Veto Written By President On Seed Loans

Disapproves Of Plan To Extend Credit Of $50,000,000 To Farmers Of Nation

Emergency Cases Will Be Handled

Executive Order Will Be Issued To Make New Crop Possible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—President Roosevelt today vetoed the $50,000,000 seed loan bill.

The measure was returned to the Senate with the remainder by the President that in approving a $40,000,000 seed and feed bill in 1934 "I did so on the theory that it was proper to taper off the crop loan system which had been initiated on a large scale as early as 1931." The President added, however, he would issue an executive order in the next few days to meet any needs for loans to produce new crops.

"I am convinced," Mr. Roosevelt said in his veto message, "immediate and actual needs to which I have referred can be met during the year 1936 by the expenditure of funds materially less than that proposed in the bill under discussion. Furthermore, needs can be met without authorizing legislation through allocation funds by me from the appropriation provided in the ERA Act."

The President's veto was challenged by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, who said he would insist on a vote to override as soon as the time is possible.

Senate and House conferees reached agreement yesterday at their first meeting to adjust differences over the Administration's soil conservation subsidy bill.

House changes were accepted in most instances. The conference report probably will be called up in the House today. Senate action also will be required before the AAA replacement legislation can go to the White House.

The conferees accepted the controversial House provision requiring the Secretary of Agriculture to re-establish as fast as practicable the pre-war parity between the purchasing power of farm and non-farm net income without discouraging production below the normal domestic human consumption in the years of 1920-25.

This so-called "consumer protection" amendment had been overwhelmingly rejected by the Senate when offered by Senator Wagner.

Bondholder Chief Will Confer With City Commission

The perplexing question as to whether adjustment of delinquent taxes due the City will be permitted may be answered tomorrow, because Kenneth M. Keefe, chairman of the Bondholders' Protective Committee, is coming to confer with the City Commission.

City Attorney Fred E. Wilson said today he had been assured that Mr. Keefe would come to Sanford some time tomorrow, and a meeting of the commission will be arranged when he arrives and the whole situation gone into thoroughly. It is expected that J. W. Shands, Jacksonville attorney for the Bondholders' Committee will accompany Mr. Keefe.

Members of the City Commission are reluctant to proceed with the proposed adjustment of back taxes unless they are assured the holders of the City's bonds will not call a hat mid-way in the effort to get in some of the money due the municipality. If there is to be any adjusting, however, they are anxious that the adjustment board be allowed to function at once before the county commissioners adjourn, next month as a tax adjustment board.

Bond Adjustment Move Is Made By City Of Leesburg

LEESBURG, Feb. 26.—Initial steps towards an adjustment of the outstanding bonded indebtedness of Leesburg, permitting reduction of the present 340 mills to a normal even lower total tax than last year, were taken at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday with Roy Crummer, representing a large number of bond owners.

Long discussion of the situation brought out that three members of the commission were in favor of entering into a refunding program and reducing the millage so that taxes will be paid. Two members and the city attorney took an unfavorable attitude.

Finally the following motion was written and presented by Commissioner Fahs: "The city commission goes on record as approving a readjustment of our 1935 tax levy whereby a new levy of $40,000,000 be made, the proceeds of which shall be paid to the litigants now in court with the contingent requirement that the litigants referred to enter into an agreement with the City of Leesburg that the funds so collected be impounded in a special fund of the city of Leesburg and be ratably disbursed to all creditors of the city of Leesburg in such percentage as the majority may agree upon.

"All the mechanics of effecting and arriving at the above arrangements to be agreed upon, as to legality, by the city attorney and attorneys representing the above litigants."

Commissioner Boutwell seconded the motion and when it was put to vote Commissioner Fahs voted against it and Commissioner Walling asked that it be recorded as not voting. Then it was passed.

Local Stores May Not Feel Tax On Chains

Levy Is Expected By Local Managers To Be Taken Care Of By Head Offices

Local managers of most of the chain stores said today they are confident that head offices of the companies owning the mercantile institutions will absorb the new state-tax against such stores and that it will not be passed on down to individual stores and by them to the customer.

Under decision of the State Supreme Court which yesterday sustained major features of the chain store tax law each store in chains of 16 or more will be assessed graduated occupational taxes up to $400 per store.

Both Manager Lyles of the Piggly-Wiggly store and Manager Nelson of Riley's asserted that the tax will not result in a rise in the price of groceries. Mr. Lyles said that the tax will be absorbed in head offices of his concern, while Mr. Nelson said that under a new arrangement there are only three Riley stores in the Sanford unit and that he is in complete charge, with merchandise consigned to him personally. Under this arrangement, he said, the Riley stores will not be affected by the new chain store tax law.

Manager Smalley of McCrory's and Manager McKinney of Woolworth's each asserted complete confidence in the belief that the New York officers of their concerns would absorb the occupational tax as they have the one-half of one percent sales tax for the last several months. They said it would be "nonsensical" to pass the tax on to the consumer, though Mr. Smalley said the charging against the store of the tax would lower the rating of the local store.

There are about 30 McCrory's and about a dozen Woolworth stores in the state.

Manager Hoy of Penney's was without information as to how the tax would effect stores in that chain.

Vandenberg Will Not Enter Ohio G. O. P. Primaries

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg of Michigan in a letter made public today, formally declined to run in the Ohio presidential primary, but did not close the door to his future consideration for the Republican nomination.

Writing to the Republican State Committee of Ohio, in reply to an inquiry as to whether he would run, Vandenberg asserted his sole interest in the Republican convention was that it should make the "wisest possible decisions respecting both party leadership and party policies." He was not, "seeking instructed delegates" to the convention, he said, but he did not flatly assert, as he has many times in the past, that he was "not a candidate."

Various Ordinances Govern Operation Of Slot Machines Since Devices Became Legal

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Slot machines, much in the courts since they were legalized and taxed by the 1935 Legislature, have traveled a road of municipal legislation ranging from zoning ordinances to a requirement that all who play must register their names and the amount of money played.

Fort Myers, on the lower west coast, enacted an ordinance requiring operators to maintain a book in which must be registered the name, age and address of each person who plays the machine. Also, the book must show the amount of money deposited, and the amount returned by the machine.

The ordinance was passed last December, and since then only slot machine has been offered for play in Fort Myers. Even it was confiscated by police when an operator was charged with violating the city ordinance.

Lights To Be Placed On Lake Front Drive West Of Park Avenue

Lake Shore Boulevard between Park and Myrtle Avenues is to be illuminated in accordance with instructions given by the City Commission to Street Superintendent James Moughton this week. Five white standards will be erected on the south side of the Boulevard at a cost of only $56.40, since the City has the standards and cable on hand. The farthest west lamp will be at the Legion Hut corner.

The commission, received the report that a large blinker sign will probably be erected at the Boulevard intersection with French Avenue, Street Superintendent Moughton has taken the matter up with the State Road Department and Commander L. F. Boye of the Legion has taken it up with Asher Frank of the Governor's Safety Committee, and between the two it is hoped the warning will be erected without cost to the City.

Bank Won't Cash Check Drawn On Georgia Treasury

Appointee Can't Get Mail Addressed To Treasurer Of State

ATLANTA, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Closing of mail and banking channels to fiscal offices of Georgia created a new crisis today in the financial dictatorship of Governor Eugene Talmadge. The Fulton National Bank of Atlanta today refused to cash a check for $100,000 presented by J. B. "Toke" Daniel, who was named by Governor Eugene Talmadge as state treasurer to succeed ousted George B. Hamilton. The check was made out to cash and presented in person by Daniel.

The banks had been warned by the ousted treasurer that he still is officially state treasurer and that they pay out of state funds at their own risk. The postoffice was said to be holding mail for the ousted treasurer pending a decision by department officials.

State funds were deposited in an Atlanta bank by the ousted state treasurer, George Hamilton, shortly before he was ousted by Governor Talmadge, it was disclosed. (Continued On Page Six)

Marine Corps Is To Have Base In Virgin Islands

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A plan for extending the national defense through the creation of a permanent Marine Corps aviation base in the Virgin Islands now carries the formal approval of President Roosevelt.

A Presidential executive order, transferring the necessary land on St. Thomas Island, a part of the Virgin group, from the civil jurisdiction of the Interior Department to the Navy was made public at the State Department yesterday.

Navy officials, it was revealed, regard the project as an important adjunct to the maneuvering of the fleet in the Caribbean, and the Pacific. The island, located on the imaginary line between the Atlantic Ocean and the Caribbean-Sea, is within easy flying distance of the Panama Canal.

Political Speeches Are To Be Delivered At 1st And Magnolia

Political spellbinders during the 1936 campaign who wish to tell Sanford voters how they ought to vote will henceforth hold forth at the intersection of Magnolia Avenue and First Street. That location has been designated by the City Commission as the politicians' stamping ground.

Many complaints were received after Jerry Carter's sound wagon paraded up and down the City streets a fortnight ago, Chief of Police Williams reported, and City Attorney Wilson was asked to prepare an ordinance restricting the use of such noise making contraptions.

British Proposed Naval Treaty Not Liked By France

Four Power Instead Of Tri-Power Pact Is French Demand

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Seemingly alarmed by the British proposal to salvage something out of the waning naval conference by a tripartite with the United States and Germany, France last night proposed that the conference proceed to conclusion of a four-power accord signed only by Britain, the U. S., France and Italy.

France was willing for Britain to seal a separate naval pact with Germany but she shied from a three-power agreement between Germany, Britain and the U. S. which would leave France and Italy out.

While France sought to counteract proposals for a three-power agreement, the German cabinet met in Berlin to consider a draft treaty providing for qualitative naval limitation and an exchange of naval building programs as evolved during the present conference.

Premier And 2 Other Cabinet Members Are Assassinated By Young Officers

'Law Of State' May Be Ordered

Relations With U. S. Won't Be Affected, Ambassador States

(By The Associated Press)
Premier Okada of Japan and two of his brother cabinet members were assassinated today by young Japanese army officers apparently angered by civil opposition to the military's aggressive policy in China. A Nationalist government more to their liking was ordered installed by the Emperor.

Bitter against what they called "corrupt influences" around the throne of Emperor Hirohito, the army clique struck quickly in a move backed by bayonets. Tokyo grew quiet as soldiers policed streets.

The Japanese embassy in Washington announced that complete order had been restored and that leaders of the uprising did not intend to take over the government. Ambassador Saito said they merely wished to protest against some of the government's actions.

The Emperor commanded a Nationalist, Fumio Goto, to form a new government. Ambassador Saito said the designation of Goto, former minister of the interior, indicated there would be no fundamental change in the empire's form of popular government, adding that relations between the United States and Japan would not be affected.

In London Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons the Bank of Japan had temporarily suspended business.

The Japanese ambassador to Washington said advice to his (Continued On Page Six)

Don't Put Best Apples On Top, Kiwanians Told

Speaking on "Business Standards," the Rev. M. E. Johnson of Orlando told the Sanford Kiwanis Club not to be content with putting "the best apples on top." He recalled his boyhood days on an orange grove near Palatka and his father's injunction to pack the same grade of fruit at the bottom of the crate as at the top, and said they always receive a little better price because it was known that all the fruit was good.

The honest man, the clergyman said, will hunt up a customer and correct an error if it was discovered that the customer had inadvertently been short changed.

Visiting Kiwanians at today's luncheon session in the Mayfield Hotel were Dr. Harry P. Ross of Richmond, Indiana; D. J. Scott of Chicago, and Marshall Reardon of Jacksonville. The Rev. Mr. Marshall is a member of the Orlando Kiwanis Club. Don A. Cameron of Boston and A. A. Attachur of Hackensack, N. J. were also visitors.

County Agent C. R. Dawson joined the Kiwanis Club at today's meeting.

 Now if some report emanated from South America to the effect that Paul Redfern had not been found, that would be news.

 Cardinal welcome for the right kind of people, and a sharp "Bongo" for the other kind. That should be Melbourne's "company members."—Melbourne Times. A suggestion that would go well in Sanford if properly carried out.

Isn't it funny that the very people who used to say that they would never go in debt again are usually the ones who are shouting the loudest in favor of putting the government further and further into debt.
 A court has ruled that bankers who have taken over real estate must shovel the sidewalks of each property after snowstorms. The theory is that while an asset may be frozen it should not be kept slippery.—H. I. Phillips in New York Sun.

 Speaking of the cross state road the Post Myers News Press says up recent comments at the Seattle waterways congress as follows: "The canal stands listed by army authorities as 'suitable as a relief project' which is the official term for what is more commonly known as the boondoggling." That is just what we've brought all the time.

Both press and public have a right appreciation of Doyle Carlisle's job. They did when he was in office after a four-year term with the public's best interests in mind. Carlisle's primary duty was to lead the people of this state to a better government. He has done this by his example and by his leadership. He has shown the people that a better government is possible. He has shown the people that a better government is possible. He has shown the people that a better government is possible.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO
 The local board and teachers at the Sanford public schools extended an earnest invitation to the parents and friends of the schools to visit the sessions in all grades during the week beginning March 1, which has been designated as "Parents' Week." It became very work for the friends of the school because the friends of the school do not visit their children at school. They would like to see their children at school. They would like to see their children at school. They would like to see their children at school.

Winner Lose All

As the months slip by and another presidential campaign gathers momentum, we find the two old major parties making the same old charges and counter-charges, the same old dire predictions or Utopian promises, and the same old desperate efforts to win the election. Even a cursory reading of the newspapers will convince anyone that both the Democrats and Republicans alike are not only willing, but actually eager, to be at the helm of the ship of state throughout the next four years.

In fact, it is fully apparent that during the next few months there will be a veritable cat-and-dog fight to gain the presidency. President Roosevelt, ably assisted by his political cohorts, his Jim Farley, his Harold Ickes, his Harry Hopkins, and his "Brain Trusters" will shell the woods from one end of the country to the other in a desperate last minute quest for voters. No less vigorous and vituperative will be the drive which Frank Knox, Gov. Landon, Senator Borah, and Senator Vandenberg will make for the Republican nomination and the seats of the mighty in the White House.

Just why anyone would be willing to make such a sacrifice is beyond us. One of the strangest things about President Roosevelt's personality is why he would be willing to subject himself to the veritable storm of abuse and condemnation which is certain to be showered upon his head in a never ending source of supply should he be returned to office for another four years. And as for the Republicans, we don't see why they would even accept the job of unsnarling the tangle which our political affairs are in, much less deliberately seek such an assignment.

In our opinion, no matter which party comes into power in the November election, it is bound to have pretty rough sailing during the four years to come, with every probability that it will be voted out of office at the first opportunity. Even though the personal popularity of President Roosevelt should prove great enough to insure his election next November, his very first moves after his next inauguration are likely to prove fatal to the esteem with which he is now held by his vast army of followers.

Sooner or later he is going to be faced with the necessity of balancing the federal budget. That means two things, both of which are decidedly unpopular. He will have to cut expenses and levy new taxes. When he cuts expenses he is going to have to curtail relief appropriations, cut out many public works projects, fire thousands of federal bureaucrats feeding out of the public trough. And then on all those who are still making a living in private enterprise, he will have to levy taxes to pay for the extravagances of the past few years. The alternative to this procedure is outright currency inflation, which in the end would make him the most discredited president in the history of our country.

And, even if the Republicans should be elected they are going to be confronted with pretty much the same problem. If, after the free living and generous handouts of the present administration, Knox or Landon should find himself in the White House with immediate necessity of reducing government expenditures and imposing new taxes, all those who have been the recipients of government largesse, would condemn him from one end of the country to the other. If, on the other hand, he should continue the policies of the present Administration and continue to spend far in excess of receipts, he too will run into an orgy of inflation which will bring down on his head all the furies of hell.

And so we say that the party which really wins next November, will be the party which loses at the polls.

Garbo Is Product Of Ballyhoo, The House Is Advised

Washington, Feb. 25.—An uproarious session of the House Immigration Committee brought a charge that Grete Garbo, Marlene Dietrich and Anna Sien had achieved fame through American ballyhoo. Miss Elizabeth Hoepfel, president of the Grand Opera Artist Association, added that the three foreign-born actresses, stars had never amounted to much at home. She was testifying at a hearing on a bill to restrict entry of alien actors and musicians—unless their nations should reciprocate to Americans.

Theatians were linked up with foodstuffs when Representative Emanuel Celler, Democrat of New York, presented that there was no need for a reciprocal resolution covering the international movement of artists as proposed by Representative Samuel Dickstein, Democrat of New York, chairman of the committee.

"You introduced some bills for reciprocal trade agreements on wheat, or potatoes or cotton, or something," Mr. Dickstein reminded him.

"But you can't put wheat, potatoes and cotton in the category with art and humans," Mr. Celler shot back.

Miss Hoepfel expressed the belief it didn't make much difference whether actors, singers and musicians were dished with lentils, potatoes and cabbage, so long as there was "reciprocity and a fair exchange." She objected, however, to letting a dozen or fifteen foreigners play in a single opera house in the eastern United States without at least that many appearing in the fifty or so homes apiece in Germany and Italy.

Martin Beck, Broadway producer, contended that "the man who invests the money has the right to judge who should fit the attractive home of Mrs. Gabbett. The Gabbett home on the lake shore with its beautiful grounds and pretty gardens is so well adapted for outdoor parties. Mrs. Forrest Lake served refreshments with the assistance of Miss Lillian Harding and Miss Adelaide Higgins, very lovely in Japanese costumes. Miss Eschler Herring presided over the punch bowl and three little girls in pretty white frocks, Maude Lake, Margaret Neal, and Georgia Mobley, received at the gate. Mrs. Margaret Barnes, Mrs. George G. Herring, and Mrs. Thomas A. Neal served as assistant hostesses. Mrs. R. H. Seymour of Bristol, Va., and Mrs. H. T. Clapp of Stoughton, Mass., are visiting Mrs. W. P. Fields in Sanford Heights.

Machines And Men
 Analysis of current employment statistics revealed today that employment is higher in intensely mechanized industries in comparison to pre-depression levels than it is in occupations in which few or no machines are used. These facts are cited by the Machinery and Allied Products Institute in connection with its study of technological advancement which shows that machines increase rather than decrease employment opportunities.

"Great mechanical progress has been made in the printing trades during recent years," the report stated, "yet employment in newspaper and periodical publishing is at 102.4 percent of the 1923 to 1925 average according to the United States bureau of labor statistics, which uses the 1923 to 1925 period as 100 percent, or 'normal.' Almost without exception in such industries as this where machine methods have been developed to a high degree, volume of production has increased to such an extent that more workers are needed."

The manufacture of women's clothing was cited as another example of a highly mechanized industry, and employment there is at 120.4 percent; in knit goods manufacturing it is 115.1; baking, 112.4; petroleum refining, 111.4. Two industries which it pointed out depend most upon technological advancement are automobile and aircraft manufacturing, the first of which has been well over 100 for many months and the other over 400 percent.

"Examination of all industries upon which the government reports shows that all which have the lowest employment figures are dependent upon the revival of building construction," the report said. "Manufacture of lumber and allied products stands at 84.5 percent of the 1923 to 1925 average; brick, tile and terra cotta, 83.9; heating apparatus and fittings, 87; and marble, granite and slate, 77.1."

"In none of the industries with low employment figures can it be charged that machines have displaced men, but rather that various factors have brought a temporary lack of demand for the goods they produce."

Millions Wasted By WPA On Works In New York City

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Engineering and construction projects of the Works Progress Administration in New York City have been costing between $250,000 and $400,000 a month more than necessary because of inefficiency, mismanagement and corruption in the rental and utilization of trucks.

A minor actor who was miscast, he said, could ruin an entire show.

Representative Charles Kramer, Democrat of California, then brought up the question of whether the presence of Mme. Arlette Stavisky, widow of Alexandre, the Bayonne pawnshop operator who committed suicide in the great French scandal, was necessary to the New York night club show in which she was appearing.

"She is very essential to the solution for promotion purposes," Mr. Beck observed.

Miss Hoepfel said she was a native of Germany, but had been in this country for thirty years and was a naturalized American. She told the committee that, so far as she knew, Lawrence Tibbett, the baritone, never had been asked to sing in Europe.

"In Germany," she said, it's "Deutschland Uber Alles," in France it's "Vive la France," and in Italy it's "Viva Italia." It's about time to holler, "America First!"

Representative Kramer became aroused when Representative Celler quoted the British Embassy to the effect that no first grade American actor had been unable to obtain permission to enter England in the last three years and that only thirty vaudeville and cabaret performers had been turned away while 1,800 had been admitted.

"Why, I was there myself," the Californian exploded, "when they refused to let in some of the most beautiful and distinguished American girls on the stage. I talked with some of them. I am surprised that you as an American citizen take the stand you do."

"Soak the Rich" Is Comedy At Milane

"Soak the Rich," a new satirical comedy written, produced and directed by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, opens today at the Milane Theater.

Walter Connolly, John Howard and Mary Taylor play the leading roles in the film and prominent in the supporting cast is Alice Duer Miller, famous magazine writer, who turns her talents to professional acting for the first time.

"Soak the Rich" is a lively comedy of manners—the manners of university students of today, and the manners of the financiers whose endowments keep the universities running. Connolly is cast as an affluent old gentleman who has founded a university. Reports of students agitation on the campus drive him into fits of rage, but his rage is increased ten-fold when he discovers that his own daughter, pampered and petted all her life, has joined up with the agitators for a new thrill.

Connolly hurries to the university after receiving letters threatening to kidnap his daughter, only to find he has arrived too late. The kidnapping has already taken place. The girl is rescued and the leader of the student agitators, with whom she is in love, reconciles his ideas with the prospect of entering into a family that has everything he has ruled against.

Connolly, remembered for many a brilliant stage and screen performance, is cast as the financier. John Howard, who won acclaim in "Annapolis Farewell" and "Millions in the Air" is the student leader; Mary Taylor plays the daughter.

Doctors Will Be Heard On Mahem Charges Feb. 28

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Two physicians, accused in a civil suit by Ann Cooper Hewitt of sterilizing her through trickery, will be given a hearing on Feb. 28, on charges of conspiracy to commit mayhem.

"The necessity and the desire to bear children is something not to be interfered with," Judge Lazarus said as he informed the physicians, Drs. Tilton E. Tilman and Samuel G. Boyd, that they must stand trial on the felony charge in Superior Court. He reached his decision after listening to arguments of their attorneys.

Judge Lazarus set Feb. 28 as time for issuing the formal holding order, thus granting the attorneys time to carry out their announced intention of seeking habeas corpus writs.

The magistrate said he found it distasteful to hold the "eminent doctors," but felt convinced an offense had been committed.

Miss Hewitt's civil action accused the physicians of aiding in the alleged plot of her mother, Mrs. Marvon Cooper Hewitt, to deprive her of a larger share in a trust fund. She said she was led to believe the operation was an appendectomy.

Judge Lazarus said he did not believe Dr. Boyd, who performed the operation in 1934, knowingly participated in a conspiracy. "But," the judge added, "he did something he should not have done."

"If there is a general permission, as a result of private investigations, to sterilize anybody and everybody, it is immediately clear this would lead to abundant abuses."

"There is nothing in the record to show this girl has ever been committed to an institution as an idiot, and if she is sub-normal, that fact is privately ascertained by her mother and the doctor," Judge Lazarus said. "Her sterilization thus does not come within permission of California law."

Accused Of Felony In Sterilizing Rich San Francisco Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Two physicians, accused in a civil suit by Ann Cooper Hewitt of sterilizing her through trickery, will be given a hearing on Feb. 28, on charges of conspiracy to commit mayhem.

"The necessity and the desire to bear children is something not to be interfered with," Judge Lazarus said as he informed the physicians, Drs. Tilton E. Tilman and Samuel G. Boyd, that they must stand trial on the felony charge in Superior Court. He reached his decision after listening to arguments of their attorneys.

Judge Lazarus set Feb. 28 as time for issuing the formal holding order, thus granting the attorneys time to carry out their announced intention of seeking habeas corpus writs.

The magistrate said he found it distasteful to hold the "eminent doctors," but felt convinced an offense had been committed.

Miss Hewitt's civil action accused the physicians of aiding in the alleged plot of her mother, Mrs. Marvon Cooper Hewitt, to deprive her of a larger share in a trust fund. She said she was led to believe the operation was an appendectomy.

Judge Lazarus said he did not believe Dr. Boyd, who performed the operation in 1934, knowingly participated in a conspiracy. "But," the judge added, "he did something he should not have done."

"If there is a general permission, as a result of private investigations, to sterilize anybody and everybody, it is immediately clear this would lead to abundant abuses."

"There is nothing in the record to show this girl has ever been committed to an institution as an idiot, and if she is sub-normal, that fact is privately ascertained by her mother and the doctor," Judge Lazarus said. "Her sterilization thus does not come within permission of California law."

Miss Florence Slavich, testifying at the hearing today, said Mrs. Hewitt, mother of the twenty-one-year-old heiress, once told her: "Ann's a nut. I'm going to have her operated on and tell her it's an appendicectomy operation. I'm going to see Tilman."

Many Ordinances Govern Operation Of Slot Machines

Some of the cities prohibit slot machine playing on Sunday, but in others there is no such restriction.

All cities, reporting in a survey of municipal regulations, are collecting the maximum municipal licenses of $15 for each machine allowed by the state law.

Others are collecting $30 from each machine, basing this upon court holdings that both the "operator" who leases the machines and the "location operator" in whose place of business they are located must pay $15 annually in occupational licenses for each machine.

Tampa is collecting an additional "inspection fee" of $5 from each place where slot machines are in operation.

Ocala discussed at some length, but has not put into operation an ordinance that would have required payment of a license fee of $1 to become qualified to play the slot machines.

Gainesville made its city ordinance follow the state law, except that it left out a provision that the machines could not be operated within 300 feet of churches or schools. The county sheriff, however, proceeded to enforce this section of the state law.

Lakeland has an ordinance prohibiting slot machines five feet above or below the ground level of a building. It also prohibits operation between noon and 1 P. M. and between 8 P. M. and 6 A. M.

Lakeland attempted to require players to register their names, ages, addresses, and amounts played, but an injunction against this section of the ordinance was granted by Circuit Judge W. J. Baker.

Palm Beach adopted an ordinance prohibiting slot machines in places where persons under 21 years of age congregate. It was designed to exclude the devices from all general stores. The state law prohibits persons under 21 years of age being "knowingly allowed" to play the machines.

Miami city officials construed slot machine operations as a violation of the municipal ordinance against gambling, and thus attempted to bar such devices.

The Supreme Court held, however, that the ordinance was in conflict with the state law legalizing slot machines, and ruled that arrests could not be made under its provisions so long as the machine operators complied with the 1935 act of the state Legislature.

During the same period, disbursement climbed $1,563,000. Total receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, were listed at $77,629,959.54, against $75,126,959.54 in 1934...

lature, the 1933 session not being paid for until the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1935.

Also in the general government expenses for 1935, on which there were no similar expenditures in 1934, were $120,274 for the 1935 state census, $235,932 for fire insurance premiums, $150,845 for the fire insurance fund, $102,151.99 for payments made to banks for advances to state creditor in 1927, and $50,029.89 for interest on money advanced by the banks...

C. F. Greene, general auditor of the comptroller's office who prepared the report, said in a letter of transmittal:

"If the amount of extraordinary items were deducted from the total state operating disbursements the result would be $34,900,298.59 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, as compared with $34,621,870.96 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1934."

"I am pleased to advise that all current expenses have been paid and that the revenue receipts exceeded the operating disbursements in the sum of $1,168,736.01, of which $50,264.24 has been paid on bills previously incurred."

Japan Military Coup Is Cause Of Sudden Change

The Tokyo government declared a state of emergency and ordered two fleets from the high seas to police duty at the great cities of Tokyo and Osaka.

The Japanese Empire, in one of the most delicate external situations in years, had first emerged from a bitter national election. The government of Premier Kenseke Okada, threatened with overthrow, all remained in control. Okada was an admiral. There has long been friction between the cabinet of Count Nobuaki Makino, lord keeper of the privy seal, because they objected to his liberal views.

with militarists, who have directed the Empire's expansion in Manchuria and current penetration into North China, and the "civil" or more pacifist government element.

A feature of the election was the unexpected gains by the Shikai Taisiuto, or social masses party, opposed to the militarist domination of the government. This group nearly gained a balance of power in the diet, although its sea's were far below the number held by the two dominant parties.

These were the Minseito, or pro-government, which got 172 seats. Internal issues were paramount in the campaign.

In international affairs, the government is in a critical stage. Repeated incidents on the Manchukuo-Mongolian border have created tension with Soviet Russia, which repeatedly accuses Japan of warlike designs.

Japan is isolated among nations. Only recently she followed up her withdrawal from the League of Nations by walking out of the London naval conference because her demand for parity with the United States and Great Britain was not granted.

Okada's government had been in power since 1931. He had retired from active military service in 1933. Militarists two months ago were credited with forcing resignation from the cabinet of Count Nobuaki Makino, lord keeper of the privy seal, because they objected to his liberal views.

Rebels Return To Barracks And Serious Crisis In Japan Is Believed To Have Passed

Government Permits Soldiers To Keep Arms Upon Evacuating Police Station

TOKYO, Feb. 27.—(AP)—After two days of the gravest crisis in a generation, Tokyo slept easier tonight, confident that sunrise would find the rebel soldiers who assassinated four government dignitaries Wednesday back in their barracks. They capitulated last night to the government request that they quit the police headquarters where they had barricaded themselves in defiance of loyal troops. A threat of bloodshed in the capital's streets was averted.

Bloodshed Threat Believed Averted

Ranking military authorities said they are confident that all danger was past since under arrangements between the rebels and the war office the former were promised safe return to their barracks and allowed to retain their arms, thereby escaping the dishonor of being disarmed. The insurgents began evacuation of the buildings they occupied during darkness before midnight.

Korekiyo Takahashi, distinguished minister of finance, and Admiral Kantaro Suzuki, lord chamberlain of the Imperial Court, were wounded.

Other members of the cabinet, including Koki Hirota, foreign minister, escaped injury. "Several of the ministers' bodyguards and servants were reported slain."

The war office announced that insurgent officers believed themselves assassinated had attempted to destroy national policy and were "corrupt elements around the throne."

The government, the insurgents said they believed, was being weakened by financial factions and bureaucrats during a critical time and they wanted to fulfill their duties to the throne by protecting the national policy.

They had accused Premier Okada of not strongly supporting the military program in Asia.
