RAYMOND J. JEFFRIES

Temperance Clinic To Be Held Monday At Baptist Church

A large Temperance Clinic with sound motion pictures will be conducted at a union meeting to be held in the First Baptist Church on Monday night at 7:30 P. M.

Every church in the community, all temperance organizations, the W. C. T. U., Prohibition Party and all friends of the temperance cause are invited to attend.

The clinic will be conducted by Raymond J. Jeffries, popular author of many books, including "The Fabulous Dutch Zellers," which has been declared to be the best temperance story since repeal, and the best-seller, "God is My Landlord."

Mr. Jeffries has had a colorful career of accomplishments, experiences and world-wide adventures. He served with the American, British and French Air Forces in England, France, Luxembourg and Germany during the first World War; he traveled in many countries around the world as a Foreign Correspondent after the war; published a chain of his own newspapers upon returning

Rev. Zimmerman Is Principal Speaker At Men's Supper

The Rev. H. L. Zimmerman presented an introductory lecture into the story of Christianity as found in the Bible at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club at the Parish House of Holy Cross Episcopal Church last night.

The meeting was presided over by President B. F. Whitner, Jr. and the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary served the supper.

Declaring that the Bible is essentially a drama of redemption, Rev. Zimmerman divided it into five main acts and traced the growth of man from the creation, through the resurrection to the day of Judgment.

"God works by inspiration through the Law and the Precept," said Rev. Zimmerman. "Every man has to live by law. If man were not a sinner, no law would be necessary. We would not have to make laws against thieves, murderers, or other evils."

"You and I are living in the Fourth Act, not as better creatures, necessarily, though we should be, but as new creatures. And we will be judged not as fallen creatures, but as fallen new creatures. Joe Stalin is a fallen new creature. His judgment will be much more severe than if he were merely a fallen creature."

"The story of Christianity gives some insight to the life we live," said Rev. Zimmerman. "Christ without God is meaningless, and without Christianity life has no meaning and is just a rat race in a spiritual cage."

Rev. Zimmerman announced in the United States, edited a couple of popular magazines; was president of several large construction companies; served as a newspaper columnist; was a Staff Specialist in the U. S. Army before World War 2, and did special work for both British and American Agencies during the war.

Mr. Jeffries is now president of the Jeffries Lecture Bureau and Sec.-Treas. of Capital Collect. Besides the successful books which he has already written, he is now compiling material for several more books to be published soon.

Congress

Sherman said, "It's my personal opinion that unless international conditions improve, we may have to set a new target as we approach these targets."

At the same time, Admiral Sherman said he believed present manpower goals were wise for partial mobilization and that the UMST plan advanced by Secretary of Defense Marshall and his assistant Secretary, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, is the "best proposal to reach that target."

"At any time it may be necessary to call more reserve units into the service," Admiral Sherman also said.

He made it clear, in answer to other questions that the Navy expects to depend chiefly upon voluntary enlistments for four and six years to build up its forces.

He said the Navy regards 27 months of service as just short a time to convert a civilian into a good sailor.

Even so, Sherman said the Navy expects to take a number of the 27 month draftees provided for in the UMST program.

The Florida Chain of Missions which will be held next Thursday and Friday, will be a joint civic club luncheon on Friday, Gordon Bradley announced that Holy Cross Church will hold a mission during the last week of February with Dean Stanley Brown Sermon of the Virginia Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Vail Lovell announced that a discussion period will be held at the Parish House at 4:00 P. M. on Feb. 4 with Kenneth McVickers of Orlando speaking on "Books People Are Reading."

and that through their assistance and that of other officials some answer will be found. At this time nothing of a definite nature has been developed or proposed.

During the election of officers, T. W. Lawton, former president of the Association, had charge of the meeting. All officers were re-elected unanimously following report of the nominating committee.

He elected Mrs. Endor Curlett, vice-president; Mrs. E. E. True, secretary; S. F. Doudner, secretary-treasurer and O. F.

Don't Talk About Troubles; Correct Them Says Mother

When many folks get to feeling badly they just don't know what to do. They fret and fret around, tell their neighbors, their friends and their family how badly they feel—and they usually do feel miserable. But they don't help matters any by telling other folks how badly they feel all the time. Because most folks don't want to be around them when they act that way. Now, for example, take Mrs. Zina Lee Bowman, Route 6, Glen Ferry Road, Nashville, Tennessee. When she got to feeling badly, she began taking HADACOL and found that by taking HADACOL, the nerve system Vitamins B1, B2, B6, and from in which she was deficient.

Here is Mrs. Bowman's own statement: "I was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I am 70 years old. I am the mother of 9 children. I was so nervous I hardly wanted the children to speak. I had to rest after I got breakfast and before I cleaned my house. I have taken about 10 bottles of HADACOL, and I feel fine. The children can make all the noise they wish, and it doesn't bother me. In fact, I join them in their ball games and other games. We are a happy family, thanks to HADACOL."

Strong UN Patrols Probing Northward As Front Is Quiet

Motorized Columns Slash Into Chinese Lines In Attempt To Head Off Attack

TOKYO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Four powerful Allied columns looking for a fight thrust deep into Communist territory today but Reds on the western Korean front didn't answer the challenge.

The motorized columns were bolstered with tanks and mobile artillery. They returned to the main Allied lines late Monday afternoon after blasting several Red patrols in minor skirmishes.

The columns ranged across a 30-mile span of the western front and pushed within less than 25 miles of Red-held Seoul. Termed officially a "reconnaissance in considerable force," the scouting patrols were charged with taking Red prisoners and obtaining information on Communist troop buildups.

"I guess they saw us coming and ran to the north to hide," an Allied intelligence officer said. "They seem to be willing to stay and fight when we send out small patrols. But when we beef up and hunt them out with it they run away."

Then we pulled out and they flung back into their former positions.

On the central front, Allied forces rebuffed a Red offensive and nearly killed 230 Monday after a three-hour fight. A Communist regiment had held the commanding hill for two days.

General Matthew B. Ridgway landed at the field a few hours after the fight. The Eighth Army chief said the central front situation "is perfect and getting better all the time."

North of the road and rail gauges to the heart of South Korea, Allied forces withdrew last Tuesday after a fighting stand there of nearly three weeks but strong patrols returned last Friday. They have fought in and around the frontlines since then.

McMahon Calls For $50 Billion World Peace Plan

Senator Declares US Is Losing Ground In Survival Fight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) today renewed his call for a $50,000,000,000 global peace plan and asked that it be linked to a senate resolution expressing friendship for the Russian people.

The chairman of the Senate House atomic energy committee ground the battle for the said the United States is "losing ground" in the "survival fight" and should immediately undertake "a ringing declaration of America's intentions."

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, McMahon outlined this three-point program to carry out his objectives:

1. That the United States spend $10,000,000,000 a year for five years for economic aid to all countries, including Russia, in exchange for general acceptance of an "effective" international atomic energy control, and an agreement that all countries earmark two-thirds of their present armaments spending for "constructive" purposes.
2. That the Senate pass a resolution "expressing friendship for the people of Russia by the people of the United States," and asking the Soviet rulers to make it known to their people.
3. That the United Nations assert its right to organize its own radio station in the Soviet Union so that the UN deliberations could be made known to the peoples behind the "iron curtain."

McMahon said Russian refusal to permit this would "blatantly expose" the "sham and duplicity" of Russian propaganda.

He said he would continue to support all legislation which increases the nation's armed might while still working for a just and (Continued on Page 8)

Condemnation Asked Of Land For School

Condemnation proceedings to obtain seven and a half acres of the Crooms estate and two acres of the Henry Estate near the Crooms Academy for use of the school were started this morning in Circuit Court by the County School Board.

Rep. P. W. Lawton stated today that after Prof. J. N. Crooms, principal of the Academy, had accepted the Board's $18,000 offer for the Crooms property, the latter had changed his mind and asked $28,000 which the Board declined to pay. Acquisition of the land is necessary in order to comply with State Board regulations governing school improvements and expansion.

The School Board was represented by G. W. Spencer and Fred Wilson and the defendants by Alex Akerman and R. H. Cooper.

"Mike" Michaelis "Fire Brigade" Continues To Dampen Red Spirits

TOKYO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Colonel Mike and his fire brigade spearheaded last week's heartwarming U. N. guns on the western front.

Censorship permitted disclosure for the first time today.

Colonel Mike is almost legendary Col. John Michaelis of Lancaster, Pa. His crack 27th Infantry Regiment was dubbed "The Fire Brigade" by the late Lt. General Walton Walker during the dark days last summer. Whenever a Communist breakthrough attempt flamed along the Pusan perimeter, Walker would hustle his "Fire Brigade" over.

The 27th never faltered. Fighting alongside the Marines Mike's men drove almost to Chinha last August, smashed the all-out Red Nanking offensive a few weeks later and then raced back to the Meisan front in time to wipe out three Communist regiments which broke through in the Red's Sept. 1 drive.

The "Wolfhounds"—as the regiment is nicknamed—have been snuffing out Communist firm even since.

It's just that the ban on identification of regiment in news stories has stripped them of credit.

Censors today permitted identification of the 27th because an-

William Rockne Is Shot In Attempt At Housebreaking

Famous Notre Dame Coach's Son Had Been Driving Truck

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 22 (AP)—William D. Rockne, son of the famous Notre Dame football coach Knute Rockne, was reported in critical condition today from a pistol wound.

Officers said he was shot after he forced entry into a Wichita home Saturday night.

Sheriff Ly Lockett said Rockne, 35, entered the home of Joe Novacek, a used car dealer, and was shot twice by Novacek.

Rockne, whose noted father was killed in 1931 in an airplane crash in Kansas, underwent an emergency operation yesterday. His mother arrived here last night from South Bend, Ind.

William Rockne was a patient in the state mental hospital at High Hill, from 1936 through 1939 and received occasional treatment after that time. Friends of the family said burns suffered at the age of five and a delayed start in school apparently affected him mentally.

The sheriff said Rockne twice tried to enter Novacek's home and the second time succeeded in getting in. The officer quoted Novacek as saying he struck Rockne with a board and ordered him to remain until police arrived. Instead Rockne fled and Novacek fired at him three times with a pistol, the sheriff reported. (Continued on Page 8)

The 14 acres of land have been cleared, drainage facilities have been completed, and lumber and building materials have been received. W. H. Holcombe is contractor.

Stockholders of the Market will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock at Glendeville with officers and members of the Dooty Boda Riding Association to discuss moving the race track and club house to the new location at the market site, due to the cancellation of the Naval Air Station.

Disastrous Alpine Avalanches Kill 136 Over Weekend

Austria Suffers Most As Hundreds Are Missing In Slides

By CURT HAMPE
VIENNA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rescue workers dug frantically through mountains of snow today in search of survivors of a disastrous weekend series of avalanches in the Alps which killed at least 170, injured scores and crushed whole villages in Austria, Austria's hardest hit, and completely shut in its great ridges of snow. In Switzerland, officials said more than 60 were dead, Italy listed at least 15 dead in the northern Alpine villages. Many were missing in the three countries—officials did not dare estimate the number.

The fourth toll in Austria's work, completed after 10 years of research, contained much new material, including the leader's appraisal of "American imperialism."

"These materials and documents," he said, "twice demonstrate the role of American imperialism as an active organizer against the young Soviet Russia during the first years of her existence."

Pospelov predicted that just as American intervention against young Russia had failed, so would it fail in Korea.

Crookneck Squash Brings $7.50 On Sanford Market

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 21 (Special)—The golden yellow crookneck squash in beginning to look like going to market with the demand creating the highest price for this commodity in a long period. A limited quantity brought $8.00 per bushel at Plant City, $7.50 at Sanford; an average per bushel over a six day period of $6.27 at Palmetto and $5.76 at Pompano. Frost and cold have damaged and slowed maturity on a number of farm commodities and those left for the trade are demanding premium prices just now," according to William L. Wilson, Director of Florida State Farmers' Markets.

Meat on the East Coast in many instances have escaped with a minimum of damage as the reports from these markets show:

A total of 224 cars moved out of Pompano State Farmers' Market during the past week, an increase of 18 cars over the previous week. Prices are reported very satisfactory and the quality is good. Beans made up the bulk of the movement with units in excess of 100,000 moving out at an average price of $4.51 per bushel. Pepper exceeded 11,000 hampers averaging $10.28, followed by 10,757 bushels of squash averaging $2.78. Among other commodities extra brought an average of $9.35 per bushel with cucumbers averaging $8.74.

Fort Pierce Market reports a continued movement of tomatoes with prices ranging from $6.00 to $9.00 per bushel. A daily volume of 3,500 to 3,600 crates has been (Continued on Page Two)

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Four men, directed by a leader who called signals like a football quarterback, today robbed a weekend bank of $3,000.

The leader stood near the bank door during the holdup, shouting a series of numbers, police said. His three companions acted promptly on each number. When he called "six" they turned and fled. All were armed.

U. S. Castigated During Mourning Period For Lenin

American Imperialism In Korea Is Rapped By Russian Editor

MOSCOW, Jan. 22 (AP)—Russia today brings to a close a two-day mourning period commemorating the 27th anniversary of the death of Vladimir Ilich Lenin, founder of the Soviet state.

All traffic was halted in Red Square as thousands of Soviet citizens trooped to pay tribute to the father of the revolution in his mausoleum before the Kremlin walls.

Buildings throughout Moscow and other Soviet cities were draped with mourning flags—Red banners edged with black.

Last night a distinguished assembly of mourners, including Prime Minister Stalin, gathered in Moscow's Bolshoi theater to hear Peter N. Pospelov, editor of the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, unleash a blast against the United States.

Pospelov quoted Lenin as saying all attempts to invade Russia would be the fate of plans nurtured by "American aggressors."

Pospelov also quoted Lenin's denunciation of American imperialism in the Russian revolution and predicted the United States as an enemy of the Soviet Union since the first days of the Bolshevik revolution.

The editor told his audience that the fourth edition of Lenin's works, completed after 10 years of research, contained much new material, including the leader's appraisal of "American imperialism."

"These materials and documents," he said, "twice demonstrate the role of American imperialism as an active organizer against the young Soviet Russia during the first years of her existence."

Hospital Ordered To Vacate Naval Base By April 1

The Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital Association received notice Friday from Capt. U. T. Day, through Lt. Col. Francis C. Compton of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, that the Fernald-Laughton Hospital will have to be vacated by April 1, T. E. Tucker, president of the association, announced this morning.

The hospital moved to its present location in the former Naval dispensary on Feb. 5, 1947 and title to it was secured through the War Assets Administration subject to reversion by the Navy. It was formerly located in the building now occupied by the Seminole County Health Unit, State Welfare Department and Seminole Chapter of the Red Cross at Fifth Street and Oak Avenue.

During the past three months there has been an average of 35 to 50 patients a day, and at the meeting of the Hospital Association Thursday the first net profit in many years, $9,222, was reported. T. W. Lawton, who served for 10 years as president of the association, said he was especially pleased to see the following for their help: Clifford Johnson and Bob Stullivant who distributed the iron lung containers in Sanford and George A. Spert and Judge Douglas Stranstrom who performed the same service in the county towns; Herman Morris and Miss Elizabeth Reppeh who distributed dime cards to Sanford school children; Sandy Anderson, who has charge of collections at the State Farmers Market, the junior intermediates of the First Methodist Church who distributed posters, and handled street collections Saturday.

Mr. Sauls also expressed his appreciation to Radio Station WTRB, the Sanford Herald, George Touhy, Miss Nancy White, Miss Sara Warren Estley, Dr. Orville Jarka, Bob Harris and the Ritz Theater, and Miss Maude Ramsey of Chase & Co.

Three Car Wrecks Are Reported Over Weekend In County

Three automobile accidents involving injuries occurred in Seminole County during the week end. It was reported by law enforcement officers.

The first of these, at 4:25 AM, occurred on French Avenue between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Streets. A 1940 Ford Coupe driven by Ernest Thomas Dixon, 23, of Lake Monroe, collided head on with a 1935 Oldsmobile Coupe driven by Lillian Cox, Lake Monroe, who was treated at the local hospital for cuts about the face and forehead. Robert Alexander, a passenger, had cuts about the nose.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

In Greek, "Logos" means "wisdom" as well as "The Word." Some imagine creation was an accident. Creation has no remote resemblance to an accident. Infinite wisdom still sustains the utmost star, a billion light years away, and the beating of our hearts. In the beginning was the WORD.—Jn. 1:1.

Don't forget the Chain of Millions this week, or the joint civic luncheon on Friday.

We were delighted with the cartoon on the front page of the Sentinel the other day quoting Claude Pepper as pontificating "I place the responsibility for the present shooting war on those international criminals—China and Russia." Claude is certainly planning to try a comeback all right.

We see where the influenza epidemic which has been ravaging the British Isles is heading for this country. You can go a long way toward helping to prevent such an epidemic by avoiding undue fatigue, by keeping yourself in good physical condition, and by going to bed at the first sign of a cold.

If any of you people haven't gotten around to looking up the plural of those words we gave you the other day, we'll give it to you here, for pianos, lotions, cargoes, ratios, toros, vetoes, potatoes, mementos, banjos, credos. And by the way, how many of you know the difference between a toroso and circo anyway?

Congratulations to Mr. T. E. Tucker on his reelection as president of the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital Association, and the fine year which the hospital has just enjoyed under his guiding influences wherein for the first time in many years it reported a profit of some $9,222. Such figures are extremely encouraging as the advisability of building the Fish Memorial Hospital is being debated.

A letter from Ben Guthrie points out to us that a recent issue of the Tampa Tribune reported, "$25,000,000 Orlando Fire Sweeps Through 2 City Warehouses," which Ben takes as hyperbole of magnificent proportions. But we are not so sure, the way prices are going up, we doubt if a couple of warehouses could be replaced for $25,000,000. And in another year or two, it might be $25,000,000,000.

Miller Caldwell, civilian defense chief, supports the plan for diverting government agencies as a hedge against the possibility of an air raid on Washington. Such dispersal would certainly go a long way toward making Washington less attractive to enemy bombers as a useful target. They certainly would not bomb those beautiful buildings just to destroy the art treasures, which incidentally should be removed to safer hideaways in the interior of the country.

The automobile industry announces a 20 to 30 percent cut in production during the current year. That means that 20 to 30 percent of the people who wanted new automobiles will not be able to get them. It also indicates some retooling of automobiles may become necessary. What is said here of automobiles is probably also true of radios, washing machines, electric refrigerators, and many of the other luxuries and labor saving devices to which we have become accustomed in our way of living.

Our standard of living is so high that we are unable to make the best use of our money. The only way to get the most out of our money is to work harder and longer hours than we have in the past.

Limits On Speech

Two questions of limitation of the freedom of speech have come out of the slowly grinding wheels of the Supreme Court mill. The Court has affirmed that the freedom of speech does not include the freedom to incite riot. This seems to be a simple piece of common sense, which ought never needed the attention of the Supreme Court, until an attempt is made to define the point at which police may and should intervene in the enforcement of this principle.

When can it be fairly determined that a speaker is attempting to promote a riot or other violence? Does the ruling mean simply that a speaker should be held to answer if his audience causes damage, or that police should listen to all public speeches and step in when in their judgment dangerous things are being said? Such questions as these must have been in the mind of Justice Hugo Black when he dissented, declaring that "Hereafter... the policeman's club can take heavy toll of a current administration's public critics."

In deciding the second question of free speech, the Court has provided a partial answer. It declared unconstitutional a New York City ordinance requiring a police permit to hold religious meetings on the streets. It said this was a restraint in advance on the freedom of speech, and therefore a violation of the First Amendment. It follows by logic that a would-be speaker cannot be prohibited from speaking on the basis of supposition that he would attempt to incite riot.

If that interpretation is correct, then the Supreme Court ruling has done little more than open the way to requiring a speaker, whether in an auditorium or on a soap box in the park, to be responsible for what he says. Police interference appears to be sanctioned where violence is clearly being incited. As measures to safeguard the common good, these seem somewhat less than oppressive.

Overlooked Help

The rulers of Russia are certainly human. At least they display one too-human characteristic, ingratitude. Henry C. Wolfe, a writer on foreign affairs, remarks in the New York Times that the Russians have much to say of the Allied intervention after World War I, in which British, Japanese and American troops invaded Russian soil in a futile attempt to stifle Communism at birth.

They neglect to mention, however, the different kind of American intervention which followed. This was the work of the American Relief Administration under the chairmanship of Herbert Hoover who later became president of the United States. Between September, 1921, and July, 1923, it fed millions of Russians, and supplied clothing, blankets, hospital supplies and medicine without stint. President Kalmeyev of the Soviet Union stated in his official farewell to the Commission:

"Thanks to the tremendous, utterly unselfish efforts of the American Relief Administration, millions of people of all ages were saved from death, and whole villages and even cities were saved from the terrible catastrophe which was threatening them." Nothing like this is heard now from the Kremlin. It ignores the fact that our philanthropy saved Russia from a disastrous blight, which could have been fatal to the infant Communist government.

Would Americans be equally ungrateful? It could be, but we think better of the American people.

Outgrowing Hell Week

"Hell Week," as observed by fraternities in many colleges, has involved practices approaching the fiendish. The tendency toward cruelty which sometimes seems inherent in the young has been allowed full play, with occasional serious and even tragic results.

In one Midwestern college, the death of two students as a direct result of "Hell Week" observance awakened the college world with a jolt. This school now forbids these things, and such projects as helping to make substantial housing more livable have been adopted in their place. The University of Massachusetts interfraternity council has recently replaced the former initiation stunts by "Character-Building Week."

College students can no longer be called boys and girls. Maturity has been thrust upon them, whether they are ready for it or not. It is heartening to see them put aside childish, senseless horseplay in favor of more enlightened activities.

War Is Declared On Soil Erosion And Wind Damage

GAINESVILLE, Jan. 22 (Special)—Farmers and ranchers in Florida have already declared war on a sneaky enemy that is more insidious in its approach than communism. Wind and uncontrolled water have annually been progressing away at thousands of acres of productive agricultural land. Florida farmers and ranchers are using a modern weapon in combating these destructive forces. It is "soil conservation."

The spreading use of the new weapon was told here today by Colin D. Gunn, State Conservation Service, Over 25 million acres of land are now in organized soil conservation districts. There are today 58 soil conservation districts in 55 counties. Seven new districts were organized during the past year. They are Wakulla, Nassau, Bradford, Martin, St. Lucie, Ocala and Ochsbeho.

The campaign in Florida to put an end to soil destruction by wind and uncontrolled water started in 1939 when the State Legislature passed a bill to create soil conservation districts. The Soil Conservation Service had begun the work in 1934 by demonstration on farms in Jefferson and Holmes Counties.

Erosion by water starts really when row crops are planted up and down a hill. Rainwater then has a natural ditch to the valley and it picks up more soil as its velocity increases. So crops are planted around the hill on farms in soil conservation districts. This is the "contour" method.

"Strip-cropping"—planting alternate patches of crops such as corn and soybeans—also helps to prevent soil erosion. This method is being used in many soil conservation districts.

effectively on over 16 thousand acres to make water walk down a hill.

When land is plowed and left naked and unprotected, sudden winds lash at the soil and blow it away. Cover crops and grasses hold the topsoil and hold it on the land. Cover crops such as hairy indigo and lupines in addition increase soil fertility and provide grazing for livestock. Over 210 thousand acres have been planted to cover crops in Florida's soil conservation districts.

Tom L. Maxwell, President of the Florida Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors stated that over 450 thousand acres of pasture land has been improved and over 250 thousand acres have been planted to improved pasture grasses. When close growing grasses gain a foothold, the soil materials are held in place by the network of roots. Grass cover is one of nature's best way of conserving soil.

"Mike" Michaelis

Michaelis, World War II aide to General Eisenhower, led task force Wolfhound on the western front attack with little more than 15 hours notice. Word to attack came just the night before the jump. He split his men into two groups, sending one up the highest German road whose crims snows were mounded from force strafing attacks. Another column stabbed up a secondary road further west.

The Chinese had slipped away several days before. The Wolfhounds met no opposition. At noon Jan. 15, just five hours after H. H. Lowry, commander of the 7th Central Postal Directory, had been ordered to move his command to the front, the Chinese had slipped away.

Chinese Reports Indicate Low Red Opinion Of G. I. s

TOKYO, Jan. 22 (AP)—Captured Chinese Red combat information bulletins are providing an intimate glimpse of Communist appraisal of American fighting men and tactics.

It isn't too flattering a picture, however, the reports probably minimize U. S. fighting effectiveness in an effort to spur Red soldiers into greater efforts.

Say the Chinese after a careful study of how the U. S. First Cavalry Division fought in the battle of Unsan: "They (Americans) are afraid of our courageous attack, regular combat and infiltration. Their transport is great. If we do not cut off their rear, they will have more supply and ammunition (than we do). After they cut off from their rear they will abandon all their heavy weapons, leaving them all over the place."

"We must first surround the enemy and cut off their route of supply and retreat no matter what, if near the enemy we must outflank them on both sides and counterattack with the support of artillery fire."

"We must infiltrate into their flanks to cut off their rear, spread out our heavy weapons, make the personnel play dead and watch our observation posts for signals to attack at the best moment." "One of our units must rapidly fight around the enemy and cut off their rear as a main objective. At night we must advance and feel out the enemy position and then return immediately to attack their position where fire-power is weak."

The Reds showed a healthy respect for tanks. The Communist combat information bulletin admitted "we have no effective weapon against heavy tanks."

Chinese conclusions disclosed in the captured document come as no surprise. Infiltration attacks from the rear and interdiction of supply lines have been standard Communist fighting procedures in Korea.

But American officers are impressed by the thorough study the Chinese Communists have made of American tactics. With cool calculation the Reds have tried to chart a fighting course in which they might cleverly directed, take advantage of the American advantages of mobility and massed fire power.

The battles yet to come in Korea will show whether they have found the answer.

A good volume of celery, cabbage, cauliflower, English peas, lettuce and a variety of bunched vegetables is anticipated on the Sanford State Farmers' Market this week. The market is reported to be the heaviest selling week experienced this season.

Frost prevailing in the Pahoehoe State Farmers' Market area continues to slow up production, though a light movement of beans, corn, cabbage and leafy vegetables with a good movement of celery is anticipated for this week.

In the past three years more than 100,000 Americans have been polio victims, Mr. S. said. It is almost as many as the total for all previous years since the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was started in 1939.

During these three years more than $4,000,000 in March of Dimes funds has been spent for patient care, he added. At least 25,000 polio cases annually must be expected in the immediate future, as compared to an earlier average of 10,000. National Foundation efforts help any polio patient in need.

The enormous cost of patient care, in addition to professional training and polio research, is so great that the National Foundation is unable to meet the need.

Fox, of Winchester, Ky., received cuts on the right cheek and under the chin, also a cut on the leg below the knee following an automobile collision at the junction of the Big Tree Road and the Orlando Highway at 6:00 A.M. Saturday.

The collision occurred, according to State Highway Patrolman R. D. Harrison, when Mr. Fox, the driver, attempted to pass an automobile driven by Homer Small, 37 year old Negro from Lakeland, who is charged with failure to give a proper signal, resulting in a crash. Mrs. Fox was treated at an Orlando hospital.

Damage to the Fox automobile was estimated at $1,000 and to the Negro's car, $400. Small posted bond of $150 following arrest. In a collision at 5:30 P.M. Saturday two miles from Goldenrod on the Oviedo Road, Fred Shipley, 66, Orlando, a passenger in a 1949 Mercury Coach driven by William J. Friedman, 66, Orlando, was seriously injured, including fractures of the arm, leg and skull. Mr. Friedman had a fractured arm and bruised chest, and damage to his car was estimated at $1,200. Both were taken to the Orange Memorial Hospital in a Winter Park ambulance.

City Manager McKibbin said he has also been informed by Lieut. Comdr. Compton, that all places occupied by civilian staff at the very latest by Apr. 23, and many before that date.

March 1 was set as the deadline for the vacation of barracks, the former mess hall, now occupied by the Fellowship Foundation, and the administration building, now occupied by the Castle Apartments.

April 1 is the deadline for leaving the hangar building, Central Florida Foods, the Whitehead Cold Storage building and the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital. Apr. 15 was set for the J. C. Building, New York Giant headquarters, and Apr. 22 for the Hommel, the main building of the Fellowship Foundation.

20 Wounded Marines Send Truman Messages

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 22 (AP)—President Truman has 20 Purple Heart medals—if the U. S. mails saw them through to the White House—to remind him of his since regretted remarks about the Marine Corps being the Navy's police force.

This was revealed today by Pfc. Donald R. Chatterton, 20-year-old Marine veteran of Korea. Wounded, Chatterton now is home on 30 days recuperation leave.

Hearing of the President's remarks upon their evacuation to the Treasure Island Marine Base at San Francisco, Chatterton said he and 19 other wounded Marines were so angered that they put their Purple Heart medals in the same envelope and addressed it to President Truman. Chatterton said he never learned whether the President got the medals.

Besides describing the Marine Corps as the Navy's police force, the President accused it of having a propaganda machine the equal of Stalin's. He later apologized and expressed his regrets. Describing fighting in Korea, Chatterton told a reporter: "It's like a horrible nightmare. You can't imagine what it's like."

Chatterton was wounded twice and lost 45 pounds. He now weighs only 100 pounds. First he was hit at Inchon. Later he was hit by machine gun bullets in North Korea.

Others who returned signed contracts are first baseman Kevin Connors and Fred Richards, third baseman Leno Brinkopf and shortstop John Caskie.

Cold Wave Cracks Midwest Warms Up

CHICAGO, Jan. 22 (AP)—The thick, solid cold wave which blew into the middlewest over the weekend has cracked wide open. Temperatures skidded fast and deep as the cold wave hit the Atlantic seaboard last night but the Weather Bureau promised a warming trend again today in the Great Plains region.

The chilling blast routed blazy weather out of the eastern states and sent the mercury down to sub-freezing levels. At Richmond, Va., it had dipped from 51 degrees yesterday and last night to 27. New York had a drop of 28 degrees—from 48 to 22, and in Portland, Me., the temperature went down 38 degrees in 12 hours, to 15 at midnight with colder still in prospect.

Temperatures were expected to climb well above freezing over most of the middlewest today and to do a sharper run-up tomorrow. They already had risen about 20 degrees since the cold wave passed.

The Lamplighter by TOM DOYLE

There were several things we liked very much about "The Breaking Point"—it was a believable picture played by believable characters who said believable things. John Garfield's wife looked like any clean-cut girl whom you might see shopping in a super market. He looked like a fellow who might have bought a little daughter. Garfield, in the role of a harassed husband, driven by circumstances into making melodramatic decisions, was good.

It was a simple, cruel story—a la Hemingway, of a man who makes his living with a boat and who, when times get rough, resorts to a couple of shady deals to pull into through Patricia Neal, a passenger on the boat, is greatly attracted to him, but Garfield refuses a good boy and has the courage to tell her to go away.

The characters speak as we would expect them to speak. Confronted by a situation that is intolerable, Garfield doesn't say, "My dear, circumstances overwhelm me—I don't see how I can go on this way. What can I do?" No, in the good old Hemingway tradition, he says, "Henry, this is for the birds." And then, strong character that he is, does something about it.

You may not have liked the picture, but this much can be said for it: we never could doubt the realism of it or of its characters. It was straight from the shoulder and straight from the shoulder dialogue.

Cartoons

We, like many other people, go to a movie not only to see the feature, but also to see the cartoons. Hedy and Jerry, Tom and Jerry, Henry and his stupid hen, and Mr. Magoo send us into hysterics that make us act in such a manner either as to make our next seat neighbor look at us disgustingly, mumble something inaudible (though I detect profanity) and get up and find a seat far away, or else to make him quiver all over as he exhorts us pleadingly or otherwise, to stop.

What is it about a cartoon that makes us laugh so long and loudly in the fortunes and misfortunes of animals caricatured as human beings? Perhaps it is the same thing that makes us laugh when Professor So and So, a man with unalterable dignity, slips on the ice and in falling, all his dignity is considered in fragments.

In Tom and Jerry, the cat represents the brute power, the Tammany Hall, or perhaps the big man with the big ear and the big physique, the mouse, on the other hand, is the underdog all the way, but having a little larger brain in his head than the cat he once necessarily has made him use a mouse. It is with this that we watch him work his revenge on the cat.

Unlike the punishment the cat inflicts on him, the mouse doesn't feel around with subtleties. He comes right out with pure physical revenge, crushing the cat with every clever means he devises. The cartoon ends with the mouse triumphant, the cat a bewildered Joe Louis after an Exzard Charles fight.

Henry and his stupid hen son represent a great problem. What can a father do with a stupid son? He tries to help him, to instruct him, only to have the stupidity of his son turn on him and reduce him to near imbecility. Henry, the father, emerges triumphant from the fray, but only after he has done something pretty awful to

Mr. and Mrs. Tench Honored At Party

He gave the committee in addition a briefing on how the services plan to meet any attack.

"The initial retaliation against an enemy by strategic bombing will be provided if the air power and the necessary Army and Navy support to seize and hold the bases from which to operate are in our hands the moment an emergency arises," he said.

"Our strategy does not include a retraction of all of our military power to the continental limits of the North American continent when we are attacked."

Some Senators are questioning the proposal to draft 18 year olds. Senator Hunt (D-W.V.) said he felt General Dwight D. Eisenhower's views on the need for this step should be secured before Congress votes on the issue.

Under the proposal, the young men drafted would become members of some reserve unit after completing their 27 months of training and service.

Bradley hammered hard on this feature in backing the plan. He told the senators that "next time, the clouds of war may give little warning" and added:

"It used to be all right for us to wait nine months to a year before a National Guard or reserve division was ready for combat duty. Now our National Guard and reserve units must be ready in 30 days to three months."

That, he said, means that the Guard and reserve units must be composed of fully trained men.

"If this country is to survive," Bradley went on, "our citizens will have to face the hard fact that the conditions under which we labor may persist for 10, 15 or 20 years, and that our only sensible military answer to these conditions is to have our citizens adequately prepared and organized to take up our defense."

"The plan outlined in this legislation provides a system that would nearly every man to serve in our forces, first on full time active duty, later as a member of a National Guard or reserve organization for a period of years. This is the cold and unalterable fact. The sooner we face it, the better our chance for survival."

In reply to questions, Bradley said he believes it necessary to extend the service term to 27 months in order to maintain the armed forces at the 3,500,000 level which military leaders regard as essential under present world conditions.

Bradley, in answer to questions from Morse, also said he saw no reason from an educational, moral or physical viewpoint why 18-year-olds should not be drafted.

A man called at 18 suffers less interference with his education and his lifetime career than at a later age, Bradley argued. He also said a man who goes to school after service gets "much more" out of his studies.

Although young men vary, Bradley said the great majority of 18-year olds are capable of performing military service as well then as when they are a year older.

He said that youths of 18 make "very fine soldiers," being able to endure hardships and "snap back quicker" than older men.

And from a moral standpoint, Bradley said that he did not believe youths were subject to any more temptations in service than they were in civilian life. He opined:

"A man's character is very largely molded before he is 18."

Ridgway praised the Second Division for its dogged Wonju stand and lauded French troops fighting with it.

He cited specially a "magnificent bayonet attack" by the French battalion earlier this month and said he would be happy when other Eighth Army troops used the cold steel with such deadly results.

An Eighth Army Communique Monday night said the Second stand at Wonju starting Jan. 8 apparently had checked a planned Communist offensive through the mountain passes south of Wonju. But it added:

"Late reports indicate the Communists are again building up strength in the Wonju area for another offensive."

Along the western front, where the Reds also were reported massing troops for a new drive, the four Allied combat patrols met virtually no opposition.

One column drove straight through Osan and prowled north of the town. Osan, 28 air miles south of Seoul, is the place where the first American soldier of the Korean war was killed. There the green U. S. 24th Division began its bitter retreat last summer down the Korean peninsula.

A second column ranged through Kumyangjang, 10 miles northeast of Osan. A third unit drove north between these two columns.

The fourth column ran into an hour long fire-fight shortly after noon Monday near Ikon, along the lateral road from Kumyangjang to Wonju.

Then the U. S. Eighth Army clamped a security blackout on all news stories mentioning action on the western front. It banned noon Monday in the area west reporting of any movement after of Yaju, a town 18 miles west of Wonju.

The ban covered the entire area where the four strong Allied motorized columns were operating.

There was no explanation. A memorandum said the order would remain in effect until further notice. Such a ban usually covers important troop movements.

For days field dispatches have told of a Red buildup in the western Korean area southeast of Seoul.

An accident routed Allied troops in one forward village.

An exploding gasoline stove ignited eight ammunition-loaded trailers Monday and within minutes destroyed half of the Korean town.

Arab-Asian Bloc Asks For Another Appeal To Chinese

Though the notes, delivered during the weekend, did not void Russia's treaties of alliance with the two Western powers, they said plans to rearm the West Germans were a violation of the treaties.

The communications repeated and amplified Soviet charges, made in similar protests to Britain and France Dec. 15. The latter replied Jan. 5 that rearming of Germany was necessitated by "threat of Communist aggression."

Delivery of the latest notes was seen here as evidence that Russia views German rearmament as the major issue presently in international politics and plans to intensify her campaign against it in the future.

In Italy in addition to the dead, at least 50 persons were injured, many of them caught beneath roofs crumpled by the weight of the snow.

The snow still was falling on the Italian side of the Alps, causing fears there would be more avalanches.

On the Swiss side the number of avalanches appeared to be decreasing, but officials warned that there still was danger.

Throughout the night rescue workers toiled feverishly in an effort to save some 14 men and women still buried at the Swiss village of Vals, 4,000 feet up in the Alps.

A great mass of snow roared down into the little Hamlet Saturday night, knocking over five houses and burying 31 persons. Twelve were brought out alive yesterday and five dead, including three children.

The village was cut off from communication with the outside world most of yesterday, but the army of rescue workers reached it late in the day.

Four cantons in southeast central Switzerland were the most worst stricken. Uri, Glarus and Aargau.

Attempt Is Made To Forestall U. S. Demand For Action

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Twelve Asian and Arab nations decided today to submit a formal proposal to the United Nations that it make one more peace appeal—the sixth—to Communist China.

This became known after representatives of the 12 countries, met in New York. Informed quarters said they would submit a resolution to the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee this afternoon.

The sponsors previously had indicated that, if they made such a move, they naturally would demand that their proposal be given priority over an American resolution asking that the Peiping regime be found guilty of "engaging in aggression in Korea."

The U. S. claims it is assured of a large majority in favor of its resolution.

Exact terms of the Asian-Arab proposal were not disclosed immediately, but the United States already has made clear it feels any further appeal to Red China is useless. One of the provisions was reported to be that seven countries, including Communist China, meet to consider all outstanding far eastern problems.

No charges have been filed. Rockne recently had been working as a truck driver for the Salvation Army. He was not questioned in detail at the hospital because of his serious condition.

Dr. D. M. Nigro of Kansas the Knute Rockne Foundation City, founder and president of and a close friend of the family, also accompanied Mrs. Rockne.

Earlier Mrs. Rockne told reporters at South Bend she had not seen her son for two years. Papers found in Rockne's possession indicated he recently had been in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California.

Yesterday, the parents and two children were later found dead. One child still is missing. The other three, badly injured, to describe the terrible experience.

More than 500 workers managed to free one track of the main line railroad from eastern Switzerland to Italy, through the Gotthard pass.

County Is Asked To Consider Bond Issue For Hospital

City Joins With Hospital Association In Urging Quick Action On Project

In view of the critical need for immediate construction of a new hospital building, due to Navy plans to occupy the Fernald Loughton Memorial Hospital Building by April 1, the City Commission last night voted to request that the County Commission hold a special meeting soon for the purpose of planning a referendum designed to approve the issuance of bonds with which to finance construction of a hospital.

The Commission also endorsed a resolution presented by T. T. Tucker, president of the Fernald Loughton Hospital Association, requesting the Navy for an extension of the time limit for vacating the present hospital.

In endorsing this resolution the Commission suggested that the extension be limited to 60 days in order that the Navy would understand that the Commission was sincerely trying to make necessary arrangements. Mr. Tucker replied that he would confer soon with the Hospital Executive Board in regard to the 60 day extension.

G. W. Spencer, local attorney, initiated the action for the special bond referendum of freeholders, and suggested that the hospital be named in honor of Bert Fish, pointing out that liquid funds of the Fish estate may not be immediately available for the hospital program, but suggesting that when these funds are available the bonds could be retired from the Fish estate.

Mr. Spencer further suggested that all civic minded organizations be represented at the meeting of the County Commission.

Members of the Sanford Merchants Association, including W. B. Ritting and Jack Hall, immediately expressed approval of the suggestion, and the Rev. J. E. McKinley stated that he felt sure that the Ministerial Association will back such a move.

Mr. Tucker told the commission that at a meeting of the hospital executive committee Saturday it had been decided that it is almost a physical impossibility to move the hospital back to its old site at Oak Avenue and Fifth Street.

Pointing out that the present hospital has been caring for up to 50 patients at a time, he stressed the need for a 60 bed hospital to serve the growing county. "I am stretching the point when I say that the old hospital could care for 30 patients at a time," he added. "To move back there, 15 to 25 more rooms would be required, and repairs would cost from $5,000 to $10,000."

In the resolution it was pointed out that the Fernald Loughton Hospital is the only hospital facility situated in Seminole County and serving its approximately 35,000, and that it is vital to the health and safety of these people that adequate hospital facilities be available to them.

It also stated that "there does exist" (Continued on page 11)

Chinese Reply Paralyzes UN Korean Action

Arab-Asian Nations Continue Efforts To Halt Fighting; Britain Cautious

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 23—(AP)—Communist China's revised peace formula for Korea appeared today to have given added impetus to the Arab-Asian move to continue United Nations efforts toward a cease-fire.

Most delegates still were awaiting instructions from their governments, but there was a strong private sentiment in favor of exhausting all possible avenues before adopting the United States proposal to brand the Peking regime as an aggressor.

This feeling was reflected to some extent in a statement made by British Prime Minister Attlee in the House of Commons today.

"We do not believe the time has come to consider further measures to do an implied that we have abandoned hope of reaching a peaceful settlement, and this we have not done."

He added, however, that Britain "recognizes the stark fact of the situation in Korea and agrees in continuing Chinese intervention in support of an aggressor, which has thwarted and frustrated the purposes of the United Nations."

These two statements were interpreted here as meaning that Britain wants to make another attempt to bring peace, but if this fails, to modify the U. S. proposal to eliminate the possibility of sanctions against Communist China.

This would be done by condemning the Chinese Communists for intervening in support of an aggressor, instead of declaring they actually engaged in aggression, as the American proposal does.

Conservative leader Winston Churchill warned Britain against Communist attempts to divide the U. S. and Britain.

The 12 Asian and Arab countries, which have been working together to bring peace in the Far East, called another private meeting for tonight to decide what their next step would be. They already had drafted a new cease-fire appeal and were ready to submit it yesterday, but postponed action when they learned of the new Peking communication.

These moves appeared almost certain to widen the split between the non-Communist countries, since the United States indicated it would continue to press for quick approval of its aggression resolution when the U. N. political committee meets tomorrow after its 48-hour recess.

Although the U. S. claims a substantial majority in favor of its proposal, there has been an obvious tendency among some delegations to avoid tagging Peking as an aggressor except as the last resort. Peking's "clarification" message may therefore cause them to back a new peace move.

Civil Air Patrol To Meet Tomorrow

Members of the Sanford Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will meet tomorrow night at the Air Post Hangar to discuss the relocation of the meeting place in view of the Navy requisition.

Although a formal request will be made to the future commanding officer of the Air Station for a meeting place there, it is held to be unlikely that this request will be granted. Several places have been suggested, said E. L. Remley, but a vote by members is needed before definite action is taken.

The San-Lando strip at Longwood, he added, will probably be used for the flying activities. Following the business meeting tomorrow night, training films will be shown.

He said further that many deals were cash transactions, and he foresaw a strong trend toward national realization that Florida land is a good investment as a hedge against inflation, that imminent war tests the soundness of real estate investment which is standing the "back" that ownership of homes through the civilian front and maintains our own defense.

Now every time I pass green grass my stomach pains me something awful and I have to take a dose of paragonic. That's what I had done when police arrested me on this charge."

The judge put him away for three days where no grass grows.

SHAPE Commander Homeward Bound After Inspection

PARIS, Jan. 23—(AP)—General D. Eisenhower arrived here from Germany today, homeward bound after speedy stop in 10 European nations from which he hopes to draw the bulk of the Atlantic Pact army to defend Western Europe against Soviet Communism.

After two days in the French capital, Eisenhower leaves Thursday by air for Ireland and Canada—the only two Atlantic Pact signers he still must visit—and New Guinea.

Senate May Demand Consultation On Sending More Troops To Europe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(AP)—By unanimous consent the Senate sent a controversial proposed resolution to the foreign relations and armed services committees today. They are to consider it jointly and report to the Senate by Feb. 2.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, sponsored the resolution which proposes that the Senate instruct the two committees to recommend legislation prohibiting the President from committing U. S. troops to the North Atlantic Defense Force until Congress should be consulted.

Although the Senate had been scheduled to vote at 2 P. M. on what to do with the resolution, Wherry's offer of an objection when Senator Connally (D-Calif.) asked unanimous consent to send it to the Armed Services and Foreign Relations groups, Connally's chairman of the latter committee.

These were indications that the resolution would not be returned to the Senate in the form in which it was submitted by Wherry, although Connally pointed out the fact that it is subject to change.

President Truman takes the stand that he has authority to send troops where he chooses, but will consult with congressional committees before dispatching more U. S. ground forces to Western Europe.

Meanwhile the House Armed Services Committee gave serious thought to the proposal of setting up a fighting command of the nation's 40,000 U. S. Army units around the world.

Secretary of Defense Marshall said the committee that the present military management goal of 3,000,000 by June 30 may later have to be increased "if the situation worsens." He said General MacArthur needs 15,000 replacements a month, and that if the fighting command is set up, it will be "normal strength."

As previously had done before a Senate committee, Marshall said the House should be kept advised of the military situation and training, with the draft age lowered to 18 and the period of service increased from 21 to 24 months.

Committee Chairman Vinson (D-Miss.) told reporters he favors both proposals. And his committee seemed to be in general agreement.

The bill, designed to help help the military, also set up a universal military service and training program.

On other congressional front today, Republican senator called the President's 1952 budget an "invitation to disaster."

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, said in a statement that the President should call his 1952 budget back to the Congress.

Florida Chain Of Missions Begins Sanford Program Thursday Evening

The Florida Chain of Missions will begin its program in Sanford at the First Baptist Church Thursday evening at 7:40 o'clock with Dr. Robert F. Thomas as the first speaker. This is an inter-denominational program designed to request the public with Christian missionary work at home and abroad, Mrs. Vahle Williams, publicity chairman, said today.

Dr. Thomas is superintendent of the Pittman Community Center at Sevierville, Tenn. Another of the prominent speakers on the program is Ananta, a native of Buffalo, the only Eskimo woman on the American lecture tour.

Dr. Thomas will describe his experiences as a medical practitioner in the Great Smoky Mountains, his efforts to replace superstitions with intelligence among the mountain people. He has recently written a book, "The Burge Of Life," which the way of life of the mountain folk is pictured. Dr. Thomas was at one time a missionary to Malaya where he was founding a church. There he said he soon realized the need for medical care in his district, and he returned to America where he studied medicine, intending to go back to Malaya, but circumstances were such that he became the head of the first medical center sponsored by the Methodist Church in the southern mountains.

Ananta, who was born about 1900 from the North Pole, will speak on her experience in this country and will compare the manners and morals of her native land with those of this country. She will describe the circumstances that brought her to America and the tremendous adjustment she was forced to make.

Ananta, Mrs. F. Thomas, has written a book titled, "Land of the Good Shadows," in which she explains her people and their love for peace and the harmony in which they live.

The missionary assembly's activities continue Friday morning as Mrs. Eugene R. Kellerberger, a noted evangelist, musician, and Mrs. Eva Gorton Sprague, noted traveler and lecturer, are scheduled to speak.

Mrs. Kellerberger, promotional secretary for the American Leprosy Missions, Inc. who will continue the lectures Friday at 10:40 A. M.; and Mrs. Eva Gorton Sprague, who will speak at 11:00 A. M. Friday on "Watching United Nations at Work on Four Continents."

Crop Production Is 6 Million Tons During Past Year

Land Under Cultivation Totals Over 2 Million Acres

ORLANDO, Jan. 23—(AP)—Florida crops reached a record production of 6,042,000 tons in the 1949-50 season.

Dollar value also hit a record peak.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture in a resume not released said the previous record was 5,000,000 tons the previous year.

It said the increase upon which the 30 different crops were planted or growing in 1950 totaled slightly over 2,000,000 acres, 92,000 acres above the year before.

The report said: "Value of crops harvested was also at a record level, showing a 22 percent increase over the preceding year. The total value of crops harvested is estimated at about $37,000,000 compared with a value of $30,000,000 in 1948-49."

Value of field crops were primarily responsible for the higher value as the value of vegetables produced dropped 41 percent under the year before due to an unusually heavy economic abandonment and lower prices.

Field crops covered 1,925,400 acres, including peanuts, sorghum and lupine (pastured) 25,000 acres above 1949 plantings which amounted to 1,303,400 acres. The 1950 cotton crop was reduced 19,000 acres while the peanut acreage was up about 10,000 acres. However, the larger acreages of corn, cowpeas, lupine, Irish potatoes and sweet potatoes more than offset the smaller cotton and peanut crops.

Value of field crops harvested is estimated at $28,000,000—11 percent above the $25,000,000 crop harvested last year.

Citrus took the lead again in the 1949-50 season, increasing in value of fruit and nuts harvested. There were 3,858,500 tons of fruits and nuts harvested—208,000 less than the year before but higher prices boosted the total valuation from $10,000,000 in 1948-49 to over $15,000,000 in 1949-50. Planting of citrus continued at somewhat above the average rate boosting the total acreage about 10,000 acres last year. With this additional citrus acreage the total acreage of all fruits and nuts in the state is now estimated at 556,700 acres. Bearing acreage amounts to 495,000 acres—11,000 acres above 1948-49.

There were 394,850 acres of vegetable plants in 1949-50, about 39,000 acres were lost from floods, freezes, etc., leaving 326,000 acres for the 1949-50 season. Economic conditions in 1948-49 resulted in only 4,000 tons. In 1948-49 there were 308,000 acres of vegetable plants, 280,000 acres harvested.

Condemnation Suit Is Decided By Jury

The County School Board's condemnation suit to acquire property adjacent to the Crooms Academy ended in Circuit Court at 12:30 o'clock today when the jury set a price of $11,950 on the property of J. N. Crooms and $6,000 for the Bentley estate.

The Bentley property comprised two acres. The Housholder Associates represented the Crooms estate, and Alex Akerman and R. H. Cowser the Bentley interests.

The School Board was represented by G. W. Spencer and Fred Wilson. Witnesses for land abandonment were Raymond Hall, A. B. Peterson and D. C. Brack.

Florida Chain Of Missions Begins Sanford Program Thursday Evening

The Florida Chain of Missions will begin its program in Sanford at the First Baptist Church Thursday evening at 7:40 o'clock with Dr. Robert F. Thomas as the first speaker. This is an inter-denominational program designed to request the public with Christian missionary work at home and abroad, Mrs. Vahle Williams, publicity chairman, said today.

Dr. Thomas is superintendent of the Pittman Community Center at Sevierville, Tenn. Another of the prominent speakers on the program is Ananta, a native of Buffalo, the only Eskimo woman on the American lecture tour.

Dr. Thomas will describe his experiences as a medical practitioner in the Great Smoky Mountains, his efforts to replace superstitions with intelligence among the mountain people. He has recently written a book, "The Burge Of Life," which the way of life of the mountain folk is pictured. Dr. Thomas was at one time a missionary to Malaya where he was founding a church. There he said he soon realized the need for medical care in his district, and he returned to America where he studied medicine, intending to go back to Malaya, but circumstances were such that he became the head of the first medical center sponsored by the Methodist Church in the southern mountains.

Ananta, who was born about 1900 from the North Pole, will speak on her experience in this country and will compare the manners and morals of her native land with those of this country. She will describe the circumstances that brought her to America and the tremendous adjustment she was forced to make.

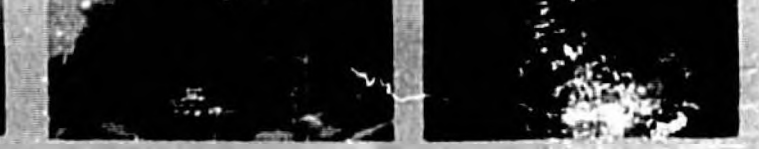

Ananta, Mrs. F. Thomas, has written a book titled, "Land of the Good Shadows," in which she explains her people and their love for peace and the harmony in which they live.

The missionary assembly's activities continue Friday morning as Mrs. Eugene R. Kellerberger, a noted evangelist, musician, and Mrs. Eva Gorton Sprague, noted traveler and lecturer, are scheduled to speak.

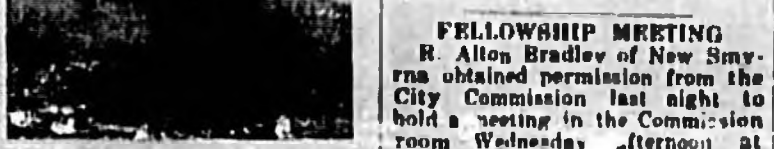

Mrs. Kellerberger, promotional secretary for the American Leprosy Missions, Inc. who will continue the lectures Friday at 10:40 A. M.; and Mrs. Eva Gorton Sprague, who will speak at 11:00 A. M. Friday on "Watching United Nations at Work on Four Continents."
