How Celery City Vanity Fair While Away the Golden Hours—Social Gossip.

No Sympathy Seekers

"Of course I know that I am poor," said a very popular, although an impecunious society woman, "but somehow or other, I cannot feel poor." "That is the reason you are such a success," commented her friend. "Mrs. Multimillions said the other day that you were the only woman she knew who did not bore her with your troubles, and that was the reason she liked you so much."

Those who are not well off, as a rule, make their straightened circumstances too obvious, and people who have lost money in the world when they are ready, no reason why they should do so. They take a back seat, and of course are not urged to come forward, but if they had remained in the front no one would have questioned their right to be there. It is not necessary to spend much or entertain in order to maintain a position once you have attained it. All you have to do is to be agreeable, and not let society see that you are worried. Society is good-natured if you do not exact sympathy, and is disposed to be friendly to its members who have suffered reverses if they are plucky and cheerful about it, and continue to go about.

Of course, if people are morbid and avoid their former associates, the latter cannot be expected to hunt them up; but if they lose their friends it is, in nine cases out of ten, more the fault of the people themselves than of their former associates. Vanity Fair has no time to look after those who fall by the wayside, but people make a mistake in thinking she ostracises her citizens simply because they are poor. It is the concomitants of poverty that she objects to—the shabbiness, the low spirits; and, above all, the pride which apes humility, which is more boring than anything else. —ADELE.

The Club Season at Hand
With the near approach of the winter months, and the long evenings, the various women's clubs awaken and begin to take on a spirit of rejuvenation. The Parents' Club will soon hold its first meeting of the new year, and the newly organized Social Club will speedily get down to business and add much to Celery City social life, while the various dancing and card clubs are already on the qui vive.

The Wednesday Club, which is the oldest of the women's clubs in this city, and which is renowned for its intellectuality and the seriousness of its discussions and deliberations, has formulated a most interesting programme for the twenty-six sessions to be held this season. The first assembly will be held on the second Wednesday in November, which is the 11th. Then the president will make an inaugural address and the members will relate incidents of Summer's Outing. The principal number will be a paper by Mrs. George L. Maris on the "Accession and Reign of George III." Throughout the season the club will discuss English history "From the accession of George III, 1760."

The Wednesday Club was established in 1894, and its present officers are: Mrs. Lucien R. Phillips, president; Mrs. Geo. L. Maris, vice-president; Mrs. A. M. Thrasher, honorary vice-president; Mrs. B. F. Whitner, jr., secretary and treasurer.

A Birthday Party

Last Monday was the birthday anniversary of Miss Nora Amick, and the occasion was most fittingly celebrated with a party given in the evening to her gay friends. The evening was made happy with vocal and instrumental music and social games. A dainty course of refreshments was served, and Miss Amick was the recipient of many beautiful tokens from her friends. Those present were:

Ladies' Social Club

The ladies of Sanford, recognizing the need of more social features to while away the golden hours during the coming winter season, formed a permanent organization at the Sanford House yesterday, with twenty-five charter members present. The following officers were elected:

Mrs. Forest Lake, president; Mrs. B. F. Whitner, vice-president; Mrs. Samuel-Puleston, secretary; Mrs. John Dickens, treasurer

The following board of managers were elected: Mrs. DeForrest, chairman; Miss Charlotte Keeler, Mrs. H. P. Driver, Mrs. Cruse Barnes and Mrs. G. S. Derry.

The Social Club proposes to hold regular meetings at the Sanford House, temporarily, although a club house will be arranged for at an early date, in which many social features will take place during the season. The Social Club should prove a success, and will do much toward advancing Sanford as a social center.

BEST HOTEL SERVICE IN FLORIDA

Traveling Salesman Speaks Highly of Sanford House

A well known traveling salesman who lives in Jacksonville and makes a tour of the state from Jacksonville to Miami, was in the city one day this week and remarked to one of our merchants that "the Sanford House was the only hotel on his route that deserved the name of a hotel."

This is certainly a strong recommendation for Sanford's famous hostelry, and demonstrates that the excellent cuisine and accommodations furnished under the able management of Harry P. Driver are being appreciated.

It is a well known fact that traveling salesmen are well able to judge the merits of a hotel, and their opinion is prized highly by the proprietors of first-class hostelries.

The Sanford House is not a winter hotel, although especial efforts are made to attract the tourists to make it their headquarters. Mr. Driver has made it a year-round hotel and the good service is kept up to the standard at all times, thus insuring the traveling public real hotel accommodations all the year. The Sanford House this year will have the largest tourist trade in the history of the city, and already Mr. Driver has booked a number of tourists for the season. The location of the hotel is ideal, situated as it is upon the very shore of Lake Monroe, and offering the tourist and sportsmen the greatest opportunity of their life to enjoy in the fullest sense their inclination to hunt, fish and race their motor boats.

Will Carry on Business

The grocery business of the late M. A. Speer will be carried on under the name of the Speer Grocery, and Mrs. J. E. Speer will manage the business as soon as she is sufficiently recovered to do so. Mr. F. C. Graves will have charge of the store, and all the old customers, and new, are invited to call and be assured of courteous treatment and satisfactory service that formerly characterized this store.

SANFORD is rapidly growing a reputation as an educational center and the enrollment this year of over 400 pupils as against last year's enrollment of 265 shows the remarkable growth of Sanford and the confidence placed in the school by the people living in the Celery Delta. Much of the success of the Sanford High School is due to the able management of the School Board and the efficient work of Prof. N. J. Perkins and his able assistants. The rank of the High School has been raised to that of a State Senior High School and thus claims a share of the State's special appropriation for these institutions. Thus the Sanford High School is keeping pace with the growth of the city and is gaining fame throughout the State as a temple of learning second to none.

THE NEW RAILROAD

First Shovel of Dirt Thrown Last Monday Morning

IT OPENS UP A RICH SECTION

The New Road Offers Great Promise To Growers and Sanford People Generally

Monday and Tuesday of this week marked an epoch in the history of Sanford, for on those days the real work on the Sanford & Everglades Railroad was commenced. For many weeks past the papers have been full of notes about this new road and the survey work taking place, but this week the reality was forced upon the people when the work of grading actually began. All day Monday and Tuesday large parties drove out or walked out to view this most important start in Sanford's march of progress.

The right of way starts from the connection of the Oveido branch of the A. C. L., near Park avenue, and crosses Sanford avenue near the Close place, taking a southeast course through the celery delta and the richest farming country in the entire south.

Men and teams are as busy as bees breaking the ground and filling in, and preceded by an efficient corps of engineers under the supervision of Chief Engineer Ginn, the work is being rushed through, the company expecting to have the first five miles ready for cars the first day of February.

Leaving outside the great benefits to be derived by the celery growers and the people of Sanford, this new road, after leaving the celery delta, will traverse some of the richest timber tracts in Florida, and the right of way to the southern end of Florida will do much toward opening up this vast region which for years has laid idle, only awaiting the advent of the steel rails to awaken it into life and civilization.

After the completion of the first five miles through the celery delta, the Sanford Traction Co., which has already obtained a charter from the city, will connect with the railroad and build a traction road through the streets of Sanford, thus giving the people within a radius of five miles on each side of the city a chance to market their crops and ship direct from their farms.

It will also prove a great boon to owners of suburban property, as they can reside some distance from the business center and still transact business in the city proper.

In fact, there is no end to the possibilities or great benefits to be derived from the Sanford & Everglades Railroad and the Sanford Traction Co., and only the future can unfold Sanford of after years. The traction company will co-operate

A. C. L. SURGEONS MEET HERE

About One Hundred Came Up The St. Johns River

The fourth annual meeting of the Association of Surgeons of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company convened in Jacksonville, Tuesday morning. There were about one hundred of the members present from points throughout the great railroad system.

The first session was held in the Board of Trade building in Jacksonville at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and 3:30 in the afternoon the association boarded the Clyde Line steamer City of Jacksonville for a trip up the St. Johns river to Sanford, arriving here at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The wives and daughters of many of the members made the trip also. During the trip a session of the association was held at which the following program was given:

Surgical indications for the operation of Gastro-enterostomy, Dr. John E. Boyd, Jacksonville, Fla.; The treatment of certain fractures, and results, Dr. S. T. Carswell, Citra, Fla.; Solution hydrogen dioxide, Dr. E. Blackhearn, High Springs, Fla.; The railroad trespasser, Dr. Lucien Loftin, Emporia, Va.; A simple system of draining the gall-tracts, Dr. E. Dickinson, Wilson, N.C.; papers (titles not announced); reports of cases.

This gathering of surgeons of this popular railroad system annually is a source of pleasure to the members of the association, and each year surgeons from all over the system gather in profitable reunion, and this year was no exception to the rule. The trip up the river was an innovation and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

While in this city they were guests of the Sanford House, and were driven about the city and through the celery delta, leaving on the afternoon train for Jacksonville. Many of the members expressed great pleasure at viewing the famous celery fields, of which they had heard so much, and for an inspection of which the trip was in part planned.

New Line of Steamers

The Sanford and Geneva Steamboat Co. has organized in shipping circles, and the new company will operate a daily steamer between Sanford and Lake Harney. C. L. Pagenhart is general manager of the new company and has recently added the new steamer Alligator to the line. This will give the Lake Harney section an opportunity to ship their fruits and vegetables, and will mean another industry for Sanford, making this the central shipping point for the lake region.

The new steamship line will make special provisions for carrying passengers, and this beautiful trip through the lake region should be quite popular among the tourists.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

On the theory that justice should be the foundation of law, Judge Gordon of the criminal court of Pinellas county last week set aside a jury's verdict of guilty and discharged the prisoners—Robert McNamee and Emilio Garcia—charged with aggravated assault on the editor of a Cuban paper in Tampa. The editor has left the country.

Ocala Banner: It is claimed that the green fruit from Florida is demoralizing prices, and is for all the world like "killing the goose that lays the golden egg." It does look like something ought to be done to prevent it.

Hon. B. E. McClain, commissioner of agriculture, was in Ocala, having arrived Friday from Alachua county, where he has been looking over the state convict camps of Dutton & Co. He is well pleased with the manner in which the convicts are being handled by the various lessees over the state at present. He had intended making a more extended tour of the state, but urgent business called him back to Tallahassee.

Attorney E. W. Davis was recently sent a box of guavas by a friend and sent a negro boy to the depot for them. On the negro's return to the house without them, Mr. Davis inquired why he did not bring them. "Boss, dey ain't dere." Mr. Davis phoned and was informed that they were there. The negro went again, but soon returned and said, "Boss, dar is er box down dar fer yo', but whatever is in it is sho dead."—Tavares Herald.

Jacksonville Times-Union: All the newspapers of the country raising money for the Bryan and Kern campaign fund have been able to send in only about $100,000 to the national campaign headquarters. This is not nearly enough for the expenses of a country-wide campaign. Consequently, another urgent call has been sent out for funds. The question is, "Shall the democracy allow this election to go by default? What may be done is shown by the success of the two gentlemen of Tampa who raised $250 in a few days, canvassing only the business section of that city for the fund. They expect to secure much more money before they cease.

The citizens of Mount Dora, together with some of those of the surrounding villages, met on the 14th inst. and organized a branch of the Florida Orange Growers' Association, for the purpose of assisting in the distribution and marketing of the Florida orange crop.

Christina Kelly, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, was shot and instantly killed at Fernandina, October 17th, by Bernard Cons, 14 years old, while the children were at play at the Cons home.

Mr. John Eastman, wife and six children, traveling in a typical up-country wagon, passed through Waycross, Ga., October 17th, en route from West Virginia to Lake City, Fla., having been on the road since July 23. Mr. Eastman said he was making the change on account of his wife's health, and that he would settle near Lake City.

F. M. Brown, the hotel proprietor at Silver Springs, charged with robbing the postoffice at that place, came into notoriety October 17 by attempting to commit suicide. A few days ago Brown was arrested and confessed to the charges of robbing the postoffice on two different occasions. He was brought before the United States commissioners and required to give bond for $1,500.

Jerry Crowley, a prominent young merchant of Lake City, committed suicide last Friday by taking laudanum. Brooding over the death of his wife is supposed to have been the cause of the suicide.

The annual Confederate reunion of the old soldiers was held in Tampa on the 21st and 22nd inst. A large number were in attendance.

The postmaster at Jacksonville is asking the Washington authorities for twenty extra men to handle the extra work during the coming winter.

A Monday Morning Dream

I dreamed that I dwelt on an isle of cracked ice, In the midst of a lake of champagne, Where bloomed the mint juleps in meadows of green Amid showers of lithia rain.

I reclined on a divan of lager beer foam With a pillow of froth for my head, While the spray from a fountain of sparkling gin fizz Descended like dew on my head.

From far-away mountains of crystalline ice, A zephyr refreshing and cool, Came wafting the incense of sweet muscatel, That sparkled in many a pool.

My senses were soothed by the soft purring song Of a brooklet of pouase Cafe, That rippled along over the tumbledles of snow, To a river of absinthe frape.

Then, lulled by the music of tinkling glass From schneiders that dinned on the deep, I dreamily sipped a high ball or two, And languidly gazed at the stars.

And then I awoke on a bed of rocks, With a heater as hard as a brick, A wrench to my neck, a rack in my head, And a stomach detestably sick.

With sand in my eyes and a grit in my throat, Where the taste of last evening still clung, And felt a bath towel stuffed in my mouth, Which I afterward found was my tongue.

And I groped for the thread of the evening before, In a crystalline maze of my brain, Until a great light burst upon me at last, I'm off the wagon again.

GOOD MORNING!—The obstructionist is "dend." Sanford will prosper.

In answer to anxious inquirer, will say that canning plants do not have to be irrigated to make them grow. Water is reserved for the stock.

No fountain is so small but that heaven may be imaged in its bosom. There is no dewdrop that hangs upon the plant, or shrub, or bush, but what reflects the future world when the rays of the sun fall upon it. So there is no heart so scared by adversity but may be pulsated with joy when the voice of sweet sympathy is heard whispering words of consolation and hope.

Statistics show that at present there are no bald-headed men in the asylums for the insane. In the past, the exceptions have been rare and unimportant. This may well furnish food for serious and earnest thought. You are seldom permitted to know that a woman is bald, and statistics on this point are lacking as to the female sex. The reason that so many men are bald-headed is now given that they wear their hair all the time, while many women hang theirs over the back of a chair when they retire.

There are many children in this town who go to the postoffice perhaps six times a day to inquire for mail. Of course, the ones who go oftener are usually the ones whose parents receive a paper once a week and a letter about once a month. This is a decided nuisance to the postmaster, and parents should not allow their children to do it. Often several children from one family go into the office and inquire for mail within a few minutes of each other. The assistant postmaster one day noticed a little boy who had just inquired for mail meet his sister at the door and heard him say, "no use in goin' in; I asked for our mail an' there wasn't anything for us." "O, I'm goin' in, anyhow," replied the little girl cheerfully, and she did. Parents should impress the nonsense of this running to the postoffice on their children. If the children are expected to carry the mail, let one in each family be appointed to the task, and let him be instructed as to what time he should go to the office.

That tired feeling, which distresses the natives so dreadfully in the fall time, gentle Annie, is greatly aggravated by the insufferable pomposity and assinine assurance of an attorney—not a lawyer, but an attorney—who goes up and down the land breaking into peaceful assemblies and talking at them. He is cunning as a fox, but devoid of real ability. He has the gall of a Texas steer and the brain of a badger. He insinuates himself into every public gathering that he can, and then he bores them to death with a harangue that would make an Egyptian mummy burst its cerements and wildly waving its fustian cry out for mercy. To add torture to the insufferable nuisance this brazen old blarney forces himself upon the public press. He hounds the editors and the reporters, camps on their trail and makes life a burden to them. He tells them that he has received an urgent request to deliver an oration before such and such a body. He protests his modesty, and explains that he is inundated with overtures to speak "anywhere and everywhere." He will pretend that he doesn't know whether he will accept or no. You couldn't keep him away with a regiment of sharpshooters. When once he succeeds in getting himself invited to talk, all Hades couldn't stop his oratory. In this way he keeps in the eye of the public all the time. If he would go and swat it to his victims and let it go at that, no one would care, but he adds insult to injury by protesting his "modesty" to the press, and insisting on telling his tale of woe. You all have seen this man, for he lives in every town. He is a native of Sanford.

She Knew

I had a dream last night, he said, I dreamed that I proposed And that you answered "yes" at once, And I may claim foreclosed, Now, tell me, dear, think you that dreams By contraries must go? You had a nightmare, ah, she said, And he dared not tell her "no."

Although the baseball craze has subsided to a marked degree, I believe the following story, which I found in the October issue of The Bohemian, to be timely and interesting. Every fan knows just how it is:

"That gentleman who is to umpire the game today is an old friend of mine," said the mild-mannered baseball fan to his neighbor as they sat leaning forward in the grandstand, their eagerness over the coming contest.

"play ball." "He's one of the squarest and finest of men. Yes, sir, he's as nice a fellow as you'll see. Watch the graceful attitude of our first batter! He's got his eye with him today, too, for see how he lets his first bad one go— What did the umpire call that?"

"A strike," replied his neighbor. "Now, what do you think of that?" Ball went a mile wide of the plate! Well, umpires will make mistakes. I've seen—

At this juncture a crack rent the air and the ball sailed on a line toward the left field fence. The mild-mannered man was on his feet in a jiffy.

"What a swart! Run, run like the dickens! Go on, and make it a homer! Look at that cuss go, will you! Go on; keep a-going! Don't stop. Make it— What's that?"

"The umpire called it a foul!" "A foul? He's crazy! Say, Mister Umpire, put on your glasses. A foul! Good God, man, you're the limit! Throw him out! Go lay down your wipers, umpire! You're rotten! Rotten! Rotten!"

And in disgust the mild-mannered fan slapped his derby hat down on the seat and sat on it.

Daniel Webster said "if we work upon marble it will perish, if we work upon brass time will efface it, if we rear temples they will crumble into dust, but if we work on immortal minds, if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something which will brighten to all eternity."

The girl who allows a young man to "pick her up" at the church door, after he has hung around on the outside during the service, hasn't a very deep sense of propriety for her sex on whom, to a great extent, society must depend for its present and future refinement. The influence of the young lady should be made to count for something at this very point.

A local dealer in bicycle supplies received a letter from a Volusia county farmer the other day inquiring the price of "a good India rubber tire." The missive ended with a postscript: "How much do you charge for the dingus to stuff the wind into the rubber with, and where do you start?"

The pleasure of a perfect afternoon in the park last Sunday was marred by the wrangling of a number of boys who grew so noisy that the band was forced to stop playing until the boys could be hustled from the proximity of the band stand. Verily, the Parents Club is needed here or a stout hickory club leaned against the trousers of these youthful scions of noble families. The police inform me that the next time such a scene occurs the boys will be hustled off to the city bastle where their parents can have the pleasure of paying a fine for the release of these hopefuls.

Yours for Progress, THE SAUNTERER.

POINTS PURELY PERSONAL

Celery City Vanity Fair While Away the Golden Hours—Social Gossip.

THE club season has scarcely started for the winter, and because the minds of the women and girls have not been trained on the weighty problems of the age, lighter conversations have been the rule. The other evening, for the purpose of making conversation, I prepared a hostess propound the question, "For a girl, which do you think is more advantageous, wealth or beauty?" Without a moment's hesitation two-thirds of the assembled ones answered, "Wealth." If it was conversation the hostess desired she was almost completely defeated, but being a girl of resources, she then took the opposite side, and gave an objection to the practically unanimous verdict.

She started, though, from the proposition that popularity and marriage are the things all girls strive after above everything else, and she does not believe that the style of men she knows, men about Orlando and other places where she visits, marry for money.

She brought her contention right home. When a visitor comes to Sanford what man cares whether or not her father has millions or whether he has thousands, if she is not attractive. Let him be a bloated bond-holder in the east, her invitations will not be more numerous in Sanford, if she has not the attractions necessary to draw men. But let some girl come to town who has carefully fixed over her last two winters' ball dresses, trimmed up her at-home-discarded hats, a girl who has vivacity, good looks, some parlor manners, and Dun & Bradstreet will never be thought of by the men of the town when she is under consideration.

What earthly difference does it make to a man who is going to ask a girl to go to a dance, whether or not she has money? If a fellow is going to take some one to the opera house, how much is it going to help him if the girl's father has a bank account a mile long? Would such give him any additional pleasure? Why should it? Why should the matter of money enter his head?

Then let the little microbe commence to work. Let him commence to look upon the poor as the most attractive individual he had ever seen, had ever dreamed of. You know what a fool a man is when he is in love. Could you convince such a fellow that he should stop long enough to look up her father's rating before proposing? Rubbish. He would become indignant, would be insulted and would take the center of the stage with his declaration that he would rather live in a cottage with that particular girl than share a palace with the richest heiress in the world.

Few men think of matrimony during off hours. Mighty few ever dream of marrying any particular girl until it is too late to see any other. What attracts them, to the first girl? Not a father's money, surely. Not by a good deal. Some pleasant little trait, some appealing accomplishment, some bit of magnetism. And once under the spell money and the practical things of life can go hang.

A girl with money can buy so many handsome clothes, can travel, go where she wants, get what she wants. Yes, but did you ever see a girl with money who did not appeal to men, who would not gladly sacrifice all her wealth for an inspired interest on the part of some attractive man.

And if a real mercenary view is to be taken of this matter, one must remember that all the money in this world is not controlled by girls. A poor girl with potent charms can win a rich man, while a rich girl with no charms at all will probably appeal, from a mercenary standpoint, to a poor fellow. There is money in both cases, but which is to be the more desired.

And, after the above views had been advanced by the clever hostess, discussion followed discussion, and the evening was saved as far as talk was concerned.

—ADELE.

Baker-Overman Nuptials

At the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Johns, last Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock, Mrs. S. M. Baker and J. H. Overman were united in marriage by Rev. J. F. McKinnon, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

The marriage was a great surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties and they have been kept busy this week receiving congratulations.

The bride is well known in Sanford, having resided here for a number of years and at the present time being engaged in the millinery business. For a number of years Mrs. Baker was engaged in the newspaper business after the death of her husband, S. M. Baker, a well known newspaper man. Mrs. Baker numbers her friends and acquaintances by the score, being of a cheerful nature and lovable disposition.

Mr. Overman, while a new resident of Sanford, is very popular with everyone. He is originally from Knightstown, Indiana, but has traveled extensively throughout the United States, and being an experienced manager of the laundry business, was called to Sanford to take charge of the Celery City laundry, where he was engaged for several months, and during his residence met his fate and, like a sensible man, intends to engage in business in this city, and make Sanford his future home.

The Herald joins the many friends of the couple in wishing them a life of happiness.

In adding down the cellar door of life, may they never strike the splinters of adversity.

Williams-Wright

A beautiful home wedding occurred in the western part of this county Wednesday morning at 7:00 o'clock when Miss Winnie E. Williams became the wife of Mr. Jerome L. Wright. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. B. Sweat, pastor of the Sanford Methodist church, the beautiful ring service being used. The bride is the daughter of Deputy Sheriff Williams, living near Zellwood, and a sister of Mrs. Andrew Kelley, of Sanford. The groom is a prominent young celery man, living out on Celery Avenue. In the party going out to the wedding from Sanford were: Mr. Wright, Mr. J. Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Kelley. They went from here to Mt. Dora, driving from there to the lovely home of Mr. Williams, standing in a magnificent orange grove, just up from Lake Oka. The bridal party returned here Wednesday morning.

Parents Club to Meet

The Parents Club will meet at the school house Monday, Oct. 26, at 3 o'clock p. m. All interested in the welfare of the school are invited to attend. A very enjoyable program has been arranged as follows: Instrumental music, Mrs. Thrasher; Address, Prof. Perkins; Vocal Solo, Mr. F. B. Woodcock; Address, Rev. J. F. McKinnon; Discussion by the members.

Resolutions of Respect

To the Worshipful Master and Brethren of Sanford Lodge No. 62, F. & A. M. Brethren:

WHEREAS, The fell destroyer, death, has again entered the portals of our lodge and called from among us our beloved brother, M. A. Speer, who died at his home in Sanford, Fla., October 9th, 1908; and,

WHEREAS, He has passed on before; his life-work is done; his record is made up and we must each inevitably in his turn follow him sooner or later to the great mysterious hereafter; may it be our steady aim and unflinching purpose so to live and work as "Sons of Light" as that through the riches of divine mercy and grace we may be accounted worthy of admission into the Celestial Lodge above. We might pause here and magnanize; but at such times as this silence is more appropriate than word-painting, even though that word-painting should blend our profoundest sympathies with our highest ideal of Masonic excellence, as that excellence has been illustrated in the quiet, modest life and character of our lamented brother. Therefore, be it

RESOLVED, 1st, That in the death of our brother, N. A. Speer, Masonry has sustained the loss of a zealous, intelligent disciple and a master workman, whose virtues we wish to imitate, and whose memory we will ever cherish.

RESOLVED, 2nd, That we tender to the wife and little ones he leaves behind, as well as relatives and friends, our sincere sympathies, and for them we invoke that spiritual consolation which God alone can bestow, not forgetting that God of times works through man in the ministrations of His mercies to man, and humbly praying Him that He count us worthy to be used of Him in the ministrations of His mercies to the family of our brother.

RESOLVED, 3rd, That in honor of our brother this lodge wear the usual badge of memory for thirty days.

RESOLVED, 4th, That a memorial page in the minutes of this lodge be suitably inscribed to the deceased brother, and that a copy of these resolutions be engrossed and forwarded to the family; also a copy be furnished The Herald and Chronicle, our city papers, for publication.

SIDEWALK TALK

Do you realize the necessity for a substantial foundation as a part of that sidewalk which you intend building? A nicely finished top lends beauty, but not stability. This is to be attained only when the same care is exercised in selection of materials for the foundation as for the top coat.

With this fact in mind, I am importing clean hard crushed stone, which when mixed with standard engineering specifications, gives an absolutely dependable foundation. If you want a walk in which you can take pride in the years to come, be sure that that foundation is right. This is one of the characteristics of my work. Let me figure on such a walk for you.

BRING IN YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS

The editor of THE HERALD has been appointed by the chairman of the National Finance Committee as a member of the Finance Committee for Orange county, and while the time is short the need is apparent and every good democat is urged to come forward and subscribe to the cause of Democracy and the election of Bryan.

STRIVING FOR A GREATER SANFORD

All eyes are turned to Sanford at the present time for the reason that no other city in the United States is growing so rapidly, and at the present rate of increase the population of Sanford will soon reach the ten thousand mark.

There are many reasons for this remarkable growth and the greatest is the vegetable growing industry that surrounds the city on three sides. The great cities of the country and those that have made a steady growth and attained an unassailable position are the cities that have a good farming country around them. Sanford at the present time is conceded to be the greatest vegetable growing section in the United States, and the greatest proof of this statement is the fact that our population is being increased every day by men who have tested the business in other centers of the country and found our sub-irrigation method to be far superior to any other section in which they have lived. The enormous profits wrested from a few acres near Sanford has caused an influx of settlers from every state in the union.

Aside from the farming interests is the location of the city at the head of navigation on the St. Johns river and the superior railroad facilities. The building of a new railroad from Sanford to the Everglades, which was started this week, is another attraction for trade, and the fact that Sanford will soon have a traction line, electric light and power plant, brick streets and a number of other improvements, is calculated to make the outside world sit up and take notice.

Our public school last year started with an enrollment of 205 pupils and this year with over 400, which shows the added increase in one year's time. The business men complain of no hard times during the summer season, as the vegetable industry gives employment to men all the year round, and the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line, with a monthly payroll of some $15,000, adds its quota of men that aid in keeping the business up to a certain standard. A new crate factory, novelty works and several minor factories will soon begin operations and add more men and money to the ever growing list.

With such a solid foundation the growth of Sanford is assured and every available dwelling house in the city is occupied, despite the fact that almost fifty new houses were built during the summer. Vacant lots that were formerly some distance from the city's center, are doubling in value, and by the aid of the Building and Loan Association many citizens will build this winter who formerly were forced to pay rent, and it is estimated that some thirty new residences will be erected at once.

Thus it is that Sanford, the Celery City, is destined to become one of the principal cities of Florida in a few years, and today is in the public eye as advancing more rapidly than any other city of the size in the south.

The Orlando Daily Reporter-Star is now issuing a good eight-page paper and shows many improvements. Bro. Howard in commenting upon the increased size, gives voice to the following:

"Just in proportion as a paper is supported by the advertising fraternity, after it shows the stuff it is made of, just in that same proportion will it continue to keep on improving. It puts nerve into the management, it liven up the brains of the editor, it makes the local man step around livelier and every man and machine in the print shop puts on new life and the paper will fairly sparkle with electrical fire."

The ordinance granting a franchise to the Sanford Traction Co. is published in this issue of THE HERALD. This means that the growing city of Sanford will have a street railway in operation in a short time.

It is well to boost the price of property and rentals, but be careful in raising the price beyond all reason, and thus drive away the prospective citizen.

Every citizen should aid in advertising the advantages of Sanford.

MEETS ALL REQUIREMENTS

Each issue of THE HERALD presents a varied menu of good things for the digestion of its many readers, and few, if any, county papers publish so many interesting departments, devoted to the general good of the people.

Its local and editorial columns are crowded with timely and interesting matter of particular interest to the home people while the advertising columns sparkle with the business announcements of our enterprising merchants.

The budget of "Curbatone Cleanings" is always interesting and "The Saunterer" has each week much to say in his own quaint way. He never contends that black is white, bitter is sweet, or that wrong is right, and he is never on the fence, for if there is any "fence" in it he breaks through and lifts the veil on the follies of the days.

Then there is the interesting budget from correspondents throughout the county, reflecting the every-day life of the people of Orange county, and the column in each issue devoted to "All Around Florida" will demand your attention, as well as the telegraph news reglting the important happenings in the world at large.

A special department is conducted for the publication of all church news, and another department, "The Voice of the People" is given to the expression of the views of our people.

"The Social World" is the title of a department devoted to social news and almost exclusively to those matters which interest the fair sex.

In addition to these regular departments, considerable space is given to those matters which are of peculiar interest to the grower and shipper—in fact, the paper strives to cover the field of news that is of benefit to this particular section of the country.

Yes, it may be truly said, THE HERALD meets all requirements.

The following, which appeared in the Tampa Tribune last Tuesday, claims our attention:

The Tribune has been nice to THE SANFORD HERALD. We have hailed it as a very excellent paper and have from time to time commented on its bright and original way of putting things. But we must sound a note of warning to THE HERALD. When it reprints an election forecast, upon which we expended much hard labor, and credits same to the St. Lucie Tribune, we feel warranted in protesting.

We apologize to the Tampa Tribune for this error. However, in justice to ourselves, we are impelled to say that the article referred to was published in the St. Lucie Tribune as original, and not having seen it is the Tampa paper, we had no doubt but that credit was due the St. Lucie paper.

The fountain in the park is a thing of beauty and a joy forever, but to those who have to wade through the pond surrounding the fountain every day, the beauty is not so apparent. For the past two weeks the fountain has leaked badly around the base of the foundation and water stands to the depth of three or four inches across the path. In the early morning the pedestrians are forced to wade through the grass, and since no one in Sanford is desirous of taking a bath on the way to the business district, there is no valid reason why the proper authorities should not take active steps to repair the foundation. There are many visitors to the city every day and those that take a stroll through the park are apt to make remarks disparaging to the city council.

Oh, windy suspiration of forced breath, Col. Henri Watterson insists upon being a high private in the rear rank of Democracy's phalanx. Just the same, the old "blear-eyed goddess of reform" will desire to say as much as he did when he was on the fore front rank of legions.

Old man Watterson likes to talk and call attention to himself about as well as any circus poster we have ever known.

Answering the question, "Shall the people rule?" the Sioux City (Ia.) Journal says: "not in a Southern state, if they happen to be a colored people."

So? Perhaps in Springfield, Illinois, or Springfield, Ohio.

Editor Powell of the St. Petersburg Independent objects to being called a St. Petersburg. Powell is probably afraid of a mistake in the name and being called Limberger.

The Sanford Gas & Fuel Co. will begin work at once upon the construction of an electric light plant.

The city limits of Sanford must be enlarged. Conditions are rather cramped at present.

Sanford will have electric lights.

Copies of The Herald can be obtained at Miller's news stand, corner of Park avenue and First street.

GOOD WORK OF ORPHANS' HOME

A South Floridian Brings Two Little Foreigners to Enterprise.

Rev. J. R. Cason came up to Sanford from his home in Lakeland, yesterday, on a mission of mercy and love, to work that the angels might well covet the privilege of doing. He had in charge two little children, whose mother died last week in his town, leaving them alone in the world. The mother and childred came to Lakeland from Denmark about three months ago. The children were four and eight years of age, and neither one of them could speak a word of English. The youngest of them, a little boy, was quite sick, and Dr. Neal was called in to minister to his needs. Mr. Cason was taking the children across the lake to Enterprise, where the orphans' home of the Florida Conference is to be established. Mrs. Brooks will have these little ones and some others who are there now in charge until conference meets, in December, and takes some definite steps to provide for the home. Mr. Cason had some difficulty in getting across the lake, as a member of his party were out of commission, but Mr. Ingram was finally brought in from the celery field and took the party across.

The cry of the orphan is one that no man who has a heart in him can turn a deaf ear to, and now that this home for the friendless is so near to the Sanford people, it will give them a fine opportunity to contribute of their means to a very worthy institution. Contributions for this purpose may be left with Rev. D. B. Sweat, pastor of the Sanford Methodist church, or sent to Rev. L. W. Moore, Tampa, Fla.

Boost or Get Out

Either run a town with a vim, or just sell out and loaf. One thing must be done for the town for all that it is worth get up steam and keep it up. Do you want trade? Bid for it. Do you want business to come to your town? Encourage what you have. Do you want a prosperous town? Then never permit jealousy to rule your actions, but work together for common prosperity and mutual benefit.

The kickers on the farm are not so hard to get along with as the kickers in town. On the farm there is the kicking cow, and our long-eared friend, the mule, while in town there is the old mossback who wants all the municipal improvements without paying for them. The cow may be sold for beef, the mule traded for a shotgun, but how on earth will we get rid of the town kicker?—Ex.

A Long, Hungry Ride

St. Petersburg Correspondent Jacksonville Times-Union: A negro rode into St. Petersburg last evening on a freight train who had been without food or eaten for eleven days. He came in a car containing machinery for the St. Petersburg Steam Laundry. This morning when James S. Norton of the laundry broke the seal on the car containing the machinery, and walked into the car, the negro was sitting there. He asked him what his presence meant and the story was told. He said he had gotten aboard at Richmond, Va., on Monday, September 28. He was working for a show in Richmond and wanted to go to Petersburg, Va., and asking permission to ride was told to get into the car by the trainman. The seal was put on the door and the negro locked in. When Mr. Norton had found him and he had told his tale, Mr. Norton asked him if he could walk, and he said he could. He jumped from the car. Mr. Norton took him to the A.C.L. depot and after getting a supply of water gave him enough money with which to get something to eat. The negro seemed to stand the fasting well, not showing signs of weakening in any respect.

We Grow More Than Celery

(Orlando Reporter-Star)

The Sanford Herald draws attention to the enrollment of 400 pupils in the schools of that city this year, against 265 last year as an indication of the rapid growth of that city. It is as good proof as any.—Times-Union.

It is solid proof that those good people grow something more than celery. But then, celery is a great vitalizer. After all, there is no better product than a host of school children. Those will become citizens in fact. Home grown and acclimated.

Will Install Electric Plant

The Sanford Light and Fuel Co. will install a plant for electric lights and power, and work will begin immediately. This will be good news to the people of Sanford, and if work starts at once the city can be assured of electric lights within a short time.

City Council Holds Very Interesting Session

PASS ONE RAILWAY FRANCHISE

Franchise For Electric Light & Power Co. Goes Upon Its Second Reading—Other Matters

The City Council met in adjourned session last Monday night, with all members present. After roll call and reading of minutes of last session, the body hastened to get down to regular business.

Clerk Scott read a communication regarding the sign on the bill board in Jacksonville, the same being due and payable.

It was resolved to continue the space for another year, and same was ordered paid. There is no doubt but that this sign has proved an attraction to many northern people who arrive in Jacksonville with no special point of view.

The chairman of the street committee reported progress in the placing of street names upon the different intersections, and this work will soon be completed.

The building committee reported upon the numbering of houses.

The chairman of the fire committee reported the organization of a fire company and purchase of a new hose wagon and other necessary supplies. C. M. Hand has been appointed chief of the fire department.

The sanitary committee reported favorably upon the sewerage proposition and several very important questions in regard to new sewers will be settled at the next meeting, the committee being able at that time to give figures and estimates on same.

The ordinance committee being next on the list, Mayor Lake read the letter from Judge Beggs regarding the franchise for the Sanford Traction Co.

The decision was embodied in three parts, each one a proposition regarding a compensation to be paid the city from the gross earnings of the company. After a discussion of the same it was resolved to adopt the third proposition, which provides for a payment of two per cent. of the gross earnings of the Traction Company, after Sanford has attained a population of ten thousand. Mr. Connelly being called upon in regard to the matter, stated that no objection to the plan would be made by the company. The only hindrance conceived would be the difficulty involved in floating bonds with such a string attached, although if the city reaches the ten thousand mark the Traction Company will be well able to pay the tax imposed. The two per cent. will be levied upon the gross earnings and collected in the same manner as taxes after the city has reached said mark of ten thousand. This point being settled, it was resolved to place the ordinance upon its third reading and final passage, which was carried by a unanimous vote and the ordinance adopted.

It was moved to place the ordinance granting a franchise for the Sanford Electric Light & Power Co. upon its second reading.

Alderman Robinson wished to lay the measure upon the shelf, but was overruled by the votes of members present, except Alderman Robbins, and the motion to place the ordinance upon its second reading was carried, the negative votes of Alderman Robbins and Robinson being registered against it.

This being carried, the ordinance was put upon the second reading, and Alderman Thrasher moved that the ordinance be left with Mayor Lake to consult competent authority as to the legality of the same. This was carried in the "same old way."

It was resolved to appoint a committee upon enlarging the city limits and the following members were appointed: Robinson, Robbins, Stevens and Mayor Lake, and Messrs. Hadden and Whitner were invited to meet with the committee.

This is a move in the right direction and will meet with the approval of everyone.

There being no further business, the council adjourned to meet again next Monday night.

Politics and Sweet Potatoes

Brooksville Argus: Politics and sweet potatoes can be cultivated at the same time, but not with equal success. When more time and labor are spent on politics and less on potatoes, the farmer may ride on the band wagon with the driver, but his potatoes will be small and few in a row.

When more time is spent on sweet potatoes and less on politics, he may just hear the train go round the curve, but his pockets will jingle, his pigs will be fat, and his family famous for their comfortable and neat appearance. If he equally divides his time and labor between politics and sweet potatoes, his politics will be poor and his potatoes so-so.

DEATH OF HON. H. K. FULLER

Well Known Orange County Citizen Passes Away at Apopka

Hazen Kimball Fuller, born 69 years ago at Amoskaeg, near Manchester, New Hampshire, died on Sunday, October 18th, at his residence near Apopka, Fla., after a lingering illness, from which he had been a sufferer for the past three years. Enlargement of the heart was the primary cause, which finally resulted in a paralytic stroke Sunday last and terminated fatally one week later.

Mr. Fuller was married on June 15, 1865, to Caroline Atwood, of Bedford, N. H., who, with three daughters and one son, survive him. He came to Florida alone in 1877 on a tour of inspection, and in search of a climate to relieve his rheumatic condition. Apopka pleased him and one year later he came again with his family and purchased the Jeffcoat house and groves, about two miles south of Apopka, where he lived until death claimed him. His groves, prior to the freeze of 1894-5, were a marvel of beauty and his opinion was largely sought, and he was considered one of the best authorities on orange culture, and was placed in charge, in connection with Mr. M. S. Moreman of Switzerland, Fla., of the large interests of an English syndicate of capitalists, termed the Florida Finance Co., now known as the Land & Mortgage Bank of Jacksonville. This trusted position he had held and administered so faithfully to the last, even giving instructions regarding urgent matters but a few hours before his death.

Mr. Fuller was appointed in 1890 to be a member of the Fifth district, on the Orange county board of county commissioners, and has succeeded himself for the past twelve years, never has had opposition, and always received a complimentary vote far in excess of his colleagues, so highly was he esteemed and honored by the citizens of Orange county.

Mr. Fuller was a plain, unassuming man, both at home and abroad, was ever looking to the interests of others in his unselfish way; he never asked favors, but was ever ready to grant them. For thirty years he traveled a road deep in sand and water, from his home to town; never complaining or suggesting that the county better his traveling facilities; but about two years ago the Oakland road was cut passed near his entrance gate, the county board voting to lay it to about this point, but Mr. Fuller realizing that he would reap some personal benefit, voted against it.

The city of Apopka is indebted to him for his efforts in securing for them a complete main road from end to end of the county road operated through the town, and for his generous contributions of valuable and beautiful palms for the city park.

Mr. Fuller was one of the few men who could reckon his friends by his acquaintances and was ever mindful of their needs.

Macaroni Delta has four lady chiropodists and two tapeworm doctors.

Three fall calves have perished from summer complaint round here lately. It's thought they had been weaned too soon.

Sile Hotchkiss has been sued by Job Pilcher for damage done to Job's wife by Sile's butting ram. It sneaked up back of Job's wife while she was tying her shoe in the road and hit her kerplunk between the woodshed and the summer kitchen, and Jarred her upper store-teeth out in the mud and shook her liver out of place.

The Colloquial Dames will give a Garfield tea and an elderberry pie social next Tuesday night.

Enos Pumpfrey, our collar button and shoe-string merchant, has bought a new second-hand top buggy.

Amos Dillberry's wife ate too much boiled pork and cabbage for supper last Sunday and suffered much from combustion of the stomach for several hours.

Sam Gallop's widow is flaming out and putting on scallops to beat the band. Sam's only been dead three weeks and our town is much stirred up. She's forty years old and weighs 250 pounds, and last Sunday she wore a peek-a-boo shirt waist, striped red stockings and green gaiters. She certainly is a bird.

An Unusual Distinction

Jacksonville Metropolis: Judge L. A. Stewart, of DeLand, has the unusual distinction of having a daughter who is an attorney at law and who is a member of her father's law firm. She is learned, brilliant and well educated. Miss Mary Stewart is the first woman who has taken the examination before the supreme court and is one of a small number of women who have ever been admitted to the practice of law at the bar of this state. Last June she passed a brilliant examination in about twenty-five text books before the justices of the supreme court of the state of Florida. Miss Stewart has had a thorough education. She has been steadily at work from the time she was in the public schools of DeLand. She attended the preparatory department of the John B. Stetson university, but at the time of the trouble at the university Judge Stewart sent her to the University of Michigan.

Best Law Suggested

Hon. Don C. McMullen, senator-elect from Hillsborough county, is studying the "guarantee bank deposit plank" in the democratic platform, with a view of having it enacted into a law in Florida, says the Ocala Banner. To one who has gone through two or three bank failures, as has been the ill-luck of the editor of this paper, the law looks mighty good. Indeed it has a more inviting look and a sweeter flavor than peaches and cream. Had it been a law in Florida all along many a man would have been many a dollar better off and instead of depositing in cans, hollow trees and bed-ticking these deposits would have found their way to the banks and entered into the channels of trade. It seems to us that it is the best law ever suggested.

It sounds good to hear the factory whistle again. The Planters' Manufacturing Co. have commenced work and expect to do more business than ever.

The ice cream social at the school house on the night of October 16, was quite a success. The financial panic has served to boom

Sanford's trucking industry as does droughts. When a financial panic comes it booms the trucking industry because we have the possibilities. When a drought comes it shows the value of our artesian wells. When a wet spell arrives it shows value of sub-irrigation.

State Correspondence Course

The University of Florida offers a free correspondence course in agriculture for teachers. The course will begin November 1 and end June 1, 1909.

Teachers may work singly or in groups. Every teacher taking the course, however, must register.

Recognizing the fact that teachers are busy people, the course will be conducted so that each teacher or group of teachers working together will be at liberty to devote only as much time to study and experiment as other duties will permit. The instruction will be individual. No time limit for the completion of any portion of the course will be enforced, and therefore the amount of work accomplished will depend entirely upon the individual teacher pursuing the course.

The course is intended to meet the immediate needs of teachers. First, a foundation must be laid. Therefore, the course will deal with fundamental principles and their applications. Simple experimental exercises, suited to class use, will form a part of the course.

The correspondence course in agriculture now offered by the university is timely, since State Superintendent W. M. Holloway has announced that in June, 1909, applicants for first, second and third grade certificates will be required to pass an examination in agriculture. The course will aid teachers in fitting themselves for giving instruction in agriculture and in preparing for teachers' examinations in agricultural subjects.

Teachers wishing to register for the course should apply to J. J. Vernon, Professor of Agriculture.

Another New Florida Industry

Jacksonville Times-Union: The Gainesville Sun announces that it has seen samples of paper made by the C. W. Chase interests from wood pulp made from long-leaved pine trees cut in Alachua county. Among the samples were bond, linen, book, cover, wrapping and fiber paper, all of the highest grades. They were finished in cloth, antique, laid, mill and enamel. It says the paper was made at four different plants in the United States to ascertain the cost, after long experimenting in the mill. A plant for the manufacture of this paper is proposed at Gainesville. If it can use up the refuse wood it will mean a considerable addition to the potential wealth of the state of Florida.

Half Price.
A well known actor was taking dinner at a fashionable Chicago hotel when a young man came in and sat down at the same table. He apparently recognized the actor, for after gazing at him intently for a couple of minutes he pulled a two dollar bill ostentatiously from a large roll and, showing it across the table, remarked: "I always feel as if I had to pay to see a famous man, don't you know?" The "famous man" calmly tore the two dollar bill in half and returned one section to the young man. "Children half price," he observed composedly.

LISTEN!
Whoever you are, as you read this, whatever your trouble or grief, I want you to know and to heed this—The hour draweth near with relief. No sorrow, no woe, is unending. Though heaven seems voiceless and dumb, So sure as your cry is ascending, So surely an answer will come. Whatever temptation is near you, When eyes on these simple lines fall, Remember, good angels will hear you And help you to stand if you call. Though stunned by despair, I beseech you, Whatever your losses, your need, Believe when these printed words reach you, Believe you were born to succeed. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Got Half of It Back.
The famous painter Corot and his sister were joint owners of some house property in the Faubourg Poissonniere. One day one of the tenants, a tailor, came to Corot and said he could not pay his rent. "What can I do for you?" asked Corot. "I cannot intercede for you with my sister because I am not on good terms with my family." As a matter of fact, Corot was regarded as a "failure" by his family. "However," he added, "here is the money to pay the rent, only don't let any one know I have given it to you." The tailor after this used to return periodically when his rent was due and obtain the money from Corot, who remarked on one occasion, "I appear to be very generous, but I am not, because I get half of it back from my sister as my share of the rent."

Barred Out.
Two souls approached St. Peter, side by side, and the younger was repulsed sternly by the saint on the ground that since he had never been married he had never known suffering. The older man advanced, with glad confidence. He stated that he had been married twice. But him, too, the saint repulsed, saying: "This is no place for fools."

His Improvement Plan.
"A Chester lawyer married a young woman of exquisite mind—a thin, big headed girl in spectacles," said a West Virginia man. "A friend from the east was introduced to the lady one night, and later on the bridegroom said to him: "George, what do you think of her?" "George puffed thoughtfully on his cigar. "Well," he said, "to tell you the truth, she isn't much to look at, is she?" "The husband's face fell. "Ah, but," he said eagerly, "what a mind she has! Externally perhaps she isn't all that could be desired, but within—ah, George, she has a beautiful mind!" "George smiled. "Then have her barred," he said."

The First Eviction.
An Irish tenant who had just bought under the purchase act boasted to the agent that his landlord was now "God Almighty" and that he need fear nothing. "Don't you be too sure, Pat," was the reply. "Remember God Almighty evicted his first two tenants."

A Cook to the End.
"A good cook has the spirit of cooking born in him," said a French chef, "and in him it never dies. His first dipped baby word is of food, and a sauce or a marinade is the subject of his last dying breath."

Did you ever hear of poor Gaston Laurent, the distinguished cook of Palladium? Gaston went on a voyage in the south seas in 1895. His ship was wrecked, and he and his party were captured by cannibals. Being plump, Gaston, alas, was the first of the ill fated party to be consigned to the great iron casserole. And the survivors say that nothing could have been more touching and more sublime than Gaston's last cry from the great pot as the water began to smoke and bubble and he began to cook—Gaston's last cry of a great artist: "Come, come! It is already past the time for the pepper and salt!"

He that is proud of riches is a fool, for if he be excited above his neighbors because he hath more gold how much inferior is he to a mine! —Jeremy Taylor.

A LETTER FROM FRANK CLARK

To the Democratic Voters of Second Congressional District of Florida

As you have doubtless noticed in the public press, I have been engaged since about the middle of July last in the discharge of my duties as Secretary of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, in charge of the headquarters at Washington. In performance of my duties as such secretary, I have had for the time mentioned charge of the campaign for the election of Democrats to Congress from the eastern and southern states. A few days since, having been relieved by Mr. Finlay, of South Carolina, vice chairman of the committee, and who kindly consented to remain in charge for the balance of the campaign, I came home with the full intention of making appointments throughout the district and addressing as many of my constituents as I could reach, giving an account of my stewardship and discussing the issues of the present campaign. It was my full intention, therefore, to remain in Florida until the convening of Congress next December. Upon my arrival at my home in Gainesville, I found awaiting me a telegram from the Hon. William J. Bryn, urging that I return north and make speeches in behalf of the ticket in the states of New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Feeling that I could not refuse to comply with this request of our great leader, particularly at the time when the future holds so much of promise for our people, I am, therefore, cheerfully responding to this call of the great Commoner with entire confidence that you will not allow my absence from the district and from the state, particularly when I am engaged in the work which I have mentioned to militate against me in the election on the third of next month.

I desire to appeal to you as strongly as language can appeal, to give me every possible vote on the third of next month, not because I am fearful as to my election, but because of its effect in Congress should any effort be made to reduce our representation. I not only ask this for myself, but I urge a full vote all along the line, particularly for our Democratic Presidential electors.

In conclusion, I bring to you in this letter the cheering news that the next House of Representatives will unquestionably be Democratic, and the Presidential political horizon was never brighter for the Democracy than at the present time. Florida, in this Democratic year, should do her duty, because if the signs of the times in the political sky do not belie themselves, the great Nebraska will be inaugurated President of the United States on the fourth of March next. Yours for victory, —FRANK CLARK.

All Are Interested

Much interest is being taken throughout the state in the carnival that is to be given under the management of some of the Jacksonville newspaper men, and the prospects are that the metropolis of the state will be crowded with visitors during the week of the carnival. This year the carnival will be given October 26 to 31, inclusive. Round trip rates of one fare plus 25 cents, will be given by all the railroads and steamboat companies running to Jacksonville. These tickets will be sold daily and will be good returning up to midnight of November 1.

The carnival promises to be the best ever given, and that is promising a great deal, for the carnivals given in past years have certainly pleased the crowds of visitors who have attended. Judging from the Jacksonville papers, the people of that city have all gotten the carnival spirit, as they call it, and are co-operating to make the carnival a big success. These celebrations afford people from all parts of the state an opportunity to meet in Jacksonville, and besides being entertained and amused, to renew old friendships and form new ones. It also gives them an opportunity to see the fall and winter styles and do their shopping. The low rates given by the transportation companies will be appreciated by those who intend to visit Jacksonville.

Bears Repeating

(Florida Times-Union)
"The continuous rainfall of the past three weeks," says the Sanford Herald, "has fully demonstrated that Sanford's sub-irrigation method can take care of any amount of rainfall, even a deluge like that of this season." Not in thirty years has there been so much water in the St. Johns river and in Lake Monroe, "yet should these rains continue for the next six months the celery farms of Sanford would not be inundated. No better example of this sub-irrigation method could be demonstrated and practically decides the question of Sanford's location being the best in drought and deluge that the world affords," it says. These heavy rains must be the most satisfactory to the celery growers inasmuch as they establish beyond question the merits of the system on the success of which so much depends at Sanford.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENTS

A Course of High Grade Amusements Has Been Arranged for the Winter

The High School has been offered a very fine course of entertainments for the coming season, at a very reasonable rate. The course consists of the following numbers: The Christine-Giles Concert Co.; The Royal Hungarian Orchestra; Brush, the Magician; The Roney Boys; The Days.

This is by far the best course ever offered to the Sanford people. Each company speaks for itself. There is not a "one man show" in the course. The Christine-Giles Concert Co. is made up of a number of high class musicians, who render a program of popular and classical music. The Royal Hungarian Orchestra is composed of six musicians of rare talent, who need no introduction to lovers of good music. Edwin Brush is not excelled in his line; to see his Hindoo Basket Trick is worth more than the price of admission. There is but one genuine company of Roney's Boys; this company is well known to the American people, and they always make a hit wherever they go. Elias Day and wife are considered by all to be the best impersonators on the lecture platform.

The object in having the course—first, to offer to our patrons and young folk a high class order of entertainments—something that will uplift and elevate as well as entertain. Second, if any money can be made by the venture, we wish to add to our school library.

The town and community will be canvassed at an early date for a sale of tickets, and it is to be hoped that our people will freely respond, so that enough tickets may be subscribed to enable us to have the course of entertainments.

N. J. PERKINS, Principal.
C. R. WALKER, Chairman Board.

Capt. Marks at Home

Having returned to Sanford, after an absence of four months, I am at home again, ready to give my best efforts to sell any property that is listed with me and to do notary work, draw and execute all kinds of deeds, mortgages, contracts, bonds, etc. I will appreciate any business intrusted to me.

Respectfully,
RICHARD H. MARKS.

Serious Runaway Accident

While D. W. Walker and George Hightower were driving down Sanford avenue in a light buckboard Tuesday night, a runaway team attached to a large wagon collided with them, throwing them out and running over both men. The tongue of the wagon struck Walker in the back and he suffered severe injuries from the wagon wheels passing over his body. Hightower had his scalp badly cut and was also seriously bruised about the body. Dr. Denton rendered medical aid and both men are resting easy today and will probably be fully recovered in a few weeks. They had a miraculous escape from instant death, as the buckboard in which they were seated was entirely demolished by the heavy team and wagon.

About One Hundred Came Up The St. Johns River

The fourth annual meeting of the Association of Surgeons of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company convened in Jacksonville, Tuesday morning. There were about one hundred of the members present from points throughout the great railroad system.

The first session was held in the Board of Trade building in Jacksonville at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and 3:30 in the afternoon the association boarded the Clyde Line steamer City of Jacksonville for a trip up the St. Johns river to Sanford, arriving here at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The wives and daughters of many of the members made the trip also. During the trip a session of the association was held at which the following program was given:

Surgical indications, Dr. Boylston
Gastro-enterostomy, Dr. John L. Jackson, Fla.; The treatment of fractures, and results, Dr. S. T. Caswell, Citra, Fla.; Solution hydrogen dioxide, Dr. E. Blackhear, High Springs, Fla.; The railroad trespasser, Dr. Lucien Lofton, Emporia, Va.; A simple system of draining the gall-tracts, Dr. E. Dickinson, Wilson, N.C. (titles not announced; reports on cases).

This gathering of surgeons of this popular railroad system annually is a source of pleasure to the members of the association, and each year surgeons from all over the system gather in profitable reunion, and this year was no exception to the rule. The trip up the river was an innovation and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

While in this city they were guests of the Sanford House, and were driven about the city and through the celery delta, leaving on the afternoon train for Jacksonville. Many of the members expressed great pleasure at viewing the famous celery fields, of which they had heard so much, and for an inspection of which the trip was in part planned.

Monday and Tuesday of this week marked an epoch in the history of Sanford, for on those days the real work on the Sanford & Everglades Railroad was commenced. For many weeks past the papers have been full of notes about this new road and the survey work that was being done.

The right of way starts from the connection of the Oviedo branch of the A. C. L., near Park avenue, and crosses Sanford avenue near the Close place, taking a southeast course through the celery delta and the richest farming country in the entire south.

Men and teams are as busy as bees breaking the ground and filling in, and preceded by an efficient corps of engineers under the supervision of Chief Engineer Ginn, the work is being rushed through, the company expecting to have the first five miles ready for cars the first day of February.

Leaving outside the great benefits to be derived by the celery growers and the people of Sanford, this new road, after leaving the celery delta, will traverse some of the richest timber tracts in Florida, and the right of way to the southern end of Florida will do much toward opening up this vast region which for years has laid idle, only awaiting the advent of the steel rails to awaken it into life and civilization.

After the completion of the first five miles through the celery delta, the Sanford Traction Co., which has already obtained a charter from the city, will connect with the railroad and build a traction road through the streets of Sanford, thus giving the people within a radius of five miles on each side of the city a chance to market their crops and ship direct from their farms.

It will also prove a great boon to owners of suburban property, as they can reside some distance from the business center and still transact business in the city proper.

In fact, there is no end to the possibilities or great benefits to be derived from the Sanford & Everglades Railroad and the Sanford Traction Co., and only the future can unfold Sanford of after years. The traction company will co-operate with the river transportation, and there are rumors to the effect that a new line of boats may be put on to take care of the freight and passenger service between Sanford and Jacksonville, thus transporting both from northern points direct to the celery delta.

The first week of the season's engagement of the Breton-Runkel Company at the Sanford Opera House opened most auspiciously, full houses greeting the excellent company each night.

The show is all that has been claimed for it, and everyone speaks in the highest terms of the dramatic ability of the company, as well as of the excellence of the moving pictures and electrical effects which have been made possible by the recent installation of an electrical plant.

The program is changed each night, and either a drama or comedy is given, interspersed with the latest moving pictures, illustrated songs, and polite vaudeville.

The liberal patronage accorded the Breton-Runkel Company this week insures success for the season hence they will remain in Sanford during the entire season.

New Line of Steamers

The Sanford and Geneva Steamboat Co. is the latest organization in shipping circles, and the new company will operate a daily steamer between Sanford and Lake Harney. C. L. This will give the Lake Harney section an opportunity to ship their fruits and vegetables, and will mean another industry for Sanford, making this the central shipping point for the lake region.

The new steamship line will make special provisions for carrying passengers, and this beautiful trip through the lake region should be quite popular among the tourists.

Section 9. It is further provided that nothing in this franchise shall be construed so as to deprive any abutting owners along said railway from recovering any damages that may be lawfully claimed, from said Grantees, their associates and assigns.

PARENTS' CLUB HOLD MEETING

Most Interesting Session at High School Building

The meeting of the Parents' Club, held in the High School auditorium, Monday afternoon, was a very pleasant affair. This was the first meeting of the club this fall, and the attendance was very good.

At the request of the president, Mrs. L. R. Phillips, Prof. Perkins presided. After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. B. F. Whitner, the audience was favored with an instrumental solo by Mrs. D. L. Thrasher.

The address by Prof. Perkins on the subject of the public school was timely. The primary object of the school, he said, is to make good citizens; to train boys and girls so they will develop into well-balanced men and women who love the truth and are ready to fight for it. Then, too, the public school must train the minds of these future citizens. The first thing to be taught is moral goodness that respects God and man; God first; man second. To instill into the child mind love and fear toward God, the perfect, in wisdom, goodness, justice, and power—the Creator, Benefactor and Saviour; the Secret Witness and Judge. This is, of all teaching, the best.

We must also teach those things that will develop the pupil mentally and physically.

Prof. Perkins expressed a fear that in our modern methods of teaching we try to do too much for the child. For instance, our quick methods of teaching reading has made a generation of poor spellers. So much help is given the pupil by teachers and books that he does not know how to do things when he gets out into the world. Too much is said about the duty of teachers to the pupils and not enough of the duty of the pupil to the teacher and his school work. The Professor said he would not advise returning to the old methods of the past, as the song has it: "Readin', ritin' and rithmetic Taught to the rule of a hickory stick."

but we ought to include in our present plans of teaching a due proportion of both. The public school has a great work, he said in conclusion, and this work will be done better by having both parent and teacher working together in unison.

The vocal solo by Mr. Woodcock was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Rev. J. F. McKinnon delivered an address that was appreciated by those present. He spoke of the four factors that go to make up the school—the trustee, faculty, pupils and parents—congratulating the High School upon its active board of trustees and its efficient corps of teachers. He urged a closer bond of union between the patrons and teachers, indicating many ways in which the parents may be helpful to the teachers.

Following this address a few minutes were spent in discussing various phases of school work.

The second Monday in the month was decided upon as the time for the meetings of the club.

An Old Landmark Changed

One of the worst eyesores in our town for years has been the old DeMont building, at the foot of First street. Delapidated, half-ruined, with a shifting, often dubious tenancy, it has been an open question to the new comers where Sanford's progressiveness could be if this was to show for it on one of its main streets. This has been completely changed now, since young Mr. DeMont, the owner of this property, has returned here and taken charge of same.

The house has been thoroughly renovated, inside and out, and will be used for a boarding house and stores. Mr. DeMont will rent the house only to such parties as can guarantee to keep it clean and highly respectable and hopes that the people of Sanford will appreciate his efforts in making his property again into a place of which Sanford and First street may feel proud.

STRICKEN AT HIS POST

Engineer Kayes Has Stroke of Paralysis

FOUND THUS BY HIS FIREMAN

Now in Hospital Unconscious and But Small Hopes are Entertained For His Recovery

The sad intelligence was flashed over the wires to Sanford on Sunday that Engineer Kayes had been stricken with paralysis while seated in the cab of his engine last Sunday, and Mrs. Kayes and daughter, with Master Mechanic Stevens, took the next train for Tampa, where they found Mr. Kayes in a precarious condition. While seemingly conscious he was unable to speak, and grave fears were entertained for his recovery.

The stroke must have come upon him about the time he pulled into Tampa, as he still grasped the throttle with his hand when found by his fireman, and the brakes had been reversed.

He is at the Adamson Sanitarium and receiving the best of care and medical attention, and it is to be hoped that he can recover sufficiently to be brought back to Sanford.

Mr. Kayes came to Sanford from Wilkesbarre, Pa., about one year ago and became a resident at once, building a fine home on Magnolia avenue, and becoming identified with the interests of his adopted city. He was an experienced engineer and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of both his employers and fellow employees.

The Tampa Times has the following: "Stricken with paralysis as his hand clutched the throttle of his engine, Levi Kayes one of the best known engineers of the Atlantic Coast Line, is hovering between life and death at the South Florida sanitarium, to which he was conveyed early yesterday morning.

"Mr. Kayes had brought his train, a long freight, up from Port Tampa, on its way to Jacksonville. He was in apparent good health. His fireman, a colored man named Wagner, did not notice anything amiss. The train was brought to a standstill at the depot in Tampa. After some dispatches had been received, and the conductor was ready to go ahead, the signal was given. The fireman saw the signal and wondered why the engineer did not respond. He looked around and saw Kayes apparently alert, seated and with a firm grasp on the lever as if about to throw it over and start the engine. 'Do you see the signal?' he asked. Receiving no answer he went up to his companion and saw that he was unconscious.

"The fireman summoned the conductor. The road physician, Dr. W. F. Adamson, was called and he found the unconscious man to be suffering from a paralytic stroke which affected his right side. He had Kayes removed to the sanitarium for treatment.

"Another engineer took the train through to Jacksonville.

"Kayes was taken to the hospital about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. He is still unconscious, and his condition is very serious.

"Mrs. Kayes and their daughter, Miss Cora B. Kayes, were summoned from their home at Sanford. Mrs. Kayes said she had no idea that her husband was threatened with any illness, that he seemed to be well when she saw him Saturday. He is about fifty years of age, and has a splendid record as an engineer.

"Mr. Kayes is a well known Mason, and has taken practically all of the degrees known in the order."

Amended Postal Regulations

Postmaster-General Meyer has amended the postal regulations regarding the enclosure of any matter of a higher class in mail paid for at a lower rate so as to impose the penalty only upon those who "willfully" violate the regulations. Heretofore the department has imposed fines for such violations, regardless as to whether the offense was committed willfully or through ignorance. The fines aggregate approximately $80,000 a year, and 90 per cent of the cases have been found due to ignorance of the law, mostly by women and children and the ignorant, usually poor. There were 1,600 such cases in connection with the Jamestown expedition, all the violations being committed by children.
