Christmas

is still, above all else, the festival of the birth of Christ. At Christmas time we realize that Christ in our hearts and Christ in our lives is God's supreme gift to us . . . to guide our lives, to provide a solution to our problems, to show us the real meaning of Love and Peace and Good Will.

AMID the hurry and activity of the Holiday Season, let us turn again, each to his own church, to pay homage in our own way to Christ our Lord, who gave his name to this Holy Season.

GAYLORD, Mich. (AP)—A 36-year-old mother and her five children died early today when a flash fire destroyed their two-story farmhouse on U. S. 27 six miles north of Gaylord.

Christmas lighting has brought hundreds into Sanford streets to see the unusual displays of many categories. One of the most popular this Christmas Season was originated by Lt. and Mrs. Robert S. Stone of 2013 Grandview Ave., N., where hundreds of cars streamed by to see the display that caused comment for miles around. Using a Mexican custom, Lt. Stone and his wife created the display which included 500 paper bags and as many candles which were placed at equal distance around the house, its lawn, and on top of the home.

Nautican Arrives In City To Start Cruises On River

Excited Bystanders Greet Boat Capt. J. Oliver Stands At Helm

The "Nautican", 350 passenger boat that will operate from the Sanford pier at the foot of Park Ave., arrived Saturday afternoon shortly after three o'clock amid the loud blasts from excited bystanders as they watched the huge craft slip into its mooring place. Capt. J. R. Oliver was at the helm bringing the big pleasure boat into Sanford. Prior to coming into the Sanford pier, the Nautican paused at the Lake Monroe Bridge to take on officials and owners to bring them upstream on the first run into its home port.

Holiday Spirit Trips Up Man Gone 3 Months

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—A man who escaped from jail and for three months avoided recapture was finally tripped up by his Christmas spirit. Deputy Sheriff Michael Ingino correctly figured John W. Branton would want to be home with his wife and seven children for the holidays. He waited outside Branton's Brooklyn home and arrested him as he drove up in a taxi on Christmas Eve, loaded down with presents. Ingino said Branton, 43, was being held in Suffolk County Jail for trial on a burglary charge when he and another prisoner sawed their way to freedom last Sept. 20. The other man was recaptured three days later. The Deputy Sheriff said Branton's arrest was a tough one to make. He allowed the man to deliver his presents to the house, where his weeping wife Maude told of having no money to buy food. Before leaving her husband away, Ingino donated $10 toward the family's Christmas dinner.

The gifts were distributed to needy children at the Elks Club's annual Christmas party. Personnel include: (l to r) C. M. Whittle, NAAS Fire Chief; W. M. Bartorek; U. S. Stevens, NAAS Fire Captain; L. R. Turner; R. M. Murray; R. A. Gunn; L. M. Wolf and M. Moses, Chairman of the Elks Club.

Record May Be Set In Traffic Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An all-time holiday death record loomed as a distinct possibility today as the nation's motorists began the long homeward trek. Traffic accidents had claimed at least 35 lives. Fires had taken 44 lives and miscellaneous accidents 52, for a total of 331. Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council said in Chicago that "the last day is always the worst." He said past experience has shown the highway death rate spurts during the closing hours of the holiday period. He predicted 500 persons would die from traffic accidents during the 78-hour period that began 6 p. m. (local time) Friday and ends at midnight. He said that "in the present state of eight highways death toll continues, we are definitely headed for a new all-time record. It will be the most tragic Christmas, traffic-wise, the nation has ever seen. The only way to avert an all-time record now is for every motorist to redouble his care on the way home." If the rate of eight traffic deaths per hour is maintained, the toll would reach 624 at the end of the 78-hour period.

Oklahoma Senator Sees Independence For CAA Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) predicts the Senate will vote to make the Civil Aeronautics Administration an independent agency as a result of the firing of Frederick B. Lee as its administrator. CAA now is part of the Commerce Department. It establishes rules for nonmilitary aviation, both commercial and private. Enforcement, however, is the responsibility of another agency, the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Soviet Union Parliament Opens Special Session To Adopt Budget

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's Parliament opened a special session today to adopt a government budget for 1936 and hear Premier Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev report on their Asian tour. The budget outlined to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) by Finance Minister Arseny Zverev put defense spending at 102 1/2 billion rubles, 9,622,000,000 less than the figure in the 1935 budget. Zverev said the cut was to permit greater development of the public economy and culture. (The Soviet Union values the ruble at 25 cents, which would give a defense expenditure in 1936 of $25,625,000,000. The U.S. defense budget for 1935 is 34 billion dollars, but a comparison of defense spending is difficult because much of the Soviet expense for that purpose actually is listed under different headings.)

Navy Loans Trucks For Mail Delivery

The old axiom that "everyone loves Christmas except the mailman" may be true, but the Naval Auxiliary Air Station here is doing its part to relieve the pressure of the Yuletide on the Sanford and Deland post offices. The station has loaned each city one of its Navy-owned trucks to aid in delivering special delivery parcels and letters. A ton and a half truck was donated to Orlando and a panel truck to Sanford for the duration of the holidays. The vehicles will be driven by substitute civilian mailmen that have been hired by the post offices special for the annual rush. The trucks will be returned to the NAAS after Dec. 31.

2 Indian Brothers Lauded For Saving Lives Of 33 People

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Two brave Indian brothers were credited today with saving 33 lives from the raging Klamath River after most of their town, Klamath, was swept away. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Whitney, who spent nine hours in swirling waters clinging to tree tops before the two Indians got to them, said the rescuers maneuvered their boat with great precision and daring through debris catapulting down the swollen stream.

Army Gives Boost On Defense Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is giving another boost to the atomic fire power it has deployed along Western Europe's anti-Communist defense line. It announced last night that six more battalions of Corporal guided missiles will go to Europe during the first four months of the new year. These weapons, capable of using nuclear explosive warheads and with a range up to about 70 miles, will be added to a growing variety of atomic weapons the ground force already has stationed in Europe. Army atomic weapons already there include one battalion of Corporal missiles, several batteries of Honest John bombardment rockets and six battalions of 800mm. cannon.

Story Of Survival Told By Sergeant

EATON, Wash. (AP)—Sgt. John Horan's feet were blistered and swollen. He was weary and cold beyond belief. But that was the road. And an inn. And two men. "They looked up and I knew everything was going to be all right." And that was the way the 25-year-old paratrooper from Maynard, Mass., described the last moments of the longest four days he ever spent—four days in snow-cold Cascade Mountain foothills into which he plunged on a parachute. The story he told of his fight for survival was an epic combination of luck, luck and training. Plus a determination to see again his Japanese wife Teruko and their three small children, who landed in Seattle Tuesday from Japan. She had been waiting at Ft. Lawton in Seattle since being told her husband was missing.

Navy Flier Returns Home For Christmas

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—Navy flier Jack Caldwell got back to his wife and two children last night for a belated Christmas after spending three days rescuing stranded flood victims in the Marysville-Yuba City area. Lt. Caldwell, not assigned to regular helicopter duty, volunteered immediately for relief work Thursday because he had seen his own home flooded at Wheelersburg, Ohio, in 1937.

He held mass at Hialeah compound chapel in Pusan this morning before he went to Rhee's villa in Chinshu, west of Pusan. The cardinal leaves for Japan today.

Influential Men Say Tax Cuts Possible Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Influential members of the House Ways and Means Committee say an individual income tax cut is possible next year. But they want Congress to delay action until the government spending situation becomes clearer. Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York, the tax-writing group's senior Republican member, said in an interview he foresaw a "strong possibility" of some trimming of individual income tax rates. But he said he concurred with what he described as a "growing body of opinion among the leaders of both parties . . . that any tax reduction move should await clearer evidence of the fiscal situation sometime in the spring."

Dairymen Contend Report Justifies Higher Milk Cost

MIAMI (U)—South Florida dairymen contended yesterday higher milk prices are justified on the basis of a production cost report issued Wednesday by the Florida Milk Commission.

On the other hand, a representative of a consumers' group said the study report showed only that the dairymen are making 2 1/2 million dollars annually, when all the time they have been claiming they are losing money.

The report showed that the average dairyman in the Dade-Broward-Duval District makes a profit of one and two-thirds cents a gallon.

This figure does not include taxes, salaries for owners and their families who work in production, or return on investments in land and equipment.

William Graham, president-elect of the Florida Dairy Assn., said that when taxes, salaries, etc., are figured in, "you'll find we are making very little, in fact, some of us are losing money."

Graham added that the audit was based on figures "six to eight months old." Since then, he said, "feed prices have gone up 5 1/2 per cent. Also, labor and equipment costs have gone up.

"Milk prices can't go anywhere but up if we're to stay in business."

H. N. Pownall, manager of Valdes Dairies, said distributors are working on a 10 per cent margin before expenses in this area, as compared with a national average of 15 1/2 per cent.

The report, by the Miami auditing firm of Abess, Morgan and Altman, was called "confusing" by Mrs. Esther Rogovin, co-chairman of the consumers emergency milk commission.

Morey Rayman, former co-chairman of the consumers group, also criticized the report for lack of information on land values.

Fred Ragland, acting chairman of the milk commission during the illness of C. Raymond Lee, said the report's only value to the commission is that it will be used as a key in price-setting if controls are returned. He declined to comment on the audit because "the commission hasn't studied it."

The report showed the average distributor sells pasteurized milk in a combined wholesale-retail operation at a profit before taxes of 2 1/2 cents a gallon.

CANDIDACY TOLD

Share The Night Before Christmas

Oyster Stew in a punch bowl serves the buffet table at Christmas Eve Supper.

On the night before Christmas... all thru the house... there's a warm wonderful spirit we love to share with nearest and dearest friends.

For hundreds of years since the first Christmas families from warm Jerusalem to the coldest corner of Norway have treasured Christmas Eve. This is the shining summit of each year. Many families, in countries round the world, attend a church service. Some folks invite friends in to decorate the tree... or sing carols.

International Traditions

Whatever the other activity, almost every home honors the tradition of celebrating Christmas Eve with a midnight supper. Many times the menu typifies one served in the native country of the family... such as Sweden's smorgasbord. The famous Polish supper runs from seven courses up to eleven. These include: Pickled herring; a hot soup (mushrooms or fish); baked fish with lemon-sauce; cabbage sauerkraut; fruit compote; poppy seed cake and a pudding or pastry; nuts and candies; coffee.

When you invite guests for supper this Christmas Eve, offer them a warming wonderful feast... that won't keep you in the kitchen. As they troop in from the salvery outdoors, they'll be glad to behold a punch bowl steaming with soup. Use one of the elegant new frozen soups... ideal for this joyous occasion. Probably most traditional for Christmas Eve is hot oyster stew. Or you could have the old-fashioned potato soup (now frozen)... or rich green pea with ham. Surround the soup with other holiday goodies like these:

Secretary Gray To Seek Advice

TALLAHASSEE (U)—Secretary of State R. A. Gray said Thursday he will seek the advice of legislators whether to spend $50,000 to provide access to the Capitol dome in view of a proposal to replace the aging center section of the building with an 11-story tower.

The proposed tower would cost an estimated 2 1/2 million dollars.

ACTRESS HAS ATTACK

LONDON (U)—Hollywood film star Ariene Dahl was rushed to a London hospital Wednesday for an emergency appendicitis operation. A hospital spokesman said she had suffered an "acute attack" but her condition since the surgery was satisfactory. She was working on a new film here.

For an unusual glowing holiday buffet centerpiece, make your own from your ring salad mold, a string of lights and a sparkling gold angel.

Simply clip your C-7 1/4 string of lights to the edge of the mold in an upright position. Fill container with sprays of green (no water, of course) and tiny shiny ornaments. Place a decorative angel, statue, or Santa in the center of the ring.

The 1935 Legislature appropriated the $50,000 to finance installation of an elevator or construction of a stairway leading from the second floor rotunda to the observation platform in the dome.

The only access to the dome now is a small, steep stairway for use by workmen.

Gray said Rep. Kenneth Ballinger of Leon County had advised him a proposal to rip out the more than 100-year-old center section of the capital and replace it with a modern 11-story tower which would provide additional space for state offices and legislative use.

The secretary of state said he wouldn't want to spend the $50,000 on a dome access if reconstruction of the Capitol is imminent. He said he planned to contact legislators to determine their views.

The center section of the Capitol, which would be supplanted by the tower under the Ballinger proposal, was completed in 1844.

Additions were made to the north and south ends of the building and the dome was erected in 1861-62.

East and west wings were added in 1921-22. The big north wing was the south wing was completed built in 1935-37.

Cheerless Holiday Is Even Gloomier For Sad Family

DENVER (U)—It already looked like a cheerless Christmas for Lloyd D. Cook and his wife Louvina Wednesday when they set out to buy gifts for their two children.

Cook, 42, a carpenter, lost his job Nov. 14. Bills were mounting, but 11-year-old Grover and blonde Donna Marie, 2, knew nothing of that.

The parents left their son to baby-sit with his sister and drove off. When they returned less than two hours later, their modest home swarmed with police and neighbors.

An officer whispered to Cook. Mrs. Cook raced toward the house, was held back briefly by three other policemen.

"Where is my baby? What have you done with my baby?" she demanded.

Someone told the 38-year-old mother her daughter was dead. Grover, playing with his father's pistol, had fired an accidental shot into the youngster's head as she lay in her crib.

His Davy Crockett shirt spotted with blood, Grover had frantically called his aunt, then ran a mile to a doctor's office. He returned home before his parents arrived.

Police took him to a parked car, and tried to console him.

An officer related the details to Mrs. Cook, sobbing and hysterical. Then she paused in her grief.

"He's just a boy," she cried. "He needs his mother."

Detective Clifford Stanley said the boy would be released to his parents' care.

Anonymous Donors Contribute Home

LEWISTON, Maine (U)—Anonymous donors imbued with the Christmas spirit last night gave millworker Julian A. Desrosiers, 28, his wife and six children a completely furnished and newly renovated six-room home. The family had been living in a two-room shack.

Gagne said, is enough only to provide the bare necessities.

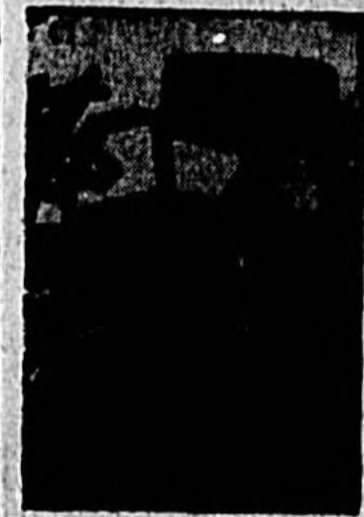

Gagne said he started a campaign only three weeks ago "and the response was astonishing." The Desrosiers children range in age from 2 to 8 years.

The key to the house was given the family by former Mayor Louis F. Gagne, editor of Le Messager, a French language newspaper.

The Desrosiers are expecting another child in two weeks. The father is a millhand whose pay,

Youth Can Discover Many Things

NEW YORK (A)—Curbstone comments by a Pavement Plato:

Youth is discovery, and the things youth may discover are adventure, friendship, sex, love, parenthood, death, money, boredom and faith.

The manner in which each individual makes all these separate discoveries of living must always be personal to him — though it be a stale tale in the story of human history.

On this day I would discuss the discovery of money.

First, let us consider what money is—or, as the cynic says, was.

Money is usually a medium of exchange and sometimes a measure of value.

How does a human being discover the value of money? To me it happened in this wise:

Scrolling down the pavement as a child I found a pocketbook containing about $65. I promptly divided the money with a friend who was with me—he was older, anyway, and could have taken it all from me.

The dough I had left made me the biggest guy in the neighborhood. I had what the older kids didn't have—cash in hand, for the first time in my life, cash beyond the simple avarice of childhood.

For 25 cents I bought up a triggerless real pistol, the pride of the block. I bought all the agate marbles I never had been able to win when knuckles were on the ground for kaseps.

I took all the kids for three blocks around to a free treat on me at the corner drug store. When they were stuffed with ice cream, we went to the afternoon movie. I bought the tickets, I bought the popcorn, I bought the candy.

Nobody who later came from Texas ever spent money more madly, had more fun, or spread more joy around—for less than $35. I was a real hero, at least until one of my ice cream and pop corn laden joy riders got sick with all the source of my wealth.

This brought me up front in the picture.

Well, my father was an honest man and doing all right at the time. He figured that the pocketbook contained somebody's pay money who needed it. People thought of things like that in those times.

He checked the newspapers until in the Kansas City Times he found a notice by the person who had lost the pocketbook. My father dug into his own pocket and paid it all back.

Then we had a real old-fashioned father and son heart-to-heart talk, during which I said nothing and dad took off his belt and put the belt to me in an area where he thought the memory would linger.

It still does, and I still recall the lesson I learned when I first discovered the importance of money.

Moral: You might as well earn money the hard way, because money you pick up easy will only cause you trouble at the end.

PLAYING AT BEING GROWN UP, favorite pastime of all youngsters is made wonderfully possible by Santa this year who features toys such as this Super Market check-out station. By South Bend Toy.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (A)—Henry Freney complained to police that when he fell asleep on a counter stool at a downtown chophouse, someone stole the shoes off his feet.

Demos Could Get Lively Action

WASHINGTON (A)—If the Democrats could just get a few more residential candidates to take off their sweaters and run out on the field, they'd have a pretty lively game going.

It may turn lively soon, and rough, too.

While the Democratic hopefuls are bucking the Republicans they are also knocking each other's heads together. One or more may land in the political infirmary before the party's convention blows the whistle and picks a candidate.

Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee are the only Democrats who have come right out and started running. They may have some company before convention next August.

New York's Gov. Averell Harriman says he's not an "active" candidate. But he acts like a man racing down the sidelines, hoping for a forward pass and yelling "Hey, fellas, look at me."

Two other governors — Ohio's Frank Lausche and Michigan's G. Mennen Williams — at the moment seem bothered by restraint but only to the point of not saying they're candidates. They're sure making sounds like candidates.

Lausche simply says he will be his state's "favorite son" candidate, which can be interpreted as meaning he won't stump the country for the nomination but would love to get it at the convention. Williams, like Harriman, is not bashful. Both have hit Stevenson over the head with a charge which, to some people, may seem as deadly as a balloon. They complain he wants to follow a moderate course.

But there are probably plenty who disagree with them if they think they could more aggressive or progressive than Stevenson. One thing is certain: they can't be sensationally different and expect their party's nomination.

There's a good reason: The Democrats at this point in history — a time of high prosperity when there is no public clamor for startling changes or innovations — are just about as moderate as the Republicans.

The "narrowness" of the recent elections shows the voters can't find much to choose between the two parties.

But for all his speeches, and he's made a number, Harriman is still talking in generalities. So is Kefauver. The senator's statement last Friday, announcing his candidacy, was a collection of generalities.

He may get specific later. Stevenson and Williams have already reached the specific, state, at least to the point of spelling out some plans a 12 1/2 per cent "delay" in deliveries for the first half of 1938, but said it hopes to make up these delays in the second half of the year.

ANPA said it had been advised the following companies are behind in newspaper deliveries — Abitibi Paper & Paper Co., International, St. Lawrence, Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co., Bowater, Price Bros., Powell River, Coosa River, Southland Paper Mills, and Great Northern.

On the price front, ANPA reported that St. Lawrence Corp. would make its increase in newspaper 4 per cent, effective Jan. 1, instead of the 5 1/2 per cent announced in October.

ANPA also stated that Coosa River Newspaper Co. has notified customers of reduced deliveries early in 1938. It said the company explained it would lose some production during the installation of new equipment from January through April.

In addition to these producers, Powell River Co. has reported it

Bowater Paper Co. is cutting, at least some of its customers, 10 per cent.

St. Lawrence Corp. will reduce shipments in 1938 by around 15 per cent. In addition, this company has told customers it will make up any tonnage which was not delivered under 1937 contracts.

Producers Inform Customers

NEW YORK (A)—Five major newspaper producers have informed customers they will cut back deliveries by 7 1/2 to 15 1/2 per cent at the start of the year, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. said Thursday.

The ANPA also reported that 10 companies are running from six to 22 days behind in deliveries of newspaper to U.S. publishers.

These developments come at a time when newspaper consumption is at a record high and the supply in the hands of U.S. publishers is at the lowest level since June, 1933.

Here is the picture on delivery cutbacks, as reported by ANPA: Great Northern Paper Co. is notifying its customers of a 13 1/2 per cent cut in deliveries, effective Jan. 1. There is no indication of how long the cut will be in effect. International Paper Co. is cutting deliveries 1 1/2 per cent from January through April and the rest of the year based on conditions at the time.

THRILLING INTRODUCTION TO THE ADULT WORLD is Junior's first gift of real, functioning electric railway equipment. Mother Welcomes Wearing Apparel

BABY BUGGY WHEELS CAN BE SELF-POWERED
If you think those plastic bowl covers with elasticized edges are handy merely for covering bowls, you've never tried this: keep four large ones in baby's carriage. Before you wheel the carriage in after your walk, slip a nice clean plastic cover over each wheel. No mud on the carpet, no tracks on the floors. Afterwards, just dip the covers into warm soapsuds, rinse, and hang up to dry. Then tuck them back into the carriage for the next outing.

FUR FOR CHRISTMAS
When only the very nicest gift will do, make it a gift of fur! Fur giving need not be expensive when so many delightful accessories such as clutch collars, paper pen collars, cuffs, belts, handbags, hats and suit scarfs are available in fine furs at moderate costs.

SWIFT WRAP IDEA
Instead of the traditional Christmas ribbon for wrapping gifts for gardeners, use raffia which can be used later as ties for flowers and shrubs. Use tight packages of seeds as decorations in place of bows.

Although the average young lad in his meanderings through Davy Crockett lands, outer space, the Wild West and his own particular land of dreams, may find it too mundane to wish for wearing apparel, most mothers welcome gifts of wearables for their growing boys.

In a variety as diversified as the gift selections for big brother or Dad, you can choose a host of fine togs for the subteen and teen lad.

Active playtimes invite weather-resistant jackets, sweaters and shirts. At-home times make robes, pajamas and slacks ever-welcome. Boys love denim jeans and plaid shirts. And, socks, slippers socks and belts are gifts that are all well-used by boys of all ages.

Geared to the boy's point of view are gloves, ski-type sweaters and any wearable keyed to the mood of his favorite hero Davy Crockett, or "Hoppy."

PUT FASHION AT HER FEET.
Here, handmade slippers combine the bright gleam of metal-Ne Laster with velvet.

Frankincense Used For Ills

Hobbyists Enjoy Presents

Music fan? Photo bug? Or, handy-with-the-tools man? If your particular guy is any one of these, then you've an exciting gift line-up from which to choose.

For the hi-fi fan there are wonderfully-sensitive recordings—jazz, classics and traditional music recorded in true fidelity—and sure to delight the music lover. For the man who is adding to or building a hi-fidelity set, then let your dealer suggest one of the many components that go into this hobby.

For the photo bug—from added equipment such as enlargers, viewers, developing supplies, gadget-bags, lights and others, the gift possibilities are numberless. For the movie camera photographer there are splicers, screens, reel containers and many others to please the most exacting.

From fine hand-tools to the most versatile of power tools, if your guy enjoys constructing things for the house, garden or for gifts, then shop the stocks and see what will thrill him most!

Cunningham To Be No. 1 Salesman

MIAMI (AP)—Beiggs Cunningham, wealthy West Palm Beach, Fla., sport car enthusiast, will become America's No. 1 Jaguar salesman next year.

On Jan. 1, Cunningham will become president of both the wholesale and retail companies of the Jaguar Cars North American Corp. in New York City, a subsidiary of Jaguar Cars, Ltd., of Coventry, England.

Until recently, he produced his own Cunningham sports cars at West Palm Beach. He has been the only American manufacturer to make a serious effort to challenge European supremacy on the world's race courses.

PRESENT WITH A FUTURE.
A U. S. Savings Bond is a present with a future—a gift that's sure to be appreciated this Christmas or at any time.

The gifts of frankincense and myrrh presented to the Infant Jesus carried both temporal and religious significance.

Frankincense was used by both the Egyptians and the Jews in their religious rites. Curative powers were attributed to it for the treatment of an amazing variety of ailments.

Myrrh was said to be an antidote for hemlock poisoning and a remedy for leprosy. Kings and queens used it to beautify and perfume themselves.

Mixed with water or wine and taken internally it was supposed to be at once a stimulant and sedative, a tonic and astringent. Historians tell us that frankincense was also burned to purify the air, and that to breathe the fragrance would "comfort and refresh the spirit"—much as smelling salts are used today.

Myrrh held a similar role of importance with the ancients. It was highly esteemed as an ointment and perfume, an ingredient of embalming oils.

Today many resins are referred to as myrrh, but "true" myrrh is a gum resin, product of Commiphora Myrrha, a small tree that grows in eastern Africa and Arabia. Long months were spent in gathering the myrrh and it had to be brought to Palestine by caravan over long and hazardous journeys.

No wonder then that frankincense and myrrh, significant of good health and religious favor, were chosen as fitting gifts for a King.

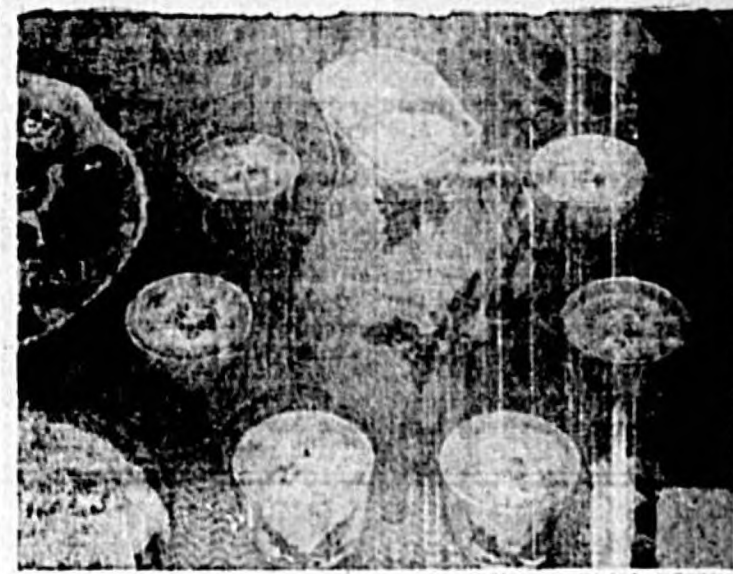

Most Rugged Men Have Favorites

Today the most rugged of men have their favorite toiletries and no longer is this a gift that a woman would pick out but a man would never use. There are gift toiletries to please every man at Christmas.

The shaving lotions, men's colognes, soaps and talcum powders are either faintly reminiscent of a pine woods or scented with other clean, cool, he-man fragrances. They all give that exhilaratingly fresh feeling and the final touch of perfection to a well-groomed man.

Chinese cooks often pair chicken and lobster. Try the combination in a salad with celery and well-seasoned mayonnaise. Serve on water cross and sprinkle with toasted almond.

Egg Nog Greet the Season

HOSPITALITY SIMMERS ON THE HEARTH! By Christmastime, it reaches a rolling boil. And every household bubbles with the merriment and the spice of the season.

Contributing its own unique excitement to the festivities is egg nog, one of the oldest of holiday refreshments, and still one of the best. Wherever it is served, it speaks hospitality to all comers, and speaks it with such mellowness and charm that no one can resist.

Happy for hosts, and visiting carolers, egg nog ready to serve comes into the market early—in time to lend an extra festive touch to Thanksgiving. It is available from that date through New Year's in market place or through regular milk delivery. The nog is spicy and sweet, rich and smooth, laced delicately with a non-alcoholic rum flavoring, ready to serve just as it comes from market or milk delivery, the traditional holiday drink makes a fine "ready-for-company" addition to the refrigerator shelf throughout the holiday season. Served in a festive pitcher or bowl, the luscious milk drink has a way of turning any simple buffet into a royal supper. For afternoon or evening refreshment, or casual guest or formal party, egg nog says "Welcome" in the best tradition of the holiday season! PHS

A slide projector makes a fine family Christmas gift and enables them to share their pictures with their friends.

A Gift for the Whole Family

Recently a friend told us about a Christmas custom in his house that we thought worth passing along to you. Every year one purchase is made as a gift "from the family to the family." It must be mutually agreed upon—something the whole family can enjoy together.

Over the years, many different items have been selected—everything from a new record-player to redecorating the rumpus room. But one of the favorites has been the miniature camera which was the "family gift" last year. This particular family has found it a wonderfully easy way to keep their "personal diary" up to date all year long—with color slides of vacations, travel, birthdays—as well as the holiday activities with which it began.

This year, quite logically, the "family gift" will be a projector so that they can enjoy their slides fully. They've been using a pocket viewer, but that, of course, isn't nearly so satisfactory as projecting the pictures on a screen, greatly enlarged.

The family didn't even think twice before making a choice of this year's special gift to themselves. And they plan a Christmas afternoon showing of last year's slides as a treat for the visiting friends and relatives—most of whom are in the pictures.

Photographic equipment is an excellent gift for a family to give to itself. There is nothing more precious than the memories it will preserve for each and every member of the family to enjoy for many years to come.

Homemaker Gift Task Comparatively Simple

Mr. or Mrs. Christmas Shopper! If you are shopping for a gift for a home-maker, then your task is comparatively simple. For in linens and domestics, china and glassware, silverplate and sterling, kitchen gadgets and gimmicks—the choosing is fabulous!

In sturdy pottery or fine china—dinner, lunch and breakfast sets are offered in wide variety. Match-up accessories are shown in trays, pitchers, pots and bowls.

For artists in the kitchen there are the porcelain-glazed iron cooking and serving pieces in gay colors of apple green, flame-red, delft blue and sun yellow. Or, select pots and pans in gleaming stainless steel with either copper tops or copper bottoms.

Bright new styles and colors make canister sets a glamour accessory to the kitchen. Copper and chrome, copper and pink, spun aluminums and a rainbow assortment of enamel colors are used in these pieces.

Check on her electrical servant line-up, and fill in with a steam and dry iron, a portable mixer, a grill and waffle, an automatic friger, an efficient toaster, an electric, skillet, mixer-blender, or a wonderful - versatile, rotisserie-broiler!

Perhaps she's wanted a new wall-style can opener, or a quick-as-a-wink potato cutter, or leucrusher or juicer. Perhaps her secret wish has been for a new meat and food chopper that needs no clamps.

Tray carts, step stools, utility cabinets, spice cabinets, assorted trays—and kitchen tools are all the little things that make big impressions at Christmas time.

Table cloths; casual or formal, towels, towel sets, fine sheets and cases, bath mats, pillows, blankets, spreads, tea towels, electric blankets—these are but a few of the many, many gift items offered with the home-maker in mind. Check your favorite stores you'll find fabulous gift variety!

Let the children help transform your front picture window into a cathedral-like stained glass masterpiece. Use bits of colored cellophane or flame-resistant crepe paper for the glass. Finish off with dark self-sticking tape for the leading. Let the room lights inside create a sunshiny glow on the "stained glass."

A White Christmas With Soapends

FESTIVE TOUCHES OF HOLLY look their prettiest as swung over a window or an archway—if you use thick rods to "freeze" the holly in little peaks of authentic-looking snow. Spread newspapers on the floor to catch chance drips. Add china and color, if you like, by sprinkling plastic glitter on the still-wet rods and tying a fat red bow in each corner.

THE HOLIDAY MAGIC OF SNOW may not be in your local weather forecast, but you can create your own white Christmas indoors, using a bowl of soap with a little warm water. A few drops of the egg beater makes soap so stiff and dry as marigolds. With this one ingredient and a wooden spoon, anybody can produce a snowy effect on pine boughs or Christmas trees. The children will love to help. Lightly frost the grocery with the "snow rods," from the base of the needles to the tips. It dries as it hardens, and stays beautiful throughout the holiday season. It's enough to make Jack Frost melt with envy!

Glowing Christmas Trees Make Handsome Home Addition

If you enjoy making your own holiday decorations, here's an idea for lighted Christmas trees that can be made in one evening. These attractive glowing trees make handsome additions as holiday buffet centerpieces, mantel or hallway arrangements. Use them singly or in pairs.

First step is to start with the base and stem used to hold the cones. Use styrofoam mounted on a six-inch wooden platform for the base. A "stem" of one-inch doweling may be used to hold the lights.

Notice in the sketch how a string of series C-8 Christmas lights is attached to the stem. Anchor them firmly with electrical tape.

Place lights one at the top, three in the center and four at the lower portion of the stem. This will enable you to place cones so that the light will have a three-dimensional effect. Position sockets close to the dowel but first, make sure the wiring is in good condition.

For the cones, use light weight copper which is available by the yard; double weight foil or wrapping paper. If you use paper, be sure it does not contact the bulbs.

To shape cones, draw a circle twice the diameter that you want for your finished cones. Then, cut along the radius of the cone and overlap the ends until your cone has the desired amount of flare. Remember, the height of your cones will depend on the diameter of your circle.

Pink Lights Are Strikingly New

If you're looking for something strikingly different this holiday season, be sure to try pink lights! Holiday pink bulbs against a white tree, highlighted with sparkling gold ornaments all add up to a dramatically different effect, say General Electric Christmas lighting specialists.

These new bulbs are available in two sizes, C-8 for series-type strings and C-7 1/2 for multiple burning strings of lights.

When decorating a white tree, look for the newer all-white cord and socket sets, say lighting specialists.

Even though these newest G-E Christmas lights may be hard to find this first year, they're worth any amount of searching if you enjoy new and unusual effects.

Here's a tip from General Electric lighting people that will give your Christmas tree a new lift. Attach your cord sets so that all bulbs are standing upright rather than lean and miss throughout the tree.

Official Yule Trees Not In Washington But In California

The nation's official Christmas tree is not located in Washington, D. C., but in General Grant national park, 64 miles due east of Fresno.

Some 267 feet high, the tree was designated as the nation's Christmas tree at high noon on Christmas day, 1925, and is one of the most celebrated in the United States.

Patriotic and devotional services are held beneath it each year. Heavy snowfalls sometimes cut down on the attendance, but usually a large number of visitors attend the ceremonies.

Let the children help transform your front picture window into a cathedral-like stained glass masterpiece. Use bits of colored cellophane or flame-resistant crepe paper for the glass. Finish off with dark self-sticking tape for the leading. Let the room lights inside create a sunshiny glow on the "stained glass."

... To all of you whom we have so enjoyed serving, we say thanks for your patronage—And, may everything that's bright and gay, Bless your household on Christmas Day!

Umm! County Style Fruit Cake So Good

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
COUNTRY-STYLE FRUIT CAKE takes on new airs. It is still made with salt pork, molasses, fruits and spices, but its recipe has been brought up to date. Bake the batter in two loaf pans or in three coffee tins; serve one of the cakes at home, give the other loaf or rounds to friends with a leaning toward the past!

COUNTRY FRUIT CAKE
Ingredients: 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup finely chopped salt pork, 1 cup light or dark molasses, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs (separated), 1 cup chopped seedless raisins, 1 cup chopped dates, 1/4 cup chopped glace fruit, 4 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon extract.

Method: Four boiling water over pork. Add molasses and sugar; beat well. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; stir into molasses mixture. Mix raisins, dates and glace fruit with 1/2 cup of the flour. Sift remaining 3 1/2 cups flour with baking soda, cloves cinnamon and ginger; add to molasses mixture; mix thoroughly. Stir in fruit and lemon extract. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Pour batter into 2 greased and floured loaf pans (each about 9 by 5 by 3 1/2 inches); or divide batter equally among 3 greased and floured 1-pint coffee cans. Bake in a slow (275 degrees) oven about 1 1/2 hours or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out cakes on rack to cool. Frost and decorate as desired.

Note: Make this cake ahead. If you like; when you want to serve it, reheat it in the top of a double boiler over boiling water. Accompany the slices with Holiday Hard Sauce.

HOLIDAY HARD SAUCE
Ingredients: 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar, 1 tablespoon light molasses, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.
Method: Beat butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in molasses and vanilla. Spread evenly in shallow pan and chill until firm. Use holiday cookie cutters to cut out shapes for topping fruit cake.

MIDDLE AGES CAROLING
During the Middle Ages, caroling and dancing usually was centered around a creche set up in the church. This became popular in the home by the 14th Century in Germany. A mother and her baby would be placed in the center of the room while friends sang and danced around them.

Take Care Sending Packages

Each year thousands of dollars worth of Christmas gifts arrive at post offices damaged or spoiled because they were not properly packed and wrapped for mailing.

To be sure that carelessness doesn't spoil a Christmas surprise for someone on your list, follow these basic rules when wrapping packages to be sent through the mail:

Use a double-faced corrugated cardboard as an extra wrap around all gift-wrapped boxes. Don't attempt to mail in thin cardboard boxes.

Pack fragile gifts in cotton or excelsior before boxing.

Insert a small card bearing the recipient's name and address and your return address in case the outside label should get damaged. Leave at least two inches between the merchandise and the container and pack it with crumpled paper or excelsior to guard against shock in handling.

Use heavy wrapping paper and strong cord for outside wrapping. Insure every gift package so that if it is lost or damaged the merchandise can be replaced.

Other timely tips on Christmas mailing include: Check with your local post office about weight on parcel post packages.

Remember that any sealed package must carry a notation that it can be opened for inspection.

Christmas Baked Ham

A traditional meat cut is baked smoked ham, dressed up in its holiday finery. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) to produce a tender, succulent baked ham. Decorate with pineapple and cherry garnish. A colorful plate everyone will admire.

Use Greeting Cards In Dressing Up Home

Compliment your friends on their choice of greeting cards by using them as part of your decorating indoors and outside, too. A festive holiday doorway can be made with your early collection of cards.

First, "tie" your front door with wide plastic or oilcloth streamers. Then, cover your cards with cellophane wrapping and staple or tack them to the door.

To make the most of your "gift-package" front door, General Electric holiday lighting specialists remind you to finish off with a 150-watt projector spotlight. Use an outdoor-type holder to hold the bulb. Place it several feet from your doorway (right or left) and aim the light on your arrangement. It will not only focus attention to our gift-package doorway, but also bring out the colors in the cards.

A Santa on your doorstep is a jolly way to greet holiday guests. Even if you're not artistic, you can easily create a Santa because General Electric artists designed it for people who can't draw straight lines.

First, cover your door with red oilcloth, plastic or color-fast material. Then, from sheets of cotton, cut out just the front band of Santa's cap, a ball for the tasse, cuffs for his sleeves, a rounded strip for the bottom of his coat and a pair of tops for his boots.

Don't forget his beard and two tiny tufts of cotton for eyebrows. Use buttons for eyes and larger ones down the front of his jacket. Secure these pieces to the red background. Only tops of Santa's boots are needed to complete the illusion.

Complete your doorway with a frame of colored outdoor Christmas lights and greens and a lighted candle wreath.

For highlights and sparkle, General Electric lighting specialists suggest that you place a pair of 150-watt projector floodlights about three feet from the door and aim them on Santa.

GLAMOR TOPS such as sweaters and blouses are at the top of her "Wanted for Christmas" list.

"Hark the Herald Angela Sing" was written on a Christmas morning by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) who was a Methodist minister in England, brother of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. The pealing of church bells inspired the writing of the carol.

LARGEST EPIPHANY SCENE IN THE WORLD EXISTS IN ROME

The largest epiphany scene in the world exists in Rome. Grouped around a huge crib are nine figures. The smallest, a page, is ten feet tall. The largest, St. Joseph and a stalwart Persian king, both are 16 feet. The child Jesus is held in the arms of Mary in the doorway of a simple home. The work was created by Lorenzo Ferri, a sculptor who has specialized for 30 years in religious works.

There's nothing new about a village under your Christmas tree, but when it's done with imagination it can please members of all generations.

General Electric lighting people suggest that you reserve one string of your Christmas lights for this job. Better use the multiple C-7 1/2 strings that allow one bulb to burn out without darkening the entire string.

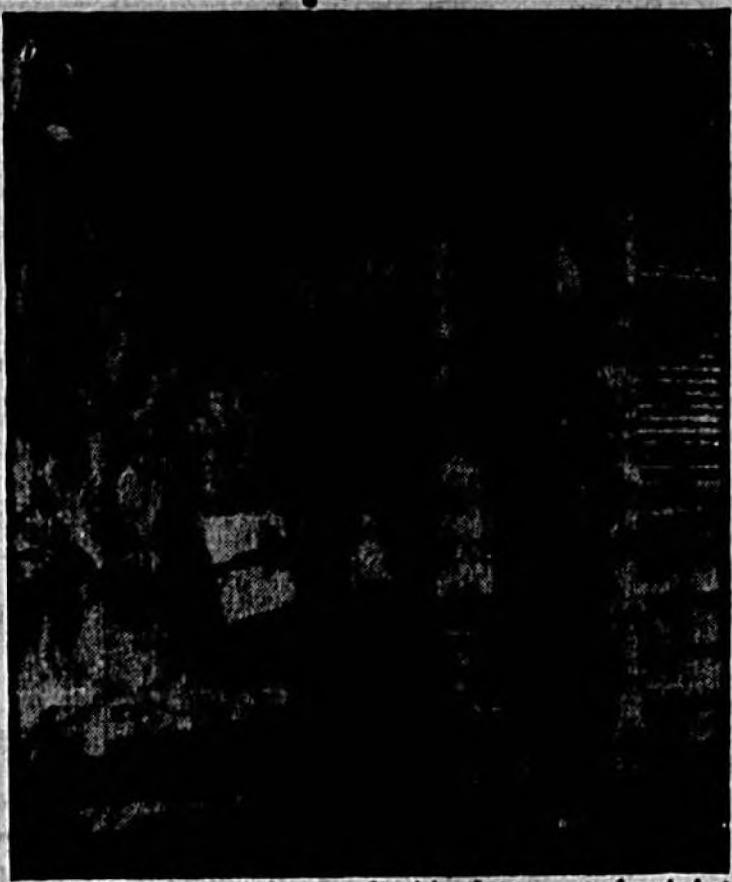

Use yellow bulbs for a warm glow inside the village houses, blue for the church and one white bulb attached to a lower branch to represent the Christmas Star.

Pictures like this record the true spirit of activity that to most of us is just as much a part of Christmas as the day itself.

A Picture Story of Christmas

Have you ever noticed how fast time seems to fly between Thanksgiving and Christmas? Time just speeds by because our minds and hearts are so filled with plans and preparations—with shopping and gift-wrapping—with thoughts of others, far and near.

Christmas has truly become a "season" rather than a "day." December 25th is merely the climax to weeks of anticipation and planning.

Since this has become the pattern of life for most of the families we know, we thought it a wise idea to remind you to do your Christmas shooting early.

To make your picture story of Christmas '36 as complete and true-to-life as possible, list some of the scenes you'll want to be sure of recording. Your notes might include such items as: making and addressing cards, Junior's hopeful letter to Santa, wrapping gifts, decorating the house, the postman delivering packages and mail, festive store windows and footweary shoppers, curstons business, bringing home the tree and decorating it, hanging the children's stockings, the carolers on Christmas Eve, etc.

And then, of course, you'll want some special notes for Christmas Day itself: youngsters opening gifts, waffles for breakfast, holiday callers, Christmas dinner complete with centerpieces and candlelight.

Ready with this outline of the more obvious activities, you'll be better prepared to catch the pictures that just "happen." And, speaking of preparedness—don't be caught short in your reserve stock of film and flashbulbs.

Don't wait until December 25th to open the shutter of your camera—do your Christmas shooting early and picture all the fun and excitement of the most magical season of the year!

Mistakes Shouldn't Be Risked

Don't risk disappointments on your important holiday pictures by using a hit-and-miss picture taking method. Instead, take advantage of the new carefully worked out formula for Triangle Lighting developed recently by General Electric photographic experts.

According to General Electric's photographic specialist, pictures as outstanding as impossible for even a beginner with a box camera when he uses Triangle Lighting.

There's nothing complicated about this new technique. All you need in addition to a solid support for your camera, are several Reflector Floodlights and spotlights which have built-in reflectors, and some clamp-on holders for them.

Setting up your pictures is easy, especially if you have one of the General Electric Triangle Lighting Folders which illustrates basic diagrams for Triangle Lighting so be sure to get one from your dealer when you stop for film.

Here are a few tips you will want to follow for your Christmas pictures. Place the subject near a non-distracting background. Set your camera on a solid support (a tripod or table) and place a Reflector Floodlamp at or near the camera lens.

Then, measure the distance from the lamp to the subject. Now, measure an equal distance at right angles to the camera and mark the spot with a handkerchief or coin.

Place a second Reflector Floodlight halfway along a line from the marker spot and the lamp at the camera. (This second light may be placed somewhat higher than the lamp at the camera.) Keep in mind that the first and second lamps should always be on the opposite sides of the camera whether the triangle is set up on the right or left of the camera.

For background light (to make the tree and youngsters stand out sharply, a third Reflector Floodlight was placed behind the tree, diagonally opposite the second lamp and an equal distance from the subject. Notice how this variation gives the picture depth and sparkle and a more realistic effect.

Exposure time should be set upon the lamp at the camera. For simple holding or box cameras be sure to use fast film with an exposure time of one-half to one and a half seconds.

Additional variations of the Triangle Lighting formula are pictured in the Triangle Lighting Folder available at all photographic stores.

Books Popular At Any Time With Kiddies

If you are still in doubt as to what to buy that favorite youngster—then, make it a fine book.

With so much interest devoted to whether "Johnny can or cannot read"—well, a child will settle down to reading, if the book selection tends to his current interest.

So, take your cue from the folk of a child's world, choose your books from subjects that delve into the pioneer days of Crockett and Daniel Boone, or Robin Hood (the sweetest T. V. hero) or books on outer space, tales of the wild west, etc. Never underestimate the child's ability to read a book that "looks adult."

Moreover, keep type lines and pictures centered in mind, too. Stories about dams, horses, adventure and mystery always find favor with the young set.

Gifts on the other hand, enjoy books about teachers, nurses, and family life—they too, will be stimulated with a gift of a book.

"GOOD LUCK PINE"
Little white pine, or white pine, is a popular English holiday tree in Shropshire, a mine you've always noticed "the look" of any visitor who came to the mine during Yuletide.

CHRISTMAS FEASTING
The Christmas feast, well-stuffed tables and turkeys, was boosted in Tudor England where meals often lasted eight or nine hours. To a host of trumpets, tremendous platters of food were brought into the banquet hall. The lord presided over the feast, sitting on a dais at one end of the hall.

THE SANFORD HERALD
Here's another idea from General Electric holiday lighting specialists for an easy way to spruce up black Christmas tree sockets. Bind sockets with new light-colored electrical tape. Wrap the tape wrong side too, and sprinkle the "sticky" side with silver or gold sparkles.

Remember a glad hand invites you to worship with us. The boy who was born in Bethlehem, N.J., whose mother found him greatly improved in his battle with further disease, a rare malady that seldom the bones. The boy was born in New York, two years ago and had been wearing a heavy cast on the lower half of his body. Although recovery is unusual, doctors now believe that the boy may walk again.

CHRISTMAS IN OUR HEARTS

"... And so in this way, my children, Christ was born in Bethlehem." But Christmas is more than the celebration of this event which happened long ago and far away. It is a present reality. Through the eyes of faith we see ourselves kneeling before the manger. We have come to adore our new-born King. Through the wonder of faith, the Christmas story becomes alive. The Christ Child is born in our hearts. The angels speak to us: "Behold I bring you tidings of great joy... For unto you is born this day in the City of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord!" Our Bethlehem today is our Church and Sunday School. Let us go and take our children to worship our new-born King.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Make Safety Head Your Christmas List

By Betty Shelton, Dodge Test Driver

Strange that so many Christmas shoppers should forget to include on their lists the most important gift of all—their own safety!

In the excitement of Christmas good cheer and good will, good common sense is often temporarily submerged beneath the holiday bustle and bustle.

What can cause this traditionally joyous season to be such a dangerous one for motorist and pedestrian? Let's call it "holiday" —that state of confusion brought about by the holiday spirit, frantic Christmas shopping, crowded streets and party-going.

Add the hazards of winter weather to December's early darkness and the stage is set for danger.

Pedestrians, during the rush and tension of Christmas shopping, can protect themselves by watching their step, and observing these simple safety rules:

1. Cross only at corners and use pedestrian crosswalks.
2. Never dart into traffic from between parked cars.
3. On rural highways always walk facing traffic.
4. Never carry packages or umbrellas in a manner that will obstruct your vision.
5. Be extra careful at night, especially if streets are wet or slippery.

Miss Shelton

The bustling holiday season leads to tensions, impatience and inattention in motorists as well as pedestrians.

If you plan to do your Christmas shopping by car, don't let your excitement over selecting the right gifts cause you to forget your safe driving habits. A few basic rules to remember are:

1. Don't window-shop while you drive. Park, get out on the right side, and then look.
2. Be sure you don't block your line of sight through the rear window. Don't pile packages on the back seats. Always scrape off the snow or ice from windshields and rear windows.
3. If you drive, don't drink.
4. Stay alert. Preoccupation with holiday plans weakens your defenses, diverts your safety control.
5. Reduce speed. This is your most important protection against holiday driving hazards.

December is a month for giving and receiving. In traffic, if you give the right of way to other drivers, you'll receive added years of safe driving.

Remember the slogan: "Don't give your life for Christmas."

No Tree Room? Transform Blind Into Decoration

No room for a Christmas tree? Then, here's a suggestion from General Electric holiday lighting specialists that you will want to keep in mind.

Transform a venetian blind into a "tree" by wrapping the slats with strips of dark green fire-resistant crepe paper. Arrange lights along the outline of the tree. Clip them in an upright position and conceal wires behind the slats. Decorate with tiny ornaments and arrange a table beneath the tree to hold gaily wrapped packages.

Try your indoor tree picture taking to include candid flash shots of holiday festivities including Christmas Eve, Christmas morning gift opening, holiday family dinners and New Year's Eve parties.

Last-Minute Tips On Holiday Lights

By Don Mohler, General Electric Photographic Lighting Specialist

Here are a few last-minute tips on taking indoor holiday pictures. When shooting indoors leave all room lights on. Even better results may be had by adding a floodbulb to give some detail of room surroundings.

When taking a picture of the Christmas tree indoors, try a ten-second exposure for the lights and then flash a flashbulb in the direction of the tree before the camera shutter closes. You may not get the exact image on the film that your eye sees but you can get an acceptable print in this way.

Stuffed Socks Are Versatile

The Christmas stocking stuffer is the most versatile gift in the world. It is certainly the answer to the Yule shopper with a small budget.

Put it in the Christmas stocking for members of the family.

THE BRIDE'S FIRST dinnerware set, a perfect Christmas pre-wedding gift. Shown here Carrara Modern by Iroquois China.

WITH ALL THE FITTINGS—a new "swivel base" vacuum cleaner would make mon a wonderful gift. This one by Westinghouse.

Wrap it in unusual packaging for outsiders.

If you're looking for ideas, run the gamut of gifts in the bracket you can afford. Glamor types deserve a gift of imagination even though it is inexpensive. Tag for their small perfume atomizers. One new one may be refilled each time with a dram of perfume. Or give her a gold plated eyelash curler and tweezers, not expensive but different. A powder or lipstick brush will appeal to her no doubt. Ditto a compact. Purse accessories from pill box to comb case, leather covered or in silver and gold plate are sure-fire hits. Good nail scissors or cologne are welcome too. Ditto eye makeup compact.

Bath sponges and plastic bottles will appeal to day travelers. Soap sachet, bath powder, bath oil and bath salts are other good bets in the small-gift category.

Baby sitter and other young friends will enjoy hand lotion perhaps in a dispenser bottle, hair ornament, powder, compact, face lotion. Soap in interesting shapes also appeals to the sub-deb set.

You can make some interesting gift packages by wrapping your little presents by wrapping your special ornament to it. Take a few tiny Christmas ornaments and a couple of pine cones, tie them together to attach to the package. A little angel might be made out of a celluloid ball painted—with cotton hair, aluminum foil wings. Or take some colored straws, fasten them to your ribbon to make an interesting pom-pom.

You can find interesting ideas to perk up your small package. It is always more fun to have an attractively wrapped package even if the gift is a diamond ring. It is fun to guess for a few minutes before the gift is opened.

You Could Create Interesting Shadow

You can create interesting shadow patterns with feathery pine or other holiday greens.

According to General Electric holiday lighting specialists, the secret lies in using a clear bulb—either 25-watt F-15 or 25-watt T-10 (tubular). Both bulbs have standard sockets so they may be used with extension cord sockets.

Conceal the bulb and socket behind a table or stand. Be sure, however, that the cords are not touching water.

FINGER SAYER
UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Sanna D. Black, extension home management specialist at Pennsylvania State University, warns housewives to respect the whirling blades of electric mixers. Use a rubber paddle or plunger, not the hand, to feed food in the device, she says.

Ever serve spicy prunes with cold meats? Delicious with ham and smoked tongue! Just cook the prunes with stick cinnamon, whole cloves and thinly sliced lemon slices. Add sugar to taste and refrigerate overnight to allow flavors to develop.

Little Basketball Man Among Giants 'Pops 'Em Thru'

By BEN OLAV
The Associated Press

Dynamic Robin Freeman, a little man among basketball's giants, is poppin' 'em through the basket at a pace that could put him among the game's all-time scoring leaders.

The 5-10 All America from Ohio State has whipped home 241 points in seven games for an average of 34.4 points a game.

In one of the outstanding performances on last night's card, Freeman tallied 34 points as Ohio State walloped Washington's Huskies 94-73. The victory was the Buckeyes' sixth against a lone loss to eighth-ranked Vanderbilt. This prolific point production was nothing new for Freeman. Last year he reached an average of 31.5 in 13 games before he was sidelined for the season with injuries and illness. At that, his game average was the fourth highest on record.

The all-time standard is held by Frank Selvy of Furman, who hit for 41.7 points a game two years ago. Darrell Floyd, also of Furman, is next with 33.9 followed by Dick Wilkinson of Virginia with 32.1.

Floyd was tops last season. Only Brigham Young among the nation's top 10 teams saw action last night and the Cougars were set back for the second straight night, this time by Wake Forest 86-80.

Wake Forest led 49-38 at half time and breezed in behind the shooting of Lowell (Lefty) Davis, who racked up 30 points. Brigham Young, ranked fifth in the last Associated Press poll, lost to North Carolina State Wednesday night.

Manhattan pulled a major upset by whipping 11th-rated George Washington 71-63 in the first game of a Madison Square Garden double-header. Joe Holup scored 31 points for the Colonials but Manhattan wrapped it up by connecting for 10 straight points in the final three minutes. Connecticut overcame New York University 90-82 in the second game of the twin bill.

Indiana fought off Drake's challenge in the second half to record an 82-75 victory. The Hoosiers led by two points at halftime, but fell behind by five after eight minutes of the second half. A field goal and free throw, however, in the final minute gave Indiana the victory. The Hoosiers were paced by Wally Choice's 30 points.

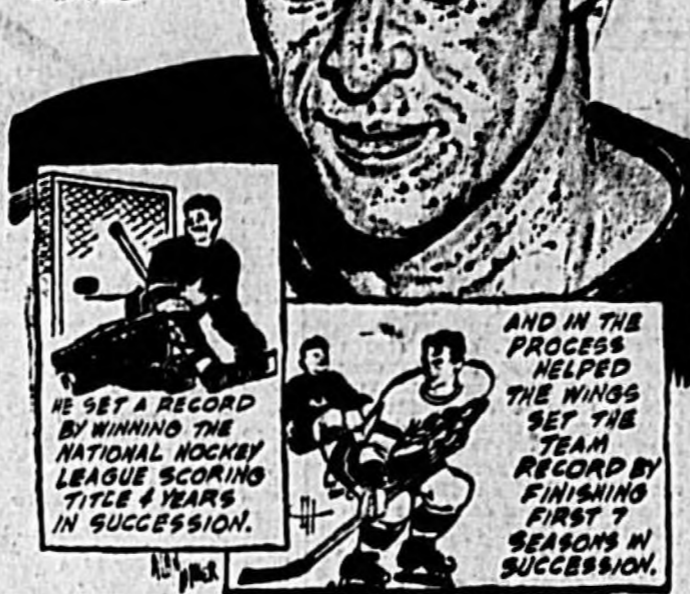

Breaking out of a 34-36 halftime deadlock, Miami of Florida nipped Bradley 80-73 on the strength of Gene Stage's 26 points.

Jim Krebs bucketed 24 points in leading Southern Methodist to an 85-67 triumph over Wichita.

Totals for the tournament will be based on combined scores less full combined handicaps with attested handicaps from the home pro.

Connie Mack Boasts 93rd Birthday Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Connie Mack, born during the Civil War when baseball was but a twinkle on the American horizon, is 93 today.

And for the Grand Old Man himself it was a happy day indeed. Several thousand telegrams and letters have poured in from friends and well-wishers, young and old, who love the sport in which Mack, born Cornelius J. McGillicuddy, was a pioneer.

Some of the greetings came yesterday when Mack celebrated the big day at the suburban Bryn Mawr home of one of his sons, Roy. The festivities took place there to permit Mack to mark the occasion with newsmen and photographers.

Just three days ago Mack left Presbyterian Hospital after a checkup. He had fractured his hip in a fall 2 1/2 months ago. His physician said that injury and the fracture from another fall are mending well.

Mack managed the Philadelphia Athletics for 50 years and won nine league pennants and five World Series before the A's departed for Kansas City.

There was a twinkle in his eyes yesterday — he still has a magic memory for names — when a card arrived from his bat boy of 50 years ago, Fred Haynes, of Los Angeles.

A greeting came from Bobby Shantz, now with Kansas City and the last of Connie's incredible list of great southpaw pitchers. There also was a card signed by the entire class of School No. 10, Detroit, and another from the Board of Aldermen of North Brookfield, Mass., an area that Mack left in 1908.

When it came to blowing out the candles on the big birthday cake topped by a white elephant, the symbol of the A's, Connie signaled to his son Roy for assistance.

As his son helped, Connie looked up at the press photographers and sevenses, the quiver of a smile playing across his lips.

"God bless you all," he said, "and merry Christmas, merry Christmas everybody."

Contestants will tee off from 9:30 to 11 o'clock Monday morning with two divisions of low net and low gross.

Browns-Rams Championship Tilt Could Wind Up Pretty Explosive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Cleveland Brown-Los Angeles Ram professional championship game on Monday could well be another explosive affair, with it up to quarterbacks, Otto Graham of the champion Browns and Norm Van Brocklin of the Rams, to set off the fireworks.

The Ram-Cleveland struggle in the cold at Cleveland in 1954 was a thriller, although it was Bob Waterfield steering the Rams that year, and the 1961 return match for the title here was another dilly.

Lou Groza and his gold plated toe decided the matter in the final 28 seconds of the 1959 battle, his field goal giving the Browns a 34-28 decision.

But it was Graham and his passing and running who led the charge upfield to give Groza his opportunity.

North-South Squads Are Tapering Off

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Players from the North and the South began tapering off in training today for their annual meeting in the Shrine's all-star charity football game in the Orange Bowl Monday night.

Both squads planned to work on defense today to counteract expected passing attacks. Tomorrow's light practice will conclude preparations for the game.

"Several of our boys are going to major in defense," said South Coach Wally Butts, of Georgia. "However, we are going to have to use every man both ways during the game. Some are just going to play one way more than the other."

"The man we hope to have in there as much as possible on defense is that linebacker from Florida, Steve Delatorre," said Rex Enright of South Carolina, co-coach of the South. "He's not big at 185, but that boy loves to tackle."

Three Army players arrived from West Point early yesterday and brought smiles to North coaches Bernie Crimmins of Indiana and Art Lewis of West Virginia. Don Hollender, Pat Uebel and Ralph Chesnut were the late arrivals.

Hollender will be facing his rival of a year ago—Ron Beagle of Navy. Hollender will play right end for the Yankees and Beagle will start at left end for the Rebels.

Pat Biscaglia of Notre Dame and Freddy Wyzant of West Virginia were named co-captains of the North squad, while Harold Burnine of Missouri and George Welsh of Navy will co-captain the South.

Game time is 8:15 p.m. (EST).

Eastern Debut Set By Baby Vasquez

NEW YORK (AP)—Baby Vasquez, Mexico's lightweight champion and unbeaten in his last 12 fights, makes his eastern debut tonight as a 4-1 underdog to contender Frankie Ryff of New York in Madison Square Garden.

The 10-rounder will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast (NBC-TV, radio, 10 p.m., EST).

An amateur bull fighter turned pro fighter, the 24-year-old Mexican has a good 25-0-1 won-lost-draw record for 8 1/2 years of battling for cash.

If he can upset the fast moving, speedy punching New Yorker, Baby will see plenty of action hereabouts.

Ryff, a rangy, 24-year old boxer puncher, was chosen "rookie of the year" for 1954. His record is 18-1.

3-Family Apartment Goes Up In Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — Two children and two adults burned to death yesterday in an early morning fire in an eight-family apartment building in Brooklyn.

Firemen said the blaze was set off by a cigarette dropped into a wastepaper basket full of Christmas wrappings.

Among those dead was 82-year-old Margaret Murphy, who lived in a third-floor apartment. Frightened by the height, she refused to descend a fire escape.

Also killed were Mrs. Eileen West, 22, and her daughters Ruth, 4, and Joyce, 4, who were trapped by flames in their fourth floor apartment.

Ten persons were carried down by ladders, mostly from the third floor of the building. Among them was a crippled, 13-year-old girl, Julia Hynes.

Need a quick luncheon salad? Dice canned luncheon meat and hard-cook some eggs. Mix the luncheon meat with diced celery and mayonnaise and spoon into lettuce cups; garnish with sliced egg and a whisk of paprika or minced parsley.

They Came To The Party, Too

The Thomas family, who are the only wintertime residents of Government Park, Ontario, Canada, a fishing camp on Cedar Lake in Algonquin Park along the Trans-Continental Line of the Canadian National Railways, set up their Yuletide Christmas tree, complete with lights and tinsel, on the back porch. Two young deer, whose mother was a pet of the Thomas' after they had saved her from a pack of wolves when she was a helpless fawn, attracted by the colored lights, invited themselves to the Christmas party. Anticipating they could be strangled, a "trap" was set to flash a bulb and trip a camera so the deer could take their own picture. The camera caught one of the curious animals, minus an antler apparently lost in an encounter with a tree or another of his kind, sniffing the decorations as his twin-antlered brother looks on.

Recent Change Is Made In Air Force Enlistment Policy

All non-commissioned officers (Sergeants) discharged from the Armed Forces who stay out of service more than 90 days before re-enlisting will now lose title to their permanent grade, Sergeant Ralph C. Bryant local Air Force Recruiter for this area announced today.

A recent change in the Air Force's enlistment policy states that no prior-serviceman staying out of the service more than 90 days will be enlisted in a permanent grade higher than Airman First Class even though he qualifies for a higher temporary grade based on his prior rank at time of discharge and the critical skills needed by the Air Force.

This new ruling, according to Sgt. Bryant is designed to protect NCO's who re-enlist immediately or within the 90 day period. Until now, men with over the 90-day break, were given their old permanent grade as well as their old temporary grade if they held skills valuable to the service.

Sgt. Bryant stated that the veteran who goes beyond the 90-days has several disadvantages. He takes a chance on getting his former temporary grade back (depending on whether his skill is needed). Then under the new policy, he can expect no higher than a permanent grade of Airman First Class. And finally, he will lose credit for any time in grade he may have by taking his date of rank from the date of enlistment. In addition, the man with a break in service also loses out on the lucrative re-enlistment bonus and some of the assignment-of-choice benefits afforded to an immediate re-enlistee.

Now the rules more clearly reward the man who re-enlists within the shorter period. In most cases he will get both his permanent and temporary grade back and retain the same dates of rank at time of discharge.

Put Yule Cards on 'Peg-Board'

Two or three hinged-together Masonite "Peg-Board" panels make a delightful, easy-to-use display area for the outstanding Christmas cards brought by the mailman. Ribbons tied through the holes hold the hook racks together. Gift tags are used to support the cards. The perforated panels, already painted, may be purchased, or you can make and decorate your own, cutting them from a larger panel. The "Peg-Board" panels shown are 20 by 23 inches.

Revolutionary Unit Of Regular Army Comes Into Being

A completely new and revolutionary branch of the Regular Army has come into being with the opening of ARAACOM, the Army Antiaircraft Command, a modern version of the Coastal Artillery Units of World Wars I and II, it was announced today by M/Sgt. Jacobsen the local Army recruiter.

Designed to protect cities and coasts with the latest and most modern defensive weapons, such as the Nike guided missile, ARAACOM has its headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. The larger part of the complex training in the intricate "Space Age" weapons is given at the Army's special Guided Missile and Antiaircraft Training Center, Fort Bliss, Texas and at the Signal Corps Center, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

With electronics and guided missiles looming as the "Field of the Future" both in military and civilian career fields, the establishment of ARAACOM may be the training ground for many of the pioneers of tomorrow in the missile and electronic fields.

To fill its needs in this new outfit the Regular Army has opened its doors to men who are eager to get in on the ground floor of what truly appears to be the field of the future. In addition to guaranteeing young eligibles direct assignment into ARAACOM, there are many courses in electronics available that from the actual firing and guiding of the missiles to procurement and maintenance of the multitudinous components that make up the dreaded missiles.

Qualifications for assignment to this new and highly technical branch of the Regular Army are listed as: ages 17 thru 34, United States Citizen, and pass the necessarily high mental and physical examinations. Interested young men who would like additional information about this new and revolutionary branch of the Regular Army are invited to visit the Army recruiter, at the Sanford Post Office on Monday and Wednesday.

Here's a holiday centerpiece idea that you can use over and over again this winter.

For a festive winter skating scene, all you need is a string of Christmas lights, a shallow box, pipe cleaners, and scraps of colored cloth.

General Electric lighting specialists suggest that you follow these simple steps for your own lighted skating scene.

Use a shallow box, about 8x12 inches, lined with asbestos to protect your table top. Then, arrange a string of white Christmas lights in the box, taping them firmly so that the bulbs do not contact the box.

For the "lid," use a 9 x 12 piece of opal glass or some equally translucent material. Bank the edges of the box with spun glass or angel hair to simulate snow.

Then, fashion lively skating figures from pipe cleaners. Dress them in bright bits of wool or yarn from your scrapbag. Place them on their "pond" and surround with half a dozen miniature artificial trees.

Nehru Tells India Of Note To U. S.

NEW DELHI, 1-24 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told the Indian Parliament yesterday his government has sent a note to the United States about Secretary of State Dulles' joint statement on Portuguese India with Portuguese Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha.

Nehru did not disclose the contents of the note. Foreign Ministry sources said it "strongly expressed" India's reaction to the Dulles-Cunha statement but was not actually a protest.

The statement, made during Cunha's recent visit to Washington, angered Indians because it referred to Portugal's small territories on the west coast of India as "Portuguese provinces." To the Indians this constituted U. S. opposition to India's demand that Portugal give up the colonies.

Appointment Block Of Court Campbell Denied By Cramer

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Rep. William C. Cramer has denied reports he blocked appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission of Courtney Campbell, whom Cramer defeated in 1954 for reelection to Congress from Florida's 1st District.

The St. Petersburg Times reported yesterday that Cramer, a Republican, said he did not know there was an ICC vacancy to be filled, that he would agree to appointment of a qualified man regardless of party and that he considered Campbell a qualified man and his good friend.

Times reporter Paul MacAlester said he then asked Sen. Spessard L. Holland about the reports, and was told Holland's Washington office was advised by Sherman Adams, aide to President Eisenhower, that "there was too much objection from the (first) district and the congressman of that district" to Campbell's appointment.

Pineapple comes in a dietetic pack. You can have the pineapple in tidbits or sliced. The buffet-size can of tidbits (9 ounces) will give you two-thirds cup of drained fruit and one-half cup of juice. The sliced pineapple comes in a No. 3 can (1 pound and four ounces) and gives 10 slices and two-thirds cup of juice.

Low Calorie Treat For Christmas

Christmas is the season when everything should be a little special. The house looks especially cheerful, the table sparkling with your prettiest china and silver, and the kitchen provides extra special treats for Christmas eating.

With the whole house in a happy hubbub, isn't it a relief to find a few wonderful recipes for holiday eating that can be made in a half hour? This attractive molded Cranberry Star Salad can be "cooked" right in the refrigerator. (You can make it a day ahead, too.)

What's more, it will especially please all weight-watchers in the family. Each serving contains just 96 calories, all because Sucaryl, the new improved non-calorie sweetener, does the sweetening job. If you have weighty problems in your family, this improved low-calorie sweetener can be a big help in all your cooking and baking. Sucaryl has a true sugar-like sweetness and can be used anywhere that you'd normally use sugar. And you can't taste the difference.

Cranberry Star Salad

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons orange rind
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons Sucaryl solution or 96 Sucaryl tablets

1 cup pineapple juice (or water)
4 cups raw cranberries, coarsely ground (1 lb.)
2 medium apples, thinly chopped
1 cup finely chopped celery

Mix gelatin with lemon and orange juice. Add rind, salt and Sucaryl. Set aside. Heat pineapple juice to boiling. Remove from heat. Add gelatin mixture, stirring until dissolved. Add hot liquid to cranberries, apples and celery. Stir until well mixed. Pour into oiled 6-cup mold. Chill 6 hours or overnight. To serve, unmold and garnish with white grapes.

Makes 12 servings. Each serving contains 96 CALORIES, 2 grams protein, 0.4 gram fat, 12.8 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 130 CALORIES.

Santa Is On His Way Again

Editors Note: "Will Santa Claus really come to our house?" That is the most anxious question in America today. It is answered in the following column, written for parents to read aloud to their children. Since its first appearance in 1948, it has become a scrapbook favorite in many homes.

By HAL BOYLE
NORTH POLE (A—We're off!) Santa Claus is on his way at last! The jolly old Saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tomorrow night.

The northern lights switched on to a clear steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:
"We are clearing all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go as fast as you like. Good luck!"

And Santa needed that wide clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was piled so high with gifts it overflowed. It looked like a flying haystack as it raced through the crisp cold air.

"Oh, dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope some of these presents fall out and bean some poor innocent rabbit down below. I believe this must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" Donder to Vixen. "He's only riding in that sled. We have to pull it." Vixen laughed so hard the bells on his harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, putting a little because he has gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"Here, here, get out of the way, please," said Santa Claus importantly. Then he said, surprised: "Why what are you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking for Florida. Have you seen it anywhere?" "Climb aboard, climb aboard," boomed Santa. "I'll drop you off there. But I must say this is the first time I ever picked up three hitchhikers wearing tuxedos."

Just then Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper. "You almost forgot your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa. "I don't need it. This year I'm going to give a present to every little boy and girl, good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. I'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old scold."

Santa stood up to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But then he heard a small voice crying: "Wait, please wait."
It was Chubby, Santa's favorite little elf. The other elves gasped about Chubby and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small shiny figure.
"What's this? What's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."
"It is only my present to 't' world," said Chubby. "I made it at night in my room—all by myself."
Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angle with butterfly wings and a robe of purest white. In her hand the angel held a small magic wand.

"It is only my present to the plained Chubby."
"Why, Chubby!" said Santa. "This is better than all the other gifts put together. I'll see that your angel wings her wand for one day at least over every home in the land."
And he picked up Chubby and gave her a big white-toothed grin as her wheel. Then he picked up his long whip again and cracked it sharply in the frosty air.

"Ho, ho, ho, ho! Here we go!" he roared. "Ho, ho, ho! Here we go!"

The eight reindeer leaped forward and the big sled began sliding through the snow. Faster, faster, faster, faster—and then they were off the ground and into the air.

Santa was on his way. And tomorrow night, if you go to bed, he will come to your house, wherever you are.

Happy Yuletide Predicted—For U.S. Check Crooks

As the banks close on Dec. 26, check crooks are expected to make their last effort to cash their checks. The Federal Reserve Board has predicted that check cashing activity will be at an all-time high during the next six to eight weeks, predicts check fraud investigator for The Todd Company, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., Charles B. Adams.

AD cash losses by merchants and the general public in many parts of the country will nearly double during the next six to eight weeks, according to George W. Adams, check fraud investigator for The Todd Company, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., manufacturer of protected checks.

Adams bases his prediction upon documented evidence that forgers, mail box thieves, and other bad check artists greatly step up their activity during the pre-holiday period, when people are extra busy with their Christmas shopping and other holiday chores.

1. Don't cash checks for amounts considerably more than the amount of the bill. If a cashier finds a check is for more than the amount of the bill or less, take a second hard look at the check. Make sure it is the check of an existing person or concern, and that it is drawn on an existing bank. Completely fictitious checks are top favorites with check artists.

2. Be sure that the checks you use are protected checks, which cannot be successfully altered with ink eraser or pressure. One type of protected check flashes hundreds of previously invisible reproductions of the word "read" when ink eraser is applied to the surface.

3. You can assure yourself of additional protection for your own checks by using a mechanical checkwriter and signer in preparing them. Machines which shred the amount indelibly into the fibres of the check and which print a (multicolored, protected facsimile) signature, "handwritten" check crooks by making it virtually impossible for them to raise or alter your check.

4. Beware of out-of-town checks, unless you are certain of the identity of the person presenting the check for cashing, and of the check's validity.

5. Be extra careful when cashing checks out of business hours, or after banks are closed. These are favorite times for check crooks to operate.

6. Don't cash bank counter checks. Anyone can pick up all he wants. They are designed for use only in the banks issuing them.

7. Don't cash checks for juveniles. They are not legally responsible and often are used as "runners" for check crook gangs.

8. When a check is presented with the endorsement already written, ask the presenter to endorse it again in your presence, and his address. Then check the address.

45. Be extra careful when cashing checks out of business hours, or after banks are closed. These are favorite times for check crooks to operate.

46. Don't cash bank counter checks. Anyone can pick up all he wants. They are designed for use only in the banks issuing them.

47. Don't cash checks for juveniles. They are not legally responsible and often are used as "runners" for check crook gangs.

Silver, Gold To Be Theme Of Herlong Open House, Tea

Silver and gold could be the theme for what will probably be the happiest Christmas ever celebrated by the Herlong family.

On Dec. 23 in Leesburg, the Congressman, A. S. Jr., and his wife Miss Alice, will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary, while his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Sr., will celebrate their 50th anniversary. (Actually, they fall on separate days. A. S. Sr.'s is on the 27th).

A huge reception and tea is planned at the Herlong family home at Shore Acres on Lake Griffin from 2 p.m. to 6 o'clock Dec. 27. The four Herlong sons, Fred, Sydney, Byron and James, will be there with their wives and children. There is only one great grand child in the family up to now: Pat Sydney Pattillo, grandchild of Syd and Mary Alice and son of "Little" Mary Alice and Pat Pattillo, of Ocala.

A well known pleasantly among the Congressman's colleagues in Washington is to call his grandson his "great" grandson — "great meaning wonderful" they say.

'Mama' Santa Visits Children At League Affair

Bright-eyed children, carols, stories, "Mama" Santa Claus, gifts, and refreshments highlighted the lovely Christmas Party given by members of the Sanford Story League at the Episcopal Parish House Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. C. C. Welsh as program chairman, extended greetings to the 75 children and adults in attendance. Mrs. Russell Trench gave a beautiful interpretation of the Christmas Story from St. Luke. This was followed by group singing of "Away In a Manger" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." Mrs. W. L. Roche told the story of "The Shepherd Who Did Not Go," from Gladys Mary Talbot's book, "40 Stories for You to Tell." Children's voices were again heard as they sang "Here Comes Santa Claus" and "Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer" and "Up On the Housetop."

Mrs. Welsh told the unforgettable story of the "Christmas Cherries" by Elizabeth Janet Grey. Girls from the Grammar School Glee Club with Allison Lee as pianist gave a delightful interpretation of "The Night Before Christmas." They used as an encore "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," "Mama" Santa with a bag of gifts made her appearance and the youngsters sang a request number for her "Jolly Ole St. Nicholas" and "Round and Round the Christmas Tree" dancing as they sang.

Gifts were given to the children as they paraded past "Mama" Santa. Decorations and refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Snyder assisted by Mrs. Maybelle Brown, Mrs. Ruth Metzler and Mrs. O. E. White. The parish house stage was decorated with a large Christmas tree, masses of Brazilian pepper and candles. The refreshment table overlaid with white linen depicted a Santa Claus scene. Large peppermint sticks, clustered at the bases with red berries and leaves, were used as candles. Holiday punch, candy, Santa, tree, star and fruit ball cookies were served.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

TURKEY a Sunday dinner recipe I'll that will go straight to the hearts (not to mention the stomachs) of the men in your family. It's for a mixed grill, combining turkey, lamb chops, bacon, sausage, omelette, mushrooms and peas, and is suggested by the A&P Service for Home-makers.

For four servings cut stems from four large mushrooms, and reserve stems for other use. Wipe mushrooms with damp cloth and put, pointed side down, on rack on broiler pan. Put four small hick sausages and four slices bacon on rack with mushrooms. Wash four lamb kidneys; split and remove fat and membrane with scissors. Arrange, split side up, on rack. Melt quarter cup butter or margarine in small saucepan, and brush some on kidneys and mushrooms. Broil under medium heat about four inches from heat, turning once as they brown and brushing kidneys and mushrooms again with butter. Sprinkle a little onion salt on mushrooms, salt and pepper on kidneys.

As soon as done remove with spoon to a warm platter and cover with damp cloth. Cut four slices bread, toast and cut in half diagonally. Put in a warm place. New sausage eight small red lamb chops on broiler rack and broil under medium heat, five inches below the heat, seven or eight minutes on each side. When chops are turned, put four small tomato halves on rack with chops. Broil with chops. When chops and tomatoes are done, season. Serve with your favorite bread and butter.

Dark Intent

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

SHANDY admitted Mrs. Thomas, who had hung a pole coat over a cotton nightgown and tied a scarf over her hair whose lumps indicated pin curls beneath.

"Where's Doc?" she demanded.

"Upstairs," Shandy said. "He's all right, Mrs. Thomas. 'I'll take you up."

For a long moment she looked at Carol in the blue satin negligee, then she turned and went up the stairs without a word, moving Shandy, thought, like nemesis.

Unexpectingly Carol ran after her, caught her arm. "Helen, we'll do everything we can to make him comfortable, you know."

The doctor's wife shook off her hand. "You killed Roger," she said deliberately, "so you'd be free to get Doc. I'm not blind. I've watched you for months and I know as well as you did that you could wrap the poor bearded fool around your finger. But he's my husband. Before I let you have him I'll tell everyone you killed Roger Brindle. I intended to wait to let Doc come to his senses. Though I did think I'd write to inform Jane Brindle. I duty to her that there was something mighty queer about Roger's death."

"So that's why she came," Carol cried. "Helen, you left that accursed mouse letter to me when you and Doc came to take me to the services."

"I thought I might stop you from thinking you'd got away with it," Mrs. Thomas pushed Carol aside and went up to the room where Ethel stood waiting.

Carol came slowly down the stairs to Shandy. "What happened to Roger?" she demanded. "At first I thought it was suicide. And I couldn't bear to have anyone know that he hadn't been happy with me. Of course, I know it wasn't his heart. The place was full of gas. But when I knew he'd been killed I thought you did it."

"Revenge?" he asked her. "Jealousy? Desire for you? No, Carol. Neither you nor Roger mattered enough."

"Do you like Mrs. Fleming better?"

"I like her better. Carol. Do you have a black velvet negligee? Shandy, you're crazy. What on earth—"

"When did you wear it last?"

"I have no idea. Months ago, I suppose."

"What did you do with it?"

"It was in the hamper. I gave it to Beulah Kibbee. There was so much material I thought she could turn it into a dress or something."

Carol looked at him, her mouth partly open. At last she said, "You didn't kill Roger. You didn't like me enough." When he made no reply she went on, groping her way. "But someone killed him and tried to kill Mrs. Fleming and shot Doc tonight. And the Thomases both think I did it. Only I didn't, Shandy."

Her eyes seemed to grow bigger while he looked at them, bigger, almost sightless. And fear was growing in her face. "I don't know what to do," she said, her voice shaking. "Roger always told me what to do."

"But where to Shandy?" Shandy said suddenly. "The Kibbees must have heard that shot. Where are they?"

And he was afraid for Lois, alone in Rogers' cottage. He left Carol and ran out into the darkness.

After the brilliantly lighted house the garden seemed very dark. In spite of his driving sense of haste, Shandy waited for a moment to let his eyes adjust to the night. And while he stood still he was aware of cautious movement. Sound in deceptive in the dark and he held his breath to help him listen, trying to determine the direction.

And then, on his left, someone moved. The intruder was unexpectingly, startlingly close, as close that Shandy heard clearly a sharp, gasping breath. A stone grated, rolled under a heel.

Step by step they advanced. The intruder would move a few feet and Shandy would follow. Forward and backward, side to side, they shuffled, along the paths, across the lawn, through the hedges. There was a curious, leisurely pace to this phantom pursuit. As though the thing Shandy followed had no objective at all, as though he were just a part of him, as though he were some disembodied ignis fatuus.

For what appeared to be endless time he played a kind of ghastly hide-and-seek. Then he put on a burst of speed, his fingers brushed a sleeve and then the intruder swerved, doubling back toward the big house, and at that moment Shandy knew who it was. He was also known as big. It was Clyde Kibbee whom he was chasing.

Shandy could feel the familiar constriction in his muscles which meant he could not run much farther. He was also aware of the threat of running feet as Clyde attempted to circle around him, dived forward in a tackle and brought the other down in a heavy crash. The side of his open hand moved in a sharp chopping motion and Clyde lay still.

Shandy dragged the unconscious man along the path. There was no question of hitting him as he knew had developed a tendency to collapse under him. He abandoned his intention of taking Clyde to his own cottage. He would never be able to drag the big fellow that far.

Lois' cottage was nearest and as he approached he called so as not to frighten her. She flung open the door, her eyes widened and then she stood back and let him haul Clyde into the room.

"Got anything to tie him with?"

"Shandy! You've made a mistake!"

"Hurry," he panted. "You can argue later."

She ran to bring a ball of heavy twine from a drawer in Rogers' work table and Shandy tied Clyde's wrists together behind him, tied his ankles, then bent over him as he sprawled on the floor, a giant of a man.

"Is he badly hurt?" Lois asked. "He'll come around in a few minutes. Scratched up a bit because I had to drag him. Otherwise he's all right." Quickly he told her what had happened at the house, about the attack on Dr. Thomas and the pursuit through the garden. "Sorry I had to bring him here but it won't be so long. I'll call the police."

"Because Lois was silent he turned to her. She was looking down at Clyde's face, young and defenseless, now that he was unconscious. "She looks so lonely," she said. Shandy laughed shortly and reached for the telephone. "Wait! Don't call the police."

"We can't stand guard over the guy indefinitely," he panted out. "Lois was absorbed in her own thoughts. "Call Jane Brindle."

"At this time of night? Why?"

"Lois was still looking at Clyde. "Because she knows."

"Knows what?"

"What is going on here. Why is he going on. And she has been worried about Clyde."

"Someone ought to be," Shandy said grimly. "Roger killed, you nearly killed, Dr. Thomas shot—"

"No," Lois said. "Not Clyde. He—"

"He hated Roger," Shandy told her. "He hated him because he had had some life and because he thought Roger stole his girl and because Albert Kibbee carried his love worship so far he couldn't see his own son. And he was in the garden tonight after that attack on Doc."

"Can't you see he had no reason to harm Dr. Thomas? And he'd never have done anything to frighten Paul. He's been a decoy, Shandy. My, please let me call Jane."

Shandy capitulated. And Lois was right. There had been two people in the garden.

Luke 2 Tells Christmas Story That Always Has Fresh Meaning

The message for Christmas is always new, and as we read it over and over the story is told again of a wondrous peace awaiting those who keep always before them the events of that special day when peace became a reality.

We find that story in the book of Luke, the 2nd Chapter, beginning with the 9th verse:

"And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

"And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

"And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

"And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

"And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

"And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

"And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

"And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

"And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

"But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

"And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them."

Yule Story Endures

For nearly two thousand years the story of Christmas has been told—the story of the shepherds and the wisemen, the star and the manger, the Child who was born in a stable and the angels who sang the message of hope for the world.

Kings and princes have come and passed. Tyrants have ruled with cruelty and fallen, many of their names are scarcely remembered. Yet the Christmas story endures. The humble birth of the Child is still an inspiration to men. It is able to move their hearts in a direction of love toward all mankind.

Ours is a perilous time—as we are reminded day after day by the talk of new wars more terrible than any world has known. Yet still strive for peace, we still seek to realize the promise of the first Christmas. As long as we do there is hope for us. For in the story of the Child who changed the course of men's thinking and aspirations is the seed of a real and lasting peace.

At this season, when we celebrate and exchange gifts and greetings with those we love and admire, let us not forget the real significance of Christmas, the true meaning it must have in our lives.

How Effective Is Air Camera?

NEW YORK (AP)—How effective is the military air camera today? Can you really detect a military airplane in another country through reconnaissance?

These questions have been raised by President Eisenhower's proposal of Geneva for the exchange of military intelligence and aerial inspection as "the gateway to a resolution of disarmament."

The issue remains very much alive. Many government figures privately hoped the Russians will in time agree to the proposals, perhaps when supplemented by further suggestions on their part.

The President's "open skies for peace" plan is strikingly dramatized in an exhibit of aerial photography now on display in the Carnegie International Center here.

It shows concretely how effective the camera has become as an espionage device from the air. The exhibit, sponsored by a U. S. government interdepartmental committee, has convinced many U. N. delegates and other visitors.

For what can photo reconnaissance do? The most impressive display is a single strip of film 2 1/2 feet long and three inches wide. The strip depicts an area of the United States 2,700 miles long and 60 miles wide from New York to Los Angeles.

The strip was filmed in 1949 from 40,000 feet—nearly eight miles up—in less than four hours. The same job could be done today by only two jet planes in less than two hours.

To the untrained spectator such a film reveals little. All he can pick out are mountains, cities, lakes, rivers and some roads.

But when sections of the film are enlarged and checked by trained photo interpretation experts with special instruments and new techniques, they reveal a very great deal.

Just how much? "Suppose I lived in a house in that city," I said, pointing at the film. "What could you tell about it—from 40,000 feet up?"

"Many things," replied Lt. Col. Ralph Steinhilber, a photo reconnaissance officer and veteran pilot. "We could tell you the name of the city, the height of your house, what is being constructed, and the age of your automobile."

"We could make a good guess on your own economic status. We could tell whether you used a rotary-type lawn mower to cut your grass, whether you had a telephone and an underground pipe tank—and probably even describe the clothes hanging on the line in your back yard."

"What if I had three tanks around the house camouflaged by covering them with old tree branches?" I asked.

"We could spot them with camouflage film," he said. "The live green grass would show up red on the film. The dead tree branches would show up a dull gray-green, and they'd be easy to spot."

"Isn't there any way to fool the aerial camera?"

"You sometimes can fool a lens—that's true," acknowledged Col. Steinhilber. "But it isn't easy to fool a good photo interpreter's expert."

"On a large scale it would be very hard to do. You might be able to hide a small building, sure. But not a whole complex of buildings, or a really big building of troops and installations."

How long would it take to photograph all of Russia from the air? "Ambassador Lodge said the job could be done in less than six months," answered the officer. "All I can say is the Air Force stands ready and capable of carrying out any agreement that is reached."

COLUMNIST LOUIS SOBOL gets to meet most all important visitors to New York. One who struck him as particularly agreeable was introduced as "Johnny Bernadotte." The stranger appreciative of Sobol's obvious efforts to please him, said, "If you ever go to Denmark, I'd like to give you a letter of introduction to my sister. You two will like each other, I know."
"You," enthused Sobol, "but how will I know where to reach her?"
"You won't have any trouble." Bernadotte assured him. "She's the Queen, you know."

It's Diet, Not Exercise, That Helps You Reduce

By HIRSH H. SCHWARTZ, M.D.
Dieting is good for you, but will it help you reduce? Probably not much.
For one thing, physical exercise is difficult for an extremely overweight person. For another, exercise is not an efficient way of expending more energy to use up more of those calories.
More Calories, More Weight
As I have explained, you become overweight when you consume more calories than you burn up in energy. The most effective way to accomplish this is to eat less.
All meats used in dieting, remember, should be lean. And use as little fat as possible in preparing any food. You can use salt in your cooking, but don't add any at the table.
QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. D.: Would taking vitamins daily take the place of sleep?
A. Answer: Although vitamins are helpful, it is advisable for you also to get enough sleep.

Barry Goldwater (D-Ariz.) waits his turn to speak. Sen. Humphrey called for a revision of the tax structure which he said is "full of loopholes and favoritism" and declared "we must stop the sharp recession in agriculture." Sen. Goldwater insisted the nation's No. 1 issue is "freedom versus regimentation or socialization." He said candidates should be forced to face the issue.

Notches On Rod Are For Hyenas

Not at all unlike the notches on a gangster's gun are the 28 big spikes imbedded in the shepherd's rod of Stephen A. Haboush. The difference is that each spike represents a dead jackal, hyena or wolf—not a human life.

Nowadays he spends his time lecturing before church and school groups, telling them of his boyhood as a Palestinian shepherd and showing his full color motion pictures of the Holy Land. The much-scarred rod more than once has meant the difference between life and death for him and his flocks on the lonely western shores of the Sea of Galilee.

"For several years I was a nursemaid to a flock of 85 sheep and a dozen goats," he said recently. It wasn't an easy job. The goats made my life miserable and the stray sheep unhappy. Most of my trouble was with the goats however. And I love goats as much as the Irish like the English. Nevertheless, thanks to my trusty black oak rod, I never lost more than seven or eight animals a year. That's even a pretty good record among the Palestinian tribes of today."

His father was maktar, or head, of the Haboush tribe in old Galilee-north of the city of Nazareth. When the father died several years ago, Stephen Haboush became patriarchal head of the tribe despite the fact he lived in the United States and had become a citizen.

"As a result, I have to return to my homeland every four years," he said. "In the meantime our tribal affairs are handled by a council of sheiks."

When he first came to the United States he "hit the chestnut avenue trail" with such figures as the late William Jennings Bryan, the former Ambassador Josephus Daniels, and Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the famed arctic explorer. He has been at it ever since, turning to the churches and unhatched.

Therefore it is going to be a rare opportunity for the people of Sanford to meet and hear this native son of Galilee when he and Madame Haboush present the Bible Land Musical Travels of the Holy Land in natural color films and other special features.

They will appear at the following: South Side Primary School on Friday, January 6 at 7:30 p. m. under the auspices of the W. E. C. C. of the First Methodist Church. Hear him first on Sunday night Jan. 1st at 7:30 p. m. at the Methodist Church speaking on the 23rd Psalm.

It is a program that will be a delight and an inspiration to all who are fortunate enough to ather role in "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing."

"It was a real surprise," she says, "and a very nice one. It was a big thrill for me."

In some ways, the Audie made more of an impression on her than the Oscar she won in 1944 for "Song of Bernadette."

"I was just starting in the business then," she explained. "When you're young and ambitious, you don't fully realize some of the wonderful things that happen to you. You take them a little for granted. Now I realize the value of such things and appreciate them more."

Miss Jones said it was especially pleasant to be honored by the public after having had many flops. What's this—a star admitting she has had flops?

THE SANFORD HERALD Page 10 Thurs. Dec. 22, 1955

"Oh, sure," she said disarmingly. "I've had them—perhaps more flops than hits. It's discouraging to do something you hope is going to please everyone and then find out they don't like it. But there's one good thing—you always find someone who likes a picture you have done, no matter how big a flop it is. That's the strange thing about the movies."

At present she is at work again. This has been her busiest year in films; she has done three—"Many Splendored," "Good Morning, Miss Dove" and the present "Man in the Gray Flannel Suit."

PHIL HUGH returns to his starring role in "Inherit the Wind" on Broadway in a dramatic comeback from an eye-removal operation. Actor Melvyn Douglas (left), his replacement, does the honors in welcoming Hume back to his masterful portrayal of the Clarence Darrow-type lawyer. It had been feared that removal of the eye, caused by a tumor, would end Hume's career.

Navy Making Attempt To Replace Mother's Big Seasonal Dinner

All Navy men based aboard the Naval Auxiliary Air Station will not be able to get home for Christmas dinner this Sunday, but the NAAS Commissary Department is making a good attempt at replacing Mother's seasonal meal.

Over three hundred pounds of turkeys will be prepared for the men, along with all the holiday trimmings.

Christmas dinner's menu at the Station will read as follows: Cream of Tomato Soup, Crackers, Roast Tom Turkey, Cornbread Dressing, Giblet Gravy, Candied Sweet Potatoes, Marbled Potatoes, Buttered Peas, Buttered Asparagus Tips, Tossed Vegetable Salad, French Dressing, Assorted Olives, Hot Pan Rolls, Butter, Fruit Cake, Hard Sauce, Hard Candies, Assorted Nuts, Hot Coffee, Fresh Milk.

The Commissary Department plans to feed between three and four hundred men. Married men living off the base will be able to purchase the full meal for one dollar.

HE GETS THE BIRD! L. J. Curtis, Commissaryman, Peck Chick, prepares one of the 18 turkeys that will be served to men based aboard the Naval Auxiliary Air Station on Christmas day.

$100 Check Given Mrs. Bedenbaugh By Peace Officers

An official of the Florida Peace Officers Association presented a Christmas gift in Sanford late yesterday.

Mrs. Burtis S. Bedenbaugh, widow of the late Clifford C. Bedenbaugh who was a former prisoner guard and police officer with the Sanford Police Department, received a check for $100 from the statewide organization of law enforcement officers.

Carl D. Buchanan, Chief of Police at Winter Park and a Director of the Florida Peace Officers Association, came to Sanford to present the check and with Mrs. Bedenbaugh a Merry Christmas. Chief of Police Roy Williams met with Chief Buchanan and Mrs. Bedenbaugh for the presentation. Chief Buchanan told Mrs. Bedenbaugh, "We are very happy to bring you this small check in appreciation of the services rendered by your late husband."

Mrs. Bedenbaugh said, "I appreciate this check and all of the other things the Florida Peace Officers Association has done for me."

Winter Socials At All-Time High

"Social events for the winter season this year are at an all time high," said Frank Mehan, manager of the Mayfair Inn.

Meahan said that all of the hotels in Sanford are not at all crowded at the moment.

"We certainly do not want to embarrass anyone," Meahan remarked, "but because of our policies and the regulations which cover the license in our hotel, we cannot accept reservations for the winter season."

The Mayfair Inn Manager said, "We are extremely happy that so many Sanford and Central Florida people are visiting the hotel."

"To insure the success of an annual celebration, we must work together and understand the problems of one another," he said.

New Storm Strikes California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Northern California, already awash after a record week of wind and rain, staggered under even heavier blows today.

With every major coastal stream already out of its banks, thousands of homes flooded and whole counties isolated, a new storm struck the Coast last night with full gale force.

Two big valleys in northern Siskiyou County were flooded, and the big rivers of the northern Sierra—the Feather, Yuba, American and Bear—all were over flood stage.

The greatest damage was in Humboldt County, through which both of the great coastal river systems—the Klamath and the Eel—flow to the sea.

Eureka, Humboldt county seat and a city of 25,000, was completely isolated and without communications, except for a navy reserve radio unit "ham" transmitters.

The entire Eel River Valley, in southern Humboldt, was flooded and two villages—Weot with 500 persons and South Fork with 300—were wiped out when the Redwood Valley Dam on the upper Eel overflowed.

Diplomats Express Doubt On Demands

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Diplomats expressed doubt today that Syria could get the Security Council to meet her demands that Israel be ousted from the U. N. and penalized heavily for the Dec. 11 Galilee attack.

The usual resolution of censure and appeal for negotiations appeared a more likely result.

Chief Syrian Delegate Ahmed Shukairy placed a seven-point resolution before the council last night after insisting the time had come for punitive measures to check what he called further Israeli "aggression" against Arab states.

Observers pointed out, however, that Syria does not belong to the council and the 11-nation body can act on a resolution only on a member's request.

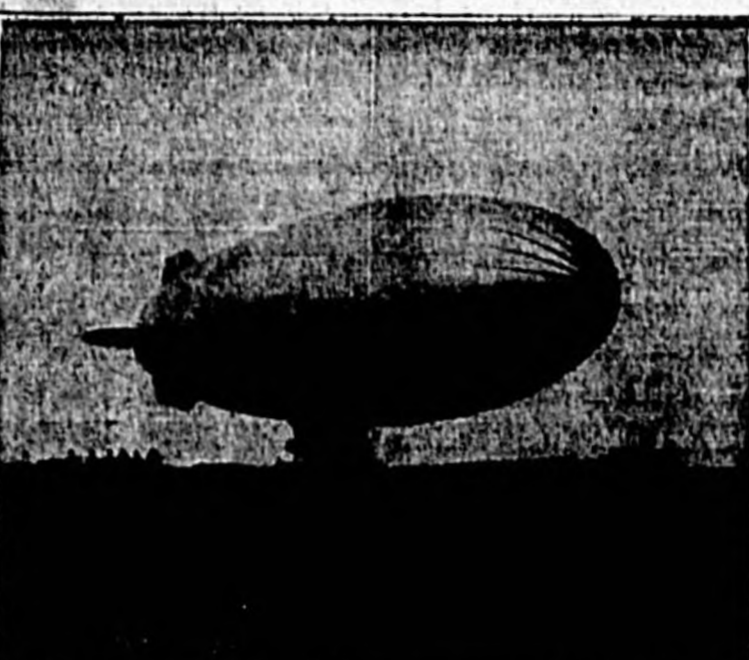

Strike Postponed With New Dispute

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A strike threatened by 22,500 Pennsylvania Rail Road non-operating employees has been postponed indefinitely in an effort to negotiate a dispute over a new contract.

The Transport Workers Union accepted a PRR request and called it off yesterday, seven hours before the midnight deadline.

The negotiators, who reported "progress" in their contract talks, set Jan. 4 for the next session.

Christmas Letter Sent To Residents

As we approach the Christmas Season and at the end of another year it appears most appropriate that we of the Naval Auxiliary Air Station thank our many friends in town for past favors and wish them all a Joyous Christmas. We appreciate the special use of the Herald columns for this purpose.

Though most of us are sojourners in your midst we have nothing but the best to say for your friendliness, your helpfulness, and the many, many kindnesses which have been extended to us. We find in the townfolk of Sanford that which approaches the Christmas Spirit the year around. We thank you particularly for this and for the privilege of sharing this all too rare an experience with you.

Our station civilian personnel and our families join us in extending you every good wish for the Christmas Season and the coming year.

Very sincerely,
Robert W. Jackson
Commanding Officer,
NAAS Sanford

Thousands Will Pay Tribute Churches Plan Special Program

Christmas will be celebrated in Sanford and the Central Florida area with church services and with special programs depicting the Nativity.

Thousands will flock to churches to take part in the programs prepared for children and adults alike, and to hear the Christmas Message from pulpits of every denomination.

The First Methodist Church will have a program of carol singing, special musical numbers, and the Annual Candlelighting service Sunday evening. The program will begin at 7:15 p. m. with 15 minutes of organ Christmas music played by Mrs. Frances Hickson. Following the organ vespers there will be congregational singing of Christmas Hymns under the leadership of Charles Morrison.

The second part of the program will consist of a play and organ duet, "Overture to 'The Messiah'" with Tommy Wyatt at the piano and Mrs. Hickson at the organ, solos by Mrs. Roy Wall and John Beebe, a duet by Mrs. Robert Bennett and Mrs. Ashby Jones, an anthem by the Senior Choir and another piano and organ duet. The special music will be followed by a Candlelighting Ceremony.

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, which holds its services at the Yacht Club, will present its Annual Christmas program for the children tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock. A Christmas Tree will be decorated from which gifts for the children and Sunday School classes will be distributed.

Sunday School will be held Sunday morning at the Yacht Club at 9:15 with church services following at 10:30. Pastor Phillip Schlessmann will deliver the Christmas message.

G. R. BROWN
George R. Brown Is Chosen VAH-5 White Hat Of Week

A 3,000 mile romance began in January 1953 during Heavy Attack Squadron Five's deployment to the Mediterranean. Seaman George Robert Brown had gone on leave to visit his father in Birmingham, England.

In the same house he met his present fiancée, Betty Hoer. Although they decided on marriage, the road toward that goal has been rough. Two attempts by Brown during last year's deployment of the squadron, then VCS, ended in failure.

Red tape involved in a marriage of a G. I. to a girl who is a citizen of a foreign country requires the permission of many important officials, both military and civilian. The paper work involved is enormous.

At this writing, however, Brown is once more on his way to England with hopes of returning with his bride to Sanford and the completion of his tour of military service. If all goes well, the couple plan to live at the home of friends James and Nancy Hagerly, who live at 2244 W. 19th St., in Sanford.

Brown, 23, hails from Staten Island, New York. He has been with VAH-5 nearly four years. His duties consist of being the squadron communicator who handles all dispatches and messages sent and received by the squadron.

Yule Organ Music Set For Tomorrow At Mayfair Inn

Christmas Carols played on an electric organ by one of Central Florida's most attractive beauty contest winners will precede the appearance of Santa Claus in the lobby of the Mayfair Inn at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night, it was announced by Manager Frank N. Mehane Jr., today.

Miss Joyce Lynn Davis will play on an organ, loaned for the occasion by the Sireep Music Co. of Orlando. The hotel management invites local music lovers to attend and participate in the singing.

FREE TREES
LA CRESCENTA, Calif. J.—Nursery owner Ralph Jeka has offered 200 Christmas trees free to needy families.

New Words Put To Old Rhythm

"Twas the night before Christmas, the usual time
For abandoning prose and reverting to rhyme.
I look forward to look
It's the season when children
Given free by the man in the red flannel suit.
Their elders, of course, know
That nothing is free,
That daydreams are never fulfilled on a tree.
They know that you're apt to be
In for a shock
If your hopes for the future
Depend on a sock
A rummy-nosed stranger might
Like to pack tight
If he fell down your chimney
Some very dark night.
Yet each in his heart has an Unwritten letter—
If just to himself—asking next
Year he better.
And maybe it will. But years
Like a river,
Warm up Santa while and then give you a shiver.
This year, going out, started
cool, then got nice,
And before it was over was covered with ice.
Hostility melted, peace opened the door.
When I met Bulgania and
Eden and Faure,
At least, so it seemed, for a moment. And then
The door slowly closed. There was cold war again.
Had the door ever opened? Some doubt it. They think
At Geneva the Husians just came for a drink.
Dark point of the year was the sudden attack.
The President suffered. But he's coming back.
The biggest sensation and biggest snafu
Involved Salk's vaccine at the time it was new.
Last Christmas old Santa, with contrast in hand,
Must have seemed to two men
as especially grand.
They were Dixon and Yates. But this year they won't carol.
Their contract is gone and they're over a barrel.
Best gift the old man with the sled and the deer
Could give the Republican party
next year
Is assurance that Ike will recover and then
Make up his mind to start running again.
They'll be awful uneasy if the doesn't run
Since he's been for the party combined moon and sun.
The Democrats, trying to whip up a winner,
Are busy as chefs at a president's dinner.
The menu, it seems, is what has them in trouble:
A moderate course? Or more spicy? Or — more lubber!
