Man Fired For Jury Duty Wins $7,500 From Employer

A former Lake Mary man was awarded $7,500 in damages after he was fired from his job at a savings and loan association following his refusal to ignore a call to jury duty in Sanford.

While Carl W. Neidhart, 31, now of Titusville, was awarded $7,500 in the case against Pioneer Federal Savings and Loan Association, of Clearwater, Circuit Judge Thomas Fendick ruled Neidhart could not collect $2.4 million in punitive damages he sought from the association, a spokesman for the judge said today.

Neidhart's attorney, Dennis Fountain of Altamonte Springs, could not be reached for comment.

The verdict was handed down Monday at the end of a one-day trial.

According to reports, Neidhart, then

For Odometer Rollbacks

Sanford Man Gets 42-Year Prison Term

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

A 29-year-old Sanford man was sentenced to 42 years in prison, slapped with a $7,000 fine Tuesday and ordered to stay out of the car business after being convicted on 27 counts of rolling back the odometers on cars.

Hunter Delphin Glenn, of 420 Oak Ave., also received 26 years probation and was ordered by Orange County circuit judge Ted Coleman to pay restitution to the car buyers as soon as a proper amount is determined. Bill Lipham, investigator with the Orange County Consumer Fraud Division, which filed the charges, said today the amount could be about $1,000 per car or $28,000.

Glenn plans to appeal the sentence, his attorney reportedly told reporters.

Lipham said the sentence was the stiffest yet given to a person convicted of tampering with odometers and will send a signal to other car dealers who may try the same practice.

"I dare say it's the maximum sentence that's ever been handed down in such a case... probably in the United States," he said.

Glenn was convicted of the charges in April and could have received up to 147 years in jail, in addition to 27 counts of supplying false odometer statements. Glenn was convicted of one count of scheming to defraud a car buyer. Each charge is a felony and is punishable by up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Glenn was arrested at his Sanford home Nov. 20 after a two-month investigation which showed he bought 28 vehicles in south Florida, turned back the mileage readings and falsified the mileage records, then sold them through Florida Auto Auction in Orange County, according to Lipham. The cars were sold between March and June of 1983, Lipham said.

During the trial, Glenn reportedly testified that he was selling up to 40 cars a week and was "too busy" to check the miles on all the vehicles, Lipham said. He also testified, according to Lipham, that other workers signed his signature on some of the mileage records.

Although he received 42 years, Glenn will probably only serve three, because of the nature of the charge, Lipham said. At that time he will be eligible for parole and will probably get it, he said, because "he'll be a model prisoner."

"It's the same story. Prisons are overloaded and they (prison officials) tend to let the white collar criminals go sooner than they do the violent criminals," Lipham said.

But the severity of the sentence may spark a national trend to get tougher with dealers who tamper with odometers, Lipham said. Odometer

Hijackers Allow Interview

Pilot: Rescue Too Risky

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — An "extremely tired but smiling" TWA pilot John Testrake said today he feared he and his fellow American hostages would "all be dead men" if anyone tried to rescue them because they are constantly under guard.

Testrake was interviewed by three ABC News correspondents who stood below his Boeing 727 — the first time the Shiite Moslem hijackers of TWA Flight 847 allowed journalists to speak to any of the 40 Americans who began a sixth day of captivity today.

ABC television correspondent Charles Glass, a former Beirut bureau chief now based in London, Beirut-based ABC radio correspondent Julie Flint and Derwin Johnson, an ABC producer in Beirut, were summoned unexpectedly to interview Testrake, ABC spokesman Tom Goodman said in New York.

Goodman said the three were accompanied by an unidentified correspondent for Agence France Press, the French news agency.

"There's talk at home of a rescue operation. What do you think about that?" Glass, standing below the nose of the cockpit, asked Testrake.

"I think we would all be dead men if they did because we're continually surrounded by many, many guards," came the captain's reply.

The interview with Testrake, a Richmond, Mo., resident and veteran TWA pilot who recently began flying international flights, lasted less than 10 minutes before gunmen in the cockpit waved the correspondents away.

"Captain Testrake, do you have any idea what's happened to the passengers on the aircraft?" Glass asked.

"No. We've been told that they've been taken to a safe place, that they are comfortable and being well taken care of," Testrake said.

"Do you have any messages for your family?"

"I'd like for my wife and my family and all of my friends back in Missouri to know that the Lord has taken very good care of us so far and he has seen us through some very trying times and we will see us through to the end."

Flint gave this account of the scene:

"We're standing a few feet away from the plane. One of the hijackers is leaning out of the cockpit window, pointing a pistol at us, and we don't quite know what he's saying. Another hijacker — a short, fat boy with a scarf tied around his head — is standing at the back of the plane carrying

PMS Defense To Be Judged In Landmark Assault Case

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A six-woman jury in Sanford will probably reach a decision today in what may be a landmark case involving premenstrual stress as a defense in a criminal trial.

Both defense and prosecuting attorneys agree that it may be the first time in the United States that premenstrual stress syndrome, or PMS, has been used as a defense.

On trial is Margaret Pitt, 24, of 641 Belltower Ave., Deltona. She is charged with three counts of aggravated assault with a car and one count of criminal mischief. The charges stem from a Sept. 28 incident in Altamonte Springs in which she allegedly rammed her former live-in boyfriend's car several times while he was driving south on state Road 434 in the vicinity of Little Wekiva Drive.

Ms. Pitt's attorney, Leon Cheek III, of Casselberry, said in court his client may be guilty of criminal mischief but not of the three aggravated assaults because of PMS. Pitt maintains she was experiencing PMS when the incident occurred.

She faces up to 5 years in prison if convicted.

Testifying for the defense as an expert witness was Dr. Jeffrey Koren, of 685 Palma Springs Drive, Altamonte Springs. He has been treating Ms. Pitt this year for PMS and testified that because of PMS she has mood swings, experiences tension, irritability and rage.

Koren testified, under cross examination by Assistant State Attorney Kurt Erlenbach, that most of what he described as symptoms of PMS are based upon what woman tell him — he runs a PMS clinic — and that he has treated Ms. Pitts only after the alleged incident. He said other women have reported more extreme behavior than she.

He testified that often women experiencing PMS do out of character things, such as beat their children, are aware they are doing it, but have no idea as to why.

He said the most common treatment is diet control, exercise and B-vitamins. Then the stress cycle is plotted. It usually occurs just prior to the onset of menstruation.

According to court records, Ms. Pitts is accused of driving her car into the car of James Apuzzo, 23, of 616 Andrew St., Altamonte Springs. At the time there were two passengers in the vehicle.

Witnesses claim Ms. Pitts rammed her car into the rear of Apuzzo's car, then pulled along side and slammed into the driver's side twice. No one was injured, but about $3,000 in damage done to the car.

Cheek said that the state has not proven Ms. Pitts intended to hurt the passengers of the car, just ram the car. There must be specific intent to find someone guilty of aggravated assault, he said.

Apuzzo testified that just prior to the incident he and Ms. Pitts had two short talks in which he told her he was going to a popular night spot and she was not welcome.

Cheek said that if Ms. Pitts was angry specifically at Apuzzo she would have aimed her car at him when he got out after one of the ramming. Instead, she drove her car into his, not knowing there were other people in the vehicle, one of them wheel-chair bound.

Ms. Pitts also faces similar charges in Volusia County.

County Budget Hearings Continue

Fire Protection Tax To Rise In Unicorporated Seminole

Property taxes for fire protection in Seminole County's unincorporated areas are going up.

County commissioners in their second day of workshops on the proposed budget of the public safety department for the 1985-86 fiscal year voted unanimously to raise the tax rate for fire protection in the unincorporated area from $1.81 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $2, a 19-cent increase.

The property tax increase would fund only the fire department's base budget — the same budget as last year, but with increased salaries and increased costs for fringe benefits such as insurance and state retirement.

Meanwhile during the afternoon session service agencies made their pitches for county subsidies to four commissioners. Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff was representing the county at a meeting of the Tri-County Transit Authority.

Approved by at least three of the four commissioners were:

- Federation of Senior Citizens, $35,000. The federation received $30,000 last year.

- Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), $25,000, $5,000 more than the agency received from the county last year.

- Community Coordinated Child Care of Central Florida (4C), Commis-

COM And Gone

Workers dismantle apparatus for coal-oil mix experiments, known as the COM Project, at Florida Power and Light's plant off U.S. Highway 17-92 between Sanford and DeBary. The equipment was set up by the Bechtel Corporation over four years ago in an experiment to see if pulverized coal mixed with oil could make a desirable fuel. Although the experiment was a success in that the mixture worked, the process didn't prove economical, said FP & L Engineering Supervisor Bruce Stephenson. "It's simply a matter of economics," he said today. The power company owns part of a plant in Georgia that pumps 500,000 volts of electricity to the company's other facilities, he explained, and power could be obtained cheaper that way. He declined to say how much the coal-oil mix experiment cost the firm.

'Jack The Crimper' Jailed

WATFORD, England (UPI) — A man who has been stalking the streets of Watford, grabbing women and rubbing shampoo in their hair is finally behind bars.

Keith Everitt, nicknamed "Jack the Crimper" by the British press after a style of crimping done by hairdressers, is to be sentenced in Crown Court after pleading guilty Monday to two charges of assault and two charges of criminal damage to his victim's coats. Prosecutors said Everitt, a 29-year-old security guard, had attacked women over a six-month period, rubbing shampoo and soap liquid into their hair for sexual pleasure and leaving them hysterical.

IN BRIEF

Discovery Readied For 'Star Wars' Target Practice

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The international crew of the smooth-sailing Discovery launched a third communications satellite today and planned to turn the shuttle into a target for a "Star Wars" laser experiment.

With satellites owned by Mexico and the Arab League safely deployed and operating normally, the shuttle fliers made it three for three with the launch of a radio relay station owned by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The 1,438-pound Telstar satellite, insured for $105 million, was gently kicked from its cradle in Discovery's cargo bay on time at 7:20 a.m. as the shuttle neared the equator over the Atlantic Ocean.

The "Star Wars" experiment, using a low-power laser in Maui, Hawaii and a mirror assembly aboard Discovery, was scheduled for the afternoon. The experiment is designed to demonstrate high-precision tracking.

By studying how atmospheric turbulence affects the laser light during its round trip into space and back, scientists hope to verify techniques that one day could be applied to an exotic laser weapon system.

One such application currently being considered involves huge orbiting mirrors that would aim blasts from powerful ground-based lasers at enemy missiles in flight.

Accused Spy Cooperating

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The sailor son of a retired Navy warrant officer accused of masterminding a coast-to-coast spy ring has begun to cooperate with authorities trying to unravel the 20-year operation, sources say.

Federal law enforcement sources who asked not to be identified said Tuesday that Michael Walker, 22, who was arrested May 22 aboard the aircraft carrier Nimitz with 15 pounds of classified material next to his bunk, has begun to talk.

Michael Walker, like the other three suspects, faces a life sentence if convicted and is the second man to assist in the investigation. His uncle Arthur Walker, a retired Navy lieutenant commander, is also speaking with authorities about the spy ring called by some officials the largest in 30 years.

In federal courts a continent apart, Arthur Walker and Jerry Whitworth pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of spying for the Soviet Union. Their lawyers promised to put on combative defenses.

Mengele Died Unrepentant

Son Said Nazi Doctor Considered Victims Worthless

By United Press International

Nazi war criminal Josef Mengele was unrepentant and scornful of those who sought to judge his actions as the concentration camp doctor charged with the deaths of 400,000 people, most of them Jews, Mengele's son says in a magazine article.

Rolf Mengele, 41, told the weekly Bunte Illustrierte in Munich, West Germany that Mengele cleaned stables in Bavaria after World War II before fleeing to Latin America. The article was released Tuesday.

Until his death he regarded his victims as worthless people, the Nazi war criminal's son said.

"But for him there were no judges, only those who wanted revenge," Rolf Mengele said. "Besides, he could never understand why anybody could think he should feel guilty for wanting to get rid of what he called unworthy lives."

Two weeks ago in Brazil, remains were exhumed from a grave of a 1979 drowning victim that police said they were virtually certain was Mengele. Forensic experts in Sao Paulo are now trying to identify the remains positively.

Rolf Mengele, a lawyer from Freiburg, West Germany, broke his silence last week to say he believed the skeleton found in the grave was that of his father.

Mengele is blamed for sending 400,000 concentration camp inmates, most of them Jews, to their deaths and for performing inhumane experiments on twins in an effort to create the master race envisioned by the Nazis.

Rolf Mengele told the magazine, to which he gave hundreds of documents, that the family always knew where his father was hiding and sent him money.

He said the Odessa organization, the main underground group supporting Nazi exiles, never helped the former Auschwitz concentration camp doctor.

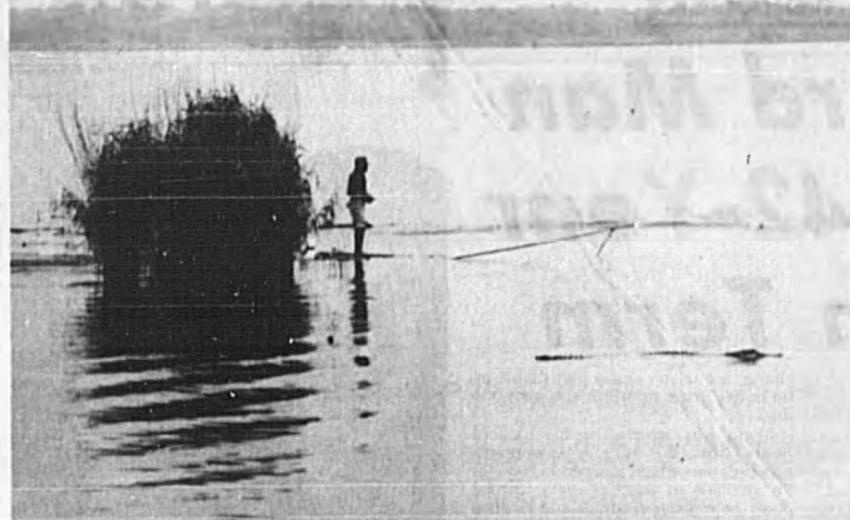

Rolf Mengele attributed his father's success in eluding authorities to a lifestyle so modest that he never would be suspected of being the "Angel of Death" at the Auschwitz concentration camp in Poland.

He told Bunte in a 20-page article titled "How My Father Escaped" that after World War II, Mengele spent four years cleaning the stables of a Bavarian farmer who wondered why his mysterious helper washed his hands so much.

Mengele later went to Latin America, where the family sent him the $100 to $170 a month he needed to live in hiding, Bunte said.

The son first met his father on a Swiss skiing vacation in 1956 and later corresponded with the fugitive, Bunte said.

Family members visited Mengele. During a final meeting in Brazil in 1977, Rolf Mengele said he found his father a shattered man who pondered suicide and suffered from depression, but also unrepentant. Bunte reported.

IN BRIEF

Gold Dealer Murdered, Live And In Living Color

OSAKA, Japan (UPI) — Two men shouting "you die" forced their way into the apartment of a gold dealer suspected of bilking customers out of millions of dollars and stabbed him to death with a bayonet, police said.

Television cameramen waiting outside the victim's apartment building filmed the assault Tuesday. The footage was later broadcast nationwide.

The suspects, their clothes splattered with blood, were arrested by police outside the apartment of Kazuo Nagano, 32, the chairman of Toyota Shoji Co.

The pair told authorities they were members of an ultra-conservative group called "Seishinkai," or Honest Men's Club, but police declined to comment on a motive for the slaying.

Toyota Shoji and its affiliates allegedly bilked $800 million from customers, many of whom said they were forced to sign contracts to purchase gold bars but never received them. The company refused to cancel their contracts, they said.

Wrongly Killed Americans Found

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — Police have uncovered what they believe to be the remains of two Americans killed by Mexican narcotics smugglers who mistook them for U.S. narcotics agents.

A judicial police spokesman said that what authorities believe to be the bodies of John Walker, 35, of Minneapolis, and Alberto Radelat, 33, of Fort Worth, Texas, were unearthed Tuesday from a well in the San Isidro Mazatepec Park north of Guadalajara, 300 miles northwest of Mexico City.

Both men were last seen Jan. 30 at La Langosta, a Guadalajara restaurant that is a known hangout for members of Mexico's drug underworld.

Although the bodies were not yet found, drug kingpins Rafael Caro Quintero and Ernesto Fonseca were arraigned last week on charges of killing the two men after they stumbled into a private party at La Langosta.

Caro Quintero also is charged with murdering U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena Salazar, who was kidnapped Feb. 7 in Guadalajara. Camarena's battered body was found in a shallow grave less than a month later.

House Votes Limits On MX Missile; 'Star Wars', Chemical Weapons Next

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, having effectively rendered the MX missile a has-been issue, takes a look today at the question of renewed chemical weapons production and spending for President Reagan's proposed "Star Wars" defense.

On a 233-184 vote Tuesday night, the House tightened the screws on a MX deployment cap, adopting a statutory limit of 40 missiles with no production guaranteed in fiscal 1986.

The Senate, in its own work on the defense bill last month, passed a resolution saying deployment should be held at 50 with production of 12 missiles during the year.

Just an hour after the House vote, Reagan told a nationally televised news conference, "All these debates on the MX, I think they're a lot of wasted rhetoric and we ought to get on with it."

He also answered charges the missile was vulnerable by saying, "One thing right now we do have, our research has shown we can vastly harden a silo to the extent that we think it would take a very direct hit to do away with, to eliminate those missiles."

Opponents of renewed chemical weapons production said they expect to win today an amendment to strip the $292 billion defense authorization package of $124 million earmarked for work on new binary chemical munitions. It is the only major weapons system the administration has been unable to get from Congress. The House has turned Reagan down on this three years in a row.

Also expected were attempts to change the $2.5 billion amount set aside for anti-missile research work under Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative or "Star Wars" program.

The MX issue is largely over. What was once a swirling controversy, that would use a day of impassioned rhetoric and cliff-hanging votes to resolve, took up just 90 minutes of desultory discussion Tuesday.

There was just a handful of members on the floor until the hectic final minutes when backers of the 40- and 50-cap positions jockeyed for an edge.

In earlier votes, Congress approved the production of 42 deployable MX missiles and another 20 for testing and spares.

Rep. Nick Mavroules, D-Mass., said the key to his amendment is the ban on deployment beyond 40 missiles. He said he will fight for that in the conference committee that will resolve differences in the House and Senate positions.

AREA FORECAST: Today mostly sunny and rather hot with scattered afternoon thunderstorms. High mid 90s. Southwest wind 10 mph. Rain chance 30 percent. Tonight fair except for 20 percent chance of evening thunderstorms. Low in the lower 70s. Light wind Thursday continued mostly sunny and rather hot. A 30 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms. High in the mid 90s.

NATIONAL REPORT: Storms spewing more than 5 inches of rain threatened to push flash floods across sodden southern Texas today, while another day of 100-degree heat was expected to bear the West. Thunderstorms clinging to southern Texas poured more than 3 inches of rain on Houston by early today. San Jacinto County was soaked by more than 5 inches of rain Tuesday and LaGrange endured storms that dumped 4 1/2 inches in two hours. Some streets were flooded in Houston, and the National Weather Service posted flash flood watches from south-central Texas to the lower Rio Grande Valley. Floods spawned by heavy rain earlier this week covered the Meramec State Park near Sullivan, Mo., and authorities said the Meramec River was still rising. Sixty-five people Tuesday fled from flooded campgrounds, and authorities rescued a car that was swept off a bridge spanning the Meramec. "The water was quite high and over the bridge," a Sullivan County Sheriff's Department spokesman said. "Barricades were up, but apparently people went around the barricade and they got swept down the river." In the West Tuesday, a reading of 101 degrees in Reno, Nev., broke the record for June and marked the earliest 100-degree reading ever. A temperature of 106 in Fallon, Nev., also broke a record for the month.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — South to southwest wind 10 to 15 knots decreasing to 10 knots or less tonight and Thursday. Sea 2 to 4 feet decreasing to 1 to 3 feet tonight. Widely scattered showers or

Bike Auction Slated June 29

Bicycles will be on the Seminole County Sheriff's Department auction block on Saturday, June 29.

The 39 lost or stolen bicycles up for sale have been recovered by sheriff's deputies, but not claimed by their owners, so will be sold to the highest bidder.

The sale is set for 10 a.m. at the sheriff's department, building 310, Sanford Airport, Sanford. Cash only will be accepted and all sales are final.

The bikes can be viewed before the sale through the fence of the compound behind the sheriff's office where they are stored, sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said.

Asbestos Cleanup Obstructed?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials have denied charges by Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., that they secretly planned to stop enforcement of laws to protect school workers from asbestos-related health threats.

Florio last week released an internal Environmental Protection Agency memo that he said showed EPA and White House officials agreed not to pursue regulations to protect school maintenance workers who help remove cancer-causing asbestos from walls and ceilings in thousands of schools across the country.

However, EPA officials said they recall no such agreement and that they were proceeding with the regulations.

Florio said the EPA memo — released by his office — directly contradicted public statements made by agency officials before Congress and the federal courts that the agency would consider issuing rules to protect school workers.

Florio said the EPA told the Service Employees International Union on Nov. 30, 1984, it would consider regulations concerning asbestos materials found in school buildings.

Despite the assurance, the union, which represents school workers, sued EPA in federal court to force the agency to act.

Florio also said EPA officials told a House Energy and Commerce subcommittee in April it was still considering such rules and would announce its decision in May.

However, in the document released by Florio, EPA officials refer to an agreement between former EPA Deputy Administrator Alvin Alm and David Gibbons, an official in the White House's Office of Management and Budget, not to pursue the asbestos rule.

Florio said the memo showed the Reagan administration was seeking to maneuver the EPA out of its responsibility to enforce the law.

Will Arafat Do As Hussein Says?

There is a rustle of movement on the West Bank diplomatic front. King Hussein of Jordan, looking beleaguered but a bit more confident than usual, told Washington that Yasser Arafat told him he would accept Israel's right to exist in exchange for a return of Arab lands. That would be a historic step for the Palestine Liberation Organization, which continues to swear in its charter that Israel doesn't have the right to exist.

But despite Hussein's claim, Arafat has not publicly recited the magic words, "I will accept U.N. resolutions 242 and 338." Until he does, Hussein's diplomatic effort will be whistling in the wind.

The noise coming from the Middle East is the roar of Israeli bulldozers clearing the land for settlements on Arab land, the rattle of machine guns in the Palestinian camps in Lebanon and the cacophony of voices speaking for the dispersed and divided PLO.

In comparison to the millimeters of progress registered by diplomats since the Camp David Treaty, tanks have ground up miles of terrain and terrorists have turned up acres of earth for graves. Israel is finally leaving Lebanon, bled and humiliated, three years after marching in with the secret aim of destroying the PLO. And, Arafat, who lost a base for his organization and saw it dispersed from Tunisia to Syria, where an anti-Arafat pro-Syrian faction is harbored, has landed in Amman seeking the talks he scorned three years ago.

As long as Israel and the Palestinians fail to speak directly to each other, to recognize each other's right to exist and to negotiate a settlement, the sounds coming from the Mideast will continue to be the wailing of widows and the scream of ambulance sirens. The aim of U.S. diplomacy must be to keep talks going, to get the parties to speak directly to each other.

Recognition, in all its forms, is the key to a diplomatic solution: recognition that both Israel and a Palestinian entity have a right to exist, recognition that killing diminishes both peoples and endangers their futures, and recognition that time is running out for a trade of land for security.

Pentagon II?

The General Services Administration is thinking about building another Pentagon, almost as large as the present one.

It's a bad idea. It would mean millions of dollars added to the defense budget. But that's not the worst of it. The result would be to enshrine in concrete an overgrown defense bureaucracy that must be cleared away before the country gets the kind of military establishment it needs for the kind of money it can afford.

The Defense Department long ago outgrew the Pentagon. Even the world's largest office building, with 3.7 million square feet of space, was not big enough. It is overflowing with 22,000 military and civilian personnel. Thousands of other Defense Department workers are housed in 5.5 million square feet of leased office space in the Washington, D.C., area. The leases are costing a bundle.

In an effort to save money, GSA is looking into building 3 million square feet of offices on the 700 acres of land surrounding the Pentagon. The acreage now includes lawns and terraces, parking lots, the Navy annex and other buildings.

GSA has tried for years to move government agencies from expensive leased space into cheaper government-owned facilities. But the Defense Department needs more than relocation. It needs a housecleaning to rid itself of unnecessary commands and bureaus and their staffs.

Rather than having the GSA build new quarters for more military and civilian workers, the bloated Defense Department headquarters should look into ways to reduce staff, so that more of it could fit into the Pentagon. We don't need a Pentagon II.

How Federal Tax Dollars Are Puffed Away

WASHINGTON — For 18 years, Harold Pillsbury has been walking into the "Smoking Room" at the Federal Trade Commission, where he proceeds to light up 20 cigarettes at a time. By the end of the day, he's gone through five different brands at 100 cigarettes apiece.

No, Harold Pillsbury is not a chain-smoker. He gave up smoking in 1967. But the Federal Trade Commission pays him and five full-time assistants to run a smoking machine that measures the tar, nicotine and carbon-monoxide content in American cigarettes.

The FTC's Cigarette Program is tucked away in a small section of a downtown Washington office building and is the only product-testing lab the regulatory agency runs. The smoking lab remains quietly entrenched in the FTC budget — unquestioned by the agency or by Congress.

Ironically, the lab's biggest fans are the tobacco companies, which use the government-approved official numbers to promote their low-yield cigarette brands.

Nearly two decades ago, in 1967, the FTC decided to encourage advertising of the relative levels of tar and nicotine in domestic brands of cigarettes by measuring their tar and nicotine contents. In 1971, cigarette manufacturers voluntarily agreed to disclose these contents in their advertisements.

FTC officials defend their testing as the only way to ensure objective, accurate results.

But many medical researchers have begun to question the presumed health benefits to smokers who switch to "low-yield" cigarettes. Because "machines do not smoke cigarettes as people do," concluded a 1983 study published in the New England Journal of Medicine. "FTC cigarette-testing data do not predict nicotine intake by cigarette smokers."

Many smokers simply compensate for the lower nicotine by altering their smoking behavior, the journal reported. They may change the number of cigarettes smoked, the method of puffing and the depth of inhalation to maintain a desired level of nicotine intake.

So why do the FTC machines keep puffing along?

"The FTC numbers help the cigarette industry in promoting low-yield brands," Dr. Berton Freedman, an epidemiologist for the American Lung Association, told my associate, Tom Miller.

Surprisingly, although cigarette companies are the biggest beneficiaries of FTC testing, the idea of charging them user fees to finance this nearly $200,000-a-year program has never been seriously explored.

A more relevant question also is never asked: Do the year-to-year levels of tar and nicotine change enough to warrant full-time government testing?

My review of the last two FTC reports reveals that virtually all tar- and nicotine-content figures for leading brands fell within an insignificant range of differences from one year to the next. Thus, there is another strong case for eliminating this program.

Meanwhile, this obscure federal program has become more habit-forming than the product it tests, sending more tax dollars up in smoke.

Reform Reagan Tax Plan

What's the bottom line on the Reagan Administration's tax proposals? Congress and the public better get a straight answer to that question before they buy the package.

On its editorial page, the conservative Washington Times says that "the benefits of the Reagan reform are endless." Elsewhere in the same editorial, however, it says that the new minimum corporate tax "will hurt mainstay industries and generate a probable new round of blue-collar joblessness." It adds that knowing that General Motors and General Electric pay the same tax rate isn't going to comfort the assembly-line worker who loses his job.

Then consider what The Washington Times reports in its news columns, namely that "President Reagan's proposed overhaul of the tax code would raise corporate taxes a whopping 23 percent by 1990." That's a far cry from the 9 percent hike Mr. Reagan referred to in his speech in which he unveiled the tax plan. It seems that Secretary of the Treasury James Baker said May 29 that the change in tax burdens outlined by the President would not occur until sometime in the next century. Well, well.

On reading that corporate taxes would rise 23 percent by 1990, one may well wonder whether Mondale's policies have been adopted. That's the sort of design that Walter Mondale favored. The Reagan administration, however, came into office on the basis of an understanding that it recognized the central role of business in creating jobs and prosperity. Now along comes an administration tax plan that proposes repeal of the investment tax credit, among other things, which is needed to modernize U.S. industry and make it more competitive.

The public should understand that a company won't invest in costly new machinery if the tax laws provide only disincentives. Other countries allow very rapid depreciation write-offs. That's why industrial equipment in a number of nations is more modern than what is found in American factories. Without modern equipment, U.S. plants are on the road to failure and shutdown. When the tax law allows for rapid depreciation of industrial equipment, it's simply making possible the competitiveness that American industry must display in order to survive.

The objections already raised indicate that substantial reforms are needed in the so-called tax reform package.

Misgivings About Oman Contract Surface

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Some of our recent columns have kicked up a sandstorm in the strategic sultanate of Oman, and the dust still hasn't settled.

We reported that the Air Force has been quietly negotiating an agreement to give a British firm the multi-million-dollar contract to operate three U.S.-built bases — and the super-secret equipment they will eventually contain — in Oman, near the approaches to the Persian Gulf.

Afterward, Gen. John Chain, chief of the State Department's bureau of politico-military affairs, flew to Oman to review Omani-U.S. affairs. An angry Omani foreign minister erroneously accused him of having been our source.

The Air Force, meanwhile, has used one excuse after another to stall the implementation of the contract, which was supposed to have been signed months ago.

Chain reportedly told the British

Racial Favoritism

The fight in the U.S. Senate over the confirmation of William Bradford Reynolds as associate attorney general has exposed the reality behind pleasant phrases like affirmative action, and it has shown clearly the new meaning of civil rights. At stake is whether white males are entitled to the equal protection of the laws under the Constitution, and whether the Civil Rights Act of 1964 means what it says when it bans discrimination on the basis of race and sex.

Currently assistant attorney general for civil rights, Mr. Reynolds believes in the late Hubert Humphrey's definition of civil rights, that is to say, no discrimination, period. Speaking on the floor of the Senate in 1964, Senator Humphrey passionately denied that anything in the language of the Civil Rights Act could conceivably lead to racial favoritism.

But public policies based on "consciousness of race" have gradually come to prevail in large areas of American life. In a way that contradicts all of American tradition, state and municipal governments have placed themselves in the position of allocating privileges on the basis of race and sex. Under this novel system, a person's rights derive not from his or her individual citizenship but from membership in an officially privileged group.

Mr. Reynolds' opposition to all of this is supported by the courts. The Supreme Court has held that reverse discrimination is legal only if it is used to place the victims of specific acts in positions they would have occupied had it not been for demonstrable discrimination. Lower courts have ruled against allocating jobs on the basis of race.

Mr. Reynolds, accordingly, has placed the Department of Justice in opposition to more than 40 state and local governments that are allocating jobs on the basis of race or sex. Mr. Reynolds' position, which is that of the president, is that this represents discrimination and is therefore unconstitutional and illegal.

The Democratic Party has been gravely infected by the group entitlement bacillus, and has gone so far as to establish a "fairness commission" to ensure that groups, as groups are proportionally represented in the deliberations of the party. We are to be treated to a spectacle in which blacks, Hispanics, Indians, Eskimaux, women and persons of "all sexual preferences" are numerically represented. This bizarre development rests on the premise that a woman, say, cannot represent the political interest of a black.

Reynolds, with the president backing him, has challenged this entire set of assumptions. The Senate fight over his confirmation will show us dramatically just who is in favor of civil rights for all Americans and who is playing the game of racial entitlements.

Genetic Tricks For Vaccines

By Gino Del Guercio
UPI Science Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — A major drawback to genetic engineering techniques is that they take so long, but researchers have developed a new method that has quickly yielded information that may help fight leprosy and tuberculosis.

If successful, the technique may also be useful for fighting a large variety of infectious diseases.

The process uses the body's immune system to pinpoint key proteins in bacteria, which might otherwise require years to isolate. The proteins are those that trigger the human immune system to fight the disease.

Once scientists identify these proteins, far more potent vaccines can be produced.

The simplest way to do this is to make a soup of the important proteins — leprosy and tuberculosis bacteria each have six — and inject it into people in danger of being infected by the disease.

The vaccine, as with any vaccine, alerts the immune system to the invader so that it can respond immediately. Without the vaccine the immune system may require valuable time to identify the invader, giving the microorganism a chance to multiply inside the body and so gain a strong foothold.

Current vaccines either contain infectious agents that have been killed or live microorganisms similar to the ones that cause the disease. The new vaccines might simply contain the key proteins that set off the immune reactions.

If this direct approach fails, researchers have another strategy they can fall back on.

The proteins can be used to identify the genes that detail how to make them. These genes can be inserted into harmless microorganisms, which would then produce an immune response without causing disease.

"This technique allows us to search very thoroughly through the organism's DNA for the appropriate genes, and having thoroughly searched allows us to isolate and use them to produce large amounts of proteins," said Richard A. Young, a biochemist at the Whitehead Institute in Cambridge, Mass.

The researchers hope to use their findings to "soup up the preexisting" vaccine for tuberculosis and expand it to protect against leprosy as well, said Young. It is not clear how long that will take.

they could "go to hell" before they'll get access to U.S. communications and other sensitive equipment at the Omani bases.

Pentagon sources say the Air Force has just asked for an additional 90-day delay in awarding the contract. But there seems little likelihood that the deal can be undone, since the sultan of Oman and his British advisers insist the British firm get the contract.

The concern inside the Pentagon is that sensitive military and intelligence information would necessarily come into the hands of the civilian contractor who maintains the base. For example, in the event of a U.S. decision to use the Omani bases for their intended purpose — as staging areas for U.S. rapid-deployment forces — the contractor would need to know in advance.

The British company that has been secretly tapped for the contract on an ostensibly competitive basis, Airwork Ltd., tried to defuse the objections by taking on an American company, Vinnell Corp., as a partner. But Vinnell was apparently signed on mainly as window dressing.

Here, meanwhile, is what our sources have told us about the situation:

— The driving force behind the award of the contract to Airwork-Vinnell is British Air Vice Marshal Erik Bennett, a tough-minded Ulsterman on leave from the RAF to serve as commander of the sultan's air force. He has had extensive Middle East experience, including a stint as adviser to the Jordanian air force.

"He can be totally charming or a bit of a bastard," one source said. "He is the single most influential figure on the Omani defense scene next to the ruler himself."

The same source wrote in a confidential paper that Bennett "is dedicated to the proposition that the Sultanate of Oman Air Force was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be British-equipped."

Of 11 major Omani defense projects last year totaling $635 million,

British firms got all but two of the contracts.

— Vinnell's selection as junior partner may have been helped by the presence on its board of directors of John West, former U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia. While he was ambassador, the Saudi desk at the State Department was manned by John Countryman, the current U.S. ambassador to Oman.

Even more interesting is our sources' report that a major stockholder in Vinnell is linked closely to Ghaasan Shakir, a Saudi businessman who is a close adviser to the sultan of Oman. A businessman described Shakir as a key behind-the-scenes power in Vinnell. Neither Shakir nor a Vinnell representative were available for comment.

Despite the Air Force's belated qualms over the contract, the Omani government has already been notified that Airwork-Vinnell got it. Countryman reportedly confirmed this at a recent business lunch in Muscat.

Teenage Girls Abducted, Forced To Snort Cocaine

A 13-year-old Altamonte Springs girl told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she and a 14-year-old Orlando girl were abducted by two men, taken to a Sanford motel and forced to inhale cocaine.

The girls claimed they were not sexually assaulted, but were held captive from about 10 p.m. Friday to 9 a.m. Saturday. They named the two suspects who picked them up at an unknown location in Hermita Woods, Altamonte Springs, a sheriff's report said.

The men promised to take the girls to the Discount Food Store on Magnolia Avenue at county Road 427, Altamonte Springs, but instead drove to the Day's Inn, at Interstate 4 and state Road 46, west of Sanford, the report said.

The girls told deputies the men took a room at the motel and forced them to spend the night there and to use cocaine. They were released Saturday morning at 202 Magnolia Ave., Altamonte Springs, where one of the men told the girls he would kill them if they reported the incident.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said the mother of the Altamonte Springs girl filed a report with deputies Tuesday complaining one of the suspects has taken her daughter to a motel for the night to use illegal drugs before.

Sheriff's investigators are looking into the claims, Leman said, but so far no arrests have been made.

GUNWOMAN NABBED

A 37-year-old Casselberry woman who allegedly forced her way into a Sanford woman's home, brandished a gun and chased her own husband into a bathroom and hit him on the head with the weapon has been arrested, a sheriff's report said.

Action Reports

Carolyn J. Martin, 30, of 2231 Center St., in the Midway area, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that the suspect, who weighs 250 pounds, forced her way into her home at about 9:15 a.m. Monday.

The suspect was armed with a .22-caliber handgun and she chased Johnny Rozier, 36, of 2460 Center St., Sanford, into a bathroom where she hit him on the head with the gun, the report said.

Deputies arrived at the scene, but Rozier refused to press charges and the suspect left. But a sheriff's deputy parked about a block from Ms. Martin's home and within about 10 minutes spotted the suspect back in the area.

Margaret Sweet Rozier, of 106 McKay Blvd., was charged with armed burglary to an occupied dwelling at about 10:12 a.m. on Crawford Drive at Granby Street, Sanford. She has been released on $1,500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court July 8.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Jim Parsons, 44, of DeLand, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $55 extension cord and a $170 table saw were stolen from a construction site shed at 2074 Hutton Point, Longwood, between Saturday and Monday. The items belong to Bank Constructors, Inc., of Clearwater.

A sofa bed, an arm chair, two end tables, two lamps and a mirror with a combined value of $1,198 were stolen from a Cardinal Industries apartment at 5281 Red Branch Lane, Winter Park, between June 14 and Monday, according to a sheriff's report filed by apartment manager Roy L. Brown.

Sheryl L. Carpenter, 29, of 300 N. Jungle Road, Oviedo, reported to deputies that a 3-year-old male German shepherd worth $1,200 was stolen from her home on Sunday or Monday.

Boating items including a propeller, tools, a marine radio and a depth finder were stolen from the boat of Jerry L. Henderson, 42, of 657 Longmeadow Circle, Longwood. The boat was stored at Sabal Point Storage, Wilderness Road, Longwood, when the theft occurred between June 9 and Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

Two televisions worth $400 each were stolen from the home of Gordon L. Lincoln, 75, of 1601 Lake Markham Road, Sanford, on Saturday or Sunday, deputies reported.

Jewelry and cash with a combined value of about $4,000 were stolen from the home of Donald K. Wetzel, 26, of Branchwood Apartments, 7740 Branchwood Road, Winter Park, on Monday of Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

DUI ARREST

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—William Dale Pastema, 25, of 2108 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 12:14 a.m. Tuesday after a sheriff's deputy reported seeing his car chasing another vehicle at high speed on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

Made Possible By New Banking Laws

First Union, Atlantic To Merge

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — With the ink barely dry on last week's Supreme Court ruling, First Union Corp., the giant Charlotte, N.C. bank, plans to acquire Atlantic Bancorporation in a stock merger valued at $496 million.

Atlantic is a $3.6 billion asset institution in Jacksonville whose major subsidiary is Atlantic National Bank of Florida.

Officials said the merger, announced Monday, will take place late this year or in early 1986.

Shareholders of Atlantic and banking regulators must still approve the deal.

First Union, which has unsuccessfully pursued other Florida banks in the last year as it jockeyed for position in the race to remain one of the biggest banks in the region, has $7.9 billion in assets.

The new corporate offices of the combined institution will be in Charlotte and Edward Crutchfield, chairman of First Union, will continue as chairman after the merger.

But B.J. Walker, president of Atlantic Bancorporation, said Atlantic plans to retain its headquarters in Jacksonville and continue using its name. He will become a vice chairman of First Union Corp. and will continue as president and chief executive officer of Atlantic. "Management of the two organizations is very compatible, personally and philosophically," Crutchfield said.

Walker said the combination would "allow the combined institutions to look with confidence towards a deregulated banking era in Florida, North Carolina and the Southeast."

The banks said under the agreement, Atlantic shareholders will get 1 1/2 shares of First Union common stock per share of Atlantic for an estimated value of $496 million. Additionally, Atlantic issued warrants to First Union to purchase up to 3.5 million shares of Atlantic's common stock.

The merger agreement makes Atlantic the third Florida bank to succumb to an out-of-state bank under new regional interstate banking laws which were upheld by the Supreme Court last week.

It is the fifth merger in the southern regional zone, which includes Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas, Tennessee and Virginia.

Sun Banks of Orlando and Trust Co. of Georgia announced Monday regulators approved their merger and it will become effective July 1, the first day that Florida and Georgia's reciprocal banking laws take effect.

The legislatures in Florida, Georgia and North Carolina passed laws last year to permit reciprocal interstate banking effective July 1.

Personal Income Dropped .5% In May

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. personal income fell 0.5 percent in May, the largest decline in 13 years, but only because of special factors unrelated to the state of the economy, government economists said today.

If April's income had not been boosted by unusually large price support payments to farmers and a retroactive wage payment to postal workers, May's income would have looked stronger in comparison, up 0.4 percent, the Bureau of Economic Analysis said.

Take-home pay, after income tax was withheld, soared 1.8 percent, largely because of the arrival of delayed income tax refunds. That increase in disposable income amounted to $177 on average, bringing the per capita average income to $11,611 a year.

Judge, Ex-Prosecutor Indicted For Manipulating Criminal Cases

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — A Duval County judge and former state prosecutor both face up to more than 130 years in prison on charges involving manipulating criminal cases in exchange for goods and services.

In a 13-count federal indictment delivered by a special grand jury Friday and unsealed Tuesday, Judge Jesse H. Leigh and Ralph N. Green III were charged with conspiracy and mail fraud.

Leigh, 64, was charged with 11 counts of mail fraud and one count of violating the Hobbs Act, using his official position to extort free goods and services from a businessman.

Green, 41, former chief assistant state attorney for the Fourth Judicial Circuit, is charged with 10 counts of mail fraud.

If convicted of all counts, Leigh would face a maximum sentence of 80 years in prison and a fine of $31,000. Green would face a maximum of 55 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Police Search For Missing Girl

ORLANDO (UPI) — Police officers fanned out again today in search of a man who is believed to have abducted a 6-year-old girl as she played with two friends in front of an apartment complex Tuesday.

About 60 officers searched for the man and child Tuesday night and today, police said.

Police on horseback, a helicopter and tracking dogs also were employed to search a wooded area near the girl's home.

Regina Mae Armstrong was playing with two other girls when a stranger walked up to them around 3 p.m. Tuesday, according to police. He told the other girls to leave, grabbed the girl and took off, police said.

Her parents, Rob and Donna Armstrong, told police that no ransom note had been received.

2 Dead In Airport Bombing

FRANKFURT, West Germany (UPI) — A huge explosion, probably caused by a bomb, rocked the international departure terminal at Frankfurt Airport today, killing at least two people and injuring 24, four seriously, authorities said.

Officials said there were few immediate details but a fleet of ambulances, fire engines and a rescue helicopter were sent to the airport 10 miles south of downtown Frankfurt and adjacent to the sprawling Rhein-Main U.S. Air Base.

They said two people were known dead and 24 were injured. Fire officials and police said four of the injured were in serious condition.

An airport spokesman said the blast was almost certainly caused by a bomb and appeared to have occurred at the checking counter of Alitalia, the Italian airline.

sioners Sandra Glenn and Fred Streetman voted for $40,000 while Commissioner Bob Sturm opted for $37,000 and Commissioner Barbara Christensen voted for $35,000. Since none of the sums had a majority of the commissioners vote for them, Kirchhoff will have the deciding vote. The organization received $35,000 from the county last year and asked for $50,000 this year.

- The Grove Counseling Center $34,304, up from last year's $15,000.
- Christian Enterprises Inc. Lighthouse Youth Ranch $10,000. It had asked for $30,000 and received $12,000 last year.
- Legal Aid Society, $36,000. It received $34,000 last year. The funding for this organization comes from $5 of each case's filing fees from law suits in the county.

Requests for money from Information and Referral and Ursula Sunshine Child Abuse Prevention were rejected.

Kirchhoff must break stalemates on an allocation for Arts United Fund of Central Florida. Mrs. Glenn and Streetman approved $20,000, but Sturm and Mrs. Christensen voted for no funding.

Kirchhoff also must decide on funding for We Care, a suicide prevention organization. The group asked for $10,000 and got $6,000 last year. Mrs. Christensen and Streetman voted for $6,000 while Sturm voted for $7,000 and Mrs. Glenn voted for $10,000.

In the early afternoon, Dr. Jorge Deju, county health and human services director, persuaded commissioners to give his department $76,000 in new money for the public health department. Saying the county portion of the health department totaled $414,000 last year, the county's share in the new year will rise to $490,067. Much of the funding for the health department comes from the state and federal government.

Other units under Deju's supervision and their budgets for the new year are: veteran's service $55,588, down from $61,656; welfare $44,471, up from $41,325; animal control $298,661, down from $302,008.

Tuesday, county attorney Nikki Clayton failed to get the support of three commissioners to expand her office by adding three new employees — an assistant county attorney, a property acquisition coordinator and a senior secretary. She is to be back before commissioners again later this week to try again.

Her office now has two atorneys besides herself, a paralegal and two secretaries.

Mrs. Glenn refused to consider the $106,068 request which would not only provide funds for the new employees but also for books and book cases and a desk-top copier. Mrs. Glenn said she would not consider the request until Ms. Clayton provides the commission with a complete list of all fees paid by other county departments to outside lawyers for legal services.

And Mrs. Christensen criticized the legal department for delays in acquiring rights-of-way for improvements planned on Red Bug Road at state Road 436.

Ms. Clayton responded that her office received engineering plans showing the alignment of the proposed rights-of-way only two months ago and it usually takes a minimum of six months after that to go through the condemnation process in the court to acquire the property. Mrs. Christensen called Ms. Clayton's explanation an "excuse." Mrs. Christensen said the county has known where the right-of-way is for years.

Sturm said he could go along with Ms. Clayton's requests for increases in her budget and Streetman said he had no problem with the hiring of a property acquisition coordinator if that person were also a competent right-of-way negotiator.

Ms. Clayton said the employee would coordinate negotiations for acquiring rights of way, land appraisals and would expedite title searches and participate in some negotiations.

Neidhart maintained in his civil suit, filed in Pinellas County, that he was fired after he told superiors that he was going to take a day off to answer the summons.

He said his superiors told him not to report to jury duty and that they would fix the situation.

Subsequently, Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler fined the association $500 for contempt of court in firing Neidhart.

According to testimony, an association officer said Neidhart was fired because of insubordination stemming from his belligerent attitude about the summons and other problems at work.

"I'm fine and the message to my family is they can worry a little, but not too much. Our treatment has been tolerable," said First Officer Philip Maresca, of Salt Lake City.

Other journalists tried to approach the aircraft, but a gunman unleashed a burst of submachine-gun bullets and warned the control tower to clear away the journalists "or we shoot them all."

Nabih Berri, the Shiite leader whose militiamen guarded the Americans at undisclosed loca-

"The matter is now on the American side of the table," said Berri, 46, Lebanon's justice minister and leader of the country's mainstream Shiite movement, Amal, which means "hope" in Arabic.

Berri said the 40 remaining American hostages from TWA Flight 847, seized Friday over the Mediterranean, could be freed "in 24 hours if the American people put pressure on the government to ask Israel for the release of our prisoners in Israel."

In Washington, Reagan said the United States "will never make concessions to terrorists."

Tot Who Fell From Car Died Of Chest Injuries

Four-year-old Jason Cuevas who died Monday after he fell from the hood of a car on which he was riding near his Geneva home died from chest injuries, according to the results of an Orange County autopsy.

Orange County Medical Examiner Dr. Tom Hegert had not reported early today whether the boy died from the fall or if he was run over by the car he was riding on.

Florida Highway Patrol troopers reported Cuevas fell from the car driven by David M. Heizer, 34, of 150 Cloister Road, Casselberry, at about 8:15 p.m. He was dead on arrival at Orlando Regional Medical Center in Orlando where he was taken by helicopter after the accident, hospital spokesman Joe Brown said.

Florida Highway Patrol Sgt. M. W. Sanders said the investigation into the accident has not been completed, but charges are pending against Heizer.

Cuevas of 280 Jungle Road North was riding on the hood of the car with another juvenile as the car traveled at about 10 mph on Jungle Road, Sanders said.

Both youngsters slipped off the hood. Cuevas was fatally injured and the other child, whose identity Sanders does not know, received a bruised shoulder.

Cuevas' mother, Teresa, last name unknown, was riding in the front seat of the car at the time of the accident, Sanders said. Four children were also passengers in the car, he said.

urging the International Red Cross to arrange a trade between Israel's more than 700 Shiite prisoners and some 40 hostages held by Shiite militia men in Lebanon.

"The notion is about and it is flat wrong that the United States is urging behind the scenes some arrangement that the Red Cross could broker some kind of phased movement" of the Israeli prisoners, McFarlane told reporters.

A possible solution appeared when Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres said he would consider freeing some 760 Shittes rounded up during Israel's occupation of southern Lebanon — the hijackers' main demand — if the International Red Cross requested a swap for the American hostages.

"No request has been made by the American government for Israel to do anything or declare anything," Peres said in Jerusalem.

James Jackson didn't get a hit every time up Tuesday night, it just seemed like it. At left, Jackson, Sun Bank's pitcher, takes a big swing and miss. At right, he connects on the next pitch for a two-run single. Jackson hit a pair of two-run singles and a bases-loaded homer to drive in eight runs as Sun Bank crushed First Federal, 21-7, to win the City Series. Jackson was also the winning pitcher.

Sun 'Banks' On Jackson For Title

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The way Sun Bank manager Bootsie Jackson saw it, Tuesday night's second game of the Sanford City Championship Series would be a close one and, if First Federal won, Jackson would come back with mound ace Derrick Taylor on Thursday.

After an 11-run first inning, all Jackson had to do was sit back and wait for the awards ceremony. Sun Bank never looked back after the first frame as it rode the pitching and hitting of James Jackson to a 21-7 rout of First Federal before 100 fans at Fort Mellon Park.

Sun Bank swept the best 2 of 3 City Series and kept the title in the American League for the second year in a row. Prior to 1984, the National League had won the title four straight years.

"I thought this one would be close but James (Jackson) got the job done," manager Jackson said.

Jackson allowed only two hits through the first two innings as Sun Bank built a 15-0 lead. Jackson gave up eight hits for the game and struck out eight. Joe Wiggins accounted for five of First Federal's seven runs with two home runs, one a three-run shot and another two-run blast.

What was more surprising than his pitching performance was the powerful bat of the 12-year-old Sun Bank standout. Jackson was 3 for 4 with a grand slam home run and a pair of two-run singles for a total of eight RBIs. It was Jackson's second homer of the season.

"It was my best game hitting," Jackson said. "I did all right pitching except for those two home runs."

"I told them (First Federal) we'd beat them the first day," added Jackson. "But they kept bragging so we had to show them."

In the two games of the series, Sun Bank scored 38 runs on 19 hits and held First Federal to 12 runs on 10 hits. First Federal added to its problems by making 15 errors in the two games.

"They had too much for us," First Federal manager Larry Bridle said of Sun Bank. "But we also let their reputation beat us. We made more errors than we have all year. Sun Bank played an excellent ballgame. They didn't make any mistakes and capitalized on the ones we made."

His disappointed left fielder agreed. "I didn't think Sun Bank would beat us that bad," added a disconsolate Reggie Smith. "We just made too many errors."

First Federal got its first two runners on in the top of the first but Jackson got Mike Dillon to pop out for the first out and then Joe Wiggins hit line drive to Lorenzo Polk in center and Polk doubled Shawnte Riggins off second base for an inning-ending double play.

Five First Federal errors paved the way for Sun Bank's 11-run first inning outburst. Leadoff man Tony Duncan drew a walk off First Federal pitcher Alonzo Brundidge, stole second, took third on a passed ball and scored on an error on the play. Jackson followed with a walk and Taylor lined a single to right to put runners on first and third. Taylor then stole second and Jeffrey Ingram followed with a two-run single to right for a 3-0 lead.

Al Perkins followed with a walk and Keith Armond also walked to load the bases. With one out, Terrence Lawson walked to force in Ingram with the fourth run and number nine hitter Anthony Simpson also walked to force in Perkins for a 5-0 lead. With two outs in the inning, Jackson drilled a single up the middle to drive in two more runs for a 7-0 lead. Three consecutive errors by First Federal enabled four more runs to score as Sun Bank made the second deposit toward the city title.

Jackson shut First Federal down in the top of the second and Sun Bank pulled away with four runs in the bottom of the frame. Polk looped a single to right center to lead off and, with one out, Simpson drew a walk. Duncan also walked to load the bases and Jackson followed with a grand slam homer to straight away center to pad Sun Bank's cushion to 15-0.

First Federal broke up the shutout in the top of the third. Andre Copper walked, Andrea Williams singled and Shawnte Riggins walked to load the bases. Copper then scored on Dillon's groundout and Wiggins followed with a three-run homer to right center to make it 15-4. Wiggins came back to hit a two-run homer in the top of the sixth.

Sun Bank scored four more runs in the bottom of the third with Jackson's two-run single paving the way. Perkins crushed a solo home run in the fourth for Sun Bank.

"We told First Federal we were the best," said Polk, who hit five homers during the regular season. "They believe us now."

Foreigners Spice Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — Suspense, mystery, foreign intrigue. It was all there Tuesday — yet not at your local movie theater or favorite bookstore. It all took place at the National Basketball Association amateur draft.

There was suspense concerning whom the Indiana Pacers would select with their No. 2 pick. There was mystery in what prompted the Washington Bullets to trade one of the NBA's classiest small forwards for a No. 2 draft pick and a frail 7-foot-6 1/2 center who once herded cows in the Sudan.

But mostly, there was foreign intrigue — four of the first 17 picks were born outside the United States. Canada, Jamaica, Haiti, Bulgaria, Finland, West Germany and yes, even the Soviet Union, were represented in a draft that at times looked like an Olympic rehearsal.

NBA Commissioner David Stern began the 4-hour, 46 minute draft at Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum by announcing New York's selection of Jamaican-born Patrick Ewing.

"This feels great. I'm very happy New York chose me," said Georgetown's 7-foot center, flashing a smile as wide as his wingspan. "I think I will fit in very well with Coach (Hubie) Brown and his trapping defense. I'm gonna try and do my own thing and try my very best."

The Pacers next used most of their allotted five minutes before choosing 6-9 Wayman Tisdale of Oklahoma over Creighton's 7-0 Benoit Benjamin.

"It was a very difficult decision," Indiana coach George Irvine said. "Both players could wind up being great players in the NBA. Wayman is probably a little bit more of a sure product."

The Los Angeles Clippers then grabbed the shot-blocking Benjamin. Seattle followed with 6-8 Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State. Atlanta selected 7-0 Jon Koncak of Southern Methodist. Sacramento tagged 6-11 Joe Kleine of Arkansas and Golden State picked 6-6 Chris Mullin of St. John's.

The Dallas Mavericks, using the first of three first-round picks, chose 6-9 West German Detlef Schrempf of Washington. At No. 16 they took 7-0 Canadian Bill Wennington of St. John's and one pick later tapped 7-2 West German Uwe Blab of Indiana.

"Dallas has become the foreign legion of the NBA," said league scouting director Marty Blake. Choices No. 9 through No. 15 were: Charles Oakley (Virginia Union) to Cleveland, Ed Pinckney (Villanova) to Phoenix, Keith Lee (Memphis State) to Chicago, Kenny Green (Wake Forest) to Washington, Karl Malone (Louisiana Tech) to Utah, Alfredrick Hughes (Loyola-Ill.) to San Antonio and Blair Rasmussen (Oregon) to Denver.

New Jersey was the only team without a first-round pick.

Atlanta, with the 77th pick, took Arvidas Sabonis, a 7-2 center and fixture on the Soviet national team. Indiana University coach Bobby Knight suggested last year that Sabonis may be the world's best player but Hawks officials doubt he will come to the United States.

No Rest For Sanford Fans

Edwards Opposes Lucas As Junior Series Begins

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

There's no rest for baseball fans in Sanford.

Just 22 hours after Sun Bank put the finishing touches on its Florida Little Major League City Series championship, Ball Motor Line and Kiwanis will open their battle for the Florida Junior Major League City Series title.

The first game of the best 2 out of 3 series is tonight at 6 at Chase Park. Ball Motor Line, managed by Jim Lucas, is favored because of a strong second half. Lucas, who previously coached in the Seminole Pony Baseball organization, guided his squad to a perfect 8-0 second half record to earn a spot in the playoffs. It is 14-4 overall.

Ball Motor Line had been the

Baseball

doormat since joining the Junior League several years ago but it turned it around this year. Ball Motor started quickly in the first half but faded to a 6-4 mark and second place.

There was no fade in the second half, though, as it won the title going away. Two makeup games due to rain and a possible forfeit were not needed to determine the outcome.

Kiwanis, meanwhile, tied Moose with a 7-3 record for the first half but was a mediocre club in the second half, finishing with a 4-6 record. Kiwanis, nevertheless, put it together in last week's playoff game to come away with an 11-7 victory over Moose. Jesse Bell is the Kiwanis manager and Charles Rouse is the coach.

Bell said he is not worried about Ball Motor Line's strong second half. "We just have to play our game, like we did against Moose," said the former Seminole High basketball player. "If we play like we did against Moose, we can beat anybody."

Search On For Worst Golfer

PONTE VEDRA BEACH (UPI) — After a practice round in which they hit nearly 700 shots, four golfers tee off today at the Tournament Players Course and the high duffer will win the honor of being the Worst Avid Golfer in America.

The golfers expect that today they will top yesterday's outing, said Kelly Ireland of Tyler, Texas, who shot a 180 Tuesday on the par 72 course.

"We'll probably go into it with a different attitude (Wednesday), knowing we'll do better," he said. "And Lord knows we've seen an awful lot of this real estate. I've seen places Tom Watson has never seen on this course."

In Tuesday's practice round, the four men each shot between 165 and 180, and they lost nearly 100 balls — 73 of them in water hazards. They also gained a great respect for the professionals who shoot in the 80s on the course.

The foursome — Ireland, 42; Jack Pulford, 48, of Moline, Ill.; Joel Mosser, 45, of Aurora, Colo. and Angelo Spagnola, 31, of Fayette City, Pa. — were determined by Golf Digest magazine to be the four worst avid golfers in the country.

There were qualifications which had to be met, said Peter Andrews, of Golf Digest.

Andrews said the duffers had to be men of reasonable physical ability who play a minimum of 21 rounds a year and carry at least a 36 handicap, the highest handicap recognized by the United States Golf Association.

Ireland said he had a great time trying to conquer the course.

"It was wonderful," he said. "It's a great course and a whole great bunch of people putting it on here."

However, when he hit into the rough, the going got even rougher, he said.

Ireland said he took the most strokes on the par-5, 529-yard 11th hole. "Most of those strokes were in fringe grass and I used every club in my bag to get out of it, and it was just impossible. It's a very unforgiving course."

On the course's most famous hole, the par-3, 132-yard 17th, the green is surrounded by water. Only two of the golfers could hit the green from the tee.

Ireland got on in his seventh shot, while Spagnola made it in 13 shots. Mosser hit 12 in the water before giving up and taking his final ball to the 18th hole, and Pulford hit 10 in before going to the drop area.

Ireland said playing the course helped prepare the four for Wednesday's competition.

Is he worried about running out of balls? "Fortunately Golf Digest is going to furnish the balls, so I'm not too worried about that," he said.

SENIORS COMPETITION SUPERB

CLEVELAND (UPI) — If there is anything the players on the Senior Tour have proven, it is that "senior" is not synonymous with "old."

"I know there was a time when people regarded the Senior Tour as a bunch of 50-year-old and over fogies making last has-beens," Arnold Palmer said. "It simply isn't so, and we've demonstrated that time and again."

"The competition this week will be superb. I can state that with confidence. If anybody has any doubts, let them come out and see for themselves."

McWilliams Shuts Down Expos, 4-1

MONTREAL (UPI) — Managing the Pittsburgh Pirates can be enough to turn anybody pessimistic. Even Chuck Tanner lapsed into a rare moment of negativity Tuesday night, but then again, having beaten the first-place Montreal Expos for the second straight night may have had the Pittsburgh manager a little disoriented.

"I hope our momentum has changed," said Tanner, the eternal optimist. "Once before we won two in a row, but then we lost seven."

Larry McWilliams gave the Bucs their second consecutive success with a three-hit, 4-1 victory over Montreal.

"Baseball is a freaky thing," said the left-hander after his six-strikeout performance and second complete game of the season. "At any time, a last place team can beat a first place team."

"We're 10-10 against lefties," noted Montreal manager Buck Rodgers. "I guess my lineup is made for right-handed pitchers. McWilliams has a very fast move to the plate, and that put us off our game."

George Hendrick was on his game, hitting a pair of doubles and driving in a run for the Pirates. "I don't know how far back we are in the standings (14 games), but it's not a lot of ground to make up when there's more than 100 games to play," said Tanner, reverting to form. "Look at the Boston Red Sox. Where were they last week? And look where they are this week."

The Red Sox had closed to within 2 1/2 games of Toronto, tops in the AL East entering Tuesday's night game.

"In spring training I said it would be a six-team race in the East," said Rodgers. "We still have 100 games to go. We can't take Pittsburgh for granted. They have a good ball club."

Elsewhere, Cincinnati defeated San Francisco 6-1, Atlanta edged Houston 3-2, New York downed Chicago 5-1, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-2, and San Diego beat Los Angeles 4-0.

In the American League, it was New York 6, Baltimore 4, Detroit 9, Boston 8, California 7, Cleveland 3, Chicago 4, Oakland 3 in 13 innings, Milwaukee 4, Toronto 1, Kansas City 10, Minnesota 1, and Texas 8, Seattle 5.

Reds 6, Giants 1

At San Francisco, Frank Pastore pitched a four-hitter in his second start of the season to lead the Reds. Pastore, 2-0, surrendered four singles while walking one and striking out three to break the Giants' three-game winning streak. Bill Laskey, 1-8, went 6 1-3 innings and took the loss.

Braves 3, Astros 2

At Atlanta, Glenn Hubbard ripped reliever Julio Solano's first pitch over the left-field fence to lead off the eighth inning and key the Braves' victory. Hubbard's blast made a winner of Bruce Sutter, 4-2. Solano fell to 1-2.

Mets 5, Cubs 1

At New York, Gary Carter drove in two runs with a pair of singles and Ed Lynch hurled an eight-hitter to help the Mets hand the Cubs their seventh straight loss. Lynch improved to 4-3. Steve Trout, 6-3, took the loss.

Cardinals 6, Phillies 2

At St. Louis, Tom Lawless drove in three runs and Vince Coleman banged out three hits and stole two bases to pace the Cardinals. John Tudor, who won his fourth straight game, raised his record to 5-7. The loser was Steve Carlton, 1-7.

Padres 4, Dodgers 0

At Los Angeles, Dave Dravecky, 6-4, hurled a three-hitter and Tim Flannery drove in two runs to spark a 10-hit attack. The Padres' southpaw held the Dodgers hitless through 4 2-3 innings and struck out six. Bob Welch, 1-1, making only his third start of the season because of an arm injury, was replaced in the sixth after yielding all of San Diego's runs.

Sammy Edwards, like his mound opponent for tonight, Jimbo Lucas, relies on his breaking pitches. Edwards has excellent control and can throw his curveball and knuckleball for strikes.

Ball Motor was pretty much unstoppable the second half of the season and Jimbo Lucas said his team doesn't plan to let down.

"We started good the first half, too," said Jimbo Lucas. "I guess we got to thinking we were too good. Because we didn't finish strong."

Lucas, a 14-year-old right-hander, said an improved attitude by the team was the difference in the second half. "We knew we couldn't let that happen in the second half if we wanted to make the playoffs."

Lucas hasn't pitched against Kiwanis although Ball Motor Line has won 3 of 4 games against the first-half winner. "Everytime we played them my arm was injured," he said. "I just plan to throw a lot of curveballs. That's my best pitch."

Jimbo Lucas said Kiwanis has a good team and five hitters in particular bother him. He ticked off the names of Sammy and Oscar Edwards, Mitchell, Richardson and Duck Grayson as the good sticks.

"They're all base-hitters except for Bernard," said Jimbo Lucas. "He's got some power."

Jim Lucas said his plan is to go start with his son and get "three or four innings from him" before bringing on Ronald Cox, who has been the Ball Motor Line stopper this year.

"Ronald has pretty much carried us through the season," said Jim Lucas. "It's better to have two pitchers available in a two or three game series. I don't want to get caught short."

"Cox and Nathan have been our best hitters," said Jim Lucas. "When they hit the ball, it's hard to field."

Manager Lucas is leery of Sammy Edwards, too. "Sammy has a good fastball," he said. "He didn't throw a lot of breaking pitches against Moose but I figure he'll use them against us."

"Their coach (Bell) has done a good job with them all year. I expect a tough game."

The Kiwanis braintrust, Bell and Rouse, meanwhile, had been counting on facing Cox as the Ball Motor Line starter. "Cox is the ace pitcher and the ace batter," said Rouse. "He's the main man in the clutch situations. I figure we'll see him sooner or later."

"He's delivered all year but there's not a one-man team. They have got some real good hitters. A lot of those kids live across the street from me. I know how good they can play."

Florida Schools Support Proposals

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A set of 12 proposals designed to clean up college athletics will be voted on this week in New Orleans at a special NCAA convention and is just the first step in a long process of restoring integrity to collegiate sports. Florida college officials say.

The convention, only the fifth special convention in the NCAA's 79-year history, begins today and runs through Friday. Hundreds of college presidents and athletic directors will be at the convention, designed to focus on "issues of integrity or economics in intercollegiate athletics."

They will be voting on a package of 12 proposals set forth by the Presidents Commission.

Some of the proposals are classifying violations as either major or minor in nature; punishing a coach involved in violations, even if he is no longer coaching at the school where the

this is only the beginning."

While the proposals are the first step in a long process, it is a step that is very late in coming, several officials said.

Most Florida college officials agree that the rules should have been enacted years ago and that the participation of college presidents gives the movement more weight.

"Most of these things should have been done years ago,"

Officials Consider Tough Regulations

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — College and university presidents attending a special meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association will consider a tough package of regulations that officials hope will end the ethical and legal nightmares that have plagued college sports.

Within the last year, the NCAA has had to deal with frequent reports of drug abuse, academic cheating and corrupt recruiting. The topper was the recent point-shaving scandal at Tulane University.

The integrity of intercollegiate athletics is the main topic of the New Orleans meetings which begin Thursday.

University representatives will consider establishing "major" and "secondary" categories of violations and tougher penalties for coaches who break NCAA rules.

Schools that commit major violations could be prohibited

Parrish Lances Red Sox

DETROIT (UPI) — Lance Parrish treats Bruce Hurst the way the Sioux treated Custer. Parrish absolutely destroys Hurst, so it came as a bit of a surprise Tuesday night when Boston Red Sox manager John McNamara left Hurst in to pitch to the Detroit Tigers' slugging catcher with the bases loaded.

"The last thing I expected was a home run," said McNamara, who watched dumbfounded as Parrish drilled a pitch off the facing of the upper deck of Tiger Stadium for a spark Detroit to a 9-8 come-from-behind victory.

McNamara hasn't been doing his home work. If he had, he would have noted that Parrish had collected 10 hits in 18 previous at-bats against Hurst, including five homers.

"You know, I thought to myself when I stepped into the batter's box, 'This would be a great time to hit a home run,'" Parrish said. "I've been pretty lucky against Bruce in the past, but I don't know how much longer it's going to last."

Parrish's fifth career grand slam capped a Detroit comeback and enabled the Tigers to break the Red Sox' six-game winning streak.

Yankees 6, Orioles 4

At Baltimore, Ken Griffey lined a pair of run-scoring singles and Rickey Henderson collected three hits and stole three bases to lead the Yankees to their third straight victory. Joe Cowley, 5-3, allowed two singles over five innings but needed relief help from Dave Righetti, who gave up home runs to Eddie Murray and John Shelby, and Brian Fisher, who pitched the last inning for his second save.

Brewers 4, Blue Jays 1

At Milwaukee, Earnest Riles drove in two runs to support Ray Burris' seven-hitter and help the Brewers hand the Blue Jays their sixth straight loss. Burris, 4-5, struck out five and walked one in pitching his second complete game. Since 1982, Milwaukee is 18-4 against Toronto.

Royals 10, Twins 1

At Kansas City, Mo., Frank White rapped three singles, drove in a run and scored two others to carry Mark Gubicza and the Royals to victory. Gubicza scattered three singles, walked five and struck out two before departing after seven innings with a slight groin pull. He evened his record at 4-4 with Dan Quisenberry finishing up.

Angels 7, Indians 3

At Cleveland, Reggie Jackson's two-run homer and RBI single paced a 20-hit attack that helped the Angels defeat the Indians. Jackson's homer was the 512th of his career, putting him in a tie with Ernie Banks and Eddie Mathews for 11th place on the all-time list.

Rangers 8, Mariners 5

At Arlington, Texas, Pete O'Brien ignited a six-run first inning with an RBI double and added his seventh homer to help the Rangers snap the Mariners' three-game winning streak. Frank Tanana, 2-7, recorded his first victory since May 26 by pitching 5 2-3 innings and allowing six hits.

White Sox 4, A's 3

At Chicago, Harold Baines hit a 400-foot upper deck homer to lead off the bottom of the 13th inning and give the White Sox the victory. Baines' homer, his fifth of the year, was his third hit of the game and gave reliever Gene Nelson his fourth victory in six decisions. Keith Atherton, 3-2, took the loss.

IN BRIEF

Slaney Falls 7 Seconds Short Of Mile World Record

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (UPI) — Mary Decker Slaney will have to cross an ocean to find the kind of competition good enough to push her into running a world-record mile.

Slaney, who possesses every U.S. distance record between 800 and 10,000 meters, hoped to run a record mile Tuesday night at Vancouver's Harry Jerome International Track Classic but fell short by almost seven seconds.

"The first lap was right and then I slowed down. I just didn't have any push," said Slaney, unimpressed with the quality of competition at the meet.

"I wanted to break a world record to give me a competitive goal," she said after easily winning the mile in 4 minutes 22.30 seconds, well ahead of Canadian Olympic bronze medalist Lynn Williams at 4:28.03.

"I'll have another chance this summer (in Europe), but I would have liked to have done it here," said Slaney. "I sort of like doing things in North America."

Slaney, who rocketed into international notoriety when she collided with South Africa's Zola Budd at the Los Angeles Olympics, said Vancouver would be her last North American event of the season.

She will tour the European track meets this summer, hoping to compete against Budd and Natayla Artyemova, the Soviet runner who set the world record at 4:15.80 in Leningrad earlier this year.

Slaney said she was still suffering from a recent muscle injury in her left leg.

"I wanted to run much faster, but I still didn't feel that strong," she said. "I was anticipating feeling stronger but I just wasn't."

Canada swept the top two positions in the men's mile with Dave Reid winning in 3:59.03 ahead of teammate Dave Cambell who finished in 3:59.51.

Former world champion marathoner Alberto Salazar, recovering from a severe hamstring injury jogged through the 3,000-meter event placing last, far behind the pack.

The race was won by Canada's Graeme Fell in 7:53.56, ahead of Australia's Andrew Lloyd with 7:54.65.

Salazar, three-time winner of the New York marathon, was disgusted with his time and said he would stop running for at least two months, possibly for additional surgery on his leg.

"I shouldn't have bothered showing up," said Salazar. "I can still feel the pain in my right leg ... running races like that isn't healthy."

Martina Drops Set, Wins Match

EASTBOURNE, England (UPI) — Martina Navratilova rebounded from a first-set defeat against Lori McNeil Tuesday to score a 3-6, 6-2, 6-0 victory in the second round of a $175,000 women's grass court tournament.

Navratilova, who wrapped up a 6-4, 6-4 first round win over compatriot Betsy Nagelsen earlier in the day, turned on the power after her first-set lapse against McNeil.

Gabriela Sabatini, the 15-year-old from Argentina who is the latest teen sensation of women's tennis, bowed out in the second round. Sabatini, seeded 15th at Wimbledon next week, lost 6-7, 6-2, 6-3 to Pascale Paradis of France. Paradis, 19, preceded Sabatini as the world's leading junior.

Another Wimbledon seed to fall was Canadian Carling Bassett. She found the experience of Australia's Dianne Fromholtz Bailestrat too much for her, crashing 6-3, 6-0.

Bulgaria's Manuela Maleeva, fourth seed at Wimbledon next week, had the unhappy task of dispatching her 16-year-old sister Katerina from the tournament 6-1, 6-3, while Australian Wendy Turnbull, 32, fought back to oust Wendy White of the United States 6-7, 6-2, 6-3.

Czechoslovakia's Helena Sukova, seeded to meet Turnbull in the final 16 at Wimbledon, defeated Janine Thompson of Australia 6-2, 6-3. Other winners were Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden, 6-2, 7-5, over Adriana Villagran of Argentina, and American Kathy Rinaldi, 7-5, 6-1, over Switzerland's Christiane Jolissaint.

Home fans spent a miserable 43 minutes witnessing the further decline of recent heroine Jo Durie. Sagging under the pressure of carrying the British flag on the women's tennis circuit, Durie's downward spiral continued Tuesday when she was routed 6-0, 6-0 by American Zina Garrison.

Gullikson Produces 1st Upset

BRISTOL, England (UPI) — Tim Gullikson Tuesday produced the first upset of the rain-hit West of England Grass Court Championships when he eliminated Slobodan Zivojinovic in their first-round match.

Gullikson, 32, fought back for a 2-6, 7-6, 6-4 victory over the powerful Yugoslav.

Zivojinovic, 21, reached the semifinals of last week's Queen's Club tournament, showing form that could trouble fourth-seeded swede Mats Wilander in the first round of the Wimbledon Championships next week.

But Gullikson withstood the barrage, leant on his experience to get through the tense tiebreak in the second set and then took the cut and thrust final set for a place in the second round.

Tim's left-handed twin brother Tom also reached the second round, scoring a 7-5, 6-2 victory over West Germany's Rolf Oesterthun.

Zivojinovic wasn't the only physical giant to be felled Tuesday. American Chip Hooper lost to 28-year-old Italian Gianni Oleppio, 7-6, 6-2.

Parker, Lucas Carry Astros

KISSIMMEE — Bob Parker was 2 for 4 with a double and scored the winning run in the first inning and Aubrey Lucas pitched four-hit ball for seven frames as the Osceola Astros blanked the Lakeland Tigers, 5-0, in Florida State League action.

Lucas, in his second start of the season, pitched a four-hitter through seven innings before Jim Shaab went the last two frames to preserve the shutout.

Parker, a former Lyman High and Seminole Community College standout, scored the first run of the game when he doubled in the first, went to third on an infield single and scored on Brian Job's sacrifice fly.

Parker singled and scored in a four-run fifth as the Astros added some insurance.

Late Error Downs O-Twins

GREENVILLE, S.C. — An error by third baseman Greg Morehardt enabled Tommy Thompson to score the winning run in the eighth inning Tuesday night as the Greenville Braves slipped past the Orlando Twins, 4-3, in Southern League action.

Orlando jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first but the Braves tied it at 2-2 in the bottom half of the second on Jeff Ransom's two-run homer.

Mark Davidson gave the O-Twins a 3-2 lead with a solo homer in the fifth frame, his 11th of the season. Greenville's Randy Ingle slammed a solo shot in the seventh to retie the score, 3-3.

Sweden's Rise Began With Borg

Many of you, I am sure, watched the French Open on television. I am sure that you were happy when Chris Evert Lloyd won the women's title, and sad that McEnroe and Connors lost in the semis.

Of course, Mats Wilander won this year's men's singles title with a four-set victory over Lendl. Winning the French Open is an awesome task. It is a grand slam event and, along with the Australian, Wimbledon and the U.S. Open, is considered the most prestigious tournament on the tour.

Even though Wilander was seeded fourth, behind Lendl, McEnroe and Connors, it was no surprise to most tennis fans that he won. He had won the event before and is very much at home on the slow, red clay courts at Roland Garros.

Also, it just once again points out that Sweden is far and away the dominant tennis country in the world as far as men's tennis is concerned.

At the present time, of the top 10 men's singles players in the world, five are from Sweden. Wilander is ranked third, Anders Jarryd is sixth, Henrik Sundstrom is seventh, Joakim Nyström is eighth and Stefan Edberg is tenth.

To top it off, Sweden has several other world class players like Thomas Hogstedt, Jan Gunnarsson and Peter Carlsson, who are in the top 50. Add to that list over 150 university players in the U.S. who are from Sweden.

Larry Castle

HERALD TENNIS WRITER

Of course, the NCAA singles champion for the past two seasons, Mike Pernfors, is also from Sweden. The list of world class and high quality men's tennis players just goes on and on.

Experts say that we really haven't seen anything yet. They are saying that Sweden has a crop of 12-, 13-, and 14-year-olds that will be much better than the players they have now.

That's awesome, because Sweden is already the Davis Cup champ and has such an array of talent that one wonders how it could get much better.

How did this little country, with only a couple of months a year of warm weather, become so dominant in the world of tennis? Most tennis experts from around the world believe that it all started the Bjorn Borg.

I didn't even mention Borg earlier because he has really retired from tennis, but he will probably go down in history as the greatest men's player that ever lived. Borg set the standard for the young Swedish players to aim at. They all copied his style, his topspin forehand and two-flashed backhand, and his calm, cool demeanor on the court.

Borg played with his head and his feet, not his mouth. He was a great role model for the young Swedes. From Borg's example, hundreds of players started to get involved at a very early age.

The Swedish Tennis Confederation gave much support and supplied leadership, as well as facilities and excellent coaching, throughout Sweden. Programs started on all levels were very organized and disciplined, and all aimed at developing each player to his fullest potential. (To make sure that everyone has a chance to get enough work on their tennis, the indoor courts are kept open 24 hours a day.)

Mike Pernfors used to have matches and practices scheduled at 4 a.m. That, my friends, takes dedication and commitment to your sport. All of these factors have come together to put Sweden right on top of the world in men's tennis.

And, it looks like they just might stay there for a long, long time.

Pellarin Scoops Orioles Past West Volusia, 16-9

OVIDEO — "We brought our bats but we left our gloves at home."

That was David Austin's assessment of his Ovidio Orioles' 16-9 victory over West Volusia Tuesday night in District 14 Senior Top Team Tournament baseball at the Ovidio Little League complex.

It wasn't pretty, nine error seldom are, but Austin couldn't count first baseman R.D. Pellarin among the fumble fingers. "R.D. played a heckuva game," said Austin. "He must have dug out five or six throws. He scooped the ball real well."

Ovidio, which faces Maitland and ace pitcher Willy Daunic at 7:30 tonight at DeLand's field (Howe) by the dump, fell behind, 5-0, but Austin said his Orioles didn't panic.

"We hit the ball pretty good the first couple of innings but it didn't drop in," said the 14-year Ovidio Little League coaching veteran. "We fell behind pretty quick, but once we got rolling we couldn't stop. We got a couple of key hits from guys who hadn't been hitting."

Ovidio scored in three innings Tuesday but made them all count. An eight-run third set the trend for the game. Cedric Watson walked and one out later, Richard Cobb walked. A wild pitch moved them both ahead and Alan Greene doubled to left to score both. Green then stole third and Poochie King was hit with a pitch. King stole second to set the table for Gary Gotwalt who doubled to right center for two runs to bring Ovidio within 5-4.

Pellarin then walked and both runners moved up on a wild pitch. Ron Fahy walked to load the bases. Bobby Wyatt then missed a squeeze hunt but Gotwalt avoided the tag for a steal of home to tie the game.

Watson, up for the second time, was hit with a pitch to load the bases and Kinnaird promptly doubled to right center for three runs and an 8-5 lead.

The Orioles pushed across five more in the fifth. Kinnaird and Cobb had an RBI grounds while Green chipped in an RBI single and Gotwalt drilled the big hit of the inning — a two-run double.

Kinnaird started for Ovidio but was relieved by Gotwalt in the third. "Gary pitched good enough to get the job done," said Austin. "They only got four runs off him."

Spolski, Robison Key Win

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Not only did Andy Spolski pitch the Altamonte American League Astros past Maitland Tuesday night, but he found justice as well just three days ago. Spolski threw a no-hitter at Maitland — and lost.

But the hard-throwing 12-year-old wasn't to be denied Tuesday night as he allowed just two hits, struck out five and walked five. David Robison had the big hit of the night as he slugged a grand-slam homer to ease Altamonte past Maitland, 10-3, in District 14 Top Team Tournament baseball at the Pierson Little League complex.

"The tales were turned this time," said Altamonte skipper Duke Pleicones. "Their pitcher was wild and Andy had his control. He pitched a tremendous game."

Altamonte journeys to Eustis tonight to meet Southwest Volusia, Northwest Volusia or Eustis. A win tonight puts the Nationals in the losers' bracket final Thursday against Ovidio at Ovidio. Chris Pleicones will pitch tonight for the Astros.

Along with Spolski's strong mound effort, manager Pleicones tipped his cap to backstop Rich Schou, who turned in three stellar defensive gems. Schou backed up an errant throw to first and gunned the runner out at second. He also threw a would-be thief out at second and then scrambled to the backstop for a wild pitch and tossed to Spolski to nab a runner trying to score.

Schou also scored Altamonte's first run when he walked in the first. Mark Pleicones walked and Chris Pleicones also drew free passes to load the bases. Two outs later, Schou scampered home on a wild pitch.

Altamonte added a pair in the third when Chris Pleicones and Spolski singled and Robison drew a walk to load the bases. Scott Davis coaxed another freebie for an RBI and Jay Kane plated the second run with a groundout.

In the fourth, Aisse Cornell walked and Kyle Eischman walked. Rich Schou singled to score Cornell and Mark Pleicones walked to load bases. Chris Pleicones followed with a liner to left center for two more runs and a 6-2 lead.

Holding a 6-3 edge, Altamonte put the game away in the sixth. Schou, Chris Pleicones and Spolski walked to fill the sacks. Robison then drilled a deep fly to right center which cleared the fence for his grand slam.

Bullets Spear 7-7 Lion Killer

LANOVER, Md. (UPI) — The Washington Bullets took a towering chance in Tuesday's draft, selecting a 7-foot-7 former Sudanese tribesman named Manute Bol, who once killed a lion with a spear.

Bol will bring a rail-like 195-pound frame and extremely limited basketball experience to the Bullets. Bol played just one year at Division II Bridgeport (Conn.) University and is now playing in the new United States Basketball League's Rhode Island Gulls.

If he makes the Washington team, the former tribesman and cow herder will become the tallest player ever to play in the NBA.

General Manager Bob Ferry, who said Bol's legs are skinnier than the general manager's arms, nonetheless added: "The upside is if he can pick up some weight he's got a chance to be the best shot blocker who ever lived."

Bullets' coach Gene Shue.

NBA

asked the first thing Washington will do with the Sudanese giant with stork-like legs, did not hesitate in saying "Feed him."

But Shue added, "We considered this to be absolutely no gamble at all. He's a great project."

Shue said Bol has a shaky shot and limited court savvy — but is a "tremendous" shot blocker.

Asked by an NBA scout about Bol's heart on the court, his agent, Boston lawyer Frank Catapano, said, "Look the kid killed a lion with a spear. Who else on your team did that?"

Bol — with questionable foot speed, an awkward gait, limited jumping ability and rough hoop skills — is a classic project, Shue said. "Everything just looks so bad. But he does things that are good."

Happy Birthday James ...

Library-Museum To Open Exhibit Honoring Bird Lover

The Henry S. Sanford Library-Museum is honoring the 200th birthday anniversary of the French-born naturalist John James Audubon with an exhibit titled, "Birds of a Feather."

The exhibit is a tribute to Audubon, whose love of birds led him to spend a lifetime tracing their habits and migration patterns, not only in his native France, but the world over. He followed the flight of the common sparrow throughout the streets and lofts of London; the exotic tropical birds of wild Africa in their native habitat along the Nile and the fragile beauty; and the mysterious endurance of the tiny Hummingbird in its long and hazardous migrations across mountains, deserts and oceans.

Even the lowly crow, with its intricate plumage, challenged the talent and artistic imagination of Audubon. As an artist, his beautifully detailed paintings of every species in the bird family brought us closer to one of nature's most creative efforts.

The Henry S. Sanford Library-Museum is located at Fort Mellon Park along Lake Monroe. The park is a feeding ground for the more or less "permanent guests," such as the ducks, egrets, geese, gulls, and an occasional anhinga or water turkey, which have adopted Lake Carola as their home. Local bird lovers, responding to the needs of these graceful and friendly creatures, have chosen late afternoon as their feeding time, making it a festive part of the day. This section of the park seems to be a natural fly-way and the changing seasons finds the park host to numerous transients who bring color, movement and song to the tall palms and stately magnolia trees which grace the library-museum grounds.

It seems a natural transition to move from the gathering of birds at the park to the cage-like atmosphere of the exhibit room in the museum where life-sized studies of colorful birds are on display. The exhibit cases are filled with porcelain birds, many from the collection of "Rare Birds," by Nan. There is also a special display of song birds from the collection of Dr. Genevieve Richardson, who designed the exhibit with careful consideration for Audubon.

The free exhibit is scheduled to open Sunday at 2 p.m. The public is invited and members of the historical preservation society, the Audubon Society and bird watchers in general are encouraged to attend. Light refreshments will be served. Ms. Richardson, Patrick Bardin, Grace O'Brien, Brian Walker and Ruth Swinney are hostesses for the event. The exhibit will continue during the week, from 2-5 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and next Sunday.

An Apple A Day...

Frances Ballinger, of Nolan Road, Sanford, shows off a batch of home-grown Israeli apples. The strain of apples are made to grow in tropical climates, she said, and can survive cold temperatures well.

Making Kids Walk Not Child Abuse

DEAR ABBY: I thought that surely the school bus case was closed, but now I feel compelled to respond to "Saddened Psychologist," who took the parents to task for making their 9- and 11-year-old sons walk 14 miles a day to and from school after they had been kicked off the school bus for misconduct.

Obviously "Saddened" was city-born and never held a job that required physical labor or overtime. What difference is there in walking seven miles to school as punishment and getting up before dawn every day to do farm chores? I'm sure the farm kids of our country are still doing some of the same things I did while growing up on a farm — I fed the chickens (all 3,000 of them), milked cows and cut broccoli in the field for market before sunrise.

And how about the thousands of kids who are up before dawn delivering newspapers, then come home for breakfast before going to school?

"Saddened" felt that a 10-hour day was out of line. Many young people today are so involved in sports, they spend at least four hours outside their school day, either practicing or participating in one sport or another. This requires more energy than walking 14 miles a day — and it's not for only five days, it's for months and years.

Dear Abby

I wonder how "Saddened" thinks high school and college students who also happen to hold down full-time jobs manage to make it?

NELL IN LOUISVILLE, KY.

DEAR NELL: If "Saddened" saw my mail, he'd be sadder still. Read on.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Saddened Psychologist," who sent you a telegram saying the parents who made their kids walk 14 miles to school and back were guilty of child abuse.

I'm 64, and when I was a kid, not only did I walk 12 miles to school and back, I grew up on a farm and had to milk the cows (by hand yet!) before I went to school. And when I got home I had to milk our cows again and do all sorts of chores before supper (No TV in those days.)

America is the only country in the world where mothers will drive their kids to the YMCA so they can get some exercise.

JERRY Z.

IN WEST BEND, WIS.

DEAR JERRY: Here's another letter from a kid who walked.

DEAR ABBY: I thought you might want to hear from someone on the side of the parents who made their kids walk to school.

I lived a mile from school. My mother drove, but she didn't drive me. She insisted that I walk. My friends' mothers drove them and I thought my mother was being mean by making me walk, so I asked her why she didn't drive me to school. She put her arms around me and said, "If I drive you, how will you learn, and have time to think? Walk, and learn, dear."

Well, I walked, and learned to love the smell of the rain in the air and the feel of it on my face. I learned the feeling of snow crunching under my feet. I did a lot of thinking while I walked. It helped me to think things out instead of making quick decisions. I also met some nice people on the way. The lady who gave me a flower for my mother from her garden, the old man who was always waiting by his mailbox for a letter or a card from his children. (None came, but cards for every special occasion did come from me.)

I am 17 now, and I still walk whenever I can because I enjoy it. My mother was right. I learned a lot by walking.

GLAD I WALKED

Italian Ice Cream To Lush, Soft To Scoop

ROME (UPI) — Ask for a single scoop of chocolate ice cream at a local "gelateria" and no matter how good your Italian accent, you'll be branded a foreigner.

Italian ice cream is too lush, too soft, too velvety rich to form a neat little golf ball atop a cone. Instead, it is slathered and mounded into place with a plump metal paddle.

And nobody orders a single flavor — the unwritten rule requires three, with or without a dollop of "panna," fresh whipped cream, to cap it off.

"Gelato" (pronounced jell-ah-toe) Italian-style ranges from frozen egg custards to fruity, eggless creams, from fruit-filled, milkless sherbets to big crunchy flakes of flavored ice.

Except for being cold, it has little in common with its U.S. counterparts.

No cellulose gum. No calcium sulfate. No polysorbate 80. No carrageenan. No hydrogenated vegetable oil.

"American ice cream is made with big industrial machines," said Nazzareno Giolitti, the 30-year-old owner of Rome's best-known ice cream shop. "There's not enough air inside them."

"So they're hard, too hard, like this," he said, rapping his knuckles on a desk.

WOFL And WDBO Sponsor Area Organ Donor Drive

One month ago, Casselberry resident Harry Wuest got a new lease on life.

At 40, Harry was suffering with a debilitating disease, causing his heart muscles to gradually deteriorate. He was dying a slow, inevitable death until an Atlanta family gave him a "second chance" at life.

With a heart donation, Harry was able to have the transplant surgery he so desperately needed to survive.

WOFL-TV, channel 35, and WDBO radio in Orlando want to give thousands of others their "second chance" at life. In a cooperative community effort, the two will join forces with Florida Hospital's Organ Transplant Program to encourage Central Florida residents to give the gift of love through organ donation.

The following areas have been chosen as designated sites for concerned individuals to get additional information and donor cards: Quality Outlet Center, Orlando, June 22, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.; Lake Square Mall, Leesburg, June 29, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.; and Merritt Square Mall, Merritt Island, July 6, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

The Central Florida Donor Drive was inspired by a one-hour public service special "Second Chance" which aired on WOFL on June 14 and 16.

Although miraculous advances have been made in organ transplant research and surgery, 97,000 people still die each year that could be saved through organ donation.

WOFL and WDBO firmly believe public awareness and personal commitment can alleviate these critical shortages and offer those in need a "second chance" at life.

As Harry Wuest says of those who helped give him new life, "My feelings toward them will never die and will keep me humble forever."

Hijacking Threw Monkeywrench In Works

CBS Updates Its Documentary On Anti-American Terrorism

By Joan Hansauer
 UPI TV Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — "This show is right on the money," Burton "Bud" Benjamin said with a combination of exhaustion and exhilaration.

He was referring "Terrorism: War In The Shadows," a CBS Reports documentary to air tonight at 10 which even includes a brief interview with Nabih Berri, leader of the Shiite Amal militia who has been acting as middleman in communicating with the hijackers of TWA flight 847.

Since Friday, when Shiite Moslem gunmen hijacked flight 847 out of Athens with 153 people aboard — mostly Americans — Benjamin has been reworking the show to reflect current events.

The documentary was completed long before the hijacking, but the Shiite terrorists have put across the show's point with a vengeance — that according to the U.S. State Department almost 40 percent of terrorist attacks throughout the world are aimed at Americans.

In the show Berri complains that Americans call Arabs terrorists, but turn a blind eye when Israelis attack Arab villages, and he said:

"I would say you have to deal with what it means to be a terrorist. If everyone who fights against the Israeli invasion is a terrorist, maybe I am the biggest one. Let's speak very frank."

For Benjamin and those responsible for the CBS Reports documentary, it was back to the drawing board over the weekend.

"Obviously, we will lead with 847. We have rewritten part of the show, mostly to get in the stuff on 847," said Benjamin, who had to abandon plans to relax and play some tennis over the weekend.

"We worked late hours all weekend. We're not doing an

'Do we have to become terrorists to fight terrorism? Do we have hit teams to assassinate terrorist leaders? In the documentary (we) lay down the options.'
 —producer Burton Benjamin hour special on this, so the main thing is to stay on top of the story and show how it affects what we are dealing with — the problems of terrorism for Americans."

The show is reported by Walter Cronkite, who currently is vacationing on Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

"If the situation is volatile on Wednesday night, if it seems as if something might happen any moment, Cronkite will open the show live," Benjamin said. "If things appear stable — it will be the middle of the night over there — we won't need to do that."

"If Cronkite opens the show, he will say in effect that if anything happens during the hour, we will interrupt for the news."

While Benjamin blocks out changes in the program, he must deal with an ongoing news story and must be prepared for breaking developments.

"I'll be in the control room all Wednesday afternoon," he said, "and we can make changes if we have to. By late Wednesday afternoon, we will be pretty well restricted in what changes we can make. By Wednesday evening, if there are more changes, Cronkite will handle it live."

Benjamin himself is baffled by the dilemma terrorists pose.

"I've done documentaries in the past," he said, "and you do one on the plight of migrant workers or discrimination or the situation in South Africa and it is rather straightforward at the end. You come to a conclusion, something ought to be done and you specify."

"Here they are hijacking a plane with Americans on board because they want the Israelis to release Shiite prisoners. No one really knows what to do. Do we have to become terrorists to fight terrorism? Do we have hit teams to assassinate terrorist leaders? In the documentary our purpose is to lay down the options."

Americans are a prime target because the U.S. is a superpower and terrorists believe we can influence others.

"We don't hear about terrorists attacking the Russians, but that doesn't mean it doesn't happen," Benjamin said. "With a controlled press, we might not hear about it. We can assume that if a plane from Kabul, Afghanistan was hijacked, we would never know it unless it came down in the West."

Ribs, Salad, Ice Cream: The Makings Of A Great Cookout

Mix luscious summer tomatoes with sweet corn, add old-fashioned ribs and barbecued chicken, great potato salad, homemade bread and a finale of cool, creamy homemade ice cream and you've got the makings of a great Fourth of July cookout!

These tempting recipes come from The Sunshine Sampler, a cookbook that features many Southern regional recipes, produced by a Florida community service club.

Make the barbecue sauce ahead. Start marinating the ribs July 3. Chill the potato salad overnight. Fix the tomato-corn dish in the morning. Start the bread baking as company arrives. Get the whole family involved in the ice cream production. And declare independence from the kitchen on the Fourth of July!

Incidentally, the wife of the barbecue sauce cook says this sauce is too good to save for chicken alone. Her family keeps it on hand at all times, and uses it for pork, ham, beef, and "just about anything it sounds good with."

BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 lemon slice
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

In a saucepan, mix all ingredients. Bring to a boil, lower heat, and simmer for one hour. When it's time to grill, baste chicken pieces constantly with barbecue sauce.

MILL CREEK MARINATED RIBS

- 10 meaty short ribs
  - 1 cup vegetable oil
  - 3 tablespoons honey
  - Juice of 3 lemons
  - 1/4 cup soy sauce
  - 1 clove garlic, minced
- Mix the oil, lemon juice, soy sauce, honey and garlic in a blender for a minute, or until thoroughly blended. Pour marinade over meat and marinate for at least 8 hours or overnight, turning several times. Broil meat over charcoal, slowly, 45 minutes for medium rare, basting with the sauce as you turn. Serves 8 to 10.

TOMATO-CORN BAKE

- 3 small ripe tomatoes
- 1 cup corn (cooked in boiling salted water for one minute)
- 1 tablespoon green onion, sliced
- 1/2 cup processed Swiss cheese, shredded

Cut tomatoes in half crosswise; remove seeds and most of the pulp from center of each. Sprinkle cavities with salt. Combine corn, cheese and onion. Firmly pack 2-3 tablespoons of mixture into tomato half. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake at 350° for 20-25 minutes. Serves 6. Note: Use vine-ripened tomatoes and fresh corn.

HERBED POTATO SALAD

- 2 pounds potatoes (6 cups,

- cooked and diced)
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 onion, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups celery, diced
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dillweed, or 2 teaspoons dried dillweed
- 1/4 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves
- 3/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon mustard
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce

Peel and dice potatoes. Boil in salted water until tender but firm. Drain. Add onion, celery, dillweed and tarragon. Mix together mayonnaise, mustard, vinegar and hot pepper sauce.

Add to potatoes. Mix lightly, cover and chill. Serves 8.

ONION-CHEESE SUPPER BREAD

- 1/2 onion, chopped
  - 3 tablespoons margarine, divided
  - 1 egg, beaten
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 1/2 cup Bisquick
  - 1 cup sharp cheese, shredded
  - 1 tablespoon poppy seed
- Cook onion in 1 tablespoon margarine until transparent; combine egg and milk and add to Bisquick; stir just until moistened. Add cooked onion and half of the shredded cheese. Spread dough in greased 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle top with remaining cheese and poppy seed. Drizzle 2 tablespoons melted margarine all over. Bake at 400° for 20-25 minutes. Serve cut in squares while hot.

HOMEMADE VANILLA ICE CREAM

- 6 eggs
  - 1 pint whipping cream
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 2 tablespoons vanilla extract
  - 3 cups sugar
  - 1/2 gallon milk
- Beat eggs vigorously; add whipping cream, salt and vanilla. Gradually beat in sugar until completely dissolved. Add milk. Pour into 5-quart freezer container; freeze. Vary basic recipe by adding fresh fruit or crushed peppermint sticks. This recipe is best if container is placed in refrigerator freezer a few hours before serving.

Southern favorites abound in this cookbook that emphasizes Florida Flavors and seafood — using citrus, produce, fish and shellfish.

The Sunshine Sampler was produced by Entre Nous, a women's community service organization established more than 50 years ago in Bradenton, Florida. Entre Nous volunteers handle cookbook sales and distribution to preserve all proceeds for charities and scholarships. The Sunshine Sampler is a spiral bound book with a durable laminated cover. It contains 330 pages of 660 prized recipes from Entre Nous members.

An extra feature of this cookbook is its unique and colorful cover, depicting counted cross-stitch patterns that are contained at the beginning of each of the 14 chapters in the book.

Enjoy Exotic French Fish Stew At Home

By Aileen Claire NEA Food Editor

Cricket's in Chicago's Tremont Hotel is a cozy restaurant decorated in early Americana. Its chef, Guy Petit, emphasizes fish and seafood in continental dishes ranging from light to heavy fare. You may sample his easy-to-do bouillabaisse (French fish stew) at home.

CRICKET'S BOUILLABAISSE

- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
- 1 large leek, thinly sliced
- 4 cups Clamato juice
- 1 cup dry white wine
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon ground red pepper
- Pinch saffron
- 1 pound cod fillets, cut into 1-inch chunks
- 16 mussels or clams, well scrubbed

1 loaf French bread, cut into 8 slices, toasted

Chopped parsley
In a large pot, heat olive oil over medium heat. Sauté onion and leek until tender. Add Clamato, wine, bay leaf, thyme, pepper and saffron. Simmer uncovered 40 minutes.

Add fish and mussels or clams; simmer 10 minutes longer or until mussels or clams open. Place a slice of toasted bread in each soup bowl. Top with bouillabaisse. Sprinkle parsley over top.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

Clam and tomato juice cocktail adds its own character to a basic bouillabaisse.

Microwave Magic

Who Needs A Wok?
Use Your Microwave
For Oriental Dinners

Oriental cooking makes use of fresh vegetables and small amounts of meat or poultry. Cooking time is especially short when using the microwave oven. Dinner can be ready in less than 15 minutes and the kitchen will not be any warmer because microwave ovens do not generate heat. (Think of the savings on your electric bill.)

STIR-FRY BEEF OR PORK
1 pound round steak or pork steak, thinly sliced
3 tablespoons soy sauce
3 tablespoons sesame seed oil
8 cups shredded Chinese cabbage
2 carrots, sliced thinly (dialagonally)
3-4 green onions, sliced thinly (use tops too)

Midge Mycuff
Home Economist
Seminole Community College

2 cloves garlic
Slice of fresh garlic (or dash of powdered ginger)
Freeze meat for 1 hour so that it can be sliced across the grain easily. Microwave on 100 percent power 5-6 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon each of soy sauce and sesame seed oil. Add fresh ginger. Cover and set aside. Combine cabbage, onions, carrots, garlic, 2 tablespoons soy sauce and sesame seed oil. Microwave covered 4-5 minutes until lightly steamed. Cabbage will be tender crisp, not soft. Combine vegetables with meat and additional soy sauce and sesame seed oil to taste.

A flank is a less tender cut of beef that can be sliced thin and marinated to improve flavor and tenderness. This makes a budget-wise dinner for four.

MONGOLIAN BEEF
1 pound sliced flank steak
2 cups thinly sliced green onions (scallions)
8-10 cloves of garlic, minced
2 tablespoons oil
1/2 teaspoon salt

Marinade:
4 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon dry sherry
1 teaspoon black pepper
3 tablespoons cold water
2 teaspoons corn starch
1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon oil
Slice the flank steak very thin across the grain while the meat is partially frozen. Combine marinade ingredients in a bowl, add sliced beef, mix thoroughly and set aside for at least 30 minutes. Microwave on 100 percent power the oil, garlic and beef, covered, about 3 minutes. Stir in 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Microwave scallions, covered, 1 minute and stir in meat. Microwave 1 minute longer, add 2 teaspoons sesame oil*. Serve with rice.
*This oil adds distinct flavor.

2 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
1 9-inch pie pastry shell, unbaked
3 Tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup onions, chopped
1 cup Florida green pepper, diced
1 clove garlic, minced
4 Florida eggs
1 cup Florida milk
1 1/2 cups Cheddar cheese, shredded
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Preheat oven to 450°F. Slice tomatoes; set aside. Prick bottom and sides of pastry with fork tines; refrigerate for 10 minutes. Bake until golden, about 8 minutes. Remove pie shell. Reduce oven temperature to 325°F. In medium skillet melt butter. Add onions, green pepper and garlic. Sauté for 5 minutes. In medium bowl lightly beat eggs. Stir in milk, cheese, salt, pepper and sautéed vegetables. Arrange tomato slices in the bottom of the pie shell. Pour egg mixture over all. Bake until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 50 minutes. Let pie stand at room temperature for 5 minutes before cutting.

Fugitive Killer Led Quiet Life In Small Town

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — Raymond Phillip Wilson, who broke out of prison 10 years ago while serving a life sentence for murdering a wealthy widow, settled into a quiet life as a "mild-mannered" man who tended his garden and helped his neighbors.

"The whole neighborhood was shocked," Police Detective James Derr said Tuesday after Wilson's arrest.

The 62-year-old Wilson, wanted since 1975 after escaping from the state prison in Huntington, was taken into custody Monday while working in his garden. He did not resist arrest.

Police said Wilson moved to Pottstown about 1 1/2 years after his escape and had lived there, a block from the local police station, ever since, marrying a local woman and "basically keeping a low profile."

He even used his real name.

"Everyone said he was a real good neighbor, the kind of guy who would help you carry in the groceries or shovel the snow out of your driveway," Derr said.

By the time Wilson escaped from prison, he had already served nearly 20 years of a life sentence for the 1955 robbery and strangling of Lulubel Rossman, 76, in her Philadelphia hotel room. Rossman, an eccentric who kept a small fortune in cash stashed about her room, was robbed of about $140,000.

Wilson and three other men were convicted of first-degree murder in 1956. His 40-day trial was reported at the time to be the second-longest criminal trial in Philadelphia history.

Because Wilson never used a false name, he was relatively easy to locate once police learned through an informant of his general whereabouts, Derr said.

Neighbors, including the Rev. Stanley Wagner, pastor of Zion United Church of Christ across the street from Wilson's house, were surprised by the arrest.

"It shocked me most because he was such a quiet, mild-mannered person," Wagner said.

Police said Wilson was tending his garden when police arrived to arrest him.

Said Derr: "He didn't seem that surprised. It was almost as though he was expecting us."

United Slashes Fares For 4th

By United Press

United Airlines, scrambling to recover from a 29-day pilots' strike, is offering half-price tickets on all domestic flights during the busy season-opening Fourth of July holiday week.

Eastern, TWA, Delta and USAir said they still are studying the United move, announced in full-page newspaper ads Tuesday, which could set off an airfare war during the weekend that ushers in the vacation season.

People Express Airlines, based in Newark, N.J., said it had no plans to lower its already cut-rate fares.

The United promotion includes a shortening of the normal 30-day advance purchase period for "ultra-saver" tickets to seven days through the end of this month and free upgrades to first class for members of the airline's frequent flyers club on a first-come basis through Aug. 15.

American Airlines said it had decided not to match the United fare cut, but would follow its competitor's lead in reducing the advance purchase requirement for "superaver" tickets to seven days from 30 days before June 30.

At United headquarters in Chicago, spokesman Joe Hopkins said "people are jumping at" the airline's 50 percent fare reduction and a 50 percent cash rebate on tickets already purchased for the July 1-July 7 period.

High Altitude Photos Available To Public

High-altitude photographs produced under the NHAP program and available to the public from the USGS clearly depict in either color-infrared or black-and-white, 93 percent of the state's 58,462 square miles of land and water areas. Each color infrared photo shows an area of about 68 square miles and each black-and-white photo depicts about 130 square miles.

Even from 40,000 feet, features as small as houses and boats are distinguishable because of the quality and high resolution of the photographs, said Roy Mullen, acting chief of the USGS Eastern Mapping Center at the Survey's National Center in Reston, Va.

Larger features such as airfields, parks, large buildings, highways, lakes, streams and canals are easily identifiable. The Florida Keys and the Intracoastal Waterway, for example, can be seen clearly on the photographs of south Florida and serve as landmarks for locating other coastal features.

On the color-infrared photos, areas of healthy vegetation such as swamps, irrigated croplands and urban parks appear in red, while areas of sparse or no vegetation appear in shades of blue, gray and brown. Bodies of water, as in conventional color photographs, range from light blue to black.

Mullen said that under the multi-agency cooperative NHAP program, more than 80 percent of the area in the 48 contiguous states has been photographed and complete coverage of the 48 states is expected by the end of 1986. Federal agencies that contribute to the program include the departments of Agriculture, Defense, Commerce and Interior and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The high quality of NHAP photographs is the result of exposing film in precision aerial cameras during near-optimum weather and seasonal conditions, plus the application of stringent inspection and processing procedures before the USGS accepts the photographs from aerial photography contractors.

Photographs produced under the program are intended primarily for mapping, scientific research and resource and land-use planning purposes. But Mullen said they also can appeal to people who want high-altitude views of their homes, hometowns, farms, ranches, neighborhoods or other favorite spots.

Prints of the high-altitude photographs are available in standard 9-by-9-inch size, with enlargements available in sizes ranging up to 36-by-36 inches. Cost are $5 for the 9-by-9-inch black-and-white print, $15 for the 9-by-9-inch color-infrared print, and up to $70 for the 36-by-36-inch color-infrared enlargement.

The black-and-white and color-infrared photographs are taken at an altitude of 40,000 feet above the ground with two 9-by-9-inch-format aerial cameras. A 6-inch focal-length camera loaded with black-and-white film produces photographs at a scale of 1:80,000 (one inch on a photograph represents about 1.25 miles on the ground) and each photograph depicts an area of nearly 130 square miles. Photographs from a 8.25-inch focal-length camera loaded with color-infrared film are at a scale of 1:58,000 (one inch represents almost one mile) and each covers nearly 68 square miles.

ordering photographs for areas wanted are available from the Eastern Mapping Center-NCIC, U.S. Geological Survey, 536-A National Center, Reston, Va. 22092, telephone 703-860-6336. Black-and-white and color-infrared NHAP prints can be ordered from the same office. Mail orders must be accompanied by checks or money orders payable to the Department of the Interior-USGS. The Eastern Mapping Center-NCIC also has information on other high-altitude photographs and maps of Florida at various scales, as well as other cartographic data pertaining to the state.

Refugees Not Required To Report To Closest INS Office, Court Says

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A member of the Sanctuary movement charged with trying to sneak three Salvadorans around Border Patrol checkpoints was innocent of transporting illegal aliens, a federal appeals court has ruled.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday reversed the two-year sentence and conviction of Stacey Lynn Merkt, a layworker at the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brownsville's Casa Oscar Romero Shelter for Central Americans.

The case was sent for reconsideration to U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela, who presided over her trial after her arrest in February 1984.

Vela had instructed the jury that if Merkt was found guilty of intending to take the Salvadorans to any INS office other than the nearest one, she should be found guilty of transporting illegal aliens.

The closest office was in Harlingen, Texas, where Merkt had argued the Salvadorans would have been denied status as political refugees and treated as illegal aliens, resulting in imprisonment and deportation.

Merkt said she was on her way to the INS office in San Antonio where the refugees would only be asked to complete applications for political asylum, and be free until a hearing.

The three-judge panel of the circuit court ruled the judge's instruction was improper.

"The judge's instruction — by interpreting the law to mean the nearest INS office — in essence ordered the jury to find her guilty," Sheehan said. "The judge was basically saying the jury should ignore the illegal conduct of the (Harlingen) offices, but now the 5th Circuit has said they can't."

Merkt said she was excited about the appeals court ruling. She is under a gag order prohibiting her from discussing the case while she works as a volunteer at Proyecto Libertad, a non-profit organization that gives legal aid to the Central Americans wading the Rio Grande into the United States.

The Sanctuary movement is a network of 180 churches that have defied immigration laws and declared themselves religious sanctuaries for Central Americans fleeing their war-torn countries.

Last November, Merkt was indicted again for transporting Salvadorans.

Her two-year probation was revoked earlier this year and she was sentenced to a combined 179 days in prison on the two convictions, but has been free on bond pending the outcome of her appeals.

3 Sentenced For DUI, 1 Acquitted, Another Guilty Of Reckless Driving

The following persons have either pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

The first-time offenders had their driver's license suspended for 6 months, been ordered to pay a $250 fine and court costs of $27.50, and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentence differs, the actual sentence is reported.

—John Lee Ward, 32, of Ft. Myers, arrested March 25 on state Road 426 at state Road 419, Oviedo, after his car had stopped in an intersection. He reportedly gave Oviedo police permission to search his car and they found a small quantity of marijuana and a pipe believed to be used to smoke pot, a police report said. In addition to the DUI sentence, he was given a year probation for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

—Todd David Kessinger, 27, of Route 4, Box 356, Apopka, arrested June 4 after his car was seen weaving on state Road 434, Winter Springs. He was fined $500 and his driver's license was suspended for 5 years.

—Gary Edward Campbell, 32, of 180 Manor Drive, Altamonte Springs, arrested March 24 on Post and Rail Road, Longwood, after he was found asleep in his car with the engine running. He was fined $500 and his driver's license was suspended for 5 years.

Other dispositions: —Francis Ann Hubbard, 36, of Birch Terrace, Winter Springs, arrested Jan. 27 for DUI after her car failed to maintain a single lane on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. She was found guilty of willful and wanton reckless driving and fined $250 and was ordered to pay the Public Defender's Office $50.

—Gordon Francis Cartwright, 28, of Orlando, arrested Dec. 30 on a charge of DUI after his car was seen making a U-turn on the grassy median of U.S. Highway 17-92 at Dog Track Road. He was found not guilty by jury. —Deane Jordan

Early-Morning Search For Taxi Nets Man 3 Years In Drug Case

A Maitland man who was stopped by a police officer because he was staggering across a parking lot trying to hail a taxi has been sentenced to 3 years in jail for possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana.

Donald Harold Walls, 19, of 3-B Twin Lakes Manor, was also ordered by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi to serve 2 years of community control, a form of in-house arrest, after the prison time. Wall was sentenced as a youthful offender, meaning he will probably be sent to a prison with counseling and educational opportunities and which houses offenders near his age.

He was given credit for 98 days already served. According to his arrest report, Walls was weaving across the Kmart parking lot in Fern Park, 431 U.S. Highway 17-92, on Nov. 17 when an officer spotted him. It was 3:18 a.m. and Wall was searching for a taxi.

When the officer approached Wall, he smelled a strong odor of alcohol and saw a clear plastic bag containing what appeared to be marijuana sticking out of Wall's jacket pocket. Wall pleaded guilty to the charge.

In other court action: —Leonard Blair, 37, formerly of 1318 Water Road, Oviedo, was sentenced to 7 years in prison with credit for 537 days served. He pleaded guilty Jan. 10, 1983 to the arson of a boat but failed to appear March 25, 1983 for sentencing. He was arrested Feb. 15, 1984 in Los Angeles after he failed to show up at the L.A. Central Jail on an unrelated charge. Salfi also ordered Blair to pay $2,400 in restitution.

—Robert Allen Fletter, 19, of 728 Cherokee Circle, Sanford, was sentenced to 30 months probation and 20 consecutive weekends in the Seminole County jail for auto theft. Salfi also ordered Fletter to pay the victim $100, his parents $1,000, and $500 to a fine and forfeiture fund. He was arrested in Sanford July 14 about one hour after a 1977 Honda Civic was stolen from a Sanford woman.

—Gerald David Blaine, 18, of 124 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs, arrested Jan. 13 and charged with the theft of $332 from a cash box at Royal AMC Jeep, Casselberry, was sentenced to 18 months. He was identified by fingerprints left at the scene, according to his arrest report.

—Gregory Davis, 30, of 2213 W. 13th St., arrested Dec. 21 for possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana by Sanford police after he served a warrant at his home, was sentenced to 30 days in the Seminole County jail and 5 years probation. The marijuana, in 28 medium-sized envelopes, was hidden in a wall of his home, according to the arrest report. —Deane Jordan

Lawyers Not Present

Clemency Hearing For 'Mercy Killer' Delayed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A Fort Lauderdale man convicted of first-degree murder for killing his terminally ill wife must wait until next month to plead for special treatment of his clemency request.

Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet had been prepared to take up the case of Roswell Gilbert on Tuesday, but agreed to his request for a delay to allow his lawyers to be present. Since no clemency board hearings are scheduled in the meantime, Gilbert's next chance for a hearing will be the July 2 Cabinet meeting.

Under state clemency guidelines, Gilbert, 75, would have to wait 25 years for a chance for release from prison unless Graham and the Cabinet intercede.

Gilbert was convicted May 9 and is currently being held in the state prison at Avon Park on a life sentence for firing the two gun shots that killed his wife, Emily, 73.

Gilbert said he killed her after she begged him to put an end to her suffering caused by Alzheimer's Disease.

In another case, Graham and the Cabinet voted unanimously to restore the civil rights of Vito Petraitis, 74, of Levy County, convicted of a Connecticut murder in 1932.

Petraitis was released from prison after 18 years and later moved to Florida, but he never requested reinstatement of the civil rights stripped from him upon conviction.

Now terminally ill, Petraitis requested that Graham and the Cabinet cut some bureaucratic corners and restore those rights because he wanted to feel like a full citizen before his death, according to Art Wiedinger, a lawyer for the governor.

Georgia Chorpene Learned Country Cuisine Down On The Farm

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

It's a long way from Arkansas to Sanford, but after about 60 years our Cook of the Week, Georgia Chorpene, is here to stay.

Georgia's cooking skills began when she was quite young on the family farm in Arkansas. "We grew cotton, corn, peanuts, potatoes and lots of other things," says Georgia. There were always three hearty meals a day on the farm and Georgia remembers that each member of the family had to pitch in and help with the chores. "At the time I thought it was just terrible," says Georgia, "but I guess they were just good trainers. We children had to help with whatever was being done. We baked pies and cakes, and two or three of us would sit around and string the beans for the evening meal. We did a lot of canning and I still make my own Guava Jelly and bread and butter pickles."

Homemade biscuits for breakfast, fresh meat from the smokehouse, and vegetables from the garden conjure up some fond memories for Georgia. "We had no refrigeration and no electric lights in those days," says Georgia. "We read a lot and knitted and crocheted for entertainment. I don't ever remember being bored." Because her mother died when she was very young, Georgia's grandmother helped raise her and this, she feels, was an important influence in her life.

When Georgia graduated from high school she came to Sanford with an aunt who lived here and began working in Churchwell's Department Store which was then located at the corner of Park Avenue and First Street. It has since been replaced by a parking lot, but it was there that she met Carl Chorpene, her husband of almost 59 years.

Georgia has seen many changes take place in Sanford over the years, but "home" has been the same for 56 years. "Of course we've added, repaired and redone from time to time," says Georgia.

Nestled in one of Sanford's fine, old neighborhoods, Georgia and Carl's comfortable home reflects the busy lifestyle of this spry octogenarian.

"My life is so hectic at times," she says, "but I like to stay busy." Crocheting is a relaxing hobby for Georgia and a brilliantly colored afghan in a Navajo pattern is just a small example of her handiwork. Beautiful needlepoint seat covers add a personal touch to Georgia's dining room chairs, and a healthy display of African Violets nurtured by her green thumb add a cheerful touch to the cozy sitting room.

Georgia and Carl have one son, Carl, Jr., who is a conductor for Amtrak. Five grandchildren and one great-grandson, 16-year-old Cliff, have been a very special part of Georgia's life. Caring for the grandchildren as they were growing up, Georgia says, "I loved them as if they were my own, and now Cliff spends all his free time with us, so we're still raising children!" Georgia and Carl are happily looking forward to the birth of their second great-grandchild this month.

"Mamma" Chorpene has somehow managed to devote 30 years of service as a Pink Lady at the hospital working in the gift shop, at the front desk, or wherever her help is needed. She also drove a school bus for 23 years, and "I meet the kids constantly around town," says Georgia. "It's a funny thing, but they all still know me. They've grown and changed so much that sometimes I don't recognize them. I've bused the children to and from school on several routes and we always had a good relationship. It was a very enjoyable experience in my life."

Georgia is presently the chairman of a circle of United Methodist Women at the First United Methodist Church of Sanford. "We meet once a month for Bible study," says Georgia, "and we try to care for members who are ill and visit patients in nursing homes."

An especially proud moment for Georgia took place when she was awarded a plaque "in recognition of faithful service" as Church Woman of the Year in 1981. "I really have a busy life," says Georgia, "and have enjoyed everything I've been involved in."

Traditional family gatherings have changed somewhat over the years as the grandchildren have grown and formed families of their own, but holidays are still special and summer vacations are always a good reason for visiting home. At these times, Georgia always tries to prepare family favorites.

As the grandchildren were growing up, Georgia baked all their birthday cakes and her buttermilk pound cake was a favorite request. Below, Georgia shares several time and love-tested recipes with us.

BUTTERMILK POUND CAKE

2 sticks butter
2 1/2 cups sugar
5 eggs
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. vanilla
3 cups flour
Cream together the butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Mix the buttermilk, baking soda and vanilla. Add alternately with the flour. Beat well. Bake in a greased and floured tube pan at 350 degrees for one hour.

EGG CUSTARD PIE

3 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
2 cups milk
Nutmeg
1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell
To slightly beaten eggs, add milk and sugar. Mix well. Pour into pie shell, sprinkle well with nutmeg. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes, then turn heat down to 375 and continue baking until knife inserted in center comes out clean, then remove from oven at once.

FRUIT COCKTAIL CAKE

1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs

1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 tsp. salt
2 tps. baking soda
2 cups flour
1 can fruit cocktail
Beat eggs, sugar and oil together. Sift flour, soda and salt and add to egg mixture. Add juice from fruit cocktail, mix well, then add fruit. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

TOPPING

1 stick butter
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup canned cream
Mix above ingredients together in saucepan and boil one minute. Remove from heat and add 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Add 1/2 cup

GLAZES FOR LAMB

Instead of using any other seasoning or inserting garlic in lamb during the last hour of roasting, brush lamb every 15 minutes with one of the following glazes (enough for 4-pound roast). Serve any remaining glaze as a sauce.

Apricot Glaze: Heat 1/4 cup mint flavored apple jelly until melted. Stir in 2 jars (4 1/4 ounces each) strained apricots (baby food).

Minted Glaze: Heat 1 jar (10 ounces) mint flavored apple jelly, 2 cloves garlic, crushed, and 1 tablespoon water, stirring constantly, until jelly melts.

Wine Glaze: Mix 2 tablespoons packed brown sugar, 2 teaspoons cornstarch and 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves in saucepan. Stir in 1/4 cup soy sauce and 1/4 cup dry white wine or apple juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir 1 minute.

SEASONINGS FOR LAMB

Before roasting, sprinkle lamb with one of the following seasonings (enough for 4-pound roast).

Curried Onion Salt: Mix 2 teaspoons curry powder, 1 1/2 teaspoons instant minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Dill-Rosemary Salt: Mix 2 teaspoons dried dill weed, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves and 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Herbed Salt: Mix 2 teaspoons ground cumin, 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon chili powder.

Mexican Wedding Cakes A Sweet Way To Top Off Any Ceremony

Mexican Wedding Cakes are delicious butter pecan tea cakes perfect for celebrating any holiday.

This recipe allows you to make your own refrigerator cookie dough. Shape the dough into rolls and wrap in aluminum foil. After storing overnight in the refrigerator, simply slice the dough and shape into balls for baking. Line a cookie sheet with aluminum foil to save time and eliminate washing between batches. To re-use the cookie sheet immediately, simply lift off the entire sheet of foil and add another.

MEXICAN WEDDING CAKES

- 1/4 cup butter, softened
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup finely chopped pecans
- Powdered sugar

Beat butter until fluffy. Add sugar and vanilla, beating until well blended. Combine flour and salt; gradually add to butter mixture. Stir in pecans. On two sheets of Reynolds Wrap aluminum foil, shape dough into two 8-inch rolls. Bring 2 sides of foil up over roll. Fold down in locked folds until foil is tight against roll. Fold short ends up and over; crimp to seal. Chill overnight in refrigerator. *Preheat oven to 300°F. Unwrap and cut rolls of dough into 1/4-inch slices. Shape into 1-inch balls. Place on cookie sheets lined with aluminum foil. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet; roll in powdered sugar while still hot. Place on rack to cool. Roll again in powdered sugar, if desired.

Makes: 3 1/2 to 4 dozen cookies.
*Rolls of dough can be frozen up to 1 month. Thaw cookie dough in refrigerator before using.

These puffy, pecan delights are a favorite south of the border.

Too Hot? Let Lime Cookies Cool You Off

FRESH LIME TEA SQUARES

- 1 cup margarine
- 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour, divided
- 1 1/2 teaspoons grated lime rind, divided
- 4 eggs
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1 cup freshly squeezed lime juice
- 1 teaspoon baking powder

In large mixer bowl, cream margarine and confectioners' sugar. Add 2 cups flour and 1/2 teaspoon lime rind; beat on low speed until well blended. Press dough evenly into a 13-inch-by-9-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven 20 minutes.

Remove from oven. Leave on oven.

In container of electric blender combine eggs, sugar, remaining 1/4 cup flour, lime juice, remaining 1 teaspoon lime rind and baking powder; cover; blend 5 seconds. Scrape down sides of blender container; cover; blend 10 seconds longer.

Pour over partially baked crust. Return to oven and bake 25 minutes longer or until top is golden brown. Cool completely on wire rack. Cut into squares. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 24 squares.

...Cook

coconut and 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Pour over hot cake.

OVERNIGHT COFFEE CAKE

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sour cream (8 oz.)
- 2 cups flour
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. nutmeg
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Pour into 13- by 9-inch baking pan.

TOPPING
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup nuts
1 tsp. cinnamon
Blend above ingredients together and sprinkle over cake batter in pan. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Next morning, bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Serve warm for breakfast.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

- 4 quarts sliced cucumbers
- 1/2 cup salt
- Ice cubes
- 2 quarts slicing onions
- 1 quart elder vinegar
- 4 cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon celery seeds
- 2 tablespoons mustard seeds
- 1 tsp. Turmeric

Place sliced cucumbers in a large container and stir salt in well through the cukes. Cover with ice cubes and let stand 2 or 3 hours, adding ice cubes if necessary. Drain. Add sliced onions. Combine remaining ingredients in saucepan and boil ten minutes. Add to cukes and onions and bring just to a boil. Place in prepared canning jars and seal.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

- 1/2 cup Crisco shortening
  - 1/2 cup peanut butter
  - 1/2 cup brown sugar
  - 1/2 cup white sugar
  - 1 egg
  - 1 1/2 cups flour
  - 1 tsp. baking soda
  - 1 tsp. salt
  - 1 tsp. vanilla
- Cream shortening, sugar and peanut butter. Beat in egg, then stir in flour and other dry ingredients. Add vanilla. Place teaspoonfuls on cookie sheet and press with a fork. Bake at 375 degrees for 7-8 minutes, watching carefully, as they bake quickly. Shortening makes a crisp cookie. Butter may be substituted for a chewy cookie.

Summer Tomatoes Bursting With Flavor, Vitamins

Did you know Florida tomatoes are field-grown and hand-picked when they are not yet fully ripe. Since tomatoes are a fruit rather than a vegetable, they should be treated just like bananas. Don't put them in the refrigerator. They should be kept at room temperature until they are completely red and deliciously juicy. There are many methods of "kitchen ripening" tomatoes. Put them in a fruit bowl, in special ripening bowls or right out on the kitchen counter. The method makes little difference. It's the room temperature that brings out the best flavor and texture in tomatoes.

Fresh Florida tomatoes are low in calories, low in sodium and high in nutrition. A medium-sized tomato contains only 27 calories and 3 mg of sodium but provides half of the recommended daily allowance of Vitamin C and nearly a quarter of the RDA for Vitamin A. Tomatoes are also a good source of potassium and contribute iron, the B vitamins, phosphorus and calcium.

Select either white- or brown-shelled Florida eggs as shell color makes no difference in nutrition or flavor. Eggs will keep 4-5 weeks in the refrigerator without significant losses in quality. They may also be frozen for longer storage. Simply add either 1/2 teaspoon salt or 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar to every two whole raw eggs and beat. Put the mixture in a covered container and mark with the date, number of eggs, and "salt" or "sugar." Freeze up to one year. To use, thaw and use the ones with added sugar in desserts and ones with added salt in main dishes.

Florida eggs are truly "Nature's perfect package." Two large eggs supply nearly one-third the recommended daily allowance for protein and contain all the vitamins, except Vitamin C — for only 160 calories! They also provide substantial amounts of many minerals, including iron.

FRESH TOMATO PIZZA

- 2 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
- 1 Frozen 9-inch deep-dish pie shell
- 2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup onion, chopped

- 1/2 teaspoon garlic, minced
- 4 Florida eggs, lightly beaten
- 1 cup Florida Half 'n Half
- 1/2 cup Mozzarella cheese, shredded
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Preheat oven to 350° F. Cut 4 slices from the widest portion of each tomato; coarsely chop remaining tomatoes. Set slices and chopped tomato aside. Thaw pie shell slightly. Pierce pie shell on the bottom and sides with fork tines. prebake for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and set aside to cool. In medium skillet melt butter. Add onion and garlic. Saute until tender, about 2 minutes. Add reserved chopped tomato. Continue to cook until tomato is soft, about 5 minutes. In a medium bowl combine tomato mixture, eggs, Half 'n Half, cheese, salt, Italian seasoning and black pepper. Pour into reserved pie shell. Arrange reserved tomato slices over the top. Bake until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 50 minutes. Serves 6.

MOCK SEAFOOD SALAD

- 5 medium Florida tomatoes, peeled, diced and drained
- 1 medium Florida green pepper, finely chopped
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 5 Florida eggs, hard-cooked and finely chopped
- 2 tubes saltine crackers,

crushed salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Mix all ingredients and press into loaf pan. Refrigerate overnight to allow flavors to blend. Serves 6.

BACON-TOMATO OMELET

- 1 Tablespoon sour cream
  - dash onion salt
  - 2 Florida eggs
  - 2 Tablespoons water
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 Tablespoon butter
  - 2 slices bacon, crisp-cooked, drained and crumbled
  - 2-3 thin slices Florida tomato
- Mix sour cream and onion salt together, set aside. Mix eggs, water, salt and pepper with fork. Heat butter in omelet pan or skillet (about 8") until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. Mixture should set at edges at once. With pancake turner carefully draw cooked portions at edges toward center, so uncooked eggs can flow. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep mixture in motion and sliding freely. While top is still moist and creamy-looking place bacon and tomato slices on half of omelet. Spread tomatoes with sour cream mixture. With pancake turner fold in half or roll, turning out onto plate with a quick flip of the wrist. Serves one.

DEVILED FLORIDA TOMATOES

- 6 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
- 1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup Florida green pepper, diced
- 1/2 cup onion, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon ground red pepper
- 6 hard-cooked Florida eggs, chopped

Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Cut out stem end cores from tomatoes, place stem end-down on a board. Cut into 6 wedges almost to the bottom. Spread open slightly, sprinkle with 1/4 teaspoon of the salt, set aside. In a medium bowl mix mayonnaise, green pepper, onion, red pepper and remaining 1/4 teaspoon of the salt. Stir in eggs. Use about 1/2 cup of the egg mixture to fill each tomato. Top with a swirl of mayonnaise and chopped chives, if desired.

CHILI CON QUESO STRATA

- 2 cups Cheddar cheese, shredded
  - 2 cans (3 1/2 oz. each) chopped green chiles, drained
  - 6 slices day-old bread, cubed
  - 1/2 cup onion, chopped
  - 6 Florida eggs
  - 1/2 cup Florida milk
  - 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
  - 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
  - 2 medium Florida tomatoes
- Combine cheese, chilies, bread and onion. Place in greased 8-inch square baking pan. Beat together eggs, milk, tomato sauce and garlic salt. Carefully pour over bread mixture in pan. Cover and refrigerate 4 hours or overnight. Bake, in a preheated 350° F. oven for 30 minutes. Place tomato slices on top of strata. Continue baking 20-30 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let stand 5 minutes before slicing. Serves 4-6.

CHEESY SKILLET SUPPER

- 1 can (11 oz.) condensed Cheddar cheese soup, undiluted
  - 2 cups (4 oz.) uncooked egg noodles, cooked and drained
  - 1 1/2 Tablespoons chopped chives
  - 6 Florida eggs, hard-cooked and wedged
  - 2 Florida tomatoes, wedged
- Heat soup in 10" skillet over medium heat, stirring constantly until bubbly. Stir in noodles and chives. Gently fold in eggs and tomatoes. Cover, simmer 5 minutes or until serving temperature. Serves 3-4.

EGGS AND TOMATO SALAD

- 2 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
  - 6 hard-cooked Florida eggs
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Finely chop tomatoes and eggs, place in a medium bowl. Add salt and Worcestershire sauce; mix well. Serve on a lettuce leaf garnished with green pepper, if desired. Serves 6.
- ### TOMATO PUFFY OMELET
- 2 cups Florida tomatoes, chopped (about 2 medium)
  - 1/2 cup onion, chopped
  - 1/2 cup green or red pepper, chopped
  - 1 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
  - 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
  - 4 Florida eggs, separated
  - 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
  - vegetable cooking spray
  - green or red pepper rings, optional
- In small saucepan, stir together tomatoes, onion, pepper, basil and garlic salt. Cover and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are soft, about 8-10

Cheesecake

The 'Top Banana' Of American Desserts

Cheesecake first gained fame as a superlative dessert among the glamorous stage, screen and radio stars who gathered at Lindy's restaurant in New York, home of a legendary "secret recipe" cheesecake. Now this rich, luscious dessert is vying with the more traditional apple pie for title of "top banana" among desserts. A recent Gallup Eating-Out Poll has the two tied for first place as America's favorite restaurant dessert.

With the proliferation of glorious cheesecakes on restaurant dessert carts and menus, some cooks may be timid about attempting to make a cheesecake at home, because they think it is only for "expert" cooks. Relax. Making cheesecakes need not be complicated or time-consuming, and since they can be prepared ahead of time, they require no last-minute attention.

One of the recipes, Banana Nut Cheesecake, features a chocolate wafer crumb crust and a simple filling of cream cheese, sugar, mashed banana, walnuts and eggs. Decorate by using a melted chocolate topping drizzled over the cake. This cheesecake can be frozen successfully by wrapping securely in moisture-vaporproof wrap. Freeze up to two weeks. For a taller cheesecake, reduce ingredients according to directions and use a 7" springform pan.

BANANA NUT CHEESECAKE

1 cup chocolate wafer crumbs
¼ cup margarine, melted
2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened

½ cup sugar
½ cup mashed ripe banana
2 eggs
¼ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup milk chocolate pieces
1 tablespoon margarine
2 teaspoons water

Combine crumbs and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350°, 10 minutes.

Combine cream cheese, sugar and banana, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Stir in walnuts; pour over crust. Bake at 350°, 40 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan.

Melt chocolate with margarine and water over low heat, stirring until smooth. Drizzle over cake. Chill.

10 to 12 servings

Variation: Reduce crumbs to ½ cup and margarine to 2 tablespoons. Press onto bottom of 7-inch springform pan. Continue as directed only increasing final baking time to 1 hour.

Note: Leftover cheesecake may be frozen. Wrap securely in moisture-vaporproof wrap. Freeze up to 2 weeks.

RASPBERRY SWIRL CHEESECAKE

1 cup cornflake crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons margarine, melted

2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese,
softened
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup red raspberry preserves

350°, 10 minutes.

Combine cream cheese and sugar, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in extract; pour over crust. Drop rounded teaspoonfuls of preserves onto cream cheese mixture. Cut through batter with knife once for marble effect. Bake at 350°, 45 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill.

10 to 12 servings

Variation: Substitute apricot preserves for red raspberry preserves.

Halibut Great For Grilling

Foods cooked over the barbecue are the highlight of summertime entertaining. Halibut from the clear, cold waters off the coast of Alaska is a wonderful choice for cooking over the grill.

After marinating in a sprightly blend of oil, white wine, vinegar, lemon juice and seasonings, the snow white chunks of halibut are threaded on individual skewers along with colorful chunks of green pepper, cherry tomatoes and fresh mushrooms.

The firm texture of Alaska halibut is an ideal choice for barbecuing. It cooks quickly and the delicate flavor is enhanced by a variety of seasonings and marinades.

Versatile Alaska halibut is an excellent source of high-quality protein, has a minimum of bones and is low in fat, sodium and calories, containing approximately 97 calories in a 3½ ounce serving.

GRILLED HALIBUT KABOBS

2 pounds Alaska halibut, thawed if necessary
½ cup dry white wine
¼ cup olive oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon oregano, crushed
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Green pepper, cut into squares
Cherry tomatoes
Fresh mushrooms
Cut halibut into chunks; discard skin and bones. Combine wine, oil, lemon juice, onion, garlic and seasonings. Pour mixture over halibut; marinate several hours or overnight. Thread halibut on 6 skewers, alternating with a cherry tomato, green pepper and mushroom. Barbecue kabobs over medium-hot coals 8 to 10 minutes or until halibut flakes easily when tested with a fork; turn once. Baste frequently with marinade. Makes 6 servings.

Pasta Salad A Cool Italian Treat

One of the most popular cold salad ingredients this summer is pasta served in a variety of shapes and sizes. Since the days of such early adventurers as Marco Polo, Italian cuisine has influenced the food trends of the world. Many of today's popular sausages take their names from the Italian cities where they originated: Genoa salami from Genoa, bologna from Bologna and romano from Rome. Vegetables such as spinach also are treated royally by Italian cooks, who have learned to blend herbs ingeniously into nearly every recipe.

Buon appetito!
MARCO POLO SALAD
 8 ounces rotini (spiral pasta) or shell macaroni
 Boiling water

6 ounces fresh mushrooms, sliced
 1/4 cup rice vinegar or malt vinegar
 6 ounces sliced soft beer salami or cotto salami
 3 ounces sliced Genoa salami or German salami
 3 ounces sliced hard salami or Italian salami
 2 medium sweet-bell peppers, diced
 2 bunches green onions, sliced (about 3/4 cup)
 6 ounces fresh spinach leaves
 2 pickling cucumbers or zucchini, about 4 inches long
 1 cup crisp rice noodles or chow mein noodles
 Oriental Treasure Dressing
 Cook pasta in boiling water until almost tender, about 10 minutes. Rinse, drain very well. Chill

Toss mushrooms with rice vinegar in large bowl or container. Cut the salami slices in quarters or bite-size pieces. Add salami, pasta, peppers and onions to the mushrooms. Do not mix.

Remove stems from spinach, then wash. Roll single layer of leaves in paper towels to dry. Slice cucumbers.

Prepare Oriental Treasure Dressing by combining 3/4 cup teriyaki sauce with 2 teaspoons finely chopped crystallized ginger, 2 teaspoons soy sauce and 1 teaspoon brown sugar or honey. Shake to mix. Pour over salami/pasta mixture. Toss to mix well. Serve over a nest of spinach leaves. Garnish with cucumber slices and crisp noodles.

Makes about 2 1/2 quarts, enough for 8-10 servings.

ANTIPASTO PLATTER

Eggs in Nests:
 3 hard-cooked eggs
 1 (8-ounce) jar marinated artichoke hearts
 3 carrots, finely shredded
 4 ounces thinly sliced mortadella or beerwurst
 1/2 (2-ounce) can rolled anchovies or caviar

To make Egg Nests, peel eggs and cut lengthwise in halves or quarters. Drain artichokes and toss with carrots. Makes nests of the carrot mixture on mortadella. Top nests with eggs and garnish with anchovies.

Zucchini Tidbits:
 2 small zucchini, about 8 inches long
 4 ounces sliced mozzarella cheese
 4 ounces thinly sliced pepperoni

Wooden picks
 To make Zucchini Tidbits cut zucchini lengthwise into quarters; cut each quarter into 2-inch pieces. Cut mozzarella into strips about 1 1/2 inches wide; cut strips into 24 pieces. Wrap each piece of zucchini in a piece of mozzarella, then wrap with pepperoni. Secure with wooden pick.

Sausage Strips:
 Complete antipasto selection with an assortment of luncheon meats or dry sausages cut in strips. Celery sticks, cucumber slices, tomato wedges or cherry tomatoes all add color to the platter.

OLIVE SALAD

1 (6-ounce) can pitted ripe olives, well drained
 4 ounces bologna, cut in julienne strips
 2 ounces (1/2 cup) diced provolone cheese
 2 slices red onion, separated into rings
 1/2 (8-ounce) jar pepperoncini, drained

Dressing:
 1 cup thinly sliced celery or fennel
 1/2 cup olive oil
 1/2 cup red wine vinegar
 1 (2-ounce) jar pimiento strips, with liquid
 1/2 teaspoon dry oregano leaves
 1/2 teaspoon dry tarragon leaves

Combine olives, bologna, provolone and onion. Add 1/2 cup of dressing. Mix well. Layer pepperoncini over top. Remainder of dressing may be drizzled over other antipasto foods.

...Flavor

 minutes. Uncover and cook, stirring occasionally, until liquid evaporates. Set aside. In large mixing bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar at high speed until stiff but not dry. Just until whites no longer slip when bowl is tilted. In small mixing bowl, beat egg yolks at high speed until thick and lemon-colored. At low speed beat in reserved vegetables. Gently but thoroughly fold yolk mixture into whites.

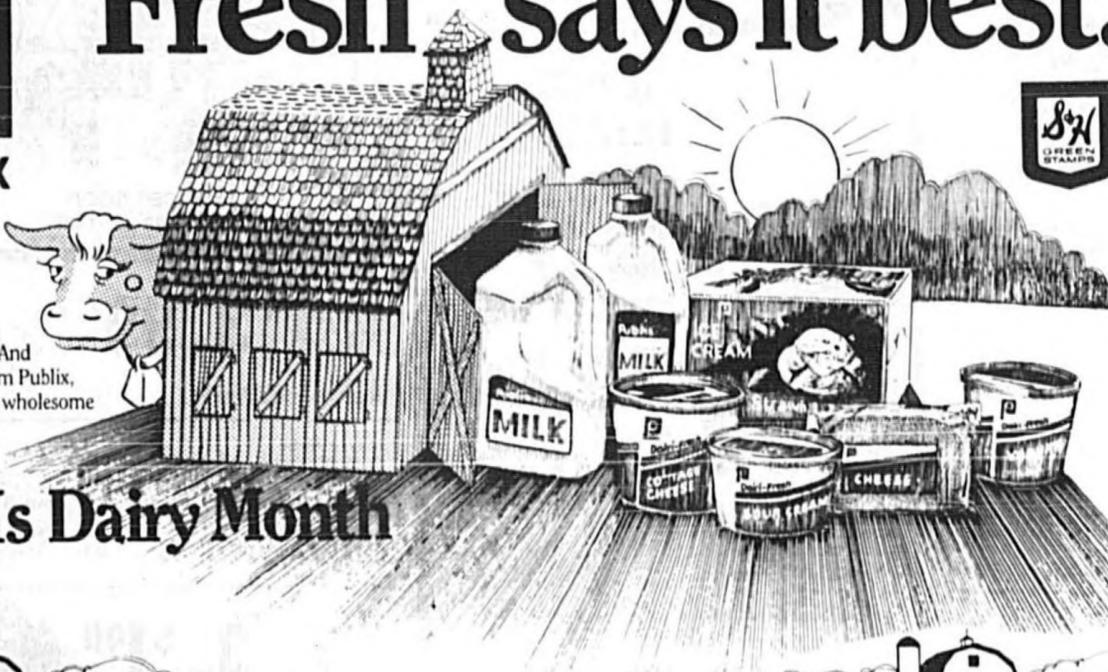

Spray 10" omelet pan or skillet, with ovenproof handle*, with cooking spray. Heat over medium-high heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture and gently smooth surface. Reduce heat to medium. Cook until lightly browned on bottom, about 5 minutes. (Lift omelet at edge to judge color). Bake in preheated 350° oven until knife inserted halfway between center and outer edge comes out clean, about 8-10 minutes. To serve loosen omelet edges with spatula. With sharp knife cut upper surface down center of omelet but DO NOT cut through to bottom of omelet. Fold in half and turn out onto plate with a quick flip of the wrist or serve directly from the pan. Garnish with pepper rings if desired. Cut in half or into wedges. Serve immediately. Serves 2.
