Rams to host Seminoles

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary High School football team is looking to rebound against the Seminoles tonight after last week's 48-6 loss to the Lyman Greyhounds. While Seminole likes to take to the air, Lake Mary coach Doug Peters thinks an effective running game would hurt the young Rams more.

Most of Heathrow for sale

HEATHROW — Arvida Co., which manages the Heathrow community, is trying to buy a portion of it from owner Jerni Paulucci.

David Guy, president of the Central Florida Arvida operation, said that IMH Realty Corp. and Arvida Co. would enter into a limited partnership that would take over most of Heathrow, which is just west of Lake Mary.

According to a manager at Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith Inc., which is handling the negotiations, the pending transaction is worth up to $300 million and includes 2,500 homes, 1,800 acres of undeveloped residential property and 26 acres of commercial land including The Shoppes of Heathrow.

"We are planning on purchasing a part of Heathrow," Guy said.

The negotiations do not include the Heathrow International Business Center, according to Guy.

Robber strikes at post office

SANFORD — When Marietta Skeens, 50, of Eustis, was checking her mail from her box at the Sanford Post Office on Palmto Avenue at about 9 p.m. Thursday, a robber grabbed her from behind with his arm around her neck.

"I was screaming and struggling. We didn't have a knock-down drag-out fight," Skeens said today. Skeens said she was shook up, but not hurt. The man grabbed her purse and fled on foot after taking her wallet.

Skeens said she had seen the robber come into the post office as she stood at a counter sorting her mail. He mentioned the weather before approaching her from behind, she said. He stole about $10 and personal papers from Skeens.

United Way drive tops goal; celebration tonight

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

Seminole County has exceeded its goal in The Heart of Florida United Way campaign and money is still coming in. Communication Chairperson Cheryl Worley said Thursday morning.

The Victory Dinner is set for tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Walt Disney World Contemporary Resort Ballroom of the Americas. This is when the results in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties will be tallied. The total three county goal is $9.5 million and United Way officials reported that, as of last week, the three county campaign was $1 million shy of that goal.

Businesses and other institutions in the Seminole County area have raised $960,000 in pledges toward an $864,000 goal. This includes $443,648 raised locally and $416,352 from the major metro companies of IBM, Stromberg-Carlson and AT&T.

Worley said the goal of Sanford did particularly well, even though the city's campaign did not reach its goal. Sanford raised $6218, or 48 percent of the total goal of the city's Mayor Beverly Smith joined the leadership team and pledged $1,000, which helped Sanford become the top contributor in this division.

SHA pay hikes denied; employees may unionize

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Employees of the Sanford Housing Authority, who last night were denied annual cost-of-living allowances because of what SHA commissioners called poor productivity, are moving toward joining the International Union of Operating Engineers.

James Sweeting III, attorney for the housing authority, told the board last night it may oppose or support the move to unionize by 11 of the 17 SHA full-time employees. As many as five of those employees may not be eligible for union status under Florida statutes, he said.

The board took no stand on the employer actions.

Unionization of employees would mean benefits and, in addition, both the staff and the board, Sweeting said. Strength in numbers would be the greatest advantage for employees, he said.

The whole personnel program is subject to bargaining, Sweeting said.

Earlier in the meeting, SHA's personnel policy came under fire for its guarantee of annual cost-of-living and longevity pay increases. The policy, which is set by the board, calls for annual COLAs established by the City of Sanford and longevity increases between 3 percent and 2.5 percent, depending on years of service to the agency.

Sheriff will undergo heart bypass surgery next week

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Sheriff John Polk is hospitalized in Durham, N.C., awaiting heart bypass surgery scheduled for next week.

"I feel good. I don't feel like I've got anything wrong with me," Polk said today during a telephone interview.

He said he went to Duke University Medical Center, North Carolina, for a second opinion after his Orlando doctors told him he might have blockages in his heart.

In heart catheterization Tuesday, Polk said, Duke doctors determined two arteries in his heart are partially blocked and should be bypassed. Doctors have also told Polk they may try to bypass a third artery, which was bypassed in an earlier surgery in Gainesville in 1978.

Polk, 57, said he had been feeling a little tired and his Orlando

LAKE MARY — No new housing, retail or commercial development would be allowed in the southeast quadrant here for eight months if a preliminary decision last night by the city commission is made final.

The reason for the proposed ban is to allow time to figure out how to relieve residential traffic congestion.

The planning and zoning board had recommended rejecting the proposed ban but the city commission on a 3-1 vote tentatively approved it for projects south of Lake Mary Boulevard and east of Country Club Road. That is the portion of the city where Seminole Community College is located.

Humane Society rebounds from distemper outbreak

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald staff writer

Pat Scott, Humane Society director, said cats weren't affected by the distemper outbreak.

SANFORD — The director of the Humane Society of Seminole County said little more can be done to improve current cleaning procedures when the shelter begins accepting dogs for adoption Nov. 25 to prevent another outbreak of canine distemper that resulted in the euthanization of 22 dogs at the shelter Oct. 19.

"We're disinfecting the dirt," said Trish Scott, society director. "We're spraying trees up as far as we can reach. We've sprayed this building from top to bottom."

Despite public concern, Scott said shelter cleanliness wasn't an issue when five apparently infected dogs were brought to the shelter in October, forcing the euthanization of all 22 dogs in the shelter to prevent spread of the highly-contagious disease. She said distemper can spread quickly to other dogs through the air, skin or clothing.

Scott said vet-trained shelter workers examine every animal brought into the shelter for signs of illness and inoculate them with a serum that prevents distemper. The shot doesn't take effect for 10 days and does not cure an infected animal, Scott said she has learned. Cats are not affected by the distemper strain that infects dogs, Scott said.

Scott said before the distemper outbreak, shelter workers cleaned the dog runs with either a commercial disinfectant or a bleach and water mixture. She said since the dogs were euthanized, the shelter has been disinfected at least 14 times, once every three days or so.

Scott said she has a waiting list of seven people waiting to adopt dogs when the shelter begins accepting them later this month. She said at least five people weekly are turned away who want to leave dogs with the shelter. She said four dogs have been adopted outside the shelter from people who kept the animals, but allowed the society to follow their normal adoption procedures.

Scott said people seeking to leave dogs with the society have been directed to either adopt them out themselves using a newspaper advertisement, their network of friends or a veterinarian's bulletin board. She said dog owners are also being referred to the Seminole County Animal Control Department, which also provides dogs and cats for adoption.

Scott said if any change comes from the incident, the society will be more careful in checking with veterinarians of owned dogs before accepting them into the shelter. "We'll call the vet while the person is sitting there," Scott said. "We can't be too careful."

Scott said dogs, including strays, would not be turned away if their medical history could not be verified.

Men arrested in sexual assault cases

SANFORD — An 18-year-old Sanford man has been arrested in connection with sexual assaults committed in Sanford. Two girls, ages 11 and 15 years, have reported to Sanford police they were attacked Nov. 11 in a Sanford house.

Police arrested Stephen Matthews, 18, 1119 Cypress Ave., Sanford, at 5:10 p.m. Thursday in Sanford. He is charged with sexual battery on a child under the age of 12, carnal intercourse and lewd and lascivious assault. He is held without bond.

LONGWOOD — A robber armed with a handgun forced a clerk into a back office to take money from a safe and cash box at TCBY, 2419 W. State Road 434, Longwood, at about 5:45 p.m. Thursday, a Seminole County sheriff's report said. The robber got away with $350, the report said.

Georgia man robbed at rest stop

LONGWOOD — Richard Earl Wells, 36, of Macon, Georgia, said he was robbed at the eastbound rest stop of Interstate 4, in rural Longwood, at about 7:15 a.m. Thursday.

Robbery victim offers reward

LONGWOOD — A victim of one of seven robberies that have occurred this week in driveways in the Wekiva area of rural Longwood, and in Altamonte Springs and Casselberry, is offering a $500 reward for arrested and conviction in the cases. The reward is for the capture and conviction of a gang of three or four young men armed with a gun and knife who rob people as they get out of their cars at their homes.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said Paul Galpman is offering the reward, and deputies have some strong leads on suspects, who may also be responsible for similar attacks in Orange County.

The second reading of the proposed moratorium is scheduled for Dec. 7, according to City Manager John Litton. The ban would become effective 120 days later, if adopted at that time. It would ban for not more than eight months any major development requiring site plan and subdivision approval from the commission, such as a shopping plaza or a housing subdivision.

For example, a developer's plans for a shopping center on 35 acres of land at Weldon Boulevard and Highway 17-92 would be frozen if the moratorium is formally adopted.

Voting in favor of the moratorium were commissioners Bill Greene, whose commission term expires Dec. 4, Thomas Mahoney and Paul Tremel. In opposition was Commissioner David Meador. Commissioner George Duryea was absent.

"What do we have at the end of that period of time?" Meador questioned.

The moratorium was one of several recommendations last week by a traffic study committee which for four months studied solutions to traffic congestion in that southeast portion of the city.

The committee determined that the roads in that area were inadequate to handle any further development.

Mahoney told the commission that a moratorium is necessary so the city can use this time to come up with a viable plan which would create "the least potential negative impact on our streets". He said it would be "too late" if a moratorium were not put in place while searching for answers.

"I think we're going to get a great deal more cooperation after we pass the moratorium. There is no battle that I am more willing to fight than the one to protect our residential neighborhoods," he said.

City Attorney Ned Julian advised the commission that a ban would give the city "breathing room to consider (its) options."

Much discussion preceded the decision. At one point, Tremel said, "the only way I can support this moratorium is if it would be citywide." However, after a five-minute recess to consider it, Tremel voted for approval.

Several residents protested saying that it was unfair to single out one area of the city when traffic congestion is a problem everywhere.

One was Lake Mary native Mary Wolfe who owns about 40 acres of land in that area.

"I paid taxes for over 50 years myself and my parents paid taxes for over 50 years before me. I don't appreciate in the least having one little block set off when they're not going to impact the traffic," Wolfe said.

Attorney Miranda Fitzgerald, representing a developer, urged the commission to reject the concept as the planning and zoning board had recommended.

Before preliminarily approving the ordinance, the commission revised it slightly so that the moratorium could be extended every 60 days, instead of every 120 days, and would last no longer than eight months, instead of 16 months.

When it comes back on Dec. 7, the mayor will be allowed to vote on the issue.

doctors told him he needed further tests and a second opinion on having another bypass surgery on his heart.

"I came to the best hospital in the country for a few tests," Polk said of Duke. When doctors confirmed he needed the surgery, he decided to stay on and have it there, he said.

Polk underwent a double bypass in 1978. When he was on a business trip to London, England, in May of 1988, he suffered his first heart attack, because one of those bypassed arteries failed, he said. He was hospitalized for a total of about three weeks in both London and Orlando, following his heart attack. Polk was rehospitalized in March of this year in Orlando to have a clogged artery in his neck cleared.

The second of the two arteries bypassed in 1978 is in great shape, Polk said, and requires no repair during his scheduled surgery.

Polk expects to spend a couple of days in intensive care, following three or four hours of surgery. He expects to remain hospitalized for about 10 days. Polk said he will probably return to work at the sheriff's department part-time about one week after he is released from the hospital.

Meanwhile, Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said he has automatically stepped in to take over Polk's administrative duties. Polk said it is business as usual at the sheriff's department.

Polk made a conference call to the department at 3 p.m.

Thursday to inform his staff of his scheduled surgery. "He sounded just like John Polk talking at a staff meeting. I think he's going to come through with flying colors," Harrell said. "This guy can bounce back. And he's in the best of hands."

Polk who was elected to his sixth term as sheriff in 1988, is in his 21st year of service to the county. He has said he plans to run for a seventh term in 1992.

Polk's son John Kevin Polk accompanied him to North Carolina. His wife Dorothy and daughter Cheryl Parker are expected to join him there today.

Today, Polk said, his blood pressure is a very normal 110 over 70. He said he did start smoking a couple of weeks ago, two or three cigarettes a day. But he has quit again, he said.

New vitamin rules make more sense

The National Research Council's new recommended dietary allowances for vitamins make sense. People aren't all alike.

In its 10th RDA report since 1941, the council has pointed out that different people need different levels of vitamins, depending on physical condition, stress and other factors.

Pregnant women need almost twice as much iron as other women. Teen-age boys and girls need more calcium because their bones are still being formed.

It is important to remember from past council reports that popping vitamin pills all day is not the way to go about ingesting the vitamins the body needs. A balanced diet, complete with leafy vegetables, fresh fruits and dairy products, can provide nearly all the vitamins needed by the average person.

The National Research Council's revised report has been welcomed by members of the American Dietetic Association because the refined definition of individual vitamin needs is helpful at a time when more and more Americans are concerned about the relationship between diet and general health.

White House drops misplaced litmus test

Candidates for top scientific jobs in federal government shouldn't have to be ideological clones of President George Bush. At last the White House seems reconciled to that view and will consider filling vacancies with scientists who are neutral on sensitive issues or even at odds with the party line, a welcome departure from previous administration policy.

The announcement of the shift comes from Louis Sullivan, the health and human services secretary, himself a subject of the administration's litmus test on abortion. Before his confirmation, Sullivan waffled in every direction, at last settling on a position reflecting Bush's most recent opinion — that abortion should be legal only in cases of rape or incest or to save the life of the mother.

It's appropriate that Cabinet secretaries and other high-level administration policy makers hew to presidential thinking. While Sullivan's opinion of abortion and other sensitive issues shouldn't be the sole determinant of his fitness to serve as health and human services secretary, it can be one factor among many that a president weighs in making such a critical appointment.

No such considerations need enter into the nominations for top scientific posts, specifically the directorships of the National Institutes of Health and Centers for Disease Control. What matters are a candidate's scientific skills and administrative competence. Policy issues are better left to the policymakers.

The Bush administration, however, wrongheadedly insisted all major health and human services appointees reflect the president's thinking on abortion and fetal tissue research, a requirement that has made the NIH directorship, for one, difficult to fill. Bad enough that the NIH job pays poorly compared to private sector work; the White House was also imposing an ideological litmus test that turned off some otherwise well-qualified candidates.

Perhaps the White House's change of heart will cause them to reconsider. In any event, the administration deserves a modicum of credit for its belated recognition that science shouldn't be politicized.

Democrats: Don't recycle cycles

After the elections in 1988 and 1989 many liberal Democrats prematurely declared the end of a conservative political era. It's 1989, and there they go again. It's hard to see the conservative tide, they say. The evidence? Democratic victories in the quadrennial troika of American politics: New York City, Virginia and New Jersey.

In the earlier instances, the liberals said that the change in their political fortunes was coming about because Americans were fed up with Ronald Reagan's wacky conservatism. Many liberals still say that, but with George Bush floating high in the polls, there are some newly stressed features in the liberal theme park.

Abortion will be a long-term winner, liberals say. And, anyway, they maintain, it's our turn, because American politics is cyclical and the conservative cycle has run its course. Post? Gone. No pain, no strain. Translation: It's the end of an era because it's the end of an era, and therefore we liberals don't have to bother to mend our ways.

What can one say about such circular reasoning? Not that it's dead wrong. Who knows what happens next? But only that it is political suicide dangerous to Democrats who inhale it and probably even harmful to other Democrats who may be caught in its ambient environment. Now, as it happens, there are a couple of newly surfaced situations, not abortion or cyclicalism, to give some cause for authentic cheer to Democrats.

The apparent defeat of the Soviet Empire is one. Republicans can claim much recent credit for keeping America strong and thereby pushing the Soviet change. But that's a m e n e w circumstance might diminish the Republican trump card of national defense. For now, the Russians aren't coming. So, if Democrats don't go overboard about it, there is less to fear from perceived Democratic softness on national security.

The change in black politics can be another Democratic plus. The victory of Douglas Wilder as Governor of Virginia establishes a new political road map: A black moderate has a fair shot at winning anywhere. That means black politicians will be less likely to be hyper-liberal, thereby putting less of a left-wing spin on the Democratic national image.

What about abortion? In the alchemy of democracy, abortion may soon go from a crusade to a bore. Most Republicans will be for allowing legal abortion but will say it shouldn't be too easy; most Democrats will be for allowing legal abortion, and will say it shouldn't be too hard. The argument will be about details, yielding an important Democratic victory without much political payoff.

On balance, it's not a bad picture for Democrats. But only if they read it right. Alas, don't rule out the Democratic lust to impose self-inflicted wounds.

Accepting the liberal misinterpretation of the 1988 elections could qualify as such, taking its place in a long, dumb, destructive, myopic tradition of learning-the-wrong-lesson. (For example: Democrats only lost because Jimmy Carter was strange, because Fritz Mondale was bad on television, because Republican Chairman Lee Atwater invented the American flag and Willie Horton.)

Pool. Gone. No pain, no strain.

Ergonomics and industry

WASHINGTON — The crises enveloping all societies professing "scientific socialism" has distracted attention from a small, germane event in this country. It is an application of the science of ergonomics to capitalism. The United Auto Workers has negotiated with Chrysler the use of ergonomics to reduce repeated trauma disorders. This is an event connected in a quiet way to the noisy clash of socialist and capitalist ideas.

Approximately one-third of all compensable industrial injuries result from physical stress. Such stress often comes cumulatively from repetitive motions. Ergonomics, the science of making machines and jobs fit people rather than the reverse, often is a matter of small marginal adjustment in the design of a tool or the angle at which a worker bends his or her back or wrist and shoulders.

The important variables in work are posture, pace, repetitiveness, movements, vibrations and energy expended. "White finger," for example, is loss of feeling and control in fingers and hands because of collapsed blood vessels. This can be caused by vibrations from power tools. Blackened fingertips result from tissues deprived of oxygen.

Illments arising from repetitive motor processes are not distinctively American but are especially American. Mass production, says historian Daniel Boorstin, altered the essential experience of life. Hitherto, life had been composed of a series of unique moments. True, there had been a certain sameness to the days, seasons, years of a 14th-century peasant tilling a field behind oxen. But modern manufacturing brought an especially intense sameness.

Central heating, refrigeration and air conditioning radically reduced the significance of seasons. Electric lighting liberated mankind from the tyranny of two natural demarcations, sunlight and darkness, so factories could hum "around the clock." But before that could happen, clocks had to become so prevalent that people became accustomed to dicing their days — their lives — into minutes. (Wristwatches became common after 1900, partly because soldiers in the Boer War used watches to synchronize movements.)

With the coming of moving production lines, working time came to be thought of as a series of closely calculated units. The units were indistinguishable. So, too, were workers whose lives were tethered to the relentless line. Interchangeable parts of uniform dimensions moving past workers made economic efficiency primarily a matter of speed. That speed depended on the rate at which the slowest function along the line could be performed.

An undeniable good — the unleashing of productive energy — came from this economic organization. But one cost of this — repeated trauma disorders — is only now, late in the age of mass manufacturing, becoming properly understood.

Such costs were once related to the socialist impulse which often was a reaction against the conditions of modern labor. Socialists though workers were debased — "alienated from their social product" — not merely by being denied just economic rewards, but also by the suffocation of craftsmanship. The satisfaction of craftsmanship were, they said, casualties of soul-destroying repetition in the severe division of labor made necessary by mass production.

Actually, the socialists' complaint was — is — with industrialism, not capitalism. But socialism promised special solicitude for workers' interests. In fact, labor has been especially exploited in the "socialist bloc," where real labor unions have been suppressed. And one of the heroic stories of the capitalist, "bourgeois" world is the role of free unions in making capitalism more attractive — more just — than mere market forces would have done.

The explosion that is blowing away "scientific socialism" in Eastern Europe began in Poland when Solidarity demonstrated a great proof: The right of labor to organize is as sharp a chisel as the right to emigrate is for cracking the concrete of tyranny. Lech Walesa is in American being toasted by, among others, conservatives who only value unions abroad. Conservatives should ask the bartender at the country club to uncork some champagne so they can offer a quiet toast to organized labor. It has made capitalism a more marketable idea by making it a less traumatic system.

Allments arising from repetitive motor processes are not distinctively American.

Gorbachev continues non-alcohol stance

WASHINGTON — Soviet populist Boris Yeltsin would do well to watch his alcohol intake. The Soviet premier he opposes, Mikhail Gorbachev, has twice knocked competitors out by expassing them as heavy drinkers while he stayed sober.

Yeltsin was the target of a KGB smear campaign during his visit to the United States in September. The issue was dear to the heart of every Soviet — booze — and the story was that Yeltsin drank too much of it. A wild account of Yeltsin's escapades in the United States was planted by the KGB in an Italian newspaper and reprinted in the Soviet paper Pravda. Pravda later apologized, but the "party animal" image may linger around Yeltsin. Then, recently, Yeltsin didn't help his cause when he turned up at a Soviet police station disheveled and confused, claiming he was accosted by thugs. He later retracted his statement and apologized in front of the Supreme Soviet.

Central Intelligence Agency sources tell us that the alcoholic smear is an old standard for Gorbachev. Twice before — when he was a student and when he rose to be Soviet premier — Gorbachev cleverly stepped over his opponents by denigrating them for drunkenness.

The college story comes from Fridrikh Neznansky, who went to Moscow State University Law School with Gorbachev in 1950. He emigrated to the United States in 1978 and told this story in a classified Pentagon debriefing.

One night in 1960 at a bar, Gorbachev pined a friend named Nikitin with so much liquor that he became falling-down drunk. Nikitin was the leader of the local Komsomol, or Communist Youth League. During the night, Gorbachev stayed sober.

The next day, Gorbachev neatly dissected his friend at a Komsomol meeting for being an embarrassing drunk. Gorbachev was promptly hailed as the next leader of the Komsomol chapter. "That's when his path to the Kremlin began," Neznansky told U.S. officials.

As the young Komsomol leader, Gorbachev eliminated "unpatriotic cosmopolitans" — Stalin's code word for Jews — from the chapter with gusto, Neznansky remembered. The account paints a picture of a man on the way up.

Another contemporary, Lev Yudovich, who graduated two years before Gorbachev, confirms Neznansky's impression. Yudovich has taught at the U.S. Army's "Russian Institute" in West Germany. He said, according to another secret Pentagon report, that Gorbachev was anti-Semitic during the Stalin era, but it was less a heart-felt belief than a proper stance for an upwardly mobile communist.

He is somewhat kinder to Jews today, but has no more tolerance for drinkers than he did as a youth. In 1985, when Gorbachev was jockeying for the top spot as premier, he denounced his chief opponent, Grigory Romanov, as an alcoholic, according to secret CIA reports.

Romanov was forced to resign from the Politburo, and the CIA gives part of the credit to Gorbachev's allegations.

The CIA says Gorbachev is indeed the near-teetotaler that he makes himself out to be. He has earned the nicknames "Gen. Juice" and "Mineral Secretary."

The CIA got a transcript from a speech Gorbachev gave to a group of 30 prominent writers in 1986. It shows how serious he is about irradiating the problem of alcoholism in the Soviet Union.

Gorbachev vowed that he would not give up his temperance campaign.

The alcoholic smear is an old standard for Gorbachev.

School board to meet Nov. 21

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board will meet Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. in the district board room at 1211 Melbourne Ave. in Sanford.

First on the agenda will be the reorganization of the board. A new chairman, vice chairman and school board attorney will be named. Current chairman Ann Motowidlo and vice chairman Nancy Warren are both eligible for reappointment to their present posts.

Attorney Neil Julian has submitted a letter of understanding outlining the terms under which he will continue to serve as board attorney.

The newly organized board will reconvene for a regular meeting immediately following.

Principal found to have harassed teacher

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A report filed by an independent state hearing officer states that Tanager Middle School principal Sid Boyette has harassed physical education teacher Cynthia Moloney in retaliation for her work with the Seminole Education Association (the teacher's union).

It was found that Boyette had unjustly placed negative reports in Moloney's file and that he had attempted to silence her from exercising her rights as a union representative.

Neither Boyette nor Moloney was available for comment Friday morning.

Boyette has been ordered to "cease and desist from interfering with, restraining or coercing Cynthia Moloney in the exercise of her rights." He has also been ordered to remove the negative material which he placed in her employee records.

Governor appoints two from county

Two Seminole County residents and three other central Floridians were appointed by Gov. Bob Martinez to the Central Florida Commuter Rail Authority.

They are: Thomas Stevenson, 44, Sanford, vice president of operations for Heathrow Land and Development Co.; Dudley Bates, 47, Altamonte Springs mayor and general manager of Koger Properties; developer; Donald Duncan Jr., 61, Orlando, chairman and president Sun Bank; Oscar Juarez, 49, president Juarez and Associates, government consultants and developers; and Frank Serpico Jr., 60, St. Cloud, assistant vice president and manager First Federal of Cassia County.

One county commissioner from each county served by the authority, Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Brevard County, and a member of the High Speed Rail Commission will serve on the 10-member committee, charged with reviewing rail commuter options in central Florida.

County consultant decision due today

SANFORD — Acting County Manager Bob McMillan said he may conclude discussions with Roger Neisewander today toward hiring the former county administrator as his county management consultant.

McMillan said hiring Neisewander, approved by commissioners Tuesday by a 3-2 vote, would not preclude his consulting with former county manager Ken Hooper. Hooper resigned Oct. 24.

"I'll probably use Ken for more history kinds of things such as 'Why did you do this?'" McMillan said. "Roger will act in a more day-to-day function, specifically with budget matters."

Neisewander was the county's first executive empowered with more responsibilities than a mere assistant to the commission. Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn and other commissioners wanted Neisewander to act as interim county manager until a new manager is hired, but Neisewander has said his own business would not allow him to work full-time for the county.

Hooper, as part of his severance agreement with commissioners, will be paid nearly a full year's salary to act in a consulting capacity to the county until next October.

Fatal shooting over napkins

United Press International

KEY WEST — A transaction between two men, a drug deal but turned out to be the passing of some white napkins triggered the fatal shooting of a black man by police, officials said Thursday.

Police have been unable to identify the dead man, who friends on the street called "Black" and "Sonny."

The man was killed in a shootout with two undercover detectives, who were injured in the incident. The incident sparked anger in the black community, where many criticized officials for using a police wagon rather than an ambulance to take the man to the hospital.

Officers Steve Hammers, 40, and Robert Allen, 21, thought they had witnessed a cocaine transaction between two men on the street, officials said.

The officers approached the victim, identified themselves and asked to see what they believed was a package of cocaine. The man resisted and started a scuffle with the officers, police said.

The man pulled a gun and began shooting at both officers, and they returned fire, police said.

recognizes consistent, outstanding job performance, and a willingness to go above and beyond the call of duty in promoting public safety.

Eisinger, 32, has commanded CCIB for just over two years. He has been a Seminole County sheriff's deputy for 11 years and for several years during that time was assigned to the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).

Eisinger also serves as intelligence coordinator for the Central Florida zone of the Statewide Sheriff's Crack Cocaine Task Force. Since forming this year, the task force has executed three major statewide drug sweeps code named Rock Pile, and arrested nearly 5,800 suspects throughout Florida.

CCIB agents are culled from the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and the police departments of Sanford, Longwood, Lake Mary, Altamonte Springs, and Casselberry. Eisinger credits CCIB's success to his agent's dedication and the cooperation he receives from Sheriff John Folk and police department chiefs. The sheriff's department is the primary supporter of CCIB, providing administrative services and most of the agents.

"The sheriff and the chiefs are very supportive in providing us with the tools to enforce the laws," Eisinger said. "Sheriff Folk's commitment has enhanced our productivity and made this possible, coupled with the efforts of the people assigned here."

CCIB's primary focus is on narcotics-related crime within the county. The unit also works with other law enforcement agencies throughout the state, such as city and county police, DEA agents, and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

Sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughes, who nominates Eisinger for the award, said beyond his law enforcement duties Eisinger "meets with service and religious organizations...and schools, providing an insight into the drug problem few people have. He is extremely gifted in this area, as Don has the ability to relate and interact with all ages and socio-economic groups. It is for his total commitment to this up-hill battle that I am proud to select him for this most prestigious award."

During the 1988-1989 fiscal year, Eisinger said, his agents made 772 arrests — 477 related to crack cocaine.

The chamber also honored Denise Gough of Lake Brantley High School as Student of the Year; Beverly Freeman of Lyman High School as Educator of the Year; Paul Cave of Jackson Heights Middle School as Administrative Educator of the Year; DeDee Schaffner of the Divisions School Volunteer Program as Public Servant of the Year; Phyllis Grindie, wife of state Rep. Art Grindie, received the Helen Keyser Distinguished Citizen Award; and chamber member and committee chairman Bill Boyd of Marketing Impact and Joanne Vincent of Crown Savings and Loan were honored as outstanding chamber representatives.

Linda Williams presented to the board a budget allowing for a total of $27,241 in COLAs and longevity increases for the full-time employees. She had in March presented the same increases to the previous board, which voted to freeze salaries.

Commissioner J. Wain Cummings, who made the motion to approve a revised budget without the pay increases, said employees are overpaid for the work they do.

"Our staff is already getting paid more than the amount of work they are producing," Cummings said.

Williams disagreed, saying, "It embarrasses me that someone could make that statement and not come to the office...and see what the staff is doing."

"The board is not adhering to the policy they set themselves," Williams cautioned the board about the personnel policy.

Commissioner Shirley Allen said the commission should evaluate employees as problems arise, not when pay increases are due.

"If there are some problems before (increases are due), this board has the responsibility to get involved....I don't think we have the right to deny those people increases at this point," Allen said.

After the 3-to-2 vote to adopt the budget without the increases, Allen interrupted discussion of another agenda item to castigate the board for its decision.

"I can't sit here and not say how I feel about what just happened here....I think it is a miscarriage of justice," Allen said.

Commissioners Cummings, Alberta Detreville and Teri Buratti voted against the pay increases. The votes by Jim Valerino and Allen were in favor of the increases.

Judy Weekley, SHA finance officer, said she was disappointed with the board for not elaborating on reasons for their decision.

"I just don't think they gave a good enough reason. Neither did the previous board. There's still no specifics on who's not doing what," Weekley said.

Child care bill lead this year

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders put off a child care bill until early next year, despite promises they were voting themselves a big pay raise and leaving town with a big haul of money.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, Wash., said Thursday the bill will be dealt with early next year, but differences over how to pay for the measure prevented getting it passed before adjournment, due before Thanksgiving.

The dispute concerns the scope of the program to expand its availability and improve the quality of child care, a major lobbying issue for non-parent groups and those whose both parents are employed outside the home.

The proposals being considered also would expand the Head Start preschool program, establish federal standards for child-care providers and expand early childhood education programs.

"It appears now that the child care legislation will be a priority matter early in the next session," Foley said. "I am absolutely confident that an historic child care bill will be passed, sent to the president and signed into law in this Congress. I wish I could say in this session."

The delay until next year, Foley said, "will have no lessening of a priority or intensity of our concern that it become law."

Despite promises the issue will be handled in a few months and the virtual certainty Congress will be gone by Thanksgiving, the Children's Defense Fund stubbornly pressed lawmakers to stay in session and solve the problem.

"It would be absolutely disgraceful to go home without doing a bill that has passed both houses. ... I just can't believe they're going to disappoint these children and families," said Helen Blank, senior child care associate at the lobbying group.

Blank's group made an unsuccessful last-minute pitch Thursday to influence key House members. She took her schoolers to the halls of Congress, many with a sign clipped to their clothing printed in a childish scrawl and reading, "No recess until you finish your work. Child care now."

But Foley said keeping Congress in session to settle the matter "would not probably yield any immediate result on

5 indicted in weapons export scheme

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Five people were indicted in a complex scheme to export sophisticated missile parts to Israel and then secretly ship them to South Africa, the target of a U.N. weapons ban, the Justice Department said.

The scheme involved an initial order of $300,000 worth of gyroscopes manufactured by the Northrop Corp., a major American defense contractor, and the defendants planned eventual contracts for $50 million worth of military equipment, U.S. Attorney Jay Stephens said in announcing the indictments Thursday.

Gyroscopes are an important part of missile guidance systems, and the case raises new questions about military links between South Africa and Israel.

The "sting" operation that thwarted the "trans-shipment" arrangement involved an undercover U.S. Customs agent, John A. Casara, who posed as an arms broker.

The gyroscopes reportedly were intended for anti-tank missiles being developed by South Africa. Also mentioned in the indictment was Israel Aircraft Industries, a government-owned company that made contact with Northrop about the gyroscopes.

A federal grand jury indicted Frank J. Randazzo, 33; Symone N. Behrmann, 32; Maryanne E. Callaghan, 39; Guy Perfezou and Lester George Buckingham Talbot. Also named as a defendant was a company — Perfezou Imports & Exports Ltd.

Behrmann, who lives in Canada, and Perfezou, who lives in South Africa, are both South African citizens, according to government documents. The nationalities of the others was not immediately known, although Randazzo was identified as a Virginia resident and Callaghan had a home in Rhode Island.

child care. I repeat that."

Rep. Tom Downey, D-N.Y., a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and George Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the House Select Committee on Children, want to add money to an existing entitlement program and earmark it for black grants to states for child care and extend a tax credit for parents of small children to offset child care costs.

Severe weather kills at least 28

Two days of unrelenting rain and violent thunderstorms wreaked havoc from the Midwest through the South and the Northeast, killing at least 28 people, injuring hundreds and causing millions of dollars in property damage.

The worst single incident in the five-day onslaught of rain and brutal thunderstorms was a tornado that killed at least 17 people while cutting a 4-mile-long swath through Huntsville, Ala., Wednesday. At least 493 people were injured. A southern Illinois woman was crushed Wednesday when winds that gusted to 100 mph blew a tree onto her mobile home.

Mother charged with murdering children

LOUISBURG, N.C. — Authorities said they were not sure what caused a 31-year-old mother to fatally stab her three children with a steak knife, brutally mutilate their bodies and dump them on a neighbor's porch.

"I've been a medical examiner since 1972 and I've never seen anything like this," said Franklin County coroner J.B. Perdue Jr. "I've never seen anything to compare with this."

Estimate: 18 million smokers quit

The American Cancer Society estimates 18 million people took a break from their cigarettes, cigars and pipes in the 13th Great American Smokeout — the yearly nationwide drive against tobacco and its deadly consequences.

Anti-smoking activities were held from coast to coast Thursday, including T-shirt giveaways at hospital maternity wards and support programs to help smokers battle their craving to light up.

IN BRIEF

BASKETBALL

Thorpe boosts Rockets to win

HOUSTON — Otis Thorpe scored 27 points and pulled down 10 rebounds Thursday night to lead the Houston Rockets to a 94-82 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers.

Mike Woodson, in his first game since coming off the injured list, scored 16 points. Albern Olajuwon had 18 points and 16 rebounds for the Rockets.

The Clippers, 2-4, were led by Gary Grant with 21 points and Tom Garrick with 16.

Houston, 4-3, pulled away midway in the fourth quarter to open an 85-73 lead with 5:02 left in the game on two straight baskets by Olajuwon. Olajuwon blocked 7 shots, the fourth straight game in which he has had at least 5 blocks.

Houston led 68-58 with 2:43 left in the third period, but the Clippers stayed in the game by outscoring the Rockets 9-2 the remainder of the period.

In other NBA action Seattle tripped Washington 111-98 and the New York Knicks hammered Sacramento 121-102.

COLLEGE HOOPS

Houston, St. Johns advance

WICHITA, Kan. — Reserve Byron Smith hit a driving shot with 1:05 left and Houston defeated Wichita State 67-66 Thursday night in a first round game of the NIT basketball tournament.

The Cougars now head to the quarterfinals and a date with St. John's, an earlier 64-57 winner over North Carolina A&T.

Smith, who finished with a game-high 28 points and had the winning basket, was almost the goat of the game late. He dribbled out the 45-second clock and Houston turned the ball over with 2 seconds left in the game.

But Aaron Davis put up a short jump shot at the buzzer that missed and Houston won.

Houston led at the half 41-37 and led by as many as nine points in the second half at 49-40 with 14:16 left. The two teams stayed within one point of each other the final five minutes of play.

Also in double figures for Houston were Craig Upchurch and Carl Herrera with 13 points apiece.

BOXING

Tyson schedules February bout

NEW YORK — Mike Tyson will make his next heavyweight title defense against Buster Douglas Feb. 12 in Tokyo. It was announced Thursday, bringing cries of foul from the Canadian promoter who had signed the champion to fight Razor Ruddock.

The Tyson-Ruddock bout, originally scheduled for Nov. 18 in Edmonton, Alberta, was postponed last month when Tyson was diagnosed as suffering from pleurisy. Canadian promoter Sonny McPhee wanted to reschedule the bout for Jan. 20 but could not close the deal in time to meet HBO's Wednesday deadline.

King's director of boxing, Al Braverman, said Thursday Tyson will go ahead with plans to fight Douglas in Japan.

"Ruddock will get his fight in time. (Evander) Holyfield will be next, although maybe Ruddock will fight Tyson before him if the Holyfield deal doesn't fall in line."

HOCKEY

Biggs enjoys early success

PHILADELPHIA — Rookie right winger Don Biggs thinks he has what it takes to play in the NHL.

Biggs, called up from the Flyers' Hershey, Pa., farm team on Nov. 10, scored his second goal in as many games Thursday night to help Philadelphia to a 6-3 victory over the Minnesota North Stars.

"I feel pretty comfortable up here, said Biggs, who scored a power-play goal to put the Flyers ahead 5-3. "It's getting a little easier each game. I think I can play here. Over the long haul I don't know if I'll stay but in my mind I think I can play."

The Flyers are now 6-1-2 in the last nine games without several key players, including leading scorers Rick Tocchet and Tim Kerr, as well as Ron Sutter and Dave Poulin.

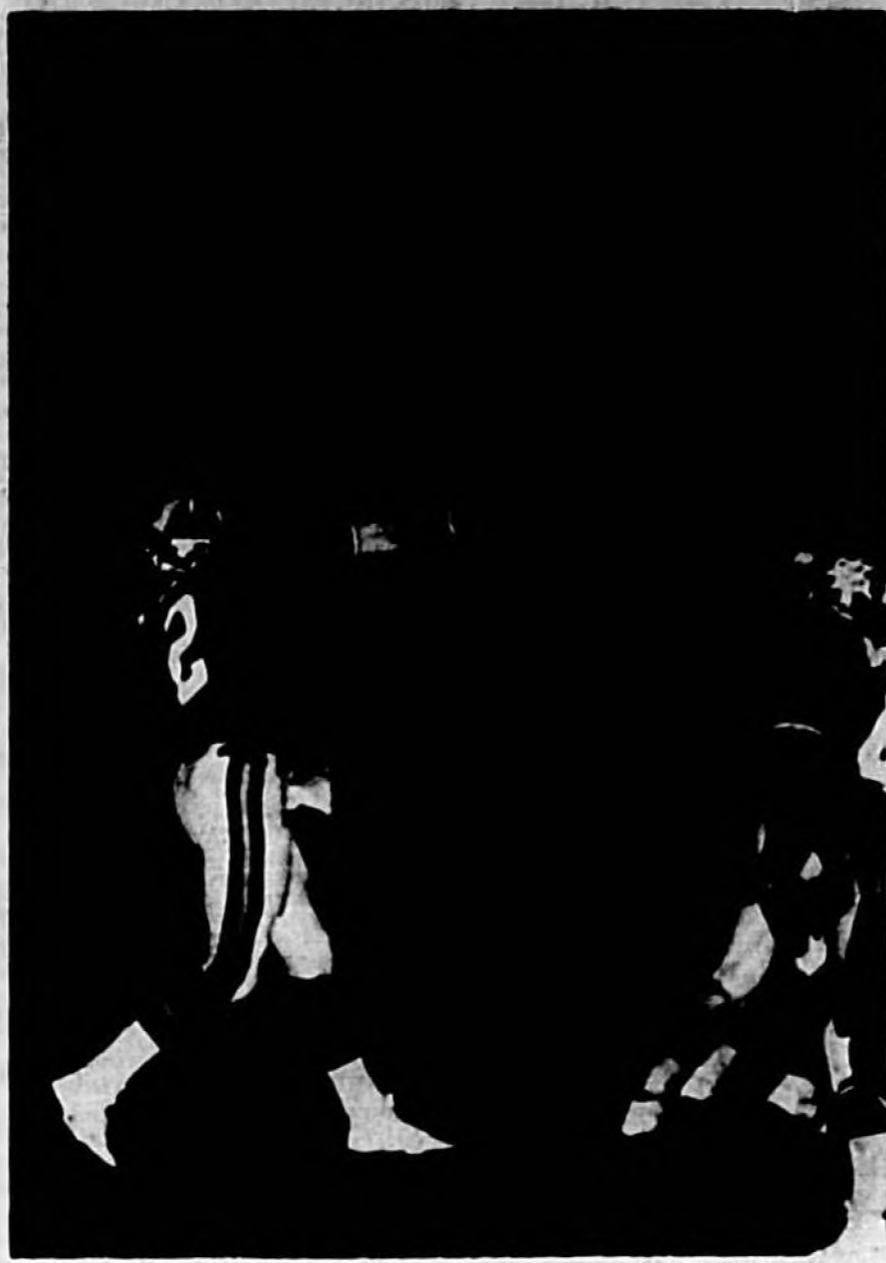

In other NHL action Boston trimmed Montreal 3-2; Pittsburgh bombed Quebec 8-2; the New York Islanders ripped Toronto 6-2; St. Louis stomped Detroit 7-2; Buffalo tied Calgary 4-4; and Vancouver nipped Chicago 4-3.

Rams host Seminoles

According to Lake Mary coach Doug Peters, the Rams will have to stop the passing game of Seminole quarterback Kerry Wiggins (No. 2) to have a shot at winning tonight's game between the two schools.

From staff reports

For the young Lake Mary High School football team and their first-year coach, the 1989 season has been one long learning experience. And sometimes the lessons haven't been easy.

"I said last week that I was curious to see how we would play against Lyman," said Doug Peters. In his initial season guiding the Rams, "That was the first game we've been in that we were evenly matched. We weren't an underdog."

"I was hoping to see some improvement. But a loss (the Rams were hammered by Lyman 48-8) is a loss. Now I'm even more curious to see if we can bounce back."

Things don't get any easier for Lake Mary tonight, when the Rams host neighborhood rival Seminole. In the past, this confrontation has generally meant a close game.

Tickets for next Friday night's 4A-Region IV football playoff game are now on sale at the Seminole High School athletic department.

The game, which will be played at Seminole's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium starting at 7:30 p.m., will pit 4A-District 7 champ Seminole against the District 8 winner, probably Tarpon Springs.

'Hounds, Pats end season

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Lyman will look to sharpen its game tonight when it hosts Lake Brantley in a no-holds-barred 4A-District 5 football contest set for an 8 p.m. kickoff at Lyman High School.

The Greyhounds, 5-4, want to finish with a winning season and are trying to improve on last week's performance, when they won 48-6 over Lake Mary. The Patriots, 4-5, didn't play last week and should be geared up for their final game of the season.

"We're looking to have a winning season," Lyman coach Bill

Scott said. "That's what you are always striving for. We'll have to play much better than last week. Lake Brantley has a very talented football team."

Lyman obviously did not play poorly last week. Scott just feels his squad can, and will have to, play much better to beat the Patriots.

"Clint Johnson and Elroy Dantzier are two of the best offensive players we'll face," Scott said. "Johnson was the All-District quarterback last year and when Dantzier's healthy, he averages 150 yards a game."

Swimmers getting mentally prepared

By TONY DESBORNER
 Herald Sports Editor

Going into Saturday's Class 4A state swim meet at the Orlando International Aquatic Center, Lake Brantley coach Clay Parnell isn't so much worried about his girls' physical preparedness as he is their state of mind.

After winning the 4A-District 5 swim meet last week and qualifying some 10 swimmers for Saturday's competition, the Patriots are considered to be a legitimate threat to defend their 1988-89 state championship.

Parnell thinks his girls can do it. He just hopes they will.

"If they swim well, we can do it," said Parnell. "If we don't swim well, we won't. We've got enough people. But they have to get excited about swimming in the state meet and we have to beat Winter Park."

"Sometimes kids will get scared. All but two of my swimmers competed in the state meet last year. But they tend to put a little pressure on themselves. If they go with the attitude of trying to win and enjoying themselves, then they'll do fine."

Leading the Patriots will be the trio of Jodi Schwab, Jodee Lake and Ryann Pauley.

For Lyman coach Don Clark, the task is also getting his swimmers on the right mental plane going into the competition. Last week at the district meet, the Lyman boys finished third. Clark hopes they will do at least as well on Saturday.

"I think we're going to be OK," said Clark. "I think See Swimming, Page 2B

Lyman's Teddy Mitchell

Lyman's Mitchell keeps on running

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

For most cross country runners, this Saturday's state meet will be the climax of the season. This is the conclusion of the season, the grand finale. This is the race looked forward to by everyone from the opening day of practice.

That is unless you are Lyman's Teddy Mitchell, the overwhelming favorite in the Class 4A race. Mitchell will compete at 10:30 a.m. at the University of Central Florida and will look to defend his state championship.

"If someone's going to beat Teddy Mitchell, they'll have to put themselves, and Teddy through a lot of pain," Lyman coach Fred Finke said. "He's undefeated in the state for the past two years and would like to defend his state championship."

It isn't the state championship that Mitchell is overly concerned about, though. It is the following meet, the Kinney Regional, where he must qualify for the Kinney Nationals.

Mitchell has two national showings under his belt and, with a good race, could be in contention to win this year's race. Should Mitchell make it to the nationals again this year, he would be just the second runner to ever make it three times in the event.

"I've become really impressed with Teddy's talents in the last four months," Finke said. "He has so much talent, I can't keep up with him. He's in a class by himself."

"In the last four months, a type of maturity has set in athletically," Finke added. "He realizes that he has a gift and he's working very hard to improve his skills."

Mitchell and Finke will lead Lyman in a challenge for See State, Page 2B

SCC to host women's hoop tourney

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

The Seminole Community College women's basketball team will play host to the seventh annual Lady Raider Basketball Tournament today and tomorrow at the Health and Physical Education Center on the SCC campus.

In addition to the host Raiders, the other participants will be from Pensacola Junior College, South Florida Community College and Edison Community College. Tonight's schedule has Pensacola taking on Edison at 8 p.m. and Seminole hosting South Florida at 8:00 p.m.

Bucks hand Magic fifth consecutive loss

United Press International

MILWAUKEE — Ricky Pierce scored 28 points and Milwaukee tied an NBA record with 50 points in the first quarter Thursday night as the Bucks posted a 132-113 decision over Orlando, handing the Magic their fifth straight loss.

Milwaukee took a 50-28 lead after one quarter, tying three other teams for the NBA record for most points in the first quarter. Syracuse set the mark in 1962 and Boston and Utah both did it in 1982.

The Bucks made 21 of 24 field goal attempts and scored 16 points off 11 turnovers by the Magic, 2.6, in the period.

The losers of today's games will play at 8 p.m. Saturday in a consolation game while the winners will play for the championship at 8 p.m. Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place teams, the most valuable player and the player who exhibits the most hustle.

Tonight's opening game features two teams that lost most of their players from last season. But both schools are rich in basketball tradition. Pensacola generally one of the top three teams in the state year in and year out.

Tribe girls get kicked by Deltona

From staff reports

SANFORD — Deltona came up with a goal with two minutes to play and beat Seminole 3-2 in a tough high school girls' soccer confrontation Thursday night at Seminole High School.

Deltona improves to 1-0 on the season with the win. The Tribe fell to 0-2 and will return to action next Wednesday against Lake Howell in a Seminole Athletic Conference meeting.

"We have a tough week in front of us," Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "It might be a while before we can win a game, but we're improving and it's early."

Deltona struck first midway through the opening half but See Soccer, Page 2B

 "They like to see it out," said Peters of Seminole, which has one of the most impressive passing games in Central Florida. "But what could have more in that they have found a running game. That's good for them, but it's not in our favor."

"I still feel we're capable of beating a team like Seminole. We're the best team on our schedule. We have to take (wide receiver) Brandon Cook out of the game and get to (quarterback) Barry Wigman in the backfield."

Seminole is sticking in the position of choosing between starting to get ready for next Friday's regional playoff game (which might mean losing out any player who might not be at his peak physically) and throwing everything it has into tonight's contest against the nearest rival.

"The trade would be wise not to look too far past Lake Mary. After struggling to an O-4 start, the Rams are 3-1 over the last four weeks and would love to add a win over Seminole."

"The only thing we have in our favor is getting back last week," said Peters. "We have to play the type of game that I've hoped we'd play all year. This is our biggest rivalry. Everyone wants to beat us, but especially Seminole."

"A win here could heal a lot of wounds for our season."

 "They're very good offensively," Scott said. "We need to keep the ball away from them and find a way to put some points on the board. Some've proven they can score a lot of points in a hurry."

Traditionally, the Lyman-Lake Brantley matchups have been wild contests. Nothing records included, in counted. Since neither team will be in the playoffs, the teams will have a knock-down, drag-out battle for one year's bragging rights.

 Seminole came back to even the score, 1-1, on a 28-yard shot by Jennifer Bengt that burned the Wolves' keeper and ended up in the back upper left portion of the net.

The scored remained the same until Deltona moved back in front, 2-1, with a goal early in the second half. Jennifer Campbell evened the score for Lyman's best bet for individual honors will be Dave Bandy and John Jones.

Lake Howell coach Dwayne Picou figures that two of the three Silver Hawk swimmers who qualified for the state meet should be able to place somewhere in the top 12 of their respective events.

Longwood expecting crowd of craft lovers

By VIKKI BOGGS
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — About 15,000 people are expected to crowd the streets of "downtown" Longwood over the weekend for the Longwood Arts and Crafts Show.

Church Avenue and Wilma and Warren streets, closed to traffic from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, will be lined with more than 400 booths where exhibitors will show and sell their crafts.

"There will be just about any kind of craft you can think of," said John Bistline, coordinator of the event. "These people are all very good and there is a lot of variety."

Crafts available for viewing and purchase include the currently chic country crafts, jewelry, ceramics, floral design, Christmas ornaments, hand-crafted novelty items, specialty clothing, wood-carving, furniture, musical instruments, paintings, pottery and stained glass.

"We'll have a little of everything," Bistline said.

Most of the exhibitors are from Central Florida. Seminole, Orange and Lake counties are most heavily represented, but some craftspeople will travel from other locations around the state and around the country.

With this being the 13th year for the festival, Bistline said the event gets better every year.

"We started out fairly small," he said, "and we've tried to maintain slow, steady growth over the years. This year we grew a little more than we really wanted to, but it should be fine. We want to make sure there is enough room for everyone."

Exhibitors will be competing for cash prizes in a contest judged by Shirley Ryder, an art teacher in the Seminole County school system, and Grady Kinsey, director of the art department at Seminole Community College.

A total of $1,000 in prize money will be awarded to 30 exhibitors, including the $125 best-of-show award.

People who come to the festival also can tour some of the historic buildings in the area, including Christ Episcopal Church, the Bradley-McIntyre House and the Inside-Outside House.

There will be a $1 fee to tour the Bradley-McIntyre House. The other buildings can be seen for free.

Bistline said that one of the nice things about the festival is that everything is within walking distance of everything else. "We're packed in there pretty closely," he said, "but the intimate atmosphere is nice."

Christ Episcopal Church will be hosting a barbecue and bazaar at the church during the show as well.

Geneva joins country, culture

By GENEVA HARRISON
Herald People editor

GENEVA — You may think of Geneva as that bump in the road east of Sanford and off of State Road 46. Yes, the town still has just one stoplight. But a slew of talented residents are taking up the challenge to change Geneva's uncouth image.

"We want to inspire and encourage this area to become just as culturally enlightened as Winter Park or any other area," said Carolyn Oswald. "Geneva doesn't have to be known as the 'country bumpkin' area. I don't think 'country' has to mean 'unenlightened.'"

Oswald belongs to the executive board of the Geneva Players, a community theater group beginning its season this weekend. The season's schedule is as follows:

• "A Variety Revue" is slated for tonight and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18, at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose at the new Geneva Elementary School on First Street in Geneva. The show will feature Broadway songs, spirituals, dances and mime.

Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for children. A nursery will be available for babies and toddlers.

• On Feb. 2-3 and 8-10, the Geneva Players will present two one-act comedies, "White Shakespeare Sleep" and "The Scheme of the Drunken Shifter."

• A six-week children's theater workshop will begin next summer, culminating July 28 with a performance of C.S. Lewis' classic "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe."

• The season ends in October with a "Tribute to Irving Berlin," the recently deceased American composer. Featuring music and historical drama, the tribute is set for Oct. 5-6 and 12-13.

• Also for 1990, the players hope to work up a July 4 performance and a Christmas production.

The Geneva Players began several years ago as a drama

group at Geneva First Baptist Church, performing "country comedies" written and directed by Mrs. Bobby Brady. When the group disbanded, current president Jessie Harrison revived the idea to form a community theater group. The first meeting took place in July, inspired by Sanford's newly revived Roundallers Acting Troupe.

Support and talent is streaming in for the theater group, Oswald said.

"People have just fallen out of the blue," she said. "It's marvelous all the people who have come to help us. We have quite a few talented and knowledgeable people who are going to help us, both on the advisory board and just digging in and helping out."

According to Harrison, the group's advisors are: Dr. Karen Copp, Seminole Community College cultural arts director; Lorraine Whiting, board member of the Geneva Citizens Association and curator of the Seminole County Historical Museum; Don White, with the University of Central Florida theater department; Joe Mathieux, member of the Seminole County Art Association; Karen Coleman, vice principal of Geneva Elementary; and Gloria Oracki, principal at Geneva Elementary.

Margaret Wimberly, who conducts research at UCF, also has offered help research the Geneva Players' self-written dramas.

Though "Variety Revue" is the official start of the Geneva Players' first season, the players already have had their debut. "Introductory Sketch," a sampling of the group's upcoming productions, was performed at the Geneva Fall Festival in October and Ovid's Great Day in the Country festival last weekend.

Around 40 on- and off-stage people now belong to the Geneva Players, all churning with enthusiasm.

"We have very, very high ideals and hopes," Harrison said.

She said those hopes do not include competition with the Roundallers Acting Troupe, the community theater group in Sanford. Rather, the two groups are working together, attending each other's productions, swapping players and props, exchanging know-how, she said.

"We have some tremendous singers in the Geneva Players," Oswald said. "Cindy Knauss has a voice that will rattle the windows."

But Oswald added that the Geneva Players are willing to develop raw talent in singing, acting, dancing or any area.

"If they can smile, we'll work them in," she said. For more information or to join, call Jessie Harrison at 349-5112 or Carolyn Oswald at 349-1207.

Former TV slaves want to free all

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Trish in Enaley, S.C." and others among your readers who have chosen to live without television.

Did you know that there is an organization for people who do not have a working television set in their homes and are interested of ridding our society of television dependency?

The Society for the Eradication of Television (SET) believes that TV "retards inner life, destroys human interaction, squanders time and draws viewers into abject addiction." Please spread the word.

GET FREE IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR SET FREE: You rattled the wrong cage. If you, or others, choose to live without television, it's all right with me, but to crusade in an effort to "rid others" of what you call "television dependence" by doing away with all television sets strikes me as un-American.

The television set may provide some folks with the only human voice they hear for days. It provides news and entertainment for millions of people who cannot—or chose not to—leave the comfort, privacy and safety of their homes.

Granted, there's an excess of garbage on TV—but there are also many educational and worthwhile programs. So, please don't work so hard to "free" me. Enslaved, I'm not.

DEAR ABBY: I need help and do not know where to get it. I have been both bulimic and anorexic on and off for about four years. I have coped and dealt with the problem in the past, but bulimia, which I have now, is an ongoing illness, something I turn to whenever I am down.

I am too ashamed to tell my family, and the career I am in (modeling) does not help. I know of many other models who are in the same or similar situations.

Abby, I can't deal with this anymore. I don't have the money for extensive counseling, and I don't know how to find a counselor whom I can trust to really help me. There are a lot more like me out there—more than any of you know. Maybe this will encourage others to get help, too.

LET US GIVE THANKS...

Once again Thanksgiving draws near. It is a reminder of the first event after the Pilgrims survived the bleak and bitter cold of their winter in New England. It is a scene made famous by the familiar painting of a Pilgrim family, dressed in their stiff starched clothes and conical hats, being safely guarded by the father with his huge blunderbuss as they tramped through the snow to attend church...

In the spirit of this past Thanksgiving as we gather together to celebrate the many blessings to be shared with our family and friends, let us all offer a prayer of thanks for a happy harvest of joys past, present, and future.

Priest with AIDS explains shocking act at Vatican

United Press International

VATICAN CITY — An Irish priest who shocked a Vatican conference on AIDS by brandishing a sign saying "The Vatican has AIDS" was welcomed back to the conference Tuesday after explaining that he suffers from the disease. The archbishop heading the conference told the crowd that many AIDS victims were among them. The priest who unfurled the banner, the Rev. Peter White, originally was described by Vatican officials as an American but later identified by his passport as an Irish missionary priest. White was expelled from the opening session of the Vatican conference on AIDS Monday after he unfurled a banner bearing the slogan "The Vatican has AIDS" from the speaker's rostrum. White told the conference he contracted AIDS in Africa, while working as a missionary. He said his shock gesture Monday was intended as a call for solidarity for AIDS victims.

Sanford gathers to give thanks

By Beverly B. Best
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The time to give thanks has arrived.

Many Sanford churches will join together next week to do just that. Between 400 to 500 people are expected to attend a community Thanksgiving service to be held in the new Central Baptist Church at 7 p.m., Nov. 22.

All the Sanford churches are invited to participate in the service which is sponsored by the Sanford Ministerial Association, according to Freddie Smith, pastor at Central Baptist, who is hosting it. Smith said the service will be "centered around the theme of Thanksgiving." An offering will be collected which will go to the Sanford Christian Sharing Center.

Sanford Ministerial Association President Steve Gilmer called the event a "tradition".

"We've had a pretty good response from area churches as far as participation during the six years I've been in Sanford. For years it was held at Central Baptist," Gilmer said. Last year, between 300 to 500 people attended, he said.

The program will include an opening prayer, welcoming statement and a benediction. Gilmer, who is also pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, will preach. Other local ministers will also participate. Among them will be Floyd Blake Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ed Johnson, First Christian Church, Tim Hess, associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, Richard Danielah, First Presbyterian Church, and Smith, Jack Thomas, minister of music at Central Baptist, will lead the hymns.

Smith said "anyone who wants to come" is welcome.

"It's a traditional time for our community to show forth a public display of thanksgiving. It's a beautiful time to celebrate," Gilmer said.

The Central Baptist Church, 3101 W. First Street, was just completed this year. The 44,000 square-foot facility features a sanctuary with overhead colored lighting, a large carpeted gymnasium and classrooms.

Drive helps lift poor by bootstraps

United Press International

For 20 years, Roman Catholics have been digging deep into their pockets on the Sunday before Thanksgiving to help fund the church's own version of the War on Poverty — the Campaign for Human Development.

This year will be no exception but there will be a difference, even if it's not noticeable. For, after 20 years of ad hoc status, the nation's bishops have decided to make the campaign a permanent part of U.S. church life.

"The bishops wanted to have a sense of owning the campaign," said the Rev. Al LoPinto, executive director of campaign. "It will make it clear that the policies of the campaign will be the policies of the bishops."

Last year, Catholics gave $10.5 million to the campaign and this year officials are hoping for $11.7 million and Archbishop John May of St. Louis, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, has asked each Catholic to donate one hour's wage to the appeal.

The campaign is one of the largest private education-action programs aimed at combating domestic poverty through projects that empower the poor rather than just provide charity.

Because such groups often engage in noisy advocacy, in the past that aspect of the campaign has drawn criticism, especially from conservatives in the church who believe it is funding left wing groups that are a threat to both church and state.

But LoPinto brushes such criticisms aside as "without substance."

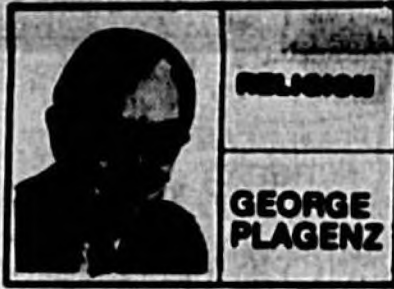

"Look at the groups," he said. "What they're doing is teaching people to participate in the American political process."

President, wife select their favorite hymns

President and Mrs. Bush are among the first to participate in our national hymn poll.

When asked which hymn is his favorite, the president, an Episcopalian, chose the Navy Hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save." President Bush was a Navy pilot during World War II in the Pacific. Mrs. Bush listed three favorites — "Nearer My God to Thee," "The Church's One Foundation" and "Amazing Grace."

The hymn poll, open to all readers of this column, is being conducted to discover the hymns America loves best. There is still time to get your ballot in. Send the names of your

The evangelical churches, which have recorded the greatest membership gains in the last 25 years, are generally considered to have the best congregational singing. Does this mean something to do with their larger memberships? Many think so.

The music director of a Baptist church in the Middle West thinks he knows why the congregational singing in many evangelical churches is superior to that heard in most non-evangelical churches.

"Born-again evangelicals sing because they are happy," he says. "They are not just singing words and tunes. They are putting out what is in their hearts. They are looking forward to Jesus' coming again and being with him in heaven."

Television ministers show viewers no faith

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column which recently began to appear on this page, is set aside for local ministers and others in religious fields. These individuals are invited to send their articles on spiritual topics to this newspaper c/o the Religion Editor.

By Beverly B. Best

Wouldn't you agree that this is a day of bleakness for television ministries? It is a day of sadness for people who are sincerely crying out for an answer to those hurts and pains that come with life.

Television has hurt the people and polluted the Word of God. It has become a mockery. Television ministries have lost the real emphasis of Jesus' message.

Salvation is God's plan. Salvation is our main concern and should be our main message — not prosperity.

I am so tired of hearing about the Bakers. They are a good example of how "the love of money is the root of all evil."

Every time you turn on a Christian program, there before you is a person who looks like an actor, begging for money, telling you that if you send a certain amount of money, God will bless you. Grant you, God does bless when you give, but God will tell you when and what to give. I guarantee it! Space does not permit me to quote all the scriptures that tell us that the Word of God is free. Blessings and miracles come from God, not from man. God must move a person to give, with no persuasion from man. That's when you know it is God's voice. Man has taken advantage of the Word of God, using it out of context.

If you need help from God, you don't need anyone that will charge you for it, and put a guilt trip on you for not making a vow, or keeping your vow. If you have to borrow to pay a television ministry, or any ministry, I grant you, this is not God speaking. Those preachers don't use their faith that they claim they have, and are trying to teach you. Think about it. Faith is something you can't see. You don't know where it is coming from. You ask God, and you believe He will answer you. You don't know how or when, but you know that God will provide. It is plain that these preachers don't trust God to provide, they trust man. They ask man to supply their needs instead of God. Knowing where it is coming from is not faith.

The Holy Spirit showed me how not to depend on these ministers. When I needed prayer, I couldn't get hold of anybody. Where were they when I needed someone? Well, they weren't there, but God was there all the time. I cried out to Him, and He helped me. This is my plea today, to those people who feel desperate and alone. Don't worry about those television ministers. God is there with you at all times. And He doesn't care if you are poor or rich. He loves you and wants you to turn to Him. He will guide you to the right people to help you in whatever need you have. Jesus Christ is free. And he has no fee.

The Rev. Beverly Best is a minister of the Rescue Mission Church of God, Sanford. She recently joined the church from Detroit.

Her fingernails ache when without polish

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a problem with my fingernails. I don't have any polish on them. Almost immediately after removing polish, they begin to hurt. If I leave the polish off overnight, I'm convinced by the pain. Some people think I'm crazy; manicurists have never heard of the problem. Can you help me?

DR. GOTT: I have a doctor who knows your case in detail. Your doctor is a serious enough person to warrant the care of a gastroenterologist. In dealing with the practical aspects of the disease and obtaining emotional support, you may be helped by contacting the National Foundation for Irritable Bowel Syndrome.

DEAR BEARDS: The longer I practice medicine, the more convinced I am that chronic symptoms, such as yours, may indicate physical problems—although on first reading your question, I was tempted to include that you have an emotional basis for your nail pain. I have never heard of nails being sore without nail polish. I think you should be examined by a dermatologist, perhaps one who has a specialty in nail care. They very much appreciate letters like yours. What do you think, Dr. GOTT?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 19-year-old female recently diagnosed with Crohn's disease. I know what I'm not supposed to do, but I don't know much about the disease. Also, can I get pregnant and successfully carry the baby for nine months? I recently learned and am thinking of my future.

DEAR BEARDS: Crohn's disease, or regional enteritis, is a chronic inflammatory disease of the terminal small intestine and colon, causing chronic diarrhea, fever, weight loss and poor health. The cause is unknown; treatment consists of diet, antibiotics, cortisone and—if serious complications, such as abscesses, develop—surgery.

You need to have as much information as you can get about the disease. I urge you to pester your doctor until he or she answers all your questions. For example, the issue of pregnancy is of enormous importance but cannot be addressed except by a

If your partner opened with one no-trump, showing 13-17 high-card points, and you held an ace, wouldn't you think an opponent would have a hard time making four hearts? South was confronted with just such a situation. What's more, the opponents were vulnerable, so maybe the penalty would be juicy. But then South asked himself why a vulnerable East would risk bidding four hearts. Perhaps he held an unusual distributional hand. Finally South chose to believe that East was on solid ground, so South bid five diamonds, not really expecting to make it. West led K-A of clubs and declarer ruffed in dummy and shed his last losing heart to make the contract.

West didn't lead hearts — he had none. South played two rounds of diamonds and then a third round, just in case either defender would be foolish enough to throw a spade from four of them. He played dummy's A-K-Q of spades, throwing a heart, and then played the last spade. He thought of ruffing this spade and leading a heart. He could then make the hand if West had started with a single-ace heart. But that did not make any sense. So declarer threw still another heart on dummy's last spade. West won the trick but had nothing left except black cards. Whatever he led, declarer would ruff in dummy and shed his last losing heart to make the contract.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 18, 1989

Your material growth in the year ahead might not be as rapid as you'd like, but the returns should be steady and add up to an impressive figure over the long haul.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be mindful of your behavior today in your involvements with friends, or else you may waste too much attention on a person you think can do you good while ignoring an old ally. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-9428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not become too entranced today with an attractive individual who is already spoken for. If you pursue forbidden fruit you could be asking for trouble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you are linking together some type of commercial arrangement today, put all the critical points in writing, even if it is with a person you know quite well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People with whom you'll be closely involved today might be only partially in accord with aims important to you. Don't attempt to manipulate them to your position.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Workers whose assignments you supervise will require skillful management techniques today. If you fail to inspire them properly, they might not produce.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Taking gambles on things over which you have no direct control could turn out to be a costly pursuit today. Avoid risks where the outcome is controlled by outside influences.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Make it a point today to be more tolerant and affectionate than usual toward your mate if grouchy. It might serve to soothe troubled waters.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Industriousness, not apathy, is required today if you are desirous of avoiding future headaches. Don't mistakenly try to sweep work under the rug.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you rally to the mall today it might be a wise move to leave your credit cards at home. There's a strong possibility you might waste hard earned funds on foolish purchases.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This could be one of those days when no matter how hard you strive to be nice to certain individuals, nothing you'll do will please them. Don't shift the blame to yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Customarily you're not the type of person who resorts to tactics that aren't direct or forthright, but today may be an exception and you might try to manipulate another in order to gain your ends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a chance you may divert funds slated for essentials to something rather frivolous today. If you do proceed along these lines, you're apt to have spender's remorse later.
