

Compete With Students Engineers Seek Disney Jobs

By FAT LEISNER

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—America's top space engineers who built Apollo for manned moon landings may be up against students for ticket-taker jobs on a make-believe moon trip come October when the mammoth Walt Disney World attraction opens here.

Florida's will be considered first, Disney says. And applicants will be cast, rather than hired. Preferences are for example, a retiree to run the merry-go-round; a bumpy, strapping lad for the jungle cruise, perhaps a bearded, young man for Liberty Square and a small, demure person for fairyland.

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the bachelor dinner and bridal party out of the way, Tricia Nixon and Eddie Cox step through rehearsal dinners today for their wedding Saturday, hopefully in the White House Rose Garden.
The weather remains a problem. The Weather Bureau called for partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the 80s Saturday with the latest prospect for rain set at 30 per cent.
While the half-century-old Rose Garden was the center of attention today, a rehearsal also was set for inside the mansion, where the ceremony will be if it does rain.
Workers were putting down a wood platform to be covered by a 90-foot white carpet down the center of the Rose Garden to the altar. Minister To Others

One thing that a good many people seem to forget about Jesus is that He, in His own words, "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." We are usually pretty happy to be ministered unto, but there are a lot of times when Christians forget that side of their religion which says that they are called to minister to the world. As a matter of fact, it seems sometimes that the very word "minister" has come to mean a man in holy orders rather than in terms of caring. The verb has become a noun in our thinking.

Jesus' whole life was a life of ministry. He healed the sick, taught the ignorant, gave meaning to the lives who touched His. He literally gave of Himself totally in order that we might have life, and that more truly, His whole life was a life of self-giving which showed forth the love which God has for this world — and showed it more clearly by living love more than talking about it.

In a way, I suppose it is a part of the human condition of life that we desire ministry in our own needs as much more often than we desire to reach out to the rest of the world. The cares of the world press down upon us a lot. However, it must be a rather unhappy commentary on our Christian faith that we so seldom wish to share with others the joys and the burdens of life. It may well be "natural" to want to be cared for, but Christians are called out of the natural way of life to witness and share and love. I was surprised to see that the dictionary places the Christian meaning of minister ninth on their list of meanings. We really have pushed our Lord's directive aside, haven't we?

So what is the Christian meaning? To care for someone else. To help someone. To heal, both as a doctor heal and as a comfortable, helpful, healing, minister. To care for someone else, to help someone, to heal, both as a doctor heal and as a comfortable, helpful, healing, minister. To care for someone else, to help someone, to heal, both as a doctor heal and as a comfortable, helpful, healing, minister.

So. Presbyterians Torn By Disputes

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Southern Presbyterians go into a meeting this Sunday that could rip open a Pandora's box that is troubling many of the nation's major denominations—the rise within them of warring factions.

But the tensions, to varying degrees, also are current in other major Protestant denominations, as well as Roman Catholicism.

Emerging as a dissonant backlash to the general, Christian movement for Christian unity, the polarization has hit harder in some church bodies than others, raising occasional threats of schism.

It particularly has buffeted the million-member Presbyterian Church U.S. (Southern) and the 2.8-million-member Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Both are cracking with friction, and both are holding governing conventions this summer, the Presbyterians next week in Massachusetts Springs, Va., and the Missouri Synod Lutherans July 9-18 in Milwaukee.

Deanery Meeting Set For Sanford Church

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

As the women of the parish go to the deanery meeting on June 13, Rev. Joseph Kert, assistant pastor of All Souls Church, All Souls Catholic Women's Club held its last meeting for this season. Guests included Rev. William Siefert, pastor at Nativity Church in Lake Mary, and Mrs. Adela Barca, president of the Nativity Club, with members Joan Fryman, Julia Callahan and Jennie Fox.

Mrs. Donald LeFlin, president of the Orlando Deanery of Catholic Women, announced that the spring deanery meeting will be held at All Souls in Sanford with Mrs. Peggy Sirent as chairman and Jennie Fox of Nativity as co-chairman. Marie Penold will be chairman of the food committee. Evelyn DeMatteo, prizes. Amelia LeFlin, decorations. Mrs. Nina Crouse, of All Souls, and Julia Callahan, of Nativity Reservations.

Mrs. Brigit Kolarik, president of All Souls reported that at the last parish council meeting an announcement was made that action at All Souls for next year will be $28 for Catholics and $35 for non-Catholics. There also will be a change in uniform for the new year.

Mrs. Frances Flieger reported that as deanery representative for the club she attended a group discussion on "Love Is the Family" with both adults and the youth participating. The discussion covered such topics as related to religion, social and personal aspects. The consensus was that adult education is needed in many areas of concern; that parents should practice what they preach; and that they should not argue about the type of discipline in front of the youthful offender, that parents should listen more and show more trust.

A crazy hat contest was conducted for fun during the evening and eight of the members were outstanding with hats made of Easter baskets, barecades, bread baskets, and utilizing items around the home to produce imaginative and truly "crazy" hats. Mrs. Margaret Burns was first prize for the "Furries" hat. Mrs. Maria Bogan was second with a lighted birth cake in honor of her birthday. Mrs. first prize for the most original hat.

Broad Range Of U. S. Goods OKd For Sale To Red China

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's list of U.S. exports that may be sold inside mainland China contains few surprises, but officials say it will be expanded if Peking becomes more receptive to trade.

"It's a fairly sizable and meaningful list," said one administration official who helped prepare it. "It's a step forward. I expect other items will be added to the list."

With a few differences, the export list Nixon announced Thursday closely parallels the allowable items for trade with the Soviet Union without specific government approval.

In line with his policy of establishing closer ties with Peking, Nixon broke a 21-year ban on trade with mainland China by disclosing a broad range of American-made products that can be shipped to the Communist country.

Included are automobiles, a large number of consumer goods such as stoves and refrigerators, some industrial machinery, and a large number of raw materials, such as textiles and rubber.

Left over from jet aircraft and diesel locomotives, items the United States considers might have military uses. Officials conceded there was considerable debate within the administration over whether they should be included.

U.S. industry, however, can still apply for specific licenses to ship these and other products left off the list to mainland China, U.S. officials doubted the list would open up significant trade with China soon.

"We do not anticipate significant trade developments with either China or the Soviet Union in the immediate future," said Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon "looks upon these measures as a significant step to improved communications with a land of 80 million people after a 20 year freeze in our relations."

Nixon also lifted a ban on imports from China and dropped a requirement imposed by former President John F. Kennedy in 1963 that at least half of U.S. grain exports to Russia, Eastern Europe and China be carried in American ships.

The administration said the new shipping requirement could eventually help U.S. exporters get some of the estimated $200 million a year in wheat shipments the Soviets buy also.

The requirement has put U.S. grain at a competitive disadvantage in such sales because American shipping costs more.

But AFL-CIO President George Meany denounced the action, saying it was a breach of commitments he said were made to U.S. seamen by Kennedy and former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

In Congress, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said Nixon's move in abolishing the list of exports "will greatly enhance our ability to compete with other nations for a fair share of the world market."

Rep. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said he had "very grave reservations as to the wisdom of liberalizing trade with Red China or any of the Communist nations which pose a threat to world peace."

Industry's first reaction was cautious.

"We're still right along that we are always interested in doing business with any country where it is not prohibited by the government," said a spokesman for Chrysler Corp.

"But there are economic problems to be faced." He cited customs duties and tariffs that may frustrate trade.

Bombers Clobber New Red Highway

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B-2 bombers today attacked a new North Vietnamese highway leading from Laos into South Vietnam's northern quarter where Hanoi is reportedly building up its supply, depot and forces.

The raids came after a U.S. armored column patrolling the southern edge of the demilitarized zone battled North Vietnamese troops for five hours. The U.S. Command said three North Vietnamese troops were killed in the clash Thursday 15 miles south of the DMZ. U.S. losses were seven men wounded, one armored vehicle destroyed and two damaged.

Nine B-2s dropped nearly 100 tons of explosives on supply routes, depots and bunker complexes in the northern quarter of South Vietnam.

Six of the bombers struck two miles and 17 northwest of Saigon, where the North Vietnamese military were wounded headquarters said.

Elsewhere, the Saigon command reported that 28 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed and nine rifles captured in fighting in the 11-mile forest deep in the Mekong Delta.

A communication said there were no South Vietnamese casualties. The South Vietnamese command reported that North Vietnamese troops battled an enemy force southwest of Nong Luong, about 110 miles west of Saigon and 20 miles from the Vietnam border. Twelve enemy were reported killed while Saigon losses were two killed and six wounded.

Military sources in Phnom Penh reported that Cambodian forces have been driven out of the town of Srang, an important defensive position 27 miles southeast of the capital. Details were not available, but the sources said government troops near the town were cut off by an enemy attack.

Enemy gunners also fired five mortar rounds into a South Vietnamese district headquarters 24 miles northeast of Saigon. Some South Vietnamese militiamen were wounded, headquarters said.

Bulletin 10 Die In Wreck

By ROY MALONE
SALEM, Ill. (AP) — Officials of the Illinois Central Railroad said today that a locked wheel—probably caused by an electrical failure—led to the flaming derailment of the City of New Orleans passenger liner.

Ten persons died in the wreckage and 91 were injured. There were 24 persons, including 18 crewmen, aboard.

The crash was the first major accident under the new national air-rail system, under which the Illinois Central and other railroads operate passenger trains.

Investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board and the Illinois Commerce Commission came to the scene.

Aan S. Boyd, Illinois Central president, blamed the wreckage for two hours. He said the crossover switch was not opened and the truck was "in first-class condition."

The train departed Chicago at 8 a.m. and was scheduled to arrive in New Orleans at 11:30 a.m. today. The accident occurred about 1:30 p.m. near Trent, a whistle-stop 140 miles south of Chicago.

engine started sliding 1 1/2 miles north of the accident scene but the train's engineer never knew that a wheel that a locked.

The derailment occurred. Law said when the locomotive was about 1/2 mile from the crossing of sliding track, the friction mechanism which railroaders call a "frog."

"If there hadn't been a crossover, there's the defect might have been detected as the train rounded a bend further on," Law said. "We suspect it was an electrical malfunction in the traction works."

Passage Of Law Brings Charges

By J.T. WOLKERSTORFER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The passage of South Vietnam's presidential election law by the National Assembly last week has brought a flurry of charges here and abroad that President Nguyen Van Thieu pushed it through to insure his re-election.

Among the charges made in Vietnam are:

- That Thieu, who got 33 percent of the vote in 1971, is obsessed with the idea of getting a majority this time and wants to eliminate as many candidates from the race as possible.
- That Thieu could wind up being the only candidate.
- That the U.S. mission is now desperately trying to assure there is at least one other candidate—probably retired Gen. Duong Van Minh—to keep the election from turning into a farce.
- Although diplomatic sources believe Minh is assured of the necessary endorsement, should he choose to run, they are more doubtful about Ky.
- "The endorsement provision could keep Ky out of the race," one Western diplomat said yesterday.

There are fewer than 250 senators and deputies and only two diplomatic observers from the endorsement provision could eliminate even such a major contender as Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Editorial Comment

All Eyes On Legislature's Special Session

Handling of the unseemly impasse which both the general session is an example of good government which augurs well for the future.

Gov. Reubin Askew (D) further strengthened our opinion that in this chief executive the state has an able, informed and conscientious politician.

It would have been quite in the style of former administrations if the governor had taken the legislators to task for failing to achieve a budget and a tax structure to fund it during its 60-day, extremely costly regular session.

But not this administration and not at this time. Pitting the backs of the legislators (of whom he was one before elected governor) for some achievements which deserved it, he set the stage for a middle-ground special session during which the sticky disagreement between House and Senate could be dissolved.

Inconsistencies

Some of the great inconsistencies of Congress were painfully evident in recent weeks. When a railroad strike created a national crisis with immense potential consequences, Congress was able to put the trains back on the tracks in several days.

On the other hand the matter of extending Selective Service before it expires next June 30 has been an issue before Congress for many months.

Now the Democratic leadership insists that it must not have time to complete action on the bill in the next few weeks.

One of the difficulties is that Congress has imposed unnecessary problems upon itself by festooning the draft extension measure with unrelated amendments, such as North Atlantic Treaty Organization troop levels and deadlines for our assistance to South Vietnam.

Congress also has beguiled itself into almost believing that voluntary military service is imminent, or that the pool of presently deferred men can meet manpower needs of the services if the Selective Service law expires.

Neither is fact. An all-volunteer service is a matter to be approached with caution so that national security is not endangered.

In the pools of deferred men are largely college students whom Congress always has been reluctant to draft. Trying to tap them would raise more litigation than men for the services.

For the foreseeable future the draft will be needed to assure our military strength, a fact that Congress cannot avoid.

Making News Understandable

West Germany's government-owned television system is planning a new broadcast especially designed for children from about the age of 10 on up.

Tentatively scheduled to start early next year, the program will consist of three to five news items, illustrated with films and photos and written to make events understandable to children.

If the idea proves successful, American networks may want to copy. Come to think of it, with the world situation as complicated as it is these days, a news program at child-level would probably have a huge adult following, too.

Political Notebook:

That Lucky (?) Miami Beach

By BRUCE BLOSSAT. WASHINGTON (NEA) — It looks pretty likely now that Miami Beach will get the 1972 Democratic convention to be set in early July. If that's it, the people in Miami Beach may come to wonder why they ever wanted the thing.

There's a hypothesis, by the way, that a minor explosion of emotion, though the intensity of Chicago in 1968 almost certainly won't be matched.

One reason difficulties are predictable is that the party's arch left consistently takes the position that if its narrow minority doesn't win, that means the whole setup is lousy and illegal.

Barring some freakish combination of events, the arch left isn't going to win. It will lose because most of the people they are to "give power to" are in the middle, where they are not. The crisis of pain, signifying "injustice," will be loud. Action will be, er, vigorous.

Another factor forecasting trouble looms large with the passing weeks. Reformers who have labored hard and earnestly to open up the convention delegate selection process probably imagine they're going to get an amazingly "wide-open" convention.

Yet one of the big things happening in the name of reform appears to point the other way. So far, eight new primaries have been added to the rolls, for a total of 23 against 16 in 1968. It might go to 26 if Delaware, Michigan and Louisiana all convert present in-law to law.

What does this do for the "wide-open" convention? It means, above all, that—on the day the convention first meets—a higher proportion of the total delegate roster will be legally bound to one candidate or another than ever in U.S. political history.

Just on the basis of present primary status, 744 delegates would thus be bound, and another 416 could be bound under certain circumstances. That comes to 1,160, roughly, two-thirds of the 1,800 needed for nomination and somewhat more than a third of the 3,616 grand total.

The figure could be altered upward by new primary additions. It could be moved downward by action in Massachusetts (102 votes), where major change in the law is pending. But the "bound" total will stay high.

It is interesting to note, against the "reform" backdrop, that voting results will bind delegates in five of the eight new state primaries—Maryland, Tennessee, North Carolina, New Mexico and Alaska. They MAY be binding in another—Rhode Island.

Altogether, 10 states presently have legally binding primaries and in six more the delegates may be bound. You will sometimes hear it argued that, yes, these delegates will be bound—but only for a ballot or two. Silly argument. Beginning in 1962, the two major parties together have held 20 conventions. Exactly 16 of the 20 were decided on the first ballot. Two went three ballots, one went four and one, far back in 1940, went six.

As a reasonable public servant, Laird had the obligation to announce his obligations to announce his obligations, backed by the majority view among his senior men. But he also had the obligation to announce that new information (comment in the alibi) had raised questions in the minds of other competent analysts.

Bare All Facets Of Threats

By RAY CHOMLEY. WASHINGTON (NEA)—Even assuming that everyone concerned has been completely honest in his appraisal of the Soviet missile threat, it is now clear that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and his department have been somewhat less-than-candid in what they have told the public.

BERRY'S WORLD

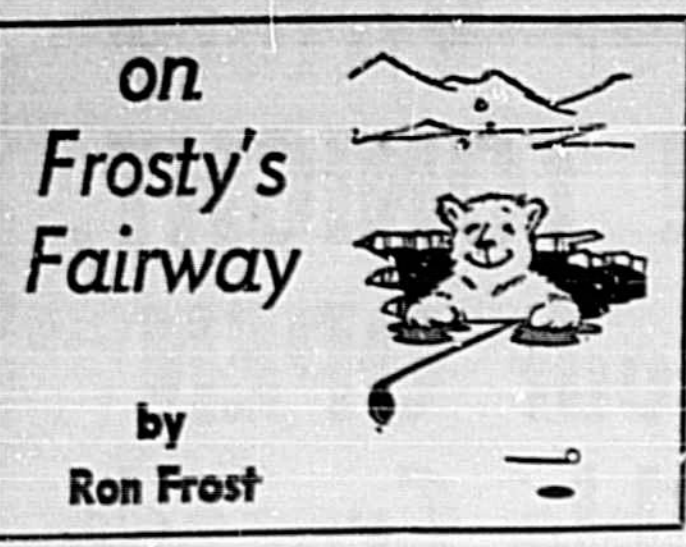

It is clear that the first photographs of the super missile silos in Nevada had been made. It seems probable to Laird and the majority of his senior photo interpreters and scientific advisers that they were being built in impressive numbers, and were more sophisticated and more dangerous.

The Maidland Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the Golf Tournament at the Valley Forge Golf and Country Club. The tournament will be played on July 1-2.

In other news at V/F this week, the men's association held its monthly meeting. Just prior to the meeting, a nine hole tournament was played. Don Taylor picked up a chance to go on to the state and, possibly, national recognition.

The newly organized Mid-Florida Men's Golf Association hosted its first tournament last weekend which consisted of a guys and gals event. Prizes were awarded for first and second low net teams, longest drive for both the men and women, and closest to the fifth hole. A 65 net was good enough to capture first low net.

Key Walters and Bobby Papan were winners in the closest to the hole contest. Kay was 12' 6" while Bobby was 5' 10" from the flag.

Only six players entered this week's dog fight, and would you believe, there was a three-way tie for first place. Lee Austin, Bill Wagner and Jim O'Donnell all finished with a minus one.

Last Saturday was stag day at the R.H. Country Club. There were several ways one could win a prize. Prizes were awarded for individual low gross and low net winners, team low net and low gross, plus a blind leg race. Wheeling was also awarded, as you will note several names appearing several times.

Win 36 Ribbons, 9 Trophies Oviedo Brothers Make Big Rodeo Haul

By HERKY CUSH Herald Sports Writer

A pair of Oviedo brothers who have been riding "ever since they can remember" recently made off with a haul worthy of another horseman of note, Jesse James, in their latest riding competition.

Borrowed From A Friend Weiskopf Might Keep Putter

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Golf Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Tom Weiskopf borrowed a putter from a friend in Columbus, Ohio a couple of weeks ago and the man may have a hard time getting it back.

It was the first time the 6-foot 3 Weiskopf had let any stage of any tournament at any level since he won the 1967 U.S. Open. "I took four months off last year to go hunting," he said. "I didn't play after Larry Day. I think my game suffered from the layoff and I feel I'm just coming back."

The 28-year-old Weiskopf, a two-time winner since 1968, had a two-stroke margin over a quarter led at 68, four-under-par on the longest course the touring pros will play this season, the 7,276-yard Quail Hollow Country Club layout.

They are Jim Colbert, a one-time Kansas State football player, veteran Miller Barber and Charlie Sifford and Tom Siskak, a Missouri qualifier who has won only $70 this season on the tour.

In addition to their first place trophies and ribbons in Bithlo, the boys also made off with three 2nd place ribbons, first place ribbons, three 4th place ribbons and one 6th place ribbon.

The Bithlo event was held at the Rodeo Ranchette Arena in Bithlo. The Oviedo boys made off with an equal share of ribbons in both affairs. If ribbons for each day's work.

Ted, 14, was the star of the two shows on June 5 and June 6. The first outing was the Bithlo Saddle Club Rodeo.

It takes a lot of luck to win a league title in Little League competition but there is also a great deal of skill involved. The Orioles of the Oviedo Little League combined the two this past season to capture the league crown with an overall record card of 14 wins and 4 losses.

Monday night the Orioles will enter the Orlando City Tournament and hope to continue to get their share of luck to go with their skill.

The Orioles had no less than 316 players, or half the team, to bet over .500 this season. And one of those half dozen, Scott Riddle, comprised a fantastic 342 hitting average. He socked 31 hits with 13 of them going for extra bases. Second leading hitter on the Oriole team is Frankie Scott who rapped 25 hits in 56 trips for a .446 average.

While they had six players hit better than .300 the Orioles also had three fourth of the team get at least 10 hits on the year. Playing an 18 game schedule that means a three-fourths of the team was hitting better than half the time. In run scoring the Orioles had eight players score 10 or more runs and every player scored at least three times.

In addition to their fine hitting the Orioles also had a strong record on the mound. Heading the mound corps was 11-year-old Mike Henson. Henson posted a spottless 6-0 record.

STILL HUSTLING, 37-year-old Hank Aaron barrels into Philadelphia catcher Tim McCraw. The Montrealer's Atlanta outfit, he says, that, contrary to the implications of a popular television commercial, what he really starts his day off with is a glass of sherry.

'Betting' Clete Boyer Becomes Free Agent

NEW YORK (AP) - Betting on football games with a man I thought was a friend, I have never bet on baseball and I have never made any kind of bet with anyone I knew to be a bookmaker," Boyer said in a statement issued by the office of Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association.

However, the 34-year-old infielder later said, "I'm innocent, but I don't see any sense fighting it—the commissioner has shown a very understanding attitude."

With Kuhn's investigation and the fine, believed to be the first in which a player has been fined for betting on another sport, Boyer said he would like to play on the West Coast.

It was learned Oakland has contacted Boyer since his departure from Atlanta. Oakland owner Charles O. Finley was not available for comment Thursday but Manager Dick Williams said:

"We've been running hot and cold on Boyer. If we can make something else work, we'll be better off."

Boyer got into trouble with Atlanta when he said, in print, that "there shouldn't be a place for a guy like General Manager Paul Richards in baseball, and the manager (Lam Harris) would be his pal. He'd be one of Paul's pals. He'd be one of Paul's pals. He'd be one of Paul's pals."

Cash 'Registers' Tiger Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cash register continues to ring for Detroit City while moving toward the top of the all-time Tiger hit parade.

That's Norm Cash, spinning sweet music with his swing. Cash clouted another game-winning home run, powering Detroit past Milwaukee 3-2 Thursday night, and pulled into a second-place tie with Hank Greenberg on the team's career list with 310 hits.

"It's great to be Greenberg because he has a heck of a ballplayer," said Cash, who also delivered a three-run shot in Wednesday's night 3-0 victory over the Brewers.

Based on his hottest start in his team leading 21 runs batted in and 13 homers.

The Cleveland Indians swamped the Chicago White Sox 9-0; the Baltimore Orioles walloped the Minnesota Twins 12-0 and the New York Yankees clipped the California Angels 3-2 in the night's other American League games.

Rain washed the contest between Washington and Kansas City. National League scores: San Diego Padres 4, New York Mets 2; Philadelphia Phillies 4, Los Angeles Dodgers 2; Montreal Expos 3, San Francisco Giants 1; Atlanta Braves 2, Houston Astros 1 and Pittsburgh Pirates 3, St. Louis Cardinals 1.

Just before Cash's two-run shot in the sixth inning that erased a 2-1 Milwaukee lead, Brewer Manager Dave Bristol went out to talk to pitcher Skip Lockwood.

"I told Skip that this might be the ballgame... I was just trying to settle him down," Bristol said, and he turned out that it was the ballgame after all.

Montreal Wins, 3-1 Giants Continue To Skid

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

It took a while to charge Montreal's battery, but when Carl Morton and John Bateman got the current flowing the St. Louis Cardinals were in for another June jolt.

Morton's clutch pitching and a tie-breaking double by catcher Bateman sparked the Expos to a 3-1 victory over San Francisco Thursday night that pinned the National League West Division leaders with their eighth setback in nine games this month.

Montreal fell behind in the first inning the result of a wild pitch by Morton and a wild throw by Bateman—and the Expos came back to complete a sweep of the three-game series against the tottering Giants.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 3-1; San Diego toppled the New York Mets 4-2; Philadelphia tripped Los Angeles 4-2 and Atlanta edged Houston 2-1.

In American League play, Baltimore mangled Milwaukee 13-0; Cleveland thumped the Chicago White Sox 9-0; Detroit blanketed Milwaukee 3-0 and the New York Yankees shamed California 3-2. Washington and Kansas City were rained out.

The Expos came from behind in the fifth inning on singles by ex-Giant Ron Hunt and Rusty Staub, a sacrifice fly by Bob Batley and Bateman's run-scoring double.

Morton, who had worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the third-stranded runners on second and third in the eighth and then delivered a Montreal insurance run with a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the inning.

He checked the Giants on seven hits to snap a personal three-game losing string for an over-all pitching mark of 5-8. Steve Riss scattered seven hits and Bob Robertson crashed his 12th homer of the season as the Pirates settled the Cards to move within one percentage point of first-place New York in the East Division.

Aaron, Bench Leading All-Star Vote Race

NEW YORK AP - Johnny Bench, Cincinnati's super catcher, and venerable slugger Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Willie Mays of San Francisco are the early pace-setters in voting for the National League All-Star team.

Bench, the NL's most valuable player last season, received 69,506 of the 110,000 votes cast by fans to lead all players in the first week's balloting, according to figures released Tuesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Aaron, 37, and the 46-year-old Mays also received more than 60,000 votes each to Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell, who leads the league in home runs and runs batted in, is the third outsider.

The other early leaders are first baseman Willie McCovey of San Francisco, second baseman Glenn Beckers of the Chicago Cubs, shortstop Bud Harrelson of the New York Mets and third baseman Joe Torre of St. Louis.

Ralph Garr, the Atlanta speedster whose name does not appear on the All-Star ballot, received 14,251 write-in votes in rank No. 8 among outfielders.

Aaron picked up 65,206 votes, Mays got 60,040 and Stargell 52,192. Lou Brock of St. Louis, Pete Rose of Cincinnati, Roberto Clement of Pittsburgh and Billy Williams of Chicago also are ahead of Garr.

The closest race is at shortstop, where Harrelson has a 1,588-vote edge over the Cubs' Ken Keselring.

Other runners-up are Atlanta's Orlando Cepeda at first base, St. Louis' Julian Javier at third and New York's Jerry Grote behind the plate.

MONTREAL (AP) - Al MacNeil is out as coach of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup Champions, the Montreal Canadiens, after one of the briefest successful coaching careers in NHL history.

Beach Files Suit

NEW YORK AP - The Cleveland Browns and National Football League conspired to deny Walter Beach a job "because of his race" and political views, said the former Browns defensive back in a suit against the club and the league.

Beach, a black, who played with the Browns from 1962 through 1967 and resides in New Haven, Conn., charges a conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman Act and seeks triple damages, unspecified, to cover potential pay and pension benefits plus costs of the suit.

The NFL had no comment, but Arthur B. Modell, Browns' president, said: "I welcome this opportunity to have a full public airing of what has been a series of racially oriented incidents related to plaintiff's political preferences incurred the displeasure of Modell," the suit contends.

Beach placed him on waivers and recalled him when New Orleans claimed him, but he was not claimed when he became a free agent.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is not a letter seeking advice, it is a statement of horror at the vulnerability of the female species. After reading a best seller which instructs women on how to be "sensuous," I have concluded that I am certainly not sensuous, nor do I want to be.

If a man has to take a woman for a "trial run" as if she were an automobile, I'll probably be called back to the factory due to a faulty fuel pump. And according to the author's more descriptive passages, I'd say she is well on her way to "her best six - thousand - mile check-up. I hope her muffler holds off!

It gives me a pain in the pocketbook to realize that I spent $1.25 for that book. Sign me.

SENSIBLE.
DEAR SENSIBLE: You're beautiful!

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were married, we agreed that we would have no children. We were both in our early twenties at the time. He came from a poor family and struggled through college and medical school on scholarships. I came from a broken home and wanted to be certain our marriage would work before bringing children into the world.

My husband is now a physician and I am teaching, and we could easily support a family, but my husband doesn't want children. He feels that they would tie us down.

He is a devoted husband and I've never had a finer father. We are good friends as well as lovers and enjoy traveling and a sense of freedom only children couples know.

When I mention children, he says he is happy without them. I have considered getting pregnant and then having the issue. Should I honor his wishes and my promise, or become pregnant and hope that he will be as happy as I, once the baby comes? I am 21 and time is running out.

SOMETHING MISSING
DEAR SOMETHING: Do not trick him into fatherhood. He may never forgive you—or the child. If you can't persuade him that children would enrich your lives, better to content yourself with "something missing" than to betray him with "something added."

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you about my sister. She is 18 years old and she hasn't had one date yet. She's not a beauty, but she's not a mess either. She's Put yourself in South's position. You have bid three no-trump because you feel that your four aces will be worth a trifle more than their 16 points. West opens the king of diamonds. When you look over dummy you count only eight tricks and no place to look for a ninth except in the spade suit.

You win the first diamond because you don't want a shift to hearts and start after spades. If you could see your opponents' cards you could be sure of three spade tricks. You can't so you want the play that is most likely to succeed.

This play is to lead low from either hand and take the dov-

Worry Clinic By Dr. Crane

CASE Q-37: Ellen J., aged 28, is a speech student at college.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "one of our assignments last term was to make a five-minute talk and then handle a forum discussion thereon."

"Well, I made my five-minute speech but didn't do well during the forum period."

"For the class asked questions I suppose one of the students was rather hostile."

"They tried to make me look foolish and 'show me up.'"

"So how can a speaker be most successful in moderating a forum discussion?"

"Even if you have all the answers to questions that the audience may raise, go slow!"

"For if you mow down the questioner with your speedy and complete reply, you will make him look silly and thus deflate his pride on the back of a 'Pause and Praise.'"

This has an additional advantage, too, for it permits you to collect your wits and stall for time, in the case you don't know the precise answer.

Beware, however, for it is not natural to pause and praise! Professional speakers (and salesmen) often bark out their answers to questions so fast and so completely that they move down the timid questioner, which is what I mean by the "Reversible Why" technique.

For Jesus often answered a question with a question, which is what I mean by the "Reversible Why" technique.

Thus, when His critics tried to entrap him with their query about paying tribute to Caesar, Jesus held up a coin and asked:

"Whose image and superscription are on this coin?"

So Ellen can then casually speak to the class as follows:

"It is very likely that some of you members of the audience have also experienced the very same problem that Mr. Martin has mentioned."

"So we shall let any of you give your own personal solution, if you wish."

Very often somebody in the crowd will then stand up and answer the challenging inquiry that Mr. Martin raised.

But by using the "Reversible Why," Ellen can thus encourage a questioner to question and meanwhile let others help solve the problem.

If others thus do the job for her, she can merely sum up the consensus.

So when she can then try to give a fully reply. Or say she doesn't have all the facts available, so she must defer her answer till later.

In any event, she has avoided a head-on violent quarrel and has probably so mollified her opponent that he feels friendly to her.

So send for my booklet, "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing long stamped, return envelope, plus 25¢.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, addressed envelope and 25¢ for cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

We The Women: By Betty Canary

DEAR BETTY — Would you please tell me the name of your favorite woman poet and also give me the reason for choosing her above others? What qualities do you find most important in her work? I am in the 10th grade and read your column all the time—HOPEING YOU ANSWER SOON.

DEAR BETTY — I have several favorites. Perhaps Sara Teasdale has been the most neglected of the modern women poets. As for the rest of your report, I don't do home-work for anybody. Here's hoping nobody else answered your letter in time for you to hand in a plagiarized term paper.

DEAR BETTY — I enjoy your column but I've been told you don't write all of them. If you do, how do you come up with so many different ideas?

DEAR MANFRED It's easy. Ten minutes a week one stops eating. For instance, and cries, "Type, Magic Fingers!"

DEAR BETTY — My neighbors have done it again. The six children of the family are parked around town with various relatives while the father vacations in Florida and the mother is in Chicago for two weeks to "do her own thing." What do you think this kind of living is? —JUST WONDERING

Polly's Pointers By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Preve concerns grocery carts. Why can't they pay young cars (and get them off the street) to be "hazy boys" who would push the carts of groceries out to one's car and then return them to the store. A fortune must be spent on stolen and lost carts that litter up the parking lots and are often real hazards. The carts get filthy dirty from staying out in the weather and who wants to put their groceries in a dirty, beat-up cart with wheels that will not work. If the stores will not pay for this service they should have their carts steam cleaned and repaired. —MRS. N.E.B. LINE

Actors Find Politics Profitable Sideline

AP TELEVISION-RADIA WRITER
NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Campanella, soon to start his third season playing a trial attorney in the "Lawyer" segment of NBC's "The Bold Ones," believes devoutly in political activism for actors. It opened up for him what has become a profitable sideline: narrating actuality programs for television.

A few years back, Campanella was working steadily in New York producing soap operas and, in his spare time, as a Democrat volunteer in John V. Lindsay's first campaign for mayor. He was tapped to be the sales voice in radio and television commercial spots for the candidate.

As a result, David Wolper's organization hired him to narrate a series of specials, including the quadrennial "Making of the President" and the annual National Geographic series.

His prime-time television career was harder to get into high gear, but it also was the result of chance. An important studio executive was looking for an actor for a certain role, and his wife recalled seeing a likely candidate in a daytime serial—a man named Roy Campanella.

"There have been occasions when it was suggested that I change my name," Joe said, "but Campanella has worked all right for me, and it is sure worked all right for Roy."

Joseph Campanella spent several seasons commuting from his native Manhattan base to

Unions Aid Nixon

By EDMOND LEBRON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen, labor leaders and prominent opponents of President Nixon's economic sharing program have found new unwitting allies among New York City's bridge tenders and sanitation workers.

Strikes by those municipal employees this week tied up Manhattan and provided ammunition for anti-revenue-sharing forces who say the federal program would result in more of the same for still other U.S. cities.

The Nixon plan would distribute the funds with no strings attached. But committee members' questions have indicated they want to help to local jurisdictions, to concentrate on such things as restoring or preventing cuts in public services rather than increasing employee benefits.

"What we would have," Mrs. Griffith said of revenue sharing, "is the city government negotiating with their employees who are paying the bills."

Nixon Accused Condoning Segregation

By G.C. THLEEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — On the eve of a presidential state election expected to rule out federal efforts to open suburban housing to the poor, the Civil Rights Commission accused the government of condoning racial segregation in its major home ownership subsidy program.

Although the government's mortgage aid effort known as the 225 Program should broaden housing opportunities, the commission said, it has instead favored the traditional pattern of placing blacks in older, inner city houses and whites in new suburban dwellings.

"FHA does not by itself control such things as housing sit-location, housing consumer preferences, choice of brokers, or the willingness of brokers to deal or not to deal in FHA-insured properties."

President Nixon had indicated he would reject the law. He said on several recent occasions there will be "forced integration of the suburbs" and no government efforts to change the "economic patterns of a neighborhood."

Howard A. Klinkstein, staff director of the commission, said:

"When members of the housing and home finance industry are found to be engaged in the perpetration of the dual housing market, and the consequent separation and unequal buying patterns, they should be barred from receiving any federal assistance or participating in any federal housing program."

The commission said it would recommend that the government be held liable for condoning segregation in its major home ownership subsidy program.

Car Tags On Sale July 1-August 20

By HERKY CUSH
Pre-written registration forms will be mailed to Seminole County automobile owners on June 25, according to County Tax Collector Troy Ray. License tags will go on sale July 1 and Seminole car owners can purchase their 1971-72 tags at either the court house in Sanford or the branch office in Seminole Plaza in Casselberry.

The renewal period ends Friday, Aug. 20. Should the need arise the two locations may extend their current hours of business, Ray stated the main office, because of the parking problems, may be forced to open its doors the Saturday before the final parking date.

"There is plenty of parking at Seminole Plaza," said Ray. "But the construction of the new court house here in Sanford along with all the other activity may keep people away."

If that occurs the main office will open its doors for business on Saturday, Aug. 14, to help Seminole residents get their auto tags before the Aug. 20 deadline.

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI
R. E. Porter says it's a fairly safe wager that Andrew Carraway, erstwhile chairman of the Seminole Memorial Hospital board of trustees, will be named by Governor Reubin Askew as a member of that board again, succeeding Dr. Thomas Largent, resigned.

Our nomination for "Mister Nice Guy" goes to Bill Baker Volkswagen. When the local fellows were looking for a means to attend the Fellowship of Christian Athletes conference in Black Mt., N.C. . . they had no transportation — and to rent some would have cost $200 (which they didn't have in the first place).

So, Mr. Baker provided them with an air-conditioned bus . . . FREE OF CHARGE.

A very kind gesture. . .

At 20, you'd walk four miles through nettles to picnic with your girl; at 40, you'd have the sandwiches catered in the back yard.

Untold wealth is wonderful — unless the IRS gets wind of it.

Get the right girl on the string, boy and you'll wind up on a leash.

From the way some of the gals are shouting about the cause, they should change the name to the "Women's Lip Movement."

Tell to the guy on the street about where all of the profits go and he'll tell you that 75 percent goes to the owners and 25 to the employees.

Just for the records . . . employees of U. S. corporations in the first three quarters of 1970 received 96.2 percent; owners received 9.8 percent. Of that 9.8 percent, a trifle more than half was paid out in dividends; the rest was used to finance improvements.

With that kind of economic ignorance revealed by a nationwide poll, no wonder we have a labor problem!

Just have to share this one with you . . . from one of the better cartoons; boy, saying prayers, as father listens — "And please send some clothes to those poor ladies in my daddy's magazines."

Cute . . . about the guy who said that he was glad his wife joined the women's lib. "Now she complains about all men — not just me!"

Ask any decent person what he thinks matters most in human conduct: five to one his answer will be honesty.

College Gets $10 Million Windfall

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Florida Presbyterian College received a windfall of $10 million from the weekend. It came from millionaire Jack Eckerd, owner of a chain of drug stores and a former candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The money will go for scholarships and payment of a $1.5 million debt, said the chairman of the board of trustees, Charles McArthur.

Speaking for the board of trustees, McArthur said, "I want to express my deep appreciation to Jack Eckerd for this magnificent show of confidence. This additional investment will bring the total financial support the college to approximately $12.5 million."

McArthur continued, "Mr. Eckerd is today absorbing a $1.5 million short-term debt which has been accumulated over the years by the college. The balance of the $10 million will be placed in endowment as received to be used principally for scholarships."

Addressing faculty, staff and student leaders, Eckerd acknowledged the group's appreciation and discussed a seeming crisis in education and the democratic way of life.

The 58-year-old retail chain store executive emphasized that he refused to "go along with the forces who feel that education and democracy are living on borrowed time; however, it does seem that education, especially higher education, has been priced out of business as products often are in business."

"I think we have two questions that must be answered," said Eckerd. "First is the country getting the education it already is paying for? In my opinion, it is not. Our entire educational process is in need of major overhaul. Instead of trying to reform our entire society, educators should concentrate on turning out effective leaders."

"Secondly, in our free enterprise system, is the taxpayer and businessman really willing to pay for quality education? I believe he is if the educators, politicians and parents will allow the same yardstick of performance to be applied to any successful business case."

"Admittedly this is hard to do in some areas. In others, however, there is no way to justify a continued use of methods and educational processes that have long outlived their usefulness."

Clyde Lee 'Serious' 3 Gunmen Sought

By LARRY NEELY
Seminole County Sheriff's Department issued a statewide alert for the 1969 light green, four-door, Ford sedan bearing a Hillsborough County license tag. The getaway car contained two and possibly three males. The man who fired the gun at Lee was described as dark complexioned about six feet in height.

Lee was struck by four bullets in his arm, one through his cheek and one in the back, from a blue steel revolver believed to be a 9 mm foreign handgun. A cross piece in the gun booth stopped two of the six shots fired from the gun which would have struck Lee in the chest.

There were three witnesses to the Lee shooting at the South Seminole service station, including Evans and two of his employees. One of the attendants at the station, Frank Sivak, told sheriff's deputies that he saw what appeared to be a rifle being pointed at Lee from the assailant's car which was drawn back inside and one man then jumped out and fired at Lee, while Lee screamed, "No, no, help me!"

Evans said that after the shooting the man who fired the shots jumped back into the car which then sped away and entered the southwestbound lane of Interstate 4.

Lee is currently out on $25,000 bail over his arrest on two accounts of conducting a lottery last January, according to Sheriff John Polk. Federal officials said that Lee has a history of arrests and convictions dating back to 1959.

PETER A. Baker, son of Lt. Col. C. J. Baker, (left) and Mrs. A. J. Baker, (right), was commissioned an ensign and received a bachelor of science degree in graduation ceremonies at the U. S. Naval Academy.

Housing Topic For Debate

Future housing development in South Seminole County will hinge on a decision at tomorrow's Seminole County Commissioners meeting.

That decision will be made on the request by builder Charles Clayton to have his Maitland Utilities Package Plant approved until Maitland gets its sewage treatment plant capacity increased.

Clayton was to have drawn up an agreement between Seminole County and Maitland which had to be approved by Seminole County Board of Commissioners before he could continue construction in South Seminole County.

At last week's Maitland City Council meeting Maitland officials stated it was the Seminole commissioners that Clayton had to get approval from before he could resume construction. Clayton proposed that he be permitted to operate a temporary sewage treatment plant to accommodate the houses he would construct.

In other items on the agenda tomorrow the Commission is expected to make a decision on the small claims court law.

Orlando Boy Lost In Hills

MOUNT AIRY, N.C. (AP) — A party of about 150 searched through the night for a missing six-year-old Orlando (Fla.) boy, lost since Sunday afternoon in the wooded area around Mountain Park, some 23 miles west of Mount Airy.

Billy Kite had been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carlan, when he disappeared.

Rescue squad members, volunteer firemen and the Surry County Sheriff's Department joined in the search for the boy.

Church Youth 'jailed'

The summer youth program of First Baptist Church received a routing send off the group gathered for a party at the Civic Center Friday evening.

This party was promoted as the general apparatus of law enforcement officers to be suspicious of the group as "turned on" on drugs. After marching the group to city jail and after the pastor was called the group was released.

It became evident that the "raid" was a planned climax to the party and that this group was not "turned on" on drugs. They were actually having a good time as Christian young people. They said that they were "turned on" on Jesus Christ. While waiting for release they sang hymns and choruses and sensed something of what it means to be in jail.

This unusual beginning actually unveils the summer youth program at First Baptist Church of Sanford. The program is as follows:

June 14-15 — Assisting in vacation Bible school for children at First Baptist Church.

June 18 — 7:30 p.m. — Youth Choir of Myrtle Grove Baptist Church of Pensacola presents sacred concert.

June 20-27 — TEEN TURN ON Week — Special programs are planned for each evening, culminating with a camp-out Friday and Saturday.

June and July — Youth Witnessing groups visit churches in Deland and Mt. Dora. Special recreation emphasis on Aug. 9-14 — Youth camp at Lake Yale.

Aug. 16-22 — Youth led revival, Radiant Tidings Evangelistic team from Carson Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn.

SEVERAL YOUTHS from First Baptist Church are shown putting on a skit as the church kicked off its summer youth program at the Civic Center. The program will continue all summer. The next activity will be assisting in Vacation Bible School. (Don Vincent Photo)

City Commissioners Talk Police Complex

A discussion of several aspects of the proposed police station and jail complex for the city of Sanford is expected to highlight tonight's meeting of the City Commission. The commissioners are expected to discuss the selection of a site and architect for the project as well as a tentative construction budget and space needs at the facility.

City Manager Warren E. (Pat) Knowles has proposed that the $23,000 security complex be financed by a parity issue to be attached to the lakefront improvement bond issue that paid for the marina complex. Knowles said that the bonds are being retired by the city's franchise money collected from Florida Power and Light. He added that the franchise revenues exceed the need amount exceed this fiscal year and an increase is expected annually. He said that the excess funds cannot be used for anything else but retiring the bond issue and the addition of a parity issue to the bond issue to pay for the security complex would allow the city to construct the security complex without seeking revenues from other sources such as increased taxes.

The City Commissioners are expected to accept a grant of
