Russia And 5 Nations Form 'Aid' Program

Council Of Economic Mutual Assistance Is Soviet Answer To Marshall Plan

MOSCOW, Jan. 25—(AP)—Russia and five other Eastern European nations have organized a "Council of Economic Mutual Assistance"—obviously as an answer to the Marshall Plan.

A communique issued today announcing the plan said the United States and Britain are "boycotting" the six nations economically because they do not belong to the Marshall Plan.

There is no indication that the Soviet Union, through the Economic Council intends to pump rubles into the economy of her associate nations, in the manner that the United States has sent dollars into Western Europe with the hope of restoring the economy there.

There is, indeed, no indication that the Soviet union will be on the short end of trading with the five other "ECMA" nations—Poland, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The ECMA setup is being headed by perhaps the ablest trader the Soviet Union has—A. I. M. Koyan, minister of trade and a member of the politburo. Western business men who have dealt with him say they never met anyone sharper. He is a curly-haired Argentinian who has been most of the trade delegations that have flocked to Moscow since the war.

Some of the ECMA countries, notably Czechoslovakia with her industrial know-how, produce things that the Soviet Union sorely needs. The ECMA thus will be much more than a one-way street leading from the Soviet Union into the satellite countries. But two-way trade is of course an essential to a healthy economy, and if the ECMA nations make the plan, they will strengthen the backbone of the Eastern bloc of nations.

It is noted that Albania, the poorest nation economically of countries in the Soviet bloc, is not included in the ECMA setup. Moscow does not doubt that she may be invited later. There is little news from Albania—foreign correspondents have not been there since the war.

Mrs. Velasco Views Lineup Of Suspects Before Grand Jury

TAMPA, Jan. 25—(AP)—An unidentified man was held as a suspect today in the slaying of Jimmy Velasco, Tampa gangster-politician. Detective Inspector D. H. Stephens, who has directed the probe of Velasco's murder, would say only that a man was in custody. He declined to identify him or say where he was.

TAMPA, Jan. 25—(AP)—The widow of a slain Tampa gangster-politician appeared today before the Hillsborough County grand jury investigating her husband's murder.

Mrs. Jimmy Velasco walked into the grand jury room shortly after she viewed a lineup of suspects at the police station.

No announcement of any arrests were made nor were the results of the lineup review disclosed.

REPAIRS DELAY FLIGHT SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 25, (AP)—

Minor repairs today delayed final test flights of the world's biggest land plane. One unit of the XC-99's heavy landing gear failed to retract in flight yesterday, and it leaved after an hour and a half of a scheduled four hour test.

WANTS SUPERPORTS LONDON, Jan. 25, (AP)—

Britain is trying to buy 150 to 160 American superports bombers, according to responsible British and American informants.

These informants said negotiations began last week in London between Maj. General Leon W. Johnson, commanding general of the Third U.S. Air (B-36 superfortress) Division and Air Marshal Charles E. H. Rodgers, head of the RAF staff on the British joint services mission in Washington.

New Snow Hits South California And Nevada Area

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25—(AP)—New snow swept into southern California and Nevada today, brightening the threat to thousands of snowlocked cattle on desert and mountain ranges.

It was snowing in the western reaches of nearly San Fernando Valley, out over the Pacific, on Santa Catalina Island, and they were reported from other local communities. The snow even extended into Southern Arizona, where Tucson reported nearly an inch in an hour.

Two inches of new snow fell in Las Vegas, Nev., making a total of 15 inches for the month in that resort town which keys its advertising to winter "fun in the sun."

High winds raked mountains passes from a high pressure area over Nevada, which plunged the temperature at Elko to 38 degrees below zero. It also was 38 below at 20,000 feet over Los Angeles, and forecasters A. K. Shindler said conditions were similar to those which earlier this month put up to a foot of snow on the ground in foothill communities east of here.

Five to seven thousand head of cattle are reported starving on the Mojave Desert in the Needles area, where drifts are six to eight feet deep. More than 200 carcasses have been found.

Hay-laden trucks are attempting to reach the big Nevada cattle ranch of radio comedian Chet Lank. Lank of the Lum-N-Amer team, who returned to Las Vegas yesterday from President Truman's inauguration. Snow has smothered scores of hogs at Lank's ranch.

Snow fell today over the San Jacinto and Laguna mountains in California.

ICC Orders Probe Of Florida Rates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an investigation into freight rates in Florida.

The action was taken after railroads complained that the Florida Public Utilities Commission has refused to raise intrastate rates to the levels authorized by the ICC for interstate traffic.

The ICC said it will conduct hearings at times and places to be announced later.

ELIZABETH HAS MEASLES LONDON, Jan. 25, (AP)—

Princess Elizabeth has the measles. The 22-year-old heiress to the British crown is at Sandringham, the Royal country estate in Norfolk, with her infant son, Prince Charles, and other members of the royal family.

Gambling In Dade Is Ordered Closed

MIAMI, Jan. 25—(AP)—The Daily News and today that an emissary from Governor Fuller Warren at Tallahassee had arrived in Miami with orders to close all gambling. He ordered everything in the gambling line shut firmly, including horse books. Sheriff Jimmy Kelly declined to confirm or deny the report, said the Daily News.

The reported crackdown on gambling came as federal treasury agents probed the probe of income tax evasion by gamblers. J. J. Brown, in charge of the treasury probe, and names in Dade (Miami) and Howard (Fort Lauderdale) counties were being investigated.

Eight Killed In Flaming Crash Of RAF Transport

BIRMIN, Jan. 25—(AP)—A RAF twin-engine transport plane loaded with children and sick veterans from Berlin crashed last night near Schornberg, in the Russian zone.

The Russian-controlled area was about 800 persons, including two children had been killed in the crash. The agency said one of the dead was a British crew member. The number of injured was not reported by APN.

Unofficial reports from Germany in the area said seven or eight persons were killed and 17 or 18 injured.

It was believed to be the worst crash in the history of the seven-month-old Berlin airlift.

The 21 passengers were being flown from Berlin to Western Germany to escape the hardships of the Russian-blockaded city. A British crew of three was aboard.

British authorities, with only scant details from Russian and German rescue teams, awaited permission from the Russians in Neeklenburg to investigate.

Bevin Urges Support Of U.S. Plan To Develop World's Backward Areas

LONDON, Jan. 25—(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin urged the non-Communist nations of the world today to join with the United States in President Truman's plan to develop the backward areas of the world.

The foreign secretary compared in which the proposal was made, to the address of former Secretary of State George C. Marshall at Harvard in 1947, when the Marshall Plan was born.

Speaking of the Marshall Plan, Bevin urged that for the support of the United States, which he said would be used to build a force against the Soviet Union. The foreign secretary addressed a lunch conference of the Foreign Press Association.

Bevin said that the United States is not the only country to have a high standard of living and that the greatest contribution we can make to answering the needs of the backward areas is to provide them with the scientific, technical, and industrial knowledge and know-how which have made our own country a higher standard of living and a higher happiness standard for the backward peoples. He said the United States is ready to do her part in a plan which might be worked out by the United States and the other nations of the world.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—(AP)—Stock market took a downward turn today after a sharply short of liability.

Loans ranged to a much lower level. Turnover tended to increase as operations were made down but business was far from lively.

TRUMAN'S 'BOLD NEW DEAL' MAY GIVE HELP TO DEPLETED DEFENSE STOCKPILE

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—(AP)—President Truman's "bold new deal" may add a few vitamins to the diet of the badly stunted defense stockpile. We might need it over and over again. It would be a good idea if the plan works. It will provide some private investments abroad, and withdrawal of metals in short supply from the industrial market.

The metals are to be piled up against the day they would go into the planes, tanks, ships, guns and bombs we might have to have quick—or not at all.

By combining the two so far unconnected programs, Washington hopes to get the desired metals painlessly, and to make American investments for producing them abroad safe, and profitable.

Seat Of Nationalist Government Will Be Moved From Nanking To Canton

NANKING, Jan. 25—(AP)—The Chinese government heads of today a few minutes after the Communist offer by radio to meet National peace envoys in Peiping.

A Chinese official spokesman revealed the official move with which the Communist will be ordered to leave Nanking already last 100,000 troops.

The government and Communist announcements both came as Red patrolled in the North bank of the Yangtze river not far from the capital.

Removal of the seat of the government was expected to be completed by the middle of next month, in official spokesmen said.

The peace offer was broadcast in the United States by the Communist Party, which was reported to have been received by the United States government.

When the government of the Nationalist government was transferred to the seat of the government, the Communist Party had the intention of moving the seat of the government to the North bank of the Yangtze river.

Comptroller Seeks Passage Of Truman Reorganization Bill

Senate, House Leaders Agree On Rent Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—(AP)—Comptroller General Linday Warren told Congress today that the federal government is a "crisis" of confidence. This he said is "due to the tax cuts but not for those who have to pay a bill."

The federal program of the government reorganization bill sought by President Truman. The measure would give the President broad powers to reorganize offices and eliminate duplicating services.

The informal agreement was reached by Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee and chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking Committee.

The House group will go ahead with study and action on a bill to extend and tighten rent controls. The Senate committee, meantime, will work a general housing legislation but will stand ready to consider more specific legislation as the House moves.

Spence indicated he will start rent control hearings next week. The aim is to get a new law on the books well before Mar. 31 when the present law expires.

There were indications of sentiment for an extension of at least 15 years.

Sparksman will personally lead a 15-month extension but he added that he will be listening to arguments for the two years provided in the advance bill.

There was a time when a judge's yardlet could be bought in Israel for a pair of shoes.

Visitors to Truman's inauguration in Washington last week say it was a very impressive ceremony, in fact, almost as impressive as Fuller Warren's.

We don't believe in crowing over our weather, least some freak January hurricane take all the joy out of life; but the folks who come to Florida this winter, instead of going to California, made no mistake.

We agree with President Truman on one thing anyway. We are against changing the present Electoral College system, not because we believe it is right, but because we are afraid they will make it worse if they change it.

We note that Governor Tolmie's initiative he was not snubbed by President Truman during the inauguration parade, but we have not yet seen any denial from Governor Warren that he did not snub President Truman.

Down in Tampa progress is being made toward the elimination of lurid and undesirable comic books from the news stands by a citizens advisory committee which has gained the cooperation of the magazine distribution agencies.

Dixie Basketball Follows Pattern Of Football In Building Powerhouse

By STERLING SLAPPEY
ATLANTA, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Dixie may well be following the same pattern for basketball which built the section into a national football powerhouse.

For years the East and West found easy football victories on Dixie football courts, but in the twenties the South began building bigger stadiums—another way of saying "making a name for oneself." Since then Southern football has been at the top or just next door to the country's best. The Southeastern Conference within the next five years will pass through a building period for basketball aimed at producing winners. If the building plan produces, and there's little reason to believe it won't, Dixie supremacy will have a Rebel challenger. Six of 12 Southeastern Colleges are either building huge field houses for basketball or have plans drawn and hope to get started within two or three years. Even Kentucky, whose teams seldom are beaten by anyone, is building in Lexington. The defending champions of college basketball, have a new field house under construction which will seat 12,000. The building, to cost $2,500,000, will be finished next season. The gym—a far cry from Kentucky's present 3,000 capacity house—will have two basketball courts with seating arrangements which put only 500 seats in the end group, the remainder on the sides of the two tiers. Florida has enjoyed few victories over major eastern teams but one of the things needed for a winner is on the way in Gainesville. The new "Florida Gym" will seat 6,000 and will be ready by next season. Georgia Tech—in the middle of Atlanta's 600,000 population area is worse off than anyone in the

Skater Feels Free Now That She Has Turned Professional

By GEORGE TUCKER
Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK—Barbara Ann Scott finds skating professionally like getting out of school. "You're so free," said the 20-year-old girl who won an Olympic championship last summer then gave it up to turn professional. "At first," she went on, "I looked at myself in the mirror to see if I was any different. I kept thinking, 'How strange! I'm doing what I have always done—just getting paid for it.'" Being an amateur, the Canadian Snowflake said, she lives in a strict-jacket. "If I accepted a soft drink, I would have to hide the label from the photographers. Clubhouse

By HAROLD V. RATIFF
Orange, Tex.—Chances Pleau, who in one year's time has bettered 275 winners under the wire, gets sore if you insinuate that his days at the race tracks are numbered. It has been said by race critics that the 17-year-old rider would soon become too large for a jockey. "I'll be around for a long time," Pleau said on a visit here where he attended high school. He pointed to his father's weight (130) and his mother's (118) as evidence that the critics don't know what they're talking about. Pleau now weighs 105 and stands five feet, four inches. Clarence grew up in this area where quarter-horse racing flourishes and two-line straightaway track is a regular feature. "I never saw a circular race track or a regulation horse race until the summer of 1947. His own populus family could not afford the luxury of a horse but many of the neighbors owned them and on the time he could walk Pleau was getting folks for permission to ride. By the time he was ten he could handle a mount like an old timer and at 12 he was riding winners in the quarter-horse races. At 13 he was earning an average of $7 a week. In quarter-horse racing you either get a fast start or you're still fumbling around at the still when the winner crosses the line. Pleau quickly mastered the trick of a quick getaway and he has proved him well on the regular day a week. It was New Year's Day, 1948, that Pleau rode his first regulation event at the Fair Grounds in New Orleans. He wound up among the also-rans but 12 days later, on his second mount, he did better—he won the race. Since that time the baby-faced kid's record as a jockey has been phenomenal. Fans attending meets at which Pleau rides forget the form sheets, ignore the tote and bet on Clarence. Pleau remains unexcited about it all. He just keeps booting them home, collecting his earnings and saving his money. They say here the youngster has earned about $100,000 from his racing already. He's sent home about $300,000 and has bought a big new automobile and a lot of fancy clothes. Cleveland Indian pitching star Gene Bearden led the American League hurlers in his first season with an earned run average of

Swimming Pool

Interest is increasing in the swimming pool for Sanford. Last week at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting Malcolm MacNeill made an interesting report on the progress of the pool committee. One of the top problems of the committee is the selection of a place to put the proposed pool. Some people think the Fort Mellon Park on the lakfront would be the place. Others like the idea of placing it at the Ninth Street Park, while others like the plan to construct it at the high school, MacNeill reported.

Interest in golf is increasing in the Central Florida section, and tourists are using the local courses more frequently than ever before, Levy declared.
