CHIEF EXECUTIVES MEETING FIVE BIG RAILROADS LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

Resume Conferences This Morning to Complete Draft

FOR STRIKE BALLOT

TO BE PRESENTED TO 400,000 ACTIVE MEMBERS NEXT WEEK

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—The chief executives of five big railroad transportation labor organizations resumed their conferences here this morning in an effort to complete the draft of a strike ballot to be presented to four hundred thousand active members throughout the country.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—In its present shape the ballot tells the union members of the unsatisfactory negotiations held in the past few months between brotherhood chiefs and railroad managers at conferences held in the West, Southeast and East as to whether the railroads intended to ask for further decreased wages, following the 12 1-2 per cent reduction handed down by the railroad labor board at Chicago June 1, and now in effect; whether the roads would seek the elimination of time and one-half time for overtime and asks if the members are satisfied to continue work under these conditions.

Executives of the Southwestern roads did not meet with the chiefs. Chief executives of the five organizations have been in conference here for several days on the situation and today were joined by three members of the executive board of each of the five organizations and several assistant grand officers, about twenty-five men in all.

Ballots will be sent to 150,000 active members of the trainmen's organization; 115,000 firemen; 80,000 engineers; 50,000 conductors and 14,000 switchmen.

When the ballot is completed probably within a day or two, it will be sent to the active membership of the five organizations and referendum vote taken. It was estimated that it will take a full month or more to complete the vote. The ballots for the referendum must be sent to the members before September 1, under terms of a resolution adopted at a conference in Chicago, July 1, of the general chairmen of the organization.

TRADE EXTENSION COMMITTEE WILL MEET AT OVIEDO NEXT THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Arrangements have been made and advice forwarded to Oviedo that the Trade Extension Committee of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce would visit them this next Thursday afternoon, leaving Sanford at 3 p. m. sharp. Oviedo is a very important community in Seminole county. The visit of the Sanford business men will afford them the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the progressive residents of this section. The reason for visiting Oviedo on Thursday was due to the opportunity of meeting a larger number of people who would be present on the occasion of the Gun Club Shoot.

Arrangements have also been made for subsequent visit to Geneva, Monday evening, August 29th, and to Chuluota, Longwood, Altamonte, Eus-

Grave Situation In Malabar District, Natives Worked Up

(By The Associated Press) BOMBAY, Aug. 24.—Grave situation in Malabar district on the West Coast of British India where seditious agitators have been working on religious fanaticism of the ignorant natives. There has been serious mass rioting, bloodshed and destruction of property. Military forces have fired upon the rioters causing many casualties. Railroads have been cut, post-offices robbed and mob law almost supreme in several small towns.

POSSIBILITIES OF SANFORD AS AN IMPORTANT PORT FEATURED IN PUBLICATION

The Secretary is in receipt of a letter from E. R. Waite, editor of South Atlantic Ports, a magazine devoted to the upbuilding of the American merchant marine and the development of foreign and domestic trade relations through the South Atlantic ports of Jacksonville, Fla., Brunswick, Ga., Savannah, Ga., Charleston, S. C., and Wilmington, N. C.

Mr. Waite, in his letter, advises that he has received an inquiry from a subscriber asking "What is a Port?" and if his publication was truly representing the South Atlantic Ports why it had never devoted time and interest to the cities located on the St. Johns river, amongst which Sanford holds a very prominent position. This question was asked with the thought that in the true sense of the word the cities on the St. Johns river are as truly ports as Jacksonville or any of the other previously assigned, although they do not compare in size.

The suggestion was made that this publication devote a portion of its space to publishing information under the heading "St. Johns River Ports Development."

Apparently, this suggestion met with the hearty approval of the editor of South Atlantic Ports for the letter from him contains requests for information relative to the Port of Sanford.

The following quotation from Mr. Waite's letter is self explanatory: "Frankly, we admit a responsibility for all the states in the South Atlantic and to the development of all the waterways. We believe that the development of the St. Johns river is most assuredly reaching out to the cities located thereon, and under the responsibilities that we assume we must play a part of helpfulness. Consequently our next and succeeding numbers will devote considerable space to a department we are considering calling, 'St. Johns River Ports Development.' Our matter for this department must come from you and we will appreciate such suggestions and help as you can give us for our mutual benefit. We know that the sections bordering on the St. Johns river south of Jacksonville are not only interested in attracting agriculturists, but industries that can profitably operate in your community. * * * We would ask that in anything you do you be very particular to take the movement seriously because we have a discriminating class of readers—people who are concerned in having facts, and for the further reason that our circulation is not like a newspaper's, getting into the hands of those who are solely seeking current news, but to the contrary, you will find our issues on the desks of the leading business men of the sections we serve. We want to say to you that if you have any thoughts of any further way that we can be of help to your section that we will deem it a favor to have you instruct us."

This letter coming at the time when the Sanford Chamber of Commerce is working out plans for a Ship-by-Water campaign is indeed fortunate. It also dovetails with the ideas of this organization for that much needed port improvement, a yacht basin and, as in the case of Mr. W. T. Donnelly, should prove a powerful ally in assisting us to secure the St. Johns-Indian River Canal and exploiting the many advantages the St. Johns river affords to Sanford as a distributing point, and assuring its future as the most prominent inland water city of the state.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO HOLD MONTHLY BANQUET VALDEZ HOTEL, AUG. 30

Orlando Chamber of Commerce Will Be Guests

IMPORTANT MEET

MATTERS PERTAINING TO DEVELOPMENT INLAND WATERWAYS BE MAIN OBJECT

As an innovation over previous affairs of a similar nature it has been decided that the next monthly banquet of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce would be an opportune time to put into effect plans in line with previous suggestions. These suggestions were to invite as many of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce members, as could possibly attend, to be present on this occasion, and make this banquet in the nature of a love feast. It would also afford an opportunity of having the business men of each community become personally acquainted with each other and realize that each were not such bad fellows after all.

The old personal hand-shake and verbal assurance of co-operation have done much to make individuals and communities work closer together. Despite the contrary opinion of a few individuals of both Orlando and Sanford, the two communities have innumerable problems in common. They are unquestionably the two most prominent cities in this section of the state, and the future development of this section depends upon the co-operation extended each other in developing it.

Friendly bas ball rivalry between the two cities is typically American and therefore commendable; but when a bitter feeling is injected and allowed to grow to the extent that one community can see nothing favorable in the other it is high time that the level headed business men of both communities get together and analyze the trouble. Fortunately, a great deal of this feeling which was evident in the past has gradually disappeared. Both the Orlando and Sanford Chambers of Commerce but recently have had occasion to work together, and the future will demand an even greater team work on the part of these organizations.

It is intended to sound the keynote of co-operation at this banquet. Assurances have already been received by the Orlando Chamber of Commerce that a number of their representative business men will be present upon this occasion. The Board of Governors of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce request the presence of the entire membership at this banquet.

The banquet will be held Tuesday evening, August 20th at the Valdez Hotel. Tickets are $1.25 per cover.

DIXIE HIGHWAY
TOUR TO CINCY
WILL BE LARGE

The Dixie Highway tour to Cincinnati to be held in September is expected to be one of the largest of its kind ever held in the interests of good roads.

Automobiles from all over the southeastern states will travel over this highway to Cincinnati, where a meeting will be held on September 9th.

Due to requests, tourists are given the option when coming from the east coast of Florida of going thru Jacksonville to Atlanta either by way of Waycross and Macon or by the coast route by Brunswick and Savannah over the new Darien bridge. The Darien route will avoid the very bad route between Folkston and Waycross and would add some scenic attractions to the trip, it is pointed out.

The leaving time from Jacksonville is Monday, September 5th, at 7 a. m. A day and a half is allowed on either route to reach Atlanta.

The route north from Knoxville is arranged to furnish more ease and comfort, the night of Wednesday, September 7th, being spent at Jellico and the night of Thursday, September 8th at Lexington where good hotel accommodations are offered. A good night's rest at this point will allow tourists to arrive in Cincinnati September 9th in time for the meeting.

Cole E. Morgan, secretary of the Chattanooga Automobile Club, will arrive in Jacksonville, September 4th, and go through with the tourists. He has spent considerable time and effort in making arrangements for the tour.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

U. S. TO ESTABLISH
FOUR UNIVERSITIES FOR SERVICE MEN.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Four United States vocational universities—one in the east, the middle west, the south and on the Pacific coast—will be established in abandoned army cantonments by the veterans' bureau under a new policy for the re-education of former service men announced last night by Director Forbes.

The new policy, Colonel Forbes said, was working out with the approval of President Harding to correct "the system of farming out vocational patients" and properly rehabilitate the approximately 94,000 men now being trained.

Present plans, he said, call for the first university to start work within ninety days, with about 2,000 men in attendance. The numbers enrolled at the training colleges, he declared, would depend upon the population of disabled service men in the various sections. Courses will be offered in masonry, architecture, plumbing, printing, engraving, book-binding, electrical work carpentry and steam fitting and such agricultural lines as animal husbandry, dairying and forestry.

Bedbugs are said to be able to live 25 days without food, but we don't believe their ability in that line has ever been tested.

ROOM FOR PROGRESS.

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 23.—The old Keene residence, a two story frame building at the corner of Hogan and Adams streets here, which for years has stood in marked contrast to the more pretentious structures in the heart of the business section, has finally given way to the march of progress. Wrecking of the building marked the passing of the last frame structures in the city's business section.

Just what will supplant the quaint little dwelling has not yet been determined. The Akers-Cooey Co., of Atlanta, Ga., which has a lease on the property for fifty years, has awarded the contract for the foundation of a ten story modern hotel. Tentative plans, however, call for the erection of a five story building at present with a view to enlarging it later. In the meantime other interests have made overtures and it is not unlikely that a ten story building will become the final decision.

The property was first acquired, according to the files of local newspapers which at the time heralded a big real estate deal, by O. L. Keen, for $8,000 in 1891. This pioneer citizen shortly afterwards erected the small dwelling, in which he and his wife lived until their deaths several years later. The property again came into prominent in real estate circles in 1901 when it was purchased by Dodge and Cullins for $20,000. The same year the two story dwelling was the only frame structure in the city to escape the fire which laid the city in waste. The raging flames were wafted around the building as an eccentric gust of wind, just as they became threatening.

The present value of the property is unavailable, but it is understood the annual rental is approximately $10,000. In recent years the building has been occupied as a dwelling on its upper floors while the lower space has at various times housed pressing clubs, quick-lunch counters and the like.

Editor Harry Brown, of the Lakeland Telegram, never boastful, but always a booster for Florida, writes: "The prosperity of this state is something to accept with gratitude rather than with boastings. It is the result of peculiar conditions, relieving the state from the operations of the natural laws which have brought a wave of depression to practically the whole country outside of Florida."

DURING THE FAIR

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 23.—With a tourists' automobile camp already well established and special parking space to be provided at the grounds of the Florida State Fair and Exposition here, indications point to hundreds of people coming to Jacksonville by automobile for the annual State Fair to be held during the week of November 12 to 19, inclusive.

Travel by automobile, which is becoming more and more popular, is expected to prevail to a large extent during the state fair and there will be special arrangements for the accommodation of those who expect to make the trip to Jacksonville overland and camp out during their stay.

The tourist camp here, which adjoins the state fair grounds, is provided with lights, water and sewerage and a number of additional improvements are now being made. The location is declared to be an ideal one for visitors who desire to spend the week out doors.

Space formerly used for the carnival attractions, is to be turned into an automobile parking field to take care of the thousands of cars daily and insure their safety while their owners are taking in the sights at the fair grounds.

JOBLESSNESS AN ECONOMIC CRIME
GOMPERS AVERS.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—The present unemployment situation is an "economic crime," that is resulting in a loss of $27,500,000 a day in wages to the workers of the country, President Samuel Gompers declared tonight following a session of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, at which present unemployment conditions were discussed.

Wage reductions will not relieve the situation, the veteran chief said, adding that such action will further curtail our domestic purchasing power, and more factories will close because the people have not the money to buy their products.

"The present depression," he added, "will become even more acute and the reductions, if they can be forced upon us, will not only prove a boomerang to the employer but a menace to our economic and financial, political structure."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 24.—A statement urging congress to rectify what was described as the wrong done by the decision of Federal Judge James M. Boyd, yesterday, at Greensboro, N. C., in declaring the Owen-Keating child labor law unconstitutional, was made public heretoday by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

BANANA GROWING IN FLORIDA

By W. E. BOLLES, Oldsmar, Florida

It is great to be able to go out in your back yard and pick a bunch of bananas any time you want to. Every family in central and south Florida can have all the bananas you want to eat, and grow them at home on your own property. In north Florida this fruit has matured at Tallahassee, Jacksonville and other places. Banana-growing is a highly profitable commercial enterprise, being one of the easiest crops to make. It might almost be called the lazy man's job.

The plants which give the distinct tropical tone to our Floridian landscape are palms, bamboos and bananas; of these the banana is the most useful and the biggest money-maker. A banana planter can make from $500 to $1,000 per acre per year. Five acres well cared for can give a good income. Bananas are immune from many diseases, and can mature good fruit in about one year after planting. They grow successfully in many kinds of soil, from low muck and flatwoods to rolling citrus fruit lands. The soil must have plenty of moisture and humus, and must be well drained.

The Heart's Choice or Ladyfinger variety seems to be best suited to this State, being less liable to damage from cold weather, and is considered the best all-around sort. It is a rapid grower, throws up its stalks to a good height and adds a luxuriant tropical appearance to any property. The story of its popular introduction in Florida is interesting. Mr. Edmund H. Hart sent to tropical countries about 1875 and got a number of varieties to try. After a series of tests at considerable expense he reported that one variety was superior to the others in flavor, hardness and general suitability to Florida. It was his choice out of all the kinds he experimented with. His friends called it Hart's Choice, otherwise known as the Ladyfinger. It is a truly delicious fruit, like the banana which the natives of the tropics prefer for home use.

The Orinoco is sometimes called the horse banana or account of its size, being larger around than the ordinary fruit; it is hardy, but produces its fruit ordinarily in smaller bunches and is not generally regarded as having a flavor equal to Hart's Choice.

The Cavendish, or dwarf, has a shorter trunk, the leaves are closer together; it bears good bunches which are difficult to ship because the skin is tender. The plant itself is also more tender to cold weather.

The Martinique, or Michel or Jamaica banana, and is less hardy in this climate than the Cavendish. The Martinique is the leading commercial banana of the tropics.

I have all of these and other useful and money-making varieties growing on my plantation at Oldsmar, in Pinellas county, and Hart's Choice is my choice. My property fronts directly on Tampa Bay and the salt air does not have any bad effects; in fact it is a benefit to my plantation.

I have been studying the cultivation of bananas in Florida for years. I am told that my banana plantation at Oldsmar is one of the largest in this State. I have visited banana growers in other localities, and they are making money. I have secured literature on the subject from Hawaii, the West Indies and England, and have been able to help others who are interested. Having gone into the subject rather thoroughly, I am satisfied we can supply our cities and towns in Florida, and work out a plan to extend sales into other states.

A few words about the method of growing large bunches may be of some help. I have made a special study of this feature. Florida bananas grown by amateurs are criticised on account of their small-sized bunches. The number of fingers or hands on the bunch is determined when the bud is formed away down inside at the root of the plant. After the bud has begun to push its way up through the center of the trunk, it is too late to influence the size of the bunch. A complete fertilizer of the frutifer variety, high in available phosphoric acid and potash, can be put on when the stem of the plant has developed mature leaves and is about four feet or five feet high, at which time it is called a maiden sucker. Another reason for small bunches is that too many suckers are left growing on one root.

The best season to set out bananas is from March 1 to November 1. Young banana plants are easily transplanted, and go on growing with little delay. They should be set about ten feet apart each way in well-broken soil to give the roots plenty of feeding room. The roots will eventually spread out five feet or more if you give them a chance. From the time the leaves are half-grown they will partly shade the ground, keeping the roots cool in summer and helping to kill grass and weeds. This is worth while to the man and women who haven't much time for gardening. If set six to eight feet apart each way, the full grown plants will thoroughly shade the ground so that nothing else can grow in the same field.

When a bunch is fully developed in size, and the green bananas have lost their angular form and are round and about ready to turn yellow, that's the time to cut that bunch off and hang it in a dark room to let the fruit ripen. This is the method used by commercial growers because it produces better fruit more evenly ripened and protects it from birds, rats and insects. It enables the grower to ship green hard fruit. About 35,000,000 bunches of bananas are shipped long distances into the United States from foreign countries every year, so it is evident there is a good opportunity for greatly increased production at home.

When cutting off a bunch of bananas, use a sharp-edged shovel or spade, driving it part way through the tree about five or six feet above the ground. The top with the fruit will fall slowly and the bunch can be caught as it comes down. After putting the fruit immediately in a shady place to protect the bananas from being damaged by the hot sun, the cut should be finished completely through the trunk, dropping the leaves and the upper part on the ground to rot and make food for the roots. The stored-up plant food in the sap in the remaining stump will be re-absorbed by the roots and go directly to the nourishment of the plant. A week or two later, when the stump begins to turn dry, it should be cut off at the base just above the roots; and then it also can be thrown on the ground to make more humus.

A banana tree only bears one bunch. Young suckers or shoots come up from the same old roots and make new stalks to bear more bananas, and in this way the banana tree renews itself year after year. It is best to allow only a few stalks or trunks to live on one root at the same time. I prefer what I have named the four-four system of pruning. Let the fully grown fruit-bearing plant represent four fourths. Let the next highest sucker be three-fourths as high. Let the next be only one-half, and the smallest sucker only one-fourth the height of the full-grower. By proper selection of these ratoons or successors, the stalks can be graded in size to make a succession of fruiting, and a grower can get two good bunches of bananas per year from each root he sets out. A dozen roots should give a family two dozen bunches per year, two each month. If you figure 400 roots to the acre, that would mean 800 bunches of fruit per year per acre. This can be done by liberal fertilization and liberal mulching with other conditions correct.

If pruned in this manner, when the fruiting stalk is cut down, the next stalk will be about three fourths matured, with its bud already formed inside the trunk. It is evident from this that it is wise to maintain fertility of the soil. March, June and October are good months to apply the fertilizer. The cheapest form is mulch, dried grass, dried weeds, dry pine needles, any material which will decay and form plant food. You can hardly put on too much mulch. It protects the roots from the sun in summer and from the cold in our Florida "winter." Animal and chicken manures and complete fertilizers are good.

When green bananas begin to turn yellow, the starch is changing to fruit sugar, and then the fruit is more easily digested and the flavor is better. Scientists say there is as much nourishment in three bananas as there is in a pound of meat. The natives in tropical banana growing districts pretty nearly live on this fruit and work hard, too. Some claim bananas are at their very best when the skin turns brown, indicating they are fully ripe and the formation of fruit sugar has been completed.

They grow comparatively few bananas in California. The climate of Florida is better suited to this fruit. Bananas are as safe to grow in Florida as cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers and similar truck farm crops. Bananas have the added advantage of producing continuous crops without replanting. I trust we can soon organize a Florida Banana Growers' Association. All who would be interested in such a mutual benefit organization are requested to send their names

New Solution of an Old Problem

All transactions in a retail grocery business are divided into three groups, requiring three kinds of service. First, charge and delivery, this transaction is the most expensive both for the merchant and the customer, requiring as it does, telephone, bookkeeper, gas and upkeep of the truck. Second, is the customer who comes to the store, has his merchandise charged but carries his goods home with him, eliminating a part of the expense. Third, is the customer who pays cash and carries his goods home with him, thus eliminating all expense of charge and delivery.

It is self-evident that there should be some distinction between the three classes of service. Recognizing this fact I have adopted the following plan without changing prices:

FIRST:

All goods priced on a charge and delivery basis.

SECOND:

Customers charging goods but delivering same will be discounted 2%.

THIRD:

Customers paying cash for goods and delivering same will be discounted 5%.

RAINMAKERS AT WORK OUT WEST; KANSAS IS DRY

EMPORIA, Kans., Aug. 24.—The "rainmaker" is on the job again. Or rather, he's after a job again. And if Kansas farmers will only say the word he will come to their broad acres and, with the proper "hocus pocus," bring down torrents of rain to succor the ripening crops.

The drought in this section of Kansas during the past month brot scores of applications from "rainmakers". Individuals, corporations and communities received them by the dozen. It appears, in fact, that there are enough "rainmakers" scattered around the country to bring about a second deluge, if they all gathered in convention and started up their rain-making machinery to lure the elusive raindrop out of a clear sky.

As a result of the rainmakers' offers to give Kansas a downright good rain so many inquiries have been received at the Kansas State Normal School here as to whether credence could be placed in such a proposition. Professors in the department of chemistry have replied that "rain making" is a scientific possibility.

Twenty-five years ago Prof. T. H. Dinsmore, head of the department of chemistry at that time, actually produced rain on the roof of the normal school.

"Professor Dinsmore arranged a balloon-like affair, which he sent into the air from the roof of the building," said a faculty member who witnessed the experiment.

"To this was attached a little rubber tube leading to an ammonia gas generator on the building. The gas, escaping into the air, tended to condense the moisture in the clouds until they became heavy enough to precipitate in the form of rain. Some rain actually was produced. The experiment, was of course, on a small scale."

No rainmaker, however, has been engaged as yet to mix Jupiter Pluvius cocktails for thirsty Kansas crops.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash poisons and toxins from system before putting food into stomach.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly most important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons from the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the alimentary canal before eating more food.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing.

Hastings Farmers Planning to Plant a Bumper Potato Crop

HASTINGS, Aug. 24.—Farmers of this section are planning to plant a bumper Irish potato crop next season, preparations being already under way. The government report showing a shortage and the continued increase in price is very encouraging. Every available acre of Hastings land will be planted in spuds by January is the prediction made by landowners and real estate agents.

A large number of farms are being sold to new settlers from other states who have heard of the wonderful possibilities in growing potatoes on Hastings lands.

ONE POINT SETTLED IN BASEBALL TRIAL

Proper Way to Pronounce Eddie Cicotte's Name.

Riled at Way Lawyers Distort His Cognomen, Little Pitcher Arises in Court and Explains to the Presiding Judge.

At least one point already has been settled in the baseball trial. That is the proper way to pronounce the name of Eddie Cicotte, former White Sox pitcher and one of the defendants.

The matter came up during an argument in court over the confessions Cicotte, Jackson and Williams made to the grand jury last fall at the time of their indictment.

James C. O'Brien, defense attorney, in arguing a point, referred to "Eddie Cicott."

Ben Short, another defense attorney, in supporting Mr. O'Brien, pronounced the former White Sox pitcher's name "Sy-kotty."

Henry Berger, also of counsel for the defense, chimed in with a remark in which he referred to "Eddie Sick-a-ty."

That was too much for the little pitcher, arising, he said to Judge Hugo Friend:

"I beg your honor's pardon, but would you please have it entered in the court record that my name is Edward V. Cicotte, pronounced See-kott, with the accent on the See." "Let it be so entered," said Judge Friend to his clerk after the laughter had subsided.

COMEDIAN IN ALL TOWNS

It doesn't make any difference whether it's in the majors or in the sticks you'll find a comedian among the fans in every town.

Bill Estick tells one of the other days when he was some shunks in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"I sent in a pitcher and he walked three men and filled the bases," says Bill. "Then he walked the fourth man, forcing over a run.

"I yanked him and as he walked across the field a guy in the right field bleachers jumped up and roared at me: 'You big stiff, what did you take him out for? He was pitching a no-hit game.'"

LENINE SAYS SOVIETS' SURRENDER TO CAPITAL IS ONLY TEMPORARY.
BERLIN, Aug. 24.—The Russian soviet's surrender to capitalism is only temporary, although it may last from ten to twenty years, according to a pamphlet by Nicolai Lenine, entitled "The Organization of Industry," a copy of which was received from Moscow today. The pamphlet says that capitalistic principles must precede socialism for the present and communism must be left out of account entirely.

"Capitalism must be restored by giving concessions and allowing old industrial chiefs to resume work," continued the document. "This new private capitalism will gradually be diverted into state capitalism in ten or twenty years."

SMALLEST TOWN IN COUNTRY HAS GOLF COURSE.

GANN VALLEY, S. D., Aug. 23.—This village, with a total population of little less than 100 persons, the majority of whom are engaged in agricultural pursuits, claims the distinction of being the smallest town in the country, maintaining a nine-hole regulation golf course. Teeing station, greens and everything to be found on the large city courses are provided and the golf epidemic has spread to nearly every family. Gann Valley is the inland county seat of Buffalo county. It is 23 miles from the nearest railroad and depends entirely upon the stage line for supplies from the outside.

WHOLE FAMILY TERRORIZED

After brutally biting three members of a prominent South Florida family and endeavoring to make his escape through a window screen, an anopheles mosquito ran amuck with a barrage of torment and died instantly. The members bitten are all taking the malarial treatment and will likely recover. Torment gases mosquitoes; it strikes them dead the first inhalation of it. They cannot get in the range of its fumes and get away alive. Protect your home against mosquitoes by spraying Torment daily in your bed rooms. Sold by all merchants everywhere.—Adv.

OUTWITTING THE BOND THIEF

Wall Street Bankers Have Devised Some Novel Methods of Camouflaging Securities.

Many runners in Wall Street are adopting novel methods of their own to safeguard the securities given in their care for delivery. In some instances firms have made suggestions and rules for "camouflaging" the handling of stocks and bonds outside of their offices. One broker's house has all securities placed inside newspapers and one of its runners apparently walks around with a single newspaper under his arm which has attached to its pages inside valuable bonds and stocks. Yet another firm has hired former policemen to handle its deliveries of stock.

Another firm has presented its runners with suits, the vests of which have large inside pockets which are buttoned and in these the securities are carried and must be on pain of dismissal.

One wet day recently a special messenger of a large brokerage house carried two Liberty bonds of $50,000 apiece and three of $10,000 each placed inside a closed umbrella.—Wall Street Journal.

Eastern Women Advancing.

Feet fit for fests, both as to shape and shoes, are no longer confined to men nor yet to the women of the western world, says a bulletin from the national board of the Y. W. C. A. In the recent Olympic races of the Far East, held in Shanghai, 1,200 girls and young women took part. Of these 200 were from Japan and the Philippine Islands, and the rest from China. 500 being Shanghai girls. The Shanghai delegation was selected and trained for the events by the Young Women's Christian association of Shanghai. "It is within the last six years that this activity in the land of little band feet has developed," writes Miss Florence Brown of Rochester, N. Y., who is at present in Shanghai for the Y. W. C. A. "In 1915, when the last Olympic games were held," she says, "the only girls who took part were a few Philippine girls, who formed a baseball team."

His Desires.

The manager of the Indiana Masonic home overheard a group of small boys from the home discussing what they desired to be when they grew to be men. One insisted he would be a Mason, another a Shriner and another had ambitions to be a Noble of the Mystic Shrine, but five-year-old Jack, drum major in the home band, said: "No, I do not want to be any of those."

Small Orphan Traveled Far.

Her baggage consisting of two letters, dealing with her father's war record, three-year-old Winifred Josephine McKinley passed through Port Arthur, Ontario, recently on the Canadian Pacific on the way to her uncle's home in Swift Current, Saskatchewan. From her faraway home in Glasgow, Scotland, to the Canadian West, more than 4,000 miles, the little orphan had only the kindly directions of train and steamship officials to guide her.

Superiority of Oil Over Coal.

The amazing increase in the use of oil for fuel is not surprising when it is considered that weight for weight and with proper burners the oil gives 50 per cent more steam than coal. It is easier than coal to handle, it obviates dust and dirt, makes little smoke and no ashes and can be lighted instantly and controlled absolutely.

"GOOD WOMEN" WILL PLEASE ALL THE MOVIE FANS

NEW ROBERTSON-COLE PRODUCTION DIRECTED BY GASNIER TELLS AN EXCELLENT STORY

Robertson-Cole has presented film fans with a new master photoplay in "Good Women," the new super-special production which will be the attraction at the Star Theatre Friday and Saturday. The new picture is the screen adaptation of an original story, "Good Women," written by C. Gardner Sullivan, the prominent novelist and scenario writer. Not only has it this stamp of approval, but Robertson-Cole placed a still higher value upon it when they turned the manuscript over to Louis J. Gasnier to direct. The director of the famous "Kismet" with Otis Skinner, has turned out another excellent production.

"Good Women" presents a vital, compelling drama in which the eternal clash of men and women against the rules of convention laid down by an inexorable social system, forms the central theme. We have among the characters the woman whose conduct places her in the good woman class and the other who, declaring that her life is her own to live as she sees fit, sneers at convention and becomes a social outcast. There is a rather strong lesson in "Good Women" but it is in no sense a preachment.

The production is made real and sincere through the earnest efforts of the powerful cast chosen to portray the various characters. Rosemary Theby, whose dark, vivacious beauty and sterling histrionic ability have made her one of the foremost actresses of the silent drama, is an outstanding figure in the role of Katherine Brinkley, an orphaned heiress, with a dangerous contempt for all things conventional.

Hamilton Revelle, prominent on the stage and screen and whose ability as a thespian helped make "Kismet" the wonderful photoplay that it is, is seen opposite Miss Theby in the character of Nicolai Brouevitch, brilliant Russian pianist and social lion, who encourages Katherine in her folly. He is typical of the man who is willing to light the flame for the moth, but who is careful, nevertheless, to see that his own wings remain unscorched.

The story is an excellent one of intrigue. Gasnier has brought out plainly the folly of declaring the conventions useless. The happiness that comes through decency stands out in strong relief. Besides Rosemary Theby and Hamilton Revelle, the cast includes Irene Blackwell, Earl Schenck, William P. Carlton, Arthur Stuart Hull, Rhea Mitchell and Eugenie Besserer.

FARMERS FLOOD MARKETS WITH GRAIN, STOCKS.

CHICAGO, August 24.—Farmers flooded livestock and grain markets of the country today with heavy shipments, despite warnings from commission dealers of demoralized markets.

Leaders in the livestock and grain markets told the United Press that they believed the situation was merely temporary and would have no serious influence on business in general.

Frank W. Waddell, vice president and director of Armour and Company, reassured business men and producers in an exclusive statement to the United Press, saying there was nothing to cause alarm in the market situation.

"It is true prices have fallen," Waddell said, "but that is largely due to the fact that farmers have made unusually large shipments of their stocks and grains, despite warnings to the contrary from dealers and commission men."

"In the face of warnings to shippers, advising they hold their stocks for a few days or until surpluses of inferior stocks had been cleaned up, packers and commission men this week have been confronted with an excessive run of stock which naturally depressed an overburdened market."

LEGION MEN MAKE VISIT TO OLD SHELL HOLES IN ARGONNE

RHEIMS, France, Aug. 24.—Many members of the American Legion delegation left the main party on their trip over the battlefields after the ceremony at Verdun yesterday to visit "my old shell hole" in the Argonne. The Americans on the trip passed through Montfaucon, Romagne and Varennes on their way to Rheims.

At the Domagne cemetery, where several thousand Americans are buried, the Legioners held a special service. School children from Verdun and the countryside brought flowers.

One group, headed by Franklin Olier, first national commander of the American Legion, accompanied Marshal Foch to Gorey where the American Legion service was held over the grave of the marshal's son.

ADMISSION 25 AND 50 CENTS

SENATOR ASKS OPEN SESSION ON DISARMING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Because of the opposition of Senator Lodge, one of the delegates to the disarmament conference, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, yesterday withdrew his amendments directing the American delegation to demand open sessions. Sen. Harrison, declared, however, that he would bring up the question again in a separate resolution and hoped that Senator Lodge would see fit to support it.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Demand by the United States for open sessions of the disarmament conference could not be construed as an insult to the representatives of foreign nations, Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, declared in the senate yesterday in support of his proposal that the American delegates use every effort to prevent secret deliberations.

The issue was brought to the front by the senator's amendment to a bill appropriating $200,000 for expenses of the conference directing the delegates named by President Harding to work for public sessions.

"This amendment does not mean that congress is attempting to bring to bear any influence upon the conference except through its own representatives," Senator Harrison said.

Referring to the secrecy at Versailles, the senator said the Far Eastern questions to be taken up here in November related to Shantung, Yap, the open door in China, and possibly the Japan alien land problem, all of which he added, have been discussed openly in the senate for years. He insisted the public should be informed from day to day of all discussion of naval reduction by the United States and the other nations participating.

Senator Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, opposed public sessions of the conference, contending that "in the very nature of things some negotiations must be conducted in private." He said grand and petty juries meet in secret and that the books of the Bible, the writing of the constitution and the Declaration of Independence and the selection of George Washington as commander-in-chief, were all done behind closed doors.

What This Is All About

When the Educational Committee of the Woman's Club took up the question of providing a simple hot school lunch to serve for a nominal sum they soon realized that it would be more of a problem here than in the systems investigated in Orange county. Other places had a room or building that could be adapted for the purpose of preparing and serving. Sanford schools already congested, had no possible room, and the local board, with problems of their own, could not spare money to build such. However, the local board has given $300 towards our scheme and the finest moral support and endorsement. We need about $1,500, and tried to raise the greater part of this by small donations canvassed in our school district. We are still far from our goal, but our school must do as much for our children as has been shown to be right and proper, hence this BIG DAY FOR SANFORD, with good business all day, and good fun at night. Every dollar you spend or pay in business with our advertisers means something to us in our work as our merchants are giving us percentages in many instances and in others have promised donations. The money all stays at home, for we believe in fostering our own institutions, and we believe in Sanford.

New Solution of an Old Problem

All transactions in a retail grocery business are divided into three groups, requiring three kinds of service. First, charge and delivery, this transaction is the most expensive both for the merchant and the customer, requiring as it does, telephone, bookkeeper, gas and upkeep of the truck. Second, is the customer who comes to the store, has his merchandise charged but carries his goods home with him, eliminating a part of the expense. Third, is the customer who pays cash and carries his goods home with him, thus eliminating all expense of charge and delivery.

It is self-evident that there should be some distinction between the three classes of service. Recognizing this fact I have adopted the following plan without changing present prices:

- FIRST:— All goods priced on a charge and delivery basis.
- SECOND:— Customers charging goods but delivering same will be discounted 2%.
- THIRD:— Customers paying cash for goods and delivering same will be discounted 5%.

THIS APPLIES TO ALL ORDERS OF $1.00 OR MORE

Leaders in the livestock and grain markets told the United Press that they believed the situation was merely temporary and would have no serious influence on business in general.

Frank W. Waddell, vice president and director of Armour and Company, reassured business men and producers in an exclusive statement to the United Press, saying there was nothing to cause alarm in the market situation.

"It is true prices have fallen," Waddell said, "but that is largely due to the fact that farmers have made unusually large shipments of their stocks and grains, despite warnings to the contrary from dealers and commission men."

"In the face of warnings to shippers, advising they hold their stocks for a few days or until surpluses of inferior stocks had been cleaned up, packers and commission men this week have been confronted with an excessive run of stock which naturally depressed an overburdened market."

LEGION MEN MAKE VISIT TO OLD SHELL HOLES IN ARGONNE

RHEIMS, France, Aug. 24.—Members of the American Legion delegation left the main party on the trip over the battlefields after a ceremony at Verdun yesterday to visit "my old shell holes" in the Argonne. The Americans on the trip passed through Montfaucon, Bazancourt and Varennes on their way to Rheims.

At the Domagne cemetery, where several thousand Americans are buried, the Legionnaires held a special service. School children from Verdun and the countryside brought flowers.

One group, headed by Franklin Oller, first national commander of the American Legion, accompanied Marshal Foch to Gorcy where the American Legion service was held over the grave of the marshal's son.

The psychologists say dreams are merely suppressed desires. The soldier's dreams must be pleasant.

Don't be too hard on creditors times like these. Let all things be done decently and in order.

ADMISSION 25 AND 50 CENTS

SENATOR ASKS OPEN SESSION ON DISARMING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Because of the opposition of Senator Lodge, one of the delegates to the disarmament conference, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, yesterday withdrew his amendments directing the American delegation to demand open sessions. Sen. Harrison, declared, however, that he would bring up the question again in a separate resolution and hoped that Senator Lodge would see fit to support it.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Demand by the United States for open sessions of the disarmament conference could not be construed as an insult to the representatives of foreign nations, Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, declared in the senate yesterday in support of his proposal that the American delegates use every effort to prevent secret deliberations.

The issue was brought to the front by the senator's amendment to a bill appropriating $200,000 for expenses of the conference directing the delegates named by President Harding to work for public sessions.

"This amendment does not mean that congress is attempting to bring to bear any influence upon the conference except through its own representatives," Senator Harrison said.

Referring to the secrecy at Versailles, the senator said the Far Eastern questions to be taken up here in November related to Shantung, Yap, the open door in China, and possibly the Japan alien land problem, all of which he added, have been discussed openly in the senate for years. He insisted the public should be informed from day to day of all discussion of naval reduction by the United States and the other nations participating.

Senator Watson, Democrat, of Georgia, opposed public sessions of the conference, contending that "in the very nature of things some negotiations must be conducted in private." He said grand and petty juries meet in secret and that the books of the Bible, the writing of the constitution and the Declaration of Independence and the selection of George Washington as commander-in-chief, were all done behind closed doors.

What This Is All About

When the Educational Committee of the Woman's Club took up the question of providing a simple hot school lunch to serve for a nominal sum they soon realized that it would be more of a problem here than in the systems investigated in Orange county. Other places had a room or building that could be adapted for the purpose of preparing and serving. Sanford schools already congested, had no possible room, and the local board, with problems of their own, could not spare money to build such. However, the local board has given $300 towards our scheme and the finest moral support and endorsement. We need about $1,500, and tried to raise the greater part of this by small donations canvassed in our school district. We are still far from our goal, but our school must do as much for our children as has been shown to be right and proper, hence this BIG DAY FOR SANFORD, with good business all day, and good fun at night. Every dollar you spend or pay in business with our advertisers means something to us in our work as our merchants are giving us percentages in many instances and in others have promised donations. The money all stays at home, for we believe in fostering our own institutions, and we believe in Sanford.

Educational Committee of Woman's Club

New Solution of an Old Problem

All transactions in a retail grocery business are divided into three groups, requiring three kinds of service. First, charge and delivery, this transaction is the most expensive both for the merchant and the customer, requiring as it does, telephone, bookkeeper, gas and upkeep of the truck. Second, is the customer who comes to the store, has his merchandise charged but carries his goods home with him, eliminating a part of the expense. Third, is the customer who pays cash and carries his goods home with him, thus eliminating all expense of charge and delivery.

It is self-evident that there should be some distinction between the three classes of service. Recognizing this fact I have adopted the following plan without changing present prices:

- FIRST:—
All goods priced on a charge and delivery basis.
- SECOND:—
Customers charging goods but delivering same will be discounted 2%.
- THIRD:—
Customers paying cash for goods and delivering same will be discounted 5%.

THIS APPLIES TO ALL ORDERS OF $1.00 OR MORE

"Just As Good!"

In every line of merchandise there is always something good—next to this, there is something better—but always there is some one line that is known to be the best, and this line becomes recognized as the standard.

The "Just as Good" article nearly always loses a friend for the merchant who sells it.

We carry only standard line goods, recognized as the best, and don't try to sell you something that's an experiment—so called "Just as Good."

It pays you to buy this way—in this way you buy satisfaction—and it costs you less.
