

Why Do Sanford Air Show Stars Fly The Way They Do?

From the years immediately following World War I through the late forties, gypsy pilots — some of them called "vagrants" — harried the United States, landing at farm fields near small communities to offer their "post office" to young boys: two year house and two for the air" for as little as $5 for a five-minute ride.

Some of America's, many of whom had never even seen an airplane, first experienced the thrill of flight in the front cockpits of war-surplus Curtiss 3N-4D Jennies or Standard biplanes flown by young men in oil-drizzled goggles, leather jackets and flowing white silk scarves. . .

Not content with short-hopping youngsters, some barnstormers teamed up to form flying circuses, performing at events such as county and state fairs. Some found their particular talents in demand by the fledgling motion picture industry. Others performing with flying motor-walkers and parachutists, they constantly vied with one another to come up with new death-defying stunts. A number of them temporarily fate once too often — and lost.

These days are long past — or are they? Today, new generations of pilots fly more sophisticated aircraft at the many air shows throughout the country each year, but the roar of engines and the scream of wind through flying wires is in their blood and the tradition of the barnstormer rides with them. They are the few who dare to dance with the clouds, embracing in the challenge of aerobically flying and enjoying a unique freedom that can't be experienced to be understood.

This is about three such pilots who will perform in Sanford's Air Show this weekend during the 1:30 p. m. shows Saturday and Sunday. Gates to the Sanford Airport will open both days for the air show 4 a. m.

Ask Charlie Hillard, Gene Soucy and Tom Poberny, the three world-class pilots who comprise the spectacular Eagle Aerobatic Flight Team, why they do what they do and you'll get answers indicative of their individual personalities.

"I really don't have a pat answer," says Charlie, a successful Fort Worth, Texas businessman and 18 Eagles' team leader.

Charlie is the "old man" of the trio in terms of age and experience — if you can call a man who does what he does with an airplane old. He got his private pilot license in 1934 at the age of 17, and bought his first aerobatic ride the following year and bought his own aerobatic plane, a Piper clipped-wing Cub, in 1956 while attending Georgia Tech.

While in college, Charlie also became interested in parachuting. He became so good at sky diving that he earned a berth on the 100th U.S. Paratrooper Division placed second in the World Cup competition in France that year. He and another member of that team also became the first jumpers to perform a harness pass while in free fall.

In the stands watching Charlie at some of those events was a kid named Gene Soucy whose parents, Paul and Margaret Soucy, both were pilots. "My dad used to take me to a lot of air shows and that's when I first saw Charlie fly," Gene says. Such exposure only strengthened his determination to get up there someday and write out an airplane before an audience.

Gene, who flies left wing on the Eagles team, never wanted to do anything else. "All I ever wanted to be was an aerobatic pilot," he says, pointing out, "It's something most people can't do and it's fun. Some people get their kicak sitting on a river bank fishing. I get mine flying up and down." Now he is teaching others to do it at the Gene Soucy Aerobatic Center at the Aero-Country Airport in Palm Springs, Calif.

Gene isn't performing at air shows or teaching, he flies for Republic Airlines as a copilot or "co-pilot," as he puts it — on DC-8s.

Gene began entering aerobatic competition early in the late sixties, teamed up with Martin Cole and Bob Heuer, who also were flying Pitta and Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) Fly-in at Rockford, Ill., to form an aerobatic team. Calling themselves the Red Devils, they put together a team that has since performed mostly at KAA conventions and air shows over the next several years.

Tom Poberny's father, Paul, founded and is president of the EAA.

It was Gene who hooked him. After Martin Cole and Bob Heuer went into semi-retirement, Tom began traveling with Gene. Flying Pitta Soucy's second Pitta because the senior Soucy liked to display his matched birds as air shows.

Between shows, Gene taught Tom aerobatics, selling him what to do, then sending him up in the Pitta and watching him from the ground. Tom caught on fast and in 1971 he and Gene did the air show circuit as an Aero-Country team.

It was during the 1971 national championships at Fort Worth that Charlie, Gene and Tom first flew as a team, beginning what was to become a lasting life personal and professional relationship.

Today's Day-For Tax Forms

United Press International

As Friday's midday, tax filing deadline drew inevitably to a close, IRS offices, banks formed a flurry of new account openings and post offices collected mounds of the standard black-and-white envelopes.

One gray-haired woman standing in an Internal Revenue Service office line in Washington reported the thoughts of perhaps thousands of late-minute filers.

"I'm a procrastinator of the first order," she said, smiling through a line of people waiting to be served.

At an IRS service center three blocks from the agency's headquarters in Washington, taxpayers lined up 16 deep to get forms and last-minute advice, a woe-ridden chorus of IRS officers around the country.

Rose Bryant, a customer relations representative at a Los Angeles bank reported a "mad rush" for individual Retirement Accounts Thursday. Under the new rules for IRAs that went into effect last year, virtually any wage-earner can shelter up to $2,000 from taxes.

Another bank executive said some people are rushing for the IRAs now "because they couldn't put up all that money until the last minute."

IRS Commissioner Roscoe Egger, who admitted this week his own return is among those coming in just under the wire, attributed some of the late filing to "a people with the late filing in '36 with a late income tax," he said. "I'm always reluctant to give people my opinion."

By now, tax returns must be postmarked by midnight tonight, unless one avoids a late filing penalty.

Around the nation, postal officials reported the mail services was holding up under the final surge of returns.

Rain Is Slowing Improvement

The unreasonable rain and cold is blamed for the delay in the completion of modifications at the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 at Park Avenue and Florida Avenue, a state Department of Transportation official said. Don Kennington, DOT assistant district construction engineer, said the vertical and horizontal realignment of the intersection was expected to be completed by the end of this month. The completion has been delayed somewhat because of the weather hassles which the contractor, W. J. Jacksonville, has had to put up with, Kennington said. The intersection work is part of the project which includes modifications to the traffic signal on S. 17-92 and State Street, near Sanford Plaza, and is costing some $485,973.71.

The fingerprints are to be used in the event a child is missing.

The program is similar to one begun Thursday in Winn-Dixie supermarkets throughout Central Florida to make fingerprints of elementary school children.

The board approved a four-day summer school and 4-day work week.

The schools and other district facilities will be closed on Friday allowing for a more efficient use of maintenance and custodial workers in the reduction in transportation costs. Board officials said they estimate $50,000 will be saved in the program.

Summer school will run from June 20 to July 4.

Elementary students will go to school from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., and secondary students from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

District offices will be open Monday through Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The offices will be closed on July 4.

The board voted 4-1 to ban political signs from being posted a district athletic fields or political literature from being distributed on school board property.

Pat Tolson voted against the action which defines political advertising as supporting a political candidate or an elected official.

The ban would not apply to school yearbooks, newspaper or programs for school events.

Detona Man Charged In Murder

A Deltona man was being held Wednesday in the Volusia County jail on a first degree murder charge after another man was shot in the head at a ball game last night.

A Volusia County Sheriff's Department spokesman said 40-year-old Daniel Fleming, 1958 Central Road, Deltona, has been charged in the shooting of Thomas J. Dunn, 22, after an argument at 8:17 p.m. Thursday in the parking lot of Van Park, Deltona, Little League baseball game was in progress at the time, said Volusia County Sheriff John A. Johnson Sr.

Dunn, of 888 Stratton Drive, Deltona, was shot in Florida South Hospital, Orlando, where he died about 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

Johnson said Fleming's wife was watching the ball game at the time of the victim.

The victim and the defendant were in the parking lot when the defendant shot Dunn in the chest. He obliged and there were some words exchanged about Dunn blocking the driveway and after he had moved his car the defendant had struck his car and got out and fired a single shot, said Johnson.

"There was a little league baseball game going on at the time," said Johnson.

Fleming was charged with first degree murder and the use of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

School Fingerprinting Program OK'd

The board members unanimously approved Wednesday afternoon the fingerprinting program which is being sponsored by the Jewish Agency of Women.

The program would allow children in kindergarten through fifth grade to be fingerprinted at school with the permission of their parents. The only copy of the fingerprints will be given to the parents.

The schools and police agencies will not be given a copy of the fingerprints.

School Architect Hinges Delayed

By Michael Best
By Staff Writer

After considerable debate on the issue, the Seminole County School Board has delayed for two weeks approval of architects for five building projects.

The board voted Wednesday to table the selection of architects for two weeks and to hold a work session Wednesday to discuss the selection of members for an architectural review committee.

The board voted to delay the selection of architects for two weeks rather than to hold a work session Wednesday to discuss the selection of members for an architectural review committee.

He said plans for an addition to Rosewood Exceptional Child Center in Altamonte Springs, estimated at $200,000, grant from the state, are a top priority and must be expedited or the district could lose the grant.

Repairs to Lyman High School's gymnasium and Lakeridge Middle School's roof must also be hurried if the projects are to be completed prior to the opening of school this fall.

Two other projects, a new Sanford elementary school and an addition to T.W. Leavelle Elementary School in Orlando are planned for completion by the 1964-65 school year.

The stunning block "A," the company's choice of Hunter, Shivers, Brady Associates of Orlando to design the repairs to Lyman High School's gym roof. The Longwood school's gym roof developed a sag and leaks which flooded the floor during a Feb. 13 rainstorm. Engineers and architects who examined the building have recommended replacing the entire roof, including the beams. They said the floor would also have to be replaced.

Board member William Rucklows Watson & Co., the Orlando architectural firm which designed the school, to handle the repairs since they already have drawings for the school. He claims that Watson & Co. could save the school money by the repair.

But Board Attorney Ned J. Julian Jr. said Watson & Co. would be in a conflict of interest since the architects will likely be drawn into a lawsuit the board may file to recover damages for the roof repairs.

While Watson & Co. may not be directly liable for the roof's failure, Julian said, allowing the firm to be involved in the repairs could seriously affect the board's court case.

Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Betty Arnold said Hunter, Shivers, Brady has designed 14 prototype gymnasiums in Orange County. He said the committee was pleased with the firm's work and its answers to questions.

Eugene W. Beta Architects, Winter Park, was named by the committee as the top choice for the Rosewood school. The expansion will mean seven permanent new classrooms in addition to establishing a finishing kitchen for the school.

The state grant was offered because the district is tabling the educational responsibility for handicapped children because of the state's Lakeridge school which have been reassigned to the district.

Fritzell Architects of Winter Park was the committee's choice for the Lenton Elementary addition. The expansion will provide additional classroom space for the Orleto school which is growing rapidly.

The Osneewood, Derwood and Paveksh Partnership of Casselberry was selected to design the Sanford elementary school repairs and the Lakeridge Middle School repairs.

The new Sanford elementary school will be designed by the Osneewood, Hopper and Southside elementary school architects and located at the site of the county offices, 1211 McHenrywood.

The board went through a procedural jungle before finally tabling the issue and setting the work session. The issue was initially approved but a motion to reconsider was approved, then the issue was tabled, taken back off the table to be discussed at the end of the meeting and then tabled again.

Reagan Claims At News Conference

U.S. Not Trying To Overthrow Sandinista

IN BRIEF

Baby Doe' Rule Struck Down; Appeal Promised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration's "unconscionable" decision to allow a federal court decision that struck down the so-called "Baby Doe" rule is being appealed.

U.S. District Judge Gerald G. Ford Thursday said the "arbitrary and capricious" rule regulates care in hospital delivery rooms and newborn nurseries.

The rule required hospitals that receive federal funds to use services creating "disproportionate" harm to fetal and care for handicapped infants versus the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

Hospital employees and others were encouraged to report possible infractions to government officials or a special investigator. Violations could result in suspension of federal funds.

Pro-life groups had pushed for the regulation, which was drawn up to respond to the death last year of a severely handicapped newborn who "Baby Doe" is thought to be.

Adelman Now Arms Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the confirmation of Kenneth Adelman as U.S. ambassador to Nicaragua, President Reagan formally is signifying arms control agency that will help in his quest for an accord with the Sandinistas.

Adelman was now "deputy graded" by the State Department, in which the Senate voted 87-41 Wednesday.

Adelman had the 40th anniversary of victory over the Axis in the Pacific in 1945.

The arms control agency, which operates under the guidance of the State Department, supplies logistic support for U.S. arms negotiating teams, verifies existing arms control agreements and oversees international arms transfers.

Adelman said he looked forward to working with the State Department and the arms negotiating teams, which existing arms control agreements and oversees international arms transfers.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF
Winn-Dixie Begins Fingerprinting Kids

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith says a new child fingerprinting project at Florida and Georgia Winn-Dixie Supermarkets won't keep children from being abducted but will warnize parents to the problem.

The program will be available to 350 Winn-Dixie stores in Florida in two to three weeks. Virginia, South Carolina and North Carolina already have similar programs.

Five-year-old Miles of Tallahassee was the first youngster fingerprinted. Her tiny prints were placed on the bottom of an identification card, which also had a space to note that her hair is blondish-brown and her eyes blue. The card also had a place to make a record of the child's medical and educational features.

Winn-Dixie officials said the cards will be given to the children's parents, parents to use if they disappear. No record will be kept by the supermarkets or law enforcement officials.

Smith said the cards will not help find missing children, only identify them.

Communists Organizing

MIAMI (UPI) — Communist Party organizers claim they have signed 15 recruits in Miami as part of a nationwide drive to start a party youth movement.

The recruitment drive is being supported by a secret Miami political club and an organizing committee based at the University of Miami.

Bob Lindsey, spokesman for the national Organizing Committee for a Communist Youth Organization, said Thursday.

He said 15 people have been signed in Miami so far, including students as young as 14 years old. He said they will be sent to a national convention in Cleveland later this month.

"Basically, we are establishing an ethnic local organization that trains youth in how to strategize and how to fight and bring them to a certain political maturity," Lindsey said. "At the convention, the organization will be founded."

Ho-Jo Gets A Whopper

MIAMI (UPI) — The "whopper" is moving to the nation's supermarkets under the direction of Howard Johnson's.

Howard Johnson's has signed an agreement to operate Burger King franchises along toll roads throughout the United States, a joint announcement said Thursday. The pact allows Howard Johnson's the sole franchise operator of Burger King Corp. In multiple service areas in all states now served by Howard Johnson's, the companies said.

Howard Johnson's restaurants will be able to serve a segment of the traveling public we haven't tapped up until now," said Burger King Chief Norman Brooker.

'Scarface' Back in Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — A remake of the classic gangster movie "Scarface" has to have some Miami scenes even though the production was driven out of town because some Miami Latin officials feared the plot would smudge the Cuban community.

The story line of the new Scarface movie, which stars Al Pacino, concerns a Cuban Marxist refugee who becomes a drug smuggling kingpin.

The production crew and Pacino flew from Los Angeles to Miami this week to film some background shots.

Some local settings expected to be captured on film were an apartment on James Brickell Ave., palm-lined Biscayne Blvd., the Midway Hotel and a bank. The film crew expects to complete its work in about two weeks.

"We are here to film things you just can't recreate in Los Angeles," said Joan Eisenberg, the film's publicist. "There are some things you can't reproduce without a lot of cost — the sky, plants, for example."

The movie is being filmed primarily in Los Angeles and is scheduled for release in December. Originally, executive producer Leo Stoller had wanted to film most of Scarface in Miami.

But City Commissioner Demetrio Perez Jr. protested, saying he felt the plot of the movie would portray the elite Cuban community in a bad light.

After repeated protests, Stoller decided to pack up and move operations back to Los Angeles. Local officials said the movie would have pumped $10 million into Miami's economy.

First Sewage Injection Well In Area OK'd

PALATKA (UPI) — The St. Johns River Water Management District approved a $2.2-million exploratory well in Brevard County to be safely pumped into the ground below the Florida Aquifer.

The $2.2 million cost of the well's regular monthly meeting Wednesday.

The district stretches from Jacksonville to Indian River County, officials said.

"The test well is a $2.5 million gamble that Brevard County wants to take. That's cheap. I suspect they're going to have to spend about $200 million to clean up their pollution like Duval County did," Frank Johnson Jr., district board member from Jacksonville, said.

to approve the test well so that it would not appear that the district approved underground disposal of sewage.

Brevard County asked for a permit to drill the well on an 80-acre site off U.S. A1A at Belvedere Beach.

Bob Mosserini, Belvedere's water resources director, said the county already was exceeding federal and state pollution standards.

Future Of Unused State Bridges To Be Studied

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House Thursday approved and sent back to the Senate a bill creating a special committee to consider the future of certain unused bridges.

The House added a technical amendment to the Senate measure (CS-Bill 45) and then passed it 110-0.

The amended version made the amount identical to the initial House legislation, which was filed by Rep. Joe Allen, D-Deer Creek.

Bridges to be studied by the State Bridge Management Committee include the portion of the Tampa Bay's Sunshine Skyway damaged by a freighter and several of the original bridges connecting the Florida Keys.

Plans already have been made to restore the Keys bridges for use by fishermen.

The new panel will prepare a report for the Legislature next year.

Ex-Dean May Return To Job Next Year

A former dean of students at Seminole High School, arrested in December on abducting charges, could return to teaching next year if state follows conditions set by a state education commission.

The Education Practices Commission this week ruled Jacques C. Pearson could return to teaching if she continues her voluntary leave until September, is placed in a deferred prosecution program and continues counseling for a year with regular written reports from her immediate supervisor.

The commission is made up of school administrators and teachers and makes final disciplinary decisions on educators.

A letter of reprimand will be placed in her personnel file in Seminole County, according to the commission.

Ms. Pearson pleaded not guilty to the abducting charge in February the state attorney filed a request for deferred prosecution, requiring Ms. Pearson to make restitution and to receive counseling.

She must not be arrested for a year and must report regularly to the state attorney's office. If all conditions are met, the charge will be dropped.

Ms. Pearson has been on voluntary leave since February. —Michael Beha

Tracking Satellite Has More Troubles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two control jets on the advanced communications satellite launched from the space shuttle Challenger last week may have been damaged, but after tests left the satellite tumbling in the wrong orbit, the space agency said Thursday.

NASA said diagnosis of the trouble and determining how to work around it will delay by several weeks attempts to move the big tracking and data relay station into a stationary orbit 22,200 miles over Brazil.

Project manager Ronald Bruevling said he was not as optimistic about the ultimate fate of the 8100 pound satellite as he was a week ago, but that he still was hopeful it could eventually be put in service.

"The picture is more complex than what we first visualized, but we're still hopeful," he said at the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.

NASA said it has been troubled with weather and launch and rescue satellite launched by an unmanned rocket March 28. That satellite also encountered control problems, but the space agency said a new set of instructions to the spacecraft's computer is expected to correct the problem.

The satellite launched from the shuttle is the first in a series of tracking and data relay spacecraft that the space agency is counting on to close the space communications gap and give ground control near continuous radio contact with space shuttles and many telecommunications satellites.

Grayson, Semit Propel Rams Past Trinity

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's Donald Grayson is a three-sport athlete. So when he finally put away his basketball for the year and picked up his aluminum club, coach Don Smith knew he would take a while before the muscular sophomore would start sending baseballs into orbit.

The Smith and his Lake Mary Rams wait it out. —Grayson lunched on his third home run in seven days Thursday afternoon and freshman Mike Schmitt supplied a key two-run double in the seventh inning as the Rams edged Trinity Prep, 7-6, at Trinity.

"We finally won a game in the last inning," said Smith about his sophomore-dominated squad which has won eight of 17 games against varsity competition. "Schmitt came up with the big hit and he did a good job on the mound in relief."

Grayson got the Rams off on the right foot when he belted a fastball by Richard Geras on the center-field fence in the first inning for a 1-0 lead for starter Gino Fontana.

Lake Mary increased its lead to 4-0 in the third when Kevin Hill and Scott Underwood smacked back-to-back singles. A double steal put the runners at second and third for Grayson who reached on an error by the third baseman to produce one run. Grayson promptly made second base.

Sophomore catcher Scott "C.J." Metz then delivered the clutch bloop, a two-run single to left center which chased home Underwood and Grayson.

The lead built up until the fourth inning when by the Rams pushed across the runs, highlighted by Bob Schmitt's grand-slam home run which pushed Trinity on top, 6-4.

In the seventh, Underwood triggered the winning three-run rally with a solo home to right field. Barry Belmonte came out for the second out, but Grayson kept the rally going with a single. Metz coasted a walk and Schmitt followed with a sacrifice bunt to load the left-field line to put the Rams back on top, 7-6.

Schmitt picked up his fifth victory through three losses by hitting out Fontana in the fourth inning and holding the Semite scores over the final three frames.

Grayson and Underwood each had two hits to pace Lake Mary.

The Rams play at Lake Brantley today at 4. Next week Lake Mary and Semite begin their "17-92 Series." Both games will be at Memorial Stadium on Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. Both teams will be preparing for district play which begins Tuesday, April 20.

Dwayne Johnson struck out seven and allowed just four hits Thursday as the Oviedo Lions dropped Mount Doru, 10-0. Johnson, a senior right-hander, lowered his earned run average to 1.37 with six strikeouts. Johnson won for the fifth time in six outings.

Johnson Blanks Mount Doru; Raiders Unload On St. Johns

Dwayne Johnson scattered four hits and batterymate Scott Gately slugged a two-run home run as the Oviedo Lions smothered Mount Doru, 10-0, to win their seventh straight game Thursday night in prep baseball action at Mount Doru.

Johnson, a senior right-hander, picked up his fifth victory in six decisions as the Lions won for the 18th time in the last 21 games. The six scoreless frames lowered his earned run average to 1.37. Johnson struck out seven and walked just one.

Oviedo broke on top early, scoring two runs in the first and three more in the second against Mount Doru starter Bert Hamlin. Oviedo put the game out of reach four more in the fourth and into the sixth as the game was stopped at that point because of the starter's rule.

Shortstop Bert Thayer had a pair of singles and drove in two runs while second sacker Skip Cooper chased home four runs with three base hits. Freshman Dave Wood and Jeff Green added two singles apiece.

The Lions, who have already clinched the Orange Belt Conference title and the district's No. 1 seed, host Fort Post Central Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Coach Howard Mable will go with either 7:1 David Burtchfield or 6:0 Dan Rietche. "Weaver" looks like he'll start," said Mable. "Next week will be a good tune-up for us. We'll probably rotate our pitching staff to keep them from getting too tired."

The Lions take on Spruce Creek Tuesday, Lake Brantley Thursday and perennial powerhouse Tampa Catholic at home Friday.

In other baseball action Thursday, Seminole Community College trounced the top last to knockout St. Johns River, 15-10, at Palmdale.

The victory improves coach Jack Panell's Raiders to 1-27 for the season and 7-5 in the Mid-Florida Conference.

In 1370 going into the game Steve Page continued to swing a terrific bat as he singled twice and drove in two runs. Former Oviedo slugger Sammy Davis also singled twice.

First baseman Bobby Thigpen doubled and singled for two RBIs while catcher Bryan Holworth, Mike Sims and Steve Hill had two hits each.

Right-hander Alan Speer picked up his win with relief help from Kevin Rose, Mike Durring and finally Thigpen in the ninth when S.R.'s pushed across five runs to make it interesting. The Raiders took Santa Fe Saturday at 2 p.m.

Oviedo's Dave Wood steals third base. The Lions rolled to their 18th victory in the last 21 games

Thursday with a 7-4 victory over Mount Doru.

SCC's Parker Teters Up SEC; 'Ocky' Sets 800-Meter Mark

One of the biggest reasons Seminole Community College's baseball team is looking along with a 200 record is because its best player last year — pitcher Bob Parker — is now displaying his wares in the Southeastern Conference for Milledge State University.

Parker, a two-year 300-hitter for the Raiders, graduated last year and will hit his first arm and potent bat to Starkville. His shift to major college is the biggest graduation loss for the school.

The red-haired junior has moved into the shortstop position for the nationally eighth-ranked Bulldogs. Parker is hitting a lively .512 against SEC competition and .347 overall.

John S. Baker, Jr., manager, recently took in several games and the interesting thing about the experience was with two homers against Alabama, one a grand slam for the old man.

The Bulldogs lose their division of the SEC with an 11-9 record. They are 23-7 overall. This season they are 11-4 for Palmer, Alaska. This league, made up of the top college players in the nation, is considered the next step to pro ball.

During football, Oviedo's David Merrill will play football next year at Evangel College in Springfield, Mo. He'll play a two-way position — as an offensive and defensive lines for coach Jack Johnston. He will probably be coached there by coach Dave Schroeder who was Oviedo's S.D. coach for two years before last year before moving on. One of his players was Sanford's Dutch Schmitt, a district star for the Semite's conference and district winner of two years ago.

Another former Semite — Ocky Baker — is running away from the coaches at Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville, reports Sanford's Al Bradwell. Ocky, who was named Coach Harry Nelson's Rams take on the Bulldogs in quarter no. 1 while the Delano came back against Oviedo in no. 2. The Lions will bring back quarter no. 3 while Lake Mary and Lake Mary in no. 4. Ocky is expected to hit a Spring Football jamboree on May 1.

Competing schools will be Lake Howard, Lake Mary, Oviedo, Deland and Seminole. Oviedo is expected to be the favorite.

Stomach Bulge Is Ah...Well, Fat

DEAR DR. LAMB — About six months ago I started feeling heavy in my stomach and a sort of numbness. Since having two children my stomach got large, but lately it is so distended I think about months pregnant. Which I am not. I can't go without a big burp. It is so uncomfortable I've been in my bed for 17 1/2 weeks. I have been to a reputable doctor and even had pelvic programs and walking out. I took many X-rays along with. Naturally I'm relieved that there is no immediate danger but still the tummy is so big I fear menstruation when I stop for clothes. I might add there is no pain in my abdomen. Please, can you offer some solution as to what I'm reading in your column and in several articles that heart attacks are very rare in women who have not gone through the change I'm in? I'm 46. I had a hysterectomy 10 years ago at age 32 and my doctor put me on hormone pills. I am moderately active and smoke one pack of ultra-light cigarettes a day. My father has a severe heart condition. DEAR READER — You could as a spouse, it is probably fat. You need to know the difference between an old medical aphorism that such a condition is not a cancer (which your letter suggests is ruled out), there are five P's to consider: pressure, protein, fluid, fatulence and fat. If your menstruation were gone, you would probably complain of related symptoms. If it were fat, it would be from a medical condition such as liver disease that your doctor would have found easily. Unfortunately some people are prone to developing fat on and in the abdomen. It is important to realize that there is as much or more fat inside the abdomen as there is under the skin outside the abdomen. The most important measure is a "fat loss" program. As your body eliminates body fat your abdomen will diminish in size. Exercise is important for two reasons, to help you lose body fat and to help you develop strength in the muscles that support your trunk. Walking helps because it uses calories. But you need to know the difference between walking and your program. You need to know the difference between walking and your program. You need to know the difference between walking and your program.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been to a reputable doctor and even had pelvic programs and walking out. I took many X-rays along with. Naturally I'm relieved that there is no immediate danger but still the tummy is so big I fear menstruation when I stop for clothes. I might add there is no pain in my abdomen. Please, can you offer some solution as to what I'm reading in your column and in several articles that heart attacks are very rare in women who have not gone through the change I'm in? I'm 46. I had a hysterectomy 10 years ago at age 32 and my doctor put me on hormone pills. I am moderately active and smoke one pack of ultra-light cigarettes a day. My father has a severe heart condition. You need to know the difference between an old medical aphorism that such a condition is not a cancer (which your letter suggests is ruled out), there are five P's to consider: pressure, protein, fluid, fatulence and fat. If your menstruation were gone, you would probably complain of related symptoms. If it were fat, it would be from a medical condition such as liver disease that your doctor would have found easily. Unfortunately some people are prone to developing fat on and in the abdomen. It is important to realize that there is as much or more fat inside the abdomen as there is under the skin outside the abdomen. The most important measure is a "fat loss" program. As your body eliminates body fat your abdomen will diminish in size. Exercise is important for two reasons, to help you lose body fat and to help you develop strength in the muscles that support your trunk. Walking helps because it uses calories. Herbicides Being Accepted To Control Weeds Weeds are common to all lawns. Weeds. They increase the maintenance cost of a lawn, reduce the play value and in some cases contribute to allergies and poisonings.

To compete with all desirable plants for water, nutrients and sunlight. They also harbor insects and diseases that might attack lawns.

Lawns which are properly maintained are less apt to be plagued with weeds. A vigorous growing lawn provides little area for weed seed to germinate and will usually smother out those that do germinate.

The use of chemicals to control

Desmond Hastings

Weeds in parks, recreational areas and public areas is a relatively common problem. In the past, herbicides were rapidly being accepted and their use is becoming available to control broadleaf weeds and grasses in lawn areas, around trees, ornamental plants, along ditches and fence lines. In areas difficult to maintain with mechanical equipment and in annual flowering plant beds.

Before one can effectively control weeds and grasses the most first be able to recognize his weed problem. Weeds can be classified into three broad categories. First, there are the annuals which complete their life cycle in less than one year, and they are usually easiest to control. These are the summer annuals, such as crabgrass, goosegrass and pigweed, and the winter annuals—Poa annua, common chickweed and henbit.

The second category is the biennials, which require more than one year, but less than two years, to complete a life cycle. Wild carrot and bull thistle are examples of this group.

The third and most difficult group to control are the perennials. They live for more than two years and may possibly last indefinitely.

Perennials are classified according to their method of reproduction. There are two types, the simple and the creeping perennial. Simple perennials reproduce by seed only and examples are dandelion, duckweed, and ground ivy.

Creeping perennials reproduce by both seed and vegetative parts and are the most troublesome to control. Examples of this group are wild strawberry, moose-ear chickweed, ground ivy, bermuda grass, and grass-wool Johnson grass.

Herbicides can be useful if applied properly and incorporated into the overall weed control program. Both pre-emergence and post-emergence herbicides, in combination with mechanical equipment are needed for a good weed control program. Ask your local county agent about the proper chemicals to use on specific weeds.

Application of equipment is an important part of any herbicide program. This is simply making the necessary adjustments to the sprayer so that the proper amount of chemical will be applied to specific areas.

Regardless of the herbicide use, care should be exercised and the chemical must be applied in accordance with instructions on manufacturer's label. Also be sure that the herbicide you buy states on the label that it can be used on your particular lawn grass. Using the incorrect herbicide on your lawn can seriously damage it.

Beta Sigma Phi

XI THETA EPSILON

Under the leadership of member Glynis Hagan, the XI Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and its group were guided through a review of the Book of Beta Sigma Phi in keeping with this period of spring rush. Mrs. Hagan emphasized in all respects the purpose, traditions, motto, growth and scope of Beta Sigma Phi.

At the business meeting, Serv. Chairman Ruth Gaines announced that XI Theta Epsilon had made donations to the Christian Sharing Center, Humane Society and the Beta Sigma Phi room, the Ronald McDonald House in Gainesville.

Additionally, it was decided by members to support an anti-bulb fund-raising campaign sponsored by the Central Florida Society for Aesthetic Children to benefit their I.S.S. Program. The exhibit and banquet will feature Richard Wares, a highly gifted artist, who is autistic, retarded and legally blind. He has held one-man shows in London, Paris, Edinburgh and numerous other cities. In 1980, five of Mr. Wares' works were selected by the National Exhibition of Blind Artists, one of the awarded first prize in the category of drawings.

At the conclusion of the meeting, hostess Donna Frank served refreshments to: Faye Lord, Vickie Hall, Norma Lepp, Bonnie Jones, Lois Smith, Wanda Brown, Linda Morris, Glynis Hagan, Laurel Rodgers, Linda Dinn, Diane Gazi, Mary Johnson, Tracey Wright, Nancy Hall, Cathy Markwick and Ruth Gaines.

Officers elected at the previous meeting are: Laurel Rodgers, president; Tracey Wright, vice president; Vickie Hall, recording secretary; Ruth Gaines, corresponding secretary; and Linda Morris, treasurer.

All Kappa will serve as parliamentarian and Beta Sigma Phi City Council representatives will be Faye Lord, Laurel Rodgers and Mary Johnson.

PRECEPTOR DELTA DELTA

Preceptor Delta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its regular meeting at the Lake Mary home of Susan Byrd, Helen Hamner, chairman for Service, thanked members for their donations of food and clothing for the Sanford Christian Sharing Center.

The chapter agreed to participate in the Blood Bank with an account to be registered in the name of Beta Sigma Phi. Susan Byrd is the representative from Preceptor Delta Delta. Any member of Beta Sigma Phi who would like to donate blood is encouraged to do so.

Linda Hering and the social committee have coordinated a joint cook-out with members of Xi Beta Eta, Exemplar Chapter. The social will be held at the home of Mrs. Hering on Wednesday, April 14.

Officers elected are: president, Margie Belin; vice president, Viola Frank; recording secretary, Ellen Bess; treasurer, Eve Rogers; and corresponding secretary, Wanda Hubbard.

City Council's representatives are Susan Byrd, Leslie Pauline and Patsy Seneker.

Susan Byrd presented a program on "Medicine and What is Its Modern Philosophy?"

It's Round-Up Time For Kids Enter School

Lou Childers

Spring has sprung and it is time for the Round-Up. The Round-Up is a program of Geneva Elementary School kindergartners on grade five. Parents are encouraged to take advantage of this one-time interview.

To be eligible for kindergartners, children must have reached their fifth birthday by September 1, 1982. The Dividends school volunteers will be on hand at the Spring Roundup to help in the screening. Please bring the birth certificate or other proof of date of birth and the child's immunization records. Those conducting pre-enrollment may be present from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. which will include time for screening in vision, hearing, language, eye-hand coordination, math, gross motor skills, height, weight, and the interview.

For your child's parents, your child will be registered for school and all results of the tests will be shared with you before you leave the testing site. The information will then be delivered to the school.

The location of the Spring Roundup for Geneva students is Lawson Elementary School in Orlando. The schedule for Round-Up is as follows: Monday, April 20 from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on April 20 for those with last names A through M, and same hours on April 21 for those with last names N through Z.

For further information including location of other testing sites, please call 628-8211.

Last Friday provided a day full of fun for students and faculty at Geneva Elementary School as everyone participated in "Fairy Tale Day." Sponsored by media specialists, Linda Roberts, there was a musical program with lots of humor and good thoughts and a costume parade which was a real live goody!

Coach Leonard received a special "prize" for coming to the costume event without drawing up — a pit in the face. Everyone at the school reports that Mr. Leonard was, as usual, a good sport!

Michelle Hargrove of St. Mary Magdalen School in Altamonte Springs and Betty Wright of English Estates Elementary School served as judges for the Costume Contest. Awards were given to the first, second, third, fourth and fifth place winners. Mrs. Brooks, second place and Mrs. Taylor, third place.

Kindergarten students receiving awards were Tenny Contino, first; Amy Shannon, second; and Christy Russell, third.

Tracy Chase received the first place award out of the first grade class, followed by Michael Hummer, second, and Courtney Dorn, third.

In the combination of first, second, grade, Charlie Voss received first prize, Brian Holland, second, and Kim Blank, third.

Jason Moore, Shawn Hansen, and Bobby Ritter were second grade class winners.

The two third grade classes' winners were Sharon Heronimus and J.R. Bowers, first place, Heather Hill and William Gaitney, second. The two first place winners were Doug Coniglio and Amy Henson.

Leslie Griger took the first place in the fourth grade, and classroom C, Wanda and Kayla, second, received the second and third place positions.

Plumber Leaks Out Truth About Mysterious Pipe

DEAR ABBY, The letter from the treachering man who spends his days a week on the road interested me. He said he came home to discover a well-used pipe in the pocket of his bathrobe, and either he or his wife smoked he was not only bewildered but a bit suspicious. Upon questioning his wife, she denied any knowledge of how said pipe came to be in his bathrobe pocket.

The following day when he went to get the pipe, it was nowhere to be found! He asked for your opinion of this puzzling incident, and you dismissed it with, "Too bad the evidence went up in smoke."

Well, Abby, this should clear up the mystery of my missing pipe. Being a plumber, I was summoned to the home of an attractive woman to repair a faulty shower nozzle that was spraying water all over her bathroom.

While waiting for my clothes to dry I slipped into a robe hanging on a hook in the bathroom, and I suddenly had (though only put my pipe into the pocket).

After searching for it high and low later, I immediately remembered. When I went back to this house, the door was open and I could hear a loud argument coming from another room, so I sneaked in and quietly retrieved my pipe.

I hope this explains it for all hands.

PETE MCG
 P.S. Could you find out for me which five days that man has the pipe?
DEAR PETE: Sorry, no help from this corner for a plumber who can't keep track of his pipes.

DEAR ABBY, I'm writing to you because my father and I have been fighting constantly over what I consider a major issue in our relationship.

I will be getting a large amount of money over the next two years and have informed my future husband that my parents think I have made the right decision, but my fiancé feels differently. He thinks I am taking a very unrealistic view on my future in even considering that our marriage might end in divorce. I really don't feel that way, I'm just playing it safe.

It's funny because lately I've been thinking that the reason my father wants to marry me is because he knows I am coming into a lot of money.

I really do love him, Abby, but need to know if you think I made the right decision.

PLAYING IT SAFE
DEAR PLAYING IT SAFE: Every divorce started with a marriage. And if you have even the slightest suspicion that your fiance is marrying you for your money, have a lawyer draw up a prenuptial agreement. G. better yet, don't marry him at all.

You're never too old for too young to learn how to make friends and be popular. For Abby's book on Popularity, and 81, plus a long self-addressed, stamped 137 cent envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 36623, Hollywood, Calif. 90008.

Lower Prices For Black Gold Means Red Ink

The decline in oil prices will push OPEC and other Third World oil producers into deficit, according to a report by a major oil company.

The report, which was prepared by a group of analysts at the International Monetary Fund, says that the price of oil has fallen so far that it is now below the cost of production for many oil-producing countries.

The report says that the price of oil has fallen from a high of $35 a barrel in 1973 to about $10 a barrel today.

The report also says that the price of oil is expected to continue to fall in the coming months.

oil will benefit from lower petroleum prices, but their export earnings will experience intensified financial pressures for adjustment."

OPEC and other exporting lower developing countries are deflated by a collective current account deficit this year, exceeding $100 billion, according to the report.

Correspondingly large "reverse recycling" — the New York-based bank said — "Reverse recycling" means bank will be forced to step up their lending to the exporters, to complete the financing of their current account deficits.

Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) has a surplus of $1 billion and their current account will also run a deficit of about $40 billion in 1982.

The nine countries that stand to be the most severely affected are: Ecuador, Iraq, Indonesia, Venezuela, Nigeria, Mexico, Algeria, Ecuador, Malaysia, Peru and Libya.

"The increased current account deficit of these oil-exporting countries, together with the reduction of their marketing debt, poses a major challenge for international finance in 1982," Morgan said.

France Faces Bleak Economic Future

PARIS (UPI) — France's shaky economy, which the government has projected will be in a major deficit by the end of 1982, is being worsened by a major austerity program that is being implemented by the government.

The report, which was prepared by a group of analysts at the International Monetary Fund, says that the price of oil has fallen so far that it is now below the cost of production for many oil-producing countries.

The report says that the price of oil has fallen from a high of $35 a barrel in 1973 to about $10 a barrel today.

The report also says that the price of oil is expected to continue to fall in the coming months.

An opinion poll released by the France Sol newspaper showed that 60 percent of respondents had lost confidence in the government.

The poll also showed that 70 percent of respondents believed that the government was not doing enough to solve the country's economic problems.

The poll was conducted by the France Sol newspaper and was published in the paper's April 10 issue.

Opposition politicians have demanded the government's economic about-face as irresponsible.

Communists and Socialists in the left of Mitterrand while begrudgingly acknowledging the necessity of the plan, have complained that the principles of the left-wing movement were being abandoned.

The country's unions have demonstrated their outright opposition to the Socialist plan.

The country's largest union, the Communist-orientated General Confederation of Labor, has said it will support the government's plan to make sure its point of view is heard.

The report was developed before the French government announced an economic stabilization program in late 1981, aimed at reducing the budget deficit and putting a huge foreign trade deficit.

Since his election 23 months ago, President Francois Mitterrand has been struggling to bring the economy currently running at about 9.5 percent inflation down to 5 percent.

The report said that the government's economic stabilization program is being implemented by the government.

Thailand Skeptical Of Vietnamese Troop Withdrawal

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Thailand reacted with skepticism Thursday to Vietnam's promise it would withdraw its 20,000 troops from Cambodia that has occupied Cambodia for four years.

Thailand, in a statement broadcast over Radio Hanoi, said the security situation in Cambodia had improved and it would make a partial withdrawal of Vietnamese troops.

Thailand indicated it would take a wait-and-see attitude but statements by Foreign Ministry officials were pessimistic.

"Somebody should tell (Vietnamese Foreign Minister) Nguyen Co Thach to be serious about the withdrawal pledge," Foreign Minister Sittichai Savavadee told reporters.

Vietnam did not specify how troops would be withdrawn or when the pullout would occur.

Report: Japanese Would Rather Drink Than Fight

TOYO (UPI) — Japan, whose blue-collar workers and businessmen fight each other in fondness of beer, spent only twice as much as the U.S. on defense last year, according to an official report.

The average Japanese dined 22.0 gallons of liquor in 1981, the National Tax Agency report said.

Japan's total consumption figure translates into about 1.9 billion gallons of liquor last year, the highest on record for Japan.

Japanese drinkers spent a total of $10.16 billion for alcoholic beverages last year, nearly doubling the $4.75 billion the country spent for its national defense, the report said.

The report also showed Japanese consumption of alcoholic beverages was growing at a faster pace than the country's defense spending.

Last year, consumption of liquors went up 2.7 percent from a year ago, the tax agency report said.

Japan's population inched up by around 1 percent.

Argentine Military Eases Political Restrictions

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina yesterday announced the military government's decision to ease political rights to 19 prominent citizens, including President Leopoldo Alvarez, as a step toward civilian rule.

Although Mrs. Peron can now return to Argentina to play an important role in the party her former husband Juan Domingo Peron founded, she cannot run for office because of her continuing infatuation with the government boss as president.

"It is an act of justice," said former Labor Minister Carlos Bonabes, who was released Thursday the lifting of a 7-year ban on political activity would allow him to take part in Oct. 30 elections, the first democratic vote in 10 years.

"This move does not return to free society — it still rolls down all its stones," said Juan Carlos Mugnolo, who for the first time in six months of military rule could speak out against the government.

The Institutional Responsibility Act passed by the military junta on June 18, 1976, nearly two months after the coup, barred 24 Peronist leaders and important national figures from participating in politics.

Thursday's action freed 19 of them from the military decree, including powerful Peronist labor leader Lorenzo Napolitano.

But 15 others, including Jacobo Timmerman, the former publisher of La Opinion newspaper, who now lives in Israel, and other prominent figures accused of subversion, still barred from politics and do not have the right to vote.

Most of the men were governors, congressmen and cabinet ministers under Mrs. Peron, and are living in exile in Europe or Latin America.

IN BRIEF

Solidarity Urges May Day Protests

WASHDC (UPI) — Former Polish union leader Lech Walicki said he was "disillusioned" himself from appeals from the banned Solidarity underground for anti-government demonstrations on May Day.

Gdansk police Thursday intercepted Danuta Walicki, a former Solidarity leader, who said her husband's recent rendezvous with the underground Solidarity movement also said she refused to answer any questions.

Walicki also refused to answer police questions about his meetings in the same type of interrogation on Wednesday.

But a bulletin issued Thursday by Solidarity's Warsaw headquarters said Lech Walicki was in Warsaw at the beginning of the week and that he had been arrested on Wednesday with the government's "apparatus of terror" on May Day.

Texaco executive Kenneth Bishop, booked Thursday and held in a 30-day ordeal at the hands of Colombian guerrillas who got a $1 million ransom for his safe release was "ugly, real ugly."

"I'm glad to be back," said Bishop, 57, who walked with a slight limp and had to be helped out of the car by the driver. Bishop and his Colombian-born wife, Bertha Coetzer Bishop, had been held for 30 days.

He said the guerrillas treated him "ugly, real ugly" during his captivity. He was released by the "United Press" and he said he was "glad" to be free, but would not discuss his whereabouts.

Bishop, who began working for Texaco in Colombia as a geologist in 1956, was kidnapped in the town of Armeria, about 700 miles from his work, the two bodies were killed.

Troop Withdrawal Near?

U.S. Middle East envoy Philip Habib hopes to announce within two weeks an accord on the withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon, but concerns mounted that Syria will torpedo any such agreement, Lebanese news agencies said.

Argentine Military Eases Political Restrictions

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina yesterday announced the military government's decision to ease political rights to 19 prominent citizens, including President Leopoldo Alvarez, as a step toward civilian rule.

Although Mrs. Peron can now return to Argentina to play an important role in the party her former husband Juan Domingo Peron founded, she cannot run for office because of her continuing infatuation with the government boss as president.

"It is an act of justice," said former Labor Minister Carlos Bonabes, who was released Thursday the lifting of a 7-year ban on political activity would allow him to take part in Oct. 30 elections, the first democratic vote in 10 years.

"This move does not return to free society — it still rolls down all its stones," said Juan Carlos Mugnolo, who for the first time in six months of military rule could speak out against the government.

LAGOS, TOKYO MOST EXPENSIVE CITIES

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Tokyo and Lagos are the world's most expensive cities, but New York City is the most expensive for Americans — according to a survey by the U.S. State Department.

The survey, which was conducted by the U.S. State Department, found that Tokyo and Lagos are the most expensive cities in the world, with Tokyo being the most expensive for Americans.

The survey also found that New York City is the most expensive city for Americans, followed by London and Paris.

The survey was based on the cost of living in 10 major cities around the world, including Tokyo, Lagos, New York City, London, Paris, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Sydney.

The survey found that the cost of living in Tokyo is 100 percent higher than in New York City, and the cost of living in Lagos is 150 percent higher than in New York City.

This Guy Can Make A Piece Of Wood Sing

'Those Who Can Play, Those Who Can't...'

By Michael Robb
Herald Staff Writer

When it comes to music, Dave Sturgill can do just about anything.

Dave's vocation is making musical instruments. But his avocation is playing them. And oh, how he can play!

Sturgill, in his 60's, owns Skyland Musical Instrument Co., in Piney Creek, N.C., one of a dwindling number of American companies that still produce guitars. But calling what he makes simply a guitar is like calling a Stradivarius a fiddle.

Sturgill's hand-crafted guitars, banjos, mandolins and violins are classics. He has built instruments for entertainers like Johnny Cash and Roy Clark.

Sturgill can play almost anything, yet he can't read music. "I just listen to what someone else is playing and play it myself."

That talent developed about the same time that his instrument-making began. And the two have been growing together ever since.

He has won many awards at arts and crafts shows since his company was formed in 1970. And one of his violins (Dave calls it a fiddle) has Dave's caricature carved at the end of the neck.

But while Sturgill enjoys making his instruments, what he really loves to do is play them. Playing by ear, he has accumulated an amazing repertoire of Appalachian and country-western classics that he'll play at the drop of a hat. Sometimes he'll even play without a hat being dropped.

So when Sturgill comes to Seminole County, it's usually a good bet that Dave will take out his instruments and pick with some of his friends. He was in town recently, stopping for a visit with Mary Ann and Tom Masters who live on 3rd Street in Chuluota en route from their North Carolina digs to a son's home in Vero Beach.

Their visit was cause for celebration. A group of friends stopped by for a jam session that lasted into the early morning hours as Sturgill entertained with songs, stories and his knowledge of music history.

One of the greatest joys of Sturgill's life is attending bluegrass festivals, which are quite numerous in the hills of Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina near the family home. "No, the bluegrass that all the college kids used to go to, but the real thing."

He said the "real" bluegrass has almost died because of a change in the instrumentation. There's also an effort to make it more popular by adding other types of music to the traditional bluegrass sound of a guitar, fiddle, banjo and mandolin.

Sturgill is a historian. He knows the origins of most of the songs he plays and most of the people

Dave Sturgill, who earns his living making musical instruments, plays a pretty mean fiddle. Sturgill has been making instruments professionally for 13 years and playing them who wrote or performed them.

He also knows his own family's history, having written a genealogy book about the family's migration to America.

An engineer with the Bell Telephone Co. in Washington, D.C. for more than 25 years, Sturgill dropped out suddenly to take over an ailing Nashville musical instrument firm. The company didn't do well but the experience gave him the impetus to start his own company, Skyland, in 1970.

"I'd been making musical instruments since I was 11 years old so it wasn't exactly something new," he says. But dissatisfaction with his job made Sturgill turn his hobby into a full-time job.

Today, he's glad he made the change and feels as if he's contributing to preserving a musical heritage. "Not too many years ago there were several big musical houses that mass-produced instruments," he says. "Now, they're all gone. The Japanese have run them out of business."

for a lot longer. Sturgill may be a craftsman by trade but he's an entertainer at heart and he has a vast repertoire of Appalachian songs that he'll play at a drop of a hat.

But there remains a market for the more expensive hand-crafted instruments that Sturgill and his sons Jan and John, who joined the firm in 1973, produce.

He's always on the lookout for old cherry, maple, apple or other wood that can be formed into a unique musical instrument. The wood he uses is at least 25 years old, much of it considerably older, and Sturgill says he has a lifetime supply on hand.

The handful of instruments Skyland produces each year are expensive. Guitars are priced from $500, violins begin at $600. But Sturgill says they appreciate in value if properly cared for.

As a craftsman, Sturgill's pride shows through when he refers to his instruments as the best currently being made in America.

But as a performer, he's more humble. "A great guitar maker once said that those who can play, and those who can't make instruments..."

Don't believe him. With Sturgill, can't isn't a part of the vocabulary. He just does some things better than others. That's all.

Jack 'Five-O' Lord Leads Life Of Luxury

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me what Jack Lord is doing now? Mrs. G., Naples, Fla.

He is living the good life in Hawaii. He is working on some productions, notably a series with a Southeast Asia setting, which he would produce and occasionally direct, but not appear in. But he is working very slowly, as befits a wealthy Hawaiian gentleman.

DEAR DICK: My neighbor insists that Kenny Rogers has six daughters from past marriages, as well as trouble in this marriage. She says Kenny and Marianne are getting a divorce and fighting over their son. Please tell me some of this is true. L.D., Athens, Ga.

Most of it is untrue. There appears to be no trouble in the current Kenny Rogers marriage. He does have children from previous marriages, but that six daughter business is a definite exaggeration. He has Carolyn, who is 34, and Ken Jr., who is 18. And Christopher is 15 months old.

DEAR DICK: I have a family bible of the Sellack family that dates back to the 1700s. I would like to know where Tom Sellack is from and his grandfather's full name. Also, would you find out Tom's family background? My mother's maiden name was Sellack, and I understood she was Beaspe, N.Y. Alsoquewa, N.M.

Ask Dick Kleiner

Tom says his family is English-Scottish-German, and not a Beaspe to be found. His grandfather's first name was George, but he doesn't know the middle name.

DEAR DICK: Can you please tell me what happened to Clara Bow, an actress of the '20s? D.L., Marshfield, Wis.

DEAR DICK: We have been wondering if Clara Bow, of "I Love Lucy," is still with us. J.N.D., Kalamazoo, Mich.

DEAR DICK: I say Steve McQueen isn't dead, but my friend says he is dead. Who is right? R.L.S., Vancouver, Wash.

DEAR DICK: Please settle our argument. Is Corvel Wilde dead or alive? C.M., Jones Creek, Texas

DEAR DICK: You say find out if John Boles, the actor and singer of the '50s, is still around? J.K., Mount Clemens, Mich.

DEAR DICK: I used to love listening to the beautiful mezzo-soprano voice of Gladys Swarthout. I never hear of her anymore. Is she still alive? A.O., Cohasset, Ohio.

DEAR DICK: Is Jack Kingman, who plays Quincy, deceased? M.W., Eight Mile, Ala.

DEAR DICK: We read in the magazine, Lamppost, how David Letterman had died from an overdose of NoDoz. Yet we see him every night on his show. J.G., Carthage, Mo. These are dead: Clara Bow (84), John Boles and Gladys Swarthout (both '69), Vivian Vance ('79) and Steve McQueen ('80). These are alive: Wilder, Klugman and Letterman.

DEAR DICK: For years, I have been trying to find out the names of the two children who played with Gregory Peck in "To Kill a Mockingbird." Is it true that Carol Burnett played the little girl in that film? M.J.P., Ridgely, Wash.

No. In the first place, "To Kill a Mockingbird" was made in 1963, the year Carol Burnett turned 37. In the second place, the children were played by Mary Badham and John Megna.

DEAR DICK: My brother and I have a bet on this one. Isn't the man who played the Derek's groom in "10" the same person who played the title role in "Flank Garden"? B.B., Diboll, Texas

Yes. That's Sam Jones. After those films, he starred for awhile in the ABC series, "Code Red."

Television Tours From Pole to Pole

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Baker and Hugh Downs will wind up poles apart this year, doing essentially the same thing for their respective television audiences which is to take them about as far out into the boondocks as anyone can get and still stay on planet Earth.

First it was Downs, returning last month from a trip to the South Pole with film footage for ABC's "20-20." Now it's Baker, heading for the North Pole to shoot the same sort of icy desolation for Group W's "PM Magazine," "Home Theater Network" and Satellite News Channels.

Baker, who is president of Group W, left Edmonton, Alberta, Canada recently for both North Poles — geographic and magnetic — and in so doing, he joins a very exclusive club. Since he visited the South Pole in 1974, he will become the 38th person ever to tour both of them.

Warmed by all the critical acclaim for her role as a dying mother in the recent ABC movie "Who Will Love My Children?"

Ann Margret now will follow in the footsteps of such dramatic heavyweights as Jessica Tandy and the late Vivian Lee to play Blanche DuBois in "Streetcar Named Desire."

ABC, which has commissioned a television remake of the Tennessee Williams classic for its 1983-84 season, still is searching for an actor who looks good enough in a torn T-shirt to follow Marlon Brando in the Stanley Kowalski role.

Ann Margret will be directed by John Erman who guided her through her dramatic television debut for the network in February.

"Discover: The World of Science," which is so good it really belongs on PBS with such video gems as the National Geographic specials, is out this month with a new edition that truly runs from the sublime to the ridiculous.

With Peter Graves hosting, the syndicated magazine, playing throughout April under various local listings nationwide, examines an experimental anti-rejection drug that may make organ transplants as routine as heart surgery, then jumps to an eccentric British scientist and his "perpetual motion machine."

The drug segment includes shots of an actual kidney transplant operation that are so graphic they may send the squeamish to the bathroom without benefit of a commercial.

Will The Real Bing Crosby Please Stand Up

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Kathryn Crosby, Bing's widow, and Gary Crosby, a distant cousin, have written books about their Bing describing two entirely different men.

Kathryn's "My Life With Bing" depicts a warm, friendly family man with just a touch of the devil in him that she perfectly with the public image Crosby projected during his lifetime.

Gary's "Going My Own Way" reveals a cold, cynical person who physically and psychologically abused his first four wives — Gary, Lindsay and the twins Dennis and Philip.

Stanly Kurylo and Gary defied their parents, swearing Bing was precisely as they have set forth in print.

Gary believes Kathryn is perpetrating the Crosby myth with a manuscript of a book. Kathryn dismisses Gary's book with no comment.

Viewers of talk shows around the country will have an opportunity to judge for themselves in the next few weeks. Authors Kathryn and Gary are hitting the book tour to help promote sales.

They will be traveling separately, of course. There is no real love lost between them, but they are careful not to knock one another.

Despite their contrary views of the man as husband and father, it is interesting that both loved Bing. Gary came to the realization late in their relationship. Kathryn adored him from the start. Bing died in 1977 at the age of 73.

proving that point. Located at the Cavalier Motor Inn, the Buccaneer can be found on Highway 17-92 in Sanford.

Open 7 to 11 in the morning, breakfast prices start at 89 cents for a large Belgian waffle. Many other choices are offered and breakfast specials are frequent.

Breakfast is served until 12 noon; lunch begins at 11 in the morning and closes at 2. Dinner is served from 5 until 9:30 in the evening.

The aim of the new ownership is to serve high quality food at inexpensive prices without the fella. "We are really trying to give good service," spokesman for the owners, Mike Birklow explains. Management is under the watchful eyes of Mark Turnward and James Bertram, both of whom have prior restaurant experience, both here and elsewhere. Owner Gus Wilkerson has lengthy restaurant history with several restaurant chains.

The luncheon buffet, a popular choice at $3.95, delights patrons with a different entree every day. Included is a choice from one of three main dishes, plus salad bar and vegetable.

One of eighteen hot entrees, salad, vegetable and potato can be selected for dinner with prices starting

Stars Slalom For The Olympics

By Dick Kleiser
PAK, CITY, Utah
 (NEA) — The skier tried to cut one of the gates on the downhill slalom a little too close. He clipped it, momentarily lost his balance, fell in a tangled heap. And, for a few frightening moments, he didn't move.

They rushed to his side, helped him up. And, when he was being assisted down the hill, he waded to the rest of us. It was good to see that he was all right. After all, it wasn't just any skier — it was LeVar Burton.

Burton was one of a good-sized group of Hollywood stars who had come up to this glorious mountain paradise to help the Osmond family help the U.S. ski team. Every year, the Osmonds host a Celebrity Ski Classic here, to raise money for our ski team, and this year's event was the biggest and brightest yet.

But there were rocky moments. Burton is a good skier, but the race slope was steep and fast and, in the desire to win, some of the skiers took bad falls. Burton later said his leg was a bit banged up, but no real damage.

Cindy Morgan (the blond actress who was the only reason to watch

"Biring 'Em Back Alive") fell three times. But she got up after each fall, smiling and hopeful. Jenilee Harrison, of "Three's Company," took the slopes slowly. She didn't win — but she didn't fall, either.

On the other hand, a few of them — David Birney, Abby Dalton, Sam Melville — were expected to lose. "Jimmy Webb, the songwriter, arrived with his wife and 4-week-old son, Cory. Webb was already had three sons, so Cory is the fourth Webb boy. Donny Osmond said that maybe someday there would be a Webb brother act. Jimmy said it was possible, since all of his sons are musical. How can you tell at a 4-week?

Ruth Buzzi signed the register at the hotel as "Ruth Buzzi, America's Sex Symbol." And, just below that, her husband, actor Kent Perkins, signed "Tired Old Husband."
