia Bradford.
Jr. Flag Race: Kathy Bradford, Dian Pell, Pat Oxendine, Valerie Allred, Wendy Benson, and Cindy Paulucci.

Sr. Flag Race: Jack Kelley, Wilson Driggers, Dick Camero, Ronnie Tindel, David Pell and Selma Palmer.

VALERIE ALLRED

Hollow Log (Open): Diane Pell, Valerie Allred, Debra Kreck, Mary Beth Lake, Jack Kelley, and Burma Knowles.

Tiger Decisions Carter, Now Looking To Giardello's Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Now it's Dick Tiger's turn to play it cozy.

It was more than 17 months ago that Joey Giardello took the middleweight crown from Tiger and since that day he's been hemming and hawing and successfully avoiding a rematch. However, Giardello seemed to relent somewhat Thursday when he announced that if Tiger defeated Rubin (Hurricane) Carter he would talk title with him.

Well, Tiger defeated Carter and in convincing fashion with a unanimous 10-round decision Thursday night in a bout that saw him down his opponent three times with ferocious left hands. And now Tiger says he's heard enough of Giardello.

"I've been waiting 17 months," Tiger said in his dressing room at Madison Square Garden, "I don't want to call him and waste any time. I've fought all the middleweights around and now I'm going to try the light-heavyweight divisions."

The 35-year-old Nigerian wants a shot at Wayne Thornton, the No. 1 light-heavy, but Thornton has his sights set on Jose Torres, the new champ. That makes it unlikely Thornton will submit to a fight with Tiger and possibly hurt his chances for a title-go.

Indians On Their Way Up, Not Out

McCallister, Rudolph Lead Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Mason Rudolph, playing on his "second home" course, and Bob McCallister, playing as though he'd found a home, led the way today into the second round of the $60,000 Memphis Open golf tournament.

Rudolph and McCallister, displaying the finesse required for the short, tricky Colonial Country Club course, fired five-under-par 65 Thursday to tie for the opening round lead.

Favored Jack Nicklaus found his booming power of little use and had to do some scrambling to stay two strokes off the pace at 67.

The ninth hole is an example of what Nicklaus and others in the 144-man field ran into on the 4,468-yard course.

One stroke back of Rudolph and McCallister at 68 were Julius Boros, Homero Blancas and George Archer. At 67, with Nicklaus, were Dave Marr, Ken Nagle and Jack McGowan. Eight golfers were tied at 68.

Nicklaus entered the tournament as odds-on favorite on the strength of his Masters win and his standing as the Professional Golf Association's top moneywinner of the year.

Rudolph looked as though he'd grown up on this treeline course, and he almost had. He played here almost daily when he attended Memphis State University.

When the $9,000 first place money is awarded Sunday after 72 holes, it is expected that the winner's card will be near 270-10 under par.

Scrimmages In Store For SHS Gridders

Simple scrimmages are in store for Seminole High School football hopefuls next week, as spring practice enters its final sessions, culminating with the spring practice game next Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

Lack of naming a new head coach to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of mentor Jim Pigott has worked a hardship on the staff and boys during the spring drills. It has been difficult to really plan a mode of operation for next year's competition.

Thursday the 60 boys seeking starting spots were divided into two squads, one coached by Jim McCoy and Ralph Stumpf, the other guided by Dick Williams and John Colbert.

The boys have primarily been working on fundamentals up to this point, but now will concentrate on basic plays used in the past. Because of this, there will be little new to be seen in the spring game. Thus, next Friday night the squad in action will look very similar to last year's Seminole.

Athletic Director Fred Gann this morning said the spring drills were going "real well."

He praised the boys for working as hard as they have in the hot weather, saying "They have to love it to be out there."

Kingswood Captures First Half League Crown

The Kingswood Builders, holding Panning scoreless in its half. Otto Thomas, the winning pitcher, was also pitter with three safeties. Don Griffin and Jim Westlund each had two hits and Rick Sires and Buddy Burton each had an out-of-the-park homer. Mike Farley hit safely three times for the losers.

Quality Mobile Homes and Sanford Atlantic took victories in Little League play. Quality, loser of 34 straight games, won its second straight yesterday, outlasting the Hunt Comets, 12-11. Mike Laubert was the winning hurler. Randy Ivey had three hits, including a home run, and George Griffin also chipped in three hits to aid the Quality victory. Steve Hitchcock was top batsman for the Comets with three hits.

Sanford Atlantic Bank ran up one of the biggest run totals in Little League play over the past several seasons when they defeated Navy, 20-9. They tallied 10 runs in the fifth inning. Dave Hudson was the winning pitcher. Mike Voltolina had five-for-five to cap hitting honors. Hudson had three hits. Scott Harris, of Navy, had the only home run of the game.

Two big games are lined up on the Sanford Recreation Department schedule today. The Junior League title will be won by Elks should they beat Rotary this afternoon at Pinehurst Park. A Rotary victory would leave the final standings in a three way tie for first place and require a playoff for the championship.

Entertainment for Everyone in the Sanford Area

'Major Dundee' Ritz Hit

Pure adventure, brawling excitement and lusty action—along with some superb characterizations of men in battle—can be found in the breathless new Columbia Pictures release, "Major Dundee," a Jerry Bresler production which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. The excitement is in Panavision and color.

Charlton Heston plays the title role, that of a Union Army officer who commands a company of renegades and deserters in a desperate mission through the great Southwest. Also topping the stellar cast is Richard Harris, the brilliant Irish star of "This Sporting Life," as a Confederate captain who is second-in-command of the expedition and who is determined, once that mission is completed, to kill the hard-bitten major.

Also part of the desperate crew are Jim Hutton, as an Army lieutenant who tries to keep his sense of humor in the middle of battle and sudden death; James Coburn, as a one-armed Indian scout; Michael Anderson Jr., as a baby-faced bugler who learns from his fellows how to kill and kiss; Mario Adorf, as a knife-throwing Mexican sergeant; Brock Peters, as the leader of six Negroes who volunteer to join the company even though its personnel includes Confederate soldiers more eager to fight Union soldiers than they are to fight Indians, and lovely Senta Berger, as the widow of a Mexican doctor.

"Major Dundee" is partially based on historic fact. Sierra Charriba, gaunt and murderous Indian chief, has massacred a company of U. S. Cavalry, and again escaped into Mexico. Civil War or no Civil War, Major Dundee leads his own troop of mis-sfits and killers against the Apache, accompanied by Confederate Army Captain Tyreen and others of his men; the rebels have been given a choice: they can fight under the American flag or they can face a murder charge.

"Major Dundee" is a powerful story magnificently brought to the screen by players and technicians who, to judge merely from what is presented on the screen, worked long and arduously to capture the hatreds and frustrations, the beauty and misery of the time.

Based on a screenplay by Harry Julian Fink, Oscar Saul and Sam Peckinpah, "Major Dundee" was directed by Peckinpah.

Wine, Dine Her This Weekend

By Dottie Austin

SATURDAY NIGHT is steak night at the TradeWinds Cafeteria in Seminole Plaza shopping center at the intersection of SR 436 and Hwy. 17-92. To go with your choice of a delicious assortment of garden-fresh vegetables, crisp succulent salads and fresh homemade hot breads, the staff will prepare a big three quarter pound T-bone steak, cooked just to your order for a special low, low price. When you think of dining out, think of the TradeWinds. Make it a full evening for the whole family.

LampLighter Lounge there's Jay Miller at the piano with his tinkling tunes that inspire you to sing or hum along. Always on hand to see to your comfort and pleasure are Fran and Steven Larssen your hosts at FREDDIE'S. Join them this weekend for a leisurely evening of relaxation.

ONE OF THE TASTIEST foods ever invented is peanut butter—enjoyed by youngsters and grown-ups alike. Songs have even been written about it. At the PINECREST INN, they have concocted a supreme delicacy—peanut butter pie. If you haven't tried it, you have missed something delightful. When you go there Friday night for your special fish dinner do save a little room for dessert. Or drop in later for pie and coffee—delicious, nutritious and a million calories—but who cares? Live a little.

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT at the CARIBE LOUNGE in the Valdez Hotel—dancing is on the house every Friday night. Just push the buttons to hear your favorite songs—if not for dancing, then for your listening pleasure. Ladies who drop in between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. have their choice of cocktails at a special price—just one penny for each year of your age. You can't beat those prices anywhere in town.

ARE YOU ROMANTIC? Do you enjoy sweet, soft, soothing music with your dinner, over candlelight and wine? Then FREDDIE'S is the place for you, my friend. While you dine, that virtuoso of the strings, Bill Adler will play those old sentimental melodies for you. And in the other things to remember—special business lunches at the CAPRI each day and also remember that giving parties is one of the CAPRI'S special services—dinner, banquets, brunches, luncheons, cocktail parties—they can arrange all the details for you. And one little hint—Dom Pattatucci, your host has some spectacular new type entertainment lined up for you beginning May 31—more about that next week.

WEDDING BELLS chime for Marcella Mastroianni and Sophia Loren who co-star in the Joseph E. Levine romantic drama, "Marriage - Italian Style" opening Sunday at the Drive-In Theatre

Sophia Stars At Drive-In

The romantic drama, "Marriage Italian Style," will be featured Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at MovieLand Drive-In Theatre. It stars Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni. It's in color and this is the first Sanford showing.

The co-feature at that time will be "Sylvia," starring Carroll Baker.

The twin bill for Wednesday only will be "North to Alaska," starring John Wayne, and "The Pigeon That Took Rome," with Charlton Heston.

The triple feature, all in color, for May 27-29 will be "Dear Brigitte," starring James Stewart; "Tally and the Jungle Hunters," with Jean Bergerac, and "Flight from Ashiya," starring Richard Widmark.

Undisputed as one of the world's most beautiful and talented actresses, Academy Award winner Sophia Loren, is once again reunited with the team of actor Marcello Mastroianni, director Vittorio De Sica, and producer Carlo Ponti, in Joseph E. Levine's poignant and impassioned drama, "Marriage - Italian Style."

Miss Loren recently scored a tremendous hit with Marcello Mastroianni in another Levine hit, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," with De Sica and Ponti repeating their roles as director and producer.

In "Marriage-Italian Style," Miss Loren plays the part of a clever, tempestuous and tender woman, who, after a 22-year affair, manages to guide her man into marriage and at the same time, wins both his respect and love.

The story is based upon the celebrated Italian stage play, "Filomena Marturano," and Miss Loren is only the second actress ever to play the demanding female lead. She considers it the most challenging role she has undertaken since her performance in "Two Women," for which she received an Oscar as best actress.

Eastbrook School Urged Of Board

Request for a new elementary school near Eastbrook Estates, a large housing development in the southeast corner of Seminole County, was made to the county school board Thursday by a delegation of parents.

Spokesman for the group, Mrs. Gerald McGinnis, outgoing president of the South

Seminole Elementary School CTP, handed the board a petition bearing 385 signatures of Eastbrook parents.

Mason Wharton, school board chairman, told the group that when the state survey team arrives here in November the matter will be brought to their attention.

'Retirement' Word Has New Definition

By Weber F. Trout

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Retirement is a big word in America today and its definition is being rewritten.

No longer does retiring simply mean nearing the end of useful or active life. Medical science has given retirees more leisure years in which to enjoy almost any pursuit they choose.

Retirement plans today put the sunny fun of later life within reach of almost all Americans—from the factory workers and office help to the executives.

Not many years ago most oldsters considered themselves fortunate if they had paid off their mortgages when retirement came and could live out their years at the old home in relative comfort.

But at least for some that has changed. They sell the old house, buy a new car, leave the children and grandchildren and the smoky, crowded cities behind... and head for a brand new life in the year-round sunshine of the southeast or southwest.

Many of the over-60 Americans who bid the workaday world goodbye are settling in some of the retirement communities of southern Arizona.

Climate is all-important and Arizona offers some of the nation's most ideal weather for healthful retirement. Days are sunny and warm, nights cool, the humidity bone-dry, the skies blue and the deserts and mountains intriguing and dramatic.

Twenty miles south of the now thriving old city of Tucson, on the road to Nogales and less than an hour's drive from Mexico, is what may become one of the nation's most outstanding retirement communities. It is called Tucson Green Valley, sponsored by the University of Arizona and developed by builder Don Maxon.

The Green Valley community, already populated by retirees from all parts of the nation, sparkles in the dry sunshine at an altitude of 2800 to 3000 feet, its 10,000 acres almost surrounded by the Santa Rita mountains.

Its $100 million first phase consists of 1,150 garden-patio rental apartments, a medical clinic, police and fire departments, post office, a shopping plaza, recreation center and extensive recreational facilities. There are seven swimming pools, 20 neighborhood parks and a golf course.

New Coalition Parley Secret

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — The four-member fact-finding panel sent here by President Johnson is trying to arrange a new coalition government made up of Dominican junta leaders and the "constitutional" rebels, informed sources said today.

Secrecy surrounded the discussions being carried out by the State Department team and mediators for the Organization of American States (OAS).

While the diplomats talked, heavy street fighting erupted in the rebel-held northern sector of Santo Domingo.

Bride-Elect Honored At Luncheon

Miss Jeanne Robson, bride-elect of Sam Schwartz Jr., was honored at a recent luncheon at the Capri, given by Mrs. M. L. Raborn Jr.

Miss Robson, attractively attired in a two-piece jumper type black and white outfit, received a corsage of pink sweetheart roses from the hostess.

Mrs. Harry E. Robson, mother of the bride, wore a blue sheath with a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Robson presented Miss Robson with a cup and saucer in her chosen pattern.

The luncheon table held an arrangement of pink carnations and white mums with baby's breath and greenery. Bridal place cards with gold wedding bells were at each place setting.

Others enjoying the luncheon with the honor guests were Mrs. Jim Robson, Mrs. Wally Phillips, Mrs. Charles Meeks, Mrs. Walter Gielow, Mrs. Terry Christensen and Meeks, Rose Kratzert and the Misses Ann Crapps, Myra Merritt Phillips.

rooms. A beautiful corsage of sweetheart roses was presented to Miss Harris from the hostesses. The dining table was covered with a pale pink imported linen cloth with wide bands of Bataanburg lace. Punch was served from a crystal bowl. Party sandwiches, cake and nuts in silver compote dishes were also served. Crystal candle holders with pink candles were placed on either side of the arrangement of roses.

Twenty guests were invited to the delightful miscellaneous shower.

DAR To Present U. S. Flag To Seminole High School

Salle Harrison Chapter of Sanford, Daughters of the American Revolution, received the gold honor roll award for 1964-65, which was presented at the May meeting held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Butler, 34 Valencia Circle, DeBary. This is a coveted award earned by fulfilling all the requirements of the Society.

Mrs. H. W. Reprecht, chairman of the flag of the U. S. committee, reported the purchase of a beautiful eight by 12-inch American flag which is to be presented to the high school by the chapter.

Billy Cypress, Cherokee Indian who graduates from Stetson in June, will enter the service for his necessary military training at that time. Billy, a protégé of the DAR, has the distinction of being the first Cherokee college graduate and has made a fine record at Stetson.

Information about the Continental Congress held in Washington was given by Mrs. A. H. Key.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Butler, Mrs. J. S. Sims and Mrs. Leon Fellows.

Those attending in addition to the above mentioned were Mues R. E. True, F. E. Hummell, Edmund Meisch, Lester C. Wildner, A. W. Lee, Raymond Smith, M. J. Bram, W. A. Canaday, Pleas P. Campbell, A. Leahy, W. N. King, Lawrence Tinsley, Lenabelle Jennings and Miss Emma M. Baker.

Mrs. W. F. Hunt was hostess for a recent graduation luncheon at Creightons Garden Restaurant in Winter Park honoring Miss Pat Chapman.

The school colors of blue and white were carried out in floral arrangements of carnations, glads and mums and individual corsages of blue and white mums.

Miss Chapman received two hostess gifts, a white orchid corsage and a silver charm bracelet.

Sharing the lovely luncheon with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Giles Chapman, her two grandmothers, Mrs. Jewel Chapman and Mrs. J. R. Ellis.

Also the Misses Linda Green, Janie White, Susan Perkins, Judy Cochran, Sharon Booth, Linda Spencer, Sylvia Williams, Delane Johnson, Melanie Williams, Kathy Butler and Linda Robson.

Jeanne Robson Honored At Luncheon

Mrs. Hank Johnson was hostess for a recent luncheon at her home, 1908 Mellonville Avenue, honoring Miss Jeanne Robson, bride-elect.

The center arrangements of the dining room table and three smaller ones were composed of pink sweetheart roses, white mums, stock and greenery.

Various spring flowers in shades of pink and white were used throughout the house. The honoree and her mother were presented corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

Sparkling burgundy was served before the luncheon with Miss Merritt Phillips proposing a toast to Jeanne. Mrs. Johnson presented her with a gift in her chosen pattern of sterling.

Others attending were Mrs. Harry Robson, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Wally Phillips, Mrs. Jim Robson, Mrs. Terry Christensen, Mrs. Dan Brumley and the Misses Rose Kratzert, Ann Crapps, Bonnie Gielow and Linda Robson.

Miss Richardson Celebrates Birthday

Miss Becky Richardson of Miami spent the past weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Richardson, on Hayes Drive.

She was celebrating her 19th birthday and had two parties during her visit.

The traditional birthday cake and home celebration was held with her parents and her sister, Mrs. James E. Scott, of Longwood was hostess for the second party. She entertained with a barbecue and family party on Saturday evening at her Longwood home.

Personals

Hamburger Fry Honors Graduates

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson

The Devier Road home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Turner was the scene Friday afternoon of a hamburger fry. The occasion was in honor of two seniors, Miss Mary Jean Turner from Seminole High School and Jimmie Wakefield who will graduate from Lyman High School.

The family room held a large picnic table laden with goodies consisting of baked beans, hamburgers and huns, potato chips, pickles, Cokes and lemonade. A large sheet cake decorated in white and blue with the words "Best Wishes, Mary and Jimmie," was served for dessert.

Games and chatter kept the group in wonderful spirits throughout the afternoon.

Pad Mower Handles

By Polly Cramer
 Dear Polly — My hands always got hot when I wore gloves to mow the lawn but if I did not wear them my hands became blistered from gripping the handle. Now I pad the mower handle. I sew together the points of shoulder pads cut from old wash dresses, measuring so that they are a tight fit when slipped on the handle. My mower has sectional handles but if the handle is all in one piece the pads can be sewn around the handle. When they become soiled, I slip them off and wash them. No more hot, uncomfortable hands and no more blisters for me. — ELYRIA

Dear Polly — When I copy any recipes from friends, relatives and so on I put the person's telephone number on the card with the recipe. In case I have any questions as I am using the recipe I have the phone number right at hand. — M.D.C.

Dear Polly — I am a teenager who does baby sitting.

Recently I was baby sitting in a home where the people were getting ready to move and everything was packed, including baby's bibs. I took a newspaper and tore a hole big enough to fit over baby's head. This worked fine as an emergency bib and she thought it was fun.—BETTY

Dear Polly — Stitch zigzag over the raw edge of a woolen skirt hem. No tape is then needed and the hem lays very flat. Hand stitch about one-fourth inch from the top of the hem and catch a couple of threads in the main skirt part, taking a small back stitch about every fourth stitch. No fraying.

When cutting out a dress or other garment, I lay the material on top of clean papers I have spread out on the kitchen floor. The large workable space saves yardage as I can manipulate the pattern easily on the fabric and cut to the very best advantage.

Small fry guests can be entertained a long time by throwing pennies in the sand box. The pennies sink from view and little ones dig away peacefully as they try to find them.

(Polly's note — I would watch small children who might be tempted to put the pennies in their mouths. Good game for a small party.)

Moving a desk or chest is like child's play if you first remove the drawers.

Work out a "time to come home" signal for the children. Raising the kitchen shade, closing draperies or turning on the porch light is easier than calling.—MRS. X.

Dear Polly — Try a length of dental floss for cutting one layer cake into two pieces for for icing. The floss is quicker and neater than a knife or string.—BEVORLY

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When my sister went to the hospital to have her baby, she couldn't locate her husband, so I went with her. She had had all her teeth pulled and has dentures. When they were preparing her for the delivery room, the nurse asked my sister to take her dentures out. She said she wouldn't do it because she didn't want her husband to see her without dentures. The nurse said they would have to come out, but my sister said the nurse would have to fight her for them. Then the nurse said she didn't take nurses' training to fight the patients. My sister said she wasn't going to have her baby there and she started to leave. Then things started to happen real fast, and she had her baby there—with her dentures in. All during her stay at the hospital those nurses were so mean to her they hardly spoke to her. Is there a rule about dentures in a hospital? Or did they just make that up? — CELIA

DEAR CELIA: Each hospital has its own rules and there is a good chance that this was the hospital rule. You could find out definitely from your sister's doctor. (Not all "rules" are consistently enforced... You started out by saying it operated on beer power. I need it for a speech, Abby, and if you can help me out I will give ten dollars to your favorite charity. — R. A. U. IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR R. A. U.: I've found it, and here it is: "Milwaukee Impressed me as a robust city, operating on beer power, still tingling with the success of the Braves, and defying modern architecture and a German accent." You can send your check for ten dollars to the local Society for Crippled Children and Adults right there in Milwaukee.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TYPICAL TEENAGER!" An inexpensive but positively sure way to improve your looks is to smile!

Do It Yourself: Steps To Take For Falter

By Mr. Fix
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A power lawn mower is a great labor-saving device until it conks out. Suddenly you are stranded.

When you are taking your lawn mower out of storage, check it over before cutting the grass. If it was stored properly, you should have little trouble. But if you just parked it in the corner of the garage and left it, you may find it starts hard if it starts at all.

Drain the crankcase oil (if it is a four-cycle engine) and replace it with fresh oil. The gasoline in the tank, if there was any, may have evaporated, leaving a gummy residue. Most gas tanks are removable. Drain any gas that might be left and fill up with fresh gas. In the future, always run your engine dry before storing.

Remove the spark plug and clean off the accumulation of last year's carbon on the electrode—the little curved metal piece on the end of the plug. A stiff wire brush will clean it nicely, but be careful you don't damage the electrode.

React the plug gap (the space between the electrode and the base of the plug) with a combination gapping tool and thickness gauge which you can buy at any auto accessories store. The manufacturer of your mower will list the correct setting in the mower instructions.

Tighten all body and engine bolts before starting the mower. Loose engine bolts will prevent the engine from operating properly. Loose body bolts will set up vibrations that can ruin your mower.

Use Proper Fuel
 Make certain that you are using the proper fuel. Use regular gasoline for a four-cycle engine, a gasoline-oil mix for two-cycle engines. Unless the manufacturer specifies otherwise, mix one-half pint of SAE 30 oil with one gallon of gasoline.

There's an air cleaner on your carburetor. The element is generally washable in kerosene. Clean it every 25 hours of operation, more often under dusty conditions.

Keep the bottom of a rotary mower free of grass clippings. Make certain the spark plug is disconnected before you do this.

If you have a two-cycle engine the exhaust ports (found on the bottom of the rotary housing) will be clogged with carbon and will need frequent cleaning. Scraping with a screwdriver will take care of this.

With your mower all ready to go, it still may not start. Before rushing off to the repair shop, check a few things. Is there enough fuel? Is the air vent hole in the gas cap open? Is the fuel line open?

Check Compression
 If turning the starter or pulling the starter rope meets with no resistance, then compression is faulty. Haul mower off to the shop.

To see if the carburetor is working, remove the plug and spin the engine. Put your finger in the spark plug hole. If you get gasoline on your finger, the carburetor is working.

To check ignition, remove plug but keep the top wire connected. Spin the engine. If a blue spark jumps the gap, ignition is all right. If there is no spark, connect a piece of metal to the wire and hold it near the mower. If you get a spark now, replace the plug—it's bad.

If the engine doesn't run smoothly, the carburetor may need adjusting. Close the needle valve. Then open it 1/4 turns. This will allow you to start the engine and warm it up. When the engine is warm, close the needle valve until engine begins to lose speed. Then start opening again until engine is operating smoothly.

The Doctor Says:

Reaction Causes Clotting

Wayne G. Brandstad, M.D.
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What causes blood clots and why do they kill some persons while others recover?

A—When the lining of a blood vessel is injured a complicated chemical reaction that leads to clotting occurs. When you cut your finger this protective mechanism prevents your bleeding to death. If, on the other hand, the clotting occurs because of a severe arterial disease, rather than a cut, the blood supply to the part supplied by the diseased artery is cut off.

How serious this is depends on the size of the artery occluded, whether the artery is supplying a vital organ, whether any arteries in the region can supply the affected part and the general condition of the victim. Sometimes other arteries establish a collateral circulation almost at once and sometimes it requires weeks or months.

If a large clot occurs in the brain (stroke) it may cause death or it may cause paralysis from which the victim may eventually recover.

Q—My knee fills up with water and has to be drained about once a month. My doctor tells me that if he removes the tissues that secrete the excess fluid my knee would become stiff. What do you advise?

A—In some persons, predominantly young adults, fluid may collect in a joint, usually on one side only, every 7 to 11 days. The cause is not known, but in some victims it appears to be a food allergy because, when the offending food is eliminated from the diet, the condition clears up. Unlike other forms of allergy, however, antihistamines are of no value. In other victims this collection of fluid is a part of their arthritis.

Your doctor is right not to want to perform an operation that would leave you with a stiff knee. Injections of hy-drocortisone into the joint have helped many victims.

Q—I have heard that chocolate is bad for persons with sinus trouble. Is this true?

A—Not unless you have an allergy caused by chocolate.

Q—Would the oil of turpentine, for medicinal use, cause permanent albumin in the urine?

A—Although oil of turpentine has been used in the past for worms and to relieve abdominal cramps, this preparation has been discarded because it damages the kidneys. The resulting albuminuria would be expected to clear up only if it was discovered before much damage had been done.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstad, M.D. in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstad cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

North's one spade overall is eminently correct in accordance with our theories and all modern bidders. You just do not double with a two ailer.

South's two heart bid is also in full accord with modern theory. When your partner overcalls you raise him if possible. You jump or cue bid when you have a good hand and you bid new suit when you want to suggest that your suit is likely to be a better place for the final contract than your partner's suit.

North is able to jump to four hearts in spite of having only two trumps. He does not think that his partner has much of a hand but he knows that he has a good heart suit. The play at hearts is rather interesting. If West at trick two South can't afford to draw trumps immediately, instead he leads a low diamond from dummy at trick three. Later he will draw trumps, finesse against West's king of diamonds and make an overtrick.

This hand illustrates the one part of Edgar Kaplan's "Competitive Bidding in Modern Bridge" that we and practically all other experts disagree with him about. For years he has held a theory that the new suit response to an overall should be a forcing bid.

He is almost alone in this respect and this hand illustrates the great weakness of this idea. He would not be able to bid two hearts with the South hand and would have to let his partner struggle with one spade.

Pros, Cons On Retention

by Susan Light

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: We have just learned that our second grader may fail, and are sick about it. We've known that he was struggling to keep up with the rest of the class but didn't realize how serious the situation was. We know that in at least one case a boy was passed because his parents insisted on it, and we wonder if we should do likewise. Apparently the school doesn't like to fail anyone unless the parents agree.

We think our boy is just immature and may catch up in the third grade. Do you have any suggestions, Mrs. Light? —ANXIOUS MOM AND DAD

Answer: I'd like to suggest that your school change to the use of the ungraded primary plan. Then the prospect of failure, which haunts thousands of pupils and parents every year, wouldn't occur.

A future organizational change won't help you now, however, so let's tackle the problem at hand. The crux of the matter is whether your son will benefit from being retained. There is evidence to indicate that only one out of three children who repeat a grade benefits from the experience—even when conditions are ideal.

If your son can feel successful and be successful the second time around, he will gain much. Otherwise, no. If the same old physical, neurological or emotional problems beset him and hinder him from coming through academically, he might as well be a struggling third grader. Be sure to check on these factors and get professional help if needed.

Assuming that your son is "just immature," there is a chance that he might take a step in third grade. I know of a few cases where this has happened.

Some educators feel there is no excuse for holding a child back unless he isn't working up to capacity. If his I.Q. far exceeds his performance, the shock of falling may spur him on. Otherwise, he had better be pushed ahead on a "social promotion" basis. With this reasoning, there is some sort of distinction in failure.

Analyze your son's difficulties as objectively as possible then weigh the pros and cons of retention with his teacher, principal and school psychologist or other professional counselor. Once the decision is made, go along with it wholeheartedly and give him an extra measure of loving support and encouragement next year.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

The man who was born and grew up in Alabama said sadly: "Selma is such a pleasant little town, with many gentle-folk whose families have lived there for generations, that it seems a pity the world has been given such a view of it that even the name now has an ugly sound."

That is what happens to a town when the television networks move their cameras in and reporters and photographers from all over rush in to outdo each other in getting the most sensational stories and pictures. It can happen to a sleepy little town such as Selma or to a bustling city such as Dallas.

The trouble is that in either place it is the raffish, the lunatic fringe, the ugliness that gets all the attention. All that is quiet and peaceful and serene and good is overlooked in the search for something sensational.

The "gentlefolk," as the gentleman from Alabama calls them, are overlooked. Their reasonable attitudes, their quiet voices, their thoughtful reactions aren't recorded for the eyes and ears of the world.

In the university town in which I live students from foreign lands and visitors from other countries are, through local efforts, given host families who invite them into their homes so that they can get a see-for-yourself view of how Americans live.

It occurs to me that every town that has to endure the Selma treatment should do the same thing with the visiting swarms of those sent there to cover the story.

Like foreigners, these visitors from other parts of the country should be shown the best as well as the worst of a place. "Selma is such a pleasant little town with many gentlefolk," a man who knows it well said. But who has been allowed to see that Selma—since its trouble began?

"Queen Of Dressage" A "Different" World!
 A "different" world indeed is the world of the circus. New York has the circus every spring and it is a thrilling experience. This year John Ringling North presented the "Queen of Dressage" at the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus. Madame Ingeborg Gauthier Rhodin is a member of the oldest circus family in Europe. Her father was a famous rider and her family began to own show in France at the end of the 17th century. Madame Rhodin is accompanied by her husband, who appears once with a showing of magnificent horses. He is truly elegant and a very interesting man. His English is faultless.

I had a chat with Madame Rhodin before her performance and found her terribly excited about her first trip to America and wanting to see all of New York. Born in Hamburg, Germany, while her parents were performing with the famed Hagenbeck Circus of Germany, the great Rhodins began riding as a small girl. Her first horse was named "Baby" and now she has a magnificent white mount, from the top European horse nobility, the renowned Vienna Lippizaner riding school, is also named "Baby." When Madame Rhodin and "Baby" appear in the center ring, a hush falls over the audience. Madame's elegant costume is of glittering icy blue, a dramatic plumed hat and white kid boots — "Baby" wears trappings of silver and blue.

When this great rider came to the U. S. she, her husband and three children went to Sarasota for rehearsals. "The children loved the surf and the sun," she said, "but I had to send them back to Sweden to stay with their grandmother while my husband, Baby and I go with the circus." She and her husband drive "the better to see this wonderful country" and "Baby" has his own van and attendants.

A little figure, perfect posture and, of course, long training make Madame Rhodin a fitting star for "the greatest show on earth." At our meeting before her performance she was a bit shy, but charming, and she "just loves New York."

Monday — "Dear Edyth Thornton McLeod."

Buy Mower To Fit User

... with Aileen

The prime question among homeowners toward family attitudes toward family duties is: Who gets custody of the lawn?

While millions face evening and weekend exercise keeping the grass cut, hedges trimmed, lawn care no longer is a male prerogative. However, usually the mechanically minded man does the shopping for a mower. If you are planning to buy a new power mower, consider who is going to use it most.

Dr. James R. Watson, director of the agronomy division of a power mower firm points out there are two basic types of power mowers — reels and rotaries. The one you choose depends upon the size and layout of your lawn, the type of grass and the time you want to spend caring for it.

Dr. Watson gives this rule of thumb as a guide to the size power mower you may need. An 18 or 19-inch mower, er, he says, can service turf areas up to 60x186 feet. A 21-inch mower is best for lawns up to 100x135 feet. Larger areas may call for a riding power mower.

When shopping for a serviceable, quality power mower, turn to a store that offers servicing and check on whether spare parts are easy to get.

Dr. Watson urges a consumer to check safety and ease-of-handling features.

In reel-type mowers handles should adjust easily for the operator. Controls mounted on the handles or equally accessible places are musts. Large sectional rollers or easy rolling casters improve handling. They also help prevent damage to turf. Test the mower on uneven ground to see how it really handles.

There should be a safety guard over chains and moving parts and a positive action clutch which operates independently of engine speeds. The reel should be built substantially and the bed bar attached securely to the mower frame.

You will get the most from your reel-type mower, Dr. Watson concludes, if you select one with a variety of cutting height adjustments.

(Next week: Rotary and rider power mowers)

Smart Decor: Ancient, New

By Kay Sherwood
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although we are hard put to find a definitive new trend in home furnishings this spring, there are several notes which could make a room look more up-to-date if you are contemporary-minded, of course.

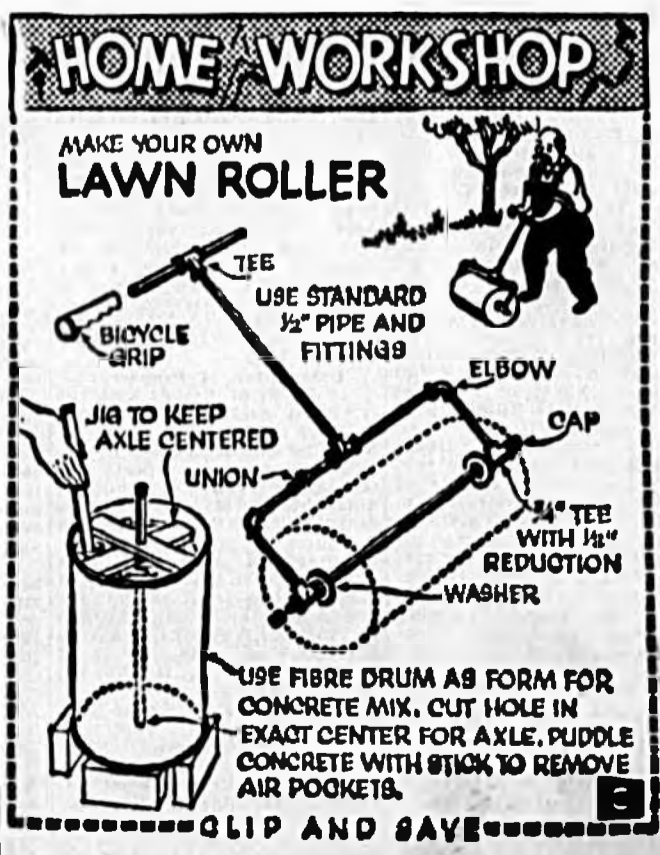

The traditionalists in our midst are looking up-to-date by digging deeper into the wealth of antique reproductions in fabrics, wallpapers, and furniture design now on the market.

One of the contemporary directions is the use of metals as trim and bases for tables and upholstered pieces. Some of the combinations of polished chrome and glass will remind old-timers of the 1930s. Straight lines of modern furniture are yielding to the curves which may be trim or bulky depending on the designer.

One of the newer looks in upholstered furniture is the rich, velvety texture of suede cloth in bold, bright colors. An occasional chair upholstered in lipstick red, or Bristol blue or emerald green suede cloth, with self-welting or outlined in white fringe is an accent note this spring.

Speaking of accents, the small accent rug has hit the jackpot and the outpouring is flooding the market. In all price ranges—including the very high—designs for small rugs scrape the field from remote Indian motifs to the latest Scandinavian abstract. The color range is also broad and includes some hot combinations of orange and pink or orange, green and red and some cool "earthy" combinations of terra cotta, off-white, and black.

As it grows more expensive and more boldly designed, the accent rug has also changed its character. Many people will shrink from walking on this expensive bit of artwork and hang it on the wall to admire as one might a fine painting.

This, of course, hares the floor and gives one an excuse to investigate the new floorings which include a variety of wood parquets and a staggering line-up of vinyl, embossed and scored, and looking like flagstones, pebbles, planks, cork, everything, in fact, except vinyl.

It is also very much in the spring 1935 look to introduce something very old in accessories. I don't mean one of granny's antiques. I mean really ancient like ancient Oriental teapots, or pre-Columbian heads or primitive pottery or basketry or old candelabra. Fortunately, copies of ancient treasures are filling the specialty shops.

One of the few accessories that really tempts me, however, is Lawrence Peabody's wrought iron candelabra that is an ingenious combination of chandelier and candelabra. It holds 10 candles, hangs on a ceiling chain to light the dinner table and, after dinner, you lift it off the hook, carry it to the living room and plant it in its own base, short or tall, to continue shading the soft candlelight.

WHAT'S NEW TO DRIVE IN '65?

Luxury without Limitations

In the crafting of the Continental absolutely nothing was spared to create a car without peer. There are over 2,000 separate checks for quality; no other car built is more thoroughly tested. To have stinted in even the slightest of details, in even the least significant of parts would be to compromise with unimpeachable standards of excellence. The Lincoln Continental knows no limitations—it is a car among cars! We invite you to drive one.

Day Of The Slide Rule

The growth of science and technology has not only had a terrific impact on our daily lives; in just a few years it has completely changed the make-up of the federal government—at least on the civil service level.

Ten years ago, reports John W. Macy Jr., chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission and a member of the President's Science Advisory Committee, there were 56,700 federal employees in the physical and biological sciences and 60,500 in engineering—a total of 117,200 or 9 per cent of the entire white-collar work force.

Today the government employs more than 71,000 in science and 188,000 in engineering—a total of 259,000, representing 11½ per cent of the work force—in the laboratories of 25 federal departments and agencies, from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to the Bureau of Standards.

There are now more professional physical scientists working for the government than general clerks. There are more engineers than typists.

This is not the full story, however.

In addition to those directly in federal employ, thousands of other scientists and engineers are doing research under government contract with private companies and nonprofit organizations and in universities.

Pay scales for government scientists are still a little below those on the outside, but they are catching up, says Macy, as are such fringe benefits as group life and health insurance and retirement pensions.

But more important than any of these things in attracting people to government employ, he says, are some special factors. Among them: challenging scientific missions and the opportunity to render service to the entire nation.

Thought For Today

What does man gain by all the toil in which he toils under the sun? —Ecc. 1:3.

Every man should make up his mind that if he expects to succeed, he must give an honest return for the other man's dollar.—Edward Harriman, American financier.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Rosalie must be the final "cure" for Alan's sudden flight into drunkenness. For Alan is secretly afraid of marrying Rosalie, though he consciously vows that he loves her with all his heart.

Wives, beware of driving your husband into a platonic state via the "medical specimen" complex! See below!

CASE V-495: Rosalie T., aged 38, is the prospective bride of Alan, who suddenly became an alcoholic a few weeks before their wedding day.

Both of them had been happily married before but had lost their first mates by death.

"Dr. Crane," Rosalie begged, "Alan is a wonderful man and I am madly in love with him."

"But why would he suddenly start using liquor when he had never done so previously?"

"So I told Rosalie that Alan was deathly afraid of her and had begun using whiskey to allay his terror."

"Afraid of me?" Rosalie protested in shocked surprise.

"Why, he knows I love him with all my heart. I would do anything on earth to help him and he must surely realize that, doesn't he?"

Then I explained that he was afraid of disappointing her after they were married.

For Alan had become a platonic husband, even with his first wife.

And this is a common occurrence, even among young husbands not 25 years of age.

For the moment a wife develops the "image" of being sick or an invalid, she creates the "medical specimen" complex in men.

Many young husbands thus become platonic during their wife's first pregnancy.

For her frequent trips to the physician for routine medical check-ups vaguely arouse in the mind of her husband the squeamish attitude he may have linked with hospitals when he had his tonsils out at the age of 10 or 12.

If he also grew nauseated because of the anesthetic when he was a child patient, some of that medical aversion is subconsciously re-instituted.

The wife herself doesn't even dream that she is indirectly making her husband impotent.

But her doting parents may also contribute to this crisis by urging her not to do any arduous work or heavy lifting.

Maybe her father and mother hover around her as if she is a fragile invalid.

And as a result of these various subtle suggestions, her husband may find that he cannot react ardently to his wife at all.

She doesn't mind this enough to take full notice, for women are usually content, anyway, with a mere good-night kiss as her husband cuddles her head on his shoulder.

But the husband becomes alarmed, terrified, almost frantic.

And often, while his wife is in the maternity ward of the hospital, giving birth to their first baby, he may head for a tavern to drown his worries.

Then a girl may blink down into a seat beside him and tactfully prod his drinking till he is so far gone that he follows her to her apartment overhead.

Later, he feels that he is a heel and if his wife learns of his unfaithfulness, especially at such a crucial time in their marriage, she is disconsolate, though she and her parents may have helped produce his platonic state from which he fled into a drunken stupor.

Well, this same platonic condition can hit men at any age and is a common bugaboo of widowers past 40, so send for the booklet, "How To Prevent a Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

"Maybe We Should Appoint a Committee or Something!"

Dick West's

The Lighter Side

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — People who live in Washington find it useful to have "connections." I have a few myself.

For instance, if you happen to be in the market for a cherub, I can put you next to a good thing. What is more, you will be getting in on the ground floor.

My connection in this field is Jackie Vernon, a television and night club comic who in recent weeks has become one of the nation's leading cherub speculators.

While playing a date on the West Coast, Vernon, who is currently comedian-in-residence at the Sherham Hotel here, got a chance to buy 600 paintings at a reduced rate. He grabbed it, shipping the entire lot back to his New York apartment.

When he got around to opening the crates to inspect his purchase, he found 75 cherub paintings, one of which he hung in the bedroom.

"Until then," Vernon said, "I had never thought much about cherubs one way or another. I could take them or leave them. But I soon learned that having cherubs of your own can change your viewpoint."

"Almost overnight, I developed a strong attachment. It's like eating peanuts. One cherub is never enough. Before long, I had all 75 of them hanging in the bedroom."

"Unfortunately, however, my wife had a different reaction. The cherubs began to get on her nerves. She kept waking up at night with a momentary illusion of having been transported to the great beyond.

"Finally she said, 'It's either me or the cherubs.' Reluctantly, and with mixed emotions, I decided to keep my wife."

Vernon went out and rented a building, which he plans to turn into a cherub gallery. He thinks he is on his way to becoming a cherub tycoon.

"I'm told that the cherub market is pretty depressed right now," he said. "The general attitude toward cherubs ranges from lukewarm to downright apathetic. But that's part of the beauty of this setup."

"Look at it this way—artists nowadays simply aren't with it, cherub-wise. Most of them are on the abstract kick. I expect it has been several years since anyone has painted a cherub."

"In a few more years, cherub painting likely will become a lost art, like flagpole sitting and one-armed fiddling. Then, if cherubs make a comeback, I'll be in a position to make a killing."

Pending the opening of his gallery, Vernon is letting a few friends and relatives reduce his inventory at discount prices.

Don't spread this around, but if your broker doesn't deal in cherub futures, and you would like to put aside a few for a rainy day, I may be able to swing it for you.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Anti-Red Africa?

In the small nightclub within the Hotel Balkan in Sofia, Bulgaria, the slender, well-dressed Negro student stood before the juke box and danced a lively but lonely twist.

Amid crowded tables and a babel of tongues, he obviously was alone.

An American experienced in the Soviet Union and the East European satellites sitting alongside this correspondent remarked:

"You know, the surest way to insure an anti-Communist Africa is to let all African students go to school in Communist countries."

The incident came vividly back to mind in the story of the 29 Keynan students who returned to Nairobi with tales of beatings and hostility at a Soviet university in Baku.

It was not a particularly new story but it was another illustration of the "grass roots" failure in the Communist propaganda system which trumpets love and affection for the African.

Communist-led friendship societies lure the African student to the Soviet Union or the satellites with promises of a higher education. Away from home the disillusionment sets in.

Armed Bulgarian milliammen stand at either side of the double doors leading from the street into the United States legation in Sofia. Their assignment specifically is to discourage visitors.

But Africans assigned to study in Sofia are daily visitors.

"Many are not qualified for higher education in the first place" an American stationed in Sofia explained.

"They were recruited at random through the friendship societies without regard to background or qualifications."

"Once they get here they find they cannot get degrees in law, medicine or agriculture without first going through Communist political indoctrination."

Many of the young students appearing at the U. S. legation ask transfers to schools in the United States. Others are not quite sure what they want.

Their allowance is approximately the equivalent of $80 per month, about the average national income. It's not much, but more important, they are social outcasts, subject to mockery or attack at every attempt to mingle with the people.

In Bulgaria, there are about 1,500 foreign students, including many Africans. Others come from South America, especially Chile.

In the Soviet Union there are about 22,000 foreign students, including more than 1,000 from a dozen or so of the new African nations. There, the disillusionments are repeated.

IT ISN'T LOCKED

Do you ever feel trapped? Do the walls of a meaningless life seem to close in on you sometimes? Here's good news! Every life has a gate, and it is never locked. But it only opens from one side . . . your side.

Seek for the gate with all your heart, and you will find it. Open it, and you will enter a world full of meaning and beauty. You'll step from darkness to light . . . and never look back.

The key? It's waiting for you in Christ's teachings. His Church will help you to find it, and in His service you will discover life's real purpose. Go to church this Sunday, and hear God's words of promise and comfort. They are meant for all who yearn to widen the cramped horizon of their lives. They are meant for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	11 Kings	6	8-19
Monday	Psalms	126	1-8
Tuesday	Isaiah	30	1-7
Wednesday	Jeremiah	7	1-7
Thursday	Matthew	13	11-20

Causeway Bill In Hopper

Davis Offers Amendment To Road Program

TALLAHASSEE (Sp.) — Rep. S. Joseph Davis Jr. today offered an amendment to the $300 million road bond program to include funds for the construction of the Lake Monroe Causeway.

Davis also said he would try to amend the legislation to include Seminole County in the funds allotted Orange County for arterial connectors and urban improvements.

"We are in the urban area and we should be included in this project," Davis said. "At the present time the bill calls for all the roads to be built in Orange County south of Orlando."

Representative Davis said he had talked with Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and he is in accord with the purposes of the amendments.

The Lake Monroe Causeway would realign U. S. 17-92 from French Avenue in Sanford, across a four-mile span to the Deltona area, connecting back with the original 17-92 south of Orange City.

The causeway and necessary road construction in Volusia County would cost an estimated $5 million.

The $300 million road bond program proposed by Gov. Haydon Burns was debated for two days in the Senate before reaching the House.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today opened the White House conference on natural beauty with a call for Americans to wipe out ugliness in the land and produce "a more beautiful America."

More than 1,000 business, farm, labor and government leaders were invited to participate in the conference, which plans to present recommendations to President Johnson Tuesday. Johnson has asked for "sound, economical and imaginative" programs to beautify the nation.

She said that one of the most pressing challenges for individuals today is the "depression and tension" resulting from the sight of a world that is not pleasing to the eye.

"Ugliness creates bitterness," she said. "Ugliness is an eroding force on the people of our land."

"We are all here to try to change that," said the First Lady who planned to join in several of the panel discussions.

"This conference is a step to the solution, and I think a great one."

Before leaving for work in Sanford last Saturday morning Mrs. Richard Rozolaky took time to turn on a uniform, leaving a cup of water on the window sill of her home on Northwood Road in Caselberry. A few hours later the house had collapsed after being swallowed up to the roof by a sinkhole.

Even though the window glass was broken out, and very little else was left intact, the cup still was in its place on the sill with water in it a week later.

U. S. Engaged In Controlling The Weather

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson told Congress today that "substantial progress" has been made in developing scientific means of changing the nation's weather and climate, but "the pace has been too slow."

"To advance the rate of progress," Johnson said in a statement, "an effort of larger scope and direction is needed both in conducting basic research and in developing means to put the knowledge to work."

The presidential message accompanied an annual report of the National Science Foundation on weather modification during the present fiscal year which was sent to Congress.

The report, which surveyed research developments in weather alteration by various federal and commercial agencies as well as foreign governments, said that unless "higher national priority" is placed on this research, "the full potential of weather modification will probably take a long time."

Example of weather modification, according to the report would include: Rain-making for drought-stricken or arid areas, cloud-seeding techniques to increase snowfall, fog penetration, hail suppression, and turbulence investigation.

Legislators Charge FEA Resorts To 'Blackjack'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A Florida Education Association demand for an investigation of the political activities in relation to Florida schools drew angry reaction today from legislators and even State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey called it regrettable.

Some legislators came out flatly and termed it an attempt to "blackjack" the Legislature into raising teacher salaries.

Superintendent Bailey, an advocate of pay raises, said nonetheless he feels that the FEA could make its own study of conditions in the state with a much better knowledge of the facts than could its parent organization, the National Education Association (NEA).

"I welcome a study of Florida education," Bailey said. And he said he recognizes the right of the FEA to issue statements as they deem wise and to ask for an NEA study.

"However, I regret that the NEA or any other national group should ever have to be called upon to investigate education in a state or local unit," he said. "Such an investigation can best be made by local people, familiar with local conditions."

"I share the concern of the leaders for the pursuit of excellence in Florida's schools. Unless we are able to retain and recruit qualified teachers, quality education is but an idle dream."

Sen. Verle Pope, St. Augustine, who has taken over chairmanship of the Senate public schools committee in the absence of ailing Sen. G. T. Melton, of Lake City, said he has voted for every bill offered to raise pay of teachers or raise taxes.

"I think we should raise taxes to do a better job, but I know of no way to get it passed over the veto of the Governor," he added.

But he said he did not think the FEA was approaching it in the right way, charging the organization "is becoming a trade union that will throw the schools and teachers into disrepute as professional."

Gov. Haydon Burns declined immediate comment, except to say that he does not intend to budge from his hold-the-line policy against raising taxes to increase teacher's pay or any other item not already taken care of by the Legislature.

Senate President James Connor, of Brooksville, was outspoken in his reaction.

"It is nothing more than an attempt to blackjack us into raising teacher's pay," he said.

Others echoed Connor and said "it won't work."

One of the most vocal was State Rep. Robert Mann, of Tampa, chairman of the House public schools committee, which already has turned down a $51 million teacher pay bill.

Mann, whose wife is in the school system and who long has been considered a friend of education and the FEA, called it "ironic" that the FEA should ask for the National Education Association (NEA) investigation just one day after a "momentous" decision by the State Supreme Court that should provide the funds from real estate taxes to foot the bill for higher pay raises for teachers from local rather than state funds.

The court ruled that real estate assessments of less than 100 per cent of fair market value are illegal. Mann said this will compel many Floridians not now contributing to pay real estate taxes. Real estate is the principal support of schools at the county level.

U. S. Engaged In Controlling The Weather

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson told Congress today that "substantial progress" has been made in developing scientific means of changing the nation's weather and climate, but "the pace has been too slow."

"To advance the rate of progress," Johnson said in a statement, "an effort of larger scope and direction is needed both in conducting basic research and in developing means to put the knowledge to work."

Example of weather modification, according to the report would include: Rain-making for drought-stricken or arid areas, cloud-seeding techniques to increase snowfall, fog penetration, hail suppression, and turbulence investigation.

But Connor suddenly decided it was not the bill he and other advocates of vocational training wanted, and before recessing for the weekend, the Senate recalled the bill from the House so it can be amended and re-passed today.

In weekend huddles, Governor Burns and education forces in both Houses worked out the compromise.

The money to be earmarked in the higher education bond program with estimates of what will be available ranging from $80 million to $85 million.

Since it is not known exactly how much money can be counted on, the bill was worked out on a percentage basis with vocational education getting over nine per cent of what is available.

In dollars and cents, this was estimated at about $7.5 million for separate vocational centers, leaving $35.5 million for junior colleges and $41.7 million for universities.

If less money than anticipated is realized from the bond fund then each type facility will be reduced proportionately.

The reason the fund is flexible is because of the available surplus from utility tax receipts pledged to pay off the $75 million in bonds.

Depending on how much the tax brings in and how much is needed for debt service, the rest is an unknown quantity.

One of the big battle points in the compromise is over the criteria which the Cabinet will use in deciding where to put the centers.

Boatman Rides On Shark's Back

MARATHON (UPI) — A 25-foot whale shark provided a rare show for hundreds of tourists and Keys fishermen today when it swam into a shallow cove at Grassy Key.

The shark, its back fin, tail and white-spotted back showing above the water, swam sluggishly about in the cove and showed no inclination to leave. It came as close as 20 feet to U. S. Highway 1 leading to Key West.

One man in a flat-bottom skiff paddled out into the cove and his boat was taken for a short ride on the shark's back.

The whale shark is rarely seen close to coastal areas.

$20 Million Earmarked For Voc-Tech

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) —

A compromise agreement that would make about $20 million available for vocational-technical education in the next biennium was wrapped up today and is expected to win speedy approval of the Legislature.

Gov. Haydon Burns and State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey bowed to the demands of advocates of separate vocational-technical training centers. Reportedly, the main steam was generated by House Speaker E. C. Rowell and Senate President James Connor.

The upshot is that money that had been scheduled for junior college and university construction will be nicked to provide from $7.5 million to $8 million for separate vocational centers at locations to be determined by the Cabinet Board of Education.

Some $4 million in federal funds will be available to match this state allocation and another $8 million will be provided in state funds for vocational education at junior colleges.

The compromise was a victory for the House. The Senate had passed in less than five minutes on Friday a bill that earmarked only $2 million for separate vocational centers.

But Connor suddenly decided it was not the bill he and other advocates of vocational training wanted, and before recessing for the weekend, the Senate recalled the bill from the House so it can be amended and re-passed today.

In weekend huddles, Governor Burns and education forces in both Houses worked out the compromise.

But Connor suddenly decided it was not the bill he and other advocates of vocational training wanted, and before recessing for the weekend, the Senate recalled the bill from the House so it can be amended and re-passed today.

In weekend huddles, Governor Burns and education forces in both Houses worked out the compromise.

The money to be earmarked in the higher education bond program with estimates of what will be available ranging from $80 million to $85 million.

Since it is not known exactly how much money can be counted on, the bill was worked out on a percentage basis with vocational education getting over nine per cent of what is available.

In dollars and cents, this was estimated at about $7.5 million for separate vocational centers, leaving $35.5 million for junior colleges and $41.7 million for universities.

If less money than anticipated is realized from the bond fund then each type facility will be reduced proportionately.

The reason the fund is flexible is because of the available surplus from utility tax receipts pledged to pay off the $75 million in bonds.

Depending on how much the tax brings in and how much is needed for debt service, the rest is an unknown quantity.

One of the big battle points in the compromise is over the criteria which the Cabinet will use in deciding where to put the centers.
