

THE LEGISLATIVE GRIND

Law Makers At Tallahassee And Their Doings—Brieflets Of Legislative Nature By Special Correspondent.

After the humorous Judge Otis R. Parker, of Fort Pierce, representative from St. Lucie county, is developing into the real humorist of the House. Big in every respect and crowning in mimicry, he constantly conveys the lower end of the legislature. Representative Marlin of Hillsborough, has made a hit by reason of his peculiar manner in addressing Mr. Farris, "Mr. S-p-e-a-k-e-r, I arise to a point of order."

buoyant, never forgetful of his duties to his constituents, but the rollicking and youthful vigor displayed by the 240 pounder from Fort Pierce is having its influence. He has the humor and with it ability of no mean order. His voice is like a lion engaged. When he gets to the pianissimo degree of his speech the old state house rings.

Third House to Meet Arrangements were made last night for the regular third session of the House, Peterson Marzoni, proofreader and printer, paper than for the Pensacola News, was the presiding officer. Most of the senators and representatives were present with other interested spectators. An uproar ensued from the time Speaker Marzoni rapped for order. Gene Hawkins, janitor of the House, was one of the main candidates for speaker at the regular session, last night's orle being but a caucus of attaches. Against Gene was pitted Eli Futch, the latter winning out of speaker pro tem, with Hon. Trantham of Leon county, getting the highest vote for speaker, despite the fact that the janitor was the main issue. Governor Trammell, and Judge Otis R. Parker, with George A. Worley of Miami, all 250 pounders, are scheduled for pages. Many claimed that Judge Parker should have been made reading clerk on account of his bellowing proclivities, but by reason of the fact that he has the necessary adipose tissue, otherwise known as avoirdupois, it was thought best to have him trip down the aisles at the snap of the finger. Unusual preparations are being made for a frolic, the date being set for the nineteenth inst. The Gridiron dinners in Washington will not be in accordance to the preparations being fixed up by the committee on entertainment. Senator Drane will doubtless be barred from the proceedings because he is too dignified. Senator John P. Stokes is too serious and Senator Fred Cone likes to talk all the time, so this trio of distinguished men will be mere onlookers. Representative W. A. Russell of Putnam will be there, because some one will have to attend to him in Pastor Hill and may interloper is bound to bring forth some humorous denunciation.

Fancy Work Circle Mrs. J. J. Purdon was hostess of the Fancy Work Circle Thursday afternoon, which was pleasantly spent in conversation and in pretty fancy work. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, whose guests were Mrs. J. D. Roberts, Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. W. L. Milner, Mrs. N. H. Garner, Mrs. T. S. Davis, Mrs. W. W. Long.

BEDLAM BROKE LOOSE

People Visiting Sanford Mistook Joffe for Charivari The following from the Eustis Lake Region will be interesting to Herald readers. Atlanta, Ga., April 27, 1913. Editor Lake Region: I believe you people would like part of it, so here it is. We left Mt. Dora, Fla., on the morning of the 22nd of April, after having sojourned with her people since February. We disposed of our surplus effects as follows: We bequeathed our long bamboo fishing pole, extra hooks and lines, bait and tin can and snake-killer club to one of our little boy friends; and the remnant of our woodpile to our good friend, Tom Jenkins. Our goodwill we bequeathed to the inhabitants of the town in general and especially to the two ministers, Rev. Geo. Marsh and Rev. J. A. Bretz. Mrs. McCarthy bequeathed the odds and ends of her kitchen store to her nearest neighbors, and all her little keepsakes to her friend, Dorris Lane; also her best wishes to the natives of the town. We said good bye and boarded the train for Sanford, feeling glad because the pendulum of our journey had swung to its full time and was ready to swing back to the point of starting.

Her's Where Sanford Comes In It was necessary for us to stay one night in Sanford in order to take the boat for Jacksonville. We got a room at the Sanford House, a real tourist hotel, where everything is nice and clean and up to date, and expected to take on a little extra sleep that would come in handy while journeying down the St. Johns river. We were doomed to disappointment. We were just in the borderland of slumber when the awfullest din and racket broke loose just under our windows. At first we thought the boys had made a mistake in thinking we were a newly married couple and had come to strew us before we could get up to set matters right, the crowd moved on and we decided to see the other fellows they were after, and that they were after him good and plenty, for you never could imagine anything that would make so hideous a noise. These boys had everything in their make-up for racket, big guns, little guns, bells of all kinds, tin pans and wash boilers and all kinds of horns and whistles that were ever invented by man. They would fire off their guns, then start the bells and old cans and yell like a band of wild Indians. After an hour or two of this, we were so mad at the bridegroom, whoever he was, that we could have kicked him out of bed for not showing himself and bride, and going on the dreadful din. Things grew worse and worse, and louder and louder, until 2:30 a. m. when several explosions shook the city and scattered window glass in every direction. We pulled up the cover over our ears and gave up, supposing everything was going to the everlasting bow-wows. I think we went to sleep, for we awoke next morning at 7:30 and went downstairs and found things normal. We asked the proprietor if the war was over and if the crowd found and killed the bride and groom. He said, "It was not of that nature; that the legislature had passed a bill to cut Orange county in half, making Sanford a county seat—and this is the way they celebrate a victory down in Florida!" We forgave them, but with all the noise and all the lovely scenery down the St. Johns river, our mind still goes back to Mt. Dora and Eustis, nothing will ever deface the memory of those places where we spent so many happy days and met so many kind people.

After a week of sight seeing at Chattanooga, Tenn., we expect to return to our home at Jacksonville, Ill. D. K. and MRS. McCARTY.

The New Directory The new directory of Sanford and Orange county can be had at the Herald office at the price of $2.00. The directory is most complete in every respect, comprising all the streets and inhabitants of Sanford and the R. P. D. names, all the different towns and villages in the county with a general description of each and every one of them enhanced by views of same. The book was compiled by W. S. Neville, of Orlando, who is an experienced directory man and the work was done by the Herald Printing Co., which is sufficient guarantee that it is all right. The new directory supplies a long felt want, being the first one published in two years, and the many changes in that time in the county made the printing of a new one imperative. Mr. Neville has left a limited number of the books with the Herald office and those wanting a copy should apply at once before they are all sold.

Eastern Star Meeting Semipole Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star held their regular meeting Friday evening, a good attendance and important business was transacted. Several applications were presented and accepted, and the govt will be busy at the next meeting. Several spoke of plans to raise money for the entertainment of Grand Chapter, April 1914, which will be a great event, as it will be the first grand assembly to meet in the new county of Seminole. After meeting closed delicious refreshments were served and a social time was spent.

The J. M. is the real Shock Absorber. It is unique; has no complicated parts; it is not a spring paralyzer as are many devices; it does not throw extra strain on the rear axle but it makes your car ride easier and protects the mechanism of it; it will reduce the tire expense because the wheels are more constantly in contact with the ground, because the helical springs that compose the J. M. have been studied and applied in so scientific a manner that they give the twenty or thirty vibrations a second necessary for the greater speed of motor cars on rough roads. If you are in doubt about it, ask some of your friends that have taken advantage of our ten days' free trial.

In your hand you hold a five-cent piece. Right at the grocer's hand is a moisture-proof package of Uneda Biscuit. He hands you the package—you hand him the coin. A trifling transaction? No! A remarkable one—for you have spent the smallest sum that will buy a package of good food; and the grocer has sold you the most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came from the oven. THE SANFORD HERALD

Published Every Tuesday and Friday Morning by THE HERALD PRINTING COMPANY

Subscription Price, $2.00 a Year in Advance

Entered as second-class mail matter August 22nd 1908, at the Postoffice at Sanford, Florida

Office in Herald Building Telephone No 148

From the appearance of things now, the probabilities are that two states will be formed in Florida...

SEMINOLE AND ORANGE MEET

A delegation from Sanford came down yesterday and met the county officials and Chairman Overstreet of the Board of Commissioners...

Of course the county real estate is a different proposition. The Sentinel is glad the men got together again and settled...

MOTHER'S DAY

Of the editorials published in Sunday's edition of state papers upon Mother's Day, the best was easily that written in the Tampa Tribune by E. D. Lambright...

"This is Mother's Day and every man and woman of us ought to pay a tribute of love and respect to MOTHER...

Between the proposed primaries and the trend towards civil service the postmasters do not exactly know where they are at...

We have no apprehension in Postmaster Burleson turning down the nomination for postmaster of Arcadia...

We don't know whether the holding by the people of Arcadia of a primary election for the choosing of a postmaster should be properly chronicled in this column or not...

"If she is living, but not with you, write to her, that she may feel the comfort of your undying love and know that amid whatever cares and responsibilities your lot may be cast you turn to her as the first and purest object of your affection...

"If she is sleeping under the Maytime skies where you may visit her laid resting place, go there on this day, dedicated to her memory, and above her dust consecrate yourself anew to the goodly aims she pointed out to you...

"And, wherever you are, wear today the white carnation that speaks the spirit of the occasion—a pure white flower that symbolizes the one love that is altogether spotless and unalloyed with guile."

THE PIPE OF PEACE

The nine committees who formerly constituted a part of the Orange county family, but who now constitute the political machinery of Seminole county, meet today in the first pow wow of the new tribal relation and the Peace Pipe has been extended to the Holly styled "boss" of Orange county...

There were personal calls and telephone calls for directions for running the complex political machine, and they were cheerfully responded to by the man who, by close association with two of the noted political figures of Orange county during the past few years, naturally fell heir to the political fellowship...

MORAL EFFECT OF PUBLICITY

The publicity given by the press generally tends to lessen evil conditions, and thus renders unusual service to the public...

For these reasons the Commissioners believe the enactment of the proposed legislation is inadvisable.

The following is a Washington dispatch regarding the proposed censorship of the press: The editor of The Herald at one time in his career as editor of a daily paper gave all the police court news as it happened and as a result many a drunk straightened up and many a malefactor turned over a new leaf...

Now that we have grown older and look upon the world through smoked glasses there are many small lapses from the straight and narrow path that are never chronicled. One reason for this is that The Herald is not a daily and another good reason is that Sanford is a law abiding community...

With this issue of The Herald the paper changes size going from a five column to a six column paper which is the ideal form for a newspaper and will give The Herald more space and make a much better paper in every respect.

The Herald has always attempted to keep pace with events and the new county of Seminole calls for a larger and better paper therefore a larger and better Herald Having just installed one of the finest two revolution look and job presses and a large folding machine the Herald Printing Company will endeavor to take care of all the advertising matter and job printing of this section, not doing it cheaper but better than any one else in any part of Florida.

Since the advent of The Herald Sanford has grown great. Just how much this paper has accomplished in assisting in the growth of Sanford we leave to the readers to guess.

The Herald has always enjoyed a remarkable growth and despite many drawbacks, dearth of money, high cost of living and other joys and sorrows the paper has gone on and on with never a look backward but ever onward and no hard times or cry of hard times have daunted our spirit or retarded our progress.

We are not satisfied yet. Bryan has rightfully stated that our nation is the death of progress and the people who make The Herald are never contented. With the help of the merchants of Sanford The Herald will some day become a daily—not a so-called daily, but one with Associated Press service and all that goes with it—a real daily paper for this part of Florida.

We now have a plant that will take care of anything in the printing line and we want the people of Seminole county to take the same pride in their paper that the owners do.

The Herald is printed for the people and no one else. It is printed to give them the news and when we say news we mean just that and no more.

News in our estimation is not the yellow journalism that digs the gutters and sewers and probes into private affairs to expose personal matters and parade them before the eyes of the public, but the news that any member of any family can read with perfect safety.

No advertising is taken that will not fit in with the clean aspect of the news matter. No whiskey ads have ever been taken as yet by this paper. This is a distinct loss of money but not of character.

No nauseating medicine ads or stuff of that nature ever appear in The Herald. There is never a copy of The Herald that cannot be read by the ladies of the family.

In fact the ladies are the warmest supporters of this paper for they recognize our efforts to give the people a clean, fearless, honest newspaper.

The Herald has never been a great financial success because our newspaper ethics would not fit with the business office and yet doing our duty toward our own conscience and toward mankind in general has more than made up for any loss in mere money.

The Herald is only a country weekly and makes no pretension toward revolutionizing the world but just because it is a strictly local paper for the people is the cause of its popularity.

In no other paper published in this section is the same matter and in no other paper published can you get the same honest efforts put into type as in The Herald.

In the future as in the past we expect the people of this section to give us their commendation. If meriting commendation we will take our medicine also. No edicts are infallible. The greatest wonder in the world is that so many of them have actually good things in their job in their phases.

OWNING ONE'S HOME

The instinct for owning one's home is a primal one. Upon it is founded the theory of property.

The first cave-dwellers built a home in the cliffs and held it by strength against his fellows. Later when fenced into communities man created laws confirming his right to own his home.

As America today there is nothing so easy as owning one's own home, and nothing so good for the man or for the nation.

The building association has made it possible for the humblest worker to own his own home under conditions that are not difficult to meet.

With the capacity to build a home, the amount of money actually required is very small. The average man can save up the money to buy a home in a few years.

Tom Thumb Wedding

There is nothing more beautiful and pleasing at all times than pretty, sweet and daintily dressed children; but when a large number are specially costumed and trained to personate characters in a delightfully entertaining play, the pleasure is doubly increased.

The magic keys with the grasp of the little fingers find no difficulty in unlocking the doors of all hearts.

While children are possessed of wonderful intuitions, and a quick comprehension of even intricate situations and are clever imitators, it almost seems incredible that Miss Elsie Cody, representing the C. A. Rose Entertainment Bureau of Kansas City, Missouri, could have in only three days trained eighty-one children, some of them mere tots, to so perfectly and charmingly assume characters and costumes representing the portions of a fashionable society wedding. The wonderful and delightfully accomplished fact speaks volumes for the ability of the expert trainer, and the remarkable intelligence and aptness of the children, from three to 10 years of age, who so successfully carried out the parts assigned them in the pretty "Tom Thumb Wedding," which was given Friday evening in the auditorium of the High School, and which was enjoyed by a houseful of the delighted parents and friends of the dear little actors.

Mrs. R. E. Tolar presided at the piano, accompanying the lovely little belles and beaux among the wedding guests, who entertained each other and the audience with finely rendered vocal solos while awaiting the bridal party.

It seemed like a dream of fairyland to see those dignified little girls in evening dress en train, with their hair a la mode, and the manly little boys in dress suits and high stiff collars.

When the familiar strains of the "Wedding March" announced the approach of the star actors in the pretty play, all attention and interest was centered in the lovely and daintily charming little bride, in her elegant wedding gown en train, bridal veil and shower bouquet of bridal roses, as she composedly paced down the aisle leaning on the arm of her father, preceded by the ushers, flower girls and bridesmaids, going on the stage where she met the waiting groom and the best man. When the bridal party were correctly arranged before the minister, the pretty ring ceremony proceeded, although the questions propounded by the minister were not those found in the orthodox marriage service. After the ceremony, which was concluded with a kiss the party were seated and their guests were served with ice cream which they all enjoyed to the very last.

While listening to the sweet voices of those children, as they sang so well, the pretty popular songs of today and the dear old ones of long ago it was interesting to speculate how many prima donnas, famous tenors and baritones, were making their first bow before an applauding public.

Ushered by Robert Holly and James Robson down the long aisle and on to the stage, where they were seated after an exchange of polite bows, were the arriving guests who were:

First Couple of Guests, James Mitchell and Gladys Tuttle; 2nd Couple of Guests, Leslie Moughton and Helen Jenkins; 1st Cousin of Bride, Margaret Zachary; 1st Old Maid, Virginia DeCoursey.

Song, When I Dream of You, by Margaret Zachary.

Third Couple of Guests, Billie Fitts and Jean Maxwell; Grandma and Grandpa Midget, Delwin Hurley and Beulah Tuttle; Sister of Groom, Evelyn Biggers; 2nd Cousin of Bride, Mildred Holly.

Song, Every Day, Sweet Heart, by Evelyn Biggers.

Fourth Couple of Guests, Zeb Thomas and Lucy Olivia Gaines; 5th Couple of Guests, James Bruton and Marion Newton; 3rd Cousin of Bride, Margaret Berner.

Song, Silver Threads Among the Gold by Delwin Hurley.

5th Old Maid, Julia Laing.

6th Couple of Guests, William DuBose and Doris Harper.

Song, Down by the Old Mill Stream, Margaret Berner.

Sister of Groom, Ethel Goodwin Perkins; 4th Cousin of Bride, Lillie Ruth Spencer.

Song, Won't you be My Sweetheart?—Ethel Goodwin Perkins.

Seventh Couple of Guests, Robert Jenkins and Lois Lee; 8th Couple of Guests, William Grimm and Gladys Laing; 3rd Old Maid, Carolyn Spencer.

Song, Fifty Years Ago, Robert Jenkins.

Sister of Bride, Virginia Jenkins; 9th Couple of Guests, Leonard McLucas and Elma Tolar; 10th Couple of Guests, Arthur Gatchel and Ethel Henry.

Cousin of Bride, Myra Lee; Father and Mother Thumb, Harold Marsh and Claudia Wright; Grandpa and Grandma Thumb, Max Stewart and Florence Henry; Minister's Wife, Eloise Wright; Mother Midget, Margaret Shelley.

Song, O Promise Me, by Lillie Ruth Spencer.

Bridal Party

Ushers, James Robson and Robert Holly; Flower Girls, Sarah Wheelock and Alice McKim; Nora Lee Jenkins and Hattie Lewis; Mary Elizabeth Puleston and Clarissa Fullerton; Jamie Thomas and Ellie Tills; Emma Spencer and Kittle DuBose; Sarah Lewis and Helen Kennedy; Theodora Miller and Dorothy Singletary—Minister, Sidney Kennedy; Pink Bridesmaids, Margaret Peters and Annie Kanner; Blue Bridesmaids, Margaret Stockton and Maude Fortson. Groom and Best Man, William Gillon and Pierce Griffin. Maid of Honor, Thelma Godby; Ring Bearer, Leonora Schaefer. Bride on Father's Arm, Camilla Puleston—Deane, Turner.

Marriage Ceremony.

Song, I Love You Truly, by Mildred Holly.

Eleven waiters marched in with chairs for Bridal Party, who then served the party, relatives and guests with ice cream.

Walters—Annie Brutin, Rose Mary Smith, Beulah Brown, Leida Gaines, Lucile Jenkins, Marjorie Packard, Gusie Frank, Ethel Singletary, Cora Lee Tills, Mamie Kate Williams, Annie DuBose, Theresa Bennett, Mildred Lee, Madge Woodcock, Charlotte Smith.

Duet, I'd Love to Live in Loveland, by Arthur Gatchel and Ethel Henry. Full chorus by all.

Song, I Cannot Sing the Old Song, by Florence Henry.

Song, When You and I Were Young, Maggie, by Max Stewart.

Trio, Humorous Song, by Three Old Maids, Virginia DeCoursey, Julia Laing, Carolyn Spencer.

Good-night.

Handsome Wagon on Streets

This city has a perfect National Biscuit Company delivery service.

This beautiful delivery wagon of the National Biscuit Company, which has no doubt, been seen by all our readers, is an exact duplicate of thousands of other National Biscuit Company wagons busily delivering goods all over the United States.

This delivery wagon has been put in operation to give quicker, more direct service in supplying consumers in this city the famous goods of the the National Biscuit Company.

This service enables the National Biscuit Company to deliver all their products from their own wagon direct into the grocery stores, thus forging the final link in the great distributing plan of direct quick service and of perfect protection to the goods from the oven to the consumer.

The people of this vicinity secure in perfect condition the package goods of the National Biscuit Company, which include Uncreda Biscuit and Nabisco Sugar Wafers and also the many varieties sold in the familiar glass front cans.

The standard of absolute freshness which has always been insisted upon by the company makes necessary many special devices in the way of shipping and handling facilities.

This delivery service represents the latest and best method of dispensing food products to the public.

It means that the time from the oven to the consumer is reduced to a minimum, and that the people of this vicinity will receive these famous food products in all their freshness and wholesomeness.

Built For The South

THIS big, comfortable electrically started and electrically lighted touring car is built for the South. It is made to fit your roads—with a 60 inch tread. It has a powerful forty-five horsepower motor. Seats five large people with ease and is completely equipped with all of the finest accessories on the market. It is beautifully finished in rich dark Brewster green and trimmed with heavy nickel plate.

THE price of this exceptional Overland value is $1650. This is actually thirty percent less than other manufacturers ask for cars of identical specifications. We manufacture 40,000 cars a year. This tremendous production makes it possible for us to effect economies which no smaller producer can compete with. Thus we can make and market this car for less money than any other similar manufacturer in the entire automobile industry.

This car is as carefully constructed; as staunchly made, and as thoroughly tested and inspected as cars costing double the price. Each individual part, piece and pattern is standardized and made by automatic machinery. All hand work is eliminated. Every part fits accurately. Therefore no errors or inaccuracies can possibly creep in.

According to all indications the Overland is the most popular car in the South. Our sales gain so far this year is over 85 percent. There are now nearly 100,000 Overlands in use all over the world. No automobile has ever given better or more complete satisfaction. No manufacturer has ever given so much car value for so little money. In Europe alone the Overland demand is in considerable excess of the supply. As one

European Gold Plate Won by Overland 69T

In the great Winter Reliability Trials of the Royal Swedish Automobile Club, held at Stockholm, Sweden, February 23rd to 26th, an Overland Car—a stock model taken from the Stockholm saleroom—was one of the two cars in its class to have a perfect score.

This same Overland entry was the fastest in the hill-climb, the chief feature of the big Swedish run. The Overland time was better than that of any other car of the great entry list of sixty-eight. In this list of cars were many famous European products. The entry list also included all the best known and most exported American cars.

The tour was one of 700 miles, the route being from Stockholm to Goteborg. It was open to all pleasure cars in Europe. It was witnessed by a big assemblage of royalty, including the King of Sweden.

example there are more Overlands in use in Australia than all the other American automobiles of similar size put together.

Investigate this model. It is built especially for your roads and your conditions.

Our dealer will be glad to give you a thorough demonstration at any time.

The electric starting mechanism of the Overland is undoubtedly the simplest and most efficient. The armature of the motor generator acts as the engine fly wheel, doing away entirely with the fly wheel weight.

It does not require the addition of a single gear, chain, sprocket, wheel, nor any of the complications so noticeable in all other makes of starters. Its operation is smooth, quiet and simplicity itself.

My son! I like to think his voice
Will rumble down the Nation's halls
To dream and set his things
In statesman's robes, the people's calls
In thunders volumes praising him—
The very dream of the enthralled!

I like to fancy him in trade,
A man of vim and iron will—
A master in the field of talk,
And towering like the topmost hill
Above his foes—such thoughts as this
Fair seem to make my being thrill!

My son! I like to think—but there,
How idle is this dream—A jest!
I hope he'll join the Legion that
Hoams here and there in simious quest
Or join some Bush League Baseball team
And bat .100 like the rest!

The medical profession is active in warning the people to swat the fly. The Woman's World says that in the end the warfare on the fly is the woman's fight.

That is on the theory that the lady of the house is to do the fly killing after the flies come along, but still more important in the war on flies is the man's work of keeping the premises clean and free from breeding places for flies, and certainly that is not a woman's part of the fight.

If the premises are kept in that condition above reproach, there will be no flies, that is a fundamental truth, and it is the business of the man to see that the premises are put in perfect condition while it may be perhaps the woman's business after that to see that garbage is not left for a moment uncovered and the opportunity furnished, flies for their development.

I do not quite agree with the woman's World in its doctrine that the desperate fight on flies is to be conducted as a woman's affair. It requires all humanity united to win that campaign.

A contributor to the May American Magazine says:

"If there isn't some good in everyone, what are they here for?"

"Anybody can point out anybody else's bad qualities. If you want to distinguish yourself go around picking out good qualities."

"Pick out the man whom everybody dislikes. Select the one you feel could best be spared from your office, from your circle of acquaintances, from the community in which you live. Ask yourself if there isn't something good about him."

"Put him on a mental dissecting table. Cut him to pieces and see what is in him. Remember you are looking for the good."

"Throw away the bad in him and forget it. Make a list of his good qualities. It will surprise you how many you can find."

"The next time you hear him criticised tell people the things you know about him—the good things. You'll at least be different and you'll find that it does you more good than it does him."

"How would you feel if you knew that people whenever they talked about you, talked only about what was had in you. You know it's there, plenty of it, but you'd rather not have it talked about. It's much nicer to have only your good points discussed."

"Give the other fellow the kind of a deal you like yourself. If you can say nothing good about him, say nothing."

"There are mighty few people in the world we can't say something good about if we try. The trouble is, we don't try."

"And yet, the more good you find in other people the more good other people will find in you."

"Women, too, can make this experiment."

I am indeed glad to see all the ladies' clubs of Sanford united and in this confederacy of the ladies is a good lesson for the men of Sanford. When all of us can bury our differences and get together in the grand idea of doing good in this world then indeed will our large city forge ahead. The ladies in this one movement of getting together have demonstrated to me that at some time in the future the Sanford women at least will be able to vote on school matters and from that will graduate into ward politics and become sure enough voters. There is nothing quite so grand in local affairs as the spectacle of all the ladies' clubs of the city uniting in one body and burying all social differences that they can work hand in glove for the betterment of Sanford. The confederation means that the Welaka Club, Wednesday Club, Music Club and West Side Improvement Association have united, and in these few clubs we have the social, literary, music and arts and civics or welfare units of the city united. Sometimes in my useful or useless career in Sanford I have taken occasion to rap the dear ladies on some of their club doings but I now wish to take it all back and commend them one and all upon their grand spirit of uniting and feel that in the future Sanford will depend upon the ladies for much of our improvements and good works. I have always given our ladies credit for being the best looters among us when we could get them interested sufficiently to drop cards and social subjects long enough to take up civic reforms and other measures that would be of more material assistance to all of us. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy and would make Sally a dull girl, and now with the clubs united we can expect both play and work and a happy medium that will work well in every social and intellectual and civic life.

Sanford has never been an aristocratic city, for which I certainly thank the good ladies, who have too much common sense to put dollars ahead of brains. The people of Sanford have more red blue than blue blood in their veins; and we can all find some good in the worst of us. Aristocracy never builds cities and in the market places of the world it is a mighty poor asset. The clubs of Sanford composed of ladies have united and from this date the buried and they are classed among the "dead ones" in any live community. The city that can unite all classes and masses in the grand idea of unity for common cause will soon forge ahead of the one who is willing to hang cards of introduction upon the family tree and worship said tree for an idol. Therefore it gives me great pleasure to see the clubs of Sanford composed of ladies have united and from this date the ladies will have the floor upon all occasions. As the clubs indicate, they will take up the four great classes of work (work being a fitting name for it) and the Woman's Club of Sanford will be known far and wide as being the largest, most active and best ladies' organization in the world.

Choose Sanford For The State Capital

If South Florida Is Formed This City Will Have Necessary Support

Division Is Bound To Come And Progressive Spirit Will Make It Possible

The idea of dividing the state is gaining ground and regardless of whether anything is accomplished this term or not the question is bound to be discussed until it is settled, if not at this session certainly at the next two years hence.

That Sanford will have the support of the counties south of us for the capital of South Florida is already assured and in the event that state division is made Sanford will eventually win the victory for the state capital.

The following editorial regarding this matter appeared in the Miami Metropolis of Tuesday's issue under the caption, "South Florida for the Fifty-Ninth Star."

"Although the procedure for its accomplishment would be different, evidently from merely the simple decree of the state legislature now in session from all reports there seems to be an excellent chance of dividing Florida within the next two years, a move that would be of inestimable advantage to all sections of the present Florida.

Let it be "Florida" and "South Florida" with Sanford as the capital of the peninsula section and the advantages are obvious. In the first place, concerning the main question of dividing the state at all, everything except the sentiment that clings about the "old red hills of Leon" is in the argument for division.

Numerous other differences could be cited, all in favor of the making of the two states and it seems very probable that the big work will be well started by this body of law-makers. By leaving the western division retain the name of Florida the name South Florida with all its tropical significance should be adopted for the new state.

And in making Sanford or some other centrally located town, the capital, the interior section of the peninsula would be given the boost that it needs and at the same time much greater convenience would be provided for the conduct of the state's business.

After the measure has been acted upon by the people and a constitution for the new state drafted, the governor of Florida would certify the action to the national congress and the forty-ninth state would be admitted to the Union by the regular formalities without opposition possibly, except that which would emanate from Republican members of Congress, who would be called upon to welcome two more Democratic senators into the "council of the nation."

Metropolis hopes to see the bill for division provide for the required state amendment, during this session of the legislature. It is an excellent move."

Wednesday Club After nineteen years of beautiful, useful, happy and honorable existence the Wednesday club held their last meeting at the Wednesday Club, at the charming home of Prof. and Mrs. George L. Maris, with its picturesque beautiful surroundings on Lake Onoro Wednesday afternoon.

Although a large attendance of the club members with several guests enjoyed the pleasant trip and delightful meeting, it was a generally expressed regret, echoed by the hospitable host and hostess that every member of the club could not be present.

The meeting was held on a comfortably screened porch. Several of the members preferred the chairs placed on a carpet at the side of the porch under the lovely trees.

After calling the meeting to order the president stated that as there was no regular program for the afternoon, there were several matters which she thought the club should consider and thoroughly understand, while gathering up all the loose threads of the club's individual activities, and before closing the affairs of the Wednesday Club.

The minutes were read by Miss Mell Whitner, as the secretary, Mrs. S. O. Chase, was unable to be present. Miss Whitner also acted as secretary. The club entered into a brief but general discussion of the subjects mentioned by the president, some of which were satisfactorily disposed of, others were deferred for later settlement.

After referring to the program for next week's meeting and the appointment of the program committee the president adjourned the meeting for the pleasant social hour which the members of the club enjoyed at the home of the president of the Wednesday Club.

The ladies in pleasant groups enjoyed short rambles through the finely cared for, handsome orange grove, and down to the banks of the beautiful and placid lake, on which this attractive home, with its effective background of glistening green orange trees, grapefruit, grape arbors and lovely climbing roses is shaded by large, handsome oaks the combined effect of these beautiful accessories render this particular situation an ideal place for a home.

The visitors were recalled from the lake shore and walks through the grove to be served delicious cake and lemonade and mints by the hostess, assisted by several members of the club. After pleasant little chats with their host and hostess and with each other, preparations were made for the homeward trip. The enticing "at home" atmosphere, emanating from the surroundings, and the pleasing cordiality of their entertainers made the visitors loth to leave the charming place.

The trips to Lake Onoro and return, the pleasant meeting of the club and afternoon, with Professor and Mrs. Maris, will be another "red letter" day to be cherished in the memories and hearts of the members of the Wednesday Club, which with that last meeting at the home of their beloved president lost its identity as the Wednesday Club, to be merged into the broader, larger life and activities of the Woman's Club, as the Literary Department.

Auction Bridge Mrs. B. W. Herndon was hostess of the Auction Bridge Club, Monday afternoon. Two tables of bridge were played. Mrs. Robt. Newman made the highest score which won her the handsome prize, an old rose silk parasol.

After the interesting games of cards were concluded, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher and Mrs. Fred Doyle of Tampa came in for bridge tea. Mrs. Doyle kindly entertained the club with several vocal solos, charmingly rendered. Delicious chicken mousse, nut sandwiches, olives, peas in patti shells, waffles and lemon tea were served.

Mrs. Herndon's guests were Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. S. O. Chase, Mrs. B. F. Whitner, Jr., Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. S. Samuel Puleston, Mrs. Robert Newman, Mrs. Fred Doyle, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher.

Dr. Hulley at the Baptist Church Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president of Stetson University, DeLand, will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Dr. Hulley needs no introduction to the people of Sanford. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this service.

Chautauqua In Sanford Ten Days This Season

Capital Of Seminole County Will Have Many Fine Attractions

Lyceum Course Will Also Add Quota Of Amusements During Winter Season

Sanford will have a fine Chautauqua and also a Lyceum course of attractions next winter and there will be entertainment in plenty for the tourists who come to Sanford for the winter season.

The Lyceum course will include a dozen numbers and extend over the winter months with an attraction every week. The Lyceum will be staged at the High School Auditorium and as usual will be fostered by Prof. Perkins and the local school board.

The Chautauqua will occur later in the season, about the last of February or the first of March and will last ten days and be given either in one of the theatre buildings or in a large tent rented for that purpose.

There has been a demand for amusements of this kind in Sanford every season and all the larger cities and towns of Florida are on the regular Chautauqua circuit and though several advances have been made from time to time there has been no concerted action.

That a fine Chautauqua course would be of great benefit, both as an educational course and as an entertainment for home people and winter visitors is the opinion of our public-spirited citizens and later in the season the matter will take definite form and the tickets and programs printed and the theatre secured.

Sanford can now be advertised as the best city in interior Florida for winter amusements and the tourists who are and recreation need look no further.

The Meanest Man in Town

Every man in business has his troubles. The groceryman buys groceries from the wholesaler on thirty days' time, and he accommodates various and sundry citizens by selling them these groceries on time. Some people appreciate the merchant's kindness and there are others who don't. There is the latter class and who never pay the groceryman if they can help it, and if the merchant demands his pay he is called "the meanest man in town."

William Harrison Evans

In the alumni notice of the Miami Student, the official organ of Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, appears the following about the late Dr. Evans, one of Sanford's well known and beloved citizens:

William Harrison Evans, of the class of 1861, died of paralysis, at his home near Sanford, Florida, March 25, 1912, aged 72 years, 6 months and 3 days. He was born in Boston, Wayne county, Ind., October 22, 1839, and was the second son of D. L. Evans, a well known physician of eastern Indiana. Dr. Evans was a friend of Miami University, and sent both of his sons to the institution for their literary training, and both graduated with the class of 1861. The eldest of the two brothers, Frank Davidson Evans, received the degree of A. B., and the younger, William Harrison Evans, receiving the degree of B. S.

William H. Evans volunteered as a private in Company B, 20th O. V. and served as a soldier in behalf of his country during 1861 and 1862. After leaving the Army he began the study of medicine. In the fall of 1862 he entered the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, where he received the M. D. degree on October 30, 1865 and won the honors of his class in Anatomy. Immediately after graduation he began the practice of medicine with his father at Boston, Ind., where he built up a large and lucrative practice. In 1883 his health broke down as a result of overwork, and in December of that year he removed with his family to Florida, locating on the South side of Lake Mary, about six miles south of the town of Sanford. Here his health was soon restored and he resolved to make the state his future home. After planting an orange grove, he built a commodious house

In Sanford and moved to that city. He resumed the practice of medicine and attained great success. In 1888 he was appointed school trustee and in 1889 he was elected mayor of Sanford. After the expiration of his term of office Dr. Evans established a drug store and for three years carried on the business in connection with his extensive practice. Finding his health again failing he disposed of his business and retired to his orange grove on Lake Mary. The severe freeze of 1895 destroyed his orchard and he decided to return north to his old home in Indiana. Here he remained for three years practicing his profession and in 1898 he removed back to Florida, where he continued to reside until his death. In 1900 he was again elected mayor of Sanford, and was re-elected for the two succeeding terms. During his administration the city of Sanford prospered as it never had done before and many improvements were made, notable among which was the erection of a large and handsome school house. Refusing another reelection as mayor Dr. Evans, in 1904, retired to his orange grove farm, where he led a life of ease and contentment. Dr. Evans was for many years a member of the Universalist church and of the Masonic fraternity, and was universally respected for his noble qualities of mind and heart. Dr. Evans was twice married, first on September 29, 1864, to Mary Cory of Oxford, O., who died October 30, 1871, second on September 14, 1874, to Miss Melissa V. Toney of West Florence, O. He is survived by his widowed wife, three sons, Johnathan D. Frank and W. H. Evans, three daughters, Mrs. O. H. Pellett, Mrs. M. K. Hester and Miss Cory Evans, and five grand children.

Sanford can now be advertised as the best city in interior Florida for winter amusements and the tourists who are and recreation need look no further.

Missionary Meeting

The regular business meeting of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church, held at the home of Mrs. H. H. Chippell, president of the society, Mrs. H. H. Chippell presided at the meeting and conducted the devotional exercises, after which the minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. C. H. Smith.

The monthly report of the finances was made by the treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Abernathy. Reports were made by the vice presidents of the work in their departments. Reports were also made by chairmen of committees. A brief report of the pleasant trip of Mrs. C. H. Smith and Mrs. W. W. Abernathy accompanied by several members of the society, by invitation of the Missionary Circle of Enterprise, to make their report of the proceedings of the annual conference of the missionary societies recently held in Ocala was made by Mrs. J. K. Mettlinger, who suggested that an invitation from the Sanford Missionary Society be extended to the Missionary Circle at Enterprise, to attend one of the social meetings of the home society. After the discussion and transaction of several matters of business the announcement of the meeting of the Reading Circle for Tuesday, May 20th, was made by the third vice president, Mrs. H. V. Perry, before the adjournment of the meeting.

The Merry Undertakers

The Florida Association of Undertakers and Embalmers has been holding a meeting in Jacksonville this week. Frank Miller of this city is the secretary of the Association and the following notes from the Metropolis would indicate that Frank was on the job:

F. L. Miller of Sanford was requested to tell for the benefit of the public "How much sand per acre is required to raise Sanford celery?" He settled the matter by the statement: It depends on the size of the man as the "gilt" required must be in the crop of the would be grower.

W. F. Armstrong, of Orlando, who fight against county division was striking for the intensity of his work and the completeness of his failure, was bidden to tell the assembled guests "How not to divide a county." His recent situation overcoming him he spoke with pathetic voice figuratively smiling through his face, and a wreath inscribed "Gone, but not forgotten," was ordered laid on the grave of his buried hope.

Buy Land Here

Ivan H. Rubow of Indianapolis, a recent visitor here was so pleased with the county seat of our new Seminole that he decided to invest. He intends later to come here for residence. Of course he wanted this Sanford news and promptly subscribed for the Herald.

Flagler Slowly Sinking End Is Very Near

Wizard Of The East Coast Cannot Recover Health Say Physicians

Latest Reports From Bedside Of Millionaire State That He Is Dying

May 15.—The death of Henry M. Flagler, the southern hotel and railroad magnate, is momentarily expected, according to a statement attributed to President Parrott of the Florida East Coast railroad today. Mr. Flagler has been critically ill at his West Palm Beach home for several weeks. Mr. Flagler was the builder and practically the sole owner of the Florida East Coast railway and with the late Henry B. Plant did more for the upbuilding of the state of Florida than any other scold of men. Flagler's attention is confined solely to the East Coast; however, and his activities did not extend to the western part of the state.

The people of Miami are discussing bonding the city for the purpose of securing deep water in their harbor. It is very enterprising, but strikes us as scarcely prudent and also as in a sense unnecessary, as the national government can always be counted on to provide the finances whenever a port has sufficient possibilities of commerce to warrant the expenditure. There is, however one prominent example here in Florida of similar action; that is, by Jacksonville. It appears to be uncertain whether the amount of bonds necessary to be issued will be $415,000 or $815,000, depending upon contingencies that are not clearly understood except by those on the scene.

Bouquet for Sanford

The following clipping from the Iron Age shows that Sanford is receiving much favorable notice: "We are very glad to report very favorable conditions in central and southern Florida. Prices for orange and citrus fruits were not good the first of the season, but late shipments have brought good prices. The vegetable shipments, consisting principally of lettuce, celery and Irish potatoes from the Sanford district have averaged well."

Sanford looks for a steady growth and improvement during the coming summer. A division has just been made of Orange county. A new county has been formed and given the name of Seminole county, with Sanford as the county seat. A good many improvements are already talked of and during the coming year a new court house, jail and a great many residences will be built.

An appropriation was made by Congress at the last session of $70,000 for the erection of a government building in Sanford.

Cameo Bridge Club

The Cameo Bridge Club was entertained by Mrs. B. W. Herndon Tuesday morning. Two tables of bridge were played. Mrs. Herndon again made the highest score and was the pleasure of wearing the Cameo brooch another week or until a higher score is made by some other member of the club. Mr. Herndon's guests were Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. W. R. Anno, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. G. F. Smith, Mrs. Robert Newman, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin.

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Couch

A charming reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Claude Couch Tuesday evening at the Robbins Nest by Seminole Chapter, Eastern Star and a delightful evening was enjoyed by twenty-five or a hundred guests. In the receiving party were Mr. and Mrs. Couch, Mrs. John D. Parker, Mrs. Alice Robbins and Mrs. Shepherd of Chattanooga, Tenn. Mr. Couch is grand patron of Seminole Chapter and recently brought his bride to Sanford. The reception was in honor of this event. Their many friends wish them bon voyage on the journey of life and a happy home in the new county. A pleasing incident of the occasion developed when Mr. Haskins, past grand patron of the chapter, was presented with a beautiful cake. In recognition of his birthday. Mr. Haskins graciously responded to the attention by cutting the cake and inviting all present to partake of it. Mr. Haskins is sixty-three years young and declares he is not a day older than thirty.

Marks Has The Property

In every issue of The Herald appears a list of fine property both city and country, listed by the Marks Real Estate Co. The Co. part is Mrs. Marks, and as a real estate saleswoman Mrs. Marks is a decided success. The Marks Real Estate Agency has been established since 1899 and Capt. Marks has gained the enviable reputation of being square in all his dealings and for some forty years has dished up Sanford soil for his customers.

Capt. Marks thinks that in all his long residence in Sanford there never has been a time when the prospects were so bright for the investment of money in Sanford real estate and now is the time to buy before the property takes a jump. The Marks Real Estate Co. has contracted for regular space in this paper and their list of bargains will be found here every week. Look over them and get an investment that will pay you big money in a few months.

Country People Hitching Racks

The country people who have been hitching their teams to the rack at Caldwell's store have a good sized kick on the automobiles standing at the rack to the exclusion of the teams. Autos do not need to be hitched and therefore should not be left at this rack. The editor has an interest in this rack, having torn it down some time since with a bucking automobile and having recently paid for the nice, new rack and he too would request that the automobiles be hitched farther down and give the country people a place to hitch their teams. They have small accommodations now when they come to town, and not only should they be allowed plenty of room at the racks already constructed, but there should be more hitching racks built at every shady place in the business district.

Herald's New Press

The Herald has just installed a new Whitlock press of the latest two revolution type that will print four pages of a six column paper. Also a fine Menzies folder, that will take from eight to sixteen pages, pasting and cutting the same. The new machine was purchased from the well known supply house of J. H. Schroeder & Bro., of Atlanta, their representative, Mr. Sitter erecting the press and having the personal supervision of Henry Schroeder part of the time. The new machinery is the best that can be obtained and gives The Herald one of the best equipped offices in the state for the size. We wish to commend the firm of Schroeder and Mr. Sitter for their uniform kindness and courtesy in all their business dealings during the purchase and erection of the machinery. The Whitlock press is one of the best on the market and will do all classes of work from newspaper to the finest of half tone and book work.

Every Week Bridge Club

Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin was hostess of the Every Week Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon. Two tables of the ever popular bridge were played. The highest score was made by Mrs. C. M. Vorce who won the pretty set of shabert glasses.

When the games of cards were concluded shrimp salad, cheese sandwiches, olives and coffee were served. Mrs. McLaughlin's guests were Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. W. R. Anno, Mrs. H. L. DeForest, Mrs. W. D. Holden, Mrs. C. W. Brady, Mrs. Cruss Barnes, Mrs. G. F. Smith.

Wait for the Carnival

The ladies of the Guild of the Episcopal church will hold a Carnival on the corner of Sixth and Park avenues, May 25th and 26th. A good time will be assured all who will attend.
