Meredith To Leave Ole Miss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today the chances at the present time are that James Meredith will leave the University of Mississippi. Kennedy said he did not think Meredith made a mistake in integrating the university. "I think that's a difficult area, but Meredith decided he wanted to do it and these decisions are up to the individual," he said. If Meredith does quit, Kennedy said, it would make future integration efforts in such states as Alabama or South Carolina more difficult. Kennedy said he hoped the 39-year-old Negro student would continue his studies at "Ole Miss" because a great deal of Meredith's own efforts and government action to enforce the law went into his admittance to the school. "Everybody in the United States has contributed something, because the taxpayer's money has been used," he added. Kennedy gave these views and others about the first two years of his brother's administration in a copyrighted interview with "U. S. News and World Report." Asked about the attempted invasion of Cuba by refugees, the attorney general said he wanted to clear up reports that the President withdrew air cover from the operation. Some have blamed the failure of the Bay of Pigs invasion on the lack of protective air cover when the force was on the Cuban beach being attacked by Castro's small air force. Kennedy said the President "never withdrew U. S. air cover. There was never any plan to have U. S. air cover." Although planning for the invasion was primarily the responsibility of the Central Intelligence Agency, Kennedy said, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the President approved the plan. However, he said "the plans and the recommendations obviously were not adequate."

Hunt Industrial Park To Get New Building

Added impetus to the development of Sanford Industrial Park was given Saturday as the first installation was being dedicated. While state and local dignitaries were hailing the opening of HILP Products it was announced construction will begin immediately on a second project in the industrial park. Here for the HILP program from Dallas were J. L. Williams and B. J. Chafin, president and vice president, respectively, of J. L. Williams and Company, Inc. They announced plans for a $200,000 second industrial building to be located in Sanford Industrial Park. Williams said the 300,000-square-foot structure will be "purely speculative." He added the building will be adaptable for industry or warehouse, as desired by the lessee. It will contain 3,000 square feet of office space. Construction provisions will be made to facilitate the future expansion of the structure. The beige brick building will have a main entranceway protected by a folded plate design highlighted by glass weld panels imported from Belgium. Vertical ribbons of glazed brick will balance the building. A spur of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad will provide rail service. Three truck loading doors will open onto a large paved area. Off-street parking space will be provided. The Williams Company has built more than 10 million square feet of commercial and investment property since it was organized in 1940. The United States bought the Virgin Islands from Denmark for $25 million in 1917.

Williams Jr. The Chamber's community service award was presented to Douglas Stenstrom "for dedicated community service" by Robert F. Shedden.

Moderate Business Gains Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today forecast moderate business gains this year and appealed to Congress to give the economy an added stimulus by cutting taxes. The President said in his annual Economic Report that he wants his forecast reduction in individual income taxes to take effect next July 1. He also asked the lawmakers to cut corporate tax rates from 30 to 22 per cent on the first $25,000 of income, retroactive to Jan. 1. A bigger corporate tax reduction will be proposed later.

As he did in his State of the Union and Budget messages, Kennedy emphasized his tax cut plan. Without it, he suggested, there might be a recession and the $11.9 billion deficit projected for fiscal 1964 might go even higher. Initial congressional reaction to the Economic Report generally was split along party lines, with Republicans accusing Kennedy of fiscal irresponsibility and Democrats praising his proposals. House Republican Whip Leslie C. Areeda, Ill., said cuts in federal spending could be made "without damaging national security." Rep. Gerald Ford, (R-Mich.), leveled the charge of irresponsibility and said domestic spending should be cut back to the 1962 level. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., hailed Kennedy's program as necessary to continue economic recovery and avoid another recession. Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said the tax cut would stimulate purchasing power and thereby employment. The President's tax cutting proposal—as a device for stimulating economic growth—has generated considerable congressional criticism.

In his message today, Kennedy appeared to be trying to reassure the skeptical, convert the adamant and whip up more support from the man in the street. Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers said a 1963 tax cut would be "insurance" against a recession. He said that while the President's forecast of moderate business expansion in 1963 was not contingent on tax reduction, it would be affected by it. Heller told a news conference that a tax reduction this year could speed up the growth rate of the economy in the final months of 1963 and result in a better record than Kennedy forecast. If Congress turned down the tax plan, Heller said, "the letdown that would come might be so strong that it would heighten the chance of a recession."

The President argued in his report that the July 1 tax reduction would pump a needed blast of vitality into the economy. He said it would increase by $6 billion the annual rate of disposable after-tax income in the last six months of 1962. The net effect, on a half-year basis, would be $3 billion. Kennedy predicted the nation's total of goods and services produced this year—the gross national product (GNP)—would rise to a record $578 billion. This would be about $16 billion more than in 1962. "The outlook for continued moderate expansion in 1963 is now favorable," he said. Kennedy said he did not fear a recession in 1963. He is more concerned he said, about the "five years of excessive unemployment, unused capacity and slack profits... that constitutes the urgent case for tax reduction and reform." The President said that if Congress didn't get moving on budget might be jolted. "If we were to slide into recession through failure to act on taxes, the cash deficit for next year would be larger without the tax reduction than the estimated deficit with tax reduction," he said. The President favors reducing individual rates in three stages from the present range of 20 to 91 per cent to a new scale of from 14 to 65 per cent.

Local Business School Opens Tuesday

NEW BUSINESS MACHINES at the Seminole County Business School are checked out by Mrs. Lydia Watt, (left) and Mrs. Penrose Love, (right). The new machines will be put to use when the school opens for second semester registration, Tuesday. (Herald Photo)

Seminole County Business School reopens for the second semester Tuesday with a day of registration scheduled from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

New classes for both day and night will begin on Wednesday, including beginning shorthand, Mrs. Penrose Love, principal, said today.

Several new courses are being offered this year, and a new night instructor, Miss Susan Castrianni, who will teach bookkeeping will assist the present staff.

For the new course in Business and Office Machines, the school has acquired a new compact Underwood accounting machine, which has a 10-11 digit adding machine. The school also has new electric typewriters.

A course in Effective Speaking, to be taught by Mrs. Lydia Watt is designed to help one overcome tension and nervousness before giving a talk.

The third course is Business Law, a useful course to all business personnel, and the inclusion of a mock trial will add interest to the academic studies.

Mrs. Love noted that "the day is past when one is finished with learning when they have graduated from school."

Here are some of the reasons for furthering education that she listed as being most widespread:

"Perhaps you need a job but lack the necessary skills; Perhaps you want to gain new skills in order to advance to a better job; Perhaps a wife would like to help her husband in his business; You may want to get your high school diploma, if you dropped out before completing; You may like to take some course for your personal use, or you may need to take a refresher course in some business skill."

Courses available both day and night include Consumer Economics, Bookkeeping I and II, Business Arithmetic, Gregg Shorthand I and II, Dictation and Transcription, Business English and Spelling; Typing, manual and electric; I and II, Office Procedure, Filing, Dictaphone, Duplicating Machines, Business Machines, Business Law and Business Psychology and Salesmanship.

The Seminole County Business School is a part of the Seminole County school system, and there is no charge except for the registration fee and the cost of books, which may be sold back to the school at the end of the course.

"LET'S TALK DRY CLEANING"

By WOODROW CASI

Stains are a lot more dangerous than skeletons in a closet. Leaving stains in clothing shortens the life of the fabric and makes cleaning more difficult. Using a hot iron on stained clothing — as is often done with the idea of getting "one more wear" before cleaning — is not a good idea. The heat may "set" certain stains and cause deterioration of the fabric.

Best treatment for stains of any kind is prompt cleaning. Not "home treatment" but cleaning by experts who know just what methods to use for particular stains. It will make your cleaner's job easier and help him do a better job if you can tell him the nature of particular stains when you bring your clothes in. Remember, the sooner you have stains removed from a fabric, the less chance they have to attack the material and cause weakening of the fibers.

Whether your clothing has the normal accumulation of wrinkles and soiling or special stains, you can be sure of expert cleaning care when you bring it to us. Carry it in yourself . . . or call for prompt pickup and delivery!

Longshoremen Strike Over

By United Press International
Longshoremen accepted a presidential board's recommendations in the long, costly Maine-to-Texas dock strike late Sunday, but there were no solutions yet in other major labor disputes.

More than 100,000 longshoremen and maritime workers have been idled since the lengthy dispute erupted into a walkout 29 days ago. It was reported the longshoremen originally asked a 35-cent wage increase and were offered a 23-cent package.

The International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) accepted a proposal for a 39-cent package increase over a two-year period. But the New York Shipping Association said the waterfront employers would make no decision until after its members meet Tuesday afternoon.

Congress would be asked to pass anti-strike legislation if the recommendations were rejected. Alexander Chopin, chairman of the New York Shipping Association, said the package proposal would cost $25 million "for the Port of New York alone."

Secretary Treasurer Charles Thomason said the local will ask the international today for permission to go on strike. The Photo-engravers would be the third union to join the strike since the walkout began Nov. 29.

Franchise Jeopardized

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The possibility of this city losing its major league baseball and football franchises loomed ominously today as the controversy over a municipal sports stadium boiled unabated.

The proposed $23 million stadium, part of a $45 million redevelopment plan announced for the North Side district, was to serve as the future home of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Steelers.

But an avalanche of activity was touched off Saturday night when Allegheny County Commissioners William D. McClelland and John E. McGrady announced they were opposed to the present method of financing, which calls for a $3.7 million contribution from the county.

The two Democrats said they felt other methods of obtaining the funds should be explored, adding that the money they are being asked for could be better spent on other projects.

Their feelings were expressed in a letter to Edward J. Magee, executive director of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development, which worked four years in planning the renewal program.

Magee said he was shocked. He dispatched a letter to the two commissioners Sunday night urging them to meet with him immediately, pointing out that questions raised in their letter had been answered in both private and public meetings during the past eight weeks.

"In the interest of this community and its future a final decision must be forthcoming at the earliest possible date," Magee said.

McGrady answered that the majority commissioners planned to meet with Magee early this week. He stressed that the commissioners were not opposed to the stadium, but wanted to know exactly how and in what manner the leases are to be secured.

John M. Walker, the Republican member of the county commission said he was "absolutely astonished" that his colleagues would take such action without informing him. He, too, promised a statement today.

General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates said the action could result in the club being forced to leave the city.

"Any such move would not be my decision, of course," Brown said, "but we can't play in Forbes Field forever."

Forbes Field, which has housed the Pirates for more than half a century and the Pittsburgh Steelers since they entered the National Football League in 1933, is now owned by the University of Pittsburgh. Both clubs lease from the university but, Brown said, the day may come when the institution raises the area as part of its expansion program.

Art Rooney, owner of the Steelers, said he was "disappointed." He said that without a new stadium he would be forced to take the team elsewhere, although he has turned down numerous offers to relocate in the past.

The Pirates actually would have a vested interest in the stadium, having pledged $2 million toward a bond issue and agreeing to a 10-year lease at $627,500 a year.

SOKC Charity Night Slated On Thursday

More than a dozen Seminole County charity organizations will benefit from the eighth annual charity night program slated for Thursday night at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

Track Mgr. Jack Ledoux said that proceeds from charity night alone have averaged more than $5,000 per year and that total contributions for 1962 are expected to be about $12,000.

Some $2,500 for the charity night total will be turned over to Seminole County charities including the United Appeal, Crippled Children Society, Seminole Hospital Auxiliary, March of Dimes, Cancer Society, Longwood Medical Center, TB and Health Assn., Sanford Elk's Crippled Children's Fund and various organizations concerned with the welfare of veterans.

All money raised through the special 10-race program Thursday night will go to the charities. Other charity events held by SOKC include scholarship night—held earlier this season—and charity matinees later in the year.

Charity events have been a special feature of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club since chairman of the board Jerry Collins took over operation of the track. Thousands of dollars have been turned over to Seminole County charities during that time.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Cuban welterweight Luis Rodriguez, fresh from his Saturday night victory over foxy middleweight Joey Giambra, says he now has his sights set for champion Emilio Griffith.

"I want Emilio Griffith now," Rodriguez said. "He's got to fight me . . . here . . . Las Vegas . . . anywhere. He can't run away from me any more."

Billy Casper Backs Into Crosby Victory

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—It's on to the Lucky International in San Francisco this week—and some of the golfers are hoping they can be a bit luckier than they were in the Bing Crosby.

They admittedly were lucky to get good weather. And Billy Casper was lucky when he sort of backed into the $5,000 first place jackpot while some of the other lads failed to carry rabbits' feet with them.

But some of the rest of the boys were moaning today about things like these:

—Arnold Palmer, who took a nine on the final hole of the fourth round, was disqualified for something he did in the third round.

—Bob Duden, he of the pendulum putter, had a chance to tie for the championship by sinking a 20-foot putt on the last hole, but instead he three-putted and ended up in seventh place.

—Jack Nicklaus, National Open champion, had a chance to win the crown by birdieing the last hole. Instead, he got behind a tree, then three-put-

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column once from a girl who went daffy over a police officer. I can understand it because they all look like a million dollars in their uniforms. But take them out of the uniforms and they are a big nothing. I ought to know. I fell for one of those guys and made a date to meet him off duty. He showed up in an ordinary suit and I was never so disappointed in my life.

UNIFORM HAPPY DEAR UNIFORM HAPPY: I'll admit that uniforms are disarming. But it works the other way, too. I've heard from men who have fallen for nurses on duty. And when they dated them in their off-duty attire—all the glamour and appeal had gone with the starch.

DEAR ABBY: My mother was left a widow with seven children when I was only 3. She raised us alone (no insurance) and a more unselfish mother never lived. She is now 72. We are all married and are scattered around the country. Mother calls me her "favorite" and easiest to get along with. She has lived with me since my marriage 14 years ago. Abby, I am not complaining, but my husband and children and I would like to be alone for awhile. Just a few weeks. Mother is not a burden, we just need some privacy. The others have invited her to come for vacations (they've offered to pay her fare), but Mother doesn't like to travel. She is in good health, I wouldn't hurt her for the world, but how can I solve this problem? "THE FAVORITE"

DEAR FAVORITE: Write to your sisters and brothers and suggest they coax her in earnest. With their pulling on one end and your encouraging her to go on the other, your chances for a much deserved breather are excellent.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is always after me to invite his bosses and their wives to dinner. He thinks the more we see of them socially, the better it will be for him. The few times I have had them to our apartment, I got the impression they didn't want to get too palmy waly with us, and accepted our invitation only to avoid hurting our feelings. I feel very uncomfortable with them. I would like your opinion of employees who try to socialize with their bosses.

WOMAN'S INTUITION

DEAR INTUITION: If you feel "uncomfortable" in the company of your husband's bosses and their wives, your intuition is probably correct. You should entertain them only to reciprocate THEIR invitations. For a more detailed reply to your very intelligent question, get McCall's February issue and read "How To Help Your Husband Get Ahead." I wrote it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KEY: In the words of a wise Irishman: "Better to be quarrelling than lonesome." Stick around.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The average bridge player divides suits into two classes. Spades and hearts are major suits because 10 tricks make game. Clubs and diamonds are minor suits.

A better division would be into spades and all other suits because spades outrank and in many instances tyrannizes the others.

South has a 13-point hand, including 11 points in high cards. He also has spades and should open the bidding.

West has an almost identical hand except that his five card suit is in hearts. If he could get into action at the one level West would surely overcall, but South's spade bid has made it impossible. Look at the East hand and Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, West, and East cards.

Both vulnerable South West North East 1 4 Pass Pass 4 4 Pass Pass Opening lead—4 10

North has some sort of spade raise and chooses to jump to game. It is a happy choice because South is cold for 10 tricks. In fact, only the singleton diamond opening keeps him from making an overtrick. Against that lead South must draw three rounds of trumps and eventually will lose two hearts and a club.

If the spade suit had not shut West out of his hearts, East and West could have bid to five hearts. They would make it, except against a club opening. This does not mean West should have bid. This time a heart overcall would have worked. Next time it might lead to destruction.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

By Ruth Millett

How can a wife get her husband to take her out to dinner occasionally or, better yet, one night a week?

Enough letters ask that question that it just has to be answered.

Suggestion 1: Have nothing planned for dinner and be wearing your best dress when your husband comes home from work. When he asks: "What's cooking?" say, "Let's go to such and such a restaurant and find out."

Suggestion 2: Make a deal with him. "I'll cook your favorite meal tonight with all the trimmings. If you'll take me out to dinner tomorrow night."

Suggestion 3: Get a friend and her husband to drop by dinner occasionally or, better yet, one night a week?

Enough letters ask that question that it just has to be answered.

Suggestion 1: Have nothing planned for dinner and be wearing your best dress when your husband comes home from work. When he asks: "What's cooking?" say, "Let's go to such and such a restaurant and find out."

Suggestion 2: Make a deal with him. "I'll cook your favorite meal tonight with all the trimmings. If you'll take me out to dinner tomorrow night."

Suggestion 3: Get a friend and her husband to drop by just before the dinner hour and have the other husband all primed to suggest, "Why don't the four of us go out for dinner?" Of course, you've got to have a friend who has a husband who likes to eat out in order to swing this one (which may mean you'll have to make a new friend).

Suggestion 4: Cook him the same meal three nights in a row and when he looks unhappy about it say, "I guess I'm completely burned out on cooking. Maybe if we went out to dinner once a week, I'd get some inspiration from eating someone else's cooking."

Suggestion 5: Wait until he is tearing his hair trying to figure out what you want for your birthday and then say wistfully, "You know what I'd really like? To have you take me out to dinner one night a week. That would be the nicest present you could give me."

That last is sneaky, but all's fair in trying to get a husband to take you out to dinner.
