Shelter accepting dogs again

SANFORD — The director of the Humane Society of Seminole County is expecting a line of cars "back to Orlando" Saturday morning when the shelter opens at 10 a.m. and begins accepting dogs for adoption again.

One month ago, the society stopped accepting dogs after a total of 25 canines were euthanized when distemper was discovered in five dogs at the shelter. Since then, the shelter and grounds at County Home Road have been regularly disinfected.

Triah Scott, society director, said she expects numerous people to leave dogs at the shelter on Saturday. She said many people who have sought to give up dogs for adoption during the last month have agreed to keep them until the shelter opens.

Scott said she has heard criticism that many of the dogs at the shelter were "give ups," dogs owned and regularly examined by a veterinarian, and may not have needed to be killed. She said she polled most vets in Seminole County and many in Orange County before the decision was made. She said the vets unanimously recommended that all dogs at the shelter should be euthanized.

Scott said distemper vaccinations are only 87 percent effective and the vets counseled that a 13 per cent chance of the distemper spreading among the healthy dogs was too high a risk.

Accused knifeman arrested

SANFORD — A man who allegedly slashed open the face of one man and stabbed another has been charged with attempted murder and aggravated battery.

Sanford police report Clevester Grubbs, 30, 155 W. Cypress Ave., Sanford, is accused of stabbing Calvin Miles in the face when Miles reportedly tried to stop Grubbs from stabbing Freddy Browdy outside the Elks Lodge, 619 Cypress Ave., at about 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

The victims said the attack was unprovoked. Browdy was treated at Winter Park Memorial Hospital and Miles was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

Grubbs was picked up and arrested by police at 11:15 a.m. Thursday. He reportedly said he had been at the lodge earlier that night where he was hit in the head and face with a pistol. He reportedly said he doesn't remember the alleged knife attacks. Bond is $25,000.

His thoughts on what's happened and what's going to happen will appear on the cover of Sunday's Perspective section.

Sunny, cool and windy

Ready, set, shop

Hundreds of Seminole Countians were waiting for the doors to open at local retail and department stores Friday morning. At the Sanford K-Mart, business was booming and checkout persons adorned in Santa elf headgear were processing the sales.

Local stores jammed with bargain hunters

Local merchants said shoppers were turning out this morning in large numbers for sales marking the traditional beginning of the Christmas shopping season.

"It's super. This is probably the best morning we have had all year," J.C. Penney men's merchandise manager Joe Pucyloki said.

J.C. Penney, like many other area retail stores, began a holiday schedule today. When the store opened two hours earlier than normal this morning, Pucyloki said, a crowd of shoppers was waiting at the door.

J.C. Penney, located in Sanford Plaza on U.S. 17-92 north of Airport Boulevard, will maintain a varied schedule during the season. "It looks like it's going to be a great season," he said.

Buddy Cole, Wal-Mart manager, said shoppers were waiting in the store parking lot as early as 8:20 a.m. The store kicked off the holiday season this morning with a sale from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m., offering early-bird shoppers free coffee and doughnuts, prizes and specials in several store departments.

City police beefing up patrols around local shopping centers

By SUSAN LOEHN Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sanford police have beefed up patrols of shopping centers in anticipation of increased criminal activity and traffic associated with the holiday season.

Police Chief Steven Harriett said police expect to respond to more calls through Jan. 1.

He warns shoppers their best defense against criminals is to not shop alone. "I can't impress upon them (shoppers) enough — traveling in pairs is a safety factor," Harriett said.

Packages and other valuables, Harriett said, should be secured out of sight in a car, preferably locked in the trunk.

Shopper's vehicles should be locked both when parked and when occupied. When parked, if the shopper is out at night, the car should be located in a well lit area. Drivers should check the car for intruders before entering the vehicle.

Shoppers should carry only the amount of cash they plan to spend and cash shouldn't be displayed openly, he advised.

Some stores using detectors to help spot phony currency

Everyone expects stores to be crowded during the biggest shopping weekend of the year, but the checkout line may be a tad slower than its usual snail's pace as retailers keep a wary eye out for counterfeit bills.

Experts say counterfeiters no longer concentrate on bills of large denominations, so retailers and restaurant owners must be vigilant to catch phony money.

"Counterfeiters are like depers, they're indiscriminate," said Jack Kippenberger, the agent in charge of Miami's Secret Service

Perestroika comes to Sanford

Soviet delegation to board Grand Romance for cruise

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN Herald staff writer

SANFORD — A delegation of Soviet government officials, artists, musicians and others will cruise the St. Johns River on the Grand Romance as part of an exchange to demonstrate crumbling barriers between the Soviet and American cultures.

Renee Lewis of the Romance said her company decided to host the Soviet delegation after learning about the "USSR: Perestroika" exhibition debuting at Orlando's Expo Center next month.

The exhibition, opening Dec. 18, will show the recent dramatic changes in all aspects of Soviet culture. The exhibition will close in Orlando Jan. 5, then travel to Dallas and San Diego during February and March.

"When we found out about it, we thought it would be a wonderful opportunity for us and Sanford," Lewis said.

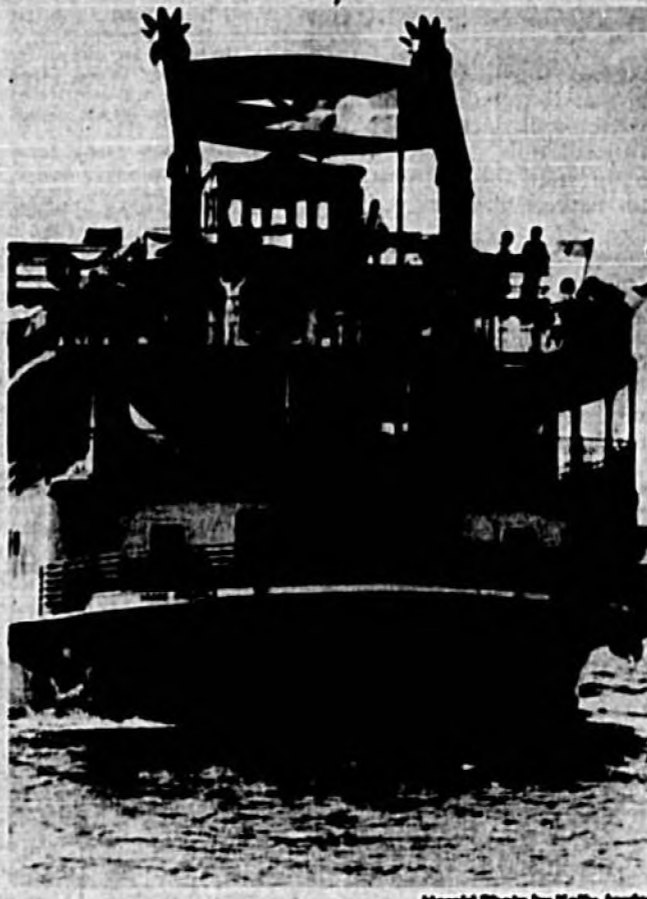

"This is not only a little piece of Americana they can experience, but a chance for us to do something for them," Lewis said.

The makeup of the Soviet delegation to the Romance has not been announced, Lewis said. Newly-elected members of the Supreme Soviet, a cosmonaut, a folk dance troupe and the highest member of the Russian Orthodox Church will be visiting Orlando with the exhibition, she said.

Mayor Bettye Smith will be presenting the delegation a key to the city of Sanford aboard the Romance.

"Even bigger than its importance to Sanford, this event will be important for the people-to-people relationships between two countries that I feel are so critical," Smith said.

The Dec. 21 cruise is jointly sponsored by the Romance and Terra Block Worldwide, an Orlando manufacturer of machines which hypercompress soil

Shuttle to land Sunday; status of satellite still hush-hush

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — The shuttle Discovery's five astronauts sailed into their second full day in space today with a news blackout in effect and no word on the status of a secret military satellite presumably launched Thanksgiving Day.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration broke its official silence about the classified military flight Thursday, issuing a brief statement announcing a Sunday night landing.

The "mission will conclude at approximately 7:02 p.m. PST on Sunday ... with touchdown of Discovery at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif." NASA said. "The crew is doing well and the orbiter continues to perform satisfactorily."

Commander Frederick Gregory, 48, and co-pilot John Blaha, 47, will guide their ship to the Mojave Desert landing — the third such night touchdown for the shuttle program and the first since the pre-dawn touchdown of Columbia in January 1986, days before the Challenger accident.

The two-sentence statement was NASA's only comment Thursday on the progress of Discovery's mission, the seventh since the loss of Challenger and the fifth of six planned for 1989. With no word to the contrary, Gregory, Blaha — both Air Force colonels — Navy Capt. Manley Carter, 42, physicist Kathryn Thornton, 37, and physician Story Musgrave, 54, presumably pressed on Friday with a busy if secret schedule of activity on the high frontier.

Discovery reportedly carried a high-tech 6,000-pound military satellite into orbit Wednesday that was built to eavesdrop on Soviet military communications from an orbital outpost 22,300 miles above the equator.

Aviation Week & Space

Technology magazine said the satellite and its solid-fuel booster rocket were to be deployed from Discovery's 60-foot-long payload bay during the crew's seventh orbit, or around dawn EST Thanksgiving Day.

But as usual with such classified military mission, NASA officials refused to comment on any "operational details" about the 32nd shuttle mission and the identity of the crew's secret payload, and whether or not it was launched on schedule, could not be immediately confirmed.

Woman arrested on several theft charges

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A local woman was charged with the burglaries of two homes after she was arrested early Wednesday morning for the second attempted theft of an auto. Helen Yvette Walker, 30, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at about 3:45 a.m. Wednesday after a Seminole County deputy spotted her fleeing from a car parked at a residence on Plymouth Avenue in Altamonte Springs. Deputies, aided by an Altamonte Springs K-9 patrol, found her nearby.

The car's owner told deputies Walker had entered her home Nov. 20 and took her car keys. On the following night, Nov. 21, the victim said she saw Walker, whom she said she had known all of her life, trying to enter her car. Walker was charged with two charges of burglary to an auto and two charges of attempted auto theft.

After she was arrested, Walker was also charged with entering two other homes in Altamonte Springs on Nov. 18, including a home on Cadillac Court and a home on Ford Avenue. A car parked at the Cadillac Court home was taken and later abandoned in Orlando, apparently with keys taken from the home.

Walker was charged with burglary to an occupied dwelling and grand theft of an auto for the Cadillac Court incident and burglary to an occupied dwelling for the second Nov. 18 incident. She was held without bond.

Lawn mower sale leads to arrest
MIDWAY — A local man was arrested by Seminole County deputies Wednesday morning on charges he had sold another man a stolen lawn mower. Herman Herring, 26, 2301 Water St., was charged with dealing in stolen property for allegedly selling a lawn mower stolen Nov. 13. He was held on $2,000 bond.

Deputies are seeking an accomplice, Earl Coley Myers Jr., 2340 Jitway Ave., who is also charged with the sale of the stolen lawn mower. Myers was still at large Wednesday afternoon.

Alleged burglary brings arrest

SANFORD — Richard Stephen Sandukula, 27, 388 Midway Ave., Sanford, is charged with burglary and battery. Sanford police arrested him at home at about 3:41 a.m. Thursday. They allege he on more than one occasion Thursday forced entry to the house of Sherry Pickett, 34, 5137 Bryant Ave., Sanford. Sandukula's wife Rebecca, who is Pickett's sister, was at Pickett's house during the incidents, police said. After one forced entry, police said, Sandukula ripped Pickett's shirt, shoved her and ripped a phone out of the wall. He was also reportedly involved in confrontations with his wife and damaged property at Pickett's house.

Woman charged in robbery

SANFORD — A woman accused of burglarizing a house at 910 S. Maple Ave., Sanford, on Nov. 18, has been charged with armed burglary and grand theft. Sanford police arrested Ruby Yvette Robinson, 27, 1937 1/2 Airport Blvd., Sanford, at 12:54 p.m. Thursday at the police station. Police said a revolver, a camera, jewelry and other items with a total value of $664 were stolen. The camera was recovered by the victim on Nov. 16, police said.

Wife reports spouse abuse

WINTER SPRINGS — City police charged Ronald M. Young, 23, 600 Northern Way #1504, Winter Springs, with spouse abuse after his wife said he grabbed her and hurt her arm. Young was arrested at home at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday.

SEA surveys teachers on additional 7th period

By VERA BOBROWNA
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole Education Association (SEA) is surveying teachers to discover where they stand on the subject of adding a seventh period to the school day.

During their Oct. 11 meeting, the Seminole County School Board voted unanimously to implement an optional seventh period at the end of the regular school day for high school students.

At the time, board members said the additional class option would allow students to take additional advanced placement courses, to spend more time in the school computer or science labs, or to simply add a study period where they could do their homework or catch up on work in an environment with fewer distractions.

The school board must also, however, negotiate with SEA on compensation for teachers who have to teach the extra period.

According to a report by SEA president Ira George, there is no clear-cut consensus about the new seventh period among the teachers.

"There are distinct factions," George's report states, "each of which believes they are being misrepresented, and each of which assures us that all teachers share their view."

The teachers' union has developed a questionnaire to determine where their members stand on the issue. The survey is simple, containing only three options:

- Do not add a seventh period.
 - Make seventh period part of the regular school day.
 - Add an optional seventh period at the end of the regular school day for high school students.
- Before the October school board meeting, the board formed a committee of teachers, administrators and parents to study the addition of the seventh period.

The committee studied the costs of four options regarding the additional period and brought their findings to the school board, which chose the optional seventh period day. The other choices studied by the committee were seven 50-minute periods, six 30-minute periods and no seventh period and six 50-minute classes with an optional seventh period study hall.

Seminole County high school students currently have six 60-minute periods.

Girl told truth of baby switch at hospital

United Press International

SARASOTA — A 10-year-old Florida girl responded with tears, confusion and curiosity upon learning that she is the biological child of a couple she has never met, her father said.

Robert Mays broke the news to Kimberly Michelle, the daughter he has raised, after learning Friday that genetic tests showed that there is a 99.999999 percent chance she is the daughter of Regina and Ernest Trigg. Mays's biological daughter apparently was switched just days after her birth with the Trigg child at the Wachula hospital where both girls were born.

Mays, a single parent, said Wednesday that he planned to tell his daughter the results of the test during a long weekend trip on their boat, but she sensed he was upset Friday when she returned home from school.

"She noticed the bags were packed and asked if we were going out on our boat," Mays said. "Then she looked at me and asked me what was the matter. She cried for a long time. She's feeling in her own way a sense of confusion. But she still calls me Daddy. And nothing is going to change as far as family is concerned."

Correction

Due to a reporting error, it was reported in Thursday's Herald that assistant jail administrator Robert Fischer participated in the beating of an inmate. Fischer, who reportedly ordered the beating, stood outside the cell during the June 9 attack and did not beat the inmate, according to the sheriff department's internal investigation. A guard, Joseph J. Fischer III, is accused of striking the blows attributed to Robert Fischer. Fischer was suspended for 30 days for his part in the incident. Lt. Mark Metta, who also hit the inmate, was demoted to sergeant. Fischer, who was acting under orders along with another guard, was not punished following an internal investigation into the beating.

Safety isn't negotiable

The Federal Aviation Administration, which has been consistently slow to react to safety concerns, is finally starting to think about safer airline travel for infants. The agency has been under growing pressure since the July crash of a United Airlines jet in Stuart City to draft new rules ending the long-standing practice of allowing children under age 2 to be carried on an adult's lap without safety restraints.

A lively debate is expected between the airlines and safety advocates before the FAA's proposed new rules are published in a few months. The debate will center on whether the costs of mandatory safety seats for infants are justified by the safety benefits.

This, surely, means the point. The question of child safety is not, and should not be, negotiable. The FAA and the airlines are charged by law to provide the highest possible level of safety for all passengers. There is no room for deals here, no question of trading off degrees of safety against degrees of financial benefit, based on the age of the passenger. Child safety seats should be compulsory aboard airlines, just as they already are in most states for autos.

The reality is that the airlines have ignored the obvious safety hazards of allowing infants to travel without safety restraints. At least two infants were torn from their mothers' arms when United's crippled Flight 232 cartwheeled in the runway during an emergency landing and one of the children died.

Airlines officials acknowledged that the use of infant restraints is not encouraged, because the carriers want to attract customers among families with small children. Consequently, passengers under age 2 are allowed to fly free, without seats of their own. This marketing tactic may build profitability, but it does so at the expense of child safety.

Parents may now use their own infant safety seats on airlines as long as the seats meet government standards for auto use. They are strapped into ordinary seats with the seat belts. However, the only way to be absolutely sure they can be used is to buy separate tickets for children.

This is the standard the FAA should insist on. There can be no justification for placing infants at higher risk than other passengers. Every infant should be properly restrained in a safety seat strapped into an adult seat.

As for the cost, let the market decide how it should be distributed between airlines and passengers. No matter how compelling the arguments advanced by the airlines in the safety seat debate, the FAA is duty-bound to ensure that infants' lives are never sacrificed for profits.

Berry's World

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

What about Jimmy Carter's junket?

The media have given President and Mrs. Reagan a very hard time over their recent private visit to Japan. According to the press, Mr. Reagan was paid $2 million by his Japanese hosts for making "a couple of speeches." In an apparently unrelated transaction, he seems also to have persuaded the Japanese to make a substantial contribution toward the construction cost of his presidential library.

Given the way House majority leader Richard Gephardt and other Democrats have complained about the alleged Japanese takeover of American businesses, you might suppose that Mr. Reagan might get a little credit for being a few yen. But no, he has been denounced as greedy, and compared unfavorably to former President Carter. Carter got a lot of laudatory press for coming up to New York twice after his 1980 defeat and doing carpentry, with his own workbench and tools, in a house being rehabilitated for the use of the poor.

There is, of course, a lot the media haven't told you about Mr. Reagan's financial situation and what he and Nancy actually did in Japan. The former president is not a rich man. The house he is currently living in, in Los Angeles, is owned by a group of friends who bought it for him and Nancy, as a prospective retirement home, several years ago. Now Mr. Reagan has to find the $2 million he will take to buy it from them, and that undoubtedly explains his raid on Japan.

But, in addition, there was a lot more to the trip than just "a couple of speeches." There were intensive conferences with high Japanese business and government leaders on a number of crucial subjects to the two countries, and Nancy had a full program of her own, centering on her longstanding interest in drug rehabilitation and related subjects.

Nevertheless, envy isn't limited among the seven deadly sins for nothing, and the critics have been mowing cattily. Among other things, they have complained that it costs the taxpayers nothing whatever a former president travels abroad.

Indeed it does, and that persuaded me to bring up a matter I had previously elected to leave alone. (You see how these people contrive to drag you down in their level?) I am speaking of Jimmy and Rosalyn Carter's 1988 expedition to Nepal.

As it happens, I was in Kathmandu myself in the autumn of 1988, in the course of a trip around the world. Jimmy and the Steel Magnolias had just passed through the famous valleys and mountain passes. The little Himalayan kingdom is world-renowned as a trekker's paradise. There are half a dozen favorite trekking areas, and the idea is to pick the one that appeals to you most.

The Carters, however, had grander ideas. They tried to talk the Nepalese government into loaning them 10 military helicopters to fly them and their entourage to one choice trekking area after another. Unfortunately, the Royal Nepalese Air Force had to refuse, since the helicopters were being used at that moment to rescue a group of tourists who were stranded, in life-threatening circumstances, on a glacier.

Of course, I was out of the country myself and may have missed the media's extensive criticism of Jimmy's junket. Or was there any?

The former president is not a rich man.

On junkets, spouses shop 'til they drop

WASHINGTON — Don't expect all of your elected representatives to be home for the holidays. Some will give themselves and their spouses Christmas presents from you in the form of first-class junkets to warm climates for "official business."

For years we have been reporting on the peripatetic habits of members of Congress, and we've noticed that they frequently take along their wives and husbands for "representational purposes" — window dressing. Smooth lawmakers always explain that their spouses are simply filling empty seats on military planes that would be making the trip anyway, and that the spouses pay their own expenses.

That's the truth, but not the whole truth. Congressional spouses are a pain in the government's flank. And, to paraphrase an old saw, "There ain't no such thing as a free spouse."

An Army sergeant who worked as a congressional escort revealed the messy facts. Our associate Stewart Harris obtained a deposition taken during an investigation of congressional travel by the Army inspector general. Here is how the escort, Sgt. Clloyd Riddle, under questioning by an Army investigator, described one congressional trip three years ago.

"How did this last trip go?"
"Long. The whole delegation was like a frenzy of feeding sharks in department stores."

"I guess I don't understand that. Tell me what it means."
"It was more of a junket than a business."
"Boondoggle?"
"Yes, sir."

"What do you think about this operation we're involved in here with hauling the congressmen around and senators, and — is it worth our investment?"
"Maybe some of the ones. I've seen a couple that have been beneficial. But a lot of them are shopping sprees for wives."

"Wives? Congressmen's wives?"
"Yes, sir."
"Have any trouble with them?"
"They're the biggest problem."
"How come?"

"... The biggest problem is the embassy having to shove them from point A to point B, to the store and then they bring back boxes, gifts or ceramic elephants, and we have to box it up for 'em and get it to the aircraft, get it back."

When the Army promised recruits that they could "be all that you can be," we bet none of them wanted to be a specialist in packing ceramic elephants in styrofoam peanuts.

The trip (Sgt. Riddle was complaining about was led by Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla., to Brussels, Rome, Berlin, Dublin and Yugoslavia in 1986. Reps. Stan Parris, R-Va., and Martin Sabo, D-Minn., went along.

Lehman chairs a House subcommittee on transportation, and the trip was officially planned to examine airport security overseas. His spokesman told us, "They worked on this trip," but he added, "I'm not saying they did not do any shopping."

It's the shopping that is nicker and diming the military escorts to death. Besides the logistics of getting congressional spouses to shopping malls, the military often pays for the little comforts that dignitaries expect.

For example, military funds are spent on the plastic bubble wrap to keep fragile knickknacks and souvenirs from breaking. And usually once every trip, congressional escorts pick up the bill for a meal using taxpayers' money.

There ain't no such thing as a free spouse.

GEORGE F. WILL

Is European homogeneity possible?

WASHINGTON — As late as 1911, Belgium was the only country on the continent operating on Greenwich time. Belgium was nine minutes behind Paris which, by the way, was five minutes ahead of French railway time, which was 16 minutes behind Dutch time. In 1912, in a step toward a more "European" sensibility, the continent rationalized itself: All European clocks were synchronized in appropriate time zones, with Greenwich. In 1914, however, the inexorable march toward European "unity" suffered something of a setback.

If at first you don't succeed... Today European nations are back at the business of inventing "Europe." In this heady atmosphere of hands-across-the-wall it seems gurgulous to question the giddy assumption that political and cultural blessings automatically accrue from any coming together of European states. But in all the cheerful, facile talk about a "common European house," scant attention is being given to how little historical ground there is on which to build this house.

The rush of events is thrilling (a droll U.S. diplomat says he is nostalgic for last week), but by focusing on the things that politicians and bureaucrats are comfortable dealing with — arms control, currency arrangements, "Europe '92" and all that — we miss what is most thrilling about Europe's emerging new sense of itself. It is the resilience of national particularities — the rooted institutions of civil society — that have uprooted tyrannical regimes.

Europe has never been "Europe" in the sense of an entity united politically or even culturally. Perhaps the continent was closest to some sort of commonality, at least in fundamental outlook, when it was called not Europe but Christendom. However, what did such "unity" mean in centuries when the average European did not travel, or receive communication from, more than a few miles from his village? When Christendom was shattered, Luther was the hammer and theology was the chisel, but nascent nationalisms made the shattering swift and lasting.

Luigi Barzini (now, there was a European) argued that the narrow postwar goal of European unity had been achieved. Its primary aim was sufficient political and economic integration to prevent a fourth (after 1870, 1914 and 1939) war between France and Germany. The "European idea" was clankingly expressed after World War II in prosaic institutions: Before the "Common Market" came the "Coal and Steel Community," as though a "community" could be organized around industrial commodities.

Forty years later, that name has an anachronistic ring, evoking a vanished world when steel was king and the power of silicon was unknown. But the idea of the European "community" as a "market" suitably expressed an idea — liberal materialism. That was and still is the belief that economic forces fueled history and that the secret of the good society is the submergence of all mankind's turbulent energies into the enjoyment of private consumption and welfare-state services.

It was a plan for peace through enervation. It was not a noble vision but, after two world wars, nobility seemed less urgent than tranquility.

War has been the homogenizer of Europe. As John Lukacs says, in 1939 there were more European nations than there were letters in the alphabet, and there were few Europeans. National differences were profound. (They still are. Might Europe be happier today if there were more rather than fewer nations — if, say Yugoslavia were disassembled?) Certainly the greatest happiness for the greatest number would be served if a score or so sovereign republics were spun off the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Because of genocide, and the mass movements of people during and immediately after the last war, and the alteration of borders because of the war, most European nations are more homogenous than they were 50 years ago, when the war that had erupted from European animosities had King George VI practicing pistol shooting in the garden at Buckingham Palace.

There are still quite enough animosities to keep the European "house" raucous. Fareed Zakaria of Harvard's Center for Science and International Affairs notes that on the streets of Budapest vendors sell maps of "Greater Hungary," which includes a large slice of what Romania is today pleased to call Romania. A Hungarian diplomat, asked why his nation might want to remain in the Warsaw Pact, instantly answered: For protection from Romania.

The Warsaw Pact is an interesting alliance that exists partly to protect members from one another. But then, NATO does too, or originally did. (See: France and Germany, 1870, 1914, 1939.)

Perhaps peace-through-enervation, the peace of the satiated consumer, will prevail.

The narrow postwar goal of European unity had been achieved.

Thatcher arrives in U.S.

WASHINGTON — There was no fixed agenda for today's meeting between British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and President Bush, but likely discussion topics included Eastern Europe and the president's upcoming meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Thatcher, facing a challenge to her leadership at home, arrived in the nation's capital late Thursday. She was scheduled to meet with Bush at his Camp David, Md., retreat following network television appearances.

The British prime minister also was slated to speak with Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. She will return to London on Saturday.

British newspapers speculated that Thatcher might lecture Bush on cuts in U.S. defense spending, but Downing Street dismissed the idea and said London understood the cuts were "related to American budgetary problems."

A Thatcher spokeswoman said discussion topics likely to come up were "obvious" — international relations, Eastern Europe and Bush's December meeting at his Camp David with Gorbachev. The spokeswoman also said other talking points included arms control, China and Central America.

Thatcher's public statements on Eastern Europe recently have been marked by reserve and caution as both she and Bush consider the implications of the changes and the speed with which they have occurred.

It is unusual for Thatcher to pay such a short visit to the United States, but the decision was explained by Downing Street as a schedule rearrangement. Thatcher had planned to see Bush when she addressed the United Nations in early November, but British officials said that visit proved to be "impractical" and had to be rescheduled.

Bombing of large oil tanker

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Two had a new turbine Thursday on a runway large carrying 5 million gallons of jet fuel, rendering unnecessary a plan for military bombers to blow up the large before it could run aground and cause another disastrous oil spill in Prince William Sound.

Alaska environmental officials heaved a sigh of relief that tugboat crews caught the drifting barge on its way toward the sound, site of Exxon's biggest-ever U.S. oil spill last March. The officials had already had given their OK to federal plans to, if necessary, prevent another spill with a massive explosion.

An Army explosives team was prepared to detonate the fuel barge to prevent a major spill, and if that didn't work, then the Air Force planned to bomb the vessel "to keep it off the rocks," Coast Guard spokesman Ed Marsh said.

The Explosives Ordnance Department at Fort Richardson near Anchorage was scheduled to plant explosives on the 400-foot barge, Air Force A-10 attack jets at Eielson Air Force Base near Fairbanks were on standby in case Army troops could not board the barge and it threatened on a collision course with rocks in Prince William Sound.

The never-executed spill prevention bombing raid was arranged by Cmdr. Edmund Thompson of the Coast Guard marine safety office in Valdez and supported by the Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation. DEC regional supervisor Bill Lameroux said, "We wanted to burn all the fuel before it hit land."

OPEC ministers meet

VIENNA — OPEC oil ministers scheduled a second round of committee talks today ahead of predicted heated and protracted argument on how to share a boost in output by the 13-member cartel.

"The production ceiling will go up but the question is how to allocate individual quotas," a highly-placed Persian Gulf official told United Press International Thursday.

"It will be a fight between those members demanding bigger percentage shares and those who refuse to produce less so that others can get a bigger slice," he said.

The committee was to report to the full conference on current and likely future demand for OPEC oil and propose a new ceiling for the first quarter next year.

Police, cartel gunmen battle

BOGOTA, Colombia — Police and cocaine cartel gunmen fought fierce battles in the dense Magdalena Valley jungle north of the capital, and authorities said they had encircled a band thought to include two drug kingpins wanted by the United States.

Brig. Gen. Miguel Antonio Gomez Padilla, commander of the National Police, said members of his elite force Thursday were closing in on Pablo Escobar Gaviria, reputed head of the powerful Medellin cocaine cartel, and on one of the three Ochoa brothers, said to be among the country's top drug kingpins.

The National Police commander did not elaborate on exactly how closely the force had encircled the drug kingpins' private army. Authorities previously claimed to have trapped top druglords, only to have them elude arrest.

Police killed four cocaine cartel gunmen and captured 30 others during the battles Thursday in the dense Magdalena Valley north of Bogota, preliminary reports said. The jungle region is a stronghold of Colombia's druglords, who reportedly supply 80 percent of the cocaine entering the United States.

43 die in Indian elections

NEW DELHI, India — The second phase of history's largest elections opened today, overshadowed by first-round bloodshed that claimed at least 43 lives, fraud-forced repolling in hundreds of locations and alleged rigging in Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's parliamentary district.

Hundreds of thousands of security personnel were deployed in the 10 states and two territories holding nine hours of voting, braced for a possible repetition of the violence that claimed at least 43 lives Wednesday during the first round of balloting for the lower house of parliament, or Lok Sabha.

A total of 524 seats in the 545-member Lok Sabha are at stake in the three-phased elections that will determine the destiny of Gandhi, 45, and the Gandhi-Nehru dynasty, which has governed the world's largest democracy for all but about two of its 42 years of independence. Polls suggest Gandhi could lose his parliamentary majority.

New Polish premier visits Moscow

MOSCOW — Polish Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki met today with Soviet counterpart Nikolai Ryzhkov, kicking off a five-day trip to the Soviet Union that Poland's first non-communist prime minister in four decades hopes will warm ties between Warsaw and communist leaders in Moscow.

Only last April, Mazowiecki was denied a visa by Moscow when he was scheduled to visit with a group of Catholic intellectuals, Polish television recalled.

Search for crash victims ends

Marine helicopter lost in Mediterranean

United Press International

Air and sea rescuers ended their search Thursday for the remains of two crewmembers of a Marine helicopter that crashed in the Mediterranean off the coast of Spain while on Navy maneuvers, a Navy spokeswoman said.

The spokeswoman said military officials called off the search Thursday morning without finding either the crewmembers or the AH-1T Cobra helicopter. The pilot, Capt. Todd O. Travis, 29, of Glasgow, Ky., and the co-pilot, Capt. Michael W. Viduski, 28, of Naperville, Ill., have been declared dead.

She said Travis had been in the Marines for five years and 10 months and Viduski for nearly half a year. Lt. Joseph Quimby, another Navy spokesman in Washington, said the helicopter flew from the USS Intrepid as part of 6th Fleet operations and crashed and sank Wednesday afternoon.

The circumstances of the maneuver and the crash site were not disclosed by Navy personnel. It was the fourth Navy-related accident in the week after an unprecedented safety "stand-down."

Quimby reported that the accident occurred Wednesday afternoon while the Intrepid was conducting "routine flight operations." The helicopter crew was based at the Marine Corps Air Station at New River, N.C.

The Navy did not release additional information about the operation or details of the crash.

Quimby said there were no other crewmembers on board.

Thursday, a Navy SH-2 Seasprite helicopter with three crewmen aboard crashed into the James River near Norfolk, Va., after having engine trouble, according to the Navy. The pilot, co-pilot and an air crewman survived.

Monday, a show-up collision between a TA-4 Skyhawk Navy jet and a T-47 Corsair had enough force to spin the planes "180 degrees" at the end of the runway, spilling fuel from one, officials said. No injuries were reported, but both planes were damaged.

Last Friday, a TA-4 jet crashed in the Gulf of Mexico 20 miles south of Pensacola, Fla., after losing power. Two pilots ejected safely.

The worldwide safety stand-down ended last Thursday and was ordered because of a series of Navy incidents, including the April 19 explosion on the USS Iowa that killed 47 people.

Vitamins may prevent birth defects

United Press International

BOSTON — Women who take certain vitamins early in pregnancy appear less likely to have babies with open hips and related birth defects, researchers reported Thursday.

A three-year study involving 22,776 pregnant women indicates women who take multivitamins containing folic acid in the first six weeks of pregnancy cut their risk for associated neural tube defects by as much as 50 to 70 percent.

"This is the most definitive study of its kind," said Dr. Aubrey Milosky, leader of the study and director of the human genetics center at Boston University medical school.

Previous studies have produced mixed results on the value of vitamins reducing the risk for neural tube defects, abnormalities caused by a failure of the spinal cord or skull to form normally.

In the new study, published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Milosky and his colleagues analyzed the relationship between neural tube defects and multivitamin use among women throughout the United States.

The rate of neural tube defects was 3.5 per 1,000 women who never used multivitamins with folic acid before or after conception or who used multivitamins before conception only, the researchers found.

But the rate was only 0.9 per 1,000 for women who used multivitamins containing folic acid during the first six weeks of pregnancy, they reported.

No benefit was seen in taking multivitamins after seven weeks into the pregnancy.

Although more research is needed, the folic acid in the multivitamins is believed to be what may provide protection, Milosky said. Folic acid, which is found naturally in lettuce and other vegetables, may help the spinal cord form normally.

But Dr. James Mills of the National Institute for Child Health and Human Development, who published a study that produced conflicting results earlier this year, said the women in the latest study may not have been typical because they were chosen only from patients consulting in for prenatal testing.

"I don't think that this study, because of the unusual population, should be used to make any public health recommendations," said Mills. "It's a very provocative study but I think it needs more investigation."

Romania rejects reform protesters

United Press International

BUCHAREST, Romania — The ruling Communist Party concluded a week-long congress by voting its approval of the re-election of party chief Nicolae Ceausescu and his hard-line policy against democratic reform.

The congress of 3,300 delegates was scheduled to formally close today with the public disclosure of election results for top party leaders.

Dozens of delegates, who represent the 3.5 million members of the party, Thursday praised Ceausescu and his wife, Elena, the country's first deputy prime minister, as "much respected and beloved comrades" and "brilliant personalities" as the couple sat in on the session.

Delegate Elena Voda, 41, said during a break in the proceedings that the current congress is the "most important" since 1965, when Ceausescu first became secretary general.

"The proposal to re-elect comrade Ceausescu has been wholeheartedly accepted by all the Romanian people," said Voda, a textile technician from northwestern Romania. "We fully support this proposal, because comrade Ceausescu's policy is strengthening socialism in Romania, and peace and liberty in the whole world."

Cristiani rejects cease-fire proposal

United Press International

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — President Alfredo Cristiani told reporters the government rejects a rebel cease-fire offer, saying it was a ploy to give the leftists a chance to regroup, and then jumped during the news conference when explosions went off and sent journalists ducking for cover.

At the first blast Thursday night, Cristiani jumped, knocking over his chair. Reporters at the news conference at the Joint Chiefs of Staff Headquarters scrambled for shelter, but as the explosions subsided, Cristiani lit a cigarette and continued talking, telling journalists, "Don't worry."

Maj. Mauricio Chavez Caceres, a spokesman for the armed forces, said the explosions were apparently bombs that had been planted earlier "to create a show."

During the news conference, Cristiani rejected a rebel cease-fire proposal made Wednesday night and said guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front had failed in their offensive, which has wreaked havoc on the capital since Nov. 11.

"A cease-fire like they are promoting right now means only time for them to regroup and then continue the violence," the president said.

"Any hope that the FMLN might have had to topple the government or take over power through military means accompanied by a popular insurrection, they tried it and they lost," Cristiani said. "The population was never on their side and never supported them."

As the president spoke, Salvadoran forces were staging air strikes on rebel positions on the side of the San Salvador volcano. Helicopters fired rockets into the mountainside and A-37 jets dropped bombs in the area, about 10 miles from the news conference.

Col. Rene Emilio Ponce, chief of staff of the armed forces, said the planes and helicopters were attacking guerrillas who were attempting to reorganize on the slopes of the volcano.

Lawmakers threatened

United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanese lawmakers met to choose a successor to slain President Rene Moawad despite threats by an underground Christian group that they too may be assassinated, official sources said.

A telephone caller who said he represented the Christian Solidarity Front told a Western news agency Thursday in Modern Beirut that if lawmakers held new elections they would face the same fate as Moawad, who was killed Wednesday in a bomb attack on his motorcade.

"The fate of all these men is at stake," the caller said. "It will not be better than that of Rene Moawad. We strongly warn Christian Parliament members against electing any new president for Lebanon."

The same group issued a death threat against Moawad the day after his Nov. 5 election, but no one has claimed responsibility for his death.

The caller also threatened to attack Christian Maronite Patriarch Nasrallah Sfeir for backing an Arab League-mediated peace accord aimed at ending the 14-year Lebanese civil war.

The peace accord, under which Moawad was elected president, has been rejected by Christian strongman Michel Aoun.

The caller said Sfeir must return to a Christian enclave in Bkerki controlled by Aoun's troops within 48 hours.

Sfeir, who fled the Christian sector Nov. 6 to northern Lebanon after being harassed by supporters of Aoun, returned to Bkerki on Thursday without explanation, sources said. It was unclear if his return was linked to the threat.

The latest death threat came as 39 Christian and Muslim lawmakers, among them Shiite House Speaker Hussein Husseini, met in the ancient city of Baalbeck, 52 miles east of Beirut, and began deliberations to choose a new president.

Sources said the lawmakers were later escorted by Syrian guards to the eastern town of Chitaura, 22 miles from Beirut.

Officials did not set a date for the election but informed sources said the Parliament session would be held within 24 hours.

IN BRIEF

Ryan charged with headhunting

IRVING, Texas — The Philadelphia Eagles went through Dallas like a fork through a piece of Thanksgiving pumpkin on Thursday and were accused by Cowboys Coach Jimmy Johnson of purposely trying to knock two of his players out of the game.

Johnson said "bounties" were called on place kicker Lyle Zandbergen, who was hit in the head and knocked dizzy on the second-half kickoff.

and quarterback Troy Aikman, who was thrown to the ground long after the whistle in a first-half incident that touched off a major brawl.

Johnson's tirade against the Eagles helped deflect the fact that Philadelphia had shut out the Cowboys, 27-0, handing Dallas its second shutout loss of the season.

Although the Eagles have been accused before of having bounties on opposing players, Johnson's claims were the most serious yet aimed at Philadelphia.

In Thursday's other NFL game, the Detroit Lions upset the Cleveland Browns 13-10.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Harris rallies Mountaineers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Major Harris rallied No. 19 West Virginia past Syracuse in the second half Thursday and Preston Waters sealed the 24-17 victory with a last-minute interception.

Waters leaped in front of Rob Moore to intercept a Mark McDonald pass on the 4-yard line with 53 seconds left to improve West Virginia's record to 8-2-1.

The interception came on the 13th play of a Syracuse drive that began on the West Virginia 7-yard line with 8:04 remaining.

In the third quarter, Harris led two sustained West Virginia drives that scored 10 points — the only points of the second half — to forge the 24-17 lead.

Mountaineers' fullback Rico Tyler scored on a 1-yard run with 4:29 left in the quarter, while Brad Carroll kicked a 19-yard field goal with 1:08 on the clock.

COLLEGE HOOPS

Kansas, St. John's in NIT final

NEW YORK — Unable to defend their NCAA crown last season, the Kansas Jayhawks have taken out a year's worth of frustration on two of college basketball's elite teams this season.

Kansas, which upset No. 3 Louisiana State last Friday night, pulled off its second major upset of a highly-ranked team in less than a week Wednesday night with a convincing 91-77 victory over No. 1 Nevada-Las Vegas in the semifinals of the Big Apple National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

Kansas will face St. John's in Friday night's championship game. The Redmen defeated DePaul 53-52 at the buzzer in Wednesday's other semifinal. UNLV faces DePaul in the consolation game, to precede the Kansas-St. John's contest.

Bruins continue win streak

BOSTON — Riding a six-game winning streak and with a date in Montreal just around the corner, the Boston Bruins could have been forgiven for a holiday letdown against the struggling Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night.

Instead, the Bruins scored three times in a 20-shot first period and rode Andy Moog's second shutout of the year to a 6-0 blasting of Toronto.

"We could have looked past this game, but we deserve a lot of credit for being ready," Raymond Bourque said after Bob Sweeney scored two goals and Ken Linseman set up three power-play scores as the Bruins ran their unbeaten streak to nine games (8-0-1).

"We came out with a really good effort — it would have been easy for us to be satisfied, but we came out with a great effort," said Bourque. "You want to ride this thing as long as you can — we're doing really well right now."

In Thursday's only other game in the NHL, St. Louis defeated Winnipeg 5-2.

Tribe, Hawks in playoffs

After allowing a season-high 27 points to Lake Howell on Oct. 20, the Seminole defense has given up an average of 10.25 points a contest over the Tribe's last four games. Tonight, the Seminole defense will be tested by the 9-1 Tarpon Springs Spongers in tonight's 4A-Region IV playoff game.

What does Emory Blake have up his sleeve this week?

In a season that saw him constantly changing and modifying the offensive schemes of the Seminole High School varsity football team, Blake has guided the Seminoles to a 7-3 record and into tonight's 4A-Section IV playoff game against the No. 3-ranked Tarpon Springs Spongers.

When asked Wednesday what he had planned for tonight's contest, scheduled for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium, Blake answered, "We're ready to go. We're going to win what we do best."

The only problem is, nobody's sure what that is any more. Sure, the quarterback Kerry Wiggins and the 'Noles have gone airborne to rack up 1,772 passing yards and 20 passing touchdowns.

But the last couple of weeks, with the addition of Willie McCloud to a backfield that already included Henry Williams and Julius Bennett, the Tribe suddenly has a running game. Last week against Lake Mary, with Tarpon Springs representatives in attendance, McCloud carried the ball eight times for 105 yards and a touchdown to lead 244-yard Seminole ground attack.

"That's better for our kids and worse for our opponents," said Blake of Seminole's diversified attack. "That's the plus of having a multiple offense. You're not pinned down."

"This week, we're going to go with a different look, something nobody has seen us in. Hopefully, by the time they've figured out what we're doing, we will." See Tribe, Page 2B

Lake Howell at Lake City in 5A-Reg. II

By TONY BOGGS
Herald Sports Editor

All year long, Lake Howell High School football coach Mike Biceglia has talked about how the season has been one challenge after another for his team, building and leading the Silver Hawks to an eventual district championship.

But tonight, when the Hawks take the field in Lake City to face the No. 1-ranked team in Class 5A, the Columbia Tigers, for the 5A-Region II championship, they'll have to do something they haven't done in over a year: come back after a loss.

Two weeks ago, Lake Howell's shot at an unbeaten season was dashed by DeLand in a 31-28 loss, dropping the Silver Hawks from No. 2 in the state rankings to No. 9.

"Playing the No. 1 team in the state, that's a little more of a challenge, isn't it?" said Biceglia, whose team has used the two weeks to rest and get prepared for tonight. "Practices have gone really well. The kids are working hard. Maybe they're learning from their mistakes."

"We told them that they were vulnerable. You have to play well to win. And we just didn't play overly well."

As far as Biceglia is concerned, there are no excuses, but there was an explanation. After a nearly injury-free season, the Hawks suddenly got nailed. Sophomore defensive lineman Ken Times went down with a stress fracture, senior linebacker Dave Collins was suffering from bronchitis and senior fullback Cortez Graves was out with a deep thigh bruise.

While the offense was able to compensate for that one game, the defense was exploited by the Tigers. Attached the Hawks in the margin. See Hawks, Page 2B

Oak Ridge rolls over Oviedo in Rotary Bowl

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

LONGWOOD — Oak Ridge quarterback Aldridge Randolph put on a one-man show Wednesday night as he accounted for 254 yards of offense to lead the Pioneers to a 42-23 victory over Oviedo in the 16th annual Rotary Bowl at Lyman High School.

Oak Ridge completed its season with a 9-2 mark, losing only to Winter Park and Evans. The Lions also finished 9-2 with its only other loss coming at the hands of Lake Howell.

"We came in with the idea that this is a bowl game," Oak Ridge coach Gerald Buchart said. "We just went out and had fun. We didn't put any pressure on the kids. We were loose in practice and loose when we took the field tonight. We just had fun."

Buchart was pleased with the Pioneers offensive performance as they finished the night with 419 yards of offense on the night.

"This was our best offensive performance in a long time," Buchart said. "This was (Aldridge) Randolph's best game in his three-year career. He was awesome tonight."

Randolph finished with 123 yards rushing and two touchdowns, while passing for 131 yards and two TD's.

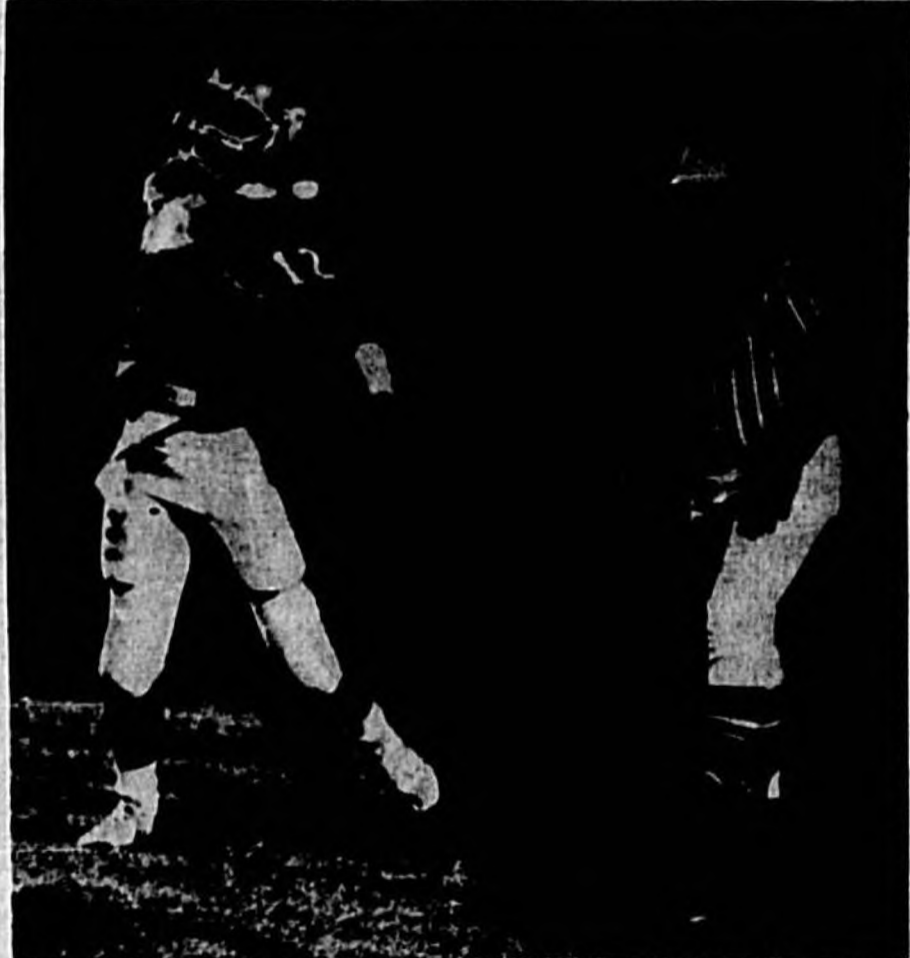

Oviedo opened the scoring on the game's first play from scrimmage. Quarterback Brian MacInness dropped back into the pocket, was pressured and rolled right before firing a strike to Hector Diaz for an 80-yard score 30 seconds into the contest. Ron Worst added the point after and Oviedo held a quick 7-0 advantage.

But Oak Ridge had not yet touched the ball. On the Pioneers' first play from scrimmage, Randolph rolled left and connected with Darnell Harrison on a 73-yard scoring pass. Chris Landis kicked the PAT and the game was tied, 7-7, with 10:55 remaining in the opening period.

"That was a retaliation play," Buchart said. "We wanted to show them (Oviedo) we could do that. We have a good passing game. Most people don't know that."

"We wanted to surprise them," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "They turned around and surprised us with their long touchdown."

"We played very well tonight. If we had caught the football, we'd have been all right. I'm proud of our team." See Rotary, Page 2B

Raiders travel to Gulf Coast

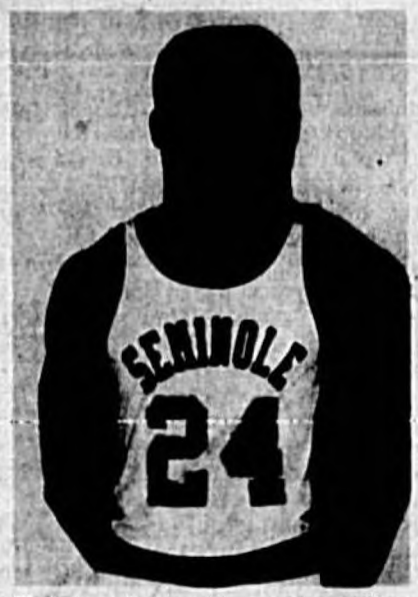

By DEAN SMITH
Herald correspondent

The Seminole Community College men's basketball team left this morning for Panama City to participate in the Gulf Coast Community College Thanksgiving Tournament.

The Raiders, 7-1, will take on Emmanuel College from Franklin, Ga., this evening at 6 p.m. Emmanuel is the defending state champions of Georgia.

"All we know about them is that they won their first game in the National Tournament last year before losing to the eventual champions by seven," said SCC head coach Bill Payne. "They are supposed to have most of their players back from last year and have a lot of good athletes who like to run the ball up the floor."

The other game will match Alabama power. See SCC, Page 2B

Despite playing in a reserve role, Nate Washington leads the SCC Raiders in rebounding and steals.

 Oak Ridge added two more touchdowns in the first quarter. Both off Oviedo mistakes. Keith Jacobs had a three-yard run while Randolph hooked up with Wendell Williams on an 8-yard score to push the lead to 21-7 after 13 minutes of play.
 Oviedo stayed in the game and cut the lead to 21-13 when Frank Diaz, who led the Lions with 104 yards rushing, scored from 24 yards out. But Randolph scored on Oak Ridge's next play from scrimmage to move his team out to a 20-13 lead.
 Worst added a 41-yard field goal right before the half, the ball bouncing off the cross bar and over for the score.
 Oak Ridge's defense controlled the second half with Oviedo's only score coming after Kevin Gutch came up with a fumble and returned the ball to the Pioneer 7-yard line. Frank Diaz went in from five yards out for the Lions final score.
 The Pioneers came up with two more scores, the last a 42-yard run by Talvi Crawford with 2:09 remaining.
 Dana Allen (No. 21) contributed 34 yards on five carries for the Oviedo Lions in the Rotary Bowl on Tuesday night. But the Oak Ridge Pioneers rolled up 414 yards of offense in a 42-23 win.

 Play will pick up again Saturday morning with a junior varsity contest between Lake Howell and Winter Park. The third place teams from each pool will then meet at 11 a.m. As soon as that game is over, there will be a series of skills contests, including penalty kicks, distance shots and timed dribbling.
 Then, at 2 p.m., the second place teams will play followed by the championship game between the two first place teams at 4 p.m. The awards ceremony is tentatively scheduled for 5:45 p.m.
 Admission for each day is $3 for adults and $2 for students.
 Lake Howell prepared for the tournament by taking a relatively easy 9-0 win over Seminole on Wednesday night. Michelle Harris and Stephanie Watson each scored twice while Dana Boyesen, Leslie King, Michelle Cook, Jessica Cardarelli and Alicia Spangler each had one goal.

 Cardarelli added three assists while Harris and Michelle Cook each had two. Krista Cook and Harris each assisted on a goal.
 "We told the girls before we started that we should not lower our game," said Lake Howell coach Gerhard Tauscher, whose team is now 3-0 overall and 2-0 in Seminole Athletic Conference action. "They got a little over-confident and a little sloppy."
 "We urged the girls to try to make Seminole play our level of soccer. Seminole did play well. They hustled and they worked hard. Seminole did a better job of getting balls first. We have to win more balls."
 For Seminole coach Buxy Reno and the Tribe, the game is one best forgotten.
 "Eight of our 21 girls weren't there," said Reno, whose team is now 0-3. "A lot of the girls left town for Thanksgiving. Of the 13 left, I couldn't use one of them as a substitute. We moved some many players around and nothing worked."
 Jennifer Bengt had the three Seminole shots on goal against Lake Howell while goalie Christy Oliver made 19 saves.

 Baumhofer each scored a pair of goals as the Lake Mary Rams pounded the DeLand Bulldogs 11-0 on Wednesday night in Seminole Athletic Conference girls soccer action.
 Other goal scorers for the Rams were Dana Hoover, Debbie Hutchings, Leanne Basile, Tracy Rupp and Cindy Powell. Hoover also had four assists while Snow had two.
 "We worked hard on our fitness rate," said Lake Mary coach Bill Eleete. "We had them work as hard as possible. We wanted to continue to play our style of soccer."
 "In a game like this, you play a lot of the game in one half of the field. We worked on dropping the ball back to our goalie and restarting from the back. That gave us the whole field to work with."
 Kelly Moser, Lake Mary's goalie, had more to do handling the passes back from her teammates than stopping DeLand. The Bulldogs managed just one shot on goal and it did not require Moser to make a save.
 Now 1-1 overall and in the SAC, Lake Mary will play at Lyman next Wednesday night before playing at Oviedo on Thursday.

 "They're kicking game is the best I've ever seen. They do a lot of things from their kicking game."
 Of course, Lake Howell doesn't go into the game weaponless. Marguerite Smith, the 1989-90 Sanford Herald Player of the Year, has rushed for county-leading 1,097 yards and scored a county-high 27 touchdowns while placekicker Steve Munnell was seventh in the county scoring race with 51 points.

 Actually, the Seminole defense has played well this season. It only had one shutout, but only allowed an opponent more than two touchdowns just once (Lake Howell in its second lowest-scoring game of the season).
 "I want us to go out and play hard," said Blake. "If we go out and play our best and we still get beat, then we got beat by a better team. I don't have a problem with that."

Pre-marital rumors are family crisis

DEAR ABBY: I am a mother torn. Our 18-year-old daughter, "Kathy," was to be married last August to "John," her childhood sweetheart. (He's 19, just nine days before the wedding, our 18-year-old daughter (I'll call her Mary) told me that John had raped her. In Mary's words, "He took sexual advantage of me." She claimed it happened more than once—maybe six or seven times.

John was a very nice person of lying. Then she said, "If John did have sex with Mary, it was Mary's fault because she's a flirt and a tease, and she's always had a crush on John." My husband believed Mary and had John arrested. (He is out on bail now.)

Naturally we called the wedding off, but Kathy says she is going to marry John—no matter what. To make matters worse, Kathy just told us that she is pregnant with John's baby. Unfortunately our priest is on an extended vacation in Ireland.

This mess has turned our whole family upside down. Mary was supposed to be in Kathy's wedding, but because of the accusations she made against John, Kathy wrote her out of the wedding.

Abby, if these girls were your daughters, what would you do? Please hurry your answer, as Kathy is beginning to show.

A NISSIN
MASSACHUSETTS

DEAR NISSIN: I would put this wedding on "hold" until I found out who did what to whom. I urge your entire family to cooperate in family counseling—and include John.

It is in Kathy's best interest to find out what kind of man John is. If she insists on marrying him—"no matter what"—you can't stop her because in your state, an 18-year-old girl does not need parental consent to marry. My heart goes out to all of you, Mother. I wish you well.

DEAR ABBY: I am sending this letter to you because of your wide readership, in the hope that a direct letter in your column will shake up the public. I have sent a letter in the past to the surgeon general and the American Lung Association, all to no avail. It has to do with the annual Great American Smokeout.

Each year, I wonder anew why a Great American Smokeout is always held about one week before Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's celebrations begin—traditionally some of the most stress-filled days of the whole year? Does it make sense to try to have smokers quit just before a period of constant socializing, partying and traveling? To me, it seems as though their efforts will be doomed from the start.

I often wonder why it doesn't occur to either the surgeon general or to the American Lung Association that a far better time for a sincere anti-smoking campaign would be around Jan.

ADVICE

ANGAIL
VAN BUREN

When people are in a tension-making mood and, when perhaps they've become sick of their and everyone else's smoke during the previous weeks.

I am a registered nurse and have never been a smoker. It truly bothers me to think that this whole campaign could and would almost certainly be so much more effective just by changing the time that it is held.

FRIEDA H. EVAN,
R.N.

DEAR FRIEDA: Trying to quit smoking would be a drag (no pun intended) any time of the year. However, you make an excellent point. The American Cancer Society has a good pamphlet titled "How to Stay Quit Over the Holidays." It's free. For a copy, write: The American Cancer Society, Dept. S, 1509 Clifton Road N.E., Atlanta, Ga. 30329. No SASE is required. You may also call the toll-free number, (800) ACS-2345, to order your free booklet or for any general information about how to quit smoking.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column about the importance of teaching children the proper way to answer a telephone brought back memories of a little lesson I taught my grandsons concerning telephone etiquette.

They used to call my home and say, "Grandma, is my mom there?" My stock reply was "I'm fine, thank you. And how are you, dear?"

'Bingo' is for crying out loud

By WHEELER
World People editor

Remember when, as a youngster, you'd get excited at the idea of getting out the bingo cards and playing?

According to those in the know about the game, hard-core bingo is hardly child's play these days.

"These old ladies will play bingo every night of the week," said Norm Wheeler, commissioner of the Disabled American Veterans, Chapter 30 of Sanford. "That's how addicted they are to bingo—just like I am to cigarettes."

"Most of our players are ladies whose husbands have passed away and they need a place to get out. They have been and go somewhere else, I don't understand it," said Norma Wheeler, president of Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 6807 of Longwood.

"My husband says I'm a gambler. I used to be, I'd give up most things to play bingo," said Jane Hall, president of Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 5406 of Winter Springs.

"I recall the other day that in the state of Tennessee, they outlawed bingo," Wheeler said. "And these old people were standing in churches and bingo halls crying."

Like any other popular pastime, bingo serves an important role in the lives of its fans. The game also has many benefits that may not be apparent to the casual critic.

"It (bingo) keeps you out of the bars and off the streets," Wheeler said. "It's a gambling thing—a challenge, all right; you're playing for money. It's real—you're not really exerting yourself, except your brain a little bit."

Bingo is a substantial revenue-raiser for his DAV chapter, Wheeler said. Not only does it help pay the mortgage on the building, but there is money left over to give to a multitude of local charities, he said.

With a table full of cards and lightning-fast eyes, strips of bingo games at the Sanford chapter of Disabled American Veterans.

"You know your money is going for something good," he added.

Wheeler admits that a person will most likely not reap a lot of what they sow into bingo games. He recalls a lady who played at the Knights of Columbus lodge and won all three $250 jackpots in one night.

"I'll bet you she had $2,000 invested before she hit a jackpot," he said.

Bingo parlors are not competitive in the least, Wheeler said. All of the veterans organizations announce each other's bingo games, he said.

Following is a list of some of the places in Seminole County open for public bingo games:

• All Souls Catholic Church, 322-3786; meeting at Knights of Columbus, 2504 S. Oak Ave.; bingo on Fri., early bird games begin at 5:45 p.m., regular games at 7 p.m.

• American Legion, Post 53, 1911 Hangar Rd., 322-1652; bingo on Tues., early bird games begin at 7 p.m.

Highway 17-92, Sanford; benefits the Foster Grandparents Program of Central Florida, 296-4180; bingo games on Fri. at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

• Knights of Columbus, 2504 S. Oak Ave., 323-9108; bingo on Thurs., Sun., early bird games begin at 7 p.m.

Spreading the Christmas spirit

Sanford pastor has developed habit of giving many Christmas sermons

By BARBARA BOWEN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Rev. Samuel Elliott takes the holiday season seriously — especially Christmas.

He can't wonder that Elliott, pastor to a small congregation at the Grace Bible Church, has already prepared his thoughts for 13 sermons with Christmas themes. He will deliver his first one, "The Crowded Out Christ," which deals with homelessness and Christmas, at 11 a.m. Sunday. Not a creature of habit, by the 6 p.m. service, Elliott will preach on another idea:

"Christmas is for Christians." And that's what he plans to do every Sunday through Dec. 31.

Elliott, 72, who holds from Pittsburgh, moved to Sanford, Fla. in 1976. He has been pastor of Grace Bible Church since 1976.

He used to be on the idea of preparing Christmas sermons several of times while in Toronto about 50 years ago. He was called upon to speak at a church Christmas pageant in which his job was performed. But he only got to deliver a brief speech at the "tail end" of the event.

He said he learned afterward the parents of one of his son's friends were disappointed because they wanted to hear more. He said he told his son, "Tell them to come back next year." Keeping to his promise, that year he delivered his first pre-Christmas sermon. And he has been doing the same thing with other congregations ever since.

Five years ago, Elliott retired from Casselberry Baptist, now First Baptist of Casselberry, and three years ago joined Grace Bible Church on Sanford Avenue and 27th Street where he was asked to fill in temporarily until another pastor could be found.

Apparently, no new pastor could replace Elliott, and although he still considers himself retired — "retired, retired and retiring," as he puts it — he is still there, preaching to a congregation of about 25 people.

In his spare time, Elliott has filed the best sermons he has written through the years and wants to compile them into a book of short sermons he plans to call, "Christmas Cameos."

Elliott isn't sure yet when his book will be on the stands. He's still looking for a publisher. In the meanwhile, most of his inspirational sermons can be heard at Grace Bible Church. Some of his other sermons through Dec. 31 bear such titles as "Gift Wrapped," about how Jesus was wrapped in swaddling clothes at birth, "The Holiday Parade" and on New Year's Eve, "Acher, the Happy Man," about a Biblical character, and "Feeling — 1980."

Red Stealing Coffee' planned

SANFORD — The Presbyterian Women of the First Presbyterian Church, 301 Oak Ave., will host its 10th Annual Red Stealing Coffee at 10 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 2. Plans raised at the event will go to the Red Cross. Everyone is invited to attend to hear a special message featuring Santa Claus and special guest, Tinkie Brown, founder of the Sansebastian Foundation.

Heart healing service scheduled

SANFORD — All St. John's Church, 100 W. 2nd St., will conduct a "heart-healing service" for five nights beginning at 7 p.m. Nov. 27 to be held through Dec. 1. All are welcome to attend.

First Baptist Church holds Bible study

LAKE MARY — First Baptist Church, 3400 Markham Woods Road, is conducting a study, "Biblical Principles for Today's Family" at 7 p.m. every Sunday in the sanctuary geared to helping today's family in everyday living.

Rediscover the evening's blessing

The problem isn't that we don't "sanctify the holy day." The problem may be that we are sanctifying the wrong end of the holy day. We should be going to church in the evening, not in the morning.

Psychologically, a morning worship service is all wrong — especially in our culture where the mood of peace and quiet created by the one hour of church on Sunday morning is soon broken by the noisy crowds at the mall, the impatient drivers on the highways and the excited fans at the football game.

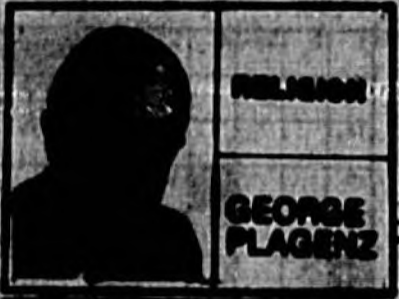

This is our Sabbath, our "day of rest and restoration."

Compare that with the Sabbath scene in Jerusalem painted by Robert Schuller in his new book, "Believe in the God Who Believes in You."

"Friday evening, Sundown. The Sabbath has begun. Merchants and clerks move their way through crowded streets toward home, change their dress and go off to the house of the Lord. The mechanical sounds of the street will be replaced by foot traffic as the feet of the faithful shuffle reverently to the synagogues.

"Soon prayers will be offered and quiet blessings bestowed on the people of faith. Now they will return to the stillness of the home — to a gentle bed and a soft pillow.

"Slowly, through the sleeping hours, the spirit of the synagogue can seep deeply into the lower levels of the human soul.

RELIGION
GEORGE PLAGENZ

Like raindrops left five to creep slowly to the levels where they can do their best good, the blessed thoughts of the worship hour are free to find their probing way to the hidden hallways of the mind where powerful and silent and unseen forces gather and wait for daylight.

"With the morning they will advance into the awakened mind, bringing pleasant moods, healthy thoughts and creative ideas. What a blessing to the human heart is the gift of the Sabbath."

The very early Christians, like the Jews, met for worship in the evening, although the Christian Sabbath was observed on the first day of the week, in commemoration of the resurrection, rather than the seventh day as was by the Jews. It was some time later that Christian churches began worshipping on Sunday morning.

As long as people went home after church to spend a restful afternoon and evening, the good effects of the morning lingered. It is not so with the modern Sabbath. Much of the mood built up in church in the morning is canceled by how we spend the rest of Sunday.

But there is still another reason why perhaps we should go back to evening services for our soul's health, joining the few churches that have such services.

Public speakers have noted that when they speak in the morning or afternoon, their remarks don't make as great an impression on the audience to the same speech given in the evening.

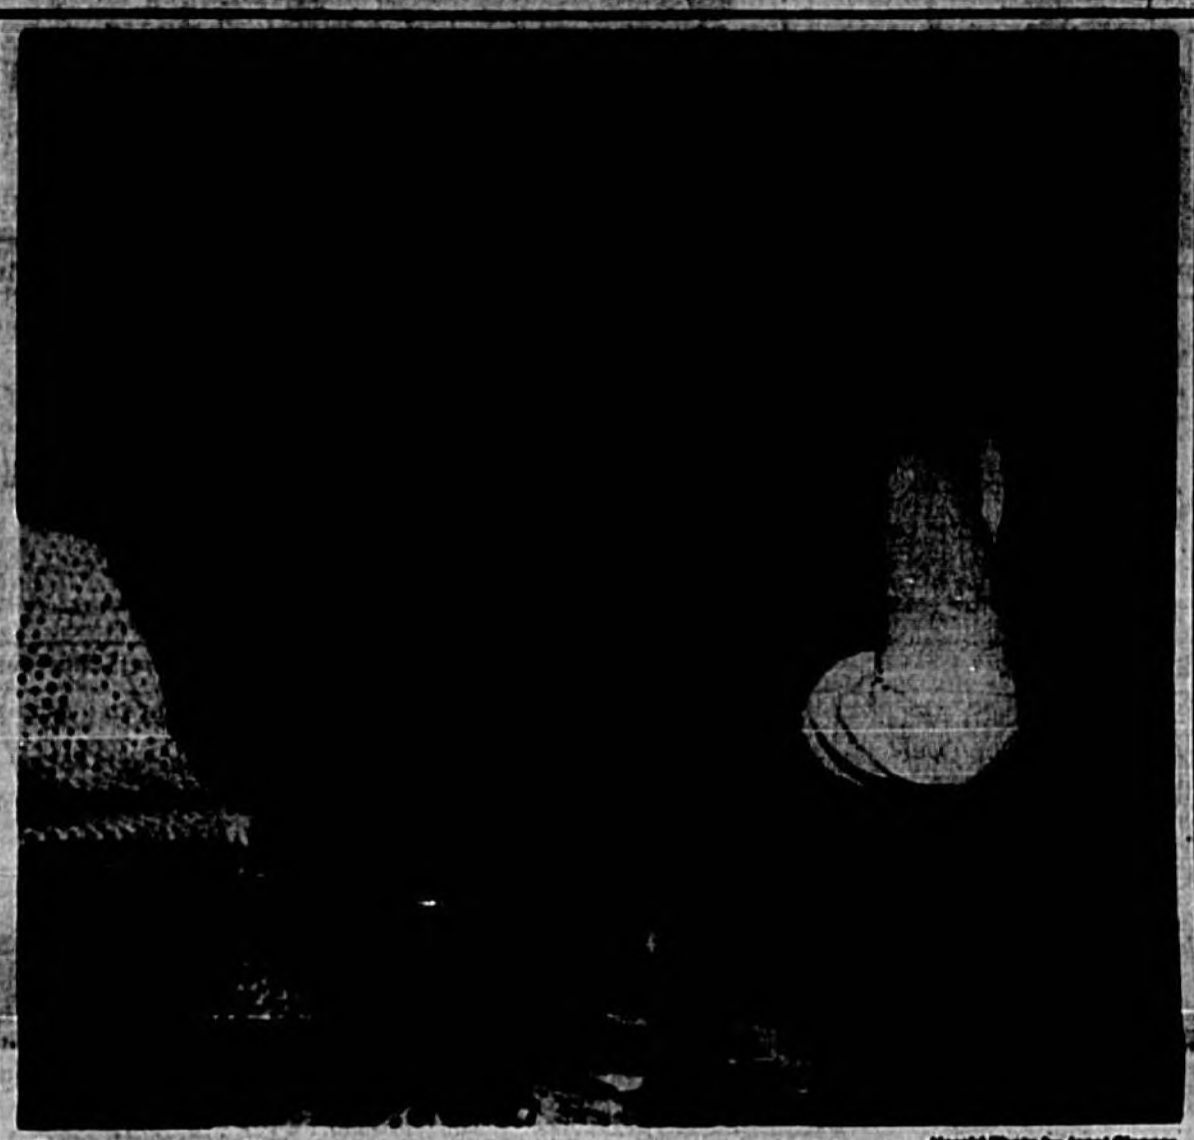

Psychologists explain this by saying that earlier in the day our mental faculties are freshest. We are more alert and not so likely to accept uncritically what the person speaking has to say.

But when we are tired and the darkness has its relaxing effect on us, our minds are more receptive to what is presented to us. The artificial darkness and the flickering candlelight in some churches can produce the same hypnotic effect.

Spiritual truths planted in our minds in such a setting will grow better. If we go to bed with these truths still fresh in our minds, they will reach even deeper into our subconscious while we sleep and find their way, in Schuller's words, "to the hidden hallways of the mind where powerful and silent and unseen forces gather."

Let's rediscover evening's blessing.

Is gratitude more expensive than ingratitude?

By S. EDWARD JOHNSON
Guest columnist

Our first approach to the experience Jesus had with the 10 lepers would indicate that it is a lesson on the sin of ingratitude. Undoubtedly, this is definitely taught and is a major emphasis and we need to have our attention directed to this sin, which is ever present with us. We see it on every hand. The scripture is telling us that as Jesus entered a certain village on his way to Jerusalem, 10 men who were lepers met him, and from a distance as required by law, they cried out "Jesus, Master, have mercy upon us." And Jesus said to them "Go show yourselves to the priests," which was in accord with the Mosaic law. And as they went they were cleansed. For as they went to show themselves to the priests, they were cleansed. And as they looked at the sore spots and saw the white flesh begin to take on the glow of healthy flesh, no wonder they were joyous and glad! So much so, however, that they misaed out on a further blessing. Their joy and ecstacy must have been tremendous, to be freed from the living death, to again be able to take their places with family and friends. It must have been bliss supreme to touch the hands and clasp to their bosoms loved ones of the years. No wonder that nine of them forgot all about expressing their gratitude to their benefactor, Jesus. But one of them, a despised Samaritan, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice glorified God.

In ingratitude, at least the failure to express any appreciation by the nine must have pierced the heart of Jesus, for their physical healings were no less than that of the one. Also it must be noted that Jesus did not call them back, ask them about their lack of appreciation, and "teach them a lesson," as other persons might have done. The Master let them go on their ways, show themselves to the priests, according to the law, accept his marvelous gift and be restored to their family circles. So, it is with the spiritual and material blessings we receive from God and those who have contributed to our lives today. We receive the blessings — but our response — our expression of gratitude determines the sort of person we are.

"Today, as of old, man sets his own price. For 30 pieces, Judas sold himself, not Christ."

I am sure I could develop this message along the sins of ingratitude, and could draw our attention to how careless we are in expressing our appreciation to God for his wonderful gifts to us, and to our forefathers, and immediate forbears for the heritage they have left us. We could develop a sense of shame and begin to belittle and despise ourselves for our ingratitude. That might even be good for us, for goodness knows we are ungrateful!

But there is another side to this question which is perhaps less frequently given consideration: "Gratitude is expensive."

How often we have heard it said, "politeness doesn't cost you anything." But, that's only a half truth for politeness does cost something. It pays big dividends but it costs, in time, in thoughtfulness, in attitude of mind and heart. Politeness is not a matter of a few hours of intensive training in the social graces, but it is the result of the real education of mind and heart...and gratitude goes further than politeness. It is one of the major evidences of that gentility of mind and heart that is no respecter of persons, and knows no boundaries of nationality or race. Our Scripture points out that the despised Samaritan had it, whereas the self-important and proud Hebrews had it not. Some may be saying, "but what did it get him?" Well, in his returning and falling on his face before Jesus, and thanking him, he received the intangible blessing of the outpouring of his lonely heart to Him who was the loneliest of all men — he shared in the fellowship of Jesus' suffering and Jesus with him. Forever after, he was able to sympathize in a most complete way with every leper he was to meet on the highways or on the streets.

This was one of the prices he was to pay for this gratitude. And again whenever he heard the name of Jesus spoken, he would be reminded of his obligation to Him. He came to so thoroughly understand the words "I love Him because He first loved me," that he had to live this in his own life. Beloved, gratitude may be expensive, but in the long run, ingratitude may be more expensive.

Again, our gratitude is expensive in our family relationships. Our gratitude for being a member of a family with a proud name and exemplary record costs us something. It will express itself, "not in talk" but in daily living. Not in ancestor worship but in seeing that the record handed down to us, though it may be known and esteemed only in the family circle, and not paraded before men, is improved and lifted higher in ourselves as we remember that we are ancestors, too. Gratitude is also expensive in our church and religious experiences. Those of us who have an abiding sense of what God, through Christ, has done for us are having the same experiences as that lone leper had. Constantly we see about us those who have turned back to the Christ to fall at His feet and give Him thanks. And most such persons find it desirable and necessary to return again and again to Jesus and express their gratitude in deeds of sacrificial living and service they find themselves bearing in their hearts and souls the mark of Christ — and this mark shines out as a light which shall light the pathway to Him, who is the great physician for all mankind, and who stands ready to cleanse every man of the loathsome disease of sin.

Yes, my dear friends, gratitude is expensive, but it pays big dividends. Gratitude is one of the spiritual qualities of life. It springs from the depths of love. It is not found in the lives of those who live on the plane of the expedient; those who look out for number one; those who are getting theirs while the getting is good; those who are selfish rather than selfless. Gratitude is a state of mind and heart and will. It requires much thought, meticulous care and a lifetime of practice, springing from high regard for those with whom we associate and our heritage of the past. Gratitude is the first rung of the ladder which we climb, "rung by rung to reach the vaulted skies." Gratitude is the expensive product of that soul who has walked with God and with Christ, and with great souls of the past and present, and which is expressing itself in the fruits of the spirit in the ongoings of those who would build the Kingdom of God on earth and help answer our Lord's prayer — "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done."

Gratitude is expensive. It has cost some of the great souls of time their all, even their lives, as they have tried, not to repay, but to demonstrate what their gratitude for God's love has meant to them. David Livingstone's life was set on fire by his contact with this sense of gratitude in those final words of our Lord as he talked with the Twelve at the Mount of Ascension — "Lo, I am with you always even unto the end of the world." He staked his life on that text. On that pledge he hazarded his all. And it did not fail him. Yes beloved of God, gratitude is expensive! A good question in this special season is: What has our gratitude cost us? Are we among the nine or the one?

Let us pray: O Lord who has given us the privilege of life, help us to magnify eternal values and to show forth by our love and gratitude the Christ whom to know a right life eternal...Amen.

Liver enzyme could indicate hepatitis

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a healthy 34-year-old male and was recently referred for blood chemistry because of a slightly elevated ALT level. There's no family history of liver problems, but the night before I went to donate blood, we had a party and I drank heavily. Would this cause the problem, and what does it mean?

To give you more information, I am enclosing you a free copy of my "Health Report" "Blood-ALT." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.35 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91399, Cleveland, OH 44101-3399. Be sure to mention the URL.

(C)1966, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DEAR READER: Alanine aminotransferase (ALT) is a liver enzyme that is released into the bloodstream when the liver is physically or chemically injured. The level of ALT usually corresponds to the degree of injury. ALT and other enzymes can appear in the blood from hepatitis or acute alcohol intoxication.

In your case, I suspect that your indiscriminate use of alcohol resulted in temporary liver irritation, which was reflected in the blood test. You should check this out with a doctor, however, and have a repeat blood test performed when you have not been drinking.

You were referred as a donor because the elevated ALT could represent hepatitis. This viral liver infection could, if your blood had been transfused into a sick patient, produce serious consequences in the recipient. It's standard policy for the Red Cross to refuse donors with even a hint of liver inflammation. Again, your doctor can diagnose the cause of your elevated ALT. I might add that this incident should be sobering for you, in all respects of the word. If you are drinking enough alcohol to raise the ALT, you have a drinking problem. On the other hand, if you have undiagnosed hepatitis, alcohol is poison for you. Either way, you should stay off the booze. I suggest you have a frank discussion with your doctor about your drinking habits.

South tried very hard to get to a grand slam. After spades were supported, he cue-bid hearts first, then diamonds, and finally showed the ace of clubs. North dutifully bid six diamonds to show second-round control of that suit, and South settled into six spades. On this bidding there was certainly a chance that North might evaluate a doubleton heart as enough to carry on to grand slam. That did not occur. Declarer for going set in six. Declarer won the ace of clubs, picked up trumps, cashed the ace of hearts, then got to dummy with the king of diamonds to lead another heart. East showed out. Declarer played low, but West won the trick and exited with a club. Later West took the setting trick with the heart queen. The proper play guarantees making the small slam, although it's up to the play for an overtrick. Declarer should draw trumps, play A-K of diamonds, then ruff a club. Next comes the ace of hearts. Now instead of playing the second high heart (which might drop the queen), declarer should get off lead with a low heart. West will win, but will now be stymied. A club or a diamond will allow declarer to ruff in dummy while shedding the king heart, and a heart back will be into the K-J. Of course it's unlikely that hearts would behave so badly, but isn't it worth sacrificing the occasional overtrick to ensure making the small slam?
