RAF Blasts Hamburg Again In Heavy Raid

Large Fires Occur At Great Nazi Port; 32 Big Bombers Are Reported Missing

LONDON, July 29, (AP)—Hamburg was pounded by a heavy bomber raid last night for the second time in three nights. Thirty-two RAF bombers were missing. Large scale fires were seen in the great seaport city by bomber crews in low level attacks beneath cloud ceilings.

RAF planes dropped great numbers of incendiary bombs on the submarine building port.

Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris, chief of the command, broadcast a grim warning to Germany that "we are going to scourge the Third Reich from end to end."

"In comparison with what it will be like, we know all our own products of bombers come to England and as American production doubles and quadruples, all that has happened so far will seem very little," Harris said.

We are bombing Germany city by city, and ever more terribly, in order to make it impossible for you to go on with the war."

"That is our object. We shall pursue it remorselessly."

"City by city—Luebeck, Rostock, Cologne, Emden, Bremen, Wilhelmshaven, Duisburg, Hamm and the like grow longer and longer."

"Let the Nazis drag you down to disaster with them if you will. That is for you to decide."

Harris said he was speaking frankly to the Germans about whether we bomb single military targets or whole cities.

"Obviously we prefer to hit factories, shipyards and railways," he said. "It damages Hitler's war machine."

"When these people who work for these plants live close to them, and therefore we hit your houses and you. We regret the necessity for this."

"True, your defenses inflict losses on our bombers. Your leaders try to comfort you by telling you our losses are so heavy we will not be able to go on bombing much longer."

"I tell you our losses are less than five percent of the bombers which send over Germany."

His broadcast followed a German broadcast minimizing the damage and casualties in the RAF's raid on Hamburg Sunday night which pilots had described as comparable in effectiveness to the 1,000-plane raids on Cologne, Essen and Bremen.

WITH THE RAF FIGHTER COMMAND IN BRITAIN (AP)—The first air raid United States Air Force fighter pilots to fly over France with the RAF had high praise yesterday for the British fliers whom they saw shoot down nine of Germany's newest FW-109 fighters Sunday with a loss of three Spitfires.

When these RAF boys went they really go to it," said Maj. Fred M. Dean, 28, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

His campaign pilots who participated in RAF weekend sweeps over France included Maj. Marvin J. McNeille, 28, of Delray Beach, Fla.; Capt. D. L. Davis, 26, of 115 N. Forest St., Bellington, Wash.; Capt. Devlin E. Avery, 25, of Salt Lake City; Capt. Harrison Thring, 24, of Barnstead N. H.; Lt. Winfred L. Chambers, 22, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Householder said.

They have been flying with RAF Spitfire squadrons to gain experience with the British planes so that they can lead Spitfire-equipped squadrons of the United States Air Forces in the European theater of operations.

Originally there were seven, but one pilot was missing after the Sunday sweep over France.

"We lost two into a mass of FW-109's and he disappeared," McNeille said.

RAF And Presumably U.S. Bombers Hit Axis Supply Lines

(By Associated Press) British and Axis patrols sparred cautiously yesterday while the RAF and presumably American bombers attacked the vital Axis supply port of Suda Bay, Crete, the main source of supplies to the Axis armies on North Africa.

The Axis Armies of Marshal Erwin Rommel, stalled now for weeks in the Qattara-Mediterranean frontier west of El Alamein, appeared yesterday to be making some progress.

In the last four weeks, to indefinite duration some 80 miles short of their foremost objective, the British Naval Base of Alexandria.

There was evidence that Rommel had abandoned hopes of an immediate revitalized drive on the Nile Delta and would be satisfied for the present to hold what he has won in the long march across Libya and into Egypt.

In the last four weeks, to touch and go fighting of attacks and counter attacks, neither side has advanced appreciable and almost of the strategy has been aimed at hammering enemy supply lines from the air and, from the British side, by naval units shelling Axis ports.

The latest outburst of combat fighting came Monday, and the battle continued into the night with the Allied attackers falling into the trap set by the Germans and taking some 1,000 prisoners.

On Tuesday, communists claimed a second 1,000 British prisoners were taken in battles with two Axis divisions south of El Alamein and said that 62 vehicles were destroyed.

For wartime production the eight-hour day and the forty-eight-hour week approximate the best working schedule for sustained efficiency in most industrial operations.

One scheduled day of rest for the individual in approximate every seven should be a universal and invariable rule.

Army Takes Over Strike-Bound Bus Line In Alabama

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., July 29.—The Army today took over the operation of a strike-bound commuter bus line to the Huntsville Chemical Warfare Arsenal and the Redstone Ordnance Plant here as a walkout of AFL drivers and mechanics crippled public transportation at the depot here at 3:30 P. M. Thursday. It was announced.

Five buses were operated by the Army solely for workers in the two war plants. The strike was called Monday at midnight after the Crescent Motors, Inc., failed to meet the drivers and mechanics wage increase demands.

Navy Unifies Air Command Off Alaska

WASHINGTON, July 29, (AP)—Creation of a unified command of all aerial operations in the Aleutian Islands was announced today by U. S. Navy, which kept secret the details on the command relationship and the exact location of its headquarters.

Previously, Mrs. Householder was informed that 15 local youths would be informed, but she revealed today there will be only two. They are Thomas W. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Morris, and Robert Hickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hickson, Jr.

The Navy recruits will leave from Orlando. Their destination was not reported. Mrs. Householder has urged all friends and relatives of the boys and other interested citizens to be in hand a patriotic demonstration to show the young men are going to take their place in their country's war program. Legionnaires and the Sons of the Legion will be at the depot, and also the Boys Scouts, Mrs. Householder said.

LION CLUB WILL MEET

The Lions Club will meet tonight at 7:15 o'clock at the Val den Hotel.

Mustard Gas Is Thrown At Talmadge Hecklers At Rally; Man Arrested

STATESBORO, Ga., July 29.—A follower of Governor Eugene Talmadge was indicted yesterday on an assault count charging him with hurling a man's eye—the aftermath of a disturbance at the candidate's campaign rally, during which a firecracker containing an unidentified liquid bounced into a group of hecklers.

Robert F. Wood, one time gubernatorial candidate and now an employee of the state revenue department, was the man arrested. Held under $300 bond following his indictment, Wood denied that he threw the liquid, but Talmadge later said he was innocent.

Some liquid with a strange mustard odor, possibly from the container when it was hurled away from a crowd, stuck to the flag-draped platform where before Talmadge made his reelection appeal to a throng audience.

No charge was lodged immediately after the arrest, but Fred T. Lanier, solicitor of the Georgia circuit, laid the case at once before the Bullock county grand jury, then in session, and late in the afternoon an assault indictment was returned. This bill alleged that Harry Mitchell, a follower of Talmadge, was severely about the eyes by the liquid from the can.

The jury said it was not aware of the nature of the liquid but Talmadge later said it was mustard gas.

Board Reveals Names Of Men To Be Inducted

WASHINGTON, July 29, (AP)—The government yesterday established a policy that, generally speaking, the nation's millions of war production workers should not be required to work more than eight hours a day and forty-eight hours a week, and that all workers should have time off to restore their energy.

The office of war information said the move was intended to protect health, promote work efficiency and to stop "labor piracy" among workers, which makes away from other jobs by offering them opportunities of putting in long overtime at high pay.

OWI emphasized that the war proposal "in no way affects" the wage hour act's provision requiring overtime and a half pay for all workers for overtime.

The policy standards authorized jointly by the war and navy departments, maritime commission, public health service, manpower commission, war production board, commerce and labor departments were outlined by the OWI as follows:

1. For wartime production the eight-hour day and the forty-eight-hour week approximate the best working schedule for sustained efficiency in most industrial operations.

2. One scheduled day of rest for the individual in approximate every seven should be a universal and invariable rule.
