

None Picked The Winner In Last Football Games; Even Lagona's Luck Deserted Him

Last week, the closing chapter of the Herald-Milano football season, saw every fan go down in despair along with many of the nation's best college teams.

Not one single person succeeded in selecting 10 winners from the twelve nation's Thanksgiving Saturday games, and only two were good enough to turn in scores recording only one miss.

The others missed as many as five or six out of 10 guesses.

Throughout this contest the women fans have taken an active part and every week at least one woman has won theater tickets.

The interesting feature of last week's contest was that out of the entire lot of pick-the-winner fans the two who only missed one game out of the 10 were women. Mrs. Kate Warren and Miss Dorothy Watson were correct on nine of their 10 guesses but missed on the Syracuse-Pittsburgh upset.

Throughout the season H. D. Lagona has consistently led the list in selecting the most winners correctly. He has won each week with the exception of once, when all other fans also lost. Last week he lost because he missed on three of his 10 guesses, but each of his games he slipped up on were the Syracuse-Maryland, Penn. Military-Urinals, and Pittsburgh-Carnegie Tech ties caused Mr. Lagona to lose out along with everyone else last week.

Among the upsets in last week's games which caused all pick-the-winner fans to lose out were: Georgia Tech's victory over Georgia; Mississippi's win over Mississippi State; the Vanderbilt victory over Alabama; Maryland's upset of Virginia; Columbia's sudden win over the strong Dartmouth eleven; Cornell's victory over Clemson; Duke's defeat of Rice; Catholic University's win over North Carolina.

Those who turned in lists containing not more than two misses were: Mrs. D. G. Scott, Sam

Louisiana University May Be Named For Rose Bowl Game

By KENNETH GREGORY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Louisiana State University's greatest football team in many moons ruled supreme today at the Southeastern Conference.

The ascendancy of the Tiger gridder to the sectional throne marked the first time since 1909 that the Louisiana team had dominated Dixie football.

Finishing its colorful season with a crushing 41-0 victory over Tulane's Green Wave, the ancient foe, Louisiana State not only walked off with undisputed possession of the conference crown, but retained among the eligibles for New Year's Day "bowl" games.

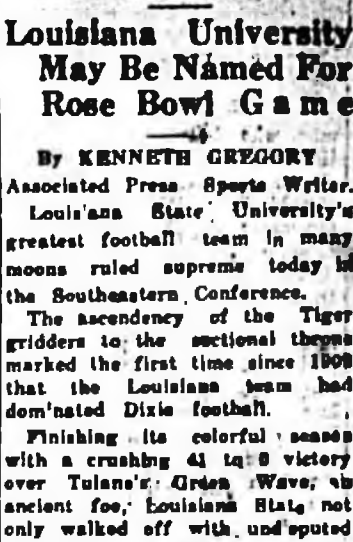

Rumors have been passed that the Tigers were being considered as a possible choice for the Rose Bowl game with Stanford. However, should another team receive this assignment, Louisiana State's was a certainty for the Sugar Bowl.

Many of the fans missed on four out of 10. They were: Eugene Stovall Manuel Brown, Dick Mason, W. B. Betts, Jr., Earl Pierce, Darius Hayes, Mrs. J. M. Stinecipher, Sidney Weinberg, Claude Whittier, Frank Kelly, B. Allen Sharon, Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert, Ed Wilson, Wabber Welborn, Joseph N. Tenhet, Arthur Weinberg, Joe Douglass, Eugene St. Hugh, Nolle Meesbach, Mrs. W. I. Hughey, G. B. Upchurch, and Jack Keene.

The following turned in five losers: Sidney Nix, Raymond Monsalvate, Mrs. L. I. Hughey, D. G. Scott, Walter Stovall, Dent Perry, J. M. Stinecipher, Hudson Heister, Eugene Tippins, Margaret Cullum, H. C. Tippins, Mrs. Pearl Johnston, Mrs. J. G. Waits, Carl Vause, and Joe Johnston.

Four fans turned in lists recording six wrong selections out of the 10. They were: Eddie Rawson, Clyde Pierce, Mrs. J. N. Tenhet, and Louise Johnston.

Liquor Isn't Closed Issue, Says Bishop

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Bishop W. N. Ainsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, addressing the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America said "alcohol liquor is not a closed issue in this republic," and called upon opponents of repeal to take up the fight for temperance.

Bishop Ainsworth said of the liquor problem that "if anybody thought it was solved by the repeal of national prohibition, they are now beginning to see the delusion that was fostered upon them and a deepening purpose to rethink the whole program is under way."

"Liquor is in the saddle in Washington," and "no wolf party ever exhibited greater thirst for blood than the liquor and brewer interests are now exhibiting in their purpose to enslave the masses in the habits of drink and then deliver them like cattle to the politicians for their political purposes," the bishop said.

Reds Feared Brewing Revolution In India

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Communist agitators are endeavoring to "bring about an armed revolution in India as quickly as possible," Viscount Willingdon, Viceroy of India reported last night to the Marquis of Zetland, member of the Parliamentary Committee on India.

The Viceroy said he believed the armed insurrection would be attempted by the "least possible masses of the working class and peasantry and by the revolutionary petty bourgeoisie."

"My government has ample evidence of the determination with which activities are being pursued," the report said. "I am satisfied that it forms a most real, though possibly not immediate, menace to the peace of the country."

'Dole' May Not Be Escaped By Next Congress

Administration May Find It Necessary To Again Ask For Money For Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Informed quarters said today the Administration may deem it necessary to ask Congress for more "dole" money, despite the New Deal effort to scrap this type of relief. Meanwhile, the House appropriations committee began preliminary work on the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Most experts agree that the size of the relief appropriation will be a major factor in determining the extent of next year's deficit.

Chairman Buchanan, of the appropriations committee has expressed the hope of cutting the deficit from an estimate of $2,000,000,000 this year to $1,000,000,000 next. But most of the committee members see little chance of making extensive savings anywhere except in relief funds.

The Scarcity Of Gold

It is interesting to note that a young Chicago chemist by the name of William H. Hendrick claims to have discovered the secret of making gold from its "subatomic constituents," and that Professor Samuel Colville Lind, head of the chemistry department of the University of Minnesota, has also indicated the realization of a dream of centuries—the transmutation of the baser metals into gold.

We have no idea just how much actual truth there may be in these assertions or just how near the chemists really are to the successful conclusion of their century old efforts to manufacture the costly yellow metal out of cheaper materials. Ever since the earliest Greek civilization these attempts have gone valiantly forward, and time and time again someone has risen to proclaim that he has done it. Up to this time, however, there has always been some mistake.

But we wonder just what the effect would be if "artificial gold" were an actual reality. If it were possible to take a few cheap materials and mix them together and thus obtain gold of the purest strain and in the greatest abundance, so that all could have as much as they want of it, would an untold era of prosperity result in the world, would poverty be banished for all times, would luxuries for everyone become common place, would we all ride in expensive automobiles, eat only the richest food, and sleep in mansions, with thrilling sporting events for our daytime amusements, and gaudy night clubs to entertain us at night?

And if there were plenty of gold for all, who would work? Who would sweep the streets and clean out the sewers? Who would mow our lawns and keep our parks and playgrounds beautiful? Who would plant our crops and harvest them? Who would run our factories, carry on our every day business affairs, serve us as our physicians, surgeons, lawyers, who would act as our bankers, work for our government, or operate our trains? Who would build our roads, bridges, or dig our canals? If gold were cheap, and everyone had plenty of it, who would work?

We wonder if it might not turn out this way: if gold were cheap, and there were plenty of it for everyone who wanted it, and it could be had for the asking, would anyone want it at all? Is it not the very scarcity of gold which makes it the least desirable? Certainly you cannot eat it. You cannot wear it, to any great extent. You cannot use it to build houses out of, at least other metals are harder and make much better building material. You cannot use it in the same way of which we are aware except to exchange it for something else for something he happens to have which you want.

The value of gold, it seems to us, is like the value of brains. It has value because it is scarce. And brains are valuable because they are scarce. If everyone had brains, in the maximum amount, no one could command a premium over anyone else because of his brains. One set of brains would be just as valuable as another set. But brains are scarce; therefore they come high. But anyone can develop brains . . . much more easily than the chemists can make gold.

Getting The Christmas Spirit

Last year Sanford gained considerable attention in this part of the state as a result of the attractive lighting effects seen on downtown streets throughout the Yuletide season. Not only did year-around residents thoroughly enjoy these displays, but many visitors were heard to comment on the beauty of the City's Christmas decorations which must have been a source of considerable pleasure as well to many motorists passing through.

And so The Herald hopes that the same spirit which prompted the little extra effort to give Sanford that truly Santa Claus atmosphere last December will again be in evidence this year. The merchants particularly who contributed so much to the complete success of the program with their window decorations and their lighted Christmas trees would be doing a fine thing to take the initiative in again dressing up their store fronts for Christmas.

The City usually does its part by contributing extra colored lights for downtown streets, and many individual houses have added much to the general appearance of the City by having lighted outdoor Christmas trees, or by placing such trees inside where they can be seen from the streets. Such thoughtful little gestures toward the community as a whole do much to stimulate the Christmas spirit as well as our local pride.

We venture to say that if it were not for the lights, the Christmas tree, the holly, the red paper and all the trimmings that the Yuletide season would be a drab occasion indeed, and of one thing we can all be absolutely certain that if it were not for these "pep talks" embodied in Christmas decorations, business during this season of the year would scarcely vary from any other time of year.

As it is, a tremendous increase is being predicted by all careful observers. The wise merchant will not stand in his own light. He will stock up his shelves with interesting gifts for young and old, and make his store as attractive as he can with window decorations and interior displays, and last but not least, advertise, so that the public will know that he is alive to his opportunities and ready to serve them.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

"Candyland" will be the title of the new candy store to open in the new Allen building on First Street next to Allen's Theater. B. F. Washburne is the proprietor of the new store and the downtown store will be the distributing depot for the output of the factory on First Street.

Sanford will be able to take care of the traveling this season, at least after Jan. 1, as at that time the Sanford House will be remodeled and made ready to accommodate them in regard to rooms. J. J. Carnes of Tampa has taken possession and will put the house in condition. He is a well known hotel man, having the Olive and the Merchants Hotel in Tampa and the Edwards at Dade City.

This is fine hunting weather and many of the local sportsmen have been out as are going to hunt the deer, turkey, and wild. Those who have returned report plenty of game and some snipe. County Judge Hartman

THE COMPASS

Value of the Stock Market By Arthur Dunn

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 2.—The investment brokers in one convention, the bankers in another held here a few days ago, registered fears of another boom. The leaders of labor add their conviction that a boom is started. It has even been suggested the Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank should do something to check the rise in stocks and bonds.

The New York Stock Exchange has always claimed that it served a useful purpose by providing a market where (1) the owners of listed securities can, at a moment's notice, turn them into cash; where (2) values are established determining the solvency of banks, insurance and investment companies.

But its greatest usefulness is overlooked. The fact is, it has been indispensable for making the mechanism which precipitates depressions. It is also the mechanism used in rescuing us from them. For to absorb any increase in production requires a corresponding increase in buying power. Before anyone can buy anything he must have the wherewithal in cash or credit. This comes from wages, interest, dividends, profits (in the form of property or securities), borrowed money.

Depressions are simply declines in distribution following loss of buying power, and booms are increased in distribution resulting from increase in buying power. Our Captains of Industry refuse to increase wages and dividends to equal increased production, and people afraid hesitate to borrow. This leaves us dependent on growth in value of securities as a means of adding to our buying power and so increasing distribution.

Mr. Eccles stated at the bankers' convention that the advances in listed stocks and bonds since March '23 amounts to over 27 billion dollars, and this explains why a boom is in sight. Most of this increase occurred within six months after Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated. Speculators and investors commenced to use a part of their new-found gains to purchase things they had long desired. Evidently many bought new motor cars, and that started greater distribution of a host of products—steel, leather, cotton, wool, rubber, etc.

As though possessing mystic second sight, the stock market is represented as forecasting good or bad times about six months ahead. The truth is, the rise and fall of stock makes good or bad times, because the stock market is a giant thermometer of the emotions of the public. Fear of inflation, meaning a decline in the buying power of money, caused investors, in the summer of '23, to exchange their money for stocks. Returning confidence inspired others to buy. Whatever causes buying bulls stock values. The important point is that their rise increases and their decline decreases the buying power of their possessors.

To illustrate, I bought in May '29, a certain stock at $45 per share. During the moratorium, I sold it at $5. The stock has since gone back to $85. Had the purchaser acquired a thousand shares, he would now have $80,000 more of buying power.

He has but two ways of using his profits—by consuming things or by investments. Speculation having yielded quick money, he will be most likely to reinvest part of his gains in the stock market, along with thousands of others, and thus further the price of securities.

Speculators are good spenders—big consumers, but there are not enough of them to consume the added surplus produced as a result of improved business conditions. The sudden demand from speculators, usually occurring when merchandise stocks are depressed, causes an increase in commodity prices, so that the buying power of wages and interest becomes less, and in due time we have what we erroneously call over-production.

When sales volume and corporate profits come growing, fears are aroused as to the future of stock prices. Owners sell and securities drop, bringing us into dizzy heights, plunging us into the black times of October '29 to March '32, during which there was a loss of over 100 billion dollars in the buying power of listed securities. Then human sympathy stepped in, and the price of securities advanced.

It is a curious, scientific method of leading distribution. So far, knowledge of economics has been of no help in giving us the means to combat with any effect. We had a better system than we had. We had a better system than we had. We had a better system than we had.

Dense Clouds Of Silence Rise From Party Camps To Befog Election Skies

By BRYON PRICE WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Although the air is blue with talk about 1934, a scientific analysis would show that certain cloud effects are conspicuously absent.

In their place float great clouds of silence. In fact, the total cubic volume of silence is almost as far out of ordinary as is the noise itself.

Furthermore, an unusual amount of quiet between the thunder crashes promise to persist right through the campaign. The prospective "dead areas" hover over both parties, and vary widely in their characteristics.

Has anyone heard Al Smith talking about what he intends to do in 1937? Or John W. Davis? Or Herbert Hoover, in case the Republican nomination goes left-wing? Or William E. Borah, in case the national convention is dominated by Hoover?

Senators Glass and Lloyd of Virginia have announced they are for the Democratic ticket, but does anyone expect either of them to take the lead in non-making for Roosevelt next year? Has Senator Tydings of Maryland even whispered about the re-election campaign?

What has become of Fred Simot? And Charles G. Dawes? Where does Charles D. Hollis stand on the question of a party nominee?

What are the Farmer Labor party in Minnesota and the La Follette Progressive party in Washington saying about national tickets?

Amid all the talk about presidential possibilities, the lack of a knowledgeable candidate is astonishing. A notice at politics might suppose that no one at all intended to run next year.

Mr. Roosevelt says nothing whatever about running. That is the least surprising part of the story, however, because Roosevelt customarily does not announce their desire to be re-elected, and everyone takes it for granted they will run.

On the Republican side the noise

"Here's To Romance" Comes To Milane

The golden voice which has always thrilled millions, now delights new legions of music lovers and motion picture fans as Nino Martini, handsome operatic sensation, makes his initial film appearance in Jess L. Lasky's "Here's to Romance," which comes to the Milane Theater on Wednesday.

Starred with a supporting cast that includes Genevieve Tobin, Anita Louise, Mma. Schumann-Heink and Reginald Denny, Martini enacts the leading role in this delightful picture of an operatic tenor's private life and loves.

Immortal arias from "La Tosca," "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" are included in the repertoire of Martini, who also sings two new hits by Cos Conrad and Herb Magidson.

The plot of the picture is a lighthearted romance, with Miss Tobin and Anita Louise vying for Martini's affections, and Miss Louise winning out by the narrowest of margins.

Alfred L. Green directed the picture which also features the famous Maria Gambarrelli and Vincent Escudero in special dances.

SANFORD HOUSEWIFE REWARDED FOR RECIPE FOR MARMALADE

Mrs. W. E. Watson has just been awarded a Certificate of Recipe Endorsement by Better Homes & Gardens for her recipe, "Citron Ginger Marmalade."

This certificate, which brings national recognition to Mrs. Watson is given by Better Homes & Gardens only to distinguished recipes which pass its testing kitchen's tests for dependability, excellence of taste, and family usefulness.

In addition to the signed certificate, Mrs. Watson also received six copies of her endorsed recipes each bearing the Better Homes & Gardens stamp of recipe endorsement, which she can give to her friends.

In awarding these certificates, it is the magazine's aim to provide proper recognition for the creative work done by women in their own kitchens, and also to raise the standard of accuracy and dependability of recipes as a whole. No other magazine or institution gives this personal recognition and service to its subscribers.

Mrs. Watson's endorsed recipe follows:

CITRION GINGER MARMALADE
8 cups ground green citron
2 cups sugar
1-2 cup water
4 tablespoons ground preserved ginger
3 tablespoons powdered ginger
3 lemons ground
Juice of 2 lemons

Place the citron, sugar and water in a saucepan. Bring to a medium boil and cook until the citron is transparent. Add the ginger and the ground lemons and cook for 20 minutes. Add the lemon juice and continue cooking for about 10 minutes. Stir frequently to keep the marmalade from sticking. Place in sterilized jars or glasses and seal with paraffin.

GARDEN NOTES

The Sanford Garden Club is preparing for the Christmas period when it is the hope that there will be many decoratively lighted homes extending the glow of friendliness to all who pass by or live near.

Also there is a sincere call to our entire community for conservation of our holly and cedar, and above all do not trespass on someone's property under fence for any type of green without the permission of the owners and, too, be kind when taking any subject for your decoration, so as not to destroy the plant or tree in such a manner that it might as well die if it doesn't, because of its torn apart appearance. It is not foolish sentiment to think of the growth and beauty God has given us. We of Florida have much to live and honor. Conservation is the keynote of preservation to the beauties of our states into which we urge and invite folks from distant lands where nature covers her beauty with snow and denudes trees.

There is an open forum sponsored by the Woman's Club being held this Thursday night at the club house at 8:00 o'clock at which time there will be a free discussion on the proposed cross-state canal. We should afford ourselves to a member to attend this forum and try to understand the pro and con of the benefit and possible danger to the water level of our state. Beauty and conservation depend on the protection we feel we will have and know we must have. Let us go with open minds and kind hearts, too.

Old Methods Are Said To Keep Up Price Of Bread

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Antiquated distributing methods and losses due to staleness are helping to keep up the price of bread, the consumers' division of the National Recovery Administration reports in the last issue of "The Consumer."

The study of bakers' costs was made by Karl Hauck, who represented consumers' interests in negotiations with the baking industry in several sections of the country under NRA.

The baking industry as a whole, he reports, still is using practically the same methods of distribution and sales that were used twenty years ago. They have not kept pace with the times in reducing distributing costs or adopting more modern methods.

Chain-store bakers have been able to reduce distribution costs, he finds, by scheduling production more accurately, eliminating

Celery Feds Put In 5th Place In N.E. Conference

Four Teams Above; Four Below Sanford In Final Standings

The Sanford rating is 15.7, above that of Ocala, Tallahassee, Palatka, and St. Augustine, and below the ratings given Landon High of Jacksonville, Daytona Beach, Leesburg and DeLand.

Landon High wins the championship by 22.8, one point above

Daytona Beach which scored 21.1. But Leesburg with a scoring of 21 was only one-half point below Daytona, with DeLand coming in fourth with a final rating of 19.

The Celery Feds are in the center of the percentage table, 1.4 points ahead of Palatka which is given a rating of 14.3, and 1.7 points ahead of Ocala and Tallahassee which are each rated at 14. St. Augustine is in the cellar position with a conference rating of 11.4.

Sanford's Zoo Is Largest In State; 400 Inhabitants

of the state as well as tourists wintering in Florida.

The playful Rhesus monkey is perhaps the major attraction at the zoo, though there are 90 other animals comfortably housed in cages typical of Florida. Included in this list are African lions, bob cats, a Florida bear, Lobo wolves, armadillo, agouti, coati mondi, raccoons, fox, deer, chipmunks, giant Rhesus monkeys, red Palatka monkeys, ringtail monkeys, an unusual specimen of Hamsdryas baboon, and others.

The most famous occupant of the Municipal zoo is the "Komodo dragon," or Australian monitor which received national publicity a year ago when the Chamber of Commerce challenged the establishment of officials of the Bronx zoo in New York that they had the only "Komodo dragon" in captivity. Though Sanford's claimant was proven to be an Australian monitor instead of a "Komodo dragon" lizard, local trade body officials point with pride to a thick file of newspaper and magazine clippings which are evidence of the extraordinary publicity created by the challenge.

The reptile list shows a total of 67, including a boa constrictor, Gila monster, ribbon snakes, rattlesnakes, King snakes, cottonmouth moccasins, turtles and alligators. The alligator collection is of great interest, especially "Black Joe" which now measures thirteen and one-half feet in length and which is claimed to be one of the largest alligators in captivity. This huge reptile was captured several years ago in Lake Jessup and when placed in the zoo it was scarcely over six or seven feet long. The 27 other alligators range from 11 feet on down to the babies.

An especially constructed pool covers for the 100 large gold fish which are another attraction.

During the year the bird enclosures at the zoo have been more than doubled. A feature of this section is the collection of pheasants, said to be one of the finest in the state. In the collection are both Amherst and ring-neck pheasants. Among the other 124 birds listed at the zoo are green herons, great blue herons, white ibis, egrets, sandhill crane, pelicans, sea gulls, pea fowls, water turkeys, Kingneck doves,

Here's A Place For Idle Dollars

Got $100,000 lying around loose to "contribute to a fund as a basic deposit" for a sulphur spa in Sanford? H. E. Sweeney of 344 Norton Street, New Haven, Conn., is a letter received by The Herald today puts the query: "Do you suppose Seminole County would contribute to a fund of $100,000 as a basic deposit?" Mr. Sweeney writes that he had been sent a copy of The Herald for Nov. 20 which told of the northerner's idea of establishing sulphur baths in this city, but though he writes from New Haven, Conn., he objects to being called a Connecticut Yankee, because he says his home is in New York.

egles, red birds, mourning doves, hawks, brown thrushes, tomses, purple gallinule, quail, canaries, white Java rice birds, horned owls, monkey faced owls, African geese, mallard ducks and faintal pigeons.

All of the many inhabitants of the Sanford Municipal Zoo are well cared for. An excellent water supply affords them ample drinking and bathing facilities, and once each week the troughs and pools are drained and allowed to sun for several hours.

"Your project has been approved and I expect to be able to authorize your beginning work next week.

Incidentally, a project to survey of your market operations has also been approved. We are to use this survey in order that the Florida State Marketing Board may be guided in the direction of your market. I will write you more in detail about this later, but I hope the men working on this project will be of assistance to you."

Streets To Be Decorated For Christmas Pay On Dec. 20 For Every Teacher

Brilliant Lighting, Trees, Streamers, Planned By Board; $10 Prize Offered

A brilliantly lighted downtown business section during the Christmas season is the goal set by the commercial committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, as outlined at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. Every merchant will be asked to endeavor to outdo his neighbor in decorating store fronts and display windows, and a $10 prize will be awarded to that merchant who maintains the most attractive store front and windows during the period between Monday, Dec. 16, and Tuesday, Dec. 31.

The festive spirit and beautiful decorations maintained in downtown Sanford last year as a result of the campaign conducted by the commercial committee of the Chamber of Commerce received considerable comment from visitors to the City and in the press of the state, and an effort is to be made this year to excel the decorations of the 1934 Christmas season.

Streamers, banners, flags, etc., are on display in the Chamber of Commerce building and are for sale there at low prices. Secretary Ralph E. Bagwell stated. Supplies such as are not carried by Sanford merchants. Mr. Bagwell took one of these streamers to the Herald office this morning and it will be displayed in front of the publication office.

Final arrangements for the Yuletide decorations will be made by the Chamber of Commerce commercial committee at a meeting to be held next Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 10. At that time a committee will be appointed to call upon all merchants and business men in Sanford to ask each to sign an agreement to erect and maintain in front of their places of business for at least one week before Christmas and until New Year's Day, attractive decorations in keeping with the season.

Winter's Visit Not As Harmful As Was Forecast

By The Associated Press
Winter's visit in Florida was not so damaging last night as were his two previous calls recently but the weatherman warned of a killing frost in North Florida tonight and heavy frost in central and southern interior portions. Last night's weather conditions assisted fruit, vegetable and berry growers in their precautions against losses. There was spotted damage. The lowest temperature was 25 at the Jacksonville municipal airport.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast issued this afternoon is as follows:

Fair and slightly colder tonight with killing frost in north and temperatures from 24 to 28 in most of the interior sections; heavy frost in central and interior of extreme south portions, with about freezing, light frost on extreme south coast. Thursday fair, continued cold. Extreme north-west Florida; fair, frost to the coast; temperatures near freezing in the interior tonight; Thursday fair.

Arkansas Deputy Is Arrested In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A. O. Higgins, Arkansas deputy sheriff, complained to the Governor's office yesterday that when he went to Gaines City last week and to arrest a man, he was arrested himself and held in jail overnight without a charge being placed against him.

"He asked for an investigation claiming he was falsely imprisoned, denied the right to see a lawyer, and transferred from Gaines City to the Newberryport city jail without any authority."

The Governor's office told him that the Arkansas man has authority over municipal officers.

Board Borrows From Bank To Get Cash Before Holidays; Pays Bond Interest

All public school teachers in Seminole County will be paid in full on Dec. 20, the last day of holidays, the County Board of Education decided at its regular monthly session today. In order to make the payment, however, the board had to borrow $15,000 from the Sanford Atlantic National Bank. The loan is made against this County's appropriation of state funds.

Teachers and bus drivers will be paid for the fraction of the month, up to Dec. 20.

The board also authorized Chairman Fred T. Williams and Secretary T. W. Lawton to draw checks to pay bond interest and principal coming due on Jan. 1.

Fascism Endangers Democracy, Ickes Says In Address

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that economic security must be assured the average citizen if Democracy in the United States is not to be supplanted by Fascism.

Addressing the Detroit Town Hall Assembly, Ickes said "our rugged individualism has already undertaken an active well-financed campaign looking toward a return to power that will make it possible for them to continue to grow ever richer while the great mass of people becomes poorer and poorer. I wish they were putting a lighted match to the powder keg."

United Front For Bonus Payments Tried By Senator

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—United front of veterans' organizations was sought today to press for a quick showdown in congress next month on the $2,000,000,000 bonus. Senator Steiwer, Oregon Republican, who has been a leader of past efforts to liberalize veterans benefits, arranged a conference between the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, at attempt to bring these organizations together. They failed to agree on a bill in the last session which was held largely responsible for defeat of the drive for immediate cash payment.

The advice of Senator McAdoo to World War veterans that they mobilize and march on Washington in your hundreds and thousands and make Congress "stay with you until a satisfactory bonus bill is passed" soon shows up in the opinion of people.

Those who remember the famous "Battle of Washington" on July 26, 1932, when President Hoover ordered out federal troops to evict the bonus marchers from the capital, have no desire to see it repeated.

Wall Street Blamed For Skunk Increase

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—(AP)—An increase of skunks in Maryland is blamed by F. Lee LeCompte, state game warden, on the Wall Street crash of 1929. LeCompte explained that the drop in the stock market had depressed the fur market. As a result, he said, skunks were not being trapped, and have been allowed to increase. Skunk skins in 1929 brought $2 to $5 each. Since then they have been dropped below $1 causing those who do most of the trapping to lose interest, he said.

Gilford, district administrator, ordered to close projects, said none of the 1800 employees who went on strike yesterday for higher wages would be paid during the time the projects are suspended. Strikers have refused to return to work until their wages are raised. They have been paid $6.05 for four days' work, and were over offered $7.50 for five days, but demanded $7.50 for four days' work.

Fifteen hundred WPA workers who quit their jobs in this federally administered city refused last night to accept new wage scales offered by the New Deal agency. The strikers, in mass meeting decided not to return to work today.

Shortly after the men laid down their tools, F. A. Pynchon, state WPA administrator for District Five, telegraphed authorization to increase working hours, and thereby wages, 25 per cent.

Under the new scale proposed, workers on WPA projects would be employed five instead of four days weekly and receive $2.00 in addition. Louis Avila, chairman of the strikers' committee who presided over the mass meeting and prices of commodities in Key West had increased 25 per cent since the Labor Day hurricane wrecked railway facilities and depleted the city of rail freight service.

Premier Hoping That Either Il Duce Or Selassie Will Indicate Some Plan

Sanctions Staff To Meet Dec. 12

Oil Blockade Proposal To Be Brought Up At That Time

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Premier Laval is awaiting an indication that Premier Mussolini or Emperor Haile Selassie is ready to talk peace before submitting a plan for settlement of the East African war.

French officials denied that a peace plan has been drafted, but said they considered economic rather than territorial advantages were essential to Italy.

It was reported last night that France and Great Britain had agreed on a last supreme effort to end the Italo-Ethiopian war by compromise before clamping the League of Nations' most powerful embargo on Premier Benito Mussolini's oil supplies.

They have nine days in which to accomplish the tremendous task of conciliating Il Duce with Geneva and Addis Ababa. On Dec. 12 the League "sanctions general staff" of 16 will meet to vote on the oil blockade—the first sanction aimed directly at stalling the mechanized Italian army.

The Franco-British decision was said to have been aided by a "map-of-the-desire" of Premier Mussolini, conveyed through diplomatic channels, to examine peace proposals.

The Quai D'Orsay said no plan had been drafted. However, decision has been reached to draft a proposal based on the three-power effort of last August which was deflated by Il Duce's sharp "no."
