85-year-old woman accused of child abuse

5-month-old child suffered an 'acute brain injury'

By Russ White Staff Writer

SANFORD — Neighbors in Lake Mary were stunned Friday upon hearing that 85-year-old Opal Lynn Jones-Steven had been arrested for Aggravated Child Abuse on a five-month boy at her home on Sun Lake Loop.

Dr. Mark Kessler, a physician with the Child Protection Team report that in his opinion the child was the victim of "inflicted" head trauma while in ones-Steven's care.

Sheriff's Office Investigator Steve McElyes arrested the care-taker at 6:55 p.m. on Thursday — and the child was taken to South Seminole Hospital in Longwood and then transferred to Arnold Palmer Hospital in Orlando and put on a respirator.

Physicians said the child suffered "an acute brain injury" and remains the pediatric special care unit at Amoid Palmer.

Jones-Steven said the child had been sitting in front of her in a little bouncer and was playing. She said when she put him down for his nap he went limp and was unresponsive. When she could not revive him, she called 911.

Dr. Kesaler told investigators the child had evidence of "acute subdural and intracerebral hemorrhage and retinal hemorrhages." It is alleged that the child was "shaken with great

In the top of the seventh inning, Ben Fratrik singled with one out and advanced to third on a singie by his father, Mike. Keelan then lifted his sacri-fice fly to left and Ben Fratrik scored what proved to be the winning run. Big hits and J.F.F. errors helped Dalli's Pizza build its big lead in the second game.

In addition to his two-run home run in the first inning, that also back-to-back errors allow a run to score. Donnie Musselwhite also doubled in a pair of runs in the second inning and Mark Valentino tripled in two runs in the third tuning that was helped along by a crucial error that should have been the second out of the inning.

J.F.F. took advantage of some gifts itself to get back in the game, scoring six runs in the fourth inning with a pair of errors that allowed three runs

J.F.F. had another threat going in the sixth, and final, inning as Rodney Gawlik led off with a home run and Pete Martin singled. But Martin was thrown out trying to go to third on a single by Scott Bevis. Brad Tamm then singled and Ron Stoveken walked to load the bases, but Steve Lothrop lined into a double play to end the game.

Rabbi Elbaz prepares congregation for High Holy Days

Staff Winter

LONGWOOD - As Rosh Ha'Shanah approaches — the start of the Jewish New Year more than 150 members of Congregation Beth El are preparing to attend High Holy Day Services with Rabbi Moshe M. Elbaz Congregation Beth El, a Conservative Synagogue located in Longwood, serves the Jewish community across Central Florida, Rabbi Elbaz said the High Holy Days Services will be conducted at the Orlando Scottish Rite Masonic Center in Winter Park (off Howell Branch Road.) They begin on Friday, Scpt. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

In the book of Leviticus, Jews are instructed that on the first day of the seventh month

(First of Tishrel) a day of rest and convocation will be observed, proclaimed with the blast of hors (the Shofar).

This day, Elbaz said, has become known as Rosh Ha'Shanah, the Jewish New Year and the beginning of the Yamim Norain — the 10 Days of Repentance, the period of spiritual self-examination that culminate in Yom Kippur-Day of Atonement.

Rabbi Elbaz said that most Jews enter Rosh Ha'Shanah 5761 - The Jewish New Year of 5761 - with great anticipation in their own lives and with the renewed interest in their faith because of interest in Joe Lieberman's candidacy for vice president on the Democratic ticket.

"Many never thought this could happen," Elbaz said. "And the more they talked Lieberman the more involved they became in their own Jewish faith. We will be praying, of course, for all candidates, all world leaders. We are pleased, however, for Mr. Lieberman as the nation was for John Kennedy 40 years ago. Barriers are coming down."

Elbaz said that as members of a larger community and citizens of America, Jews pray constantly for world peace -

Rabbi Elbaz has been a spiritual leader for Conservative Jews in this area for nearly 20 years. He and Jackiyn Elbaz have been married 28 years and have the children - Shuli Mesa (25), Yamiti (22) and Jonathan (11). Rabbi Elbaz said Jonathan is attending Hebrew Day School and enjoys athlet-

Gambling OK as long as the milk is delivered

Somebody dropped a lottery ticket in the collection plate at a church on a recent Sunday.

"Wouldn't it be great," said the pastor, if that's the winning ticket?" He was rubbing his palms together in mock joyful anticipation. He would take the winnings, he said, and pay off the church mortgage and do needed repairs on the parson-selves in the position of the Baptist minister who replied, when asked what he would do if he found a lottery ticket in the collection plate, "I'd throw it away."

Where does the church stand on the matter of bingo? That is a form of gambling.
The Catholic Church

takes the position that gambling is sinful only if indulged in to excess for instance, if it takes money away from a family that needs it.

As for betting on a horse race or a football game, it can make the race or game more interest-ing, says a Catholic Church spokesman. "The important thing is that it can be done in the spirit of fun.'

The church draws the line, says the priest, "when a person gets all worked up over a bet or gets angry about losing. That's when betting becomes evil."
The English publication, New

Statesman, says, "One would gather from the denunciations of sweepstakes that the ordinary human being, having bought a ticket, is able to think of nothing else 'till the drawing is over. The milkman, one is led to believe, forgets to deliver the milk, the postman drops the letters in the wrong boxes, etc."

Opponents of gambling will always point out, too, that the big money sweepstakes or lot-tery winner usually has so little experience in handling large sums of money that it is unlike-ly to stay with him very long.

There are even many stories came upon a tragic end. Take poor old Joe, his brother, Fred, and his brother-in-law, Al.

The three men, who were all employed in the same factory, held a ticket on the second-place winner in the Irish sweepstakes. Joe's share was $430,000 while Fred and Al split the other $430,000 evenly.

Joe knew what he wanted --a nice little farm for his wife,

Grace, and himself. "I'll get some good fishing tackle and two good shotguns and two good bird dogs and that's all," he said. "The rest of that dough is going into bonds.

His brother said that sounded wonderful to him, and Al

Two years later, Joe hadn't gotten around to buying his lit-tle farm, but he was still talking about it. He was living in an apartment and had a Japanese servant to pour his drinks. Grace was in a mental institu-

Not many of us, of course, have to worry about what will happen to us if we hit it big in the lottery. In the meantime, with a lottery ticket in our hands, we can be, as the New Statesman says, "rich in our dreams — which is the only kind of riches most of us are likely to possess."

Kampf Title & Guaranty Corp. 143 "Performing Good Deeds For Over 37 Years"

Buying a home is one of the most important purchases in your lifetime. Once the deeds and mortgage documents are sheed, the property is yourn, so you think, but it may not be. Chances are, you are the owner, but a sure title is not having a deed in hand. A deed alone will not cancel prior "rights" others may have to your property—rights and claims you would never expect to exist.

When a title policy is issued through Kampi Title & Guaranty, you can rest assured that your property is protected by the policy subject only to its term. If a flaw in the title is discovered. Kampi Title & Guaranty, through its underwriter, will defend the title as issued, at its own expense, and will correct or clear the title or will pay any loss incurred, up to the face value of the policy.

A low, one-time premium covers the entire con fix as long as covers his menalty in your name and even thereafter. Protection of your property rests on the financial stability, professional integrity and te ponsible management of the title insurance company. So select your little insurance as carefully as you would any other insurance. Protect yourself against loss due to title defects. Insist on an owner's title insurance policy issued through Kampi Ditle & Guaranty, located in Sanford at 200 West 1st Street, in the Summust Bank Building. Unsupervised kids in streets drive neighbors to distraction

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in a community outside New Orleans. It is a new  residential area with homes that all have nicely fenced back yards. However. when we return from work in the evenings, we encounter toddlers on the streets with their tricycles and abandoned toys — and the parents are not within three houses of their youngsters. Dear It's an obstacle course.

Abby Frankly, we are sick to death of taking responsibility for the safety of their children. As we pass, the parents give us dirty looks and yell things like, "Watch the kid, will ya!" as we swerve to avoid children who are not old enough to be playing in the street.

We make every effort to drive under the speed limit and are always very careful. However, at least once a week we find ourselves slamming on our brakes to avoid an unsupervised child. When tragedies happen, these parents are quick to place the blame elsewhere.

When I was a child, we were allowed to play only in a fenced yard with a padlock on the gate so we couldn't escape. Or we played in designated play areas with our parents keeping a close eye on us. We were not allowed to ride bicycles on the street until we had been taught road safety and demonstrated the skills and knowledge needed to cycle on public streets without harm.

Thank you for letting me get this off my chest. It felt good to vent. I hope my letter will open the eyes of some parents to reality.
PAMELA IN SLIDELL, LA.

DEAR PAMELA: So do I. Perhaps this is the time for a public service announcement. Supervision of small children --- who by definition are impulsive and quick • • • • • • — is a full-time job. It requires one's full attention, particularly if the child is playing in a driveway or on a sidewalk near a street with traffic. Carrying on adult conversations, reading a magazine, running into the house "for just a moment" are distractions that can lead to tragedy in the blink of an eye. Hard work? You bet! But the joys are boundless.

DEAR ABBY: My sister has lived in Europe for most of my son's 9 years. She's 50 and going through a divorce. She is moving back to the United States and now wants to spend more time with my son. She also wants to start a savings account for him to pay part of his school tuition.

I am a single mother raising him alone, and the help would be appreciated. However, my sister does not give freely - there is a price attached to everything she does. She is manipulative and controlling, and my son doesn't particularly enjoy spending time with her. When she's around, she rarely participates in our life, but expects to be fed and cleaned up after - the classic "guest" mentality.

While the college fund is something I cannot provide at this time, I don't want to have it held over my head that I or my son "owe" her in some way. Should I take the money and keep quiet for his sake, or say "no thanks"?

CAN'T DECIDE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR CAN'T DECIDE: I'm reluctant to decide this question for you. Much depends upon your ability to tolerate her attitude of entitlement. However, feeling as you do, I would be inclined to graciously refuse her kind offer. There will be far fewer hard feelings if you do.

What teens need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with peers and parents is in "What Every Teen Should Know."
