Political Races Taking Shape In Four Seminole Cities

By DONNA ESTES
 Herald Staff Writer

Four Seminole County cities — Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood and Casselberry — are preparing for municipal elections, Dec. 7.

The stakes — 10 city commission or council seats and a mayoral post.

Sanford City Commissioners Milton Smith and David Farr are up for re-election. Both qualified to run immediately after the qualifying period opened Sept. 8. No one else has qualified.

The candidate qualifying period closes at noon, Nov. 2. Smith is completing a split two-year term while Farr is completing a four-year term.

Longwood, meanwhile, opened its candidate qualifying period for two city commission seats Friday. The qualifying period will close at 5 p.m. Oct. 22.

Up for election are four-term City Commissioner J. R. Grant and Timothy O'Leary who is completing his first two-year term.

Former commissioner Bill Mitchell may oppose O'Leary.

In Casselberry, three City Council seats are to be filled. Up for grabs are the seats held by three-term Councilman Frank Schutte; Councilman Bill Grier, who has served in city government for 11 years; and Jim Lavigne, who resigned earlier in an unsuccessful bid for the State House of Representatives.

Qualifying in Casselberry opens Oct. 22 and closes Nov. 7. The most exciting race in the four cities is shaping up in Lake Mary.

There, three council seats are open as well as the mayor's office. The seats are held by Dick Fess and Ken King. In addition, with the resignation of Councilman Gene McDonald, the one year remaining in his term will have to be filled.

Friday, Councilman Vic Olvera learned that he cannot run for mayor because he failed to resign from his council seat 10 days before the candidate qualifying period began Tuesday as required by state law.

"I just hope the people who were going to support me are not disappointed," Olvera said Friday. "I hope they will support the right person," he said, adding that he is not prepared to name who he will support for the mayor's job.

Walter Sorenson, who has served as mayor for eight years, announced he is seeking re-election.

And Fess is delaying a decision on whether he will run for mayor or return to the council until Oct. 29, the last day to qualify.

Fess is completing his first term in office. King, also completing his first term, has picked up qualifying papers and is expected to run for re-election.

Former Councilman Burt Perinchieff, also picked up qualifying papers Friday and said he will be running for the remainder of McDonald's term.

Florida Bans Tylenol; Spot Checks Begun

Sanford pharmacies, supermarkets and area hospitals are complying with a state order for removal of all extra strength and regular Tylenol capsules from the shelves.

The Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services ordered a statewide ban on sales of the capsule Friday after a survey found it was still being offered for sale in many stores.

Tylenol capsules containing cyanide have been blamed for several deaths in Illinois.

Tylenol's manufacturer, McNeil Consumer Products Co., has issued a nationwide withdrawal of the product in capsule form. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has supported the company's action but has not imposed a nationwide ban on sales.

The agency stressed that no contaminated Tylenol had been found in Florida yet.

The agency said it took the action because a random survey of stores throughout the state Thursday found more than 8 percent still offering Tylenol capsules on their shelves.

Under the order, Florida retail outlets are legally bound to discontinue selling the capsules and remove them from their shelves. Failure to do so could result in criminal charges.

While the extra strength Tylenol capsules were taken from the shelves and off the floors at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford last Saturday, Barry Koven, a pharmacist technician said they removed all Tylenol capsules and tablets from those shelves today in light of the new HRS order.

Koven, confirmed the regular strength Tylenol capsules and tablets were removed from the shelves today and added the pharmacy will continue to dispense liquid Tylenol until determined whether that too should be removed.

"We only had one patient last week who was on extra strength Tylenol capsules ordered by his doctor, but as soon as the warning was issued, we took him off that medication," Koven said.

A spokesman at Florida Hospital-Altamonte said all extra strength Tylenol capsules were removed from pharmacy shelves, adding the hospital does not use regular strength Tylenol capsules.

A spot check of Sanford stores showed all contacted had already removed regular as well as extra strength Tylenol from their shelves prior to the latest order.

At Eckerd's Drugs in Sanford Plaza, manager Ann Norelli said, "We've taken all Tylenol capsules and liquids off, even the cold remedies. The tablets are all right."

A spokesman for Kmart, Sanford, said he thought the capsules had all been removed from the store's shelves on Friday.

Spokesmen for Walgreen's, Publix, Super X Drugs, Cumberland Farms, and 7-Eleven all said the products had been taken off their shelves.

Playgrounds are a favorite location from which parents abduct children not in their custody. Child snatching is a growing problem in American society because of a sky rocketing divorce rate. Police say it is a problem with virtually no solution.

Child Snatching: The Bitter Dregs Of Divorce

By MICHAEL BEHA
 Herald Staff Writer

To Harvey Morse, recovering abducted children is a personal thing.

Morse is a private investigator, regarded by national authorities as one of the foremost specialists in recovering abducted children.

Three years ago his own child was snatched by his ex-wife. Morse, who operates Locaters International in Winter Park, had his son taken to Seminole County. The boy was back in his custody within 24 hours but the red tape involved in getting him back—legally—is something Morse lives with every day.

Morse said it only took a couple hours to get his son back. But to clear up the paper work on who had legal custody, it took the better part of a day.

"There is no central custody register," he said. "There should be a computer where a judge can see whether the parent has been given custody."

And as divorces become more prevalent, child snatching becomes a more common occurrence. In Seminole County, where there is a high divorce rate, abductions are an everyday occurrence, Morse said.

"It's related directly to the number of divorces," Morse said. "There are 100,000 child abductions in the United States every year."

Sanford Police Sgt. William Bernosky said a parent will usually go immediately into another state after abducting a child. Because most states do not have reciprocal agreements, the parent with legal custody can do very little to get the child back legally.

"Possession is nine-tenths of the law," Bernosky said.

He said police are reluctant to get involved in child snatching cases because "it's a damn near impossible to check the records to see who has custody."

Morse agreed that law enforcement agencies are not usually receptive to child abduction cases. "It's one crime that usually commences with a civil matter."

"We work to support laws to prevent child abduction," Morse said. "The Uniform Child Custody Jurisdictional Act is a bill which would mean one state will respect another state's custody order."

That bill has been submitted to Congress for action.

Cinzano

Confusion Over Displaying Name Lingers 1 Year After

By TENI YARBOROUGH
 Herald Staff Writer

Nearly one year later, local confusion over Cinzano remains.

Cinzano is a wine imported by Coca-Cola through a subsidiary, the Wine Spectrum, according to the company's local marketing manager. That's not the problem.

The problem, which came to light last October, was that at least two south Seminole County restaurants were using Cinzano-labeled umbrellas to shade picnic tables outside of their respective establishments.

According to Capt. Jack Wallace of the district Division of Alcoholic Beverages, Tobacco and Lottery in Orlando, it is a violation of state law for a liquor-licensed establishment to advertise any form of alcoholic beverage outside of their building. Noble Romans Pizza restaurant in Longwood was one establishment that used the umbrellas bearing the Cinzano trademark. T.G.I. Friday's restaurant in Altamonte Springs was another.

Because the umbrellas were deteriorating and after restaurant managers were alerted to the law regarding advertising alcoholic beverages, the umbrellas came down at Noble Romans.

Today, there are no umbrellas of any kind shading tables in front of the pizza restaurant.

Meanwhile, the manager of T.G.I. Friday's restaurant said last year he was aware of the law and that his company had directed that the C in Cinzano be painted to read Oinzano, a meaningless word.

According to Wallace, Oinzano is not advertising a liquor or wine and is not violating the law with regard to outdoor advertising of alcoholic beverages.

But when Coca-Cola officials were asked last October by a Herald reporter if they were aware of the altered trademark and if they approved of the change, the company's marketing manager said Coca-Cola did not approve of the change and that they would suggest that no further alterations of the name be made.

According to Friday's manager Rita Wilmon, who has managed the Altamonte Springs restaurant for the past three months, "I was not aware of the incidents last year surrounding the umbrellas." Last week, "we had new umbrellas that read 'Cinzano' and the painter was going to fill in the C's to make them read 'Oinzano.'"

"However, because of the information that Coca-Cola may have concerns about the alterations, I will not put the umbrellas back up until I have contacted our legal offices for their opinion and instruction," she said.

Officials at Friday's corporate legal offices could not be reached for comment concerning the issue.

Last year, Coca-Cola officials indicated they did not intend to take immediate action against the restaurant for altering the Cinzano name but that they would be watching the situation to ensure it doesn't become a widespread practice.

This three-bedroom, two-bath house in Hidden Lake, will be sold at auction Nov. 13 with the proceeds going to the Central Florida Zoo.

Qualify Now For Financing

Zoo House Auction Nov. 13

By JANE CASSELBERRY
 Herald Staff Writer

Potential bidders interested in buying the Residential Communities of America Zoo House in Hidden Lake subdivision in Sanford may prequalify for financing now for the Nov. 13 auction.

More than 70 local businesses, RCA and the city of Sanford have donated goods and services and the net proceeds from the sale of the three-bedroom, two-bath house will benefit the Central Florida Zoo.

FHA and VA financing is available for the house, which is located on Hidden Lake Drive between Lake Mary Boulevard and Airport Boulevard.

"We are attempting to get potential buyers lined up," said Dick Citron, director of sales for RCA, and to verify their credit so they and we would know if they were that successful bidder that they would qualify for financing."

Applications are available without obligation at the RCA model home office at 209 Meadow Hills in Hidden Lake. "We don't know what the house will bring at auction, but it will probably be somewhere around the suggested list price of $34,970, including amenities," he said.

"The availability of financing does not preclude a buyer from paying cash if they prefer," Citron added. The auction, which will be conducted by a professional auction firm, will be held on the Zoo House site at 3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 13, and will be an open auction without reserve, he explained.

"But should the bid be ridiculously low, our firm would probably buy it back with the zoo still getting its share," he added. He said the $8,000 price of the lot will be deducted from the proceeds.

"We have donated our overhead and time, etcetera, connected with the construction and promotion of the project," he said.

"The response has been excellent and we expect a successful auction," said Citron. "The principals of RCA have been very interested in and involved with the zoo for a long time and came up with the idea of the zoo house to raise money."

The house has a two-car garage and an amenity package consisting of blinds and drapes, landscaping, an automatic underground lawn sprinkler system, a 15 cubic feet refrigerator-freezer with ice maker; an electric washer and dryer, an automatic food disposal, double oven-range with built in microwave; tub and shower enclosure, plush pile carpeting, overhead paddle fan in the living room and a dining room chandelier.

Citron said the house is due for completion Oct. 15 and will be open for viewing by calling the Hidden Lake office at 323-9091 or by going to the model home office.

Gunman Holds Off Police In Amtrak Sleeper Car

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—Authorities talked through the morning to a Spanish-speaking gunman holed up with his wife and two young children in a sleeping car of Amtrak's Silver Star, attempting to convince him to give himself up.

Police Chief Frederick Heineman said authorities did not plan to rush the car although there were fears the man's wife might be dead. The standoff began 7:20 a.m. Friday when the man, apparently enraged by a crying child, fired three shots just before the Florida-to-New York train arrived in Raleigh.

"The sleeping car, the car immediately ahead of it and the one behind it, were detached from the Silver Star as about 150 people were evacuated from the train. The other cars of the train were reassembled and the other passengers resumed their trip north at midday Friday.

Another Tylenol Death?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Officials investigating the cyanide deaths of seven people who took Extra-Strength Tylenol have discounted an extortion letter demanding $1 million from the makers of the pain reliever.

The letter demanding $1 million to prevent more Tylenol poisonings is not "relevant" to the hunt for the person who spiked the capsules with cyanide, state Attorney General Tyrone Fahner said Friday.

The prominent businessman whose name was signed to the letter voluntarily underwent questioning by the FBI Friday and authorities said he has likely the victim of a hoax—possibly carried out by disgruntled ex-employees of a travel agency he once owned.

A Chicago police detective was dispatched to Sheridan, Wyo., to help decide if the death July 26 of Jay Adam Mitchell was linked to the deaths of seven Chicago-area people killed by Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules filled with cyanide.

Lethal amounts of cyanide were detected in Mitchell's body, Wyoming officials said. Mitchell's mother said Mitchell, 19, used Tylenol but the autopsy did not find any traces of the pain reliever.

Wall Street's Winning Ways

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investors speculating the Federal Reserve would cut its discount rate were winners as the stock market wrapped up the second biggest week in its history with prices hitting a 16-month high.

The Dow Jones Industrial average soared 20.88 points Friday to 966.55, the highest level since it finished at 992.87 on June 26, 1981.

And right after the market closed, the Fed announced it was cutting the discount rate it charges members a half point to 9.5 percent next Tuesday.

Mellon Bank in Pittsburgh responded to the Fed action by lowering its prime lending rate to 12 1/2 percent. Other banks may follow suit next week.

Bus, Truck Crash Kills 9

LEMOORE, Calif. (UPI)—Eight children and a minister's wife driving them to church school died in a grinding collision between their bus and a truck-trailer rig that had swerved to miss a stalled car.

Only two of the 11 people in the Baptist Church school van survived the Friday wreck that left Bibles and lunch boxes among the mangled bodies.

Boy Critical After Bike-Truck Crash

By TENI YARBOROUGH
 Herald Staff Writer

A 13-year-old Sanford boy was in critical condition Saturday in the intensive care unit at Florida Hospital-Orlando after he was struck by a truck at about 8 a.m. Friday when he apparently rode his bicycle into the vehicle's path.

John Lewis, 13, son of John G. and Barbara Lewis, of 207 Laurel Drive, was transferred from Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford to the Orlando hospital for treatment of broken bones and internal injuries, hospital officials said.

"Apparently, the boy crossed 27th Street just east of the designated crosswalk into the path of the truck and was hit," said Herb Shea, assistant to Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler. Shea said that no charges were filed against the truck driver, adding that no other injuries were reported in the crash.

WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY TO KIDNAPPING

A south Seminole County woman is facing life in prison after pleading guilty to a kidnapping charge Wednesday in connection with the abduction of a 20-year-old Orlando man.

Helen Diane Reese, Plantation Apartments, at 2100 Howell Branch Road, pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi to kidnapping Carl Vitner, of Orlando, from an Orlando restaurant on Jan. 31.

Ms. Reese is one of six people who were charged in the kidnapping which reportedly stemmed from a drug deal that had gone sour, deputies said.

Vitner testified previously that he and another man were middlemen in a cocaine deal and that his partner had betrayed Ms. Reese and Billy W. Wheeler of Hialeah in the drug exchange.

Deputies said Vitner was kidnapped from the Orlando restaurant, taken to a Maitland apartment where he was bound and held for 30 hours before he managed to escape.

Wheeler, who was also charged with kidnapping and entered his guilty plea Tuesday, is awaiting sentencing along with Ms. Reese.

Ms. Reese's roommate, Mary Ann Brown, her boyfriend, Mark Beck and friends, Kendall Graham Williams and John Pyatt, were reportedly also involved in the kidnapping, deputies said.

Charges against Ms. Brown were later dropped by the state in exchange for her testimony and although Beck was never charged in the incident, he was granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for his testimony in court, prosecutors said.

Williams pleaded guilty to false imprisonment and Pyatt

Oceanfront Home Dream Out Of Reach For Most

United Press International

The dream of many for a cottage among the sand dunes where one can be lulled to sleep by the lapping waves and the breeze whispering through the sea oats is just about out of reach.

Oceanfront property in Florida is becoming so expensive that the days of the single-family residence on the seashore may be numbered.

Real estate brokers around the state report that in some highly urban areas, beachfront property is simply not available. Elsewhere, undeveloped lots can still be purchased, mainly from speculators who tied up large tracts years ago, but at rapidly climbing prices.

Significant stretches of Florida's 1,197 miles of coastline — the longest of any state except Alaska — are already beyond the resources of all but development corporations and the very wealthy.

In Sarasota and Manatee counties, "land for single family housing is almost gone because the cost is so restrictive," said George Hauser, president of Whispering Sands Realty Inc. on Siesta Key.

"What there is going for $3,000 a front foot," said Al Kipp, manager of Carl Bowen Realty at Anna Maria. "There is some land available but costwise it would be prohibitive for single family housing."

In Daytona Beach, Dick Brown, secretary-treasurer of Haywood Brown Realty, said, "There are very few oceanfront lots in this area and that's been the case for a long time... There are few houses available and they are ones that nobody is buying. People just can't afford them."

One force behind the rising prices is foreign investment, particularly in south Florida.

"Most of the oceanfront properties (in Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties) are purchased by non-Americans for investment," said Charles Kimball, an authority on coastal property in that area. "Of all the major commercial property sold in south Florida, over one-third is bought by foreigners."

Even in generally undeveloped areas, the market for beach property is under an upward pressure, due in part to the entry of a new buyer — the state.

Despite the unavailability of lots in many areas, the skyrocketing prices, the insurance problem and construction limitations, many Floridians still maintain the hope of someday living on the shore. Those already there swear by it.

VERMOTTA HALL

KIMBERLY BYRD

2 Score High On NAS Test

The National Achievement Scholarship Program for outstanding Negro Students has named two Seminole High School seniors on a commendation list which commends their performance on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Kimberly D. Byrd, 16, daughter of Joyce Byrd of 2041 Henri Avenue in Sanford and Vermotta K. Hall, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hall of 3563 Main St. in Sanford, placed in the upper 7 percent of some 70,000 students who took the qualifying test and requested consideration in the 1983 National Achievement Scholarship Program.

Byrd and Hall are among the 3,000 black students nationwide whose performance on the test places them on a roster which is being sent to about 1,300 four-year, regionally accredited U.S. Colleges and Universities which will be offering admission and financial aid opportunities to the commended students.

Hall, whose campus activities include the Student Government Association and publications, has indicated a career choice in computer science or engineering and is leaning toward the University of Florida.

Byrd, who has been a Seminole cheerleader for three years, and is currently serving as captain, also served as a student government representative and has held numerous class offices and was selected as last year's prom queen. She is pointing toward a career in fashion merchandising or interior decorating.

BUSINESS IN BRIEF

Publix To Have Sun Bank Teller Machines

Sun Banks of Florida and Publix Super Markets have signed an agreement to enable over a quarter-million Sun Bank customers with access cards to make cash withdrawals from automated teller machines in Publix supermarkets across the state. The Publix ATMs also will accept Sun Bank deposits in most locations.

It is expected that Sun Bank customers in south and central Florida will be able to use the Publix ATMs during the first quarter of next year with ATM usage at other Publix stores to follow.

"Sun has 161 ATMs and a similar number of banking offices in Florida. With Publix planning to install more than 250 ATMs in its supermarkets, the resulting network will provide great convenience for customers of both companies," said Donovan Butler, executive vice president of Sun Banks of Florida.

Bank Promotes Burke

John B. Burke, president of ComBank-Fairville, has announced Suellen Erwin has been promoted from operations officer at ComBank-Winter Park to assistant branch manager of ComBank-Fairville's Silver Star Office.

Erwin began her ComBank career in May 1980 by serving as a new accounts representative with the Altamonte Office. She then joined Casselberry where she was promoted to administrative officer and later transferred to ComBank-Winter Park also as administrative officer.

Banks Reach Agreement

Southeast and Florida National Banks, of Florida Inc., have reached an agreement in principle for an exchange by Florida National of certain banking offices and related real estate for Florida National common stock and cash from Southeast. This agreement has been approved by the Executive Committees of both the Southeast and Florida National Boards of Directors.

Specifically, Southeast and Florida National have agreed to proceed promptly to negotiate and execute a definitive agreement that provides for the exchange by Florida National of seven of its banks which operate 16 banking offices, the nine Palm Beach County banking offices that are subject to a purchase agreement between Florida National and Barnett Banks of Florida, Inc., and certain real estate located in downtown Miami. Southeast, in turn, would give Florida National 1,734,203 shares of Florida National common stock which Southeast now owns, or has the right to acquire, and would reimburse Florida National approximately $19.5 million for the nine Palm Beach County offices.

State Economic Indicators Are Staying Level

The Florida Trendline of economic indicators measured 119.3 in its last reading, showing no change from the same time last year despite strong year-to-year gains in the finance sector, according to figures just released in the Florida Trend business magazine.

The key factors causing the economic stagnation are the continuous weakness in the construction industry and declines in the agriculture, mining and manufacturing sectors, the magazine reported.

On the positive side of the economic picture, cash receipts for crops and livestock posted month-to-month increases in April and May after a two-month drop earlier this year. Sales tax collections in June were up 19.4 percent because of the May 1 increase in Florida's sales tax.

Taxable sales, however, were down 4.5 percent in June from the same month last year. Private construction expenditures also declined—down 20.1 percent in June from June 1981. The total number of construction units fell 21.6 percent in the year-to-year period.

New corporation filings were up 5 percent in June from June 1981. July bankruptcy filings were down slightly from June, but up 9 percent from July last year.

There were 3.1 percent more persons employed in Florida in June than in the same month last year, but the number of unemployed was up 25.2 percent. Florida's unadjusted unemployment rate in July was 7.5 percent (9.8 percent nationwide).

The magazine's September issue also reported Bob Graham, the 38th governor of Florida, appears to be a shoo-in for reelection, and he's sure to carry the business vote with him.

As one Florida business leader who's voting for Graham put it, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it. So why change governors?" The governor's widespread popularity can be attributed to his success in serving up a mixture of programs with something for everybody.

Two New Restaurants Will Open In Sanford

Two new Sanford restaurants are slated to open this month.

Mr. Cap's Restaurant and Lounge at 2700 S. Sanford Ave., at the corner of 27th Street has scheduled its grand opening with an open house on Oct. 17.

Frank Bollen's Catering Service, Inc., of Altamonte Springs has taken over the lease at the restaurant and lounge at the Sanford Airport and is scheduling a grand opening later this month.

Dot and Nick Capaccio, owners and operators of Mr. Cap's, said both interior and exterior renovations are being completed at the restaurant which was closed for the last two years before the Capaccios bought the facility.

In the restaurant business for the past 31 years, the new owners are former Massachusetts residents and operated a restaurant in Tampa previously.

Capaccio said the lounge area is being refurbished to give it an intimate atmosphere. The restaurant will feature American food—prime rib, steaks and seafood — and Italian food — veal, chicken and other Italian specialties.

The open house for Mr. Cap's is tentatively scheduled for Oct. 17 when the public will be invited for free Hors d'oeuvres from 8 a.m. to noon.

Bollen said the airport restaurant when renovations are completed will be open seven days a week from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., serving three meals daily. In addition, a banquet room seating 250 persons will be available for rentals.

In the catering business for the past 15 years mostly in Orange County, Bollen moved his operations to an Altamonte Springs headquarters a spring ago.

He said his firm can cater anything anyone desires.

Research Survey Forecasts New Florida Housing Boom On Horizon

An MGT Market Research survey of public opinion statewide show that the greatest housing boom in Florida history is waiting to happen — just as soon as interest rates come down.

"Eighteen percent of Florida families are in the market for a home today but are holding off on buying one," said Dr. W. Kenneth Boutwell, Chairman of the Board of MGT, a Tallahassee-based opinion research firm.

"That translates into some 740,000 families across the state who want to buy a home," said Boutwell.

"By far the most important reason people are delaying is high interest rates. Some 63 percent of those in the market for a new home say they are only waiting for interest rates to drop. They are not as concerned about high housing prices as high interest rates."

Only 16 percent said they are waiting for home prices to come down before they buy. However, most don't expect that to happen, said Boutwell.

"It's not the cost of the house that is the main problem today. It's the exorbitant cost of the money to buy the use."

"We've concluded that a drop in mortgage lending rates to the 10 percent to 12 percent range would trigger a record surge in home-buying in Florida. Unfortunately, that doesn't seem to be on the immediate horizon."

Conventional mortgage rates are currently running about 15 percent with up-front discount rates averaging 3 points. The delay is obviously affecting some groups more than others. Some 31 percent of the young adults—in the 18 to 34 year age group—are delaying. So are 40 percent of those with children under five years of age; 44 percent of people who are currently renting; 37 percent of new residents who have lived in Florida less than one year; and 21 percent of those who have lived in Florida between two and five years.

With the exception of those with annual household incomes between $35,000 and $48,999, all income groups have about the same percentage (19 percent-25 percent) that are waiting to buy a home.

Only three "demographic" categories of Floridians are clearly not in the market for a new home.

Among citizens who are over 55 years of age and those who are retired, only 8 percent say they are interested in buying a home.

And of those earning income between $35,000 and $50,000, only 9 percent are in the market for a home. The big majority of these people, of course, already own homes.

"Interestingly, among Floridians making over $50,000, fully 26 percent say they would like to purchase a home," said Boutwell. "That indicates a substantial unmet market for luxury housing in this state."

When asked specifically why they were delaying the purchase of a home, 63 percent were waiting for lower interest rates; 18 percent for lower housing prices; 31 percent for a job promotion or higher income; and 28 percent for other factors. (The percentages above total more than 100 percent because some respondents gave more than one reason.)

Among groups with the largest percentage delaying a home purchase, high interest rates were by far the number one reason given. Here is how they responded:

	Interest Rates	Income	Other
Young Adults	64pct.	17pct.	28pct.
Young Families	67pct.	20pct.	22pct.
Renters	61pct.	14pct.	25pct.
In Florida Less than Five Years	57pct.	26pct.	23pct.

In Florida homeowners outnumber renters by a margin of 78 percent to 22 percent. Here are the breakdowns on home owners versus renters by age group:

Age Bracket	Own	Rent
18-34 years of age	60pct.	40pct.
35-54	79pct.	21pct.
Over 55	91pct.	9pct.

The 1980 Census showed there were 3,744,254 family units in Florida with an average of 2.6 persons per household. Today, MGT estimates there are approximately four million individual households in the state.

Lake Mary Charter Revisions To Be On Dec. 7 Ballot

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Council has given its preliminary approval to a three-part city charter revision being placed on the city election ballot Dec. 7.

But on at least two of the issues, the approval was given only because the council had given its collective word to a charter revision committee that the fruits of their work would go on the ballot as written.

Particularly difficult for the councilmen to approve—and all four present Thursday night said so—is the proposal that four of the five councilmen will be elected within districts by the residents of those districts only. The fifth councilman and the mayor will run at large.

The first to vote on the districting ordinance to become part of the city charter if voters give their ratification was Councilman Ray Fox. "I'm 150 percent against this, but I have given my word," he said.

Councilman Gene McDonald said, "I also," while voting yes. Councilman Kenneth King said, "I too" and Councilman Vic Olvera said, "Amen." Councilman Dick Fess was absent.

On a second proposal which would extend council terms from two years to four years, Olvera voted no and McDonald said he wished his colleague hadn't. After Fox and King also voted in favor, McDonald slapped his fist against the council table and swallowed several times before voting "yes."

The major proposal, amending the charter in detail, includes sections changing the council's name to a city commission; changing city elections from December to September; providing for four positive votes from the council to override a mayor's veto and eliminating runoff elections by calling for candidates to be elected by a plurality rather than a majority.

Bill Durrenberger of the city's planning and zoning commission said changing from a majority to a simple plurality will have a lot of ramifications. "With this provision, 30 to 40 people could elect a councilman," he said. "This could end up being a problem."

Al Wichman of the charter revision committee noted few people turn out to vote at a runoff election and McDonald said the cost of a runoff also was considered by the committee. "Certainly some people think that section is a flaw," said

Durrenberger, urging that the section be separated from the detailed charter proposal so voters could vote on it by itself.

McDonald responded that the proposal isn't a flippant one. "It is a major thought of the charter revision committee," McDonald said, adding he personally doesn't agree with it.

In other business, the council opened bids for two pickup trucks from McInerney Ford, Bob Dance Dodge, Don Reed Ford, Joe Creamons and Seminole Ford. City Manager Phil Kubas was asked to review the bids and give the council his recommendation. The council also gave preliminary approval to ordinances changing the zoning from office commercial to single family residential at 141 E. Wilbur requested by Steve Grier; changing the zoning from single family and office-commercial to commercial at the northwest corner of Country Club Road and Lake Mary Avenue as requested by Douglas B. McBrayer; and amending the zoning regulations to include child day care nurseries and churches in commercial zoning.

Bar-B-Q For Sturm

A fund-raising barbecue to benefit the campaign of Bob French, candidate for the Seminole County Commission in the Nov. 2 general election will be held Oct. 15.

The barbecue is slated for 3 to 5 p.m. at Lake Golden Park near the Sanford airport. Tickets are $10 per person.

French, a Democrat, who previously served a four-year term on the commission, is running against first term incumbent Bob Sturm, a Republican from Lake Mary.

FALLING FOR ART
More than 135 artists and craftsmen set up their displays on the sidewalks of downtown Sanford Saturday morning for the annual Fall for Art show sponsored by the Sanford-Seminole Art Association and the Downtown Business Association. Free to the public, the show will also be open noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

If a child is abducted, parents should keep their phone number, and list it with an answering service if they move to another town. That way, if the child remembers his phone number someone will be notified. If repeated abductions or attempts have occurred, parents might want to consider a private school. Morse said parents often make it more difficult to find the abducted child by not reporting the abduction.

NEW OFFICE POLICY . . . MOST INSURANCE ASSIGNMENTS ACCEPTED WITH NO EXTRA OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES BEYOND POLICY REQUIREMENTS

We are happy to announce a "NEW OFFICE POLICY — MOST INSURANCE ASSIGNMENTS ACCEPTED WITH NO EXTRA OUT-OF-POCKET EXPENSES BEYOND POLICY REQUIREMENTS."

What does this mean to you? You pay absolutely nothing, we accept whatever your insurance company pays, you pay no deductible whatsoever. If your policy calls for $50.00 deductible per year, you pay us nothing. If your policy pays 80 percent after the deductible you still pay nothing. The reason we are doing this is because we understand that many people and many families have members who need treatment for some health problems and find it difficult to pay the deductible to acquire health care. This way, it costs you and your family absolutely nothing out-of-your-pocket for health care in our office.

Bucking The Odds Paid Off For Sanford's 'Cosmetics Queen'

By DORIS DIETRICH
PEOPLE Editor

Downtown Sanford just won't be the same without Nora Gordon.

Tuesday morning Nora turned over the keys to her fashionable boutique to the new owner Connie Ceynowa. It's been a short, sweet 11 years for the attractive businesswoman who bucked the odds and opened Merle Norman Cosmetics & Boutique in the community labeled agriculture—a community that wouldn't support a cosmetics shoppe. Farm women don't need cosmetics, Nora was informed.

In fact, a merchant grumbled in protest, "Just what Sanford needs—a cosmetics shop."

You bet it does, Nora retaliated in silence. "My customers are not just customers," Nora says. "They're friends who come in to visit—to talk—to look. I never push them or pounce on them."

Savvy. Style. Sophistication.

That's Nora Gordon. Married to William (Bill) Clement Gordon for 53 years, Nora recalls the Great Depression years when money was hard to come by. "If you ever make any money, I'm going to buy anything I want," Nora said she promised Bill.

"Honey if I make it, you can buy the world if you want it," Bill said back then.

Nora was born a Southern Belle in Louisville, Ky. Was Nora born a liberated Southern Belle? "Heavens yes! Anything else would be unheard of," she laughed. Her father was a contractor—builder and travel was a way of life for the family who lived in such Northern places as Chicago and Detroit—wherever work beckoned. Nora was educated in private and boarding schools.

With her sights set on modeling, sure enough her first job was as a fashion model. "But I didn't consider it a job—I considered it a fun thing," she said. Even then she had a flair for fashion.

Nora got a taste of pageants while Bill was in South America during World War II. She modeled in Miami while awaiting his return, and assisted with the Miss Miami Pageant.

After Bill's discharge, the family moved to Oak Ridge, Tenn., where Bill was a project engineer with Union Carbide. The project was so classified that employees were unaware they were working on the atom bomb.

The Gordons lived in Oak Ridge for 28 years where Nora was a homemaker in addition to teaching charm and modeling classes and heading up a local radio show.

Nora says she loved her children, (Cornelia Wiley of Muskogee, Okla., and James William Gordon, Sanford) "but I decided I could do more than one thing. You have to be an individual. A heavy dose of housework and child care is enough."

Nora conducted and coordinated a Miss Teen-age America Pageant (preliminaries) in Oak Ridge and chaperoned the winner to Dallas, Texas where she was approached to work for the Miss Teen-age America National Pageant.

With but a little arm-twisting, Nora accepted the job which lasted 15 years. She traveled throughout the then United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Mexico and Alaska setting up franchises and pageants. She says she enjoyed every minute of it. "I traveled so much I felt like buying my own airplane," she quipped. "You know people are so wonderful the world over—I never found people to be rude or discourteous."

When Bill retired, he confronted Nora about moving to Sanford. They had vacationed in Daytona and Sanford where the Mayfair Inn was luxuriously flourishing. Also, Bill had a brother in Sanford adding to sports hunting and fishing that were so attractive to him.

But Nora wasn't too sure. "It was a much smaller and less active town than I was used to." Later she said, "I found the people friendly. Sanford has a way of growing on you."

Still working with Miss Teen-age America Pageant when the Gordons decided to make the retirement move to Sanford, Nora thought, "The town is small—not a lot going on. I felt like I needed more than retiring in a small town. I looked around. Opening a shop in a small town might be a fun thing. I had applied to pick up a Merle Norman franchise. I decided to open up my own business."

Strong-willed and wrapped up in ideas, Nora got serious about a business venture that she felt would enhance downtown Sanford. "I can think of nothing that goes better together like fashions and cosmetics," she pointed out.

"Starting a business in a small town is a challenge and I like a challenge. In spite of slow growth, my business has prospered. I have done quite well," Nora says.

When Nora Gordon opened her boutique 11 years ago on Park Avenue, she started out with cosmetics, a few gift

Right at home among hundreds of containers of cosmetics, Nora Gordon is one of downtown Sanford's most loyal supporters. She served two terms as president of the Downtown Business Association, among other civic accomplishments.

Winkie LeFils, mother of eight, has received national recognition for her stand on women's issues.

Winkie LeFils: From Homemaker To National Scene

A Star Of The First Magnitude

By LINDA HOLT
Special To The Herald

The little town of Osteen has a star in its midst. Winkie LeFils is a star of the first magnitude whether in a group of friends or with strangers.

Sparking, Winkie is admired by close friends who clearly admire her and reflect her shining qualities.

Winkie spoke of her husband Donald, and their marriage of 30 years, their eight children and their eight and one-third grandchildren. They are all part of two family businesses—a cattle ranch, the BAR 11, and a poultry farm, the RUNNING W. As Winkie says, "We specialize in the three C's—children—cows—chickens!"

Because of the family interest in agriculture, Mrs. LeFils is now the chairman of the Florida Farm Bureau and the only female member on the board. She is also a member of the Volusia County Farm Bureau.

On the state level, she has been recently appointed by Governor Bob Graham to the Governor's Committee on the Status of Women and was nominated for the Florida Hall of Fame. As director of the Florida Right-to-Life movement, she has been to Washington several times in the March for Life.

Winkie is also a member of Pro-Life which advocates respect of all life—the unborn and the elderly. Winkie believes: "Unborn babies should be loved and have the right to be born; the elderly need to be touched and cared for." She says the answer to abortion is adoption and believes there are enough parents for all adoptable children.

Years ago, Winkie was appointed by a national committee for International Women's Year as a delegate in Houston, Texas. She is opposed to ERA, but is supportive of equal rights for everyone and has debated quite eloquently against Sen. Lori Wilson on the subject.

Her involvement with women's issues began when her youngest child was just three. A member of All Souls Church in Sanford, she was elected president of the Catholic Women's Club. From there, she moved up to the Florida Council of Catholic Women and on to the presidency of the National Council of Catholic Women. She was the youngest president ever of that illustrious organization for two years.

Now the president of the Diocese of Orlando's Council of Catholic Women, she has recently returned from a trip to Wisconsin. While there, she presented a motivational talk for the CCW.

Last week she was off to New York and Hyannis, Mass. for workshops and the General Assembly for the National CCW. As hostess, Winkie will welcome 2,500 women in 1985 to the National Convention of Catholic Women in Orlando.

She is not certain how many miles (over 3,000 miles on Eastern Airlines alone) she travels per year, but has been met in Orlando on at least one occasion by her family bearing a suitcase with fresh clothing. She exchanged suitcases and took the next flight out. She laughs about this and says her family is very proud of her involvement with important issues.

"We are a close and supportive family. My husband sends me off with his blessing as long as I don't ask him to travel with me," she says. Husband Don has gone along on a few missions, however, and Winkie often calls saying, "I need a hug."

If all the awards and commendations were counted, she could fill a large room easily. Winkie admits that she has not taken the time to organize and display her tributes. She's simply been too busy. One gift presented to her at the 1981 National Catholic Women's Convention in Kansas City is particularly prized. Bishop Grady traveled from Orlando to bestow the Pro-Ecclesia et Pontificate Medal upon her. A special gift from the Pope, it was as touching as the time she was in the Pope's audience at the Vatican three years ago.

At various times, Winkie has lobbied in Washington on behalf of the aged and the disabled and has given numerous talks on the two. One of her sons is a quadriplegic and she shares her experiences with others. She stresses her admiration of his accomplishments and positive attitude.

Winkie LeFils has become active in a group called WOAR (We Organized Against Rape). Organizing currently in Volusia county, the group expects to branch out into surrounding counties soon. A program is available to any club or group interested in Seminole county, too. The purpose of WOAR is to educate and change the attitude of the public on rape.

Each project Winkie attempts continues to shine. On a personal level, she has had a weight loss of 47 lbs. since June in spite of "baked chicken and chinaberries" on the menu night after night when she's on the banquet circuit.

Winkie follows the five L's used in her talks across the nation—LOVE, LISTEN, LEARN, LEAD, LAUGH—in all her endeavors. She also believes the Golden Rule is a good rule to live by. Even though she feels the need as a woman to be involved, her proudest, most important accomplishment is the loving relationship she enjoys with her family.

As a little tot in Darlington, S.C., Mary Edwina was affectionally tagged "Winkie" by her dad for no apparent reason. Perhaps he saw her then as the star she was destined to be.

items and accessories. She later added lingerie, then sportswear—then dresses—and finally, glamorous after-five fashions.

Nora continued, "It's not where you are, but who you are, what you sell and how you treat customers. I really believe in soft selling. Everyone likes that personal touch you don't get in large areas. Customers have to have confidence."

Along with Nora's newly-found merchant role came another role—Sanford citizen. "I have always been civic-minded," she said. And it didn't take long for her civic spirit to come shining through and her ideas incorporated into beneficial community projects.

The cosmetics queen "around the corner" served as president of the Downtown Business Association for two terms and also served as president of SISTER (Sanford's Interested Sarahs to Encourage Rejuvenation) and the Business and Professional Women's Club for two terms each. She has been an active member of the Woman's Club of Sanford.

"I have worked on many projects to help promote the city," Nora said. "If merchants can't prosper, then we don't have a town. We have a ghost town and no need for office buildings and city commissions."

During her years as a Sanford businesswoman, Nora says she feels "rejuvenation of the city is the biggest and most important step the city has taken. It has been temporarily blocked," she says, "but I'm quite sure it will be overcome. People have been conscious of growth and they want Sanford to grow."

Nora continued: "Sanford has great potential and it will eventually reach that. I'm sorry it didn't take place while I still owned the business. I'm all for growth. I hate to see cities die and shopping centers take over."

After arriving in Sanford, Nora went to work with SISTER to help "Save Our Zoo." Highly motivated, she also rolled up her sleeves with other SISTERS and "scrubbed the buildings in downtown Sanford with the help of the city." Instrumental in promoting Sanford-Seminole Art Association's "Fall for Art," Nora also worked to keep the hospital and city hall in downtown Sanford.

A woman of action, Nora never wasted time with small talk. She appeared before Sanford City Commissioners requesting that a "no left turn" ordinance be removed on First Street and Park Avenue. Was Nora crazy? The suggestion brought a few protests, but Nora won.

She appealed for a foot police patrol in the downtown area to help combat sidewalk cyclists and purse-snatchers. She won. Nora objected to unlimited parking downtown claiming various employees "hogged the spaces" so that customers couldn't park. She liked the 2-hour parking concept. She won.

Laughing, Nora said, "I offered to pay the parking ticket if any of my customers received one."

What now for Nora, the grandmother of five and great grandmother of two?

"Connie approached me about two years ago," she said. About two months ago, she approached me again. I decided I would like to travel—take about a year's vacation. Then who knows? I might be back right around the corner."

In speaking of her successor, Nora says Connie has spent the last three weeks in Los Angeles getting instruction in complexion care and makeup artistry. "I feel sure she (Connie) will carry on as well or better than I. I feel I'm leaving the business in good hands."

Looking regal in a chic black dress complemented with elegant black pumps, Nora ran a manicured finger nail across a gold neck chain. A look of despair clouded her flawless face that is a truly lovely credit to the cosmetics industry.

Then the corners of her mouth turned upward into a warm, sunny smile. "I'm happy and I'm sad," she said. "I will miss the business and I will miss the people I see everyday. People have been wonderful. But I'll be happy to take a vacation and I'll be happy to be with Bill more." Nora says her hobby is all things beautiful including putting her best foot forward at all times. The road to beauty is Nora's route.

But, then, beauty is Nora Gordon's business—a business she loves living. She does it well. She has it all together.

'First Lady' Performances For Students

The Theater for Young Audiences (fourth grade through high school) sponsored by the Council of Arts and Sciences for Central Florida, will present "first lady" on Oct. 25, at the Carr Performing Arts Centre. Performances will be at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m., tickets are $2.25 each. For every group of ten students, one complimentary chaperone ticket will be provided.

"First lady" is a lively, fascinating show about the life of Eleanor Roosevelt, produced by the Performing Arts Repertory Theatre (ART) from New York City. The musical spans the years from Eleanor's childhood through 1928, when her husband, Franklin, decided to run for governor of New York State.

"First Lady" tells the touching story of Eleanor's struggle to overcome the shyness and unhappiness of her girlhood and portrays her eventual triumph as a young woman of great strength and character — the quintessential humanitarian who won the hearts of all who knew her. Peopled with such colorful Roosevelt as her charming father, Elliot; the dashing young Franklin; the tempestuous Alice; and even a touch of President Teddy, this high-spirited musical is a warm and very moving tribute to a great lady.

Help To Pick Up Pieces After A Haunting Suicide

DEAR ABBY: Today would have been my mother's 53rd birthday. I say "would have been" because five years ago she checked into a local motel, hung out the "Do Not Disturb" sign and took an overdose of sleeping pills. She lived in a big city, and we didn't find her until two days later, despite a frantic search.

I cannot begin to describe the hell that I, her oldest daughter, have gone through since. I kept asking myself, "Why would a beautiful, respected, successful businesswoman do such a thing? Why didn't I see, hear or feel it coming? What could I have done to stop her? Why didn't she tell me how much she was hurting? And worst of all, if she really loved me, how could she leave me like this?"

Those questions haunted me. Ending one's own life is a tragedy, but the guilt borne by the survivors is also tragic. After a loved one has committed suicide, counseling for the survivors is very helpful, but it is also important to keep busy. They should try new experiences and new challenges in order to build their self-confidence and self-esteem. Some suggestions:

- 1) Volunteer to work with children in hospitals, pre-schools and public schools, Boy-Girl Scouts, YMCA and other social organizations.
- 2) Work with foreign adults and students who are struggling to learn English. Local high schools with foreign students can help you get started, and you need no foreign language skills or previous experience.
- 3) Become a homemaker aide through your state family and child service agency. Many young women today are on public assistance and need help in learning simple household budgeting, child care and homemaking skills.
- 4) Join a small church and learn about its various services and activities.
- 5) Take adult education classes; everything from shorthand to cake decorating is offered. Or join a service club like the Red Cross.
- 6) Join the Peace Corps. It has people starting at 43, 62 and 77. There is no age limit.

I know, because I have done all the above. That's what it took to pick up the pieces after my mother committed suicide. Sign this...

MAKING IT IN MISSOURI

DEAR MAKING IT: Thank you for an inspiring letter that may help others to make it, too.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Sick of Sicks," who's tired of receiving obscene phone calls at her office. I used to work on a hotel switchboard and we had our share of regular obscene callers. At first I'd get flustered, but after a while I learned how to handle one caller in particular.

As soon as he asked his usual obscene question, I would say, "You need Jesus in your life," and guess what? He hung up on me!

Dear
Abby
