Toxic Waste Dumped On Altamonte

Sanford Chemical Samples Taken

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency chemists early today took samples of 30 drums of chemical waste for analysis from the chemical waste storage facility in Sanford operated by City Chemicals Co. Inc.

The analyses to be completed within 10 days, will be used by the State Department of Environmental Regulation and the city of Sanford in its lawsuit against the Orlando based firm. The suit seeks removal of the 3,270 drums of waste stored since early November at a two-acre field off Airport Boulevard and Jewett Lane.

Meanwhile, Altamonte Springs authorities were supervising this morning the removal of 329 drums of chemical waste from a sanitary landfill site in that South Seminole city. Those drums also belong to City Chemicals. City Manager Jeff Etchberger said the 55-gallon drums of waste were discovered by city officials after a tip from a citizen Wednesday.

Fifty of the drums were removed Wednesday, he said, and the remaining 329 were being loaded into an 18-wheel tractor truck for removal this morning "presumably" to the firm's Forsythe Road facility in Orlando.

Etchberger said through cooperation of Seminole County and the DER, the waste was ordered removed as soon as it was discovered. The DER also ordered the company, Etchberger said, to remove six inches of top soil from the privately operated Pyle sanitary landfill on Douglas Road along with the drums of chemicals.

Etchberger said while some of the drums were neatly stacked at the landfill, many had been dumped off trucks with their contents spilled on the ground.

At the same time, Goldenrod Fire Department officers in Orange County were conducting a fire inspection at the company's Forsythe Road plant. Arthur Greer and Ken Howard, officers of the firm, were not available for comment.

The EPA chemists and DER officials Wednesday marked off 30 drums at the Sanford facility for testing. Alex Senkevich, DER district manager, and Len Kozlov, enforcement officer, said a manifest of the drums' purported contents provided by City Chemicals was used in selecting the drums to be tested.

A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency chemist attired in protective clothing and wearing a gas mask and oxygen tanks, brings out of the City Chemicals Co. Inc. waste chemical storage compound a sample of waste stored there.

Bob Patton, chief DER chemist, said in this fashion the state agency can determine whether the manifests accurately reflect what is stored at the site.

Asked whether the chemicals found in Altamonte could have been taken there from the Sanford site prior to the testing, Patton said it is impossible to say.

"It's difficult to determine what has been moved and what hasn't," Patton said. He added that a requirement is needed which would give a specific identification to each drum of chemical waste from its place of origin until it is finally disposed of. Patton said results of the analyses of the waste will be available in about 10 days.

"It's obvious the paper labels are not the answer," he said, noting many labels have fallen off the containers.

Although a state law governs the disposal of chemical wastes, regulations to enforce the law have not as yet been written.

Ten EPA chemists with three vanloads of equipment began preparing for the testing at 5:30 a.m. today. Actual sample-taking began at 7 a.m.

The chemists were attired in protective gowns, rubber boots and rubber gloves. They wore gas masks and carried tanks of oxygen on their backs.

After 15-20 minutes within the chemical waste compound teams of two chemists were relieved by other two-member teams. As each team completed its work, the team went through a decontamination process, involving a series of scrubs of boots, gloves and equipment.

At the Altamonte Springs site, Jim Stringer, a mechanic employed by the Pyle firm, said the drums of chemical waste were apparently brought into the Altamonte landfill Monday or Tuesday. Stringer said City Chemicals in the past dumped empty drums at the landfill. He said the firm had been warned that only drums which had been punctured and were empty could be left at the Pyle landfill.

"We told them we wouldn't take drums

The chemist turns the sample over to another member on the 10-person team before she proceeds through a decontamination scrubbing.

with anything in them," Stringer said.

"Some of the drums were thrown out on the ground any which way," Stringer said. Pyle was not available for comment.

Etchberger said most likely City Chemicals was trying to reduce its inventory at the Forsythe Road plant prior to today's fire inspection.

Etchberger said when the City Chemicals leased truck left the Altamonte Springs landfill Wednesday with 50 drums of chemical waste, a city official followed as it traveled west on State Road 436.

"Who knows where barrels may be in that part of the county," Etchberger said. He noted the truck should have proceeded eastbound if it were going to the Forsythe Road plant. "When the driver saw the city car following, he turned and proceeded in the right direction," Etchberger said.

Etchberger said Altamonte is doing the policing function as the chemicals are being removed from that city.

"We are following the trucks to the next jurisdiction and letting that jurisdiction know that the trucks are headed in their direction." He said the Pyle landfill is licensed to operate in the city.

Nice Guys Don't

Always Finish Last

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Bobby, a rat named for the good-natured brother of J.R. on the "Dallas" TV show won the feature race in the annual Run for the Rodents Wednesday.

The Run for the Rodents annually features the pick of the laboratory rats at Spalding College.

Bobby, like his race competitors, a hooded black and white Norway rat, received the top prize of a cup of fruit-flavored cereal after winning the Spalding Downs - Dallas Derby race.

His victory seem to prove nice guys don't always finish last.

Doctors Testify Life Begins At Conception; 'Pro-Choice' Groups Want Their Say, Too

By WESLEY G. PIPPETT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several doctors who maintain life begins with conception are ready to testify at a Senate hearing that many advocates of liberal abortion laws complain is stacked against them.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers is holding hearings today and Friday to gather scientific evidence on a bill that would legally define life as starting with conception.

"Pro-choice" advocates — who insist a woman has a right to decide whether she wants an abortion — complain they have been refused an opportunity to testify.

The bill could nullify the 1973 Supreme Court ruling that made abortion legal and recognize the rights of an unborn fetus.

Among today's scheduled witnesses were Drs. Jerome Lejeune of the Medical College of Paris and Watson Bowes, director of obstetrics at the University of Colorado.

Both maintain a fetus is a living human being.

Similar testimony was expected from Drs. Hymie Gordon of the Mayo Clinic, Micheline Matthews-Roth of Harvard and Jasper Williams of Williams Clinic in Chicago.

Rhonda Copelon, a lawyer for the Center for Constitutional Rights and a proponent of abortion rights, said Wednesday "a majority, if not all," of the witnesses are anti-abortionists.

"The hearings ... are a sham," she told a news conference.

The bill under consideration is sponsored by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. The measure has become a key legislative goal of anti-abortionists this year, replacing a long-sought constitutional amendment banning abortions.

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists complained it was given unacceptable conditions when it asked to testify.

It said President-elect George M. Ryan Jr. was given permission to speak as an individual but not on behalf of the college, and that his testimony must be confined to strict definitions that "ignore the many medical, legal and ethical concerns held by the college."

The American Civil Liberties Union and the Coalition of Labor Union Women also alleged the subcommittee refused their requests to testify.

Major Defeat For Abortion?

BOSTON (UPI) — In a stinging defeat for the pro-abortion movement, a new law went into effect today requiring unwed teen-agers to gain the consent of their parents or a judge before obtaining abortions in Massachusetts.

The controversial law requiring girls under 18 to get consent from both parents or a Superior Court magistrate became effective at midnight Wednesday despite 11th-hour attempts to block its implementation.

The state Supreme Court, meeting in a special session, heard two hours of testimony by attorneys for abortion advocate William Baird and the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts who were seeking a preliminary injunction.

The five justices then met for an hour behind closed doors before adjourning without a decision. There was no indication when the deliberations would resume.

"Well, that's it," said Baird. "This is a tragic day. The whole country is watching, and the justices just go home."

He said no other state has such a statute in effect and called the justice's inaction "grossly irresponsible."

"They have left thousands of young people waiting on the hook," he said.

Both Baird, who operates abortion clinics in Boston and Hempstead and Hauppauge, N.Y., and Planned Parenthood maintained that the Massachusetts Minors Law passed last year by the state.

Bus Driver Contract Talks Are Under Way

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Representatives of the county school bus drivers' union and Seminole County School officials met Wednesday in preliminary contract talks that "went well," according to school sources.

Seminole County School board Negotiator Ernest Cowley who also directs non-instructional personnel, met with Seminole Education Association (SEA) spokesman Bill Moore in a 45-minute contract amendment presentation for school bus drivers.

"At present, we have a three-year contract with the drivers that expires June 30, 1983. These minor contract negotiations are provided for on a year to year basis," says Cowley.

"The union is allowed to open three areas for amending and the board can open two," Cowley added.

Bill Moore of the SEA asked school officials to look at areas in the contract dealing with employment conditions, fringe benefits, and compensation (Salary).

According to major terms presented to officials Wednesday, the drivers want a 20 percent increase in pay; medical benefits extended to include vision care, whereby the board would pay for eyeglasses and check-ups) and a tenure clause which would employ them on a continuing basis.

"Employment on a continuing basis may cause us a few problems in negotiations," said Cowley.

Inflation Drops To 7.5%, Lowest Since Last Summer

By DENIS G. GULINO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leveling off of gasoline and oil prices helped bring down the annual rate of inflation to 7.5 percent in March, the lowest level since last summer, the government reported today.

The latest reading of the Consumer Price Index means Social Security payments will climb by 11.2 percent starting in July for 36 million recipients.

Slower gasoline and oil price rises helped offset rising food and clothing prices to produce a 0.6 percent hike in the index for the month, seasonally adjusted. In February, it went up 1 percent.

The Labor Department, using unpublished seasonally adjusted index figures, calculated the annual rate of consumer price inflation at 7.5 percent. That is the lowest since July, when plummeting mortgage interest rates brought overall price inflation down to a 1 percent annual level, after revision. February's annualized inflation rate was 12.1 percent.

The unadjusted figure — the peg not only for Social Security payment increases but also for many private contract cost of living adjustments — showed the Consumer Price Index for March reaching 265.1. That means goods costing consumers $100 in 1967 now cost $265.10.

The Labor Department said gasoline prices took a big jump in March, but by much less than in January or February, as the effects of President Reagan's early decontrol of domestic oil prices began to fade. The decline promised even more dramatic improvement for the next month, April, when energy inflation is expected to be much less pronounced. Had gasoline and oil prices stayed flat in March, price increases for all other consumer goods would have gone up only 4.9 percent, at an annual rate, a sign of moderating price pressure throughout the economy.

In February energy prices skyrocketed because of decontrol, accounting for 54.3 percent of the entire CPI increase.

Both transportation and housing indexes reflected the good news of energy price moderation in March, showing their smallest increases in seven months.

Food and beverage prices, which grew by 0.3 in February, accelerated slightly in March, up 0.4 percent.

The increase in Social Security payments means the average check of $337 will climb in July to about $374.00. The 11.2 percent raise in payments is less than the 14.3 percent raise made last year at this time, but more than 1979's increase of 9.9 percent.

The maximum Social Security benefit for a single worker retiring this year is $677 a month. That payment now goes up to $752.90 beginning in July.

The March rise in consumer prices compares with a 1 percent rise in February, 0.7 percent in January, 1.1 percent in December and 1 percent for each of the previous three months, all seasonally adjusted.

With today's announcement having a major bearing on Social Security benefits, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said Wednesday he opposes "the whole theory of indexing" — tying wages and government benefits to inflation through cost-of-living increases.

"If we indexed everything who would care about inflation?" he asked.

"To the extent we can eliminate indexing we will," Regan promised in remarks to about 50 construction industry lobbyists. But he added Social Security benefits would, by law, continue to be annually adjusted.

He questioned whether the CPI was the right peg on which to hang the increases. "The Consumer Price Index is a very imprecise gauge and does not really reflect what's actually happening to the economy or to a person," he said. Another index, "not as inflationary as the CPI," should be used, he said.

Regan also sharply criticized the Federal Reserve for not controlling the money supply more precisely, contributing to inflation. "We think we've caught their attention," he said of the Fed after comparing its money supply control to a golfer who can't keep his drives on the fairway.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Rioters Battle Police As Violence Spreads In Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Masked Catholic rioters sealed off streets and battled police from behind barricades of hijacked trucks today, as rioting spread to five towns in support of IRA hunger-striker Bobby Sands who reportedly lay near death.

The most widespread rioting in Northern Ireland since IRA hunger-striker Frank Stagg died in a British jail in 1978 erupted Wednesday in Londonderry and Belfast after the funerals of two young Catholics run over by a British army Land Rover during Easter rioting in support of Sands.

In a bid to halt the spreading violence, former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark and anti-war activist, the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, headed to Dublin before going on to Northern Ireland to try to meet Sands, 27, in Maze Prison.

Sands was reported weakening in the 64th day of a fast he started to win political status for IRA prisoners — a demand rejected by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher. Northern Ireland, part of the United Kingdom, has suffered years of strife between extremists from the Protestant majority and Catholic minority.

"So far the fighting has been the work of young hotheads," a community worker said in Andersonstown, "but there is a feeling that by the weekend, if Sands should die, the guns will be out."

By nightfall, full battles flared between young Catholics and police in three towns besides Londonderry and Belfast, and the violence continued early today. Rioters hurled rocks, acid bombs and Molotov cocktails from behind buses and trucks and security forces fired plastic bullets.

Poles Set For Party Reforms

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Poland's Communist rulers announced a special meeting of the party's Central Committee next Wednesday to discuss proposals for the most sweeping democratic reforms ever considered in any Communist land.

Limiting officials to two terms in office is among the proposals under consideration.

There also was speculation hard-liners might be purged from the ruling Politburo at the meeting, but other analysts said worker representatives might be added to the ruling body to balance the influence of those seeking a tough line against the Solidarity union.

There is also speculation former Prime Minister Jozef Pielowski may be removed from the Politburo. Politburo member Mieczyslaw Moczar — considered a centrist who generally supports the reforms backed by the faction of Party leader Stanislaw Kania.

Wednesday's Politburo announcement of next week's Central Committee session apparently put off for a week talks between the government and Solidarity. The union scheduled a meeting at its national headquarters in Gdansk to discuss the development.

Israel Ignores Cease Fire

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanon's warring factions halted their artillery and rocket exchanges in Beirut with a 20th cease-fire today. But Israeli gunboats bombarded the port of Tyre in an attack that sank a ship and blew up houses.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said only that its forces "operated along the Lebanese coast at Sidon and Tyre and sank a terrorist vessel."

The government-run Beirut Radio said Israeli gunboats blasted Tyre, 13 miles north of the Israeli border, sank a vessel and damaged a number of houses, wounding four people.

The 20th cease-fire since the outbreak of fighting between Syrian peacekeepers and rightist Christian Phalangist militia April 1 — ordered by Lebanese President Elias Sarkis after apparent consultations with the armies — took hold in the capital.

Dollar Up, Gold Drops

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar firmed at the opening of European foreign exchanges today on speculation about rising U.S. interest rates and the price of gold opened lower in Zurich and London.

Dreams Of Drug Profits Turn To Nightmares

American Adventurists Languish In Thai Prisons

By SYLVANA FOA
BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — U.S. officials fear the 43 Americans in Thai jails will soon have a lot of company from drug smugglers flocking to the Southeast Asian nation to capitalize on the best heroin harvest in the Golden Triangle in two years.

Americans hoping to make their fortune buying heroin at $8,000 a pound in Bangkok and selling it on the streets of New York for $800,000 don't realize they probably will end up spending the rest of their lives in a Thai jail.

"Most of these people were enticed into smuggling by dreams of a quick profit," a U.S. source said. "They're adventurists."

Americans already are the commonest foreigners in Thai prisons, with 41 of the 43 jailed U.S. citizens serving time for possession of narcotics, according to the U.S. Embassy. Two had overstayed their visas.

Another 12 Americans are still in the courts and a U.S. source said "the average sentence for each of them will be 40 years. In the States, they'd get five to six years and with good behavior, they'd be off in two. Not here."

In addition, U.S. officials fear the number of jailed Americans will rise sharply as heroin from the Golden Triangle's first decent crop after two years of drought becomes available in the streets.

"The opium is just getting to the heroin refineries and we've already had eight new people arrested for heroin possession in the past nine weeks," said one U.S. source. "We're very worried there will be a rush of new arrests in the next couple of months."

Opium growers in the triangle — a jungle, border region of Thailand, Burma and Laos — harvested an estimated 600 tons this year. After local consumption, the harvest will yield about eight tons of pure heroin for export to the United States, Australia and Europe.

Most of the Americans arrested in Thailand are young, middle-class and well-educated. Very few are themselves heroin addicts — they're in it for the money.

But once caught, Americans suddenly realize the penalties outweigh the chance for enormous profits. Under strict Thai law, possession of 100 grams or more of heroin means a mandatory sentence of life in prison or execution.

No American has been sentenced to death but life in jail is hard. One young American prisoner died in January from pneumonia. There is no parole and drug traffickers usually are excluded from amnesties granted on royal birthdays.

Of 41 Americans currently jailed on narcotics charges, eight are serving sentences of 25 years to 40 years and two are in for life. The United States has proposed a treaty similar to those with Turkey and Mexico that allows convicts to serve out sentences in their own countries but Thai officials oppose any exchange of people sentenced to more than 10 years.

Teague Middle School Students Big Winners In Poster Contest

By SYRIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Youngsters from Teague Middle School in Forest City absolutely dazzled judges of the American Automobile Association's 1981 Traffic Safety Poster Contest!

Especially Eric Guinn (his picture with winning poster appeared in Wednesday's Herald), son of Rita and John Eicherberger, Altamonte Springs. The sixth grader not only captured the first prize in the East Florida Division, but walked away with the Grand Award in the overall elementary category of AAA's Florida East Coast Division.

Joining Eric in the winner's circle were Teague students Tohnya Lenartowicz, a ninth grader who took first prize in the 7-9 grade division; honorable mention John Silvia in the 7-9 grade division; and honorable mention Holly Campbell in the 5-6 grade division.

As the Grand Award winner, Eric received $75 in prize money and a chance to compete nationally in the AAA's Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

According to Teague Art Department Chairman Jane Ford, winners in the national competition will be announced some time in May.

"We have the distinction this year of taking more prizes than any other school that entered the contest," said Mrs. Ford, who is also Guinn's art teacher.

Eric attributes his artistic drive to his grandmother who was "quite an artist herself," he says.

"I still have pictures that my grandmother painted. She's dead now, but she would encourage me to draw when I was little," he said.

"She would stick the pictures I drew on the refrigerator with little magnets."

Eric's prize poster warns youngsters to "Play Safe Away From Traffic." It depicts a boy at bat playing baseball in a field, a good distance from traffic in the background.

The young artist created the poster from colored construction paper pieces. Guinn's art will be joined in national competition by a Grand Award winner created by a Melbourne High art student Matthew Merkel, Grand Award winner in the senior high division.

Merkel's award distinguished Melbourne High students as taking the top high school category for six of the last seven years.

Altamonte Towers Rejected Again

Altamonte City Commissioners, after 2 hours of questions and discussion on the controversial Altamonte Towers project, denounced the condo-office high rise complex again Tuesday night as not being in the city's best interest.

The project's developer, Bill Frederick, who is formally associated with American Shopping Centers, presented the commission with revised drawings of his proposal. Although the 6.9 acre site across from Altamonte Mall was annexed in late February at Frederick's request, commissioners have consistently rejected Frederick's building proposal, expressing great concern for the increased traffic and sewage it would bring to the area.

"I really don't have any great problems with the project, itself. But I have some very real questions about the effects a commercial-residential project like Altamonte Towers would have on that vicinity. Impact is what I'm worried about," said Commissioner Delores Vickers.

According to commissioners who voiced similar feelings, State Road 436 at present is carrying 212 of its originally intended capacity. The city is considering ways to divert some traffic and construction to widen the street is underway.

Frederick's proposal which as presented to the board, calls for 7 buildings each 6-stories in height.

The project would contain between 150-200 residential units, Frederick told the board, along with 100,000 square feet of office space and 60,000 square feet of retail space.

The land is currently zoned for general commercial use, meaning that any construction project at the site would have to be strictly commercial. Frederick's earlier attempt to have the area rezoned to Planned Unit Development failed. That classification would have allowed such a development as the proposed Altamonte Towers.

Altamonte residents in a previous public hearing spoke out against Frederick's proposal, citing the far-reaching effects the towers would have.

Armed Holdup May Net Man Life In Prison

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

A 23-year-old Sanford man faces up to life imprisonment following his conviction in Seminole Circuit Court of robbing a couple at gunpoint outside a local grocery store last December.

A six-member jury deliberated a little more than an hour before finding Sylvester Davis of 58 Redding Gardens guilty of robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery in connection with the Dec. 31 theft of a $75 paycheck from James and Nella Jones in the parking lot of Pantry Pride, 2944 Orlando Drive, Sanford.

Davis was accused of participating in the hold-up with a second unknown bandit who held a shotgun on the couple while Davis allegedly took James Jones' wallet.

Sentencing was deferred pending completion of an investigation into Davis' background.

In other court action, a 70-year-old Oviedo man escaped a possible life prison term after the 72-year-old woman he allegedly raped Feb. 4 broke down on the witness stand and could not continue her testimony.

Lawrence "Pop" Lemmons, Franklin Street in Oviedo, was being tried Wednesday on a charge of sexual battery, which carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, when the setback occurred.

Lemmons' alleged victim, who reported being raped on the floor of her bedroom, was describing the attack for defense counsel Mariene Alva when she began to tremble and broke into sobs.

Even after a recess, the woman said she could not go on, and the jury was excused.

With the chief prosecution witness unable to testify, Lemmons agreed to plead no contest to the lesser charge of battery for which he could receive up to one year in prison.

Judge Kenneth Lettler deferred sentencing pending completion of an investigation into Lemmons' background.

But sentencing won't end the matter. Assistant State Attorney Steve Plotnick said Lemmons was on probation at the time of the rape and will be charged with violating his probation. Lemmons was placed on three years probation Jan. 12, 1979 after being convicted of attempted sexual battery.

Also Wednesday, four persons were sentenced for crimes to which they had earlier pleaded guilty. They follow:

— Robert Lee Richardson, 27, 307 Cadillac Court, and Milton Lee Wilson, 19, of 117 Leonard St., both of Altamonte Springs, petty theft. Richardson was placed on six months probation, fined $150, and ordered to pay $1,110.50 in attorneys fees. Wilson received a six-month probationary term and was ordered to pay a $150 fine and $350 in attorneys fees. The pair were accused of stealing two truck tires from Eastern Foods, Lake Howell Road, Casselberry.

— William D'Agostina, 50, 638 S. Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, obtaining property by worthless check, five years probation, $600 in court costs, and $600 to the law library. D'Agostina was charged after bouncing a $979.20 check at the Barnett Bank of Altamonte Springs.

— John Bennett, 77, 20 Main St. in the Midway section east of Sanford, carrying a concealed firearm, three years probation. Lester Clyde Bagley, 21, of Williams Avenue, Sanford, was acquitted of the Feb. 6 armed robbery of the Lil' Champ convenience store in the Ravens Park area of Sanford.

DEBATED CUSTOMERS?

Sometimes between 2:30 and 5 p.m. Wednesday, vandals threw some sort of acid or paint remover on cars belonging to two of the top officers at Flagship Bank, 3000 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford.

About $600 damage was done to bank president Dennis Courson's Buick, an estimated $400 damage to vice president Carolyn Lane's 1977 Pontiac Firebird.

The cur were in the bank parking lot at the time of the incident.

SS Recipients Getting

11.2 Percent Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 36 million Social Security and Supplement Security Income recipients will get an 11.2 percent increase in their benefits beginning with the July check, the government said today.

The increase is automatic, triggered by the rise for the first three months of 1980 in the Consumer Price Index, which also was made public today. Last year, benefits increased 14.3 percent, and in 1979 they rose 9.9 percent.

The current maximum Social Security benefit for a worker retiring this year is $677 a month. The average benefit for a retired worker living alone is $337 and for a couple who both receive benefits is $576.

With the 11.2 percent jump, the maximum check will go to $751.90 a month. The average benefit for an individual will be $374 and for the couple both receiving benefits the payment will be $640.

Cary Grant, Married

NEW YORK (UPI) — In his fifth trip to the altar, film idol Cary Grant, 77, secretly married an ex-publist in her 30s last week, a published report said today.

Grant's new wife, Barbara Harris, has been his companion for several years, says "Suzy," a gossip columnist for the New York Daily News. In the past, Grant has always shrugged off questions about a possible marriage.

They were married either in Palm Springs — where the couple were guests at a star-studded 25th wedding anniversary party for Princess Grace and Prince Rainier of Monaco given by Frank Sinatra — or in Las Vegas, a favorite hangout for Grant.

In a telephone call to the couple's home in Beverly Hills, Miss Harris first checked with Grant, then confirmed their wedding.

Brady OK After Surgery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House press secretary James Brady emerged in satisfactory condition early today from more than five hours of delicate surgery to repair a series of holes that allowed unwanted air to seep into his bullet-damaged skull.

The operation to relieve potentially damaging pressure on the brain was a success and Brady was declared in "satisfactory" condition by Dr. Dennis O'Leary, a spokesman at George Washington University Medical Center.

O'Leary said surgeons closed holes along a passageway dug by the bullet that struck Brady in the March 30 assassination attempt against President Reagan.

Coalmen Want Escort

Independent Kentucky coal operators, fearing a replay of the bloody highway shootout between striking miners and truckers hauling non-union coal, asked state police to provide escorts for their drivers today.

Three truckers and one miner were wounded in the gunbattle Wednesday and state troopers witnessing the violence — the worst since the United Mine Workers struck the nation's soft coal fields 28 days ago — did nothing to help, said George Farley, general manager of Mary Helen Coal.

"All they did after the ambush was to hit the dirt just like everybody else," he said.

Grain Embargo Near End?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is moving toward a decision to lift the embargo on grain shipments to the Soviet Union, and a formal announcement may be made Friday, administration sources say.

There was no official confirmation. Acting White House press secretary Larry Speakes said, "The president has not made a decision." But he confirmed high-level meetings on the embargo were held at the White House Tuesday with Secretary of State Alexander Haig and Agriculture Secretary John Block.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Dynamite Found Under Brevard County Bridge

MELBOURNE (UPI) — Baffled law officers are trying to trace six sticks of dynamite found under a Brevard County bridge wrapped in an old newspaper story about the bomb expert called in to detonate it.

Deputies called Thomas J. Miley, a Melbourne police officer with 30 years of bomb experience. He rushed to the scene and ran under the bridge where he found the explosives — "six sticks — six pounds of 40 percent Atlas dynamite in an extremely dangerous state."

He also spied something else — a two-year-old copy of a Cocoa Today newspaper carrying a feature story and picture about him and his work. He said the newspaper was as explosive as the dynamite.

Instruments Recovered

ORLANDO (UPI) — Police have recovered 75 of the 118 musical instruments stolen April 10 from the Pottstown, Pa., High School band during a spring trip to Florida.

The instruments and uniforms of band members were stolen along with a U-Haul truck from the band's hotel parking lot. Police said the instruments were recovered in connection with an investigation into an auto theft ring that resulted in the arrests of four brothers and a fifth man.

Cruise Ship Strike Ends

MIAMI (UPI) — A labor dispute on the Miami docks, which spoiled the Caribbean vacations of 2,300 people, has ended and most of the striking crewmembers who took over two cruise ships have been sent home to Honduras.

Arizona's Biggest Heist

Bank Robbery Nets Thieves $3 Million

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Four armed bandits overpowered a janitor and a bank manager and then cleaned out a vault of up to $3 million in a well-planned bank heist that bore a close resemblance to a major, unsolved Arizona robbery 31 years ago.

Auditors worked today to tally the total sum taken in Wednesday's early morning robbery at the First National Bank and authorities refused to disclose an official figure until their work was completed.

But one police official who asked not to be identified said as much as

$3 million may have been stolen, ranking it as the state's largest bank heist — ahead of a 1950 unsolved robbery conducted in much the same manner.

"I can tell you it's going to be a large amount of money, but that's all I can tell you," said police Sgt. Robert Sinclair. "We still don't have a total."

An FBI agent contacted late Wednesday would only say "a hell of a lot" of money was taken, and one local television station reported $2.5 million was taken.

Investigators said four armed men were waiting in a van painted similar to a telephone company vehicle when a janitor arrived for work at about 7 a.m. The janitor was ordered inside the van until the arrival of the bank manager.

The unidentified manager, who arrived at the bank a short time later, was also confronted in the parking lot by the gunmen. Then the manager, the janitor and the suspects entered the bank, authorities said.

The manager was ordered to open the vault, which reportedly contained the previous day's receipts for all of First National's Tucson branches.

Investigators said the robbers cleared out the vault.

"There wasn't anything below 20s in there," one policeman said.

The suspects loaded the money into the van and fled. About an hour later, police found the van abandoned in a shopping center parking lot three miles west of the bank.

The suspects, armed with two revolvers, two automatic pistols and a shotgun, were all described as white males between 35 and 40 years old.

Wednesday's holdup was very similar to the state's previous record bank heist — $116,250 taken Feb. 8, 1950 from the Bank of Douglas.

In the robbery 31 years ago, two gunmen confronted a janitor as he arrived for work and waited for a vault teller to arrive. The robbers then forced the teller to open the vault and they scooped up the money and fled.

The thieves were never captured and none of the money was ever recovered.

Miami Woman May Be Key In Atlanta Murders

ATLANTA (UPI) — The witness which a civil rights group says will enable authorities to crack Atlanta's sensational child slayings case is a Miami woman who was tipped in advance to some of the killings, a source told UPI today.

The source, with close ties to the Congress of Racial Equality, said the woman claimed more than one person is responsible for the 25 slayings and that one of the killers was an acquaintance.

She said that as early as last November the man began boasting that he was involved in the 21-month-long string of crimes, but that she paid little attention until he told her in advance of the names and ages of two young blacks that were to be abducted. The source said the woman identified the two as Eddie Duncan and Larry Rogers, both 21 years old, and both retarded.

When their names turned up in headlines as victims of the child killers, the source said, she contacted a disc jockey at an Atlanta radio station, who in turn put her in touch with CORE.

It was then that CORE began its own surveillance of what Roy Innis, national staff director of CORE, has characterized as a "madman" who is involved in at least six of the 25 murders.

Innis, who met for three hours yesterday with the FBI, gave the city a 72-hour ultimatum and said unless an arrest is made by 1 p.m. Saturday CORE would "make the collar" itself.

Asked what was to prevent the suspect from fleeing now that the news media has disclosed that he is under surveillance, a CORE member replied: "If he moves, we'll break his arms."

Before meeting with the FBI Wednesday, Innis held a news conference in Atlanta to announce CORE had turned up a witness capable of cracking the case.

The FBI said it found Innis' information "important."

Innis, however, said whether or not the FBI takes him seriously, "in 72 hours plus one second I will take it very seriously. At that point I will turn over what we know and apprehend the suspect."

Innis said his suspect had accomplices — "both black and white" — but he had no idea of his motives.

Sources familiar with Innis' case told UPI late Wednesday night his suspect is a black man with a short to medium Afro, dark complexion and a trim goatee.

This matches the reported description of a man in a composite drawing police have never officially released. The man is wanted in the case of Eddie Duncan, 21, the 22nd victim.

Police say witnesses saw the man picking Duncan up in a car, but they said they would not release the drawing because it was not in the best interest of the investigation.

Innis said he has shown the photograph — a formal portrait and not a snapshot — to residents in areas where victims have vanished, and many said they had seen the man "cruising the streets."

Innis said he turned over the photograph and all his information to the FBI late Wednesday in a three-hour meeting at his hotel room. He would not say whether the witness was present at the meeting, which included the mother of Timothy Hill — a recent victim — and a representative of the Fulton County district attorney's office.

John Glover, agent-in-charge of the Atlanta FBI office, called the meeting "productive and fruitful ... I certainly consider it important."

Reagan Wonders Why He Wasn't Shot Before...27 Times

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, in constant "pain or discomfort" from his chest wound, says he wonders why the attempt on his life didn't happen "27 times before."

Reagan said would-be assassins had many opportunities to shoot him down since he took office three months ago, but he plans no additional security because of the March 30 shooting.

"I have a hunch I'll be more alert" in the future, Reagan said in an interview Wednesday with United Press International and The Associated Press — his first since being hit by a .22-caliber slug 25 days ago.

The 70-year-old president, wearing a gray light wool suit, walked a bit stiffly. But he was in good spirits, had rosy cheeks and punctuated many of his comments with humor. Generally, he said, "I'm feeling fine."

Late in the interview, he said: "There is just that kind of pain or discomfort there constantly that you hope day by day is getting less, and that I think is getting less and less."

"But ... other than that, I've resumed at a little slower pace my regimen of exercise I've always done for keeping fit and I don't think I'm going to hurdle any tables in the room here for awhile."

Reagan said he isn't plagued with nightmares about the shooting, but has thought about it often, particularly in the context of his brief term in office.

"I look back now in some of these reviews that they've shown of the first few months (in office) and so forth," he said. "I see some of the milling in crowds and so forth that we've done and I find myself wondering, 'Well, why didn't this happen 27 times before?'"

Reagan vividly recalled the attempted assassination. The shots. The pain. Initially not realizing he was hit. Then seeing his own blood.

Asked if he ever felt in mortal danger, Reagan said:

"No, as a matter of fact it still seems kind of unreal."

Hollywood Drug Use Hearing Continuing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A congressional drug probe called a "witch hunt" by some celebrities has so far focused on the source of drugs entering California, but testimony today may delve into who uses narcotics in the Hollywood entertainment colony.

The Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control's two-day hearing was originally scheduled to feature testimony by some well known in show business, including Cathy Lee Crosby and Grant Tinker.

But Miss Crosby, a host on ABC-TV's "That's Incredible," told reporters she was not showing up because of the "media hype and the sensationalism."

Tinker, a highly successful producer of programs including his ex-wife Mary Tyler Moore's weekly show about a TV newsroom, said he was staying home because of "all the brouhaha."

Actor Ed Asner called the hearing "highly ridiculous," "stupid" and a "mini-witch hunt."

But the committee chairman, Rep. Leo Zefteretti, D-N.Y., emphatically denounced what he called media "distortion of what the heck we're trying to do." A press release announcing the hearings said the investigation would focus on "drug abuse in the Hollywood entertainment industry."

"We categorically and emphatically deny the many unfair allegations which have appeared in the press that the select committee is engaged in some sort of witch hunt or inquisition," Zefteretti said.

He said the committee came to Southern California "not to persecute, but to ask for help, not to indict or to interrogate, but to seek a partnership" with the entertainment industry.

He said it was more a case of Congress "extending a hand of cooperation" to Hollywood in an effort to solve the growing nationwide problem of drug abuse.

Who's Afraid Of A Data Bank?

The Reagan administration is committed, and rightly so, to maintaining its "safety net" of social welfare programs for those truly in need. It is also committed, and with equal justification, to reducing the fraud and abuse that afflict too many welfare programs.

To this end, the administration is proposing creation of a National Recipient Information System — in effect, a computerized data bank that would contain the name, age, address, social security number and "benefit status" of all the estimated 25 million Americans receiving some form of public assistance.

Information held in the data bank would be made available to federal, state and local agencies attempting to identify persons receiving unwarranted aid payments, whether by fraud or simple bureaucratic error.

Not surprisingly, the very mention of a national data bank has aroused instant opposition from the American Civil Liberties Union. An ACLU spokesman decried the prospect of "an unprecedented national surveillance system ... and a massive invasion of privacy."

A calmer view would conclude that there is nothing at all unprecedented about the proposed data bank. The Internal Revenue Service, the Social Security Administration, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Department of Defense have long maintained computerized files that, taken together, include considerable information on the majority of Americans.

As for invasions of privacy, the strict privacy law now on the federal statute books would seem to be a more than ample bulwark against any unauthorized use of data on welfare recipients. Nor is there anything revolutionary about the data bank proposal. Joseph Califano, former secretary of health, education and welfare during the Carter administration, put forth a similar suggestion in 1979.

If local, state and federal agencies are ever to pare welfare fraud and waste to its irreducible minimum, something like a national computerized data bank will probably be necessary. We think the idea at least deserves a fair hearing in Congress, and we trust that overwrought objections from the ACLU will not be permitted to scuttle this proposal before it can even be discussed.

Submarine In Error

From all accounts, the collision of the U. S. nuclear submarine George Washington with a Japanese freighter was a poor showing of judgment and seamanship.

The collision took place 110 miles west of the Japanese island of Kyushu in a crowded international shipping lane in the East China Sea. The freighter, Nissho Maru, sank within 15 minutes with the loss of two lives. There was only minor damage to the George Washington.

After the accident, the nuclear sub made only a token search and failed to pick up survivors, stating there were rain squalls and fog. The Japanese crew of 13 in inflatable life rafts, on the other hand, said they sighted the submarine on the surface maneuvering close to them.

One wonders why the submarine found it necessary to run at such a shallow depth in a crowded sea lane. And one wonders why the sub couldn't detect the danger by sonar or periscope.

U. S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield has made formal apologies to Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ito for the incident and well he should. There doesn't seem to be much excuse for the collision.

The United States did well to acknowledge responsibility for the accident and pay damages to the Japanese vessel's owners and crew.

Our relationship with the people of Japan is too important to our national security to allow it to be jeopardized by a seeming disregard for Japanese lives and property.

Around

The Clock

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

It will be a day of dabbling in the arts for Seminole County youngsters at the Seminole Community College Fine Arts Day on Friday, May 8.

Sponsored by the county public schools, this fine arts extravaganza will feature locally prominent artists who will be on hand to demonstrate the techniques of their professional crafts.

According to Martha Domenico of Forest City Elementary, the event's coordinator, Fine Arts Day was conceived to allow gifted fifth-graders in Seminole County Schools to explore different areas of creative aesthetics.

Approximately 175 students will attend the May 8 art instruction festival. Beginning at 9 a.m., the all-day affair will highlight theater, creative dance, music composition, the art of water color, and creative writing with a distinguished host of talented area artists.

Seminole County defines gifted students as those pupils scoring 135 and above on IQ tests which are administered in the county school system. In a Florida statute, a provision is made for "gifted students in each grade to be exposed to enrichment programs for developing their exceptional academic abilities."

Dazzling the 5th graders at the Seminole Community College Fine Arts Day will be John Yakei, owner of a water color art studio; Helen Hickey who owns an art gallery in Sanford; David Clevinger of Seminole Community College, technical theater director; Fred Lander, a local music composer; Shirley Romero, a mime with the Central Florida Civic Theater; Valerie Weld and Virginia Wright, creative dancers with a Sanford dance studio; and Bob Wishoff, a local poet with the Seminole County Schools.

WILLIAM STEIF On The Nation's Museum

There was this peculiar blip on my mental radar screen. A newspaper printed a list of 23 "small" federal agencies, which now employ 40,676 people. It reported that President Reagan's new budget would eliminate 3,768 jobs.

Each of the 23 agencies was cut or permitted a minimal increase, except one. That was the National Gallery of Art, which is adding 40 workers for a total of 753 starting Oct. 1.

That's a 6 percent increase, so in this period of budget austerity I asked why.

Here's the news: The National Gallery is remodeling its West Building and opening new galleries for what is, in effect, "another museum," according to Katherine Warwick, the gallery's information specialist. In fiscal 1982 it will open the big bronze doors at its western end — never before opened permanently — and it needs new guards and attendants. That explains the 40 new jobs.

Reason for the remodeling, basically, is that the gallery is wildly successful. In 1970 it had a total of 1.8 million visitors; last year more than 6.3 million.

If you're coming to Washington, D.C. or plan to be anywhere nearby, you ought to consider a visit. The gallery belongs to all of us.

As U.S. museums go, the National Gallery is a late starter. The original West Building wasn't finished until 1941, to house the collection Andrew Mellon began in the 1920s. Mellon, who's been a treasury secretary, died in 1937, leaving his collection and $15 million to the nation to build the 500,000-square-foot West Building. Soon after, other important American art collectors — Samuel and Ruth Kress, Joseph Widener, Chester Dale — began contributing to the gallery.

By the late 1960s it was clear the West Building was too cramped. Andrew Mellon's son and daughter, Paul Mellon and Ailsa Mellon Bruce, contributed the $95 million needed to build the East Building. It opened in mid-1978 and, designed by I.M. Pei, put the gallery on the map of distinguished museums. Its sheer marble walls, open spaces and clean geometry lure visitors indoors.

The building also provides eight floors for scholarly and educational activities, including an extension service that reaches more than 3 million people yearly. The library alone has about 85,000 slides. Ten-week summer internships are available. Conservators work on everything from paintings to textiles. Dozens of loans are made to other museums in this and other countries and the gallery stages about two dozen special shows yearly. A Center for Advanced Study of the Visual Arts is in operation. Gallery experts, from Director J. Carter Brown down, lecture around the world and pursue their specialties. Thousands of good prints and catalogs are sold yearly. The museum is the site of three to four dozen concerts each year.

"We don't use federal funds to buy works of art," says Miss Warwick. "What we get from the federal government is small in proportion to what's given on the private side." The federal appropriation, around $20 million this year, is used for staffing, maintenance, security and, partly, for "the special exhibitions program." It represents about two-thirds of the annual operating budget. But the gallery also can and does put the arm on big companies to help stage major shows — Exxon funded the King Tut exhibit and Mobil Oil the Edvard Munch show, for example.

Debt Collection Has 'Em Over A Barrel

WASHINGTON — Legislation that would help the federal government collect billions in bad debts has put the Reagan administration in a Catch-22 situation.

On the one hand, if the White House supports the debt-collection bill vigorously, it faces the certainty that Democrats in Congress will demand that the "windfall" collected from Uncle Sam's delinquent debtors be applied to programs that have had their budgets slashed.

On the other hand, if the White House doesn't support the debt-collection bill, it will be in the position of betraying its own loudly trumpeted determination to cut waste and fraud in government. Democrats will be able to argue that if the administration won't support such an obvious way to reduce the government's expenses, it must not be serious about the budget cuts.

How the administration will wiggle out of its dilemma may be revealed today, when Budget Director David Stockman is scheduled to testify at a Senate hearing on the bill. Stockman was supposed to appear earlier this month, but canceled at the last minute, to the dismay of the legislation's backers, Sens. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and James Sasser, D-Tenn.

DON GRAFF

Quebec Votes: For What?

Canadians have done it again.

Some of them, that is. Those who went to the polls in the country's latest decisive election — Quebec's, which has produced another typically Canadian mixed bag of winners and losers.

So mixed, in fact, that this early in the analyzing it is far from perfectly clear exactly who should be considered which.

Premier Rene Levesque is, of course, the big winner with his Parti Quebecois picking up 80 of the 122 seats in the new provincial assembly. Or is he?

Levesque has provided Quebec with what even the opposition recognizes as excellent government. The French-speaking majority is master in its own house and it is a very well-run house. Quebec voters appreciate that, more than they do his determination to detach the province from the rest of Canada, as they demonstrated in last year's referendum on that issue.

A reading of the April 13 Quebec returns in this light suggests the voters returned Levesque despite, not because of, the very cause that is his party's raison d'etre. And he pledged himself during the campaign not to submit the separatist question to another referendum during a new term in office. Levesque has an impressive string of short-term achievements, of which the election victory is the latest, but they do not appear to be bringing his long-term goal any nearer.

The opposition Liberals, who only a few months ago were virtually conceded the election, are the big losers. Or are they?

Their leader, Claude Ryan, certainly came out on a very short end. He has lost not only the premiership to Levesque but quite likely considerable ground within his own party, which may now be inclined to look elsewhere for the winner it thought it had found in him.

The party itself is not, however, in such bad shape as its minority status in the new assembly — 42 seats — might indicate. In the popular vote, there wasn't all that much difference — 46 percent for the Liberals and just under 50 percent for the Parti Quebecois.

The Liberals still have a broad electoral base and reasonable assurance of being able to continue to thwart Levesque's efforts to detach Quebec from the rest of the confederation, their primary interest at the moment as the closest thing to a national party in Canadian politics.

Then there is the fellow whose name was not even on the ballot but had every bit as much at stake in the election as Quebec's party leaders.

Pierre Trudeau.

It was his Liberal Party that went down to defeat and his most visible political adversary, Levesque, who was returned to power. So the Canadian prime minister is a double loser. Or is he?

Ryan, who shares Trudeau's opposition to Quebec autonomy but otherwise has some divergent ideas on the shaping of the Canadian confederation's future, has been removed for the time being as a potential rival in national and party politics. And while Levesque may be back stronger than ever in an adversary role, that has its advantages for Trudeau.

Levesque makes a convenient bad guy against whom to rally the rest of Canada to the federal cause. He is an important ally of other provincial premiers opposing Trudeau's drive to revise the Canadian constitution in the direction of a stronger central government. But his commitment to Quebec separatism makes that cause less than common. And it can be argued that his own continuing success in Quebec, demonstrating that French Canada can exist and prosper within the larger confederation, is providing one of the strongest arguments against his own separatist cause.

Levesque does have one option. He could call another provincial election with separatism the issue before his new five-year term is up, technically not violating his no-referendum pledge. But possible benefits to anyone at this point appear questionable.

If Canadians run true to form, it would not turn out to be decisive.

BUSINESS WORLD

Well, Sufferin' Catfish

By LeROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Back in the days when cotton was undisputed king of the deep south economy, the lowly catfish didn't count at all.

But last year Mississippi produced 79 million pounds of pond-grown catfish for the market that brought in $57 million. Output is expected to grow by 45 percent this year, according to Michael Jones, marketing specialist for the extension service of Mississippi State University at Starkville.

Mississippi produces more catfish from commercial ponds than all the other producing states put together. Alabama is second, followed by Arkansas, California, Georgia, Missouri and Louisiana.

Catfish are found almost everywhere, even in the oceans, but they grow fast enough for profitable commercial marketing only in places such as Mississippi that have pure well fed waters with around 240 days of 65-degree temperature during the year. Under these conditions, 6 to 8 inch fingerlings from the hatcheries, put in the ponds in March, will be harvestable 1 1/4 pound fish in late October or November.

Mississippi now has five plants that can process a total of up to 300,000 pounds of catfish daily. Mostly, the fish are quick frozen and sold to the restaurant trade but householders buy a lot of them. Shelf-life of fillets in the restaurant freezer is about a year. That of fish frozen whole is 10 days.

The fish are marketed in about 40 states and the market is growing steadily. One of the biggest problems with the fish, its tough, shark-like skin, was solved with invention of a machine that skins them.

Another marketing problem concerns cooking. Traditionally catfish have been served only fried. "Actually," says Dr. Tom L. Wellborn, Jr., of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, "they can be cooked any way that trout or any other quality fish can."

The channel cat is the favorite of the Mississippi Delta fish farmers although a few blue trout are grown.

For the past eight years, the Mississippi fishery authorities have wrestled with the technical and marketing problems of canning catfish. Once these are overcome, the fish could be marketed worldwide as a somewhat cheaper competitor to both tuna and salmon. Dr. G.R. Ammerman is in charge of this project at Mississippi State University.

The first modern effort to market canned catfish floundered on a mistake. Efforts were made to sell the fish in one pound cans, which is too large for most families. Early in this century, there was briefly a canned catfish business in which spoonbills running over 50 pounds were taken from the Mississippi River and sold as "freshwater tuna."

The growth of the channel catfish farming business has exceeded all expectations. Production in Mississippi, where it is the state's fastest growing farm crop, has doubled since 1973 and in money value it was last year $11 million above the projected level for 1983.

The restaurant market for catfish extends as far north as Chicago and Omaha but catfish is not yet considered a delicacy in the all-important northeastern restaurant market.

A workshop at Starkville held each year by Mississippi State University draws people from all over the country interested either in raising or processing catfish.

Under Jimmy Carter, the Justice Department's Office of Internal Security was cut from about 300 staff personnel to about 60. The employees involved were transferred to the overworked Freedom of Information section.

Recently, however, the director of the FBI's Washington office increased by 15 percent the number of agents assigned to monitor the activities of some 240 Soviet bloc officials believed to be involved in espionage activities.

At the CIA, the decline of the Office of Security began with the firing of counterintelligence chief James Angleton in December 1974. Then CIA Director William Colby had decided that Angleton's Byzantine suspicions had crippled the CIA's operations. Much of the data Angleton had compiled was destroyed, and new laws curtailed some of the agency's counterintelligence efforts. The counterespionage staff was reduced drastically.

Now, CIA sources say, the Reagan administration intends to reverse the trend, in hopes of putting the kibosh on the KGB's freewheeling espionage activities in this country.

House Committee Says No

English As Official Language?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Over the protests of a group of Dade County residents, a House subcommittee killed a bill Wednesday that would have made English the official language of the state.

The bill (HB 275) failed on a 5-3 vote, despite a terse statement from Rep. Ray Hodges, D-Hialeah, who favored the proposal, that "there are forces at work trying to divide our community and jeopardize our way of life."

Under the legislation proposed by Rep. Robert E. Melby, R-St. Petersburg, publication in Spanish of state reports, notices, records and contracts would be outlawed.

The bill also asked that instruction and directions posted by state and local governments — such as restroom signs in airports — would only be in English, and that no county or city could declare itself bilingual, as Dade did in 1973.

Melba Shoecraft, president of a senior citizens group in Hialeah, told the House Efficiency and Effectiveness Subcommittee of Governmental Operations that the elderly in south Florida are severely hampered "because we can't speak Spanish."

"The English speaking senior citizen in Dade County can't communicate with anyone," Mrs. Shoecraft said. "When we call the hospital or government agencies, we are put on hold when we ask for an English speaking person."

Mrs. Shoecraft, who handed out small American flags to the subcommittee while proponents of the measure cheered loudly, said in Dade County, "to be a flag-waver is old hat, unless it is a Cuban flag."

"This is a threat to all English-speaking Americans who still love their country but see it slipping away," Mrs. Shoecraft said.

Dr. Jose Aybar, director of the State Commission on Hispanic Affairs, told the subcommittee that the bill "would result in denial access" for thousands that live and visit south Florida every day.

"The bill would have a negative impact on an already polarized situation," Aybar said. "It would also limit trade options."

Hodges voted for passage of the bill along with Rep. Grover Robinson, D-Pensacola, and Rep. Frank Messersmith, R-Lakewood. Hodges said the argument that trade relations would be damaged was "ridiculous" because the Japanese and the Germans do millions of dollars in business every year with the United States, "yet no one says let's speak Japanese or German."

Melby, who tried to bring his campaign against bilingualism in Florida to the House floor Tuesday, said after the vote the issue was probably dead for the session.

Melby tried to amend an education bill to have the Legislature declare "the English language to be the official language of the State of Florida. District school boards shall have no obligation to teach the standard curriculum in a language other than English."

Before Melby could offer his amendment, Rep. William Sadowski, D-Miami, moved to cut off further amendments to the bill. The House agreed by a 67-38 vote.

RIDE FOR CANCER

The Great American Ride for Cancer, sponsored by the Seminole County Unit, American Cancer Society, takes off at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 9 (May 16 in case of rain). Registration begins at 9 a.m. at Levitz Furniture, Howell Branch Road and Highway 436, for this 30-mile patrolled cross country ride to raise funds to further cancer research. Applications for the ride are available at all Flagship Bank offices, McDonald's in Sanford and at all middle and high schools in the county. Kathleen Reynolds, ACS director, left, and Helen Kelly, personnel manager for Suniland, unload the grand prizes; a bicycle donated by Suniland and a second bike plus a black and white TV donated by Reynolds in memory of her brother, Clyde Ellison, and her sister, Mrs. Mildred Randolph.

So Says Schlafly

'Women Ask For Trouble'

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Phyllis Schlafly drew hisses and jeers, telling a congressional hearing "non-virtuous women" usually ask for the sexual harassment they encounter in the workplace.

But J. Clay Smith Jr., acting chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission, said formal reports on sexual harassment represent only "the tip of the iceberg" and the problem is far more widespread.

Mrs. Schlafly, a leading voice of conservatism and opponent of the Equal Rights Amendment, drew jeers from many women in the audience when she said men seldom make passes at virtuous women, suggesting female victims also are perpetrators.

"When a woman walks across the room, she speaks with a universal body language that most men intuitively understand," she said. "Men hardly ever ask sexual favors of women from whom the certain answer is 'no.'"

Smith and Mrs. Schlafly headed a list of witnesses before the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee on the EEOC's 1980 guidelines on sexual harassment.

Smith said the 130 sexual harassment charges pending before his agency "may be the tip of the iceberg. I believe there is a greater problem in the workplace."

In a study released Tuesday, the Washington-based Center for Women Policy Studies estimated at least 18 million employed women experienced overt sexual harassment during 1979-80.

But Mrs. Schlafly told the committee, "Sexual harassment can also occur when a non-virtuous woman gives off body language which invites sexual advances."

Some women in the crowded hearing room began hissing.

The outburst was gavelled to silence by Chairman Orrin Hatch, R-Utah.

Congressman Wants Inmates' Release Probed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A member of the House Select Committee on Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs says he wants an investigation of the early release from prison of three drug smugglers convicted in Virginia.

Rep. Robin L. Beard, R-Tenn., said he was "stunned and outraged" that Cumberland County Circuit Judge John R. Snoddy allowed the release of the three men when they had served a year or less of prison terms ranging from 10 to 25 years.

The three were among eight persons, all from out of state, who were arrested in December 1978 and charged with being part of one of the largest marijuana smuggling operations ever uncovered in Virginia. Five persons were convicted and sent to prison last year. Two more received suspended sentences, and charges against another person were dropped.

Beard, a fourth-term conservative who represents the area between Memphis and Nashville, said Tuesday he will ask the committee to investigate Snoddy's handling of the case. But Beard said he did not know when hearings would be scheduled.

He said he believed the case was so extraordinary that hearings were needed, probably sometime in the next two months, and that Snoddy would be an important witness.

Beard charged that Snoddy's action could be the "most blatant example of judicial leniency" in a major drug case of which he is aware.

Police said 25 tons of marijuana from Colombia was brought ashore in Surry County, Va. A farmer spotted part of the cargo in a Cumberland County mobile home, and police seized about half the marijuana.

Snoddy has been considering petitions by defense lawyers — some of Virginia's most prominent — to free the other two prisoners.

Snoddy, a former Buckingham County prosecutor generally respected by Virginia's legal community, said his decision to order the release of the three men was based on "extenuating and mitigating circumstances," but refused to elaborate.

The early releases angered a special prosecutor in the case, Fairfax County Commonwealth's Attorney Robert Horan, who said the releases "astonished" him. Horan was called into the case when defense lawyers offered a $1 million "donation" to Cumberland County if charges were dropped. County prosecutors refused the money and called Horan.

The three who were released were Larry Sherman, 31, of Durham, N.C.; David S. Taylor, 29, of Breckenridge, Colo., and Daniel Crowley, 34, of Jupiter, Fla. Authorities said at least two of them are apparently on supervised probation in their hometowns.

Virginia Attorney General Marshall Coleman said Monday he will ask the state Supreme Court to overturn the three men's release. Coleman charged that Snoddy had exceeded his authority.

As Senate Leader

Who'll Replace W. D. Childers?

By SAM MILLER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — House members already are fighting over who will be speaker in 1987 and 1988, while the Senate still has to decide who succeeds President W.D. Childers after next year's session.

Gainesville Rep. John Mills is the early leader in the struggle for the 1987-88 speakership, the Tallahassee Democrat reported today, with Fort Lauderdale Rep. Tom Gustafson the only other active candidate at this point.

Four senators are fiercely competing for the Senate's leadership job — Appropriations Chairman Jack Gordon of Miami Beach, President Pro Tempore Curtis Peterson of Lakeland, Pat Thomas of Quincy and Harry Johnston of West Palm Beach.

Childers, of Pensacola, has said he doesn't want his successor designated this session, although the competition for votes is so intense the matter likely will be resolved and he will have to consent to a Democratic caucus in the next several weeks.

Democrats control the House and Senate, so they elect the Legislature's leadership. They meet in a formal caucus, but the decisions always have been made by the time the process becomes public, through behind-the-scenes struggling and maneuvering.

House members traditionally pick their speaker years in advance. Tampa Rep. Lee Moffitt was formally elected in a Democratic caucus last week to succeed Ralph Haben as speaker and preside over the 1983 and 1984 sessions, but he actually put together the votes for the job 18 months ago.

Quincy Rep. Jame Harold Thompson claims the votes for the 1985-86 speakership, although he won't be formally elected for another two years.

Mills and Gustafson started running for the 1987-88 speakership as soon as Moffitt was formally designated speaker-elect.

According to the Democrat, Mills already may have the race won, although the campaigning likely will continue for years.

"It's too early to even talk about (being) ahead or behind," Gustafson told the newspaper. "The only way it can be done quicker is if one side decides not to pursue it."

Senators have learned to be more cautious in their power plays. Gainesville Sen. Bob Saunders had enough written pledges to ensure himself the 1977-78 presidency, but then-President Dempsey Barron of Panama City engineered a coup that cost Saunders the job and won it for Lew Brantley of Jacksonville.

Gordon claimed the votes to succeed Brantley, but Barron and the Doghouse Democrat moderates formed an unlikely coalition behind Phil Lewis of West Palm Beach.

As recently as two years ago, Dan Scarborough of Jacksonville gathered the necessary votes for the 1981-82 presidency, only to fall victim to another coup managed by the Barron-moderates coalition.

Johnston, the leader of the moderates, won enough commitments from senators that he tried to get Lewis and then-President-elect Childers to call a Democratic caucus last session.

Johnston's coalition of votes fell apart when Childers, fearful that designation of his successor that early would dilute his power, came out against the caucus.

Feds Blow 16-3 Lead

Clem Leonard Shell Stuns First Federal

The game's not over until the last out. And because of that, First Federal is no longer undefeated.

Clem Leonard Shell rallied for 13 runs in the bottom of the fifth inning, most of them after two outs, and went on to beat First Federal 19-18 Wednesday in the Sanford Little National League.

First Federal enjoyed a 16-3 lead going into the bottom of the fifth, which would have been the last inning under a two-hour time limit. But the 13-run effort tied the score and sent the game into the sixth inning when Clem Leonard Shell outscored First Federal 3 to 2.

In other games, the Railroaders rallied for two runs in the bottom of the sixth and nipped Sunniland Corporation 9-8, while Sanford D.A.V. topped Cardinal Industries 14-3.

In 5 p.m. games today in the Sanford Little American League, Flagship Bank tangles with Butch's Chevron at Ft. Mellon Park and Seminole Petroleum battles Krayola Kollege at Westside Field. Atlantic Bank takes on Triple I.I. Trucking at 7 p.m. at Ft. Mellon Park.

First Federal scored four runs on three hits in the top of the first and doubled the score in the second on the strength of a grand slam home run by Craig Dixon.

First Federal continued to pound the ball and four runs in the top of the fifth made the score 16-3. But Clem Leonard Shell sent 18 batters to the plate and scored 13 runs in the bottom of the fifth.

All but four of those runs scored after two outs. First Federal starter Calvin Davis was chased from the mound in the fifth and reliever Andy Griffin couldn't find the stopper. Bernard Burke finally pitched his team out of the inning, but not before Clem Leonard had tied the score.

First Federal picked up two runs on one hit in the top of the sixth, but Clem Leonard used three walks and a pair of errors to score three runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Willie Grayson smashed a pair of doubles for the winners and Kevin Wynn added two singles.

Griffin was four for five with a pair of doubles and Dixon slammed a double to go along with his grand slam home run.

The Railroaders scored two runs without a hit in the bottom of the sixth, taking advantage of walks, wild pitches and passed balls.

For the winners, J. D. Paul blasted two doubles and Walter Hopson added a double and single.

Rod Medlock and Oscar Merthie had doubles for the losers.

Leading 6-3, D.A.V. scored eight runs on one hit in the bottom of the third to beat Cardinal Industries in 3½ innings.

Ira Hall Jr. was three for three with a home run for D.A.V., while teammate Reginald Lawrence was two for two.

District Track Tribe Flavored

When the District 4A-5 Track Meet gets underway at Lyman Friday afternoon, there should be a distinct Seminole flavor.

Coach Emory Blake's girls blew everyone away in the County Track Meet and Volusia Five Star Conference foes have been no problem all year.

The biggest challenge will come from Larry Baker's Lyman squad, who edged Seminole by a point and a half in the conference meet.

Mike Gibson's "swan song" district challengers from Lake Brantley will also be in the running. Gibson moves to Lake Mary next year.

Sprinter Brenda Davis, who set a county record in the 440, is bothered by a pulled muscle.

While Volusia poses no problem in the ladies' portion of the meet, the story is quite the opposite for the men.

alas, the Sandcrabs are just a 3A school, so they go elsewhere to burn up opponents.

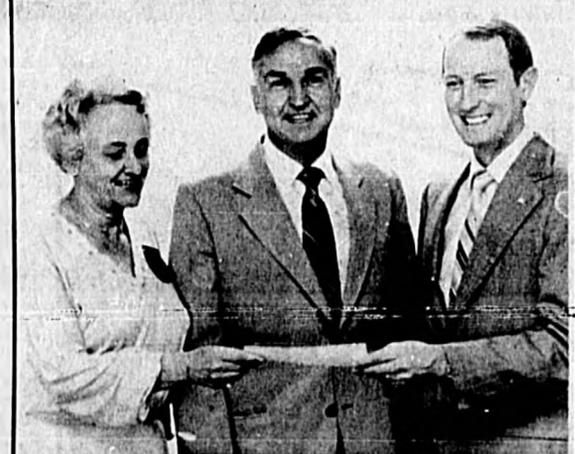

The male portion will be exciting. The Fighting Seminoles were second in the Five Star meet, but by a very slim margin.

Lyman, Lake Brantley and Lake Howell and possibly Apopka should all challenge for top honors.

Preliminaries commence at 4 p.m. and the finals begin at 7 p.m.

Bird, Boston Fly High; KC Tops Rockets

By United Press International "Bird put on a clinic out there," said Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham. "He was outstanding, just phenomenal."

In a second straight magnificent performance Wednesday, Bird scored 34 points on 14-of-21 shooting, hauled in 16 rebounds and dished out five assists to power the Celtics to a 118-99 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

The triumph evened the Eastern Conference playoff series at one game apiece, with Games 3 and 4 scheduled for Friday and Sunday in Philadelphia.

In the Western Conference playoff series, Kansas City defeated Houston, 88-79, to even their series at one game apiece. Games 3 and 4 are scheduled for Houston Friday and Sunday.

"Larry doesn't amaze me anymore," said Fitch of Bird's sterling performance. "I know he'll show me something better than I've seen each time he goes out there."

Bird had plenty of help from his teammates. Nate Archibald, who suffered a blow to the chest from Darryl Dawkins added 19 points. Rookie Kevin McHale chipped in with 20, including 14 in the fourth quarter, to halt any comeback the Sixers might have mounted.

The Celtics actually won the game by moving to a 19-point halftime lead, the same margin they held at the final buzzer. However, in the second half Boston had the lead up to as many as 28 points while Philadelphia could get no closer than 14 at any stage.

While the Celtics mounted an all-out offensive, the key man was Bird.

Robert Parish added 17 points and Cedric Maxwell rebounded from a lackluster first game to score 14 and do a fine defensive job on Julius Erving, who scored just 12.

Rookie Andrew Toney led all scorers with a game-high 35 points, 16 in the fourth quarter, as the Sixers played their third playoff game in four days.

In the Western Conference finals, Reggie King scored 31 points and unheralded John Lambert came off the bench to add 16 to power Kansas City. The 31 points were just two shy of King's career high as the 6-foot-6 power forward scored at will against Billy Paultz, Bill Willoughby and Moses Malone.

As much a factor in the win was Kansas City's defense, which held Houston to only 31 second-half points. The Kings also limited Malone, who averaged 29 points during the regular season, to only 18 points.

Scott Wedman added 18 and Grunfeld 14 as Kansas City handed Houston only its second road loss in eight playoff games this month. Paultz added 14 and Calvin Murphy and Willoughby both came off the bench to contribute 13 for the Rockets.

"Certainly we're disappointed that we didn't win the game," said Houston Coach Del Harris, "but now that the emotion and the dust has settled we're happy to have come here and gotten the split."

Landress Twirls One-Hitter For KOC

Glenn Landress hurled a one-hitter and drove in three runs with a double and two singles Wednesday to pace Knights of Columbus to a 14-4 win over Elks in the Sanford Junior League.

It was the sixth win without a loss for Knights of Columbus. Landress struck out 10 batters in the four-inning game. He struck out the side in the first and fourth frames.

Landress had all but one of the hits for the winners. The other was a two-run single by Lee Fredrick that gave the Knights a 10-run lead and ended the game in the bottom of the fourth.

Rotary put together a 10-hit attack to stop Masters Cove Apartments in four innings.

A's Again 2-1

By United Press International

The Oakland A's reeled off their 14th victory in 15 games this season via an error and a bouncing double that nipped the Minnesota Twins, 2-1. It was the seventh time the Twins, 2-0, have fallen victim to Oakland this year.

The double, by Tony Armas, highlighted a two-run first inning that propelled Brian Kingman to his second victory against no losses. Kingman got ninth-inning help from Craig Minetto and Jeff Jones as the A's pitching staff reduced its season ERA to 1.39.

"He threw only 97 pitches into the ninth inning," said Martin. "Last year at this time he might have thrown 140. Cutting down on his pitches has to help Kingman over the long run and already he is a lot better pitcher this year."

In the two-run first, Dwayne Murphy drew a walk off loser Al Williams, 0-3, then raved to third when Williams made a wild pickoff attempt. Dave Revere followed with a towering triple to right-center which Mickey Hatcher lost in the sun as Murphy scored. One out later, Armas chopped his double past third to score Revere with the gamewinner.

"I saw the ball when it came off the bat," said Hatcher, "but I never had it in sight again..."

Twins' Manager John Gory didn't blame Hatcher.

Rangers 16, Red Sox 8

Pat Putnam drove in four runs as Texas jumped to an 11-0 lead in the first two innings and went on to victory. The Rangers pounded four Boston pitchers for 18 hits.

Brewers 6, Blue Jays 1

Paul Molitor belted his first major-league grand slam to cap a five-run fifth inning and singled in a run in the seventh to power the Brewers. Mike Caldwell, 2-1, scattered eight hits to notch his first complete game.

Yankees 7, Tigers 2

Steve Balboni, who earlier had tripled in his first major league at-bat, drew a bases-loaded walk to trigger a five-run seventh inning and boost the Yankees to a sweep of their three-game series.

Indians 4, Royals 0

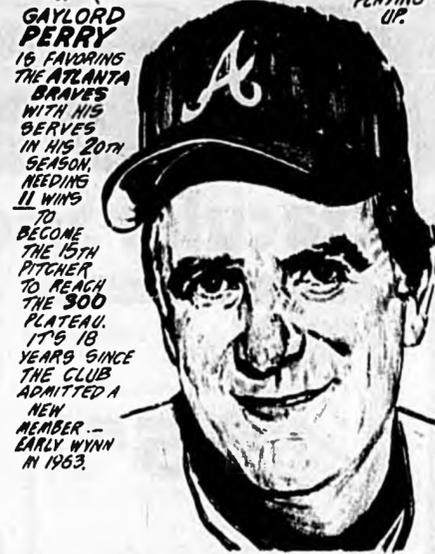

Len Barker fired a seven-hitter and struck out nine batters to lead the streaking Indians to a three-game sweep and their fifth straight victory.

Angels 7, Mariners 3

Bobby Grich belted a homer, double and single to drive in three runs and Dan Ford collected three hits, including his third home run of the season, to lead California.

10... And Counting

Perry Handcuffs Reds For 290th Win

CINCINNATI (UPI) — He's just a big, good natured farm boy, basking on top and graying on the sides. Take the Atlanta uniform off his 6-foot-4 frame and he could pass for a farmer or maybe a businessman. But a major league pitcher? A future baseball hall of famer? No way.

Meet Gaylord Perry, who will be 43 next September by which time he will almost certainly have exceeded the magic victory total of 300.

Meet Gaylord Perry, a remarkable athlete around who controversy so often has swirled in the form of accusations that he has paved his way to success with frequent use of the illegal spitball.

Meet Gaylord Perry, who Wednesday won his 290th game by handcuffing the slumping Cincinnati Reds, 7-3, on just six hits to give his Braves a sweep of a two-game series by dooming Reds to their fourth straight loss.

Perry is a farmer, planting corn, soybeans and peanuts and mending fences on his North Carolina farm when he's not busy winning baseball games.

He's a master psychologist especially when he's on the mound as he's been since embarking on a professional baseball career in 1960.

"I want to get that first batter watching for something," Perry admitted after going all the way to win his first game of 1981 and even his record at 1-1.

"Sure I want to create action and make the hitter wonder what's going on."

Houston Astros' Manager Bill Virdon struggled for words following his team's loss Wednesday night to the Los Angeles Dodgers and the ones he used summarized the situation nicely.

"It's probably a little bit amazing," Virdon said. "I don't know what word to use, but it's awful damn good."

He was talking about the performance of Fernando Valenzuela, the Dodgers' 20-year-old rookie left-hander who had just pitched a perfect blend of fastballs and screwballs to shut out Houston, 1-0.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 0

Tom Herr drove in two runs — giving him eight RBI in his last three games — and Larry Sorensen limited Chicago to four hits to extend St. Louis' winning streak to six.

Padres 4, Giants 0

Gene Richards singled in a fifth-inning run and two runs scored on an error in the eighth to back Juan Eichelberger and Gary Lucas' combined five-hitter and lift the Padres.

Expos 4, Phillies 3

Willie Montanez singled on relief pitcher Tug McGraw's first offering with two outs in the 11th inning to drive in Gary Carter from third base and give Montreal the win.

Rookie Tim Lincecum stroked a single to run his hitting streak to 10 games and stole a base, his 11th, to hold the NL lead.

Mets 2, Pirates 2

The game was tied, 2-2, after 8 1/2 innings when the rains came and umpires postponed the contest.

In And Around Sanford

Local Pro Dancers In Weekend Show

I remember Jackie. And Tom.

Tom Lake portrayed the lonely sophisticated Count Frederick DeBary, and Jackie Greene was the ghost of his lovely young wife, Julie, in the garden mansion scene from "River Gold", a Bicentennial Dance Drama written by Mildred M. Caskey and performed by the company dancers of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole in 1976.

The two talented dancers went their separate ways studying — learning — performing.

About a year ago, as fate would have it, they both came home — from different directions — to dance professionally for Southern Ballet Theatre.

And just as many professionals change their names, so have Jackie and Tom. The young swain from "Coppelia" and his swan-like girlfriend, Swanhilda, from the same ballet, are now known in professional circles as Thom Lake and Jacqui Greene, if you please.

Saturday at 8 p.m., and Sunday at 2 p.m., Southern Ballet Theatre will sing its "Swan Song" for the season at Bobb Carr Auditorium, Orlando.

Once again, Jacqui and Thom will be teamed in Le Corsaire, the same beautiful pas de deux which was revived in 1965 for Fonteyn and Nureyev.

Let us hope that all goes well. Before last December's "Coppelia," Thom injured his foot and a substitute was brought in at the last minute.

The performance this weekend will feature a mixed repertory choreographed by Barbara Riggins, Kip Watson and Lynda Martin.

Jacqui who says she prefers working as opposed to study said, "I like working for Barbara Riggins. She really has it together."

She added, "Doing the lead (Swanhilda) in Coppelia was quite an experience with Thom's replacement, but I love dancing with Thom. Dancing Le Corsaire with him is definitely a challenge."

Doris Dietrich

OURSELVES
Editor

Both dancers got their start in Sanford at the School of Dance Arts and Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole under Valerie Weld and Miriam Wright.

Jacqui is the daughter of Mimi and Jack Greene of Sanford and Thom is the son of Pauline and Buddy Lake of Lake Mary.

Speaking of ballet and Mildred M. Caskey, who also wrote "Americana" for Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, she said she had quite a scare Easter Sunday.

Segments from "Americana" will be performed Sunday, at around 2:30 p.m. on the lawn at the Henry S. Sanford Museum-Library, to herald the opening of a fan-tastic exhibit which is free to the public.

Mildred, the museum curator, said she has watched the grounds daily for anything that might disturb the dancers staying on their toes.

Then, on Sunday, she observed several young men "poking holes" around the grounds, which nearly brought on a fainting spell. They were Sanford-Seminole Jaycees hiding Easter eggs for the kiddies.

But Mildred said there was no visible damage or danger.

Once again, let us hope — and pray — the ground will hold the dancers up on their feet — not down on their faces.

Bonnie Sue Gutshall will receive a degree today when she graduates from Ricks College, Rexburg, Idaho, an institution owned and operated by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Dr. David L. Minter, dean of Emory College, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., has announced that Joseph Edward Pickens Jr. was named to the Dean's List for the winter quarter.

Joseph is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Edward (Deloris) Pickens Sr. 221 W. 19th St.

Jacqui Greene and Thom Lake in scene from Le Corsaire.

About a dozen members of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford are off to Lakeland Friday to attend the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs Junior State Convention which will be held at the Lakeland Civic Center.

According to delegate, Gail Stewart, "We expect to win a big award."

Among the others attending from the SJWC will be president Nancy Crawford and Gail Berger.

Speaking of Gail Stewart, whose middle name is "Busy," she is the new president of Idyllwild Elementary School PTA.

Joseph Perez was recently appointed to the Dean's List of Tennessee Temple University in Chattanooga. He maintained a grade-point average of 3.71 out of a possible 4.0 last semester. The requirement for acceptance to the list is to have a grade-point average of at least 3.25.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Perez of Sanford, and has been a member of Plametto Avenue Baptist Church. He is also a 1977 graduate of Central Adult High School in Lake Mary.

Joseph is currently majoring in Christian Education at the university, pursuing the Bachelor of Religious Education degree.

Hurting Mom, Daughter Should Open Closed Door

DEAR ABBY: After you published a letter about visiting aging parents, I received a copy of it "anonymously." I'm sure it came from my mother, to whom I haven't spoken for four months.

I am 29, divorced with two children, live alone and support myself and my children. I don't drink or run around and I'm respected by everybody but my mother.

I know Mom loves me and I love her, but unless she can choose my friends and control my life, she wants absolutely nothing to do with me.

She helped me financially when I needed it, a fact she mentions every chance she gets, but she thinks that gives her the right to pick my friends. After I told her I intended to live my own life, she said she never wanted to see me again.

Since then, she hasn't called me and I haven't called her. Abby, I am so frustrated I could cry. She reads your column religiously, so please tell her I love her and want her to be my friend.

HURTING IN PA. DEAR HURTING: Your mother (like most mothers) has become so accustomed to telling you what to do ("for your own good," of course), it's hard for her to break the habit. All self-supporting adults are entitled to live their own lives, and from what you say, you're doing an admirable job of it.

Regardless of who closed the door between you and your mother, open it, and try again. I assure you, your mother is hurting as much as you over the estrangement, and maybe more.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a waitress in Milwaukee for 13 years, and I have never been able to figure out why people will come into a cafe and always sit at a table where there are dirty dishes when there are plenty of clean tables available. I have asked waitresses who work at other restaurants, and they can't figure it out either. Can you explain it?

MERT DEAR MERT: Probably for the same reason people choose to sit in a crowded kitchen even though there is a larger, more comfortable room available. Call it the coziness of clutter. And if it's any comfort to you, it's the same in Los Angeles as it is in Milwaukee.

DEAR ABBY: Social customs are constantly changing, so perhaps you can tell me if my sensitivities are now outmoded.

I am a clergyman who is amazed at the number of well meaning people who address me simply as "Reverend."

To address someone as "Reverend" without adding his name is worse than calling someone "Mister." I'd rather hear, "Hey, Rev!" At least that is not sanctimonious.

Am I too fussy? If not, perhaps people who wish to use the title "Reverend" out of respect would appreciate a reminder of its proper use. THE REV. JOSIAH H. JONES

DEAR SIR: Those who address you as "Reverend" without using your last name think they are being respectful. Forgive them, Reverend Jones, for they know not what they do. (But after this, many should know better.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 26 years is my problem. We have six daughters whom he teases until they are in tears and nearly hysterical. He pretends that his tickling, pinching and slapping (hard) on the rear is done in the harmless spirit of playfulness, but he actually hurts them. The girls, who are from 5 to 22 years old, frequently spend their evenings in their rooms so they won't have to put up with his teasing. Abby, could his actions have sexual overtones? He and I have not had sexual relations in 3 1/2 years—he's either "too tired" or not in the mood. I think Dad is getting his jollies from teasing his daughters. What do you think?

DISGUSTED IN OHIO DEAR DISGUSTED: I think you hit the nail on the head. Dad's masked cruelty is bound to influence his daughters' feelings toward men and their future relationships with them.

Dad needs a psychiatric consultation for his sake as well as his daughters'.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, April 24, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY

April 24, 1981

Take advantage of any opportunities you get this coming year to enhance your knowledge, either academically or in practical areas. What you learn will help you rise to the top faster in your chosen field.

TARUUS (April 20-May 20)

Today you may be tempted to do just enough to get by. Unfortunately, that which you fail to do may demand attention at an inconvenient time later. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N. Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birthdate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Changes to which you have given sufficient study will work out to your advantage today. Alterations made impulsively could cause complications.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Don't let friends or outsiders become involved in family matters. They may be forced to take sides and offend either you or your mate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Coworkers may have better ideas than yours for doing things today. Don't let your ego get in the way of proper execution of a job.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Be very careful today if involved in anything which requires a financial risk. Study the situation from every angle to be sure it's not a foolish gamble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

You're likely to be luckier today in involvements that others originate rather than in those you launch yourself. Act in areas where you get the best odds.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Don't base important decisions on hunches or hearsay today. Judgments should be made solely on the facts if you hope to avoid problems later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Financial conditions may be a mixed bag today. You could be both prudent and extravagant. Emphasize the former and eliminate the latter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Business and pleasure may not blend too smoothly today. Your prospects could feel you're trying to butter them up; even though this might not be your intention.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Think your moves through carefully today, but don't dwell on them so intensely that you fail to act. Good ideas are only that unless they are implemented.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

Though your intention is to be helpful, you'd be wise today not to try to manage for others things that may be beyond your scope.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Your goals are attainable today, but it may require some shrewd maneuvering to get what you want. Even then you could fall short of your target.

B-12 Necessary For Cell Function

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB—What can you tell us about B-12 shots? I am a 54-year-old female and have a relatively low blood count. I go to the doctor fairly regularly. He checks my blood count and sometimes the iron and always gives me a B-12 shot.

If I go more than six weeks between these shots I start to feel like a windup toy about to run out of power. I seem to cut corners too short, bumping into things, can't seem to coordinate my thoughts and my bad memory gets worse. So does my writing. It takes almost a week after the B-12 shot to start to feel all together again. I asked my doctor about this and I didn't get a very straight answer. "As long as I felt better, did it really matter?" I'd appreciate anything you can tell me.

DEAR READER — Well, that certainly is the bottom line and I'm glad you do feel better. Vitamin B-12 is essential to many aspects of cellular function. Most people think of it as being associated with pernicious anemia. Certainly if you are low on B-12 your bone marrow will not be able to produce new red blood cells and pernicious anemia will follow.

B-12 is necessary for cell production throughout the body. Since many of your cells constantly regenerate, it is essential in replacing old cells with new — including those that line your digestive system.

B-12 is essential in formation of the sheath for nerve fibers. In its absence these sheaths degenerate and this leads to poor coordination and even degeneration in the spinal cord. B-12 deficiencies can lead to confusion (but there are many other causes for confusion and poor memory, too). It is quite possible that the symptoms and their relief you describe are related to a vitamin B-12 deficiency.

To give you a better understanding of B-12's role in the body, I am sending you

The Health Letter number 4-5, Vitamin B-12, Folic Acid, Pernicious Anemia. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Folic acid will not replace your body's need for B-12. It can correct the anemia but not help with the nerve sheaths. If a person does have a deficiency of B-12, it is quite important to get regular B-12 replacement and that usually requires B-12 shots.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a 62-year-old female with a health problem that I can't get an answer to. I seldom feel well. I can only eat a little food at a time, then I get a full feeling, then cramping in my stomach. The stool is very light in color — cream color. It's quite shocking to have such anemic looking bowel movements. Is there a reason for this — one that would cause me to feel lousy most of the time?

DEAR READER — The color of the stool is dependent upon bile pigments in the bile drained from your liver. Clay-colored stools are often seen if there is an obstruction of the bile ducts. But that condition usually leads to jaundice. The bile pigments are acted upon in the intestine to give either a green or brown color.

Milk drinkers and those not getting any meat in their diet sometimes have light colored stools so the first question is what do you eat. I suspect your diet has a lot to do with why you are not feeling up to par. But check with your doctor. He may want to test your liver function.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Three years ago a team that included Alan Greenberg, senior partner, James Cayne, a regular partner and several other Bear-Stearns associates won the Hestinger

Alan and Jimmy are regular weekend players in the Cavendish game and are particularly effective on their slam bidding.

In their methods three clubs would have been a force so Alan's four clubs implied slam interest and Jimmy's four hearts accepted the slam suggestion. Alan's four spades was a cue bid, but Jimmy signed off with five clubs because his heart cue bid had shown his full strength.

Alan continued to six and it was up to Jimmy to play the slam. He won the spade in dummy and drew trumps with the ace. Then he cashed the three of hearts and the second-high spade and ruffed dummy's last spade to set the stage for the perfect safety play. He led his deuce of diamonds and played dummy's seven.

East was in, but was also helpless. A spade or heart would give Jimmy a ruff and discard and a diamond return would give declarer three diamond tricks.

Note that Jimmy's safety play would not have been needed if diamonds had broken 3-2. Jimmy's play had just taken out insurance to guard against any and all possible bad breaks and it had paid off.

END OF THE LINE?

This Auto-Train car may no longer carry passengers and cars from the northeast if company officials get their way. They asked a judge this morning to permit them to terminate service by the end of April.

'Cashless' Auto-Train Asks To End Service

Auto Train Corp. this morning asked a federal bankruptcy court judge to allow the company to suspend its train service as of April 30.

Murray Drabkin, court appointed trustee for the company, which has operated under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act since September, said the company was "cashless." Dow Jones News Service, which issued the report this morning, said that is a legal term meaning the company cannot meet its immediate bills.

Auto Train carries passengers and their cars between Lorton, Va. and Sanford.

While local Auto-Train officials could not be reached for comment today, one employee out sick said he was notified of a meeting to be held at noon when employees were to be told about the request to stop service.

The employee, who asked not to be identified, said his boss telephoned him to tell him about the meeting and quipped, "If you have anymore sick days or days off for any other reason between now and the end of April, you'll have to go to federal court to get your money."

Drabkin said a previously announced agreement in principle, in which a group of investors agreed to buy the assets of Auto Train, has not provided any of the funds needed to operate the line. Closing date for the agreement was set for April 15.

Drabkin told the court the investors also have not provided the interim funding that would allow a further deferral of the closing date.

To provide for an orderly shutdown of the company, Auto Train fashioned an agreement in principal with the two railroads that own the track it uses, Drabkin said.

Without the agreement, he said, Auto Train would have to stop service today.

The two railroads agreeing to the proposed settlement are Seaboard Coastline Railroad Company and the Richmond RFedericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company.

The settlement agreement is conditioned on court approval of the service cessation. The hearing was continuing this morning.

The company has been plagued with financial troubles over the past year or so.

Auto-Train, which has about 220 employees in the Sanford area, filed under federal bankruptcy laws to permit its continued operation while trying to raise enough capital to hold off creditors.

At one point last August, some 90 local employees complained they could not get their payroll checks cashed at local banks because the banks refused to honor them.

And on at least one other occasion, the sheriff's department had to confiscate furniture and office equipment until court-ordered judgments in varying amounts to different creditors could be satisfied.

Efforts to speak with local Auto-Train management people were unsuccessful today and all inquiries were referred to the Washington, D.C. office. No one at that office, however, was available for comment.

In August, the U.S. Justice Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission filed suit in U.S. District Court in Washington to force Auto-Train Corp. to put $500,000 into a special bank account to cover advance bookings should the company go bankrupt. The extent of the firm's advance bookings could not be determined this morning.

Reagan Meets With Cabinet; Soviet Grain Ruling Imminent

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan met with his full Cabinet today for the first time since he was shot in the chest, and he was expected to give final approval for easing the embargo on U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union.

Reagan also met with his three top advisers in the Oval Office this morning — his first appearance in the White House executive wing since he was shot March 30.

The 70-year-old president has been working out of the family quarters while convalescing from his wound, but increased his activities this week and plans to make his first extended public appearance Tuesday — an address to Congress on his economic plan.

All the Cabinet members applauded as he walked into the Cabinet Room for today's meeting.

Acting press secretary Larry Speakes still had no comment today on widespread reports the grain embargo would be lifted after the commodity markets closed. An afternoon announcement was expected.

President Carter ordered the embargo Jan. 4, 1980, after the Soviet Union invaded Afghanistan. Reagan opposed it during the campaign, saying it placed an unfair foreign policy burden on farmers. But when he took office, some advisers warned he would be giving the wrong signal to the Soviets if he lifted the embargo while the threat of Soviet intervention in Poland loomed.

In recent days, Secretary of State Alexander Haig and others have said the Soviets have eased up on Poland and East-West tensions have lessened. Reagan also has faced some deadline pressure from Capitol Hill to make a decision before Congress takes up the farm bill on Monday.

Reagan is expected to spend some time at the Camp David mountaintop retreat this weekend preparing for his 15-minute address to a joint session of Congress at 9 p.m. EST Tuesday. The speech is timed to coincide with congressional debate on his sweeping budget cuts.

Asked whether Reagan's doctors gave him the green light for his new burst of official activity, Speakes said, "He gave his own go-ahead."

Thursday's announcement of the speech came as a surprise. There were indications his first major public appearance since the attempt on his life is part of a campaign to reassure the nation.

Recent popularity polls around the country show Reagan riding high since the shooting incident. His top aides say he is convinced he has the support of the American people as he pursues the drastic budget cuts he has proposed.

While no one in the administration is ready to admit it, there also have been indications that Reagan eventually will compromise on a one-year tax cut, instead of the three-year, 30 percent slash that has his stamp on it.

Speakes said Reagan already has written the introduction to his address. He will be meeting with chief speechwriter Ken Khachigian to work over drafts of the address.

Jews Vow Fight

Planes To Saudis?

By JIM ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of the American Jewish community believe they have the votes in Congress to kill the sale of AWACS surveillance aircraft to Saudi Arabia, but were told the administration will press ahead with the sale.

Howard Squadron, spokesman for a group of 34 American Jewish organizations, told reporters Thursday, after a two-hour session with Secretary of State Alexander Haig, "We are quite confident that a resolution of disapproval would be adopted if the matter were to come to vote today."

Squadron said he informed Haig the Jewish community is not content to let the matter rest and is mobilizing an intensive mail and telephone campaign to increase pressure on Congress to disapprove the sale the groups consider to be a threat to Israel and a danger to American foreign policy.

Haig, according to Squadron, said he appreciated the expression of views, but explained the administration considers the sale necessary for U.S. strategic purposes in the Middle East.

A majority of both houses of Congress must vote to disapprove a military sale in order to override the executive branch. That has never occurred.

Squadron said the Jewish community opposes the sale because it violates commitments made to Israel, and because the Saudis support terrorism by financing the Palestine Liberation Organization. The U.S.-made military equipment could fall into hostile hands if the present government of Saudi Arabia fell, Squadron said.

A memo prepared by the group said, "The parallels with Iran — where sophisticated U.S. weapons were compromised after (Ayatollah Ruhollah) Khomeini seized power — are frightening. Saudi Arabia is unstable and unreliable."

At a background briefing for reporters, a White House official disclosed there will be 410 American civilians, mostly from Boeing Corp., initially involved in Saudi Arabia on technical aspects of the AWACS deal.

That number will be gradually reduced, but some Americans will remain in Saudi Arabia for the 25-year life of the equipment. Thirty Air Force servicemen also will be sent to train Saudi pilots, he said.

Republican National Committee Chief Dick Richards speaks to the Rotary Club of Seminole County South in Altamonte Springs this morning.

GOP Pushes Economic Plan In Seminole

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Three Republican national leaders were in Seminole County today, asking voters to put pressure on Democratic members of Congress to support President Reagan's tax and budget package.

They were introduced at a meeting of the Rotary Club of South Seminole this morning by freshman U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs.

"The Senate is agreeable to the President's program, but members in the House don't feel the same way," McCollum said in introducing Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah; Republican National Committee Chairman Dick Richards of Utah; and U.S. Rep. Stan Parris, R-Virginia.

"We hope and pray the public will bring pressure to bear on the key members of the House to pass the Reagan program," McCollum said.

Richards said budget cuts and reduction in taxes are a necessity to stabilize the economy. He pointed out the federal government in 1980 went $80 billion further into debt. Federal spending tripled in the 1970 decade, he said, while taxes increased 168 percent in the same period.

"Today every American worker labors five months just to pay his taxes," Richards said. He said the Reagan program calls for cutting taxes, halting inflation, providing better employment and getting government off the backs of American businessmen.

"Reagan wants to correct the problems that have been stagnating the economy," he said.

Parris, illustrating the state of the economy at this point, said one out of three Americans — 75 million — are receiving a check for assistance from the federal government every month. "More people are getting checks than are paying taxes. This is economic madness," he said.

He insisted that no reductions will be made in basic social security programs or veterans programs. However, some social programs must be cut, he said. The federal government in 1980 was spending $20 billion for such programs, he explained, but today it is being proposed that $300 billion be spent.

Hatch used the food stamp program as an example of federal such spending, saying $34 million was spent in 1964 for the program and $12 billion was spent in 1980.

"One out of six Americans is qualified for the food stamp program. It is running wild. Liberals have used the program to buy votes with tax dollars," he said.

"Get behind the man who won the election," he admonished his audience. "He is only asking for a four point program of spending cuts, reducing taxes to stimulate the economy, cutting the over-regulatory burden and stopping the excessive printing of paper dollars."

"Liberals of both parties in Congress are afraid it will be shown that the private sector can do a better job than the public sector in a lot of ways," Hatch said.

The Utah senator said he and 48 co-sponsors have introduced a constitutional amendment in the Senate requiring a balanced budget. He predicted if the amendment gets through the Senate this year and the House next year, it will pass the required three-fourths of the states in speedy fashion.

Hatch said the spending reductions will not hurt the truly needy.
