23 Dead, Ambassador Injured

Terrorist Drives Truck-Bomb Into U.S. Embassy

By David Zenlan
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A pro-Iranian terrorist drove an explosive-laden truck through a hail of gunfire from guards today, setting off a blast that rocked the new U.S. Embassy, killed at least 23 people, including two Americans, and injured dozens of others, reports said.

Police said at least 20 Americans were among the dozens wounded, while Pentagon officials said 25 Americans were injured, including Ambassador Reginald Bartholomew. The truck driver was shot and killed in the attack, official radio and military reports said.

In Washington, Assistant Secretary of State Richard Murphy said the dead included two Americans and four or five Lebanese employees. He said the dead Americans were in the defense attaché office of the embassy but did not specify if they were military men.

Murphy, on Capitol Hill to brief a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, told reporters he talked by telephone with Bartholomew, who said he expected to be out of the hospital Friday.

Murphy said he was satisfied that security at the embassy was adequate. "We put very, very great attention to the security."

The pro-Khomeini Islamic Jihad organization, in a telephone call to a Western news agency in Beirut, claimed responsibility for the suicide attack, which severely damaged the embassy, although the building did not collapse. Police estimated the truck was packed with 330 pounds of explosives when it blew up outside the embassy in the Christian east Beirut suburb of Awkar.

Two weeks ago, a person identifying himself as a spokesman for the Islamic Jihad warned of an attack on a U.S. installation.

The attack on the embassy, which opened just seven weeks ago, was the third attack on a major U.S. installation in the Lebanese capital since April 1983 and Islamic Jihad has claimed

Longwood Teen Charged In Rape Attempt

A 16-year-old Longwood youth was being held today on charges of attacking and trying to rape a Lake Mary woman.

The boy, whose name was not released because he is a juvenile, is being held at the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center on charges of aggravated battery and attempted sexual assault, according to Lt. S.L. Belfiore of the Lake Mary Police Department.

According to the police report, a suspect entered the home of Kathy Plyer, 37, at 258 S. Fourth St., Lake Mary, at about 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday. Ms. Plyer was laying on her couch reading a book when she saw someone standing in the doorway. He said he was looking for her 16-year-old son. When she told him he would not be home until 3:30 p.m., he left, the report said.

After lying back down she said she saw the suspect standing in the dining room, this time saying he needed a cassette tape he loaned to her son. Belfiore said they went into her son's room to look for the tape but did not find it.

As they left the room, the report said he wheeled around, grabbed the woman by the throat and started choking her. During the struggle, he managed to wrap a man's belt around her throat and tried to drag her back into the room, according to the report. During this time, the woman said she almost passed out twice.

She fell to the floor screaming and then the suspect let her go and ran out the door threatening to kill her, Belfiore said.

She called the police after the attacker left. A youth answering the suspect's description was picked up and arrested soon afterward about a block from Ms. Plyer's house.

Belfiore said Ms. Plyer, though "hysterical," was not taken to the hospital.—Rick Brunson

Thank-You Hug

Joyce Hetzel, Seminole County school social worker, gets a birthday hug from Pincrest Elementary School student Tracy Nelson, 9, at a surprise party. The school's faculty and students honored her Wednesday for her 61st birthday and 31 years of unselfish service to the school children in the north end of the county. She gives of her own money and time to help the children, said guidance counselor Betty Bourne, "and we thought it was time to say thank you."

County Inaction Blamed

Gas Tax Split Up To State

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Due to county commission inaction, Seminole's cities will likely miss out on a chance to obtain greater shares of the county-imposed 4-cent gas tax.

It's up to the state Department of Revenue how the estimated $3.5 million in proceeds from the 4-cent per gallon county imposed gasoline tax will be divided up among the county and its seven cities in the 1984-85 fiscal year.

A new resolution should have been adopted by the county in July and received by the state Department of Revenue by mid-August, setting the method of distribution, but that resolution somehow didn't get considered by the commission.

County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn said today she forgot about it until Budget Director Eleanor Anderson brought it to her attention this week.

The resolution adopted by the county a year ago, called for the county to get 65 percent of the proceeds — about $2.5 million — with the cities to split the balance — about $1 million. But the resolution, setting that distribution, was adopted for only one year.

Jim Godfrey of the state Department of Revenue said Wednesday if a different formula to distribute the funds among the county and the city governments was to be set, it had to be received by the state by the middle of August.

Now the county must use the same distribution formula — the 65 percent — 35 percent split — in 1984-85 as was used in 1983-84, Godfrey said.

But the county has appealed that decision to the state department's general counsel.

Under that formula, Sanford will have received $344,000; Altamonte Springs, $255,000; Casselberry $235,000; Longwood, $185,000; Winter Springs, $94,000; Oviedo, $53,000 and Lake Mary $36,000 by Sept. 31.

The cities and the county wrangled for weeks on how the funds would be shared last year. When no agreement could be reached, a state formula had to be used.

The formula called for in the state law, to be used only if the county and the cities could not agree on a split of the revenues otherwise, was that each governmental body — the county commission and the seven city councils or commissions — had to prove how much in local money they had spent on roads over the previous 5 years.

When the totals were computed and compared with expenditures for other services, the county and the cities would get the same proportions of the special tax proceeds.

The county commissioned an auditor to check the expenditures claimed by the cities and the 65 percent-35 percent split was the result.

The cities later informally agreed that the formula for distribution of the 35 percent to the cities would be recomputed annually to give those cities which pumped more money into roads a greater share of the 35 percent.

And a new resolution was supposed to be adopted by the county commission this past summer saying that and the cities were to adopt inter-local agreements.

There "is not really a problem," County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said Wednesday.

"I will recommend to the county commission next Tuesday that the county fund an auditor review of new numbers (for road expenditures) to be submitted by the cities," he said.

"And that an accountant make sure of the accuracy of the numbers. The question really out there is what the Department of Revenue's position is. We have contacted them and asked that they put their position in a letter and we will review it," Rose said.

"The worst case scenario would be that the cities would receive the same distribution as this year. The alternative would be that the cities would get the distribution based on a rolling five years," Rose said.

By a rolling five years, Rose means, a computed amount of what each city has spent on roads for the past five years, omitting one of the years used in the computation this year.

Killer Dies Claiming Innocence

STARKE (UPI) — James Dupree Henry, a black man convicted of killing a civil rights activist in a robbery, died trembling in the electric chair today insisting "I am innocent."

Henry, 34, died at 7:09 a.m. EDT, the 25th man executed in the United States since the Supreme Court lifted the death penalty ban in 1976 and the ninth in Florida.

"My final words are: I am innocent," the slender, tattooed black man said before the death hood was dropped over his face.

Henry was pulled into the death chamber at exactly 7 a.m., the moment his 24-hour stay of execution expired. He was to have died Wednesday morning, but the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta granted the temporary reprieve while it considered his case.

The court rejected his appeal and refused to extend the stay, and the Supreme court concurred.

A light-lipped grimace on his face, Henry appeared to hang back and had to be tugged into the death chamber by guards.

His final words were barely audible in the witness room because the microphone placed in front of him didn't work, and his small frame was dwarfed by the hulking, three-legged oak chair. He appeared to wink several times at his attorney, Richard Jordanby, and when he hood was dropped over his face he began to tremble.

He clenched his fists several times before the switch was thrown at 7:05 a.m. Henry ordered a dozen oysters for his last meal because he had never eaten one.

Henry, who began a life of crime at age 15 when he stole a bicycle, said he didn't know the identity of his mother until recently when she visited him twice at the prison. He had been shuttled among relatives during his youth.

"In my time of need, she was there," he said in his final interview Tuesday. "Five years ago, when my first (death) warrant was signed, I didn't really ... need her. But I do now."

Henry died for the March 24, 1974 murder of Z.R. Riley, his next door neighbor and distinguished Orlando civil rights worker.

Riley, 81, was gagged, tied to a chair and beaten with a pistol. His throat was slit with a razor, but police said he died from strangling on the gag.

Sanford Men Indicted In Apparent Revenge Killing

Two Sanford men have been indicted by a grand jury in the shooting death of a third Sanford man who may have been killed for revenge.

Edmond Glenn Jones, 20, of 1294 W. 18th St., and Rodney White, 18, of 1703 W. 14th St., were arrested Sept. 4 in connection with the Aug. 10 shooting death of Benny Jackson, 39, of 85 Seminole Gardens.

Assistant State Attorney Steven Plotnick said revenge may have been the motive.

He said Jackson apparently served time in prison for killing Jones' uncle in the mid-70s. He said comments Jones is reported to have made link him to the shooting.

Jones and White were arrested after an unidentified Sanford woman said she was in the car with the killers when they gunned down Jackson, according to a sheriff's report.

The gunmen left Jackson's body in a ditch beside Osceola Road at state Road 48, four miles east of Sanford. Patricia D. Vaas, 33, of Geneva, discovered the body as she rode her bicycle on the road at about 9 a.m. Aug. 10, the report said.

The unidentified woman said that Jones peppered Jackson's body with bullets from a small caliber handgun and White blasted him once with a shotgun. Jackson was shot in the chest and left leg.

Jones and White were charged with murder after being interviewed at the sheriff's department Sept. 4.

Stand-In Sought For Ailing Judge

A search is on throughout the state to find a retired circuit judge who can fill in for Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, hospitalized at Winter Park Memorial Hospital for surgery.

Leffler is expected to take a month to recuperate after the surgery early next week.

Meanwhile, Seminole County, even before Leffler's emergency medical absence for gall bladder surgery, was one circuit judge short.

Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi went to Italy on vacation before Leffler's illness.

Economy Puts On Brakes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's gross national product is growing at a moderate 3.6 percent annual rate in the current July-September quarter, about half its strength in the second quarter, the government said today.

The projection by government economists did not include the effects of the United Auto Workers strike against General Motors.

If the strike continues until the end of the quarter, Sept. 30, economic growth could slow further to about 3.3 percent, the Commerce Department said.

The report on the value of all the country's goods and services showed the economy is now going through one of its slowest periods of the recovery. In the eight quarters since the GNP stopped shrinking, only two have had lower growth rates.

The April-June quarter grew at a revised rate of 7.1 percent, slightly less than the 7.6 percent last reported, and the first quarter surged at a spectacular 10.1 percent rate.

The contrast between the first and second half of the year has been striking, with consumers lately abandoning their buying binge and saving instead.

Analysis blames the high level of interest rates and the fact that consumers finally satisfied most of their needs postponed during the last recession.

"The fastest part of the recovery is over," said economist

Larry Chimerine, head of the Chase Econometrics analysis firm. "The only question is whether this is the beginning of an even sharper slowdown or are we going to continue a moderate growth pattern," he said.

The slowdown is likely to encourage Wall Street as well as Third World borrowers that interest rates must come down — although business borrowing continues to be heavy.

But slower growth also signals slower job creation and suggests that the unemployment rate, at 7.5 percent for three of the last four months, is not going to experience any further dramatic improvement.

Armed Seaman Arrested After Shouting At Mondale

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Secret Service agents guarding Walter Mondale at a financial district rally arrested a merchant seaman armed with a knife and shouting angrily at the presidential candidate 40 feet away.

The suspect, Paul Fuentes, 28, was charged with resisting arrest and felony possession of a concealed weapon, a holstered knife strapped to his leg. He was expected to be arraigned today.

Mondale witnessed the scuffle that ended with the arrest. Secret Service agent Richard McDrew said Fuentes was not on any Secret Service list as a potential threat to the candidate.

"But neither were John Hinkley (who wounded President Reagan) or Lee Harvey Oswald (who killed former President Kennedy)," McDrew said.

Detained Seamen Back In U.S.

ST. LAWRENCE ISLAND, Alaska (UPI) — Five American seamen were home on U.S. soil today after seven days of captivity in Siberia, where Soviets tried to make them confess they had violated Russian waters in the Bering Sea.

The incident, coming just weeks before a meeting between President Reagan and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, brought a formal protest from the United States on the delay in informing U.S. officials of the men's detention.

The men's ship, Freida K. was seized while returning from running fuel, water and supplies to Point Lay, above the Arctic Circle. The ship approached what turned out to be a Soviet warship to ask advice on how to avoid reefs around Little Diomed Island, in U.S. territory.

'Meese Did Nothing Criminal'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special prosecutor who investigated White House counselor Edwin Meese for five months said today the attorney general-designate engaged in no criminal wrongdoing in his financial dealings.

Special prosecutor Jacob Stein, winding up a broad probe into allegations against Meese, said his five-month probe uncovered "no basis for bringing of a prosecution against Mr. Meese for the violation of a federal criminal statute."

Stein issued his findings in a 385-page report that investigated 11 areas of allegations against Meese including his failure to disclose a $15,000 interest-free loan and his financial dealings with friends who later got federal jobs.

2 Counterfeiting Rings Busted; Cash Seized, 5 Charged

ORLANDO (UPI) — Secret Service agents cracked a counterfeiting ring and seized more than $1 million in bogus money in what could be a record bust in Central Florida, officials say.

Orlando Secret Service chief Robert Connelly said three employees of Speedy King Instant Printing north of Orlando and an employee of another print shop were arrested Monday night.

They were charged with manufacturing and aiding and abetting in the manufacture of counterfeit currency. The arrests were made after one of the employees sold $1,006,700 in bogus $100 bills to an undercover Secret Service agent.

The agents arrested Charles Coley and Sheila MacMullen, 20, Roy Parkhurst, 43, and John Madden. MacMullen and Parkhurst work at the print shop and Madden operates a press at an Orlando print shop, which was not involved in the deal.

In Miami, federal agents acting on a tip from a bank and informers have seized counterfeiting equipment, nearly $300,000 in bogus $100 bills and arrested two men who really didn't get a chance to get the operation going, officials say.

Refugee Granted Freedom

MIAMI (UPI) — Immigration officials have granted freedom to a Cuban refugee who they say was "desperate" enough to float to Florida on an inner tube and brave sunburn, sharks and dehydration.

"An extraordinary, incredible trip," said Perry Rivkind, Miami's Immigration and Naturalization district director, of Carlos Saavedra's eight-day journey from Cuba to Florida which ended Sunday when he and his inner tube were spotted off Delray Beach. "He was dehydrated and he was burned badly."

Saavedra, bound in a wheelchair and bandaged, was granted his freedom Tuesday by INS officials.

The refugee said he left Cuba because he did not want to serve in the military.

Citrus Industry Faces 10-Year Setback

LAKELAND (UPI) — Florida officials have ordered a massive new burning of citrus trees in a desperate effort to kill a dreaded canker disease that could set the billion-dollar industry back at least a decade.

Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, saying "I must take every precaution," issued orders Wednesday for all citrus plants within 125 feet of stock from infected nurseries to be burned.

Officials cannot assess the magnitude of the destruction program until all suspect trees are traced — a process that may take weeks. But a Florida Citrus Mutual official said it will probably be 10 years before the industry returns to its present level.

"This is the most dreaded disease that can attack citrus," Conner said. "In some cases, it will mean the destruction of entire nurseries. I'm aware of the economic hardship this is going to place on a number of our nurserymen and the citrus industry itself."

The outbreak of canker — a disease that kills citrus trees but does not harm humans — has triggered speculation of orange concentrate shortages and sparked price increases and heavy trading in orange juice futures.

Conner issued the burn order after officials said the highly contagious disease, which can only be destroyed by burning infected trees, had been found in two more nurseries and may have spread to commercial citrus groves.

The disease, discovered earlier this month in Ward's Nursery — one of the state's largest citrus nurseries — now has been confirmed in five nurseries. Officials said the four other nurseries all got stock from Ward's.

The magnitude of the outbreak compounded Wednesday when scientists learned Ward's had become infected in January — not in April as initially believed.

Inspectors must now review records back to September 1983 to trace seedlings and other citrus material shipped from Ward's. In just the last few months, Ward's shipped 80,000 budded trees to groves and supplied 296,458 budwoods and 93,800 seedlings to other nurseries.

The U.S. Agriculture Department has placed a shipping embargo on Florida citrus, but is allowing deliveries to non-citrus producing areas of fruit that has been inspected, fumigated and declared disease-free.

The Florida Citrus Commission also is considering controlling the movement of fruit within the state.

What Comes Next?

Four-year-olds Beth Esor, left, and Heather Lankford, both of Winter Springs, seem stumped in their search for the next piece to fit their Mickey Mouse puzzle. The pair ultimately fitted all the pieces together during play time at the Kinder Care daycare center in Casselberry.

Couple Sues FPC For Power Surge Which Caused Fire

A Winter Springs couple is suing Florida Power Corporation, claiming that a faulty wire maintained by the company caused their house to catch fire.

William H. and Jean Winters, of 1107 Gater Lane, are suing the power company for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the complaint, a "floating neutral" line caused a power surge that started a fire Feb. 28 and damaged their house. It also ruined several of the Winters' electrical appliances, according to the complaint.

They state the line was improperly maintained and the fire and subsequent damage was a direct cause of FPC's negligence.

The Winters also stated in the complaint that FPC representatives have acknowledged that the unattached line caused the damage and that the company is responsible but have refused to compensate them.

County's Guardian Ad Litem Volunteers To Be Honored

Dr. Kent Hayes, co-director of the Meninger Youth Advocacy Foundation of Topeka, Kansas, will be keynote speaker at Friday's awards ceremony for the 40 volunteers who worked in the county's Guardian Ad Litem program over the past year.

The 4 p.m. ceremony will be held in Courtroom B at the Seminole County Courthouse.

The 15 new volunteers who recently completed training for the program will also be recognized.

Volunteers in the program are appointed by the circuit court to perform the role of advocate for children who are alleged to have been abused or neglected.

"They advocate what is in the best interests of the child and perform other functions such as conducting independent investigations on behalf of the child, act as spokespersons for the child and monitor to assure court orders are complied with," said program director Gretchen Gross.

Seminole was chosen for a pilot program in this area by the Florida Supreme Court in November, 1980. By the end of this year, a similar program will be in effect in all 20 judicial circuits in the state, Ms. Gross said.

Under new state law, the Guardian Ad Litem program is branching out to include all children in criminal cases who are victims of abuse and neglect, she said.

During the past four years, 84 volunteers have been trained, screened and have worked in the program. Volunteers since 1980 have given 11,000 hours, about 35 hours per case, working on 320 cases representing 470 children.

The program operates on a budget of about $35,000 per year. Ms. Gross said the county provides a portion of the budget, gives office space, office supplies and provides funds for the staff attorney, Ned N. Julian Jr.

The Circuit Court provides salaries for Ms. Gross and another office staff person.

GM-UAW Talks At An Impasse, Layoffs Spreading

DETROIT (UPI) — Stalled contract talks and spreading strikes put nearly 92,000 workers on the picket line at General Motors Corp. assembly plants and idled 16,500 more laid off at allied parts plants.

The union said "virtually no progress was made" in Wednesday's bargaining.

The strike by United Auto Workers members already has affected nearly one-third of GM's work force of 350,000 directly or indirectly.

GM has 29 assembly plants across the country, 17 of them struck. Layoffs hit 21 parts plants.

About the only auto models still being produced are mid-sized A-cars, compact X-cars and subcompact Chevettes and J-car models plus vans.

Insurance Costs Vary Widely

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter published a "shopper's guide" to automobile insurance today, indicating that some underwriters charge more than twice as much as others for standard coverage. Gunter's consumer research office made a survey of premiums charged by 19 companies and the Joint Underwriting Association — the "assigned risk" pool for poor drivers — in a dozen Florida cities. The survey indicated the USAA Group, a reciprocal insurer that sells policies only to military personnel and some other selected groups, had the lowest automobile coverage rates in most cities and that Dixie Insurance Co. charged the highest non-JUA rates. The Joint Underwriting Association, which covers drivers companies have refused to insure, had the highest rates in every city. The premium survey was based on a policy for a driver with a two-year-old car and no teenaged dependent drivers and no accidents or moving violations for a three-year period. Coverage of $10,000 no-fault personal injury protection, a per-accident limit of $25,000 and the same amount of uninsured motorist protection, along with a $200-deductible collision policy. USAA premiums for those limits were lowest in Daytona Beach, Fort Myers, Fort Lauderdale, Gainesville, Jacksonville, Orlando, Pensacola, St. Petersburg, Tampa, and West Palm Beach. USAA was second-lowest in Miami, charging $2 more than Nationwide Mutual. The lowest six-month premiums ranged from $111 charged by USAA in Gainesville and Fort Myers to $192 charged by Nationwide in Miami. The highest non-JUA rates were charged by Dixie in all cities except Miami, where Progressive American Insurance Co. was $17 higher. The top rates for a safe driver ranged from $280 per six months charged by Dixie in Tallahassee and Gainesville to the $556 charged by Progressive American in Miami.

Religion And Politics Don't Mix

The religious roots of America go back to the Pilgrims. So does the tradition of refuge from religious persecution.

Which is dominant in our history: religious faith or freedom of belief; old-time religion or old-fashioned irreverence?

All. And all are protected by our Constitution, which proclaims: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

When the United States of America was created by the Founding Fathers, it was an anomaly in the world: a nation under God protecting the rights to believe, or not believe, in God. To zealots, both of the religious and anti-religious brand, that sounds like hypocrisy. But to Americans, it means pluralism. And the country did pretty well on that basis. It had room for members of every creed on Earth, and it hosted a bevy of bigots, to boot.

But they lived here together, not always peacefully, but most of the time without killing or forcibly converting each other. And it's a credit to the wisdom of our forefathers that Civil War wasn't fought over religion but the regional issues of slavery — another anomaly among nations murdering in the name of one holy faith or another.

Politicians, reflecting the American people, looked on this history of religious tolerance with pride — and belief that mudslinging would be kept out of the pulpit. Periodically, religion surfaced as an ugly issue, as when Al Smith, a Roman Catholic, ran for president. But the nation moved forward and elected another Catholic, John F. Kennedy. And American schoolchildren were taught that no matter what religion they believed, they could grow up to become president.

And then came the 1984 presidential campaign, when suddenly, candidates for the nation's highest office started publicly questioning each other's positions on the relationship between church and state. President Reagan told a prayer breakfast that religion and politics "are inseparably related." Former Vice President Walter Mondale responded by saying: "Most Americans would be surprised to learn that God is a Republican."

Indeed they would. But they are equally repelled by a Democrat claiming his is the party of religious tolerance. Something ugly is happening here, and it is bigger than both Mr. Reagan and Mondale, both of whom are decent, religiously motivated persons. Religion has been dragged into partisan politics. And it is threatening the delicate fabric of trust that has shielded America from the outrages of atheistic and religious zealotry, which have swallowed up nations like the Soviet Union and Iran.

It is with deep regret and foreboding that we see politicians vying for votes on the basis of who is more religious, who will do more for which religious group. Though both candidates have declared allegiance to the separation of church and state, both have muddied the waters around that credo. And the mud is splashing into pulpits, homes and schools, where Americans ask: What are our leaders doing to religion in the name of politics?

The discussion is not healthy, because religion is not something you can debate — like taxes. There are no right and wrong sides to religion — only the inviolate faith of the heart. There are no right and wrong ways to believe — only the absolute freedom of conscience.

America's tradition of tolerance has been needlessly strained by this campaign. We all have a little intolerance in us. We can all resort to name calling, whether it be to call someone a true believer or a secular humanist. But when politicians start doing this, it's time to beware. We are all vulnerable. If America becomes a land of intolerance, where can the new pilgrims go?

BERRY'S WORLD

By Deane Jordan

The Florida Bar has filed 160 pages of proposed Rules of Professional Conduct for lawyers with the Florida Supreme Court.

The new rules, patterned after the American Bar Association Model Rules of Professional Conduct but stricter in many instances, provide updated ethical standards for attorney behavior and the structure for regulating conduct through disciplinary agencies.

The rules cover such things as fees, confidentiality, advertising, misconduct and public service.

Any attorney who violates the rules is subject to strict disciplinary proceedings brought by the Bar with penalties imposed by the Florida Supreme Court ranging from private reprimand to disbarment, according to a Bar official.

"In general, the new Rules of Professional Conduct for Florida lawyers are stricter and more comprehensive than our Code of Professional Responsibility now in place," said Gerald F. Richman, president of The Florida Bar.

"The rules also are clearer. The present code, divided into so called ethical considerations and disciplinary rules, is difficult to interpret, even for lawyers," Richman said.

Richman said that although the new rules are useful to lawyers in self-assessment and are necessary for the bar in prosecuting wrongdoers, citizens can view the new rules as a "kind of consumer protection act."

He said the rules governing the legal profession set standards of loyalty to the client, candor to the court, and fairness to the adversary. Ensuring lawyer competence and fair access to the courts are inherent goals of the legal profession, he said.

According to Richman, each state bar association has its own rules governing lawyer conduct. Florida's present code is patterned after an American Bar Association model and was adopted in 1968 and subsequently modified over the years by individual rule changes approved by the Florida Supreme Court.

"Client confidentiality is an area in which the proposed code for Florida lawyers applies a stricter standard on behalf of the public interest than the recommended ABA standard," Richman said.

"The Florida rules require a lawyer to reveal information to prevent a client from committing a crime or to prevent a death or bodily harm to another. The ABA model simply leaves revelation of that information to the discretion of the lawyer," Richman said.

Baker's Wishful Thinking

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Somewhat wishfully, Republican leader Howard Baker opened the stretch-run session of the 98th Congress with an appeal to his colleagues that for the next four weeks they leave politicking to Ronald Reagan and to Walter Mondale.

"We really have a fundamental choice now for the next four weeks," Baker said. "We can use the Senate as an extension of the presidential and congressional campaigns or we can take care of legislative business."

"I happen to think that both tickets for the presidency and vice presidency are fully capable of developing the issues and publishing them to the country and the electorate efficiently, effectively and extensively."

"I do not think we have to do it again here," Baker admonished. "But if we do, we do and it certainly would not be unheard of in that case."

A nice thought, Senator Baker — but not very realistic.

Very quickly, Congress showed that the last four weeks of the Congress — due to adjourn Oct. 5 — will be chock-full of politics: Witness:

—House Speaker Thomas O'Neill used his daily news conference to tell Mondale to come out blazing and stop being Mr. Nice Guy.

—Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd, speaking right after Baker, jumped on Reagan's "secret" plan for balancing the budget and accused him of "offering promises, instead of plans, and substituting rhetoric for action."

—On Thursday, Mondale trekked to Capitol Hill, first meeting with the House Democrats and then with Senate Democrats, two events that certainly cannot be portrayed as non-political.

—House Republican leader Robert Michel called a news conference to respond to O'Neill's statement he would have balanced budget up for action 48 hours after Reagan submitted one and used the time to say Mondale was getting "his plow cleaned real good."

—Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho issued a statement warning that if Mondale is elected, the price of electricity will skyrocket.

—On Friday, Byrd burrowed to page 16 of The New York Times where he found a small article in which top White House aide Edwin Meese would not discuss specific plans for the Social Security program. Byrd said the president must be "smoked out" so that the American people know before the election if Reagan plans "colossal cuts" in a second term.

JACK ANDERSON

Snafu Behind Policeman's 'Mystery'

WASHINGTON — For eight long years, thanks to a still unexplained bureaucratic goof, Robert F. Cooper was led to believe that he suffered from a mysterious, disabling disease. And even when he was able to establish the truth, his tormentors refused to correct the error that all but ruined his life.

Cooper's story is a nightmare out of Kafka — with a touch of "Catch-22" thrown in for good measure. It began in 1971, when Cooper, 23 and fresh from a two-year stint in the Army, joined the Washington, D.C., Metropolitan Police Department.

During his probationary year, Cooper was summarily fired. Under the rules, no reason for dismissal had to be given. But Cooper's superiors volunteered just enough information to scare the daylight out of him. They told him he was let go because he had a disabling medical condition.

Cooper was understandably terrified at the thought that his body was under attack by some dreadful malady. He also found he couldn't get other work because of the medical mystery. He decided he had to know what was wrong with him.

After eight years of dogged petitioning, Cooper was finally allowed to look at the police records on his dismissal. The documents identified the mysterious affliction that had caused Cooper's firing: enuresis, the medical term for bed-wetting.

Cooper was dumbfounded. He had never been a bed-wetter. Where had the police department gotten such a crazy idea?

It turned out that the erroneous diagnosis was contained in Cooper's Army medical record, which had been sent to the district government.

Without ever examining Cooper, or even interviewing him, the police department's supervising physician accepted the Army's false diagnosis and jumped to the conclusion that Cooper wasn't macho enough to be a cop.

In a memo reviewed by my associate Indy Badhwar the doctor strongly can be more effective than a better one put forth meekly. You may have to give yourself a pep talk before each class until confidence becomes natural. There may, indeed, be a certain degree of ham acting ability involved in superior teaching."

—Try to speak in a well-modulated, conversational tone, avoiding a loud monotone. Move around the room without pacing nervously and maintain eye contact with students, establishing interaction non-verbally.

—Smile often and maintain a warm and friendly attitude, never showing anger or frustration at honest mistakes.

—Have patience, understanding students are not able to learn as fast as teachers.

—Talk individually and privately to potentially disruptive students at the first signs of misbehavior. Do not wait too long.

—Involve parents as soon as possible in behavior problems. Take time at the end of the day to call them. Do not put this off. If you have called parents about their child's behavior, follow up with a later call to indicate improvement or lack of improvement.

Koslofsky advises against corporal punishment. He claims it risks parental harassment, lawsuits, personal injury and creates more student hostility.

Physical punishment, he claims, also gives students a sign that it is proper to resolve differences by violence.

All of the above, plus other activities required of teachers, is a Koslofsky's job description, plainly cannot be done by anyone of only average drive and capacity for work.

SCIENCE WORLD

Space Probes Harder

By Al Rossiter Jr.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviets are getting better in many areas of space exploration and a panel of American scientists says that improvement has been accompanied by a partial lowering of secrecy barriers.

Not only are Russian scientists telling their Western counterparts more of what they are learning, but the Soviets are discussing future plans more and even are willing to admit their failures.

"This change in attitude has not yet been expressed in official policy, but it is noticeable on an individual level," said a Congressional Office of Technology Assessment report on a meeting of 13 of America's top space scientists.

They were called together at the request of OTA to assess the scientific advantages and disadvantages of U.S.-Soviet cooperation in space science.

"The general consensus among the space scientists at this workshop was that the stronger Soviet capabilities in space science become, the more the Soviets are willing to provide in the way of detailed information about their plans and results," the report said.

While there was some disagreement over the extent of improvement in this area, it appears that the general trend is toward a greater openness."

Even in the current political climate of mistrust, the OTA report said, Soviet researchers have readily presented to the West findings from the current Venera radar satellites in orbit around the planet Venus. Some of these results were passed on to American scientists before they were officially released in the Soviet Union.

Russia's Venera Venus exploration program has been the most impressive of all that nation's space probes, the American scientists said.

Soviet landing craft have survived in the extremely hot, highly corrosive atmosphere of Venus for more than an hour while radiating back pictures and conducting soil studies. And the scientists said the current Venera satellites have "demonstrated a host of advanced capabilities."

"Although the individual technologies employed on Venus orbiters are all well within current U.S. capabilities, it is nonetheless true that they will not all be employed together on a U.S. mission until 1988," the report said.

The Soviet Union is preparing to launch two spacecraft called Vega in December.

Teacher: Saint, Actor

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Education Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — WANTED: human beings who are a mix of saint, ham actor, and full-time workaholic.

The job? Teacher.

The super-human qualities should help new teachers reach goals set up for them by Norman Koslofsky, principal of Norwood-Norfolk Junior-Senior High in Norwood, N.Y. The job descriptions are in "Advice to New Teachers," a report he wrote for the Bulletin of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The need for saintly qualities is clear in this excerpt:

"You should be aware of teacher behavior that promotes good rapport and control. For instance, you must maintain a sense of humor, even under stress."

"...be ready to laugh at yourself. On the other hand, do not be afraid to show students that you are human and do not like certain things."

So what's a teacher to do about a bully?

"Do not get upset, lose your temper, or take misbehavior personally," he says. "Criticize the behavior of the student, not the student. Do not allow discipline to become a personal issue involving your ego or the student's."

"Do not falsely accuse; be sure. Do not make idle or unenforceable threats. Establish yourself as one who means what he says, but avoid the impractical, that is — 'If you don't stop throwing things I'll come back there and break your arm.'"

Teachers also must:

—Always exude self-confidence and enthusiasm, never letting students sense the teacher may not be sure. "A mediocre lesson presented strongly can be more effective than a better one put forth meekly. You may have to give yourself a pep talk before each class until confidence becomes natural. There may, indeed, be a certain degree of ham acting ability involved in superior teaching."

—Try to speak in a well-modulated, conversational tone, avoiding a loud monotone. Move around the room without pacing nervously and maintain eye contact with students, establishing interaction non-verbally.

—Smile often and maintain a warm and friendly attitude, never showing anger or frustration at honest mistakes.

—Have patience, understanding students are not able to learn as fast as teachers.

—Talk individually and privately to potentially disruptive students at the first signs of misbehavior. Do not wait too long.

—Involve parents as soon as possible in behavior problems. Take time at the end of the day to call them. Do not put this off. If you have called parents about their child's behavior, follow up with a later call to indicate improvement or lack of improvement.

Koslofsky advises against corporal punishment. He claims it risks parental harassment, lawsuits, personal injury and creates more student hostility.

wrong. The Army corrected the record by deleting all reference to enuresis.

The Army never explained how it had made its long-ago error, but in a deposition Helsel speculated that someone had confused "enuresis" with "urinary frequency" caused by drinking water.

"If you drink lots of water, then you have to go to the bathroom many more times," the doctor testified, adding: "It's a normal response."

Still rebuffed by the police department despite his vindication by the Army, Cooper went to court in 1982.

At the trial, police officials explained that they hadn't told Cooper the exact reason for his dismissal "in order to protect Mr. Cooper's feelings." U.S. District Judge William Bryant ordered Cooper reinstated with full back pay.

That was seven months ago. But Cooper's bureaucratic torturers aren't through with him. They have appealed the verdict.

IN BRIEF

U.S. Has No Say About Soviet Jets In Nicaragua

United Press International
The leader of Nicaraguan Indian rebels fighting the nation's leftist government has pledged to switch sides and fight alongside the "Nicaraguan people" if the United States were to invade the Central American country.
In Managua, Nicaraguan Defense Minister Humberto Ortega said Wednesday his government would not negotiate with the Reagan administration over its decision to purchase Soviet MIG jet fighters.
The Reagan administration has criticized the construction of a military airport north of Managua and has warned Nicaragua against acquiring modern jets it said would endanger neighboring countries.
"Nicaragua's decision to build an air force is not negotiable either in direct dialogue with the United States or with any other forum," Ortega said upon arrival in Managua from Mexico.

Black Miners Back To Work

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Thousands of black miners returned to work today after mine owners threatened to dismiss them amid unrest that has killed at least 56 people in the last month in white-ruled South Africa.
Spokesman Ray Moore for the Hartbeesfontein mine, about 85 miles southwest of Johannesburg, said 99 percent of the morning shift reported to work.
Some 16,000 miners began their strike Wednesday for recognition of their union, the National Union of Mineworkers. A mine spokesman said strikers would be dismissed and sent back to their tribal homelands if they did not show up for their underground shift today.
Police said they fired tear gas to disperse a group of miners who broke branches from trees and gathered outside a hostel at Hartbeesfontein Wednesday night. There were no reports of incidents today.

Suspected Bomber Moons Court

MONTREAL (UPI) — An American transient suspected of planting a bomb that killed three people in Montreal's main train station pulled down his pants in court and claimed he was doing his laundry when the blast occurred.
Thomas Brigham, 65, said Wednesday he was not responsible for the Labor Day explosion blast that killed three French tourists and injured 41 people in Central Station.
Quebec Sessions Court Judge Bernard Grenier ordered Brigham held 30 days for psychiatric examination and set a hearing Oct. 3 to determine if he is mentally competent to stand trial.
He was arrested after police traced letters — at least one of them threatening the pope who is on a 12-day visit to Canada — to him.

Woman Says She Was Raped; Police Doubtful

A 31-year-old Daytona Beach woman reported that she was raped at the Holiday Inn, Lake Monroe, Sanford, by a man who pushed her into one of the motel rooms.

The woman initially reported to Sanford police that the man she knew as "Carl" raped her between 1 and 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Assistant Sanford Police Chief Herb Shea said today, however, that his officers investigated the woman's allegations and "found them to be unfounded."

He said his officers concluded that the woman had gone to the motel with the man willingly after leaving a bar. They spent several hours together and after the man left the room and didn't return, Shea said, the woman "apparently was afraid she would be stuck with the motel bill." She then called police and reported she had been raped.

After Sanford police closed the case, the woman then turned to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department. Today she was being interviewed by sheriff's investigators, but Capt. Jay Leman, said, "So far she hasn't gotten around to discussing the rape. She seems to be upset because she was evicted from the motel."

"If she is making a report of a felony that didn't happen," Leman said, "that might lead to charges against her, but we don't know what her story really is yet."

BATTERS WIFE & LAW

A Sanford man charged with spouse abuse after allegedly beating his wife also faces charges of battery of a police officer and resisting arrest with violence after he reportedly threatened and fought lawmen.

Sanford police responded to a disturbance call at 2427 Princeton Ave., at about 9 p.m. Monday. From inside the house, a man shouted threats to the officers, called them "pig" and warned them to get off of his property and threatened to "blow your ... head off," police report.

The officers entered the home, and prevented the man from locking himself up in a bedroom where his wife, Kathy Maniscalco, was heard crying, police report.

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police Beat

The suspect fought with the three officers and kicked and bit them before being handcuffed.

Mrs. Maniscalco had red marks and swollen areas on her head and neck, police report.

Michael Lawrence Maniscalco, 23, was arrested at 9:12 p.m. Monday. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

SCHOOL VANDALISM

Between Friday and 7 a.m. Monday, someone broke into Hopper Elementary School by prying open some double doors, according to a Sanford police report.

A custodian said that after trespassers entered the school they took canned soda, cookies and crackers from the teachers' room, broke windows, pried into offices, discharged a fire extinguisher and rummaged through desks.

A damage estimate was not included in the report.

SPEEDER WITH POT

Police who stopped a motorist for allegedly driving 57 mph in a 45 mph zone on state Road 434, Altamonte Springs, charged the man with possession of marijuana after a search of the man's car reportedly turned up a small plastic bag of pot.

Bryan Edward Jackson, 20, of Route 108, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 11:07 a.m. Monday. He was released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Sept. 28.

COOLING HAUL

A Sanford businessman told police someone broke into his business and took $302 worth of items.

Glenn H. Funt, 58, president of CG Truck Service, 812 W. 13th St., said someone entered his business between 6:30 p.m. Monday and 10 a.m. Tuesday by breaking through a back door. Missing is a floor fan valued at $154, an air conditioner worth $130, and an $18 electric clock. Damage to a door the thief or thieves entered was set at $160.

POT SHOPPER

A Geneva woman who apparently went shopping for marijuana on 13th Street in Sanford has been charged with possession of marijuana by a policeman who reported seeing her make contact with a male pedestrian whom the officer suspected might have sold her marijuana.

The officer followed the woman's van and ordered her to stop the vehicle on 16th Street at Bell Ave. at 12:15 a.m. Monday. He reported seeing a partially smoked marijuana cigarette in a holding device. The woman was ordered out of the van and a search by the lawman reportedly turned up four envelopes of pot, and another holder and a second partially smoked pot cigarette.

Marcell Brown Gay, 33, of P.O. Box E, has been released from jail on $5,000 bond.

KNIFEMAN CHARGED

A Sanford man has been charged with aggravated assault and battery after he allegedly threatened a Sanford woman and hit her in the face with his hand, which held a knife. The woman was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, for facial cuts.

Sheriff's deputies report that Gloria J. Nelson, 2341 Center St., filed a complaint alleging that the man had entered her home Monday and had threatened and assaulted her. Her 11-year-old son also reportedly gave deputies a statement saying he saw the attack on his mother. A sheriff's report did not indicate a reason for the assault.

Edward Lewis Berry, 30, of #61 Seminole Gardens, was arrested at the sheriff's department following an interview at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday. He was later freed on $5,000 bond.

The jobless rate is the same as when President Reagan took office but the number of people looking for work, 8.5 million, is up by 500,000.
The report said inflation throughout the economy, not just for consumers, is expected to run at a 2.9 percent rate in the third quarter, less than the second quarter's 3.3 percent.
The 3.6 percent increase in the GNP is after adjustment for inflation. In 1972 dollars that would take the value of all goods and services to $1.653 trillion in the third quarter, at an annual rate.

In 1984 dollars the economy would grow 6.6 percent in the third quarter, to $3.704 trillion if the department's projections are realized.
The slowing of the economy and the presumption that it will bring interest rates down could also influence the value of the dollar on foreign exchange markets, although analysts are not sure how long that could last.

The administration has assumed GNP will grow 4.5 percent in the third quarter and 4.2 percent in the fourth.
Business statistics since June have been unusually weak. Factory production went up just 0.2 percent in August, residential construction dropped in July and 12.8 percent in August, the department said Wednesday, and July's trade deficit was the biggest ever.

Retail sales performance, which indirectly affects the economy's output, dropped 2.8 percent in July and August.
The broader measure of purchases of both goods and services contained in Wednesday's personal income report showed barely perceptible 0.1 percent advances in both months.
One area of the economy that has continued to do well is business investment but there are signs even that is slowing down.

responsibility for all three.
A casualty count compiled from Civil Defense, Red Cross, and Lebanese police rescue teams added up to 23 dead and 71 wounded.
"Most of the casualties are Lebanese — gathered outside the embassy's visa section," a police source said.
In Washington, President Reagan, who was awakened at 5:50 a.m., said Ambassador Reginald Bartholomew was slightly injured by the blast but walked out of the embassy on his way to a hospital.

Western diplomatic sources said British Ambassador David Miers also was hurt in the bombing, which set part of the four-story U.S. embassy building on fire and caused extensive damage to nearby buildings.
Reagan said the truck crashed through concrete barriers but did not hit the embassy before it exploded.
"It was a white pickup truck with forged American embassy license plates," the rightist Christian militia Voice of Free Lebanon said. "Guards opened fire and tried to stop the vehicle, but it sped toward the Embassy building, hit a U.S. military jeep and blew up outside the compound."

"A pickup truck with forged U.S. embassy licence plates crashed through the security cordon and drove straight on into the parking lot outside the visa section," official Beirut Radio said.
"The embassy guards fired at the speeding car but it exploded only meters away from the building," Beirut radio said.
The broadcast said the driver of the truck was fatally shot before the explosion.
"Everything shook. I can see black smoke coming out from the area all around the embassy," a Lebanese housewife said in a telephone interview. "The blast was very strong. It burst my cars ... The explosion was very, very big."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Flooding that closed roads, stalled cars and threatened homes in Jacksonville subsided Wednesday after workers cleared storm drains to ease what one city official called the worst high water problem in 20 years. More than 10 inches of rain fell on parts of the city Tuesday. Fog and cooler weather moved into Northern California today after a rare "sound and light" lightning storm that kindled a hundred fires. Canadian air dropped temperatures in the northern Plains and Great Lakes from record highs. Waters from the worst flood in 17 years in South Texas slowly retreated, allowing a majority of the 300 people who fled to shelters Tuesday to return to their homes. Showers and thunderstorms from western Montana to the Oregon coast and south into California and Colorado today caused flood warnings in southern Nevada.

Another question, which Rose called "a little touchier issue and I'm not sure it's legal — is how the cities used the gasoline tax money this year."
He said the county commissioners' intent was that the cities were to continue spending the same moneys on roads as previously in addition to the funds they got from the local gasoline tax.

"These funds (from the gasoline tax) were not to be used to supplant existing programs," Rose said.
"We will have to take a look at that and see what if anything the county commission wants to do," Rose said.

Oviedo Sweeps Awards

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The good news for Charles "Pop" Bowers is that for the second week in a row he has been selected Burger King Offensive Player of the Week by the Burger King Selection Committee.

The bad news is that he will never again win the award.

It's not that the selection committee doesn't like Oviedo fullbacks who average 180 yards per game and 9.5 yards a carry. It's just that when Burger King's Community Relations Coordinator Bob Santulli drew up the bylaws for his 4-year-old award, he decided that two awards would more than take care of any athlete.

Bowers, to his credit, has been a perfect 2-for-2 this year. Last Friday against defending 2A state champ Eustis, "Pop" scampered for 210 yards on 25 carries. Strangely enough, all that real estate didn't include a touchdown.

Bowers, a 195-pound senior who just may be the running back this side of Apopka, solved that problem in the third quarter when he whipped a 28-yard pass to Dave Wood for the game's only score.

The week prior, he ran for 151 yards on just six carries. He raced 63 yards for a touchdown which was the margin of difference as Oviedo blanked Melbourne, 7-0.

"He's been our offense so far," said Oviedo coach Jack Blanton. "I know we're going have to start throwing the ball a little more because they're going to start keying on Charles."

Will the keys work? "It depends how big they are. It depends if they're the right combination," said Blanton. "He's probably the most consistent back I've ever coached. He's the strongest I've ever coached and he seems very durable."

The other Burger King winner also came from Oviedo. Linebacker Mark Howell, who collected seven tackles, five assists and one interception, to earn the defensive award. "Mark's going to be a good one," said Blanton about his 6-2, 200-pound blockbuster who has been the catalyst behind Oviedo's two shutouts. "He's very, very intelligent and makes good grades. He's a lot like (Seminole's) Fred Brinson. What kind of year he has will determine if he plays major or small college."

Howell was selected over Lyman's Robert Thomas (three interceptions and a fumble recovery). Lake Howell's Jim Chalmers (six tackles and one assist), Lake Brantley's Bobby Bodah (five tackles and three assists) and Lake Mary defensive end Walt White (four tackles, one assist and three sacks).

Bowers beat four other running backs, three of which ran for over 100 yards. Lake Mary's Charlie Lucarelli finished with 107. Lake Brantley Steve Emmons totaled 108 while Lake Howell's Steve Inman finished with 110. Mike Henley, Lyman running back, ran for 29 yards and caught three passes for 35 yards.

In other awards this week, Howell made it a double when he picked up the Winter Springs Sertoma Player of the Week honor. Howell and Blanton were guests of the Sertomas for breakfast Monday.

At Lake Brantley, coach David Tullis named four award winners for Friday's game. They are Curt Mull (offensive line), Steve Emmons (offensive backfield), Bobby Bodah (defensive line) and Kurt Marn (defensive backfield).

At Lake Mary, coach Harry Nelson announced four winners. Lucarelli was the top offensive back and Byron Washington was the best defensive back. White was the leader on the defensive line and Tony Del Rocco was the standout on the offensive line.

THIS WEEK — Seminole was the only county team which didn't play last week but all the squads teams will return to action Friday. Two big Five Star Conference tilts are on tap between county teams. Seminole (0-1) travels to Lake Howell (2-0) and Lake Mary (1-0) takes on Lake Brantley (2-0). The undefeated survivor will assume first place since Apopka (2-0) is idle.

Charles "Pop" Bowers takes a breather. The Oviedo fullback put together another spectacular night on the gridiron last Friday as he ran for 201 yards and tossed a 28-yard TD pass to Dave Wood as the Lions trimmed Eustis, 10-1.

Bowers won the Burger King Offensive Player of the Week award for the second straight time. Oviedo goes for its third straight Friday night at home against St. Cloud. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

Seminole Stop Backwards Roll — Rams Run Past Patriots By 7

Sometimes I think cloning might be a pretty good idea. Then I could be at both the Lake Brantley-Lake Mary and Seminole-Lake Howell football games Friday night.

Those two Seminole County matchups will be interesting games, a lot more interesting than wasting five bucks on "Revenge of the Nerds," or "Return of the Preppies," or whatever the heck they call it.

Cloning does have its drawbacks, though. I mean we can definitely do without two of someone like Leon Spinks. Cloning would help Leon though, because, combined, he would have a full set of teeth.

After a 7-3 record for last week's picks, the Fearless Fisher Forecast stands at 14-5-1. That's 13-6-1 against the "point spread," 12-7-1 "Against All Odds," and 0-19-1 "Up Against The Wall Red-Neck Mother."

Here's a look at this week's games:

Seminole at Lake Howell
That thing known to some as the inflated ellipsoid (football), can do some pretty weird things. But, when it bounces backwards 28 yards on a punt for a punt of minus one yard, you know you're in trouble. The Seminoles just couldn't get off the ground against Titusville Astronaut two weeks ago, dropping a 28-0 decision to the War Eagles. On the other hand, Lake Howell's Silver Hawks are soaring with a 2-0 record. But the Hawks' first two opponents included Bishop Morgue and Spruce Geek, two of Central Florida's perennial doormats. The Hawks will find the going a lot tougher against Seminole and the Tribe will not be going backwards Friday night. — Seminole by 12

Lake Brantley at Lake Mary
Although I'll be at Lake Howell Friday night, the bone-crunching from Lake Mary High will be heard from miles away. This will be a classic game between a pair of powerful football teams. Lake Mary trailed for most of the game last week before exploding for 21 points in a 21-10 victory over DeLand. The Rams can score at any time from anywhere. Lake Brantley comes in with a 2-0 record after Saturday's 28-6 trouncing of Lyman. This game is almost too close to call, but, in the end, it will be Lake Mary's running attack that wears down Brantley. — Lake Mary by 7

Lyman at Colonial
Beset by injuries and inexperience, Lyman's Greyhounds have dropped their first two games of the 1984 season. Lyman is in for another tough one Friday against

Metro Conference foe Orlando Colonial. It may take a while for the Greyhounds to chalk one up in the win column. Maybe next week — Colonial by 8

St. Cloud at Oviedo
The Lions may not have the team they did in 1982 when the "Black Friday" defense led them to an 8-3 record. But Oviedo, nevertheless, has found a way to win two games and shutout two opponents. This year's defense may not have a nickname but the offense might be called, "Leave it to Pop." Charles "Pop" Bowers has steamrolled his way to 361 yards rushing in two games and he has been instrumental in both Oviedo victories, scoring the only TD against Melbourne and throwing for the only TD against Eustis. Another 100-plus yard game for Bowers will carry the Lions to their third straight win. — Oviedo by 10

UCF at Western Kentucky
There is only one word to describe the UCF defense — inadequate, incompetent, deficient, Swiss cheese, etc., etc... Okay, I lied. The University of Florida Gators are idle this week so maybe UCF can rent a few players for Saturday's game. If the Knights are to get in the win column this year, this is the time. Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers are the easiest opponent left on the UCF schedule. But, unless the Knights can caulk up the defense, chalk another one up on the loss column for coach Lou Saban. — Western Kentucky by 18

Florida State at Miami
Miami quarterback Bernie Kosar feels that collegiate football players should be paid like professionals. As if the free ride (scholarship) and other untold dividends aren't enough. As he says, "people are making money off the Miami football team. We perform a service and should be paid for it." If you saw Miami's loss to Michigan the proper wage for Kosar's performance in that game might be around $1.50, or the price of a bottle of aspirin. If Bernie thinks he's getting shortchanged now, what is he going to feel like when Florida State upsets the Hurricanes Saturday? — FSU by 4

Blanton: Defense Is The Difference

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The combination of experience, young players that have performed well and a little luck has paid off for Oviedo's Lions during the first two weeks of the 1984 prep football season.

Oviedo coach Jack Blanton hopes the combination can click again Friday night when the 2-0 Lions host St. Cloud's Bulldogs in an Orange Belt Conference matchup at Oviedo High.

The Lions have turned their record around from a year ago, when they stood at 0-2 after two weeks. Oviedo opened the 1984 season with a 7-0 victory over Melbourne and made it two in a row last Friday with a 10-0 blanking of Eustis.

"We are a lot stronger on defense than we were last year," Blanton said. "That's the biggest difference. We have a some experience on defense and we also have some young players who have stepped in and done a good job."

"We also have had a little luck in both games," he added.

Although luck has played a part in the two shutouts, the Oviedo defense has come through in the clutch a number of times. Both Melbourne and Eustis had their chances but were turned away by the Lions' defense. Linebacker Mark Howell has been the defensive leader for the Lions along with linemen Tony Coffie, Larry Grayson and James Walker.

The offense hasn't scored as many points as Blanton would like but it has done what it takes to win.

Fullback Charles "Pop" Bowers, Seminole County's leading rusher, has accounted for both of the Lions' touchdowns in 1984 including a 64-yard TD run against Melbourne and a 28-yard TD pass to Dave Wood against Eustis. Bowers has carried the ball 38 times for 361 yards rushing in two games (9.5 yards per carry).

While Bowers is off to a tremendous start and has carried the Oviedo offense for two games, Blanton is also looking for a good game Friday from sophomore quarterback John Morrow.

"We're looking for a good game out of John (Morrow)," Blanton said. "He's been doing really well in practice. He throws the ball well and reads the defenses well too. All he needs is varsity experience."

Morrow, starting for the first time last week, threw just one pass against Eustis and it was intercepted. He did complete a pass for a seven-yard gain but it was called back because of a holding penalty on the Lions.

The offense has been able to get the job done the past two weeks, but Blanton feels the Lions must score more against St. Cloud.

UCF Needs To Tighten Up; Scott Sizzles For Vanderbilt

Football

The University of Central Florida football team set a number of single-game offensive records last week against Georgia Southern including number of first downs passing (21), number of passes attempted (57) and number of passes completed (32).

Those records may look pretty good on paper, by they don't account for much when you consider UCF's defense is giving up 44.6 points per game. The UCF offense would have to do a lot more than break records to make up for the amount of points the defense gives away.

Georgia Southern rolled to a 42-28 victory over the Knights last week, giving the Knights an 0-3 record for the season. UCF will look for its defense to tighten up Saturday as the Knights travel to Bowling Green, Ky., to battle the Western Kentucky University Hilltoppers.

The Hilltoppers stand at 0-2 on the season including a 17-16 loss to Appalachian State and a 42-7 thrashing at the hands of Akron (who the Knights play two weeks from Saturday).

Inexperience has been a key to the slow start of the Knights and UCF coach Lou Saban said the process of getting experience is a painful one.

"We're a freshmen-sophomore oriented ballclub that's getting killed by the process of learning," Saban said. "We've got kids who'll just have to keep learning. We're tremendously concerned, because the schedule gets tougher."

Western Kentucky relies almost completely on its passing attack as it has averaged 230 yards passing per game in two games. As far as rushing the ball goes, the Hilltoppers have had their troubles, averaging just 18.5 yards on the ground in two games, including a minus 50 yards rushing last week.

The Hilltoppers may find the going a little better against the UCF defense. In three games, the Knights have allowed their opponents an average of 417 total yards per game.

The UCF offense has kept the Knights from being totally humiliated the first three weeks of the season. The Knights average 141 yards rushing and 228 passing. Quarterback Dana Thyssen returned to the lineup last week and threw for 282 yards against Georgia Southern. Former Lake Howell standout Darin Slack took Thyssen's place in the final period and directed a last-minute scoring drive resulting in a touchdown pass.

SCOTT SIZZLES FOR VANDY

Vanderbilt's Chuck Scott, a Maitland resident and former Lake Howell High standout, enjoyed an outstanding performance last week in Vandy's 23-14 victory over Maryland. The senior flanker caught 10 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns, one of 19 and one of 23 yards.

Scott was named Southeastern Conference Player of the Week by the Turner Broadcasting System and SEC Co-Offensive Player of the Week by the USA Today.

In two games, Scott leads the Commodores with 12 receptions for 201 yards (16.8 yards per catch) and two touchdowns.

Vanderbilt, 2-0, will go for its third straight victory as it hosts Kansas Saturday in Nashville.

Christmas Homer Chills Twins — Angels Win

United Press International
Christmas came too early for the Minnesota Twins Wednesday night.

Pinch hitter Steve Christmas, who played his prep ball at Orlando Colonial High School, hit his first major-league home run, a three-run shot that snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning, to give the Chicago White Sox a 7-3 victory over the Twins.

The victory was the third straight for the White Sox over the Twins in their four-game series. Minnesota fell to third place in the AL West but remained two games back of front-running Kansas City after the Royals dropped a 4-3 decision in 11 innings to the Angels. California is 1 1/2 games off the pace.

Bobby Grich drilled a bad-hop single over third baseman Greg Pryor's glove with one out in the bottom of the 11th to score pinch runner Rick Burleson with the winning run that lifted host California.

Chicago's victory made the White Sox light up like, well, a Christmas tree.

"A guy gets his first major-league home run and it's the game-winner. I've never seen a guy as happy as that," Chicago manager Tony LaRussa. "It shows you how much fun baseball can be."

This night, baseball — or Domeball — was not fun for Minnesota starter Mike Smithson.

"I was walking off the mound because I thought the inning was over but it (Christmas' homer) was a dome home run. You live and die by the dome," he said. "What we've got to do is put together a four- or five-game winning streak right now."

Christmas homered with two out off Smithson, 15-13, who has allowed 35 homers in 34 starts, the most in the majors. Floyd Bannister, 13-10, went seven innings for the triumph.

Greg Walker led off the seventh with a single and stole second two outs later. Pinch hitter Roy Smalley was intentionally walked and Christmas batted for Marc Hill and hit a shot into the right-field bleachers.

The White Sox added another run in the inning on a triple by Julio Cruz and a double by Rudy Law.

Tim Laudner and Tom Brunansky homered for the Twins while Law connected for Chicago.

At Anaheim, Calif., Doug DeCinces, who was 0-for-12, led off the 11th with a single off Joe Beckwith, 8-4. Burleson ran for him and moved to second on Brian Downing's sacrifice. Reggie Jackson was then walked intentionally. Grich, who was 0-for-9 since collecting eight straight hits against the White Sox last weekend, then victimized Pryor, who had replaced George Brett in the 11th as a pinch runner.

A's 8, Rangers 7

At Oakland, Calif., pinch hitter Gary Hancock's bases-loaded single with two out in the bottom of the ninth lifted the A's. Steve McCatty, 8-14, pitched two innings of one-hit ball to earn his first victory since July 19. Dwayne Murphy hit his 31st homer of the year for Oakland.

Tigers 4, Brewers 2

At Detroit, rookies Doug Baker, Dwight Lowry and Scotty Earl each drove in runs to help the Tigers bring Jack Morris his 18th victory. Morris, 18-11, took the loss. Mattingly is hitting .346, a point behind teammate Dave Winfield, who did not play.

Red Sox 10, Blue Jays 4

At Toronto, Dwight Evans belted a pair of three-run homers and Mike Easter added a two-run shot to power the Red Sox. Evans, who drove in four runs with two homers Tuesday night, hit his first of the year off starter Jim Clancy, 12-15. Bruce Hurst, 12-10, was the winner.

Yankees 6, Orioles 5

At New York, Don Mattingly went 3-for-4 to pull within one point of the AL batting lead and Joe Cowley, 9-1, won his eighth consecutive decision, leading the Yankees. Mike Boddicker, 18-11, took the loss. Mattingly is hitting .346, a point behind teammate Dave Winfield, who did not play.

Mariners 4, Indians 3

At Seattle, Mark Langston fired a four-hitter over eight innings and Al Davis drove in two runs to lead the Mariners. Langston, 10-9, struck out nine to raise his league-leading strikeout total to 195. Neal Heaton, 10-15, took the loss.

Phillies Top Mets, Reduce Cubs' Magic Number To 3

United Press International
So far this year, the Philadelphia Phillies have done everything for the Chicago Cubs except cater their victory celebration.

First they dealt Gary Matthews and Bob Dernier to Chicago, where those players helped the Cubs soar to the top of the NL East. Not content with this generosity, the Phillies are now helping the Cubs stagger toward the official clinching.

The Cubs lowered their magic number to three Wednesday, but only because Philadelphia hammered the second-place New York Mets 13-5. Chicago lost to Pittsburgh 11-6, and with three straight losses looks like someone walking the plank.

"We've lost three in a row before and we've always bounced back," Cubs manager Jim Frey said. "I don't know what Pittsburgh does against the rest of the league but they sure hit like the dickens against us."

At Philadelphia, Steve Jeltz cracked a base-loaded triple to highlight a five-run first inning that propelled the Phillies and backed Steve Carlton's 313th career triumph.

Carlton, 13-7, scattered eight hits in eight innings and struck out eight to boost his career total to 3,872. He lost a chance at his 56th career shutout in the eighth when New York scored twice on a sacrifice fly by John Christensen and a run-scoring single by Herm Wittingham.

The Phillies stole five bases in the first two innings, took a 6-0 lead off Ron Darling, 12-8, and coasted home.

Cardinals 1, Expos 0

At St. Louis, Danny Cox, 9-10, tossed a three-hitter for his first major-league shutout and Terry Pendleton lifted a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning for the Cardinals. Steve Rogers, 6-15, pitched seven innings, giving up six hits, striking out three and walking two.

Reds 4, Braves 2

At Atlanta, Duane Walker and pinch-hitter Tom

N.L. Baseball

Jerry Reuss ...hurls 4-hitter

Foley hit solo homers to back the combined five-hit pitching of Jay Tibbs and Ted Power for the Reds. Pete Rose doubled to tie Stan Musial's NL record of 725. It was Rose's 100th hit of the season, making him the first player in major-league history to get 100 or more hits in 22 consecutive seasons.

Dodgers 3, Astros 1

At Houston, Jerry Reuss pitched a four-hitter and Dave Anderson had three hits to lift the Dodgers. Reuss walked two and struck out six in pitching only his second complete game of the year and improving his record to 4-7. Bob Knepper, 14-10, took the loss.

Padres 5, Giants 4

At San Diego, San Francisco catcher Bob Brenly dropped a throw in the bottom of the 10th inning, allowing pinch runner Ed Miller to score the run that gave the Padres the victory. San Diego's third straight victory reduced its magic number for clinching its first NL West title to two.

Honest To Gooden In Umps' Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once you say or do something they don't like, they never forget. Same thing the other way around. You say or do something they like, and they're sure to remember. They've got even better memories than elephants.

Who are "they?"
The umpires. And who will they remember forevermore now?
Dwight Gooden.

You can count on it just like you can count on either the Cubs or the Padres winning the National League pennant.

Earlier this season, when Mets' first baseman Keith Hernandez jokingly asked Darryl Strawberry, last year's Rookie of the Year, his reaction to the 19-year-old Gooden stealing some of his thunder with the media, the suddenly ancient 22-year-old Strawberry answered, "Yeah, I think it's good to let the kid get some of the ink now."

"The kid" doesn't have to worry about any ink. Gooden is getting so much, being bombarded with so many calls, he has had to cut off his phone.

He put himself in the record book with Monday night's performance against the Phillies when he struck out 16 batters in a game for the second straight time. That gave him 32 strikeouts for two consecutive games and 43 for three consecutive ones. Both those totals are records, wiping out the previous ones set by Sandy Koufax.

Gooden also ran his strikeouts for the season to 267, establishing a major league record for a rookie, so by this time, Monday night's game in Philadelphia is history to most people. They know what the Mets' rookie right-hander did.

By now, also, every umpire in the National League knows what Dwight Gooden SAID after that game, and that could turn out to have an even greater ultimate impact on his career than what he did.

One way or another, because they either heard it through the grapevine or read it in the papers, all the umpires are fully aware of what Gooden had to say after he lost that ball game to the Phillies, 2-1, when he let his hands drop while he was on the rubber facing Juan Samuel in the eighth inning and third base umpire Terry Tata called a balk on him enabling Philadelphia to score the go-ahead run.

"I knew right away it was a balk," Gooden told everyone. "I just prayed he (Tata) wouldn't catch me. It was a good call."

Right then and there, Dwight Gooden enshrined himself into the Umpires' Hall of Fame for all eternity.

Big deal, you say. You'd be surprised at how big a deal it actually is.

Umpires don't get too much praise. From anyone, least of all ballplayers, many of whom have about as much use for them as they have for newspapermen. On those rare, isolated occasions when a ballplayer does say something positive or nice about some umpire, particularly when what he has to say is completely unsolicited as it was in Gooden's case, all the umpires' antennae automatically go up. They never forget something like that. They appreciate it more than you could ever imagine. That's not saying they necessarily are going to give Gooden any big edge with the umpires the rest of the time he pitches, but it certainly won't hurt him any with them.

No matter what else you hear, umpires are human. If you don't believe it, ask them. They always speak about past players like Ted Williams and Dick Allen with regard and affection. And present ones like Steve Carlton, Tom Seaver and Steve Garvey. Why them? Because Williams and Allen never showed them up by questioning their calls. The same with Carlton, Seaver and Garvey. That means a lot to the umpires. It means a little extra when a Dwight Gooden says what he did.

"It means more than most people know," says Tom Gorman, who umpired in the National League for 25 years and now is a consultant working out of the league office.

"Very seldom does a ballplayer praise us. I know what happened to Gooden in Philadelphia Monday night and what he said after that balk was called on him. He took it like a real pro. The thing I can't get over is that he's only 19 and been up here in the big leagues only one season. I've seen him pitch several times and have watched him very closely. On a close pitch, one that's called against him, he'll never change his expression or attitude. You don't see him start hollering at the plate umpire, staring at him or throwing his hands in the air. You never see him register disgust so as to get the fans on his side and against the umpire. To me, that's a professional.

"The umpires know that when Gooden is pitching, he pitches and lets them umpire," Gorman goes on. "He's not looking for nothing for nothing. You can't say that about all pitchers."

What you can say about Dwight Gooden is that he can't miss winning the National League Rookie of the Year Award and will even get a lot of Cy Young votes. Of all the things you can say about the flame-throwing, 6-foot-2 right-hander from Tampa, I thought Dave Johnson had the most thoughtful comment when he was asked what he thought about what Gooden had to say about Tata's balk call against him.

"There's nothing wrong with being honest," said the Mets' manager.

Oakland Gives Moore 1-Year Contract

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Oakland manager Jackie Moore can finally unpack his bags. The A's have decided to let him stick around for a while.

Moore had been in the tenuous position of being the interim manager of the A's since Steve Boros was fired in May after the team got off to a 20-24 start.

A.L. Baseball

On Wednesday, Moore was given a one-year contract to manage the A's through the 1985 season.

Under his tutelage, Oakland has rolled to a 50-58 record and was in contention for three weeks in late August. The club's play, although not the greatest, still was good enough to satisfy team president Roy Eisenhardt.

The 45-year-old Moore said he was happy the rumors that have been circulating for weeks about his being asked to manage next year were true.

"Obviously, the rumors were true," he said. "It's a great day for Jackie Moore. It (managing) is something I've been looking forward to doing for a long time."

Moore's road to becoming a big league manager took many turns before he took the Oakland job.

Constitution Week DAR Chapter Celebrates 197th Birthday Of Famous Document

The Sallie Harrison Chapter of National Society Daughters of the American Revolution met at the Seminole County Agricultural Center in Sanford for the September meeting with Regent Mrs. E. Paul Kelly presiding.

The opening ritual was conducted by the chaplain, Mrs. W.B. Little, and past regent Mrs. W.S. Brumley Sr. led the chapter in the reading of the Preamble to the Constitution.

Mrs. Mills Boyd, vice-regent, read the message from president general Mrs. Walter Hughey King in which she emphasized Constitution Week and the principles of duty, honor and heritage.

Mrs. Paul Mickler, national defense chairman, spoke of the need for citizen participation in government beginning with the right to vote.

It was announced that Mayor Walter A. Sorenson of Lake Mary signed a proclamation designating the week of Sept. 17-24 as Constitution Week. Mayor Lee Moore was a special guest of the chapter and signed the document proclaiming Constitution Week Sept. 17-24.

Historian Mrs. Burch Cornelius reported on the Seminole County Museum and told of the History Fair, date tentatively set for March 23, 1985. Countywide participation is expected for this event which will depict early Seminole County activities by various organizations.

Kenneth Echols, curator of the School Board of Seminole County Student Museum and Center for the Social Studies, and Leslie Blau, social studies resource teacher, represented County Coordinator of Social Studies in Seminole County Schools James Elliot. They reported that all schools were notified of Constitution Week, marking the 197th anniversary of the signing.

Mrs. Mills Boyd introduced Donald Bates, social studies teacher at Jackson Heights Middle School, Oviedo, who has been recognized by the Florida State Chapter NSDAR as an outstanding teacher of American History. Bates was selected by Sallie Harrison Chapter as the outstanding teacher of American History in Seminole County. His resume, submitted to the state organization in competition with teachers throughout Florida, earned him second place in the state. He sets an exemplary standard for good citizenship by accepting responsibility and providing leadership in his school and his community. The Regent presented a medal and certificate to Bates who responded by thanking the chapter for promoting an interest in American history and love and respect for the United States.

Mrs. Brumley, Constitution Week Chairman, in her talk on the Constitution, turned the history pages back to that warm summer 197 years ago in Philadelphia when the delegates met to iron out problems and provide a constitution that would reflect the hopes and plans for the new nation. George Washington presided and most of the leading men of the new nation were in attendance. During the hot, tiresome summer the 55 delegates devised a remarkable plan for government, and in signing it they placed their property and lives in jeopardy. Mrs. Brumley said. Most states ratified after the first 10 amendments were added. Mrs. Brumley pointed out, and the first eight of these amendments became known as the Bill of Rights. The spirit and wording of the Constitution has remained constant through the years and the story of the framers and their struggle to write the document is certainly one the American people should not fire of reading. Mrs. Brumley said.

Regent Mrs. Paul Kelly was pleased to award a certificate from State Regent Mrs. Norman H. Merkel honoring Mrs. Brumley, past regent, for her support during regent Merkel's tenure of office. Mrs. Brumley received the award amid applause from the chapter.

Hostesses Mrs. T.K. Wiley and Mrs. Burch Cornelius served refreshments during the social hour.

Fuller-, Prescott Nuptials Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. David LeRoy Prescott Jr.

Kimberly Michelle Fuller and David LeRoy Prescott Jr. were married Aug. 18 in the gazebo of Centennial Park, Sanford. The Rev. Gordon Boone performed the 7 p.m., double ring ceremony.

Eugene E. Kronjaeber Jr. of Jacksonville, sang several nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deone Fuller, 133 Bedford Court, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Prescott, Lakeland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white lace gown fashioned with a high neckline, a lace yoke and a wide satin sash. A pearl-trimmed Juliet cap held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a formal cascade of pink and white silk roses interspersed with baby's breath. Christine Garrison of Sanford attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a blue gown and carried a cascade of blue and white silk roses.

Jim Ballard of Sanford served the bridegroom as best man. Ring bearers were Bruce and Charlie Bennett.

The reception, catered by Gail Rutherford, was held at Carriage Cove Clubhouse. The four-tiered cake with a fountain was made and served by Darlene Dowan.

After a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, the newlyweds re making their home on Lake Avenue in Sanford. The bridegroom is employed by Seminole County Road Department, is a member of the National Guard Reserves and is employed by Elite Security. The bride is a member of the 1985 class of Seminole High School.

Wedding Woes Weigh Heavy

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I plan to be married in June, and I would like to ask my brother and his wife to be honor attendants. My problem is that they are both quite overweight. It's important for me that everything for my wedding be as perfect as possible. Since there is plenty of time until the wedding, I would like to ask them to go on a diet. I know they can do it because they were both thin a few years ago.

Dear Abby

How can I make them understand that I am serious about the weight issue without hurting their feelings?

If they refuse to diet, I plan to ask others in their place.

SLIM SISTER

DEAR SLIM: I recommend that you ask others in their place right now. To invite your brother and his wife to be your "honor attendants" on the condition that they lose weight is no honor — it's an insult. Are overweight people any less loving than underweight people? And since you want everything for your wedding to be "perfect," what do you intend to do about your far-from-perfect values?

DEAR ABBY: Last night my wife and I went to our weekly bingo night with hopes of winning a few dollars to put toward outfitting the nursery for the baby we're expecting in three months.

The woman seated across from us heard our conversation about the baby and asked my wife how far along she was. My wife replied cheerfully, "Five and a half months — well beyond the critical period."

With a broad smile, the woman said, "Don't start planning yet. I gave birth to two dead babies before I had a family!"

Abby, how could anybody be so unthinking? It so happened that my wife's first pregnancy ended in a miscarriage, and this time we felt able to relax and plan for our baby.

When I told a friend about the incident, he said, "The lady was right, you know. Even if your wife makes it to the delivery room, the baby could be either stillborn or deformed, and you must be ready for that."

What should we say to these people?

EXPECTING IN CALGARY

DEAR EXPECTING: Don't waste your energy trying to think of something to say to insensitive and ignorant people. Try silence. It speaks volumes.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if the general public knows that the waiter or waitress has to pay the check if the person he or she served walks out without paying?

WILMINGTON, DEL., WAITRESS

DEAR WAITRESS: They do know.

BSP Chapter Honors Cheryl Burch

Xi Epsilon Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi began the fall season by selecting Cheryl Burch as its Valentine Girl at the first meeting.

Members also decided to devote all their efforts to one service project this year, the Sanford Gymnastic Association. The chapter hopes to provide financial support as well as volunteer work needed for building and landscaping the new building the association hopes to construct.

Members started a fund-raising campaign by holding a home party for household goods of which a percentage of the sales will be donated to the association.

A report was given on their Beginning Day social held in August at Farrell's restaurant.

The chapter welcomed Clarice McNeal as a special guest. She is a Beta Sigma Phi sister who recently moved to the Central Florida area from West Virginia.

The evening ended with a program on "Changes in Community Health Care" given by Cheryl Burch.

Attending were: Karen Hittell, Terry Owens, Cathy Markowicz, Cheryl Burch, Margo Shiver, Clarice McNeal, Nancy Hack, Pat Shaver, Melanie Bernosky and Lisa Porzig.

New Shows Score Well

NEW YORK (UPI) — ABC defeated CBS to lead the prime time ratings race last week but both networks had something to cheer about — new shows with hefty premiere night audiences. For NBC, in third place, the news wasn't so good. The combined ratings for all three networks inched up over the previous week, which means with original programming on the air more homes were tuned in. For CBS, the best news was that a special one-hour version of "E.R.," the hospital sitcom starring Elliott Gould, was No. 1 in the Nielsen list — the most watched network show for the week. ABC introduced two new series — "Hawaiian Heat," which ranked seventh, and "Glitter," which came in 12th. NBC's new "Punky Brewster" ranked 38th, competing on Sunday evening against the runaway NFL football game and "60 Minutes" on CBS. It did beat the ABC show in that slot. "Ripley's Believe It Or Not." In the evening news category, "CBS Evening News" with Dan Rather was the top rated program for the 125th consecutive week.

'Taxi' Star Escapes Jail On Assault Conviction

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television "Taxi" star and former boxer Tony Danza must serve 250 hours of community service for beating up a guard at a Manhattan restaurant.

The Brooklyn-born actor also was sentenced to three years of probation earlier this week by Criminal Court Judge Richard Corruthers. Danza, 33, faced a possible year in prison and

$1,000 fine for the assault conviction. "I am sorry about it and I hope the kids don't think I'm a bum," Danza said. Danza was convicted July 24 of assaulting guard William Sawyer, 35, of Manhattan, at the Mayflower Hotel last February after Sawyer tried to restrain the star for throwing food and using foul language.

Heart Spasms Often Difficult To Diagnose

DEAR DR. LAMB — I feel sorry for the people who write you about their paroxysmal tachycardia. I went through those heart spasms while trying to play college football for two years. Impossible! When I complained to anyone, I was labeled a goof-off or given sidelong glances by teammates. Doctors gave me perfect health grades, but they never saw me during an attack.

Could this be due to something other than cancer? DEAR READER — You have asked a question that is important for many people. Those tests for colon cancer are very important, because colon cancer is one of the top three causes for cancer deaths in both men and women. The tests help to find the cancer early, which makes it more likely that it can be cured. But the test is a screening test:

It identifies people who need further testing and does not make a diagnosis. The test only identifies blood in the stool, and blood in the stool can be caused by many other things that are not related to cancer at all. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1351, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Then, in 1945, I met a good family doctor in the Veteran's Administration and was introduced to quinidine. This changed my life. And today we have the beta blockers — in my case, Inderal. I take it if I feel a palpitation or two and have had no problems. I am 69 and have not had an attack in 15 years.

DEAR READER — Thank you for your words of encouragement for others. Your story points out that a person can have recurrent attacks of paroxysmal tachycardia (sudden rapid heart action) and live a full life. Such attacks do not mean a person is incapacitated in any way between attacks. It is quite true that little was known about such problems during your college days. Doctors still have a problem making a diagnosis without seeing the attack, or without having recorded it with the Holter monitor or by some other means.

Quinidine is very useful in controlling such irregularities and was the main medicine available when you were first treated for this disorder. There are now many different medicines that help to prevent such attacks and other types of heart irregularities. Almost all such problems can be controlled so that people don't have the problems you experienced.

There are many things besides medicine that can help control some heart irregularities. DEAR DR. LAMB — I am female, 22, and in good health, or so I thought until recently. I took a free colon-cancer test and the results came back positive. Now I am in the process of taking the test over again so they can test the specimen more thoroughly.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The adage that aggressive bidders make good declarers was borne out by the virtuoso performance of Rhoda Habert of Montreal in the play of today's deal. After North had overcalled with one no-trump, Rhoda jumped to three hearts. According to that partnership's bidding agreements, this was only an invitational bid, but North was delighted to accept.

The king of clubs won the first trick and West shifted to a low diamond. Rhoda played the diamond ace and king, and then called for dummy's queen of clubs. This play was crucial to declarer's success, since a low club would allow East to win the trick and make the obvious play of the nine of spades. Instead, West was on lead. He continued with another diamond. A spade was discarded from dummy as South won the queen. A heart to the ace allowed declarer to trump a third club, exhausting the last exit card in the West hand. Now a heart placed West back on lead with the king, forcing him to lead away from the spade king.

Perhaps poor West should have unblocked the heart king on the ace, hoping that his partner held the queen, but that would have been to no avail.

Nicely bid, Rhoda, and played even better!

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 21, 1984

Your imagination and resourcefulness will play key roles this coming year in advancing your status. There's room for you at the top if you use your ingenuity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may experience a disappointment today when someone you treated generously in the past fails to reciprocate in a similar manner. Major changes are in store for Virgo in the coming year. Send for your year ahead predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Find out the cost before letting a friend commit you to a social activity today. You might feel the expense will not be worth it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

It's likely that you will conduct your material affairs in a successful manner today, but you might not be equally as skillful in handling social relationships.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) For someone who is normally positive and optimistic, you may unduly waste a lot of time today worrying about things that will never happen.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A friend upon whom you can normally depend may be either unable or unwilling to assist you today, but someone you'd least expect will fill the gap.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Someone with whom you are collectively involved is taking a much sterner view of things than you may realize. Be careful how you handle this situation.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be cautious today regarding tasks you delegate to subordinates. They may lack your skills and proficiency and mess up something you could have handled easily.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Strive to be clever and bright in your personal dealings today, not selfish or tricky. If you step out of character you may get stung.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It will be beat in the long run not to make promises today where you agree to one thing, but inwardly intend to do something different.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you continue to put off a specific task you know you should be attending to, it will eventually catch up with you and be double the work later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have good earning ability today, yet conversely you could also make some rather foolish expenditures. Don't squander your funds.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might not be able to operate as freely as you like today, owing to restrictions imposed upon you by others. Try not to strain at the leash.
